Add sub-clause (n) " Prescribing the period of limitation for any suit ".

The Committee is of opinion that the amendments and additions given above should be made in the Draft Panchayat Bill, and that these are so far-reaching that it will be necessary to republish the Bill The Committee has considered the suggestions made by the Government of India and more especially the advisability of providing an appellate or revisional authority, and is of opinion that it is inadvisable to do so, and that the powers and functions of the Panchayats have been so restricted that it will be unnecessary to provide for any further supervision.

Syed Muhammad Hussain Shah proposed that the following clause should be inserted in the Bill :—

" Notwithstanding any provision of the law to the contrary no license for the sale of any excisable article within the meaning of section 3 (6) of the Punjab Excise Act, 1914, shall be granted within any village if the Panchayat prefers objection to the grant of the license Provided that such license may be granted, notwithstanding such objection, if the Collector, for reasons to be recorded in writing, finds that illicit distillation within the village has been connived at by any section of the residents of the village and such finding of the Collector shall have effect for three years from the date thereof."

The Committee agreed to this proposal, but on the Minister pointing out that he would prefer the proposal to be moved in Council Syed Muhammad Hussain Shah agreed to do so and not to have it included in the Bill at present.

(1) If the panchayat makes default in the performance of any duty under this Act, or under any other law for the time being in force the Deputy Commissioner may fix a period for the performance thereof, and in case of default may appoint any person or other body corporate to perform it, and may direct that the expenses arising from and incidental to its performance shall be paid by the panchayat within the time fixed.

(2) If such expenses are not paid, the Deputy Commissioner may make an order directing the person having custody of the panchayat fund to make the payment in whole or in part as may be possible from such balance, and if such person does not comply with the order recover the amount from him.

(3) If there is no balance or if the balance is insufficient the Deputy Commissioner may assess the required amount on the rate-payers of the village in such manner as may appear to him just and recover the same.

Power to suspend panchayat's action.

39. (1) The Deputy Commissioner may in the public interest by written order suspend the execution of any resolution or order of the panchayat or prohibit the doing of any act which is about to be done or is being done under cover of this Act.

(2) The Deputy Commissioner shall forthwith send to the Commissioner a copy of the order with a statement of his reasons for making it, and with such explanation as the panchayat may offer. The Commissioner may thereupon confirm, modify or rescind the order.

Delegation of powers.

40. The Local Government may delegate any of its powers under this Act to the Commissioner; and the Deputy Commissioner may delegate any of his powers under this Act to any revenue officer of and above the rank of an Extra Assistant Commissioner.

Control and subordination.

41. In all matters connected with this Act, unless it is otherwise provided, Commissioners, Deputy Commissioners, Collectors, District Magistrates and District Boards shall be subject to the same authority and control as is exercised over them in the execution of their ordinary duties.

Power to make rules.

42. (1) The Local Government may make any rules consistent with this Act to carry out the purposes thereof; and may attach to the breach of any such rule a fine which may extend to 25 rupees;

(2) Any fine [or fee] recoverable under chapter IV.

(3) The arrears of any rate imposed under section 35 or 36.

(4) Any amount recoverable under section 39, or 42 (2).

Performance of the duties of defaulting panchayats.

42. (1) If the panchayat makes default in the performance of any duty under this Act, or under any other law for the time being in force the Deputy Commissioner may fix a period for the performance thereof, and in case of default may appoint any person or other body corporate to perform it, and may direct that the expenses arising from and incidental to its performance shall be paid by the panchayat within the time fixed.

(2) If such expenses are not paid, the Deputy Commissioner may make an order directing the person having custody of the Panchayat Fund to make the payment in whole or in part as may be possible from such balance, and if such person does not comply with the order recover the amount from him.

(3) If there is no balance or if the balance is insufficient the Deputy Commissioner may assess the required amount on the rate-payers of the village in such manner as may appear to him just and recover the same.

Power to suspend panchayat's action.

43. (1) The Deputy Commissioner may in the public interest by written order suspend the execution of any resolution or order of the panchayat or prohibit the doing of any act which is about to be done or is being done under cover of this Act.

(2) The Deputy Commissioner shall forthwith send to the Commissioner a copy of the order with a statement of his reasons for making it, and with such explanation as the panchayat may offer. The Commissioner may thereupon confirm, modify or rescind the order.

Delegation of powers.

44. The Local Government may delegate any of its powers under this Act to the Commissioner; and the Deputy Commissioner may delegate any of his powers with the exception of those described in section 45 under this Act to any revenue officer of and above the rank of an Extra Assistant Commissioner.

Control and subordination.

45. In all matters connected with this Act, unless it is otherwise provided, Commissioners, Deputy Commissioners, Collectors, District Magistrates and District Boards shall be subject to the same authority and control as is exercised over them in the execution of their ordinary duties.

Power to make rules.

46. (1) The Local Government may make any rules consistent with this Act to carry out the purposes thereof; and may attach to the breach of any such rule a fine which may extend to 25 rupees;

(2) All acts authorised or enjoined under this Act shall be held to be authorised or enjoined subject to such rules ;

(3) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, the Local Government may make rules—

CHAPTER II.

CONSTITUTION OF PANCHAYATS.

4. The Local Government may by notification in the official Gazette declare any area comprising a village, or part of a village or a group of adjacent villages situated within the limits of any one tahsil, to be a village for the purposes of this Act and may, by like notification at any time, alter the limits of such area, or cancel such declaration. P. 3 (4).

Demarcation of villages.

Provided that such area shall not include the whole or part of any Notified Area established under section 241 of the Punjab Municipal Act, 1911, or of any Cantonment or Municipality.

Explanation.—The area declared to be a village under this section shall be deemed to be a village within the meaning of section 21 (10) of the Indian Penal Code.

5. The Local Government may by notification in the official Gazette, establish a panchayat in any village and shall fix the number of panches for such panchayat, not being less than three nor more than five. P. 4.

Establishment of the panchayat.

6. The panches shall be appointed in such manner as may be prescribed, and shall hold office for a period of three years. P. 5.

Appointment of panches.

7. (1) The Deputy Commissioner, subject to an appeal to the Commissioner, may by order in writing suspend or remove any panch. P. 6.

Suspension and removal.

(2) The Local Government may suspend or abolish any panchayat.

8. (1) The panchayat shall elect one of its members as sarpanch, who shall be the chairman and chief executive officer of the panchayat and shall also elect one of its members as deputy sarpanch to act for him in his absence. P. 8, 9.

Sarpanch.

(2) The sarpanch and in his absence the deputy sarpanch shall be responsible for the due maintenance of all the prescribed registers.

8-A. The panchayat may with the previous sanction of the Deputy Commissioner employ such servants as may be necessary for carrying out the duties imposed upon it by or under this Act and pay the salaries of such servants out of the Panchayat Fund.

Provided that nothing in this section shall be deemed to empower the panchayat to entertain any paid clerical establishment.

P. 10, 11.

9. Meetings of the panchayat shall be public and shall be held at some place within the area in which it has jurisdiction whenever called by the sarpanch.

Meetings of the panchayat.

(h) Regulating the custody and proper maintenance of accounts, records and registers by the panchayat.

(i) Authorising and regulating the manner in which and the agency by whom the records, registers, accounts and other proceedings of the panchayat should be inspected.

(j) Regulating the procedure of the Collector or Deputy Commissioner under sections 34, 38 or 39 of this Act.

(k) Regulating the procedure of the panchayat in the exercise of its judicial powers under this Act.

(l) Regulating the mode of executing the sentences, orders or decrees of the panchayat.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

1. The objects of this Bill are to enable Government to establish in a village or a group of villages a system of panchayats to whom the administration of certain local matters may be assigned.

Certain of these matters the panchayat when established will be compelled to administer, others it may administer. In addition it is provided that local Judicial powers both in respect to criminal and civil cases of a minor character may be conferred upon the Panchayat. A detailed note on clauses is appended.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

Clause 1 requires no explanation.

Clause 2 repeals the existing Panchayat Act and provides for the continuance of any undisposed of cases which may be pending before any bench established under that Act.

Clause 3 requires no explanation.

Clause 4 empowers Government to declare areas as villages for the purposes of the Act.

Clause 5 empowers Government to establish panches to consist of 3 to 5 members in such villages.

Clauses 6-7 fix the period of offices of panches and provide for the removal, suspension and abolition of panches and panchayats.

Clause 8 provides for the election of a sarpanch and deputy sarpanch by the panches.

Clause 8-A gives power to the panchayat to employ servants other than a clerical establishment.

Clauses 9, 10, 11 and 12 regulate the procedure and incorporation of panchayats.

Clause 13 details the duties which a panchayat when established must carry out, subject to rules made by the Local Government.

Clause 14 details the duties which, subject to these rules, the panchayat may undertake or which may be imposed upon the panchayat by Government.

Clause 15 empowers the Local Government to direct that the panchayat shall undertake certain duties in regard to the distribution of canal water and to certain matters connected with primary education.

Clause 16 empowers the District Board to delegate certain of its functions to a panchayat on terms to be agreed upon, subject to the approval of the Deputy Commissioner.

Clause 17 (1) gives the panchayat at general powers to carry out its duties and provides special powers in regard to particular matters.

Clause (2) and (3) provides a penalty for disobedience to executive orders of the panchayat and power to the panchayat to execute its own orders.

Clause 18 empowers the Local Government to confer on panchayats judicial functions in regard to minor criminal causes, and regulates the penalties and disposal of penalties which panchayats can in that capacity impose.

Clause 19 empowers the Local Government to confer on panchayats judicial functions in regard to minor cirvil causes.

Clause 20 confers upon the panchayat executive jurisdiction in respect of cases it may be seized of under the last two preceding clauses.

Clause 21 empowers the Local Government to withdraw the judical powers bestowed.

Clause 22 excludes legal practitioners from appearance before panchayats.

Clauses 23, 24, 25, 26, 27 make certain provisions as regards procedure and effect of the panchayat's decisions in its judicial capacity.

Clauses 28, 29 provide for the establishment of a Panchayat Fund to which all income is to be credited and which is to be used for the carrying out of the panchayat's duties.

Clause 30 empowers the panchayat with consent of Deputy Commissioner to impose an annual village rate to be applied to the carrying out of compulsory duties of the panchayat.

Clause 31 empowers the panchayat, subject to confirmation by a two-third majority of the male adult rate-payers, to impose a special rate to carry out any of the optional duties of the panchayat.

The effect of this clause read with the preceding clauses is that none of the optional works can be undertaken without a clearly expressed desire of the villagers that such works should be undertaken.

Clauses 32, 33 require no explanation.

Clauses 34, 35 impose certain liabilities upon panches for misconduct in the execution of their duties and regulate the procedure for the imposition of such liabilities.

Clauses 36, 37 require no explanation.

Clause 38 provides for machinery to perform the duties of a defaulting panchayat.

Clauses 39, 40, 41 require no explanation.

Clause 42 provides for the making of rules for carrying out the purposes of the Act.

Enquiry in the office of the Financial Commissioners, Punjab, all the non-official members of the Committee were of the opinion that the services of the Typist should be dispensed with after reasonable notice, as they were not satisfied of the necessity of his appointment.

3. Acceptance by the Punjab Government of 1-5th share in the expenditure of Rs. 956 per annum on additional staff for the Ripon Hospital, Simla, was approved.

4. A maintenance grant to the Government Hindu Widows' Normal and Industrial School, Lahore, of Rs. 175 per mensem with effect from 1st May 1921 and a lump sum grant of Rs 500 for knitting machines, etc., were approved.

5. The appointment of an additional clerk on Rs. 60 per mensem for Simla Treasury, which in view of heavy work there, had been sanctioned in anticipation of the approval of the Committee, was confirmed.

6. Expenditure of Rs. 35,000 on a scheme for re-afforestation and reclamation of the Pabbi Hills at Khárian, which in view of its urgency had been sanctioned in anticipation of the approval of the Committee, was confirmed.

7. Expenditure of Rs. 1,000 on furnishing the new third class rest-house at Majahad in the Attock District was approved by a majority of the members subject to the condition that the approved scale of furniture for bungalows be laid before the Committee at its next meeting.

8. Expenditure on the continued employment of one Naib-Tahsildar on grade pay plus deputation allowance of 20 per cent. one clerk on Rs. 60 per mensem, and 3 chaprasis at Rs. 14 per mensem plus a Lahore allowance of Re. 1 per mensem each, for two months, in the office of the Controller of Fodder, was confirmed.

9. With regard to the proposal for increase in the rate of interest charged on loans given to agriculturists under the Land Improvement Loans Act, 1883, and the Agriculturists Loans Act, 1884, some of the non-official members were in favour of raising the rate of interest by one pie in the rupee while other wished to leave it as it was, and the official members did not vote.

10. Expenditure of Rs. 5,625-10-0 for a new Police Station at Nankana Sahib, which in view of urgency had been sanctioned by Government in anticipation of the approval of the Committee, was confirmed, and it was suggested that the question of the retention of the Thana at Warburton should be further considered by Government.

11. The action of Government in sanctioning Rs. 50 on account of miscellaneous expenses connected with the enquiry into compensation payable on account of disturbances and expenditure on travelling allowance to the members of the Committee, was confirmed.

12. Proposal to replace the existing three horse-drawn prison-vans by two Ford one-ton lorries, which involved an expenditure amounting to Rs. 9,122, was not approved.

13. The appointment of an additional special Kanungo on Rs. 50 per mensem at Jullundur for a period of one year, which had already been sanctioned by Government in anticipation, was confirmed.

14. Expenditure of Rs. 11,836 on the construction of a Court room outside the main enclosure of the Central Jail, Lahore, which in view of urgency had been sanctioned by Government, was confirmed with the remark that a majority of the non-official members would not have agreed to the expenditure had the matter been laid before the Committee before the expenditure was incurred.

15. Expenditure of Rs 19,000 on the formation of a Discharge Division, which had been sanctioned by the Local Government, was confirmed.

16. Proposal to increase the occupiers' rates on the Upper Bari Doab Canal by Rs. 5½ lakhs per annum was discussed at great length, and all the non-official members of the Committee were of opinion that the enhancement should not be made at the present time.

17. The proposed expenditure of Rs. 13,000 on the reorganization of the office of the Sanitary Engineer to Government, Punjab, was approved, subject to the decision of the Hon'ble Minister for Education as to the appointment and pay of the Personal Assistant.

18. Expenditure of Rs. 20,000 on additional establishment required for the Assistant Consulting Architect was approved, but the Committee recorded its opinion that economy in expenditure on buildings was imperative and that before the term of the Assistant Consulting Architect expired, the question should be carefully taken into account whether the Province could afford to retain his services, and if not, arrangements should be made to part both with him and with his staff.

19. The appointment of an additional teacher of Commerce on Rs. 200—10 – 250 for the Government Institute of Commerce, Lahore, with effect from 1st August 1921, was approved.

No. 2616-S.—The following is published for general information in accordance with provisions of section 42 of the Land Acquisition Act (I of 1894):—

THIS agreement made this ninth day of May 1921 between the Secretary of State for India in Council (hereinafter called the Secretary of State) of the one part and the Attock Oil Company, Limited (who and their successors and assigns are hereinafter called the Company) of the other part.

WHEREAS the said Company having been incorporated in England has made an application to the Punjab Government to acquire under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act a certain strip of land 16½ feet wide by 25·56 miles long and having a total area of 51·10 acres to be used for the laying and maintaining of an oil pipe line or oil pipe lines from a point on the new Khaur-Fatehjang Public Works Department Road 8,000 feet south-west of the village of Galli Jagir, in the Fatehjang Sub-Division of the Attock District of the Ráwalpindi Division in the Province of the Punjab, to the Company's Refinery Site situated south of Ráwalpindi Cantonments near Kotha Kalan, Morgah and Shahpur villages in the Ráwalpindi Tahsil in the District of Ráwalpindi in the Province of the Punjab, and clearly described in the schedule hereinafter following and delineated in the maps, filed in the Secretariat Office of the Punjab Government annexed thereto.

AND WHEREAS the Punjab Government on enquiry held under section 40 of the Land Acquisition Act is satisfied that the proposed acquisition is needed for the construction of a work and that such work is likely to prove useful to the public and whereas the Punjab

Government has called upon the said Company to enter into an agreement with the said Secretary of State regarding the matters laid down in section 41 of the Land Acquisition Act.

Now this agreement witnesseth that in consideration of the premises the said Company does hereby agree and covenant with the Secretary of State as follows, that is to say :—

1. That the said Company shall pay to the Punjab Government or to such person or persons whom the said Government may appoint in this behalf all such sum or sums of money as shall be awarded under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act as compensation to any person or persons who may be found on enquiry held under the provisions of the said Act to be interested in the land hereinbefore mentioned as required by the said Company, and also shall defray and pay to the said Government all charges of and incidental to and the cost of the acquisition of the aforesaid land under the provisions of the said Act.
2. That on transfer by the said Secretary of State to the said Company of the aforesaid land the said Company shall perpetually hold use and enjoy the same for the purposes following and no others that is to say :—

   The said Company shall immediately on being put in proprietary possession of the aforesaid land, lay and maintain a pipe line or pipe lines within the boundaries of the strip acquired for the purpose of transporting the oil won at Khaur or other Oil Fields into the Company's Refinery Site at Ráwalpindi and such pipe line or pipe lines shall be subject to such laws rules and conditions as may be in force now or hereafter regulating the establishment and maintenance of such pipe lines and further that the Company shall lay down a pipe within two years from the date of the possession of the aforesaid land being given to the said Company by the Secretary of State or within such further time as may be agreed in writing between the said Company and the Punjab Government.
3. That the said Company, shall at all times hereafter expose offer and sell all oil and refined products distilled from the oil pumped through the line, at market rates prevailing at time of such exposure, offer or sale, respectively to the public of Ráwalpindi or elsewhere.
4. That the said Company does hereby acknowledge and recognise the right now and hereafter of the said Secretary of State to and in all mines, mineral, coals, earth oils, gold washings and quarries of every description in or under the land aforesaid and also the right to do all such acts, deeds or things by the said Secretary of State as may be necessary or requisite to be done for the purpose of enjoyment thereof.

And the said Secretary of State does hereby agree and covenant with the said Company that on payment aforesaid having been made and defrayed by the said Company to the said Secretary of State, the said Secretary of State shall forthwith in consideration of the repayment of the compensation money and cost of acquisition aforesaid convey and grant to the said Company all that land aforesaid free from all incumbrance together with all rights, easements and appurtenances belonging or reputed to belong thereto to have and to hold the same in full proprietary possession unto and to the said Company but subject to the conditions hereinbefore mentioned.

In witness whereof the parties to this agreement have hereunto respectively subscribed their names on the dates and at the place hereinafter in each case specified.

INDUSTRY.

The 28th July 1921.

No. 19935.—The Punjab Purchase of Land Bill 1921, published for information under rule 18 of the Punjab Legislative Council rules.

A Bill to facilitate the purchase of land voluntarily sold for industrial purposes.

Preamble. WHEREAS it is expedient in the Punjab to facilitate the purchase of land voluntarily sold for industrial purposes; and whereas the previous sanction of the Governor-General has been accorded under section 80-A (3) (c) of the Government of India Act, 1919, to the passing of this Act, it is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title. 1. (1) This Act may be called the Punjab Purchase of Land Act, 1921,

(2) It extends to the whole of the Punjab. Extent.

Saving of Land Acquisition Act. 2. Nothing in this Act contained shall affect the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894.

Definition. 3. In this Act unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context —

Industrial purposes shall include all purposes connected with the establishment, erection, repair, continuance, extension or alteration of factories, such as ginning factories, baling presses, warehouses, mills, foundries, workshops, electric and gas stations, quarries, mines and all other works engaged or to be engaged in the preparation, manufacture, finishing, alteration, repair, ornamentation or adaptation for sale of any article.

Notification that land is required for industrial purposes.

4. Whenever it appears to the Local Government upon application made to it by any person and after such enquiry as it deems fit that any land is required for any industrial purpose and that the owner, or, where an occupancy tenant of the land exists, the occupancy tenant is willing to sell it, it may, by notification, declare that such land is required by the person making the application for an industrial purpose, and thereafter, notwithstanding anything contained in section 3, Punjab Alienation of Land Act, 1900, a sale of such land to the person making the application shall not require the sanction of the Deputy Commissioner.

Certificate of Director of Industries.

5. Before the Local Government issues a notification under the last preceding section it shall obtain a certificate from the Director of Industries, certifying the amount of land which is requisite for the industrial purpose concerned, and shall not notify any area in excess of such amount.

Effect of notification on rights to object to sale.

6. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Punjab Laws Act, or in any other enactment having the force of law the sale of such land or any portion thereof to the person by whom the application was made, provided that it has been registered within six months of the date of the notification, shall not be invalid on the ground that it is contrary to custom or made without legal necessity nor shall any person be entitled to a declaration that such sale shall not affect his right of succession to such land.

Extinction of easement

7. Wherever under the provisions of this Act any land is sold for an industrial purpose such land shall pass to the person purchasing free of all easements in respect of which such land is a servient tenement.

Non-applicability of section 53 (2 to 11) Punjab Tenancy Act sales of occupancy tenancies.

8. Where such land is land in which any tenant has a right of occupancy under the provisions of the Punjab Tenancy Act, 1887, and a sale thereof or of a portion thereof is made by the tenant having such right of occupancy then, notwithstanding anything contained in section 53, Punjab Tenancy Act, 1887, the provisions of sub-sections 2 to 11 of the said section shall not apply to such sale, provided that upon application made by the landlord the Collector of the District in which such land is situate may, after such enquiry as he thinks fit, direct the payment by the purchaser of the land to the landlord of such amount by way of compensation as he thinks proper, and such amount shall until paid be deemed to be a charge upon such land, and shall be recoverable by the landlord as a charge thereon.

Imposition of conditions.

9. Before issuing any notification under this Act the Local Government may impose upon the person making the application any conditions or demand any security it thinks proper to ensure that the purposes for which the land is required are duly carried out, and may in such conditions or demand impose upon such person liability to any penalties it thinks proper in case such purposes are not carried out within such time as it shall fix.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE Indian Industrial Commission laid stress on the difficulties encountered by industrial concerns in acquiring land. So far as they are connected with compulsory acquisition the matter is being separately dealt with. But there are cases in which a willing transferor is prevented from passing a clear title by local laws or customs. Such cases exist in the Punjab owing to the existence of the Pre-emption Act, and the customary right to control alienation of ancestral property and so forth. It is to limit such rights where land is voluntarily sold for bona fide industrial purposes that this Bill has been framed.

2. Munsiffs, who were in the first grade on 1st April 1921 (whether substantive, sub. pro tem. or officiating), will begin drawing pay at Rs. 300 per mensem.

NOTE.—For the purposes of increment, Munsiffs will count service from the 1st April 1921.

* This period will vary from one to two years according as the departmental examination is passed by the Higher Standard in one or two years.

Munsiffs of other grades will start on Rs. 275 per mensem and will not be promoted to the Rs. 300 stage until they have passed the Departmental Examination in all subjects in which they are liable to examination by the higher standard and have completed one year's service on Rs. 275.

Munsiffs whose age on the 1st April 1921 is over 40 years will be exempted from passing in Group C of the Departmental Examination, but they will not receive increments above Rs. 390 unless they have passed the Departmental Examination by the higher standard in the other groups for which they are liable and are certified by the Hon'ble Judges of the High Court to be fit for appointment as Sub-Judges.

Munsiffs whose age is below 40 years on the 1st April 1921 will not receive any increments unless they have passed the Departmental Examination by the higher standard in all subjects in which they are liable to examination, and have completed one year's service from the 1st April 1921. They will not receive promotion above the efficiency bar which is placed at Rs. 390 unless they are certified by the Hon'ble Judges of the High Court to be fit for appointment as Sub-Judges.

3. Munsiffs admitted to the Punjab Civil Service under this resolution will be eligible for promotion to permanent vacancies occurring in the selection grade of the Judicial Branch of the Punjab Civil Service, particulars in regard to which have been published in Punjab Government resolution No. 10242, dated the 1st of April 1921.

4. Future entrants to the service of Munsiffs will come under the rules in resolution No. 10242, dated 1st April 1921.

ORDER :—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Government of India, Home Department, and the Accountant-General, Punjab, for information, and to the Registrar of the High Court of Judicature at Lahore for the information of the Hon'ble Judges.

Ordered also that it be published in the Punjab Gazette for general information.

RULES FOR THE COMPULSORY RETIREMENT ON THE GROUND OF PROVED UNFITNESS FOR FURTHER ADVANCEMENT OF MEMBERS OF THE BAR APPOINTED DIRECTLY TO JUDICIAL POSTS ORDINARILY HELD BY MEMBERS OF THE INDIAN CIVIL SERVICE.

1. His Excellency the Governor in Council reserves to himself the power, on the recommendation of the Honourable Judges of the High Court, to remove from the service any officer who is proved to be unfit for further advancement.

2. No uniform method of procedure is prescribed for cases in which compulsory retirement is proposed, Government reserves power to adopt any method it pleases of satisfying itself that an officer is unfit for further advancement. Government will not commit itself to so serious a step as the removal of an officer for inefficiency until it has first given him an opportunity for reform by warning and censure No officer will be compulsorily retired until he has had full notice of the grounds on which inefficiency is alleged against him, and an opportunity of being heard in his defence.

3. The pension to be granted to officers compulsorily retired will ordinarily correspond with the scale of invalid pensions admissible on retirement on the grounds of ill-health, but His Excellency the Governor in Council reserves to himself in any given instance the right to determine its amount on a full consideration of the merits of the particular case.

The 5th September 1921.

GANPAT RAI, Esquire.

Sardar DASAUNDA SINGH (22nd and 23rd only).

Saiyad MUHAMMAD HUSSAIN SHAH.

Saiyad GHULAM MUHAMMAD SHAH.

Chaudhri BANS GOPAL.

1. Proceedings of the last meeting were confirmed with the remark that it should be understood that the increase of the grant to Government College, Lahore, for the purchase of science apparatus (item 28) from Rs. 6,500 to Rs. 15,000 was sanctioned only for the current financial year.

2. (i) The Sanctioned Budget for 1921-22 was discussed, and the committee was in favour of items of expenditure, totalling approximately 18 lakhs being postponed.

(ii) In reply to a question by Mr. Ganpat Rai asking why the sum of Rs. 79,900, provided in the budget under the head "5—Land Revenue—Charges of District Administration"—as lump provision for grants to villagers for reclamation of cho beds, should not be cut out, it was explained that the expenditure of Rs. 35,000 on a scheme for re-afforestation and reclamation of the Pabbi Hills at Kharian, which was sanctioned by the Legislative Council in its last session, had been met out of this amount, and that every effort would be made to save as much money as possible out of the balance.

(iii) Mr. Manohar Lal invited attention to the increase in the budget provision for allowance for editing the "Punjab Record" under the head "24—Administration of Justice—High Court" (Rs. 10,908) as compared with the last few years, and asked that inquiries about the details of this expenditure be made. The President promised to furnish the information asked for.

(iv) With regard to expenditure of Rs. 23,000, provided under head "41—Civil Works—In charge of Public Works Officers" (item No. 40 of the Public Works Department, Buildings and Roads Budget) for constructing a new bungalow for the Deputy Director of Agriculture at Gurdaspur, the Committee advised that the Director of Agriculture, Punjab, be consulted as to whether he wished the bungalow to be constructed this year.

(v) In reply to inquiries made by some of the non-official members of the Committee about the details of the following items provided in the budget under different heads, the President promised that a statement containing the required information would be circulated among the members of the Committee at an early date :—

Head.	Details.	Amount.
		Rs.
"35—Industries—Development of Industries."	Contract Contingencies	5,000
Ditto ditto	Other Contingencies	18,440
Ditto ditto	Lump provision for encouragement of Industries.	50,000
Ditto ditto	Other charges in connection with encouragement of Industries.	10,328
41—Civil Works—In charge of Civil Officers—Provincial—Civil Buildings—Repairs.	Public Works and Miscellaneous	26,911
45—Superannuation Allowances, etc.—Superannuation and retired allowances.	Miscellaneous Departments	29,703

The present position with regard to payment of pension to officers who did not serve under the Punjab Government will also be explained.

3. The Committee advised in favour of the following items of expenditure :—

(i) Expenditure of Rs 2,160 on additional appointments of one assistant at Rs. 100—10—200/—10—300, and 3 clerks at Rs. 45—3—90/—3—105, with usual Lahore allowance, in the Civil Secretariat office.

(ii) Expenditure of Rs. 280, on account of wages given by the Deputy Commissioner, Ludhiana, to boatmen engaged to render assistance to certain villagers who were in danger in consequence of the flood in the Sutlej river.

(iii) Expenditure of Rs. 1,200, on travelling and daily allowances to Honorary Inspectors of Co-operative Societies in the Punjab during the period of their training.

(iv) Expenditure of Rs. 9,000, on the improvement of pay and prospects of Provincial Forest Service.

(v) Expenditure of Rs. 5,400, on Additional Agricultural Assistants.

4. The Committee advised in favour of the grant of necessary funds or commencing the settlement operations in the Lower Jhelum Colony tract in the Shahpur District in this cold weather on the understanding that no announcement of re-assessment of this or any other settlement which might hereafter be begun, should be made until orders had been passed on the proposals formulated by the Committee, which was being appointed to consider the whole settlement policy.

5. The Committee advised that rule (2) (b) (ii) of the rules relating to the travelling allowance of members of the Legislative Assembly and Council of State (given below) be adopted mutatis mutandis for the purpose of regulating travelling allowance for journeys made by a member of the Council from Lahore to his residence and back during a session of the Council or a meeting of a Committee of the Legislative Council :—

"For intermediate absence from Delhi or Simla lasting for less than 15 days, a member of the Council of State or the Legislative Assembly will be entitled to draw either the amount of a single first class fare to his official headquarters or usual place of residence and back or his daily allowance for the period of absence whichever is less. For absences of the duration of 15 days or more no allowance of any kind will be admissible."

7. The Committee advised in favour of expenditure of Rs. 1,77,900 on the additional staff required for the Sutlej Valley Scheme.

8. The Committee advised in favour of the expenditure of Rs. 26,000 on re-assessment of the colony area of the Jhang District on the principles adopted for the re-assessment of the Lower Jhelum Colony tract in the Shahpur District (item 4 above).

E. JOSEPH,

Offg. Chief Secretary to Government, Punjab.

The 26th September 1921.

No. 23673.—The following rules for the encouragement of the study of Oriental languages which the Governor in Council has been pleased to make in supersession of the rules published with Government of India Notification No. 80, dated the 6th June 1914, are published for general information. These rules will come into force from the date of this notification and will not in any way affect the Departmental or other language examinations which officers are required to pass under the orders of the Panjab Government:—

I.—These rules are applicable, subject to the modifications stated below, to the following officers while serving under the Government of the Panjab:—

(i) Officers of the Indian Civil Service.

(ii) Military officers in permanent civil employ.

(iii) Officers of the Indian Educational Service.

(iv) Officers of the Imperial Branch of the Indian Police Service.

(v) Chaplains.

(vii) Officers of the Indian Civil Veterinary Department.

(viii) Officers of the Indian Medical Service.

(xi) Engineer Officers of the Imperial Branch of State Railways, and officers of the Superior Revenue Establishment recruited in England.

The following restrictions will apply to officers of the Indian Educational Service, viz., that a professor of any language cannot obtain a reward in that language, and that no officer will be permitted to receive rewards for passing by a given standard in more than two vernacular and two classical languages.

Chaplains are only eligible for rewards for passing examinations in Urdu or Punjabi and no rewards will be given to such officers for passing in Arabic, Sanskrit or Persian. The examination of Chaplains by the Higher Standard is regulated by the military rules, and the scale of rewards admissible to these officers is laid down in paragraph 376 of the Army Regulations, India volume I, with the exception that no rewards will be given for Arabic, Sanskrit or Persian.

Officers of the Indian Medical Service, the Indian Agricultural Service, the Indian Civil Veterinary Department and Engineer officers of the Imperial Branch of the Public Works Department are eligible for rewards for passing the Proficiency and High Proficiency examinations in Urdu and Punjabi, and may also be admitted to the Degree of Honour examination in exceptional cases where Government is satisfied that it is in the interest of the public service that the officer in question should be allowed to take the examination.

Engineer Officers of the Imperial Branch of State Railways and officers of the Superior Revenue Establishment recruited in England are eligible for rewards for passing the Proficiency and High Proficiency examinations in Urdu and Punjabi. The Railway Board will decide in each case whether an officer should or should not be permitted to appear for the examination.

II.—The languages for examination in which above candidates may present themselves, the standards of examination and the donations to be given to successful candidates will be as follows :—

Standards.	Languages.	Donations.	Remarks.
		Rs.
Higher Standard	Persian	800	With certificate from the presiding examiner.
	Arabic
	Sanskrit
Proficiency ...	Urdu	750	With certificate from the presiding examiner.
	Punjabi
High Proficiency	Urdu	1,500	With certificate from the presiding examiner.
	Persian	2,000
	Arabic
	Sanskrit
Degree of Honour	Urdu	3,000	With diploma from the Government of India.
	Sanskrit

III.—No officer will be permitted to present himself for examination by two standards of the same language simultaneously, and there shall be an interval of at least one year between the Higher Standard and High Proficiency tests and also between the Proficiency and High Proficiency tests, and an interval of at least two years between the High Proficiency and Degree of Honour tests in the same language. A candidate may compete for the higher examinations in any language without first undergoing any inferior test, but if he passes in the higher tests, he will not be permitted to go up afterwards and pass the lower test. He may, however, present himself for examination in more than one language on the same day, but in this case he will be required to perfom the exercises within the time allotted for one.

An officer who has passed the Degree of Honour in any language may be allowed to appear again in the same test in that language under the conditions prescribed in rule XV.

IV.—No officer will ordinarily be permitted to appear more than twice as a candidate at the same examination ; but if a special recommendation be made by the examiners, a candidate will be allowed to appear a third time.

V.—No officer will be permitted to earn a reward for passing an examination by the Higher Standard or the Proficiency Standard after the expiration of ten years or the High Proficiency Standard after the expiration of fifteen years, counted from the date of his first arrival in India. In the case of an examination for the Degree of Honour standard there shall be no limit of time and an officer will be permitted to earn a reward by passing this examination at any time within the period of his service.

VI.—Officers may be permitted to attend the examinations after the expiry of the periods specified in rule V, but no reward will be granted to them if they pass; and their leave must be limited to such time as may be necessary to enable them to attend the examination, and no extra expense must, under any circumstances, be caused to the State. In such cases it will be within the competence of Local Government to refuse applications for permission to attend any particular examination, when compliance with such applications would involve inconvenience to the public service.

In the case of military officers in permanent civil or political employ, the limit of time specified in rule V, within which an officer can earn a reward for the Higher Standard, the Proficiency and the High Proficiency examinations, respectively, may, for special reasons, be extended by the Punjab Government.

In its application to police officers the period of time specified in rule V will be reckoned in the case of officers appointed after an examination held in this country from the date of appointment in India, the date of first arrival in India holding good for officers selected in England.

In the case of an officer of the Indian Educational Service or a Chaplain the period of time will be counted from the date of his first appointment to the Educational or Ecclesiastical Departments, respectively.

VII.—Officers who are natives of India are not eligible for rewards for passing in the vernacular of the district in which they were born or educated. The Local Government shall determine in each case what languages come within this definition.

VIII.—Examination will be held quarterly on the first Monday in January, April, July and October of each year by the Board of Examiners at Calcutta.

When the first Monday in a month or a quarter is a gazetted holiday, the examination will be held on the following Monday or, if that is also a gazetted holiday, on the next working day thereafter.

NOTE.—The term gazetted holiday should be held to mean—

(1) Holidays prescribed or notified under section 25 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881.

(2) Holidays on which, by Government Notification in the Gazette, any public office is ordered to be closed for the transaction of public business without reserve or qualification.

In addition to the quarterly examinations held at Calcutta, the Secretary to the Board of Examiners, Calcutta, will conduct examinations twice annually at Lucknow and Lahore in March and in September or October, as necessity may arise, as follows:—

Lucknow	...	Urdu—Proficiency, High Proficiency and Degree of Honour. Persian—Higher Standard. Hindi—Proficiency and High Proficiency.
Lahore	...	Urdu—Proficiency, High Proficiency and Degree of Honour. Persian—Higher Standard and High Proficiency. Hindi—Proficiency and High Proficiency.

The exact dates of the examinations and the places at which they will be held will be notified to intending candidates on application to the Board of Examiners, Calcutta.

Examinations in Punjabi by the proficiency standard will be held at Lahore twice a year in the last week of April and the first week of November under the orders of the Director of Public Instruction, Punjab.

Officers desirous of attending examinations for which they are eligible must apply for leave to do so to the Commissioners of Divisions or Heads of the Departments in which they are serving at least three months before the date of examination. The application must be accompanied by a certificate, from the Accounts Officer under whose audit control the applicant is serving, of his eligibility under rule V to appear at the examination, and should be forwarded in sufficient time to reach the Board of Examiners or the Examination Committee concerned, in the case of High Proficiency and Degree of Honour at least six weeks, and in the case of other examinations at least one month, before the date of examination. In the case of the Proficiency examination in Punjabi, the application should be forwarded to the Director of Public Instruction, Punjab, by the Commissioner.

An officer who has been granted permission to appear for an examination, but decides not to avail himself of it should intimate his decision to the Board of Examiners or the Examination Committee concerned at least ten days before the date of the examination.

IX. (A).—The following are the subjects of examination for the Higher Standard in Sanskrit :—

(a) Construing, with readiness and accuracy, from the prescribed text-book—the "Riju Pátha," Parts I, II and III, by Iswar Chandra Vidyáságar.

(b) Translating accurately and with correctness of idiom and grammar not less than half an ordinary octavo page of plain English into Sánskrit.

(c) Reading manuscripts fairly and translating them readily and correctly. They should not be written with the clearness of a printed book, nor yet in a very cramped or crabbed hand, but in such a manner as fairly and honestly to represent the written character generally employed.

(d) Vivá voce translation into Sanskrit of a paper of English sentences.

Max Muller's Sanskrit Grammar, edited by Macdonell.

(B).—The following are the subjects of examination for the Higher Standard in Persian :—

(a) Construing, with readiness and accuracy, from the prescribed text-book—the "Hadíqa-yi-Fasáhat" (containing selections from the "Tárikh-i-Sásáníyán," the "Safar Náma-i-Shāh-i-Irán," and the "Narrative of Mr. Hortestet," translated by I'timád-us-Sultana).

(b) Translating accurately and with correctness of idiom and grammar not less than half an ordinary octavo page of plain English into Persian.

(c) Reading manuscripts fairly and translating them readily and correctly. These manuscripts may be selected from the proceedings of a case in court, from reports or petitions addressed to civil or military authorities, from letters passing in the ordinary course of business or from private correspondence. They should not be written with the clearness of a printed book, nor yet in a very cramped or crabbed hand, but in such a manner as fairly and honestly to represent the written characters generally employed.

(d) Vivá voce translation into Persian of a paper of English sentences and conversing in the examiner's presence with a native of Persia, with fluency and with such correctness of pronunciation, grammar and idiom as to be at once intelligible.

Grammar recommended, one or both of the following :—

Modern Persian Conversation Grammar, with Key, by the Revd. W. St. Clair-Tisdall.

Modern Persian Colloquial Grammar by Dr. Fritz Rosen.

(C).—The following are the subjects of examination for the Higher Standard in Arabic :—

(a) Translation from English into Arabic (written).

NOTE.—This translation should be marked with the vowel points.

(b) Vivá voce translation into Arabic of a letter on a simple subject.

(c) Vivá voce examination in the prescribed text-book—(Ar-Rauzatu-z-Zakíyah, omitting pages 39 to 69, 129 to 143, 189 to 219, and 309 to end).

(d) Reading and translating Arabic manuscripts of moderate difficulty, selected as in rule IX (B) (c) above.

(e) Conversation of a simple character in Arabic with an Arab.

Grammars recommended :—

Thatcher's Arabic Grammar, with Key.

Birwood's Arabic Reading Book.

Tien's Manual of Colloquial Arabic.

Candidates to be successful in any of the above examinations by the Higher Standard must obtain 50 per cent. of the marks in the aggregate and not less than 60 per cent. of the marks in conversation and 35 per cent. of the marks in each of the other subject.

X.—The following are the subjects for the Proficiency examination :—

(a) Written translation from English into the Vernacular.

(b) Written translation into English of passages from the prescribed text-books and also from other books or newspapers.

(c) An easy paper in Grammar.

(d) Reading and translating vernacular manuscripts of moderate difficulty.

(e) Conversation with a native of the country, including a paper of short idiomatic sentences in English to be translated into the vernacular orally at sight.

35 per cent. in (a), (b), (c) and (d), 60 per cent. in (e), and 60 per cent. in the aggregate are required to pass.

XI. The following are the subjects for the High Proficiency examination :—

(a) Translating viva voce with readiness and accuracy from the prescribed text-books and answering questions arising out of the passages in which the candidate is examined.

NOTE.—In Persian, half the passages for translation will be selected from the prescribed text-book and half from other works.

(b) Written translation into English of a previously unseen passage in narrative style selected from the current literature of the day.

NOTE.—This rule does not apply to Sanskrit. The passages set for translation from Arabic and Persian into English will not necessarily be in narrative style.

(c) Written translation, with accuracy of idiom and neatness of expression into the language in which the examination is held, of an English paper in narrative style.

NOTE.—The translation into Arabic should be marked with the vowel points.

(d) Written translation of a paper of idiomatic sentences in English into the language.

NOTE.—The translations into Arabic should be marked with the vowel points.

(e) Conversation in the language (except in Sanskrit) with a native of the country. In this portion of the test the candidate will be expected to converse freely and fluently on general subjects.

NOTE.—In the case of Arabic and Persian, the candidates must exhibit a competent knowledge of the modern spoken idiom. Candidates in Arabic will be required to converse with an Arab speaking, as far as possible, a pure Arabic. In the case of Persian, the conversation may be with a native of Shiraz, Teheran or Gilan.

(f) Reading and translating at sight manuscripts in the language.

(g) Vivâ voce translation at sight into the language of a paper in English placed before the candidate. This translation as it is made will be written by a munshi as dictated by the candidate, who will be permitted to correct his translation when completed upon its being read out to him by the examiner. The time occupied in this exercise will be taken into account in awarding marks.

(h) A paper of grammatical questions.

Candidates to be successful in any of the examinations by the High Proficiency standard are required to obtain not less than 60 per cent. of marks in the aggregate and not less than 60 per cent. in conversation and 35 per cent. in each of the other subjects.

XII.—The following are the subjects for the Degree of Honour examination :—

(a) A written examination in the prescribed books, the papers set in which will include questions in grammar (including philology) and prosody.

NOTE.—In Persian half the passages for translation will be selected from the prescribed text-books and half from other works.

(b) Written translation into English of difficult unseen passages in prose.

NOTE.—The passages will, in all languages, except Sanskrit be selected from the current literature of the day.

(c) Written translation into English of difficult unseen passages in verse.

(d) Translating into the language a difficult passage (or passages) in English with such accuracy, elegance, and idiomatic excellence as shall show eminent proficiency in the language.

NOTE.—The translations into Arabic should be marked with the vowel points.

(e) Conversation with a native of the country. The candidate will be expected to speak fluently and accurately. There will be no examination in conversation in Sanskrit.

NOTE.—In the case of Arabic the candidate will be expected to converse with an Arab speaking, as far as possible, pure Arabic. In the case of Persian the conversation may be with a native of Shiraz, Teheran or Gilan.

(f) Reading and translating at sight difficult manuscripts in the language.

(g) Vivâ voce translation at sight into the language of a paper in English placed before the candidate. This translation as it is made will be written by a munshi as dictated by the candidate who will be permitted to correct his translation when completed upon its being read out to him by the examiner. The time occupied in this exercise will be taken into account in awarding marks.

(h) A short composition in the language in the form of a letter or an essay on one of three or four given subjects.

(i) A paper on comparative philology, with special reference to Sanskrit.

(j) A paper on Grammar and Prosody.

XIII.—The Degree of Honour examination will be of a searching nature, and the exercises, both oral and written, must be performed with such excellence as distinctly to establish a claim to eminent proficiency.

XIV.—In the case of Persian, Arabic, and Sanskrit the Degree of Honour examination will comprise papers on the following subjects :—

(a) Language Test (as in rule XII) ;

(b) History and Religion ;

(c) History of Literature.

Candidates will be required to obtain the usual pass marks in each paper.

XV.—Successful candidates for the Degree of Honour will be arranged in two divisions according to the number of marks obtained. For the first division, 80 per cent. of the marks must be obtained in the aggregate and not less than 60 per cent. in any one paper : for the second division, 60 per cent. must be obtained in all subjects, and not less than 45 per cent. in any one paper. The full reward and diploma will be granted only to candidates passing in the first division and their names only will be published in the Gazette of India, candidates passing in the second division will be granted half the rewards fixed for the first division.

A candidate who has passed the Degree of Honour in any language in the first division may appear again in the same test in that language after an interval of five years, and if he passes in the first division, receive half the reward prescribed for that division. A candidate who has passed in the second division may appear again in the same test in that language after an interval of two years, and if he passes in the first division, receive half the original reward prescribed for the first division, as well as the diploma.

MEDICAL.

RESOLUTIONS.

No. 5193-S. (Home-Medl.).

Dated Simla, the 20th September, 1921.

WITH the approval of His Majesty's Secretary of State for India the Punjab Government (Ministry of Education) is pleased to sanction the revised rates of pay detailed in the following paragraphs for Military Assistant Surgeons in independent medical charge of civil stations in the Punjab.

The new scale will have effect from 1st April 1920.

	Pay per mensem. Rs.
Civil Surgeons	600—40—800—50—900.
Selection grade for Civil Surgeons (limited to 25 per cent. of Civil Surgeoncies reserved for Military and Civil Assistant Surgeons)	Rs. 1,000

2. All service as Civil Surgeon or as Superintendent of a Central Jail or a Central Lunatic Asylum, whether officiating or permanent, will count for increments in the new scale.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Government of India, Department of Education and Health, the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Punjab, and the Accountant-General, Punjab, for information.

Ordered also that it be published in the Punjab Gazette for general information.

No. 5194-S. (Home-Medl.).

Dated Simla, the 20th September 1921.

WITH reference to Punjab Government Resolutions No. 3207 (Home-Medl.) and No. 5193-S.-(Home-Medl.), dated 31st January 1921 and 20th September 1921, respectively, sanctioning revised rates of pay for Civil and Military Assistant Surgeons, the Punjab Government (Ministry of Education) is pleased to state that promotions of Civil Assistant Surgeons and of Military Assistant Surgeons to the selection grade of Rs. 1,000, will be in proportion to the Civil Surgeoncies assigned respectively to each class.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Government of India in the Department of Education and Health, the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Punjab, and the Accountant-General, Punjab, for information.

Ordered also that it be published in the Punjab Gazette for general information.

The 23rd September 1921.

No. 23635.—It is hereby notified, with reference to Punjab Government notification No. 20312, dated 3rd August 1921, that the Punjab Government (Ministry of Education) is pleased to make the following addenda and corrigenda to the rules framed in exercise of the powers vested in the Local Government, under section 24 of the Punjab Medical Registration Act, 1916:—

ADDENDA.

1. In rule 13 after the words "notify the vacancy in the Punjab Gazette" add "and shall send a copy of such notifications to all voters of the electorate concerned, at least 30 days before the date fixed for the receipt of nomination papers."

2. In rule 21, clause (3), after the words "by which the candidate is to be elected" add "at least three weeks before the time fixed for the receipt of voting papers or the date, fixed for election."

CORRIGENDUM.

3. In clause (2), rule 16, for "any elector who may apply for the same" substitute "every elector of the group concerned along with the electoral roll for that group at least three weeks before the date fixed for receipt or scrutiny of nomination papers."

The 30th September 1921.

No. 1437-E.—In supersession of this Department notification No. 55-E., dated 6th January 1921, the following revised prospectus of the Government School of Engineering, Punjab, at Rasúl, Gujrát District, is published for general information:—

PROSPECTUS OF THE GOVERNMENT SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING, PUNJAB, RASUL.

1. Object.—The school is designed to give practical, as well as the theoretical, instruction in Civil Engineering with a view to qualifying Punjab students for the Subordinate Engineering Service and the Draftsman cadre of the Public Works Department and for such Engineering Subordinate and Draftsman posts as may be obtainable in the open market. It is a State institution, under the control of the Chief Engineer, Public Works Department, Buildings and Roads Branch, Punjab.

2. Locality.—The School is situated at Rasul, Gujrát District, at a short distance from the head-works of the Lower Jhelum Canal. The site is on high ground, healthily situated overlooking the Jhelum River and Lower Jhelum Canal.

3. Session.—The school session commences on 1st February annually. Candidates who are successful in securing admission either by nomination or competitive examination are required to be present on that date at Rasul with necessary books, etc., as directed by the Principal in the general letter which will be issued to them as soon as possible after the results of the competitive admission examination are published.

4. Course of instruction for the Subordinate Engineering Service.—This course is for two years and embraces the following subjects :—

(a) Surveying and levelling.

(b) Building construction and materials.

(c) Elementary practical Engineering.

(d) Engineering, drawing and elementary design.

(e) Estimating.

(f) Elementary Principles of Sanitary Engineering.

(g) Mathematics, Applied Mechanics, and Hydraulics.

(h) Accounts.

(i) Practical work, including—

(i) Workshop practice and instructions in the working of engines and pumps.

(ii) Observation of river and canal discharges.

(iii) An actual river survey and hydraulic survey of a running channel.

(v) Laboratory experiments.

The medium of instruction will be English.

5. Examinations during the above course :—

(a) Examinations will be conducted half-yearly, and students will be required to attend the whole course to qualify for the certificate.

(b) In the examination at the end of the first year students will be required to obtain 50 per cent. of the total marks and 40 per cent. of the marks in each subject and to have satisfied the Principal as to their work and conduct in order to qualify for admission into the second year's course.

(c) (i) In the final examination at the end of the second year, students who have satisfied the Principal as to their work and conduct and who gain 50 per cent. of the total marks and not less than 40 per cent. in each subject will be granted a Subordinate Engineer's Certificate.

(ii) Students who obtain 65 per cent. of the total marks and not less than 50 per cent. in each subject will be passed "with credit" which will be noted on their certificates.

(iii) Students who obtain 75 per cent. of the total marks and not less than 67 per cent. in each subject will be passed "with honours" which will be noted on their certificates.

6. Course of Instruction for Draftsmen.—This course is for three years and embraces the following subjects. The medium of instruction will be English :—

(a) Building construction and materials.

(b) Engineering, drawing and design of structures including graphical determination of stresses and thrusts.

(c) Estimating.

(d) Process work—ferrotyping, photography.

(e) Mathematics, Applied Mechanics, and Hydraulics.

(f) Principles of levelling and surveying, architectural design and sanitary engineering.

(g) Workshop practice and laboratory experiments.

7. Examinations during the above course —

(a) Examinations will be held half-yearly and students will be required to attend the whole course to qualify for the Draftsman's certificate.

(b) In the examinations at the end of the first and second years students will be required to comply with the conditions as laid down in paragraph 5 (b) above in order to qualify for admission into the following year's course.

(c) (i) In the final examination at the end of the 3rd year students who have satisfied the Principal as to their work and conduct and who obtain not less than 50 per cent. of the total marks in all subjects and not less than 33 per cent. in every one subject will be granted qualification certificates as Draftsmen.

(ii) "With credit" and "Honours" certificates will be awarded to draftsman students who obtain respectively the percentages of marks laid down in section 5 (c) (ii) and (iii).

8. In the above courses for Subordinates and Draftsmen marks are given for Conduct, Attendance, and Physique.

9. Students whose conduct or progress in study is unsatisfactory are liable, at any time, to be dismissed from the school at the discretion of the Principal.

10. On admission to the school all students must provide themselves with books, drawing instruments, and clothing as directed by the Principal. A list of these as at present required may be obtained on application to the Principal. Their cost excluding that of clothing is estimated to be about Rs. 120.

11. Boarding House.—There is a Boarding House, Recreation Hall, Library, and Study Hall in connection with the school for the accommodation and use of the students.

12. Games.—Students are encouraged to play games and are expected to turn out at least once a week for hockey and once for football and every other morning for physical drill unless found to be physically unfit. Facilities are also provided for playing cricket and tennis.

Classes are also given in "First Aid," under the auspices of the St. John's Ambulance Association, whose certificate all students are expected to gain.

13. Fees.—The tuition fee is Rs. 6 monthly.

The Boarding House fee is Re. 1 monthly.

(The subscription to the Games Fund is 8 annas; visits to works 8 annas. Library and Recreation Fund 8 annas monthly, but this is unofficially.)

The total average cost of residence at the school, including a reasonable allowance for food, clothing and miscellaneous expenses including the above fees is estimated to be about Rs. 35 monthly (see also paragraph 9).

14. Vacation.—The annual vacation will be for 2½ months, and will usually extend from 15th June to 31st August.

15. Conditions of Admission to the above Courses.—The yearly admissions to the Subordinate Engineering class will usually fall into four categories as follows :—

(i) Thirty-five students from the British Punjab by competitive admission examination.

(ii) Ten students from the British Punjab by nomination, five of whom must be agriculturists of good family. The five non-agriculturist nominations will be awarded to those whose parents or near relatives have rendered war or other exceptional service to Government.

(iii) Five students who have passed the School Final Examination and have been nominated by the Government of the North-West Frontier Province and for whom a contribution of Rs. 450 per head per annum, towards the cost of maintaining the School, has been paid.

(iv) Five students from Native States for whose tuition double fees will be charged.

16 (a) All candidates in categories (ii) and (iv) whose nominations are approved are required to qualify in all subjects in the Competitive Admission Examination but not to compete. Qualifying marks are not less than 40 per cent of the full marks in each subject and 50 per cent of the aggregate of marks of all subjects.

(b) Candidates whose nominations are accepted and who have passed the matriculation examination but who have not taken drawing will be required to qualify in that subject at the Competitive Entrance Examination.

17. The yearly admissions to the Draftsmen course will be limited to not more than 10 and will be by Competitive Entrance Examination as for 15 (i) above.

18. (a) The Competitive Entrance Examination.—This will be held annually in October on dates to be notified to candidates later.

(b) A list of subjects for examination will be found in Appendix "A" at the end of this Prospectus. It should be noted that the standard required in most subjects will be approximately that of the Matriculation Examination of the Punjab University except in Mensuration, Elementary Geometrical Drawing and questions in the General Paper involving general knowledge which are additional.

19. (a) Applications to appear at the Competitive Entrance Examination must be submitted to the Principal on the prescribed form of application not later than the 15th of September.

(b) Applications must be accompanied by the following:—

(i) Certificate of parent or guardian.

(ii) Original certificate of moral character and age as recorded in the register of the school at which the candidate was last educated and which must be signed by the Headmaster of the school.

(iii) In the case of candidates who have not attended any school for more than one year before making application a certificate of good moral character from a Government official of or above the rank of Tahsildar.

(iv) A registration fee of Rs. 7 for entrance by examination and Rs. 10 for nomination (which will not be refunded if the applicant withdraws after his name has been registered).

20. (a) Applications for Nomination—Must be submitted on the prescribed form of application which must be filled in as directed on the form and submitted to the Principal not later than the 15th of September.

In the space provided on the form will be filled in a brief statement of the candidate's educational qualifications and a specification of the grounds on which he seeks nomination, corroborating by personal knowledge the reasons on which the candidate seeks nomination.

The application must be accompanied by the following:—

(i) The recommendations of one or more gentlemen mentioned in the list in Appendix "B."

(ii) A candidate claiming to be an agriculturist (vide Punjab Alienation of Land Act, 1900, section 4) must submit a certificate to that effect signed by a Government Revenue official of or above the rank of Tahsildar.

(iii) An original certificate of moral character and age as recorded in the register of the school at which the candidate was last educated and which must be signed by the Headmaster of the school.

(b) Admissions will be made in accordance with the Principal's orders subject to the approval of the Chief Engineer, Public Works Department, Buildings and Roads Branch.

21. (a) All candidates for the above courses, whether admitted by competitive examination or by nomination, must be between the ages of 17 and 21 on the first day of October immediately preceding the examination.

(b) All students who are successful in obtaining admission either by competitive examination or by nomination will be required to submit a medical certificate signed by a Civil Surgeon on the prescribed form which will be supplied along with the letter from the Principal to successful candidates informing them of their selection for admission.

22. Forms of application for admission are printed on the reverse of Appendices A and B attached to the prospectus for use of applicants.

23. Applications for admission or for further information should be addressed to the Principal, Government School of Engineering, Rasul, Punjab.

AGRICULTURE.

The 29th September 1921.

No. 321-24—C.-24.—The following rules, which the Punjab Government (Ministry of Agriculture) proposes to make, in exercise of the powers conferred by section 3 of the Punjab Fisheries Act II of 1914, for the regulation of fishing in the Sutlej River and its tributaries in so far as they are situated within the jurisdiction of the Assistant Commissioner, Kulu, are published for general information. The rules will be taken into consideration six weeks after the date of this notification and any objection or criticism received before that date will be considered.

1. The Rules apply to the following water :—
   (1) River Sutlej on the Kulu border from the confluence of Karnadi Gad, to the confluence of Karshai Gad.
   (2) Karnadi Gad.
   (3) Kajo Gad.
   (4) Kurpan River.
   (5) Bawa Gad.
   (6) Karshai Gad.

2. No person shall fish in the waters specified in Rule 1 except under a license to be granted by the Assistant Commissioner, Kulu in Form F. I. attached to these rules.

3. The licenses shall remain in force from 1st January to 31st December of each year.

4. The charge for a license shall be Rs. 2 per season. Full fees shall be charged for any broken periods.

5. It shall be a condition of every license granted under these rules that the licenseholder is permitted to fish with the following kinds of gear only :—
   (a) Nets of all kinds provided that no net shall have at any portion of it a mesh of less than 1¼" bar measure, i.e., from knot to knot, or 5 inches all round.

(b) Long line with hooks.

(c) Rod and line.

(d) Spear.

6. It shall be a further condition of every license that the licensee shall be bound to report to the Assistant Commissioner, Kulu, Naib-Tahsildar, Seraj or an Officer of the Fisheries Department any breach of the rules that comes to his notice.

7. The licensee shall not employ nor engage any person (other than his own children under the age of 16) to help him with nets, unless the person so employed is also a license-holder.

8. The licensee shall not be entitled to erect fixed engines (Chip or Bhei, etc.), dams or weirs or to divert water for catching any fish.

9 The use of poison, lime dynamite or other noxious or explosive substances, with intent thereby to catch fish, is strictly prohibited.

10. All apparatus erected or used for fishing in contravention of these rules may be seized and taken to the nearest Police Station by any person empowered under section 6 of the Act to arrest without warrant for offences under the Act, and all such apparatus may be forfeited on conviction of the offender under section 5 of the Act.

11. The Assistant Commissioner may cancel the license of any person convicted of a breach of these rules or under any section of Act IV of 1897.

10. A certificate signed by the Sanitary Commissioner and the Examining Board will be presented to successful candidates, which will render them eligible for employment as Sanitary Inspectors.

11. The fee for examination will be Rs. 25 and no candidate will be admitted to the examination until this fee is paid at the office of the Deputy Sanitary Commissioner and unless he has attended four-fifths of the lectures and demonstrations in each subject.

12. Candidates passing in the aggregate but failing in one or more subjects will be allowed to re-appear at the next examination for the subject or subjects in which they have failed, on payment of the examination fee, without attending a second course.

Candidates who fail at the second appearance to pass the examination will only be allowed to re-appear for examination after having undergone a second course of training and will be required to re-appear in all subjects. Such candidates will not be given any preference over ordinary candidates when selection is made for the course.

13. The examination will not necessarily be confined to the subjects mentioned in the syllabus which is to be regarded merely as a general guide.

14. The Sanitary Commissioner will maintain a register in which the names, etc., of persons qualified to be Sanitary Inspectors will be inscribed.

1. Proceedings of the last meeting were confirmed.

2. The committee was in favour of the further items of expenditure noted in the statement attached to the agenda being retrenched from the sanctioned budget for 1921-22.

3. The committee advised in favour of the following items of expenditure:—

(i) Expenditure of Rs. 225 on the purchase of 100 copies of Urdu translation of "India in 1920."

(ii) Expenditure of Rs. 15,000 on grants to needy inmates of the Settlements of Criminal Tribes.

(iii) Expenditure of Rs. 59,000 on the revision of pay of Deputy Superintendents of Police.

(iv) Expenditure of Rs. 8,000 on rental of godowns in Bombay for stocking sufficient quantities of Jallo rosin and turpentine.

(v) Expenditure of Rs. 5,18,080 on an additional grant for development of exploitation work in Bashahr.

(vi) Expenditure of Rs. 5,500 on the appointment of a Road Engineer and Secretary, Communications Board, from 1st November 1921.

(vii) Expenditure of Rs. 22,000 on furniture purchased for the new suite of rooms in Government House, Lahore, for the use of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. (Note.—Mr. Ganpat Rai thought that the furniture should be sold afterwards.)

(viii) Expenditure of Rs. 1,87,920 on 191 posts of teachers for 11 board schools which have been provincialised.

(ix) Expenditure of Rs. 5,245 on the revision of the lowest grade of the clerks of subordinate offices of the Education Department.

(x) Expenditure of Rs. 20,000 on increased staff required for the Sind-Sagar sub-rectangulation work.

(xi) Expenditure of Rs. 1,02,563 on temporary additional Police rendered necessary by the disturbed state of the Province.

(xii) Expenditure of Rs. 5,63,000 on the purchase in April 1922 of the Cathedral Girls' High School buildings, Lahore.

(xiii) Expenditure of Rs. 27,000 on the purchase of motor-cars for the use of His Excellency the Governor.

(xiv) expenditure not exceeding eight lakhs required by the Public Works Department, Irrigation Branch, on account of heavy damage by monsoon floods and insufficient budget provision for the revision of the pay of establishment.

(xv) Expenditure of Rs. 6,500 on sale of grain at rates cheaper than the market price to members of Criminal Tribes in industrial settlements.

(xvi) Expenditure of Rs. 45,19,000 on the grant of loans to agriculturists for taccavi.

(xvii) Expenditure of Rs. 4,374 payable to the Lahore Diocesan Board of Education on account of interest at 6 per cent. on Rs. 3,59,558 for the period from 23rd April 1921 to 5th July 1921.

4. With regard to item (15) the committee considered that letter No. 4928-G., dated the 20th of September 1921, from the Registrar, High Court of Judicature at Lahore to the Financial Secretary to Government, Punjab, with reference to an inquiry about the details of the provision of Rs. 10,908 for editing the Punjab Record under the head "21—Administration of Justice—High Court" did not explain the situation clearly, and advised asking the Registrar, High Court, to justify the appointment of three editors in place of one who did the work formerly. The committee also asked to see a statement of accounts showing the expenditure and the receipts from the sale of the Punjab Law Report.

5. The committee advised in favour of the following sums out of the unspent balance from their contract grants for 1920-21 being added to the current financial year's grant at the disposal of—

	Rs.	A.	P.

Deputy Commissioner, Attock ...	1,387	0	0

6. Attention of the committee was invited to the Punjab Government letter No. 5873-S. F., dated 3rd October 1921, to all Heads of Departments, regarding the financial situation of the Province and the necessity for the exercise of the strictest economy.

7. The committee advised in favour of the expenditure of Rs. 2,880 on additional Police staff for the new Chaklala Cantonment. The President promised to look into the question whether the pay of Police in cantonments ought to be met by the Government of India or not.

8. The committee supported the resolution relating to capital projects which Government proposes to undertake in the near future subject to the following remarks :—

(i) As regards items 3—5 of Part I of the statement of capital projects, the committee should be furnished as soon as possible with a statement showing the existing income from and expenditure on these projects. (Note.—Mr. Ganpat Rai requested that the information should be supplied to the members of the committee before commencement of the next Council session).

(ii) As regards items 1—3 of Part II of the statement of capital projects, the committee advised in favour of the construction of the houses only on the understanding that private enterprise is not forthcoming to provide capital to build them.

(NOTE.—The President promised to lay on the table a list showing the classes of officials who are to be provided with Government quarters at these places.)

9. As regards expenditure of Rs. 1,60,000 in connection with the visit in the Punjab of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, the committee was of opinion that before any demand is put before the Legislative Council, full details of the expenditure and explanations of the various items should be made available.

LAHORE:

COMMERCE DEPARTMENT.

The 18th October 1921.

No. 25237.—The following is published for general information :—

List of questions for witnesses giving written evidence for the Indian Fiscal Commission.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

The following questions have been framed with a view to indicating the main aspects of the enquiry to be undertaken by the Fiscal Commission, so far as the President and those Members of the Commission whom he has been able to consult can at present judge of them. Sections A and B are intended to cover the general problems which will arise for consideration in determining the future direction of fiscal policy and in deciding whether India should adopt a policy of Imperial Preference. The remaining sections contain questions designed to elicit not only the opinions but the definite experience of those engaged in the various branches of industry and commerce. In the case of answers to these questions the Commission will naturally attach special importance to conclusions resting on a solid foundation of facts and figures.

2. It is not intended that those who are engaged in industry and commerce should confine themselves to the special sections dealing with their particular business. On the contrary, there are many questions in Sections A and B which require for their adequate consideration an intimate acquaintance with business conditions, and it is hoped that those who have such special knowledge will give the Commission the benefit of their general views on the important and difficult problems that arise.

3. As explained above, the questions are designed to cover the whole field of the enquiry, so far as it can be outlined at this stage. It is not therefore expected that each witness should attempt to answer all the questions. If a witness wishes to give his views on any points relevant to the enquiry which have not been included in the questionnaire, it would be convenient that such points should be dealt with in a supplementary statement.

4. The Commission is inviting either directly or through Local Governments various associations and individuals to forward in writing their replies to the questionnaire. The Commission will also be glad to receive replies from any associations or individuals not so invited who may wish to represent their views. Copies of the questionnaire can be obtained from the Secretary, Indian Fiscal Commission, Simla, on application.

5. The Commission assembles in the first half of November and the early receipt of written replies to the questions would greatly facilitate its work. After perusal of the replies the Commission will select certain witnesses for oral examination. To give adequate time for this, it is requested that replies may be despatched so as to arrive at least three weeks before the date on which the witness is likely to be examined. The provisional programme of the tour of the Commission indicating the approximate dates on which oral evidence will be taken at each centre is as follows :—

QUESTIONS FOR WITNESSES.

A.—General.

The existing Indian import tariff is based primarily on revenue considerations. But it has been modified with a view to admitting free or at the favourable rate of 2½ per cent. articles the cheap import of which was considered desirable in the interests of the country. Thus certain raw materials, manures, agricultural implements, dairy appliances and cotton yarn are admitted free. Machinery, iron and steel and railway plant and rolling stock pay only 2½ per cent. ad valorem. The general rate, under which come the bulk of imports, is 11 per cent. ad valorem, while certain articles such as motor cars, jewellery and silk goods have been specially subjected from revenue considerations to a duty of 20 per cent. Sugar is charged at a special rate of 15 per cent. and high duties are imposed for revenue purposes on tobacco and liquors. An excise duty at the rate of 3½ per cent. is levied on all woven cotton goods manufactured in power mills in British India.

Export duties imposed for revenue purposes are at present levied on raw and manufactured jute, rice and tea. In 1919 an export duty was also imposed on raw hides and skins, with a rebate of ¾ of the duty on hides and skins exported to any part of the Empire. The object of the duty was partly to foster the Indian tanning industry and partly to maintain a key industry within the Empire.

A Revenue Tariff.

1. Do you generally favour a policy of free trade or production? If the former, have you any objection to the imposition of customs duties for the purpose of obtaining revenue?

2. Do you consider that a tariff provides a more or a less suitable form of taxation for India than direct taxation? If fresh taxation were necessary would you prefer an increase in customs to an increase in direct taxation?

3. If you accept the principle of imposing a tariff for revenue purposes, would you suggest any change in the list of articles taxed or in the rate of taxation?

4. Do you consider that the tariff should continue to be based on existing principles? If so, please explain your views as to the advantages of this policy.

5. What effect do you consider the existing tariff policy has had on Indian industries in the past, and what effects on Indian industries would you anticipate from a continuance of this policy in the future?

6. When a duty is imposed on an article imported from abroad do you approve in theory or in practice of imposing an excise duty on the same article manufactured in India?

7. If you favour the imposition of excise duties, is it on the ground that no protection of any kind should be afforded to the home manufacturer as against the foreign manufacturer?

8. Can such duties be imposed without raising the price to the consumer?

A Protective Tariff.

9. Do you consider that the tariff should be framed primarily with the object of fostering Indian industries? If so, please explain the advantages anticipated,

10. Do you look forward to India becoming in time independent of other countries in regard to all her requirements of manufactured goods, or do you consider that there are certain manufactured goods for which she is always likely to be dependent on other countries? If you hold the latter view, can you furnish a list of articles for which India will have to depend on other countries?

11. Would you, for the purpose of developing Indian industries, favour the imposition of protective duties on all imported manufactures or only on some?

12. If you favour the protection of some industries only, which would you select for protection and on what principles?

13. Do you consider it desirable to establish new industries by protection? If so, on what principles would you select them?

14. Would you confine protection to industries which are likely after a period to be able to face foreign competition without such assistance, or would you contemplate the establishment of industries which would be likely to require continuous assistance?

15. Would you grant special protection against foreign goods favoured by such measures as dumping, bounties, subsidies or transport concessions? If so, what means would you suggest for ascertaining the exact facts and what measures would you advocate to afford the necessary protection?

16. What is your attitude towards hand industries and in particular towards the cotton handloom industry? Do you wish them to be maintained or not?

17. Is there any danger in India of protection leading to combination among the protected manufacturers in order to maintain a quasi-monopoly price? If so, what safeguards would you suggest to counteract the effect of such a combination?

18. Do you think that, if a protective policy is adopted, it is likely that British or foreign industrial firms will endeavour to establish themselves in India in order to get the benefit of the protective tariff? If so, what would be your attitude towards such a movement?

19. In countries under a protective system it sometimes happens that producers of raw material ask for protection, while manufacturers who use the raw material oppose them, wishing to get their raw material as cheaply as possible. In the same way a demand of the spinning industry for protection is sometimes opposed by the weaving industry whose interest lies in cheap yarn. Do you think that conflicts of interest of this nature would be likely to arise in India and that if they did arise there would be any difficulty in adjusting them?

Effect of Protection on prices and on the consumer.

20. When an import duty is imposed, do you consider that ordinarily the whole or any part of it is passed on to the consumer in a rise of price?

21. If a protective duty causes a rise in price, is that rise likely to be permanent or not?

22. Would you be willing to accept an increase in price to the Indian consumer for the sake of developing Indian industries?

23. In considering the above question would you have regard to the point whether the protected article was a necessary of life? If so, what articles would you class as necessaries?

24. If you hold that an increase in the tariff rates would tend to increase the cost of living in India do you think the increased cost would be covered wholly or in part by a rise in wages or salary for—

(a) the industrial wage earner.

(b) the agricultural wage earner.

Effect of Protection on Foreign Trade.

25. What effect do you consider a policy of protection would have on the foreign trade of India and on the general commercial position and prospects of the country?

Use of Tariff for bargaining.

26. Do you consider that the existence of a tariff which could be used as an instrument for bargaining with other countries would be advantageous to India?

27. If so, would you recommend the adoption of general and special tariffs, the special being applied to countries from which India receives favourable treatment?

28. If the tariff is to be used in this way, would it be necessary to make it more detailed than it is at present ?

29. If a policy of protection were adopted, would you recommend any kind of permanent organization for investigating the claims of various industries to protection from time to time and for the periodical readjustment of tariff rates ? Organisation for investigating the claims of Industries.

30. What is your view of the proper function of export duties ? Do you think that they should be imposed only for the purpose of raising revenue or do you think that they may be utilised for other purposes also ? Export duties.

31. What do you consider generally is the effect of export duties on the export trade ? Can they in certain circumstances be imposed without injury to the trade ? If so, in the case of what trades in India could this be done, and to what extent ?

32. Would you consider it advisable to impose an export duty on a raw material in order to encourage its retention in India either for purposes of manufacture or for any other purpose ? If so, please examine instances in which you would recommend such action and consider whether it would have any effect on the producers of the raw material and the amount they would produce.

33. Do you consider that it would be of advantage to India to impose an export duty on foodstuffs with a view to controlling their export and thereby lowering Indian prices and the cost of living ? What effect do you consider such action would be likely to have on the agricultural interests and on the quantity of foodstuffs produced in India ?

34. Would you consider it advisable to impose an export duty on a raw material in retaliation for an import duty imposed by a foreign country on the manufactured article ? If so, please examine cases in which you would recommend such action.

B.—IMPERIAL PREFERENCE.

At present reduced duties are levied by Canada, Australia, South Africa and New Zealand on a number of articles imported from the United Kingdom. In Canada, Australia and New Zealand the preferential duties are usually about $\frac{3}{4}$ of the full duty, though the fraction varies considerably both above and below this figure. The South African preference is a small one and is usually only a rebate of 3 per cent. ad valorem.

The United Kingdom has recently established preferential rates which are granted to the whole Empire on nearly all articles on which import duties are levied in the United Kingdom. The preferential rate is as a rule either $\frac{5}{6}$ or $\frac{2}{3}$ of the full rate.

A number of the smaller colonies grant preferential rates to the United Kingdom, and there are also various agreements between different parts of the Empire for mutual preference.

The countries which at present levy a lower rate of duty on certain goods imported from India as compared with the general duty levied on imports from foreign countries are the United Kingdom, Canada and New Zealand.

The articles of interest to India on which such lower duties are levied in the United Kingdom are tea, coffee and tobacco. These are all charged $\frac{5}{6}$ of the full rate. In the case of Canada the only Indian imports of any account are tea, jute cloth and raw hides. There is no duty on raw hides or jute cloth. On Indian tea the rate is 7 cents. per lb. as against the rate of 10 cents. on tea imported from countries outside the Empire. New Zealand imports from India a small quantity of tea which pays 3*d.* per lb. as against the rate of 5*d.* charged on tea imported from outside the Empire, and a small quantity of candles which are charged 1½*d.* per lb. instead of 2½*d.* Other imports from India into New Zealand are for the most part either free or receive no special treatment.

35. Are you on general grounds favourable to the idea of Imperial Preference ? If so, do you think that India would be justified in risking any appreciable economic loss for the sake of Imperial Preference ?

36. Would you differentiate between the policy to be adopted towards the United Kingdom and towards other parts of the Empire ?

37. Do you anticipate any material loss or gain to India from a system of Imperial Preference ? In particular, do you apprehend any likelihood of retaliation by foreign countries against India ?

38. If you are in favour of preference, can you give a list of articles imported into India and exported from India to which the policy of preference might be applied ? What would you consider a reasonable average rate of preference ?

39. What principles would you apply in selecting articles to which preference might be given on import into India? Would you give preference in the case of goods which India hopes in time to manufacture mainly or entirely for herself, or only in the case of goods for which India is likely to have to depend on other countries?

40. If preference were given by raising the import duties on goods coming from foreign countries, the existing rates being maintained for British goods, do you anticipate that this would raise the price to the consumer or not?

41. Do you think that a system of Imperial Preference is likely to increase or diminish the total volume of Indian imports or exports, or to alter appreciably the proportion between them and thus affect the balance of trade?

42. Do you consider that the partial or complete diversion of trade from foreign countries which might result from Imperial Preference would have any effect on India's general trade position?

C.—MANUFACTURES.

43. Are you interested in any industry and if so in what capacity?

44. Do you consider that there are natural advantages for the industry in India? If so, please enumerate them.

45. Do you consider that the industry is essential to the national security or of substantial importance to the economic prosperity of India?

46. What is the state of organization and equipment of the industry in India as compared with that in other countries?

47. On what markets does the industry depend for the sale of its output?

48. What foreign competition (including for this purpose competition from the United Kingdom or other parts of the Empire) does the industry have to meet—

(a) in the Indian market;

(b) elsewhere?

Does this competition extend to all or only to particular classes of goods, and does it vary with different classes of goods?

49. Apart from questions of organization and equipment are there any special circumstances, natural or artificial, which give the competing country an advantage?

50. Do you think that the industry needs protection? If so, what rate of duty do you consider it is necessary to impose? Please give in detail the facts and figures on which you base your conclusions.

51. Do you think it likely that if protection is granted, the industry will eventually reach a level of development which would enable it to face foreign competition without the aid of protection, or do you think the industry will always remain to a greater or less degree in need of protection?

52. Does the industry ever suffer from dumping? If so, do you wish to suggest any remedy?

53. Is competition from other countries accentuated by depressed exchanges in those countries?

54. If so, is this phenomenon likely to be temporary?

55. Do you consider that any remedy is required? If so, what would you suggest?

56. Has the industry received any benefit from the successive enhancements of the tariff beginning in 1916? Can you describe the effects, so far as yet apparent?

57. Do you think the industry has suffered in any way from export duties? If so, please give in detail the facts and figures from which this conclusion is drawn.

58. Is the finished product of the industry used as the raw material for any other industry? If so, to what extent?

59. Does the industry use as its raw material the finished product of any other industry which is established or is likely to be established in India?

60. Would you prefer a system under which all industries would receive a more or less uniform protection, or one under which industries receive varying amounts of protection in accordance with their needs ?

D.—EXPORT TRADE.

N.B.—These questions are intended not only for actual exporters, but also for those who produce for export.

61. What articles do you export and to what countries ?

62. Are you interested in any of the articles on which export duties are levied ? If so, what do you consider has been the effect of these duties ?

63. Do you recommend the increase, reduction or abolition of any of the existing export duties ?

64. Is the Indian export trade in any way hampered by high import duties imposed in certain countries ? If so, do you consider any action feasible or desirable ?

65. Do you think the export of any articles in which you deal would be stimulated by a preferential rate granted by the United Kingdom or any of the Dominion or Colonies ? If so, what would you consider the minimum rate of preference for each article which would exercise an appreciable effect ?

66. Do you consider that the lower duties at present levied on certain imports from India into the United Kingdom or Canada or New Zealand, as compared with general duty levied on imports from countries outside the Empire, have had or are likely to have any beneficial effects on the Indian trade in those articles ?

67. Do you think that any foreign country whose trade might suffer by a system of Imperial Preference would be able without injury to itself, or would be likely even at the cost of injury to itself, to penalise the Indian export trade to that country ? If so, what are the Indian exports that might suffer ?

68. If owing to a system of Imperial Preference the imports from certain foreign countries diminished, do you consider that this would tend to have any effect on the volume of Indian exports to those countries ?

69. If so, would there be an alternative outlet for these exports, without economic disadvantage, within the British Empire or in other foreign countries ?

E.—IMPORT TRADE.

70. What articles do you import and from what countries ?

71. Have you observed any effects on your trade in particular articles from the year 1916, up to date, which can be ascribed in part or in whole to the changes in the rates of import duty ?

72. Do you consider that an appreciable increase in the present tariff rates would seriously diminish the volume of imports ? Can you give instances of any important commodities in which such a result is likely to occur ?

73. What would you expect to be the effect on the import trade of a preference given to British goods—

(a) if the preference were given by maintaining the existing rate for foreign goods and reducing it for British goods ;

(b) if the preference were given by maintaining the existing rate for British good and enhancing it for foreign goods ; and

(c) if the preference were given by a combination of (a) and (b), i.e., raising the rate for foreign goods and reducing it for British goods ?

74. If Imperial Preference were introduced would you recommend that the same preference on the same goods should be granted to all constituent parts of the Empire, or would you treat each part of the Empire separately, taking into account the question of what reciprocal benefits India would receive ?

75. Do you think it likely that a system of Imperial Preference would diminish or increase the total import of any class of goods, or would it merely tend to alter the proportion in which that total is derived from foreign and British countries ?

76. Would any undesirable results follow from diverting the source of Indian imports from foreign to British countries ?

77. If you are favourable to Imperial Preference, to what articles would you be prepared to extend a preference if imported from the Empire or particular parts of the Empire, and what would you suggest as the amount of that preference ?

78. Do you approve of the system of ad valorem customs duties, or would you prefer that the duty should be specific, i.e., a fixed charge for a given weight or measure ? If you prefer the latter system, what are your views on the necessity of readjusting the duties from time to time ?

F.—RETAIL TRADE.

79. What are the principal imported goods in which you deal ?

80. To what extent can changes in the retail prices of imported goods from 1916 onwards be attributed to the increases in the import duties during that period ? Can you give details of any such changes in retail prices with which you are familiar ?

81. In the case of any important classes of imports can you give any figures showing to what extent demand diminishes as prices rise ?

82. Have the increases in the tariff since 1916 affected your trade in any way ?

83. What would you expect to be the effect on your trade if imports from the United Kingdom or from the whole Empire were taxed at existing rates, while the duty on imports from foreign countries was raised ?

The proceedings of the Inspectors' Conference held in Lahore in April, 1921.

REMARKS :—Certain important matters discussed in this Resolution will be submitted later to a General Conference or to special Committees for opinions ; and the Resolution itself will also be placed before the Education Committee of the Legislative Council for general discussion. It is hoped by this means to focus public opinion on a number of important problems which demand attention, and thus enable the Minister to have the benefit of the views held by non-officials as well as those of officials :—

I.—EXPANSION AND IMPROVEMENT OF VERNACULAR EDUCATION IN RURAL AREAS.

2. Expansion of Education.—In 1918, a survey was made of the requirements of each district ; and maps showing the location of existing schools and of proposed new schools were drawn up. The object was so to arrange the development of vernacular education that schools would be established at every centre where an average attendance of fifty pupils might be expected provided that a distance of two miles ordinarily intervened between any two schools. To achieve this object, an additional 298 middle schools and 4,060 primary schools, making a total of 4,358 additional schools and a grand total of 9,144 schools, would be required.

3. A five-year programme of development was then formulated by each district, in consultation with Government, by which it was hoped that within five years an additional 122 middle schools and 1,463 primary schools, making a total of 1,585 new schools, would be established ; and that a number of private or elementary schools would be converted into board schools. These figures, however, are somewhat misleading. Since that time, the four-year primary school and the lower middle school have come into existence. In consequence, a larger number of middle schools and a proportionately smaller number of primary schools will be required.

4. The progress made during the first three years of the programme, viz., 1918-19, 1919-20 and 1920-21, has been, on the whole, satisfactory ; in particular, when it is remembered that some of the boards were unable to make a punctual start. During this time the number of vernacular schools maintained by district boards has increased by 1,246 schools to a total of 4,800 schools, a larger proportion of these being middle schools than was originally anticipated. Government is anxious to mark its appreciation of the admirable efforts made by certain district boards to carry out expeditiously their programmes of expansion ; in particular, the Multan and Attock boards. These districts which, a few years ago, were regarded as backward in the matter of education, are now among the more advanced in the whole province. On the other hand, certain boards, notably those of Simla and Montgomery, have done but little to carry out their programme.

5. There were, in April last, 4,800 vernacular schools maintained by district boards. In addition to these, there were on that date 890 aided schools, 121 unaided schools and 1,551 elementary schools, making a total of 7,362 schools. It may be stated, as a rough estimate, that the number of board schools should be doubled, which can be effected both by the establishment of new schools and by the conversion of some of the private and elementary schools into board schools.

6. It is clear from the note by Syed Maqbul Shah appended to the proceedings of the Conference and from the proceedings themselves that, in some respects, the working of the five-year programme has not been either smooth or uniform. The rate of expansion has differed considerably between the several districts ; there has been some misunderstanding in regard to the mode of assessing grants ; the survey maps are somewhat out-of-date owing to changes in the nomenclature of schools and to other causes ; the scale of salaries varies to a marked degree in the several districts ; it is doubtful whether the number of trained teachers has risen sufficiently to meet the increasing demands ; and it seems probable that insufficient care has been given to the location of new schools with a view to their attracting economically large numbers. It is possible also that, at the inception of the programme, certain inspectors were somewhat inexperienced in their new duties; and that constant transfers, a matter which is engaging the attention of Government, have added to the difficulty. In view of these objections, it is for consideration whether it would be wise to impede the completion of the five-year programme by any radical and hasty changes in the system. Such changes would take many months to effect; and the consequent dislocation would be considerable. Steps, however, can be taken, in consultation with the district boards and other educational authorities, to prepare plans for the revision of the system on the completion of the programme in 1923. Government has also created a new post, that of Inspector of Vernacular Education, to which Syed Maqbul Shah, an inspector of ripe experience, has been appointed. The services of this officer are available to any district board or educational authority which needs his advice or assistance. He has also been instructed to consider the financial embarrassment of certain boards which are either unable to complete their programmes or have completed their programmes already and are desirous of further expansion and improvement. The explanatory definitions in paragraph 1 (i) of the proceedings of the Conference are approved; as also is the proposal that, for statistical purposes, the numbers of upper and lower middle schools should be shown in separate entries. The Inspector of Vernacular Education is also preparing a pamphlet explaining the procedure in assessing grants for the use of inspecting officers and district boards.

7. Attendance.—The number of pupils in schools maintained by district boards has increased from 191,747 in 1917 18 to 256,137 in 1920-21. This increase, though fairly satisfactory on the whole, is by no means commensurate either with the increased expenditure or with the increased number of schools. It is probable that several subsidiary causes have contributed to this somewhat disappointing result. It may be that the fees act as a deterrent in certain cases, but it should be pointed out that the total sum collected in fees in all district board primary schools in 1919-20 amounted to only Rs. 69,479; that the sons of agriculturists and kamins are admitted free to primary schools; that exemptions from fees are permitted on the score of poverty up to a maximum of 25 per cent. of the total number; and that, in spite of these exemptions, the fee-paying pupils predominate in a large number of schools. Again, there is considerable apathy on the part of parents. It is for the consideration of educational authorities whether further changes in the school hours and sessions might not be made to suit the convenience of parents. The influenza epidemic and the general unsettlement of the past few years have naturally militated against a satisfactory attendance at school. Government would, however, bring to the notice of district boards and inspecting officers the following suggestions:—

(a) Frequent transfers of teachers are opposed to progress and sustained effort.

(b) There is a great need for propaganda work among the villagers, in which connection Government is considering the desirability of increasing the assistant inspecting staff.

(c) In some places, village education committees might be constituted, one of whose duties might conveniently be the responsibility to the district board for the repair and even the construction of school buildings.

(d) Education sub-committees of district boards (on which the district inspector might find a place) might also serve a very useful purpose Members of such committees, district officers and tahsil authorities could also do much to stimulate interest in the village schools and to maintain efficiency in them.

(e) More attention should be paid to the proper location of schools. Statistics are now being collected; and such as have been received record a very large number of schools with an attendance of below thirty and, indeed, a large number whose attendance only reaches single figures. In the Hissar District, for example, there are as many as 28 schools with an attendance below 10; and 83 schools with an attendance below 20. Detailed figures will be published later.

(f) School masters should also feel that the attendance at their schools will be taken into account. Inspectors should make mention of any marked success or failure in this respect on the certificates of the teachers concerned. And district officers and inspectors might utilise opportunities of giving public recognition to those teachers who have shown energy in increasing the numbers at school. The proposal, in paragraph 1 (f) of the proceedings of the Conference, that the sums of money placed at the disposal of divisional inspectors for rewards should be used chiefly for the encouragement of good work in primary schools commends itself to Government.

8. Improvement of Education.—Attention is also drawn to the remarks of the Director of Public Instruction in his note appended to the proceedings of the Conference: "It is a platitude—though often forgotten—that the expansion and the improvement of vernacular education must march together. If too much energy and money are devoted to improvement, it is obvious that expansion must suffer. If, on the other hand, a disproportionate amount of money and energy are given to mere expansion, there will be a danger of the teaching being so indifferent that (a) parents may not consider it worth while sending their sons to school, and that (b) the pupils, on leaving school, may still be illiterate or, shortly after leaving school, will relapse into illiteracy." Government would impress upon all concerned the necessity of maintaining this difficult and delicate balance. Upon this, the very foundations of an educational system depend. Reference has been made above to the necessity for expansion; and, in subsequent paragraphs of this resolution, attention is directed to the need for improvement, in particular in the provision of school buildings and of trained teachers and in the revision of the duties of the inspecting staff. In regard to the school curriculum, Government would urge that the main function of a primary school is the removal of illiteracy. With this end in view, it would be unwise to introduce in the primary stage much beyond the three R's. The proposals of the Conference regarding the improvement of the teaching of nature study and the introduction of practical gardening are of value. In the middle stage, however, Government is strongly of the opinion that vocational training might well be introduced into the curriculum, but these matters will be discussed later.

9. There is, however, a matter of fundamental importance which should be discussed here. In recent years, there has been a somewhat rapid conversion of middle vernacular into anglo-vernacular schools, and a still more hasty introduction of optional English in middle vernacular schools. Government is anxious to meet as far as possible the popular demand for instruction in English, but at the same time feels that these experiments should be watched with the greatest care. It is from the middle vernacular schools that primary school teachers are recruited; the creation of optional English classes renders difficult the introduction into the curriculum of practical and vocational training; though the fees, in the main, meet the recurring charges of the optional English classes, the capital expenditure is a heavy imposition on the local educational authorities; and the provision of a large increase in the number of capable English teachers presents many difficulties. In certain other provinces similar experiments have been made, but on a very limited scale. Government is therefore of opinion that, while in no way desirous of impeding progress in these directions, these questions should be referred to a committee of official and non-official members, which will shortly be appointed.

10. Finance.—The financial aspect of the expansion and improvement of vernacular education in rural areas is somewhat disturbing. In 1918 the expenditure on grants to district boards amounted to Rs. 12,66,359. It is estimated that during the current year expenditure under this head will be not less than Rs. 24 lakhs. Thus Government expenditure on vernacular education has been nearly doubled in the short space of four years. Apart from the cost of expansion, the main causes of this increased expenditure are (a) the substitution of lower middle for primary schools; (b) the increase in the pay of teachers; (c) the increased cost of equipment; and (d) the general change in economic conditions resultant upon the war. It is difficult to estimate what would be the additional recurring expenditure required for the completion of the total programme of vernacular education which was planned in 1918; but a rough estimate would place the figure at double the present amount. And this does not take into account capital expenditure on buildings, etc.; the education of girls; the needs of urban areas; and the necessary concomitants of expansion such as an increased inspecting staff and an increased provision for the training of teachers. There is, however, some compensation in the fact that there is already accommodation for more pupils in many of the existing schools. There is thus a means ready at hand to increase the attendance at school without any serious addition to expenditure.

11. It is also disturbing to find that many of the district boards experience considerable financial embarrassment in meeting their educational obligations, though certain boards have failed as yet to make satisfactory progress in carrying out their programmes. Statistics are being prepared (which will be published later) to show what proportion of its net income each board spends on education. On the receipt of information and figures which have already been applied for, Government intends to reconsider the rates at which certain boards have been assessed but, in the present financial stringency, it is doubtful how much relief can be given. The finances of some district boards, however, have recently been relieved to some extent by the provincialisation of eleven high schools hitherto maintained by them, the money thus saved being directed to the needs of vernacular education.

12. Salaries.—In this connexion, reference should now be made to the scale of teachers' salaries. Government is in agreement with paragraph 1 (e) of the proceedings of the Conference that the minimum scale of salaries is now inadequate. The varying conditions of service in the several districts also afford an anomaly which should be removed as far as possible. Information is being collected; and, in all probability, a maximum scale of salaries should also be enforced, beyond which Government will not be under an obligation to contribute. Government intends to refer these matters to a General Conference.

II.—MATTERS NOT CONSIDERED BY THE CONFERENCE.

13. It is unfortunate that the Conference was unable to discuss the question of compulsory education, the education of girls and the activities of municipalities, but these important matters will be discussed at the next Conference, if not earlier.

14. Compulsory Education.—In regard to compulsory education Government would point out that, under the Punjab Act No. VII of 1919, district boards and municipalities are permitted to introduce compulsory education within their areas and that Government will contribute half the additional expenditure incurred. Two municipalities, those of Multan and Lahore, have taken advantage of the Act to introduce compulsory education. Government has recently received a number of petitions signed by members of the poorer classes in Multan against the introduction of compulsory education on the plea that it violates their religious liberties. It is hoped that the Press and leaders of public opinion will do all within their power to support the Municipality and to explain to those who think themselves aggrieved that the introduction of compulsory education is for their ultimate good, and that their religious liberties are in no way imperilled. Great credit is due to the Multan Municipality for its energy and initiative in this respect; and it would be a great disaster to the cause of education if its well-conceived measures on behalf of its citizens were frustrated or even impeded by what can only be a misunderstanding.

15. Government is hopeful that other municipalities will follow in the wake of Multan and Lahore. In regard to rural areas, the suggestion is offered to district boards that, in certain tracts of country where there is already a reasonable provision of schools and where such schools are poorly attended, compulsion might appropriately be enforced. It is understood that some such proposals are already under consideration.

16. The adoption of compulsory education throughout the province, however, needs a thorough investigation and discussion. Premature action would lead only to confusion and possibly even to a reaction against a cause which all leaders of public opinion have at heart. Largely increased facilities for the training of teachers will be required; the salaries of teachers, in many cases, need improvement; increased school accommodation is urgent; and for these and other purposes new sources of revenue will have to be tapped. Government has not, however, been apathetic in the matter. The Director of Public Instruction, acting on the instructions of the Minister for Education, is already engaged in collecting the necessary statistics and information required for an adequate discussion of this vast problem. All this will take time, but there will be no unnecessary delay. It is the intention of Government to refer to a committee of officials and non-officials the necessary statistics as soon as they have been collected and collated; and that committee will also have the advantage of the experience gained by the Multan and Lahore Municipalities.

III.—SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

17. The attempts made during the last few years to provide school buildings have met with but little success, except in a few districts. Spasmodic extravagances with long intervals of apathy, are not calculated to achieve success in this respect. In the first place, district boards have in many cases neglected even to spend the amounts allotted to them by Government in past years. Information under this head has already been invited And, in the second place, many boards, in particular the Ludhiana District Board, spend extravagantly high sums on the erection of school buildings. Government has already taken action on the main proposals of the Conference under Circular Memorandum No. 6301-A, dated 13th May 1921 (a copy of which, for convenience, is attached to this letter). Nearly Rs. 3 lakhs have been distributed this year to district boards; and the remainder of the grant will shortly be disbursed in accordance with the initiative and energy shown by each board. Revised building plans in which certain economies have been suggested have also been prepared and forwarded. Inspectors are requested to forward to Government as soon as possible information under the following heads regarding the progress made in each district since the inception of the five-year programme :—

(a) Amount of Government grant received up to date;
(b) Amount contributed by each district board and by private subscriptions;
(c) Amount spent up to date;
(d) Number of buildings erected and cost of each project;
(e) Extensions of school buildings and cost of each project;
(f) Number of schools requiring new buildings or extensions to existing buildings.

18. Government, however, would take this opportunity of emphasising yet again the need for economy in formulating proposals for buildings. The needs of the many are of far greater importance than the comfort and the convenience of the few. In some cases katcha buildings, such as are now being erected in the Multan and Dera Ghazi Khan Districts, might be feasible; the possibility of economy by means of thatched roofs should be considered; and the suggestions of Syed Maqbul Shah should be taken into account. In regard to the other proposals of the Conference in this connexion :—

(a) The proposal, under paragraph 11 (b) of the Proceedings of the Conference, that repairs to the buildings of primary schools (and, it may be added, the erection of such buildings, if practicable) should be included among the functions of the village panchayats or village educational committees, if constituted, is referred for favourable consideration by district boards.

(b) Expedition as well as economy is essential in the matter of school buildings. Government therefore approves the general principle that some simplification of the procedure is required. The opinions of Commissioners are therefore invited in regard to the suggestions in paragraph 11 (c) and (d) of the Proceedings.

(c) The suggestion made by the Conference at the end of paragraph 11 (a) of its Proceedings that district boards might with advantage establish depôts at suitable centres in each district for beams, girders, doors and window-frames and other stock material likely to be used for the construction of primary schools is also referred to district boards for consideration.

(d) At the time of the initiation of the five-year programme, Government hoped that the cost of erecting primary school buildings might be reduced by the villagers concerned by contributions either in money or in kind, particularly the latter. Provided that the procedure is simple and payments are promptly made by the district board, it is possible that in some cases the work of erecting school buildings might be undertaken by the villagers themselves.

19. It appears that there is a misunderstanding in the minds of certain district boards in regard to their responsibilities for school buildings, which misunderstanding Government desires to remove at once. Some district boards, especially those which are assessed at 100 per cent., seem to think that they therefore have no obligation in regard to school buildings. Last year, Government gave grants amounting to Rs. 3 lakhs for this purpose; and for this year Rs. 6 lakhs have been voted by the Legislative Council. It is doubtful whether, in view of the financial stringency and in view of other and even more pressing needs, this amount can be materially increased. The resources of Government being thus limited, the provision of better school accommodation will be indefinitely postponed unless district boards can contribute something and unless they make a more prompt and economical use of the money available from past savings. Revised instructions are now being prepared.

IV.—Indigenous and Elementary Schools.

20. Government is in general agreement with the treatment of indigenous and elementary schools proposed by the Conference, especially as these schools, though often falling short of the board schools in efficiency, serve a useful purpose as pioneers in backward areas. Moreover, at a time when the funds of Government and of local bodies are so limited and the needs of expansion so great, it would be inadvisable to neglect the assistance given by these schools. At the same time, they provide a sentimental link with the past and, in some cases, afford such religious instruction as parents desire. Government therefore does not consider it anomalous to encourage these schools to a greater degree than it has in the past, and at the same time to favour the conversion of these schools into board schools when occasion demands. But care should be taken, as suggested by the Conference, to provide by the reduction of grants against marked inefficiency and to protect the board schools against unnecessary competition.

V.—The Training of Teachers.

21. Government has been particularly interested in the proposals of the Conference in regard to the training of teachers, and in the memorandum prepared on the subject by Lala Ram Chandra; for the efficiency of a school depends upon the competence of its teachers. It is probable that this Province is more fortunate than most others in the provision made for the training of teachers; but it is doubtful whether the present provision for training is such as can stand the financial strain of rapid expansion. For this reason a new post of Inspector of Training Institutions has been created, in which Lala Ram Chandra is now officiating. The duties proposed by the Conference for this officer in paragraph IV, (i) to (v), of its proceedings are approved, but Government is also considering whether additional functions cannot be undertaken by this officer. The proposals contained in (vi) and (x) of the same paragraph also commend themselves to Government. One of the main duties of the Inspector of Training Institutions will be to make a survey of the existing facilities and to make proposals for their expansion. It will be seen from Lala Ram Chandra's memorandum that the several normal schools vary much in their success and popularity and therefore much depends upon their permanent location. It may be of interest to place below the number of stipendiaries at each training institution during the current and the previous years, from which it will be seen that not only is attendance more satisfactory than in past years, but also that Government has increased the number of stipendiaries to be accommodated without any material addition to the staff. Government has already acted on the proposal made in paragraph IV, 2, (i) of the proceedings of the Conference; and, without additions to the staff, it has been found possible to accommodate an additional 29 at the Hoshiarpur Senior Vernacular College, and an additional 6 at the Lyallpur College. The statistics of attendance at training institutions are as follows :—

In regard to senior vernacular students, there were last year three senior vernacular classes attached to normal schools with a total enrolment of 104 students; while this year there are four such classes with a total enrolment of 139 students. After calculating the increased attendance at the Lyallpur and Hoshiarpur Colleges, there are 70 more senior vernacular teachers under training than last year; and 166 more junior vernacular teachers.

22. Government is not yet convinced that, as would appear to be the contention of Lala Ram Chandra, the multiplication of normal schools is the only means of expansion. The Inspector of Training Institutions has been instructed to submit proposals whether in some of the existing normal schools a larger number of stipendiaries cannot be accommodated. It is probable that certain large towns are unsuited to be the location of normal schools, but there are certain educational centres where a large normal school could conveniently be located. It is intended to refer the means whereby training facilities can be materially expanded to a General Conference. It is also the intention of Government to provide each normal school as soon as possible with a practising school building. In regard to the other proposals of the Conference—

(a) Government is disappointed to hear from Lala Ram Chandra that agricultural communities contribute less than half the total strength of the normal schools, but intends to continue to give preference to these communities. On the other hand, if a sufficient number of agriculturists are not forthcoming stipends may be offered to non-agriculturists.

(b) District boards are invited to consider the proposal of awarding additional stipends to students, especially to those belonging to the agricultural classes, who are being trained for service under the board deputing them to the school. It would be reasonable to bind down by contract such stipendiaries to the service of the board for a certain period of time.

(c) The attachment of senior vernacular classes to normal schools is approved. These classes have been continued at Multan, Sargodha and Karnal; and a similar class at Jullundur has been revived.

(d) The report of the Sub-Committee formed under paragraph IV (ix) of the proceedings of the Conference is awaited.

(e) Government would also add in this connexion that a good supply of vernacular middle schools in suitable rural centres is indispensable to a good supply of candidates for training.

23. The provision of facilities for training of anglo-vernacular teachers is, however, more complicated and difficult, as much depends upon the decision in regard to the conversion of vernacular into anglo-vernacular schools and to the creation of optional English classes in middle vernacular schools. It has already been decided that the Central Training College in Lahore, with its pressing needs for the provision of higher training, cannot much longer cope with the training of junior anglo vernacular teachers. Accommodation has therefore to be made for them elsewhere. The segregation of such teachers under training in separate institutions is both uneconomical and unsuitable. Apart from his professional training, a junior anglo-vernacular teacher requires also a considerable degree of general training and, if possible, association with a large and well-conducted college where he will come into intimate contact with students preparing for other walks in life. It is the intention of Government, therefore, to include the training of teachers in the courses of the proposed Intermediate Colleges. The detailed arrangements have been referred to a committee. When the junior anglo-vernacular class has been removed from the Central Training College, increased provision can be made for the training of students for the degree in teaching and for the senior anglo-verancular certificates.

INSPECTION.

24. Government have read with interest the proceedings of the Conference, paragraphs V, X, XI and XII, which deal with inspection arrangements, and the relations between the inspecting staff and the headmasters of high schools on the one hand and with local authorities on the other. These are matters which have attracted attention in many quarters, particularly in the Legislative Council where many questions have been asked on the points discussed by the Conference.

25. The position of headmasters in relation to the district inspecting staff.—It is clear both from the memorandum submitted by the Director of Public Instruction to the Conference and from the proceedings of the Conference itself that the discontent among the teaching staff is not without foundation. In regard to their emoluments Government has noticed that whereas all the posts of district inspectors are now included in the Provincial Educational Service, only five posts of headmasters are included in that service. This is very galling to headmasters who, under the old system, could reach the salary of Rs. 400 per mensem, but are now limited to Rs. 250. Apart from the inequalities in pay between the district inspectors and the headmasters, the present arrangements are not such as to enable the services of members of the Department to be used to the utmost of their efficiency. On the one hand, the work of an inspector requires considerable powers of physical endurance, while the work of a headmaster, on the other hand, needs experience and administrative capacity. But the present system rarely enables the Department to relieve a district inspector who is advanced in age from the physical fatigue inseparable from his work and to utilise his experience and administrative capacity in the equally important position of headmaster of a large school.

26. In regard to the assistant teachers in high schools, the recent revision has undoubtedly improved considerably the conditions of service, but the problem of ensuring a reasonable rate of promotion to those who prove themselves efficient is yet unsolved. Such promotions can only be arranged where the middle grades of a service are larger in numbers than the upper and the lower grades. By that means competent men in the lower grades can obtain promotion at a fairly uniform rate of progress into the middle grades of a service which, in the case of a large number, represents the extent of their deserts, and the very competent men can, as occasion offers, be promoted to the higher grades. Unfortunately, in the Subordinate Educational Service, the lower grades are out of all proportion to the middle and the higher grades, and therefore promotion is, as has been represented, slow and haphazard. Moreover, the problem has been, and will be further, complicated by the provincialisation of high schools under local authorities, as the disproportion between the several gradings is being thereby emphasised to an even greater degree. There is a still further complication due to the necessity from time to time of appointing new recruits of capacity and experience to the middle or upper grades of the service.

27. The problem is therefore very complicated and difficult. Government is still considering certain solutions to these difficulties and hopes soon to come to a conclusion. In any case, particularly in view of the financial stringency, change can only be effected gradually. Some relief of a subsidiary nature, however, can be made at once, and Government has decided to review the qualifications of its more competent teachers when there are vacancies in the Provincial Educational Service posts attached to the colleges and, more particularly, in the new intermediate colleges in which experience rather than high academic qualifications will often be desired from the members of the staffs.

28. The position of headmasters in relation to the district inspecting staff is also a difficult problem, but one more easy of solution. It entails, however, a drastic recasting of the inspection arrangements, but such is also demanded by other reasons. In the first place, it is advisable that the divisional inspector should be responsible for the proper inspection of all high schools in his division as it is necessary for the inspector concerned to take a wider view of their needs and to possess a larger measure of independence than is possible for a district inspector. It follows therefore that the district inspector will not be responsible for all the schools in his district but, as will be seen later, there are other and more suitable duties which will claim his almost undivided attention Secondly, to place a headmaster, whether of a Government or of a private high school, under the authority of the district inspector militates against the status of the headmaster and consequently affects the position of the school itself. The status of a headmaster and of a district inspector should be equal, as both are carrying out equally important duties, though of a widely different nature. Government is therefore generally in agreement with the principles laid down by the Conference in paragraph 9 of its proceedings. The solution of the difficulty would appear to lie in a concentration of certain duties in the divisional inspectors on the one hand and in a decentralisation of other duties on the headmasters concerned on the other. The C. M. No. 10774-G of the 4th November, 1920 (the object of which was merely to define the respective positions and duties of divisional and district inspectors) is therefore being redrafted on these lines.

29. Methods of Inspection.– Government is in agreement with the Conference that changes are also required in the methods of inspection. The present system of inspection would appear sometimes to miss its true object because (a) the number of inspection visits is laid down too rigidly, and (b) the object of such visits is not always realised with sufficient clearness. The general practice at present is for the divisional inspector, accompanied by the district inspector, possibly by one or two of the assistant district inspectors and by specialist assistants in certain subjects, to inspect a given school. This, however, is not all. A compulsory 'surprise visit' is made later in the year, and there are also separate visits by additional specialist inspectors, e.g., those in drawing, science, physical education, Arabic and Sanskrit It seems clear that the work of a school is somewhat needlessly harassed by such a large number of visits, and moreover there must necessarily be a lack of purpose in such spasmodic inspections. The methods of inspection therefore need revision. The duty of an inspector should not be confined to remarking in the log-book that the teaching of history in the sixth class is weak, and that the teaching of arithmetic in the seventh class is only fair. The primary object of inspection is not the detection of faults, but rather the encouragement of what is good in a school. The downward path of many a school has been paved by yards of sound, but neglected, criticism in log-books. The pages of many a log-book also reveal the fact that the existence of faults has been noted year after year, but little effort has been made to remove them. What is wanted is a continuity and persistence of purpose in inspection. Government has therefore arrived at the following decisions which take the shape of the acceptance of certain principles rather than of the enunciation of definite and detailed instructions. Considerable latitude should be given to each divisional inspector in putting into practical effect these general principles :—

(i) The divisional inspector is responsible for the inspection of all high schools in his division.

(ii) At the beginning of each year the divisional inspector should summon a conference of those other inspectors in his division whose assistance he intends to use materially in his work of inspection. Teachers from aided schools may also be invited to the Conference at the discretion of the inspector; and it is also suggested that certain professors of colleges and members of the training college and normal school staffs within the division might also receive an invitation.

These officers have a first-hand experience of the qualifications of pupils from high schools who proceed to colleges and should therefore be able to offer valuable advice and criticism. The object of these conferences should be to take stock of the general position and to map out a definite plan of campaign for the coming year. This plan of campaign should not attempt to cover the whole ground, but rather the removal of a few long-standing defects, e.g., the prevalence of untidiness in written work, the weak teaching of English, or the initiation of some new scheme such as the introduction of vocational training. This concentration on certain points of improvement will not, of course, exempt inspectors from the duties of general inspection. The fact that it had been decided to improve the teaching of geography should not result in a total neglect of history. It is also for consideration whether, in a subsequent conference, certain teachers who have been marked out for excellence in a particular branch of teaching should not be invited to read a paper or, better still, to give some practical exposition of their methods The number at a conference should not ordinarily exceed twenty persons ; otherwise, declamation might take the place of discussion. The invitations and agenda for each conference should be submitted to the Director of Public Instruction in September of each year for approval ; and the proceedings of each conference should be submitted to him later for information. Divisional inspectors should also explain in their annual reports their programmes and add remarks as to their success or failure.

(iii) Frequent inspections should be avoided as much as possible.

An inspection may be of two kinds ; (a) a business inspection for the purpose of assessing a grant or of recognising a department of a school ; or (b) an educational inspection for the purpose of giving criticism and advice in school methods and management. Under present conditions, an inspection under (a) is an annual necessity, but need not be of a detailed nature. It should be conducted by the divisional inspector or his delegate, and does not necessarily require an inspecting committee. Inspections under (b) are, however, quite different. They should not be an annual necessity in the case of all schools but, for the present, should take place at least once in every two years In these days of specialised teaching specialised inspection is also essential ; and a divisional inspector, however well-qualified, cannot be expected to cover the whole ground of a school curriculum. It is the duty, therefore, of divisional inspectors to form ad hoc inspecting committees for each educational inspection. The number of such committees should not exceed five ; and should usually be less. The divisional inspectors should form these committees in such a way as to guard against any unnecessary expenditure of time and money in travelling. It is possible that a divisional inspector might require a district inspecting officer to travel beyond the limits of his district. Government has therefore decided to give the ordinary travelling allowances in such cases, but they should be reported to the Director of Public Instruction at the end of each year. It is also suggested that, if practicable, professors of colleges or members of the staffs of training colleges within the division might conveniently be members of a few of these committees within their divisions. Such committees should be formed without the assistance of the specialist assistants to the inspectors. Government has decided therefore to abolish as soon as possible these posts and to utilise elsewhere the services of the present incumbents. Government would again emphasise the necessity of inspection committees having some definite object in view beyond the fortuitous detection of faults in a school. Reports in the log-book (which should only be written by the divisional inspector or by his delegate) should therefore be more brief than in the past and of a more general nature, emphasis being directed to those matters which the preliminary conference had decided to be of urgent importance. 'Surprise visits' should be arranged by the divisional inspector only when there is a particular object in view.

30. It is expected that, under these revised arrangements, separate visits by the specialist inspectors of Arabic and Sanskrit, drawing, science, and physical education will not be necessary any longer. It is probable that the new methods of teaching, which have recently been introduced by these inspectors, especially in drawing, manual training and physical education, can best be extended to the schools by the leaven of the teachers trained by them than by spasmodic and separate inspection visits. It is the intention of Government, therefore, to transfer these specialist inspectors, when occasion offers, to the Central Training College. It is probable, however, that divisional inspectors will require their presence from time to time at their annual conferences ; and, should a divisional inspector be dissatisfied with the teaching of any of these subjects, he should apply to the Principal of the Central Training College for the services of the inspector concerned who could then make a short tour with him and report fully on the matter. Short pamphlets are also under preparation by these inspectors, which will explain the objects of the new methods of teaching. With the assistance of these pamphlets, inspectors and inspecting committees should generally be able to decide whether the teaching is being conducted in the spirit of the new methods which have been recommended by the specialist inspectors.

31. One of the objects in the above instructions is to demarcate as clearly as possible the duties and responsibilities of the divisional inspectors on the one hand and those of the district and assistant district inspectors on the other hand. Divisional inspectors will as heretofore be in general charge of all educational activities within their divisions ; but they will be held responsible, in particular, for the inspection and general supervision of high schools. These duties will, however, be beyond the powers of a divisional inspector without additional assistance The number of high schools is increasing rapidly ; the task of provincialising high schools under the management of local authorities is difficult ; and the work in office does not decrease when divisional inspectors are on tour. This matter is under consideration. District Inspectors and their Assistants, though they will, if required, serve on inspecting committees, will confine themselves almost exclusively to primary and middle school education. It is clear from what has already been said that extravagance, delay and inefficiency have resulted from an insufficient number of inspectors. Building surveys (which should be kept up to date) are urgently required in many districts; careful investigation of the attendance returns of each school is needed to reduce the number of uneconomically small schools; active propaganda work among the parents is desirable; and helpful inspection, in particular in primary schools where untrained teachers are in independent charge, is essential. Vigilance is also required to prevent the recurrence of petty extortions by school teachers such as have recently come to the notice of Government. It will be seen from the statistics provided by the Director of Public Instruction in his memorandum submitted to the Conference that, in certain districts, the number of assistant district inspectors is inadequate. It was originally the hope of Government to provide one assistant for every eighty schools, but such a proposal would entail a larger expenditure than could be afforded. Inspectors have already been invited to submit their recommendations under this head.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING.

32. Industrial education is now being administered by the Department of Industries; but steps are being taken to ensure that the Departments of Industries and of Education will be in intimate contact with each other. Reference is not made now, therefore, to industrial schools pure and simple; but there is an urgent need and demand for some practical and vocational training to be taken in addition to a certain measure of general training in the ordinary schools. It is easy to over-estimate the need and the demand for such training; and it is easy also to under-estimate the expenditure which will be involved thereby—expenditure which must inevitably counteract development in other directions. The Punjab Government, however, takes an optimistic view of the future of vocational training and is anxious as soon as possible to expand the facilities for such training. It prefers again to enunciate general decisions and not to hamper the work by detailed instructions—

(a) The problem of vocational training should not be tackled in a piecemeal fashion, but Inspectors have been instructed to make a broad survey of the needs of each division and to ensure that an equitable distribution of facilities for vocational training should be made between the several centres in each division.

(b) The main object of primary education is the removal of illiteracy. The primary curriculum should therefore be as simple as possible; but efforts are being made to improve the teaching of nature study.

(c) In the middle stage, an expanding amount of time might be devoted by such pupils as desire it to the study of practical agriculture in rural middle schools and to industrial training in urban schools. Commercial education should not be introduced before the high school stage.

(d) The courses and curricula are being revised so as to enable these forms of training to be introduced as optional subjects.

(e) In most instances, the adoption of the "Centre system", i.e., a central institution which will be available to pupils from all schools within that centre, is preferable to the provision of such forms of training in individual schools. The equipment is bound to be expensive; skilled teaching is hard to find; and supervision to be effective should be centralised as far as possible.

33. Survey of vocational training.—It may now be convenient to tabulate what has already been done and what is proposed in the several forms of vocational training—

34. Manual training.—The object of manual training centres is primarily to train the eye and hand; they are not intended to be carpentry schools.

35. Agriculture.—In its circular memorandum No. 77, dated February 19th, 1919, the Punjab Government decided that rather than start a number of separate agricultural schools, an effort should be made to give an agricultural bias to the general teaching imparted in rural middle schools by the introduction of training in practical agriculture. The special features of the scheme were that (a) a farm should be attached to the school with an area and equipment sufficient for practical training on a reasonably large scale, and that (b) the training should be given, not by one of the ordinary school teachers but by a teacher selected and trained for that purpose. The farms are maintained by the district board concerned which is responsible for the payment of the teacher who receives an additional allowance of Rs. 10 per mensem, Government being responsible for the provision of the land and the necessary initial outlay. A special training class (with a course of one year) was started temporarily at the Lyallpur Agricultural College, but the intention has been to move the class to the proposed Senior Vernacular Training College in the same town.

Government is gratified to hear that, in the main, the experiment has proved a success and that, though the training is usually optional, it is undertaken by the vast majority of the pupils in each school where such training is offered. It is therefore all the more disappointing to find that the Jullundur District Board has resolved not only to provide no more training of this nature, but even to disregard its obligations to those teachers whom it sent to Lyallpur for training. Government has therefore made the following decisions:—

(i) The attention of district boards and of inspectors is directed to the necessity of increasing the number of middle schools in which practical agriculture is taught.

(ii) The proposal that, if need be, the land for the school farm should be leased instead of being bought is approved.

(iii) The suggestions of the Conference in regard to the amount of time required in each school for agricultural training are considered suitable.

(iv) The training class in agriculture will be permanently located at the Agricultural College, Lyallpur; and proposals are being considered for the erection of a hostel and for the purchase of the necessary equipment.

36. At the same time, in its letter quoted above Government also formulated a scheme for practical training in agriculture in high schools. Unfortunately, it has not been attended by the same success as that in middle schools. The acquisition of land for a school farm in urban centres is almost prohibitive; the difficulty of obtaining suitably qualified teachers is considerable; and it is open to consideration whether the teaching of agricultural science would not be preferable. Government is therefore constrained to accept the suggestion of the Conference and, while not interfering with existing arrangements, to postpone the opening of any more high school centres in agriculture until the matter has been further considered.

37. Clerical training.—At present there are a certain number of commercial or clerical classes, principally in aided schools, preparing pupils for the School Final Certificate examination of the Punjab University. The experiment has not yet proved entirely a success. The efforts in the past have been somewhat spasmodic; the teaching often indifferent; and the equipment usually insufficient. Moreover, as this form of training is rightly taken in conjunction with a large measure of general teaching, it is somewhat superficial and needs to be followed by a more specialised vocational course. Government has therefore decided that its best means of encouraging such training will be by the formation of commercial and clerical centres; and inspectors have been invited to submit proposals for eleven such centres; three in the Lahore Division and two in each of the other four divisions. Government has no desire to discourage private effort in this direction, and is therefore willing, subject to conditions, to offer the ordinary staff grants and a grant towards initial equipment up to half of a given maximum of expenditure to any private school, or preferably to a group of such schools, which desire to form a private centre where a Government centre does not exist or where the Government centre, as in Lahore, cannot cope with the needs of all the schools. In towns where there is a Government commercial centre, grants would only be permissible on the recommendation of the inspector and with the approval of Government. Temporary arrangements are also being made at the Central Training College, Lahore, for the training of commercial and clerical teachers. Government is also considering a proposal for the institution of post high-school classes in clerical subjects. These would naturally be almost entirely of a vocational nature. It is to be hoped that district boards, municipalities and commercial firms will give some active financial and general support to these proposals.

38. Industrial training.—Government has also invited proposals from inspectors for the creation of one industrial centre in each division ; and as stated above, the middle standards seem appropriate to such training. In submitting these proposals, inspectors have been invited to take into consideration : (a) the industries which are suited to the locality selected, and (b) the possibility of pupils who have undertaken this preliminary training proceeding to a specialised industrial school maintained by the Department of Industries. It is to be hoped again that district boards, municipalities and industrial organisations will give some active financial and general support to these proposals.

39. Conferences and Committees.—In conclusion, it may be convenient to recapitulate the problems on which Government desires to seek the advice of leaders of public opinion, besides the submission of this Resolution for general discussion by the Education Committee of the Legislative Council—

(a) General Conference (to be held in December or January next)—

(i) The pay and qualifications of vernacular teachers ;
(ii) The training of vernacular teachers ; the best means of expanding training facilities.
(iii) Medical inspection.
(iv) The expansion of vocational training.

(b) Committees (to sit next cold weather). Optional English classes in vernacular middle schools ; conversion of vernacular into anglo-vernacular middle schools ; the vernacular final examination ; changes in the curriculum necessary to the introduction of vocational training in these schools.

(c) Compulsory Education.—As soon as the necessary statistics and information have been checked a Committee will be formed to consider this problem and, in particular, the financial issue.

ORDER.—Ordered that the above review be printed and circulated with the proceedings of the Inspectors' Conference ; also that they be published in the Punjab Government Gazette, English and Urdu editions, communicated to the Press, and that copies be forwarded to all Commissioners and Deputy Commissioners, all Divisional, District and Assistant Inspectors of Schools, the Chief Inspectress of Schools, the Principal, Central Training College, the Inspector of Training Institutions, the Inspector of Vernacular Education, the Principal, Government Institute of Commerce, the Principals of the Training Colleges, Lyallpur and Hoshiarpur, the Headmasters of Nornal Schools and recognised High Schools, the Director of Agriculture, Punjab, the Director of Industries, Punjab, the Principal, Punjab Agricultural College, Lyallpur, and the Registrar, Punjab University, for information.

By order of the Punjab Government
(Ministry of Education),
G. ANDERSON,
Under-Secretary to Government, Punjab.

No. 63 1-A., dated Lahore, the 13th May 1921.

From—G. ANDERSON, Esq., C.I.E., M.A., Under-Secretary to Government, Punjab,

To—All Commissioners of Divisions in the Punjab.

I AM directed to inform you that the Punjab Legislative Council has recently passed a budget provision of six lakhs for distribution among District Boards for the current year as grants for the erection of primary and vernacular middle school buildings.

2. It is proposed to distribute nearly three lakhs at once, and the remainder of the grant later in the year on the receipt of reports from divisional inspectors as to the position in each district and the progress made since 1918; and in particular during the current year. In the distribution of the remainder of the grant account will be taken of the initiative and energy shown by each Board. Divisional inspectors will be addressed later in this connection.

3. The amounts allotted to the several districts in your division and the grading of each district are attached to this letter. Any part of this grant unspent at the close of this financial year will be taken into consideration in the award of such grants in the future.

4. In consequence of war conditions and other causes, it is clear that there is considerable leeway to make up in all districts, but in a very varying degree, in the provision of suitable accommodation for schools. It is somewhat disturbing to find that the increase in the number of schools has not been attended by a corresponding increase in the number of pupils attending the schools. This unfortunate result may be attributed to a number of causes; but it is open to consideration whether the poor accommodation of very many of the schools is not the chief factor.

5. What is particularly desirable is that the general condition of a large number of schools should be improved rather than that a small number of unnecessarily expensive school buildings be erected. It is for consideration, therefore, whether it would not be better to make improvements and expansions of a comparatively large number of existing buildings than to erect a very small number of new buildings. The main objects in view are to build quickly and economically. I am, therefore, to point out that the type plans of buildings which were drawn up in 1918 and 1920 are for general guidance, and that modifications of them in the direction of economy are permissible, but in such cases the opinions of the inspecting officers should be invited.

6. A copy of some suggestions which have been compiled by S. Maqbul Shah, Inspector of Vernacular Education, is attached to this letter. I am to invite your attention, in particular, to paragraph 7 of his note. The plans for middle schools and alternative plans for primary schools will be sent later.

Suggestions for the consideration of local authorities in building Primary and Middle Schools.

1. Site.—The school should be located, if possible, outside the town or village, away from the abadi; and on that side of the town or village on which it is not likely to extend. It should be at a safe distance from the insanitary zone which usually surrounds towns and villages. The site should also be such that it remains comparatively dry even when there is a flood in the surrounding area. The ground should be free from saltpetre and white-ants; otherwise there will be constant trouble. The school should not be near a stagnant pool of water, a graveyard, cremation ground or a dusty road; nor should it be near the well from which the village women and girls fetch water. On the other hand, a well close to the school is a necessity. A grove of shady trees, within or close to the school compound, is of great advantage. While the school should be sufficiently close to a village to ensure the safety of school and post office property and to meet the convenience of the teachers and pupils, it should be as central as possible to the several villages which it serves.

2. Aspect.—A school should normally face south, as in most parts of this Province there is a south breeze in summer and a north breeze in winter. A verandah to the south is, therefore, essential. If for certain reasons a southern aspect is impracticable, an eastern aspect should be arranged; and in that case a verandah to the east is desirable in view of the fact that in summer months schools are usually open during the early hours of the morning. In any case only one verandah is required; to the south if there is a southern aspect, and to the east if there is an eastern aspect.

A northern aspect is unsuitable though it has been suggested that a verandah on the northern side could be conveniently utilised if need be for an extra class-room. But this would necessitate two verandahs, one to the south being indispensable in any case; and the northern verandah would be too cold for the winter months for use as a class room.

3. Area.—The school compound should provide, if possible, for a garden as well as for the school house; and should therefore ordinarily be about two kanals, approximately 90 by 120 feet; but if the school is likely to develop into a middle school, then about six acres would be required so as to provide room for a hostel and playing fields.

4. Wall.—A compound wall, even if it be only a low mud wall some three feet high, is very desirable. Without it a school garden can scarcely thrive; and it will be difficult to exclude trespassers and to prevent cattle from straying into the school premises. In sandy tracts it also protects to some extent the school and compound from sand. A keekar, phulahi or cactus hedge would however be an effective substitute for a wall.

5. Type plan.—The type plan of 1918 for a two-room school and that of 1920 for a one-room school are in the main suitable, but certain modifications may be necessary in view of local conditions. The size of the class room may vary, but it should not be in any case less than twelve feet wide or more than thirty feet long. This reduction of the width of the room suggested in the type plans may result in very considerable economy. In order to ensure a through draught of air, there might be a window on either side of the front door, these facing the three windows at the back. Where the light is good, the windows might well be smaller than in the plan. In view of the fact that the pupils normally sit on the floor, the windows should be two feet from the ground instead of three feet as in the plan. The windows in the back wall should be provided with a grating. Clerestory windows should also be provided.

6. Blackboards, etc.—The provision of a cement blackboard (9′ × 3½′) on each of the end walls would also be an advantage. The pupils could then be so arranged that both sections of the school could each face a blackboard. On either side of one of these blackboards there might be an almirah, one for the use of the teacher and the other for the use of the pupils.

The water-room and the godown in the type plans are both somewhat small. If, however, they are extended to the edge of the verandah the area of each would be about eight feet square. The water-room might also be divided by a thin partition into two parts, one for the use of Hindus and the other for Muhammadans. The floor of the water-rooms should, if possible, be cemented and should be so constructed that the water dropping from the pitchers will flow into a drain outside, which should invariably conduct the water to the school garden. Where funds permit, it would be advisable to construct a room for the teacher on one side of the school which could also be used as a godown, as shown in one of the alternative plans. This is especially necessary in the colony areas where house-rent is very high.

7. Method of construction.—The most economical method of constructing primary schools is to entrust the work to the people for whose benefit the school is established ; the local authority making a financial contribution in accordance with the means of the people. Such a procedure might stimulate the interest of the people in the school and also prove an economy. In such cases it might be possible for the District Board to purchase beams, timber, etc., at wholesale rates for the whole district, and thus save trouble and expense to individual schools. It would also be necessary to provide a guarantee that on the building being satisfactorily completed, the financial contribution should be paid as quickly as possible.

In this connection, the following extract from the Central Provinces and Berar Report for 1919-20 will be of interest :—

"In view of the expansion that is to be anticipated as a result of the Primary Education Bill and of the interest that the Reformed Government may be expected to take in the spread of education among the masses, the demand for expenditure on buildings is likely to increase largely in the near future ; it is therefore desirable to economise as much as possible on the construction of individual buildings. With this object district councils have recently been allowed to delegate to school committees or other village agencies the power to construct new buildings estimated to cost not more than Rs. 1,200, provided that, before doing so, the council shall have satisfied itself regarding the capacity of the agency or committee to carry out the work. A cheap plan for a "kutcha" building by which a school building can be constructed at a cost not exceeding this amount has been prepared. It is hoped that by this means and by taking advantage of the natural interest of villagers in supervising the work of their own school and in economising on materials and labour, it will be possible to build at considerably less cost than hitherto."

8. Buildings.—In districts where the rainfall is small, semi-pacca or kacha buildings should be sufficient. It is also for consideration whether in certain places a thatched roof would not be possible, as shown in the plan.

9. The school session.—Another possible method of effecting economy in the provision of school buildings might be to hold two sessions of three hours each, half the classes attending the first session and the other half the second session. This practice, of course, could only obtain where a comparatively large number of pupils live within easy reach of the school.

10. A simple model plan for a middle school will be forwarded. It is an inexpensive plan which fulfils hygienic and educational requirements and will suit both vernacular and Anglo-vernacular middle schools. It will ordinarily have six rooms if it is a lower middle and eight if it is an upper middle school.

11. The Hall (marked on the plan as Drawing Room and office and library) is by no means essential and may be omitted unless the public are willing to contribute towards its cost. For English teaching two fairly large rooms are necessary, so that those two on the plan which lie on either side of the hall should not be less than 25′ × 22′ each and may be 25′ × 24′ if the English classes are likely to be the maximum size. The other rooms may be reduced in the width to 20′ if smaller classes are expected.

12. The southern aspect is necessary in order that all classes may receive good unobstructed north light from the left, and that it may also be possible to practise drawing in all class rooms, thus rendering a special room for drawing unnecessary. The northern windows should have fanlights and should start 3′ from the floor. Clerestory windows should be provided in the side walls to the north and to the south, and might also, with great advantage, be provided in the outer walls to the east and west, with holes towards the top in the intermediate walls so as to have through ventilation. These windows should be so weighted that they will normally hang open. A wooden rail provided with hooks for hanging maps, etc., should run round the walls of all the class rooms at a height of nearly 9′ from the floor. Of the two almirahs provided in each room, that to the right of the blackboard is for the teacher's use and that to the left for the class library One of the end rooms should have two large almirahs at the back for science apparatus. The wall blackboards may consist of eternit or of a large slate or of black cement or of a thick (removable) wooden board fixed in the wall. It should be about 10′ × 3½′ and should start 3′ from the floor.

13. Where a lower middle school is likely to develop higher departments, it is often better to put up a new school on a suitable site than to add room after room to the old primary school without any proper plan. In such a case the old building might be used as a hostel ; or the primary classes might be retained there.

14. The model plan admits of easy extension by the addition of a room at either end or, as in the event of its developing into a high school, by building a parallel row of class rooms in front or behind the existing building about 50′ away. Two alternative plans will also be forwarded.

15. For a hostel the latest type plan is the best, one or two wings of the quadrangle being completed according to the number of boarders, and others being added as the number increases. A small hostel may, however for the sake of economy, consist of a single line of two dormitories, 18′ wide with the Superintendent's room in the middle, so that he may easily supervise both wings. In vernacular middle schools if a separate hostel cannot be provided, the school itself can be utilised for this purpose, provided that kitchens and a room for charpies, boxes, etc., are put up in the school compound.

16. In school buildings there should be no communication between adjacent class rooms, except from the outside as shown in the plan.

17. There should alwaysl be in the District Inspector's office a complete and up-to-date list of schools needing new buildings or extensions, arranged in order of urgency, with a rough plan of the building as well as of the site ; and brief notes showing what is required and how it can be provided, whether a suitable site is available, and how far people are willing to help, &c., &c.

Proceedings of a Conference of Inspecting Officers held at the office of the Director of Public Instruction, Punjab, on April the 25th, 26th and 27th, 1921.

The Conference was attended by—

The Hon'ble the Minister for Education (1st session only).

The Director of Public Instruction, Punjab.

The Inspector of Rawalpindi Division.

The Inspector of Lahore Division.

The Inspector of Jullundur Division.

The Inspector of Ambala Division

The Inspector of Multan Division.

The Inspector of Vernacular Education, Punjab.

The Inspector of Training Institutions, Punjab.

The Registrar of Examinations, Punjab.

The Principal of the Central Training College, Lahore.

The District Inspector, Gujranwala.

The Assistant Director of Public Instruction, Punjab, who acted as Secretary.

The following gentlemen attended at different times during the Conference as visitors :—

Mr. C. A. H. Townsend, Director of Agriculture, Punjab.

Mr. E. A. Scott, Director of Industries, Punjab.

Mr. E. C. Earl, Adviser in Physical Education, Punjab.

Lala Lachhman Das, Inspector of Agricultural Teaching.

NOTE.—Lala Sohan Lal, Headmaster, Government High School, Gujranwala, was prevented from attending by illness.

The proceedings opened at 10-30 A.M. on April the 25th when the Hon'ble Mr. Fazl-i-Husain, Minister for Education, opened the session with a brief speech outlining the scope of the Conference and welcoming the members. The speech of the Hon'ble Minister is given below in full :—

"GENTLEMEN—

"You have been requested to attend this Departmental Conference. I have come over to welcome you. A Departmental Conference means a Conference of the experts who are actually in the service of the Department. This Departmental Conference under the Education Code is an institution distinct from the General Conference, which institution is intended to afford opportunities to members of the Department and to those interested in educational problems of the Province to come together and discuss matters of general policy. In some quarters there has been a misapprehension as to the nature of this Conference. It is apparently believed that this is a General Conference, and that those people who take a very keen interest in educational problems of the country have not been invited to it.

"I see no harm in stating that, as soon as I took over the charge of my office, I intended to call a General Conference with the object of considering the question of overhauling the whole system of education as prevailing in the Province, but the question of the annual budget in the Council and later on the question of legislation connected with charitable endowments made it impossible for me to carry out my intentions. However, it only meant that the carrying out of my object was delayed. I want to enlist the sympathies of all those who have ever worked in the Department or have taken interest in matters educational while outside the Department. In fact, considering that education is a provincial and a transferred subject, nothing short of that is expected from one who is responsible in the first instance to the Council and, through the Council, to the public in determining the general policy of primary, secondary and university education. So far as the ideal, the object in view, is concerned I believe there is but little difference in the views of those who have devoted any time to thinking over educational problems in the Province. They all want to educate Punjabis in such a way as to raise their economic value, to make them good citizens, to make them good patriots and good humanitarians, provided always that a Punjabi, situated as he is at the gate of India in the North-West, is able to wield the sword as easily as the pen. Keeping this as our ideal the difference between various schools of thought can only be one of methods to be adopted in order to achieve this object; that is the work for which I have always intended to invite the co-operation of public workers. I expect them to tell me how I can nationalise primary education and how I can nationalise secondary education I expect them, having defined the nationalisation of education, to enunciate the various methods which can be adopted to achieve this object, and finally to decide upon the most economical and the most suitable machinery for it. It would not have been wise for you to postpone the holding of this General Conference, and not to face the difficult problems which have been staring the Department in the face for some time. Moreover, it was considered advisable to hold this Departmental Conference with the object of placing certain conclusions before the General Conference when it is called, and not as an unflontable critic has said with the object of thrusting your proposals down the unwilling throat of the General Conference. When the spirit of change is abroad and public opinion demands change, let us hope for the better. We are particularly fortunate in having at the helm of the Education Department a Director of Public Instruction who welcomes new ideas and who has not grown grey in the Department so that every change may mean a pang to him I feel that so far as the ideals are concerned, so far as the two requisite principles of economy and efficiency are concerned, our Director of Public Instruction stands second to none of the nationalists in working for the cause of educational advancement in India. In your deliberations to-day I have no doubt your work will be facilitated a great deal by his tactful guidance. He has the gift of attracting ideas from others and in some cases of moulding ideas for others where they have not actually yet developed. This enables me to hope that, though your programme is a very lengthy one and includes many difficult subjects, you will still be able to give an excellent account of yourselves and to arrive at conclusions which will be beneficial to the Department and to the public as well. I wish you success in the difficult task which is before you to-day."

I.—Expansion and Improvement of Vernacular Education, Appendix A.

(a) The Director of Public Instruction raised the question of the sufficiency of the last survey of the needs of the Province. It was agreed that it would be premature to frame new surveys but that inspectors should show in their returns separate entries for the number of upper middle and lower middle schools which were opened.

(b) In regard to expenditure it was pointed out that certain boards had paid teachers of low qualifications a distinctly higher salary than they would have received had they been eligible for Government service. It was resolved by the Conference that grants to boards should be on the basis of approved expenditure only and that the following points should be taken into consideration by the inspector at the time of submitting his recommendations for recurring grants :—

(i) The figures of expenditure for the last two years should be scrutinised.

(ii) The figures of the non-educational income of the board and of the amount spent by the board on education should be determined.

NOTE :—By 'non-educational net income' is meant all income from other than educational sources excluding Government grants for specific purposes.

By 'educational income' is meant—

(a) Fees.

(b) Government grants for education, excluding those for buildings.

(c) Contributions from other local bodies for education.

(d) Subscriptions and endowments from private sources for education.

(e) Sale proceeds of school property.

(iii) How far the board has carried out the programme of expansion.

(c) It was considered that the present grant system had worked harshly in the case of many districts, such as Sialkot, Gujranwala and Kangra. The opinion of the Conference was that the real difficulty lay in the fact that the district boards had practically a fixed income with which to meet steadily expanding liabilities. These liabilities hitherto had been met by a system of grants from Government, the amount of the grant being determined by the grading allotted to each board. This was really a system of doles. The rapid changes in economic conditions had brought several boards, especially those named above, into serious financial embarrassment. They were now faced with the necessity either of ceasing to expand their educational activities or of approaching Government for a revision in their favour of the allotted grading; in other words, of asking Government for a larger dole. So long as the present system continues this undesirable state of affairs is bound to recur from time to time. The Conference therefore recorded its opinion that a permanent remedy is to be found in a change of system. It suggested that Government should hold itself responsible for education above the middle standard while the district board should assume full responsibility for primary and middle education. Further, in order to enable the district boards to meet these responsibilities, expanding sources of income should be put at their disposal. It was the opinion of the Conference that only in this manner could a full and clearly defined responsibility for educational expenditure be secured. The Conference, however, recommended that inspection should remain a function of the Government Department as at present.

(d) To deal with the immediate situation the Conference approved of the appointment of a sub-committee consisting of Messrs. Tydeman, Maqbul Shah, Bishen Singh and Hari Das to examine the cases of the boards which were financially embarrassed and to report to the Director. In connection with the Government grants to district boards the Conference approved of the clause relating to recurring expenditure drafted by Mr. Hari Das for the new edition of the Punjab Educational Code. For facility of reference the clause is reproduced below :—

Educational Budgets of District Boards.—The Educational budget estimates of the district board shall be prepared in the prescribed form by the district inspector in consultation with the inspector. The district inspector shall submit them to the board on or before the 16th October in the year preceding that for which they are framed. The budget estimates, as approved by the board, shall be furnished on or before the 1st November to the divisional inspector with a statement showing the detailed receipts and expenditure under education, and also an abstract of the entire estimate, showing the opening balance, total income, total expenditure and estimated closing balance. On receipt of this statement the inspector shall communicate his views to the commissioner within a fortnight of its receipt, who will take those views into consideration before finally approving the budget. If the budget is subjected by the board to further revision in the course of the year no transfer of funds shall be made from the major head 'Education' to any other head without the sanction of the commissioner who shall give notice of any such transfer to the inspector.

Subsequent changes in the Budget.—No portion of the allotment made in any year for educational purposes shall be subsequently transferred to any other head without the consent of the commissioner; and the unspent balance connected with either recurring or non-recurring charges, if any, shall be ear-marked for educational purposes in the budget of the following year.

(e) In regard to the scale of salaries for board teachers it was agreed that the minimum suggested by Mr. Richey, was now too low and that it was desirable that the Director should issue a circular giving new and higher minimum rates for the various grades of teachers.

(f) The disparity between the ratio of increase of expenditure and that of increase of pupils Appendix B was then examined. The Conference, after much discussion, decided that much benefit could be obtained by giving public recognition to the work of school masters and by personal educational propaganda on the part of district inspectors. Another suggestion approved in this connection was that the sums of money placed at the disposal of the divisional inspectors for rewards should be devoted chiefly to the encouragement of good work in the primary schools.

II.—School Buildings.

(a) On this point there was much discussion in the course of which the situation as regards the whole Province came under review. It was also made clear that difficulties of many kinds prevented steady and uniform progress in carrying out building schemes. The following resolution was passed :—"To secure uniform progress building surveys should be prepared for each district in order that no delay should occur in the utilisation of any Government grant for building purposes as soon as it be given. Standard plans for schools should be prepared and in their preparation future developments of educational facilities should be borne in mind, e.g., plans for primary schools should be so drawn up as to be capable of easy conversion into middle schools. Similarly, middle schools should be capable of conversion into high schools when required." It was further resolved that a standard plan or plans should be prepared and issued by the Department for the information of district boards. The plan should be accompanied by brief notes to explain important points and to enumerate other points on which local variations might or might not be allowed. It was agreed in this connection that in districts of small rainfall katcha buildings and thatched roofs should be considered permissible. In regard to the cost of construction it was resolved that with the standard plan bills of approximate quantities should be circulated and the divisional inspectors should be asked to ascertain the cost of erecting buildings on these estimates. Such estimates should be accepted as the standard for each division. Any buildings, however, the estimate of which exceeded Rs. 3,000, should be carefully considered by the inspector before giving sanction and a report on the case should be sent to the Department for information. The Conference also suggested that district boards might with advantage be addressed on the economy to be effected by the establishment of depôts at suitable centres in each district for beams, girders, door and window frames and other stock material likely to be useful for the construction of primary schools.

(b) The Conference considered that repairs to the buildings of primary schools should be included among the functions of the "Village Panchayat" and that this suggestion should be forwarded for the consideration of the Minister of Education.

(c) In regard to the various sanctions required before building schemes could be carried into operation the Conference recorded its opinion that when a definite scheme of building and standard plans in connection therewith had once been approved it should be unnecessary to apply for administrative sanction for each building. Further, with regard to the obtaining of technical sanction Government might be asked to allow this to be dispensed with except in cases wherein it was specifically desired by the chairman of the district board or by the inspector of schools.

(d) Finally, it was resolved—

(i) that a letter be addressed to commissioners giving the resolution of the Conference on the question of standard plans and estimates and on procedure. The letter should state that the question of administrative and technical sanction was being referred to Government and that a second communication on this point should be expected.

(ii) Government should be addressed on the points relating to administrative and technical sanction.

III.—Indigenous Schools, Appendix C.

The Conference resolved that—

(a) It was desirable to continue the policy of converting indigenous schools into board primary schools.

(b) Indigenous schools should receive no grants in rural areas wherein a board school exists within a distance of two miles.

(c) The attention of inspectors should be drawn to their powers to reduce the grant in cases covered by the Code rules. On the other hand, where the indigenous school fulfils the conditions of the Code and is not in competition with a board primary school, it should be encouraged by raising the grant to Rs. 3 in the case of boys' schools and Rs. 5 in that of girls' schools.

(d) The Conference considered suitable the rates proposed in the new edition of the Code for staff grants to such schools. The rates are given below :—

I. For men teachers—

Rupees 6 a month to a teacher if he has passed the Vernacular Final Examination or the 8th class of an Anglo-vernacular school ; or Rs. 7, if he has passed any Oriental Title Examination, or has completed a course of training in a local training class or holds a special certificate for teaching in a primary school or department.

Rupees 4 a month to other approved teachers.

II. For women teachers—

Rupees 10 a month to a teacher who has passed the Middle Standard Examination.

Rupees 7 a month to a teacher who has passed the Upper Primary Examination.

Rupees 6 a month to other approved teachers.

IV.—Training of Teachers, Appendix D.

(a) It was resolved that—

(i) The Inspector of Training Institutions should relieve divisional inspectors of all duties connected with the inspection of normal schools. The divisional inspector, however, should have the right of entry into all the normal schools in his division and of recording his opinion in the log-books of the schools.

(ii) Certificates awarded to pupils in normal schools should be issued over the signature of the Inspector of Training Institutions and not as hitherto over the signature of divisional inspectors.

(iii) The Inspector of Training Institutions should be responsible for the general administration of these schools, for senior vernacular classes attached thereto, and for the practising schools. This responsibility would involve the headmasters' communicating with him on these matters instead of with the divisional inspectors. He should also be responsible for the admission of all students to normal schools and for the grant of casual leave to students and staff. Headmasters, however, might be permitted to grant casual leave to the pupils in their normal schools up to a maximum of four days.

1828 GPP

(iv) The Inspector of Training Institutions should be responsible for advising the Department on the development and increase in the number of normal schools and on the proposed change in the location of existing normal schools. In each case he should consult the divisional inspector before making his recommendations.

(v) The Inspector of Training Institutions should not be responsible for the senior vernacular colleges. The inspection of these colleges could best be done by a specially constituted committee of inspection appointed by the Department from time to time.

(vi) With regard to local training classes, if the divisional inspector considers them advisable, he should approach the Registrar of Examinations for the examination of students in such classes.

(vii) In order to attract more candidates to normal schools, Government should be asked whether the policy of favouring agriculturists should be so far modified as to allow of stipends being offered to non-agriculturists if a sufficient number of agriculturists be not forthcoming.

(viii) District boards should be asked to give additional stipends to students in normal schools who are being trained for service under the board deputing them to the school.

(ix) A sub-committee consisting of Messrs. Hari Das and Ram Chandra be appointed to draft a letter to the headmasters of normal schools inviting their suggestions on the possibility of modifying the course for junior vernacular teachers with a view to giving such men sufficient training to take charge of lower middle schools. On receipt of replies, this sub-committee should consult Mr. Parkinson as to what action, if any, should be taken.

(x) Every headmaster of a normal school be required to keep a record of the conduct, progress and character of each student, which record should be produced before the Inspector of Training Institutions at the time of his inspection.

(xi) The Conference favoured the continuation as a temporary expedient of the attachment of senior vernacular classes to normal schools and considered that some system of allowances to the staff of the normal schools concerned should be introduced in consideration of the additional work involved by the attachment of these senior vernacular classes.

(b) The Conference recorded the opinion that more senior vernacular students would be forthcoming if additional stipends could be given, or, in the case of Hoshiarpur, if the hostel accommodation could be expanded.

(c) The Conference agreed that, on the figures supplied by Mr. Parkinson, 120 junior Anglo-vernacular teachers were required each year and that provision should be made for training this number of junior Anglo-vernacular teachers annually in the new intermediate colleges and in the training classes attached to the Khalsa College, Amritsar, and the Islamia College, Lahore, if the junior Anglo-vernacular classes be abolished at the Central Training College to make room for higher training.

(d) The Conference further considered that, unless the taking of English as an optional subject in middle schools be discouraged, it was probable that within the next few years the annual need for junior Anglo-vernacular teachers would increase.

V.—Assistant District Inspectors, Appendix E.

The Conference was of opinion that the need for additional assistant district inspectors was justified on the ground that not only had the number of schools increased but that there was a great need of propaganda work in rural areas and of constant and steady supervision by these officers of the staffs of the primary schools within their areas. Many teachers in such schools were working on wrong lines owing to their inexperience and ignorance of method. The assistant district inspector should not be content with an ordinary tour or visit to a school but wherever possible he should stay in each locality for two or three days in order to guide and assist the staff of the school and to carry on educational propaganda among the inhabitants of the area.

(ii) The Conference also recorded the unanimous opinion of all the divisional inspectors that, instead of the present system whereby two or three specialist assistant district inspectors are attached to the divisional inspector. these officers should be replaced by one experienced gazetted officer who should act as general assistant to the divisional inspector; and that the specialist assistants should become assistant district inspectors. It was the opinion of the Conference that if this suggestion could be adopted it would obviate the necessity of creating ten more posts of assistant district inspectors, as had been proposed.

VI.—Agricultural Teaching, Appendix F.

Note.—On this question the Conference had the benefit of the advice of Mr Townsend, Director of Agriculture; Mr. Scott, Director of Industries; Mr. Heath, Principal of the Mayo School of Arts; and Lala Lachhman Das, Inspector of Agricultural Education.

(i) It was resolved that practical gardening should form part of the nature study course in primary schools and that in order to improve the teaching of the subject of nature study the appointments of masters in nature study in the various normal schools should, so far as is possible be held by senior vernacular teachers who have had special training at Lyallpur.

(ii) With regard to agricultural education in middle schools, Lala Lachhman Das reported that in the Rawalpindi Division equipment had been completed and work had been started at four places, and at four other places arrangements of a less satisfactory nature existed. In the Multan Division farms existed and were in a satisfactory state in the Multan, Lyallpur, Jhang and Muzaffargarh Districts; and arrangements were in a less advanced stage for four other schools. In the Lahore Division satisfactory arrangements had been made only at one place, viz., Patti. At six other places preliminary arrangements were in progress. In this Division there was great difficulty about the acquisition of land. In the Jullundur Division arrangements existed only at two places, and a third centre was under contemplation.

In Ambala only one farm existed, viz., at Gharondá in the Karnal District.

Lala Lachhman Das expressed the opinion that in such cases wherein the farm had been started under satisfactory conditions the success had been gratifying. He stated that his test for the success of a farm was not simply the number of the students attending the classes but the influence which the farm had exercised on the methods and practices of the zamindars cultivating adjacent lands. Where a school farm had succeeded, the surrounding zamindars had imitated its methods.

(iii) Some discussion followed on the procedure whereby land was acquired. Mr. Townsend considered that the Conference should acknowledge that in thickly populated districts owners naturally objected to part with their land. He suggested the use of part of Government "paraos", as school farms. Mr. Maqbul Shah and Sardar Bishen Singh advocated the leasing of land, stating their belief that owners had no objection to this, particularly if their land was likely to be improved during the period of the lease.

(iv) The financial difficulties in the expansion of agricultural education were then examined. It was agreed that it was desirable that more consideration should be given to the recommendations of the sub-committee appointed at last year's conference to consider the means of affording financial support to boards in opening middle school farms Further, that in cases wherein agricultural masters had been appointed but difficulties had occurred with regard to the provision of land and equipment, these men should be transferred to normal schools.

(v) The question of optional English in middle schools and the effect of this subject on the popularity of agricultural teaching was fully discussed. The Conference was of opinion that it was quite possible for both these subjects to be taken. Agriculture should be considered as an alternative to one of the other optional subjects in the middle school course If this be done, it was then possible to give agricultural instruction for such number of periods as the Agricultural Department considered necessary for agricultural education, viz., four periods a week in classes V and VI and six in classes VII and VIII, together with the intermittent and variable amount of practical work required in connection with each crop, which work must be done outside ordinary school hours.

(vi) In the matter of agricultural training in high schools, the reports received show that only three centres, all in the Jullundur Division, existed. The Conference was of opinion that the experiment of establishing agricultural centres in connection with high schools should not be pushed in view of the expense and the uncertainty connected with it and that a proportionately larger amount of time and money should be devoted to the teaching of agriculture in connection with middle schools.

(vii) The Conference considered that there was no objection to the deputation of senior Anglo-vernacular teachers to the Lyallpur Agricultural College for training along with senior vernacular teachers should occasion require.

(viii) It was further resolved that agricultural teachers should not be penalised with regard to promotion or with regard to their eligibility for the post of superintendent of a boarding-house, merely because they held such posts.

VII.—Manual and Industrial Training in Urban Areas.

The Conference was of opinion that where such training be given, whether in connection with middle or high schools, it should be arranged on the centre system rather than by classes in individual schools on the ground that the centre system is the more economical and efficient of the two methods. It was also resolved that the principle of the centre system should be applied so far as possible to the teaching of commercial subjects. It should be understood that " centre " did not mean that a special building should necessarily be erected for commercial subjects : e.g., one of the schools supplying pupils might be selected as the centre to which the pupils of the surrounding schools should go. Finally, the Conference was of opinion that it was possible to give an industrial bias to education in middle schools and that the experiment of opening industrial training centres should be confined to such schools for the present.

VIII.—Physical Instruction.

In discussing this subject the Conference was assisted by Mr. Earl, the Adviser in Physical Education to the Department. Mr. Earl reported that the vernacular translation of the text-book for use in primary courses was under preparation and that the courses for secondary classes, together with vernacular translations thereof, would be ready within the next few months. Mr. Earl drew attention to the need of choosing the best possible men for a course of training as physical training instructors. He regretted that he could not report favourably on the average quality of the pupils in his previous classes. He considered that the work of expanding physical training throughout the schools depended very largely on the type of men employed as instructors and that unless the instructor be intelligent and capable this expansion was bound to be slow.

(ii) Mr. Earl stated that at his forthcoming summer classes the first class would consist of drill-masters not previously trained on the new system. In this class about 30 men could be trained. In the second of the summer classes it would be possible to take 50 men. These should be men previously trained by Mr. Robson for the reason that such men could master far more easily than others all the principles of the new training and could thus reach a far higher standard of efficiency.

(iii) The Conference considered the question of the inclusion of Ambulance Competitions in district and divisional athletic tournaments. It was agreed that in the Jullundur Division where arrangements actually existed, and in the Rawalpindi Division where they were being made, there was no objection to the inclusion of such competitions in Ambulance and First Aid work in the district and divisional tournaments. The Conference, however, did not favour the universal extension of this practice. There was much difference of opinion as to the value of such training to school boys, mainly on the ground that a little knowledge is a dangerous thing.

IX.—The position of Headmasters in relation to the District Inspecting Staff, Appendix G.

It was agreed by the Conference that there was considerable discontent among headmasters in the matter of their status as compared with the new district inspectors of schools. The following measures were recommended to remove some of the points of friction :—

(1) The headmasters should be allowed to grant casual leave up to a maximum of four days to the members of their staff. Casual leave for more than that period should be granted by the divisional inspector, and all leave of this nature to headmasters themselves, if they were in the Subordinate Educational Service, should be granted by the divisional inspector alone.

(2) The headmasters of high schools should send their promotion examination results to the divisional inspectors for confirmation. The Conference, however, pointed out that if this confirmation is to be carried out in a satisfactory manner a revision of the inspecting staff would be needed.

(3) Confidential reports on headmasters should be made by the divisional inspectors alone. Reports on other members of the staff of Government schools should be made by the headmaster on a separate form for each man and forwarded to the Director through the divisional inspector who should be free to add remarks or recommendations at his discretion.

(4) The Conference was of opinion that in place of the assistant or assistants in special subjects attached to the inspector of the division, an assistant gazetted officer should be substituted.

(5) Surprise visits to high schools should be made at the discretion of the divisional inspector.

X.—Inspection and Inspection Reports.

The Conference was of opinion that a detailed inspection of each high school was not an annual necessity. Such an inspection ought to be made at least once in every two years. So long as present conditions obtain, however, there should be an annual visit, not a detailed inspection, to each high school for the purpose of assessing grants and endorsing certificates.

With regard to inspection reports themselves detailed criticism should be avoided. Only noteworthy features of the school and serious defects should be entered in the reports, schools being required to concentrate on the removal of these serious defects before the next inspection.

XI.—Relations of the special inspectors in various subjects with the Divisional inspecting staff.

The Conference was of opinion (i) that every special inspector should send a copy of his tour programme to the divisional inspector concerned for his information and remarks.

(ii) In regard to the inspectors in Arabic and Sanskrit the present system should remain unaltered owing to the requirements of the Central Training College, on the staff of which these inspectors are borne.

(iii) With regard to the Assistant to the Adviser in Physical Education it was resolved that he should consult the inspector before making his tour and find out where that officer is likely to be at any particular time. He should then, if possible, arrange his tour in that division so as to coincide with the inspector's presence in the same place in order to discuss matters with the inspector, and to meet the instructors from surrounding schools. He should not enter his observations in school log-books but should send a report of his inspection to the divisional inspector and a copy of it to the headmaster concerned.

Similarly, the Assistant to the Drawing Inspector should not enter his remarks in school log-books but should send them to the divisional inspector and the headmaster concerned.

XII.—Relations of the inspecting staff with local authorities.

The Conference was of opinion that C.M. No 10774-G of the 4th of November, 1920, should be redrafted and issued again, as some misapprehension appeared to exist with regard to its scope. The letter was not intended to alter, or to infringe on, the powers of the district boards as laid down in the Code with regard to education, but to define the respective positions and duties of district and divisional inspectors.

XIII.—Vernacular and Anglo-vernacular Middle School Examinations, Appendix H.

There was a protracted discussion on the retention or the extension of the public examination known as the Vernacular Final. Many alternatives were examined and difficulties brought to the notice of the Conference. It was finally resolved that the present vernacular final examination should be continued for at least two years and that in the meantime the officers of the Department should watch the progress of the demand for the type of education tested by this examination.

XIV.—The introduction of teachers employed in Provincialised Board Schools into the Subordinate Educational Service.

The question was referred to a sub-committee consisting of S Maqbul Shah, S. Bishen Singh, Mr. Hari Das, Mr. Tydeman, Mr. Parkinson, and Mr. Towle for examination with special reference to the points raised in the Assistant Director's note on the subject and to the suggestion that the Subordinate Educational Service should be subdivided into classes. In this connection some discussion took place on the question of appointments and transfers between Government schools. The general feeling of the Conference was that the present system whereby such appointments (Appendix I) and transfers are made in the Director's office had serious defects and that an examination should be made into the possibility of making appointments and transfers by some other authority, whether this be the divisional inspector alone or a high school committee.

XV.—Provident Funds in Aided Schools.

The Conference was of opinion that each contributor to a school provident fund should have a separate account in his own name in the Post Office or other savings bank instead of one conjoint account being kept for the whole staff of a school.

APPENDICES.

A.

Provincial recurring grants for the Expansion and Improvement of Vernacular Education.

DURING the year just closed Rs. 22,81,866 were distributed among the various local bodies in the province for the expansion of Vernacular Education against a budget provision of Rs. 21,27,000 and yet most district boards received less than what they had asked for in accordance with the actual expenditure incurred; and some so much less that they are thinking of closing some schools and refusing promotions and increments to teachers. In the current year's budget Rs. 23,07,000 have been provided for this purpose, and if grants are made according to actual expenditure—let alone paying last year's arrears—over two lakhs more will have to be found by re-appropriation.

It is, therefore, necessary before revising the expansion programme and the system of grants and before raising the grades of some district boards, as recommended by inspectors of schools, carefully to study the financial position of every local body and see what its sources of income are, how it utilizes them, what percentage of its own income it provides for education, how much it has done since the introduction of the expansion programme and what are its chief educational needs. The expansion programme of every district can then be revised in the light of past experience and, if necessary and practicable, a higher grade assigned to it for the Government grant.

Divisional inspectors have been requested to discuss this in the district reports which they will submit next month; but as the spade work will have to be done by district inspectors, it is necessary that full and clear instructions be issued to them after the question has been discussed at the conference. Many district inspectors are new to their districts and some quite new to their work; and very divergent views prevail as to what sources of income should be included and what excluded in calculating what percentage of its income a local body provides for education. It will be no easy thing for Inspectors to get correct information as to income and expenditure from the district board or municipal offices.

When the expansion programme was drawn up in 1917, it being quite a new experience for the district inspectors, some of the difficulties which have since arisen were not foreseen. For instance, the temporary allowances that have had to be paid and the higher rates of salary that have had to be adopted were not taken into account; no regular building programme was drawn up; and no estimate of the number of trained teachers that would be required was made, nor satisfactory measures adopted for securing an adequate supply of the right kind of teachers. The result is that estimates of expenditure drawn up for the succeeding years of the quinquennium and accepted by every district board on the one side and by Government on the other have proved incorrect, the actual expenditure being much in excess of the estimates. Schools have been opened which are not attended even by 25 or 30 boys. Many Primary-pass or Middle-pass lads are placed in independent charge of primary schools who know little about education; and about 40 per cent. of the schools, on an average, are ill-housed in every district. Very little has been done during the past few years, except in a few districts, to provide some sort of suitable accommodation.

B.

Expansion and Improvement of Vernacular Education.

IN 1918, there were ... 173 middle schools.
4,613 primary schools.

Total Middle and Primary schools 4,786

2. A survey was then made and maps were prepared for each district. The object in view was so to arrange the development of vernacular education that board schools would be established at every centre where an average attendance of 50 pupils might be expected, provided that a distance of two miles ordinarily intervened between two board schools.

3. With this object in view, an additional 298 middle schools } 4,358 schools would be required. In other words, a total of 471 middle schools and 8,673 primary schools would be necessary.

4. A five-year programme of development was then drawn up for every district, by which it was hoped that in 1922-23 there would be 294 middle schools and 6,076 primary schools. In other words, it was expected that by that time the Province would be short of the required number only by 177 middle schools and by 2,597 primary schools. These figures are, however, a little misleading. Since that date, the four year primary school and the lower middle school of five or six classes have come into existence. In consequence, a larger number of middle schools and a proportionately smaller number of primary schools will be required than was originally anticipated.

5. Figures are now available showing the results of the first two years of the programme. It should be remembered that some of the boards found it difficult to make a punctual start. Two hundred and two middle schools were established during these two years. A large majority of these were lower middle schools—a type of school which did not exist at the time of introduction of the programme. Five hundred and fifty-three primary schools were also started, giving a total of 755 new schools. In addition to these, 281 indigenous schools have been converted into board schools; and new indigenous schools have been started. The pace of development has varied very much between the several districts; and it is significant that Multan and Attock each practically finished its five-year programme in two years.

6. The numbers of pupils were as follows :—

1919-20	...	179,365	62,062	241,427

7. In 1918, the expenditure on grants to district boards was Rs. 12,66,359 Mr. Richey estimated that the five-year programme would be completed by an additional recurring expenditure of some eight lakhs, so that he anticipated an expenditure by Government of about Rs. 20,66,000 on the completion of the programme. As a matter of fact, the scheme is far more expensive than was anticipated. In 1920-21, about 20½ lakhs were spent, and we are still short of the number required in 1922-23 by about 450 schools. The main causes of this increased expenditure are (a) increase in the pay of teachers, (b) the substitution of a large number of lower middle for primary schools, and (c) the increased cost of equipment.

8. It is difficult to estimate what will be the additional recurring expenditure required for the completion of the scheme We require something like 2,300 primary, 500 lower middle, and 200 upper middle schools. The approximate annual cost of maintenance is :—

		Rs.
(1)	A single-teacher primary school	500
(2)	A two-teacher primary school ...	700
(3)	A lower middle school	1,200
(4)	An upper middle school	3,000

The total additional recurring cost works out on these figures at something like Rs. 25 lakhs. Assume that Government contributes Rs. 20 lakhs of these, the total annual cost to Government would be about Rs. 40 lakhs in grants to district boards. And the needs of municipalities and the education of girls are not taken into account in these figures.

9. Speaking generally, the pace of expansion has been reasonably satisfactory and indeed rather faster than was anticipated, the rate of expenditure has risen very considerably; and the increase in the number of pupils is by no means commensurate with the increased expenditure and the increased number of schools.

10. It is a platitude—though often forgotten—that the expansion and the improvement of vernacular education must march together. If too much money and energy are devoted to improvement, it is obvious that the expansion will suffer. If, on the other hand, a disproportionate amount of money and energy are given to mere expansion, there will be a danger of the teaching being so indifferent that (a) parents will not consider it worthwhile sending their sons to school, and (b) the pupils on leaving school may still be illiterate or shortly after leaving school will relapse into illiteracy.

11. The Conference thus might start with a short discussion on the general position of vernacular education. The following general points are suggested :—

(a) The causes of the considerable variations in the rate of progress between the several districts.

(b) The increase in expenditure. Is there extravagance in consequence of schools being started which remain only half full? If so, can the Education Department claim that in certain districts, or at any rate in certain areas, it is prepared for compulsory education if the public choose to apply it? The advisability of encouraging indigenous schools will be discussed later.

(c) The causes of the disappointing increase in numbers in proportion to the increased expenses and the increased number of schools. Possible answers : fees act as a deterrent ; apathy of parents ; influenza and general unsettlement ; owing to possible deterioration of teaching parents do not think it worthwhile to send their sons to school.

(d) To what extent are we prepared for any sudden acceleration of the programme of expansion ?

Indigenous Schools.

A NOTE on the subject prepared by Syed Maqbul Shah has been circulated to inspectors. This question is placed on the agenda for the next Divisional Conference.

2. In 1919-20, 1,033 indigenous schools of all kinds in the Province were examined for grants. There were 10,052 pupils attending these schools ; and Rs. 1,55,767 were given to these schools in the shape of grants.

3. The rate of grant per unit for average attendance is Rs. 2 per annum in case of boys, and Rs. 4 in that of girls. The grant can be reduced by 25 per cent. if the instructional state of school is below the normal or if the school registers are unreliable. Staff grants varying from Rs. 3 to Rs. 4 are also given.

4. The average grant to each school, therefore, works out at about Rs. 12 per mensem while the average number of pupils in each school is about 38. A board primary school of this size would cost about Rs. 30 per mensem, excluding equipment and accommodation.

5. The ordinary primary school under private management costs pulbic funds about half as much for maintenance as a board primary school. It is for consideration whether additional encouragement should be given to—

(a) indigenous schools, and

(b) primary schools under private management.

6. On the one hand, some have held somewhat strongly that these schools were of little value and should be converted into board primary schools at the earliest opportunity. They suggested that schools with a distinct religious purpose and managed by some recognised religious body should be treated as exceptions. On the other hand, it is clear that, with the increase in the salaries of teachers and with the substitution of a large number of lower middle for primary schools, the cost of the expansion of vernacular education is far more than what was anticipated, and many district boards, as well as possibly the Government itself, are beginning to feel the strain. Again, it is represented that the teaching in oriental languages, which used to be a feature of the old indigenous schools, is fast deteriorating through lack of encouragement.

7. The question of imparting religious education is a factor in the discussion.

Training of Teachers.

I AM circulating a note drawn up by Lala Ram Chandra, Inspector of Training Institutions, for consideration.

The Conference will discuss the extent to which the present provision for the training of teachers is adequate to meet the existing demands and also the demands that are likely to be made in the future. If there is a need for expanding the provision, the following suggestions are for consideration :—

Junior Vernacular Teachers.—Lala Ram Chandra has shown the capacity of the present normal schools. Government intends as soon as possible not only to make the necessary improvements in the existing normal schools, but also to establish new ones ; but this will require a considerable sum of money which may not, all of it, be forthcoming in the immediate future. It is therefore for consideration whether certain changes will not be possible. The following three suggestions have been made :—

(a) It appears that some of the normal schools are not always full. To what causes is this due, and is it because the stipends are not of sufficient value ?

(b) A proposal has been made that the course in normal schools should be altered so as to enable junior vernacular teachers to undertake work in lower middle schools.

(c) A proposal has also been made that it might be possible to attach training classes for junior vernacular teachers to certain high schools.

Senior Vernacular Teachers.—It is for consideration whether additional students could not be accommodated at the two senior vernacular training colleges at Hoshiarpur and Lyallpur. Arrangements have also been made whereby the training classes at Multan, Sargodha Karnal and Jullundur will be continued.

Junior Anglo-vernacular Teachers.—At present there is a J. A.-V. class at the Central Training College, Lahore, and some arrangements are also made for their training at the Islamia College, Lahore, and at the Khalsa College, Amritsar. Proposals have been made that J. A.-V. classes should also form a part of the new intermediate colleges. With the removal of the J. A.-V. classes at the Central Training College, there will be additional accommodation for B. T's and S. A. V's.

A brief note on Normal Schools in the Punjab.

THE tabular statement attached shows that there are 14 normal schools in the Punjab, all maintained by Government. The number of students attending them is 1,089 against 955 in the previous year. These junior vernacular teachers are trained chiefly for rural primary schools.

2. The Ambala Division has two normal schools—at Delhi and Karnal; Jullundur three—at Jullundur, Dharmsala and Moga; Lahore four—at Gurdaspur, Sialkot, Gujranwala and Kasur; Multan two—at Multan and Lyallpur; Rawalpindi three—at Rawalpindi, Sargodha and Mianwali. The last of these serves the most backward area in the Punjab.

3. Of the total enrolment 514 are Hindus, 493 Muhammadans, 71 Sikhs and 11 Christians. Agricultural communities have contributed 501 or less than half the total strength.

4. The distribution of students Division-wise is as under :—

Ambala	...	176	against	180	provided in the budget.
Jullundur	...	198	„	205	„	„
Lahore	...	350	„	350	„	„
Multan	...	181	„	180	„	„
Rawalpindi	...	184	„	250	„	„
Total	...	1,089	„	1,165	„	„

5. More normal schools are needed to keep pace with the expansion of primary education in rural areas. As a rule, one or two new normal schools are opened each year. It is proposed to open two new normal schools during the next financial year, one at Ludhiana and the other at Jhang.

6. The following schools have Government buildings :—

(1) Delhi ... (To move to Rohtak where new buildings are under construction.)
(2) Karnal.
(3) Jullundur.
(4) Gurdaspur.
(5) Sialkot ... (To move to Pasrur where new buildings are to be constructed.)
(6) Multan.
(7) Lyallpur ... (Temporarily ousted by the Training College for S. V. teachers.)
(8) Rawalpindi.

The remaining six normal schools, viz., at Dharmsala, Moga, Kasur, Gujranwala, Sargodha and Mianwali need new buildings The Gujranwala and Sargodha schools will shortly move out to Gakhar and Lalamusa, respectively, where new buildings are approaching completion. Steps are to be taken for providing adequate buildings for Dharmsala, Moga, Kasur and Mianwali.

7. Some of the normal schools have no practising schools of their own and, consequently, experience great difficulty in training their pupil teachers efficiently. In future, provision should be made to construct the practising school along with the normal school ; as a matter of fact, the former should be regarded as an essential part of the latter to secure efficient training.

8. The staff of normal schools is generally satisfactory but that of the practising schools attached needs overhauling in several cases.

9. The normal schools at Karnal, Multan and Sargodha have temporary S. V. classes attached to them with 34, 39, and 31 candidates respectively. The Training Colleges at Lyallpur and Hoshiarpur have an enrolment of 84 and 64 each. Total strength of S. V. teachers under training is 252.

The number of Assistant District Inspectors.

IT has been represented that one of the reasons for the comparatively slow progress in the expansion of vernacular education is the inadequacy of the assistant inspecting staff. Mr. Richey proposed that there should be, roughly speaking, one Assistant District Inspector for every eighty primary schools : possibly, one Assistant Inspector for every tahsil. This would enable the Assistant Inspector to pay on an average three visits a year to every school in his tahsil.

2. A list has been drawn up and is appended to this note, showing the number of schools and the number of Assistant District Inspectors in each district. It appears that, at any rate, the distribution of Assistant District Inspectors is inequitable, though the extreme difficulty of travelling in certain districts should be taken into account.

3. On the other hand, a considerable increase in the number of Assistant District Inspectors would entail considerable additions to expenditure on education and would pro tanto reduce expenditure in other directions.

4. Tents.—A proposal has been made that District Inspectors should have big tents such as are used by gazetted officers ; and that Assistant District Inspectors should have tents such as that used by Tahsildars. At present, the District and Assistant District Inspectors use tents somewhat similar, though perhaps a little smaller, than those used by Tahsildars. Doubtless, the proposal would appeal to the Inspectors, but it is for consideration whether the expenditure can be justified ; an additional objection would be that the cost and difficulty of transit and of pitching the big tents would be considerable.

Teaching of Agriculture.

Primary Education.—It has been decided by various conferences that no attempt should be made to give an "agricultural tinge" to primary education, whose main object, after all, is to remove illiteracy; and Government makes no attempt to teach technical agriculture and horticulture in primary schools. At the same time, Government tries to bring the teaching of primary schools in touch with the environment of the pupils.

The following, however, are the subjects for brief discussion :—

(i) How far are students in normal schools adequately trained in Nature Study?

(ii) Primary school gardens; this question should be considered in connection with primary school buildings.

(iii) Are the school hours suitable? It has been represented that in a good many schools the boys are kept hanging about the schools the major part of the day.

(iv) What progress has been made by the Text-Book Committee in the preparation of suitable text-books?

2. Middle Schools.—The All-India Conference seemed inclined toward the institution of separate agricultural middle schools, somewhat on the lines of the Loni experiment in Bombay, and indeed of separate agricultural high schools. The Punjab Government, however, has decided that, rather than start a number of separate agricultural schools, an effort should be made to "agriculturize" the ordinary middle schools in rural districts. An effort, therefore, is made to enable boys to obtain a certain degree of general training in addition to their agricultural training. In other words, the boys are expected to do agricultural work side by side with the ordinary work of the school.

It is thus at this stage that practical and technical training in agriculture is introduced. Government has decided that, for the present, it will give discretion to each district board concerned to adopt either the compulsory or the voluntary training as it thinks fit.

The following points are for discussion :—

(i) Lala Lachhman Das will be asked to name the middle schools in each division where a properly equipped farm has already been started; and the projects which are nearing completion. Divisional Inspectors will kindly, as far as possible, check his information. The initial cost of acquisition and equipment should also, if possible, be given.

(ii) General opinions as to the success of the experiment and suggestions for its improvement.

(iii) To what extent is the procedure adopted for the acquisition of the land satisfactory?

(iv) It has been represented that the widespread introduction of optional English in vernacular middle schools hampers the development of agricultural teaching. A standard time-table permitting the introduction of English and agriculture seems necessary. The Agricultural Department represents that the minimum for agriculture should be four periods in standards V and VI and six periods in VII and VIII. In the new draft scheme of studies, six periods are provided for agriculture throughout the middle classes; but, when English is taken, the amount is reduced to four. It is for consideration whether the time-table cannot be so altered as to meet the requirements of the Agricultural Department. In any case it would appear suitable that agriculture should be taken either at the beginning or at the end of the school session.

(v) It has been represented that the agricultural teachers are not generously treated. Is the allowance of Rs. 10 sufficient? Are these teachers penalised in the matters of hostel allowances and of promotion to headmasterships?

3. High Schools.—It is intended that agricultural teaching should be optional and should aim at turning out men "who even if they do not adopt practical agriculture as their means of livelihood will still have the ability and the interest to have sound agricultural knowledge."

The following subjects are for discussion :—

(i) Lala Lachhman Das will give a list of the high school centres and the initial cost of the acquisition and equipment; also the projects which are nearing completion. Inspectors will kindly, as far as possible, be prepared to check this information.

(ii) General opinion as to the success of the experiments. In view of the large cost involved and in view of the extreme difficulty of obtaining suitably trained teachers would it be better to "go slow" in the high school centres and to devote a proportionately larger amount of time and money to the teaching of agriculture in middle schools?

(iii) Would it be possible to make use of the agricultural demonstration farms, if permission is granted by the Agricultural Department ?

(iv) Would it be advisable and practicable to substitute in urban schools some practical form of industrial training ? If so, should this form a part of the middle or the high school curriculum ?

4. Training of Teachers.—(a) A class for agricultural teachers was opened three years ago at Lyallpur Agricultural College, to which twenty senior vernacular teachers have been admitted each year. The course is of one year's duration. These teachers are employed in the middle schools where agriculture is taught.

The following points are for discussion :—

(i) Have the teachers been properly selected ? They should be, as far as possible, of the agricultural class.

(ii) Has the training been satisfactory ? It was originally intended that this class should be included in the new Senior Vernacular Training College at Lyallpur, but, in view of the considerable cost involved in the acquisition of the land (which is very near the town) and in view of the more suitable environment of the Agricultural College, it is now proposed, with the general consent of the Agricultural Department, to locate this class permanently at the Agricultural College.

(iii) What has happened to the forty (40) teachers who have passed out of the class ? There are only some twelve properly equipped farms.

(b) For high schools the proposal was that agricultural B.A.'s should undergo an additional course of training for one year in the new Lyallpur Senior Vernacular Training College. It is now represented that such teachers would require a scale of pay which would be beyond our means. Apart from this consideration, it would be most inappropriate that they should secure higher pay than the headmasters. It is for consideration whether this work could not be done by the better of the Senior Anglo-vernacular teachers with an additional training of one year in the Teachers' Class at Lyallpur.

ADMINISTRATION.

Position of Headmasters in relation to the Inspecting Staff.

IT has been represented that the position of headmasters has recently deteriorated, and for the following reasons :—

(a) Though 30 district inspectors are in the Provincial Educational Service, only five headmasters are in that service. In the olden days the headmasters could reach the salary of Rs. 400 per mensem. Under the new scheme no headmasters, except those in the Provincial Educational Service, can go beyond Rs. 250 per mensem.

(b) Headmasters complain that under C. M. No. 10174, dated 4th November, 1920, their position has been still further lowered by their being made subordinate to the district inspectors. The question of inspection was referred by me to the divisional inspectors for opinion. In addition, district inspectors grant casual leave to headmasters, and their subordinates and they also deal with complaints regarding the refusal of discharge certificates and the promotion of the pupils ; and presumably, district inspectors make confidential reports of the headmasters and their subordinates to the divisional inspectors. Headmasters complain that in consequence their prestige and status suffer. It is understood that headmasters of aided schools, some of whom are men of considerable distinction and draw comparatively high salaries, resent what they conceive to be subordination to the district inspectors.

2. The following points, therefore, arise for discussion :—

(a) The possibility of improving the pay of headmasters.

(b) Consideration whether some of the duties now undertaken by the district inspectors might conveniently be assumed by the divisional inspectors. It is for consideration whether a district inspector is competent to inspect a high school independently ; and also how far the inspection of high schools by district inspectors interferes with their work of inspecting other schools. It is also represented that inspection not only by the district inspectors but also by the special inspectors of Science, Drawing, etc., interferes unduly with the general work of the school ; on the other hand, many deputy commissioners have represented that district inspectors should be responsible for all the schools in the district ; and it is for consideration whether divisional inspectors can undertake these additional duties.

THE VERNACULAR AND ANGLO-VERNACULAR MIDDLE SCHOOLS.

The effect of their amalgamation on the Vernacular Final Examination.

THE Anglo-vernacular Middle School Examination was abolished in 1904. The hief considerations which led to its abolition were :—

(a) The average age of the boys entering this examination being 13 or 14, it was considered unwise to su bject the pupils to the strain of a public examination.

(b) There was a danger lest schools, in an anxiety to gain distinctio n, would concentrate unduly upon the preparation of pupils for this examination and would, therefore, neglect subjects not included in the scope of the examination.

(c) It was not desirable that an external examination at this stage should thus dominate the courses of study and methods of instruction.

(d) It was thought that the class promotion test would be an effective substitute for a public examination.

2. The Vernacular Middle School Examination, however, was retained and given the more appropriate title of the "Vernacular Final Examination." It is thus supposed to be an examination for those pupils who have come to the end of their school training. On the whole, it is understood that this examination has fulfilled its purpose satisfactorily.

3. The introduction of optional English in vernacular middle schools since 1918 has met with very considerable response. In his C. M. No. 10175, dated December the 24th, 1919, Colonel Wright said that it would be still more difficult in the future to draw a distinction between Vernacular and Anglo-vernacular Middle Schools and felt that the distinction between these schools which had already been weakened by the adoption of the vernacular medium in the middle departments had in fact disappeared. He hoped that the ordinary middle school of the future would be an institution providing good general education in the vernacular up to the standard of the 8th class and offering an optional four-year course in English leading up to the work in the high department. He, therefore, invited opinions as to the desirability of abolishing the distinctive titles "Anglo-vernacular and vernacular middle schools"; and the substitution of a single term, "middle school" to describe an institution teaching up to the 8th standard.

The opinions which have been received in this office are practically unanimous that the distinction should be removed.

If the suggestion is adopted, the future of the Vernacular Final Examination will have to be considered.

4. The following courses of action are for discussion :—

(a) Admission to the Vernacular Final Examination should be optional for the students who take English. If this is done there is a danger that the Vernacular Final will gradually disappear and that there will be difficulty in regulating the promotion of boys from the middle to the high classes, in particular in case of those who change their schools.

(b) That a new Middle Final Examination be imposed for all the students whether they take English or not. If this proposal is accepted, it is for consideration whether exemption from this examination should not be permitted to those who are in the 8th class of a high school. A final examination of some sort seems essential for the proper admission of students to normal schools and to rural service such as that of a 'Patwari.' Moreover, the certificate of having passed a public examination is of value to a number of pupils seeking employment.

I.

A suggestion regarding the method of making Appointments, Promotions and Transfers in the Subordinate Educational Service.

UNDER existing practice all appointments to, and promotions and transfers in, the Subordinate Educational Service are centralized in the office of the Director of Public Instruction. While this practice has the great advantage of bringing all movements of officers under the direct control of the Head of the Department, and thus securing fairness of treatment to individuals with due consideration for the general interests of the Department, it appears to have certain defects of which the following are the more obvious :—

(a) Notes on cases of transfer or promotion are put up by clerks of the Establishment branch, to whom most of the men in the service are little more than mere names on a list, and not persons with individual talents and abilities which should be given the fullest possible scope, and utilized where they are most needed. Confidential records are, it is true, maintained in the office of the Director and are doubtless consulted when appointments are under consideration, but these are very general in character and, being made by different officers whose standards of efficiency differ, they do not afford an altogether equitable basis of comparison in dealing with cases at a central office.

(b) Promotions and transfers are usually made either by mere seniority or in the interests of the public service. There is therefore but little reward for real merit or incentive to good work. Promotion tends to become automatic and the individual officer has a grievance if he imagines he is superseded, whether his work is efficient or not.

(c) Institutions and officers interested in securing for particular posts men with special qualifications are not often consulted when appointments are made. Hence it happens, as was brought to my notice quite recently, that a school loses by transfer the services of a B.T., and is given a man with J.A.-V. qualifications, the organization of the work being dislocated accordingly. In this respect Government Schools are at a great disadvantage as compared with private institutions.

(d) The rank and file of the service have not, as a whole, implicit confidence in the present system, a statement which will, I am sure, be endorsed by any senior officer who has practical acquaintance with the schools, and is indeed supported by the fact that representations regarding promotions and transfers are not infrequent.

2. It was felt some years ago that decentralization in making appointments would probably be an advantage, and Mr. Godley therefore instituted an experiment (about the year 1907) by which the location of teachers drawing salaries of Rs. 40 and under was delegated to divisional inspectors. But this was practically the same system on a somewhat restricted scale, and for reasons into which I am not in a position to enter the experiment was abandoned after a comparatively short trial. In this note I desire to put forward a suggestion which may serve as a basis of discussion for another experiment on altogether different lines.

3. The Subordinate Educational Service comprises mainly :—

(a) Assistant District Inspectors of Schools ;

(b) Headmasters and teachers on the staff of Normal Schools and other training institutions (e.g., Lyallpur) ; and

(c) Headmasters and teachers on the staffs of Government High Schools, and a few other schools (e.g., the Railway Technical School).

Of these appointments those of men included under (a) and (b) would remain, as at present, in the hands of the Director of Public Instruction. For appointments under (c) I suggest an entirely new procedure with a view to securing adequate recognition of local requirements and giving a much wider opportunity to men to work out their own promotion.

4. My suggestion is that for every Government school a Committee should be constituted which should include both official and non-official members. The official members would be ex-officio ordinarily the Divisional Inspector of Schools, the Deputy Commissioner, and possibly the District Inspector of Schools ; the last named, if included, acting as Secretary. The non-official members would be local gentlemen of standing, three or four in number, and nominated by the Deputy Commissioner. To this Committee, I suggest, should be entrusted all appointments on the staff of the school, with the possible exception of the headmaster.

5. To work the scheme it would be necessary that every post on the staff of a school should be assigned to a particular grade, and the qualifications essential or desirable in the incumbent defined. On a vacancy occurring in a school, the fact would be notified in the Punjab Educational Journal, and applications invited by a certain date. Any one already serving in the Department, and possessing the necessary qualifications would be eligible to apply for the vacancy, it being definitely understood that canvassing of any kind whatever would disqualify the candidate. The applications having been scrutinized the appointment would be made by the Committee, and the decision communicated to the Director of Public Instruction, who would make the necessary changes in the Subordinate Educational Service list.

In the event of no suitable man already in Government service applying, the Committee would seek departmental approval to the appointment of a new man, but this would only be given if the Director agreed with the Committee that none of the candidates was suitable or in the event of no candidate applying at all. In this way, it seems to me, recruitment for the Department would be automatic and in conformity with local needs.

6. The advantage of a system of this kind lies in the fact that any one possessing the necessary qualifications is at liberty to apply for any vacancy. If a candidate is not selected for a particular appointment he has no grievance, for his claims will have received equal consideration with those of others in open competition, and presumably the strongest candidate will be selected. Incidentally, the system would encourage men to improve their qualifications both academic and professional.

7. A point for special consideration arises in connection with the transfer of men from the teaching to the inspection side of the service and vice versa, although even here I do not anticipate that any serious difficulty would arise in the practical working of the scheme. The Director could of course select any man in the service for employment in Normal Schools or as Assistant District Inspectors, and men working in these branches of the service could be permitted to apply in the ordinary way for posts in Government Schools. Cases of transfer for misconduct would have to be specially provided for, but these I have long felt would be more appropriately dealt with by disciplinary measures of a different kind.

It is a question whether the appointment of headmaster should be in the hands of the Committee or in the hands of Government. For the present, I am inclined towards the latter alternative.

8. The Committee need not, and should not, exist merely for the purpose of making appointments. I can foresee a sphere of great usefulness before a really keen body.

(a) Their personal interest and influence would be of the greatest help to the headmaster, who would look to the members for advice and support in schemes for improving and popularizing the institution.

(b) They would consider suggestions for the renewal or improvement of equipment, extraordinary repairs to or extension of buildings. In other words, they would be consulted in the expenditure of contingent and special grants.

(c) They would deal with all matters of religious instruction.

(d) They would consider questions regarding changes in the curriculum, e.g., the introduction of manual, industrial, agricultural or commercial classes.

(e) They would be authorized to visit the school and hostel and check the registers. Their impressions might be recorded in a book kept for the purpose.

(f) They would assist in the promotion of functions, such as prize distributions, tournaments, exhibitions and the like.

(g) They would voice the feelings of the parents and the public. In short, they would perform most of the duties genarally performed by the Committee of a private school. Their powers would be executive as far as appointments are concerned, in other respects, they would be advisory.

9. Meetings of the Committee need not be frequent. A special meeting would be called whenever an appointment to the staff had to be made, ordinary meetings might otherwise be quarterly. The headmaster would not be a member of the committee, but would attend by invitation. He would probably be present at most of the meetings, in order to answer questions, but he would have no vote on any question in which a division was called for.

10. It is unnecessary to point out that this suggestion would bring to bear on our Government Schools an element of local interest and supervision which would, I believe, be all for good. And the saving in the work and cost of establishment branch of the Director's office is obvious.

SYLLABUS.

1. Essay.—An essay to be written in English on one of several specified subjects

2. English.—A paper of questions to test the understanding of English and the workmanlike use of words.

3. Present Day.—Questions on contemporary subjects, social, economic and constitutional, mainly though not exclusively concerned with India. A liberal choice of questions will be given. Effective and skilful exposition will be rewarded.

4 Science.—Questions on general principles, methods and applications of science, including geography. In making the questions the examiners will remember that the candidates are Indian by birth and education. A liberal choice of questions will be given. Simple questions on the use of graphical methods may be included. Attention should be paid to orderly, effective and exact expression

5. Vernacular.—A candidate may offer any one of the following languages:—Assamese, Bengali, Burmese, Gujerati, Hindi, Hindostani, Kanarese, Malayalam, Marathi, Oriya, Panjabi, Pashto, Sindhi, Tamil, Telugu. The test will include translation from the vernacular, set composition in which an English passage is given to be put into the vernacular and free composition in which the candidate writes in the vernacular in his own words on a prescribed subject.

6. Viva Voce.—The examination will be in matters of general interest, not in matters of academic interest ; it is intended to test the candidate's alertness, intelligence and general outlook.

Language with History and Literature.—Subjects 7—14, History and Literature, will as far as possible, be brought into close relation. The questions on Literature will require first-hand knowledge of the authors; and the authors dealt with will be those which candidates ought to have read. Passages of Literature may be set for comment on matters of social, political, legal, or other historical importance.

7. Arabic Language:—Translation, free composition and set composition in the classical language.

8. Arabic History and Literature.—The main stress in both History and Literature will be on the period from the middle of the 6th century A. D. to the middle of the 13th century A. D.

9. Persian Language.—Translation, free composition and set composition in the classical language.

10. Persian History and Literature.—The main stress in both History and Literature will be laid on the period 1000 A. D. to 1500 A. D. Candidates will be expected to have a general knowledge of Persia before 1000 A. D. and from 1500 A. D. to the present time.

11. Sanskrit Language.—Translation, set composition, questions on Vedic and Sanskrit grammar. Both Vedic and classical Sanskrit passages will be set for translation; composition will be required in classical Sanskrit alone. A knowledge of the Prakrit used in plays will be expected.

12. Sanskrit Literature and Civilization will include the history of the civilization and thought of India from the Vedic period to 1200 A. D.

13. Pali Language.—Translation, free composition, set composition.

14 Pali Literature and Civilization, will include the history of Buddhistic civilization in India from 600 B. C. to 1000 A. D.

English Literature.—Subjects 15-18. Candidates for any period should be prepared to show some first-hand knowledge of some of the works of the authors named below for the period and of their place in the history of their country. Questions may also be asked about other writers. Questions will not be set on the history of the language.

PERIOD 1. 1580–1680. Spenser, Shakespear, Bacon, Milton, Hobbes.

PERIOD 2. 1680–1744. Dryden, Bunyan, Swift, Addison, Defoe, Pope.

PERIOD 3. 1744–1832. Fielding, Johnson, Goldsmith, Burke, Sheridan, Scott, Wordsworth, Byron, Lamb.

PERIOD 4. 1832–1914. Macaulay, Tennyson, Dickens, Thackeray, Carlyle, Ruskin, Thomas Hardy, H. G. Wells.

19. Indian History.—PERIOD 1. Hindu India from the first Aryan immigration to the end of the 12th century; history and culture together with the History of Buddhism outside of India.

20. Indian History.—PERIOD 2. Muhammadan India, from the beginning of the 11th century to 1707 (death of Aurangzeb); together with the contemporaneous history of the Moslem powers outside of India, the Saracens, the Turks.

21. Indian History.—PERIOD 3. India during the British period, from 1600 to the present day; together with the contemporaneous history of the British Empire.

22. European History.—The limits of time are 1600 and 1914. Although a fixed date is given for the beginning of the period, candidates will be expected to know in general outline how the initial position was reached. The history of countries closely associated with Europe will be included so far as it influences British history, especially in relation to India.

23. British History.—The limits of time are 1400 and 1914. British history will be taken as a whole; politics, economics, and constitution will be considered as mutually affecting each other, and all together as the outcome of the common life of the nation. Candidates will be expected to know so much of European history as will make the external action of this country fully intelligible and will explain those movements in Britain which had their beginnings elsewhere, e.g., the Renaissance, the Reformation, and the reactions in this country of the French Revolution. From 1750 onwards the outstanding incidents and movements in the history of British possessions will assume more importance.

24. General Economics.—General Economics including industrial history with special reference to India. The subject will be treated as a whole, and candidates should be prepared to illustrate the theory by the facts and to analyse the facts by the help of the theory. The history of economic thought will be included.

25. Public Economics.—The questions will deal with the main forms of State action, central and local, in the economic sphere, together with public finance.

26. Politics.—This subject will include political theory and political organisation.

Candidates will be expected to show a knowledge of political theory and its history, political theory being understood to mean not only the theory of legislation, but also the general history of the State in connection with kindred studies such as Jurisprudence, Public International Law and Economics. Questions involving illustrations from Indian history may be set.

Political organisation will include Constitutional Forms (Representative Government, Federalism, etc.) and Public Administration, central and local. The history of institutions is not included, but candidates will be expected to know the earlier stages from which existing institutions have directly developed, and in this section also illustrations from Indian history may be expected.

27. Law.—Constitutional law, jurisprudence, equity, contracts, torts, easements. Law of property with special reference to Transfer of Property Act. Hindu and Muhammadan Law as administered in British India. India Evidence Act, Civil Procedure Code, Indian Penal Code, Criminal Procedure Code.

Mathematics.—Subjects 32-33. The examination will be designed to test understanding of the subject and ability to apply it rather than ability to reproduce proofs or propositions. No great skill in manipulation will be expected.

Questions involving the use of mathematical instruments may be set at both stages.

32. Lower Mathematics.—Logarithms; numerical equations; graphs; approximation; infinite series; complex numbers; solution of triangles.

Geometry in two and three dimensions according to the method of Euclid. Analytical geometry in two dimensions (method of Descartes). The construction of plans, elevations and sections of solid bodies (method of Monge).

Differential co-efficients; maxima and minima; integrals; the application of the infinitesimal calculus to curves.

Projectiles; harmonic motion; momentum; energy; power. Equilibrium of rigid bodies in two dimensions; link polygons; virtual work. Simple machines, e. g. tackle, cranes, engine governors, brakes. Fluid pressure; expansion of a perfect gas; air-pump.

33. Higher Mathematics.—Lower Mathematics together with—

Uniform convergence; infinite products; exponential and trigonometric functions of a complex variable.

Taylor's series; partial differentiation; areas and volumes of solids by integration; moments of inertia; the solution of differential equations occurring in elementary mechanics.

Centrodes; simple cases of linked mechanisms. Equilibrium of forces in three dimensions; loading of beams; elementary treatment of potential. The motion of rigid bodies in two dimensions. Stability of flotation.

34. Astronomy. Celestial co-ordinates. Astronomical instruments descriptively treated; method of using them and of determining their principal errors. Orbid of the earth. The Ecliptic. Time. Latitude and Longitude. Motion of the moon, simpler calculations, eclipses. Parallax. Refraction. Aberration. Precession and nutation.

Stellar maps and catalogues; the nautical almanac; the principal constellations. Descriptive discussion of planets, comets, double stars, nebulæ. The simpler processes of computation; reduction of observations and of measurements made on photographic plates.

35. Statistics.—The questions to be set will cover :—

(1) Elementary theory of statistics, not depending mainly on the theory of probability nor requiring a knowledge of the calculus—frequency distributions, averages, percentiles, and simple methods of measuring dispersion; graphic methods; elementary treatment of qualitative data, e.g., investigation of association by comparison of ratios, consistency of data; the practice of the simplest graphic and algebraic methods of interpolation.

(2) Practical methods used in the analysis and interpretation of statistics of prices wages and incomes, trade transport, production and consumption, education, etc.; the more elementary methods of dealing with population and vital statistics; miscellaneous methods used in handling statistics of experiments or observations.

(3) Elements of modern mathematical theory of statistic; frequency curves and the mathematical representation of groups generally; accuracy of sampling as affecting averages, percentages, the standard deviation; significance of observed difference between averages of groups, etc.; the theory of correlation for two variables.

A considerable choice of questions will be given, especially as to paragraph 2, and it will be possible for a candidate without advanced mathematical knowledge to obtain full marks by answering questions under paragraphs 1 and 2.

Natural Sciences.—Subjects 36—47. The standard of the higher division of a science will be that which is required in the main subject for an honours degree at the universities. The standard for the lower division of a science will be that required in a subject subsidiary to the main subject whether required at the final degree examination or at a preceding examination.

40, 41. Lower and Higher Botany.—Vegetable Physiology will be included in each division.

42, 43. Lower and Higher Geology.—Mineralogy will be included in each division.

48. Geography, not excluding topics which concern geography jointly with other subjects such as economics, history, physics, botany, and geology. There will be a practical test which will necessitate a knowledge of cartographical methods and notations, and for this test drawing instruments may be required.

SANITARY

Syllabus for the qualifying examination for promotion of Sanitary Inspectors to first grade.

STAFF RULES.

1. A qualifying examination for promotion of Sanitary Inspectors from 2nd to the 1st grade will be held at Lahore in April each year, the time and place of which will be communicated to candidates by the Sanitary Commissioner, Punjab.

2. No candidate will be permitted to appear unless he has at least 7 years' service as a Sanitary Inspector under a Municipal Committee or District Board or in other employment in the Sanitary Department (e.g., Plague or Malaria) that may be approved of by the Sanitary Commissioner.

3. Applicants desirous of appearing in the examination should send their applications to the Sanitary Commissioner, Punjab, not later than the last day of February each year through the Medical Officer of Health, and where there is no such officer through the Civil Surgeon of the district.

4. Before the examination all applicants will be required to interview the Sanitary Commissioner or one of his Deputies at Lahore on a date to be notified, to whom it will be left to decide whether or not an applicant shall be admitted to the examination.

5. Applicants so selected will be allowed to appear in the examination on payment of a fee of Rs. 50 which must be paid before the examination at the office of Sanitary Commissioner, Punjab, Lahore.

6. The subjects for the examination will be the same as those prescribed for the qualifying examination, the standard differing mainly in requiring a greater working knowledge of the duties of Sanitary Inspectors and the practical application of sanitary law.

7. The examination will be written, practical and oral. There will be one paper in General Hygiene, one on Minor Sanitary Engineering and one on Municipal Hygiene including the carrying out of a sanitary inspection and the writing of a report thereon. The following is the scale of marks allotted for each subject :—

General Hygiene	...	150
Minor Sanitary Engineering	...	150
Municipal Hygiene.	...	200

8. The minimum number of marks required to pass the examination shall be 40 per cent. in each subject, both in the written and in the practical and oral parts of the examination, and 50 per cent of the aggregate.

9. A candidate who fails to pass the examination can be admitted to one or more subsequent examinations on the payment of a like fee of fifty rupees on each occasion.

10. The successful candidates will be granted a certificate signed by the Sanitary Commissioner and the Examining Board that they are qualified for promotion to the first grade.

POLITICAL DEPARTMENT.

INDIAN STATES.

The 29th October 1921.

No. 26458-P.—In pursuance of the recommendation made in paragraph 310 of the Report on Indian Constitutional Reforms that important States should be placed in direct political relations with the Government of India, it is announced that His Majesty's Secretary of State for India has sanctioned the proposals of the Government of India for placing the States of Patiála, Bahawalpur, Jínd, Nábha, Kapúrthalá, Sirmúr, Mandi, Biláspur, Máler Kotla, Faridkot Chamba, Suket and Lohárn in direct political relations with the Government of India, acting through an officer of the Political Department of the status of Agent to the Governor-General.

2. The connection between the Punjab Government and the States now to be transferred began three-quarter of a century ago when the Province was first constituted, and, in relinquishing his connection with the 13 States named above, His Excellency the Governor wishes to place on public record his deep appreciation of the valuable assistance continuously rendered by those States since the establishment of British authority in the Province, of their traditional loyalty and of the cordial manner in which they have conducted business with his Government. In bidding the Princes and Chiefs with deep regret farewell, Sir Edward Maclagan desires to express his assured confidence that, in the future as in the past, the States will maintain their unswerving loyalty to Government, and that, whenever and wherever opportunity may occur for service to India or to the Empire, they will prove true to the noble traditions which have accumulated round their names during the long years of their connection with the Government of the Punjab.

The 1st November 1921.

EXAMINATIONS.

The 11th November 1921.

No. 28130.—The following further notice giving information as to the qualifications required of the candidates who intend to appear in the competitive examination for the Indian Civil Service in India and the method in which applications should be made and the the form of application is published for general information :—

Indian Civil Service Competitive Examination in India.

THE FOLLOWING INSTRUCTIONS ARE PROSIONAL, AND ARE SUBJECT TO MODIFICATION IF THIS IS FOUND NECESSARY.

Copies may be obtained on application to the Chief Secretary of the Province within which the applicant resides.

A competitive examination for the Indian Civil Service will be held in Allahabad in the months of February and March 1922 or about that time.

Quotas.—The London Civil Service Commissioners, who will conduct the examination, state as their opinion based on a wide experience of examinations for the public services, that it is not possible to hold an examination of so important a nature, in which the qualities and defects of each candidate must be individually studied and appraised, satisfatorily, if the number of examinees exceeds 200. It is thought likely that the number of persons wishing to enter for the examination in India will seriously exceed 200, and the Commissioners have accordingly proposed a system under which Provincial Committees will be formed to select from among duly qualified applicants 200 candidates for admission to the examination. This procedure has been accepted by the Secretary of State and the Government of India as the most suitable in the circumstances. The 200 examinees will be made up of quotas from the various provinces according to the following table :—

Assam	5
Bengal	33
Bihar and Orissa	22
Bombay	25
Burma	15
Central Provinces	12
Madras cum Coorg	33
Punjab cum North-West Frontier Province and Delhi ...	25
United Provinces cum Ajmer-Merwara	30

In each of the Governor's provinces the Local Government will appoint a Quota Committee containing a majority of non-official members and adequate representation of universities, which will choose from among the eligible candidates who have made application those to be admitted to the examination. The Local Governments concerned will see to the proper representation of Coorge, the North-West Frontier Province, Delhi, and Ajmer-Merwara on the Quota Committees. The decision of the Quota Committees will be final.

Application.—A candidate is allowed to apply to one Quota Committee only, which must be the committee of the province in which his parents reside or resided or in which he has resided three years or more. Residence at a university as a student would not constitute residence for this purpose.

A candidate resident in Coorge must apply to the Madras Quota Committee; a candidate resident in the North-West Frontior Province or Delhi, to the Punjab Committee, and a candidate resident in Ajmer-Merwara to the United Provinces Committee.

A candidate resident in an Indian State must apply through his Darbar to the Quota Committee of the province in which he wishes to serve.

The candidate must make application on the prescribed form, which along with this notice may be obtained from the Chief Secretary of any province. The completed Application Form must be sent to the Chief Secretary of the province in which the candidate's Quota Committee will sit in time to reach him on or before 10th December 1921. No application received after that date can be considered.

Nationality.—A candidate must be either a British subject or a ruler or subject of any State in India in respect of whom the Governor-General in Council has made a declaration under section 96-A of the Government of India Act, 1915, as amended by section 3 of the Government of India (Amendment) Act, 1916.

If the candidate (being a British subject) or his father or his mother was not born within His Majesty's dominions and allegiance, the father must at the time of the candidate's birth have been a British subject or the subject of a State in India and still be (or have continued to be until his death) a British subject or a subject of such State.

Age.—A candidate must have attained the age of 21 and must not have attained the age of 23 on 1st August 1922.

Health.—A candidate must be free from disease, constitutional affection, or bodily infirmity unfitting him or likely to unfit him for the Indian Civil Service.

Character.—A candidate must be of good private character.

Degree.—A candidate must hold the Degree of B.A. or B.Sc. of a university incorporated by law in British India or of Mysore University, or the Senior Diploma of Mayo College, Ajmer.

Admission to examination.—For admission to the competitive examination a candidate must be vouched for by a Quota Committee as belonging to their quota.

Warning.—Any attempt on the part of a candidate to enlist support for his application through persons of influence will disqualify him for appointment. Spontaneous recommendations from persons who are not themselves acquainted with the candidate's work at school or at the university or otherwise, will be disregarded.

Fees.—A candidate will pay a fee of Rs. 5 with his application form and a candidate chosen for admission to the examination will pay a further fee of Rs. 100.

Appointment.—As a result of this examination 9 appointments will be made, 8 in India and 1 in Burma. Only Burmans are eligible for the appointment in Burma, and they are not eligible for the appointments in India. Candidates must obtain such an aggregate of marks as to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners.

Nature of examination.—The list of subjects and a syllabus of examination showing their range, is appended.

THE EXAMINATION.

From the marks assigned to candidates in each subject such deduction will be made as the Civil Service Commissioners may consider necessary in order to secure that no credit is allowed for merely superficial knowledge.

In view of the importance of legible handwriting in the public sevice, deductions which may be of considerable amount will be made from the marks of candidates whose handwriting is not easily legible.

In valuing the work of the candidates the Civil Service Commissioners will give credit for good English in all the 50 subjects of the examination, and not only in subjects 1 and 2 which are specially devoted to the language. Among the qualities of good English may be mentioned orderly, effective and exact expression, combined with due economy of words.

SYLLABUS.

1. Essay.—An essay to be written in English on one of several specified subjects.

2. English.—A paper of questions to test the understanding of English and the workmanlike use of words.

3. Present Day.—Questions on contemporary subjects, social, economic and constitutional, mainly though not exclusively concerned with India. A liberal choice of questions will be given. Effective and skilful exposition will be rewarded.

4. Science.—Questions on general principles, methods and applications of science, including geography. In making the questions the examiners will remember that the candidates are Indian by birth and education. A liberal choice of questions will be given. Simple questions on the use of graphical methods may be included. Attention should be paid to orderly, effective and exact expression.

5. Vernacular.—A candidate may offer any one of the following languages :— Assamese, Bengali, Burmese, Gujerati, Hindi, Hindustani, Kanarese, Malayalam, Marathi, Oriya, Punjabi, Pashto, Sindhi, Tamil, Telugu. The test will include translation from the vernacular, set composition in which an English passage is given to be put into the vernacular and free composition in which the candidate writes in the vernacular in his own words on a prescribed subject.

6. Viva Voce.—The examination will be in matters of general interest, not in matters of academic interest ; it is intended to test the candidate's alertness, intelligence and general outlook.

Languages with History and Literature.—Subjects 7—14. History and Literature will, as far as possible, be brought into close relation. The questions on literature will require first-hand knowledge of the authors ; and the authors dealt with will be those which candidates ought to have read. Passages of literature may be set for comment on matters of social, political, legal or other historical importance.

7. Arabic Language.—Translation, free composition and set composition in the classical language.

8. Arabic History and Literature. The main stress in both history and literature will be on the period from the middle of the 6th century A.D. to the middle of the 13th century A.D.

9. Persian Language.—Translation, free composition and set composition in the classical language.

10. Persian History and Literature.—The main stress in both history and literature will be laid on the period 1000 A.D. to 1500 A.D. Candidates will be expected to have a general knowledge of Persia before 1000 A.D. and from 1500 A.D. to the present time.

11. Sanskrit Language.—Translation, set composition, questions on Vedic and Sanskrit grammar. Both Vedic and classical Sanskrit passages will be set for translation ; composition will be required in classical Sanskrit alone. A knowledge of the Prakrit used in plays will be expected.

12. Sanskrit Literature and Civilisation will include the history of the civilization and thought of India from the Vedic period to 1200 A.D.

13. Pali Language.—Translation, free composition, set composition.

14. Pali Literature and Civilization will include the history of Buddhistic civilization in India from 600 B.C. to 1000 A.D.

English Literature.—Subjects 15—18. Candidates for any period should be prepared to show some first-hand knowledge of some of the works of the authors named below for the period and of their place in the history of their country. Questions may also be asked about other writers. Questions will not be set on the history of the language.

PERIOD 1. 1580-1680.—Spenser, Shakespeare, Bacon, Milton, Hobbs.

PERIOD 2. 1580-1744.—Dryden, Bunyan, Swift, Addison, Defoe, Pope.

PERIOD 3. 1744-1832.—Fielding, Johnson, Goldsmith, Burke, Sheridan, Scott, Wordsworth, Byron, Lamb.

PERIOD 4. 1832-1914.—Macaulay, Tennyson, Dickens, Thackeray, Carlyle, Ruskin Thomas Hardy, H. G. Wells.

19. Indian History.—PERIOD 1. Hindu India from the first Aryan immigration to the end of the 12th century ; history and culture together with the history of Buddhism outside of India.

20. Indian History.—PERIOD 2. Muhammadan India, from the beginning of the 11th century to 1707 (death of Aurangzeb) ; together with the contemporaneous history of the Moslem powers outside of India, the Saracens, the Turks.

21. Indian History.—PERIOD 3. India during the British period, from 1600 to the present day; together with the contemporaneous history of the British Empire.

22. European History.—The limits of time are 1600 and 1914. Although a fixed date is given for the beginning of the period, candidates will be expected to know in general outline how the initial position was reached. The history of countries closely associated with Europe will be included so far as it influences British history, especially in relation in India.

23. British History.—The limits of time are 1400 and 1914. British history will be taken as a whole; politics, economics, and constitution will be considered as mutually affecting each other, and all together as the outcome of the common life of the nation. Candidates will be expected to know so much of European history as will make the external action of this country fully intelligible and will explain those movements in Britain which had their beginnings elsewhere, e.g., the Renaissance, the Reformation, and the reactions in this country of the French Revolution. From 1750 onwards the outstanding incidents and movements in the history of British possessions will assume more importance.

24. General Economics.—General Economics including industrial history with special reference to India. The subject will be treated as a whole, and candidates should be prepared to illustrate the theory by the facts and to analyse the facts by the help of the theory. The history of economic thought will be included.

25. Public Economics.—The questions will deal with the main forms of State action, central and local, in the economic sphere, together with public finance.

26. Politics.—This subject will include political theory and political organisation.

Candidates will be expected to show a knowledge of political theory and its history, political theory being understood to mean not only the theory of legislation, but also the general history of the State in connection with kindred studies such as Jurisprudence, Public International Law and Economics. Questions involving illustrations from Indian history may be set.

Political organisation will include Constitutional Forms (Representative Government, Federalism, etc.) and Public Administration, central and local. The history of institutions is not included, but candidates will be expected to know the earlier stages from which existing institutions have directly developed, and in this section also illustrations from Indian history may be expected.

27. Law.—Constitutional law, jurisprudence, equity, contracts, torts, easements, law of property with special reference to Transfer of Property Act. Hindu and Muhammadan Law as administered in British India. Indian Evidence Act, Civil Procedure Code, Indian Penal Code, Criminal Procedure Code.

Mathematics. Subjects 32-33.—The examination will be designed to test understanding of the subject and ability to apply it rather than ability to reproduce proofs of propositions No great skill in manipulation will be expected.

Questions involving the use of mathematical instruments may be set at both stages.

32. Lower Mathematics.—Logarithms; numerical equations; graphs; approximation; infinite series; complex numbers; solution of triangles.

Geometry in two and three dimensions according to the method of Euclid. Analytical geometry in two dimensions (method of Descartes). The construction of plans, elevations and sections of solid bodies (method of Monge).

Differential co-efficients; maxima and minima; integrals; the application of the infinitesimal calculus to curves.

Projectiles; harmonic motion; momentum; energy; power. Equilibrium of rigid bodies in two dimensions; link polygons; virtual work. Simple machines, e.g., tackle, cranes, engine governors, brakes. Fluid pressure; expansion of a perfect gas; air-pump.

33. Higher Mathematics.—Lower Mathematics together with —

Uniform convergence; infinite products; exponential and trigonometric functions of a complex variable.

The elements of the geometry of surfaces.

Taylor's series; partial differentiation; areas and volumes of solids by integration; moments of inertia; the solution of differential equations occurring in elementary mechanics.

Centrodes; simple cases of linked mechanisms. Equilibrium of forces in three dimensions: loading of beams; elementary treatment of potential. The motion of rigid bodies in two dimensions. Stability of flotation.

34. Astronomy.—Celestial co-ordinates. Astronomical instruments descriptively treated; method of using them and of determining their principal errors. Orbit of the earth. The Ecliptic. Time. Latitude and Longitude. Motion of the moon, simpler calculations, eclipses. Parallax. Refraction. Aberration. Precession and nutation.

Stellar maps and catalogues; the nautical almanac; the principal constellations. Descriptive discussion of planets, comets, double stars, nebulas. The simpler processes of computation; reduction of observations and of measurements made on photographic plates.

35. Statistics.—The questions to be set will cover:—

(1) Elementary theory of statistics, not depending mainly on the theory of probability nor requiring a knowledge of the calculus—frequency distributions, averages, percentiles, and simple methods of measuring dispersion; graphic methods; elementary treatment of qualitative data, e.g., investigation of association by comparison of ratios, consistency of data; the practice of the simplest graphic and algebraic methods of interpolation.

(2) Practical methods used in the analysis and intepretation of statistics of prices, wages and incomes, trade transport, production and consumption, education, etc., the more elementary methods of dealing with population and vital statistics; miscellaneous methods used in handing statistics of experiments or observations.

(3) Elements of modern methematical theory of statistics; frequency curves and the mathematical representation of groups generally; accuracy of sampling as affecting averages, percentages, the standard deviation; significances of observed differences between averages of groups, etc.; the theory of correlation for two variables.

A considerable choice of questions will be given, especially as to paragraph 2, and it will be possible for a candidate without advanced mathematical knowledge to obtain full marks by answering questions under paragraphs 1 and 2.

Natural Sciences.—Subjects 36—47. The standard of the higher division of a science will be that which is required in the main subject for an honours degree at the universities. The standard for the lower division of a science will be that required in a subject subsidiary to the main subject whether required at the final degree examination or at a preceding examination.

40, 41. Lower and Higher Botany.—Vegetable physiology will be included in each division.

42, 43. Lower and Higher Geology.—Mineralogy will be included in each division.

48. Geography, not excluding topics which concern geography jointly with other subjects such as economics, history, physics, botany and geology. There will be a practical test which will necessitate a knowledge of cartographical methods and notations, and for this test drawing instruments may be required.

GOVERNMENT OF THE PUNJAB.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT, IRRIGATION BRANCH.

No. 1371-R. I.

Dated Lahore, the 17th November 1921.

Resolution of His Excellency the Governor in Council of the Punjab and its Dependencies.

Read—

Review, by the Chief Engineer, of the work of the Irrigation Department, Punjab, during the financial year 1920-21.

CAPITAL OUTLAY.

The Capital invested to date (direct and indirect) on Productive Major Irrigation Works amounted to Rs. 24,07,22,856 including Rs. 1,55,00,540, contributed by Native States while that on the Minor Works, for which Capital and Revenue Accounts are kept, was Rs. 6,06,915.

On the Major Works the expenditure during the year was Rs. 8,04,624 (Imperial Rs. 8,02,412, and Contribution Rs. 2,212). In addition to this a sum of Rs. 6,43,835, which was realized from sales of surplus Tools and Plant and from colonists on account of cost of water-courses, &c., were also expended during the year. Thus the total expenditure incurred during the year under review on Productive Major Works (Imperial) amounted to Rs. 14,48,459. Of this expenditure nearly one-half was incurred on the improvements to Lower Chenab Canal Head Works at Khanki and on the remodelling works that are being carried out on the Lower Jhelum Canal. On other canals the expenditure was relatively too small to need any special mention.

2. On the Minor Works for which Capital and Revenue Accounts are kept a sum of Rs. 4,426 was spent on construction of subsidiary buildings connected with certain inspection houses on the Ghaggar Canals.

NATURE OF SEASONS, &c.

3. The character of the season was not favourable to canal irrigation.

During April very little rain fell, but in May the rainfall was heavy and widespread, greatly in excess of normal nearly everywhere, and encouraged barani sowings.

From June to September the total fall was deficient over the whole Province, being about 43 per cent. below normal. Thereafter the weather was exceptionally dry and no rain fell in October and November. The winter rains also failed, except for occasional local showers mainly in the sub-montane tracts, and the rainfall of the period from December to March was in great defect over practically the whole Province so much so that in 16 districts out of the 29 the fall was more than 80 per cent. below the normal.

Thus the year under review was one of continued drought and the demand for canal water was abnormally keen. The river supplies were low, but judicious distribution, by resorting to rotational turns of channels and outlets, resulted in the fact that on the Major Works there was very little decrease in the figures of the area irrigated as compared with those of the preceding year which were the largest on record.

Little snow fell in the Punjab hills and consequently the rivers remained low for a longer period than usual resulting in the high lands on the Inundation Canals not getting water and there was an appreciable decrease in the area irrigated on these Canals.

Fortunately the year was free from widespread calamities and the public health remained good so that harvesting operations were not interfered with.

AREA IRRIGATED, &c.

4. As mentioned above the climatic conditions were not as favourable as in the previous year, the area irrigated by the canals, however, was over 10·25 million acres out of the total cropped area of 17·18 million acres in the Province or nearly 60 per cent. of the total. In the preceding year, which was extremely favourable for canal irrigation, the cropped area was 25·36 million acres, of which the canals irrigated about 10·46 million acres or about 41 per cent.

Of the total area irrigated the Major Works accounted for 9,505,633 acres, practically the same as in the year previous when the figures were 9,508,430 acres. The irrigation effected by the Minor Works, all of which are inundation canals, was 763,057 acres as against 948,228 acres in the previous year.

As compared with the triennial period ending 1919-20 the Major Works showed an increase of 811,312 acres whilst the Minor Works exhibited a decrease of 129,803 acres. The decrease under Minor Works was due to extraordinary low supplies in the rivers consequent upon the unexceptional drought caused by a bad monsoon and the entire absence of winter rainfall and to the increasing draw off from the rivers to feed perennial channels.

Of the triple canal system the Lower Bari Doab Canal showed a falling off of 16,794 acres while the other two Canals, the Upper Chenab and Upper Jhelum Canals, showed an increase of 105,023 acres as compared with the previous year. Taking the system, as a whole, the area irrigated was 1,719,174 acres showing an increase of about 88,000 acres on the estimated figure given in the Completion Report. The triple canal project can, therefore, safely be said to be making satisfactory progress.

FINANCIAL RESULTS, &c.

5. The gross receipts from the working of the Major Works amounted to Rs. 4,68,44,809, and the working expenses to Rs. 1,41,65,110, giving a nett revenue of Rs. 3,26,79,699 or 14·51 per cent. on the total outlay of Rs. 22,52,22,316 as against 14·43 per cent. in 1919-20.

This favourable result was due mostly to a larger area having been irrigated in Rabi 1919-20, the assessment on which was realized during the year under review and had it not been for a decrease in the figures of area irrigated during Kharif 1920 due to the bad monsoon, and the payment of arrears of Rs. 14,97,000 on account of the revision of indirect debit for increased cost of Civil Administration, etc., on the Lower Chenab Canal, the result would have been still more favourable.

6. The percentages of nett revenue on capital outlay on the various larger canals were —

Western Jumna Canal	11·27
Upper Bari Doab Canal	17·31
Sirhind Canal	12·03
Lower Chenab Canal	44·33
Lower Jhelum Canal	19·16
Upper Chenab Canal	8·64

Upper Jhelum Canal	...	...	0·25
Lower Bari Doab Canal	...	...	15·68
Upper Sutlej Inundation Canals		...	15·64
Sidhnai Canals	...	...	17·65	and
Indus Inundation Canals	...	...	3·09

7. The nett profit after defraying interest charges comes to 11·25 per cent. of the total outlay as against 11·08 in the preceding year whilst direct receipts alone yielded 5·26 per cent.

8. Of the Triple Canal project the Lower Bari Doab Canal has shown remarkable financial results. In the short period of seven years it has paid off the whole of its interest debt, amounting to over Rs. 69½ lakhs, and now shows a surplus revenue of nearly 35 lakhs to its credit.

The Upper Chenab Canal also has wiped off nearly half of its accumulated interest charges.

The Upper Jhelum Canal alone lags behind and shows a balance of accumulated interest charges to the extent of about Rs. 154 lakhs still to be cleared off. This Canal was constructed, however, at a heavy cost of about 445 lakhs mainly for the carriage of supplies elsewhere and not for local irrigation and in examining financial results the three Canal systems must be taken together. The cost of the whole project was 1,025 lakhs.

9. The operations of the Minor Works resulted in a nett revenue of Rs. 2,89,842 as against Rs. 5,36,609 in the year previous. Having due regard to the climatic and other conditions of the year the result may be considered satisfactory.

GENERAL.

10. Fifty-eight miles were added to the length of channels in operation thereby raising the total to 19,632 miles at end of March 1921, viz., 4,392 miles of Main and Branch Canals and 15,240 miles of distributaries.

11. The Irrigation Department is one of the most important earning Departments of Government and the Chief Engineer's review shows the magnitude of the work done and in progress, the extent of the country affected and the financial results of its beneficient operations. Much of the land through which the greater Canal systems now flow was formerly desert, unpeopled or occupied by a few wandering tribes only and was practically worthless as a source of revenue. It has now been transformed into a veritable garden occupied by hundreds of thousands of thriving and prosperous peasants whose prosperity enables them to contribute to the resources of Government, an important part of the revenue of the province.

12. The posts of Chief Engineer have been held during the year by—

Mr. F. W. Woods	1-4-20	8-1-21
Mr. H. W. M. Ives	1-4-20	19-10-20	and
	9-1-21	31-3-21
Mr. F. T. Bates	20-10-20	31-3-21

The retirement of Mr. Woods towards the close of the year under report has deprived the Government of the services of an able officer whose talents and experience had been of great service to the Province.

By order of His Excellency the Governor in Council,

H. W. M. IVES,

Secretary to Government, Punjab.

E. JOSEPH,
Offg. Chief Secretary to Government, Punjab.

The 25th November 1921.

Order under the Dramatic Performances Act, 1878.

No. 29522.—Whereas the Governor of the Punjab in Council is of opinion that the play or pantomime entitled "Zakhmi Punjab," written by Kishen Chand Zeba, printed by Ram Saran at the Congress Press, Lahore (the title page having been printed at the Kapur Art Printing Works, Lahore), and published by Lajpat Rai and Prithwi Raj, book-sellers, Lahore, which purports to be a dramatic representation of the Punjab disturbances, etc., of 1919, is of a defamatory nature and is such as is likely to excite feelings of disaffection towards the Government established by law in British India ;

Now, therefore, the Governor of the Punjab in Council hereby, under the powers conferred on him by section 3 of the Dramatic Performances Act, 1878, prohibits the performance of the said play or pantomime in any public place in the Punjab.

Order under the Press Act, 1910.

No. 29523.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 12, sub-section (1), of the Indian Press Act (I of 1910), the Governor of the Punjab in Council is pleased to declare forfeited to His Majesty all copies, wherever found, of a play or pantomime in Urdu entitled "Zakhmi Punjab," written by Kishan Chand Zeba, printed by Ram Saran at the Congress Press, Lahore, and published by Lajpat Rai and Prithwi Raj, book-sellers, Lahore, and all copies of all documents containing some or all of the subject matter of the same, inasmuch as the said play or pantomime contains matter which has a tendency to bring into hatred and contempt the Government established by law in British India, and which, therefore, appears to the Government of the Punjab to contain words of the nature described in section 4, sub-section (1), clause (c) of the said Act.

GENERAL.

The 3rd December 1921.

No. 30273 —It is hereby notified that the holidays to be observed in public offices under the Punjab Government during the year 1922, which are specified in the schedule hereto annexed, are public holidays within the meaning of section 25 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881. These holidays should be given to all Government servants, subject to the single condition that it should be open to the head of an office to stop a holiday notified under the Act in the case of any individuals guilty of idleness or inattention to duty, unless the day in question is deemed specially sacred by the members of the religion which the offender professes.

2. In addition to the holidays specified in the schedule all Government offices will be closed from the 28th to the 30th December 1922, and on the 5th January 1922 for Guru Gobind Singh's birthday and on the 4th November 1922 for Guru Nanak's birthday.

A local holiday confined to the districts of Ambála, Ludhiána, Jullundur, Hoshiárpur, Ferozepore, Lahore, Amritsar, Gurdáspur, Siálkot Gujránwála and Lyallpur will be given on Tuesday, 14th March 1922, for Hola Mohalla.

3. Local holidays for great festivals or fairs peculiar to particular places may be granted at the discretion of heads of offices, provided always that there are no arrears of work. The maximum number of such holidays that may be given by district officers is seven. This number should not be exceeded, and district officers should themselves fix each year the local holidays to be observed in their districts up to or within the prescribed maximum of seven, without previous reference to Commissioner of the Division, to whom, however, a copy of the list of holidays fixed should be sent for information. Heads of offices may also, subject to the condition that there are no arrears of work, permit the last Saturday of every month to be observed as a holiday in the English and Vernacular Offices. In such cases all establishments should be allowed, subject to the condition laid down in the case of public holidays under the Negotiable Instruments Act, to take full advantage of the holiday.

4. This notification does not apply to holidays to be observed in Civil Courts.

No. 13641-G.—The following amendments to the Code of Regulations for European Schools are published for general information :—

Regulation 2.—Omit " The term 'scholar' signifies European Scholar. "

Regulation 2 foot note.—Omit " but their attendances are not reckoned in calculating the average daily attendance. "

Regulation 7 (c).—Omit " of non-European scholars, or "

Regulation 7 (d).—Add " It is to be assumed that the Indian children admitted to a European School have a sufficient knowledge of English to benefit by the instruction given in the class for admission to which their other qualifications make them eligible. "

Regulation 7.—Add (f) " to any school which levies a scale of fees varied according to the nationality of the pupil. "

Regulation 31 (a).—Add (f) " that in the scale of fees for the various classes no differentiation is made on the ground of the nationality of the pupil. "

(b) Add foot-note 31 (f) " to the new clause (f). By this condition it is meant that no differentiation in the scale of fees shall be made between European, Anglo-Indian, and Indian children on the ground of their nationality. "

Regulation 36, Note 1.—Omit " either for non-European or "

Regulation 40.—Substitute the following for the existing regulation :—

" A special grant of rupees eight per mensem for each child, in addition to ordinary grants of all descriptions may be made after enquiry by the Department in respect to orphans and destitute children, in aid of boarding charges to orphanages and to other schools which, in the opinion of the Department, provide an education suitable to orphans and destitute children. "

Regulation 82, note Clause (2) of rule 8 on page 25.—Omit " and of non-Europeans."

Regulation 105.—Add " Pupils who are shown in the pass lists as eligible for the award of Middle and High School Scholarships must submit through the head of their school to the Director of Public Instruction, Punjab, a certificate in the form prescribed in No. 7 of the supplementary rules for the Punjab, given in the foot-note to Regulation 110, before such scholarship can be awarded to them. "

If any such candidate be unable to furnish the required certificate the scholarship will be offered on the same terms to the next eligible candidate. But candidates otherwise entitled to receive scholarships who can not supply this certificate shall be designated as " Honorary Scholars " in the public notification of the award under these rules.

Regulation 110.—Omit (foot-note) " Non-Europeans are ineligible for scholarships under this Code. "

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

Proceedings of a meeting of the Standing Committee of the Legislative Council on Finance, held at 10-30 a.m., on December 5th, 1921, in the Committee Room of the Legislative Council buildings, Lahore.

PRESENT:

The Hon'ble Sir John Maynard, K.C.I.E., C.S.I., President.

The Hon'ble Sardar Bahadur Sardar Sundar Singh, Majithia, C.I.E.

The Hon'ble Khan Bahadur Mian Fazl-i-Hussain.

The Hon'ble Lala Harkishan Lal.

Manohar Lal, Esquire.

Ganpat Rai, Esquire.

Saiyad Muhammad Hussain Shah.

1. Proceedings of the last meeting were confirmed.

2. The Committee advised in favour of the following items of expenditure:—

(i) Expenditure of Rs. 15,000 on consulting fees to certain leading specialists in the United States in connection with the investigation of the Sutlej River Hydro-Electric Project.

(ii) Expenditure of Rs. 7,007 on pay of ministerial and menial staff required for two Additional Judges in the High Court.

(iii) Expenditure of Rs. 356 on the purchase of Chhabas, daggers and partlas for the Jamadars of the Hon'ble Members and Ministers.

(iv) Provision of Rs. 7,500 for a Compassionate Fund in the budget estimate of future years, and provision this year from the Local Government's Reserve.

(v) Expenditure of Rs. 114 for the provision of electric lights in the office of the Sanitary Commissioner, Punjab.

(vi) Expenditure of Rs. 14,000 on increasing the rates of pay of the temporary establishment for the Muzaffargarh Settlement so as to make them equal to the rates of pay drawn by the permanent establishment.

(vii) Expenditure of Rs. 4,648 per mensem, for the recruitment of extra Guards of Central Jails for a period of six months, the amount to be reappropriated from the allotment of Rs. 1,15,000 for "Improvements in the working of prisons in the Punjab" under the same major head.

(viii) Expenditure of Rs. 4,692 on account of the grant of local allowances to Jail warders, to be reappropriated from the lump provision for the improvement of Jails.

(ix) Expenditure of Rs. 5,331 for the purchase of a motor-lorry for the conveyance of under-trial prisoners at Lahore.

3. The consideration of the question of the establishment of an Information Agency (at a cost of Rs. 2,000 during the current financial year, and Rs. 25,000 during the ensuing financial year) was postponed as only three non-official members were present. (Mr. Ganpat Rai suggested that in view of the small amount of work which the Mir Munshi had to do, he and his staff might be utilized for the Information Agency.)

4. As regards item (8), it was decided on the request of Mr. Ganpat Rai that before decision of this question, the Committee should be furnished with a statement showing the present pay and the pay proposed for the staff employed under the various religious and philanthropic societies who have undertaken the supervision of Criminal Tribes Settlements.

5. As regards item (14) (expenditure of Rs. 4,445-8-0 on account of additional clerical staff engaged in the Punjab Civil Secretariat), the Committee requested to be furnished with further information as regards the actual work for which the extra staff had been entertained.

6. (i) Consideration of the proposal for the establishment from 1st April 1922 of a minor head "Civil Contingencies Fund" under the head "47—Miscellaneous" (item 16) was postponed to give the members time to digest the proposal.

(ii) The first Friday of each month (10-30 A.M.) was provisionally fixed for the meetings of the Committee.

(iii) The Hon'ble Lala Harkishan Lal suggested that heads of departments should in future be asked to explain the items connected with their departments before the Committee, if required, provided that this was not to cause any inconvenience to these officials.

(iv) Mr. Manohar Lal suggested that the agenda should show whether an item was for the Committee's advice or for sanction.

7. The consideration of the question of revision of pay of the Senior Superintendent of the Punjab Civil Secretariat (item 20) was postponed for the present.

8. With regard to the expenditure of Rs. 2,500 per mensem with effect from 1st April 1922, on account of the pay of Lieutenant-Colonel B. C. Battye, D.S.O., R.E. (item 21), the Committee wished to know if the proposed pay of Rs. 2,500 per mensem was the personal pay of Colonel Battye.

HOME DEPARTMENT.

LEGISLATIVE.

The 20th December 1921.

No. 3219-C-A.—Whereas, under rule 30 of the Punjab Electoral Rules, a petition calling in question the election of Rai Sahib Chaudhri Lajpat Rai of Hissar, a returned candidate for the Hissar (Non-Muhammadan) Constituency, has been presented to His Excellency the Governor of the Punjab by Rai Sahib Chaudhri Het Ram of Daulatpur, District Hissar :

And whereas, under rule 34 (2) (a) of the said rules, His Excellency the Governor has, by notification No. 28132-Legis., dated 11th November 1921, as amended by notification No. 28881-Legis., dated 19th November 1921, appointed as Commissioners for the trial of the said petition the following, namely :—

1. F. W. Kennaway, Esquire, I.C.S.,
2. Des Raj Sawhney, Esquire, Bar-at-Law, Lahore,
3. Mian Abdul Rashid, Bar-at-Law, Lahore, and has appointed Mr. F. W. Kennaway to be President of the said Commission :

Now, therefore, in accordance with rule 34 (2) (b) of the said rules, a copy of the said petition, as hereunder, is hereby published.

F. W. KENNAWAY,
President.

The 20th December, 1921.

To

HIS EXCELLENCY SIR EDWARD DOUGLAS MACLAGAN, K.C.I.E., C.S.I., I.C.S., GOVERNOR, PUNJAB, LAHORE.

Rai Sahib Chaudhri Het Ram of Mauza Daulatpur, District Hissar,— Petitioner,

versus

1. Rai Sahib Lajpat Rai, Vakil, Hissar,
2. Kashi Ram, caste Jat, of Chooli Bagrian, Tahsil Fatehabad, District Hissar,
3. Chaudhri Naunihal Singh, caste Jat, of Mauza Dabra, Tahsil Hissar, } Respondents.

In re Hissar Non-Muhammadan Rural Constituency of the Punjab Legislative Council.

Petition under section 30 of the Punjab Electoral Rules.

The humble petition of Rai Sahib Chaudhri Het Ram,

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH,

1. Your petitioner was a candidate for Hissar Non-Muhammadan Rural Constituency of the Punjab Legislative Council for which an election was held on the 20th July 1921.

2. That at the election abovenamed, the petitioner and the respondents Nos. 1—3 were the nominated candidates and the Returning Officer has returned respondent No. 1 as being duly elected.

3. The petitioner submits that the election of respondent No. 1 is void on the following grounds :—

(a) The respondent No. 1 was ineligible for election to the Council having been found guilty of a corrupt practice (bribery) by agent as defined in Schedule I of the Punjab Electoral Rules,—vide section 5 (3) of the Rules and Punjab Gazette notification No. 15939, dated 27th May 1921, published in the Gazette, dated 3rd June 1921.

(b) The respondent No. 1 was further ineligible for election under rule 5 (4) as his return of election expenses must be deemed to have been found to be false in a material particular as a result of the finding of the Commissioners on the election petition aforesaid.

(c) The nomination paper of respondent 3 (Chaudhri Naunihal Singh), was improperly rejected by the Returning Officer,—vide Regulation 11 under rule 13 of the Punjab Electoral Rules.

4. The petitioner therefore prays that—

(a) the election of respondent No. 1 may be declared invalid and void under the rules.

(b) the petitioner may be declared duly elected instead, or,

HET RAM, Petitioner,

Retired Resaldar.

Verification.—Paragraphs 1—4 of the abovenamed petition are true to the best of my knowledge.

HET RAM, Petitioner,

Retired Resaldar.

(ii) in the case of a license granted for a portion of a year not exceeding three months, a fee of not more than Rs. 2 per mensem.

Provided that for the grant of a license to Schools, Colleges or other Educational Institutions, in which the Cinematograph is to be used for a purely educational purpose, and not for profit, no fee shall be charged.

The 20th December 1921.

No. 32043.—The following draft rules which His Excellency the Governor in Council proposes to make in exercise of the powers conferred by section 11 (2) (e) of the Indian Motor Vehicles Act, 1914, are published for general information, and notice is hereby given that they will be taken into consideration on or after the 15th February 1922, and any objections or suggestions received by that date will be duly considered :—

DRAFT RULES.

1. (i) These rules may be called the Punjab Motor Vehicles Plying for Hire Rules, 1921.

(ii) They shall extend to the whole of the Punjab.

2. In these rules—

(a) "Owner" includes an agent or manager of the owner and also the person for the time being in charge of a motor vehicle.

(b) "Controlling Authority" means the District Magistrate.

(c) "Heavy Motor Vehicle" means a motor vehicle exceeding two tons in weight, unladen.

(d) "Hill Road" includes any road running through mountainous or hilly country and also any road that the Local Government may by notification declare to be a Hill Road for the purposes of these rules.

3. No person shall let or ply for hire or suffer to be let or plied for hire a motor vehicle in any public place unless a road certificate in Form A specified in Schedule A hereto has been granted in respect thereof by the controlling authority and except in conformity with the conditions specified in such certificate.

Provided that, except in the case of a heavy motor vehicle, no road certificate shall be granted unless the motor vehicle is provided with pneumatic tyres or tyres of a soft or elastic material.

4. A road certificate granted under these rules may provide inter alia—

(a) the local limits to which the certificate extends,
(b) the time or times during which the motor vehicle may be let or plied for hire,
(c) the maximum fares for passengers or freight for goods that may be charged for the motor vehicle,
(d) the maximum weight, number of persons, or quantity of luggage or both that may be carried in the motor vehicle.

5. For every road certificate the owner shall pay to the controlling authority a fee of not more than Rs. 30 in the case of a heavy motor vehicle and a motor vehicle not fitted with pneumatic tyres, and Rs. 10 in the case of other motor vehicles, as may generally or specially be fixed by the Commissioner of the Division in which the road certificate is granted.

6. A road certificate granted under these rules shall remain in force during the $\frac{\text{Calendar.}}{\text{financial}}$ year during which it is granted unless a shorter period is specified therein by the controlling authority.

7. The owner shall cause to be affixed and maintained, in some conspicuous part on the motor vehicle, a duplicate copy of the road certificate signed by the controlling authority.

8. No motor vehicle in respect of which a road certificate has been granted shall be let or plied for hire on a hill road if it has become unsafe for running on the hills.

9. The owner shall from time to time, as may be generally or specially directed, produce or cause to be produced for examination before the controlling authority a motor vehicle in respect of which a road certificate shall have been granted.

10. The controlling authority may at any time for reasons to be recorded and communicated to the owner in writing cancel a road certificate granted under these rules.

11. On the expiry or cancellation of a road certificate the owner shall surrender the same to the controlling authority.

12. Every transfer of ownership of a moter vehicle for which a road certificate has been granted shall forthwith be reported in writing by the transferee to the controlling authority, and until such transfer has been so reported and endorsed on the road certificate the road certificate shall be deemed to be suspended from the date of the transfer.

13. No person shall drive a motor vehicle for hire except under a license in the form specified in Schedule B, hereto obtained by him from the controlling authority and except in accordance with the conditions of such license.

14. A fee of Rs. 5 for every license granted under Rule 13 shall be paid by the person licensed to the controlling authority.

15. A road certificate or a license granted under these rules shall not be valid beyond the local limits of the jurisdiction of the controlling authority.

Provided that the controlling authority having jurisdiction in any other local area may endorse a road certificate or a license and on such endorsement being made the road certificate or the license as the case may be shall be deemed to be valid in the local limits of the controlling authority so endorsing or within such limits or subject to such conditions as may be specified in the endorsement:

Provided also that a fee not exceeding the fee payable under Rule 5 or 14 respectively as may be fixed by general or special order by the Commissioner of the Division in which the road certificate or license is to be extended, shall be payable for each endorsement.

16. A license granted under these rules may be cancelled by the controlling authority for reasons to be recorded and communicated in writing to the licensee.

17. The holder of a license under these rules shall produce his license on demand by any police officer.

18. The holder of a road certificate or license respectively under these rules shall not allow it to be used by any other person.

19. The owner or driver of a motor vehicle let or plying for hire shall not carry or suffer to be carried in such vehicle any person whom he knows or has good reason to believe to be suffering from any infectious or contagious disease or the corpse of any person who has died of such disease except under the directions of a medical practitioner registered under the Punjab Medical Registration Act, 1916, in which case he shall not use such vehicle for any purpose unless it has been disinfected to the satisfaction of a medical practitioner as aforesaid.

20. An appeal from any order of the controlling authority under these rules shall lie to the Commissioner of the Division in which the controlling authority has jurisdiction.

21. Nothing in these rules shall be deemed to limit the operation of the provisions of the Indian Motor Vehicles Act, 1914, or except as may be otherwise expressed in these rules of any other rules framed by any competent authority under the said Act.

No. 32044.—The following amendments and additions which His Excellency the Governor in Council proposes to make in exercise of the powers conferred by section 11 of the Indian Motor Vehicles Act, 1914, to the rules contained in Punjab Government Notification No. 552, dated the 1st April 1915, are published for general information, and notice is hereby given that the said amendments and additions will be taken into consideration on or after the 15th February 1922, and any objections or suggestions received by that date will be duly considered :—

In Rule 1, Clause (iv) (b) for the definition of " Hill Road " substitute—

" Hill Road " includes any road running through mountainous or hilly country and also any road that the Local Government may by notification declare to be a Hill Road for the purposes of these Rules."

After Rule 21 (A) add—

21-B. No motor vehicle shall be driven between Ráwalpindi and the 17th Miles Toll Bar on the Murree Road at a speed exceeding 25 miles an hour.

After Rule 24 add—

25. No motor vehicle shall be driven on a hill road at a speed exceeding 15 miles an hour.

26. The District Magistrate may from time to time by general or special order prescribe—

(a) the hours or times during which it shall be permissible for motor vehicles or any class or description of motor vehicles to travel on a hill road or any portion thereof ;

(b) the hours at or between which such vehicles may start from any terminus in order to travel along a hill road ;

(d) the maximum speeds at which such vehicles may be driven over bridges or particularly dangerous localities on the road.

27. No motor vehicle shall be driven on a hill road if it is loaded in such a way that any luggage on it projects beyond the mud guards or running boards.

28. The person in charge of a motor vehicle, who knows or has reason to believe that an accident has occurred to any person, animal or vehicle owing to the presence of the motor vehicle on a hill road, shall report the matter without delay to the nearest police station or to a Motor Inspector.
