PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

SIXTH SESSION OF THE FIRST PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Tuesday, 24th October, 1939.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at 2 p.m. of the clock. Mr. Speaker in the Chair.

OATH OF OFFICE.

The following members were sworn in :—

Khan Sahib Shaikh Muhammad Amin (Multan Division Towns, Muhammadan, Urban).

Shaikh Sadiq Hassan (Amritsar City, Muhammadan, Urban).

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

POLICE REGISTER No. X.

*4380. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state the number of persons placed in Register No. X, community-wise—

(i) in the Amritsar district, and

(ii) if possible, in other districts of the Punjab also ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) : It is not the practice to publish the contents of Police Register X, and I regret that I cannot undertake to furnish information on this subject.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Can you not give me the number ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No. 10 ! (Laughter.)

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : My question concerns the number of persons in Register X.

Parliamentary Secretary : The honourable member wanted detailed information community-wise in the Amritsar district about the number of persons placed in Register X. The answer is that it is not the practice to publish the contents of Police Register X.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Is the honourable member in a position to state the number of persons inclusive of all communities ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : May I take it that the honourable member did not take the trouble of sending for this information ?

EXPENDITURE IN LOWER COURT ON FATEHWAL MURDER CASE.

4490. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the total amount spent in the lower court in the Fatehwal murder case, Amritsar ;

(c) Total expenditure on the case ..	63,000	0	0

COMPLAINT AGAINST NAIB-COURT INSPECTOR AT BHERLI
BY DR. SUNDAR LAL.

4608. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that Dr. Sundar Lal, a private medical practitioner of Mubarikpore, district Ambala, complained to the District Superintendent of Police to the effect that Jogindar Singh, Naib-Court Inspector, of the Court of the Honorary Magistrate, Bherli, district Ambala, first publicly disgraced him and then at his instigation the police of Mubarikpore searched his medical hall merely because he had demanded the payment of Rs. 5 which the said Jogindar Singh owed him ;
- (b) whether it is a fact that he also complained that immediately before the search of his medical hall by the police, the said Jogindar Singh had attempted to put some incriminating article there in order to have him prosecuted ;
- (c) whether any inquiry has been made into his complaint in view of his allegations that all this was done in the presence of large number of bazar people of Mubarikpore ;

(d) whether it is a fact that I also, as a member of the Assembly from the constituency in which Mubarikpore is situated, forwarded the complaint of Dr. Sundar Lal with a request for inquiry to the Superintendent of Police, Ambala ;

(e) the result of the inquiry made and the action taken by the Superintendent of Police ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) : (a) and (b) It is correct that a complaint to this effect was made.

(c) and (e) A report was made at the Mubarikpore police station by the constable named that Doctor Sundar Lal was in possession of an unlicensed sword stick. A case was registered and a search of the doctor's premises made, without result. The case under the Arms Act was in consequence sent up for cancellation.

The conduct of the constable has since been made the subject of departmental inquiry. As a result of these proceedings he has been censured and reverted from the selection grade to the ordinary time scale.

(d) Yes.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it true that all the bazar people did state that the head constable in question wanted to make a false case against the doctor ?

Mr. Speaker : That question does not arise.

APPLICATION OF LALA MANGAT RAI TO START A WEEKLY PAPER.

*4627. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether Lala Mangat Rai, General Secretary of the District Congress Committee, Ambala, and a member of Municipal Committee, Ambala, applied, about two months and a half ago, for permission to start a weekly newspaper to be named as 'Azad-i-Hind' after compliance with the rules of law ;

(b) whether he filed any declaration as regards the policy of the paper ; and, if so, its nature ;

(c) the report of the police on his application and the final orders passed thereon ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Khan Bahadur Mian Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana) : (a) Yes.

(b) No.

(c) It is not in the public interest to disclose the source on which the District Magistrate's orders are based.

Lala Duni Chand : For how many months was the application for starting the paper kept pending ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I would require notice for this question.

EXTORTION OF BRIBE BY TANDA POLICE.

4646. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) whether the Inspector-General of Police has received a petition, dated 26th January, 1939, from one Amar Singh, son of Harnam Singh, of Harsipind, thana Tanda, district Hoshiarpur, alleging extortion of bribe from him by the Tanda Police and a lambardar of the locality ;

(b) if the answer to (a) above be in the affirmative, the action taken in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh): (a) No.

(b) Does not arise.

NOMINATIONS FOR P. C. S. (EXECUTIVE BRANCH).

4652. Chaudhri Muhammad Abdul Rahman Khan : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that nominations for I.C.S. and P.C.S. (Judicial Branch) are made out of the candidates who may have qualified themselves in the competitive examination for these services ;

(b) whether it is also a fact that while making nominations for P.C.S. (Executive Branch) this practice is not observed ; if so, why and whether it is intended to do away with this differentiation in making nominations for the two categories of services ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) Yes ; but for the Indian Civil Service though the choice is made primarily from persons who have qualified in the examination others also are eligible. Under the rules all candidates who have qualified in the Indian Civil Service and Punjab Civil Service (Executive Branch) competitive examinations are duly considered for nomination to the Punjab Civil Service on Register 'C' along with persons who have not taken these examinations but possess certain prescribed qualifications and are recommended according to rules by certain nominating authorities. The question of modifying these rules is under consideration.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether in the last selection the candidates nominated were taken in order of merit as shown by the examination result ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I would appeal to you that this question does not arise.

Lala Duni Chand : How does the honourable member say that it does not arise ?

Premier : The honourable member is perhaps not aware that the names to the extent of twice the number of vacancies are sent for and Government has full discretion to select from that number.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know how many candidates in the last selection were taken in order of merit as appeared on the result list ?

Premier : Every one of them was taken in order of merit.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : It all depends upon what merit is. (Laughter.)

DEMANDING SECURITY OF RS. 1,000 FROM "SHAN-I-HAQ," WEEKLY.

4656. Chaudhri Muhammad Abdul Rahman Khan : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that orders demanding security of Rs. 1,000 were issued to the Editor, "Shan-i-Haq Weekly," Gujranwala, for publishing a poem under the heading "Fitna-i-Akhirzaman"; if so, reasons for the same;
- (b) whether it is a fact that the said poem was copied from Baharistan and Armughan-i-Qadian, published by Maulana Zafar Ali Khan; if so, whether any action was taken against these publishers; if not, reasons for the same?

Parliamentary Secretary (Khan Bahadur Mian Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana) : (a) No, but security was required from the publisher of the Shan-i-Haq because the poem in question offended against clause (h) of sub-section (1) of section 4 of the Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act, XXIII of 1931 read with section 16 of the Criminal Law (Amendment) Act, XXIII of 1932.

- (b) It is not known from which book the poem was copied.

REDUCTION IN SALARIES OF MEMBER OF INDIAN CIVIL SERVICE AND OTHER IMPERIAL SERVICE OFFICERS.

4658. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state whether the Punjab Government has made any representation to the authorities concerned for reduction in the salaries of Indian Civil Service and other officers over whose pay the Provincial Government has no control; if not, whether it intends doing so?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : Reply to both parts of the question is in the negative.

ANTI-CORRUPTION COMMITTEE.

4730. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether the Anti-Corruption Committee is authorized to take initiative to investigate cases of officials or officers whose reputation about corrupt practices is brought to their notice, or they wait until the district officers or departmental heads make their reports;

[K. S. Kh. Ghulam Samad.]

(b) when the constitution of ad hoc peripatetic boards is expected;

(c) who will be the members of this board?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood): (a) Presumably the honourable member is referring to the Special Inquiry Agency; if so, he is invited to refer to the second of the circulars¹ which I laid on the table on the 21st April, 1939, when I explained the measures which Government are taking in regard to corruption.

(b) and (c) A scheme was worked out a few months ago for the constitution of a touring board to assist in dealing with corrupt officers, but it has been decided, mainly for financial reasons, to defer this experiment for the time being.

SWADESHI CLOTH FOR UNIFORM OF POLICE CONSTABLES.

4731. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state whether the Government has considered or intends to consider the question of using Swadeshi cloth for the uniform of the police constables; if so, with what result?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh): Indian-made cloth is already used for the purpose.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: May I take it that no foreign cloth is used for the purpose?

Parliamentary Secretary: If Indian cloth is available certainly it is being used.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: Does the Parliamentary Secretary mean that Indian cloth is not available for the purpose?

Parliamentary Secretary: If the cloth of the required quality is available, it is certainly used.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: Has the Government made any enquiries into the matter and satisfied itself that Indian cloth is not available for the purpose?

Parliamentary Secretary: I have replied that the Indian cloth is being used. It is only a hypothetical question that my honourable friend is putting.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: I want to know whether Indian cloth is used exclusively for the purpose.

Premier: If it is available.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: Is the Honourable Premier in a position to state that it is not available in sufficient quantities to be used exclusively?

¹Kept in the Assembly Library—Enclosure to answer to short notice question (Vol. X, Page 910).

Premier : My honourable friend is trying to split hairs. Indian cloth is being used. That has been already stated and the honourable member is now putting a hypothetical question and my answer is that it is used in preference to all other cloth if it is available.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : In other provinces even khaddar, hand-made cloth, is being used and is found sufficient to meet the requirements. Has the Government considered the advisability of adopting the same procedure here ?

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Is it possible for the Government to say since when swadeshi cloth is being used ?

Parliamentary Secretary : At any rate since this Government came into office.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Is my honourable friend in a position to state the percentage of the swadeshi cloth used as against the percentage of the foreign cloth which is being used ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Does my honourable friend expect me to state these figures on the spur of the moment ?

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : From a very resourceful parliamentary secretary like my honourable friend, I do ! Is the Honourable Premier in a position to say that at least 50 per cent. of the requirements are met by swadeshi cloth ?

Premier : I would not answer that question because my honourable friend's next question would perhaps be, "how many counts of yarn are being used"? (Laughter.)

Lala Duni Chand : Let alone the question of the use of foreign cloth I want to know whether any Indian cloth is at all used.

Parliamentary Secretary : Perhaps my honourable friend was not attentive when I replied to the original question. I stated that Indian cloth was being used.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the Honourable Premier in a position to say whether at any time during the tenure of office of the present ministry occasion arose when swadeshi cloth was not found to be available for the purpose ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Not to my knowledge.

PRESS SECURITIES DEMANDED OR CONFISCATED.

*4732. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to lay on the table of the House a statement showing the names of the newspapers and presses from which securities have been demanded as well as the names of the papers and presses whose securities have been confiscated under the Press Emergency Act since 1st April, 1937, and also state the amounts of securities so demanded or confiscated in each case ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : I regret that the answer to this question is not yet ready.¹

¹For the final answer vide the Appendix at page 90 infra.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Notice of this question was given early enough and I want to know through you, Mr. Speaker, why the answer is not yet ready, whether there was no desire to get the information or whether there was any insurmountable difficulty in theory. After all, these orders are issued with the sanction of the Local Government and the information could have been easily got from the office.

Premier : I am sorry there has been a mistake. The answer is ready and the statement will be laid on the table¹ in a minute.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I want the statement to be read out. It is a starred question and I want the information to be read out. Otherwise it would not be possible for me to put supplementary questions.

Premier : It is a long statement. I saw it only this morning.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Have there been many confiscations ?

Premier : Not many.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Sir, you have ruled that information on such questions should be supplied to members concerned in advance so that they might ask supplementary questions. I am now being denied that privilege of putting supplementary questions.

Premier : The information has not been deliberately delayed. In fact I received the file only this morning and even my nonourable friend, the Parliamentary Secretary, has not seen it. Apparently he has not received it. I thought a copy might have been sent to the Assembly office. But it does not seem to be so.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Why could not a copy be sent over to me. The honourable member may read it out now.

Premier : I have not got it with me here.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Then may I request you to allow me to put supplementary questions tomorrow when the information is supplied ?

Mr. Speaker : I have no objection, if the House has none.

INJURED CONGRESS WORKERS AND VOLUNTEERS CONVEYED TO BAHADURGARH DISPENSARY.

4738. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the number and names of injured Congress workers and volunteers conveyed by the police to Bahadurgarh dispensary from village Asaudha on the morning of 19th February, 1939 ;
- (b) the names of those whose dying declarations were recorded in the dispensary ;
- (c) the names of those who received grievous hurts and simple hurts separately ;
- (d) the duration for which each injured person mentioned above remained in the Bahadurgarh dispensary and the Rohtak Civil Hospital ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a), (b) and (c): Forty injured persons were conveyed by the police to the Bahadurgarh dispensary from Asaudah on 19th February, 1939, of these 7 persons were found to have received grievous injuries including five whose condition was dangerous and whose statements were recorded. Thirty-three persons had simple injuries. It is not in the public interest to give names. All have now been discharged from hospital.

(d) A statement is laid on the table.

Statement showing the duration for which each injured person remained in the Bahadurgarh dispensary and the Rohtak Civil Hospital.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I ask whether the medical report submitted by the Civil Surgeon with regard to the injured persons has been brought to the notice of the Government ?

Premier : All of them have been discharged from the dispensary.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: I admit that they have been discharged from the dispensary, but the question is as to whether the Government has received any report from the Civil Surgeon.

Parliamentary Secretary: The answer given is on the basis of the information received and checked by the medical report.

Lala Duni Chand: May I know if the Government consider this as a very creditable record of police work?

Mr. Speaker: Disallowed.

SATTA IN ROHTAK TOWN.

4739. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the conditions at present as regards satta and usual gambling in Rohtak town and the adjacent villages and how far the police has succeeded in eradicating them since the reply to my previous starred question No. 3438¹ on this subject has been given;
- (b) have the local authorities tried to find out the root causes of satta in Rohtak town and take steps to remove them?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh): (a) During the course of 1938, 8 cases were registered under the Public Gambling Act, 1867, and 17 persons were sent for trial. From the 1st January to the 15th September this year ten cases were registered. Six of these resulted in conviction and four are still pending in court. The number of persons so far convicted this year is 18, while the number of persons involved in pending cases is 16. These measures have not been without effect and the position does not appear to be in any way abnormal.

(b) Satta is a social evil which is prevalent because it is profitable. It might be added that it is in no way peculiar to Rohtak, where the extent of the abuse is probably neither greater nor less than in the other towns of the province.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: May I know how much decrease has been effected in the volume of satta and gambling since the reply to my last question was given?

Parliamentary Secretary: I have not followed my honourable friend. But I have stated in reply to my honourable friend's question, the measures adopted by the police so far.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: My question is whether there has been any decrease in the volume of satta and ordinary gambling.

Parliamentary Secretary: The measures adopted are bound to have some effect.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar: Is it not a fact that since this Government came into office this evil has increased?

Parliamentary Secretary : No, it is not a fact.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Is my honourable friend in a position to state the percentage of decrease in the crime ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If my honourable friend gives notice of a specific question, I will try to collect the information. It is not possible for me to reply to his question on the spur of the moment.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Do I take it then that at present my honourable friend has no information on the basis of which he can say that the crime has either increased or decreased ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The information that my honourable friend wanted, I have supplied. If further information is required he should give fresh notice and I shall be glad to supply him the necessary information.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Then I am right in my guess that at present my honourable friend is not in a position to say that there has been an increase or a decrease in the number of crimes.

Parliamentary Secretary : If my honourable friend wants comparative figures for the last ten or twelve years he should kindly give notice of another question and I shall be glad to supply him the information.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if it is merely a social evil or it is also a source of income to a good many people and whether that fact is within the knowledge of the Government ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I dare say my honourable friend knows more about this question than I do.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Can I ask the Parliamentary Secretary the number of gambling dens in or near about the town of Rohtak ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

TAZIA PROCESSION AND ARRESTS IN KARMON DEORI, AMRITSAR.

4745. Dr. Sant Ram Seth : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that arrests of prominent Hindus were made in Amritsar on the evening of 2nd March, 1939, when the Tazia procession was passing through Karmon Deori, Amritsar ; if so, the number of arrests made on that evening of 2nd March, and whether among those arrested there were persons who belong to other communities as well and, if so, their number separately ;

(b) whether it is also a fact that Bhajan Lal, a respectable merchant of Karmon Deori, who pays Rs. 700 as annual income-tax to the Government, was arrested and handcuffed on the evening of 2nd March, 1939, by the police which entered the house after breaking open its outer door where he was sitting with his wife and children and was further humiliated by the police while being taken to Kotwali ; if so, why and what action is intended to be taken against the police officers concerned ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) Sixty persons, of whom 10 were Sikhs, and 50 Hindus, were arrested on the 2nd March, 1939.

(b) Bhajan Lal was arrested under sections 151/107, Criminal Procedure Code, along with some other persons, who were seen throwing brickbats from the roof of Bhajan Lal's shop upon the Tazia processionists in Karmon Deori. Forcible entry was made into the premises under the orders of a gazetted officer as it was necessary to prevent further disorder and arrest the persons who were throwing brickbats. The wife and children of Bhajan Lal were not present at the time of his arrest. He was not humiliated by the police in any way while being escorted to the Kotwali. No action against any police officer is necessary or under contemplation.

ARRESTS IN AMRITSAR.

4746. Dr. Sant Ram Seth : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that when the police made arrests of respectable gentlemen on the evening of 2nd March, 1939, at Amritsar after the Tazia procession, several of the arrested gentlemen were roughly handled by the police while being taken to Kotwali ;

(b) whether it is also a fact that about 55 gentlemen of high position, who were arrested on 2nd March, 1939, were locked up in a small room in Kotwali at Amritsar and were neither supplied with clothing to protect them from cold nor with food and thus were forced to pass the night without them ; if so, the action intended to be taken in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) & (b) No.

REPRESENTATIONS FROM RESIDENTS OF VILLAGE MANOKE, THANA BAGHA PURANA, TAHSIL MOGA.

4778. Sardar Tara Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state whether he and the Deputy Commissioner, Ferozepore, received any representations from the residents of village Manoke, thana Bagha Purana, tahsil Moga, district Ferozepore, in the month of January or February, stating that they were innocent and were unable to bear the expenses of the additional police stationed in the villages Manoke, Gholia Kalan, and Gholia Khurd owing to failure of crops ; if so, the action Government have taken or intend to take in the matter ; if no action is contemplated, the reasons therefor ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) : No such representation appears to have been received by me ; but a petition signed by six persons of village Manoke was received by the Deputy Commissioner, Ferozepore, in January last. It was duly considered by him and rejected as these villages are largely canal-irrigated and are well able to bear the cost.

DAKOITY AT PIPLAN, DISTRICT MIANWALI.

4838. Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that a dacoity was committed at Piplan, district Mianwali, on the night between the 18th and 19th of March, 1939 ; if so, how much loss of life and property was caused ;
- (b) whether it is not a fact that the district authorities had received information beforehand from Bannu and Dera Ismail Khan districts that raiders had descended the hills and were out to raid Piplan and Kallurkot ;
- (c) if so, what precautionary measures the district authorities took for the protection of the lives and property of the persons of those villages ;
- (d) whether it is a fact that many people had applied before this dacoity took place for the grant of licences to possess shot guns and rifles but the authorities did not accede to their request ; if so, why ;
- (e) whether the station officer and the constables posted to the police station Piplan helped the people of the village at the time of attack by the dacoits ; if so, in what manner and, if not, why not ;
- (f) whether he is aware of the fact that a large section of the population of Mianwali district is panic-stricken on feeling that their lives and property are not safe in that district ;
- (g) if the answers to the above be in the affirmative, the action intended to be taken in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a)–(c), (e)–(g) : This has already been answered in the reply to question No. *4784, (reproduced on the next page) put by the honourable member for Rawalpindi Division (General) Rural.

(d) Seventeen applications were received in the period immediately preceding the raid, all for gun licences. Twelve of these had to be rejected, the applicants being persons of small status or clearly unfit to handle fire-arms. In the remaining five cases licences were issued.

RAID IN VILLAGE PIPLAN IN MIANWALI DISTRICT.

4734. Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri: Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that very recently there was a raid in village Piplan in Mianwali district; if so, will the Government please state the extent of the loss;
- (b) whether it is a fact that the district authorities were informed of this intended raid beforehand; if so, what precautions had the authorities taken to prevent the raid;
- (c) whether it is a fact that there is a police station at Piplan; if so, will the Government please state what steps were taken by the sub-inspector and his subordinates either (i) to prevent the raid (ii) to help the victims at the time of the raid and to pursue the raiders;
- (d) whether it is a fact that on account of this raid, the Hindu population of Mianwali district is panic-stricken; if so, what the Government intends to do to allay their panic?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat Khan: (a) Yes. In the early hours of the morning of the 19th March. The loss is estimated at between fifteen and twenty thousand rupees.

(b) On the 14th February and again on the 9th/10th March messages were received from the police in the North West Frontier Province that Piplan was likely to be raided. On each occasion special police arrangements were made, but the threatened raids did not materialise. No information was received after the 10th March indicating that Piplan was likely to be attacked.

(c) Yes, there is a police station at Piplan. On the night in question the staff present consisted of one assistant sub-inspector and three constables. Leaving two men to guard the police station, the assistant sub-inspector went out with one constable and exchanged shots with the raiders. The latter were about fifty in number and fully armed. The assistant sub-inspector was not able, with his tiny force, to prevent the raiders from looting several houses and shops, but as soon as the raiders had left he took vigorous measures to organise a pursuit. His pursuit party was followed by another collected by the sub-inspector and this in its turn by a third organised by the superintendent of police, who reached Piplan with a body of police from district headquarters at 11.30 A.M. Eight persons believed to have been concerned in the dacoity have been arrested and the names of some thirty others have been obtained by the police.

(d) The raid has naturally caused alarm among property-owners in the more exposed towns and villages on the left bank of the Indus as well as in the Isakhel tahsil. Armed reserves of police have now been located at Piplan and in several of the other towns, and in Mianwali itself the municipality has employed a number of ex-soldiers armed with M. H. rifles to form a night patrol. Licences for rifles and guns have been granted on a liberal scale to property owners in the more exposed towns and villages. Steps have also been taken to ensure that all ferry boats and private boats plying in any of the branches of the river are brought over and moored on the left bank after sunset. It is hoped that these measures, if they cannot altogether prevent raids from the other side of the Indus, will at any rate ensure that the culprits do not get away unscathed and will teach the tribes concerned that raiding here does not pay.

FILING OF DECLARATIONS BY WEEKLIES AND MONTHLIES IN JULLUNDUR DISTRICT.

4843. Master Kabul Singh: Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of weeklies and monthlies that filed declarations in the Jullundur district in 1938;
- (b) the names and the number of the newspapers above-mentioned from which securities were demanded;
- (c) the reasons for so doing?

Parliamentary Secretary (Khan Bahadur Mian Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana): (a) One.

(b) None, but persons proposing to publish the (1) Lok Mitter (2) Navin Dunia (3) Prem Lehar and (4) Istri Jiwan were told on examination of the notices given by them in compliance with rules that if declarations were filed, security would be required from them. They actually did not file declarations.

(c) The District Magistrate had reason to believe that these papers would be used for one or other of the purposes enumerated in section 4 of Act, XXIII of 1931.

SHADOWING OF POLITICAL WORKERS BY POLICE.

*4890. Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that some political workers in the province are constantly shadowed by policemen in plain clothes ;

(b) if so, the number of such workers and that of their constant attendants and the expenditure incurred by Government on them annually ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : I have said more than once on the floor of the House that it is not in the public interest to answer such questions.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I only wanted to know whether political workers are being shadowed. Does the Government deny that political workers are being shadowed by the police constables ?

Premier : Government refuses to answer that question.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Does that mean that the Government admits the fact ?

Premier : I neither admit nor deny.

Diwan Chaman Lall : If it does not deny, does it not admit ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The question is whether political workers are being constantly shadowed and the answer is that it is not in the public interest to answer such a question.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I only want to know whether it is a fact that some political workers are being shadowed by police in plain clothes ?

Parliamentary Secretary : What is meant by political workers ?

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Men like my honourable friend and myself.

ARRANGEMENT FOR TAKING DOWN REPORTS OF THE PROCEEDINGS OF PUBLIC MEETINGS.

*4891. Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) what different agencies are employed by the Government to take down reports of the proceedings of public meetings, political conferences and other gatherings ;

[Pandit Muni Lal Kalia]

- (b) whether revenue patwaris and other officials in the revenue department are also deputed for this purpose ;
- (c) whether any special reporters have been employed in the police department for this purpose ; if so, their number with designations district-wise ;
- (d) whether there has been any increase in the number of such special reporters since April, 1937; if so, by how many ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) Trained stenographers, whenever available, are employed to take down reports of the proceedings of public meetings, political conferences and other gatherings. When a trained stenographer is not available an officer of the highest rank who may be available and capable of performing this duty satisfactorily is detailed to report the proceedings.

(b) Revenue patwaris and other officials in the revenue department are sometimes deputed for this purpose.

(c) A statement is laid on the table.

(d) No.

Statement showing the number of trained Stenographers in the districts of the Punjab in 1938.

1. Hissar	1 Foot Constable.
2. Rohtak	1 Head Constable.
3. Gurgaon	1 Foot Constable.
4. Karnal	1 Foot Constable.
5. Ambala	1 Head Constable.
6. Hoshiarpur	2 Foot Constables.
7. Jullundur	1 Head Constable.
8. Ludhiana	1 Head Constable and 1 Foot Constable.
9. Ferozepore	1 Head Constable.
10. Lahore	1 Head Constable and 2 Foot Constables.
11. Amritsar	1 Head Constable and 1 Foot Constable.
12. Gurdaspur	1 Head Constable and 1 Foot Constable.
13. Sialkot	2 Foot Constables.
14. Gujranwala	1 Foot Constable.
15. Sheikhupura	1 Foot Constable.
16. Gujrat	1 Head Constable.
17. Shahpur	1 Head Constable.
18. Rawalpindi	1 Head Constable.
19. Montgomery	1 Assistant Sub-Inspector and 1 Foot Constable.
20. Lyallpur	1 Head Constable and 1 Foot Constable.
21. Jhang	1 Head Constable.
22. Multan	1 Head Constable and 1 Foot Constable.
23. Muzaffargarh	1 Assistant Sub-Inspector.
24. Dera Ghazi Khan..	1 Foot Constable.
25. Criminal Investigation Department.	4 Sub-Inspectors.
Grand Total	4 Sub-Inspectors. 2 Assistant Sub-Inspectors, and 32 Lower Subordinates.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Are Government aware that sometimes convictions are secured on the reports of these patwaris who are not competent to take proper reports of the proceedings of the speeches ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The Government have the fullest confidence in their reports generally with regard to these cases and the question of improving reporting of these meetings is under consideration.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does the Government mean that Government has tested the ability of these patwaris for reporting purposes ?

Premier : My honourable friend is perhaps unaware that in nine cases out of ten, the prosecution is not sanctioned only because of some doubt or flaw in the reporting.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : But in the one case out of ten in which prosecution is sanctioned there is the likelihood of securing conviction of an innocent man.

Premier : I am afraid I have not been able to make myself clear to my honourable friend. What I mean to say is that before a prosecution is sanctioned the Superintendent of Police has to satisfy himself that the report is correct and that it has been correctly reported.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : But how can the Honourable Premier, with the experience he has, say that the Superintendent of Police who is not on the spot will be in a position to verify the correctness of such reports ?

Premier : He verifies it by the corroborative evidence of others.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What are his sources of getting that information ?

Premier : Sometimes public men like my honourable friend are present at the meeting and they report.

FORFEITURE OF AN ISSUE OF 'CHINGARI.'

4899. Master Kabul Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) the article or the portion of the article on the basis of which an issue of the monthly 'Chingari' of Saharanpur was recently declared forfeited by the Punjab Government ;

(b) whether legal opinion was obtained before taking the action ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Khan Bahadur Mian Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana) : (a) Government do not wish to give further publicity to objectionable articles by placing them before the House.

(b) Yes.

JUDICIAL COMPLAINTS FILED IN THE COURTS IN THE PUNJAB.

4928. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Will the Honourable Minister for finance be pleased to state—

(a) the total number of complaints filed in the judicial courts of Lahore district against Government servants between 1st April, 1937, and 28th February, 1939 ;

(Mr. Dev Raj Sethi)

- (b) the number of cases in which the accused were convicted and also the number of cases dismissed by the courts ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) 151.

- (b) The number of cases in which the accused were convicted—9.

The number of cases dismissed by the courts—142.

RECOVERY OF THE COSTS OF ADDITIONAL POLICE POST OF VILLAGE DHARDEO, DISTRICT AMRITSAR.

4929. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether Dr. Sant Ram Seth, M. L. A., Amritsar, sent two letters, dated 2nd August, 1938, and 7th March, 1939, respectively, to the Deputy Commissioner, Amritsar, regarding the recovery of the costs of Additional Police Post of Village Dhardeo, district Amritsar ;

- (b) if the answer to (a) above be in the affirmative, whether any inquiry was made by the Government about the facts mentioned therein ; if so, with what result ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) : (a) The Deputy Commissioner received a letter, dated the 7th March, 1939, from Dr. Sant Ram Seth. The other letter mentioned does not appear to have been received.

- (b) The charges on account of the additional police were correctly calculated in accordance with the rules. The letter in question did not contain anything necessitating an inquiry.

NUMBER OF DACOITIES IN TAHSIL MOGA.

4939. Sardar Rur Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) number of dacoities during the period of one year from 1st January till 31st December, 1938, in all the thanas separately in tahsil Moga, district Ferozepore ;

- (b) the number of arrests in connection with these dacoities in the thanas, namely, Mehna, Moga, Nihal Singhwala and Bagapurana separately ;

- (c) the number of additional police force posted in Ferozepore district and the amount of money as expenditure on this additional police force ;

- (d) whether there is any decrease in the number of dacoities on account of the additional police being posted in the Ferozepore district ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) :

(a) The following cases were registered :—

Police station Mehna .. 3 (Including one found to be false).

Police Station Moga .. 1

Police Station Baghapurana .. 1 (Held in court not to be a dacoity case).

Police Station Nihalsinghwala .. Nil.

(b) Police Station Mehna .. 2

Police Station Moga .. Nil.

Police Station Baghapurana .. ditto.

Police Station Nihalsinghwala .. ditto.

(c) During 1938 two additional police posts were ordered to be located in villages in the Ferozepore district at the cost of the inhabitants, the strength of each post being one sub-inspector, two head constables and twelve foot constables, and its cost for the first year was Rs. 8,187-4-6. In addition, a body of extra police, including 71 constables with the appropriate complement of superior officers, was employed in the district at a cost of Rs. 56,940 per annum. The cost of this force was originally a charge on certain villages in the district but more recently has been defrayed from provincial revenues.

(d) The number of dacoities in 1938 (21) was greater than in the preceding three years, but appreciably less than in 1931-33, before the extra police mentioned above were sanctioned.

EXTENSION OF SERVICE TO CERTAIN DISTRICT AND SESSIONS JUDGES.

4941. Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that extension of service has been given to one of the district and sessions judges in the province and it is contemplated to give a similar concession to another district and sessions judge after when he has attained 55 years of age ;

(b) if so, reasons for the contravention of Rule 56 of the Fundamental Rules in the said case ;

(c) whether it is not a fact that it prejudicially affects the chances of officers next to the district judges mentioned in (a) in the order of seniority ; if so, how does the Government intend compensating such officers ;

(d) the loss the Government will suffer by these extensions ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) Reply to the first part is in the affirmative and to the second part in the negative.

(b) Rule 56 of the Fundamental Rules has not been contravened as the extension in question was granted on public grounds and the rule permits of such extensions.

[Mir Maqbool Mahmood]

(c) Reply to the first part is in the negative and the second part therefore does not arise.

(d) There has been no appreciable loss in money while there has been a gain in efficiency.

I may, however, add that the policy of the present Government is not to grant extensions except in very exceptional circumstances and then only in public interests.

ABDUL JABBAR, SECRETARY OF MUSLIM LEAGUE, HOSHIARPUR.

4946. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state whether it has been brought to his notice that one Abdul Jabbar, Secretary of Muslim League, Hoshiarpur, went to Nandaun in Kangra district in the month of February, 1939, and made a speech there preaching communal hatred; if so, what were the contents of his speech and what action did the Government take or propose to take on it?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : Yes, but Government did not consider the speech to be sufficiently important or objectionable to justify action against the speaker. It is not intended to give further publicity to the speech by laying it before the House.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know whether Government is aware of the fact that due to excitement caused by this speech certain persons in Nandaun were run in under section 107 and several of them were sent to jail?

Parliamentary Secretary : No, Sir.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Is it the policy of the Government to get speeches delivered by communal leaders reported by the police?

Parliamentary Secretary : Speeches delivered at public meetings are reported and thereafter action is taken where it is considered necessary. But the policy of the Government is that all cases which lead to communal excitement or lawlessness particularly in communal matters should be severely dealt with.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know the standard by which the speeches of the Muslim Leaguers and Congressmen are judged?

Parliamentary Secretary : The standard is the same for all communities and for all parties.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Are the speeches of the Premier reported when he delivers them as the Leader of Muslim League.

Premier : My speeches are noted just in the same way as the speeches of my honourable friend when they are delivered in a public meeting. I do not make speeches only as a member of the Muslim League or other political body. As Premier also I have to make speeches and nobody worries to take reports of those speeches.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the Honourable Premier in a position to say as to whether the speeches delivered by the Muslim League Deputation that toured in this province and went up to the Frontier Province, were brought to his notice and was any action taken by him on the same ?

Premier : I received notes of those speeches as also of the speeches delivered by my honourable friend in connection with the Hyderabad Satyagraha.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I have never made objectionable speeches and I am prepared to stand trial for the speeches I delivered, but are Government prepared to take action against the Muslim Leaguers ?

PLAYING OF MUSIC BEFORE A MOSQUE AT TALAGANG.

4975. Malik Barkat Ali : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact or not that on the 27th of December, 1938, the leaders of the Sikh and Muslim communities at Talagang and in the presence of a Magistrate agreed that no music shall be played before the Talagang mosque on the occasion of the passage of the Sikh procession on 28th December, 1938 ;
- (b) whether it is a fact that on the night following, a meeting of the Sikhs was held in the Sikh Gurdwara which was attended by the local Sikh Sub-Inspector, and that in this meeting the said Sub-Inspector induced the Sikhs to pass before the mosque with music playing notwithstanding the agreement reached that day ;
- (c) whether any precautions, and, if so, what, had been taken by the authorities to prevent the disturbance that took place on 28th of December, 1938, at Talagang and also state the number of persons injured on that occasion ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) No, the leading members of both the Sikh and Muslim communities agreed in the presence of Chaudhri Rattan Singh, Magistrate, 1st Class, that no other music except a small drum and the singing of Shabads would be allowed in the vicinity of the Toreranwali mosque at Talagang and that the Sikh procession should pass the mosque before 3-30 P.M. on the 28th December, 1938.

(b) No.

(c) First Part.—Three Magistrates, one Inspector of Police, one Sub-Inspector of Police, one Assistant Sub-Inspector of Police, two Head Constables, twenty foot constables, together with certain local influential residents were detailed for duty to make arrangements to watch and control the situation at all strategic points and danger zones.

Second part.—Thirty-nine persons received injuries.

REFUSAL OF CONTRACTOR TO CARRY CERTAIN PEOPLE GOING TO PINDIGHEB IN HIS LORRY.

4976. Malik Barkat Ali : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that about 70 persons of Talagang, who were challaned under section 107 and about 54 other persons who had stood as their sureties, had to walk on foot a distance of about 54 miles, coming and going from Talagang to Pindigheb to attend the court of the Sub-Divisional Magistrate on the 11th of January, 1939, on the refusal of the contractor, who is the only person holding contract for carrying dāk on this hill road, against the terms of his contract; if so, the action intended to be taken against the contractor;
- (b) whether it is also a fact that the Sub-Divisional Officer, Pindigheb, served a notice on Sh. Muhammad Din, Municipal Commissioner, one of the accused in section 107 case, and on Sh. Muhammad Yusaf, pleader, another accused in the 107 case and who is not the owner of any lorry "that as they were going to travel by a lorry other than that of the contractor they should take note that they should not travel by any other lorry and that action will be taken against the owner of the lorry who disobeyed this order"; if so, the authority on which this notice was issued to the said Sh. Muhammad Yusaf and the action intended to be taken in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) : The facts are as follows. On the 28th December last a Sikh-Muslim riot took place in Talagang. The leaders of both parties were called by the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Pindigheb, to show cause against a demand of security under section 107 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. The road from Talagang to Pindigheb is a hill road on which it would be unsafe to allow unrestricted motor traffic. As it happens both the owners who have been given permission to operate buses on it are Hindus, and it appears that the Muslims who had been called in the security proceedings (including the two persons mentioned in part (b) of the question) objected to travelling in their vehicles. On hearing of this the Sub-Divisional Officer called the owners and took an assurance from them that their vehicles would be at the disposal of all members of the public at any time, irrespective of community. At the same time he issued a notice to the Muslim party warning them of the consequences which must follow if any other vehicles were used, contrary to the rules. It is understood that the Muslim party preferred to make the journey on foot.

There is no question of the owners having refused to make their vehicles available or of taking action against them.

PERMISSION TO START SRI KALGHIDHAR PRESS IN LAHORE.

4986. Sardar Kartar Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state whether it is a fact that some seven weeks back one Giani Gurdit Singh filed a declaration for starting Sri Kalgidhar Press with the District Magistrate, Lahore; if so, whether the said declaration has been accepted by now or not, and, if not, the reasons for the delay?

Parliamentary Secretary (Khan Bahadur Mian Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana) : No. He only submitted a notice to the District Magistrate, Lahore, intimating his intention to start the Shri Kalghidar Press. He actually filed a declaration on the 19th May, 1939, which was accepted by the District Magistrate, Lahore, on the 20th May, 1939.

NEGLECTANCE ON THE PART OF THE POLICE POSTED TO CIVIL POLICE STATION, LAHORE.

4999. 2nd Lieutenant Bhai Fateh Jang Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that call on the phone was made by Messrs. Piarey Lal and Sons, Motor Dealers, the Mall, Lahore, for aid of police at about 6-15 P.M., yesterday, the 19th April, 1939, to the Civil Police Station, Lahore, when a drunkard crashed into their show window and cut himself badly and then fell down unconscious;

(b) whether it is a fact that the police aid turned up at about 7-20 P.M.;

(c) if the answer to parts (a) and (b) be in the affirmative, the reasons for this carelessness on the part of the police authorities concerned?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) :

(a) Yes, except that the time of the telephone message was 6-30 P.M.

(b) A head constable reached the premises at 6-50 and the injured man was medically treated at 7 P.M.

(c) Does not arise.

EMPLOYMENT OF WOMEN IN THE POLICE DEPARTMENT.

5046. Shrimati Raghbir Kaur : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether any females have so far been employed in the Police Department; if so, from what class and locality and on what pay have they been so employed;

(b) whether the employment of women in the Police Department is a temporary measure or is to become a permanent feature of the administration?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) :

(a) Eleven female police officers have so far been recruited. A statement is laid on the table giving particulars.

[S. B. S. Ujjal Singh.]

(b) The Inspector is on a permanent basis. The rest are temporary staff.

Statement.

CASES OF ABDUCTION.

*5102. Mrs. Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- the number of minor girls kidnapped during the years 1937-38-39 in the Punjab ;
- the number of cases instituted against the offenders and the number of cases out of them in which the culprits were convicted during the said period ;
- the number of cases of abduction of grown-up women over sixteen years of age in the Punjab during this period with the number of persons guilty of the offence who were challaned and convicted ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) : To collect figures in the exact form indicated in the question would entail an expenditure of time and labour out of proportion to the results to be secured. I am, however, laying on the table a statement containing certain figures extracted from the Police Administration Reports for 1937 and 1938. A reference is also invited to the detailed figures given in the answer to question No. *4405¹, put by the honourable member for the Amritsar City (General) Urban Constituency in the last spring session.

The Inspector-General has recently issued orders to Superintendents of Police requiring them to analyse the kidnapping figures for the current year and to report how many of the cases registered by the police are cases of professional kidnapping, as contrasted with the other type of case—love affairs in which a young man abducts a girl who has not reached the age of consent. The figures have not yet been completely analysed but the result of the inquiries indicates that the proportion of professional kidnapping cases is small.

TRAFFIC IN WOMEN.

5103. Mrs. Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that of late traffic in women has enormously increased in the province;
- (b) the special machinery, if any, set up by the Government to meet the above menace;
- (c) whether the Governments of neighbouring provinces have been approached with a view to secure co-ordination in the matter of the stoppage of traffic in women; and, if so, with what result?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) :

(a) So far as Government are aware, there is no reason to believe that there has been any large increase in recent years.

(b) The Punjab Suppression of Immoral Traffic Act, 1935, is being gradually extended to the larger towns in the province. It must be understood that the provisions of this Act apply only to those cases of traffic in women in which the object is prostitution. In a large proportion of cases the object is bona fide marriage.

(c) No.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : What is the percentage of increase?

Parliamentary Secretary : There has been no appreciable increase.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it not true that year after year the Criminal Administration Reports disclose that traffic in women is increasing on a large scale all over the province? May I know whether that is a fact or not?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have stated in my reply that in a large proportion of cases the object is bona fide marriage.

Lala Duni Chand : What steps has the Government then taken in order to remedy the evils disclosed in its own Criminal Administration Reports?

Parliamentary Secretary : The Government is trying to extend the provisions of the Punjab Suppression of Immoral Traffic Act, 1935, to a large number of towns in the province.

MAGH MELA.

5106. Captain Sodhi Harnam Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that some persons came to Muktsar from other districts at the time of Magh Mela in 1937 and 1938 to sell swords and kirpans;

(b) whether it is a fact that it was complained by a servant of Captain Sodhi Harnam Singh to the police that those persons were selling swords and kirpans without obtaining a licence from the district authorities to do so ;

(c) what action was taken on that complaint ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) : (a) The police on duty noticed two Sikhs, believed to be from Amritsar, selling swords and kirpans in the 1938 fair, but the local officers did not consider it necessary to take proceedings. Nothing of the kind seems to have occurred in 1937.

(b) So far as can be ascertained, no such complaint was lodged.

(c) Does not arise.

MUSLIM LEAGUE MEETING AND THE TRAVELLING ALLOWANCE OF THE DIRECTOR OF INFORMATION BUREAU.

5129. Diwan Chaman Lall : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that the Director of Information Bureau attended a meeting or meetings of the Muslim League at Sholapur and Patna along with certain members of the Punjab Government ;

(b) whether it is a fact that he travelled at Government expense and drew both travelling allowance and pay during these visits ;

(c) whether it is a fact that he is governed by Government Servants' Conduct Rules ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) Sholapur, yes. Patna, no.

(b) Yes.

(c) Yes.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know from the honourable Parliamentary Secretary whether he, in attending the Sholapur Muslim League Conference where he went at Government expense, did not offend against the Government Servants' Conduct Rules ?

Mr. Speaker : That is a question of legal opinion.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : That is not a question of legal opinion.

Mr. Speaker : It is clearly a question of the interpretation of rules.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Rules have to be applied by the executive and—

Mr. Speaker : Questions regarding the interpretation of law or rules cannot be allowed.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I put the question differently ? May I know if any action was taken against the Director of Information Bureau for having offended against the Government Servants' Conduct Rules in attending the session of the Muslim League, a political body, at Sholapur ?

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member presuming that in attending the Sholapur Conference—

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : It is open to me to presume.

Mr. Speaker : The question shall become hypothetical.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : No, Sir. I have given an information that a particular Government Servant has offended against the Government Servants' Conduct Rules and I want the Government to take action in the matter. No action has been taken.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know on what grounds—

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I would like to have a reply to my question.

Premier : My honourable friend's presumption is wholly incorrect. He was not guilty of any breach of rules.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does the Honourable Premier hold, then, that it is open to a Government Servant to attend a public meeting or meetings of a communal or political organisation of this nature ? (Interruptions.)

Premier : Certain officers can attend them in the course of their duties.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Was he deputed by the Punjab Government ?

Premier : He was deputed by me.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Did he accompany the Premier ?

Premier : He accompanied me. I also ordered him to attend the Sholapur Conference so that the proceedings may not be misreported by a hostile press.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : In what manner was the Punjab Government interested in the proceedings of the Muslim League ?

Premier : Very much so, because if the proceedings had been misreported there might have been a flare up in this province.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Was this Officer sent to other provinces also ?

Premier : He was sent to Bihar and Bengal also.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Alone or was he accompanied by the Premier ?

Premier : Alone so far as Bengal is concerned.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : In what capacity was he sent ? May I know whether he was sent in his private capacity or as an officer of the Government ?

Premier : As a public servant.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Did the Punjab Government ever depute any of its officers to attend a session of the All-India National Congress with a view to get a correct report ?

Premier : I deputed two of my Parliamentary Secretaries. One of them attended the last Congress Session.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : May I know whether the Government intends to publish the result of his enquiries with regard to other provinces ? Are not the public going to take advantage of the research he has done in different provinces ?

Premier : If my honourable friend wants to know what the other provinces are doing, he had better see the United Provinces Information Series in which speeches of all political leaders—whether they are connected with the Government or not—are published, and that would give him an indication of what other provinces are doing.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Then where was the necessity of giving this officer the trouble at public expense ? What was the necessity of sending him to different provinces if the knowledge and experience gained by him was not to be made public ?

Premier : For the same purpose for which other provinces depute officers to the Punjab.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Which officers of other governments have so far visited the Punjab for this very purpose or purposes similar to these ?

Premier : I can assure my honourable friend that not only officers but ministers of other provinces come to learn in the Punjab. (Laughter.)

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : From the answer of the Premier that the Director of Information Bureau accompanied him on his instructions, may I presume that the Honourable Premier had also travelled to Sholapur at Government expense ?

Premier : The Premier does not charge travelling allowance or daily allowance but pays it out of his own pocket, and there would be no immorality about it if I charged travelling allowance, because I understand Congress Ministers charge it whenever they attend Congress meetings. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Speaker : Congress ministers should not be brought in.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the Honourable Premier in a position to prove that all Congress Ministers have charged the Government for their visits to other provinces ?

Premier : I am afraid I have generalised. I was speaking with reference to two answers given in reply to Assembly questions. One was by the Premier of Assam and the other by a minister in the United Provinces.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Premier please state whether he attended the Sholapur Conference in the capacity of Premier or as Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan ?

Premier : Neither as Premier nor as Sir Sikander Hyat Khan but as plain Sikander Hyat-Khan.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that when he delivers speeches in his personal capacity, public servants are deputed to take notes of these speeches ?

Premier : Even when I make a speech in my personal capacity, my honourable friends opposite bring forward adjournment motions in connection with it. I have, therefore, to be very careful.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state whether some of the Parliamentary Secretaries have been attending the Muslim League meetings in other provinces at Government expense ?

Premier : No, Sir.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know what light or inspiration has the Honourable Premier received as a result of this visit of his ? I am very anxious to know that.

Premier : Visit, where ? To Sholapur ? Well, Sholapur is a very old and historic city. If my honourable friend goes there he will be impressed.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : May I know if any report of the proceedings of the Muslim League, as reported by the Director, Information Bureau, is in the archives of the Government ?

Premier : The Director of Information Bureau did not go there as a reporter. He went there as Director of Information.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Then I take it that there has been no report from the Director of Information Bureau to the Honourable Premier.

Premier : Just a note.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Did he go there to manage some section of the press ?

HARASSMENT OF THE LORRY DRIVERS BY THE SUBORDINATE STAFF OF THE TRAFFIC POLICE.

5215. Tikka Jagjit Singh Bedi : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether any such cases have come to the notice of the police authorities in which the subordinate staff of the traffic police is alleged to have harassed the lorry drivers to squeeze illegal gratification from them during the present year ;

(b) if so, the steps the Government propose to take in the matter to stop such harassment in the future ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) :

(a) Some twenty complaints of the kind mentioned have been received in the office of the Inspector-General of Police during the year.

(b) All complaints which appear to have any substance and which are not obviously the result of enmity are investigated in the usual way. Action has also been taken to restrict the use of certain powers to police officers of some seniority. Government would like to go further in this direction, but the presence of a large irresponsible element in the motor transport industry renders it essential to maintain close official supervision.

CORRUPTION CASES DEALT WITH BY THE ANTI-CORRUPTION AGENCY.

5232. Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of corruption cases dealt with department-wise by the Anti-Corruption Agency since it came into existence in the province ;
- (b) the procedure the said agency adopts to dispose of a case reported to it ;
- (c) whether the said agency has any powers to take up the cases of corruption emerging from any department suomotu or it depends for the inquiry into any such case on the report of the department concerned ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a)
Cases in which the investigation has been completed.

Judicial Department	1
Veterinary Department	1
Irrigation Department	2

Cases still under investigation or pending investigation.

Judicial Department	1
Medical Department	1
Development Department	3
Revenue Department	1

I must remind the honourable member that the Special Inquiry Agency only takes up cases of importance. Minor cases are still investigated in the department concerned, as formerly.

(b) and (c) A reference is invited to Punjab Government circular letter No. 10476-Gaz., dated the 17th March, 1939, a copy of which was given to the House on the 21st April last.

TEMPORARY POSTS OF DEPUTY SUPERINTENDENTS OF POLICE.

5249. Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether any new temporary posts of Deputy Superintendents of Police have been created this year ;

¹Kept in the Assembly Library—Enclosure to answer to short notice question (Vol. IX, page 910).

[K. B. Ch. Riasat Ali]

- (b) if so, the number of such posts and the names of persons appointed to these posts ;
- (c) the new expenditure brought to bear on the provincial revenues, in this connection ;
- (d) the justification for creating these new posts ;
- (e) whether he is prepared to lay on the table letter No. 5531-H-39/3395-S., dated the 17th July, 1939, authorising the creation of these posts ;
- (f) whether he is prepared to discourage the creation of new posts till the report of the Punjab Resources and Retrenchment Committee is published ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) :

(a)—(d) The honourable member probably refers to certain additional Deputy Superintendents' appointments which were created in April last year and have been continued by periodical extensions ever since. The need for these posts arose from the fact that the number of Indian police officers absent on deputation considerably exceeds the allowance provided in the cadre for that purpose, and there were not enough Indian police officers left in the province to occupy the posts which are normally to be filled from that service. It became necessary to utilise deputy superintendents to perform the duties of these posts, and to enable this to be done extra appointments in the rank of deputy superintendents had to be created. The number of the extra appointments has varied at different periods, being at one time as great as six, but owing to the recall of the Indian police officers from leave following the outbreak of war it has with effect from the 1st November been reduced to four. The pay of the officers employed in these posts amounts to some Rs. 1,322 per mensem, but against this has to be set a saving of approximately Rs. 5,000 per mensem, due to the fact that the number of Indian police officers on deputation is at present fourteen instead of the proper six.

(e) The letter mentioned contains nothing of special importance, but it is not a published document and I think it better to adhere to the normal principle that departmental correspondence should not be laid on the table.

(f) No new appointments are being created at present if the need can possibly be postponed, but as I have explained these appointments of deputy superintendents do not really constitute an addition to the net strength.

EXTENSION GRANTED TO GAZETTED OFFICERS.

5250. Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of gazetted officers who have been granted extension since the inauguration of provincial autonomy ;
- (b) the name and rank of each such officer with his present pay ;
- (c) the special reasons for extension in each case ;

- (d) the number of ministerial officers who have been granted extension in the Rawalpindi division ;
- (e) if it is proposed to await the report of the Retrenchment Committee before granting any more extensions of service?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) to (d). I would refer the honourable member to the answers given to Assembly questions Nos. *4520¹, and *4908², and in particular to the latter, which referred to the year 1938. In that year 24 non-gazetted officers in the Rawalpindi division were granted extensions of service after reaching the age of 55. The collection of information for that answer, which was given as recently as April, 1939, involved considerable labour, a repetition of which at the present date with the additional enquiries necessary to cover the whole period of provincial autonomy would be out of all proportion to any advantage to be gained by the reply.

(e) All extensions are carefully examined and it seems unnecessary to forbid the grant of any extension during the period when the report of the Resources and Retrenchment Committee is being examined.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if in making these appointments, the Government has observed the rule of Roman law that the intelligence and ability of officers should be tested before making such appointments?

Parliamentary Secretary : The rule of the Indian Law of public service and public interest is observed. It is more comprehensive than the Roman law cited by my honourable friend.

PERSONS ARRESTED IN CONNECTION WITH THE KISAN MORCHA.

5258. Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the total number of persons arrested in connection with the kisan morcha in Lahore and other places in the province ;
- (b) the number of such persons as have been released in pursuance of the statement made by the Government to that effect ;
- (c) the names of those whom the Government do not intend to release and the reasons for not releasing them ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) 2,108.

(b) Incomplete enquiries show that hitherto at least 1,042 prisoners have been prematurely released following the official statement, apart from those released in the normal course.

(c) I regret that I am unable to give the names of those whom Government do not intend to release as a number of individual cases have not yet been finally decided. The honourable member's attention is invited to the Press communiqué issued by the Punjab Government on the 9th September, 1939, for the reasons for differentiating between certain classes of kisan prisoners in the matter of release.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : May I ask the honourable Parliamentary Secretary as to whether there has been any kisan worker who was arrested in connection with the kisan morcha after the Government notification to the effect that all those prisoners would be released who were arrested in this connection ?

Premier : If certain imprudent persons are still acting in contravention of the law of the land after the statement was issued why should they not be arrested ?

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Cases are being instituted for speeches delivered before the notification was issued and not afterwards.

Premier : Does the honourable member mean that cases are being instituted against those who were arrested at that time ?

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Not at all. What I mean to ask is whether there are certain persons who were arrested under section 117 after the kisan morcha had been suspended and orders for release given.

Premier : But in that case the proceedings could only have been taken against those who were instigating others to break the law.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Is it becoming of a Government which claims to be popular to arrest persons after having issued orders for general release subsequent to suspension of a movement ?

Premier : There is nothing unbecoming about it. When some one breaks the law he must be prepared to stand the consequences also.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : When the Government has come to an agreement with the kisan leaders and the morcha has been suspended, some people are still being proceeded against for speeches delivered before this compromise.

Premier : My honourable friend is feigning ignorance. Probably he has not followed our notification which was to the effect that persons who have been duped into joining the kisan morcha by others will be let off by the Government, whereas those who induced others will be severely dealt with.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : I followed it all right but what I am submitting is as to why arrests were made when the morcha had been suspended ?

Premier : My honourable friend should ask those persons who are still violating the law after the suspension of the kisan morcha.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : May I ask as to why they are being arrested when they are not violating the law any more now ?

Premier : I am afraid I am not quite clear what my honourable friend wants to convey. Perhaps he will speak to me outside the House.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : May I ask under what sections the persons detained were arrested ?

Premier : Why bother about the section. We have notified that those persons who were duped into joining the kisan morcha by other people would be let off but those who instigated them, i.e., the ring-leaders of the movement would not escape scot free.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : How many persons are thus confined ?

Premier : Must be quite a large number.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Is it true that the lambardars, safedposhes and zaildars involve people on account of personal grudge because I have seen arrests being made in large numbers ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that people were proceeded against for speeches delivered during the morcha after the suspension of the kisan morcha and after the orders of release had been given ?

Premier : No such case has been brought to my notice.

UNSTARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

REVISION OF CONSTITUENCIES OF AMRITSAR DISTRICT BOARD.

790. Sardar Partap Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state whether the Government is considering the question of revising the constituencies of Amritsar District Board ; if so, the reasons for so doing and the steps taken by the Government in that direction so far and whether it is intended to publish the revised scheme for eliciting public opinion thereon before it is put into practice ?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : The local officers have been asked to rearrange the electoral circles of the Amritsar District Board so as to ensure that each community may on the basis of the recently enlarged franchise obtain its due share of elected seats in future. The revised circles will be published for objections.

791.—Cancelled.

REPRESENTATION OF CHAMARS OF TOHANA.

792. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether his attention has been drawn to the repeated representations made to the local authorities and to the Government by the Chamars of Tohana requesting therein that the Crown land called Parao may be given to them on reasonable price for abadi purposes ;

[K. S. Khawaja Ghulam Samad.]

(b) whether he is aware of the fact that the applicants are feeling a great inconvenience for inadequacy of the area now in their possession under residential houses on account of their increasing population ;

(c) whether he is aware of the fact that various Deputy Commissioners of Hissar inspected the spot and realized the trouble the Chamars are undergoing ;

(d) whether the Government has ever received recommendations of Deputy Commissioner for a grant of vacant site to the Chamars on payment ;

(e) if so, the action taken by the Government thereon ; if no action has been taken, whether the Government propose to take any action now ; if not, why not ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) Such representations were made to the local authorities only, both by the Bishwedaras of Lohani and the Chamars of Tohana.

(b) This was alleged in the representations.

(c) The then Deputy Commissioner of Hissar inspected the site in March 1937, but as the plot was likely to be used for important works of public utility, it was not thought advisable to alienate it.

(d) No.

(e) Does not arise.

793—95.—Cancelled.

PERSONS APPOINTED IN GOVERNMENT COLLEGES AS LECTURERS.

796. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to lay the following statement on the table of the House showing—

COLLEGES AFFILIATED TO THE UNIVERSITY OF THE PUNJAB.

797. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to lay a statement on the table showing the colleges affiliated to the University of the Punjab, giving particulars and grades of pay existing in them during each of the years since 1921 to 1938 ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : I regret I am unable to reply to this question as the collection of the information will involve an expenditure of time and labour entirely incommensurate with the value thereof.

EXPANSION OF COLLEGE EDUCATION.

798. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state—

- whether it is a fact that in 1932 about 7,000 boys passed Matric examination and in 1938 about 18,000 ;
- whether it is a fact that the number of colleges has not increased during the period 1932 to 1938 ;

[Pandit Shri Ram Sharma.]

(e) whether it is a fact that in the Punjab University Inquiry Report of 1932, fifty more institutions equal to intermediate colleges were considered necessary in the Punjab ;

(d) whether it is a fact that Government has in view a programme of expansion of primary education, compulsory education and adult education.

(e) whether it is a fact that Government and Punjab University have no regular programme of expansion of college education, if so, reasons for the same and the action they intend to take in this connection ?

[The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) 11,943 candidates passed the matriculation examination in 1932 and 18,371 in 1938.

(b) The number of colleges has increased from fifty to fifty-nine during the period 1932 to 1938.

(c) Yes.

(d) Yes.

(e) It is not intended to open more colleges as the existing number of colleges is considered sufficient to meet the demand.

REPRESENTATION OF SIKHS IN PATWARIS AND FIELD KANUNGOS.

799. Captain Sodhi Harnam Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) the total number of Patwaris 'Mal', Patwaris 'Nehri' and Field Kanungos employed in 1937, 1938 and 1939, up till now in the province ;

(b) the number of Sikhs, Hindus or Muslims among them ;

(c) What arrangements the Government have made to give a 20 per cent. representation to the Sikhs as Patwari 'Mal', Patwari 'Nahr' and as Field Kanungos in this province ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : I regret that the answer to this question is not yet ready.

NUMBER OF CLERKS AND OTHER EMPLOYEES WORKING IN AMBALA, JULLUNDUR, LAHORE, MULTAN AND RAWALPINDI COMMISSIONERS' OFFICES.

800. Captain Sodhi Harnam Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the total number of clerks and other employees working in Ambala, Jullundur, Lahore, Multan and Rawalpindi Commissioners' offices in 1937, 1938 and 1939 up till now ;
- (b) the number of Sikhs, Hindus or Muslims among them ;
- (c) what arrangements the Government have made to give a 20 per cent representation to the Sikhs in the establishment of these offices ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) and (b) The attention of the honourable member is drawn to the information given in the annual consolidated statements showing the proportionate representation of the various communities serving in the different departments of the Punjab Government as it stood on the 1st January, 1937, 1938 and 1939.

- (c) The matter is under consideration.

NUMBER OF STUDENTS IN SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES IN THE PUNJAB.

814. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : (a) Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to lay a statement on the table of the House showing the number of students in each class as it stood on 31st March, 1921 to 1938, for each year in all classes of schools and colleges in the province from infant class to 4th year class of each school and college ?

(b) will the Government lay down its proposals and programme regarding college education in view of steady increase of matric students every year, if not, why ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : The honourable member's attention is invited to tables IV (a) and IV (b) in the Report on the Progress of Education in the Punjab, for the years concerned. Those tables will show the number of scholars according to race and creed. The collection of the figures for the exact information asked for by the honourable member will involve time and labour which will not be commensurate with the use it will be put to.

(a) The present number of colleges is sufficient to meet the requirements of the province.

SYSTEM OF COMPULSORY EDUCATION IN RUPAR AND KHARAR TAHSILS.

815. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to lay on the table of the House —

(a) a statement giving the name of each centre in the province where the system of compulsory education prevailed respectively on 31st March, 1916, 1928 and 1938 with the number, separately, of boys of school-going age receiving and not receiving education and also the year or years in which this system of compulsory education was introduced in the Rupar and Kharar tahsils of the Ambala district ;

(b) a statement giving the number separately of boys' and girls' schools existing in the Rupar and Kharar tahsils on 31st March, 1916, 1928 and 1938, respectively, with the number of male and female students separately reading in each class on 31st March, 1916, 1928 and 1938 in these schools ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : The collection of this information would involve an expenditure of time and labour out of all proportion to the value of the information when collected.

816-17. Cancelled.

JHATKA DISPUTE IN THE PASRUR INTERMEDIATE COLLEGE.

818. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : With reference to the reply to my starred question No. 4483¹ will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state how the jhatka dispute in the Pasrur Intermediate College was settled ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : The status quo was maintained.

GOVERNMENT SERVANTS EXEMPTED FROM PAYMENT OF PUNITIVE POLICE TAX AT HISSAR.

819. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state —

- (a) whether it is a fact that Government servants have been exempted from payment of punitive police tax at Hissar ;
- (b) whether it is a fact that Government pensioners have not been exempted from payment of this tax; if so, why ;
- (c) the action the Government intends to take in the matter ?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : (a) Yes.

(b) Yes. Pensioners being permanent residents are obviously in a different position from serving officials.

(c) No action is contemplated.

FEE CONCESSIONS TO HARIJAN STUDENTS.

820. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state whether it is a fact that Harijan students are entitled to half tuition fee concession up to the high standard and that they cannot claim full fee concession even on merit as is evident from the case of one Bhagwan Singh a Harijan student at present studying in the Gaur Brahman High School, Rohtak, who has been granted recently half-fee concession only, although on merit he was entitled to full fee concession ; if so, the reason for making such a provision ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : Yes, students belonging to the special classes named in paragraph 4 of Article 121 of the Punjab Education Code are allowed special half-fee concessions in the secondary classes of vernacular and anglo-vernacular institutions. There is, however, no objection to the grant to them of full fee concessions on account of poverty under Article 120 of the Punjab Education Code if these are available. The authorities of the G. B. High School, Rohtak, were labouring under a misunderstanding which has now been removed.

GRANT OF SCHOLARSHIP TO TEK CHAND OF D. A.-V. COLLEGE, LAHORE.

821. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state —

- (a) whether it is a fact that a scholarship was granted to a Harijan student named Tek Chand of D.A.-V. College, Lahore, for 1937—39;
- (b) if so, whether it took 9 months to award him the scholarship ; if so, the reasons for this delay ;
- (c) whether it is also a fact that in awarding a scholarship to the above-mentioned student, inquiry was made about him through the police ; if so, whether it is the general practice, or it was made in this connection as a special case ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) Yes.

(b) As the admissions to the B. A. classes are made after the vacation the applications for the scholarships for weavers and special classes are received upto the end of October. Sometimes the information supplied by the candidates in their applications is not complete and it takes about two months to get it from all the applicants. Complete information for 1937 scholarships was not received till the first week of January, 1938.

(c) Not by the Education Department. The award is made with the approval of the Chief Secretary who makes such enquiries as he considers necessary through appropriate channels.

REALIZATION OF LAND REVENUE AND RECOVERY OF TACCARI LOANS IN JHAJJAR TAHSIL.

822. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the names of the villages respectively in all the four tahsils of Rohtak district from the zamindars of which land revenue has been charged either at full rates or at half rates with regard to rabi, 1939, and also the names of villages in these four tahsils where taccari loans have been recovered with the land revenue ;
- (b) the number of applications received from the villages in Jhajjar tahsil against this realization and the action taken on these applications ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) Statements* are laid on the table.

(b) There was no application against the recovery of taccari loans which were paid voluntarily by the zamindars concerned. Forty-eight applications were received against the orders for the recovery of land revenue, but each after examination of all the relevant material, was rejected.

*Kept in the Assembly Library.

OFFENCES AGAINST PROPERTY REPORTED AT POLICE STATION TOHANA.

823. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of cases under Chapter XVII of the Indian Penal Code regarding the offences against property reported at Police Station Tohana (Hissar) from 1st April, 1938, to 31st May, 1939 ;
- (b) the value of the property involved in these cases ;
- (c) the total number of these cases investigated by the present Station House Officer and the amount of the value of the property, if any, recovered by him ;
- (d) whether any of the cases mentioned in (c) resulted in chalans ; if so, with what result ?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat Khan : (a) 94.

(b) Rs. 7,840-8-9.

(c) 57 cases. Value of property Rs. 415-13-0.

(d) Twelve cases sent for trial. Eleven of these resulted in conviction and one in acquittal.

CONSTABLES RECRUITED IN EASTERN, CENTRAL AND WESTERN RANGES.

824. Captain Sodhi Harnam Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of constables recruited in the Eastern Range, Central Range and Western Range of the Punjab separately from 1st April, 1939, to 15th June, 1939 ;
- (b) the number of Sikhs, Hindus and Muslims among them ;
- (c) whether the present strength in the police force represents 20 per cent Sikhs as police constables in this province ; if not, what steps Government proposes to take to make up the deficiency ?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : (a) and (b) :—

APPLICATIONS FOR EXECUTION OF DECREES.

825. Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of applications for execution of decrees filed in the civil courts in Hissar district in 1938 and the number of such applications among them on which immovable property was ordered to be attached ;
- (b) the number of objections filed in these courts in that year against the order of attachment of immovable property and decided in favour of the judgment-debtors ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : A statement containing the required information is laid on the table :—

Statement showing the number of applications for execution of decrees filed in the civil courts in Hissar district in 1938 and the number of such applications on which immovable property was ordered to be attached and the number of objections filed, etc.

Number of applications for execution of decrees instituted in 1938.	Number of execution cases in which immovable property was ordered to be attached.	Number of objections filed against the order of attachment of immovable property.	Number of objections decided in favour of the judgment-debtor.	REMARKS.

SHEIKH MUHAMMAD ZAHUR-UD-DIN, B.A., P.E.S., INSPECTOR OF SCHOOLS, RAWALPINDI DIVISION.

826. Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that Sheikh Muhammad Zahur-ud-Din, B.A., P.E.S., Inspector of Schools, Rawalpindi Division, applied to the Education Department, a few years back, that his age as entered in his service book was incorrect and that his correct date of birth was 15-12-1882, and that in view of this, he should be permitted to retire from 15th December, 1937, the date on which he attained the age of 55 years ;
- (b) whether the request of Sheikh Muhammad Zahurud Din, as mentioned in (a) above, was acceded to or not ; and if not, what are the grounds on which he was not allowed to retire on his attaining the age of 55 years ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) Yes.

(b) No. In accordance with the rules governing such cases, no alteration may be made in the age of a Government servant after the 4th July, 1929.

SIKH RAMGARHIAS.

827. Khan Bahadur Nawab Muzaffar Khan : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state if the number of Sikh Ramgarhias also called Tarkhans, Lohars, Rajs, etc., holding land as proprietors and occupancy tenants in the district of Amritsar and Tehsils Chunian and Zira of Lahore and Ferozepore, respectively, not included in the statement already laid on the table in answer to question No. 657,¹ is now available; if so, will he please now lay the information on the table?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : No. The honourable member will realize that the collection of these details requires a considerable expenditure of time and labour.

The required information is being collected and the same will be communicated to the honourable member as soon as it is ready.

SIKH RAMGARHIAS.

828. Khan Bahadur Nawab Muzaffar Khan : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the number, tahsil-wise, of Sikh Ramgarhias also called Tarkhans, Lohars, Rajs, etc., in the districts of Sheikhupura, Ludhiana and Ambala, holding land as proprietors or occupancy tenants, etc.;
- (b) the number of those among them who are jagirdars, muafidars, zaildars and lambardars?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : I regret that the answer to this question is not yet ready.

REVERSION OF DR. BALMUKAND.

829. Rai Bahadur Lala Gopal Das : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that Dr. Balmukand was appointed in 1938 as the Health Officer, Lahore Municipality, for a term of 5 years;
- (b) whether it is a fact that the appointment of a Hindu Officer of Health was made by Government after a good deal of agitation by the Hindu community;
- (c) the reasons which have led Government to revert Dr. Balmukand to his old post as District Officer of Health;
- (d) whether it is a fact that several Hindu officers in the cadre of Medical Officers of Health are senior to Dr. A. Hamid; if so, the reasons why the claims of the Hindu candidates have been ignored;
- (e) whether it is a fact that at present out of the eight senior posts with high salaries in the Lahore Municipality, not a single post is held by a Hindu;
- (f) whether he is aware of the fact that the removal of the Hindu Officer of Health has caused widespread resentment among the Hindus;

[R. B. Lala Gonal Das.]

(g) if so, the action which Government propose to take in the matter ?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : (a) Dr. Balmukand was transferred to foreign service with the Lahore Municipality as its Medical Officer of Health in 1938 for a period of five years.

(b) No.

(c) Exigencies of public service.

(d) The answer to the first part is in the affirmative. As regards the second part, an officer cannot claim transfer to foreign service merely because of his seniority in the gradation list.

(e) No. Out of the eight highest paid appointments two are held by Hindus, three by Christians and three by Muslims.

(f) It is possible that some members of the Hindu community represented the appointment of a Muslim Municipal Medical Officer of Health in place of a Hindu.

(g) Government do not consider any action necessary.

HINDU REPRESENTATION AMONG THE EMPLOYEES OF THE LAHORE MUNICIPALITY.

830. Rai Bahadur Lala Gopal Das : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- the total number of posts under the Lahore Municipality which have been retrenched during the last three years ;
- the total number of junior and senior employees of the said municipality community-wise who have been dismissed or asked to retire prematurely from service during the last three years ;
- the number of Hindu employees of the municipality who have been succeeded or replaced by Muslims during the last three years ;

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : (a) 115.

(b) It is not understood what exactly is meant by the terms " junior " and " senior." Information in regard to employees of all descriptions is as follows :—

Community.	Dismissed.	Discharged.	Total.
Junior and Senior.
Hindus and Sikhs ..	7	23	30
Muslims ..	12	20	32
Total ..	19	43	62

(c) Four. Owing to exigencies of service, Hindus and Muslims were frequently to change places.

MEMORIAL DETAILING THE GRIEVANCES OF THE MUSLIM COMMUNITY OF KANGRA.

831. Malik Barkat Ali : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is true that a memorial, dated 30th April, 1939, detailing the grievances of the Muslim community of Kangra was submitted to him by Haji Sayed Nur-ud-Din Ahmad, President, Anjuman-i-Islamia, Kangra district, and Mirza Munir Ullah Khan, President, District Muslim League ;

(b) if the reply to (a) be in the affirmative, will the Hon'ble Premier be pleased to state the action that he has so far taken or intends to take to redress the grievances mentioned in that memorial ;

(c) will the Hon'ble Premier be pleased to lay on the table a copy of the said memorial ?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan : (a) Yes.

(b) A copy of the memorial was sent to the Deputy Commissioner, Kangra, for report, if necessary.

(c) A copy is placed on the table.

Memorial submitted to the Honourable Premier, Punjab, by Haji Sayed Nur-ud-Din Ahmad, President, Anjuman-i-Islamia, Kangra district and Mirza Munir Ullah Khan, President, District Muslim League, dated 30th April, 1939.

Most Respectfully Sheweth,

That the district of Kangra contains a Muslim minority of 5½ per cent., which is in a very backward condition. The majority community has monopolised all the offices and there are not more than two or three Muslim officers in all in the district. Among the lower staff also the same condition prevails. During the last 20 years no Muslim Deputy Commissioner has been posted. There is only one nominated member representing the Muslim community on the District Board out of 44 members (34 elected and 10 nominated).

That during the last four or five years the Hindu majority appears to have taken the law into their own hands and has been oppressing the Muslim minority in every possible way. A few instances are quoted below :—

- (1) The Muslims of Kangra town have been debarred from using the water of the Gupt-ganga tank and Manikaran spring which they used to avail of from several centuries, as there is scarcity of water during the summer season. The water of some wells has also been stopped in several places in the district and Jhatka shops have been recently opened to annoy the Muslims.
- (2) The graveyards of two villages in the tehsil of Dera Gopipur (Daruka and Budhwan-ki-Bain) have been demolished and converted into gardens or cultivation land.
- (3) A Gurdwara has been built in a Takia in Kangra Town by demolishing Muslim graves. A Sikh took possession of the land forcibly and started construction with the threat of Sikh Jathas and the help of local Sikh Tehsildar and others.
- (4) The portion of Shamlat land of the village of Ghoghar, near Palampur, in which the Muslims used to say 'Id prayers and pay land revenue, has been snatched away from them and a temple and a girl school constructed over it. Another piece of uneven land has been given in lieu and on lease and there is every probability of its being taken back when the Government wants it for its own requirements.

[Premier.]

- (5) The village mosque of Bhanala, Tehsil Kangra, which was being built on a plot of land owned by a Muslim was demolished at night by the Hindus. It has been constructed again. The Patwari was responsible for the mischief. The Muslims had been stopped from pulling water from the village well.
- (6) The Hindus of village Chinaur, Thana Indaura, Tehsil Nurpur, did not allow the local Muslims to build a mosque on a piece of land owned by them and threatened them with boycott, etc.
- (7) The village mosque of Dadoha, Tehsil Dera Gopipur, was attacked by the Hindus at the time of Maghrib (sunset) prayers, on the 18th of August, 1937, and some of them entered the mosque with their shoes on and abused and beat the Muslim congregation engaged in prayers, with the result that an injured young man died of internal wounds, after a month.
- (8) The Muslim community of Kullu tehsil wanted to construct mosques for prayers at Manali, Katrain and Bhuntar, but the proposal was deadly opposed by the local Hindus.
- (9) The Muslims of Hamirpur town and its suburbs were intimidated, threatened and abused at the time of constructing a mosque on a plot of land owned by them at a distance of $1\frac{1}{4}$ miles from Hamirpur town by mobs of Hindus and a severe social boycott of the Muslim community of the tehsil has been launched against them by touring in Hindu Rajput villages and holding meetings. The mosque has been constructed after great opposition but the Hindus have now built a temple alongside the mosque though there is no Hindu house in the vicinity. This has intentionally been done with a view to blow conches at the time of Azan and so as to disturb Muslims in their prayers. The Muslim population of the tehsil has been put to great hardship and privation on account of the boycott.
- (10) Azan in a small mosque in one of the bazars of Nadaun town, tehsil Hamirpur, has been stopped. The mosque was built some 5 years ago. The local Muslims began to repair the courtyard wall and great uproar was raised and a temple was located in a shop in front of the mosque and conches blown at the time of Azan. The matter is sub-judice.

That whenever the Muslim community of a town or a village wishes to construct a mosque for prayers on their own plots of land, the Hindu community opposes its construction. As there is liberty of religious worship and the construction of places of worship in the British Empire under the famous proclamation of the late Queen Victoria, Empress of India, it is necessary that the proclamation should be honoured and the local officials should assist in giving effect to it.

That your humble memorialists, therefore, pray that—

- (1) The number of Muslim Tehsildars and Naib-Tahsildars be increased as the majority of them are Hindus and Sikhs; the Sikh population of the district being only one per cent.
- (2) A non-Hindu Deputy Commissioner (European, Indian Christian or Muslim) be posted to this district, as almost all the Government officials from the village Chaukidar to the Deputy Commissioner are Hindus who are naturally sympathetic towards their own community.
- (3) The Muslim representation on the District Board be increased by nomination.
- (4) Necessary steps be taken (a) to give a larger share to the Muslim community in the services of the district (b) to ameliorate the general condition of the Muslim community in consultation with local Muslims and Anjumans.
- (5) No restrictions should be placed over the construction of mosques and calling of Azan in the district.
- (6) Necessary legal action be taken against those persons who by delivering highly provocative speeches and, advocating boycott of the Muslim community foment hatred and ill-will between the two communities.
- (7) Warning be issued to all village lumbarbards as not to disallow Muslims the use of water from public tanks and wells.

For this act of kindness, your humble memorialists, shall as in duty bound, ever remain grateful and pray for your long life and prosperity.

OFFICIALS AT PRESENT ATTACHED TO THE KANGRA DISTRICT.

832. Malik Barkat Ali : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing community-wise the officials at present attached to the Kangra district from the deputy commissioner downwards including tahsildars and naib-tahsildars ?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan : The honourable member will find the information he requires given on page 256 of the Civil List.

MUSLIM MEMBERS OF THE DISTRICT BOARD, KANGRA.

833. Malik Barkat Ali : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of Muslim members, both elected and nominated, of the District Board, Kangra ;
- (b) the total strength of the District Board, Kangra ;
- (c) the percentage of Muslim population in the total population of the Kangra district ;
- (d) the action he intends to take to give adequate representation to the Muslims in the said District Board ?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : (a) One (nominated).

(b) 44.

(c) 4.7.

(d) Government do not intend to take any action, as the Muslims are entitled only to one seat on the Board, on the mean of population and voting strength.

OFFICIALS WORKING IN THE LOWER CHENAB CANAL, EAST CIRCLE.

834. Malik Barkat Ali : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased—

- (a) to lay on the table a statement showing community-wise the various officials together with their pay at present working in the Lower Chenab Canal, East Circle ;
- (b) if the answer to (a) shows that the Muslims are most poorly represented in this circle, will the Hon'ble Minister for Revenue be pleased to state whether he intends taking any action to ensure adequate Muslim representation in the office of the Lower Chenab Canal, East Circle : if so, what ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) A statement is laid on the table.

(b) The statement will show that the Muslim community is not poorly represented.

HONORARY SECOND CLASS MAGISTRATES OF ROHTAK.

839. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- whether he is aware of the fact that the Honorary Second Class Magistrate of Rohtak never holds his court according to the court times ;
- whether a resolution to this effect was unanimously passed by the Bar Association, Rohtak, in July last requesting the authorities concerned to direct the magistrate to observe the court time ;

[Pt. Shri Ram Sharma.]

- (c) whether the needed amends have been made; if not, the action Government proposes to take in case the magistrate is persistent in his objectionable way?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan : (a) and (c). No orders appear to have been passed until recently by the District Magistrate of Rohtak fixing court hours for the honorary magistrates in the district. The omission has now been rectified.

- (b) Yes.

POLICE RAID AGAINST A GANG OF ABDUCTORS IN A VILLAGE IN HISSAR DISTRICT.

840. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state what further special measures, if any, are intended to be taken to put an end to the activities of the gang of abductors at work in Hissar District besides the police raids some of which have recently met with success?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hyat Khan Tiwana : It is not clear to what gang of abductors the honourable member refers. So far as the kidnapping of children is concerned, no cases of this kind have been reported in Hissar for several years past, and there has been no occasion for special measures.

SEARCH OF OFFICES OF CONGRESS SOCIALIST PARTY AND DHARAMSALA AT ROHTAK.

841. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that on 1st July, 1939, the offices of the Congress Socialist Party at Rohtak and also the dharamshala at Rohtak where the delegates to the Socialist Conference were putting up, were searched by the police;
- (b) the object of search and the articles taken possession of by the police?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan : (a) Yes.

(b) To search for a proscribed document. The police did not take possession of any articles.

REPRESENTATION BY RESIDENTS OF VILLAGE PANGWAN IN GURGAON.

842. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state whether he is aware of the fact that a representation by the residents of village Pangwan in district Gurgaon for making a provision for the teaching of Hindi in their local District Board School was submitted to the District Inspector of Schools through me on 24th June, 1939, showing therein that more than the required number of students were anxious to take up that subject for study; if so, the action taken or intended to be taken thereon?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : Yes. A representation on the subject was received in the office of the District Inspector of Schools, Gurgaon, on the 7th of July, 1939 and the matter is under consideration.

PROSECUTING SUB-INSPECTORS.

843. Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state the number of Prosecuting Sub-Inspectors in the Eastern Range of the province and the number of Sikhs among them ?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : Total—39. Sikhs—10.

INSPECTORS AND DEPUTY SUPERINTENDENTS OF POLICE.

844. Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state how many direct appointments of Inspectors and Deputy Superintendents of Police in the Eastern Range of the province were made in the preceding 8 years and how many of them were Sikhs ?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : Appointments in these ranks are made on a provincial basis, not by ranges. During the period 1936—38 four direct appointments of inspectors were made, one of these being a Sikh (of the Ambala district). Only one direct appointment of Deputy Superintendent of Police was made, a Muslim.

NUMBER OF OFFICERS AND CLERKS IN THE OFFICE OF INSPECTOR-GENERAL OF PRISONS.

845. Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state the number of officers and clerks in the office of the Inspector-General of Prisons and how many of them are Sikhs ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal—

(i) Number of officers	8
Number of Sikhs	Nil.
(ii) Number of clerks	27
Number of Sikhs	3

PUNJAB EDUCATIONAL SERVICE.

846. Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

- (a) the percentage of Hindus, Muhammadans and Sikhs in the Punjab Educational Service, on the 1st April, 1937 ;

[S. S. S. Santokh Singh.]

- (t) how many men have been appointed or promoted to the Punjab Educational Service, since 1st April, 1937;
- (e) how many of them are Hindus, Muhammadans and Sikhs;
- (d) community-wise the number of those who were promoted from the Subordinate Educational Service and of those who were appointed direct;
- (e) the percentage of each community in the Punjab Educational Service now?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye: I regret that the answer to the question is not ready.

COMMUNAL REPRESENTATION IN THE CLERICAL ESTABLISHMENT OF THE COURT OF DISTRICT JUDGE, HISSAR.

847. Khan Sabib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan: Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state whether there is any register of candidates for clerical establishment kept in the court of the District Judge, Hissar; if so, the number of candidates community-wise at present on that register and whether the appointments to vacancies are made according to the proportions fixed for each community; and if so, the total number of appointments made during the last five years with the number of appointments given to Muslims?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal: I regret that the answer to the question is not yet ready.

ADJOURNMENT MOTIONS.

POSTPONEMENT.

Premier: Sir, before moving the motion which is on the paper I should like to ask my honourable friend, the Leader of the Opposition, to accommodate those of us who are fasting by not moving any adjournment motions to-day. I suggest that we might take up the adjournment motions at the next sitting of the Assembly, that is, on Thursday next. I hope you would allow them to defer the adjournment motions on the condition that they will not be considered time-barred merely because they were not moved to-day. Otherwise we will have to sit after 6 p.m. and as most of us will have to go to break the fast at 6 p.m. this would be inconvenient. If, however, my honourable friend considers that we should proceed with the adjournment motions to-day I am ready to continue the sitting to accommodate him.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava: I have no objection to the proposal made by the Premier but only if you do not disallow the motions on the ground that they have not been moved to-day.

Mr. Speaker: If the whole House agrees I will not raise objection to such motions being moved as are admissible.

Premier: I am indebted to my honourable friend for accommodating us.

Mr. Speaker: Does the House agree?

(No one objected.)

HOURS OF SITTING.

Premier : Sir, I beg to move—

That on and from Thursday, the 26th October, to Thursday, the 9th November, 1939, on days on which the Assembly meets other than Fridays, the Assembly shall meet at 12 noon and the Speaker shall adjourn the Assembly at 4-30 p.m. without question put.

The motion was carried.

TRADE EMPLOYEES BILL.

Minister for Development (The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram) : Sir, I beg to introduce the Punjab Trade Employees Bill.

I beg to move—

That the Punjab Trade Employees Bill be circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon by the 15th January, 1940.

Sir, I am sure that the honourable members of the House are aware that there is one section of workers in the province who do not receive fair treatment from their employers and whose interests have not so far received much attention on the part of the Government itself. (An honourable member : Only one section ?) There is one section whose interests have not received the attention which they deserve on the part of the Government so far. That section consists of those who work in shops or commercial establishments or business houses. These poor devils know no rest. They know no holidays. They do not get any leave either on the ground of ill-health or on the ground of private business. There is no limit to the time during which they may be expected to work. Further there is no binding rule which regulates the grant of leave to them, nor is there any law which prevents their summary dismissal. They can be dismissed at any moment without any notice and without any compensation in lieu of notice. It is with a view to put a stop to this deplorable state of things that this Bill is being introduced.

I am glad to say that the principle of the Bill has been welcomed all round. Naturally, as could have been expected, employees have been pleased universally. But so far as the underlying principle of the Bill is concerned no serious objection has been taken to it by the employers either. It is also a matter for gratification that many messages have been received signifying the approval of the general public to the principle of the Bill. That is one of the reasons why I feel encouraged to make the second motion. No objection has been taken to the underlying principle. So far as details are concerned naturally the criticism offered by the employers and the employees and the general public will be taken into consideration at the select committee stage ; and if any differences on details are found to exist an attempt will be made to reconcile those differences in the light of that criticism. I hope the House will kindly agree to the present motion.

Mr. Speaker : The motion moved is—

That the Punjab Trade Employees Bill be circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon by the 15th January, 1940.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt (North-Eastern Towns, General, Urban): Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this circulation motion on behalf of my party. I have listened to the very laconic speech delivered by the Honourable Minister for Development; but I regret to say that although he has given an outline of the Bill he has not given any cogent reason as to why this important though simple measure should be circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon. This Government have been in office for about 2½ years and up till to-day they have not moved their little finger to alleviate the distress of a large number of those poor persons who are working in the shops as assistants. So far as the working conditions of the workers in the factories are concerned, there are quite a few laws on the statute book which regulate the rights and privileges of these workers. There is the Workmen's Compensation Act; there is the Indian Factories Act; there is the Payment of Wages Act; but so far there is no law which protects the rights and privileges of those unfortunate persons who are working in the shops. The present condition of these shop assistants in this province is scandalous and a disgrace to civilised society. Therefore in my opinion this matter should not be allowed to hang fire any longer. Whenever any genuine, honest and sincere circulation motion is moved from this side then motives are attributed to the Opposition and it is declared on the floor of the House that it is the intention of the Opposition party to adopt dilatory tactics although the measure before the House might be a highly contentious one. May I draw your attention to the fact that when such an important measure as the Restitution of Mortgaged Lands Bill was presented before the House an attempt was made by certain members of the Opposition to get public opinion on the Bill, but that motion was opposed by the Government? To-day they come forward and say that this matter of shop assistants who are in a pitiable condition should be allowed to hang fire and they have moved a dilatory motion. In my opinion if the Government insists on getting this Bill circulated, I can only say that this motion is a dilatory one and that the intentions of the Government in this matter are not genuine and honest.

Mr. Speaker, the Government claim to have enacted a number of laws for the welfare of those people who are working on the land, but the Government have so far done absolutely nothing for those poor people who are living in the towns. May I ask the Honourable Minister for Development if he has adopted dilatory tactics simply because he has an aversion to those poor people who live in the towns, because he suffers from the disease which is called agriculturism, because he wants to lift the agriculturists and not the non-agriculturists? I hope that in his speech by way of a reply he will clear these points.

Mr. Speaker, you know that this kind of legislation was first enacted by a Congress Government. Therefore I would warn the House against the impression or against the belief that the Unionist Government have taken the initiative to alleviate the distress of the shop assistants. If they want to take credit for this legislation, then I must say it does not go to the Unionist Government, it goes to the Congress Government of Bombay who were the first to introduce this legislation of which this measure is a poor copy, a poor imitation. Mr. Speaker, you will be surprised to learn that in January

1939 the Bombay Government introduced a similar measure in the Bombay Legislative Assembly which has now become a law there. When the impression was abroad that the Congress Government had done something for the poor people, in order to save their face the Punjab Government have brought this measure before the House. I say that it is already a belated measure and it should not be allowed to hang fire any longer. Eliciting opinion thereon—why? Is there any serious difference of opinion on fundamental questions? I may draw the attention of the Honourable Minister for Development to the fact that public opinion on this particular question has already been elicited. It has appeared in the papers. It has even gone to the Punjab Government in the form of representations. I have in my possession a representation which was sent to the Punjab Government or, I should say, to the Honourable Minister for Development on behalf of the Punjab Merchants' Association. There are two parties involved in the question—one, the employers and the other, the employees. The Punjab Merchants' Association considered this question and after very careful deliberation submitted a representation to the Punjab Government for favourable consideration, and I would like to draw the attention of the House to it because I have in my possession a copy of that representation. What is the view of the Punjab Merchants' Association on this very important though simple question? In the opening paragraph, the Punjab Merchants' Association have lent colour to the impression that employers are against such a measure. But, in fact in that very representation they make it clear, in the most unmistakeable terms that the Punjab Merchants' Association is not against the principle of the Bill and is opposed only to a few clauses of the Bill and they have given their opinion on these clauses. For instance, I will read out to you the following: "In the opinion of my Association," writes the Secretary of the Punjab Merchants' Association, "there should be only few sections in the proposed Bill dealing with the hours of work of the employees, holidays with pay, one month's notice before leaving the service, and one hour's rest per day and restriction of 11 years for employees." These are some of the most fundamental things embodied in the Bill with the exception of one point which limits the age to 11 years while the Bill provides for 14 years. So far as I am personally concerned I agree with the clause in the Bill rather than with the proposal contained in the representation. I am very much opposed to the age-limit of 11 years. But my point was that the Punjab Merchants' Association which is an important party to the question has already sent its opinion to the Minister for Development. Then, Mr. Speaker, there is the other party, employees. That party has done some propaganda in this connection. They have issued certain statements. Not only that, they held here in Lahore one of the most important and one of the most successful conferences the other day of which I had the honour to be the president. That conference, Mr. Speaker—I tell you as an eye-witness—was attended by several thousands of people and those people were not drawn merely from Lahore. The Honourable Minister for Development will be glad to know that that conference was attended by a large number of delegates from the mofussil, from districts like Amritsar, Jullundur, Rawalpindi and other places in the Punjab. They met in the Subjects Committee where they discussed this Bill and discussed other similar Acts also, and formulated their demands. Those demands were then put forward before the open session and discussed and after a long discussion they arrived at certain conclusions and then put forward their demands. Therefore, in my opinion, there is absolutely nothing left on which we could possibly waste our time on circulating this Bill for eliciting public opinion. In my opinion, therefore, this Bill should be at once committed to a select committee of competent persons who should go into the matter. It is a very simple matter and I think it will not take more than a week to go through the various clauses and come to an understanding. I do not desire that any injustice should be done to the employers, nor do I desire that any injustice should be done to the employees. Here in the Punjab as in certain other provinces of India if the so-called capitalists or employers wanted the provincial Assembly or the Government of India to do certain things which no longer exist in any other civilised society, then we would be well within our rights to spurn the demands of the employers. It is gratifying to note that in India the capitalists are not so blood-thirsty nor so hide-bound bourgeois as they were or as they are in other countries of the world. Here there is the background of culture, there is the background of religion which generates sympathy and other finer sentiments for the poor people and therefore you would see, Mr. Speaker, that when similar measures were brought before the parliaments of other countries, they were opposed by the employees or capitalists tooth and nail, but here you have the Punjab Merchants' Association which says that the measure is all right and it should be enacted. All they want is to protect their own interests and for that purpose they have put forward their representation before the Honourable Minister for Development. We would be well-advised now to appoint a select committee at this stage. The select committee should go through that question and try to study the views of the employers as well as the employees, and come to some definite decisions. I, therefore, do not plead for anything which you may call extremism or utopian. I am a realist and a very strong realist. I would, therefore, appeal to this House that this circulation motion which in my opinion is a dilatory motion should be opposed tooth and nail and this question should be discussed not in the light of any party interest, but in the interests of those poor people whose custodians we claim ourselves to be in this House. I have nothing more to say and I would make a request to the Honourable Minister for Development that when he gets up to reply to this debate he should carefully see that in to-day's agenda there are some new Bills which the Government propose to refer to select committee. There is the State Aid to Industries Bill. Why should not that Bill be circulated for eliciting public opinion? Why should the Trade Employees Bill alone be circulated? I fail to understand. I do not find any uniformity in these two proposals. I would therefore urge him that in the interests of those poor shop assistants, he should withdraw the circulation motion and accept the motion to refer the Bill to the select committee. With these words I oppose the circulation motion.

Mr. Speaker : I rule that all the three amendments¹—one of which stands in the name of the honourable member himself—are out of order.

¹That the Punjab Trade Employees Bill be referred to a select committee.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : May I know why ? If the Government gives notice of a motion for reference to a select committee and the Opposition has got the right to give a notice for circulation of the same Bill, why not a similar right be conceded to the Opposition to move a motion for reference to a select committee when the Government moves for circulation ?

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is referred to rule 86.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : May I know under what specific rule, you rule the motions out of order ?

Mr. Speaker : If a member-in-charge of a Bill moves that it be taken into consideration, any other member may move that it be referred to a select committee or be circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon. Again, if the member in charge of a Bill moves that it be referred to a select committee, even then it is open to any other member to move an amendment that the Bill be circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon by a specified date. But if the member-in-charge moves that the Bill be circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon, no other member has a right to move that it be taken into consideration at once or that it be referred to a select committee.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : The Secretariat has got no right to anticipate the decision of this House. Supposing for instance, this motion for circulation is thrown out, what then ?

Mr. Speaker : If it is thrown out, the honourable member-in-charge of the Bill shall have to act according to Rule 104 (2).

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi (Lyallpur and Jhang, General, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, when the Honourable Minister for Development was introducing the Bill now under consideration it seemed as if he was trying to make us convince that he had a soft corner in his heart for those poor shop assistants whose plight is extremely miserable without any shadow of doubt. He pointed out that this class of people is being exploited by its employers to an extent beyond all fairness. They are being forced to work in shops for more than 15 hours a day. He further remarked in a highly triumphant vein that the idea underlying the Bill has hardly ever struck anybody and it is only the present Government which rightly deserves praises on that score. I do not like to refrain from admitting that this Bill is undoubtedly a commendable one, but what we object to is the way in which this measure is being sought to be passed into law. I need hardly lay any stress on the point that the motion of circulation is tantamount to postponing the enactment of this most beneficial and useful measure to an indefinite period. As it appears from the motion that the circulation will take a fairly long time and after that the Bill will be referred to a select committee which would be free to take its own time on effecting any improvement thereupon. In other words it will be long before this ordinary Bill consisting of only 17 clauses finds its place on the statute book. I, for one, do not find any justification in circulating the Bill only in order to see as to whether public opinion is in favour of fixing Sunday as a universal holiday. It is no use wasting time only over ascertaining whether festivals such as Dusehra and 'Id shoud be observed as public holidays. It has been said that the Government wants to know whether these holidays should be observed with or without pay.

Mr. Speaker : I may inform the honourable member that the motion before the House is that the Bill be circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon and that, therefore, the honourable member can discuss only the principle of the Bill and its general provisions. He cannot discuss its details further than may be necessary to explain its principle.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : My submission is that all these sections to which I have just now referred are not such that require any great consideration on the part of the Government or the public at large. As a matter of fact all the civilised countries have already passed measures for improving the working conditions of persons employed in shops and commercial houses. The question whether 8 or 10 hours of employment should be fixed is not such that time may be wasted in eliciting public opinion thereon. In fact their conditions of employment are deplorable. If my friends visit Amritsar they would be touched to see that these poor shop assistants have to attend their respective shops at 7 or 8 A. M. in the winter season and after a hard day's labour they go back to their houses at 10 in the night.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is again discussing the merits of the Bill.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Very well, Sir. My submission is that this matter is not such which should be allowed to hang fire. In fact nothing would be gained by delaying this Bill. I, therefore, request and appeal to the Honourable Minister of Development that in view of the woeful and deplorable conditions of the shop assistants, he should try his level best to enact this Bill into law as soon as possible. If he has really at heart the welfare of the shop assistants he will do well to withdraw his motion and refer this Bill to a select committee, so that it may be enacted into law without any further delay. With these words I resume my seat.

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Magbool Mahmood) : Sir, I do not think it is necessary for me to make a detailed speech at this stage of the Bill. But I must say that I am disappointed at the attitude taken by the Opposition and particularly by my friend Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Is it the first time ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Previous disappointments would not justify this one. The point pressed by my honourable friend, Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt, was that the Government is deliberately trying to postpone this beneficial legislation by dilatory methods. I wish in fairness he had started his speech with the ordinary parliamentary decency of complimenting the Government and the honourable member in charge for having brought forward this beneficial legislation. The accident that certain Congress Governments have brought in similar legislation should in fairness not have dissuaded him from complimenting the Honourable Minister in charge of this measure. What was his accusation ? He stated that there is no need to invite public opinion on a simple measure of this nature.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : I never said that. I said that we had already done so.

Parliamentary Secretary : He says that they have already done so. I invite his attention to the amendments proposed by the Leader of his party and the amendments proposed by the honourable member who has just spoken. These amendments suggest that the select committee should go round and invite opinion and take evidence from the various parties in the province. I ask what is the effect of this, what is the difference between the two positions? He says let evidence be taken and opinion recorded and the report of the select committee submitted by the 1st of January. According to the motion of the Honourable Minister all this is to be done by the 15th of January in the same session and the matter then goes to the select committee, I ask with all due deference, what difference of time is involved in the two procedures? If the whole purpose is only to expedite the passage of this legislation, it is surely open to the honourable members of the Opposition to say, "we welcome this measure and we welcome the circulation of this Bill for eliciting public opinion but we ask that the date may be given earlier than the 15th of January" and when the Bill comes to the next stage they should co-operate, as I hope they would co-operate, to expedite its passage. In matters of this nature where on the principles of the Bill, it appears that the Treasury benches and the Opposition are agreed, it is the reverse of fairness to attribute motives to the Government. Secondly, does it lie in the mouth of my honourable friends opposite to say that we are guilty of dilatory tactics when in the same session with regard to so beneficent a measure as the State Aid to Industries Bill, where the lives and happiness of the rural population and the poorer classes of the people are concerned, they have tabled a motion for circulation for opinion? Why do they not stand up and say that they must oppose every motion—however reasonable—that comes from our side?

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Or vice versa?

Parliamentary Secretary : My honourable friend says "vice versa." I am sure that the mere fact that this Bill has been moved by us does show that we do not believe in the policy of vice versa. I submit that both sides of this House should look at this question from the best interests of the province. If you think that we have brought forward a measure which is good and which is beneficent, you should have welcomed it and said "we compliment you on bringing forward this legislation." My honourable friend opposite said, "why circulate a Bill which is intended to benefit so many poor workers in the shops?" I wish that policy had been stuck to and I hope that policy will be followed when similar beneficent legislation with regard to indebtedness relief and other measures giving relief to poorer sections of the rural people is moved. But when indebtedness relief and other measures were brought forward for the relief of the poorer rural classes it was my eloquent friend, Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt, who adopted the dilatory tactics. I do not attribute motives and I will not act vice versa in this case, but I would certainly appeal that in fairness we should look at this question from the view-point of equity. If you think that it is a good measure and on principle you can agree to expedite its passage, then why waste time of the House and create a spirit of unnecessary opposition? Let us come to an agreement and co-operate with the Honourable Minister who is entitled to the gratitude of the province for having brought forward this measure, to send it to the select committee and then we should all agree on both sides to expedite the report of the select committee and the passage of this Bill.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava (Lahore City, General, Urban) (Urdu) : Sir, I have listened to the speech of my honourable friend who has preceded me with rapt attention. I was not startled, but was only a bit surprised to hear from him that we were not consistent in our words and deeds. The fact of the matter is that we have never been inconsistent, while on the other hand my honourable friends over there have often given positive proofs of their inconsistency. Yet he has dared to dub us as inconsistent people.

Besides, he has accused us that whenever any measure is brought forward for the benefit of the poor we use dilatory tactics to impede its passage. I challenge this statement of my friend. There is no gainsaying the fact that whenever any Bill or any other measure comes up before the House for discussion, we, on this side of the House, work for the benefit of the poorer sections of people. I know that my friends over there will at once jump up and say that we move so many amendments and thus retard the progress of such beneficial measures. Let me point out that whenever our Government introduces any Bill in the name of the poor sections of people, it is generally intended to benefit the richer sections. That is the reason why we move amendments to make it beneficial for poor people instead of the rich. Further, after the passage of such Acts my honourable friends make rules which are all the more arbitrary. As a matter of fact in all such cases they give wide powers to the deputy commissioners who begin to feel themselves all powerful. So, naturally whenever such measures are introduced we do feel the necessity of moving amendments.

Now, Sir, my honourable friend has stated in the course of his speech that the Punjab State Aid to Industries (Amendment) Bill will be taken up shortly and we propose to move dilatory motions. With due deference I may point out that he is a learned Parliamentary Secretary and he should at least give us the credit of knowing that whenever any motion is contained in the list of business, it is generally taken up in its turn. If he had waited for a while he would have known our attitude towards it. My honourable friend, as usual, has tried to anticipate our views as regards this Bill. Let me make it clear to him that we never try to anticipate the thoughts of others while on the other hand it is he who has dared to anticipate our viewpoint as regards that particular Bill.

Then the Honourable Minister of Development stated on the floor of the House that there was one section of workers in the province whose interests had not so far received the attention of Government. These were the class commonly known as shop assistants. Their conditions of work were deplorable and that the Government desire to better their hard lot. Thank God that after two and a half years the Government have thought that there is one section of people in the Punjab whose conditions of work are deplorable. It is just possible that my friends over there might say that of all the poor sections of workers only one section remained which had not so far received any attention from the Government and this Bill was being introduced solely for their benefit. But may I know whether, no other section of people exists in the Punjab which has not so far received the attention of the Government and whether the shopkeepers do not live in the Punjab, whether they have any grievances or not? My friends should bear in mind that I have also some inkling of these things and I study such matters daily. They should not take it for granted that we are completely in the dark so far as these matters are concerned. Let alone having some knowledge about these matters I even went to the length of preparing the draft of a Bill of this very nature previous to the publication of this Bill. But the point is that there is yet another section of people who, on account of the neglect of Government, are hard put to. And that section of people consists of shopkeepers. May I know from the Government whether or not they have enacted any measure for encouraging the commerce of this country; whether they have done anything which can benefit traders, zamindars or other sections of people? As a matter of fact our Government are not paying any attention to these things which are highly useful for the people of the Punjab. If they had done anything to help the traders and shopkeepers, in that case they could have even forced them to agree to the provisions of the Bill under consideration.

Besides, my honourable friend, Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt, has stated that the persons who were going to be affected by this Bill have sent in a representation to the Honourable Minister for Development. In that representation they have protested against certain provisions of the proposed Bill and have suggested certain remedies as well. It shows that there was absolutely nothing left for which we could agree to a circulation motion. It is just possible that my friends over there may get up and say that I have also moved an amendment for referring this Bill to a select committee and so where is the harm if we have suggested that this Bill be circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon? But I may point out that there is a lot of difference between my motion and the motion of the Honourable Minister for Development. The Honourable Minister has stated on the floor of the House that as the details of the Bill have produced some difference of opinion, and in view of that, he favoured the idea of circulating this Bill for eliciting public opinion thereon till 15th January, 1940. He has also stated that in the light of opinions thus received improvements could be made in the select committee. It means that it would be taken up after the 15th January, 1940. But may I know why he desires to have so much time? It looks as if he wishes to mark time in order to effect any changes in the proposed measure, if he so desires at a later stage. This is not a solitary example of this kind. Even previously my friends have played such tactics. On one occasion they published a certain Bill and withdrew it. They again published it and again withdrew it.

I, therefore, hold the opinion that the Honourable Minister should not have sponsored the motion of sending this Bill for circulation for the purpose of eliciting public opinion. He ought to have straightaway referred it to a select committee. Now it is quite possible that after receiving the opinions from the public he may yet deem it fit to refer the Bill to a select committee. And who knows that after its emergence from the select committee, it may again be recommitted to the same body for its reconsideration and thus a lot of time would be wasted which we are anxious to save in the interest of the trade employees? In fact we want to avoid one stage through which the Bill would be made to pass through if it is circulated for the purpose of eliciting public opinion. I may add that the matter has already been before the public for a considerable period and has been discussed threadbare. We regard this motion put forward by the Honourable Minister as a dilatory one. It would involve wastage of time amounting to a period of 2½ months at least, while the matter demands our immediate and urgent attention. I, therefore, urge upon the Government the necessity of referring this Bill to a select committee where all the necessary details and other important matters could be taken into consideration.

But we have already had a bitter experience about the intentions of the Government. The Honourable Minister had promised to promulgate the Marketing Bill, already passed into law, by April last. But so far the rules to be framed under the said Act have not been placed before the House for its consideration. We have, therefore, serious apprehensions that if this Bill is circulated for the purpose of eliciting public opinion, it would be very long before this measure is passed into law and enforced in the province. We are fully aware of the fate of our motion because we realise that the Government have a comfortable majority at their back and they can do anything according to their own sweet will and pleasure. I may assure the House that we have brought forward this motion not because we want to make any propaganda in our favour or earn a cheap popularity, but for the simple reason that we are very anxious to remove the hardships of the trade employees as early as possible. I may also inform the honourable members that we say what we feel. Whenever we are convinced that a certain legislative measure is going to prove beneficial to the people we make all possible endeavours to expedite its enactment. The present Bill is an instance in point. But all the same I assert that if it is directly referred to a select committee, Government will not stand to lose anything. On the other hand, we will put forward our well considered views in order to remove the flaws in the Bill and fully co-operate to hasten its passage into law. I am of opinion that the Honourable Minister for Development should accept our suggestion and withdraw his motion. With these words I oppose the motion of the Honourable Minister.

Diwan Chaman Lall (East Punjab, Non-Union Labour) : I think, Sir, it is unfortunate that whenever a measure of this nature is brought before this House, unnecessary bitterness and heat is displayed, and resort is had to a Tu Quoque argument which is not at all relevant to the matter in hand. My honourable friend, for reasons which I personally applaud, has brought in a measure which is acceptable to every section of this House. It is a measure which is of a radical nature, about the principles of which both sides of the House are in complete agreement, and, therefore, there should be no delay in passing it. My honourable friend desires to take the public into his confidence in regard to this measure. I would ask in all seriousness, has there been any Government which has up to this day circulated a measure and has been affected by the opinions it has received? Certainly not this Government, and certainly not its predecessor. The circulation motion for eliciting public opinion thereon has been generally a dilatory motion, but even then I consider that unnecessary amount of heat has been generated over this motion.

The principles of this measure on which attention should be concentrated are these—

- (1) It is for the first time in the history of this province that hours of work for a certain class of employees are being legalised.
- (2) It is for the first time that this particular class of employees is being roped in and this law for their benefit, restricting the hours of their work and providing for them certain amenities, is being enacted.
- (3) It is for the first time that certain young persons are being debarred under the provisions of this measure from being employed or being exploited in shops.

All this is being done, Mr. Speaker, for the first time in this province. All these principles should not be forgotten, but unfortunately my honourable friend has not gone into them carefully.

In other countries similar legislation is in existence. My honourable friend has merely borrowed the plumes from other countries and even from our own country in another province. I will just give you one instance. You will notice the exemption regarding barbers entered in the provisions of this measure. It is borrowed straightaway from Irish legislation on this subject. But be that as it may, my honourable friend has been courageous enough in coming before this House with a measure of a far reaching character. But why does he restrict himself—since he is in agreement with this side of the House in propounding a measure of this nature—why does he restrict himself to the hours of work in the measure that he has propounded? Does he realise that, under the legislation he is propounding, it would not be impossible for employees—little children over the age of 14—still to work for 11½ hours per day if the weekly half day were also to be granted to them? Does he realise that? He himself permits them to be exploited for fourteen hours on two consecutive days if there is a holiday. I submit that although the principle is correct, my honourable friend should have gone a little beyond the radical nature of the principle and translated the radical nature of the principle into radical details regarding the measure and that is the reason why we suggested the appointment of a select committee; not the leaving of this measure to be considered by bar associations, it may be, or employers' associations, it may be, who do look into the Government official Gazette in which this measure will be published for the purpose of eliciting public opinion thereon. There is no other method. No other method is employed by the Government to elicit public opinion excepting the publication in the Gazette and the instructions to deputy commissioners or the instructions to local officials to get into touch with such people who may be on their lists. That is not eliciting public opinion. In fact that is a negation of eliciting public opinion. If my honourable friend really wanted public opinion, it was up to him to go from town to town addressing meetings everywhere and gathering the information that he desired but that, I submit, is not necessary because there is a consensus of opinion in this House in regard to the principle of this measure and, therefore, my honourable friend behind me raised this particular point that it was not necessary to adopt a dilatory motion in regard to the principle of this Bill. Now, my honourable friend, just as he has been generous and radical in regard to the principle, might easily have been generous and radical in regard to the proposition raised by my honourable friend. My trouble is this that even in a measure of this nature my honourable friends sit in water-tight compartments and never consult even members of this House in respect of legislation that is brought forward. I do not believe that a single member of the Opposition was ever consulted by my honourable friend in regard to this important measure. Had he done so, I am certain that there would have been no necessity for sending this Bill for circulation for the purpose of eliciting public opinion thereon. A healthy convention should grow up in regard to measures of this nature—a healthy convention of this nature that when legislation of this type is contemplated by my honourable friend, at least the major parties in this House should be taken into consultation by my honourable friend so that the smooth passage of such legislation may be assured. If that had been done, we would not have entered into the debate. Nevertheless, let me not be niggardly in regard to this matter. Let me say at once, as I have said already, that it is a matter for congratulation that such legislation is being contemplated (hear, hear) by both the Opposition and the Government. Such measures are on our party books. We, as the Opposition, had such measures before us. We did not deliberately propound them on the floor of the House because we knew what the fate of private members' Bills has been on the floor of this House. We knew that if such a measure were propounded by my honourable friend, the Leader of the Opposition, it would have received short-shrift at the hands of my honourable friends. Therefore, I am the more delighted that such a measure, which would have been propounded by the Opposition, has been propounded by my honourable friend for which I give him the fullest credit. (Hear, hear.) Let him not forget my last warning that when we congratulate him and the House on a measure of this nature we do not congratulate him and the House in regard to the details of this measure. The time will come when we shall deal with the details. Let him remember that if he is wanting the fullest support, as he deserves, of this House and of this province in promulgating measures of this nature, he must not be adopting the attitude of a dictator and say, "This is all I am prepared to accept no matter what the opinion of the Opposition may be". I think that if he were to come to an understanding with regard to this measure he will earn the gratitude of the whole community by the provisions of this Act.

Minister for Development (The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram): Sir, the honourable member representing Sialkot has been rather uncharitable in his view of me personally and of the Government of which I am a member. He thinks that I have made this motion for circulation with the object of delaying this measure as long as possible. My friend is entirely wrong in his estimate. I am most anxious to place this measure on the statute book as soon as possible and I assure him that I am determined to place this measure on the statute book before the current financial year is over. But if he wishes that I should place it on the statute book even earlier than that, I am quite prepared to oblige him. As a matter of fact my apprehension was that if I made a motion for reference to select committee, the Opposition was bound to make a motion for circulation. (Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt: No, no.) My friends may wait and judge for themselves by having a look at the order paper of to-day which contains notices of motions by the Opposition which lend colour to my apprehension.

My friend put a question to me as to why a motion for circulation had been made in respect of this Bill while a motion for reference to select committee had been made in respect of The Punjab State Aid to Industries (Amendment) Bill. The reason is quite clear. The Bill in respect of which I am going to make a motion for reference to select committee is only an amending Bill. The principle of that Bill is not to be taken into consideration at all. It is only a minor amendment of an existing Act. Therefore, a motion for reference to select committee was perfectly proper. In the present case it is a substantive Bill. A measure of this kind has come for the consideration of this House for the first time, as Diwan Chaman Lal remarked a few moments ago. But in order to convince my friend that I am most anxious to pass this Bill into law as quickly as possible, I may inform him that even before the suggestion had been made by the honourable Leader of the Opposition I asked the Secretary whether, under the rules, it would be possible for me to withdraw this motion and make another motion for reference to select committee here and now and to-day. The Secretary told me that I could do so and I have made up my mind to withdraw this motion (hear, hear) and make a reference at once to select committee which will have to submit its report by a day which may be fixed by the honourable Leader of the Opposition—15th of December, 1st of December, 15th of November or whatever other day he may like to name. (Hear, hear.)

4 P. M.

Mr. Speaker : The point for consideration and decision is whether the Honourable Minister for Development can be permitted immediately to withdraw his motion, which is now before the House, and move in its place a motion to refer the Bill to a select committee. The House of Commons' practice on this point is summed up in the following sentence on page 278 of May's work :—

Occasionally a motion or amendment is, by leave, withdrawn, and another motion or amendment substituted in order to meet the views of the House, as expressed in debate; but that course can only be taken with the assent of the House.

So, is it your pleasure that the motion for circulation be withdrawn?

(Voices : Yes, yes.)

The motion was by leave withdrawn.

Mr. Speaker : Is it your pleasure that the Honourable Minister for Development be allowed to move a motion to refer the Bill to a select committee? (Voices : Yes, yes.)

Minister for Development : Sir, I beg to move—

That the Punjab Trade Employees Bill be referred to a select committee consisting of the following members with instructions to submit its report by the 15th November, 1939—

Malik Barkat Ali,
Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali,
Shaikh Karamat Ali,
Chaudhri Tikka Ram,
Lieutenant Sardar Naunihal Singh Mann,
Rai Bahadur Lala Gopal Das,
Sardar Sampuran Singh,
Dr. Satya Pal,
Lala Bhim Sen Sachar,
Nominee of the Honourable Speaker, and
The mover of the Bill.

The quorum of the Committee will be 5.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I rise on a point of order ? I draw your attention to the fact that the convention of this House is that party leaders are consulted regarding the names to be submitted for a select committee. May I take it that in this particular instance the Leader of the Opposition has not been consulted with regard to the names that are proposed for the appointment of the select committee and if that is so, I submit that a serious violation of the convention has taken place and that my honourable friend should wait till to-morrow, before announcing the personnel of the select committee.

Minister for Development : So far as these names are concerned I did consult the honourable Leader of the Opposition, but that was with regard to another Bill in respect of which I was going to make a motion for reference to a select committee. If the honourable Leader of the Opposition gives his consent to the members belonging to his own party serving on the committee, then, so far as the names from this side of the House are concerned, it may be taken that they are final.

Diwan Chaman Lall : That is not right. The honourable Leader of the Opposition was not consulted. It was I who was consulted in regard to the State Aid to Industries Bill, and I gave three names to my honourable friend, the Parliamentary Secretary, sitting behind him. But that is not the point. The point is of principle. The convention of this House is that before any names are announced for a select committee, the Opposition or the leaders of parties are consulted in regard to those names. I am only objecting to the method by which this business is carried on and I hope that this will be the last occasion for doing things in this manner.

Minister for Development : My honourable friend is perfectly right. There has been a slip. But may I now, through you, beseech the consent of the Leader of the Opposition to the members of his own party serving on this committee ? (Here the Leader of the Opposition suggested the names.)

Mr. Speaker : The first motion which I propose to put to the vote of the House is—

That the Punjab Trade Employees Bill be referred to a select committee with instruction to submit its report by the 15th November, 1939.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Now, the House will proceed to settle the personnel of the select committee. The suggestion made by the honourable Leader of the Opposition is very simple and appears to be quite reasonable. For the three members of his party proposed by the Honourable Minister, he has substituted the names of three other members. So, the following 11 honourable members shall be the members of the select committee :—

Malik Barkat Ali,
Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali,
Shaikh Karamat Ali,
Chaudhri Tikka Ram,
Lieutenant Sardar Naunihal Singh
Mann,

Rai Bahadur Lala Gopal Das,
Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt,
Dr. Sant Ram Seth,
Sardar Sohan Singh Josh,
Nominee of the Speaker, and Mover of the Bill.

Diwan Chaman Lall : I suggest the name of Sardar Uttam Singh Dugal also.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That the name of Sardar Uttam Singh Dugal be added to the select committee.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That the select committee consist of—

Malik Barkat Ali,
Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Biasat Ali,
Shaikh Karamat Ali,
Chaudhri Tikka Ram,
Lieutenant Sardar Naunihal Singh Mann,
Rai Bahadur Lala Gopal Das,
Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt,
Dr. Sant Ram Seth,
Sardar Sohan Singh Josh,
Sardar Uttam Singh Dugal,
Nominee of the Honourable Speaker, and
The Mover of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The last question is—

That the quorum of the Committee shall be five.

The motion was carried.

DEBTORS' PROTECTION (AMENDMENT) BILL.

Minister for Revenue (The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia) : Sir, I beg to introduce the Punjab Debtors' Protection (Amendment) Bill. I also move—

That the Punjab Debtors' Protection (Amendment) Bill be taken into consideration.

In moving this motion I beg to say that the Bill I am proposing and putting forward before the House is a very simple one and, as everyone knows, it has been published in the Gazette. The main object of the Bill is that the Punjab Debtors' Protection Act of 1936 does not make any provision for permitting another officer, when necessary to be invested with the powers of a Commissioner, and allowing the orders of the Collector and the Commissioner to be considered by the Financial Commissioner on revision. This omission has to be made good. As my honourable friends know the Commissioner of a division is a very busy officer. The provision proposed to be made is that somebody should be appointed to take the place of the Commissioner when necessity arises for helping the Commissioner. The second point is that the Financial Commissioner may at any time call for and examine the proceedings recorded by the Deputy Commissioner or the Commissioner for revision. These are the only two points provided in the Bill which I am introducing and I hope this small measure would not receive any serious objection on the part of the House. There are a few amendments which will be dealt with in the ordinary course.

Mr. Speaker : The motion moved is—

That the Punjab Debtors' Protection (Amendment) Bill be taken into consideration.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava (Lahore City, General, Urban) (Urdu) : Sir, as is evident from to-day's agenda we have given notice of certain amendments which I am sure are not going to make any substantial change in the Bill. I would, therefore, like to tell the Government that if it is prepared to accept these amendments of an ordinary nature I would not commend my amendment regarding the commitment of the Bill to a select committee for acceptance of the House. But if the Government is intent upon rejecting my proposal I would be justified in pressing my amendment and giving expression to our point of view in the House. With these words, Sir, I formally move my amendment—

That the Punjab Debtors' Protection (Amendment) Bill be referred to a select committee with instruction to report by the 15th November, 1939. and leave it to the Government to make its own choice amongst these two alternatives.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That the Punjab Debtors' Protection (Amendment) Bill be referred to a select committee with instruction to report by the 15th November, 1939.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That the Punjab Debtors' Protection (Amendment) Bill be taken into consideration..

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The House will now proceed to consider the Bill clause by clause.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the chair which was occupied by Mr. Deputy Speaker.)

Clause 1.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That clause 1 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 2.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That clause 2 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 3.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

That in the proposed sub-section (3), lines 2—6, the words "or any..... Chapter" be deleted.

The object of my amendment is that the powers given to the commissioners under this Bill should not be delegated to any other authority. We know it very well that an officer commands confidence in proportion to the position or rank that he holds. If it is thought necessary by the framers of this Bill that the commissioner should be the proper person to exercise these powers, there is no reason why the provincial Government should take power to delegate those powers to another officer, presumably to an officer of a lower rank. In view of the knotty questions that arise under the Punjab Debtors Protection Act, it is desirable and necessary that those points should be decided finally by the Commissioner. If this clause is retained as it is, the effect will be that the powers of the Commissioner will be delegated to the collector and in turn they will be delegated to an assistant collector of first grade or even second grade. Good many protections have been afforded under the Punjab Debtors Protection Act and rightly so. But the protection should be extended to all the parties and that can be done only if these powers are exercised by the commissioner. I am afraid I have to say that in certain matters, deputy commissioners and commissioners enjoy greater confidence of the public than the Ministers. I think that if a certain amount of confidence of the public is retained by the Government, it is not due to the Honourable Ministers, it is more due to those officers who discharge their duties honestly and impartially. But I do not see why the Government should delegate these powers to hands that cannot be safely trusted. It is also provided in the Punjab Debtors Protection Act that certain powers of the collector may be delegated to any other officer and the result has been that hardly any collector in the province is exercising those powers. They are being really exercised by the assistant collectors. I submit it is highly desirable that the confidence of the public should be retained by the Government and that will be possible only if the powers are exercised by the commissioners to whom these powers are given. If the idea is to give these powers nominally to the commissioners and it is meant that they should not be exercised by them but by some other officers I object to it. With these words I move my amendment.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in the proposed sub-section (3), lines 2—6, the words “or any..... Chapter” be deleted.

Minister for Revenue (The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia) : In introducing the Bill for consideration by this House I made it quite clear that the commissioner is one of the busiest officers of the Government. He has to look after at least 5 districts in the province, has to supervise the work of the deputy commissioners of these districts and has to do some appellate work as well. Under these circumstances, we cannot expect the commissioner always to look to these smaller things in time and it is absolutely necessary therefore in trying to help the commissioner to appoint somebody, generally an officer of the rank of a deputy commissioner, not a naib-tahsildar nor a tahsildar, but an officer of the rank of a deputy commissioner, most likely a senior one, to take the place of the commissioner in an emergency like this. My honourable friend has, therefore, unnecessarily tried to stress the point that nobody else than the commissioner should be trusted. I submit that if a commissioner is to be trusted, a deputy commissioner should also be trusted likewise. He is an officer who deals with his district and generally gives satisfaction to the people over whom he is placed. My honourable friend, therefore, should realise that when we are taking these powers to appoint somebody to act for the commissioner for the time being in this matter, we shall exercise due regard and consider the capabilities of the man who will carry on the work of the commissioner for the purposes of this Act. I can assure my honourable friend that we will consider only one of our best officers to be delegated the powers, but I cannot bind the Government to say that it will always be one of the senior most officers of the deputy commissioner's rank who will be appointed. Exigencies of service do require sometimes that for a temporary period, as was done in the case of Lahore where we appointed Khan Bahadur Shaikh Nur Muhammad as an additional Commissioner, such appointments should be made. My honourable friend ought to trust us that we will do our best to appoint somebody who enjoys the confidence of the public. It is for the purposes of affording relief to a very high officer of the rank of the commissioner that we take these powers.

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri (Rawalpindi Division, General, Rural) : The Honourable Revenue Minister seems to have missed entirely the point involved in the amendment moved by my honourable friend from Ambala. The Revenue Minister has been pleased to point out that the commissioner is one of the busiest officers and, therefore, it is not possible for the commissioners to discharge the duties which have been laid upon them under the Act. Therefore the proper and the honest course would be to relieve them of these duties and to appoint another officer by virtue of his office who would deal with these matters. If a commissioner is over-worked the district judge or any other officer can perform these duties and these duties should be assigned to him. The real point of the amendment is that these are essentially judicial duties, duties which should be performed by certain designated officers in the interpretation of a complicated Act and in the interpretation of a legislation which as is well-known is a party legislation of extremely partisan character and, therefore, persons who are to be appointed to administer the Act should be persons who are appointed by virtue of their offices and not particularly chosen by name for deciding these particular cases. In the case of selection being left to the Government, the persons appointed, as has been our experience unfortunately in the case of appointments under similar Acts during the last two years, would be persons who belong to a particular political party, or who are known to hold particular views and this is the main reason for moving this amendment. There are five commissioners. They are appointed to these posts not because they hold certain political opinion upon particular matters, but because they are capable, honest, hard working and tried men who can be expected to hold the scales of justice even between man and man and party and party. Similarly when you appoint a district judge, you appoint him on the same considerations. One commissioner is administering the Act in one district and another man is administering the Act in another district. A European is administering the Act in one and a Muslim in another and a Hindu in still another; an agriculturist in one and a non-agriculturist in another. All of these are supposed to act judicially and disinterestedly. I do not mind to whom you assign these duties, but it is admittedly a travesty of justice to designate a particular person to deal in particular party matters throughout the province. This will practically be defeating the objects which the Government professed to have in view when this legislation was passed and when jurisdiction was withdrawn from civil courts. Therefore if the commissioner is not available for these duties, appoint another equally experienced officer by virtue of his office. The Government can decide it for themselves. Let the officer be the district judge, let him be any other senior officer, with judicial experience.

Minister for Revenue : A judge of the High Court ?

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri : Appoint any person by virtue of his office. Do not select your own men to administer justice according to your own views of the particular matter. Our experience in this matter is most unfortunate during the last two years. I, therefore, support the amendment which has been moved by my honourable friend from Ambala.

Minister for Revenue (The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia): I need not detain the Assembly for any length of time in this case. Probably the whole basis of my honourable friend's argument is to take away the powers of the commissioner and to give them to the district judge. My honourable friend thinks that the district judge is an officer who has nothing to do and has got a lot of leisure so that he can spare time to take up this work. Our objective is simply this. There is no question of any political idea behind this. It is only to help the commissioner. If the commissioner is available, he will be made to do the work, but if the commissioner is not available, and is busy, in that case, we shall have to appoint somebody who shall act as commissioner. As regards the other points, my honourable friend has mentioned, my friend would like an appeal against the orders of the district judge to go to the High Court. The matter being a revenue question the appeal against the commissioner's order should go to the Financial Commissioner. In revenue cases such appeals should go to the revenue officers and not to the civil courts. That is the reason why we do not accede to the request which has been made by my honourable friend. The real crux of the whole argument of my honourable friend is that we must take away these powers from the revenue officers and give them to the civil courts.

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri : Not at all. Keep them with the commissioners.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) : I want to exercise my right of reply. I want to draw the attention of the Honourable Minister of Revenue to the analogous law under the Land Revenue Act and the Tenancy Act. Similar powers have been given to the collector and the commissioner under these Acts. There is no such delegation of powers in the case of these two Acts. The powers that are to be exercised under the Punjab Debtors' Protection Act are much greater than the powers to be exercised under the Land Revenue Act and the Tenancy Act.

We know it very well that very difficult questions arise as regards the interpretation of the Punjab Debtors' Protection Act. When similar powers are to be exercised by the collector and commissioner in the case of Land Revenue and Tenancy Acts, there are no reasons why a departure should be made from that legislative practice. I again request the Honourable Revenue Minister to reconsider the matter and agree to the practically innocent amendment that I have moved. As I have already said, if you are not going to accept this amendment, the result will be that the powers given under this Act will be exercised by collectors and assistant collectors. I again request the Revenue Minister to reconsider my amendment and do justice to those peoples, of course, whose fate will be decided in many cases under this law.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That in the proposed sub-section (3), lines 2—6, the words, "or any..... Chapter" be deleted.

The motion was lost.

Mumshi Hari Lal (South-Western Towns, General, Urban) : Sir, I move—

That in proposed sub-section (3), line 3, between the words "officer" and "specially" the words "not below the rank of the permanent Deputy Commissioner" be inserted.

Sir, so far as I have been able to understand the Honourable Revenue Minister, he means to give these powers to senior officers. He says so. Sir, I submit that the words "not below the rank of the permanent Deputy Commissioner" seal his object. If the Government is going to invest senior officers, senior deputy commissioners, with powers of commissioners, and if this is the intention of the Government, then why not insert those words in the Bill? There should be absolutely no difficulty in doing this. I would therefore request the Government to accept my amendment which falls in with their views. Sir, generally in the province of the Punjab, the powers of collectors under the Act are given to assistant collectors of 1st grade. In the definition of "Collector" in the Debtors' Protection Act we find "Collector, Deputy Commissioner or any officer having the powers of the Collector." In the Punjab generally it is the assistant collector of 1st grade that has got the power to proceed in the execution of the decrees transferred by the civil court. From his orders the appeal lies directly to the commissioner. My object in presenting this amendment is that the appeal should lie to an officer of senior rank and of some experience. There are in some cases very complicated questions that are to be solved. The officer, who will hear the appeal, should not be an assistant commissioner; he should not be an officer with no experience, nor an officer having only such experience as the assistant collector of the 1st grade has got or the collector who has practically no experience. He should be an officer of vast experience. I, therefore, submit that the officer, who is going to be invested with this power of commissioner, should be a permanent deputy commissioner and should be of that rank. The Honourable Revenue Minister has, while opposing the amendment moved by my honourable friend, Lala Duni Chand, also given out his mind that he is going to invest the senior officer with the power of the commissioner. I want to see the bona fides of the Government and I wish that in the Bill itself the words "not below the rank of the permanent Deputy Commissioner" be inserted, so that there should be no uncertainty. Everybody should know that when he is going to appeal, he is going to appeal to an officer, senior to the officer, that has passed the order. That is my amendment, Sir, and with these remarks I move it.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in proposed sub-section (3), line 3, between the words "officer" and "specially" the words "not below the rank of the permanent Deputy Commissioner," be inserted.

Minister for Revenue (The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia): Sir, I do not think I should reply to the remarks made by my honourable friend opposite. I have already made my point quite clear that the officer who will be appointed will be a senior officer and will be eligible to act for the commissioner. Therefore, the officer who will be selected will be of such a rank from our deputy commissioners who can act for the commissioner. How could it be possible to appoint raw youths or raw hands? There will be no difficulty as long as we have got senior officers of deputy commissioner's rank. But if we agree to the amendment, then will it mean that if we have not got senior officers of deputy commissioner's rank, we should not appoint any other officer if necessity arises? I think my honourable friend ought to rest assured that if an officer is to be appointed he should be a senior officer. In case we are not able to get a senior officer or a permanent deputy commissioner, does my honourable friend mean that we should not appoint even officiating deputy commissioners? If that is the intention of my honourable friend then we cannot accept his amendment.

We have got only 29 districts in the province and all the deputy commissioners are not permanent deputy commissioners. Some officers are holding the appointment of officiating deputy commissioners. Does it mean, Sir, that we should debar all these officers from being appointed? I think this is not the intention of my honourable friend. He should trust the Government and leave to the Government the matter of appointment of an officer who is to act for the commissioner or who is to help the commissioner from amongst the seniormost deputy commissioners. The Government has got sense enough to appoint an officer who will command the confidence of the people.

Munshi Hari Lal : It has been said, Sir, that the deputy commissioner, who will be invested with this power, will be a senior deputy commissioner. My contention is that he should be a permanent deputy commissioner and not an officiating deputy commissioner. An officiating deputy commissioner may be an assistant commissioner of only one or two years' standing. I have seen assistant commissioners of two or three years' standing holding charge of districts and exercising powers of appeal. But when the question has got to be decided finally by the commissioner, because under the Debtors' Protection Act, orders of commissioners are going to be final, the appeal should be to a sufficiently senior officer. I request the Honourable Revenue Minister to save us from the assistant commissioners of two or three years' standing, who may be holding charge of districts and according to him they may be officiating deputy commissioners and thus sitting as appellate officers. No. What I submit is that the power should be restricted. The Government should invest that officer with the powers of commissioner who is really capable of exercising the powers of commissioner and who has exercised the powers of a collector for a number of years and who is well conversant with the execution of decrees and with the revenue law. That is my submission. The Government says in one word that they will appoint a senior officer and when I say that a senior officer of the rank of a permanent deputy commissioner should be inserted in the Bill, they come forward and object. As was remarked by my honourable friend Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri, I do not consider this a measure to be affected by any politics. I say that in order to ensure justice, in order to inspire confidence in the people, we should have an officer of a senior rank and I submit again that the Government will be well advised in accepting my amendment.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That in proposed sub-section (3), line 3, between the words "officer" and "specially" the words "not below the rank of the permanent Deputy Commissioner" be inserted.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That clause 3 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 4.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The amendment to clause 4 proposed to be moved by Munshi Hari Lal being a new clause, I would request the honourable member to ask for leave of the House under Rule 102.

Munshi Hari Lal : Sir, I ask for leave to move this clause.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Is there any objection to leave being granted so far as this new clause is concerned ?

Minister for Revenue : I object to it.

Munshi Hari Lal : Sir, I feel some defect in the Act which is now going to be amended. Powers are going to be given to the Financial Commissioner and I want that this Punjab Debtors' Protection Bill should be brought into line with the revenue law. My submission is that under the Debtors' Protection Act, orders passed by the commissioner are final. In practice I have seen complicated questions of law arising. When a decision of the previous commissioner or the commissioner of another division is cited, it is rejected by the commissioner who says 'I am not bound by it, it is a co-ordinate authority'. This provision of a second appeal is in accordance with the revenue law which will give great satisfaction to the litigants and it will also add to the prestige of the commissioners as well as the deputy commissioners. It does not conflict with the principle of the Bill that is now on the anvil. The mover of the Debtors' Protection Bill wants to give some powers to the Financial Commissioner. My point is that if powers are going to be given to the Financial Commissioner, let those powers be larger than they are contemplated in this Bill. It will not conflict with the principle of the proposed Bill if the power is given to the Financial Commissioner to hear a second appeal in certain cases, and not in all cases. I, therefore, submit that leave be granted to move this clause.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That leave be granted to move the new clause.

The motion was lost.

That before the proposed section 6-A, the following be added—

6-A. A second appeal shall lie to the Financial Commissioner if the original order passed by the Collector is modified or reversed on appeal by the Commissioner.

Malik Barkat Ali (Eastern Towns, Muhammadan, Urban): Sir, The amendments of which I have given notice are purely of a verbal character. My first amendment relates to line 4, the sub-section proposed reads as follows :—

The Financial Commissioner may, at any time, call for and examine the record of any order of or the proceedings recorded by—

Instead of 'order of' my amendment is 'order passed' and instead of 'or the proceedings recorded' my amendment is 'or proceedings taken'. Therefore, under my amendment the first four lines will read thus :—

The Financial Commissioner may, at any time, call for and examine the record of any order passed or proceedings taken.....

So far as line 5 is concerned, my amendment is 'the proceedings taken by the Collector or the Commissioner'. My amendment seeks to delete the words 'Deputy Commissioner' from line 5. The reason is very simple. I have looked at the Punjab Debtors' Protection Act, 1936 and the only officer who is mentioned there is either the collector or the commissioner. The words 'Deputy Commissioner' nowhere occurs in the various sections of the principal Act except in section 3, which defines a collector to "mean the deputy commissioner of a district or any officer specially empowered by the Local Government to exercise the powers of a Collector".

Munshi Hari Lal : On a point of order. Are all these amendments going to be moved at one time ?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : He will move the first amendment, but because all these amendments are of a formal nature, he can discuss them together. However all these amendments will be moved separately and voted upon separately.

Malik Barkat Ali : I was submitting that in the original Act the word 'Deputy Commissioner' nowhere occurs. The word, which is throughout used in various sections is the word "Collector" and as section 6-A is intended to be put after section 6 by means of this Bill, it is in the fitness of things that the word 'Deputy Commissioner' be deleted from line 5 and the word "Collector" be inserted in its place. Then Sir, in the next line, the words that I seek to introduce are 'under this Act'. To make my object clear, the sub-section as the result of my amendments will read thus:—

The Financial Commissioner may, at any time, call for and examine the record of any order passed or proceedings taken by the Collector or the Commissioner under this Act for the purpose of satisfying himself as to the legality or propriety of such order.....

"Then I would like to delete the words 'the regularity of' in line 9.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker resumed the Chair.)

I was trying to explain my various amendments and as these amendments are very intimately connected, I am making a speech to cover en bloc the formal motions regarding the separate amendments which I will move later under the orders of the Deputy Speaker. My next amendment is that the word 'any' in "any such order" be deleted. Similarly the words 'in reference thereto' be deleted and the word 'thereon' be substituted. These are purely verbal amendments. I trust the Honourable Revenue

Minister in charge of the Bill will accept these purely verbal alterations. The sub-section will read as follows if my amendments are accepted :—

The Financial Commissioner may, at any time, call for and examine the record of any order passed, or proceedings taken by the Collector or the Commissioner under this Act for the purpose of satisfying himself as to the legality or the propriety of such order or proceedings and may pass such order thereon as he may think fit.

I now formally propose my first amendment—

That in the proposed section 6-A, line 4, for the word 'of' the word 'passed' be substituted.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in the proposed section 6-A, line 4, for the word 'of' the word 'passed' be substituted.

Munshi Hari Lal : On a point of order. You will kindly see that my amendment is also the same as the amendment proposed by my honourable friend Malik Barkat Ali. Shall I speak now or later on? My amendment is to the same effect that in line 5 of the proposed section 6-A, for the words 'Deputy Commissioner' the word 'Collector' be substituted.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : On a point of order. I understand that you have only put forward amendment No. 1 of Malik Barkat Ali and that is the amendment now before the House. When amendment No. 4 is taken up that would be the stage for the honourable member to bring forward his amendment. The amendment to which he has referred is No. 4 that for the words 'Deputy Commissioner' the word "Collector" be substituted.

Malik Barkat Ali : That relates to line 5 which has not been put forward.

Revenue Minister : I accept the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in the proposed section 6-A, line 4, for the word 'of' the word 'passed' be substituted.

The motion was carried.

Malik Barkat Ali : I beg to move—

That in the proposed section 6-A, line 4, the word 'the' be deleted.

The motion was carried.

Malik Barkat Ali : I beg to move—

That in the proposed section 6-A, line 4, for the word 'recorded' the word 'taken' be substituted.

The motion was carried.

Malik Barkat Ali : I beg to move—

That in the proposed section 6-A, line 5, for the words 'Deputy Commissioner' the word 'Collector' be substituted.

The motion was carried.

Malik Barkat Ali : I beg to move—

That in the proposed section 6-A, line 6, between the words 'Commissioner' and 'for' the words 'under this Act' be inserted.

The motion was carried.

Malik Barkat Ali : I beg to move—

That in the proposed section 6-A, line 9, the words 'the regularity of' be deleted.

The motion was carried.

Malik Barkat Ali : I move—

That in the proposed section 6-A, line 10, the word 'any' be deleted.

The motion was carried.

Malik Barkat Ali : I move—

That in the proposed section 6-A, line 11, for the words 'in reference thereto' the word 'thereon' be substituted.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 4 as amended stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That the preamble be the preamble of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That the title be the title of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Minister for Revenue (The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia) : The next motion is not on the agenda. I, therefore, seek your permission to move it.

With your permission I move—

That the Punjab Debtors' Protection (Amendment) Bill as amended be passed.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Is it the pleasure of the House that the business of the day may be interrupted and the House adjourned?

The Assembly signified its assent and accordingly adjourned till 12 noon on Thursday, 26th October, 1939.

PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
SIXTH SESSION OF THE FIRST PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Thursday, 26th October, 1939.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at 12 noon of the clock. Mr. Speaker in the Chair.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

COMPLAINTS OF ZAMINDARS OF GUJRANWALA DISTRICT.

4381. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether he has recently received any complaints from the zamindars of the ilaga in January, 1939, against the digging of Sem Nali No. 7, Head Marala in the Gujranwala district; if so, the action he has taken in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : First part.—Yes.

Second part.—The complaint has been investigated very thoroughly and there is no justification for dropping the scheme to construct this drain as the sub-soil water level rises alarmingly after a year of heavy rainfall and if a drain is not built much valuable land will be endangered. It is, however, proposed to give priority to other schemes much in demand by the public and defer construction of the top reach of the drain for a couple of years.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : May I ask whether the honourable Parliamentary Secretary is aware of the fact that in connection with the digging of Sem Nali the officials concerned pitch flags in different fields at different times in order to exact illegal gratifications from the poor zamindars?

Parliamentary Secretary : After all these flags have to be pitched in fields. You cannot pitch them in air. However, there is no intention of intimidating or harassing anybody.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : What I want to ask is whether any illegal gratification has been exacted by the Government officials?

Minister : We have no information on that subject.

RAILWAY CONCESSION RATES FOR TRANSPORT OF FODDER.

4474. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether he is aware of the fact that the Ambala district has not been favoured with railway concession rates for transport of fodder imported from other parts of the Punjab if so, the reasons therefor and the action that Government intends to take in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : Yes, because there has been no scarcity of fodder.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if, in view of the transport difficulties in the Ambala district owing to the fact that the entire district is full of hill torrents, that district is not all the more entitled to a more favourable treatment in the form of railway concession?

Parliamentary Secretary : This has no connection whatsoever with the original question.

Lala Duni Chand : Does the Parliamentary Secretary deny that a larger part of the Ambala district is suffering from fodder scarcity ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The honourable member is referring to a question which has not been asked.

Lala Duni Chand : I am putting a question regarding fodder scarcity.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Is it not a fact that the question relates to scarcity of fodder in the Ambala district and railway concession not having been granted in regard to the importing of fodder into the district ?

Parliamentary Secretary : My difficulty was how to connect it with torrents.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Is it not a fact that the honourable member is alleging that the scarcity of fodder is due to hill torrents ? Is there a scarcity of fodder in the Ambala district ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it not a fact that because Ambala district is interspersed with hill torrents, there are these transport difficulties ? Does he deny that ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I do not deny. It is probably true. What I said was that the Government did not think it necessary to consider the question of railway concession in that district because the fodder was enough.

Lala Duni Chand : What is the source of information of the honourable member for this allegation ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is official.

REMISSION OF LAND REVENUE IN AMBALA DISTRICT.

4475. Khao Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state, whether with reference to part (a) of my unstarred question 545 regarding failure of crops in half the sown area of Ambala district, the Government is prepared to remit or suspend the land revenue ; if so, the details of the concessions proposed to be granted to the zamindars of that area ; and if no concessions are proposed to be granted, the reasons therefor ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : Rupees 1,70,738 were suspended and Rs. 18,232 remitted.

DAMAGE FROM HAILSTORMS.

4489. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the names of the villages in the Amritsar district, having suffered damage from the last hailstorm in the month of February, 1939 ;
- (b) the extent of damage in each village ;
- (c) the remission in land revenue, if any, granted to the sufferers ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): A statement is laid on the table.

APPLICATION OF S. SAJJAN SINGH OF VILLAGE MAKHI KHURD
REGARDING REMISSION IN ABIANA.

*4678. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether Sardar Sajjan Singh and other cultivators of village Makhi Khurd, tahsil Kasur, district Lahore, submitted an application, dated 26th February, 1939, to the Executive

[Mr. Dev Raj Sethi.]

Engineer, Jandiala division, Amritsar, requesting that the abiana of the crops damaged or destroyed by the recent hailstorms be remitted ;

- (b) if the answer to (a) above be in the affirmative, was a field to field inspection made by the canal authorities and the decision, if any, arrived at by the Government about remission in abiana ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) Yes.

(b) Field to field inspection has been made and 34 acres have been fully remitted and 55 acres given half remission, the total remission amounting to Rs. 255.

REALIZATION OF LAND REVENUE FROM OWNERS OF HOUSES IN NEW ABADIS, LAHORE.

4802. Begum Rashida Latif Baji : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether the Government is aware of the fact that the owners of houses in the new abadis in the neighbourhood of Lahore are still paying land revenue ; if so, why ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : Yes, town lands are liable to pay land revenue under the Land Revenue Act, provided they have previously been so assessed. Only ancient town sites which have never before been assessed are exempt from assessment. Attention is also invited to the instructions in Appendix XV to the Punjab Settlement Manual.

IRRIGATION OF LAND ALONG THE KOKRI KALAN ILAQA.

4804. Sardar Rur Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether arrangements for irrigation of land along the Kokri Kalan ilaga were considered and finally settled by Government ;
- (b) whether the people of the said ilaga were informed that a minor will shortly be dug up for the purpose ;
- (c) whether in pursuance of the above-mentioned programme the survey was completed ;
- (d) whether the scheme has been abandoned ;
- (e) the reasons, if any, if the reply to (d) above be in the affirmative ;
- (f) if reply to (d) be in the negative, the reasons of delaying the scheme ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) A scheme has been prepared for a distributary for this area.

(b) and (c) Yes.

(d) No.

(e) Does not arise.

(f) Delay is on account of many land-owners protesting against the minor being taken through their lands leading to alternative alignments.

(This supersedes the reply given in April, 1939.)

Sardar Rur Singh : Will the honourable Parliamentary Secretary please state how much time will this survey operation take to complete ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I cannot give any exact date, but the reason for the delay is that the zamindars object to the canal passing through their lands and consequently the Government has to resort to alternative alignments.

Sardar Rur Singh : Has the Government recently received any representation to the effect that this survey operation may be completed immediately ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already stated that the Government is doing all that is possible to expedite the matter.

REPRESENTATION OF JANDIALA ILAQA.

4806. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether inhabitants of eight villages of ilaqa Jandiala, district Amritsar, have recently submitted a representation to him on the subject of damage to their crops by hailstorm and praying for relief ; if so, action taken or intended to be taken in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : Yes.

Remissions amounting to Rs. 551 and taccavi amounting to Rs. 560 have been granted.

REMISSION IN LAND REVENUE TO AGRICULTURISTS OF FEROZEPUR DISTRICT.

4809. Sardar Rur Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) whether the Government has given any remission in land revenue for the past kharif crops to the agriculturists of the Ferozepore district ; if not, reasons for the same ;

(b) if the answer to (a) above be in the affirmative, the names of villages and the amount remitted in each case respectively ?

TUBE-WELLS IN HISSAR, GURGAON AND ROHTAK DISTRICTS.

4825. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether the Government has considered the question of sinking tube-wells in the arid areas of Hissar, Gurgaon and Rohtak districts, if so, where and with what result ;
- (b) what special steps the Honourable Minister has taken so far to relieve the inhabitants of Jhajjar tahsil from the hardship of drought conditions ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) Yes, but the investigation showed that the high cost of sinking the very deep wells which would be necessary in Hissar was not commensurate with the prospects of success. Government decided, therefore, to investigate an alternative method of giving relief to some of the areas mentioned, viz., by supplementing supplies in the Western Jumna Canal from tube-wells. This investigation will shortly be concluded and reported on. Government are not in a position to formulate any definite policy until the report is received.

(b) Suspension and remission of land revenue have been granted. Test works and spinning centres have been opened to provide employment and relief to the needy. Taccavi is being given on a liberal scale for the maintenance of bullocks, camels, breeding cows and milch cattle. Stud bulls are being maintained by means of Government subsidies.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know if the Government is going to adopt any measure for supplying canal water to tahsil Jhajjar ?

Minister for Revenue : Yes. Government is taking steps to supply canal water to the said Ilaga.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : How long will it take ?

Minister : I cannot tell my honourable friend the exact date. He may be aware of the fact that before giving the exact date the Government have got many things to do. For instance, survey work is to be done and therefore this matter has to come before this Assembly in the shape of a demand.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether this work has been started by the Government ?

Mr. Speaker : The next question.

BEGAR.

4829. Rai Bahadur Lala Gopal Das : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state the steps which the present Government have already taken or intends to take to eliminate begar in the province ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : Government have from time to time issued—

- (a) proclamations to all zamindars, shop-keepers, kamins, etc., in the Punjab ;

- (b) press communiqués ;
- (c) notices to zaildars and inamdars ; and
- (d) circular letters ;

prohibiting the exaction of "begar" by Government officials. These orders have also been announced by beat of drum in all villages in the province and signatures or thumb-impressions of the village lambardars and of the chief representatives of the depressed classes obtained on a certificate to this effect.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that in Rohtak district no such proclamations have been made ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If the honourable member could say so with certainty, the Government would make an enquiry into this matter.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : My question is whether such proclamations have been made in Rohtak district ?

Parliamentary Secretary : In fact proclamations are made in the whole of the Punjab. If in any ilaqa or village proclamations are not made, I assure the honourable member that Government would look into this matter.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Proclamations have not been made in the whole of the Rohtak district.

Parliamentary Secretary : If so, the Government will make an inquiry.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : Is it a fact that it is only a paper proclamation ? (Hear, hear from the Opposition.)

Parliamentary Secretary : I am not aware of any paper proclamation ; proclamations are made by beat of drum.

Lala Duni Chand : Does the Government realize the fact that it is a chronic disease and requires a radical treatment ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know what action, beyond issuing instructions, has the Government taken to eradicate this evil ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If my honourable friend will make any constructive suggestion, beyond what the Government has done so far, it will consider it.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it a fact that a private Bill was introduced in this House in order to make begar penal and whether it is a fact that even its introduction was not allowed ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Begar is already illegal, therefore there was no question of any other Bill being passed.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know under what law a man who takes begar forcibly can be proceeded against ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Lala Duni Chand : He asserts that it is already an offence, I want to know the law under which it is an offence.

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed. The honourable member may consult his lawyer.

Chaudhri Faqir Chand : May I know what are the difficulties before this Government in making a law to remove this evil ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No difficulties. Law is there already under which no begar can be taken. Government has drawn attention of the public to the existence of this law.

Chaudhri Faqir Chand : Is it a fact that district authorities do not take action according to the circulars sent to them by the Government.

Parliamentary Secretary : Government expect every officer to treat those circulars with regard and honour. If there is any officer who does not proceed according to Government's circulars, I assure my honourable friend that the Government would take action against such officer.

Lala Harnam Das : Is it a fact that some officers think that scheduled castes are not considered as part of the public ?

Premier : I assure the honourable member that when we send our officers to make inquiry into cases of corruption, people go to interview them but do not offer any evidence.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Is that in connection with begar ? (Laughter.)

Premier : No. But corruption is a greater evil.

Mr. Speaker : The next question.

Munshi Hari Lal : I want to ask a few supplementary questions about begar. May I know on which date or from which date to which date was this announcement made in the Multan district that begar is illegal ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is very difficult to remember the time and date when this proclamation was made in a particular town or a district.

Munshi Hari Lal : I am asking if you have any information on the papers with you whether begar was declared illegal and an announcement made in Multan and if so on what date ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am afraid I do not know the date.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that in Rohtak district personal presence and stamped applications are considered to be essential in cases of begar complaints ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice for this question.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I want to know whether it is a fact that instructions have been given to the Deputy Commissioner of Rohtak to the effect that in cases of begar representations should be properly stamped and complainants should be present before him personally ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Lala Harnam Das : May I know whether there are conditions laid down for taking begar ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I do not think so.

REMOVAL FROM SERVICE OF FORESTERS AND FOREST GUARDS.

4849. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that on 1st October, 1926, two foresters and 15 forest guards were removed from service by the department;
- (b) whether it is further a fact that some of the above-mentioned forest guards were later taken back into service; if so, which of them and why;
- (c) whether it is further a fact that the rest of the said guards not yet re-employed have submitted many representations to the Deputy Conservator of Forests for reinstatement;
- (d) whether the question of their reinstatement has ever been considered?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : (a) No, but during the year 1926-27, two foresters and twenty-six forest guards were removed from the service.

(b) No.

(c) The records of all these forest guards excepting four have since been destroyed and it is, therefore, not possible to say whether any of them submitted any representation. In the case of the four forest guards whose records are still available, none of them submitted any representation for reinstatement.

(d) No.

DETERIORATION OF PRODUCTIVITY OF SOIL IN HARIANA DISTRICTS.

4850. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state the areas where the productivity of soil has greatly deteriorated in the Haryana districts of South-East and the steps proposed to be taken by the Government to remedy this defect?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : Government are not aware of any deterioration in the productivity of soil in the Haryana districts. It is however hoped that agricultural conditions in parts of this tract will improve as a result of the Bhakra Dam Project which is under consideration.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether Government has ever tried to enquire as to how much land has become uncultivable in that area?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am afraid, without a notice, I am not in a position to answer this question.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Notice to this question has already been given and the answer given to this question is that it is not within the knowledge of the Government as to how much land has deteriorated. May I ask if the Government have inquired into this matter?

Parliamentary Secretary : The honourable member has not asked me about the area. I have already given him the answer to his question. If he gives me notice to find out the areas deteriorated, then I would certainly try to satisfy him.

Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan : Is it a fact that there has been a considerable decrease in the productivity of the soil in the Ghaggar area of Hissar district ?

Parliamentary Secretary : So far as the Government is aware there has not been any perceptible deterioration in this respect.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Has this deterioration taken place in any area ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is not possible to give this information unless the honourable member refers to any particular area.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether the productivity of the soil has increased in any area during recent years ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes.

DAMAGE TO CROPS BY TREES ON DISTRICT BOARD AND CANAL ROADS.

*4867. Sardar Ajit Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that the trees planted and standing on the district board roads and on the service roads of the canals and their distributaries all over the province spoil the crops grown in lands adjacent to these roads on which the trees are standing, if so, the compensation that is intended to be paid to those whose crops are thus damaged and spoiled ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : Generally speaking trees do cause some damage to the crops beneath and immediately surrounding them partly owing to the shade they cause and partly through their roots utilizing the moisture in the soil around them. On the other hand, they provide wind breaks which are very necessary for the protection of crops, and their leaves contribute to the fertility of the surrounding land. The question of payment of compensation does not arise.

LANDS HELD BY SCHEDULED CASTES IN DISTRICT OF SIALKOT AS OWNERS, OCCUPANCY TENANTS AND TENANTS.

*4870. Bhagat Hans Raj : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing lands held at present by the scheduled castes in the district of Sialkot as owners, occupancy tenants and tenants, separately ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : The information is being collected and will be supplied to the honourable member when ready.

NEW ASSESSMENT FOR CHIMA KHURD AND KHEM KARAN IN TAHSIL KASUR.

4898. Sardar Partap Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether the new assessment proposed for villages Chima Khurd and Khem Karan in tahsil Kasur has so far been announced by the Settlement Officer; if so, the rate at which land revenue is to be assessed according to that assessment and whether this rate exceeds the previous rate of land revenue for these villages; if so, reasons for the increase?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : The new assessment of village Chima near Asal and Khem Karan, tahsil Kasur, has been announced by the Settlement Officer. The new demand is Rs. 1,700 as against the old demand of Rs. 1,200. The old demand of this village was very lenient, being 28 per cent. below circle rates, since at the last settlement the Settlement Officer wished to avoid a heavy enhancement. The incidence per cultivated acre of the old demand is only Rs. 1-2-4, in spite of the fact that practically the whole of the village is canal irrigated. By the sanctioned soil rates for the circle the new demand comes to Rs. 2,161, but only Rs. 1,700 have been fixed.

2. The new demand of Khem Karan is Rs. 7,500 as against the present demand of Rs. 4,998. The incidence per cultivated acre of the old demand is only Rs. 1-5-8, in spite of the fact that practically the whole village is canal irrigated. Since last settlement the nahri area has increased by 20 per cent. The estate is a strong one with fairly large holdings and was very lightly assessed before.

COLLECTION OF THANA-PATI BY ZAILDAR OF VILLAGE SATRAH, SIALKOT DISTRICT.

4921. Master Kabul Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether the zaildar of village Satrah, Sialkot district, levies and receives a marriage tax called the "thana-pati," from the people of his zail; if so, reasons for the same, and the steps the Government proposes to take in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : No such tax is levied or received by the zaildar of Satrah.

The second part of the question does not arise.

I would, however, point out for the information of honourable member that according to the wajib-ul-arz of the mauza a lambardar is entitled to receive thana-patti (marriage dues) from non-proprietors on each marriage of a daughter; the proceeds are divided between the Mirasi and the Brahman.

THUR AREA IN THE PUNJAB.

4926. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) the total area in the province which has become thur or kallar up to 31st December, 1938;

(b) the annual addition to the Thur area during the last 5 years;

[Mr. Dev Raj Sethi.]

(c) the steps taken by the Government to reclaim the thur area as also the preventive measures adopted so far to arrest any increase in such area ;

(d) whether the Government intends to establish a Land Reclamation Department immediately to undertake the work of reclamation of such lands ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) About 5,00,000 acres. This total includes both old kallar and new thur, but separate figures for these categories are not available.

(b) The average is about 30,000 acres annually but as this figure includes old kallar, the greater part of which has now been booked, the addition of new thur may be assumed to be a smaller figure.

(c) Government undertook reclamation of "thur" land in certain estates some years ago with satisfactory results. Large scale reclamation operations have not so far been undertaken partly for financial reasons and partly because of doubt about the permanence of such reclamation.

It has now been found that land reclaimed by the methods in vogue has not shown any signs of deterioration since it was reclaimed eight years ago.

It is impossible to forecast the degree of permanence but there is no reason to suppose it will not cover a generation or more.

The preventive measures adopted so far is drainage, on which Rs. 47,00,000 has been spent since 1934. Drainage was designed to arrest the rise in the water-table and consequently it was believed, the spread of thur.

It is emphasised however that drainage is also essential to prevent disastrous flooding and is a necessary preliminary to reclamation of thur land in areas of high water table.

(d) Government has already started reclamation on a small experimental scale in four chaks belonging to small holders on the Rakh branch in Sheikhpura district.

Large scale operations and the setting up of a Land Reclamation Department require a good deal of money, and the question whether the necessary funds can be found at present is engaging the anxious attention of Government.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : In which district has the survey with regard to thur taken place ?

Parliamentary Secretary : In some portions of the Sheikhpura, Lyallpur, Montgomery and Sialkot districts.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : May I know whether the figures about the kallar area given by the Parliamentary Secretary pertain to these districts alone or to the whole province ?

Parliamentary Secretary : To the whole province.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : May I know through which agency these figures have been obtained ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

PATWARIS' DUTIES TO REPORT POLITICAL SPEECHES.

4947. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether it is a fact that patwaris concerned are required to report all the political speeches delivered in the villages of the province ; if so, why and whether the Government intends to relieve them of this duty ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (i) No. (ii) If a political speech is of such a nature as would amount to an offence under section 124-A, or any other non-bailable offence, a patwari, among other persons, is bound under section 45 (1) (c) of the Code of Criminal Procedure to report to the nearest magistrate or officer in charge of a police station the commission of, or the intention to commit, such an offence.

(iii) Government see no reason to amend the law in order to relieve patwaris of this statutory obligation.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : May I know whether any remunerations are paid to the patwaris reporting these speeches ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No, Sir, and I may add that even if an honourable member of this House were to send such a report no payment will be made to him.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : By whose orders do the patwaris report these speeches ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The law is such that it is the duty of every citizen including the honourable member and myself to make a report whenever somebody commits by speech, etc., a non-bailable crime.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know whether Government has issued any instructions to the patwaris to report all the speeches which are delivered in the villages ?

Parliamentary Secretary : As has already been stated Government have issued no instructions that speeches delivered in any village should be reported by patwaris.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Is the Government aware that at present under the Ordinance, patwaris ordinarily report all the speeches ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Ordinarily, yes. When the patwaris find that some suspected persons are going to make speeches against the law or when they are going to commit a non-bailable offence, certainly the patwaris report their speeches.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : My question is whether there are any instructions issued by the present Government to the patwaris to report the speeches, apart from that contained in the Criminal Procedure Code.

Parliamentary Secretary : So far as I am aware the Government have issued no such instructions.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Is the Government aware that patwaris are highly inefficient to give the transcription of the speeches and has the Government taken any safeguards to train them in shorthand ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The patwaris are not supposed to know shorthand. I think the honourable member does not know anything about the revenue work of the patwaris.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : My question is this whether the Government is aware of the fact that the patwaris are quite inefficient to report the speeches. That is my question.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I ask my honourable friend as to how the patwaris can know, before a speech, is actually delivered, that that speech is likely to offend against the law ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The capacity of the patwari to scent the commission of such an act is a matter of surprise even for myself.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Is the honourable member really serious in regard to the statement that he has made ?

Parliamentary Secretary : What ? How the patwari comes to know that some speeches are going to be made in the village ? Is that the question ?

Diwan Chaman Lall : My honourable friend is deliberately trying not to understand the question. The question is a plain one. Will the honourable member enlighten the House as to how a patwari is likely to know that a speech is likely to offend against the law before the speech is delivered ?

Parliamentary Secretary : What the patwari does is this. Whenever he has serious apprehension that somebody is going to make a speech which will be against the law, he takes down that statement. Then, if his own commonsense says that the man has committed some offence he forwards it to the magistrate.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I ask if standing instructions have been issued in regard to this matter to patwaris ?

Parliamentary Secretary : So far as I am aware the Government have not issued any special instructions.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Since when was this practice of taking notes by the patwaris started ?

Parliamentary Secretary : This practice is in vogue since long.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : May I know whether this practice is a legacy of the previous Government ?

Parliamentary Secretary : There are many legacies of this nature.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the patwaris are required to report the speeches of the members of zamindara leagues ?

Parliamentary Secretary : There are no particular lists of speakers sent to patwaris.

Lala Duni Chand : Have any reports been received so far from the patwaris of the speeches of members of zamindara leagues ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am afraid I do not receive reports from patwaris.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if there has been a single case during the last 2½ years in which the speech of a member of some zamindara league has been found objectionable and he has been dealt with ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If my honourable friend gives notice of that question, I will be glad to supply the information.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : May I know whether these functions, which are given to patwaris, are only performed with a view to prosecute persons or only to report that a certain speech by a certain person has been made ?

Parliamentary Secretary : There are no such functions assigned to the patwaris as I have already stated.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : With what object do the patwaris do this thing ? Are they simply to report the incident of the meeting ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is not necessary for a patwari to do so. Any honourable member can do so.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : That is alright. What I am asking is whether a patwari is required to do this thing with a view to prosecute a speaker or to report ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The patwari is usually an educated man living in the village. Whenever he finds that a speech is made, he takes down notes and if he finds that there is something objectionable in the speech, he sends it on to the magistrate concerned.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Then may I take it that it is in the discretion of the patwari to send the speech or not ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes, certainly.

Munshi Hari Lal : May I know if patwaris take these notes in long hand or in shorthand ? (Laughter.)

Parliamentary Secretary : I do not think the patwaris know shorthand.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know whether these patwaris are functioning under the ordinary law since the promulgation of the Defence of India Ordinance or some extraordinary circumstances have been created after the promulgation of the Act ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Certainly.

Lala Duni Chand : Has it come to the notice of the Government that good many patwaris apologise to the speakers and say, "We do not want to do this dirty work but the Government requires us to do so" ?

Minister : We have no information on the subject, Sir. (Laughter.)

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I ask whether some extraordinary instructions have been issued by the present Government since this Ordinance was promulgated by the Governor-General ?

Minister : This question has been repeated so many times that I feel that it is waste of time of the House to go on with it any further.

(Hear, hear.) (Laughter.)

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : It is for the Honourable Speaker to decide whether it is waste of time of the House or not.

Munshi Hari Lal : Mr. Speaker, why does he say that it is waste of time of the House ?

Mr. Speaker : Because he thinks so.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know whether this extra duty imposed on the patwaris interferes with their ordinary duties as patwaris ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No, it does not.

DAMAGE TO CROPS IN LYALLPUR DISTRICT.

4978. Sardar Kartar Singh : [Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether he is aware of the fact that crops in several villages in Jaranwala tahsil, district Lyallpur, have been substantially damaged by hailstorms on 24th March, 1939 ;
- (b) whether he is aware of the fact that a sackful of hails was placed before the Deputy Commissioner, Lyallpur, by the peasants of Chak No. 97-G. B., on the next day, i.e., on the 25th March, 1939 ;
- (c) whether the Revenue officials of the district have so far visited the hail-stricken area in that district to see the havoc done to crops by the hailstorms ; if so, when and which of the villages have been so visited ;
- (d) whether they have visited Chaks Nos. 95, 96, 97, G. B., 95-P. B., 92-A. B., 93-A. B. in the said district where the crops have been damaged by the hailstorm ;
- (e) if the answer to (d) above be in the affirmative, the amount of remission recommended by them for the chaks mentioned above ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) Hailstorms occurred in the Jaranwala tahsil on 28th February, 1939, and 24th March, 1939, and affected 19 villages. The damage was severe in 7 villages, moderate in 5 and slight to negligible in the remaining seven.

(b) Yes.

(c) Yes, the Revenue Assistant, and the Sub-Divisional Officer, Irrigation, jointly inspected the affected areas, as under :—

Number of the Chaks inspected.	Date of inspection.
64, 66, 67, 68, 96, 97, 99, 100, 101, 102, 119 and 123-G. B.	3rd April, 1939.
51, 58, 59, 62, 63 and 67-R. B.	5th April, 1939.

(d) Chaks Nos. 96 and 97-G. B. were visited. Chak No. 95-G. B. was not inspected as there was no damage in this Chak. The remaining chaks are not situated in the Lyallpur district.

(e) The following relief has been granted in 12 chaks where the damage was substantial :—

				Amount remitted.
				Rs.
Water rate	5,468
Land Revenue	7,642
Malikana	227
Cesses	1,997
Total				14,674

DAMAGE TO CROPS BY HAILSTORM IN MULTAN DISTRICT.

*4984. Sardar Ajit Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether it is a fact that wheat and fodder crops have been completely destroyed by the hailstorm on 23rd March, in the Multan district and that a telegram to that effect was sent by the zamindars concerned to the Honourable Minister; if so, what action has the Government taken or proposes to take to help the zamindars?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : Hailstorms occurred in the Multan district on the 28th February, 1939, and 23rd March, 1939, and caused damage to 22,850 acres including 16,526 acres of wheat and 2,864 acres of fodder.

A telegram was received.

Relief has been granted as under :—

				Rs.
(a) Land Revenue remitted	75,488
(b) Abiana remitted	75,184
(c) Taccavi loans advanced	14,000

DAMAGE TO CROPS BY HAILSTORM IN LUDHIANA DISTRICT.

*4985. Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether Government has received a number of representations telegraphically and otherwise from several villages of the Ludhiana district to the effect that extensive damage has been caused to standing crops by recent hailstorm; if so, what action the Government proposes to take to afford relief to the zamindars concerned?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : Yes.

Relief has been granted as under :—

				Rs.
(1) Land Revenue remitted	36,856
Abiana remitted	6,680
Local rate remitted	7,126
(2) Gratuitous relief to the destitute	20,000
(8) Taccavi advanced for the purchase of fodder	23,005
Recovery of Taccavi suspended	489
(4) Concession rates were introduced for the import of fodder.

[Pandit Muni Lal Kalia.]

(5) In order to afford relief to tenants, orders were issued under section 30 of the Punjab Tenancy Act for proportionate remission of rent.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hassan : Is the honourable Parliamentary Secretary in a position to give the number of villages affected by hailstorm ?

Minister : If my honourable friend gives notice of this question, I will supply him with the information required.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hassan : Is it a fact that the relief afforded is insufficient ?

Minister : It is a matter of opinion.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hassan : Is it a fact that the recommendation for relief made by the Collector of Ludhiana district was not accepted by the Punjab Government ?

Chaudhri Muhammad Hassan : Has the Honourable Minister considered the desirability of himself visiting the afflicted villages in Ludhiana district in order to ascertain as to what damage has been done ?

Minister : If it is necessary for the Revenue Minister to visit these places for the purpose he will do so. Rest assured that he knows his duty.

SELECTION OF OVER-AGE CANDIDATES AS PATWARIS IN CONNEXION WITH LAHORE SETTLEMENT OPERATIONS.

4993. Sardar Muhammad Hussain : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state whether it is a fact that many over-age candidates have been selected as patwaris so far in connexion with the Lahore Settlement Operations ; if so, the number of such candidates selected from the Lahore district and other districts, separately ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : 16 : 15 from the Lahore district and 1 from outside.

PERSONS EMPLOYED IN GREY CANALS, FEROZEPORE.

5003. Captain Sodhi Harnam Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the names of persons employed permanently or temporarily in Grey Canals, Ferozepore, from 1930 to 1939 with their home districts ;
- (b) the manner in which vacancies are filled in the above-mentioned establishment ; whether the prescribed procedure was followed in filling these vacancies ;
- (c) the number and names of the candidates for posts in the above-mentioned establishment in case any list is kept ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) The information required can be collected only at a cost not commensurate with the value of the results.

(b) In making permanent appointments preference is given to those who have filled satisfactorily temporary engagements, are well qualified and are of local origin, provided that the local men are fully qualified. This procedure is followed.

(c) Four. Two Hindus and two Sikhs.

Captain Sodhi Harnam Singh: Is it correct to say that according to rules issued by the Government in 1936 it is essential to advertise for each and every post?

Parliamentary Secretary: Usually this is done.

Captain Sodhi Harnam Singh: May I know whether any advertisement was issued for filling the above mentioned vacancies?

Parliamentary Secretary: You will know it.

CATTLE TAX AND TIRNI TAX LEVIED IN KANGRA DISTRICT.

5027. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma: Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

(a) the law under which cattle tax and tirni tax are levied and realised in Kangra district;

(b) whether it is a fact that the incidence of these taxes is wholly borne by the poor agriculturists;

(c) what action the Government intends to take to relieve the poor agriculturists of the burden of these taxes?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): (a) (i) Cattle tax is levied under the Land Revenue Act, 1887, and is an integral part of the current settlement.

(ii) Tirni is levied under the Punjab Laws Act, 1872.

(b) No. (i) The incidence of these charges is borne by agriculturists and non-agriculturists alike whether rich or poor.

(ii) Tirni is charged on the sheep and goats belonging to the gaddis of Chamba and the resident Gaddis of the Kangra district, who keep the animals for trade. No such charge is levied on the sheep and goats owned by zamindars.

(c) The cattle tax being part of the settlement is not to change until the expiry of the existing settlement. Tirni was considered by the Punjab Government Forest Committee in paragraph 10-9-A of their report; they recommended the introduction of a sliding scale which would reduce tirni on small flocks and increase it on large. It is impossible to say whether this is feasible or not until the flocks of the Gaddis in question have been enumerated, and this is now being done.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma: Is the Parliamentary Secretary sure that no tax is levied on cattle owned by private people?

Parliamentary Secretary: If I was not sure I would not have given the answer as I have already done.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I understood the Parliamentary Secretary to say that there is no tax levied on sheep and goats owned by private individuals apart from those who are professional people.

Parliamentary Secretary : My reply is that no such charge is levied on the sheep and goats owned by zamindars.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : My question is whether the Parliamentary Secretary is aware of it and whether he is sure of it, because I know personally that there is a tax.

Parliamentary Secretary : So far as I know it is not levied.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Am I to understand that there is no tax whatsoever levied on goats and sheep owned by agriculturists ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already answered that question.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Is the Parliamentary Secretary aware that this policy of Government has resulted in the decrease in the cattle wealth of the district ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The policy of not levying tirni tax on zamindars ?

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Tirni tax on those people who belong to other tribes and gaddis.

Minister for Revenue : Probably my honourable friend is confused a little bit in this matter. The general policy underlying this question is that the number of sheep and goats should not increase to a large extent so as to destroy vegetation, which is the absolute necessity of the place to safeguard the land being eroded. My honourable friend and this House probably know what has happened in the Hoshiarpur district and the same thing might happen in any other district if we allow a very large number of goats and sheep to go about and eat away all the vegetation.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know whether in assessing this tax any discrimination is made between those cattle which are owned by private individuals and graze on their own holdings and cattle which graze on public land ?

Minister : The question as to how this tirni is to be levied is left to the local officers who are aware of the situation in their districts.

RECLAMATION OF LAND LAID WASTE BY CHOS IN HOSHIARPUR DISTRICT.

5044. Shrimati Raghbir Kaur : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether Government is aware of the fact that the seasonal rivulets called chos in the district of Hoshiarpur have laid waste 85,000 acres of land thus affecting adversely the well-being of that district ; if so, the steps which Government has taken or intend taking to reclaim this land ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : Since the report of the Erosion Committee in 1932 Government has been devoting most anxious attention to this problem. Mr. Hamilton was appointed in 1984 to grapple with it. His programme consisted of re-afforestation, reclamation of eroded areas, protection and propaganda. A copy of Government's declared policy in this respect is laid on the table. Experimental nurseries for shisham were started and experiments are progressing in the growing of lathar grass which is a valuable product useful in paper mills. A special co-operative staff has been appointed to encourage societies for the protection of land and 149 villages have voluntarily applied for protection under the Chos and Forest Acts. In the budget for 1989-90 a sum of Rs. 1,00,000 has been provided for anti-erosion measures, a substantial portion of which will be devoted to the Hoshiarpur district.

Sardar Ajit Singh : May I know if the Government have realised the necessity of constructing a canal passing through this district in order to raise the level of wells and thus protect the district from destruction ?

Minister for Revenue : Does it arise out of this question ?

Mr. Speaker : No.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Is the Government contemplating the problem of chos with regard to the Hoshiarpur district only or any other district of the Punjab also ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have stated that a sum of rupees one lakh has been set apart for the purpose and that a major portion of the said amount would be spent in the Hoshiarpur district.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Is the honourable Parliamentary Secretary aware that there are plenty of chos in the Ambala district also and the conditions in that district are similar to those in the Hoshiarpur district ?

Minister : I may inform my honourable friend that any other district which is affected by this trouble would not be overlooked. Ambala district has not been overlooked. We have got special officers appointed in Jhelum, probably in Rawalpindi, in Ambala and other places to assist deputy commissioners in this matter.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : May I know if in the opinion of the Parliamentary Secretary 18,500 acres of land can be protected by means of the newly invented machinery of propaganda ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If my honourable friend is ignorant of the power of propaganda, then heaven knows who is more aware of it.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : May I know if the Parliamentary Secretary is aware of the fact that the zamindar members of the Hoshiarpur District Board placed certain proposals before the previous Government to stop the flow of seasonal rivulets but so far they have not been adopted by the Government ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If my honourable friend means to say that Government are making propaganda so that zamindars may co-operate with them in overcoming this difficulty, then my answer is that they are doing good work.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Is the Parliamentary Secretary aware that in spite of the fact that the present Government has been in office for the last 8 years, their propaganda has been of no avail in rural areas ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is only 2½ years since we entered office ; but the question of my honourable friend is not intelligible to me.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : May I know whether the flow of these rivulets would be stopped in a year if classification of lands is introduced in the Hoshiarpur district ?

Minister : I think an objection will be raised by certain members and certain sections of the community if we take action in the way suggested by my honourable friend.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Is it under the contemplation of the Government that water of shor in all districts in which there are chos may be collected in some jhil or tank so that the area affected by chos may be saved from destruction and water thus collected may be used for irrigation purposes ?

Minister : May I request the honourable member to send his suggestion which will be considered ?

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : That is not a suggestion.

Minister : We are not contemplating anything of this nature because it would involve a huge expenditure of the provincial revenues, but an endeavour is being made to meet the situation which has arisen in several districts successfully and the Irrigation Department is doing its utmost in the matter.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the Government is really doing anything in earnest in this direction or leaving the whole thing to divine will ?

Minister : It is a matter of opinion.

POLICY.

The Punjab Land Preservation (Chos) Act, 1900.

The Government policy is to reclothe the Siwalik Range in the Hoshiarpur district with grass and trees and other vegetable growth in order to stop the rush of water that every year in the monsoon season runs down the chos into the plains and causes both damage to cultivation and floods in the river. Since the Chos Act was applied 30 years ago and goats were turned out of certain portions of the Range, a little improvement has taken place, but little more can be expected until more trees and grass are allowed to grow in the hills. In order to effect this, it is necessary to reduce the amount of cattle grazing to let more grass grow and progressively to close certain areas to grazing altogether, so that trees and shrubs may be sown or planted. Some zamindars voluntarily close parts of their shamilat to grazing and they realise what a benefit this is as they have thereby realised considerable income from the sale of grass. While it is necessary for Government to close certain badly eroded areas altogether to grazing, it is hoped that zamindars will co-operate with Government by closing voluntarily as large an area of their shamilat as possible, and that they will do their best to maintain these closures ; in this way both they and the general public will be benefited. On the other hand, in cases where zamindars do not co-operate with Government in an endeavour to improve their property by closing part of it voluntarily and by refraining from destruction of tree growth by excessive lopping, Government may be compelled, where necessary, to apply closure compulsorily under section 5 of the Chos Act.

2. In those areas in which Government thinks it fit or has thought fit to apply section 5 of the Chos Act, Government will do all that is possible, in reason, to improve the grass growth and encourage the growth of trees ; and this will eventually enrich the land owners.

3. It is strongly recommended that all cattle owners concerned should go in for stall-feeding in preference to grazing their cattle in the Siwaliks ; the cattle will be benefited by this method of feeding and there will be no difficulty about closing the shamilat in the Siwaliks to grazing when zamindars have learnt to stall-feed their cattle.

4. It may also be pointed out that the keeping of goats is highly uneconomical and should be given up as early as possible in the interests of all concerned.

FALLING OF LEVEL OF WATER IN WELLS IN DOABA.

5045. Shrimati Raghbir Kaur : Will the Minister of Revenue be pleased to state what concrete steps the Government proposes to take to check the falling of the level of water in wells in Doaba ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : As a result of the conferences held with officials and non-officials last year (proceedings laid on the table) the following action was immediately taken :—

- (a) A systematic record of rainfall has been instituted.
- (b) The area has been surveyed by the Government of India, Survey Department.
- (c) The survey has just been received and a plan of the canal taking off the Sutlej is being prepared and will be ready shortly.
- (d) In the Siwaliks measures for reafforestation are being energetically pushed forward.

Sardar Bahadur Sardar Gurbachan Singh : May I know if the Sub-Divisional Officer, appointed to investigate into the causes of the fall of water-level, has submitted any report ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The scheme has just now been received.

Minister for Revenue : I am afraid I cannot help the honourable member by giving any more information on the subject than what has already been supplied. The question is not being overlooked. The reports of the Sub-Divisional Officer and of the Government Engineer are being considered first by the Irrigation Branch and then it will come to the Government for final decision.

Sardar Bahadur Sardar Gurbachan Singh : Will that report be made available to the members after Government have considered it ?

Minister : After the report has been seen by me then I can decide that question.

Minutes of a Conference held at Ellerslie, Simla, on Friday, the 27th of May, 1938, to enquire into the causes of the fall in the Water-table of Jullundur and Hoshiarpur districts and to suggest remedies to counteract the fall.

PRESENT :

1. Mr. C. C. GARBETT, C.S.I., C.M.G., C.I.E., F.R.G.S., I.C.S., Financial Commissioner, Development—President.
2. Mr. RAM CHANDRA, C.I.E., M.B.E., I.C.S., Commissioner, Jullundur division.
3. Mr. F. A. FARQUHARSON, M.C., I.S.E., Chief Engineer, Irrigation Works, Southern Administration.
4. Mr. E. O. COX, M.B.E., I.S.E., Chief Engineer, Irrigation Works, Northern Administration.
5. Mr. E. S. CRUMP, C.I.E., Officer on Special Duty, Irrigation Branch.
6. Mr. W. N. McLEOD, I.S.E., Superintending Engineer, Irrigation Branch.
7. Mr. A. P. F. HAMILTON, I.F.S., Divisional Forest Officer.
8. Mr. W. F. G. LE BAILLY, I.C.S., Development Secretary to Financial Commissioners, Punjab.
9. Mr. E. H. LINCOLN, Deputy Commissioner, Jullundur.

10. Mr. W. J. BENSON, I.S.E.—Secretary.

11. Mr. M. T. GIBLING, I.S.E., Secretary, Central Board of Irrigation, very kindly attended and assisted the Conference with his advice.

THE President opened the Conference by explaining the terms of reference. The Punjab Government intend presently to call a Conference of non-officials as well as officials to recommend, if possible, action to be taken to remedy the fall in this water-table.

Before this wider Conference meets it is desirable that the Irrigation, Forest and Revenue experts should be unanimous in their advice.

A meeting had been held in Simla on 14th June, 1937, at which Financial Commissioner, Development and two of the Chief Engineers of the Irrigation Branch had been present. The present conference continued that meeting. In 1937 it had been resolved that a note should be prepared dealing with all aspects of the problem. The note had been printed and sent to all members of this Conference.

2. Recommendations of the meeting of 1937 were then considered.

(a) "Dr. McKenzie Taylor should be consulted on whether enough rainfall data was being collected."

It was reported that no action had been taken in this matter. The Secretary explained that there were only nine rain-gauge stations in Hoshiarpur and Jullundur districts. Messrs. Farquharson and Cox considered that this number was inadequate. The Secretary was instructed to get into touch with the Superintending Engineer, Drainage Circle, Punjab, and the Deputy Commissioners of Jullundur and Hoshiarpur districts and to put up proposals for increasing this number, to have effect during the monsoon, 1938.

(b) "The increase in the number of wells should be ascertained."

An appendix had been added to the printed note which was stated by the Secretary to be the only information available at present. Discussion showed that this appendix was inaccurate.

It was decided that it should be revised; that chahi, ghalari and barani areas should be shown separately; that a map indicating the concentration of wells by tahsils should be prepared and if possible a graph illustrating the information.

A note should be added to indicate the extent to which the additional number of recent wells was due to the programme of consolidation of holdings. A new well did not necessarily mean new water.

(c) "There should be some enquiry to discover how much water was taken out of a well and how much percolated back into the soil: also how much water lost by evaporation and plant transpiration."

Two notes had been received, one from the Director of Agriculture and the other from the Director, Irrigation Research, dealing with this matter. Unfortunately neither note gave the information required.

It was resolved to ask the Board of Economic Enquiry to assist in this highly technical and difficult work.

(d) "The question of constructing bunds across the Beins should be examined by the Irrigation Branch."

Nothing had yet been done in this matter because the Jullundur Drainage Division having been dissolved, there was no staff.

It was resolved to ask for the necessary establishment. Chief Engineer, South, promised to have the details worked out and submitted as soon as possible.

3. The Conference then considered the various physical factors suggested in the note as contributory causes of the fall. It was not disputed that a fall had occurred.

(i) Denudation.

It was admitted that in 1859, there had existed a scrub forest which had now disappeared: that chos, which Mr. Hamilton believed, had in earlier days flowed with clear water now brought down quantities of sand, and no longer reached the natural drainage system of the Beins.

Mr. Hamilton doubted if there had ever been much humus on the hills; or that they had ever acted as a big reservoir. There was a curious phenomenon in that wells immediately at the foot of the Siwaliks were very deep, while the water-table was higher some six miles from them: Nevertheless he agreed that the sand brought down by the chos in modern times acted as a sponge and prevented the inflow of water to that part of the district where the fall was greatest.

The Conference agreed that denudation was one of the contributory causes; the exact severity of which it was impossible to estimate.

(ii) Diminution in Rainfall.

Available data are admittedly scanty : and technical officers are not in exact agreement.

The Conference found on the evidence before them that there appeared to have been some diminution in rainfall : and agreed that any diminution would be a contributory cause.

(iii) Increase in the number of wells.

The revenue statistics showed an increase of approximately 50 per cent. since 1880. The exact importance to be attached to this increase requires further examination.

The Conference agreed that the quantity of water extracted is a more important factor than the actual number of the wells and in gauging this quantity regard must be had both to the area shown as chahi and also to the varieties of crops raised, e.g., sugarcane consumes more water than millet.

It was resolved to ask the local revenue authorities to examine this aspect of the problem more closely.

It was, however, agreed that extraction is outpacing recuperation and in so far as this is the case, the multiplication of wells is a contributory cause.

(iv) The construction of the Sirhind Canal.

The printed note claimed that this canal had no effect on the water-table of the Bist Doab. The Conference unanimously found to the contrary. The engineers, however, advised that the extent to which the canal was responsible for the fall could not be determined without fuller scientific investigation.

The Conference agreed that the construction of the canal must have tended to lower the water-table and was one of the contributory causes.

(v) Geological Formation.

It was agreed that no blame could be attached to the earthquake of 1905. There had, therefore, been no known change in the strata, the exploration of which would be prohibitively expensive.

4. The various contributory causes having been defined, the Conference proceeded to consider possible remedies :—

(i) For denudation.

Afforestation has been proceeding voluntarily and the zemindars are benefiting therefrom. The Conference were inclined to recommend that if villages proved recalcitrant, then Government might well be advised to use its powers under the Chos Act and enforce reafforestation.

(ii) Gully Plugging.

America has found this a valuable remedy and attempts in this Province in Gurgaon and Jhelum are promising. Mr. Hamilton observed that in many parts of the Siwaliks the rock was already bare and gully plugging would be impracticable.

The Conference resolved that 'where gully plugging was practicable, it should be pursued. They considered that if the proposal to form an Anti-Erosion Circle in the Forest Department matures, that circle should have charge of this remedy.

(iii) Watbandi.

It appeared from the general discussion that both officials and non-officials had much to learn regarding what was meant by watbandi, viz., the embankment of fields for the double purpose of avoiding sheet erosion and retaining water that fell on it. The President stated that Government were satisfied that watbandi was important and should continue to be preached and practised.

It was suggested that an earlier proposal to appoint an Irrigation Branch Officer to teach and supervise watbandi be revised.

It was agreed that watbandi was a most important remedial measure for retaining soil and water and that this activity must be pushed forward vigorously and that if the present administrative machinery required any assistance in getting this work done properly that assistance should be given.

(iv) Dams.

The suggestion was that gully plugging where ravines begin should be succeeded lower down by Dams. The engineers explained that the proposed bunds in the Bein were different from this kind of dam.

It was agreed that till survey had been completed no definite advice could be given.

(v) Utilising Chos.

It was observed that originally the chos had reached the Beins and influenced the water-table below them.

Mr. Farquharson stated that in order to draw correct scientific conclusions discharges should be observed and records compiled as soon as possible.

The Conference recommended to Government that the necessary staff be sanctioned forthwith.

(vi) Well Legislation.

As indicated in the note, legislation in similar circumstances had been found necessary in Australia and America. The Australian Acts would shortly be available to the Conference. The Commissioner and Deputy Commissioner, Jullundur, stressed the difficulty of legislation, both theoretically and practically. It was not easy to estimate the original capacity of any one well and the measure would be stoutly resisted.

The Conference agreed that other measures failing it would be necessary to resort to legislation to prevent any increase in the demand on the existing water-table.

(vii) A Cross Canal.

Mr. Farquharson explained first Mr. Nicholson's proposal for bringing a kharif canal from Talwara, parallel to the foot of the Siwaliks down to Rupar, and he mentioned the reasons Mr. Nicholson gave for not recommending this work, the most important being (a) the lining of the first 25 miles of the canal to prevent water-logging the Western Bein tract and (b) the capital cost of paying for all the necessary cross drainages, which would make the cost of the canal prohibitive.

He mentioned that the Honourable Minister for Revenue had in mind another suggestion viz., to bring a seepage canal from the Beas across the Jullundur Doab into the Sutlej near Phillaur in order to raise the subsoil water-table. Mr. Ram Chandra asked if this proposal was feasible. Mr. Farquharson replied that it was of course feasible but at a price, and also that water could only be taken during the months of July, August and a part of September when supplies in the river were surplus to the requirements of the Sutlej Valley Project Canals; otherwise it would interfere with the terms of the Sutlej Valley Project Agreement. Mr. Cox drew a comparison between the Upper Chenab Canal and this scheme. The former had taken 25 years to raise the water-table 25 feet near Sheikhpura and that canal had innumerable branches and water-courses and thereby covered a much greater area of the country. The Honourable Minister's scheme could not produce results to be compared with the Upper Chenab Canal in any thing like the same time. The Irrigation Branch were, therefore, disposed to the opinion that this scheme would be very costly and as a measure for raising the water-table far too slow to be considered seriously.

Mr. Lincoln suggested the possibility of inundation Canals from the Sutlej below Rupar. Mr. Gibling suggested in addition the possibility of inundation canals from the Beas.

Mr. Farquharson suggested that these would have been constructed long ago had the conditions permitted. Nevertheless both proposals should at once be examined.

The Conference noted the advice of the Irrigation Branch that a cross canal as foreshadowed by Mr. Nicholson would probably prove impracticable, but they definitely consider that both this suggestion and also that of inundation canals to feed the wells should be fully examined by the Irrigation Branch.

A preliminary to such examination must be a detailed contoured survey of both districts and they recommend that the cost be worked out and funds provided at the earliest possible date.

Procedure for the Future.

5. The President pointed out that this question of the fall in the water-table of the Bist Doab was apt to come up for examination after unduly long intervals and he thought that a permanent Secretary for the Conference was desirable, whose business it would be to keep the question alive. Mr. Farquharson said that as far as the Irrigation Branch's activities in the matter were concerned, he would be in charge of the enquiry and he suggested that his Under-Secretary would be a suitable officer to act as Secretary. It was agreed that Mr. Farquharson's Under-Secretary should act as permanent Secretary. The President said that he would instruct the Development Secretary to Financial Commissioners to keep in close touch with Mr. Farquharson's Under-Secretary.

6. Mr. Lincoln stressed the anxiety of the public that some thing be done quickly. Agitators were busy attacking Government for its lethargy while the starvation of the agrarian zamindar, for the benefit of the distant desert dweller was an apparent injustice. He hoped to be given pamphlets for wide distribution showing that Government was tackling the difficulty in real earnest.

Minutes of a Conference of certain members of the Legislative Assembly assisted by certain officials held at Ellerslie, Simla East, on Wednesday, the 22nd of June, 1938, to enquire into the causes of the fall in the Water-table of Jullundur and Hoshiarpur districts and to suggest remedies to counteract the fall.

PRESENT :

1. The Honourable Sardar Bahadur Sardar Sir SUNDAR SINGH Majithia, C.I.E. (Minister of Revenue)—President.
 2. Sardar DASAUNDHA SINGH, M.L.A.
 3. Sardar Sahib Sardar GURBACHAN SINGH, M.L.A.
 4. Rai HARI CHAND, M.L.A.
 5. Rada NASRULLAH KHAN, M.L.A.
 6. Rai FAIZ MUHAMMAD KHAN, M.L.A.
 7. Mian ABDUL RAB, M.L.A.
 8. Mr. C. C. GABBETT, C.S.I., C.M.G., C.I.E., F.R.G.S., I.C.S., Financial Commissioner, Development.
 9. Mr. RAM CHANDRA, C.I.E., M.B.E., I.C.S., Commissioner, Jullundur Division.
 10. Mr. F. A. FARQUHARSON, M.C., I.S.E., Chief Engineer, Irrigation Branch (Southern Administration).
 11. Mr. W. N. McLEOD, I.S.E., Superintending Engineer, Drainage Circle (Irrigation Branch).
 12. Mr. W. F. G. LE BAILLY, I.C.S., Development Secretary to Financial Commissioners, Punjab.
 13. Sheikh MUHAMMAD ABDUL HAMID, I.S.E., Under-Secretary (South Irrigation Branch)—Secretary.
1. The Honourable Minister for Revenue opened the Conference by explaining the anxiety of Government to meet the difficult situation which had arisen. Administrative and technical experts had reviewed the situation and their recommendations were embodied in the minutes of the meeting of May 27th, which were before them.
2. The Conference proceeded to consider these minutes in detail.
- They accepted as correct the conclusion of the official conference that contributory causes of the fall in the level of the water table were :—
- (i) Denudation,
 - (ii) Diminution in Rainfall.
 - (iii) Increase in the number of wells, and
 - (iv) The construction of the Sirhind Canal.
- No other contributory cause was suggested.
3. The possible remedies were then discussed.

(i) To meet Denudation.

The Conference agreed that some action under the Chos Act will be necessary and that is possible rotational closures of areas should be introduced. If it is then found that zamindars are completely deprived of their livelihood, an effort should be made to find lands for them elsewhere.

(ii) Gully Plugging.

The Conference unanimously approved this remedy.

(iii) Watbandi.

It was agreed that Field Watbandi as now carried out by the zamindars was a very essential remedy. It was further agreed that the Canal Sub-Divisional Officer appointed to that area should report on the necessity of watbandi in shamilat areas where it was not at present being carried out. Such watbandi was a form of "Gully Plugging" necessary to prevent sheet erosion and the formation of ravines and to hold up rain water to sink into the sub-soil.

(iv) Dams.

Not only was the conclusion of the officials endorsed but it was further resolved that special attention should be given to this remedial measure.

(v) Utilising Chos.

The Conference agreed to this recommendation, and added that special effort should be made to promote the growth of sarkanda, shisham, etc., in these areas.

(vi) Tube-wells.

It was agreed that the Conference should recommend to Government to sink 4 or 5 tube-wells as an experiment and that the sinking of private tube-wells should not be encouraged until the results of these experiments are known.

It was reported that there are certain Government tube-wells in the Agricultural Experimental Farm in Jullundur and it was agreed that Government wells and private wells should be treated identically.

(vii) Contoured Survey.

It was agreed that a contoured survey of the whole area, including Kapurthala, should be prepared as soon as possible, so that the proposal for a seepage canal might be investigated.

4. Collection of data regarding wells.—It was resolved that revenue statistics regarding wells in the two districts from 1914 onwards be collected and collated; in particular the number of wells then in use, subsequently fallen out of use, and new wells sunk; whether by tubes or otherwise.

5. Propaganda work.—Sardar Sahib Sardar Gurbachan Singh suggested that a Committee be formed of the officials and non-officials to make further investigations and to explain to the people what Government intended to do. In discussion it was observed that the formation of such a Committee would tend to obstruct progress in the field.

It was agreed that pamphlets should be prepared as soon as possible, that all officials including patwaris and school masters should be instructed in what Government is doing and proposes to do, and that all the officers who tour should make a point of explaining this to the people. M. L. As. present would also, each in their constituency, give as much publicity as possible to the action being taken by Government.

The Honourable Minister for Revenue promised himself to tour as far as may be possible for him.

6. The Conference concluded with a vote of thanks to the chair moved by Sardar Sahbi Sardar Gurbachan Singh.

CONSTRUCTION OF BRIDGE OVER LOWER SOHAG CANAL.

5101. Mahant Girdhari Das : With reference to the answer to my starred question No. 4288¹ asked on 28th March, 1939, will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state what report has been received from the local officers with regard to the construction of a bridge over Lower Sohag Canal between R. D. 85 and R. D. 127 and whether on the receipt of that report Government has decided to construct that bridge; if so, when the construction of that bridge may be expected to be completed?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : The Chief Engineer has approved of the bridge to be constructed at R. D. 102,000 of Lower Sohag Branch, for the road between Wasawewala Railway Station and village Bhuman Shah and the work will be taken in hand as soon as funds permit.

EXTENSION OF MANAWAN BRANCH OF ILAHEE WAH.

5108. Captain Sodhi Harnam Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state whether the zamindars of Thathur Kalan and Thathur Khurd, Bhangali Kalan, Bhangali Khurd, Sulhani, Wara Johar Singhwala, Ghall Khurd, Arazi Kotoria, etc., have recently applied to the Deputy Commissioner, Ferozepore, and Superintendent, Grey Canals, to be given irrigation by extending Manawan branch of Ilahee Wah, if so, what action has been taken on the application?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : First part.—No.

Second part.—Does not arise.

TAHSILDARS.

5111. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of tahsildars working or officiating at present in the Ambala division ;
- (b) the number of tahsildars appointed from amongst direct tahsildar candidates and from amongst naib-tahsildars separately and their percentages ;
- (c) whether the number appointed from amongst the naib-tahsildars is much in excess of that provided by the rules in the Ambala division ;
- (d) if the reply to (c) is in the affirmative, the reasons therefor ;
- (e) what steps, if any, does the Government propose to take in order to bring the proportion in accordance with that provided by the rules ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) 28.

(b) (i) Tahsildars appointed from amongst tahsildar candidates. 8=28.57%

(ii) Tahsildars appointed from amongst naib-tahsildars. 20=71.42%

(c) Yes.

(d) A sufficient number of qualified tahsildar candidates was not available.

(e) Government await the recommendations of the Public Service Commission to whom the case of direct tahsildar candidates has recently been sent.

CHANGE OF HEADQUARTERS OF SUB-DIVISIONAL OFFICER, PARA SUB-DIVISION FROM KALEWAL TO PAKPATTAN.

5187. Mahant Girdhari Das : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that an application has been sent by the public for change of the headquarters of Sub-Divisional Officer, Para Sub-division (Depalpore Canal) from Kalewal to Pakpattan, if so, the action taken or proposed to be taken on it ;
- (b) whether it is a fact that a bungalow was built for the residential quarters of the Sub-Divisional Officer, Para, in Canal Colony Pakpattan and that bungalow is still lying vacant ;

[Mahant Girdhari Das.]

- (c) whether it is a fact that there is a proposal for the dismantling of the bungalow mentioned in part (a) and instead of that new residential quarters for the Sub-Divisional Officer, Para, and his staff are to be constructed at Kalewal, if so, the estimated cost of the same?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) Yes. The Chief Engineer is investigating the matter at site.

(b) A bungalow was not built at Pakpattan for the Sub-Divisional Officer, Para Sub-Division, but there is a vacant Sub-Divisional Officer's bungalow in the Canal Colony.

(c) No.

CONSOLIDATION OF HOLDINGS.

5188. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the period for which the consolidation of holdings operation^s have been going on in the Punjab ;
- (b) the amount or proportion of agricultural land consolidated under the above scheme ;
- (c) the period within which the scheme is likely to materialise in its entirety ;
- (d) the difficulties experienced in carrying out the above scheme ;
- (e) whether it is a fact that there have been many complaints of unjust and unfair distribution ; if so, what measure the Government proposes to take in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) 19 years.

(b) 964,403 acres.

(c) No limit can be foreseen.

(d) (i) Ignorance of those who do not understand the benefits of the scheme.

(ii) Disinclination of certain conservative zamindars to try anything new.

(iii) Paucity of efficient personnel.

(e) There have been applications sometimes by those who wanted more than their fair share : sometimes justly. Such are investigated and decided according to the merits of the individual case.

Although the consolidation staff here and there may naturally not be free from human failings, the work has, as a whole, been carried out with conspicuous fairness and honesty and the number of complaints gives no cause for anxiety.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if there exists any official machinery supposed to undo the wrongs done by reason of unfair and unjust distribution of land ?

Minister for Revenue : Complaints can be made to the local officers.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know what is that machinery ? Is it not a fact that this question is left to those very people who are guilty of unfair and unjust distribution ?

Minister : He can go to the Deputy Commissioner.

FAILURE OF CROPS IN VILLAGE CHANDA KHERI, DISTRICT AMBALA.

5195. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether he is aware of the fact that after the virtual failure of the kharif, 1938, the rabi crop of 1939 has also failed in the village Chanda Kheri, tehsil Jagadhri, district Ambala ;
- (b) the minimum and maximum outturn of wheat per bigha in the said village ;
- (c) whether in view of the above conditions the Government is prepared to grant any relief ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) No. The honourable member is misinformed.

(b) This information is not available.

(c) No.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the Parliamentary Secretary will do me the courtesy of accepting the fact from me that the information given in the question—

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

DAMAGE TO WHEAT CROP IN MONTGOMERY DISTRICT.

5214. Tikka Jagjit Singh Bedi : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether he is aware of the fact that last wheat crop in Montgomery district, particularly in Dipalpur tahsil, had been badly damaged on account of Kungi ;
- (b) whether it is also a fact that the local officials recommended partial remission of land revenue for that crop ;
- (c) whether any remission has been given to Montgomery district in general and to tahsil Dipalpur in particular ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) Yes.

(b) and (c) The question of granting relief is under consideration.

Tikka Jagjit Singh Bedi : May I know how long will it take ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It will not take very long.

Tikka Jagjit Singh Bedi : What does the Parliamentary Secretary mean by 'very long'? How long ?

Minister for Revenue : Steps will be taken as early as possible.

DAMAGE TO COTTON CROP IN MONTGOMERY DISTRICT.

5216. Tikka Jagjit Singh Bedi : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) whether he is aware of the fact that on account of scarcity of rain in Montgomery district the cotton crop has been considerably damaged by tela this year ;

(b) if the answer to (a) above be in the affirmative, what relief the Government proposes to grant to zamindars of the aforesaid district ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) I would not say "considerably"—some damage.

(b) Government awaits the result of girdawari.

Sardar Ajit Singh : Is Government aware of the fact that in the Montgomery district the first flowering of kapas No. 239 has been destroyed on account of tela ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already submitted that Government is awaiting the girdawari report and until then full details cannot be known.

RESTITUTION OF MORTGAGED LANDS.

5229. Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) the number of applications submitted to the revenue officers of the various districts of the province by the agriculturists concerned for restitution of their mortgaged lands, since the Restitution of Mortgaged Lands Act came into force ;

(b) the number of such applications so far decided ;

(c) the number of such mortgages so far redeemed and the area of land comprised therein in respect of each district of the province ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : A statement is laid on the table.

PANEL OF CHAIRMEN.

Mr. Speaker : For the current session I nominate the following panel of chairmen :—

1 P.M.

Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali.

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh.

Munshi Hari Lal.

Rao Pohop Singh.

ADJOURNMENT MOTION.

ARREST OF ACHARYA NARENDRA DEV.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) : I beg to move that the House do now adjourn to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the prohibition of the entry of Acharya Narendra Dev, one of the foremost Congress leaders of India, into the province of the Punjab under the orders of the Government and his consequent arrest on or about 1st July 1939 at Rohtak when he was being taken in a procession in connection with a political conference to be held there.

Premier : No objection, except perhaps that the latter part of the motion is out of order.

Mr. Speaker : As there is no objection, the member is granted leave to move his adjournment motion. The question is at what time it may be taken up.

After an informal discussion the Assembly unanimously agreed that under the provisions of Rule 45 the motion be taken up for debate at 3-50 p.m.

Mr. Speaker : From 1 P.M. to 3-50 P.M. the House will deal with Bills. Half of this time shall be devoted to Bills for introduction ; while the remaining half will be given to Bills which have already passed the introduction stage.

PREVENTION OF EXTRAVAGANT DOWRIES BILL.

Munshi Hari Lal (South-Western Towns, General, Urban) : I rise to move—

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Prevention of Extravagant Dowries Bill.

Minister for Development (The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram) : No objection.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Prevention of Extravagant Dowries Bill.

The motion was carried.

Munshi Hari Lal : I introduce the Punjab Prevention of Extravagant Dowries Bill.

ANTI-DOWRY BILL.

Rai Bahadur Lala Gopal Das (Kangra North, General, Rural) : I beg to move that—

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Anti-Dowry Bill.

Minister for Development : (The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram) : No objection.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Anti-Dowry Bill.

The motion was carried.

Rai Bahadur Lala Gopal Das : I introduce the Punjab Anti-Dowry Bill.

THE SIKH GURDWARAS (AMENDMENT) BILL.

Sardar Sampuran Singh (Lyallpur West, Sikh, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

That leave be granted to introduce the Sikh Gurdwaras (Amendment) Bill.

Mr. Speaker : Motion moved—

That leave be granted to introduce the Sikh Gurdwaras (Amendment) Bill.

Minister for Education (The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye) : I object to leave being given.

Sardar Samupran Singh : According to section 106 of the Sikh Gurdwaras Act, 1925, the Gurdwara Committee cannot use their surplus funds unless they secure a majority of two-thirds of the total number of members of that particular committee—Ordinarily the number of members present at the meetings does not come up to two-thirds. The use of these funds is only for purposes already allowed by the Act, i.e., for religious, educational or charitable purposes, and my object, in moving this amendment is that this restriction which is on the Gurdwara Committee may be removed so that funds instead of being allowed to accumulate or being unnecessarily consumed under sub-clause (1), which are not so beneficial, the Committee may be able to utilise them for better purposes, for charitable and educational purposes. It is mainly with this idea that the funds may be directed in the right lines, that I have brought forward this amendment.

To elucidate this point, I would like to read portions of section 106 and section 108. Section 106 (1) requires that the funds—

“Shall be used, in the first instance, for the maintenance of religious worship and the performance and conduct of religious and charitable duties, ceremonies and observances connected therewith.”

Then part (2) of the same section requires that—

“When after providing for the purposes specified in sub-section (1) there remains or appears likely to remain any surplus sum or any income not required for any such purposes, the committee may, by resolution passed by not less than two-thirds of its members, propose to allocate a part or the whole of such surplus sum or income to a particular religious, educational or charitable purpose and may, if the Board in writing sanctions such proposal, act in accordance therewith.”

My object is that instead of compelling these local committees to spend all their funds on the purposes given in sub-clause (1) of section 106, they may be able to utilise the funds for the purposes mentioned in sub-clause (2).

Besides, as I have mentioned in the statement of objects and reasons —

“Whereas difficulties have arisen in the practical working of the Sikh Gurdwaras Act particularly in respect of section 106 (2) of the said Act and whereas the sum provided in section 108 (3) of the Act for religious, charitable and educational purposes is too meagre for the fulfilment of the main object of the establishment of Sikh Gurdwaras, namely, religious prebend, etc., it is necessary that a sum of Rs. 50,000 at least be provided for religious purposes.”

You know it perhaps that a great missionary work under the Shiromani Gurdwara Committee is going on in various parts of the Punjab and outside and under section 106 (1), that money cannot be spent except on the spot where those Gurdwaras are actually situated, and in order to make those funds available for better purposes and outside those particular towns, it is absolutely necessary that this Bill for amendment of the Act should be passed.

Minister for Education (The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye) : After hearing my honourable friend, Sardar Sampuran Singh, the sponsor of this Bill, I feel that no case is made out for leave being granted. The honourable member has referred to sections 106 and 108 of the Sikh Gurdwaras Act, and the only complaint that he has made this morning is that usually the members do not attend these meetings. I thought to day he would rise in his seat and point out the defect in the law. I thought he would tell us what lacuna there was. But his only complaint is that in spite of what one hears about their high sense of duty, the members of the Gurdwara

Committees and of the board are so negligent that they do not care to attend them. That being so, I submit that these safeguards are all the more necessary. I may point out, Sir, that both in section 106 and in section 108 there is provision for normal functions of the committees and the board and for extraordinary functions. So far as the normal functions of the board and the committee are concerned, both the sections provide that a decision can be taken by the majority of votes. But if after performing those normal functions there is a surplus and that surplus is to be utilised for other purposes there must be a safeguard and there must be a restriction and the mere majority of the persons should not be allowed to dispose of the surplus at their sweet will. He also stated that according to the present law it is necessary that the money should be spent in that very station or locality where the Gurdwara committee or the board is situated and he wants freedom to spend it anywhere. That reminds me of Bombay where the Prabhandhak Committee decided to establish a Sikh National College, and I understand they voted funds against the provisions of the Act, and thus exceeded the powers given to them by the Act, and if my information is correct—I am speaking subject to correction—this blessed national college established in Bombay by the enthusiastic members of the Prabandhak Committee has at least one Sikh student on the rolls. (Interruption.) I may be wrong. There may be two. There may be half a dozen. But they are not more than half a dozen. Then, Sir, as I have already stated, so far as normal duties are concerned, there is no handicap. So far as extraordinary purposes are concerned, it is absolutely essential that there should be these safeguards and these limitations. My honourable friend seeks to amend section 106 (2) so that if two-thirds of the members present vote for a certain course that decision would be valid in law. That means that if out of a committee of say 30 or 40 members where the requisite quorum is say 9 if six members choose to take a certain decision, they will have an absolutely free hand in the matter. I am very reluctant, very chary of saying any unkind word about any individual or any organisation, but I would be failing in my duty if I do not here on the floor of this House state that the manner in which the funds of the gurdwara committees and the board have been administered in the past has failed to inspire confidence in the minds of the people and of the Government. Complaints of criminal breach of trust—

Sardar Sampuran Singh : Let him not bring those charges here. He can go to law courts.

Minister of Education : I say it with the fullest responsibility. These complaints have been made in the past and these complaints are multiplying. (Interruptions.) They are increasing day by day. Cases have been taken to courts and decrees have been passed against certain recalcitrant members. There is another snag in this Bill. I should say that this Bill of Sardar Sampuran Singh has got a sting and the sting is in the tail of the Bill. After seeking to make these amendments, namely, that the decision can be taken by the majority of the members present, he wants them to spend to any extent, up to Rs. 50,000. He knows perfectly well that in the past members of these committees and the board have exceeded their powers and gone beyond Rs. 3,000 and they adopted resolutions which did not conform to the provisions of the statute. He now seeks by virtue of the last clause to give this measure a retrospective effect. For this reason also I shall not be a party to this measure. (Hear, hear and laughter.) The honourable member is an experienced lawyer. He knows that there is such a thing as abetment. Some persons have in the past committed criminal misappropriation and serious irregularities. If his object is to screen them from the Punjab Government then this House shall refuse to lend their support. May I remind my honourable friend that abetment does not necessarily mean assistance given at the time of the commission of the offence? You can also abet an offence by becoming an accessory after the fact.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That leave be granted to introduce the Sikh Gurdwaras (Amendment) Bill.

REMOVAL OF CIVIL DISABILITIES AMONG HARIJANS BILL.

Chaudhri Jugal Kishore (Ambala and Simla, General Reserved Seat, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move —

That leave be granted to introduce the Removal of Civil Disabilities among Harijans Bill.

The motion was carried.

Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : I introduce the Removal of Civil Disabilities among Harijans Bill.

MUSLIM PERSONAL LAW (SHARIAT) APPLICATION BILL.

Mr. K. L. Gauba (Inner Lahore, Muhammadan, Urban): Sir, I beg to move—

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) Application Bill.

Mr. Speaker : Motion moved—

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) Application Bill.

Premier : I have no objection on the merits of the Bill. I may however suggest —

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : On a point of order. The Honourable Premier should simply say whether he objects or not.

Premier : It will save time if my honourable friend would allow me to say a few words.

Mr. Speaker : But no speech can be allowed at this stage.

Premier : Sir, I object.

Mr. K. L. Gauba : Mr. Speaker, I am surprised that my honourable friend, the Premier, has stood up to oppose this Bill. I thought that he would be the very last person to oppose a Bill of this nature. The Bill, Mr. Speaker, is a very simple one. The Central Legislative Assembly in the year 1937 passed the Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) Application Act. In that Act, it is laid down that in all matters, with the exception of certain matters provided therein, Muslim Law was to apply to all Muslims throughout India. The present Bill, as I have said, is a very simple one and it proposes to bring into operation in this province those matters which were excluded in the measure passed by the Central Assembly. The fact of the matter is that in certain provinces, such as Bengal, Assam, Burma and North-West Frontier Province, the Shariat or Personal Law applies to all Muslims ; but in certain other provinces the Shariat applies partly in the case of certain tribes and does not apply in the case of other tribes. And our province comes in the latter category. I am not the real author of this Bill. The real author of this Bill is the Honourable Minister for Education, whom I do not see in his seat. He introduced in the Central Assembly many years ago when he was a member of that Assembly, a Bill for the application of the Shariat to Muslims. When he ceased to be a member of that legislature the Bill was dropped. Again this question was raised by Hafiz Maulvi Mohammad Abdulla in the Central Assembly, and after a passage covering two years it was eventually enacted into law in the year 1937. By clause 2 of that Bill, any custom or usage to the contrary notwithstanding, in all questions (save questions relating to agricultural land) regarding intestate succession, special property of females, including personal property inherited or obtained under contract or gift or any other provision of personal law... the rule of decision in cases where the parties are Muslims shall be the Muslim Personal Law (Shariat).

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member should not go into the details at this stage.

Mr. K. L. Gauba : I am only explaining this for the information of the Honourable the Premier. I am surprised that he is opposed to this motion. The Bill of the Central Assembly excluded certain subjects. The object of the Bill that I crave leave to introduce is simple ; the subjects which were excluded by the Central Assembly Bill are to be no longer excluded so far as this province is concerned. The main item that was excluded in the Act passed by the Central Assembly was succession to agricultural land. Now, I admit, Sir, that if my Bill is accepted by the Assembly, it will have very far-reaching consequences. I do not think that the Muslim members of this Assembly should really oppose this Bill, because it brings back into operation in this province the Shariat, which is the law of the Muslims as laid down in the Holy Quran. (An honourable member : Question.)

There is a similar Bill later on in the agenda in the name of the honourable member, Begum Rashida Latif. She asked me to introduce this Bill and the fate of the ballot has resulted in that my Bill has found a more fortunate position than hers. The whole credit of this Bill, I must say, really goes to her. My honourable sister has raised this question in the interests of the Muslim women of this province. Here in our province, wives, sisters and daughters are excluded from inheritance by the Customary Law. (Interruption.)

With these remarks, Sir, I ask for leave to introduce the Bill.

Premier (The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan) : Sir, I wish to make it quite clear why I interrupted my honourable friend opposite. I do not wish to oppose the principle of this Bill. The main reason for which I want to oppose the motion of the honourable member is this that notice of this Bill was given by Begum Rashida Latif during the last session. I think courtesy demanded that he should have allowed Begum Rashida Latif to move this Bill and not to take the credit for moving this Bill to himself. I suggest to my honourable friend that he should allow Begum Rashida Latif to introduce it.

So far as the merit of the Bill is concerned, there may be difference of opinion, on some details, but we are not going to oppose the principle of this Bill. We will try to see if it could be suitably modified. My honourable friend is aware that under the provisions of the Bill passed by the Central Assembly every Muslim in this province or in any other province in India is entitled to declare that he will be governed by the Muslim Law (Shariat) and the courts are bound to give effect to that declaration and his successors and heirs will be bound to abide by that declaration which he has made. May I ask how many Muslims concerned have taken advantage of it ? Has the honourable member got statistics ? We are trying to collect statistics to find out whether people are taking advantage of that Bill. Thereafter it may be necessary to pass further measures. At the same time I do not want to conceal the fact and my honourable friend is perfectly aware that there is a very strong objection from certain quarters, from Muslims themselves. They may be wrong. I do not say they are right ; I think from the Shariat point of view they are wrong. I am certain that the honourable member is aware that there is a strong opinion amongst an important section of the Muslims in this province that some device should be provided in the Bill so that it may not allow the Land Alienation Act to be torpedoed. There was a similar Bill moved in the last Council of which my honourable friend was perhaps not a member. We constituted an informal committee of Muslim members—lawyers—from that Council to study the matter. I was co-opted a member and we went through the whole question of the Shariat Bill keeping in view the strong opposition from those classes who did not want, in any way, the Land Alienation Act to be affected. We had the benefit of the views of religious people and Ulemas. Most prominent Ulemas were invited and we had long discussions with them. They gave us a clear verdict that it was not against Shariat to protect the land of a particular class or section or community. They said that the Land Alienation Act was perfectly within Shariat and it could be reconciled with this Bill, and that every opportunity should be given to do so. Moreover, it will not do any harm to the Shariat Bill as such and would not be against the Muslim law at all. We, therefore, decided that a Bill should be so drafted as to safeguard the interests of those who opposed it on the ground that it would affect the Land Alienation Act but would not in any way hamper the inheritance by daughters or sisters, which is the main purpose of this Bill. Now, that being the position, my honourable friend may rest assured that I am in fullest sympathy so far as the main object of the Bill is concerned, but, at the same time, I have to keep in view that very large volume of opinion in the province which wants the Land Alienation Act to be safeguarded in the form in which this Shariat Law becomes an Act. I am not opposed to the Bill but I would again appeal to my honourable friend that since the Government had decided not to oppose the introduction of the Bill he would be chivalrous enough not to press his motion and leave it to the honourable lady member to move her Bill. As a matter of fact, it was at her suggestion, that this Bill was drafted so that she could be given some amount of credit for introducing this Bill.

Mr. K. L. Gauba : May I say a word ?

Mr. Speaker : No. Does the honourable member wish to withdraw ?

Mr. K. L. Gauba : I might be allowed to make a personal explanation.

Mr. Speaker : But no personal explanation is needed. Has anything been said about the honourable member ?

Mr. K. L. Gauba : Yes, Sir. I resent the remarks of the Honourable Premier in which he said that it was lack of chivalry which prompted me to move this Bill. The fact of the matter is that the usual tactics adopted by my learned friend opposite and the members of his Government are that on non-official days, if they do not want a Bill to be actually introduced or adopted in this House, they raise all sorts of frivolous objections. (Voices from Treasury benches : No, no.) I am perfectly entitled to give the reasons why I also submitted a Bill in identical terms. It was submitted, because it was thought that it might happen that Baji Sahiba's Bill might not be reached. As a matter of fact Baji Sahiba and myself discussed this question two or three days ago and again to-day and she told me to move this Bill because it is quite possible that the Government might raise objections. (Premier : Question.) (Interruptions.) The point is that that Bill might not be reached. (Hear, hear.) I have absolutely no desire to steal the credit that belongs to Baji Sahiba and if my learned friend opposite is not going to raise frivolous objections so far as the other Bills are concerned and Baji Sahiba's Bill is going to be reached to-day, then I will certainly withdraw the request that I made for the introduction of this Bill.

Mr. Speaker : Then may I take it that the honourable member is withdrawing his motion ? (Voices from Opposition benches : A conditional withdrawal.) Conditional withdrawal is no withdrawal at all.

Mr. K. L. Gauba : I would withdraw if there is not going to be opposition so far as the other Bills are concerned and Baji Sahiba's Bill is going to be reached to-day. (Voices : No, no.) Then I do not withdraw.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) Application Bill.

Premier : I may point out that I am prepared to give special time to Begum Rashida Latif Baji to introduce her Bill.

The Assembly divided : Ayes 46, Noes 67.

AYES.

The question is—

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Harijan Removal of Disabilities Bill.

The motion was carried.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Sir, I beg to introduce the Punjab Harijan Removal of Disabilities Bill.

PRINTING PRESSES CONTROL BILL.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh (Amritsar North, Sikh, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Printing Presses Control Bill.

Mr. Speaker : Motion moved—

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Printing Presses Control Bill.

Minister for Development (The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram) : I object to leave being granted.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh (Punjabi) : Sir, I was under the impression that the Bill moved by me would not meet with any opposition at the hands of the Government. It is quite inconceivable to me that a Minister who had the courage to bring forward a measure like the Trade Employees Bill should blankly object to leave being granted for the introduction of this Bill. It is possible that the drafting of this Bill might be defective, but these flaws could easily be removed during the select committee stage.

It is a matter of common knowledge that in the province of the Punjab whenever the number of workers in a printing press exceeds 20, the employer at once takes steps to dismiss the extra workers in order to evade the provisions of the Factories Act. In fact, there exists no requisite machinery for governing the relations between the workers and the employers for the employment or dismissal of the former. Hence it is of vital importance that we should have a measure like the Bill in question on the Statute Book in order to exercise control over the employers of the printing presses.

It goes without saying that the printing presses constitute an important industry of the province. It is this industry which caters food for our brains. The honourable members can fully realise the hard labour which the workers are required to put in while printing our newspapers, journals and books. I would not be exaggerating the fact if I say that the workers employed in the printing presses of the Punjab are put to great hardships for want of proper legislation. Whenever any voice is raised against the tyranny of the owners of the printing presses, it proves a voice in the wilderness. The protests of the workers prove ineffective before the powerful vested interests of the employers. Now that a Bill has been brought forward to help the workers employed in the printing presses, the Honourable Minister has opposed it straightaway as if he is out to make a common cause with the employers.

Now let us see what hardship the workers have to experience in the printing presses of the Punjab. There is no proper legislation to regulate or check the highbandedness of the employers who are absolutely free to exploit the poor workers to their hearts' content. They can turn out workers at a moment's notice from their printing presses even though they may have 5 years' service to their credit. No regard is paid to the length of their service. There is no law except the will of the employer. The time has come when we should afford protection to the poor workers in the printing presses against this ruthless exploitation. That is one of the reasons that have prompted me to bring forward this Bill. There is yet another reason and it is this. There is no uniformity in the hours of working in the different printing presses. Some of them employ their workers for 10 hours and even for 12 hours a day. That is nothing short of brutality.

Another evil that is rampant in the printing presses is that the rate of wages is not fixed at all, and whatever wages the employers choose to pay are not paid in time. Sometimes the workers are not paid for two or three successive months with the result that the starving workers have to knock at the door of the money-lender, who charges exorbitant rates of interest. The money-lenders from Kabul are more cruel than the local sahukars. The poor workers in the printing presses fall an easy prey to these money-lenders. I hope this House is well aware of the fact that the Honourable Minister for Development has no love for banias and sahukars. But now that I have sought to deliver the poor workers from the clutches of the money-lenders, he has adopted a hostile attitude towards this beneficial measure. Why does he not stand up and support me? Why does he not move at all?

I may also point out that there is no law to govern holidays in the printing presses. The workers are made to work even on Sundays. Again, they are not paid for overtime. There ought to be control over all these hardships of the workers in the printing presses. Steps should also be taken to provide for old age gratuity or provident fund because at present the poor workers in the printing presses are denied all these facilities. Even when they fall ill or any of them has his hand cut off due to some unfortunate accident in the printing press, no compensation whatever is paid. What aggravates the position still further is the fact that the Workmen's Compensation Act does not apply to the printing presses.

[S. Sohan Singh Josh.]

In view of the reasons mentioned above, there is a dire necessity of proper legislation for the printing presses, and in order to meet this need I have brought forward this Bill. I fervently hope that the House will allow me to introduce this measure.

Minister for Development (The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram) (Urdu) : Sir, I may be permitted to assure my honourable friend, Sardar Sohan Singh Josh, that although it gives me no pleasure to oppose the introduction of his Bill yet I must. The argument, that since I have myself already moved in this House a Bill calculated to benefit a class of poor workers it would not behove me to oppose a Bill with a similar object, does not hold good. On the other hand I contend that the facts on the basis of which my honourable friend, Sardar Sohan Singh Josh, seeks to introduce his Bill compel me to oppose it. To begin with, his argument was that printing presses constituted a very important industry which was ultimately responsible for providing us both intellectual food and recreation, and therefore the workers in that industry should be afforded protection by this House. I may point out that if he regards it his duty to protect the poor workers in this important industry, the same duty throws great burden on the shoulders of one who, though without any particular love for capitalism, would not yet destroy any of its useful products. His own argument that this industry is very important leads me to oppose his Bill, because I for one would not like to take any hasty step which would ruin this important industry. There are very few printing presses in the Punjab which can bear the additional expenses that they will have to incur if this Bill is passed. With the exception of three or four printing presses, all others, I am afraid, will have to close their business, because their financial position is too weak to meet any additional charges. This Bill is thus calculated to do very serious harm to the important industry of printing presses in the Punjab. That is why I oppose it at this very stage. It would not be a wise policy to allow it to be introduced now and to oppose it later when the consideration stage arrives and when it is sought finally to pass it into law. There is a Persian saying—

I should prefer to act according to it.

There is yet another reason which prompts me to oppose this Bill and it is this. The Bill in question seeks to add not only to the burdens of the employers in the printing presses but will also add to the financial liabilities of the Government. Under it we shall have to apply the Workmen's Compensation Act and the Payment of Wages Act to the printing presses. It will become our duty in that case to supervise the working of three more Acts and an additional staff will certainly be required for that purpose. Again, magistrates will be required to try cases under these laws. All this will add to the expenditure of the Government which at the present moment cannot afford to pay even a single additional pice. My honourable colleague, Mr. Manohar Lal, is sitting quite close to me. He constantly warns us not to do anything which may be calculated to add even a farthing to the liabilities of the provincial exchequer.

I am constrained, in view of these facts, to oppose this Bill, at this very stage so that the precious time of the House as well as that of the honourable mover of the Bill should be saved and the owners of printing presses should not be called upon to meet any additional expenditure.

I, therefore, oppose leave being given to the introduction of this Bill.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Printing Presses Control Bill.

RESTITUTION OF MORTGAGED LANDS (AMENDMENT) BILL.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt (North-Eastern Towns, General, Urban): I beg to move—

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Restitution of Mortgaged Lands (Amendment) Bill.

Mr. Speaker : Motion moved—

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Restitution of Mortgaged Lands (Amendment) Bill.

Minister for Revenue (The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia) : I object.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Mr. Speaker, you would recall the historic debate which took place in Simla in July, 1938, when we were discussing the Restitution of Mortgaged Lands Bill. That Bill, as is well known, evoked a very hot controversy in the province and raised issues which were rather unforeseen and I would be well justified if I observe that the Restitution of Mortgaged Lands Bill in the form in which it was enacted created a strong resentment in the province, not only in the urban areas but in the rural areas as well, because that Bill covered only a certain class of people and not all the mortgagees. Relief was claimed to be given to those people who were deserving of relief. But that Restitution of Mortgaged Lands Act did not actually give relief to the deserving cases. It gave relief in a large number of cases to those people who did not deserve relief at all. You would recall, Mr. Speaker, that the original intention of the Government when that Bill was first moved in this House was to cover only those mortgages which affected a particular class of people in the provinces, that is, the non-agriculturists. (An honourable member : No.) Yes. When one of the honourable members of the Opposition gave a hint to the Government that the Bill in that form might be declared ultra vires of the House under certain sections of the Government of India Act, as that was a class measure, it had struck the imagination of the Government that this should not cover merely the non-agriculturists but it should cover a few agriculturists as well and therefore they finally agreed to this thing, that the mortgages up to 8th June, 1901 should be covered and the mortgages effected after 1901 should not be covered by that Bill. At that time also we thought it our duty to bring it to the notice of the House that that Bill in that form was very invidious but it was unfortunate that this Assembly did not pay any heed to our suggestion. Now, Mr. Speaker, that Act has been before the province and it has been discussed threadbare and I expected that sanity and wisdom would dawn on the Government, although I was hoping against hope, and I still hope that the Government would accept this Bill because it seeks to eliminate the inequity which was inherent in the present Act. What was that? That was that those mortgages which were effected before 1901 should not be considered as having about them any particular kind of sanctity and if relief was to be given, it should be given indiscriminately whether they were effected before or after 1901. The plea was put forward by the Government in those days and even afterwards that this was not a class measure, that it did not particularly affect the non-agriculturists, that it did not particularly affect the Hindus. Mr. Speaker, you will recall that the Director of Information Bureau issued a statement to the press containing facts and figures as to how many mortgages were affected and how many Hindu mortgagees and how many Muslim mortgagees and how many Sikh mortgagees were affected by that Act. But one of the most important things was eliminated from that information and I consider it was intentional and deliberate because after that statement was issued a number of statements were issued by the members of the Opposition and also one by the Grand Old Man of the Punjab, Raja Narendra Nath, enquiring from the Government to let us know, not number-wise but acre-wise and wealth-wise or money-wise or value-wise. Facts and figures were given community-wise so far as the number was concerned. But Raja Narendra Nath wanted the Government to issue a statement giving statistics not of persons affected but of the actual land affected community-wise. But the Government kept mum. I cannot imagine that the Government did not have the facts and figures. It is impossible to believe that, because the Government issued instructions to the deputy commissioners and through them to the patwaris to collect these figures and all these figures were before the Government. But the Government preferred or thought it better to manipulate those figures and to throw dust in the eyes of the unsophisticated people of the province. But it did not satisfy those people who were students of agrarian reform. The injustice is there, the inequity is there still and this Bill seeks to remove that inequity, to remove that injustice which was inherent in the Act. Mr. Speaker, during the last couple of months I have gone from pillar to post in the rural areas. I have visited several villages and got myself into touch with the tillers of the soil and also with the class which is called the zamindar class. The term zamindar in this province is used in a very vague sense. The zamindar in the United Provinces is considered to be a wretched man, a capitalist and so on. But here in this province the zamindar is the sufferer, is the victim.

Mr. Speaker : The time for introduction of Bills is over.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : One word more. The next thing that my Bill seeks is that those people who paid land revenue exceeding Rs. 250 should not be covered by that Act. Why should relief be given to those people who do not deserve it? Those people who are carrying on very well, those who have got ample money and who can pay Rs. 250 as land revenue to the Government, why should relief be given to such people? Why should they be allowed to wipe out those debts when they are in a position to pay?

The third thing was that when there was a disparity of income between the mortgagee and the mortgagor and the income of the mortgagor was in excess of the income secured by the mortgagee, then in that case relief should not be given. But the present Act contains such clauses which still perpetrate these inequities. So in order to eliminate all these undesirable features of the present Act which has evoked a strong resentment in the province, I have sought your permission to beg leave of the House to introduce this Bill. I hope that even now sanity will dawn on the Government and they will accept my Bill.

Minister for Revenue (The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia) : My honourable friend, the mover, has said certain things in this Bill of his which were discussed threadbare when the original Act was discussed in the Assembly at Simla. I do not know whether any new things have cropped up since then to make the Government change their views on this matter. The proposals of my friend practically speaking are for limiting the scope of this Act and trying to limit the benefits which this Act provides.

Mr. Speaker : The House will now proceed to deal with Bills already introduced.

TENANCY (AMENDMENT) BILL.

Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan (Rawalpindi Sadar, Muhammadan, Rural) : Sir, I beg to present the report of the select committee on the Punjab Tenancy (Amendment) Bill. I also move—

That the Punjab Tenancy (Amendment) Bill be taken into consideration at once.

Sir, you might remember that when in the last Session I moved that this Bill be referred to a select committee, I made an exhaustive speech. Now as the defects of this Bill have been amended and corrected, I submit again a few words for the convenience and refreshing the memories of the honourable members of this august House.

As you are aware, so far as the succession and inheritance of agricultural property is concerned there are two dominating groups in this province. The first group consists of landlords who are the owners of their land and who have got the proprietary rights and rights of cess charges and all that. The second group consists of hereditary tenants or occupancy tenants. So far as landlords are concerned, the rule of succession and inheritance in their case is embodied in the Customary Law of the Province. Supposing a landlord dies and the question of inheritance arises. In such cases who would be considered his descendants? Naturally his sons would be considered the real heirs of the deceased's property and as their claims are superior to those of others, they would get hold of the lands left to them by their deceased father. This is the custom or system under which landed property goes from one hand to another hand and this system is known as Pagwand system. Under this system, I mean the Pagwand system, descendants in the male line and failing them the females, unmarried daughters as well, are considered to be the real heirs and all proprietary rights are transferred to them and they divide equally among themselves, no matter how many widows may have been left by the deceased landlord. The widows have got nothing to do with the property left by the deceased. But the deceased's land is equally divided amongst the sons. And if a son dies, then the proprietary rights go to his widowed mother. Law of inheritance is there and we see that every possible provision has been laid down for the maintenance of male descendants and every facility is given to them. Under Chundawand system the property is equally divided by the number of wives left by the deceased. We, at the same time, feel that there is some defect in the Punjab Tenancy Act. Under this Act property of a deceased tenant is also given to his male children and it is equally divided amongst them. Despite all these facilities given to tenants there was something very important which we had, unfortunately, left untouched. My submission is that in the case of landlords, when one dies, the right of succession goes to his son and if he also dies his widowed mother gets it or has the right of maintenance from that property. But it is otherwise in the case of tenants. What is done in such cases is that if the only son of a deceased tenant dies, the widowed mother has no right to succeed to the property of her son, which was formerly of her husband, and if there is no near relative of the deceased son, the whole of the property is taken by the landlord or is transferred to a distant relative till death, who has not got any sympathy for the widowed mother. Thus the right of occupancy instead of devolving on the widowed mother goes to such people as have no regard for and no sympathy with the poor widow. Now suppose a certain tenant dies leaving behind a six months' old son or his widow gives birth to a posthumous son. It is clear that this child will inherit the right of occupancy. But if after six months or a year that child also dies then the widowed mother who was, during the lifetime of the boy, the owner of everything that belonged to her husband or son is left absolutely destitute. The right of occupancy goes to the collaterals of the child and if there is no such relative it is extinguished. This is really very hard on the poor woman and it is in view of this hardship that I have moved this amending Bill. A woman who had a vast area of land before the death of her child is left with no means of subsistence and consequently she has to live by doing menial labour for some rich person. The former Chief Court of the Punjab—

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is going into unnecessary details. At this stage only the general principle of the Bill should be discussed.

Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : I bow to your ruling, Sir, but I am trying my level best to discuss only the principle of the Bill. You know, Sir, that under section 59 the widow cannot alienate or transfer the right of occupancy for more than one year. I think that is a very sound and reasonable restriction. The widow or the widowed mother should not be allowed to transfer the right and thus cause a loss to the landlord but at the same time she should not be left without any means of subsistence. Even the Chief Court admitted it in a ruling that it was a great hardship but nothing could be done unless the law was amended. This is what I was explaining and this is what actuated me to move this Bill. My only contention is that while the widowed mother should have no right to transfer the right of occupancy or cause any loss to anybody she must not be left in the wilderness.

It may be said that this amendment will cause some loss to the owner inasmuch as he will be deprived of the benefits of the land so long as the widowed mother lives. But this is not a strong point because if there are any collateral relatives the right will devolve on them, and even if there is no such relative the loss to the owner will be very insignificant. The owner will have only to wait for some time and the period will not be very long. Sometimes it so happens that an occupancy tenant dies and leaves behind him his widow or widowed mother and other poor relatives with nobody to support them. In that case humanity demands that some sort of provision should be made to protect the widowed mother from the clutches of poverty and pangs of hunger. This object can only be attained if we give the widowed mother of an occupancy tenant the right of inheritance of land until she dies or remarries or abandons the land. I may also point out that such occasions would be very rare when landlords would have to wait till the death of a widowed mother of a deceased occupancy tenant for a long time. If the honourable members study carefully the amendment proposed in section 59 of the Tenancy Act they would find that in the circumstances referred to above a widowed mother could not be but aged. It is inconceivable that she can be of 16 or 17 years of age. Only in rare cases she can be young but in most of the cases she will be 40 or 50 or 60 years of age. From this we can safely conclude that a landlord would have to allow the poor widowed mother the right of inheritance of land for a small period only. In my opinion this period cannot exceed 5 or at the most 10 years. I, therefore, urge with all the emphasis at my command that it is highly necessary that we should adopt the proposed amendment and thus brighten up the last days of the widowed mother of a deceased occupancy tenant. I have every hope that all the landlords would agree to this beneficial amendment. None but an avaricious and callous-minded landlord would like to offer any opposition to this amendment and thus prevent the widowed mother of a deceased occupancy tenant from the right of inheriting the land. I do not think that there is any capricious landlord who would like to inflict miseries on an aged widow merely for the sake of providing more luxuries for himself.

Besides, you are aware of the fact that the majority of the people of India and particularly of this province are the followers of some religion or the other. I, therefore, would like to point out that if we accept the principle of this amendment and adopt it, it will, on the one hand, ameliorate the condition of widowed mothers of deceased occupancy tenants and on the other it would be regarded as an act of virtue or piety from the point of view of religion, morality, society and economic well-being of the country— ہم غریباؤں کو رحم کرنا چاہیے. In case we do not accept this amendment we would be simply leaving such widows to the mercy of society. In other words it means that as soon as an occupancy tenant closes his eyes his widowed mother would be left in the lurch. In these circumstances I would appeal to my honourable friends whether they are sitting on this side of the House or that side of the House to vote in favour of this amendment. If they vote in its favour they will surely deserve the prayers of all the widows who would benefit by virtue of this amendment. I do not think there is any person in the country 'with soul so dead' who can deny the right of inheritance to widowed mothers of deceased tenants.

Further if we adopt this amendment it would also save the Government from incurring new expenditure which they would have to incur for the maintenance of widows of the deceased occupancy tenants in case this amendment is rejected by the House. Thus this amendment would save the provincial exchequer from being taxed any further.

It is an admitted fact and I think all the honourable members know it fully well that the law of the land provides that a widow or a widowed mother of a landlord has the right to inherit land if her husband or son, as the case may be, dies before her. I can say without fear of contradiction that in 90 per cent of cases the widows or widowed mothers are allowed to avail of this concession. And thus they pass their lives comfortably. But it is a matter of regret that in case of the death of occupancy tenants their widowed mothers are not allowed the same privileges. I would therefore urge upon the Government that this kind of differential treatment should be given up at once. Equality before the law demands that justice should be offered without discrimination. There should not be one law for the widowed mothers of landlords and quite a different one for the widowed mothers of occupancy tenants. I may also point out that more often than not such widows have to support poor relatives who are entirely dependent on them. So in a nutshell the question is only of providing relief to women and children. I do not think that we can be so very hard-hearted as to allow one law to operate for the widowed mothers of landlords and deny the same kind of justice to the widowed mothers of the occupancy tenants. It is highly necessary that we should remove this inequality in law (hear, hear). In brief if we accept this amendment it would place widows of the landlords and occupancy tenants on the same level and thus equality before the law would be established.

So far as the sacrifice on the part of the landlords is concerned, I have made myself quite clear on the point. Although I feel and confess that majority of the honourable members sitting on these benches are themselves landlords, yet I am confident that none of them would be ill-disposed to place any obstacle in the way of the widowed mothers being granted their just and equitable right. It would be considered an act of generosity and a gesture of goodwill on their part if they extended their helping hand in procuring means of maintenance for them. With these words I move that the Punjab Tenancy (Amendment) Bill be taken into consideration at once.

Mr. Speaker : Motion moved—

That the Punjab Tenancy (Amendment) Bill be taken into consideration at once.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma (Kangra West, General Rural) (Urdu) :
I beg to move—

That the Bill as reported by the select committee be recommitted to the same committee for re-consideration so as to consider the case of the widow of the predeceased son and unmarried daughters and sisters.

Sir, so far as the principle underlying this Bill is concerned, we are in complete accord with it. But my honourable friend has taken into consideration the case of a widowed mother alone. He has altogether excluded the case of other women who are under great hardship because of the provisions of the existing law. Now if a tenant dies leaving behind a widow, a daughter and a sister and there is at the same time another widow whose husband had died during the life-time of his father, the land will, under section 59 of the Tenancy Act, on the death of the widow, pass into the hands of his collaterals, leaving no means of subsistence for the widow or daughter or sister. This means that while you are providing for the widowed mothers, you are altogether ignoring the cases of widows of predeceased sons and also those of unmarried daughters and sisters. If the land does not pass into the hands of the collaterals but reverts to the landlord, even in that case the widow's of the predeceased sons and unmarried daughters and sisters are left with no means of maintenance.

When the Bill was being discussed in the select committee, I raised this point for clarification.

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): On a point of order. May I know if my honourable friend is in order in divulging the proceedings of the select committee?

Mr. Speaker: After the report of a select committee is presented to the House, its proceedings may be referred to in debate.

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan: My point was that whatever may be in the report, that, of course, is public property and can be referred to on the floor of the House; but the proceedings, that are not published along with the proceedings, such as, what one member said to another in the select committee, they should not be referred to here, and should be confidential. No member has got a right to quote them in the open House.

Mr. Speaker: After the report of a select committee is presented to the House, all proceedings of that committee may be referred to in debate.

Diwan Chaman Lall: My honourable friend has referred to something else. There is a misunderstanding. He does not object to the proceedings being referred to on the floor of the House. What he is objecting to is the convention that has been established that any proceedings that have taken place in the committee itself and which are not to be found in the printed report of the committee, should not be referred to on the floor of the House. That is the convention and I think he is right.

Premier: The convention is that it should not be divulged.

Mr. Speaker: The honourable member may proceed. I will give my ruling presently.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma: Sir, I was submitting that I drew the attention of the select committee to this matter when the Bill now before the House was being considered by it. The Chairman of the select committee, the Honourable Minister for Revenue, told us that this question could not be considered under rule 92.

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan: I must have your ruling before the honourable member is allowed to proceed further. He has made another reference to what the Honourable Minister for Revenue said in the select committee. I am quite sure that any conversation held in the select committee should be confidential.

Malik Barkat Ali: I take it that your ruling is clear and that you only want to give the authority for that ruling.

Diwan Chaman Lall: What my honourable friend is referring to, Mr. Speaker, is contained in the report of the select committee. Therefore, the objection that my honourable friend opposite is raising does not apply in this particular instance. The matter that has been referred to by my honourable friend is actually recorded in his note of dissent. Therefore, my honourable friend opposite cannot object to it.

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan: I am not objecting to it.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma: I am of the opinion and assert it that the amendment which I want to propose to the House in regard to this measure comes within the scope of this Bill. My contention is that if they have made a provision for the maintenance of a widowed mother, what hinders them from considering the cases of the widows of the predeceased sons, unmarried daughters and sisters? The Bill aims at ameliorating the condition of the former, but, why not of the latter? Why should there be any discrimination? In my opinion the Bill should be recommitted to the same select committee for further consideration on the point. The question of making a provision for the maintenance of a widow of the predeceased son and unmarried daughters and sisters, as I have already stated, should be thoroughly considered, specially in cases when the land passes into the hands of the collaterals or the landlord. I, therefore, move that the Bill be recommitted to the same select committee for reconsideration, so as to consider the cases of a widow of a predeceased son or of unmarried daughters and sisters.

Mr. Speaker : Now I give my ruling. According to Campion, page 221, the Parliamentary Practice on the point raised by the Honourable Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan is :—

The publication of any portion of the evidence of any document, or of the report of the committee, before they are reported to the House, is a breach of privilege.

Diwan Chaman Lall : But any discussion that takes place between two members of the select committee, surely cannot be referred to on the floor of the House. We are not worried about evidence. What we are worried about is the talk or conversation between the members of the committee which does not form part of the proceedings of the select committee. How can that be referred to?

Malik Barkat Ali : If that talk or conversation does not form part of the proceedings of the sub-committee then that talk may have the character of being confidential between the members; but if that talk or discussion relates necessarily to the proceedings of the sub-committee, then, certainly that talk, after the report had been presented, becomes public property so far as this House is concerned.

Diwan Chaman Lall : The answer is this that one honourable member will get up and say, this is what was said in the select committee. Half a dozen other members would say, this is a lie: this was never said in the select committee. Where are you going to draw the line as to what is admissible and what is not admissible?

Mr. Speaker : In the words of Sir Erskine May (pages 482-83) :—

No member or any other person, may publish any portion of the evidence taken by, or documents presented to select committee, which have not been reported to the House.

According to the above quotation when no one can publish any portion of evidence or any documents which has not been reported to the House by the select committee, how can any reference be made to conversations which do not form part of the proceedings? I have more than once ruled from this chair that conversations between members and members and non-members should not be quoted or referred to in the House. Therefore anything spoken or written, which has not been reported by a select committee cannot be referred to or quoted in this House.

Diwan Chaman Lall : That is exactly what was objected to that such talk may not be referred.

Mr. Speaker : Motion under consideration, amendment moved is—

That the Bill as reported by the select committee be recommitted to the same committee for reconsideration so as to consider the case of a widow of the pre-deceased son and unmarried daughters and sisters.

Khan Muhammad Yusaf Khan (Urdu) : Sir, I rise to oppose this amendment tooth and nail, and I have strong reasons for doing so. The idea underlying this amendment also struck me at the time when I drafted the Bill under discussion, but I had to rule it out later on for cogent reasons. In fact the proposed amendment is based on a misunderstanding. Perhaps the honourable mover is under the impression that I had overlooked this point. The very words, "widowed mother" which I have used in the Bill suffice to remove this misapprehension. A widow can only be called widowed mother when she has some children and in the case under question every widowed mother is sure to have one or two daughters born to her. Otherwise she would not be called a mother. Now the point is that whereas I seek to give some right to the widowed mother, how is it that I insist on ignoring the right of the daughter or the sister in such cases? I have a ready answer to that. The fact of the matter is that generally, the mother will be found needy and the sister or the daughter as the case may be will not stand in need of this mercy. I do not completely rule out that possibility. I admit that out of a thousand cases one case may be found out which may require the same protection which I want to obtain for the widowed mother. As a rule the widowed mother will become a widow at the age of 40 or 50 years. She will be infirm, helpless, destitute and deserving of help. The collaterals can look forward to the land returning to them after a few years as the normal age of men and women in this country is not expected to be very long. But how can the collaterals allow a sister or a daughter to occupy their land from her childhood to her youth and old age and to her death? I know the mentality of the agriculturists. I am myself a zamindar and I know that zamindars can never agree to this. But surely they should agree to a widowed mother occupying the land for a span of two years or so especially when she cannot sell or mortgage it or make a gift of it. Who will dare deny her this small mercy in her old age, failing health, useless limbs and when she has no supporter in the world? No religion, creed, society, or ethics or any rule of economics can deny this support to the widowed mother. But if we grant this title to the sister or daughter as well, we may encourage them to remain unmarried all their lives. Thus instead of helping them we may be corrupting their morals. Ordinarily a daughter or a sister is married as soon as she attains the age of puberty. She is then supported by her husband. The relatives deem it their duty to make proper arrangements for the marriage of their sisters and daughters. It is clear, therefore, that a sister or a daughter does not primarily stand in need of this support which I want to extend to the widowed mother.

Looked at from this point of view the matter becomes quite clear. There is no injustice involved in depriving the sister or daughter from such right. She being young, healthy, and about to be married, does not deserve this concession which the old and helpless widowed mother deserves. If we give such a right to the sister or daughter we will create more problems than we will be able to solve by the help of this Bill. In fact the whole law will be interfered with, and confusion and intricacies will be caused. My honourable friend who wants this amendment to be made in the Bill ought to take all these points into consideration. He is well aware that a widowed mother, generally advanced in age, has not very long to live. She may live at the most 10 or 15 years. Besides, as she will not have the right to sell or make a gift, the property will be safe and her sons, collaterals if any or the landlord can wait till her death. But in the case of daughters and sisters, so long as they do not marry, the male heirs will be deprived of that property. There is also the possibility of the daughter refusing to marry, because she knows she enjoys that property so long as she does not marry. This is a very dangerous situation, because it might instead of being morally advantageous lead to moral degradation. If she does not marry there is naturally a great danger of moral laxity. The same equally applies to the case of the sister. Taking these facts into consideration it appears to me that this amendment will instead of helping the daughters and sisters, as it intends to do, turn out to be a source of social and moral danger to them. Apparently it seems unethical and unjust to deprive the surviving daughters and sisters of a hereditary tenant after his demise. But if we carefully consider the merits and demerits of the case it will be evident that this amendment will result disastrously for them. This amendment does not seek to get sympathetic treatment for them but on the contrary casts a moral slur on them. I submit, therefore, that the daughters and sisters of the deceased hereditary tenant should not be given any right of inheritance. So far as the mentality of the zamindars is concerned, no one can claim to know more about it than I, because I am a zamindar myself. What they dislike most in this connection is that their daughters and sisters be given the right of inheritance. Whether they are right or wrong in this attitude is a different matter. That they have very strong reasons for it cannot be denied. From the economic point of view they are justified in holding this view. Division and inter-division of lands has led to a very serious situation. Most of the holdings in our province are so small that they have become useless from the economic point of view. It threatens the whole agricultural population with ruin. The Government is alive to this grave danger and has started consolidation of lands and collective farming. They know that it will be suitable from the point of view of economic well-being and material prosperity of the zamindars to consolidate their holdings. But if the right of the daughters and sisters is also recognised it will tend further to divide the land which is already incapable of giving any subsistence to those who possess it.

Lala Duni Chand : On a point of order, Sir, I want to know whether the Government is a party to these tactics that are intended to prolong the debate, and I also want to know whether you approve of these tactics? (Shouts of order, order.)

Mr. Speaker : I the honourable member of the opinion that certain rules of procedure are being broken, he may certainly raise a point of order, but to attribute tactics is not fair.

Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : Sir, my honourable friend thinks that I am dwelling at length in accordance with the party tactics.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member need not give any reply.

Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : Sir, I was submitting that from the point of view of the great economists it was essential that the lands be consolidated, that all the lands now divided and sub-divided into small bits of uneconomic holdings be collected as one whole, so that it could be worked better, irrigated properly, managed conveniently and improvements made therein. This will result in increased returns. Not only will the income of individuals be increased but the national wealth of the province will also increase and all this will result in bettering the economic condition of the people.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the chair and Mr. Deputy Speaker occupied it.)

Sir, my submission is that if the amendment moved by my honourable friend is adopted, the economic conditions in the province would be further worsened. Take the instance of a deceased person who has left behind him two wives, two unmarried daughters and two unmarried sisters. Now under the operation of this amendment his property will have to be divided into 6 parts. And it goes without saying that income derived from these parts would not be sufficient for their recipients to keep their bodies and souls together. The land would be dwindled to an extent which would make it impossible for each individual survivor to fall back upon for her livelihood. It looks rather strange and ridiculous in these days to talk of dividing landed property into small unproductive and uneconomic plots when already the consolidation of holdings is being operated throughout the province. The menace of the unproductivity of the soil due to such frequent divisions and inter-divisions of land is one of the chief reasons why I venture to object to this amendment. I make bold to say that nothing would be more unpalatable and unacceptable than this idea of inter-dividing the land to those whom we have the honour to represent here in the House.

Furthermore, Sir, the amendment as it stands is highly objectionable from moral point of view also. It is sure to affect adversely the morals of the unmarried daughters and sisters of the deceased person.

Chaudhri Jalal-ud-Din Ambar : Sir, may I ask as to whether this lengthy speech does not indirectly amount to a financial strain on the State exchequer?

Lala Duni Chand : May I enquire whether the honourable member is anxious to have his Bill passed? We on this side are anxious to get it passed.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I would request the honourable members not to interrupt.

Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : I am glad to see that my honourable friends opposite have realized that lengthy speeches do amount to a financial strain on the State exchequer. It is well known that their speeches happen to be a welter of irrelevancies, but they may rest assured that I do not propose to make any irrelevant speech like them. I am only bringing into light those evils and vices which are inevitable as a result of this amendment.

[Khan Muhammad Yasaf Khan.]

I am not indulging in any idle talk nor am I relating any interesting story here. What I want to do is to place some hard facts before the House. Here I am reminded of a poet who has aptly said on a similar occasion—

ہنسے ہوئے ہنسے ہوئے کیسی ہے سب سے تر کیا (Laughter.)

Sir, I would like to make it clear to the House that although the amendment moved by my honourable friend opposite appears to be a beneficial one yet it has its evil aspects too. If the honourable members were to closely and minutely study the amendment they are sure to find that extension of the right of inheritance to unmarried daughters and sisters of the deceased would mean an inducement to them to remain unmarried throughout their lives. In the beginning I also wanted to make a similar provision in the Bill for their maintenance but when I carefully studied the subject it dawned upon me that such a provision would give rise to several complications. Instead of becoming useful to the unmarried daughters and sisters it would do a great harm to their morality. I would therefore request the honourable members opposite to confine this right only to widowed mothers. I may be allowed to mention here that it is not improbable that the learned framers of the Punjab Tenancy Act of 1887 only inadvertently omitted to provide for the right of inheritance to widowed mothers therein. It is only just and proper to provide for the maintenance of these poor, destitute, old and silver haired widowed mothers whose life problem deserves all consideration. With these words, Sir, I oppose the amendment moved by my friend opposite.

Begum Rashida Latif Baji (Inner Lahore, Muhammadan Women, Urban): Mr. Speaker, I congratulate the House for its favourable attitude towards this Bill presented to day before this House. Throughout India and particularly in the Punjab females are treated very badly. I thank God that the honourable legislators of this Assembly have at least become aware of the existence among them of females of the province, and have introduced this Bill which is beneficial to the welfare of women from so many points of view. This change in the existing laws is a preamble to the further betterment of women. Shrimati Raghbir Kaur and Mr. Sharma being members of the select committee have tried honestly and in good faith for the improvement of the Bill. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma has laid much stress in the note of dissent on giving the right of succession to the sisters of the deceased. I myself have also considered over the matter, and feel compassion for those helpless sisters whose brothers die and leave them without any proper guardian. But when these girls are given the right of inheritance their relatives will certainly bring forth difficulties and hindrances in the way of their marriages. It is well known that village girls are not educated enough to seek help from the law courts in order to get out of this trouble. I did not object to the Bill at the time of its introduction in the House, but simply agreed under the impression that the Bill did only concern the welfare of widows, and that my objection might not cause any inordinate delay in the proceedings of the select committee. But the amendment moved just now is quite against the welfare of women and if this amendment is carried I believe, it will bring so many hardships for the girls. And the poor girls will be devoid even of the necessities of life and their lives will become a burden for them and their greedy relatives will certainly mis-appropriate their income in different ways. In addition to that from the moral point of view it will give rise to various vices. I may further add that the mover of this Bill and I both have given much consideration to this particular point as to whether unmarried girls should be given such rights to claim the property of a hereditary tenant. We arrived at the decision that they should not be given such rights. The amendment in question is, therefore, not going to benefit the women-folk and I do oppose it. If this amendment is carried it will give rise to so many corruptions. Everybody knows that the married class of women have no worries regarding their livelihood. This amendment only affects adversely the unmarried class of women, who have no means of livelihood other than this property. I do not wish that other people should get undue advantage of their income. I, therefore, request the honourable mover to withdraw his amendment. (Cheers from the Government benches.)

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Question is—

That the Bill as reported by the select committee be recommitted to the same committee for reconsideration so as to consider the case of the widow of the predeceased son and unmarried daughters and sisters.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Question is—

That the Punjab Tenancy (Amendment) Bill be taken into consideration at once.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Question is—

That clause 1 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Question is—

That clause 2 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Question is—

That the preamble be the preamble to the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Question is—

That the title be the title of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : I beg to move—

That the Punjab Tenancy (Amendment) Bill be passed.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Motion moved—

That the Punjab Tenancy (Amendment) Bill be passed.

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : I have to express the sincerest thanks of the Government to my honourable friend Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan for reminding them of one serious omission. We are all very grateful to him. I express the thanks of the Government to him for having brought this Bill which we consider will greatly relieve the poor widow who if her son dies has got no other means of livelihood. Therefore we are very grateful to him. But I am sorry that this harmless and very good Bill which should have been passed in ten minutes has taken such a long time because my friend on the Opposition bench moved an amendment which was dilatory in its character, that the Bill be sent back to the select committee for reconsideration. I am sorry my friend should have moved this amendment and should have used these tactics, because I think this Bill is entirely for the benefit of the poor people.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Question is—

That the Punjab Tenancy (Amendment) Bill be passed.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The Assembly will now take up the adjournment motion.

ADJOURNMENT MOTION.

ARREST OF ACHARYA NARENDRA DEV.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural): Sir, I move—

That the Assembly do now adjourn.

Sir, the task that I have set to myself this afternoon is to explain the meaning and implications of the action taken by the Government of the Honourable Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan, the Premier, in charge of law and order, against Acharya Narendra Dev. Before I do so, it is necessary for me to tell the House who this gentleman is. Probably Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan knows a good deal about him. Other members may not be knowing so much about him. He is one of the foremost leaders of the Socialist Party in India. He is the man who is held in high esteem and great respect all over India. He has been a member of the Working Committee or the High Command, which body not only commands respect in the whole of India, but commands respect in the whole of the international world, to which Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan himself belongs. When the United Provinces Cabinet was about to be formed, Acharya Narendra Dev was the first man to be offered a seat on the United Provinces Cabinet and this fact has appeared in the press, but he declined the seat in the Cabinet on the ground that it did not agree with his socialist principles. I may further inform the House that recently Mr. Subhas Chander Bose was contesting the Presidential election, but certain members of the Working Committee did not want him to stand, so he made an offer that if the Working Committee was prepared to substitute in his place Acharya Narendra Dev for the presidential election, he would retire in his favour. These are some of the qualifications that he possesses. There is another qualification that he possesses in common with Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan. It is this that he also is a big landlord of the United Provinces as Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan is of the Punjab. (Premier: I am not a big landlord.) Very well, I consider him the biggest landlord.

I may also explain to the House the circumstances under which action was taken against him and he was arrested. The circumstances under which he was allowed to go back to Delhi are published in the Tribune of July 1, 1939, and they are as follows :—

Acharya Narendra Dev, who on arrival here this morning was served with an order of the Punjab prohibiting his entry into that province for one year, was arrested at Rohtak when he was being taken in a procession. Later he was driven to Delhi in a car under police escort, and released.

In an interview with a representative of the Associated Press, Acharya Narendra Dev explained his future attitude to the Punjab Government's prohibitory order.

The Acharya said "I have to preside over the Delhi Socialist Conference tomorrow and by that time the Rohtak Conference will be over. I have no other work in the Punjab at present. There is, therefore, no reason for my defying the order again. I, however, wish to make it clear that I will not allow this order to interfere with my normal political activities. Therefore, whenever an occasion arises in the future for my visiting the Punjab in connection with my political work, I will not hesitate to disobey the order of the Punjab Government.

I also invite the attention of the House to the law under which this order was passed. It was passed under section 3 of the Punjab Criminal Law (Amendment) Act, 1935, which runs as follows :—

The Provincial Government, if satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for believing that any person has acted, is acting, or is about to act, in a manner prejudicial to the public safety or peace, or in furtherance of a movement prejudicial to the public safety or peace, may, by order in writing, give any one or more of the following directions, namely, that such person—

- (a) shall not enter, reside or remain in any area specified in the order ;
- (b) shall reside or remain in any area specified in the order ;
- (c) shall remove himself from, and shall not return to, any area specified in the order ;
- (d) shall conduct himself in such manner, abstain from such acts, or take such order with any property in his possession or under his control, as may be specified in the order.

Sir, the point that I want to make out is this that the onus lies, and lies heavily, upon Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan to prove that Acharya Narendra Dev who was to preside over the conference, by doing so was actually going to act or was about to act in a manner prejudicial to the public safety or peace or in furtherance of a movement prejudicial to the public safety or peace.

Well, Sir, I put forward the indictment against the Punjab Government and I want to know from the Honourable the Premier whether he can acquit himself of that indictment, namely, that there was any justification or even a semblance of justification for serving this order which resulted in the arrest of a most prominent man like Acharya Narendra Dev. I shall wait anxiously and if he can satisfy me and the House that he was justified in taking that action, he and his Government stand acquitted, but if he does not—and I am sure he will not be able to justify his action—then he and his Government will stand condemned.

As I said in the beginning, my task in this connection is to explain to this House the meaning and implication of this action. It means the denying of even the elementary rights to a man like Acharya Narendra Dev the elementary right of free movement and free association. That elementary right was denied to him. It is a betrayal of the rights that every citizen can enjoy. Acharya Narendra Dev was entitled to come to Rohtak to preside over the conference and explain to the people what socialism means. If some professor had come to Rohtak and explained in the conference the principle of socialism in theory and placed his case before the audience, the Honourable Premier would have taken no objection to that. It is nothing but a suppression and a down right suppression of civil liberties. It is an extreme case of violation of civil liberty. Whenever any question with regard to the independence of India or socialism to be applied to India is raised, the Honourable Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan comes forward and claims to be the apostle of those ideas. I want to know whether he was in any way justified in suppressing civil liberty.

I would now like to take some time of the House in explaining the implications underlying this action of the Honourable Premier. I can do so by making a contrast between the objects that Acharya Narendra Dev had in paying a visit to Rohtak and the objects that the Honourable Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan has in paying visits to the United Provinces off and on. (Laughter). I may inform him that he was treated there as an honoured guest by the Honourable Mr. Pant. I might inform him that Acharya Narendra Dev will one day be the Premier of the United Provinces. I know a good deal about him. I am told that he was actually offered one of the portfolios in the United Provinces Ministry. When Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan goes there during the Premiership of Acharya Narendra Dev, he will be treated there much better than Acharya Narendra Dev was treated by our Premier. After all what was the object of Acharya Narendra Dev in coming to Rohtak? He wanted to explain to the people the doctrine of socialism, the principles of socialism. He wanted to tell the people how India will fare if socialist order was established in India. He came over to Rohtak to explain the principles of democracy, the principles of human equality. Was he, in attempting to do so, acting in a manner prejudicial to the safety of Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan? What other object did he possibly have? After all, the object that he could have was to convert the Punjab to his creed of socialism. I know Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan has been claiming sometimes to be the champion of socialism. If Acharya Narendra Dev also wanted to come to Sir Sikander's province and explain to the people the creed of socialism, what heinous crime had he committed? (Voices from Treasury benches: The honourable member has taken more than fifteen minutes.)

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I have discretion to give more than fifteen minutes to the mover of the motion.

Lala Duni Chand : Let us make a contrast between the objects that Acharya Narendra Dev had in mind in coming over to Rohtak and the objects Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan has had in mind when he was paying visits to Lucknow, Cawnpore and other important places in the United Provinces.

Premier : I never went to Cawnpore or anywhere else in that province.

Lala Duni Chand : I want to expose him by telling the objects (loughier) for which he had been going there. What have been his objects?

Premier : But I never went there, what to say of the object?

Lala Duni Chand : Acharya Narendra Dev wanted to come to the Punjab to relax the grip of British Imperialism. Can you deny for a moment that whenever you have gone there, this has been one of the objects of yours? You have been there in order to set up or encourage a communal organisation that stands to-day between India and freedom. If Mr. Jinnah, Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan and a few others belonging to that class were to join hands with the Congress, India can have complete independence—Swaraj—for the mere asking of it. What have you been doing there? You have been hatching schemes to divide India into different sovereign states.

Shaikh Karamat Ali : The honourable member is not speaking to the motion.

Lala Duni Chand : I am trying to explain that if Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan could go to the United Provinces without any let or hindrance, what reasons were there for Sir Sikander to deny a perfectly innocent visit to Acharya Narendra Dev?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : There is hardly any relevancy.

Lala Duni Chand : If part of my speech is irrelevant on the ground that it pinches the Premier of the Punjab then I can well understand that it is 'irrelevant', otherwise I cannot possibly see the irrelevancy of it and cannot see how it can be ruled out of order.

Lieutenant Sardar Naunihal Singh Man : On a point of order. May I know whether the honourable member can challenge the ruling of the chair when you have already said that he was irrelevant? He has said that if his remarks pinch the Premier then he can understand that, otherwise he cannot see the irrelevancy of his speech. You were pleased to remark that he was irrelevant. May I know whether he can challenge your ruling?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I do not think the honourable member has challenged my ruling. (Voices from Tresasury benches : He has). I am sure he would not be irrelevant now.

Lala Duni Chand : I satisfied you with regard to the point raised by you and after that I understood that, according to your ruling, I was perfectly in order and I, therefore, proceeded with my arguments. (Voices : Question, a challenge to the chair).

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member understands the principle of relevancy well enough. I hope he would not be irrelevant any more.

Lala Duni Chand : I would like to know precisely and unless I know precisely in what way I am irrelevant, I cannot be ruled out. My point is whether, in view of the conditions prevailing in India, Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan could be justified in imposing a ban upon the entry of Acharya Narendra Dev. There is one section of the people that is infecting India with communalism, with sectionalism and all sorts of evils. If there is a gentleman who wants to establish a new order in India, and who wants to establish the principles of comradeship, brotherhood and equality in India, then, has that gentleman a right to visit the province of the Punjab or not? I shall stop making references to the Honourable Premier—

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member has had 20 minutes. I will request him to finish his speech now.

Lala Duni Chand : I am the mover of this adjournment motion and certain amount of latitude should be given to the mover.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I have given the honourable member five minutes more.

Lala Duni Chand : I should have much more than that. I have succeeded, I think, in putting my point and I need not pursue any further as it is unnecessary to flog a dead horse. The point I have scored and I think a reply from the Honourable Premier is unnecessary. Let me invite the attention of the House to the conditions that are prevailing in this province regarding the application of the law, namely, Act II of 1935. It is a hard fact, a fact which cannot be denied that similar orders have been passed in dozens of cases upon distinguished and respectable people. If Mr. Acharya wants to come to the Punjab and explain to the zamindars and kisans of the Punjab in what their good lies, he is at once ordered to leave the Punjab. Is it open to the Government to say that the present Government is the only Government that knows in what the good of the kisans lies? Other people wanted to come to this province but they have not been allowed. Similarly, a number of people belonging to the Punjab have been externed from this province and from their homes. Am I not justified in saying that according to Punjab Government's own showing, it is impossible for this Government to carry on unless almost every day, if not every day, at least every week or every month lots of people are either interned or externed? May I give a scandalous instance of this jobbery? Sardar Teja Singh Swatanter was elected a member of this Honourable House.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member is again irrelevant.

Lala Duni Chand : A certain restraint has been imposed upon him and he is not being allowed to join the Assembly.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : That restraint has nothing to do with the question now before the house.

Lala Duni Chand : I, Sir, appeal to your legal intelligence, which you possess in abundance, that at least the question of repression is relevant in connection with this motion is so far as the implications of the Criminal Law Amendment Act are concerned under which this order was passed.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Relevancy should be immediate not remote.

Lala Duni Chand : This is immediate. I will not go into other aspects of Sir Sikander's repressions. I am not going to deal with them. They will be dealt with on some other occasion. I will only deal with that act of repression, namely, restraint that he has been imposing upon people and internment and externment orders that he has been passing. I think, to that extent I am relevant.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member has had 25 minutes.

Lala Duni Chand : I will not take much time. I shall finish very soon. The question upon which this House is called upon to give its judgment is whether this state of things which prevails in the Punjab, whether the circumstances, whether the suffocating atmosphere in which we are living, is to continue and that is the question of questions. I say, it is only at the point of the bayonet that this Government is being carried on. The Punjab has been infected with all sorts of political diseases. It has been infected with all sorts of evils. It is the sacred soil of the Punjab that is responsible for the growth and development of the worst type of communalism. I hope the House would realise whether it is for the good of the Punjab that this abominable state of things should continue.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : This is again irrelevant.

Lala Duni Chand : Out of respect for your ruling I think I should stop now.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Motion moved is—

That the Assembly do now adjourn.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Southern Towns, General, Urban) (Urdu): Mr. Deputy Speaker, our Government has done nothing new in perpetrating this highhandedness or committing the blunder of placing a ban on the entry of Acharya Narendra Dev in the Punjab. As a matter of fact the Unionist Government is accustomed to accord such shabby treatment to high personages. I was sorry that I had not given notice of the adjournment of the House in regard to this matter. But I am gratified to find that my honourable friend Lala Duni Chand has made amends for my error by moving this adjournment motion which is incidentally connected with the district as well as the city of Rohtak. My honourable friend the mover has rendered a signal service in bringing forward this motion because he has offered us an opportunity to give expression to our views on the floor of the House in regard to the folly committed by the Government.

Now, I would like to point out to the honourable members that Acharya Narendra Dev possesses an eminent and a distinguished personality. He is quite an innocent and harmless person. His speeches have never been considered by any provincial Government as dangerous to the peace and tranquillity of the country. My honourable friend from Ambala has copiously dealt with his qualities of head and heart. But I may add that he occupies the same high position in the Socialist Party as is possessed by Dr. Rajendra Prasad in the Congress. In fact he not only commands high esteem in the congress circles but also enjoys equal respect in various other quarters. He is a distinguished educationist and was the Principal of Vidyapith at Benares. He is a selfless worker and has more than once refused the offer of a portfolio of ministership. Leaders like Mahatma Gandhi and Pandit Jawahar Lal speak highly of him. He is a cautious and reasonable person who would refrain from hazarding any word that would offend against the law or injure the feelings of others. Sometime back he toured the central and western Punjab and delivered speeches. I would like to enquire from the Honourable Premier whether during his sojourn his speeches caused any disturbance or breach of the peace in the province. He came to Delhi and then to Rohtak for the purpose of presiding over political conferences. His presidential speech at the Delhi conference was given a wide publication by the press, but it nowhere proved dangerous to the peace of the country. Acharya Narendra Dev had to preside at Delhi as well as at Rohtak because two conferences were to be held at these different places. At Delhi he rather rebuked and scolded such socialists who were apt to use harsh words against others. He did not say anything objectionable. He is scrupulous and honest in carrying out the policy of 'ahimsa' and truth. He cannot therefore be expected to exhort the Punjabis to violence and disorder. It was the height of folly on the part of the Punjab Government to prohibit the entry of such a great leader of India as Acharya Narendra Dev. He is, in fact, the embodiment of peace and non-violence. There was absolutely no likelihood of his breaking law and order in the Punjab, nor could he preach lawlessness to others. The fact of the matter is that the Punjab Government is in the habit of externing and interning peace-loving citizens. Proof is not far to seek. There is a long list of important leaders of India whom the Punjab Government has either arrested or externed on the flimsy ground of law and order while the leaders in question were lovers of peace and order and were also pledged to ahimsa. For instance, Professor Ranga, Mr. Ghosh, Mrs. Satyawati are no breakers of law and yet the Punjab Government shook to its foundation when the news of their entry into the Punjab was reported to it. Let alone men, even a woman terrifies our brave Unionist Government. (Laughter). They feared that her entry would shatter and scatter the foundation of their ministry.

Another curious point about the Ministry of Sir Sikander is whether any outsider has a mind to enter into the Punjab or not, an order prohibiting his entry is issued forthwith. This is nothing short of insanity of the Ministry. Sawami Sahjanand had no mind to enter this province but as soon as he came to Delhi, an order was issued to prohibit his entry into the Punjab. In fact our Government keeps up the practice of interfering with the civil liberties of the citizens and does not spare even the outsiders who approach the boundaries of the Punjab. It appears as if a number of orders are kept ready in the Secretariat for use at any time. (Laughter). Sometimes our Government thinks that it has not committed any foolish act of annoying the citizens, then it begins a campaign of interfering with the civil liberties of the citizens.

Besides, our Government is very jealous about the district of Rohtak. No leader of importance is allowed to come into it. The entry of a single Congress leader is enough to terrify the Unionists. This district is mostly inhabited by small holders of land, and the Unionists think that if any outsider comes there to tell the truth to the people, the magazine of the Unionists will be set on fire, and it will be all ablaze in no time. The atrocities of the Punjab Government are such that no condemnation can be too strong for them. May I ask in all seriousness, if this is the way in which provincial autonomy is expected to work? I wonder why the ministry does not hang its head in shame and why it does not repent. Does the Honourable Premier realise what kind of people he is keeping out of the Punjab?

Adverting to the conference of socialists at Rohtak, I may say that I was also present at Rohtak at that time. A huge number of kisans had gathered to learn from the Congress leader how they were being duped and fleeced by the party of Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan, who is really out to safeguard the vested interests of the big land owners. I may here point out that sometimes the Unionists welcome the meetings of the socialists if a first rate leader is not expected to attend it, because in that case the Government hopes that some trouble may arise which can be made the basis of some arrests. But when a leader of great importance is coming to attend any conference, this Government takes immediate action to stop his entry. At Rohtak men of the Unionist party offered subscriptions. In connection with this conference a nephew of a minister had also promised subscription. The editor of the Times of Rohtak, that is, the Jat Gazette also gave four rupees. It was expected by the Unionists that socialists would strongly criticise the policy of Mahatma Gandhi and abuses will be hurled at me and other local congress workers. But when the Government despaired of such a thing and came to know that a very leading and reasonable person was coming to guide the conference, orders were issued on the pretext of law and order to prohibit the entry of Acharya Narendra Dev. This order was issued to prevent kisans from hearing the truth from the lips of that great leader. It is said of old times that some people were forbidden to listen to the Vedas and if any one dared to listen, molten lead was poured into his ears. (Premier: That was done by your forefathers). But rightly or wrongly that was said of old times. The Unionists are doing it in the modern age of civilisation by keeping the ignorant peasants of the true facts. Such orders are molten lead.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Two minutes more.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Sir, look at this Government which wants to go out to help Poland while it is terrified by the entry of a woman into the Punjab! (Laughter). A great leader comes to tell the zamindars how they are to be benefited, but he is ordered not to come within the sacred precincts of the Punjab. I make bold to declare that such an order constitutes a great disgrace to the whole of the Punjab and not only to the Unionist Government. Perhaps the Honourable Premier has handed over the seal of his signatures to the district magistrates or in the secretariat so that it can easily be used at the whim of the officers. Be that as it may, Acharya Narendra Dev accorded a befitting reception to this order of the Punjab Government and like a lion he decided to come to the Punjab in spite of that order. He was arrested by this cowardly Government and sent back to Delhi.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member's time is up.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta (South-Eastern Towns, General, Urban) (Urdu): Sir, I do not propose to say anything with regard to my honourable friends' Government, which might tend to injure their feelings. On the contrary I want to assure the Honourable Premier that the motion moved by my honourable friend has not been moved with the intention of seeking an opportunity of reviling his Government. The object of this motion is to ask the Government to take stock of their doings during the last 2 years and see whether they are satisfied with their efforts and the manner in which provincial autonomy has been worked in the province. It is also intended to make those sitting behind my honourable friend who blindly raise their hands at the beck and call of their party leaders and who allow themselves to be herded into the lobbies without giving the slightest thought to what they are going to vote for, to consider whether the Premier has, by imposing that absurd restriction on the entry of Acharya Narendra Dev into this province, enhanced the reputation of the province or smeared its fair name with an unseemly blot. So far as the entry of the Acharya and the order restricting it is concerned, two of my honourable friends on this side have thrown sufficient light on it. I on my part merely want to state that Acharya Narendra Dev was coming from a province which has given asylum and extended its hospitality to those persons who have been tyrannised and driven out of their homes by this Government. On the one hand our Premier wants us to believe that provincial autonomy has been a huge success in the Punjab; that the people here are happy, contented and prosperous; but on the other hand his actions belie his pious professions. The Government seems to be constantly in a state of alarm and panic lest some one from outside should come into the Punjab and rouse its people from their slumbers. They fear that visitors from other provinces may destroy their illusion of prosperity and remove the screen from their eyes. If your house is in order, why this panic? Why this need of perpetuating the deception? Why should entry of the people of other provinces be restricted? We find that not only outsiders but people of this province also are denied freedom of speech and writing. They are not permitted to give free expression to their thoughts. To condemn such action on the part of our Government it does not require any arguments. The Government stands self-condemned. The people in other provinces can only form a very bad impression of the Government from such acts. They know Acharya Narendra Dev, who is a leader of all-India repute. They are also aware of the fact that responsible persons like him do not incite people to violence, that he cannot be a menace to the peace of the province. When they find that even he is not allowed to go about in the province they cannot but think that Sir Sikander's Government has gone mad. If in spite of such acts of ruthless repression and curtailment of civil liberty the Government claims that there is peace and contentment in the province, I would say that this is the peace and quiet of a cemetery. It cannot be the peace and calm worthy of a living nation. It is high time that Sir Sikander and his ministers look back on the two years of their reign and see what an amount of repression has followed in their wake. They should realise as to how many people from outside have been refused entry and how many newspapers and presses they have throttled in the province and how many people have they banished to other provinces! Let them compare it with the state of affairs prevailing in other provinces.

I was surprised to see the statement which the Premier was hesitant to place on the table the other day. According to this statement securities have been demanded from some 300 presses and papers during the last two years. Securities of sixteen papers and presses were forfeited. The amount of the securities demanded was Rs. 2,22,000 whereas the sum forfeited was Rs. 15,500.

(Voices : Shame-shame). The Government which can impose such restrictions on the freedom of speeches and writings of its own people and still boasts of being a democratic Government with popular support at its back cannot deceive people for long. I challenge that in this respect the Unionist Government have beaten all previous records, even that of the bureaucratic Government in this very province, what to say of other provinces. You may say that we are Congressites and as such always try to find fault with your activities but there are other people who live in this province, and I am sure they too cannot approve of this state of affairs. It is becoming increasingly manifest that those who are occupying the positions of Ministers here to-day are out to do anything to please the powers-that-be above them, and can go to the extent of imposing such senseless restrictions on their own countrymen without any compunction.

I know the Premier will try to justify the action of the Government as usual by giving a stereotyped reply, but may I sincerely request him to admit the Government's mistake and raise himself in the public estimation ? In all probability he has entrusted his seal to the Secretariat which issues such repressive and tyrannical orders in his name. If that is so, let him admit that and be more careful in future; if however the case is different and he has himself been guilty of issuing such orders then I would submit that it is not a matter on which he can justly feel proud. The present Government's record of services in this respect is not such as may bring name and credit to it. One has to hang his head in shame when he finds the Honourable Ministers feeling proud on such achievements. If this adjournment motion makes them realize their mistake and they feel some remorse I would say that the object of the mover of the motion has been served. In the face of these incidents they cannot but admit that their province lags far behind other provinces in respect of the civil liberties enjoyed by the people. The record of their doings in this respect is a sufficient proof of want of foresight and prudence on their part. With these words, Sir, I whole-heartedly support the adjournment motion moved by my honourable friend Lala Duni Chand.

Chaudhri Ali Akbar (Gurdaspur East, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, every citizen worth the name is well within his rights to defend his house against the inroads of riotous persons. Similarly, if the Honourable Premier wishes to protect his province against the political agitators hailing from other neighbouring provinces it is no crime on his part. In fact it is his duty to maintain law and order in the province at all costs. Since the honourable leader of the Opposition has remarked that Acharya Narendra Dev intended to visit Punjab and address meetings of zamindars, we had good reasons to fear lest he should succeed in exploiting the situation by creating misunderstanding among the simple and credulous population which is mainly illiterate and therefore there was greater danger of causing mischief. I, therefore, strongly and most emphatically object to this adjournment motion.

Raja Fateh Khan (Rawalpindi East, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, my honourable friend opposite has tried to accuse the Government of resorting to the so-called repressive policy against those political workers who venture to visit the Punjab for stirring the ashes of political riots and disorders. I would like to pay him in his own coin and show him that in this respect the Congress governments have proved themselves much more callous and oppressive as they do not spare even the social workers. All of us know that Allama Mushraqi has been running a purely social movement with no intention to embarrass the Government. But the Congress Government has unwisely and unnecessarily placed a ban on his movement in the United Provinces. It has passed orders under section 144 prohibiting the Khaksars to carry belchas and making formations while passing through public streets. In Bulandshahr its police has enacted appalling scenes by ruthlessly firing on peaceful khaksars causing death of some and injuries to others. In short the so-called just and impartial United Provinces Government has proved itself extremely tyrannical and oppressive. If such is the attitude of the congress governments against social workers, then does it lie in the mouth of the congressmen to blame the Punjab Government for taking proper actions against political workers?

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether this speech has got any relevancy at all?

Raja Fateh Khan : Sir, what I want to drive at is that every government is responsible for keeping law and order in its province. If it has good reasons to believe that the activities of certain persons are likely to create mischief in the province it is well within its rights to take immediate and necessary steps against them. Similarly our own Government was justified in imposing restrictions on a person who wanted to visit the Punjab simply to intensify the political unrest in the province. With these words, I strongly object to the adjournment motion under discussion.

Rao Pohob Singh (East Punjab, Landholders) (Urdu) : Sir, Acharya Narendra Dev is very probably a very learned man and a very sincere socialist, but I maintain that so far as practical socialism is concerned he cannot compete even with an ordinary man of our province. Charity, it is said, begins at home. May I, therefore, ask my friends of the Opposition whether the learned Acharya has completed his mission of spreading socialism in his own province? If he has not so far done his duty by his own province, why did he take the trouble of favouring the Punjab with an unnecessary visit? I call it an unnecessary visit because nobody can be allowed to presume to teach us socialism. We know it in theory as well as in practice. We are proceeding on the path of socialism in our own cautious and steady way. The honourable friends sitting to my right can never, plutocrats as they are, understand or preach true socialism. Acharya Narendra Dev made a mistake in selecting Rohtak for the display of his socialist theories. He ought to have known that socialism was not new to that district. The people of that district have already become true socialists through the sincere and consistent efforts of Sir Chhotu Ram. No outsider can spread socialism in the Punjab.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : On a point of order. We are not here to discuss personalities. The Minister for Development may be better than so many other people. But that is not the point under discussion.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I would request the honourable member to speak to the motion.

Rao Pohop Singh: It is the honourable members opposite that brought in the name of the Honourable Minister for Development. They said something and I could not desist from replying. I say you are not sincere in your professions of socialism.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I would request the honourable member to address the Chair.

Rao Pohop Singh : Now, Sir, I want to say just a word about the people whom the Acharya had come to address. I say this with the fullest sense of responsibility that the elements gathered together in that meeting were such that if Acharya Narendra Dev had been allowed to address them the peace and tranquillity of the district would have been seriously disturbed. To give you an example I may mention an honourable member of this House who always tries to make himself conspicuous. It was the opinion of every one concerned including the congressmen that the meeting at Asaudha should be held only if the said gentleman refrained from attending it. That honourable member was avowedly present in the gathering (Interruptions). Thus Rohtak is already blessed with true socialism. The honourable member Sardar Sohan Singh Josh says that if Acharya Narendra Dev had been allowed to speak at Rohtak, the expropriation of landlords would certainly have taken place. There is no big landlord there. There are the small proprietors, those brave and sturdy agriculturists would shed their blood in streams before anybody took their small pieces of land from them. Anyway my contention is that even if we take Acharya Narendra Dev for a saint, the elements in the meeting would have proved highly dangerous to peace and order in Rohtak if he had been allowed to address it.

Premier (The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan): I am sorry, Sir, I had to interrupt my honourable friend from Gurgaon in the middle of his speech, because I find that I have got only a few minutes to reply to the criticism made by my honourable friend opposite. In case my honourable friend wants to exercise his right of reply, he will have some time left for him.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : There is still one hour more.

Premier : We adjourn at 5-30. I am afraid, my honourable friend was not here when we decided that. We started at 3-50 and we decided to adjourn at 5-30. At any rate we suggested that we should start at 3-50 and adjourn at 5-30. My honourable friends suggested that since it was a non-official day we should not take much of the non-official time. I suggested that we shall curtail our speeches in order to accommodate them. If there is any mistake with regard to that I shall like to be corrected. We decided to adjourn at 5-30.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : At 5-40.

Premier : I thought we decided to begin at 3-50. Originally we suggested that we begin at 3-30 and finish at 5-30.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I suggested that we begin at 3-50 and finish at 5-45.

Premier : If that is so, I shall sit down, but I thought it was going to be adjourned at 5-30 and that is why I curtailed the speeches on my side. So far as the merits of the case are concerned, there is nothing very much to answer. I was awaiting an impeachment from my honourable and learned friend from Ambala and I was trembling in my shoes and I wondered whether I would be able to reply to that impeachment which would come from him, for he has not only forensic ability but also great knowledge that it is difficult for a poor layman like myself to meet his very wide and elastic arguments which he is always ready to put forward. His main points which I very carefully noted down are these, that Acharya Narendra Dev is a very respectable gentleman, that he is respectable because he declined to accept a seat in the United Provinces Cabinet, secondly that Mr. Bose declared that he would be prepared to withdraw his candidature for the presidency of the Congress in favour of Acharya Narendra Dev and that he is a big landlord. These are the arguments that he enumerated. As a matter of fact I have also learnt that Acharya Narendra Dev is one of the few people in this country who are held in great esteem not only in the United Provinces but throughout India. I have not had the pleasure of meeting him and if I had met him, perhaps it may not have been necessary for me to issue these orders to which objection has been taken by my honourable friends opposite. I was told by a certain common friend, of his numerous attributes and achievements. After hearing these I was satisfied that Acharya Narendra Dev is one of those personalities of whom ordinarily any province should be proud. But before I go on to the circumstances which made it necessary for us to issue those instructions, I should like to tell my honourable friend opposite that these orders were not passed in any vindictive mood. I did not know at that time that Acharya Narendra Dev was a respectable gentleman of the type which I came to know later. I did not pass these orders in a vindictive spirit. I should like to explain to my honourable friend opposite that it was necessary to pass these orders for his own sake. Now my honourable friends will say that this is a very paradoxical statement. So it appears, but when I explain to them, I am sure they will agree that I have done nothing wrong and as a matter of fact if there had been any one else in my place and had the same sense of responsibility which I claim to possess, I am sure he would also have taken the same action. Now with regard to Acharya's activities we have collected information and I have that information here before me. He, as you are aware, is a well-known active socialist. I did not know that he was a big landlord and that he was a socialist of the type of my friend Mian Iftikhar-ud-din, but this is neither here nor there. He is a socialist of that harmless type who are not out to create revolution and bloodshed in the country, but who preach socialism by persuasive means in a drawing room or an assembly chamber. I hope he is a socialist of that type. If that is so, my respect for him would be greater, because I detest any other type of socialists. They create trouble. I am sure he is one of the honest type. He is a well-known and active socialist and an ex-Principal of the Kashi Vidya Pith. In the course of a visit to the Punjab in 1938, he made certain speeches which a person of his position and disposition should not have made—at least this is my view. There may be difference of opinion, but with his temperament and his achievements and cultural attainments, I in his place would not have made these speeches. It is possible that they may have exaggerated or misreported his speeches; anyhow the report which I have received shows that he made those speeches. However, I ignore that. He again visited the Punjab in August 1938 when he addressed four meetings at Multan, Rawalpindi, Lyallpur and Lahore. This was, my honourable friends of Congress will remember, when they sent express messages to all the prominent figures in India to save them from the disintegration which had ensued as a result of the passing of the agrarian legislation. They sent S. O. S. to all leaders to rescue them. He came in response to that invitation. Acharya addressed four meetings at Multan, Rawalpindi, Lyallpur and Lahore and you can imagine what my information about him could be. Not knowing him otherwise, I only came to know of his attributes later on from a common friend. At that time I was told that he went about trying to remove the misconception of the people by saying that these agrarian Bills were not for the benefit of ignorant and poor people but for the rich people which is a common slogan with many of my friends here and outside. He also in one or two places preached revolution.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I question that statement.

Premier : I said this was the report that I received. It is quite possible that he was misreported. There have been cases where misreporting has been done. Judging from what he has been described to be, it is very unlikely that he should have made that speech, but I know that at the spur of the moment in order to arouse enthusiasm in the audience one is apt at times to say such things.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : That is the experience of your colleagues.

Premier : It is possible that having nothing else to say, having no weapon to try to meet the position created by the passing of the agrarian Bills, he may have said something to create certain amount of enthusiasm in the audience. Speakers if they cannot find something rational say sometimes irrational things and he also may have in the heat of the moment in trying to prop up a very weak case against the agrarian Bills, said something like this. Subsequently he was elected President of the All-India

Kisan Sabha for the year 1939-40, and in July, 1939, 5 P.M. he was invited to the Punjab by the Punjab Kisan Committee for the express purpose—I should like my nonourable friend opposite to bear in mind—for the purpose of putting, as they call it, a fresh life into the so-called Kisan morcha at Lahore, which agitation was then on the decline. As is well-known this agitation has been causing a great deal of harassment to people—several dupes, ignorant dupes, not only agriculturists but non-agriculturists—and most of them were duped and I think suffered not only incarceration but also pecuniary loss, because they were taken away from their work and home. Under these circumstances was it not the duty of the Government to see that nothing was done in this province to give a fillip to a bogus movement which has already proved so detrimental to the interest of the Kisans—a movement which has led to rioting and bloodshed? I may have been wrong in my judgment, but that was the view that I took after reading the report, and I am sure my honourable friend would vindicate me and say that if I took any action to stop such a calamity, I was not wrong in taking that action.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu) : What is the source of his information to the effect that Acharya Narendra Dev's intended visit to Rohtak was in connection with Kisan morcha ?

Premier : People belonging to the Kisan morcha are sitting behind my honourable friend and he should enquire from them whether they invited Acharya Narendra Dev or not.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : If any honourable member wants to put a question, he must do so through the Chair.

Premier : I hope my honourable friend is not a member of the Kisan Committee. He cannot be.

Now, Sir, under all these circumstances what we did was that we told Acharya Narendra Dev that he should not go to Rohtak nor enter this province. His answer to the Chief Secretary was that he must enter the province and that he could not obey the suggestion made to him. It was, therefore, impossible for us to allow him to come. Under the circumstances which I have already explained, without issuing an order under the Criminal Law Amendment Act, all that I did was to issue an order that he should leave the province and I have done that on several occasions, because as I have already and repeatedly stated on the floor of this House, I believe in prevention rather than cure. Prevention is always better. It saves trouble all round. (An honourable member : You are afraid of women also). My honourable friend jibes that we are also afraid of women. I have great respect for women. I am, therefore, afraid of them lest we might do anything which may be conducive to create the impression that we do not respect women-folk. It is for this reason that we did not take that action which has been taken in some other provinces. My honourable friend always forces me into that invidious task. The honourable member had the audacity and cheek to say that we had betrayed the cause of our province and that in this province we are living practically on the point of the bayonet. He probably forgot that in another province, which he would remember at once when I mention the incident, it was considered illegal and an order was passed that no criticism should be made by anybody in the Press or on the platform with regard to a certain measure of taxation, which was passed by that Government. Compare this with what is happening in the Punjab. Have I ever touched anybody or asked anybody to leave the province because he abused my Government? No, not in a single case. I challenge anybody here or outside to show a single instance where I have taken action against anybody who has criticised my Government or any individual Minister.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Only yesterday we read in the papers that Maulana Attallah was prosecuted under Section 124-A, Indian Penal Code, for criticising the Unionist Government, and that the sentence was set aside by the High Court.

Premier : That he might have read in his own paper.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Not my paper alone. It has appeared in all other papers including the Tribune.

Premier : Then those papers must be on the same level as my honourable friend's paper.

I was going to say that that very case went up to the High Court and eventually the High Court upheld the order and yet my honourable friend had the audacity to say that there was a suppression of civil liberties in this province. When in another province even honest criticisms of a measure have been barred and banned, here we are abused both in this House and outside with impunity and yet we take no action, and still you say that you are living under Fascist rule. That is my honourable friends' view that they are living under Fascist rule. I can assure him that it is not a betrayal of the right of citizenship as my honourable friend Lala Duni Chand has pointed out. But it would have been a betrayal of the right of citizenship of the people of the Punjab, if I had allowed these people to come to the Punjab and light that powder magazine, which you know exists in several quarters in the Punjab; if I had allowed anybody to put a spark it would have lighted the magazine and allowed the things to be blown up if you had not taken the precaution to stop that conflagration. I only requested him to leave Rohtak and go to Delhi, which is 25 miles away from Rohtak and thus stopped conflagration, but you charge me of betraying the right of citizenship. What has happened in other provinces? My honourable friend knows all. It is not necessary for me to go into the affairs of other provinces; but I must say that it is not the betrayal of citizenship in the Punjab if the Punjab is kept tranquil. Here in the Punjab we have not used troops or sought for the assistance of regular military force to keep law and order. We have not done anything here which would create an impression amongst any section of the people that they are being oppressed. If that is betrayal of the rights of citizenship, then I plead guilty to the charge. For this betrayal of the right of citizenship I would request the honourable member to look to the other side of the Jumna and not to the Punjab. (Cheers).

Now, Sir, my honourable friend in the heat of the moment, I dare say, went on to say that I had been visiting Cawnpore, Allahabad and all other places in the United Provinces. I denied it; but he would yet persist and say that I went there with the sinister object of dividing the two communities. He said: "You went there to encourage communalism and prop up the League, which is standing between India and its freedom." These are the words which he actually used. I have, on several occasions, explained why I joined the Muslim League. It is not the Muslim League which is standing in the way of freedom of India. I can assure you that if the League does that, I will be the first person to spurn it and to leave it. (Cheers). I can assure my honourable friend that if we can secure a semblance of freedom—mind you I am using the words 'semblance of freedom' of a great man—it would be because that very League, which my honourable friend is now criticising, would be instrumental in securing it. He said that I went there to mature a scheme to divide India into several parts. God save us from our friends. He knows perfectly well that the ambition that has been uppermost throughout my career, is to bring the two communities together. I wonder if he has read my scheme. I put that scheme on paper in black and white with a view to concentrate opinion—Muslim opinion practically—on a scheme which would be conducive—

Sardar Sampuran Singh : Is this relevant?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : He is replying to Lala Duni Chand's remarks.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu) : On a point of order. Can an irrelevant speech be replied to by a similar irrelevant speech?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Because it was allowed, I have to look upon it as relevant for the purpose of reply.

Premier : I was saying that I would be the last person to do anything of the kind. As a matter of fact, if my honourable friend knew what I had been doing, he would not have, even in the heat of the moment, used those words. I can assure him that, instead of dividing India, I have been striving and trying to bring the two communities together because I believe that unless we make up our differences, settle our differences, it would be impossible for us to make any headway in our political sphere or to improve our status. I warned several leaders on both sides that this was a splendid opportunity to make up and that they should make up immediately if they wanted to attain that ideal or objective which any patriotic Indian had before him. But, unfortunately, I am not yet successful. Still I have not lost hope. I am sure that during the next few months, if not weeks, those people who hitherto have failed to appreciate the situation will appreciate that unless we make sacrifices—sacrifices of a much bigger magnitude than you are prepared to make to-day—there would be no freedom for this country and no reciprocity if those sacrifices are not made. As I said, I am hopeful that that consummation, for which I have been working, will be achieved and I hope that when that is achieved I will have at least the satisfaction of knowing that my friend's remarks, that he made during this debate, were uncalled for, unwanted and unjust. Before I sit down, may I also point out to my honourable friend the real reason which is responsible for the adjournment motion and also for this trouble? It would not be necessary for me to pass such orders against people like Acharya Narendra Dev or people of that status but unfortunately the biggest political party—not the Opposition, they are in a minority—have allowed those elements to work into their organisation, which are not only hostile but, I know, are definitely under-mining the influence of that very body. For a momentary advantage they have allowed all kinds of heterogeneous elements to creep into the Congress and that is why you get very diverse and conflicting elements on those benches. If the Opposition were constituted only of ten members—real, orthodox and honest Congressmen—I am sure its position, both morally and otherwise, would have been much better than to have those people with them who do not believe in them actually and who thwart them and, as a matter of fact, stampede them.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : We mind our business very well, you mind your own.

Premier : I would, therefore, appeal to my friends of the Congress—orthodox Congressmen—to get rid of that heterogeneous medley of communalists, communists and hooligans and once they get rid of them, I am sure that the Punjab will be a much better province and the Congress in this province would be stronger than it is at present. (Voices : Question be now put).

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava (Lahore City, General, Urban) (Urdu): Sir, I realize that there is neither sufficient time at my disposal nor do I feel justified in saying things which go beyond the scope of the matter now before the House. I would, therefore, confine myself to what is strictly relevant to this matter. To begin with, I may submit that no Government worth the name is entitled to prohibit a person, a believer of non-violence, from expressing any opinions he happens to hold. And more so it is not at all justified in banning the entry of such a person into its own territory. But our Government banned the entry of Acharya Narendra Dev, a believer in non-violence, into the Punjab and served an order of externment on him under the Emergency Powers Act. If my friends had stated that Mr. Acharya Narendra Dev was in the habit of preaching violence, then the action of the Government could be justified. But if my friends served this order of externment on the ground that he was expected to preach violence then I may submit that this action on the part of the Government was quite contrary to law. Even if we take it for granted that the Government was justified in issuing such an order, still it was not decent on the part of the Government to have issued such an order against a person who believes in the creed of non-violence and has in fact never preached violent revolution. Such actions on the part of the Government are tantamount to suppression of civil liberties. That is why we say that the Government has abused its authority by banning the entry of Acharya Narendra Dev into the Punjab.

There is yet another matter which I wish to bring to your notice, that is, that the Honourable Premier while replying stated that Mr. Acharya Narendra Dev was one of the few persons who were held in great esteem throughout the country and that any country could be proud of him. But what is the use of all this eulogy when he was not allowed the ordinary liberty of expressing his own opinions? It is our Government which treats eminent persons like Mr. Acharya Narendra Dev so very badly. I am averse to making comparisons but if my honourable friends over there wish to do that they would find that the Punjab Government would be leading in the matter of suppressing the civil liberties of the people as well. I do not like to press this matter further and I leave it here.

Besides, the Honourable Premier stated in the course of his speech that Mr. Acharya Narendra Dev visited this province previously as well and on one or two occasions he actually preached revolution and he visited this province again to put fresh life in the kisan morcha. I repudiate this suggestion and declare it on the floor of the House that this allegation is entirely unfounded. Mr. Acharya Narendra Dev is one of those persons who would not even begin civil disobedience without the previous sanction of the High Command. I appeal to the Honourable Premier that while issuing such externment orders he should not place implicit confidence in the police reports. I would, therefore, submit that the Government have singularly failed to make out a case to justify their action in issuing orders for banning the entry of Acharya Narendra Dev. It is a thousand pities that the Punjab Government took such a drastic step as to prohibit a person of the nature of Acharya Narendra Dev who is a devotee of non-violence and truth, from entering the Punjab, while they did not move their little finger against certain responsible persons who have been openly advocating and preaching violence and class hatred in the press and on the platform. The long arm of the law becomes ineffective in their case. My submission is that the Government should adopt a uniform principle. They should not make invidious discriminations. The law of the land should be applied to all with even-handed justice. But the difficulty is that Government exercise their powers injudiciously. Whenever they find that a certain person would unravel the hollowness of their claims and substantiate his statement with facts and figures, they bring into operation the pernicious provisions of their repressive laws and gag or restrain that person from doing so. This action is tantamount to an attack on the civil liberties of the people. I strongly deprecate this action on the part of the Government and assert that they have no right to trample upon the civil liberties of the people. With these words I support the motion now before the House.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker resumed the chair.)

Lala Duni Chand : Sir, I want to make a request to the Honourable Premier, and it is this. He has made an unfair use of his position in using the language against his opponents, which he should not. I give a challenge to the Honourable Premier that I did not say anything that was objectionable. On the other hand, I can say that he has used the language which he should not have used. He has said that the reason for a ban upon the entry of Mr. Acharaya and for his arrest was his own safety. This is an argument for the first time that anybody in the Punjab has heard. May I ask him, assuming that he was very anxious for the safety of Mr. Acharya, whether under the Criminal Law Amendment Act he could arrest him on that ground? The grounds which are given for prohibiting his entry are quite different. If he is anxious for the safety of people, then I can point out to him that almost every day murders are being committed in the Rohtak district. The offence of murder is rife in that district. If he is anxious to protect people, let him protect those who are being murdered in large numbers in that district. I am sorry to say that he cannot be praised for his actions. I may also point out that now the atmosphere of the Rohtak district is quite different from the atmosphere of 7th October when he rode on an elephant and went in a procession. Things have altogether changed. This is due to the work of the Congress that people have come to realise that it is no good doing goondaism. He says that he has done this thing and that thing. May I ask him whether there is any justification on the part of his Government to demand security from the Haryana Tilak paper for which an honourable member of this House, Pandit Shri Ram Sharma, has been responsible? If things of that kind are being done in the Rohtak district, certainly the Punjab Government cannot take pride for them. My last word to the Honourable Premier is this. Alexander the Great constructed a wall for the protection of his people and if the Honourable Premier is also ambitious enough to copy Alexander the Great, he should not construct hadd-i-Sikandri, that he has been constructing so far. Let him demolish that wall that he has been busy in constructing and let him copy Alexander the Great. Let not the wall be of the type of hadd-i-Sikandri that he has built.

Mr. Speaker : I have to make the following announcement. Two candidates were nominated for election to the Durgah Committee, Ajmer ; but as one of the two candidates, Khan Bahadur Raja Muhammad Akram Khan, has withdrawn his candidature, no election need be held.

The Assembly then adjourned till 2-30 p. m. on Friday, 27th October, 1939.

PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

SIXTH SESSION OF THE FIRST PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Friday, 27th October, 1939.

*The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at 2.30 p.m., of the clock.
Mr. Speaker in the Chair.*

ADJOURNMENT MOTIONS (postponement)

Premier : I am sorry my friend, the Leader of the Opposition, is not here. We have come to an arrangement that we should break up to-day at 5.30 P. M. on account of Ramzan, and since it will give us only three hours for work to-day, I am going to suggest that we should not take up any adjournment motion to-day, and if any is allowed it should be taken up for discussion on Monday next. I hope you will kindly allow it to be taken up on Monday and not reject it merely because it is not taken up to-day.

I also suggest to my friend who is now in his seat that to save time we should dispense with questions to-day and take up to-day's questions at the next meeting of the session, because after all it is going to be a long session and it would be no harm if questions are put off for a day. That will give us an additional hour to dispose of the other business and instead of four and a half hours we will get three hours and lose only one and a half hours. I hope my friend will agree to this suggestion. He has already agreed to the first.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : As far as the adjournment motions are concerned, the Honourable Premier and I have already agreed that none should be taken up to-day. I have no objection if the adjournment motions are not taken up to-day.

As for questions, there are very few of them and I think they will be finished in half an hour.

Premier : Very well, let us devote half an hour to questions, and then the Bills can be taken up.

Mr. Speaker : Will the Honourable Premier, please, move formal motions to have the arrangement, mentioned by him, approved by the House?

Premier : Very well, Sir. I move—

That the question hour to-day be limited to half an hour.

The motion was carried.

Premier : I move—

That the Speaker do adjourn the Assembly to-day at 5.30 P.M. without question put.

The motion was carried.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

4723. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Before you call upon any honourable member to ask a question may I put supplementaries to my question which was answered the other day ? On the 24th when the Honourable Premier answered the question¹ regarding press securities I was denied this opportunity as he could not lay the statement on the table of the House that day. I suggested that in view of the fact that the statement was not there, I must have another opportunity of putting supplementary questions. This was agreed to. May I put some supplementary questions now ?

Premier : I have no objection.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know from the Honourable Premier whether he has read the statement which was laid by him on the table in reply to my question, and whether he knows the number of the newspapers and the presses and the amount of deposits which have been demanded as securities ; and whether it is a fact that the number of newspapers and periodicals from which security has been demanded during the last two years is 300 ?

Premier : My honourable friend has put the question whether the figures in that statement are correct. Prima facie they are. My honourable friend has overlooked the fact that securities are demanded by the district magistrates. They have the fullest discretion to demand them or not. It has nothing to do with the local Government, except in certain cases when the matter is referred to the local Government.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does the Honourable Premier mean that the district magistrates are free to act against the policy of the provincial Government or that they have acted against the policy of the Government ?

Premier : There is no question of policy here. It is a question of a particular law.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does the Honourable Premier approve of the action taken by the district magistrates ?

Premier : I am afraid I cannot give a general answer. If he mentions any specific case, I would inquire whether the district magistrate used his discretion properly or not.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the Honourable Premier satisfied that the district magistrates have rightly used their discretion in demanding securities from all papers and periodicals in their districts ?

Premier : I have no reason to be dissatisfied with my district magistrates, unless a specific instance where they have erred is brought to my notice, I will continue to believe that they have used their discretion properly.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : When did it occur to him for the first time that the number of periodicals and newspapers from which securities have been demanded is as high as 300 ?

Premier : My friend has not followed me. This is not a question of normal or abnormal. It depends on the circumstances of each year.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Can he state the number of periodicals and newspapers from which securities were demanded in the year 1936 or 1935 ?

Premier : My honourable friend will have to put that on paper before he can expect me to give a definite reply.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What is the basis for his statement then that the figure is not abnormal when he is not in a position to give us the figures for that period ?

Premier : The number did strike me as high, but on inquiry it was found that in the circumstances it was not as high as it seemed.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Can he give us the approximate number and say whether it was 100, 200 or 250 ? What was the approximate number ?

Premier : I have already said that the honourable member will have to put that question on paper if he wants a definite reply.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Then he had no right to make the statement that the number is not abnormal.

Mr. Speaker : That is an uncalled for remark.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it a fact that a large majority of cases from which securities have been demanded are such which had applied for declaration for the first time and from whom the district magistrates had absolutely no reason to demand securities ? Is he aware of that fact ?

Premier : My honourable friend is under a misapprehension. The district magistrates have every discretion to ask for a security even in the very first instance. A man may have applied for a declaration and yet the district magistrate has discretion to ask for a security, but that can be asked only if he is satisfied that it is necessary to do so and without satisfying himself he would not ask for the security. My honourable friend is moving in a vicious circle.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Has the Honourable Premier issued any instructions to the district magistrates to demand securities as a rule from all the papers which apply for a declaration ?

Premier : No, Sir.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it not a fact that it has become almost a practice in the Punjab that the district magistrates demand securities from papers at the very first instance when they apply for declaration.

Premier : It may be due to the fact that the number of scurrilous papers has increased.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does the Honourable Premier mean to imply that all these papers are scurrilous ?

Premier : Certainly not. But I do mean to imply that the security asked from these papers must be on good reasons.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does the Honourable Premier mean to say that the Government or the district magistrates are in a position to decide whether a paper is scurrilous or otherwise even before the paper takes birth ?

Premier : Yes. I can do so if I know the person who is going to publish the paper.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does he know that he freely leads the rest of India in this respect and that there is no other province in which the number of papers and presses whose securities have been forfeited and from whom securities have been demanded is so high ?

Mr. Speaker : Hypothetical question. I cannot allow any more questions. Those members who have given notice of questions for to-day have a prior right.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Notice of this question was given long ago and they could easily collect all relevant information.

Mr. Speaker : I have given more than enough time to the honourable member.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Is not the number of newspapers from which security was demanded in 1936 only 21 and the number of such presses only 20 ? Does the Premier mean to say that the answer given to my question on the 7th April, 1938, is wrong ?

Premier : I must see the other question to satisfy myself that both are about the same matter. In any case my honourable friend can put the question in black and white to get facts and figures.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I rose to ask another question.

Mr. Speaker : I am not bound to allow supplementary questions in such a length and in such numbers.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I wish to point out that it is a very important matter and you should give more latitude for supplementary questions.

Mr. Speaker : I will allow one question to the honourable member. Let him resume his seat.

Premier : With reference to Dr. Gopi Chand's question, my honourable friend, the Leader of the Opposition has not probably read the heading of the question. It is regarding the papers whose securities have been forfeited and not papers from whom securities have been demanded. If he will see that he will find that the number of securities forfeited is much less now than in that particular case.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it not a fact that securities demanded from many papers have been demanded under orders of the Chief Secretary and not under the orders of the district magistrates ?

Premier : My honourable friend's information is wrong. In all cases these orders are not of the Chief Secretary. The district magistrate has full authority to ask for any sum. In some cases the Chief Secretary does get papers but he passes orders with my knowledge and permission.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I invite the attention of the Honourable Premier to the fact that the list I have quoted is the list of those newspapers and printing presses from whom security was required during the period of 1982-87? There are two parts of my question.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I seek your guidance as to the stage at which one can rise to give notice of a motion for adjournment arising out of the unsatisfactory nature of the reply given by the Treasury benches?

I presume it would be quite in order if I give notice now and I presume it will also be quite in order if I give half an hour before the meeting on Monday next.

Mr. Speaker : Yes.

Premier : In 1986 there were 86 newspapers.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Thirty-six newspapers and 25 printing presses?

Premier : If he would take a little trouble and look at the name of these printing presses and papers he will find that there are a number of mushroom papers. Action was taken against them by another Government and he now wants me to take action which I refuse to take.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it not a fact that the paper Haryana Titak and its press were asked to furnish security under the orders of the Chief Secretary and that the district magistrate had nothing to do with it?

Premier : That is quite correct, because we had stopped the district magistrate from taking any action against the paper, because of you, without our orders. There were complaints against you every day and I ordered that the district magistrate should take no action against you without our approval, but when the matter went too far we had no alternative.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know if the Honourable Premier is in a position to state in how many cases out of these 800 papers and 67 presses the district magistrates acted according to the advice from above?

Premier : Where he can use his discretion, he has not to take orders from anybody else.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Was their discretion unfettered or were they obliged to take action, because the Premier or his Chief Secretary or other ministers wanted them to act in a particular manner?

Premier : My honourable friend is wholly erroneous in his presumption or assumption. He is trying to generalize from his own views what others may do.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Do I understand that the local Government had nothing to do with these demands of securities?

Premier : The local Government gave sanction in certain cases and I have already told him that in those cases orders were passed with my consent. They cannot be passed by the Chief Secretary alone.

TECHNICAL TRAINING IN BEE-KEEPING.

4800. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state the number and names of students who were given technical training during the financial year 1938-39 in bee-keeping farms of Kangra district and also the names of places and their residence ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : A statement is laid on the table showing the number, names and residence of students who attended the bee-keeping courses held at Nagrota (District Kangra) and Raison (Kulu) with effect from the 21st March, 1938, to the 20th May, 1938, and the 22nd August, 1938, to the 21st October, 1938, respectively.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Are the students from the Kangra district alone taken into these schools or students from other districts also ?

Minister : If my honourable friend looks at the list, he will find that students are being taken from districts other than Kangra also.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Is any special consideration shown to the students of the Kangra district ?

Minister : No.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister please state whether any restriction has been laid or any instruction given by the Government in connection with admission ?

Minister : Government has neither laid down any restriction nor given any instruction in this connection. If, however, any restrictions have been laid down or instructions issued on the subject by the Head of the Department I do not know.

STIPENDS FOR STUDENTS ADMITTED TO SPINNING AND WEAVING SCHOOLS AT PALAMPUR.

4801. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state the total number, names and residences of the students admitted to the spinning and weaving school at Palampur in the Kangra district and whether they have to take some tests before admission ; if so, what, and whether any stipends are provided for them ; if so, how many ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : A statement showing the total number, names and residences of students admitted to the Wool Spinning and Weaving School at Palampur in last September is laid on the table.

No regular tests for admission are held. The Demonstrator interviews the candidates and generally admits more than 25 students, so that after watching their work for a few days, he can make a final selection up to the number permitted for this party.

Every student is paid a stipend of Rs. 4 per mensem.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Is the Honourable Minister aware that the arrangement so far made for the training of the students is inadequate ?

Minister : No.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Does the Government intend to extend the school to other parts of the district also ?

Minister : I have not considered that point.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Will he consider that point ?

Mr. Speaker : That is a request for action.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Has the Government got any intention to extend the facilities of training to other parts of the district ?

Minister : I have not thought of that question at all.

APPOINTMENT OF DEBT CONCILIATION BOARD FOR MULTAN DISTRICT.

4833. Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state whether it has so far been decided to appoint a Debt Conciliation Board in the district of Multan; if so, when that decision may be expected to mature and, if not, the reasons for ignoring an important district like Multan in this respect?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : First part : Yes.

Second part. The decision matured on the 16th June, 1939.

INQUIRY INTO THE CONDUCT OF MR. ABDUL RASHID KHAN, WORKS MANAGER, CENTRAL JAIL PRESS, LAHORE.

4842. Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that some time ago a committee consisting of Mr. Bourne, Deputy Commissioner, Lahore, and Mr. Tilt, Special Expert, Civil and Military gazette, was appointed to make inquiries into the conduct of Mr. Abdul Rashid Khan, Works Manager, Central Jail Press, Lahore;
- (b) what were the charges against the Works Manager and whether they were substantiated;
- (c) if answer to (a) and (b) above be in the affirmative, the action that the Government has taken on the report of the committee, and, if no action has been taken, the reasons therefor?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : (a) An inquiry was held by these gentlemen under orders of Government into the affairs of the three Government presses generally.

(b) No charges had been framed against the Works Manager.

(c) It is not in the public interest to disclose the action taken on the inquiry report.

COURT NOTICES ISSUED BY DEBT CONCILIATION BOARDS OF PANIPAT, SONEPAT, HANSI AND GURGAON.

4851. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state—

- (a) the amount spent newspapers-wise on court notices by the Debt Conciliation Boards of Panipat, Sonapat, Hansi and Gurgaon separately from the time these were appointed up to 31st March, 1939;
- (b) the names of newspapers published in these four districts and whether any court notices were sent to any of these for being published?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : (a) A statement is laid on the table.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know the names of newspapers that have been provided with Debt Conciliation Board notices for being published ?

Minister : Fresh notice is required for this question.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I want to know the name of that newspaper and that is all.

Minister : The honourable member has not made that request in the original question.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it true that that unduly favoured newspaper is the Jat Gazette of Rohtak started by the Honourable Minister himself ?

Minister : Yes, it is true.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What are the instructions issued by the Government under which newspapers are provided with advertisements ?

Minister : The instructions issued by the Government are confidential and therefore I cannot disclose them.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Are these rates at which notices are published fixed by the Government ?

Minister : No instructions have been issued by the Government in connection with advertisement rates.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Are those rates fixed according to the wishes of the Government ?

Minister : No. They are fixed by the head of the department or by the papers themselves.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Who is that head of the department ?

Minister : I think either the Director of Information Bureau or the Chief Secretary.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether these wages are the same for all the newspapers ?

Minister : I do not know.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister take the trouble of finding it out ?

Minister : No.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it true that all these papers mentioned by the Honourable Minister for Development not only support the Unionist party but carry on propaganda on behalf of the Unionist party and in consideration thereof this mehrbani is shown to them ?

Minister : Some of these papers probably give expression to views which are favourable to the Unionist party.

Lala Duni Chand : Does the Honourable Minister for Development recognize the fact or is he aware that this kind of patronage corrupts public opinion ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

CIVIL AND CRIMINAL CASES FILED BY CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES IN ROHTAK, AND THREE OTHER DISTRICTS.

4852. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of cases, civil and criminal, filed by co-operative societies against their debtors and pending since 1st April, 1937, in the district of Rohtak, Gurgaon, Hissar and Karnal separately ;
- (b) the amount of money already spent in litigation by these societies in conducting such cases and the amount of money, if any, realized and expected to be realized as a result of such litigation ;
- (c) the number of decrees obtained so far by these societies and the extent of movable and immovable property auctioned in satisfaction of the decrees obtained and also the number of arrests made in connection with this litigation during this period ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : A statement is laid on the table.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that this state of affairs and litigation carried on by the co-operative societies are the result of the Government's policy, and that agriculturist class have lost their credit ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

CORRESPONDENCE WITH PLANNING COMMITTEE SET UP BY CONGRESS PROVINCES.

4861. Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state whether any correspondence has passed between the Planning Committee set up by the Congress provinces and the Punjab Government ; if so, whether he will be pleased to lay it on the table of the House ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : Yes. Government do not consider it in the public interest to lay this correspondence on the table.

IRON AND STEEL ROLLING MILLS.

4862. Dr. Satyapal : Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state—

- (a) the names and numbers of and places where iron and steel rolling mills are working in the province ;
- (b) working hours of these mills and how these are regulated ;
- (c) whether these factories were inspected by the Chief Inspector of the Government, if so, whether any complaints were received and recorded by him and the action taken on those complaints ;
- (d) the number of accidents which took place in these factories in 1938 and the compensation paid to the injured persons ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : As the answer is lengthy I lay it on the table.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : On a point of order, Sir. I want to invite your attention to Rule 27 (1) which runs as follows :—

“Lengthy answers to starred questions may, on statement by the Minister concerned, be placed on the table of the Assembly without being read, but a copy in such case shall, if possible, be delivered to the member interrogating, one day in advance of such answer being placed on the table.”

Then why has it not been possible for the Minister concerned to send an advance copy of the statement to the member interrogating, so that he may be in a position to put supplementary questions ?

Minister : Necessary instructions would be issued to meet the wishes of my honourable friend in future.

(a) List of iron and steel rolling mills in the Punjab registered under the Factories Act is given below :—

1. Ravi Verma Steel Works, Ambala Cantonment.
2. Khan Bahadur Chisty and Sons, Steel Rolling and Iron Foundry, Ravi Road, Lahore.
3. Habib Ullah-Ghulam Muhammad Iron and Steel Works, Lahore.
4. Raghu Ram-Tulsi Ram Steel Rolling Mills, Badamibagh, Lahore.
5. The Lahore Steel Rolling Mills, Lahore.
6. Mukand Steel Rolling Mills, Badamibagh, Lahore.
7. Karori Mal-Sita Ram Rolling Mills, Badamibagh, Lahore.
8. Lall's Ltd., Steel Roller Mills, Chheharta, Amritsar.
9. The Partap Steel Rolling Mills, Chheharta, Amritsar.
10. Ahmad Bux and Bros., Rolling Mills, Lahore.

(b) The working hours of the mills are given below :—

(c) List of factories inspected by the Chief Factory Inspector during 1988-89 :—

1. Mukand Steel Rolling Mills, Badamibagh, Lahore.
2. Raghu Ram-Tulsi Ram, Steel Rolling Mills, Badamibagh, Lahore.
3. Khan Bahadur Chisty and Sons, Steel Rolling and Iron Foundry, Lahore.
4. Habib Ullah-Ghulam Muhammad Iron and Steel Works, Lahore.
5. Karori Mal-Sita Ram Rolling Mills, Badamibagh, Lahore.
6. Ahmad Bux and Bros. Rolling Mills, Lahore.

The undermentioned complaints were received against the working of these mills :—

Four complaints were received from the General Secretary, Foundry Workers' Union, Lahore, against the overemployment of workers, failure to report accidents and non-payment of compensation. So far as overemployment and not reporting of accidents is concerned, they were investigated by the Inspectors and found to be baseless. In one case, i.e., in the case of Karori Mal-Sita Ram Rolling Mills, Badamibagh, it was found that they had failed to report one accident which they ought to have done under the rules, for which legal action has been taken against the manager. As regards non-payment of compensation no action could be taken as the law does not provide for action by this department.

One complaint was received from the Secretary, Amritsar Labour Federation, and two anonymous complaints from Amritsar against the working of Laul's Ltd., Steel Rolling Mills, Chheharta. These complaints on investigation by the Additional Inspector, Amritsar Circle, were found to be baseless.

[Minister of Development.]

APPLICATION OF SARDAR HARI SINGH FOR LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Mr. Speaker : I have received an application, dated the 18th of October, 1939, from the honourable Sardar Hari Singh. It runs as follows :—

I am serving my sentence of 9 months' simple imprisonment in Lahore Central, Jail, under Section 117/188, Indian Penal Code, and my release is due on 27th June, 1940. I shall not be able to attend sittings of the Assembly till the date of my release. Therefore, I have the honour to submit, through you, to the House the following application for leave of absence.

"I heroby beg leave of the Assembly to excuse my attendance at sittings of the House till my date of release from prison, i.e., 27th June, 1940, where I am serving my sentence of 9 months' simple imprisonment under Section 117/188, Indian Penal Code."

The question is that the permission be granted.

The Assembly agreed.

FACTORIES (PUNJAB AMENDMENT) BILL.

Minister for Development (The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram) : Sir, I beg to introduce the Factories (Punjab Amendment) Bill.

I also move—

That the Factories (Punjab Amendment) Bill be circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon by the 15th December, 1939.

Sir, while making this motion I may say just a few words to explain the object which this amendment has in view. In this province industrial development is taking place at a fairly rapid pace. It is expected that while the war is in progress, this pace will be accelerated still further. Therefore, it is necessary to see that nothing happens which will lead to what is known as cut-throat competition between one industrial concern and another. With this end in view this amending Bill has been introduced so that haphazard growth of industrial concerns at a few centres only may be avoided. Another object which this amendment has in view is that there should be no unnecessary congestion of labour in a single centre or at a few centres in the province. Therefore, what is proposed by this Bill is that no industrial concern should be started or worked except with the permission of the Government and under a registration certificate which will be issued by an authority to be prescribed by Government.

Another minor object is to get a little revenue out by means of prescribing a registration fee so that at least a part of the working expenses of this department should be met by receipts from registration fees.

With these words I commend the motion to the acceptance of the House.

Mr. Speaker : The motion moved is—

That the Factories (Punjab Amendment) Bill be circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon by the 15th December, 1939.

Diwan Chaman Lall (East Punjab, Non-Union Labour) : Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this motion moved by my friend, the Minister for Development. At the very outset I wish to point out that my honourable friend, as is his usual habit when presenting a Bill before this House, confines himself to the briefest of brief statements regarding his intentions in propounding a measure before this House. I should have thought that by now he might have found it necessary to take those of us who are fairly ignorant, not quite so wise or intelligent or as well informed as my honourable friend opposite, into confidence and to tell us something more definite than he is in the habit of telling us with regard to all measures which he wishes to propound.

Now, after listening to his very brief statement one would run away with the impression that it is an absolutely innocuous measure meant for the good of the province and for the effective advance of industries in the Punjab. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to doubt the sincerity of my honourable friend in wanting to propound a measure for the objects which he has mentioned. But I am afraid I do not see eye to eye with him in regard to the aims and objects of this measure. There are two essential points to be considered and kept in view by this House before it gives my honourable friend necessary leave to circulate this measure.

Those two points refer, firstly, to new factories which may be started in the province and, secondly, to the existing factories. Now remember that if this measure is passed the result will be that not a single factory will be allowed to start operations in this province unless and until my honourable friend desires that that particular factory should be set up. He said that authority will be given to somebody to be appointed by the Government by name later on. He may be a district magistrate of the type about whom we have heard this morning and who is capable of asking for securities from 300 journalists in the brief period of one or two years. He may be an individual who may have a particular bias in regard to the class who may want to start an industry. He may be a particular individual who may be opposed to or against the starting of all industries. His word is going to be the official and final word in regard to the setting up of a new factory in the province. The second point is that it is the same individual, who that individual may be I do not know, but it appears that it must be the same individual to whom the application is to be made by the existing factory owners. The object, therefore, of my honourable friend is two-fold, that is, to keep complete control and hold over industrial development of the province and to rule the province in regard to its industries by the fiat of a dictator appointed by my honourable friend, and that only those industrialists and those individuals whom the Government favours should start industries or be allowed to start industries in this province. That is a very valid fear in the minds of those who wish more enlightenment from my honourable friend. My honourable friend is wishing to amend section 5 and section 9 of the Factories Act. The new section is to be called 5-A. 5-A has absolutely no relevance to Section 5. Section 5 says:—

"5. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in clause (j) of section 2, the Local Government may,"

Now, clause (j) of section 2 refers to the definition of a factory. What is a factory? A factory, under this Factories Act, is a premise—a place—where twenty or more workers are engaged in the process of manufacture by power. Section 5 says that notwithstanding that limitation which has been placed in clause (j) of section 2, the Government shall have the power to declare any other factory, employing a lesser number of men than twenty, whether worked by power or not worked by power, to be a factory. That is the power given to the Local Government to exempt them from these provisions and bring those factories within the provision of this measure which is not covered by clause (j) of section 2, namely, where twenty or more people are working and in any part of which a manufacturing process is carried on with the aid of power.

This section is sought to be expanded by my honourable friend. But where is the relevancy of the two? Here is a power given to rope in more factories under the Factories Act but my honourable friend, by suggesting amendment under section 5-A does not want to rope in more factories but control the existence and growth of factories by means, as I have stated, of a dictator. So, it has no relevancy to section 5. It is absolutely a new thing which he could have brought not by means of an amendment but by means of a substantive Act considering that it has absolutely no connection with the section that my honourable friend is wanting to expand. The same thing is true of section 9. Section 9-A is sought to be added to section 9 and it says:—

"9-A. (1) No factory shall be worked or permitted to be worked by a manager or an occupier unless a registration certificate has been granted in respect thereof."

I ask my honourable friend to look at section 9 which says :—

- "9. (1) Before work is begun in any factory after the commencement of this Act, or before work is begun in any seasonal factory each season, the occupier shall send to the Inspector a written notice containing—
- (a) the name of the factory and its situation,
 - (b) the address to which communications relating to the factory should be sent,
 - (c) the nature of the manufacturing processes to be carried on in the factory,
 - (d) the nature and amount of the power to be used, and
 - (e) the name of the person who shall be the manager of the factory for the purposes of this Act.
- (2) Whenever any other person is appointed as manager, the occupier shall send to the Inspector a written notice of the change, within seven days from the date on which the new manager assumes charge.
- (3) During any period for which no person has been designated as manager of a factory under this section, or during which the person designated does not manage the factory, any person found acting as manager, or, if no such person is found, the occupier himself, shall be deemed to be the manager of the factory for the purposes of this Act.

Section 9-A has no relevancy to this section. Why is my honourable friend wanting to impose the restrictions of a registration certificate? I started by saying that my honourable friend should have at least enlightened this House in regard to this matter. What is the necessity? You have factories working which are controlled by this Act and if this Act were to be followed and if my honourable friend's inspectorate were to examine the factories properly as they should examine, if staff is provided for, which is not the case at the moment, my honourable friend would have no difficulty whatsoever in controlling the process of manufacture and conditions of work in those factories according to the law of the land; but wishes to go beyond that. Every existing factory, according to this measure, must obtain a certificate of registration. What for? My honourable friend has not enlightened the House in that respect and I think I have the consensus of opinion in this House with me when I say that there is not one honourable member here who understands the relevance of the desire of my honourable friend's part to demand a registration certificate in regard to an existing factory. My honourable friend's main argument was that industrial development is proceeding at a rapid pace in the Punjab. He should at least have enlightened the House and told us at what pace industrial development is advancing in the Punjab. He should have given us facts and figures. He has got the Director of Information to help him in the matter of collection of material for his speeches, he has got the Director of Industries to give him information. He has got the report of the Chief Inspector of Factories. He should have at least informed the House in regard to the rapid pace at which he states that industrial development in the Punjab is taking place. He should know that apart from very few new factories that have been set up, most of this rapid pace is represented by seasonal factories such as the cotton ginning factories. We have, during the last few years, had two or three important major factories set up in the province like the Okara Textile Mills, the Lyallpur Textile Mills and we have a few rolling mills set up in the province. Does my honourable friend mean that it is this rapid industrial development which is leading him on to the suggestion that the industry of this province has to be controlled by purely Fascist and Nazi methods of control? (Premier : Hear, hear). My friend says, "Hear, hear." He knows more of Nazi control than I do considering that he is engaged in controlling the province on purely Nazi lines. (Opposition Cheers.) My honourable friend should have said that industry in the province must be planned. He should say, 'We have a plan for the development of industry. We have worked out a plan regarding the industrial development of the Punjab. We have collected all the facts and figures in regard to what the Punjab is fit for in the matter of industrial development.' He then might have been in a position to say, "Gentlemen, here is my plan and according to this plan I wish you to give me control of industrial development." He considers that we are a pack of utterly ignorant men who have to be treated in a most ignorant manner and that because he has a certain majority behind him it is not necessary for him even to take the trouble to read his own files or the report of his department in order to enlighten the House in regard to the statement that he makes. I ask him, has he got a plan of industrial development? Has he worked out a plan of industrial development? Does he, at this stage, know what the possibilities are in the matter of industrial development of the Punjab? My honourable friend does not know because if he had known, he would have enlightened the House. We know it for a fact that no planned system has been worked out regarding the development of industry in the Punjab. Nobody has attempted to do so. The National Planning Committee in Bombay attempted to do so on an All-India basis. When we ask questions about correspondence that took place between the National Planning Committee and my honourable friend's department, we get the reply that it is not in the public interest to disclose the correspondence that has passed between the Punjab Government and the National Planning Committee; far from assisting that Committee, as that Committee should have been assisted by working out plans (and I hope even now my honourable friend's department will take the working of those plans in hand and find out exactly what the position in the Punjab is in regard to the question of industrial development), far from having done that, my honourable friend tells the House that it is not in the public interest to let us know what correspondence has passed between him and the National Planning Committee. If he were to say that we are going to nationalise industries from tomorrow, take under our own control every industry that is operating in the Punjab and because we are taking a particular industry under our control and we want to see that proper development of industries takes place in the Punjab according to the plan that we have worked out and we fear that if that plan is not adhered to, there is going to be disaster, nobody would object to empower him thus, but to give these powers to this Government means that those powers are liable to be abused. When one dictator is appointed we can say 'yes' or 'no' if any particular industry shall or shall not operate in the province. I say this is a very far-reaching thing that my honourable friend is asking in an innocuous and innocent manner and honourable members have been left completely in the dark in regard to the real object that he has in mind.

I submit that this is a serious thing which my honourable friend is asking us to do. Nobody objects to the planning of industries in the province. That is one thing. But do not put the cart before the horse. Plan first and then ask for necessary powers, nationalise first and then take necessary powers. But so long as industry is left in the hands of private capitalists, there is a danger. The danger is what we find in the agreement which my honourable friend's predecessors entered into between the Punjab Government and a very powerful European Syndicate handing over some of the richest resources of this province at the rate of 4 annas per acre to that concern. I hold in my hand the statement which was laid on the table of the House giving a copy of the agreement entered into on 2nd November, 1934, between the Government on the one side and the Imperial Chemicals on the other. Some of the richest resources were handed over to a foreign monopoly to be exploited by the foreign concern at the rate of 4 annas per acre. They take millions of gallons of water from your rivers and pay one thousand rupees in the course of a year. No other concern of this nature can possibly operate under the terms of this agreement. The monopoly to this foreign concern is a mortgage of the assets of this province to a handful of rich capitalists who come from abroad. This was done by my honourable friend's predecessors. What guarantee is there that a similar thing will not happen again if these powers are given to my honourable friend? Is there any guarantee that there will be any public control exercised over that particular individual, appointed as a dictator of industries in the province? Is there any guarantee that even a committee of this House, or honourable members, docile as they are, will be associated with that particular dictator?

I come to another point. My honourable friend talked about the congestion of labour and said that in order to avoid a congestion of labour these powers are being taken so that factories may be regularised on a particular basis. Surely, it only means that my honourable friend has not really gone into the question of industrial development at all. A factory, which starts on a particular site, because it is a paying proposition to start it on that site, does not start because my honourable friend does not wish to start it there. For the manufacture of paper no factory is going to be started in Lahore and Amritsar, it must be started on the banks of the river Jhelum because of the proximity of raw material and no power can be exercised to compel them to start their operation a 100 miles away from the source of raw material. Therefore, this is the particular power, which my honourable friend is taking under the cloak of suggesting that there is likelihood of a congestion of labour. May I ask him again, has he gone into the facts? Does he know the facts? The congestion in Chheharta is on the increase. The Chief Inspector of Factories said in regard to Badamibagh that it should be brought within the purview of the municipal limits of Lahore and it has been done. But my honourable friend should have given us the facts to substantiate his statement. According to the 1937 report of the Director of Industries there has been an increase of 6,000 workers and the number of new factories that have been established is about 80 in the course of a year. Forty have gone out of business and the total increase of industrial labour working under the Factories Act may equally have been working in various factories, and in factories where there are less than twenty workers working the manufacturing process without power. Does my honourable friend really mean to say that this increase of 6,000 workers is such a terrible increase in a population of 25 millions that it can be called congestion? I ask him to have patience in regard to this matter. This is not the method to invite industrialists of the province and ask them to develop the province and the natural resources of the province. He would be a hardy industrialist who would be willing to come to the Punjab and invest his money after the passing of a measure like this, when he knows that at any time the registration demanded of him may be refused by a particular individual who has no backing and who has no public opinion to restrain him. Whatever action he chooses he may take to put an end to the development of a particular industry because in his opinion, right or wrong, the development of that particular industry is not desirable. He would be a very hardy individual who, after the passing of a measure like this, would take his capital from another province and bring it to the Punjab, unless that individual happens to be a favourite of the Government, like the Imperial Chemicals, who are granted a monopoly. Does my honourable friend give an assurance to this House that under this provision there will be no danger of monopolies being granted to some particular firms? There is every danger and that danger is to the detriment of the development of industries and to the detriment of the interests of the people of this province. Therefore, I submit that I oppose this measure and that it should be withdrawn by my honourable friend. It is definitely detrimental both to the interests of the working classes and of the province as a whole. (Cheers.)

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, the sponsor of the Bill has advanced two main reasons for introducing this measure. First is to the effect that as industrial development is rapidly taking place in the province, Government consider it desirable to regulate the establishment of large factories for the promotion of key industries in order to avoid the evils resulting from uneconomic competition and congestion of labour in a few big cities and frame rules for that purpose. Secondly, it is proposed to levy a fee for registration of factories in order to meet the cost of the inspectorate. I am of the opinion that the real thing is only the second one the first one being only a camouflage. This shows how the mind of the Government is working. They want to make money out of everything. Now this Bill consists of four main sections. In one of the sections it is laid down that factories cannot be established without obtaining licence or permission from the provincial Government. The other section provides that no factory shall be worked or permitted to be worked by a manager or an occupier unless a registration certificate has been granted in respect thereof. In the third one it has been laid down that any person guilty of infringement of section 5-A shall be punishable with simple imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year or with a fine which may extend to one thousand rupees or with both. In the last one it is laid down that any manager or an occupier who contravenes the provisions of section 9-A shall expose himself to punishment with fine. These provisions do not show as to how Government would be able to eradicate the evil of uneconomic competition which is causing great havoc to commerce. I fail to understand how this Bill would prove instrumental in redressing the grievances which are daily being brought to the notice of the Honourable Minister in this connection. I can easily anticipate the answer of my learned friend. He would most probably try to meet this objection by saying that rules would be framed under this Bill in such a manner as would prove highly effective in removing those complaints and stopping the uneconomic competition.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the Chair and it was occupied by Mr. Deputy Speaker.)

Perhaps my honourable friends opposite will reply by saying that the Government will make rules which would be calculated to eliminate uneconomic competition in the industrial field. But let me hasten to tell them that clause 9-B precludes such a possibility because it is clearly laid down that the Government may make rules:—

"(a) as to the authority by which, the form in which and the conditions according to which, a registration certificate may be granted under section 9-A, and

(b) prescribing the fee on payment of which a registration certificate may be granted or renewed under section 9-A."

It follows from this that the Government will not be authorised to make rules for any other purpose except for these two purposes which I have quoted above. My objection still stands that the Government has not provided for preventing uneconomic competition. If the only purpose of the proposed measure is to charge more income-tax or fees, then the Government could have very well called it "The Punjab Income-tax (Amendment) Bill," (laughter) or "Development of Industries (Resources) Bill."

It will not be out of place to mention here that when the Honourable Minister went to Ludhiana, not in connection with any industrial problem but in some other connection, a deputation of Hosiery Manufacturers' Association, Ludhiana, waited upon him and placed the grievances of the Association before him. The deputationists related the hardships arising out of uneconomic competition in the industrial field. The Honourable Minister was good enough to promise a sympathetic consideration of their difficulties and later on a letter was sent to the Hosiery Manufacturers' Association, Ludhiana, in which this point was acknowledged. I seek your indulgence to quote two paragraphs from this letter. This letter was from Mr. S. K. Kirpalani, I.C.S., Secretary to Government, Punjab, Electricity and Industries Departments. It was dated Simla-East, the 7th of August 1939, No. 2031-S.-91-39/4490-S. It reads as follows:—

I am directed to acknowledge your letter No. 0-381, dated the 3rd August, 1939, in which you urge upon Government the necessity of enacting "some sort of legislation" to regulate the future working and further development of the Hosiery Industry.

2. I am to point out that apart from mentioning that as a result of uneconomic competition and the growth of mushroom factories the industry as a whole is steadily deteriorating; you do not state the particular evils which should be controlled nor do you make any concrete suggestions along which suitable legislation might be undertaken. Your letter would appear to imply that legislation might control:
 - (a) establishment of new factories;
 - (b) prices of manufactured goods;
 - (c) wages of operatives.

If this assumption is correct, I would welcome concrete suggestions on point (a); for instance, Government would like to know what should be minimum requirements to be satisfied before the establishment of a new hosiery factory should be permitted.

by the grant of a licence. Unless a clear case is made out, (b) is a very difficult matter to legislate upon. (c) is a matter upon which, apart from the inherent difficulties of the case, legislation would appear to be inadvisable at present.

3. I am to request that the matter be resubmitted to your Association for submission of concrete suggestions and proposals enacted.

In reply to this letter of the Government a detailed letter was sent by the Hosiery Manufacturers' Association of Ludhiana stating therein the various ways and means adopted in Japan, Germany and other countries to prevent uneconomic competition in the industrial field. A copy of the Japan Spinners Act was also sent to the Government. According to that Act private enterprisers are bound to become members of a recognised factory. No person is allowed to export goods through different small factories of his own. Our Government could have easily adopted any of these measures to prevent uneconomic competition between private factories.

I know there are a few hosiery factories in the Punjab and Ludhiana leads all other cities in this respect. There are some factories at Amritsar, Lahore, Jullundur and a few other cities. These must have been started by investing several lakhs of rupees. But uneconomic competition has discouraged them all. The Government had better propose some preventive measure. Private persons are successfully competing with these factories because the former have to spend little and gain more.

Again, there is no check upon any person who would like to escape from the provisions of the Factories Act by dividing his industrial workmen into two groups of 15 each and go on taking work from those 30 workmen without coming under the purview of the Factories Act, that is, without obtaining a registration certificate from the Government.

Another serious handicap for the industrialist, proposed in the Bill, is laid down in section 9-A. According to it no factory can be extended without the permission in writing of the Provincial Government or such person or persons as it may direct. Supposing an owner wishes to add one more machine, a room or a ventilator or employ a few more workmen, he will have to apply every time for the permission of the Government because this will constitute an extension of the factory. This will become an obstacle in the way of further development of the hosiery factories.

Now I will come to the different rates of fees which will be fixed for different factories. No representative of the factories will be taken into confidence by the Government for proposing these rates. It is not fair to leave this matter in the hands of the inspector of factories alone. He may arbitrarily fix any rates that may suggest themselves to him, without having time to consider them carefully with regard to the merits of the case.

Sir, I beg to submit that the motion for the circulation of a Bill such as this has no justification at all. The Opposition has brought forward better Bills than this one, but the motion for circulation in that case has always been turned down under the plea that it is mere waste of public time and money. Those Bills were much wider in scope than this; which has practically no scope at all and still it is sought to circulate it for eliciting public opinion and thereby waste the public time and money.

I wonder which are the key industries in this province which it is sought to protect and wherein does the great industrial activity manifest itself. There are only a few large industries worth the name in our province but a long list has been given. It is said that the Bill is going to benefit the hosiery, cotton ginning, chemical, cement and glass industries, etc., etc. May I ask how many glass factories there are in this province? Does the existence of one or two factories justify the assertion that glass industry is making progress at a rapid pace? Now let us take the manufacture of chemicals. Apart from the Imperial Chemical Company, whose case has been mentioned by my honourable friend representing labour, how many other such factories exist? How ridiculous it seems on the part of the Government to embark on legislation for the control of the industry which is non-existent!

Before permitting the Government to obtain income through registration fees which seems to be its real object, we want to know what they have done to subsidize such industries? How much money has been invested in them in order to encourage their expansion? The Congress governed provinces formed a planning committee in order to determine which were key industries and which deserved state aid to flourish. It was the object of that committee to devise ways and means for better guidance and better support of the various industries. Your co-operation has been very lukewarm. How many industries out of these 8 or 9 enumerated by you have received the benefit of your aid? Probably the textile industry is the one in which your aid has taken the form of an investment. Loans have been advanced in some cases, but could it really be called any substantial help?

First of all it seems desirable that this Government should win the confidence of those who risk their funds in starting new enterprises. But wherever such initiative is taken, no efforts are made by the Government to keep it alive. The Government do not even care to reply to the letters of the industrial associations. How can there be any industrial activity in a province, where the Government's attitude is so unsympathetic? The Honourable Minister for Development, who is all the time busy in delivering speeches on behalf of his Government and carrying on its propaganda, all of a sudden wakes up and realizing that he must live up to his designation brings forward this headless and tailless measure before the House. Nobody knows the whys and wherefores of this Bill, nor is anyone aware of any evils to avoid which this provision is sought to be made. Still this Government makes bold to put forward the claim that it leads the country in introducing such measures. Probably it leads in filling its coffers at all costs rather than in anything else. In October, last year, the Hosiery Association, Ludhiana, submitted certain suggestions to the Government for improvement of the hosiery industry and for providing facilities in obtaining raw materials, but the Government have not even cared to reply.

So far as wool industry is concerned, the two important markets in this respect, Panipat and Fazilka, have received practically no attention from the Government. Nothing has been done apart from opening a school at Panipat. The school plods on without any assistance from the provincial Government. The plea put forward is, that it is not possible to make any provision in the budget. The House will be surprised to know that the wool required for manufacturing woollen articles in this model school is imported from other countries. If the Government were to give a sufficient grant for buying machinery, better woollen fibre could be made locally. This industry can be important from another aspect also. It could be instrumental in removing the economic hardships of agriculturists, if they start sheep rearing and supplying wool to such factories.

[Pt. Muni Lal Kalia.]

It is a matter of regret, that legislation is entered upon by our Government without its having any knowledge of the number of industries. It intends to tax the agency, so that what little industry exists may be ruined. The number of cement and allied factories is not mentioned, nor is the method of stopping competition and the tax, etc., to be imposed specified. It has also not been made clear as to which are the key industries.

If at all the Bill can only benefit Abohar and Giddarbaha and the cotton markets at Khanna and Ludhiana to a little extent, then does it justify that all this is entered upon for stopping uneconomic competition?

In the end let me ask the Honourable Minister to define the position of the Government with regard to this measure. So far as this Bill is concerned our position is that we have the fullest sympathy with its principle. When you want to help industries with money or by providing facilities in connection with labour, etc., we are with you. But we cannot be expected to support a Bill which may be brought forward simply with the object of increasing your revenues. Again, this does not mean that we grudge any increase in your income. Nothing of the sort. Our object is to save the people from unnecessary burden which is going to fall on their shoulders. We want to help them in earning their livelihood. I hope the Minister has now realized the defects of his Bill, and, therefore, I would request him to withdraw it and bring forward a better measure. He is very fond of putting forward "golden measures" and now let him come forward with a really golden Bill for the industrialists.

Rao Pohop Singh (Eastern Punjab Landholders) (Urdu): Sir, my honourable friend, Diwan Chaman Lall, has, in the course of his remarkable speech, given expressions to certain fears and apprehensions lurking in his mind with regard to the Bill under discussion. But it is a matter of regret that he has sought to take only the darker side of the matter. He ought to have first studied the brighter side of the Bill and attempted to find out the real object which the Honourable Minister has kept before him in moving it. I need hardly say that it is not an easy job to start and organise any factory or mill. Besides other handicaps the organiser of a factory runs a great risk in investing enormous amount of money on his industrial concern. I need not take an instance of any big and large factory to illustrate my point. I shall cite an instance only of a flour mill which does not require more than 6 or 7 thousands of rupees to invest thereon. The man who first starts such a mill in a particular area is sure to earn something. Now a second capitalist finds that the former is running a very profitable and lucrative business, so he too being actuated by the desire of multiplying his wealth sets apart a portion of his money for setting up a similar mill in the same area. Now it goes without saying that the existence of two mills in a particular area would effect a division of the profit between both of them whereas it was formally derived by only one person. Then enters another capitalist into the field and starts a third mill in the same area. This would further decrease the profits, for the increase in the number of mills in a particular area would lead to uneconomic competition among the millowners; so much so that they would be prepared to grind flour even at the rate of one pice per maund. Such cut throat competition always results in an utter ruination of the whole industry. It is not unlikely that big capitalists may survive such competitions but the average mill-owner cannot be expected to undergo this economic ordeal successfully. Thus, being steeped in debt and misery he retreats from the industrial field in a pitiable condition. Although the lorry service cannot be treated as an industrial concern, yet it bears a positive analogy to the instance I have just given. The man who first started this service must have earned a lot. Attracted by his colossal profits certain other persons invested capital on it. They too earned something, but later on some more adventurers entered into the arena, floated enormous sums of money, and thereby ruined the whole lorry service. Had there been any official check or restraint on the late-comers in the field they would have been saved in time from utter disaster.

Sir, at present industrial development is taking place rapidly in the province. My honourable friend, Diwan Chaman Lall has himself stated that as much as 80 new factories have been recently started in the province. These figures definitely necessitate the enactment of such a Bill in order to avoid the possibility of cut-throat competitions among the mill-owners and congestion of labour in a few big cities. We are passing through a transitional period which enjoins upon us to place an effective check on unnecessary and uneconomic industrial expansion. In industrial centres like those of Cawnpore and Ahmadabad the situation has got out of control now. The congestion of labour only in these areas has worsened the economical condition of the labourers. Due to an increase in the supply of labour the wages have been considerably lowered. The labourers have often struck work as a mark of protest but without avail. When they are thrown out of work, others come in to express their willingness to work even at much lower wages. In short the congestion of labour has led to such a chaotic condition that even public spirited persons living in those districts have miserably failed to find out any satisfactory solution of this problem. Had it been done a few years ago the evil consequences of this congestion would have been averted. Thus it is exceedingly desirable to bring forth a measure of this kind for protecting and safeguarding the industrial growth in the province from uneconomic competitions and congestion of labour. If you are really anxious to promote industries here, in the Punjab you must have to regulate their establishment. Whenever and wherever it is found that the output of a certain industrial concern is sufficient to meet the demand, other capitalists should be refused permission to start a similar industry in the same area. It is a pity that in spite of constant endeavours and sincere efforts of the Government to bring about industrial development in the province, an atmosphere of mutual suspicion and lack of faith is being created by the honourable friends on my right. Yesterday, when a motion for circulation of the Trade Employees

[Rao Pohop Singh]

Bill was made by the Honourable Minister in the House, my honourable friends, Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt and Diwan Chaman Lall, while paying tribute to the Government for allowing the Bill to be moved could not desist from imputing motives to the latter.

Mr. Speaker If possible, reference to the proceedings of the previous days should be avoided.

Rao Pohop Singh : If we carefully go through the Bill we are sure to find that it aims at avoiding the uneconomic competitions and congestion of labour in a particular area. It is far from the intentions of the Government to cause any undue loss or damage to anybody's interests.

A single man can plough land no doubt. But in case of factories a single man can do nothing. As you are aware, a large number of labourers are required to work in factories, on which thousands of rupees are invested. I would like to let you know what is being done in factories of other provinces. Seventy-two per cent. profit is taken by the mill-owners and as far as poor labourers are concerned they are left to starve. That is why I submit that the factories of the province should be controlled by the powerful hands of this responsible Government.

I may further tell my honourable friends sitting on the opposite benches, that if they do not agree with us, we have got other remedies also to improve industry and control factories as well. In passing I should assure my honourable friends who are sitting on the opposite benches that they should take it for granted that those incidents which occur outside this province would not occur here at all. They may not also ignore this fact that the Bill under consideration seeks to improve the growth of the industry in a planned manner. When this is the foremost function of this Bill I do not see any rhyme or reason as to why the opposition hesitates to welcome it. May I submit that the Bill is neither going to be passed at this moment nor is it being referred to a select committee. The motion before the House is that the Bill be circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon. I believe there is no harm in eliciting public opinion because by doing so the Government would be able to know the opinion of those persons who are directly connected with factories. Moreover the experts would get a chance to express their valuable and weighty opinions regarding this Factories Bill.

Then it has been said by the opposite benches that this Bill should be dropped. I submit that if this Bill is at all detrimental according to the convictions of my honourable friends who are sitting on the opposite benches how can it be dropped at its first stage? I, therefore, submit that they are not justified in saying so. If they consider the matter dispassionately, I am sure they would find that this Bill would prove a remedy for thousands of diseases which are eating away the very roots of the industry in this and other provinces. I, therefore, think that they should co-operate with us in making this Bill a grand success. But what a pity it is, that they are opposing this Bill without considering it dispassionately.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh (Amritsar North Sikh Rural) (Punjabi) : Sir, we are very much pleased to hear from the Honourable Minister for Development that industry is progressing rapidly in this province. It is a good news to us because no province has ever progressed without the help of industry which is the only solution of the problem of poverty of a province. As a matter of fact, a province cannot prosper without industry and that is why we are in complete accord with the Honourable Minister for Development on this point. But when we study the Bill we are very much surprised to know that the Bill drafted as it is by the Honourable Minister in charge, does not encourage and improve the industry of the province. The progress of the industry, I am sure, will come to an end, if this Bill is passed, because the provisions of the Bill are very restrictive and they may stand in the way of people investing their money on industrial works. I, therefore, submit that this Bill is detrimental to the interests of the province.

Then the Honourable Minister for Development has raised the bogey of cut throat competition. He says this Bill would stop the cut throat competition. I beg to differ. First let me submit what that cut throat competition is. Supposing there are two cotton mills producing the same commodities and competing in the province, if two more are started, our Honourable Minister for Development says, there will be cut throat competition. May I submit to him, through you, Sir, whether he has erected high walls round this province in order to protect it from import. No, he has not done so. It means then that cotton goods can be imported in the Punjab from other neighbouring provinces at any time, and therefore, his argument does not hold water. His excuse that he wants to stop cut throat competition is a lame excuse. He cannot do so, as all sorts of ways and means are open to Cawnpore and other mills to supply cloth and cotton yarn to this province. Secondly, it has become a fashion to talk of planning, since the U. S. S. R. began its first five-year plan. I may also add here that wherever planning in a capitalist country has been done it has proved a failure. Why? Because planning can never be successful in a capitalistic system. Planning requires socialistic order.

Then it has been stated that the Government wants to stop congestion in factories and they do not want that thousands of labourers may work in factories. I beg to doubt if the Government could succeed in this matter. I am afraid, the Honourable Minister for Development has conveniently forgotten the fact that climate and other geographical conditions are the most important factors for the progress of a certain industry. He might have seen that cotton industry can only prosper under a certain kind of climate, and under certain kind of geographical conditions. Has he ever considered as to why cotton industry is so much prospering near Berar than in any other province? I, therefore, submit that a certain industry which is progressing rapidly at one place cannot progress at another place. The objection, therefore, raised in connection with congestion by the Honourable Minister is not very strong. I may tell him that I fully understand where the shoe pinches. He is not afraid of congestion. But he is afraid of something else. He fears lest labourers should mass together at one place, organise themselves by forming unions and thus harass the mill owner by making demands. That is what he fears. But let me tell him that he cannot stop it. He may be aware of the fact that the progress of big towns depends on industry. Progress of big towns and their industry go hand in hand and, therefore, no big town has ever made progress without the help of industry. Take Bombay, for example. You would be surprised to know that the average income of each labourer is Rs. 30 or 35 per month. The number of labourers at Calcutta or Bombay has gone up to 3 or 4 lakhs and their standard of life is so high that it cannot be dreamt of by the poor labourers of this province where even the minimum wage has not yet been fixed.

Before I finish my speech, I may submit that this Bill discourages industry. It stands in the way of labour massing in cities and organising themselves and hence raising their standard of life. If the Government is bent upon carrying it through, let the Minister incharge do whatever he likes. But before I resume my seat I feel it my duty to submit to the House that this Bill is detrimental to the interests of labourers and the prosperity of the province and therefore it should not be passed.

Minister for Development (Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram) : Sir, I was surprised very much to find that gentlemen who belong to a party which claims to be socialistic, at least in its tendencies, fight shy of State control. Two or three members who have spoken about this Bill have suggested that the extent of control exercised by the State will be so great that instead of doing any good to any industry it will lead to monopolisation. What is socialism? Is it not a form of monopolisation, state monopoly in vital spheres? State control is the most essential factor of socialism and people who claim to believe in socialism should be the last to fight shy of any control sought to be exercised by Government in the interest of the community at large.

Another point which was raised by Diwan Chaman Lall was that my poor self may set up a dictator here, another dictator there and a third dictator in a third place and so on with the result that these dictators will be in a position to determine whether a factory should or should not at all be started or whether A should start a factory or B. My honourable friend conveniently forgets that I am a responsible Minister, a member of a Government which is responsible to this House and this House has been elected entirely by the popular vote. How can a minister, who belongs to a Government which is responsible to a wholly elected House, act in such an arbitrary or irresponsible manner as my honourable friend suggested?

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Are you a socialist and is your Government a socialist Government?

Minister for Development : We are moving gradually towards socialism as time passes.

Then another cheap argument which was put forward by Diwan Chaman Lall was : "Here is a minister who puts in a clause after the existing section 5 and calls it clause 5-A. What is there in common between the subject matter of clause 5 and the proposed clause 5-A?" Who told him that there was anything in common between the subject matter of section 5 and clause 5-A? I never said anything of that sort. But my honourable friend was absolutely wrong in thinking that clause 5-A must necessarily deal with the same subject matter as section 5 of the existing Act. I will just draw the attention of the House to the point, so that honourable members may not be misled by that cheap argument, to section 153 of the Indian Penal Code. It deals with the subject of wantonly giving provocation with intent to cause riot; while section 153-A deals with promoting enmity between classes. Is there anything in common between the subject matter of these two sections, 153 and 153-A? Again, I may draw the attention of the House to another instance which occurs in section 171 of Chapter IX and section 171-A of Chapter IX-A of the Indian Penal Code. Section 171 deals with the offence of wearing garb or carrying token used by public servant with fraudulent intent; and what has the subject matter of this section to do with the subject matter of section 171-A, which deals with malpractices in connection with elections and for the conduct of inquiries in regard to disputed elections to legislative bodies? Is there anything in common between the subject matter of section 171 and section 171-A of the Indian Penal Code? Absolutely nothing. Therefore, no mistake has been made and no impropriety committed by numbering clause 5-A as such simply on the ground that it deals with the subject matter which does not occur under the existing section 5 of the present Act.

Then my honourable friend was extremely angry for the reason that I made a very brief statement. My object was quite clear. It was to save the time of this honourable House. As the motion is only one for circulation, I did not think it was necessary for me to make a long statement. After all the general object of the Bill has been stated in the Statement of Objects and Reasons and the clauses are before the honourable members of this House for them to see what the subject matter of this amendment is. Again, we are not going to pass this amendment Bill into law to-day. We are not considering the individual clauses of this Bill. I have only moved a motion that this Bill should be circulated for the purpose of eliciting public opinion thereon. There will be plenty of time for the honourable members of this House, as well as the general public to express their opinions on the merits or demerits on the amending provisions of this Bill, and for me to dilate thereon.

Again, Sir, two honourable members were pleased to state that no case had been made out for an amending Bill. They said that industrial progress, if there is any in this province, is of a very limited character, and, therefore, there was no occasion for making an attempt to introduce order where, no prospects of chaos and confusion could even be suspected. The gentleman representing labour said: Why should there be an attempt at planning where there has been no industrial growth? Why make a law when you have not yet come to any planning of your industries? Here again, the reason is quite clear. My honourable friend, if he would like to see truth and reason, ought to admit that planning takes place beforehand so that there may be no unhealthy or undesirable concentration of industrial activities in a single centre or at a few selected centres. It is absolutely essential to make provisions beforehand. Suppose we come forward with this Bill after the mischief has been done, what purpose would this amending Bill serve? I would draw the attention of the House to one instance which shows how the absence of such a measure resulted in immense mischief in the United Provinces when sugar industry became popular there. Individuals started setting up factories pell-mell. Where one factory had already been started, another was started in the immediate neighbourhood, with the result that both factories were in danger of being entirely ruined. I will quote one instance where a factory has been set up in the immediate vicinity of another factory, or within a few miles of the existing factory, and the United Provinces Government intervened in a stern manner. The new comer was compelled to set up his factory at some other place. He had already done something in the way of erecting buildings and setting up a plant; but he was asked to dismantle that factory and take it somewhere else. Because the United Provinces Government were convinced that if any other factory was allowed to be set up in the immediate neighbourhood of an existing factory, the result would be a cut throat competition.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Under what law was this done ?

Minister : I do not know under what law but that is a fact which my friend can ascertain for himself.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Which was this factory ?

Minister : I would refer my friend to Chaudhri Mukhtar Singh who is managing a factory in that neighbourhood. He will be able to tell him what the other factory was which the United Provinces Government refused to allow to be set up.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Under what law ?

Minister : There are so many other ways in which pressure can be brought to bear—

Diwan Chaman Lall : According to those ways you can also do the same here.

Minister : Anyway this is a fact which my honourable friend should not deny. If he has any doubts he can make inquiries from the United Provinces Government or some of his friends there.

I may also draw the attention of my honourable friend to the fact that zoning forms a very important factor in the tentative programme which has been drawn up by the National Planning Committee. I am sure my friend will have some faith in that redoubtable socialist, Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru, if he has no faith in anybody else. Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru is the President of the National Planning Committee and he has insisted that zoning should be introduced from the very first moment before any industrial expansion on a large scale takes place. Zoning is essential according to Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru. So, if I err at all, I think I err in very good company.

Again, I will draw the attention of honourable members to ginning factories in our own province. Are not the honourable members aware of the fact that there are many places in the province where a larger number of ginning factories were set up than the ilaqa could bear ? What is the result ? The result is that half of the factories remain closed and all the owners of factories have to enter into a sort of pool. Why? Because a large number of factories were allowed to be set up whereas half of the factories would have met the requirements of the ilaga. I may also state for the information of my honourable friends that the owners of hosiery factories at Ludhiana are very apprehensive that unless something is done to prevent the setting up of fresh factories, their trade will be ruined. Can anybody deny it? No. In the same manner I have been informed by some very respectable and reliable gentleman that—

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Have you received any protest from the owners of Ludhiana hosiery factories?

Minister for Development : Does my honourable friend deny it? If he ventures to deny then I will refer him to the owners of the existing hosiery factories. I was saying that information was given to me by a very reliable and highly educated gentleman in regard to the manner in which factories were being set up in places where they were not needed at all.

Diwan Chaman Lall : The very Hosiery Manufacturers' Association, that my honourable friend referred to, have sent a letter to the effect that if the said Bill, in its present form, is passed, it will not give any relief to industry and labour at all.

Minister : I know these gentlemen may object to the form but they do not object to the principle of the Bill. You are here attacking the underlying principles of the Bill. They naturally object to the form because in one direction it touches their pockets and that is also the reason why so many of my friends occupying those benches are feeling impatient. While they sail under the flag of the Congress they have, for obvious reasons, to speak in the language of capitalists.

The honourable member representing labour also brought in the Imperial Chemical Industries Ltd. I really do not understand why my honourable friend should have tried to shower criticism on me on account of the setting up of that factory. It was never started in my time. (Interruption.) I know my honourable friend made it clear that it was started in the time of my predecessor but why did he make mention of it at all here?

Diwan Chaman Lall : But you were a great supporter of your predecessors. Can you deny that?

Minister : I may or may not deny. But why bring it in at all? I am not concerned with it.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Because similar monopolies will now be started.

Minister : You have now a responsible Government which you can dislodge at any moment. No irresponsible thing can be done now. But why do you drag the old Government in now?

The re is one thing to which I should like to draw the attention of the House. My honourable friend, Diwan Chaman Lall, stated that it must be some hardy industrialist alone who can come to the Punjab. My friend does not know that industrialists are fleeing from Congress provinces and are seeking shelter of the Punjab Government. (Laughter.) (Voices : Question.)

[Minister for Development.]

I have received messages from very nearly half a dozen industrialists who want to shift to the Punjab and flee from a province which is being governed by a Congress ministry. (An honourable member : Because there will not be nepotism there.) The real difficulty seems to be that those who are at heart capitalists seek to assume the garb of the friends of the poor in order to be better able to protect the interests of capitalism. That may be one of the real reasons of the attitude of the Opposition. Anyway, my friends may rest assured that the Punjab is regarded as a province where industries can flourish better than in any other province in India at the present moment.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : By stifling it.

Minister for Development : Therefore, the argument that it would be only a hardy industrialist who would come to the Punjab is an argument which has absolutely no weight. It is even lighter than my friend himself.

One of my honourable friends said that it would be much better to call this amending Bill an Income Tax Amending Bill. That suggests another reason, which is pinching most of the occupants of the Opposition benches. They are capitalists, they are friends of the capitalists and they cannot bear to see the enactment of a law which will help Government to get some money out of the pockets of rich people. Why are they afraid? Why are they afraid of a little money coming out of the pockets of the rich?

Diwan Chaman Lall : What money? What money? Does the Honourable Minister realize that the money he is likely to get will not pay his travelling allowance Bill for 15 days? (Laughter.)

Minister : My travelling allowance is much lighter than what my honourable friend causes to be wasted here daily. However, I never made a secret of the objects of the Bill. I stated quite clearly that one of the objects of this Bill was to get a little money out of the pockets of rich people in order to be spent for the welfare of the poorer sections of the community. At present the Bill is not a regular revenue measure, but I hope that some day it will develop into a regular revenue measure which may be used to bring in more money. There is no reason why it should not be like that. This is probably the real difficulty which my friends of the Opposition are feeling; at least some of them; I do not say all. However, whatever the view they take, this Bill will go before the public. The public will be at perfect liberty to give expression to any views it likes. After the public has been given an opportunity to express its views, the Bill will again come here. A motion for reference to a Select Committee will have to be made. During the period of circulation there will be an opportunity for the public to criticize the objects of this Bill or the provisions of this Bill in detail. At the select committee stage the individual clauses of this Bill will be subject to revision or modification. Then lastly the Bill will come up for being passed, and my honourable friends will have plenty of time to let off fire works then. They may wait in patience until then.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That the Factories (Punjab Amendment) Bill be circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon by the 15th December, 1939.

The Assembly divided : Ayes 75, Noes 86.

STATE AID TO INDUSTRIES (AMENDMENT) BILL.

Minister for Development (The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Ghotu Ram) : Sir, I beg to introduce the Punjab State Aid to Industries (Amendment) Bill.

I also beg to move—

That the Punjab State Aid to Industries (Amendment) Bill be referred to a select committee consisting of—

Mir Maqbool Mahmood ;
Chaudhri Muhammad Yasin Khan ;
Rai Sahib Chaudhri Het Ram ;
Chaudhri Muhammad Hussain ;
Shaikh Sadiq Hasan ;
Sardar Gopal Singh ;
Sardar Sampuran Singh ;
Chaudhri Muhammad Hassan ;
Lala Bhim Sen Sachar ;
Rai Bahadur Lala Gopal Das ;
Sardar Balwant Singh.

The quorum of the committee shall be five.

Sir, I hope I shall not give any offence to my friends of the Opposition if here again I make a short speech because the longer the speech the more stinging it is likely to be in response to frequent interruptions which some of the members of the Opposition cannot resist. Then it will become very unbearable for at least a portion of the members of the Congress party. (Voices from the Opposition: No, no.) Some of them welcome my thrusts at capitalism I know, but there are others who find it difficult to stand them.

The object of the present amending Bill is two-fold : one is the encouragement of cottage industries and village industries for which, I am sure, all the members of the Congress party will profess a great deal of sympathy. A number of them are quite sincere while others may profess sympathy for the encouragement of village and cottage industries but not deeper than what is known as lip-deep sympathy. The other object is to avoid certain difficulties which have either already arisen, or, it is apprehended, will arise from certain incidents of the Hindu joint family system, for one thing, and for another, from certain provisions of the Land Alienation Act (Voices from the Opposition benches: What is lip-deep sympathy?) If my friends do not know English I cannot teach them now. (Lala Duni Chand: Are you quite sure that that is correct English?) The difficulties to which I was making a reference arose from the incidents of the Hindu joint family system in the case of business class Hindus from the provisions of the Land Alienation Act in the case of certain tribes and from the operation of the Customary Law in the case of those borrowers who are governed by custom.

The original Act did not define the expression 'cottage industry or village industry.' Nor did it make any distinction between one kind of industry and another.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the Chair which was occupied by Mr. Deputy Speaker).

Therefore, all State aid was dispensed to all industries on the same lines. It could not be extended in the case of one and could not be restricted in the case of the other, that is, village industries, cottage industries and general industries were, all of them, on the same footing. And it was found that while subsidy could be granted in the case of larger industries for the purpose of research, no subsidy was practicable under the law as it stands in the case of village industries and cottage industries. However, the truth is that subsidy is most needed in the case of cottage industries and village industries. Therefore, one of the amendments is the addition of a definition of "cottage industries" and "village industries." Another important amendment is that which seeks to make a distinction between village industries and cottage industries on the one hand and other industries on the other in the matter of giving a subsidy. At present subsidies are permissible only in the case of larger industries for the purpose of research. Now research in the case of cottage industries and village industries is out of question. Thus as the law stands it entirely excludes cottage industries and village industries from that particular type of help and subsidy which is most essential in the case of these industries. Therefore, the existing section 17, where various forms in which State aid can be given are defined, has been amended so as to permit subsidy in the case of village and cottage industries for any purpose while in the case of other industries subsidy will continue to be permissible only for the purpose of research. Another amendment which is consequential to this amendment has been proposed in section 32.

With regard to the difficulties which it is apprehended are likely to arise on account of certain incidents of the Hindu joint family system, it has been suggested that certain additions be made in section 24, so that if any objection is raised on the basis of any of the principles of Hindu joint family system by a relation of a borrower it may be possible for that objection to be met in a court of law.

Then there were numerous complaints on the part of statutory agriculturists who had taken to industries and found themselves excluded from the benefit of loans because they could not offer anything but their agricultural land as security, and Government could not accept agricultural land in security because any mortgage effected on agricultural land could neither be foreclosed nor realized in any manner. We pleaded our inability to help them in the absence of a good security and they stated that they had only agricultural land to offer and, therefore, their difficulties required to be solved in some manner. The manner in which we are trying to solve that difficulty is that if a man belonging to a notified agricultural tribe takes a loan from the Industries Department, then that particular area of agricultural land which he mortgages with the Department of Industries shall be exempted from the operation of the Land Alienation Act. In the present Bill we have made a suitable provision to this effect. Neither the agricultural borrower nor his relations will be in a position to call in question any mortgage effected to secure a loan from the Department of Industries.

I want to make one thing quite clear. By offering a certain area of agricultural land by way of security, the man who offers that security will not himself cease to be a member of a notified agricultural tribe. He will continue to enjoy all the privileges and suffer all the disabilities which flow from the Land Alienation Act, but in respect of that particular area alone which he offers as security he will be regarded as a man not belonging to a statutory agricultural tribe, the idea being that while the land mortgaged will be available for being foreclosed the owner himself will continue to enjoy the protection of the Land Alienation Act in all other respects.

Yet another difficulty was that even if a man offered his land as security, his reversioners were in a position to file a suit in the civil court to the effect that he had no valid necessity for offering his land as security for the loan and that the mortgage was not binding on them. Therefore, we have also provided that no plea raised on the basis of such custom will be entertained by any court hearing that suit.

These are the only important amendments which have been embodied in the amending Bill. I think I have made the object of the Bill quite clear and have also stated all the facts which will enable the House to judge whether there is or there is not a real necessity for this amending Bill. I think there is the necessity and I hope the House will agree with me and allow a reference to the select committee without any avoidable delay.

Mr. Speaker : The motion moved is—

That the Punjab State Aid to Industries (Amendment) Bill be referred to a select committee consisting of—

Mir Maqbool Mahmood;
 Chaudhri Muhammad Yasin Khan;
 Rai Sahib Chaudhri Het Ram;
 Chaudhri Muhammad Hussain;
 Shaikh Sadiq Hasan;
 Sardar Gopal Singh;
 Sardar Sampuran Singh;
 Chaudhri Muhammad Hassan;
 Lala Bhim Sen Sachar;
 Rai Bahadur Lala Gopal Das;
 Sardar Balwant Singh.

The quorum of the committee shall be five.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt (North-Eastern Towns, General, Urban) : I want to say a few words. I am glad that the Honourable Minister for Development has moved this amending Bill which will be, I am sure, welcomed by all sides of the House (cheers). I assure you further that any sympathy which we give expression to in this House on this Bill will neither be "lip-deep," nor skin-deep but neck-deep. But, Mr. Speaker, I take this opportunity to draw the attention of the Honourable Minister to the fact that it was the Congress members in the Board of Industries who urged him to bring forward such a measure, so that the aid granted to the urban industries may also be extended to the cottage industries. The second thing is that we have several times in the Board of Industries drawn attention to the fact that the present aid which is given to the key industries and which is now being extended to the cottage industries is very, very insufficient and the conditions under which we give that aid are so very stringent that they are not calculated to develop either the cottage industries or the big urban industries. The need of the hour is to go beyond this measure and revise the whole conditions under which we give loans to industries, whether cottage industry or the big industry. You will be surprised to know the conditions under which we are going to give aid to the cottage industries as well as to the big industries. I think those conditions are exactly the ones which a blood-sucking money-lender has for the private debtor. (Laughter.) Mr. Speaker, I have studied those conditions. I am a member of the Board of Industries on behalf of my party. I have several times pointed out to the Honourable Minister for Development that he goes out into the province and condemns the money-lender for giving loans to the industrialists under very hard and stringent conditions, but that the conditions which the Government have laid down—

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : I rise to a point of order. I submit that at this stage the House is only concerned with the principles of the Bill. The questions how these detailed provisions are to be modified and how rules are to be framed cannot obviously be discussed at this stage.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Mr. Speaker, if this is not the occasion, I wonder which occasion I can avail of. We have accepted the principle to the extent that aid to the cottage industries should be given and the Honourable Minister for Development gave an undertaking on behalf of the Government that he was willing to help cottage industries. This is the occasion when we can avail ourselves of for drawing the attention of the Government and of the House that this measure would be inadequate and insufficient. It will be merely an eye-wash. I believe that when the question of giving aid to cottage industries is brought before the House, surely we have every right to voice our feelings so that Government should know that this Bill is not calculated to bring about the development of cottage industries in the province because the money sanctioned is already insufficient. We have not enough money even for developing our key industries or our big industries in the province and now this money which is going to be allowed for the cottage industries is going to come out of that money. If the Honourable Minister gives us an assurance that he will increase the amount set apart for this purpose, then, of course, we accept the utility of the Bill. The Bill is all right. The Honourable Minister had the audacity to say that in wishing the welfare of cottage industries, the members of the Opposition have only shown lip-sympathy. Now, the boot is on the other leg. Here is a practical point before the House. The House has to take this fact into account that the money which Government has set apart for this purpose is inadequate and the conditions under which the aid is given are, in my opinion, Shylock-like. (Laughter) With these words I support the motion.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava (Lahore City, General, Urban) (Urdu): Sir, I would like to say only a few words in connection with this proposition. So far as this wordy warfare is concerned as to who is the real supporter of village and cottage industries, I do not think that this House is the proper place for settling such immaterial controversies. Anyhow, I thank God that the Government has deemed it fit to admit on the floor of the House that as long as it does not promote and aid the village and cottage industries in an agricultural province like that of the Punjab, the economic condition of the poor zamindars would remain unameliorated. If we impress upon the Government the necessity of aiding village and cottage industries it is because we believe it to be highly essential for the industrial development of the province. I do not claim any undue credit for a thing which we have not done. We mean what we say. We are only workers and we do not fight shy in doing what we believe to be right. We believe that by using khaddi we will be able to help and promote cottage industries and thus we prefer it to all other kinds of cloth. Not only do we use it ourselves but we advise others also to wear it. Anyway I am glad to say that the Government has accepted the principle of subsidizing cottage industries.

I understand that to-day the Government is taking a step to fulfil its duty towards the people. I should hope that at the time of making laws the Government must pay attention towards village industry, and I assure the Government that village industry will also pay the Government in response. I am after this that the Government may help us by helping village industry. I feel with regret the absence of Khan Bahadur Mashtaq Ahmad Gurmani from the House. Had he been present, he would certainly have supported my proposal. So many times I have asked him to start sugar industry in Muzaffargarh, his native district, where date trees grow so abundantly, but I regret that the Government have not given permission in this matter so far. And the Government in reply to this, proposed to start sugar industry in some other district and to this proposal of the Government also, I offered my help.

I have done something in this connexion and the Government can start this business in that district at any moment, and I will be prepared to give every help. The rich people laugh at the income of the village workers but the fact is that even the small money which the poor people get through industry is sufficient for them because the average income is very low. If the Government is really intent upon helping village industry, let them help. We welcome this step for it is indeed a favourable and supporting step.

It were better if the Government had fixed some earlier date for the select committee to submit its report. But even now I presume that the Honourable Minister for Development would not allow to lapse a day more than two months for the committee to report. Certainly I am glad to find such helping and good intention of the Government.

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) (Urdu): Sir, I did not want to speak on this occasion but my honourable friend Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt by giving expression to his inner thoughts has compelled me to speak a few words on this matter.

First of all, I have to thank the Honourable the Leader of the Opposition for his straightforwardness with which he has welcomed this Bill. But I beg to differ with the feelings which my honourable friend Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt has expressed before this House. He said that if the Government had not got sufficient money to increase the grant for industries, they should spend all the existing amount on big industries.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt: This I did not say.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood: My learned friend may deny it now but may I ask him whether he did not insinuate this?

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt: No, no. This I did not say, I have repeated so many times. If the honourable member has learnt his speech by heart that is another thing. (Laughter).

Mir Maqbool Mahmood: Sir, I think that my learned friend Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt must have now realized that the attitude he took, is untenable and would not serve him. And I am pleased to know that he has revised it and is now professing some sympathy with the poor zamindars of this province. But it is very regrettable at the same time that my honourable friend Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt instead of receiving this Bill with warm reception, has tried to criticize it unduly.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma (Kangra, West, General, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, The Honourable Minister for Development when he moved this Bill was pleased to tell us that representations were received from the zamindars to the effect that no help was given to them in connection with cottage industry. Keeping these representations in view, the Honourable Minister introduced this amendment Bill. I must submit that if the Honourable Minister had read, the Punjab State Aid to Industries Act, 1935, and the rules framed thereunder he would have known that rules had been laid there for granting loans, which are highly stringent. But what a pity it is that the Government is bringing this amendment Bill without repealing those rules and they still persist in their professions of sympathy with zamindars ! I think it is far better for a zamindar to take a loan from a private person.

The rules made by the Government under Act V of 1935 are such that if any unfortunate person takes a loan in the hope of earning his livelihood, he virtually invites trouble and ruin. If for some reason he is not able to repay the amount or any part of it at the prescribed time he loses everything. Even the money already paid is forfeited. Now if in the presence of all this the Minister or the Government think that the measure is a boon to the small industrialist and that the Government wants to help and encourage him then I must say that they are hoodwinking the ignorant people. (Cries of order, order and withdraw.)

Mr. Speaker : The word "hoodwinking" is unparliamentary.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I did not use any objectionable expression but if that is your ruling I withdraw the word.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : On a point of order. Is the word "hoodwinking" unparliamentary ?

Mr. Speaker : Yes. It means "deceiving" or "dodging."

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I am sorry that even the Chair has misunderstood me. I did not mean offence to any one. All that I said was that if the Government knows all that I have stated and still persists in its professions of sympathy with the small industrialist by bringing forward the present measure then it is nothing but hoodwinking. The Honourable Minister was pleased to tell us that representations were received from the zamindars. But my submission is that if this is what they do in response to the representations of the zamindars and still they have the cheek to say that they are overflowing with sympathy for all poor people then God help this province and this Government.

Rao [Pohop Singh (East Punjab Landholders) (Urdu) : Sir, I shall confine my speech to a few remarks only. The honourable Leader of the Opposition has requested the Honourable Minister to ask the select committee to submit its report at any early date. It is a matter for gratification that he realizes the usefulness of the Bill and wants to see it enacted into law without unnecessary delay. But after that he went on to say that the sympathy professed by the Congress members was spoken of as only lip sympathy by the Honourable Minister. In this respect I would invite your attention to the revised list of business for to-day. In that list you will find two amendments for circulation of the Bill standing in the names of my honourable friends Pandit Shri Ram Sharma and Lala Duni Chand, respectively. One of these gentlemen wanted the circulation by the 1st December and the other by the 31st December. This is enough to show whether it is the Honourable Minister or the Opposition who wants to pass the Bill soon. Anyway, I am glad that the speech delivered by the Honourable Minister went home and these gentlemen realizing the inadvisability of moving their amendments, desisted from moving them.

The Honourable Dr. Sahib has stated that the Honourable Chaudhri Chhotu Ram has no sympathy for the zamindars and is in fact treating them badly. Granted that, if he is not meting out a fair treatment to the zamindars let him have his way a while. We would be grateful if our friends over there do not create obstacles and hindrances in his way. With these remarks I resume my seat.

Lala Duni Chand : I wish to make a brief request to the Honourable Minister for Development.

Mr. Speaker : I cannot allow the honourable member to speak. I called him a few minutes ago but he neither spoke on the main question nor did he move his amendment.

Lala Duni Chand : I want to speak now in regard to the motion before the House.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member has not understood me. He had given notice of an amendment to the main question that the Bill be referred to a select committee. When I called him he could have spoken on the main question and moved his amendment as well if he liked. But he did not avail himself of that opportunity.

Lala Duni Chand : I always consider it a privilege to be enlightened by you. But the point is if I did not want to move the circulation motion, does that preclude me from speaking on this motion ?

Mr. Speaker : Certainly not. But the honourable member was given an opportunity to speak and he did not choose to speak.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : You called on the member to move the motion which stood in his name.

Mr. Speaker : I simply called his name and thus gave him an opportunity to speak.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : If that motion were not there you would not have called him at that time.

Mr. Speaker : It was open to me to call him even then. The question is—

The Punjab State Aid to Industries (Amendment) Bill be referred to a select committee consisting of—

Mir Maqbool Mahmood ;
Chaudhri Muhammad Yasin Khan ;
Rai Sahib Chaudhri Het Ram ;
Chaudhri Muhammad Hussain ;
Shaikh Sadiq Hasan ;
Sardar Gopal Singh ;
Sardar Sampuran Singh ;
Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan ;
Lala Bhim Sen Sachar ;
Rai Bahadur Lala Gopal Das ;
Sardar Balwant Singh.

The quorum of the committee shall be five.

The motion was carried.

VILLAGE PANCHAYAT BILL.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : Sir, I present the report of the select committee on the Village Panchayat Bill.

I also move—

That the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill as reported on by the select committee be taken into consideration.

Mr. Speaker : Motion moved—

That the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill as reported on by the select committee be taken into consideration.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Southern Towns, General, Urban) (Urdu) : Sir, I beg to move—

That the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill as reported on by the select committee be further sent for reconsideration to the same select committee with instructions to report by the 15th December, 1939.

Sir, so far as the principle underlying the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill is concerned, there can be no two opinions about it. We are in entire agreement with it. I am rather of the opinion that panchayats are the age-old institutions in our country, which were founded on the fundamental principles of democracy. I, therefore, think that the introduction of such a measure as would bring about the establishment of effective panchayats in our province, is not only necessary but also of vital importance to our national existence. Its principles are par excellence. But the difficulty is that in practice they have proved to be retrograde. The honourable members are aware of the fact that the old Panchayat Act has been in force in our province for the last 18 or 19 years. But so far no useful results have been obtained. The Government reports which have been issued from time to time about its working amply prove that it has miserably failed to achieve its object. Even responsible officers like commissioners have often remarked in their reports about the working of this Act that from the practical point of view it has not met with marked success. Besides, I may submit that the present Government dismissed all the old panchayat officers with one stroke of the pen, without considering the efficiency of any of them. But we were surprised to find that after a few months the Government deemed fit to recruit fresh panchayat and assistant panchayat officers four or five times greater in number as compared with the dismissed ones. We fail to understand the inconsistency of the Government in removing the old incumbents without rhyme or reason on the one hand and making fresh recruitment of officers in unusually large numbers on the other.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is discussing the details of the Bill. May I draw his attention to Rule 86, which runs as follows :—

“ On the day on which any of the motions referred to in Rule 84 is made or on any subsequent day to which the discussion thereof is postponed, the principle of the Bill and its general provisions, may be discussed but the details of the Bill must not be discussed further than is necessary to explain its principle.”

Which principle of the Bill is the honourable member discussing ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: Sir, I am not discussing the details. Only permit me to proceed with my speech. I have already stated that so far as the principle underlying the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill is concerned, there exists absolutely no difference of opinion about it.

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): On a point of order, Sir. I should like to know whether this amendment as it stands is in order. If you will kindly turn to Rule 96, you will see that a motion of this kind may be moved only for two purposes.

Mr. Speaker: The Rule referred to by the honourable member applies only when the motion of recommitment is moved by the member in charge of a Bill; such motions when moved by other members, fall under sub-rule (2) of Rule 96.

Parliamentary Secretary: That is exactly what I am referring to. Under Sub-rule (2) the words "circulation" or "recommitment" are with reference to previous rules, otherwise the mere recommitment is meaningless. It must be recommitment for some specific purpose.

Mr. Speaker: A recommitment may be general, that is, for the reconsideration of the whole Bill, or only of its particular provisions or clauses.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: Sir, I briefly wanted to state the reasons as to why the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill should be recommitted to the same select committee. But my honourable friend has been unnecessarily restive to interrupt me. I was going to say that although none could deny the usefulness of this Bill, yet the reason why I consider it necessary to refer it again to the select committee, is that the select committee has failed to make any material changes in it. The Bill almost retains its original form. I, therefore, submit that the select committee should be provided with an opportunity again to go into the matter thoroughly. This is an important Bill intended to bring about a change in the rural economy. The Bill as reported by the select committee vests powers of far reaching nature in the hands of the Government in regard to matters relating to franchise, election, suspension of panchayat, etc. It is an anomaly that on the one hand the Government profess to introduce democratic principles in the village economy while on the other they retain all executive powers in their own hands. If that is to be the case, may I ask the Government as to what is the difference between the new Bill and the old Act.

The only difference that I can discern between the old Panchayat Act and the new Panchayat Bill is that a few more powers are proposed to be given to the panchayats in the future but I wonder if a meagre addition of powers will make up the deficiency and render the panchayats what they ought to be in a democratic country. The very principles of democracy which can constitute a real panchayat are absent from the proposed measure. It is too much to expect that the rules which will be made later on will supply what has been denied in the text of the Bill. The select committee has not improved it at all. The fundamental principles of democracy have been ignored in drafting the Bill. The method of election and of voting as well as of enfranchisement is very defective. For instance, one of the conditions laid down in the old Act is that only that person can stand for the panchayats who pays a sum of Rs. 5 as land revenue. This rule will deprive the poor classes. Particularly the Harijans, for whom the Unionist Government professes sympathy, has been excluded from the panchayats. They neither possess any land nor do they pay any land revenue. There ought to be an adult franchise in the panchayats. Every adult person in the villages should be allowed to vote for the panchayat without any restriction whatsoever.

There is yet another serious defect in the Bill. The Government reserves the right to suspend a panchayat or its panches. The root cause of all these defects is that the Government always keeps its own party interest in view and does not follow the true canons of democracy. It is always concerned to prolong its existence and add to its strength or help its supporters by fair means or foul. It looks at every problem through party point of view. What is needed most is the fact that a Government should regard itself to be the custodian of the rights of the whole province and of all the parties. In the absence of such a viewpoint our Government has brought about such a state of affairs as was not seen even under the old foreign bureaucracy. In fact our Government is worse than its forerunner. It is very essential that the panchayats should end unnecessary litigation in the villages but instead of that the Government wants to make them a means of securing votes in the provincial elections.

Another evil present in the Bill is that it empowers the panchayat to impose taxes on the villagers who are already groaning under the heavy burden of taxation. I may sound a note of warning to the Government that the villagers are too poor to pay any additional tax. It will prove the last straw to break their back. There are already too many taxes besides the land revenue which the poor village folks have to pay like the professional tax and malba. The greatest evil of this Act would be that the Government will acquire a new weapon to suck the blood of the poverty-stricken dwellers of the villages to further their party interests.

At this stage the Assembly adjourned till 12 noon on Monday, 30th October, 1939.

PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

SIXTH SESSION OF THE FIRST PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Monday, 30th October, 1939.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at 12 noon of the clock. Mr. Speaker in the Chair.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

HOURS OF WORK IN MUKAND IRON WORKS, BADAMI BAGH, LAHORE.

4884. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

- (a) whether the General Secretary of the Foundry Workmen's Union, Lahore, wrote a letter on January 21, 1939, to the Chief Inspector of Factories, Punjab, stating that the Workmen working on rolling mills of the Mukand Iron Works, Badami Bagh, Lahore, have to remain in the factory for more than 14 hours in contravention of the Indian Factories Act ;
- (b) the reply given by the Chief Inspector of Factories to the letter ;
- (c) the action, if any, taken by the Industries Department ;
- (d) the visits, if any, he paid to the said works after receiving the letter ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : (a) Yes.

(b) A copy of the Chief Inspector of Factories' reply along with a copy of another letter, dated the 6th April, 1939, issued by him on the subject is placed on the table.

(c) and (d) The Mukand Iron Works, Badami Bagh, were inspected by the Chief Inspector of Factories on the 11th March, 1939, and were found to be working in order.

Copy of letter No. 475, dated the 7th February, 1939, from the Chief Inspector of Factories, Punjab, to the General Secretary, Foundry Workers' Union (Registered), Lahore.

In reply to your letter No. 2-X, undated, I would refer you to paragraph 4 of your letter IX also undated, in which you stated that the shifts outlined by you as being in force in the Mukand Iron Works are not in accordance with Factory Regulations.

As the hours of work shown do exceed 10 per day, your remarks are correct.

[Minister for Development.]

On receiving your first communication, the District Inspector was requested to make an inspection of the Factory, sooner than he would do in the ordinary course of his duty, and he will as usual scrutinise the system of working hours in force.

The Inspector's report when received in this office will be acted upon with a view to assuring that Factory Regulations regarding hours of work are complied with.

I would, however, point out the improbability of workers on blast furnaces being employed 14 hours a day, even if engaged on 2 hours shifts, as the work is strenuous and fatigue would cause carelessness in work, which in time would result in loss to the employer far exceeding the cost of additional labour.

*Copy of letter No. 1177, dated the 6th April, 1939, from the Chief Inspector of Factories, Punjab, to the General Secretary, Foundry Workmen's Union (Registered),
Lahore.*

In reply to your letter No. 5-X, dated 24th February, 1939, I have to inform you that I have made enquiries amongst the metal work factories at Badami Bagh and find that the hours of work there are less than the maximum permitted under the Factories Act. There is therefore no infringement of Factory Regulations on that point.

Regarding the reporting of accidents, I find that the only accident not reported relates to Muhammad Shafi and in this case it is doubtful if it can be termed a reportable accident. Injuries to the worker were stated by the factory manager and factory workers to have been so slight that the worker did not report to the manager or a doctor. The injured worker is said to have taken the pay due to him and absented himself from the factory. The worker does not appear to have gone to a doctor for treatment; it is therefore difficult to establish the fact that he was injured sufficiently to be off duty for more than 48 hours. I would suggest that in future you advise workers that when receiving injuries necessitating their going off duty at all, they should at once report to the Assistant Surgeon, Lahore, and get the fact recorded showing the extent of their injuries; such a record is necessary to claim compensation and without such a record a case for compensation is very weak.

I would point out to you that the method of operating blast furnaces is the same in Amritsar and other parts of India as it is in Lahore and as this is the recognised method of work, which also is in accordance with Factory Regulations, it is not possible to interfere in it.

RURAL UPLIFT WORK.

4885. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

- (a) in which tahsils and of which districts in the Punjab the intensive rural uplift work as promised last year with the aid of Special Development Fund has been started and the rate of progress made;
- (b) the amount spent so far on this rural uplift work and the specific nature in detail of the work undertaken in this connexion?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : (a) A list of the tahsils concerned is laid on the table.

(b) Apart from the disproportion between the labour involved in collecting the information asked for and the results likely to be obtained an answer to this part of the question is beside the scope of an Assembly question.

Statement showing the tahsils elected for intensive rural reconstruction campaign for the years 1938-39 and 1939-40.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know how much money has been spent so far on this work ?

Minister : I have already given an answer to that part of the question.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Is the Honourable Minister in a position to give names of villages selected for rural uplift work in Samrala tahsil ?

Minister : No, Sir.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Has the Honourable Minister visited the places named by him ?

Minister : I have paid visits to some of the villages where I was told that intensive activities were in progress.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Is the Honourable Minister aware that no rural uplift work has yet begun in Samrala tahsil of Ludhiana district ?

Minister : I cannot believe it.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Has the Honourable Minister visited Samrala ?

Minister : A Minister cannot be expected to pay visits to each village in a tahsil selected for intensive work.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalra : Am I right in assuming that no other places except those mentioned now have been visited by the Minister during the last recess ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know as to when the rural uplift work was started in Jhajjar and what progress it has made so far ?

Minister : I have already given the answer to that part of the question.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know what work has been done in Sonapat ?

Minister : Information cannot be collected for a question like this.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Does the Honourable Minister know anything about the rural uplift work in Samrala tahsil ? Has there been any opportunity for the Honourable Minister to—Minister : I cannot give any details.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Therefore the Honourable Minister cannot definitely say whether any work has or has not been done in Samrala tahsil.

Mr. Speaker : That is an inference.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Is it a fact that the Honourable Minister went to Samrala, yet he did not see that rural uplift work was—Minister : Quite possible.

Lala Duni Chand : Has the Government drawn up any scheme so far in regard to the work to be done in various tahsils ?

Minister : Yes.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know what are the chief characteristics or chief items of that scheme ?

Pandit Muni Lal Kalra : Have all the visits made to these places been in connection with rural uplift work ?

Minister : In some cases, yes.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalra : In how many cases have these not been in connection with rural work ?

Lala Duni Chand : Does the Honourable Minister mean that the visits to areas mentioned resulted in economic betterment ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Has the Honourable Minister's attention been drawn to the fact that the work of rural uplift serves the purpose of Government propaganda ?

Premier : Propaganda there will be inasmuch as the people will know how far the Government is striving for their welfare.

DEATH OF COWS IN GOVERNMENT CATTLE DAIRY FARM, HISSAR.

4897. Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state whether it is a fact that some cows died suddenly in Government Cattle Dairy Farm, Hissar, very recently; if so, how many have died and what was the cause of their death ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : Yes, 38 cows died suddenly at the Government Cattle Farm, Hissar, from the 11th to 18th March, 1939. They were not out of the Dairy cows, but were the most emaciated ones from the general herd and ordinarily they would have been marked for auction had they not been taken up for experiment.

An experiment with bone meal was being conducted. On the 10th March, 1939, however, sodium fluorosilicate, which was in stock, was accidentally issued to the cows by the Storekeeper and resulted in their death due to poisoning.

IRON AND STEEL ROLLING MILLS.

4953. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of iron and steel rolling mills registered as factories in the province in 1938 ;
- (b) the working hours in each such mill ;
- (c) the number of visits that the Factory Inspector paid to each such mill during the same year ;
- (d) the number of accidents that took place in each of these mills during this period ;
- (e) the number of cases, if any, in which compensation was given to the victims of these accidents ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : (a) There were 10 iron and steel rolling mills registered as factories working in the province during 1938. A statement showing their names is laid on the table.

(b) A statement showing the working hours of each factory is laid on the table.

(c) A statement showing the number of visits paid by the Inspector of Factories to each mill during 1938 is laid on the table.

(d) Accidents were reported in only 2 out of the 10 mills, 12 accidents occurred in the Mukand Steel Rolling Mills, Badami Bagh, of which 10 were minor accidents and 2 serious ones. Two minor accidents occurred in Laul's Limited Steel Roller Mills, Chheharta.

(e) Information regarding the number of cases in which compensation was given to the victims of the accidents is not readily available.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : On a point of order. No statement regarding this question has been supplied.

Mr. Speaker : It should have been supplied to the honourable member at least one day before.

DEATH OF COWS IN GOVERNMENT CATTLE FARM DAIRY, HISSAR.

4962. Dr. Sant Ram Seth : Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state whether it is a fact that some cows died suddenly in Government Cattle Farm Dairy, Hissar, very recently ; if so, how many have died and what was the cause of their death ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : The honourable member is referred to the answer given to question No. *4897¹, a little while ago.

DEATH OF COWS IN GOVERNMENT CATTLE FARM DAIRY, HISSAR.

4965. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state whether it is a fact that some cows died suddenly in Government Cattle Farm Dairy, Hissar, very recently ; if so, how many have died and what was the cause of their death ;

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : The honourable member is referred to the answer given to question No. *4897¹ a little while ago.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Was any punishment given to the servant who was responsible for the death of the cows ?

Minister : No, he was not punished.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Was he rewarded then ?

RECOMMENDATIONS ADOPTED BY PUNJAB GOVERNMENT IN PURSUANCE OF RECOMMENDATIONS OF PUNJAB GOVERNMENT FOREST COMMISSION.

5021. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state in detail the recommendations adopted by the Punjab Government up to 10th April, 1939, in respect of Kangra district, in pursuance of the recommendations of the Punjab Government Forest Commission, 1937-38 ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : Government have accepted the following recommendations made by the Punjab Forest Committee in respect of the Kangra district (excluding Kulu Sub-division):—

1. Paragraph 10·7-A that rakhs be allotted nautor in special cases.
2. Paragraph 10·8-A that the rules prohibiting cutting of thorns without the lambardar's permit be rescinded.
3. Paragraph 10·9-A (a) that in gaddi flocks no tirmi should be charged on lambs under six months old.
4. Paragraph 10·10-A that revision of the river rule prohibiting the crossing of timber on the river Beas be made.
5. Paragraph 10·1-B that the dates of departmental burning of Chil forests be advertised well ahead.
6. Paragraph 10·3-B that sufficient notice of auction of grass in trihais be given.
7. Paragraph 10·4-B that lambardars be authorised to mark Kharshu oak trees on emergency in Kothi Kohr and Swar.
8. Paragraph 10·5-B that timber distribution be made annually in Kothi Kohr and Swar.
9. Paragraph 10·2-C that Sowanas in Kothi Kohr and Swar be demarcated.
10. Paragraph 10·4-C that the exercise of rights in more than one 'tika' be permitted if expedient.
11. Paragraph 10·5-C that revenue papers include a record of trees planted by the zamindars themselves.

The other recommendations are under consideration.

COMMUNITY-WISE NUMBER OF MEMBERS OF THE DEBT
CONCILIATION BOARDS.

5041. Rai Bahadur Lala Binda Saran : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

- (a) the total number of Debt Conciliation Boards existing in the province at the present time with the total number community-wise of members of these boards ;
- (b) the number and percentage of members among them belonging to statutory agricultural tribes ;

- (c) the number and names of Conciliation Boards in the province on which there is no representative of the money-lending classes ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : (a) First Part.—28 Boards.

Second Part.—84 Members including 28 Chairmen ; Muslims—89, Hindus—82 and Sikhs—18.

(b) 56 members and 66 per cent.

(c) There is no Board without a representative of the money-lending interests, although in one Board, that of Sheikhpura tahsil, the representative of the money-lending interest happens to be a statutory agriculturist.

Lala Duni Chand : Has the Government received so far any reports in regard to the inefficiency of any of the members appointed ?

Minister : Does this question arise out of my answer ?

Mr. Speaker : No.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Is there in the view of the Honourable Minister or the Government any difference between the viewpoint of agriculturists and that of money-lenders ?

Minister : A very substantial one.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : In view of the answer given, how is the Honourable Minister satisfied that an agriculturist can safeguard the money-lending interest on the Sheikhpura Board ?

Minister : A statutory agriculturist may belong to a family which does the business of money-lending.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : How does he reconcile both viewpoints ?

Minister : This gentleman was recommended to me by eminent men who represent money-lending interest in this House.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Is he more an agriculturist or a money-lender ?

Minister : I did not quite analyse his mentality.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does the Honourable Minister realise that there is a large number of statutory agriculturists carrying on money-lending business ?

Minister : I know it.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does he feel that there is no necessity of any distinction between these two classes of money-lenders ?

Minister : Yes.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is there any proposal under the consideration of the Government to treat such people who are statutory agriculturists, indulging in money-lending business, as ordinary money-lenders ?

Minister : For one purpose they have already been treated as such.

Lala Duni Chand : Has the Government taken care to see that creditors are represented on every conciliation board ?

Minister : I have already answered this question.

GRADES OF PAY OF THE VETERINARY COMPOUNDERS.

5060. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state whether it is a fact that according to circular No. 5 of 1936 of the Veterinary Department, Government fixed the grades of veterinary compounders; if so, the number and names of the district boards in the Punjab which have adopted and enforced these grades in the veterinary hospitals under their control and also of those district boards which have not so far adopted those grades with the reasons for not doing so?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): In the circular referred to by the honourable member Government have only recommended for adoption by local bodies an appropriate scale of pay for compounders in veterinary hospitals. The scale has been adopted by the District Boards of Ambala, Sialkot, Hoshiarpur, Ferozepore, Montgomery, Muzaffargarh, Jhelum, Shahpur, Gujrat and Attock. The District Board of Lahore has sanctioned only two posts in the revised grade and the District Board of Rawalpindi only one. The other district boards have not been able to adopt the suggested scale on account of paucity of funds.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Parliamentary Secretary please state whether the attention of the various district boards who refused to adopt these grades has again been drawn to this matter?

Parliamentary Secretary : Their attention has been drawn to it but the question is of money. Unless they have funds they cannot enforce these grades.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is there any other consideration excepting that of funds?

Parliamentary Secretary : If there had been any other consideration I would have communicated it to the honourable member.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Has the District Board, Rohtak, also refused to adopt these grades on the plea of paucity of funds?

Parliamentary Secretary : This question refers to a particular district board and therefore a notice is required for giving the required information.

INDUSTRIAL LOANS.

5086. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state—

- (a) the number and particulars of industrial loans sanctioned for payment by the Punjab Government last year and this year and the purposes for which they were sanctioned;
- (b) whether all such loans have been paid to those in whose names they have been sanctioned;
- (c) cases in which loans have not been paid as yet, the obstacle in the way of such payments and the steps intended to be taken to overcome the same?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : (a) A statement is laid on the table.

(b) With the exception of items 28, 38 and 44, loans shown in list I of the statement and loans shown at items 1 to 9 in list II have been disbursed.

(c) As regards the three undisbursed loans, viz., shown at items 28, 38, and 44 in list I, the issue of a notification under the Punjab Alienation of Land Act, exempting the agricultural holdings offered as security, from the provisions of that Act, is still under consideration.

As regards items 10 to 28 in list II, the title deeds are either under scrutiny with the Law Department or other formalities are being settled.

ROYALTY FOR COLLECTION OF LIMESTONE.

5112. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) whether any royalty is being charged by the Punjab Government or through the Punjab Government by Government of India for collection of limestone from private or shamilat lands in Salt range area (Khewra) ;

(b) if so, their respective amounts ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) No.

(b) Does not arise.

DEBT CONCILIATION BOARD, AMBALA.

5197. Lala Duni Chand : With reference to the answer to question No. 2279¹ (starred) will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state—

(a) the number of cases decided by the Debt Conciliation Board, Ambala, so far ;

(b) the number of days on which the said Board has worked so far ;

(c) average number of hours devoted to the work per day ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : (a) 2,289 cases.

(b) 396 days.

(c) 8 hours.

APPLICATION FOR ERECTING OIL EXPRESSERS BY MESSRS. B. C. G. A., LIMITED, KHANEWAL.

*5205. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the date when application for sanction of erecting oil expressers by Messrs. B. C. G. A., Limited, Khanewal, under the name of Khanewal Oil Mills, Limited, was received ;
- (b) the date when application was sanctioned ;
- (c) the date when construction was started ;
- (d) the date when it was completed ;
- (e) whether any other application for erection of oil expressers at Khanewal was received ; if so, when, and by whom and what action was taken on it by the Government ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) 27th February, 1939.

- (b) It has not yet been sanctioned.
- (c) First week of June, 1939.
- (d) Last week of August, 1939.
- (e) An application was submitted to the Sub-Divisional Officer, Khanewal, for the erection of an oil expeller by Messrs. Mahesh Chandar-Mohan Lal, on 24th April, 1939. It is under the consideration of the Commissioner, Multan division, and has not yet been received by Government.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know whether the factory has started work ?

Minister : Yes.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Without the application being granted ?

Minister : Yes.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Does Government propose to take any action ?

Minister : Action under the rules would be taken.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Since when is the factory working without permission ?

Minister : The application has not been sanctioned. There is a breach of the rules and breaches of rules are dealt with according to rules.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Since when has it started working ?

Minister : I am afraid I cannot give you the exact date.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : May I take it that there has not been sufficient time for Government to take any action ?

Minister : Naturally, we have come to know now that the factory has been built and action will be taken in due course.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Then, do I take it that the Honourable Minister has come to know of it for the first time from the Leader of the Opposition ?

Minister : No, we have come to know separately from the reports received.

IRREGULARITIES IN APPOINTMENTS IN OFFICE OF DISTRICT AND SESSIONS JUDGE, MULTAN.

4872. Sardar Ajit Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) whether certain serious irregularities in the matter of offering new appointments have come to the notice of the Government in the office of the District and Sessions Judge, Multan ;
- (b) whether, for example, it is a fact that the new clerk of court appointed was neither a candidate for this post nor had he any such experience, training or educational qualifications ;
- (c) if so, his special qualifications and the number of other candidates whom he superseded and their claims and qualifications ;
- (d) the action that the Government propose to take in the matter for this preferential treatment ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) No.

(b) No.

(c) and (d) Do not arise.

SCHEDULED CASTE PRISONERS WORKING AS SWEEPERS IN JAILS.

4879. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) the caste-wise number of prisoners belonging to scheduled castes who are working at present as sweepers in the Punjab jails ;
- (b) whether it is a fact that even such of the prisoners belonging to scheduled castes as never did the work of sweepers before their incarceration, are required to do sweepers' work in jails ;
- (c) whether there are any such prisoners in the Punjab jails at present who do not belong to scheduled castes but are required to do the work of a sweeper ; if so, the reason why such prisoners are required to do that work ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a)—

Ad Dharmis	1

Chamar	2
Chuhra or Balmiki	160
Sansi	35
Bangali	1
Dhanak	6
Gagra	4
Sirkiband	3

Total	228

(b) and (c). Sweepers' work is allotted only to persons who have been classified by the courts as sweepers, sometimes, however, persons who have not been classified as sweepers by the courts volunteer to do this work either because of the greater remissions sweepers earn or because they are, in fact, professional sweepers. Such volunteers are given sweepers' work.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the Honourable Minister in a position to say definitely that it is always a case of volunteering and not of forcing any person, who is not a sweeper, to do the scavenger's work ?

Minister : I have already stated that either the courts record their names as professional sweepers, who do the work, or other persons volunteer. It is only in these two circumstances that anybody is given the sweeper's work.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will Government make enquiries to find out whether there are any instances where persons who were not really sweepers were made to do sweepers' work because of the paucity of sweepers ?

Minister : I made enquiries only the other day when I went to a jail and I found these two conditions fully satisfied. Nobody is compelled because of the paucity of sweepers to do sweepers' work. I have already said that if there is paucity of sweepers and men are not available, then we shall have to engage professional sweepers on paid salary.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will he issue instructions to that effect ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What are the rules and practice with regard to the work of sweepers in the jails ?

Minister : That is exactly what I have stated in the answer to the question.

LUDHIANA BAR ROOM.

*4892. Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) under whose charge and in whose possession the Ludhiana Bar Room has been since its construction ;
- (b) whether he is prepared to lay on the table of the House the correspondence that passed between the District Magistrate, the Superintendent of Police and the District and Sessions Judge, Ludhiana, and between the Ludhiana district authorities and the Premier and the High Court and also between the District and Sessions Judge and the Bar Association, Ludhiana, on this subject before it was decided to lock up that building ;
- (c) whether any consultations were held on the phone between the Premier, the local authorities and the High Court on 15th and 16th February ; if so, the nature of such consultation ;
- (d) whether the Superintendent of Police, Ludhiana, was instructed by the Government to interview Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru and the former went to see the latter ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) Till May 1929, in the charge of the Deputy Commissioner ; since then under the control and management of the Honourable Judges.

(b) and (c) Government cannot undertake to disclose the contents of official correspondence in a matter of this kind.

(d) Government understand that acting in consultation with the Deputy Commissioner the Superintendent of Police sought an opportunity of meeting Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru and explaining the position to him.

EXPLANATION BY FORTY MEMBERS OF LUDHIANA BAR.

4893. Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state whether any explanation has recently been asked for from some forty members of the Ludhiana Bar, by the High Court; if so, the names of those members who have been asked to give the explanation ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : The matter is under the consideration of the Honourable the Chief Justice, and it is regretted that no information can be given until a final decision is reached.

BAR ROOM AT LUDHIANA.

4894. Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Will the Honourable Minister or Finance be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that the District Judge was informed by Mr. Bhagat Ram Dogra, Advocate, on 16th February that the item of lunch and address in the Bar Room was dropped from the programme of Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru ;

(b) whether it is also a fact that Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru informed the Superintendent of Police on 16th February, that he was not going to the Bar Room ;

(c) if the replies to parts (a) and (b) are in the affirmative, the reasons why the authorities have not removed the lock from the building so far ;

(d) whether he is aware that the practising lawyers and the litigant public are being put to great inconvenience by the building being locked up since 15th February ; if so, when it is expected to be opened to the lawyers and the public ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) Government understand that this is correct.

(b) Yes.

(c) and (d) The Bar Room has long since been re-opened. The circumstances in which its closure was ordered, and the conditions under which permission was subsequently given for it to be re-opened, were explained in a Press Note issued under the orders of the Honourable the Chief Justice in June last.

ACCOUNTS OF INSOLVENCY ESTATES.

4942. Chaudhri Kartar Singh: Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that the accounts of Insolvency Estates were formerly audited by the auditors of the Accountant-General's office ;
- (b) whether it is a fact that since some time this practice has been stopped and these accounts are now audited by an auditor of the High Court ; if so, why this change has been introduced ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : The normal rule is for the accounts of Official Receivers to be audited by the Examiner of Local Fund Accounts, but at the request of the High Court Government have lately sanctioned an amendment allowing the Honourable Judges to utilise the services of private auditors in any particular case where this seems to them the better course, having regard to the cost, nature and scope of the audit. The application of the amendment is confined to insolvency cases dealt with in the High Court itself.

TARA SINGH, PRISONER.

4959. Sardar Hari Singh: Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) whether there is at present confined in the Old Central Jail, Multan a prisoner by the name of Tara Singh, son of Jawala Singh, of village Sarhala Mundian, district Hoshiarpur, who has been deported from Shanghai ;
- (b) his present weight and weight on admission and the general state of his health ;
- (c) the normal date of his release ;
- (d) whether he is allowed usual remissions and concessions for good conduct in jail ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) Yes.

(b) His present weight is 119 lbs. and his weight on admission in the Multan Old Central Jail was 123 lbs. His general state of health is good.

(c) 3rd September, 1948.

(d) Yes.

FRAUD IN OLD CENTRAL JAIL, MULTAN.

4963. Chaudhri Kartar Singh: Will the Honourable Minister Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that there was a huge fraud in the Old Central Jail, Multan, in 1935-36 which was detected in April, 1938, by the Superintendent then in charge of that Jail ;
- (b) whether it is also a fact that the special auditor deputed on the request of the Superintendent mentioned in (a) held that there had been cases of excess payments and also that certain payments had been made for articles which had never been supplied to the Jail and further that the records in the matter had been tampered with ;

(e) if the answer to (a) and (b) above be in the affirmative, whether any action has been taken against the persons in fault, and if not, why not ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) and (b) Certain irregular payments were reported by the Superintendent and the Special Auditor.

(c) The Inspector-General of Prisons has held an inquiry and his report is at present under consideration of Government.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Has the Minister any idea of the amount ?

Minister : I have no precise idea, because the matter has not yet been fully studied by me. So far as I know the amounts are not very large.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Any rough idea ?

Minister : I could not give any rough idea.

CENTRAL JAIL, LAHORE.

4981. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state whether the Superintendent of the Central Jail, Lahore, caused a search of the jail godown to be made on 1st April, 1939 ; if so, whether anything incriminating was found in the said godown, and, if so, whether any punishment has been awarded to the culprits ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : A check of the grain godown only was carried out by the Jail Superintendent on the 1st April, 1939, and nothing incriminating was found during the check. The latter part of the question does not arise.

REMOVAL OF LIQUOR SHOPS FROM MUNICIPAL LIMITS OF AMBALA CITY.

5013. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state—

(a) whether the Municipal Committee, Ambala City, passed a resolution unanimously asking for the removal of liquor shops from the Municipal limits of Ambala City ;

(b) what action, if any, the Government has taken thereon ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) Yes.

(b) A referendum will be held by the Municipal Committee, Ambala, in due course, as required by section 5 of the Local Option Act.

LIQUOR SHOPS IN JAGADHRI.

5014. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that in pursuance of a referendum taken under the Punjab Local Option Act the liquor shop situate in Jagadhri town, district Ambala, was removed ;

- (b) how far from the limits of the Municipal Committee, Jagadhri, the business of the said liquor shop is now being carried on ;
- (c) where the stock of liquor belonging to the said shop is kept ;
- (d) whether it is proposed to shift the liquor shop from its present site permanently to some other place ; if so, to which place ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) Yes.

(b) From half to three-quarters of a mile.

(c) In a tent or chholdari temporarily.

(d) No. It is proposed to construct a building on the present site.

LIFE CONVICT PESHAWARA SINGH.

5043. Shrimati Raghbir Kaur : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) whether there is a life convict named Peshawara Singh of village Kamania, district Lahore, repatriated from Andamans on medical grounds possessing a blotless history ticket confined in the Old Central Jail, Multan ;
- (b) whether it is also a fact that he has already undergone a term of 14 years including remissions ;
- (c) if the answer to the above be in the affirmative, the reasons why the said prisoner has not been released so far ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) Yes.

(b) The actual period of confinement undergone by him is 9 years, 4 months and 16 days only. He has technically earned remissions amounting to 7 years and 7 months.

(c) Government has not considered the question of release of this prisoner as yet.

UNDER-TRIAL POLITICAL PRISONERS JAGAN NATH AND RAM KISHAN.

5072. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) the reasons why under-trial political prisoners Jagan Nath and Ram Kishan were fettered in the first week of May, 1939, in the Sub-Jail at Hoshiarpur ;
- (b) how long they were kept in fetters ;
- (c) whether further they were kept locked-up in their cells ; if so, for how long ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) Jagan Nath was fettered for disorderly behaviour. Ram Kishan was fettered for refusing to take food and instigating other prisoners to do the same and also for insolent and threatening behaviour towards jail officials.

(b) Jagan Nath for four days and Ram Kishan for one day.

[Minister for Finance.]

(c) Jagan Nath was kept in a separate cell for 4 months and 21 days and Ram Kishan for 2 months and 18 days, not by way of punishment but in order to segregate them from other prisoners according to the provisions of paragraph 659 (d) of the Punjab Jail Manual.

Lala Duni Chand : In view of the fact that these two gentlemen are political prisoners, was the object of putting fetters on them the crushing of the spirit of humanity out of them ?

Minister : That was not the object. One of them was a prisoner under section 115 which is not a political offence, it is an abetment of an offence punishable with death or transportation for life. The other one was under section 124-A undoubtedly. But they were both misbehaving. It is not a question of humanity or non-humanity.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know the precise misbehaviour for which they were punished ?

Minister : That is exactly what I have stated.

Diwan Chaman Lal : What did the unruly behaviour consist of ?

Minister : It was insolent behaviour towards the jail officials—threatening to hit them or assault them.

Diwan Chaman Lal : Has my honourable friend satisfied himself about the correctness of the report ?

Minister : If it is desired that I should look into the case further, I shall do so. The question is, what was the nature of behaviour and I have adequately answered this inquiry.

HUNGER STRIKE OF UNDER-TRIAL PRISONERS IN AMRITSAR.

5073. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that about 50 under-trial prisoners in Sub-Jail, Amritsar, went on hunger strike in the first week of May, 1939 ;
- (b) the reasons for which they went on hunger strike ;
- (c) whether all of them were beaten by the Jail staff for their temerity for going on hunger strike ;
- (d) the action, if any, taken in the matter against offending officials ;
- (e) steps taken to ensure an impartial inquiry ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) No.

(b) to (e) Do not arise.

SAVING EXPECTED AS A RESULT OF THE CENTRAL GOVERNMENT UNDERTAKING TO MAINTAIN LAW AND ORDER ON RAILWAY PREMISES.

5093. Diwan Chaman Lal : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state the amount expected to be saved during the current financial year by the Punjab Government as a result of the Central Government undertaking to maintain law and order on railway premises as well as the recurring amount thus saved annually ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : I regret that the answer to this question is not ready.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I take it that the Honourable Minister who should have answered the question is not in his seat ?

Parliamentary Secretary : This department has been transferred to the Public Works Minister and it is on that account that the answer has been mislaid.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Is the honourable member aware that at least four months ago notice was given of this question ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am prepared to accept it, but owing to a change of department the answer has been mislaid and I can assure the honourable member that it will be communicated to him.

PERSONNEL FOR PUNJAB STORES DEPARTMENT.

5094. Diwan Chaman Lall : Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state—

- (a) the personnel selected for the Punjab Stores Department ;
- (b) what system of checks, relating for example, to the orders to be placed in order to ensure that they are not in excess of requirements, has been ordered in respect of the Punjab Stores Department ;
- (c) whether any maximum limit has been prescribed in respect of Stores ; and if so, by what authority ;
- (d) the procedure adopted for Stores verification ;
- (e) whether independent Audit has been established for the purposes of Stores verification and whether the audit department is independent of the department controlling the stores ;
- (f) what system has been adopted for ensuring—
 - (i) that value accounts tally with the accounts of works and departments connected with stores transactions ;
 - (ii) periodical re-valuation of the stores ;
 - (iii) purchase of stores according to sanction ;
 - (iv) acceptance of the lowest tender (or else adequate reasons recorded) and purchase by tender ;
 - (v) tallying of rates paid with the terms of the contract ;
 - (vi) provision of certificates and quality ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : (a) The superior staff of the department consists of three officers ; a Stores Purchase Officer at the head with two Assistant Stores Purchase Officers to assist him. For the present the Director of Industries is working as the Stores Purchase Officer in addition to his other duties. On the recommendation of the Public Service Commission Government have appointed Mr. K. P. Thukral, Assistant Stores Purchase Officer (General) and Mr. Abdul Hamid, Assistant Stores Purchase Officer (Engineering). The office staff consists of seven clerks including one stenographer.

[Minister for Development.]

(b) The Department does not stock stores. Purchases of goods of capital nature are arranged on receipt of indent from different departments. As regards maintenance stores, or articles likely to be required by several departments as occasion may demand, running rate contracts are arranged. Departments may purchase these stores or articles at the fixed rates from the approved firms under advice to the Store Purchase Department.

(c) Does not arise.

(d) Specifications are prescribed by the indenting department and the Assistant Stores Purchase Officer concerned checks the goods supplied to verify that they conform to those specifications.

(e) In view of the reply to part (b), this does not arise.

(f) (i) and (ii). Do not arise.

(iii) Indenting departments obtain the sanction of the Minister-in-charge and the concurrence of the Finance Department where necessary before placing orders with the Stores Purchase Department.

(iv) Tenders are invariably invited and it is the practice to accept the lowest tender, provided that supply according to specifications is assured.

(v) When a tender has been accepted, a contract deed is drawn up. This is then sent to the indenting department which prepares bills accordingly. The Audit Department verifies that payments made by the indenting departments agree with the terms of the contract deed.

(vi) Reference is invited to the reply to part (d).

CHAUDHRI ATMA RAM.

*5257. Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Will the Honourable Minister or Finance be pleased to state—

(a) whether Chaudhri Atma Ram, Member, District Board, Hoshiarpur, who has been charged with an offence under sections 117/188, Indian Penal Code, has been placed in C class ;

(b) if so, the reasons for placing the prisoner who has the status of a member of a District Board, in C class ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) He is being treated as an ordinary under-trial prisoner.

(b) The classification of under-trial prisoners is a matter for the courts.

ADJOURNMENT MOTIONS.

ENFORCEMENT OF INDIAN PRINCES' PROTECTION ACT IN THE PUNJAB.

Diwan Chaman Lal : I want your instructions with regard to my adjournment motion, No. 4¹ on the agenda, whether you admit it now or whether we are postponing it for another day.

Mr. Speaker : I think the motion requires Governor's consent. Its copy has been forwarded to His Excellency and his decision is awaited.

¹To ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, making applicable certain provisions of the Indian Princes' Protection Act to all districts of the Punjab.

INTERFERENCE WITH LIBERTY OF THE PRESS.

Pandit Shri Ram (Southern Towns, General, Urban) : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, unjustifiable interference with the liberty of the press by the Punjab Government as evinced in demanding the security of Rs. 1,000 from the 'Haryana Tilak', Rohtak, vide order, dated the 14th August, 1939. In this connection, I propose to say a few words.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is referred to rule 48.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : My submission is that you have always allowed us to clarify our viewpoint so that you may have everything before you before you give your ruling.

Mr. Speaker : May I ask whether the order is appealable ; and if so, whether an appeal was preferred ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : No appeal has been preferred. The rule requires that the matter should not be sub judice and since two months have already elapsed, no appeal can be instituted now. Thus the case is not sub judice and there is no likelihood of its coming before a court.

Mr. Speaker : The question is whether the aggrieved person was entitled to appeal ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : No doubt the aggrieved person had the right of appeal but in this case the right has not been availed of.

Mr. Speaker : If he had a right of appeal and did not exercise it, has he a right to be heard by this House through the honourable member ? Is this Assembly a court of appeal in cases in which a right of appeal is given by the law of the land ; but is not exercised by the aggrieved person ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : My submission is that this motion does not offend against any of the restrictions mentioned in the rules relating to adjournment motions. So far as the right of appeal is concerned, our rules have nothing to say about it and we in this House are not concerned with it. Even some murder and suicide cases in the police custody have been allowed to be discussed on a motion for adjournment in this House. In those cases too there was a right of appeal. So, I submit that the question of right of appeal should not be allowed to wreck this motion.

Mr. Speaker : The motion raises a merely individual grievance, and is, therefore, out of order on that ground as well.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : On a point of order. May I point out that you have ruled earlier in a similar case, viz., in the case of "The Siasat," that it should be discussed as an adjournment motion ?

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member has probably forgotten that I expressly ruled, when I allowed that motion, that my ruling shall not form a precedent.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : My submission is that the motion—

Mr. Speaker : No further discussion, please. In my opinion an adjournment motion must be of urgent public importance and must raise a larger issue than a merely individual grievance.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : You did not ask me whether the appeal—

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member has stated that no appeal was made.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : With regard to the appeal I have already made my point clear. So far as its being a personal and individual case is concerned, I submit that it is not so. The 'Haryana Tilak' is simply an instance. It is the interference with the liberty of the press that is to be discussed. My submission is that this case is an instance of the Government interference with the liberty of the press, which was abundantly proved in the answer recently given to Lala Deshbandhu Gupta's question.

Mr. Speaker : When the honourable member hands to me a motion which is properly worded and otherwise in order I shall gladly consider it.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether you would be prepared to consider a fresh notice of a motion in the matter if it is couched in a better language and the bar of its now being ruled out of order will not stand in the way ?

Mr. Speaker : I cannot make any promise. When the honourable member hands to me his fresh motion, I will consider it. The present motion is out of order.

APPLICATION OF DEFENCE OF INDIA ORDINANCE IN THE PUNJAB.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt (North-Eastern Towns, General, Urban) : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the abuse of the Defence of India Ordinance on the part of the Punjab Government in the form of indiscriminate arrests of a large number of respectable political workers in the province.

Mr. Speaker : Are these arrests made under orders of the Government ?

Diwan Chaman Lall : In all the police arrests the administrative responsibility of the Government exists.

Mr. Speaker : But are they made under orders of the Government ?

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : May I draw your attention to the declaration made by Sir Zafrullah Khan in the Central Assembly that so far as the responsibility for the administration of the Ordinance was concerned, it rested with Provincial Governments.

Mr. Speaker : I agree that the administrative responsibility in the Punjab is that of the Punjab Government. Does the honourable member wish to move motion No. 24¹ which includes motion No. 19 ?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : If you admit that, we will not move the other one.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : May I take it that you do not rule my motion out of order ? It seems to be only a matter of adjustment.

¹Lala Duni Chand, M.L. A., to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the recent intensified and aggravated campaign of repression embarked upon by the Punjab Government.

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : We would like to submit certain objections to the admissibility of the adjournment motion No. 24 before you give your ruling.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member may say what he has to say about motions Nos. 19 and 24 and after hearing him I will give my ruling.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : Would you like me to make my submission with regard to 19 or 24 ?

Mr. Speaker : Both.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : There are certain objections which are common to both adjournment motions 19 and 24 and I would, with your permission, cite them first. Under the rules of procedure of the House an adjournment motion to be in order must relate to a definite matter and in this connection I would invite your attention to page 247 of May's Parliamentary Practice. It is impertinent to invite attention to this particular reference as you have cited it many times yourselves, but I wish to refresh the memory of the House through you about this particular statement that a motion—

Under the standing order must be restricted to a single specific matter of recent occurrence.

I beg to invite attention also to page 133 of Campion where it is stated—

That it must not be framed in general terms but must deal with a particular case.

I submit that so far as both these adjournment motions are concerned, they are open to the objection cited above. Now, I will submit my objections to motion No. 19. They are, first, that it does not deal with any definite matter. It does not deal with any specific matter. It is a general rambling motion and I submit that if the honourable members opposite wish to discuss the question of the policy of the Government with regard to this matter it is open to them to do it on a substantive motion. We do not shirk a discussion of the policy of the Government in the application of the Defence of India Ordinance or the Act or the general policy of the Government. If that is the purpose of the Opposition, we would submit that let that question be raised on a substantive motion and not on an adjournment motion. Secondly, I submit that so far as No. 19 is concerned you will agree that the Defence of India Ordinance ceased to exist after a few days after which it became an Act. Therefore it will have to be clearly distinguished as to which portion of the discussion relates to the Ordinance and which to the Act. Thirdly, as you pointed out, there have been no arrests by the Government as such. That is the third objection that we have to raise. Fourthly, it will probably be impossible for the House on an adjournment motion of this nature to discuss the relative merits of each individual action taken by Government with regard to this matter and since an adjournment motion must deal with a particular matter of recent occurrence it is impossible for the House to debate properly a general motion of this nature. I understand from one of my friends that a precedent is being cited that there was once in the Central Assembly under the chairmanship of the late Mr. Patel a general discussion with regard to some question of this nature which was allowed. In the first instance I do not agree that we are bound by all the precedents of that irresponsible House and secondly you will find with reference to the Debates of that Assembly that all those arrests took place on a particular day and the motion by the late Pandit Moti Lal Nehru related to arrests and raids which happened on a particular day. That being so he with his forensic ability made all the action taken by the Government on that particular day a single matter which could be taken up on an adjournment motion.

Now coming to adjournment motion 24, the words are—

“Recent intensified and aggravated campaign of repression embarked upon by the Punjab Government.”

It does not say what the word ‘recent’ means. It does not say what is the campaign embarked upon by the Government and I submit that if it relates to any matters which took place sometime ago and on which a resolution could have been tabled, it should have been tabled and as no resolution was moved it is out of order and if it relates to later occurrence, it should be specific so that we can discuss it on merits. I therefore consider that both of them are out of order, being vague and indefinite.

Diwan Chaman Lall (East Punjab, Non-Union Labour) : May I be permitted to say a word ? My honourable friend is always very clear and always very intelligent. Therefore I regret that he should have stood up in support of a case which is not a valid case. My honourable friend has raised certain objections which I might detail as three objections and he has also made a reference to a ruling of the Central Assembly and I would deal, therefore, Mr. Speaker, with these three objections and the ruling given in the Central Assembly in strict reference to the rules of procedure which govern us. Now let me take the first objection that my honourable friend has raised. In referring to the ruling of the Central Assembly, he said we are not bound by the rulings of that House. But it is at any rate open to us to discuss that particular ruling in reference to our own rules of procedure and see if at all it differs in spirit or in letter from the procedure that we adopt in this House and whether it is relevant to that procedure. Now my honourable friend would certainly not rule out the Central Assembly ruling merely because it happens to be a ruling given in that Assembly. I take it that this could not possibly be the position of my intelligent friend, Mir Maqbool Mahmood. The objection that he raises is that the arrests and searches there took place on one single day and therefore that is not a case parallel with the case that we are considering now. I am afraid I do not know where my honourable friend got the information that arrests and raids took place on one particular day. My honourable friend must remember that a short notice question was tabled by the honourable Pandit Moti Lal Nehru with regard to what is known as the Meerut Conspiracy Case. To that short notice question a very detailed reply was given by the Honourable Sir James Crerar who was the Home Member at the time. That reply led to a series of supplementary questions in which I notice I myself figured on two or three occasions (hear, hear from treasury benches) and led later on to the giving notice of an adjournment motion by the late Pandit Moti Lal Nehru in reference to the arrests and the raids and the searches that had taken place not in one spot, not against one individual or even a group of individuals but against a group of individuals all over India ranging over a day or two days or three days may be.

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : Read the wording of the motion.

Diwan Chaman Lall : I will come to the wording of the motion, but let me now draw my honourable friend's attention to what the Government then said.

In pursuance of these processes, searches and arrests have taken place all over India. Therefore the objection that my honourable friend raised about one individual subject does not hold good.

Parliamentary Secretary : What was the wording of the motion ?

Diwan Chaman Lall : My honourable friend need not be in too great a hurry, I will come to the wording of the motion. I have read it and my honourable friend has read it. A complaint was laid before the magistrate. There were 31 individuals who were arrested including my honourable friend Sardar Sohan Singh Josh. The complaint was placed before the House and then Pandit Moti Lal Nehru got up to raise a motion for adjournment. This is what he said—

I beg leave to move the adjournment of the House on a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely the policy of and the action taken by the Governor-General in Council in sanctioning and taking steps for the wholesale raids and arrests.....

Not one individual indivisible matter, but wholesale arrests and raids in several parts of the country simultaneously of—

Public workers belonging to labour and peasant organizations, youth leagues and other lawful associations.

I know that arrests, searches and raids were not completed on that day. They took place on that particular day and continued until they were completed. My honourable friend's objection, that as all these arrests took place on a particular day, and therefore the two cases are not parallel, does not hold good. May I remind the honourable member that the Government did not take such an untenable or frivolous objection ? What the Government said was that the matter was sub judice, therefore it could not be raised on the floor of the House to which the Honourable Mr. Patel gave the reply that what is sought to be raised and discussed was the censure motion against the action taken by the Government and not the sub judice cases that were pending before the courts or which might come before the court. In giving this ruling he upheld the motion and said :—

I am satisfied that the matter proposed to be discussed is a definite matter of urgent public importance. It is not denied that the matter is of recent occurrence. What is contended is that the matter proposed to be discussed is sub judice. As I understand the Opposition Benches, they propose to discuss the policy underlying this large number of raids and arrests, and not the merits of the cases that are to come before the Court for adjudication. I am quite satisfied that the matter proposed to be discussed is not sub judice, but I am bound to say that if, during the discussion of the motion for adjournment in the afternoon, any attempt is made to discuss the merits of any of the cases that are proposed to be lodged, the Chair will take steps to see that such discussion is not permitted. I hope honourable members, when discussing this matter, will confine themselves strictly to the policy underlying these arrests and not refer to the merits of the cases that are to come before the Court. I rule that the motion is in order.

Now the second point raised by my honourable friend is that you cannot discuss the policy of this Government or rather you cannot censure the policy of this Government by an adjournment motion. For this a substantive motion against the Government must be brought in. I submit that my honourable friend is not correct in that interpretation that an adjournment motion is not a censure motion. It is considered to be a censure motion and if it is not a censure motion, it has no validity at all. I myself in 1927 moved an adjournment motion in the Central Assembly regarding the Finance Member's withdrawal of the Reserve Bank Bill. In moving that adjournment motion my first sentence was that "I do not want to censure the Finance Member, but to compel him to reintroduce the Reserve Bank Bill." The Honourable Mr. Patel, the then President of the Central Assembly, ruled me completely out of order and remarked that that adjournment motion was necessarily a censure motion and no honourable member could get out of that proposition. There are many ways of censuring the Government. One of them is to defeat it on a specific matter, and that is to bring in a substantive motion, and the third is the adjournment motion. But at present we are concerned with this particular matter, namely the use to which the Defence of India Ordinance is being put or has been put by the administrators, who are under the authority of this Government. This is the matter which we want to discuss. This Government is responsible for the administration of this particular measure, and we want to censure the Government for the action which they have taken or may take under the Defence of India Ordinance. It would be absolutely wrong to hold that such an adjournment motion is not a censure motion.

The third point was that the motion does not deal with a specific matter. What is a specific matter? The specific matter does not necessarily mean one little item like the one raised by my honourable friend here in reference to his own newspaper regarding which security was forfeited, and which you ruled out of order. A specific matter does not mean a matter of that nature, but a matter which is specified and raises a matter of public importance which is capable of being discussed by an adjournment motion. Can my honourable friend say that the action taken by the Government in reference to the Defence of India Ordinance, is not a specific matter? Ask the poor gentlemen, who have been put in jail. Ask my honourable friend, Lala Bhagat Ram, who is sitting behind me and who has been a victim of this measure, whether or not this is a specific matter. There is nothing vague about it. Vagueness comes in only in one's imagination, but in reality there is none. Specific action has been taken against a specific individual of a specific nature and on a specific occasion. There can be nothing more specific about it than this.

Finally my honourable friend quoted from page 247 of the May's Parliamentary Practice and Procedure, and further quoted from Campion in regard to the definite nature of a particular action stating that motion under Standing Order 10 must be restricted to a single specific matter and so on. What is the matter here? The matter is the action taken under the Defence of India Ordinance. Is that not a single specific matter? The result of that action may be that 20 people might have been arrested and put behind the jail bars. It is immaterial whether they were 20 or 200 people. But the matter is definite and specific, namely the action taken under the Defence of India Ordinance. Even in accordance with the May's

Parliamentary Procedure and Practice there is absolutely no prohibition to the effect that this is a matter which is not capable of being discussed by way of an adjournment motion. Then again May says further on that the matter to be discussed must be of an urgent nature and so on. My submission is that there are other restrictions as well such as so many members should stand up to support such a motion. All such restrictions have been obeyed in this motion.

Now let me come back to the rules of procedure. Rule 48, to which you referred a little while ago, says —

Leave to make a motion for an adjournment of the business of the Assembly for the purpose of discussing a definite matter of urgent public importance must be asked for after questions and before the list of business for the day is entered upon.

Then, if the Speaker finds that the requisite number of honourable members rise in their places, he should allow the motion. Rule 46 says :—

(i) not more than one such motion shall be made at the same sitting ;

We are within the rules. It further says :—

(ii) the motion must relate to a single specific matter of recent occurrence ;

Now, in regard to "single specific matter" I have already dilated enough but let me, in passing, refer to the other portion of this sub-rule, that is, 'recent occurrence'. Is it or is it not a recent occurrence? Was notice given the very first day of the meeting of this Assembly or not? It was and it is a matter of recent occurrence as far as that matter goes. It is of recent occurrence and no earlier notice could be given excepting on the first day when the Assembly met. Therefore, my honourable friend will admit that not only it is a single specific matter but it is a matter of recent occurrence (An honourable member : Single) and, therefore, covered by the rules. My friend says, "single". Now, let me once again, if I have not been able to make myself quite clear, inform him that 'single' means a single matter that is to say a matter on which the attention of this House can be undividedly concentrated. The discussion of the use of the Defence of India Ordinance or Act, as it is at the present moment, is a single matter. The use of it is what we are discussing at the present moment. One might call it the abuse of it. Is that a single matter or not? We are not concerned with what the Defence of India Ordinance or Act was, we are not concerned with how many people have been arrested for the moment for the purposes of getting this motion admitted. All we are concerned with is, whether this Defence of India Ordinance has been put into use under the administrative authority and responsibility of this Government and if it has been, then we are here to move an adjournment motion to show that it should not have been used as it has been used. The putting into use of the Defence of India Ordinance is a specific single matter that we are here to discuss. The terms of the motion are :—

* to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the abuse of the Defence of India Ordinance on the part of the Panjab Government.

That is a single matter—the use or abuse of this order. Now, if this is the position my honourable friend will agree with me that it is within the definition, namely, that it is a single matter, a specific matter of recent occurrence. Then Mr. Speaker, the third sub-rule of Rule 46 is :—

(iii) the motion must not revive discussion on a matter which has been discussed....

It does not apply. The fourth sub-rule is—

(iv) the motion must not anticipate a matter which has been previously appointed—

This does not arise. Sub-rule (v) is—

(v) the motion must not deal with a matter on which a resolution could not be moved.

It does not arise. The last sub-rule is—

(vi) the motion must not relate to a matter of privilege or a matter debatable only upon a substantive motion.

Now, that is the point which my honourable friend raised that it is debatable only on a substantive motion. I differ very strongly from my honourable friend. If that were so and knowing—realising—that every adjournment motion can be a censure motion, then no such adjournment motion would be capable of being discussed on the floor of the House, it would be impossible to discuss an adjournment motion. What is it? A censure motion discussing the administrative responsibility of the Government. All that we are concerned with is this. It is this motion which relates to the abuse of the Defence of India Ordinance or Act. Does this motion mean or does it not mean that the administrative responsibility of the Government is being discussed or is capable of being discussed and capable of being censured? If that is so, we are allowed, we have the privilege to discuss the administrative responsibility of the Government in relation to an urgent specific matter which is of recent occurrence. A no-confidence motion may arise over the general policy of the Government leading if passed to its defeat. There is no restriction of the nature that is imposed in reference to the adjournment motion but adjournment motions must only relate to the administrative responsibility of the Government and must be of recent origin and occurrence. Now that that condition is fulfilled, I submit that there is no force in the argument that it is only by means of a substantive motion that we can come before the House and suggest that since Government have utilised the powers under Defence of India Ordinance, therefore, we can only censure them by means of a substantive motion and not by means of an adjournment motion referring to a specific matter. All the four points raised by my honourable friend have been dealt with by me and I think my honourable friend will agree with me that following the precedent of the Central Assembly in this matter, where a similar matter arose and the President gave his ruling that he would confine the debate strictly not to the merits of the case that might arise or which had arisen but strictly to the matter in hand, we are well within our rights in asking permission of this House to move this adjournment motion. I submit that you would also, Mr. Speaker, strictly confine the debate to the issue in hand and not permit any reference to any individual case that might have arisen under the Defence of India Ordinance or Defence of India Act but I have no doubt you would permit discussion of this measure because it is within the four walls of the rules of this House.

Premier : There is one submission that I would like to make with your permission. My honourable friend opposite has laid stress on the point that since we are responsible for administering that Act, therefore, it is perfectly in order that a member of this House should censure the Government for any abuse of power under the Defence of India Act. I would like to point out to you that this is an Act of the Central Legislature and this House is not responsible for passing that Act. It is an Act which was passed by the Central Legislature and it empowers certain officers by name or designation as given in that Act. It does not give me the power to stop those officers from taking action. The only action that I can take and which my honourable friend opposite would like me to take is not to co-operate with the Central Government and not to work the Defence of India Ordinance. That I am not prepared to do. But, apart from that I or any of my colleagues have got no power whatsoever to stop any deputy commissioner or district magistrate from taking action under this Act if somebody in his opinion has committed an offence under the Defence of India Ordinance. If a deputy commissioner has abused his powers or if there has been an error of judgment or if that political section of the Act has not been properly applied, then it is for the parties aggrieved to go to a civil court. The case will go before the civil court and it is for them to plead that there has been abuse of power under this particular section or that this particular section has been erroneously applied in that particular case or for that matter in the case of several people in that district or the deputy commissioner has vindictively or frivolously applied that Act and it is for the law court and not for this House to decide whether that action had been correct and judicious or otherwise. I want to submit that we have got no power to take any action against any officer under that Act and if my honourable friend would point out to me how I can take action for that abuse of power by a district magistrate, I will be glad to concede that in that case I would be to some extent responsible for administering that Act but the only part that I play is that I want clear working of the Central Act in this province and the only thing that I can do is to refuse that and I am not prepared to do it. Therefore, it is not for me to question the action of the deputy commissioner and it is open to every one to question his action in a court of law. That is the point which I wanted to submit and, therefore, the word 'abuse' used in this adjournment motion, "namely, the abuse of the Defence of India Ordinance on the part of the Punjab Government" does not apply to the Punjab Government. The Punjab Government has nothing to do with it. The abuse is of a particular officer in a district or in several districts but that should be brought to my notice when that particular officer or officers are not taking action according to law or doing it in a vindictive spirit so that I may take executive action against that officer as I might consider necessary, but it is not abuse by the Government at all. That is my point. Therefore, the adjournment motion does not seem to be in order at all.

Mr. Speaker : Under the law in force, can the Punjab Government interfere with arrests, ordered by district magistrates? An arrest is made, the case is submitted to a law court and right of appeal is given in case of conviction. The question is whether the administrative responsibility of Punjab Government is involved; and if so, how?

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : That is what I want to tell you. I do not want to go into the specific cases. I ask one question from the Honourable Premier, who is the head of the Punjab Government, whether the responsibility of the Government in the application of the Defence of India Ordinance comes in or not when I tell him that the Punjab Government knowingly arrested persons on the 3rd of September when the Defence of India Ordinance was promulgated from Simla. The Ordinance was not even published in the newspapers then.

Mr. Speaker : That is a different matter.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : That is the abuse of the Ordinance which was promulgated on a particular date from Simla and on that very date a large number of persons in the province were arrested on the basis of speeches delivered on that particular date when it was not within the knowledge of those persons who were arrested that there was any such thing as the Defence of India Ordinance promulgated in the Punjab.

Premier : Ignorance of law is no excuse.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : This is for the House to decide whether it is an abuse or not and whether the responsibility of the Government is involved or not. When the Ordinance was not published in newspapers and people at large were not aware of it, then how do you expect people to know that there was some such thing as the Defence of India Ordinance? As soon as the Ordinance was promulgated at Simla, half an hour after that, speeches were delivered and after two or three days the police came and arrested those people. That establishes the abuse of the Ordinance and the Punjab Government has intentionally made a bad use of the Ordinance.

Diwan Chaman Lall : The legal position that my honourable friend, the Premier, has debated before the House is as follows :—The Defence of India Ordinance in section 2, sub-clause (3) (iv) says—

The rules made under sub-section (1) may further confer power and impose duties upon any provincial Government, their officers and authorities of any provincial Government as respects any matter, notwithstanding that that matter is one in respect of which the Provincial Legislature has no power to make laws.

It is perfectly true that the Act is the Act of the Central Legislature. The Central Legislature having passed this measure has impinged upon the authority of the provincial legislatures in respect of the portfolio of law and order. They have passed that authority on to the provincial Governments by virtue of this particular clause that I have read out. The authority has been left completely in the hands of the provincial Governments. This power is capable of being conferred upon the provincial Governments. Suppose a man makes a speech, then who takes down that speech? It is taken down by an official of the provincial Government and it is then referred again to the officials of the provincial Government. Whether any reference to the Central Government, is made or not, it is a matter between them and the provincial Government and not between us and this House. They, then either suo motu on their own report or by reference to my honourable friend, who holds the portfolio of law and order, take necessary action. When the necessary action is taken the expenses of the prosecution devolve upon provincial revenues. They do not devolve upon central revenues and the responsibility of the provincial Government is there and it cannot be said that it is possible for a district magistrate to receive orders direct from the Central Government. In fact no district magistrate receives orders direct from the Central Government. Every district magistrate, who acts under this Act, acts by virtue of the authority that is vested in the provincial Government and utilises provincial funds, utilises provincial machinery and provincial officials for the purpose of taking that necessary action.

Mr. Speaker : On what date was the Ordinance enforced ?

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : It was published in the Punjab Gazette on the 5th September, 1939.

Mr. Speaker : Were all these arrests made under section 88 of the Ordinance or under any other law ?

Diwan Chaman Lall : My honourable friend will be in a better position to say that. But retrospective effect was given because whatever arrests were made under the Ordinance, they were tried under the Act. They could not obviously be tried under the previous Ordinance which has been superseded by this Act. So retrospective effect has been given to the provisions of this measure.

Mr. Speaker : Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt has said that certain arrests were made before 3rd September.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : I have stated precisely what I meant. It is an abuse and its importance is enhanced by the fact that the Government of India gave an assurance that this Ordinance will not be abused. Our contention is that it is abused and the responsibility rests with the provincial Government. It is up to you to admit it or not.

Mr. Speaker : Does the honourable member mean that the alleged abuse is evidenced by the fact that a very large number of arrests have been made?

Diwan Chaman Lall : Also special tribunals have been suggested under Chapter 3. It is the provincial Government which has been authorised to set up this thing. It is said :—

The provincial Government may, for the whole or any part of the province, constitute special tribunals which shall consist of 3 members appointed by the provincial Government..

No person shall be appointed as a member of the special tribunal unless he is so and so...

Then it goes on—

The provincial Government may, by general or special order direct that special tribunal shall try any offence whether committed before or after the commencement of this Ordinance or any class of offences triable under the provision of chapter 15 of the Code by any court having jurisdiction within local limits and the jurisdiction of the special tribunal and may in any such order direct the transfer to the special tribunal of any particular case from any other special tribunal or any other criminal court not being a High Court.

The special tribunal may take cognizance of offences without the accused being committed to it for trial.

I do not understand how my honourable friend can get out of the position in which essentially, originally and finally the responsibility of the provincial Government is involved. When even one anna is spent on a prosecution under the Defence Act, the responsibility rests with my honourable friend's Government.

Lala Duni Chand : I want to know if my motion is also being discussed along with this ?

Mr. Speaker : Of course.

Lala Duni Chand : Then I want to say something with regard to this point.

Mr. Speaker : Order, order, will the honourable member please resume his seat ?

Premier : Sir, my honourable friend tried to make two points to bring in the responsibility of the Government. My responsibility to a certain extent is there. My friend says every anna spent on any of the cases will be borne by the Punjab Government. My honourable friend has not studied his brief. If he had studied his brief he would have found that in section 124 of the Government of India Act it is laid down as follows :—

An Act of the Federal Legislature which extends to a Federated State may confer powers and impose duties upon the State or officers and authorities thereof to be designated for the purpose by the Ruler.

Where by virtue of this section powers and duties have been conferred or imposed upon a Province or Federated State or officers or authorities thereof, there shall be paid by the Federation to the Province or State such sum as may be agreed, or, in default of agreement, as may be determined by an arbitrator appointed by the Chief Justice of India, in respect of any extra costs of administration incurred by the Province or State in connection with the exercise of those powers and duties.

That answers my honourable friend's argument that every penny will be spent from the provincial revenues. It is not necessary that it should be spent from the provincial exchequer. We hope that we will be able to get at least a portion of the costs of such cases from the Central Government.

The second point was whether the abuse was before the Ordinance came into force or after it came into force, the responsibility was entirely of the Government. I entirely agree with him that even if any of my officers abuses the power the responsibility is mine. But I should like to know definitely what charges they have got against any officers. If my honourable friend has got facts and figures that in a certain district an officer has indiscriminately arrested 20 persons, while in another district similar speeches were made but no arrests were made and therefore I should take action against the officer concerned for those indiscriminate arrests for speeches for which in the neighbouring district no action was taken, I submit that it will be a question of discretion. I have to see whether the discretion has been abused or not, whether he has abused the authority and power, and whether the action taken by a particular deputy commissioner has been vindictive. If my honourable friend has got these facts and figures of districts, I will be only too glad to examine them. The proper course for them would have been to put a question, a short notice question, to elicit facts and on the basis of those facts to bring in an adjournment motion. But since they have not taken the trouble—and they never take the trouble to elicit facts because you are very lenient to them—I submit that they are abusing this power of adjournment motion. Fancy there were 44 adjournment motions, out of which 18 have already been disallowed and perhaps a few more will be disallowed. Perhaps you will placate them by agreeing to one or two motions. If they want to discuss the policy of the Government I will be ready to give time, as is done in the House of Commons. If my friends want to censure Government I will give them time, as I did on the last occasion. With regard to this motion if my honourable friends have got facts and figures they should move the motion ; if not, they should ask me to collect those facts and figures on the basis of which to consider whether to move this motion or not. It will be to the benefit of the House and it will be to my benefit. We would know where we stand and how matters stand. In the absence of facts they merely make a general allegation that so many arrests were made between the 3rd and 5th before the Ordinance came into force. I can assure my honourable friend that no such thing was done ; and if it has been done our judicial courts will take cognizance of the facts and quash the proceedings against those persons. If they have been arrested under the Ordinance before the Ordinance came into force it will be the duty of the law courts to take cognizance of it and quash the proceedings. If my honourable friends have got statistics I will be too glad to listen and try to answer. I have not such statistics with me. I can assure my honourable friend that at this moment it would be absolutely of no use to move the motion as I will not be able to give any reply except a general answer which has already been stated.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Sir, I want to reply to the second part of the arguments advanced by the Premier. If he says that as Government has not got the necessary information on the point and therefore the adjournment motion should not be taken up to-day I agree with him. If he says that after he has collected the necessary information the adjournment motion should be taken up I have no objection, but this cannot be an argument for opposing the moving of the motion. Then he said we have been abusing the right of moving the adjournment motions. I submit that the right of moving an adjournment cannot be abused unless it is permitted by you. When you permit us to move any such motion it does not mean that there is any abuse of the right of moving an adjournment motion. Therefore it is not we who are abusing the right of moving an adjournment motion. It is not so. Rather when we discuss any abuse on the part of the Government we ought to be permitted to do so. The Premier said that he is prepared to give time if we want to discuss his policy or censure him. Well there are censures and censures. There are points on which Government might be censured. It may not be such an important point and therefore we do not want the Government to go. We only want to censure a particular action. That is why it is laid down that it must relate to a particular matter. An adjournment motion cannot be moved if a case is being tried in a court of law. It is in respect of a particular action of the Government that adjournment motions are moved. It is for that particular action for which we do not want the Government to go. I submit that you would rule this motion to be in order and fix any day for its discussion if the Premier says that he is not ready with the necessary material.

Mr. Speaker : I wish to say a few words as to the object of an adjournment motion before giving my ruling. The object of the motion is not always censure. Sometimes it is made in order to obtain fuller information than can be given by an answer to a question ; sometimes in order to rivet attention on a subject ; yet it does furnish a method by which without notice a debate can be precipitated and votes taken upon a specific act or omission of the Government. The motion is used as one of the expedients of parliamentary tactics and as such it is called a 'dilatatory motion' i.e., one meant to cause delay. This much as to the object of the motion.

Motion 19, which is intended to discuss the abuse of certain provisions of the Defence of India Ordinance or Act, is prima facie in order. Administrative responsibility of the Punjab Government for whatever takes place in the province cannot be denied. Whether the Defence of India Act was passed by the Government of India or by the Government of England, if it is in force in the Punjab or if any action has been taken under it and that action is prejudicial to the interests, sanitation, or health of the people of the province, the responsibility of the Punjab Government is there. That cannot be denied, otherwise it might be argued that the Indian Penal Code was not passed by the Punjab Government and that therefore any action taken in the Punjab by a magistrate under that Act, absolves the Punjab Government of its responsibility, because the Punjab Government had not passed that Act. So long as the provincial Government is there, its administrative responsibility is there.

As regards the adjournment motions Nos. 19 and 24, No. 24 is much wider. In fact it relates to several matters including the one under the Ordinance or the Government of India Act. An adjournment motion should relate to a definite matter, or specific matter. As this motion relates to several matters, I rule it out of order.

As regards adjournment motion No. 19, I think it is in order. (Loud Opposition cheers.) But it is for the House to give leave for moving it.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt has asked for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the abuse of the Defence of India Ordinance on the part of the Punjab Government in the form of indiscriminate arrests of a large number of respectable political workers in the province.

Premier : I do not object.

Mr. Speaker : Now the question is at what time the motion should be taken up.

It was agreed that the motion be taken up at 3-30 p.m.

ANNOUNCEMENTS BY PREMIER.

Premier : I have to make two formal announcements. One is that I propose allowing Friday, the 3rd November, for discussing the War resolution.

So far as the adjournment for the 'Id' is concerned, I suggest that the House should adjourn from the 7th to the 20th. We meet again on the 20th. A formal motion will be made in due course and I propose to put it before the House, but on the 7th after finishing the work of that day we will disperse and then meet on the 20th.

VILLAGE PANCHAYAT BILL.

Mr. Speaker : The Assembly will now resume discussion on Pandit Shri Ram Sharma's amendment—

That the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill as reported on by the select committee be further sent for reconsideration to the same select committee with instructions to report by the 15th December 1939.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Southern towns, General, Urban) (Urdu) : Sir, the day before yesterday when my amendment was under discussion the House rose for the day. The object of my amendment was to recommit the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill to the same select committee for further consideration. In support of my motion I advanced certain arguments which I do not propose to reiterate in the House now as on the previous occasion I had made my view point abundantly clear. I therefore do not find any necessity of making any long speech. But one thing which I want to impress upon the House is that the democratic principle underlying the establishment of panchayats should be followed throughout the Bill. When it is being provided in the Bill that the panches and panchayats would be elected from among the inhabitants of the panchayat area then it is only desirable that these electorates should also have the final power to abolish panchayats. It does not seem compatible with the principle underlying the Bill that the powers of suspending panchayats should be retained by the Government. The inhabitants who have the power to return their representatives should also have the final power in the matter. Otherwise it is very likely that whenever the question of abolishing panchayats and removing any panch arises the Government would be swayed by party considerations. Justice and impartiality would be thrown to dogs and party interests would only decide the issue. I therefore submit that when this Bill is recommitted to the same select committee it should give special and careful consideration to my points. I have enumerated all the points which I wanted to put forward and therefore I resume my seat.

Mr. Speaker : Motion under consideration, amendment moved is—

That the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill as reported on by the select committee be further sent for reconsideration to the same select committee with instructions to report by the 15th December 1939.

The remaining amendments also will be discussed now but they will be put to the vote of the House separately, if necessary.

Chaudhri Ram Sarup (Rohtak Central, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I was very much pleased to hear that the Opposition Party has agreed with the principles of many Bills which have been introduced by the Government in this session. But I may point out that although they have agreed with the principles of the Bills, yet they deem it fit to offer opposition to them when they are taken up in the House. To my mind this attitude on their part is not justified. When a person agrees with the principle of a measure he should not at least oppose it at the preliminary stage, i.e., whether it should be considered at all or not. If he wants to oppose it he should do so when the Bill in question is considered clause by clause.

Now, Sir, the question before the House is whether the Panchayat Bill should be taken into consideration or not. As I have already stated, my friends have agreed with the principle of the Bill but they are opposing it on the ground that it contains such things which go against the panchayats. In my opinion they are not justified in opposing this Bill at this stage. It would be well for them to offer such opposition at the time the Bill is considered clause by clause. It seems that my friends are playing a double game. This attitude on the part of my friends reminds me of a story. It is said that a certain bania was passing through a jungle. As he was proceeding on his journey night crept on. The poor fellow was very much frightened. As he was going he saw at some distance a bush and he thought that it was some thief. Now different kinds of ideas arose in his mind. In the first place he thought that if he fought with the thief, he would be killed. So he ruled out this suggestion. Then he was afraid that if the people came to know of this incident that he was terrified by a bush it would be a great disgrace for him. So after good deal of thinking he composed the following verse and read it aloud :—

اگر تو ہے جہاز جاتا تو نیا...
اگر تو ہے چور چکا تو بیا پتھر تیرا

(Laughter) Similarly my friends of the Opposition Party are acting.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member will please speak to the motion.

Chaudhri Ram Sarup : My submission is that my friends over there have agreed to the principle of the Bill, but in fact they are opposing it. My point is simply this that their opposition is not justified. They are supporting the principle of the Bill because the Congress High Command has instructed them to do so. The Congress has already issued instructions that whenever a Bill is brought forward for the benefit of the poor the Congress party should not oppose it. So, in view of these instructions my friends cannot oppose the principle of the Bill. If they oppose it in that case they will have to explain their conduct before the Congress High Command. But as such Bills are bound to affect their pockets, so in reality they cannot help opposing them. They think that if such Bills are enacted into law the result would be that they would starve.

Mr. Speaker : I request the honourable member not to speak in that strain.

Chaudhri Ram Sarup : Very well, Sir. I was submitting that outwardly my friends of the Opposition Party have agreed with the principles of the Bill, but in reality they are opposed to it.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is repeating his own arguments.

Chaudhri Ram Sarup : I may point out that my friends cannot help doing so. If they do not show some sort of opposition to this Bill, they are liable to displease their paymasters. That is the reason why they are playing this double game.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is irrelevant. He should avoid all personal attacks.

Chaudhri Ram Sarup : I am not making any personal attacks. My submission is only this that the motion, that the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill as reported on by the select committee be further sent for reconsideration to the same select committee, is not at all necessary and therefore I oppose it.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi (Lyallpur and Jhang, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I rise to support the amendment moved by my honourable friend Pandit Shri Ram Sharma. My reasons for this are that the report of the select committee which is now before the House contains some such important matters which have not so far been taken into consideration. Let me point out at the very outset that the present system of panchayats is being governed by the Act passed in 1921. Now we see that under the working of that Act only 1,080 panchayats have so far been established in 87,000 villages of the Punjab. After an experience of 18 years a new Bill has been introduced by the present Government and at this time the report of select committee is under the consideration of the House. Let us see whether the defects which were present in the last Act have been removed or not? To our amazement many defects which were present in the previous Act have not been removed at all. Let us suppose that this Bill if enacted into law will result in the increase of panchayats so much so that each and every village of the Punjab would have a panchayat for itself. Then the question is, how the panchayats would be worked. The success of the panchayats depends largely on their financial position. If they have plenty of revenues at their disposal, they would work successfully, otherwise not. The duties which have been entrusted to the panchayats are many in as much as they will have to manage public ways, wells, ponds, tanks, relief of the poor, public gardens, medical relief, and so many other duties. But may I know how it would be possible for them to perform their duties? When we take into consideration this fact whether the panchayats have been granted any sources of income for the carrying out of these duties, we find that the Government has done nothing in this respect. As a matter of fact no provision has been made for procuring necessary funds for the panchayats. In the circumstances so long as the select committee has not considered all these matters and suggested that a part of the funds should be contributed by the district board or suggested some other proposal such as that a certain percentage of hand revenue should be set apart for the panchayats, then these panchayats cannot function properly. The number of panchayats at present is very small. Out of a hundred villages only three have panchayats. It means that 97 villages are still without any panchayats at all. So in view of these circumstances I suggest this Bill be recommitted to the same select committee for reconsideration and the committee should be asked to make some specific provisions for the procuring of funds for these panchayats and for increasing their number.

2 P. M.

The next point to which I wish to invite the attention of the House is that the Bill does not include any clause which may make it obligatory on the part of the Government to establish panchayats in some villages. With a certain minimum of population I may point out that a Bill of this kind is also being proceeded with in the Bombay Legislature. The Government of Bombay have made a provision in that Bill that panchayats should be compulsorily established in all such villages where the population is found to consist of 2,000 individuals or more. I suggest that a provision on these lines for villages with a population of 1,000 or more should be incorporated in this Bill. This is a very important matter and deserves the fullest consideration at the hands of the Government.

[Mr. Dev Raj Sethi.]

Then there is another point. The Bill seeks to vest almost all the powers relating to the panchayats in the hands of the provincial government. This centralisation of powers seems anomalous to me especially when decentralisation of powers is being contemplated everywhere. In this connection I may be permitted to say that before the advent of the British Raj in India there was a net work of panchayats spread all over the country. But after the British had established themselves in India, they adopted the policy of centralisation of powers with the result that the panchayats were rendered impotent and lost their authority over the people. Now a change has come over the country. The people have become democratic minded. I, therefore, suggest that the same net work of panchayats should be spread all over the province. But these panchayats should not be panchayats in name only. Effective powers should be vested in them. Delegation of very wide powers to the deputy commissioner to interfere with the working of the panchayats is not desirable. I am of the opinion that whatever duties are assigned to the panchayats, whether it is adjudication of civil or criminal cases or performance of civic duties, they should be granted full powers of self-government. It is then alone that any solid work will be done.

One word more and I have finished. There is no finality about the judgments passed and other functions to be carried out by the panchayats. This fact reduces the importance of the panchayats to a great extent. This is a drawback which deserves to be remedied. All the arguments which I have advanced amply prove the absolute necessity of the Bill being referred back to the select committee for further consideration of the points raised by me. With these words I strongly support the motion under discussion.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana (Pakpattan, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I rise to oppose the motion now before the House. The first and foremost argument which my honourable friend over there advanced for referring the Bill to the same select committee, was to the effect that the Bill did not provide an effective machinery for the people to appoint or remove the panches at their own sweet will. My submission is that if powers of such a far-reaching nature are vested in the people, the panches would never be sure of their term of office. As a matter of fact panchayats would become a plaything in the hands of the rural people if it is entirely left to them to appoint or throw out any member of the panchayat whenever it suits them. As the honourable members are aware, the term of office of a member in the case of Legislative Assembly, district boards or local bodies is fixed by law. I am, therefore, of the opinion that if the panches are left entirely at the mercy of the rural people, the great work which we are going to initiate may not meet with appreciable measure of success. As a matter of fact it would become well nigh impossible for the panches to discharge their duties honestly.

The second point raised by my honourable friend was that as the panchayats under the old Act did not prove a success owing to lack of provisions for sufficient revenues, the Bill should be recommitted to the select committee for further consideration on the point. I may submit that the failure of panchayats was mainly due to the fact that no machinery had been provided for in the old Act to control and supervise the panchayats effectively. In fact there were no officers to guide the panchayats and write criticism in regard to their working. Now that difficulty has been overcome. Our Government have appointed a panchayat officer in every tahsil and I am sure that the appointment of these officers would prove to be of great help in the successful working of the panchayats. As regards my honourable friend's suggestion that a certain percentage of the income of the district boards should be earmarked for supplementing the revenues of the panchayats I may point out that this suggestion is not tenable because it would result in reducing the funds of the district boards which are already depleted. I consider panchayat work as a missionary work. If the panchayats are worked honestly, I see no reason why the question of revenue should stand in our way. Ample provision has been made in the Bill in this respect.

An honourable member : But where would you get the necessary money from ?

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : By levying fees, etc. My honourable friend raised another point. He remarked that the judgments passed by the panchayats were not final. This argument does not find favour with me. The honourable members must be aware of the fact that the judgments passed by the panchayats are not subject to appeal. What more finality does he want ? Now that this drawback which existed under the old Act has been removed by this Bill, great importance would be attached to their judgments. I, therefore, see no reason as to why the Bill should be referred back to the select committee while the expediency demands that in the interest of the rural people it should be passed into law with as little delay as possible. With these words I strongly oppose the motion under discussion.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I not only appreciate the principle underlying this Bill, but also approve of certain provisions made therein. (Hear, hear.) I have not the slightest hesitation in admitting the fact that this Bill can prove to be of great benefit to the people. I am of the opinion that our civil and criminal courts should be relieved of a large number of cases which should be entrusted to the panchayats. I have been cherishing this idea since long. (Hear, hear.) I am sure if that is done, the rural people would be saved unnecessary and ruinous litigation to a large extent. It is my firm belief that panchayats can do a lot to save the villagers from the evil of litigation provided they are constituted in a proper manner. I, therefore, hold the view that it is immaterial to me whether this Bill is recommitted to the select Committee or not, but what I care most is that the defects of the Bill must be removed in the best interests of the rural community. We on this side of the House desire and strictly speaking it is our earnest endeavour to get this useful measure passed into law in such a manner as would prove highly effective and beneficial to the people. I, therefore, request the Honourable Minister for Public Works to accept our suggestions which we would place before the House.

Now there are some very important matters which I would like to bring to the notice of the Honourable Minister. Whereas it is expedient that panchayats should be constituted, it is extremely desirable that the election of panches should take place in such an honest manner, that only those persons who enjoy the confidence of the people and whom they consider to be fit to hold office, should get into the panchayats. It is only these honestly elected panches who would be able to carry out this stupendous task in a responsible manner. I have serious apprehensions that under the prevailing circumstances selfish people would seize power and use it to grind their own axe. I wish only those persons to get into the panchayats who are fully alive to their responsibility and who would administer law to agriculturists and non-agriculturists with even-handed justice. But I have great misgivings about the ability of panches. I am afraid that on account of their poor education and ignorance of law they would not be able to adjudicate upon cases in an effective manner.

My submission is that an effective control of the panchayats must be provided for in this Bill. To achieve that end the district judges and senior sub-judges should be permitted to entertain appeals arising out of the orders of the panchayats. In case the right of appeal before these authorities is granted, the panchayats can prove very useful, otherwise in the absence of an effective control on the panchayats this Bill can be a potent source of danger to the people of this province.

Our villages are notorious for party factions. The question of zamindar and non-zamindar is prevalent everywhere. In these circumstances it is very essential that the interest of the non-agriculturists should be safeguarded. For that purpose it is required that the necessary spirit of public service should be created.

It is a well known fact that particular classes such as non-agriculturists and the members of the scheduled castes are very badly treated in the villages. All sorts of excesses are resorted to by the proprietary body, who have from the very first been taught to commit atrocities upon the have-nots. It is on account of such facts that I desire a provision to be made in the Bill, in order to put an end to these atrocities.

Now, Sir, I take the case of election to the panchayats. Although the method is there, still elections are only elections in name. The tahsildar who conducts the election sends for the people eligible for giving votes and makes them do whatever he likes. My submission is that whatever provision is made in this connection, should be such as to make these elections worthy of their name, and not a mere farce. The Bill should be worked in such a spirit that no distinction should be made between agriculturists and non-agriculturists. Only those persons should be elected to the panchayats who enjoy the confidence of the people of that area. Not a few persons having that qualification can be found. If this thing is achieved, I think, the Panchayat Bill will be a success. The reason why it has been unsuccessful so far is, that it has not been conducted on the right lines. The principle that people should decide their disputes between themselves without having recourse to litigation is a very noble one. It can prove a blessing for the people living in rural areas.

In the end I want to emphasize that I have taken great pains in going through this Bill, and I consider it to be a life-giving elixir for the village people. It is, therefore, necessary that any poison therein should be taken out of it.

Whether it is sent back to the select committee or not, is no concern of mine, but it will give me entire satisfaction if it is worked in such a spirit as to be of the greatest possible benefit to the people of this province.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, I do not propose to take much time of the House. I merely want to emphasize the fact that if the Government will work this Bill on right lines it will immensely benefit the zamindars. The causes of failure of earlier panchayats were party factions in rural areas and dishonest panches. Even now I think the present Government who claims to be a zamindar Government will not be able to remedy these causes. The rules that it has to make and the sections under which those rules have to be made will be such as to prove quite ineffective in dealing with this evil.

The Government intend to use them for strengthening their own party as the Honourable Premier himself remarked on the occasion of Panchayat Officers' Conference. I have strong suspicions, as I was just now submitting that the present Government will use this act for the purposes of party propaganda. The Honourable Premier's speech before the Panchayat Officers' Conference gives the clue. There he tried to raise the question of agriculturists and non-agriculturists and thus caused a split among them. He instructed the panchayat officers to help the zamindars as against the non-zamindars.

Premier: I never said that.

Sardar Kapoor Singh: I will appeal to the Government benches that if they have the interest of the zamindars at heart and if they want to save them from unnecessary litigation, they should bear in mind that the panchayat officers whom they appoint should be above reproach. They should be persons of tried honesty and should be above party politics.

Minister of Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana): Sir, I am glad to say that nothing substantial against the principles of the Bill has been said and it is agreed that the early establishment of the panchayats is in the best interests of the villagers. When that is the case, I do not see what useful purpose would be served by referring this very Bill again to the same select committee. That is generally done if any fresh facts have come to notice or an important aspect of a measure has been ignored or overlooked and requires reconsideration. Nothing of the sort has happened in this case. Criticism has been made about certain details but these are the very points which were thrashed threadbare in the select committee for two weeks and if a reference is again made to the same select committee, though opinions sometimes do change, I can safely say that the result would be the same in this case and it would be only a waste of time and money. The delay would be detrimental to the villager himself whose interest we claim to have at heart. Many troubles at present arise in the villages and if these are properly dealt with, it would lead to better relations amongst the villagers. But what happens now? All of you know that factions take place which lead to riots involving the villagers in enormous costs of litigation and his ruin. So, if we wish him well, we should proceed at once to pass this Bill so that these troubles can be dealt with as quickly as possible. You know we have recently appointed a fairly large staff of panchayat officers. They are waiting to start their work of reviving these panchayats but they are being hampered at present due to the Bill not being passed. So, if we do so as quickly as possible, then these officers will take up their work early. It has been said that the old Bill was defective. We did not claim perfection for it. It is because that Act was out of date that we have come forward before this House with a comprehensive measure. It has been further said that the Government is taking over powers of supervision and control and powers of supersession of these panchayats. If those powers are not taken over by the Government, who should have those powers? Some panchayats may be good and others may be bad. If there are inefficient panchayats that begin to work in a way that results in miscarriage of justice—corruption—then should not those be weeded out? Is there any novel procedure whereby these panchayats should be governed? Similar power has been reserved by other governments in other provinces. So, I think this is not a matter which should stop us from proceeding with the consideration of the Bill. It has further been said that certain other matters which have been left over, e.g., the rules, should be dealt with now. How can the rules be made at this stage when the real Act giving us the powers has not yet been passed? If we attempt anything of the kind, it would be putting cart before the horse. So, we must wait and consider all the criticisms. The new rules would be made in such a way that they would be suitable in every respect. If we do not have the rule, making power the trouble would be that for any slight change it will be necessary for the Government to come before this House. It is to avoid constant amendments that the rule-making power has been taken by the Government in all other Acts and the same is provided for in this Bill. Reference has been made by the honourable member from Ludhiana to the Rs. 5 qualification and trouble over fees. I am fully conscious of that as well as the point of view of depressed classes and I may assure him that all will receive careful consideration of the Government when the time comes to make the rules but this is a matter which need not be discussed at this stage. Another criticism was made by the same honourable member that panchayats would be used as vote securing agencies by the Government. The present Government does not stand in need of any such agencies. Panchayats are not so constituted as to serve as vote securing agencies for the Government. They will be elected—all of them—and no nominated element is there to present the Government point of view. So, unless the honourable member means that every individual living in the villages is in favour of the Government, these panchayats would no more be vote-securing agencies and if that is not the case I do not think—

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I said this of panchayat officers. They will be used as agents of the Unionist Party and efforts would be made to use panchayats for this purpose.

Premier : No more than panchayat officers of the United Provinces. They have appointed twelve hundred.

Minister of Public Works : The honourable member misquoted the Honourable Premier as having said that a split would be caused in the ranks of zamindars and the non-zamindars. That is not the case. It is to remedy that that we want these panchayats to be established. They will know all these troubles and they will be elected by the widest possible franchise and represent all communities. The panchayat officers are expected to be above party considerations. They will have the villagers' interest at heart and if by that the honourable member means serving the party purposes then we plead guilty. (Hear, hear). It has been said that powers of taxation have been given to these panchayats. One honourable member opposite said that the Bill should be recommitted to the select committee because powers of taxation are not enough and panchayats would have no funds. Another said that this will create hardship and burden on the tax-payer. Nothing of the sort is contemplated. These panchayats would be elected bodies and are given the powers of taxation. They are loath to tax unless they have the unanimous support of the villager and even if they do tax to some extent, I would call it voluntary contribution and not taxation because it will be only enough for local purposes and would be self-imposed by the villagers themselves. That is the position so far as the hardship of taxation is concerned. As to the lack of funds, I do not think the honourable members need worry. The panchayats—when working—will have certain sources of income. They can always put in voluntary work which requires no capital and can at the same time serve the needs of the villager. I will not take up any more time of the House at this stage and all I would say is that no useful purpose would be served by referring the Bill to the select committee. Detailed criticism can be brought against various sections and we can consider them when the stage for clause to clause consideration arrives. With these words I oppose the motion for reference to select committee. (Cheers).

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill as reported on by the select committee be further sent for reconsideration to the same select committee with instructions to report by the 15th of December, 1939.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill as reported on by the select committee be taken into consideration.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : But there is another amendment.¹ (Voices : You were not here. You were not present to move the amendment.)

Mr. Speaker : I called the honourable member; but he was not present. However, if he wishes to move his amendment, he can do so even now without making a speech.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Then you do not want me to throw light on the fact as to why I want that the Government should provide for rules regarding the franchise, suspension, etc., in the Bill itself.

Mr. Speaker : I regret to say that however able some of the honourable members are, they are not well conversant with the parliamentary procedure and practice. The original motion that the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill, as reported on by the select committee, be taken into consideration was moved by the member in charge. As three counter amending ¹That the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill be recommitted to the same select committee to frame rules relating to franchise, election and suspension and to place them before the House along with the Bill.

[Mr. Speaker,]

motions were given notice of, I had to allow all these amendments to be discussed together along with the original motion. So, I called the different honourable members, who had given notices of amendments, but the Honourable Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt was not present. However, if he wishes to put his motion to the vote of the House, he is welcome to move it, without, of course, making a speech.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : I have already submitted that I was not present in the House when you declared that.

Mr. Speaker : Whether the honourable member was present or not, that cannot make any difference. The question is whether a motion can be allowed to be discussed three times. Each of the three amending motions is intended to take the place of the original motion. Consequently, every one of them could be discussed together with the original motion; but, if necessary, each one of them will be put to the vote of the House separately on being moved without any speech.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Your ruling is perfectly correct. I think I have not swallowed the reflections that you made on the knowledge of the members.

Mr. Speaker : I did not mean to cast any reflection. All I said was that some members are not well conversant with the Parliamentary practice and procedure.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : It is not a question of lack of knowledge of rules of procedure; the question is that I was not present in the House at that moment. I think you should have called upon me to speak on that motion.

Mr. Speaker : Had the honourable member been present he would have been allowed to speak.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : After the Honourable Minister has spoken, I think, no member of the Opposition will have a right of reply.

Mr. Speaker : Yes.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : That will not be his final speech. After that he has again got a right of reply.

Mr. Speaker : If any other member is allowed to speak; but not otherwise.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : That has been the practice in this House.

Mr. Speaker : Can the honourable member cite a single instance?

Sardar Sampuran Singh : Anyhow, he should have been called by you to speak.

Mr. Speaker : He was called but was not present.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : Give him 5 or 10 minutes.

Mr. Speaker : Sorry, I cannot. But if the honourable member wishes to move his amendment, he is welcome to do so. The question is—

That the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill as reported on by the select committee be taken into consideration.

The motion was carried.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Now, as the ayes have it, according to Parliamentary Practice, I can move my motion.

Mr. Speaker : Now, the House will proceed to take the Bill into consideration clause by clause.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Either we should stick to an individual convention that you want to establish or to the convention which has already been established in other legislatures.

Mr. Speaker : I shall be obliged if the honourable member will quote a single instance from the proceedings of this House or of any other legislature.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : My submission is that there cannot be two propositions before the House.

Mr. Speaker : In this connection I may quote the following paragraph from May's book, page 282 :—

"The object of an amendment may be.....to present to the house an alternative proposition either wholly or partially opposed to the original question. This may be effected by moving to omit all the words of the question after this first word, "that", and to substitute in their place other words of a different import. In that case the debate that follows is not restricted to the amendment, but includes the motive of the amendment and of the motion, both matters being under the consideration of the house as alternative propositions.

It is clear from this quotation that the original motion as well as each of the three amendments intended to take its place, could be discussed together.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : In that case you should allow all the amendments to be moved first and to be discussed later.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is again wrong. More than one amendment cannot be allowed to be moved or placed before the House at the same time. They can be discussed together in certain cases; but must be moved and put to the vote of the house separately.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : The procedure that we have in this House is quite different from the procedure which is being followed in other legislatures.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is not right.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : I can give you specific instances that all the amendments are allowed to be moved first and discussion follows later on.

Mr. Speaker : No so far as I know.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : They are moved together and discussed together but voted upon separately. I will show you that.

Mr. Speaker : The House will proceed to consider the Bill clause by clause.

Preamble.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That the preamble be the preamble of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 1.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 1 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 2.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 2 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 3.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 3 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 4.

Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali (Hafizabad, Muhammadan, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

That in line 1, between the words "notification" and "declare", the words "in the Gazette" be inserted.

I do not think that I should make any speech to explain this amendment. This is only a verbal amendment and should be accepted without debate.

Minister for Public Works : I accept the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : But I consider it unnecessary. The word 'notification' as defined in clause 2, sub-clause (36) of the Punjab General Clauses Act, means a notification in the Government Gazette. Therefore this amendment is not necessary.

Minister : It is not necessary.

Sardar Sampuran Singh (Lyallpur West, Sikh, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

That at the end the following further proviso be added :—

Provided no village should be included in Panchayat area constituted of another village or villages without consent of the majority of voters of that place.

My object in moving this amendment is that each village by itself is a separate entity and no village should be forced against its will to be attached to other villages where possibly that village may not be able to have a majority of its own. In certain cases adjoining villages have a standing enmity and there are factions in villages. People in a village should feel that in their own village they will not be interfered by the majority of another village. For that purpose I would submit that so far as each village is concerned, if the people want to have their own panchayat, they should not be forced against their will to be attached to another village where their voice may not be heard.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That at the end the following further proviso be added—

"Provided no village should be included in Panchayat area constituted of another village or villages without consent of the majority of voters of that place."

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana): I oppose the amendment. I do not think we can accept a rigid rule like the one proposed. Generally speaking the views of the villagers would be taken into consideration. Officers would take care that no village is linked to another village without the consent of both as has been pointed out by the honourable member. But a few cases might arise where a small village, which is not prepared to join another village and is not being enough to have its own panchayat, would be left without any such panchayat. The trouble we had in the working of the last Panchayat Act was that where there was the question of consulting the voters and some people like the lambardars and zaildars who feared that their powers would be interfered with when the panchayats came into existence always stirred opposition. It is to guard against this that Government requires some power. I do not think any hardship would ensue. I therefore oppose the amendment. I assure my honourable friend that care would be taken that in such cases they are linked with villages where the majority of the people are willing to join.

Sardar Kapoor Singh: Sir, I support the amendment. As has been stated by the Honourable Minister there might be small villages where it may not be possible to have separate panchayats, but there is danger at the same time if such villages are joined with certain big villages. Suppose one village has got three times the population of another small village it would mean that from that big village the number of the panches would be three times the number from the small village. It would mean that the small village would be dominated by a big village. The result would be that a sort of faction would be created among those villages. Instead of being helpful the panchayats would prove harmful in creating parties in the villages. These panchayats will be called upon to decide certain cases under the Cattle Pounds Act. Suppose the cattle of one village go astray into the field of another village the result would be that the panches of that village into which the cattle go astray would like one way or the other to help the people of their village and go against the people of the other village. Under such circumstances there shall be no justice. I support the amendment and press that no small village should be linked to a big village. If small villages are joined together in that case there is a possibility that they might be able to send equal number of panches. For these reasons I support the amendment.

Mr. Speaker: Question is—

That at the end the following further proviso be added—

"Provided no village should be included in Panchayat area constituted of another village or villages without consent of the majority of voters of that place."

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker: The question is—

That clause 4 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 5.

Mr. Speaker: The question is—

That sub-clause (1) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir—
I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (2)—

- (i) line 2, for the word "three" the word "five" be substituted.
- (ii) line 3 for the word "seven" the word "nine" be substituted.

The object of my amendment is quite clear and that is that the minimum number of panches should be fixed at not less than five and the maximum number at not more than nine. In my opinion this is a very salutary amendment and many cogent arguments can be advanced in its favour. To begin with it is stated in the Bill under consideration that the area of a panchayat would comprise of one tahsil or a part of it. In view of this if my honourable friend wishes to make the panchayat scheme a feasible one it is necessary for him to include 10 or 15 villages in one panchayat. I know that there are very few big villages in the Punjab where a panchayat can be safely established for each one of them. Besides, in every village the number of disputes is not generally so very large as to justify the establishment of a panchayat for each village. So, I would request the Honourable Minister that if he wishes to make this law a workable one he should with few exceptions include 10 or 15 villages in each panchayat.

Further if the suggestion referred to above is accepted in that case it should be borne in mind that when a panchayat is established its head-quarters should be located in a village centrally situated. In no case should the distance from the head-quarters of the panchayats exceed 2 or 3 miles. For instance if 10 or 15 villages are included in a panchayat, then the central village should be declared as the head-quarters of the said panchayat so that the distance between it and other villages should not exceed 3 miles.

Now, Sir, if 10 or 15 villages are included in a panchayat in that case three panches cannot adequately represent the interests of different communities residing in those villages. The reason for this is not far to seek. There would be many communities residing in those villages. For instance, there would be acchuts, kamins and agriculturists. (An honourable member : There are no kamins in the Punjab). May I know whether my honourable friend is living in the Punjab? I assure him that if he goes to villages he would find many kamins residing there. Adverting to the subject proper I may submit that there would be many communities to whom adequate representation should be given on these panchayats. I will illustrate my point by citing an example. Suppose a panchayat consists of 15 villages and only 3 panches are appointed as its members. It would simply mean that all the various communities consisting of agriculturists and non-agriculturists would not get any representation on the said panchayat. Therefore in order to create confidence among the different communities and sections it is necessary that the number of panches should be such as could easily represent all the different interests in the panchayats. If my friend wishes to keep the word "three" intact in that case it would be very difficult to attain the above mentioned object. If there had been big villages in the Punjab I would have conceded that a panchayat should consist of only three panches. But as many villages would generally be included in the panchayats it would be better to substitute the word 'five' for the word 'three'.

My friends are also fully aware of the fact that when the panchayat will hold its meeting, it cannot be said for certain that all the panches would turn up to attend its meeting. For instance, if a panchayat consists of three members and one of the panches absents himself on the ground of illness, marriage, or death, then only two panches would be left. In that case the meeting of the panchayat cannot be held at all. Even if they hold the meeting their judgment cannot claim the same amount of confidence as the judgment of three panches can. If we fix the minimum number of panches as five, in that case even if two panches do not turn up at least three would be present to conduct the meeting and to arrive at decisions with regard to matters concerning their panchayats. In the circumstances it is highly necessary that the minimum number of panches should be increased to five and maximum to nine.

I request the Minister in charge that if he wants to make these panchayats useful, he should accept my amendment. If on the other hand he wishes to follow the wrong path he is entitled to do so. But I assure him that in that case his Government would receive a great set back. Naturally he would have to bear all the consequences of the failure as well. I can also assure him that I know much about the rural life. For the last 30 or 40 years I have come in contact with the rural people. I can safely say on the basis of the past experience that this measure can benefit the people only if the above mentioned suggestions are incorporated in the Bill. To-day I was astonished to hear from the lips of the Honourable Minister for Public Works that there were no kamins in the Punjab. He may be a zamindar but I would request him that if he has not any knowledge about the rural life of the Punjab he should at least have that knowledge from others who are prepared to enlighten him on the subject. In the end I again request him to accept my amendment. I can assure him that if he accepts my amendment it will not give any undue influence to the Congress party. With these words I resume my seat.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in sub-clause (2) of clause 5 (i) in line 2, for the word "three" the word "five" be substituted and in line 3, for the word "seven" the word "nine" be substituted.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : There is no sanctity attached to any particular figure. I might explain why we have put down these figures of 3 and 7. They occur in the last Panchayat Act and these figures were arrived at after full consideration. Even now there is an amendment for an increase in the number and there is another amendment standing in the name of a member on this side asking for a decrease. I would say that the figure as it stands in the Bill is all right. As to the number 3, it has only been fixed to meet the cases of small units because as some members were saying there might be villages that might not like to join other villages. In those cases number 3 can be fixed. After giving every consideration to the case I think the figures should be retained. I do not see how matters will improve if we increase the number from 7 to 9 or from 3 to 5. The successful working of the panchayats would depend on how the panches work and not on their number. But in fixing a number we should also take care that we do not make these bodies cumbersome. Therefore I would oppose the amendment.

I would like to say a word about the reference to "kamins". We believe that to apply the word "kami" to some people non-agriculturists and others who carry on various professions, is objectionable, and we do not want to describe those brethren of ours by this word. (An honourable member : The word is "kamin"). The word "kamin" or "kami" is just the same thing.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That in sub-clause (2), line 2, for the word "three" the word "five" be substituted.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That in sub-clause (2), line 3, for the word 'seven' the word 'nine' be substituted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (2) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That clause 5 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 6.

Mr. Speaker : Question is that—

Sub-clause (1) of clause 6 stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, beg to move—

That in sub-clause (2), line 2, between the words "authority" and "and", the words "who will be either a first class magistrate or a first class subordinate judge" be inserted.

The amendment moved by me is to the effect that the person whom the Government are going to appoint as the prescribed authority must not be a person below the rank of a sub-judge first class or a first class magistrate. This is one of those amendments whose acceptance will strengthen the panchayats.

'Prescribed Authority' will be that person who has been authorised to conduct and supervise the elections and also to announce the results thereof.

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : On a point of order, Sir. This amendment appears to be out of order, because the word 'prescribed' has been defined in clause 3 and it means "prescribed by rules made by Government". Clause 3 has been passed and now I think it is too late to put forward the amendment which my honourable friend wants to move. The effect of the amendment would be that after the word 'prescribed' the words "who will be either a first class magistrate, etc." will be added and it will have the effect of amending the definition of the word 'prescribed' which we have already passed.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalra : The word 'prescribed' occurs 30 or 40 times in this Bill. Does it mean that all these clauses cannot be discussed?

Lala Duni Chand : An able Parliamentary Secretary like Shaikh Faiz Muhammad should not have raised such a point of order. I was submitting that by this clause the Government have been empowered to appoint, the prescribed authority for conducting the elections. But my contention is that the Government should not be given that power. I do not want to take away that right but I desire that the rule-making power which the Government wants to keep to itself should be restricted. That restriction can be imposed by specifying that the rank of such 'prescribed authority' will not be below that of a magistrate of the first class or a first class subordinate judge. The authority may be higher in rank but in no case below it.

The Government should not act in such a way as to confirm the suspicion as was pointed out by my honourable friend Sardar Kapoor Singh, that they want to set up these panchayats in order to strengthen their party and not to benefit the people living in rural areas.

I do not see any reason why the Government should not accept this amendment because the subordinate-judges and magistrates whom it seeks to appoint as 'prescribed authority' are a part of their own machinery. They have a sense of responsibility and honesty. It is in the fitness of things, therefore, that the authority appointed must not be below the rank. Only if such officers are appointed will the panchayats be successful. The authority should not be vested in tahsildars, naib-tahsildars or thanedars and sub-inspectors of police. The elections conducted by the tahsildars and naib-tahsildars are not elections in their true sense. You also authorise them to decide the results of these elections but this provision does not make the panchayats useful. The Government should appoint those officers who enjoy the confidence of the public.

If the Government desire to keep this power into their own hands they should do so in the interest of the people and not in order to further their own ends. The Panchayat Bill should not be utilized by them as an instrument for consolidating their own position and for strengthening their own party. It is a pity that the Treasury Benches are not disposed to accept even this simple and innocent amendment which is not going to cause any harm to the interests of the Government. It may rest assured that the acceptance of this amendment will not entail any extra expenditure. We understand that the Government has got more than sufficient number of subordinate judges and magistrates on the roll. It is a fact that they are at present exceeding by one third of the requisite number. If the Government were to allot some more work to them they would not suffer much. I think the better course for the Government is to scrutinize the list of these officers and see that they are given sufficient work to do. The extra number of these officers is proving a heavy financial burden on the State exchequer. It is, therefore, highly desirable for the Government to delegate the powers of confirming the elections of panches to these high officials. Now, I would like to ask the Government as to whether it really wants to see these panchayats functioning most effectively and efficiently. I warn the Government that if it fails to appoint reliable and trustworthy officers as prescribed authority, the panchayats would not be able to command any influence in their respective areas, nor the public would have any confidence in such panchayats. Confirmation of the elections effected by any authority other than these responsible officers would give rise to many doubts in the public mind. Thus I request the Government to accept my amendment which definitely proposes the delegation of powers to its friends and not to its enemies. I do not intend to say that the Government should be barred from retaining to itself the rule-making power. On the contrary I do admit that it is absolutely essential for the Government to retain it to itself. But what I want to suggest is that this power should be limited to a certain extent.

Mr. Speaker : The question is whether the honourable member's amendment is inconsistent with what the Assembly has already passed and also with the expression "prescribed authority". The word "prescribed" is defined in Clause 3 (1) (f). It means "prescribed by rules made by Government under this Act". It gives absolute power to Government to make rules; while the honourable member's amendment restricts that authority. If so, it is inconsistent with what this House has already decided.

Lala Duni Chand : This much has been decided that Government can make rules and the Government is authorised to make rules consistently with the scope and the object of the Bill. The Government is not given power to go beyond the scope of the Bill.

Mr. Speaker : The power conferred upon the Government is not very much restricted ; while the honourable member's amendment shall restrict it.

Lala Duni Chand : The power is given to make rules consistent with this Bill. Whether that rule making power should be restricted or limited is my object. I do not want that this power should be taken away from the Government.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member wishes to take away that power.

Lala Duni Chand : I am not taking away that power. I am simply qualifying that power.

Mr. Speaker : By qualifying the honourable member will take away that power.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : On a point of order. This objection which has been raised goes to the very root of the authority of this House. No rule made by the Government can take away the authority of this House. The House has a right to define the "prescribed authority".

Mr. Speaker : Is that a point of order ?

Sardar Sampuran Singh : I have not completed my point of order.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member has stated what he calls a point of order.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : I have not.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member has stated his point of order. So, I am not going to allow him to make a speech. The position is that the proposed amendment is said to be out of order, because it is inconsistent with the decision of the House already taken.

Lala Duni Chand : Legal opinion should be obtained on this point. You may ask the Advocate-General to give his opinion and I would be satisfied.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I say a word with your permission, Mr. Speaker ? One thing you will notice, that the words used in the clause are "prescribed authority". The word "prescribed" is defined as prescribed according to the rules and whatever authority may be appointed under the provision of this Bill, would certainly be the authority according to the rules. Rules cannot possibly go outside or beyond the scope of the Bill. The amendment of my honourable friend certainly does not go beyond or outside the scope of the Bill. A first class magistrate will only deal with a particular matter. The definition of the word "prescribed" is not being restricted or extended. The rules would have to be made in conformity with the amendment of my honourable friend.

Mr. Speaker : I will propose this motion to-morrow. The House will now proceed to discuss the adjournment motion.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the Chair and it was occupied by Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali of the panel of chairmen).

POINT OF PRIVILEGE.

Diwan Chaman Lall : I have a point of privilege to raise and that relates to information that has just now been conveyed to me that my adjournment motion No. 4 has been disallowed by His Excellency the Governor. By this adjournment motion I wanted to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, making applicable certain provisions of the Indian Princes Protection Act to all districts of the Punjab.

Premier : This is not the occasion to raise that question. Do not take advantage of Mr. Speaker's absence.

Diwan Chaman Lall : If my honourable friend, the Premier, had waited, he would have realised in a second that I am not in a mood to take advantage of the Chairman. I know this is not the proper time but I want some time to be appointed for the discussion of this matter. I am drawing your attention to the fact that information has been conveyed to me that this adjournment motion of mine has been disallowed by His Excellency the Governor while apparently acting under section 84 of the Government of India Act and according to the rules promulgated by him and as this is a matter which affects the position of this House, it is of very grave importance and I would, therefore, request you to appoint the time for discussion of this matter in this House.

Mr. Chairman : This is not the proper time to raise the question.

ADJOURNMENT MOTION.

APPLICATION OF DEFENCE OF INDIA ORDINANCE.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt (North Eastern Towns, General, Urban) : I beg to move—

That the Assembly do now adjourn.

Mr. Chairman : I quite realise that as a result of the ruling given by the Speaker, the discussion on this adjournment motion will be hedged in by certain restrictions and limitations and it will not be permissible to refer to cases which are subjudice. So, conscious of my responsibility in the matter I assure you and the House that it is not my intention to refer to those particular or individual cases which are at present pending before various courts in the province. But you will certainly allow me the opportunity of referring to those cases generally and not specifically, because without making a reference to them although I will not be naming the accused, I feel that we cannot genuinely and really discuss the proposition which is before the House. Mr. Chairman, although I confess that the object of the motion is to censure the Punjab Government for the abuse of the Defence of India Ordinance, there is yet another object of the adjournment motion and it is that we, as custodians of the liberties of the people of the province, should see whether a particular measure, and especially an extraordinary measure, is rightly applied or whether it is being abused and, through this House, when we come to a particular decision, we should invite the attention not only of the people of the Punjab but also of the Government of India that this Ordinance which was wretched in itself, has been very grossly abused in this province by the Punjab Government. I was very much surprised to-day when the Premier, whose politics I have never been able to understand, who blows hot and cold in the same breath, refused to accept responsibility for the application of the Ordinance to people of the Punjab, for the administration of the Defence of India Ordinance in the province. Although our Honourable Mr. Speaker was perfectly justified in declaring that the Punjab Government did share the responsibility in the matter, I felt at that time as if the Premier was pleading innocence and the Speaker was involving him in the matter merely on technical grounds. What I want to impress upon the House is this, that I have got sufficient evidence to believe—although it may not be possible for me to cite that evidence before the House—that a number of respectable people in the province have been arrested not only with the knowledge of the Premier but actually at the connivance of the Premier of the Punjab Government. Mr. Chairman, the Honourable Premier refuses to accept responsibility for the abuse of the Ordinance in this province. May I draw the attention of the House to a statement which was issued by the Premier on the 9th or 10th of September? I tried to secure a copy of the newspaper in which it was published but I find that the back issues of September are not available in the library. Therefore, with this handicap it was not possible for me to actually read out that statement in original before you but the sum and substance of that statement was that the Premier was under the impression that quite a number of political workers in the province were violating the Ordinance, that they were making speeches against recruitment of people in the army for the sake of war and he issued a warning to the people that as Premier of the province, as the Minister in charge of law and order in the province, he could not stand this violation of the Defence of India Ordinance in the Punjab and that if the people continued to violate the Defence of India Ordinance by speaking against recruitment or making undesirable speeches on the subject of war, then he would set the whole machinery of law and order into motion and would not hesitate to arrest and convict people in the province. And now to-day before the House he comes and pleads innocent like a child as if he had nothing to do with the indiscriminate arrests. My contention, not only my contention but my belief and my sincere belief, is that some of the more prominent persons in the province have been arrested with his previous sanction and not without his knowledge. Mr. Chairman, although I would not like to refer to any individual case, may I draw the attention of this House, of those members who are as much jealous of the liberties of the people and of their own liberties as I myself am, to the fact that one of the most distinguished members of this House has been the victim of that abuse of the Defence of India Ordinance in this province? It should be a matter of shame for any Government to allow the prosecution of a member of the House who has never been guilty of any violent speech. I do not refer to that particular case, I have no intention to refer to the evidence which is being produced before the court, but I do want to draw the attention of the House to the fact that merely on the basis of a report prepared by the police, the Punjab Government sanctioned the order for the arrest and trial of a distinguished member of this House.

Premier : Which member ?

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma.

Premier : Who ordered the trial ?

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : The Government and when I say this you know what I mean.

Premier : Does the honourable member mean the local Government, because the local officers issued the order ?

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : May I put it pointedly to the Honourable Premier whether he realises his responsibility in this matter or not ? Is it that he could not prevent the arrest of Pandit Bhagat Ram ? Has he no control ?

Premier : No.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : With what face could the Honourable Premier, when he has no responsibility in the matter of the application of the Defence of Indian Ordinance, issue a statement warning the people that they should not talk against recruitment, and if they did they would be put behind the bars ? What was the sense in it ? Now, he has no argument but only a face-saving smile on his lips. Mr. Chairman, the cat is out of the bag. He has got no answer. What is the cause and what is the basis of all these arrests ? As I have said, the basis is the report of the police. Whether the report is correct or not, it is not for me to say, it is only for the magistrate who is trying those cases to say so. May I invite the attention of the House to the fact that in the case of Pandit Bhagat Ram the report of the police, which has been produced before the court by the prosecution, is a one-page report, written in a very beautiful and legible hand. Pandit Bhagat Ram spoke for full one hour on the subject and what is the report of the police ? It is only a one-page report. The report of the speech should have been full but the police produced before the court one single page of their report on the basis of which he is being tried in a court. (A voice : That case is subjudice). I made it clear that sometimes it becomes very difficult in discussions like this to draw a very clear distinction and I hope that you will not perpetuate this by another ordinance. Give me a little bit of latitude to refer to certain cases.

Mr. Chairman (Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali) : If they are subjudice, then I will request the honourable member to make as brief a reference to them as possible.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : If it is your sweet pleasure I shall respect it. Sir, my first point has been established that the Punjab Government cannot divest itself of the responsibility for the abuse of the Ordinance which is going on in this province and I have seen no valid argument, no tangible reason, given by the Honourable Premier which divests him of that responsibility. In fact the statement made by him amply justifies my contention that he and he alone is mainly responsible for the reign of terror that is going on in this province. Why he and he alone ? Because I believe that such matters are not brought before the Punjab Cabinet. The Honourable Premier will get up and say that this is a wrong statement. I am certainly open to conviction, but my knowledge is that most of the members of the Cabinet do not take much interest in such matters and whatever the Premier does, they say ditto to it. Therefore, I say that technically speaking it is the Punjab Government which is responsible for the abuse of the Ordinance and that really speaking it is the Premier alone who is responsible for this reign of terror in this province. I make it clear to the Honourable Premier that no member of the Opposition, and in fact no responsible Congress worker of the province, is prepared or is willing to pander to any violence in the province, whether in deed or in speech. I hold no brief to-day for those people who have actually violated the Ordinance. It is not my business to-day to discuss the desirability of that Ordinance. It is a matter of law. The Ordinance was later consolidated into a regular enactment, simply because an undue advantage was taken of the fact that the members of the popular party in the Central Legislature were absent on that occasion, and the Act was passed in the teeth of opposition in the country. But, as I have said, it is not my business to-day to discuss this aspect of the question. My business is only to see whether the administration of that Ordinance is justified or not. Therefore, I do not hold any brief for those people who have been making violent speeches on the platform and condemning the Government for recruitment. It is not the policy of the Congress Working Committee at present to say anything against recruitment. In fact, we here in the Punjab, or rather I should say, the Provincial Congress Committee issued instructions to the workers of the Provincial Congress Committee particularly and to the public generally that they should restrain themselves from saying anything which is irresponsible, that they should not utter a word which is not on the lines of the statement issued by the Congress Working Committee, that they should not make any speeches which savour of violence and that they should behave as a disciplined army. Mr. Chairman, I have satisfied myself that quite a number of people, who have been arrested under the Ordinance, did not at all violate any of the provisions of the Ordinance. You will be surprised to know that people in this province have been arrested under the Ordinance for not having made any speech whatsoever in the province at all, to say nothing of those people who have been arrested, tried and convicted for speeches which were not violent at all and which could by no stretch of imagination be considered to violate the provisions of the Defence of India Ordinance. I have got very many cases with me and the honourable Leader of the Opposition has got statistics on this matter. But since it is your pleasure that I should not refer to those cases because they are pending in courts of law, I can only appeal to the Honourable Premier to have a talk with the honourable Leader of the Opposition on the subject, so that his attention may be drawn to specific cases, and I am sure that the honourable Leader of the Opposition will be able to convince the Honourable Premier, if he is open to conviction, that the Defence of India Ordinance has been grossly abused in this province and innocent persons have been put behind the bars.

Premier : My honourable friend is again trespassing that particular rule. He said that innocent persons have been arrested. How does he know that they are innocent? I think he is not justified in referring to cases which are sub judice.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Mr. Chairman, what I said was that a number of innocent persons have been arrested in the province. I did not refer to any particular case at all.

Premier : That is why I say that you are generalising.

Mr. Chairman (Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali) : When the cases are sub judice, how can the honourable member be in a position to say whether those persons are innocent or not ?

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : When we discuss the repressive policy of the Government or the abuse of penal sections, we are perfectly at liberty to say in general that persons have been arrested and some of them are innocent.

Premier : Certainly not. It is for the court to decide whether they are innocent or not. My honourable friend cannot anticipate the decision.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : I am not referring to any particular case which is sub judice and which may prejudice the judgment of the court.

Premier : They are all sub judice.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : I did not say that all persons are innocent. I said that some persons were innocent and this does not mean that all persons are innocent.

Premier : These persons must be out of the persons arrested and under trial.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : That is our contention.

Premier : If my honourable friend says this thing outside the Chamber, he will know what would happen to him.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : You may say so because you do not know the law. I am sure nobody will arrest me, if I say so outside the House.

Premier : I am sure my honourable friend will never do that.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : The belief that most of the persons arrested are innocent is inherent in the proposition which is before the House. What is the use of discussing the adjournment motion if you are not ready to allow me to say that these persons are innocent. Otherwise your case has been established.

Premier : I strongly protest against my honourable friend using the word again and again in respect of cases which are sub judice. It is for the court to decide those cases.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : This is going too far. Mr. Chairman, I give you another instance of the abuse of the Ordinance in this unfortunate province. The war was declared by His Majesty the King on the 3rd September. In my opinion it was declared at 12 noon on the 3rd September; and immediately after that His Excellency the Viceroy promulgated this Ordinance. This means that according to Indian time it was about 5-30 when the war was declared, because in the Ordinance it is stated that this Ordinance is being issued as a result of the war. It means that at 5-30 the war was declared. On the 2nd and 3rd September there was a political conference at Khanewal in Multan district and it was addressed by quite a few responsible leaders and workers of the province. On the 3rd I believe Mr. Tika Ram Sukhan who has now been convicted—and I am referring to the case of Tika Ram because he has already been convicted and sentenced to two years—

Mr. Chairman (Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali) : Has his appeal also been disposed of?

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : I do not know about that : it has not been filed up till now. I am not going into the merits of the case. The Punjab Government took an undue advantage of the Defence of India Ordinance and applied it to wrong cases—

Premier : Sir, I again strongly protest. My honourable friend is again referring to cases which are sub judice. He says they are wrong cases : it is for the courts to decide.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : I think I have a right to inform the House what our case is for the abuse of the Ordinance and what the evidence is. There should be some evidence before the House before it makes up its mind whether the Ordinance has been abused or not. I should be permitted to cite cases although I should not go into the details or the decision of the court. I am not doing that.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : On a point of order. I beg to invite the attention of the honourable member to rule 68 sub-clause 2 (iv) which says—

Shall not refer to a matter of fact on which a judicial decision is pending.

Not only he cannot go into the merits or demerits of the case but he cannot even refer to it.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : He has been convicted to two years. This case is not sub judice. If a person is likely to bring an appeal before the High Court it is not mentioned in the rule which is quoted that if the case is sub judice—

Premier : Has the period for an appeal lapsed?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does the Honourable Premier mean that even when an appeal is not pending before the Appellate Court the case is sub judice?

Premier : Yes. (Voices from the Opposition benches : “No, no”). My honourable friend wants to take away the right of appeal.

Munshi Hari Lal : An appeal may not be preferred at all.

Premier : Why anticipate that?

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : The object of the Premier is to stifle the discussion.

Mr. Chairman : The honourable member has taken more than half an hour and I would request him now to wind up, and to make as little reference as possible to the cases which are sub judice.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : I will take two hours if I am robbed of my time by interruptions or points of order.

I was referring to the conference held at Khanewal. I would not name the gentlemen if you so desire. It was held on the 2nd.

and 3rd September. Some people were arrested on the basis of speeches made in that conference. The Ordinance was promulgated at 5-30. Could you expect those gentlemen who delivered speeches to know that there was the Defence of India Ordinance? I ask the House if it is not a clear case of the abuse of the Ordinance in this province.

Shaikh Karamat Ali : Ignorance of law is no excuse. If a person is ignorant of law it does not exonerate him from liability in the eye of law.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : That is a clear proof of the abuse of the Ordinance. May I draw your attention to the fact that it was on the 3rd September that the Ordinance was published in the gazette in the province. It was promulgated on the 3rd. It was on the 6th or 7th September that the Ordinance was published in the newspapers. Since it was promulgated on the 3rd it could not be expected that it could be published in the newspapers on the 3rd : at the most it could be published on the 4th. I feel that the Honourable Premier welcomed this measure at a time when his whole administration and his whole Party was tottering to the ground. (Voices from the Unionist benches : "Oh, oh, oh".) Mr. Chairman, I have a feeling, as I have stated, that the Honourable Premier took an undue advantage of the Ordinance. Anybody can go in the province and enquire from the people what their feelings are about the repressive policy which he is at present following.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : Bye-elections !

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : I have gone to the people, mixed with them and enquired from them.

(At this stage there was great uproar in the House.)

Sardar Sampuran Singh : In this way a lot of time is wasted. I think that unless a member has to raise a point of order, he should not disturb the Speaker and waste the time of the House.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : A case has been cited by the members of Government that my honourable friend, Shaikh Sadiq Hassan, was elected on the Unionist ticket and that it was a proof of the confidence of the voters in the Unionist Government. It was only the silly electoral machinery that was responsible for it. The question is how many people voted against the Unionist Party. Shaikh Sadiq Hassan got a little over 4,000 votes and the other gentleman who was an Ahrar got 4,000 votes and the Congress member got some 2,000 votes. In other words there were more than 6,000 votes cast against the Unionist member. It is why students of Political Science have been asking for a reform in the electoral system, it is for that reason that they have been asking for a system of representation known as the proportional representation by a single transferable vote, so that such silly things may not happen. There are 6,000 people in the constituency who are dissatisfied with the policy of the Unionist Government and still those people are not allowed to be represented in this House and the gentleman who represents a minority in the constituency is declared elected. My contention is perfectly justified by facts. This was a digression and I am sorry for it.

Mr. Chairman (Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali) : The honourable member may now wind up.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Not only in Kangra, but in Gujranwala also the same thing happened. Now out of a little bit of regard for the Premier and not for Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan, I do not refer to specific cases in Gujranwala. I do not refer to the names of those who have been arrested under the Ordinance in Gujranwala, but I would make a general statement that there are quite a number of people who have been arrested in Gujranwala on the basis of a speech made at one of the villages in Gujranwala on the 3rd of September, on the very day when the Defence of India Ordinance was promulgated. The Provincial Congress collected all these facts, and we have a regular list. We have the names of the gentlemen who have been arrested and the dates on which they were arrested and the dates of the speeches on the basis of which they were arrested. If it is the object of the Honourable Premier to throw out the adjournment motion and if he is not in a mood to listen to facts or reason, then I have absolutely no complaint whatever, but I take it that he is prepared to go into the particular cases I have mentioned so that he may revise the whole policy on the basis of which the application of the Defence of India Ordinance in this province has been made. Otherwise what is the use of the Opposition? The Opposition is here to act as a break on the free-wheel of the Government, so that if Government is guilty of any excesses the Opposition should draw the attention of the Government as well as of the people to those excesses and the remedy lies with the Government as also with the members of the House. There is a reign of terror going on in the province. A large number of persons who were not guilty of any violent speeches have been arrested and they have lost their liberties while their wives and children are starving and have no means of livelihood at all. They were living from hand to mouth and now that they have been put behind the bars their wives and children are starving in their homes and the Premier is sitting here fiddling just as Nero did when Rome was burning.

Before I resume my seat, I would mention one other fact. Is it only the Punjab where there is agitation against the British Government? Is it only the Punjab where there are revolutionaries? Is it only the Punjab which is the home or the hot bed of revolutionaries? Are there no political workers in other provinces? Are there no Congress workers in other provinces? But may I remind you and, through you, the House that in all the Congress governed provinces there has not been a single case of the application of the Defence of India Ordinance? In fact the Congress Governments have refused to apply the Ordinance to their provinces. (Loud uproar.)

Mr. Chairman (Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali) : Please resume your seat.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : I am not going to sit down like this. I only wanted to wind up the whole thing in one sentence and that was to ask the Premier to give a reply not to irrelevant facts as to whether there is a reign of terror or not, but to the facts I have mentioned whether certain gentlemen and quite a good number of them were arrested on the 3rd September or not and whether the Defence of India Ordinance was promulgated on the 3rd instant or not.

Mr. Chairman : The motion moved is—

That the Assembly do now adjourn.

Rao Pohop Singh (East Punjab Landholders) (Urdu): Sir, if an honourable member alive to his responsibility, wishes to get a wrong righted, the only way open to him for achieving his object is to place before the House all the true facts relating to the matter. I am, therefore, of the opinion that it is the business of the courts to give their verdict in regard to the persons arrested under the Defence of India Ordinance, whether they are innocent or guilty of an offence under the said Ordinance. I may assure the honourable members that the courts would pass judgments after considering the cases of the accused from all possible points of view. But if I or some one else in the House or all the members of a party stand up and without realising their duty begin to say that the arrested persons were innocent or otherwise, then I am sure, the opinions thus expressed would carry no weight. No one, whether of any consequence or not, who feels his responsibility, can vouchsafe as to the guilt or innocence of any such person. The courts are there to find out if the accused persons have been guilty of the alleged offence or not. It is for them and them only to decide that the arrests made were lawful or not, or whether the charge laid against them was true or false.

I beg to submit, Sir, that the Opposition takes a very mild view of the acts of its adherents and wants us to believe that there is nothing seditious about their utterances, but quite the reverse is the truth. It is daily brought to our notice that the members of their party use abusive language in regard to the Honourable Ministers and call them all sorts of names. It seems to be a part of their programme to spread every possible falsehood and use filthy language about the Unionist Ministers.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the honourable member in order in using this expression? I think this rightly applies to the Minister for Development.

Rao Pohop Singh : It is contended by the honourable members opposite that repression is resorted to by the Unionist Government in order to strengthen its party and to crush the Congress. I wonder what has made them think that our party is in any way in need of such methods to strengthen itself. Our strength lies in our achievements. We are men of action and therein lies our strength. The recruiting campaign will make this crystal clear that our claim of immense strength is not an idle one.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Trying to blow your own trumpet.

Rao Pohop Singh : Wait till the 3rd and I will show how loud I blow my trumpet. Punjab is a martial province and as such it had to conform to a high standard of discipline and organisation. To hinder recruiting is bad but it is all the more so in this province on whom India's salvation depends. If my own community were to come under the spell of the "chatter boys" of the Congress and were to deviate from the path of loyalty I would not break a blade of grass to save my community from consequential damnation. All kinds of tactics are adopted by the Opposition to belittle the efforts of the Unionist Government, and in their public utterances in rural areas they leave no stone unturned in stirring public opinion against recruitment. They try to make the martial races deviate from loyalty and devotion to military discipline. In spite of all this the attitude of our benevolent Government is most surprising who have steered themselves in such a way that they are not in the least affected by this propaganda. The Honourable Premier only smiles at it and dismisses the matter as if to say that this is the only parliamentary attitude to adopt. The hard-worked officials who have to face the music are given epithets such as 'worthless' and 'inefficient' by the Congress. Still they go on affording protection to men who bite the very hand that feeds them. Even if a little is said against recruiting, strong action should be taken against them. I warn the Government that even if a little clemency is shown to these people it would be a bad day for the country. The Honourable the Premier would be doing a great injustice to the people of this province by showing leniency to them.

The relief that is being granted to the famine-stricken people, the rapid progress that the province is making under the Unionist regime and the great advancement that has resulted from the passage of numerous good Acts is not taken into consideration. But if a single person's entry into the province is objected to, or a man is shut up behind the bars, a cry goes up to the skies that there is neither liberty nor peace in the province. We believe in liberty of action and unlike our honourable friends opposite do not believe in mere talk with no achievement.

Even if the progress of our province were to stop at the stage that has already been reached, other provinces will lag behind for full fifty years yet to come. Provinces like the United Provinces can have no comparison even after the lapse of half a century. An unnecessary hue and cry is being raised over the Defence of India Act, but let me assure them that in the Punjab no innocent person will be proceeded against under the said Act.

In the end I appeal to my friends opposite to stop being a stumbling block in the way of progress. The days of crying 'Toddy tacheha, hai hai' are no more. These are the true representatives of the zamindars whom you see on the Ministerial benches. Let them fulfil their mission, and give new life to the peasantry in this province. You talk of liberty in other provinces, come and co-operate with the Government in its task of giving universal liberty and peace to the people of this province and do not waste your breath in delivering speeches against the Defence of India Act in order to mislead people.

Dr. Satya Pal (Sialkot-Amritsar, General, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, I rise to support the adjournment motion moved by my honourable friend, Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt. I was anxious to know the line of argument which the Unionist Government would adopt to meet my honourable friend's irrefutable statement of facts. I was wondering what could be said on behalf of the Government in reply to the charges laid at their door. It is a matter of great import to the Government that it has found in Rao Pohop Singh a great eulogiser of its so-called achievements. Here is an honourable gentleman for whom I would request the Unionist Government to create a new portfolio. His sole charge should be to sing the praises of the Unionist Ministry in season and out of season. With the exception of repeating the phrase "Defence of India Act" a number of times I have not been able to find a single relevant fact to the subject under discussion. His speech is marked for saying irrelevant and unnecessary things which by no stretch of imagination could seem to approach coherent talk. We expected the ministerialists to tell us whether the promulgation of the Defence of India Act was at all necessary in the province and whether the people apprehended under the said measure were really political offenders as defined therein. But instead of this they cried hoarse that the Congress workers have showered filthy abuses on the ministry and its supporters on certain occasions. My honourable friend, Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt, has already remarked in the course of his speech that even if the Government were to prove that any Congress worker had ever uttered anything in contravention of the canons of morality, the Congress would be only too glad to take the responsibility for such utterances. It is only people belonging to the category of Rao Pohop Singh who cannot refrain from using obscene language against their adversaries. In fact the Unionist Government has given a free hand to its supporters to do all sorts of heinous acts against the Congressmen, create disturbances in their public meetings and make them victims of all atrocities.

Now, Sir, our contention is that the Act which is playing a havoc in the province at present is not at all an Act. It was enacted at the time when the right-thinking part of the Central Assembly—I mean the Congress party—was not present in the House. And that is the reason why other Congress ministries have not thought it fit to promulgate it in their respective provinces. The Punjab Government should take note of the fact that the maintenance of law and order by means of repression and persecution is not at all creditable on the part of a government which claims to be a popular one. It is a fact that not a single person has been apprehended in other provinces under the Defence of India Act whereas our Government has made a crop of arrests here in the Punjab under the same measure. Does the Government want to prove by making wholesale and indiscriminate arrests that subversive elements are at work in the Punjab? We have good reasons to believe that the Government intends to strengthen its position by throwing its political antagonists into jails. Moreover, it wants to curb the nationalist spirit in the province.

Our object in moving this adjournment motion is to show that the Government is not sincere in saying that the Defence of India Act has been promulgated simply to allow recruitment to be made without any let or hindrance. On the contrary it is our firm belief that it has been brought into operation with the sole object of strangling the civil liberties of the people. Otherwise the Congress has not issued any orders with regard to recruitment as yet. If you go through the notes of those speeches which have led to the arrest of several Congressmen you are sure to find therein only those things which are being uttered by every self-respecting Indian. The Congress workers have reiterated only the same questions which have recently been asked by Mahatma Gandhi as to whether the principles which are being defended by giving battle to Germany and which have been approved of by the Allies are not such as could be applied to India. If Englishmen are fighting in the name of democratic principles why should they not be asked to promote democracy in India? The Congressmen are only asking the British Government as to what would be the gain to India if her sons take arms against Hitlerism. If Englishmen are anxious for the freedom of Poland and Danzig, should they not also be prepared to free India and her countrymen? We have been told that no innocent person has been arrested under the said measure. Now my question is whether people uttering things in the light of the Congress Working Committee's resolution have offended against any law, and whether their arrests were at all called for. It has been alleged on the floor of the House that the Government would carefully scrutinize every individual case and if it finds that certain persons were really innocent it would release them forthwith. But my 20 years' experience shows that once a political worker is apprehended he is not allowed to go unpunished. His conviction is sure and certain. A person arrested by the Punjab police cannot be acquitted by any lower court. The trouble is that, with the exception of the Honourable High Court, every officer and every court in the Punjab dreads the police department. Moreover, how can a magistrate when surrounded by the police and the ministry be expected to return an independent verdict? It is a matter of regret that in the Punjab Congress leaders are awarded sentences merely on the evidences of patwaris who do not know who Hitler is and what democracy is. Moreover, a magistrate cannot dare acquit a person arrested under the Defence of India Act especially when he knows that it has been enacted at the instance of the Honourable Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan. In fact every servant does what his master wants him to do. When such is the state of affairs prevailing in the province no magistrate can be expected to commit the folly of acquitting any accused person. If by chance any magistrate were to do justice in such cases he is sure to run the risk of foregoing his increments and getting declared unfit for further promotions. Thus by moving such an adjournment motion we do not hope at all that the Honourable Premier would immediately issue orders instructing his magistrates to do justice in future. What we want to show is that his professions have hardly ever been consistent with his actions. He should bear in mind that we are not afraid of his Defence of India Act. Let the time come and we would show to the world that we were not cowards. We would most willingly offer ourselves to be thrown behind the bars. To-day fortunately or unfortunately we are here to speak on behalf of those who have disappeared behind the prison walls for the sake of their mother country but when our turn comes nobody would remain here in the House to speak for us. I may further submit that we do not stand in need of Government's sympathy, we do not even expect sympathy from them. What I want to submit is that the honourable members who are sitting on the opposite benches have gained power at the cost of our sacrifices. We have been feeding the tree of liberty with our own blood but this is the fruit which that tree has borne. (Cheers from the Opposition) My submission is that one of the objects of this adjournment motion is to let the public know that it is only the Punjab Government which is so keen to help Imperialism in the teeth of the opposition of other provinces of India. I may also submit that Government have been considering Kangra district quite a safe place for the last so many years but since the Congress activities have started in that district the Government have begun taking vindictive steps towards the Congress activities in that district. I think, it would not be out of place if I submit that the Government is now afraid of Kangra district as far as their propaganda work is concerned, and that is why Nawab Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana a prominent and a very distinguished member of the Unionist Government, has made that district his place of residence for summer. And having failed in crushing the Congress activities in that district our kind-hearted and generous Government have begun arresting a large number of respectable political workers under the Defence of India Act. I submit with all the emphasis at my command that these unclean methods adopted by the Government would not be appreciated at all in any corner of India. Sir, this is our belief that more they trim the candle of liberty the more light it gives. (Hear, hear).

In the end I would appeal to the Government not to create a false impression that they are making arrests in the fair name of justice while in reality they want to crush the political activities in this land of five rivers. As falsehood has no legs to stand upon and it has never been of any use, I would like to submit that the Government of Sir Sikander should always play a fair game straight-off instead of hoodwinking the people who have fortunately become too wise to understand their tactics. The discussion on this adjournment motion would also make it crystal clear as to how the magistrates and other executive officers of the Unionist Government have been treating the public at large since the enforcement of the Defence Act. And moreover the agents of the Unionist Government have always been trying to crush the voice raised against Imperialism and whenever and wherever such a voice has been raised they have even tried to pull the tongue out of the mouth of the speaker. Is this a fair game?

Khan Sahib Raja Fateh Khan (Rawalpindi East, Muhammadan, Rural): Sir, the honourable mover started his speech on the adjournment motion with two different reasons in view, which are, I think, contradicting each other. First, he said that there was no need of the enforcement of the Defence of India Act. After that he went into some doubts saying that there was a need of this Act but the arrests that had been made were unfair. He then said that the charges made against the arrested were not fair, correct and justified. May I ask my honourable friends who are sitting on the opposite benches as to how they came to know about it? What we know from newspapers is that those persons against whom the charges were made under the Defence of India Act have refused to defend their case. It is quite clear from this that they have committed the crime. Then my honourable friend, Dr. Satya Pal, was pleased to ask as to what was the need of Defence of India Act in the Punjab. I may tell him that where there is property protection is needed. I remember a verse from Iqbal and I think that aptly suits here—

I was submitting that where there is property there is danger. Are my honourable friends who are sitting on the opposite benches aware of the fact that it is the Punjab only which supplies 60 per cent. recruits to the army and therefore not to protect Punjab means not to protect India? The world is also aware of the fact that Great Britain is fighting for the sake of democracy against Nazism which is bent upon the ruin and destruction of populated areas of the world in order to torpedo democracy. As a matter of fact Nazism leads people to destruction and utter ruin.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : What about British Government ?

Shaikh Sadiq Hassan : What about the Congress Nazism?

Khan Sahib Raja Fateh Khan : Be patient, I will answer all these questions. Sir, I was submitting that on one side there is the incorrect principle of Nazism which is the precursor of destruction, and on the other hand there is democracy with whose blessings my honourable friends sitting on the opposite benches have reached the present stage of independence. We are confident enough that if they take reasonable steps with sense and foresight they will get their objective of independence after the present war, as it had been bestowed upon Newzealand. Under these critical circumstances to make a demand for independence is just like a demand for freedom made by a patient who does not care to follow the instructions of the doctor in connection with diet, etc. But the doctor does not permit him to do according to his wishes, as that sort of freedom in the doctor's opinion is likely to bring about the death of the patient. Such freedom, therefore, which creates indiscipline and disorder in the country is detrimental to the interests of India.

As far as freedom of speech is concerned, I would like to draw your attention to free countries where in the event of war every possible attempt is made even to avoid this privilege of freedom of speech. Take England, for instance. Mr. Churchill used to oppose Mr. Chamberlain before the present war. But as soon as the war broke the circumstances changed and the question of life and death of the country arose, he left aside all his differences with Mr. Chamberlain and only for the interest of his country and to maintain peace and discipline he stood shoulder to shoulder with Mr. Chamberlain. (Interruptions.) I was submitting that generally every step is taken according to circumstances. In my opinion at such a critical juncture this sort of freedom that my friends over there want to attain tantamounts to nothing but death. And as far as the enforcement and use of the Ordinance in India is concerned, I must submit that it involves the question of life and death of India and to violate the Ordinance under such circumstances when the dark clouds of war are overhanging amounts to a heinous crime and a great blunder.

Then, Sir, the Opposition could not refer to a single case in which any injustice or excess has been done to any person under the Ordinance. One question has been put from that side which I would like to answer. The question was as to why this sort of an Act has not been enforced in the United Provinces and why it has been enforced in the Punjab. The reason is obvious. My friends who were pleased to put this question have conveniently forgotten certain facts. They should not ignore that greater martial spirit is found in the Punjab than in any other province in India and therefore only this province is said to be the sword arm of India. In this hour of agony and danger what is required is unity, sacrifice and discipline. We do not need those steps which are calculated to divide the country and bring about a state of disorder. Much has been said in favour of freedom of speech from the opposite benches. May I ask these preachers of freedom as to why Mr. Bose has been excluded from the Congress on account of his being in favour of freedom of speech? What answer have they got to this question of mine?

My submission is that no organisation becomes powerful unless it maintains its discipline. I, therefore, submit with all the emphasis at my command that India's survival lies in opposing Nazism and supporting Nazism means endangering whole mankind.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh (Amritsar North, Sikh, Rural) (Punjabi) : Mr. Chairman, I have been the General Secretary of the Punjab Provincial Congress Committee for the past one year. Although previously I knew to some extent where the Unionist party stood as compared with the Congress, yet it is only during the past year that by working among the simple and poor masses that I came to know the exact political significance of the Unionist party and the extent to which it differs from the Congress in respect of its policy and programme. The speech which I propose to make this evening would definitely revolve round this very difference with special reference to the Defence of India Ordinance promulgated by the Central Government. The point which I like to impress upon the Treasury benches is that the Ordinance has been unduly given retrospective effect by the all powerful Unionist Government in the Punjab. It is a pity that the speakers who delivered speeches several days before the Ordinance was actually framed have been the victims of this terrific piece of legislation. I have specific instances to quote that many Congress workers especially Muslim workers have been thrown in jails by means of this measure who have been most peacefully working in the rural areas for the last 2 or 3 years. Their only fault was that they were conveying the Congress message to the simple-minded Muslims living in the remote areas of the Rawalpindi and Multan divisions. I need hardly lay much stress on the fact that these peaceful workers carrying on extensive propaganda in favour of the Congress have shaken the very foundations of the Unionist party in those ilaqas. The honourable members opposite were anxiously awaiting any opportune and favourable moment to throw them behind the bars. There is a well known Punjabi saying which can aptly be applied to this attitude on the part of the Government. They say

بہی دے یا کہیں چکا ہے

Thus the Ordinance afforded a golden opportunity to the Government to turn its political adversaries out of the field. It is frequently experienced that the Honourable Premier has shown courage in admitting certain matters inside or outside the House. After the enactment of the Army Bill by the Central Legislature he honestly and frankly admitted that the said Bill was sponsored and introduced only at his instance. Similarly here also we smell the rat and expect the Honourable Premier to finish the matter by openly admitting that the present Ordinance is a result of his advice to the Central Government. The thing which astonishes us most is the promptness with which the Government of Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan had taken action against its antagonists under this Ordinance. I do not exaggerate when I say that the Punjab Government prepared warrants of arrests against certain political workers even days before the Ordinance was actually put into black and white. It was waiting for a propitious moment to arrest all those people who had been undermining the already tottering edifice of the Unionist Government. In areas which were formerly considered to be the stronghold of the present ministry its joy knew no bound when it found a deadly weapon placed into its hands by the Central Government to deal with the nationalist forces corroding with its very structure. The crop of arrests that were made in connection with the political conference held at Khanewal is a sufficient proof of Government's inexpediency in the matter. With the exception of Mian Iftikhar-ud-Din and myself all the speakers were arrested under section 88, Defence of India Ordinance. It will be interesting to note that even those people were not spared who only read out certain verses to the conference. At Dunya Pur certain political workers were busy forming local Congress committees in the adjoining villages. They too had the same lot. They were also arrested under the same Ordinance. Similarly the Congress President in the Rawalpindi division and with him certain other workers were apprehended and made to disappear behind the high prison walls. It has been alleged on the floor of the House that the Government has taken special care not to arrest any innocent person. But I have good reasons to refute this profession of the Government. The Ordinance was brought into operation in such a haphazard manner that sometimes the police committed Himalayan blunders in arresting the wrong persons. The ubiquitous police was after a certain person, Abdul Karim by name, but it wrongfully apprehended Abdul Karim Wazirabadi. (Laughter.) But when after 2 or 3 days the police came to know of its folly the doors of the prison were opened to the poor fellow. In short the Ordinance has undoubtedly wrought a havoc in the province.

Somebody has told us that the Government intends to first prosecute all the Muslim political workers and after that it wants to lay hands on the Sikh nationalists in the Punjab. The object of the Government in taking such a drastic measure seems to be the fear lurking in the mind of the Government lest they should launch agitation against recruitment in their respective communities. The campaign of repression and high-handedness carried on against the Ahrar workers is already well known. But it is not my subject. I want to confine my submissions only to the Congress workers.

One thing which I specially want to bring to the notice of the House is that the Punjab Cabinet holds a steadfast belief that it always gives lead to other provinces in all political and social matters. But my two and a half years' experience shows that this Government gives lead to other provinces only in the wrong direction. The results of this lead have always been prejudicial to the best interests of the country at large. An honourable member on my left had made certain references to the Congress ministries. But he ought to know that they are not infallible. They might have made certain mistakes. But it is a matter of gratification that they had hardly ever attempted to curb the civil liberties of their subjects. It will be a source of satisfaction to all the right-thinking persons that not a single arrest has been made under the said Ordinance in the Congress provinces. The more we go into details the more we get convinced of the idea that the Punjab Government is dancing to the dictates of the Government of India.

in bringing the Ordinance into a successful operation. The Congress has made history in abstaining from contaminating its hands by bringing the measure into force. In a neighbouring province a newspaper gave publication to an article which seemed to be prejudicial to recruitment operations in that part of the country, and a certain political worker made a speech on the same subject. But my honourable friends opposite would be awfully disappointed to hear that both of them were only given a mild warning to the effect that they should be careful in future. But had they been here in the Punjab their lot would have been quite different. My friend Rao Pohop Singh has sermonised that there should not be any grumbling on our part as the political expediency and emergency had necessitated the operation of the measure. But he ought to know that to laugh at others' misfortune is one thing and to suffer it is quite another.

Again, it is a matter of surprise for me that the Ordinance was promulgated on the 3rd September; it was published in the Punjab Gazette on the 5th; but on the 9th the Director of Information Bureau gave publicity to the orders of the Honourable Premier to the effect that any person found tampering with anybody's loyalty towards his Sovereign and thereby affecting the recruitment campaign adversely would be severely dealt with. But in spite of all this the Government deemed it fit to issue orders for the arrests of those who delivered speeches in the Kangra district several days before the promulgation of the Ordinance. Would the Honourable Premier enlighten us as to why the Ordinance was given a retrospective effect? The trouble is that the Congress is an organised and disciplined body. It acts in accordance with the advice of the Congress Working Committee, which enjoins upon every Congressite to maintain the spirit of discipline within its ranks. Sir Sikander knows this very well. Under these circumstances the Punjab Government could not catch hold of those persons who had been peacefully undermining its stability. Thus it thought it fit to raise a hue and cry that the Congress activities in the Punjab were detrimental to successful recruitment. But may I know why these arrests were made so very hastily? The answer is quite simple. My honourable friends over there thought that the much sought for opportunity had come and they should avail themselves of it. If they had not taken that action so very quickly it was feared that the people would have accepted the policy of the Congress. So, with a view to drive away the influence of the Congress my friends had recourse to this repressive policy.

Now what is the policy of the Government at present? They are in favour of recruitment and wish to help Britain at this critical juncture. But along with this they also want to suppress the voice of the Opposition. Not only this they even do not want to allow the Congress party to criticise their policy. Every body knows that the Congress has expressly asked Congressmen to show restraint of word or deed so that nothing might be said or done which was not in keeping with India's honour or the principles for which the Congress stood. So in view of these clear instructions no Congressman can say anything which would give a setback to the Congress or defeat its object. The policy of the Congress is simply this that it wants to make India independent and in pursuance of that policy it wanted to have an unequivocal promise of independence from the British Government. The people of India asked the British Government, who had declared her to be the saviour of small States, independence and democracy, to give the above-mentioned unequivocal promise. But that request has been turned down and India has been given merely pious hopes.

In the end I may submit that we are prepared to fight against Nazism but we wish to make it clear that we can only participate in the fight as equals and as independent people? We should be assured that this war is not being fought for the sake of upholding the old policy of Imperialism. If we wish to suppress Nazism we cannot ignore Imperialism for the latter is the elder brother of the former. We are prepared for all eventualities and we will not shirk even if we will have to fight to the last drop of our blood. With these remarks I support the adjournment motion now before the House.

Premier (The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan) (Urdu): Sir, I regret that I cannot give way to my honourable friend Chaudhri Kartar Singh who wants to speak on the motion because there are only thirty minutes left at my disposal within which I have to reply to so many speakers. Before I proceed with the matter now before the House I would like to refute two or three allegations of my honourable friend, Dr. Satya Pal, which he has levelled at the Unionist Government. In the first place he remarked that the magistracy in this province is not independent. I do not like to dwell at length on this vast subject, for, if I do so, I am afraid it will take away the whole of the time at my disposal. However I would say simply this that every one judges things according to his own views. If I say that our High Court is most praiseworthy and judicial minded, it is just possible that my honourable friend, if he has ever been punished by this High Court, may remark that it is the most blame-worthy. I, therefore, say that one always judges things in the light of his personal experience. Anyhow that is a matter of opinion. I assure my honourable friend that most of the people think that the magistracy in this province is far more independent than the magistracy of other provinces.

Further it has been said that the Congressmen here have been arrested for speeches made by them on the Congress resolution. As to this I would assure my honourable friend that that has not been the case. The fact of the matter is that those arrests were made because of anti-recruitment activities. So far no person has been arrested merely on the ground that he was a Congressite and that he had made a speech on the Congress resolution. Let me tell my honourable friend over there that when time comes for general arrests he will not come forward to court arrest but it will be others who will bear the whole brunt. Besides, may I ask my honourable friend if it is not the explicit order of the Congress whose commands he professes to obey so ardently that nothing should be said or done against recruitment? It seems that my honourable friend has easily forgotten that command of the Congress. Otherwise what I have done is quite in consonance with the Congress instructions. In this matter the Congress is on my side. It is therefore wrong to say that the arrests have been made for making speeches on the Congress resolution.

Again, it has been said that a new portfolio of a Propaganda Minister should be created so that he may sing praises of the Unionist Government. This idea has probably occurred to my friend because of such a portfolio being in existence in other provinces where propaganda ministers are functioning in the interest of their Governments. But let me tell my honourable friend that according to a Persian proverb—مشی نیست که خود پیروز نکند عمار بگردد— we do not feel the necessity of a propaganda minister here. (Interruptions.) When my honourable friends were speaking I never interrupted them and I therefore request them to keep patience and hear me silently. At present I am simply replying to their arguments.

Then again my honourable friend was pleased to remark that according to Rao Pohop Singh the Congressites indulge in abusive language against the Unionists. Abuse is a minor thing as compared with assaults that are sometimes made on the Congress leaders. My honourable friend, Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava, was assaulted and the assault was so very severe that even his life was imperilled. But for all this the blame was laid to-day at my door and it was said that the police did nothing to control the disturbance. Perhaps Dr. Gopi Chand knows who assaulted him. He also knows what Dr. Kitchlew feels about the matter. My friend does know how far election was the cause of rowdiness. Let me point out that these assaults are not made by the Unionists but by persons on the other side whose actions belie their professions.

When the last speaker, I mean Sardar Sohan Singh Josh, was making his speech I was reminded of either the Hyde Park where such speeches are made or a friend of mine who like him got training in Russia where one is taught the art of making speeches. I once asked my friend as to how he was taught to make speeches and I was told that one should make speeches very loudly and in shrill voice for that was bound to leave some impression. My honourable friend was doing the same to-day in the hope that he would thereby impress the other side. But let him remember that the people of this province are very sane and reasonable and they understand arguments and know what is real and what is fraud. So my honourable friend need not have been so loud, for simple loudness without reason cannot make any impression.

Again my honourable friend remarked that he was opposed to Nazism. But to me this remark of my honourable friend appears to be meaningless because his spiritual leader, Stalin, was hand in glove with Nazism.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh: What does your spiritual leader, Mr. Churchill, say?

Premier: Mr. Churchill may or may not be my spiritual leader but he has spoken out his mind unreservedly. He has said

5 P.M. that two evil forces, i.e., Nazism and Bolshevism, have united with a view to dominate the whole world and it is, therefore, our foremost duty to oppose this unholy alliance tooth and nail. Now my honourable friend over there cannot hurl a fling at Nazism because his great spiritual leader has embraced the Nazi leader. Now that being so, what my friend says against Nazism is most unreal and unconvincing.

Now let me advert to the points raised by the honourable mover. He has accused me of shirking the responsibility that should ordinarily lie on my shoulders for making arrests under the Defence of India Ordinance. I may tell the honourable members that we have never shirked our responsibilities.

[Premier.]

and we shall never allow ourselves to do that. What to say of this minor responsibility, we have shouldered heavier ones in connection with the administration of the province. If we fail to discharge our responsibilities, then nothing will differentiate us from the honourable members opposite. It has been said that the provisions of Defence of India Ordinance have been abused. I may assure the honourable members that that is altogether unfounded. In fact I issued definite instructions to the officers that the Ordinance should be applied only to those who indulge in anti-recruitment activities. I may therefore point out that all those who have been arrested under the Ordinance were arrested for making anti-recruitment speeches and none for abusing me or my colleagues or the Unionist Party. Besides, in dealing with the unlawful activities of the people, why should we seek the help of Ordinances when we have in our armoury Acts like the Criminal Law Amendment Act to cope with any emergency? My honourable friends may rest assured that no persons under the Ordinance were arrested for activities other than the anti-war activities.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : What about those persons who were arrested before you issued instructions?

Premier : My honourable friend is unnecessarily getting restive. I am coming to that point also. He stated that certain people had delivered speeches long before the promulgation of the Ordinance on the 3rd September. But on the very day of its enforcement indiscriminate arrests were made for their speeches delivered previously. In this connection I may tell the honourable members opposite that in the first instance no arrests under the Ordinance were made for activities other than anti-recruitment activities. But if any persons were arrested for speeches delivered before the promulgation of the Ordinance, they could inform the courts about that. Again, if the courts fail to help them, they should come to me. I would see that all such cases are withdrawn in which it is found that the speech for which a person has been arrested was made before the promulgation of the Ordinance.

An honourable member : But you are not an appellate court.

Premier : Quite right. But my honourable friend has himself remarked that the executive are invested with powers to show mercy to the accused or in some cases to set aside the verdict of the courts. But all the same I have issued instructions to all the officers concerned that the Ordinance should not be applied to such persons. However, if those persons who have been arrested had no respect for law and order they should have at least respected the wishes of the Congress. Those who deliver speeches against recruitment not only play false to the ideals of the Congress but also betray the interests of their country. Thus they play false to God and man alike. (Hear, hear.) I wonder why they do not rebuke those who have tried to break the law and order, and why they try to impeach me for their faults.

My honourable friend then insinuated that I was aware of the arrest of a particular honourable member of this House and I deliberately desisted from preventing his arrest. He used words to the effect that "a distinguished member of the House was made a victim of the Defence of India Act." If the honourable member referred to Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma, I cannot say anything in that connection since the case is sub judice, but if on the other hand he meant Sardar Hari Singh I can assert without fear of contradiction that it is absolutely incorrect. So far as Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma's case is concerned it is said that he did not utter a single word that could offend against the provisions of the Defence of India Act. Well! if that is the case, the court will take cognizance of the fact and decide the case accordingly.

Two of my honourable friends, Sardar Sohan Singh Josh and Dr. Satya Pal referred to another matter. They said that the Unionist Party had weakened and it was for this reason that repression was being resorted to. I have no need to refute this transparent mis-statement, but I cannot refrain from referring to the two recent bye-elections. In the bye-election held at Multan, where my honourable friend contended that Muslims of his way of thinking preponderate and a number of arrests were made; my honourable friend, Shaikh Muhammad Amin, was successful and in the other bye-election held at Amritsar, not only did that puny little man over there (Shaikh Sadiq Hassan) defeat the President of the Provincial Congress Committee, but also gave a crushing defeat to a very big leader of another party. In spite of all this the Opposition does not feel ashamed and continues its campaign of falsehoods against the Unionist Party. I am reminded of a story in this connection. A certain weaver who was hit by an arrow said, "May it prove untrue that an arrow has hit me." The same is the case with them. (Hear, hear.)

Again, it has been said that I issued a warning to those who were making speeches against recruitment, that if they did not stop their activities they would be severely dealt with. My reply to that statement is very simple. The warning was issued because it is my firm belief that prevention is better than cure. Thus whenever I find that there is danger of some 'epidemic' breaking out I at once issue a warning. I have stated more than once that law cannot and should not be expected to respect personalities. It should be clearly understood that the Punjab is the sword arm of India and, therefore, this law has much more importance here than in other provinces which have no military traditions. I made it clear even to the big leaders of the Congress that there was a big ocean's difference between their position and ours. When they asked what that difference was, I told them that if the political brethren of my honourable friend, Sardar Sohan Singh Josh, from Russia attacked India the Congress leaders will be sitting comfortably in their chairs in the Central Provinces, Bihar, the United Provinces, etc., and it is the Punjab that will have to bear the brunt of such an attack. Is it not well-known as to who came forward to defend the country when Duranis and other northern people attacked India? Similarly, if the people from across the northern borders come with the intention of creating wreck and ruin in India I and my friends will have to draw swords in the defence of our country and countrymen. (Hear, hear.) If a tribesman wants to burn my house to ashes there is no reason why I should not defend it. Again if those tribesmen are accompanied by the friends of Sardar Sohan Singh Josh, the position will be still worse. Of course we Punjabis will do everything in our power to drive them off our borders, but if I fall and they reach Delhi most of my Congressite friends will be the first to come forward to give them a rousing reception and present an address of welcome saying that the old imperialists were detestable oppressors but the new conquerors are gods-incarnate. (Hear, hear.)

Thus so long as I believe that the Punjab should join hands with the Allies for the successful conclusion of war it is my duty to see that the provisions of the Defence of India Act are not allowed to be contravened. I have already issued a warning in this connection and now I again warn all concerned that whoever offends against this law shall be severely dealt with—be he my own son or the biggest leader of the country. I will not spare even a single mischief-monger in the province.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : It is flattery run riot.

Premier : I am not flattering anybody. I am only requesting my friends opposite to desist from creating obstacles in my way. Whatever I intend to do is to help my honourable friends over there at this critical juncture.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : We do not stand in need of your help.

Premier : It is my firm belief that they do stand in need of my help. When their time would come they would be free to adopt the policy of submission and resignation, but to-day I must do my level-best to defend my country and countrymen from all possible attacks.

I deem it my duty to take action to save the country and the good name of my province and guard against those who break law and protect Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt and Dr. Sant Ram Seth. I am sure they will be the first to run away with their shoes in their hands if any revolution breaks out. (Cheers.) The honourable members who are sitting on the opposite benches may rest assured that God willing I will save all without any distinction of caste or creed. (Cheers.)

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt (Urdu) : Sir, I have attentively listened to the speech made by the Honourable Premier but I am sorry to say that he has discussed only irrelevant matters and he has not spoken a single word in connection with the proposition which is at this time before the House. Throughout his speech he has been praising the British Government and condemning Nazism. Now as he has touched these questions I deem it my duty to answer those points.

Before I draw the attention of the House to any other important matter, I want to tell them that if they have made up their minds to believe what the Premier has said, right or wrong, then that is another matter. (Interruptions.) I submit that if there was a right for the freedom of speech then the Ordinance has been misused. The Premier has not spoken even a single word about the arrests made under the Defence of India Ordinance throughout the country before or after its enforcement. But he has mentioned Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma in passing. He has confessed that Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma was arrested under the Defence of India Ordinance. But he has not cared to say anything about Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma, a very distinguished member of this august House who was handcuffed not once but several times in a very insulting manner. The Honourable Premier has not uttered a single word about it also. (At this stage Mr. Speaker resumed the chair.)

Now, Mr. Speaker, you have come. You do not know what remarks the Premier made in your absence. He has said many irrelevant things about the present war and also stated that Nazism is a menace to everybody. But he has not said that Imperialism is as dangerous as Nazism. He has not the courage to say so.

Then the Honourable Premier referred to the attacks made on India by foreign invaders. As far as foreign invaders of India are concerned, I will submit to the Honourable Premier that it were his ancestors who helped them. The Punjab was ruled by Punjabis in those days. It were his forefathers who put the yoke of slavery round our necks. Only those people brought the slavery.

They ought to know that the menace of Nazism is a remote one. The immediate danger which is threatening our very existence is the danger of the British Imperialism. To-day the Honourable Premier is pleading the cause of the British Imperialism by bringing forth the menace of Fascism and Nazism. But had the British Government been at war with any democratic country such as the United States of America, Denmark, Holland or Switzerland, he would have been the first even then to exhort his fellow countrymen to lay down their lives in defence of this very Imperialism.

The Honourable Premier was pleased to announce in the Zamindars Conference held at Niaz Beg that after the successful conclusion of the war, India would be given complete independence. But now the Viceroy has told us in unequivocal terms that even dominion status could not be possibly conferred upon India immediately after the war. The Viceroy says that it will be by slow and steady degrees that India would be allowed to proceed towards its political goal—the dominion status. Now I ask the Honourable Premier in all seriousness as to what attitude he proposes to adopt in view of the Viceroy's declaration which has turned out to be contrary to his professions. It is up to him to reconsider his decision in the light of the declaration and state as to whether it would be in the fitness of things to offer unqualified help to the British Imperialism under the present circumstances. So far as the Ordinance is concerned every person is well within his rights to offer healthy criticism against its abuse though I admit that one should avoid uttering things against recruitment.

The Honourable Premier has remarked that the Unionist party is very popular among the masses and he has tried to give instances of the Amritsar and Multan bye-elections in support of his contention. But I think it is well known to him as to how far these elections based upon moral and ethical principles were immorally conducted in those constituencies. (Voices: "No, no.") Honourable members may say "No, no" at the top of their voices but it is just like "my lady protesting too much." I am sure my honourable friends opposite would bear me out that the Honourable Premier has made out a very flimsy case and has miserably failed to satisfy the Opposition by his arguments. Not only it is not said that such an Ordinance is not required to be enforced in the Punjab but it is straightaway enforced here. We ask, was it at all necessary that this Ordinance should be enforced here? The Honourable the Premier in the first instance denies responsibility for the enforcement of this Ordinance and then he expresses his regret at the turn which this situation has taken. Under these circumstances, was it not his duty to inform the Government of India that in his province the state of affairs was not such that could justify the application of the Defence of India Ordinance? But he has done nothing of the sort. May I know why, when other provincial governments have done the same, has he not deemed it advisable to do so? Does he consider himself to be a greater champion of freedom than others that he has not thought it worthwhile to do so? Does he in any way regard Mr. Rajagopala chariar, Mr. Pant and Dr. Kher inferior to himself? They have been to jails for the sake of their country. They are prepared to make any sacrifices for it. Can he in any way compare himself with them? Are they the enemies of their motherland and you the torch bearer of democracy, independence and self-government that you cannot do what they have done? If Mr. Rajagopala chariar can inform the Government of India on behalf of his Government that the Defence of India Ordinance should not be extended to his province, why could not my honourable friend over there see his way to inform them that he too was not prepared to apply the wretched Ordinance to his province? This is the first point on which I contend that my honourable friend over there has violated the rights of the people of the Punjab. As my time is practically over I conclude by appealing to the House that my adjournment motion may be accepted.

Premier : I would like to reply very briefly to two points. My honourable friend opposite has said that many arrests have been made under the Defence of India Ordinance and that not only those persons have been arrested who made anti-recruitment speeches but even others have been run down. I have already fully explained to my friend that not a single person has been arrested who did not indulge in anti-recruitment activities. Of course those who indulged in such activities have been apprehended. I have got a list of persons who were guilty of making anti-recruitment speeches. Besides, I have already explained my feelings on the point that I regard every such person who makes anti-recruitment speeches as the worst traitor of his country and nation. My honourable friend, Sardar Sampuran Singh, is smiling. The mention of the services rendered by him during the last Great War is made in the official record of the Lyallpur district. He rendered all that assistance to Government because war then was the main concern of the Britishers. But in the present war which is equally the concern of this country my friend would not do all he can to win it. (Interruptions.) My honourable friend opposite has also stated that I have not informed the House as to what was my view about the aims and objects of the present war. What reply can I give him when even the biggest of statesmen have not been able to give any opinion of their own? I am not an irresponsible person like my honourable friends opposite that I should say anything which may spoil the whole matter. I would like to tell the Viceroy and the leaders of the various parties that the main cause of our failure is that what we demand from the Britishers, we are not conceding the same thing to our own brethren, and if the latter were conceded, the English could not have dared to reject our demand. I may assure my honourable friends that they will certainly have full independence after war. By that time all enemies of our country would have been crushed. But the pity is that our friends indulge in diplomacy and bargaining and so long as they continue to do so they are sure to come into conflict with the Britishers. But if my honourable friends abide by what I say and secure good will of the reasonable elements of all sections I will get them dominion status within 15 days what to speak of 15 months. (Loud applause.)

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That the Assembly do now adjourn.

PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

SIXTH SESSION OF THE FIRST PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Tuesday, 31st October, 1939.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at 12 noon of the clock. Mr. Speaker in the Chair.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

UNION OF TERMINAL TAX EMPLOYEES OF MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE, GUJRANWALA.

4883. Dr. Satyapal : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether the Municipal Committee, Gujranwala, has refused to recognise the duly registered union of terminal tax employees; if so, why;
- (b) whether these employees have to work for 12 to 15 hours without any respite and also on every day of the week?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) For reasons best known to it the Committee refused to recognise the union.

(b) The terminal tax staff has to work for 12 hours every day, there being two sets of the staff, one for day duty and the other for night duty. This system has been in vogue since long.

Lala Duni Chand : Has the Government anything to do with the so-called best reasons for which the municipal committee took that action?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is not intended to interfere with the day to day administration of the committees.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Has he not ascertained the reasons of the municipal committee?

Parliamentary Secretary : The committee had good reasons for the action taken.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : What are those good reasons?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is not necessary to go into those reasons, because there is nothing in the Municipal Act to compel a municipal committee to accept or recognise any union of its employees.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : What I asked was whether you know the reasons?

Lala Duni Chand : Is this the conception of the control by the Government that municipal committees are allowed to do anything and play ducks and drakes with anything and anybody? I understand the Government is retaining control over the working of the municipal committees. If the Government has given up control over these committees, then it is a different thing.

Parliamentary Secretary : Government has full control over the committees but it is the policy of the Government not to interfere in the day to day administration of the committees.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What are those matters in which interference by the Government is considered undesirable ?

Parliamentary Secretary : That is a very long list.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Can you roughly say in what matters it does not interfere ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I cannot state it off-hand.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Does the Government approve of the policy of the municipal committee in not recognizing the union ?

Parliamentary Secretary : There is no question of approving of the policy in this particular respect. The position is that there is nothing in the Municipal Act to compel the committee to recognize the union. Therefore it is not a matter in which Government considers it proper to interfere with the discretion of the committee.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Are we to understand that the Government thinks this not to be a fit matter to interfere ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I never said that Government does not consider it a sufficiently important matter. What I said was that there is nothing in the Municipal Act to compel a committee to recognise a particular union and therefore that is a matter in which Government does not feel called upon to interfere with the discretion of the committee.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : My question is whether the Government approves of this policy or not. If they approve of this policy, they have got no cause for interference, but if they do not approve of this policy, what debars the Government from interfering in the matter ?

Minister for Public Works : Government only exercises its powers when a committee, in its opinion, is doing something against the Act or following a policy that is wrong. In this case we left it to the discretion of the committee.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Does the Government consider it good for its existence that committees should keep its employees employed for fifteen long hours a day ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

COMPLAINTS AGAINST PRESIDENT, MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE, REWARI.

4895. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) whether the Deputy Commissioner, Gurgaon, received from six municipal commissioners of Rewari, Gurgaon, representations (two on 3rd, one on 6th, six on 7th, one on 26th, one on 27th February and one on 21st March, 1939) against several irregularities and acts of high handedness on the part of the President, Municipal Committee, Rewari ;

(b) if so, the points of complaint in brief and the action taken on them, and, if no action has been taken, the reasons thereof ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) The following representations regarding alleged irregularities and acts of high-handedness committed by the President, Municipal Committee, Rewari, were received by the Deputy Commissioner, Gurgaon, from Lala Ragbir Singh, a member of the committee :—

- (1) One on 3rd February, 1939.
- (2) One on 6th February, 1939.
- (3) Three on 7th February, 1939.
- (4) One on 26th February, 1939.
- (5) One on 27th February, 1939.

(b) A statement giving the required information is laid on the table.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether the statement laid on the table is a very lengthy one ?

Parliamentary Secretary : In the statement it is shown on what matters the Government has taken action. It is not a very long one, but as it is in the form of a statement, it is rather inconvenient reading.

Mr. Speaker : Was a copy of the statement supplied to the honourable member ?

Minister for Public Works : Copies are supplied to the Assembly.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Should copies not be supplied to the member direct ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Copies are not supplied to the members. though they should be.

Parliamentary Secretary : If my honourable friend wants it to be read, I have no objection.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that a period of about one year has elapsed since these complaints were made but so far no reply has been received from the President of the said Committee ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If Government had received any reply from the President, I would certainly have read it out to the honourable member. But so far as the action taken by the Government in the matter is concerned, I have already informed him about that.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that notwithstanding the lapse of a period of one year no reply has been received ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Unfortunately the municipalities in which the elected members are in a majority, are very careless in replying to our queries. They do not send replies in spite of reminders.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know if Government do not realize their responsibility in this matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Government do realise their responsibility but the difficulty is that the municipal committees are found wanting in it.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know if it is under the consideration of the Government to take action against those municipal committees who do not realize their responsibility ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The municipalities, whose conditions deteriorate to an alarming degree, are superseded.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is the Parliamentary Secretary sure that the condition of this particular Municipal Committee has not deteriorated ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If my honourable friend makes a recommendation for its supersession, Government would duly consider the suggestion. (Laughter.)

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know as to when action was taken by the Deputy Commissioner ?

Parliamentary Secretary : My honourable friend is better acquainted with the conditions of that committee. If he brings them to the notice of the Government, the latter would be delighted to consider them.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : This is a sermon and not a reply. (Laughter.) Will the Parliamentary Secretary please state as to when action was taken by the Deputy Commissioner on the complaints which remained with him from February to the end of March ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I regret I am not in a position to tell him the exact date. But the usual procedure is that the complaints received by the Deputy Commissioner are at once forwarded to the president of the committee for report, after the receipt of which necessary action is taken.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the Government pleads its utter inability to do anything to undo these wrongs that have been done ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I leave it to the good sense of the honourable member to judge.

Statement.

Complaint.	Action taken by the Deputy Commissioner.
<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1 The annual budget of the Municipal Committee of Rewari for the year 1939-40 had not been properly prepared. 2 The date of next meeting is not fixed in the previous meeting. 3 The proposals made by the members for inclusion in agenda are not complied with by the President or the Secretary. 4 Sufficient notice was not given for the meeting held on the 23rd January, 1939. 5 Charging of travelling allowance by the officials and members of the committee. 6 Appointment of a qualified Overseer by the Committee. 7 Unsatisfactory lighting arrangements on streets 	The budget was fully examined before submission to the Commissioner for sanction and various suggestions were made where necessary. The report of the President called for is awaited. The committee reduced the travelling allowance of its members and officials required to go to Gurgaon to conduct cases in civil courts on behalf of the Committee. TIME FIXED FOR ALLOWING THE TAXI CARS FOR KASALI TO CROSS
THE BARRIER AT KALKA.

4919. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state the time fixed for allowing the taxi cars for Kasali to cross the barrier at Kalka; if so, reasons for fixing it and the action the Government intends to take in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : No motor vehicle proceeding upwards is allowed to pass the barrier at Kalka after 6-30 P.M. unless a special permit has been obtained.

Bullock-cart traffic is not permitted on this road except at night, and restrictions on the use of motor vehicles during these hours are clearly necessary.

REPRESENTATION OF THE SECRETARY OF THE WATER CARRIERS UNION, GUJRANWALA.

4943. Master Kabul Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) whether he has received a representation from the Secretary of the Water Carriers Union, Gujranwala, to the effect that the Municipal Committee has not been acting upon the circular issued by the Government to all Deputy Commissioners quo-ad the taking of the sweepers and ~~water-carriers~~ on the regular establishment as whole-time servants;

(b) if answer to (a) above be in the affirmative, action taken or proposed to be taken by the Government in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) Yes, but the Government circular refers only to sweepers.

(b) No action is contemplated.

ROADS IN KANGRA DISTRICT.

4948. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that the roads (i) Thural to Sujanpur, (ii) Sujanpur to Hamirpur, (iii) Hamirpur to Jahu, (iv) Jahu to Pir Nagah, (v) Nadaun to Jawar, (vi) Dehra to Talwara via Dada, in the Kangra district, are closed for wheeled traffic though they are open to private motors or lorries for officers' personal use;

(b) if so, why and the action the Government propose to take in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : The position in regard to the use of motor vehicles on the roads in Kangra (and indeed on the hill roads throughout the province) was reviewed under the orders of Government in 1936-37, following a shocking accident on the Jahu-Pir Nagah road in which sixteen lives were lost. Arrangements were made for each road to be examined by a board of experts, who were required to give their opinion to what extent motor vehicles could safely be allowed to use it.

Sh. Faiz Muhammad.]

As a result of this review the six roads mentioned have been closed to public passenger buses. The position regarding each of them is as follows : The road from Dehra to Talwara (via Dadha) is closed to wheeled traffic of all kinds. The road from Nadaun to Jawar is ordinarily closed to public motor traffic, but special permits are occasionally issued allowing vehicles carrying marriage parties and the like to use it. The remaining four roads have been closed to bus and lorry traffic since the accident mentioned above. The use of private motor cars on them is permitted, but in practice the volume of such traffic is small. Lorries carrying luggage have on occasions been granted special permits to use these roads but until money can be found for their improvement it would be unsafe to allow passenger buses on them.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : How long will the Government take to find out funds for the repairs of these roads ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is very difficult for me to reply to this question. I cannot say anything.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Does the Government intend to provincialise these roads in view of the fact that the district board has failed to set these roads in good condition for the last three years ?

Parliamentary Secretary : This is a request for action.

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

TALWARA-DAULATPUR ROAD.

*4949. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state whether it is a fact that Talwara-Daulatpur road in the Hoshiarpur district is closed to wheeled traffic and that there are no other means of communication in that ilaga ; if so, the action the Government proposes to take to remove the particular grievance of the public in this connexion ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : No. There are no special restrictions on this road.

PROVINCIALISATION OF ROAD BETWEEN BUREWALA AND MIAN CHANNU.

*4951. Sardar Ajit Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state whether Government has received any representations recently from the public of Burewala and Mian Channu that the road between these two important trading centres be provincialised ; if so, the action taken on these representations ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : No representation has yet reached Government in the Public Works Department but the road in Public Works Department charge from Burewala to Kamand (10½ miles) is already metalled and tarred and six miles of the road at Mian Channu end, which are also metalled and are in the charge of the district board, are included in the road programme for provincialisation.

METALLING OF ROAD BETWEEN CHICHAWATNI AND BUREWALA.

4952. Sardar Ajit Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) when the Public Works Department road between Chichawatni and Burewala will be metalled ;
- (b) how much portion of this road is kacha and how much of it is pucca at present ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) The road is included in the 8 year skeleton Road Programme of road construction in the Punjab. It is proposed to metal the unmetalled length of this road in the years 1941-42 and 1942-43.

(b) At present 18.06 miles are metalled and 11.64 miles are unmetalled.

SECRETARY, MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE, HISSAR.

4966. Master Kabul Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the scale of the pay of the Secretary, Municipal Committee, Hissar ;
- (b) the number of the allowances together with the amount of cash he is being granted ;
- (c) whether it is a fact that plots of land valuing several thousands of rupees were given by the Municipal Committee, Hissar, to the Secretary as a reward for his services ;
- (d) if so, what is the size of the plots and their market value ;
- (e) will the Government lay on the table inspection notes, dated 16th December, 1937, of Mr. Hearne, Commissioner, Ambala division, in relation to the Municipal Committee, Hissar ;
- (f) whether it is a fact that the Commissioner took strong objections to the allowances drawn by the Secretary and ordered an immediate stoppage thereof ;
- (g) what action has been taken by the municipality or the Government in this connexion ;
- (h) what is the scale of the pay and actual pay of the secretaries in different municipal committees in Ambala division ;
- (i) why the Secretary, Hissar Municipal Committee, is drawing such a high pay ;
- (j) whether the attention of the Minister of Local Self-Government has been drawn towards the observation of Mr. Hearne in his notes, dated 16th December, 1937, that the pay of the Secretary of the Committee is higher than those of the other committees in the division ; if so, what action Government proposes to take in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : The reply to this question is very lengthy. So I place it on the table of the House.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Sir, I think, the reply to this question must be read. You must compel the Parliamentary Secretary to read the reply.

Parliamentary Secretary : I thought that as the reply to this question was a long one so I might place it on the table of the House. If the honourable member is so anxious I have no objection to read the reply.

(a) The present scale of the pay of the Secretary is Rs. 160—8—200. A special pay of Rs. 50 per mensem is also given to the present incumbent for conducting cases in courts on behalf of the Committee.

(b) A house rent allowance of Rs. 15 per mensem.

(c) A plot of land was given to the Secretary free of cost with the previous sanction of the Commissioner. It was lying vacant and was not yielding any income to the Committee.

(d) The size of the plot is 40×48 yards and its market price was estimated to be Rs. 70 only when it was given to the Secretary.

(e) The inspection note is a lengthy document and it would involve much time and labour to get it copied. But if the honourable member were to come to my room I could let him see it.

(f) No.

(g) Does not arise.

(h) The information about the actual pay of the secretaries of various municipal committees in the Ambala division is not available, but their grades of pay in some of the principal Municipalities in the division are :—

	Rs.
Rohtak Municipal Committee	175—5—200 (personal).
Rewari Municipal Committee	100—5—150
Panipat Municipal Committee	100—5—150
Ambala city Municipal Committee	100—10—150
Karnal Municipal Committee	118—5—143

(i) The present incumbent on his first appointment as Secretary of the Committee in 1916 was given a grade of Rs. 100—5—150 plus a house allowance of Rs. 15 per mensem but in view of the general increase in the cost of living he was given his present grade in 1921. The personal pay of Rs. 50 per mensem was sanctioned for him from 1st April, 1933, for conducting the cases of the Committee in courts without engaging a pleader; which arrangement is considered economical.

(j) Yes, but in view of the reply to part (i) Government do not propose to take any action in the matter.

NOTIFIED AREA COMMITTEE, CHICHAWATNI.

*4967. Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) population and the income per capita of the Notified Area Committee, Chichawatni, district Montgomery;

(b) whether there are any other towns in the Punjab with a lesser or equal population and income who have 2nd class municipalities;

- (c) whether there is a proposal to declare the Notified Area Committee, Chichawatni, as a municipal committee?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) Population 4,887.

Income per capita Rs. 10-15-0.

(b) Yes.

(c) No. A proposal to convert the notified area into a municipality was however examined last year but was dropped as it was considered that the conversion would be disadvantageous to the town which is still not fully developed.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the honourable Parliamentary Secretary please state as to why the Chichawatni Notified Area has not yet been declared a municipality?

Parliamentary Secretary : May I repeat the answer that I have given? What I stated was that a proposal to convert the notified area into a municipality was examined last year but was dropped as it was considered that the conversion would be disadvantageous to the town which is still not fully developed.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Is the Parliamentary Secretary aware that the people of that area have made representations to the effect that its conversion into a municipality will be of very great advantage to them?

Parliamentary Secretary : People commit all sorts of mistakes which are too numerous to mention and too trivial to mind.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Is this the Government's point of view?

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : May I know how conversion of a notified area into a municipality will be disadvantageous to the inhabitants of that place? In what manner will the disadvantage result?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is a colony town and not fully developed and the grants-in-aid for colony towns are greater than the municipalities ordinarily receive. It will not, therefore, be in the interest of the town itself to convert it into a municipality. As soon as the town is fully developed, it will naturally become a municipality.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : May I take it that, under the rules as they are, the conversion of a notified area into a municipality will automatically stop the grants-in-aid which are given by the Government?

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Is it a fact that the grants which had to be made to the Chichawatni notified area have not been made so far?

Parliamentary Secretary : There is always some delay in the sanction and payment of a grant, but this does not mean that the grant has been withheld or cancelled.

ELECTIONS OF THE GOJRA MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE.

4970. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the date on which the last general elections of the Gojra (district Lyallpur) Municipal Committee were held;
- (b) the date on which fresh elections were due;
- (c) the reasons for delaying the fresh elections?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) 10th, 11th and 12th January, 1934.

(b) February, 1937.

(c) The wards of the Gojra municipality were under revision and the final notification in this respect was issued on the 10th July last.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : May I know why the wards have not been re-constituted even after two years?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have said that it is not an easy job to reconstitute wards. First of all, the proposals are made, then objections are received, and finally the objections are disposed of. This is a lengthy procedure and it takes a very long time to decide the matter.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Parliamentary Secretary please state as to when this question was first taken up?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am sorry I cannot give the exact date. When the last elections were held it was observed that the city had spread beyond the old limits, and therefore it became necessary that the wards be reconstituted.

LAHORE IMPROVEMENT TRUST.

4971. Rai Bahadur Binda Saran : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the date on which the Lahore Improvement Trust was established;
- (b) the total expenditure incurred by the Trust to date;
- (c) whether it is a fact that the accounts of the Trust have never been audited by Government since its inception;
- (d) if the answer to (c) above be in the negative the date, when the accounts were last audited?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) 2nd January, 1936.

(b) Rs. 3,48,559 up to 31st July, 1939.

(c) No.

(d) The accounts were last audited on the 14th to 28th July, 1939.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : May I know when the notice of this question was received?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is very difficult for me to say when it was received.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Is it possible for him to state if the accounts were not audited after the receipt of this notice ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The accounts were last audited on the 14th to 28th July, 1939.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Did not the audit take place after the notice of this question had been received ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is very difficult for me to state when the notice was received and whether the accounts were audited after the receipt of the notice or before.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Is it only once during the three years that these accounts have been audited ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes.

KANGRA DISTRICT BOARD RESOLUTION IN CONNECTION WITH THE RETENTION OF KANGRA VALLEY RAILWAY LINE.

*4973. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state whether or not the Kangra district board passed a resolution in connection with the retention of the Kangra Valley Railway line; if so, what are the terms of the resolution and what action, if any, does the Government intend to take in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : Yes, the district board, Kangra, at its meeting held on the 31st January, 1939, passed a resolution requesting the Government to intervene in the matter of the proposed closure of the Kangra Valley Section of North Western Railway. The matter is under the consideration of the Government.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know since when this matter is under the consideration of the Government ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The question has been under the consideration of the Government ever since the question about closing down of this railway arose.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Has the Government made any representation to the Central Government in this connection ?

Parliamentary Secretary : So far no recommendations have been made to the Central Government in this behalf.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know whether any recommendations were made by the Punjab Government on the basis of this resolution passed by the Kangra District Board ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I stated that the matter is still being considered and no recommendations have been made to the Central Government.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know whether the Punjab Government is ready to subscribe towards the loss that might accrue ?

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know whether the Government has received any representation from the public in this connection ?
(Interruption.)

Parliamentary Secretary : You are still harping on the old question.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I know but the question was asked by me and I want the answer.

Parliamentary Secretary : Which question are you referring to ?

Mr. Speaker : Question No. 4978 is still before the House.

Parliamentary Secretary : Very well, Sir.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : My question is whether any representations were received by the Punjab Government from the public including the Deputy Commissioner of Kangra district requesting the Punjab Government to retain the railway line ?

Minister for Public Works : Yes.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : What about contribution towards the loss ?

Minister : It has been said in reply that the matter is being sympathetically considered.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know the cause of delay by the present Government ?

Minister : There is no question of delay. The railway is still functioning and the question of its closing down is being considered and it will not be closed down unless and until the Punjab Government has come to a decision.

Munshi Hari Lal : There is suspense in the mind of the public.

Minister : Who has any suspense ? It is functioning and the honourable member can go and travel in that part of the province if he likes to.

NUMBER OF PERSONS EMPLOYED IN DISTRICT BOARD, FERROZPORE ON TEMPORARY AND PERMANENT POSTS.

5002. Captain Sodhi Harnam Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the total number of persons employed in District Board, Ferozepore, on temporary and permanent posts in 1935, 1936, 1937 and 1938 with their names, castes and home districts ;
- (b) the manner in which the employments are made ;
- (c) the names of the candidates for posts in the above-mentioned establishment in case any list of candidates is kept ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : As this question savours of communalism, I am afraid I am unable to answer it on the floor of the House. If, however, the honourable member would care to put in an unstarred question, the information will be collected.

Captain Sodhi Harnam Singh : I want the names of the employees

Minister for Public Works : If the honourable member sends in an unstarred question, he will have all the information he wants.

ASSISTANT PANCHAYAT OFFICERS.

5003. Rai Bahadur Lala Gopal Das : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the total number of district and assistant panchayat officers at present in the Punjab ;

- (b) their salaries and their grades of pay ;
- (c) the duties and functions of the district panchayat officers ;
- (d) the duties and functions of the assistant panchayat officers ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) 95 panchayat officers and 102 assistant panchayat officers.

(b) Grade pay of panchayat officers Rs. 75—5—125 per mensem.

Grade pay of assistant panchayat officers Rs. 45—3—75 per mensem.

(c) and (d) A panchayat officer will work throughout the district and an assistant panchayat officer in the tahsil to which he may be attached. Briefly, it will be their duty to impress on the villagers, by persuasion and personal talks, the benefits of the panchayat system and to look into the condition of existing panchayats assisting them with advice and guidance.

Munshi Hari Lal : Does the Government propose to appoint more panchayat officers and assistant panchayat officers ?

Parliamentary Secretary : A sufficient number has been appointed. If there is any further need, Government will certainly consider the matter, but at present there is no such proposal under consideration.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Is it a part of the duty of the panchayat officer to carry on the propaganda of the Unionist Party ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What are the minimum qualifications required for appointment as panchayat officers and assistant panchayat officers ?

Minister for Public Works : Missionary zeal for the welfare of the villagers.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know the criterion for judging this missionary zeal ?

Minister : Those who have been elected by those interested know best who would work for their welfare.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What I want to know is how you judge that missionary zeal of the candidates.

Minister : The elected people who command the confidence of the elected representatives of this House.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Does the Honourable Minister by missionary zeal mean the Muslim League propaganda ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Lala Harnam Das : How many panchayat officers and assistant panchayat officers belong to the scheduled castes ?

Minister : If the honourable member gives notice of this question I shall be only too glad to give him the exact number. I may, however, inform him that quite a sufficient number belongs to the scheduled castes.

Lala Harnam Das : May I know whether the candidates who had been called for interview were ignored and others were appointed ?

Minister : Suitable candidates were appointed in preference to those whose only qualification was somebody's recommendation.

Lala Harnam Das : What were the outstanding qualifications of those candidates who have been appointed as panchayat officers and assistant panchayat officers ?

Minister : Solicitude for the welfare of the scheduled castes.

Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : Will the officers appointed from among the members of the scheduled castes work in connection with matters concerning the depressed classes alone ?

Minister : Their main duty will concern matters relating to the scheduled castes. But if others also require their services they will be available.

Lala Bhagat Ram Choda : Is it a fact that candidates recommended by the members opposite have been appointed whereas the candidates recommended by the honourable members sitting on these benches have not been so favoured ? (Laughter.)

Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister be good enough to search his heart and say whether the consideration of favouritism and nepotism has not played any part in making these appointments ?

Minister : This is not a question.

JUNIOR VICE-PRESIDENT, MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE, AMBALA CITY.

5011. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that the term of the Junior Vice-President, Municipal Committee, Ambala city, expired about 18 months ago and that of the Senior Vice-President expired about 6 months ago ;
- (b) whether the election of these two officers has taken place as required by the rules ; if not, why not ;
- (c) who is exercising the powers of the Senior Vice-President and Junior Vice-President in question ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) The office of the Junior Vice-President of this Committee remained vacant for about 10 months and that of the Senior Vice-President for about 6 months.

- (b) Yes, the elections have taken place.
- (c) The two vice-presidents concerned.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if in view of the fact disclosed the Government has thought it worth while to take any action ?

Parliamentary Secretary : What action ?

Lala Duni Chand : That the election has been overdue by 18 months.

Parliamentary Secretary : No action has been taken and none is contemplated.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it because the matter is not serious ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The elections have now taken place and it is not necessary to take any action.

Diwan Chaman Lal : Why ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Vice-presidents have been elected. The action could only be taken before elections.

Lala Duni Chand : The question is whether they failed to elect the Junior and Senior Vice-Presidents for 18 months and if so, whether the Government thought it worth while to take any action?

Parliamentary Secretary : There was no delay. The attention of the Committee was invited to this fact and they were asked to hold elections. The elections have taken place now and there is no need for any action being taken by the Government.

SUB-COMMITTEES OF THE MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE, AMBALA CITY.

5012. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether any sub-committees of the Municipal Committee, Ambala city, are existing or functioning now ; if not, since when they have ceased to exist or function ; and reasons, if any, for the same ;
- (b) who is exercising now the powers of sub-committees ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) No. They ceased to function in October 1938 when it was pointed out that with the extension of the Executive Officers' Act to the Committee the sub-committees could only continue to exist as advisory bodies ; and as a result the sub-committees continued to exist as such up to February 1938.

(b) The Municipal Committee or its Executive Officer, as the case may be.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it or is it not true that the sub-committees were not allowed to function for a considerable time ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have said that they ceased to function in October 1938 when it was pointed out that with the extension of the Executive Officers' Act to the Committee the sub-committees could only continue to exist as advisory bodies ; and as a result the sub-committees continued to exist as such up to February, 1938.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the appointment of the Executive Officer abrogated the sub-committees ? I suppose not.

Parliamentary Secretary : It is a question of opinion as regards the interpretation of the provisions of the Executive Officers' Act.

COMPLAINT OF MEMBERS OF SCHEDULED CLASSES REGARDING USE OF PUBLIC WELLS IN AMRITSAR DISTRICT.

5040. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of public wells in the Amritsar district ;

[S. Sohan Singh Josh.]

(b) whether all of them are open to the members of the scheduled castes ;

(c) whether he has recently received any complaints from the members of the said caste to the effect that they are not allowed to draw water from some of the public wells ; if so, the action taken by him in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) and (b) The honourable member is referred to the reply given to Assembly Question No. 4866* on the 20th April, 1939.

(c) Government have received no such complaints.

IMPOSITION OF PROFESSIONAL TAX IN LUDHIANA DISTRICT.

5051. Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state whether Government intends to redress the grievances of the assesses in the Ludhiana district who have recently been unduly assessed to professional tax in that district and who having been misled by the order of the Professional Tax Officer, have lost their right of appeal because of the period of limitation having expired ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : No such case has come to the notice of Government.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Is it a fact that notices were not properly served upon assesses in professional tax cases ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have said that no case of any particular hardship has come to the notice of the Government. It is very difficult for me to say whether notices were served or not. But I may inform the honourable member that there are definite rules on the subject and if notices are not served properly, there is a remedy provided in the rules.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : May I know the number of appeals filed in regard to these cases ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I would like to have notice for that question.

STRIKES BY MUNICIPAL AND PRIVATE SWEEPERS IN AMRITSAR.

5053. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) the causes leading to the recent strike of municipal and private sweepers in Amritsar (in the month of June) ;

(b) the extent and duration of the strike ;

(c) the steps taken to break the strike ;

(d) the demands of the strikers ;

(e) how far these demands have been fulfilled ;

(f) steps taken by Government to avoid recurrence of similar strikes in future ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): (a) The strike came as a surprise, since the committee had signified its willingness to accept all reasonable demands of the sweepers in a conference held in the Town Hall on the 11th June last. It may have been brought about by the exploitation of sweepers by some irresponsible persons.

(b) Thirty-six hours.

(c) The strike was brought to an end by tactful handling.

(d) The strikers demanded higher wages, less work and more concessions. They were also opposed to the introduction of a new type of pneumatic tyre conservancy cart.

(e) Government are informed that all reasonable demands of the sweepers have in substance been conceded.

(f) In view of the reply to part (e) Government trust that there is no reason to anticipate a further strike.

Diwan Chaman Lall: May I ask my honourable friend whether Government is prepared to consider the desirability of instituting a conciliation machinery of a permanent nature in reference to part (f) of the question?

Parliamentary Secretary: No such proposal is under consideration. Conciliation has already been effected and work is going on amoothly.

Diwan Chaman Lall: May I ask whether the conciliation effected also contemplates that there will be no trouble in future? What I am asking is whether there is any consideration in the mind of the Government of the proposal to set up a permanent conciliation machinery in order to avoid any other disputes as far as possible in future?

Parliamentary Secretary: I have already submitted that the demands of the sweepers have been conceded in substance. We hope and trust that there will be no trouble in future.

Diwan Chaman Lall: May I ask whether in view of the large number of strikes which have taken place it is not desirable that Government should institute a standing conciliation machinery in order to try to prevent industrial disputes of a preventable nature?

Parliamentary Secretary: No such proposal is under contemplation at present but the suggestion of the honourable member will certainly be considered.

SWEEPERS' STRIKES IN THE PUNJAB.

5055. Sardar Hari Singh: Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) the number of sweepers' strikes in the municipal areas of the Punjab during the last two years;

(b) the causes leading to these strikes?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): (a) and (b) Strikes at Lahore, Amritsar and Multan have come to the notice of Government and at all these places the main object of the sweepers was to obtain better terms from their employees.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I ask whether in view of the fact that there have been a large number of strikes it is not desirable to set up permanent conciliation machinery in future ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The Honourable Minister has heard the suggestion and it will be taken into consideration.

CONTRACTS ON WESTERN JUMNA CANAL.

5058. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state the respective amount of contracts given to the contractors belonging to (i) the south-eastern districts, (ii) other districts of the province during the last three years on the Western Jumna Canal ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : The work involved in collecting information will not be commensurate with the value of the answer. It is, therefore, regretted that information could not be made available.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether Government has ever considered that the contractors to whom contracts have been given belong to other districts and therefore the contractors of that very district cannot get an opportunity to have contracts ?

Parliamentary Secretary : As I have already stated that such kind of information could not be collected, this question does not arise.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether the Government is not aware of the fact that divisional officers and sub-divisional officers keep those contractors with them wherever they travel about and the contractors of that district cannot have contracts on that score ?

Parliamentary Secretary : This is a general statement and I have already replied to his question saying that much time will be required for getting this information.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What I want to know is whether or not this fact has come to the notice of the Government ?

Parliamentary Secretary : As far as my knowledge goes I regret to say that no such matter has come to my notice.

RAISING OF PAY OF THE EXECUTIVE OFFICER, MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE BHIWANI.

5062. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that the Executive Officer of the Municipal Committee, Bhiwani, was appointed by the Government on Rs. 120 per mensem and that he took charge of his office on this pay ;

(b) the grade to which the Government raised the pay of the Executive Officer just after his taking the charge with the reasons for raising the grade ;

(a) whether the financial position of the Municipal Committee and its resolution in the matter were taken into consideration before revising the grade of the Executive Officer appointed originally on Rs. 120 per mensem?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) Yes, he was appointed in the time scale of Rs. 120—10—166, but this was due to a misunderstanding.

(b) On a representation made by the Executive Officer, he was placed in the grade of Rs. 275—15—300.

(c) The financial position of the Municipal Committee, as also its resolution on the subject, were taken into consideration before arriving at the decision.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Parliamentary Secretary be pleased to state the name, experience and qualifications of that Executive Officer who was appointed on Rs. 120 per mensem?

Parliamentary Secretary : If the question is put in that form, I will collect information and convey it to the honourable member.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is he prepared to tell me the name of that Executive Officer?

Parliamentary Secretary : No.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Parliamentary Secretary be pleased to tell me particularly that qualification on account of which his grade was revised after his taking over charge?

Parliamentary Secretary : We thought he was an able and useful man and he would stick to that job. But, unfortunately, he refused to stick to that job and we had to revise the scale.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know what were those certain points raised in the representation with respect to his ability?

Parliamentary Secretary : Had the honourable member attentively listened to the reply given to his supplementary question he would not have asked me further question. I have already replied that he did not want to remain there on that pay.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is this the reason why his pay was raised?

Parliamentary Secretary : He had always been protesting against it and so his grade was revised.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether no abler man was available on the same pay?

Parliamentary Secretary : This is not a question.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that a resolution was passed by the Municipal Committee to the effect that the man in question should not have been given that pay?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already said that the resolution of the Municipal Committee was considered.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it also a fact that extension in his service was due to his application and not to the resolution passed by the Municipal Committee?

Parliamentary Secretary : This extension was given on account of the nature of work he put in and his ability of discharging his duties.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : How long did the Government experience his nature of work and how much time did they spend on finding his abilities in respect of discharging his duties ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am afraid I cannot tell that period off-hand.

RATE-PAYERS' CONFERENCE.

5070. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state whether proceedings of the Rate-payers' Conference held recently at Lahore have been brought to his notice ; if so, the action taken or proposed to be taken in the light of the said proceedings ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : Yes ; but there was nothing new in the proceedings requiring action on the part of Government.

TRAINED MID-WIVES.

5092. Shrimati Raghbir Kaur : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state—

- (a) how many trained mid-wives are available at present in the rural area in the district of Amritsar ;
- (b) the maximum number of villages one mid-wife is supposed to serve and whether these mid-wives have been found to be able to cope with the work entrusted to them ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) The term 'mid-wife' has a specific meaning under the Punjab Nurses Registration Act, 1932. But the honourable member presumably includes in that term trained dais and nurse dais also. In the Amritsar district there are 35 mid-wives, 66 nurse dais and 159 trained dais. Of the 85 mid-wives, 11 are working as health visitors. As regards nurse dais and trained dais, 16 are employed in various hospitals and dispensaries in the district.

(b) Government have not appointed any mid-wives for a definite number of villages. If the honourable member's suggestion is that, considering the size of the district, the number of mid-wives, nurse dais and trained dais is not sufficient, I am prepared to agree with her.

BUDGET-OF SMALL TOWN COMMITTEE, KALURKOT, DISTRICT MIANWALI.

5113. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the date on which the budget of the small town committee, Kalurkot, district Mianwali, was submitted to the Deputy Commissioner of the district ;
- (b) the date on which it was sanctioned by him ;
- (c) in case it was not sanctioned, whether the committee is functioning ;

- (d) the cause for the delay in sanctioning the above-mentioned budget?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) The budget of the town committee of Kalurkot for the year 1939-40 was received in the office of the Deputy Commissioner, Mianwali, on the 9th March, 1939.

- (b) The 7th August, 1939.

- (c) Does not arise.

(d) The budget being defective in certain respects had to be returned to the committee for re-consideration. It was received back from the committee on the 7th August, 1939, and was sanctioned by the Deputy Commissioner on the same day.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know whether the committee was within its rights in spending money without the budget being sanctioned and without the previous sanction of the Deputy Commissioner?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is a question of interpretation rules; but I think municipal committees do carry on the work in anticipation of sanction, not extraordinary expenditure but ordinary expenditure is always incurred in anticipation of sanction.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Did they anticipate that the budget would be passed when it was returned as being defective?

Parliamentary Secretary : There are some technical defects. Probably in a committee where the accounts branch people are not very competent they make mistakes and the Deputy Commissioner returns the budget to the committee for corrections. These corrections are generally of a technical nature.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Is the Parliamentary Secretary perfectly sure that no longer time than was absolutely necessary was taken in the office of the Deputy Commissioner himself?

Parliamentary Secretary : I could not say what time was taken in this particular case but generally in the Deputy Commissioner's office there is a special officer to go into these questions from the local bodies and no unnecessary delay occurs.

HOUSE TAX LEVIED BY LAHORE MUNICIPALITY.

5145. Rai Bahadur Lala Gopal Das : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether he is aware of the fact that the action of the Administrator in issuing assessment and valuation notices has caused great unrest among the people of Lahore, and that numerous meetings have been held in various parts of the city and the new abadis protesting against the house tax;
- (b) if the answer to the above be in the affirmative, the action which the Government propose to take in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) Yes.

(b) No action is contemplated by Government. It is open to a person under the Municipal Act to appeal against valuation and assessment notices.

DISMISSAL OF THE BOATMAN AT THE RAVI RIVER.

5146. Rai Bahadur Lala Gopal Das : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Administrator, Lahore Municipality, has dismissed the boatman at the Ravi River who was employed to dispose of the dead bodies of Hindu children ; if so, reasons for the same, and the action Government propose to take in view of the great inconvenience that is being caused in the matter of finding midstream to dispose of these dead children ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : Yes, because there is no express provision in the Punjab Municipal Act, 1911, that the municipal fund shall be applicable to the payment of the charges and expenses incidental to the disposal of dead bodies. Although the post of the boatman has been abolished, the boat is still at the disposal of the Hindu community.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Did the Government have an opportunity of consulting their legal adviser on this particular point ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I cannot say whether the Administrator consulted his legal advisers, but he says that this is not a valid charge on the municipal funds. That is the view of the Administrator, and that is his reply.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Is the Government satisfied with the correctness of that reply ?

Minister for Public Works : The decision that has been arrived at is that there is no provision in the Act, so far as I am aware, allowing an expenditure of this kind, and it is for this reason that services of three men, two in charge of the graveyards and the third in charge of the boat were dispensed with.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Is there a provision that the dead bodies of dogs can be removed by the municipality ?

Minister : So far as human bodies are concerned, the municipality has responsibility for the disposal of unclaimed bodies only.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Is there a provision under which the municipal authorities are ordered to see to the scavenging of the city ?

Minister : There is.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Would this not be covered by that provision ?

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : For how many years were these men kept in the service of the municipality and was any objection raised in audit regarding their salaries ?

Minister : The position is that up till now, leaving aside the question of unclaimed dead bodies, the various communities had certain money allotted to them for the disposal of their dead. There was a boatman employed for the Hindus, some clerks for the Muslim graveyards and similarly some for the Christian graveyards. The Administrator examined the point whether the expenditure was covered by the Punjab Municipal Act, and he came to the conclusion that it was not so covered. So he dismissed the boatman, but the municipal boat is there to be made use of. But if it is considered that the expenditure incurred is a valid charge on the municipality, then the matter will be examined.

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : I wanted to know whether any objection was raised in audit regarding the salaries of those men who were employed for so many years ?

Minister : I cannot say off-hand. There is no sanction for it. But if the House so desires it, the matter can be legally examined.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know what help is given by the municipality in the case of unclaimed bodies of children ?

Minister : I have already stated that if it is so desired the question as to to what extent expenditure can be incurred can be legally examined.

Rai Bahadur Lala Gopal Das : May I know if the Government takes any responsibility for the disposal of dead bodies that are thrown in shallow water ? Are they not a nuisance to the public ? What is the effect of throwing dead bodies in shallow water as far as medical health is concerned ?

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I ask if it is not a fact that it would be a matter of nuisance if a large number of dead bodies accumulate on the river bank for which the municipal authorities are responsible ? Is that so or not ?

Minister : As regards unclaimed bodies of poor children the expenditure may be justified, but surely not so in the case of the rich who can afford to pay the expenditure. They can pay a few annas. There is a man there who arranges all this.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : What is the arrangement for the disposal of the bodies of children whose parents are too poor to pay the boatman ?

Minister : That is a matter for the community concerned. But I have said already that we will get the matter legally examined as to whether municipal funds can be spent on expenditure of this sort. The present position is that no expenditure can be incurred.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I ask why legal opinion was not obtained before this drastic step was taken by the Administrator ?

Minister : Apparently the Administrator thought that the language of the Act was clear and he interpreted it in a particular way. Now the honourable members challenge that interpretation, so to satisfy them I will have the matter looked into.

Diwan Chaman Lall : In the meanwhile while he gets it legally examined, what arrangements is Government going to make for the disposal of dead bodies which may accumulate and thus cause a nuisance and danger to the public health of the city ?

Minister : No trouble has arisen so far. The boat is there and anybody can use it. Previously the payment was made by the municipality. Now a person can pay something and get the services of a boatman.

Diwan Chaman Lall : What happens when dead bodies accumulate on the river bank and are not disposed of ? Does that not constitute a danger to the city ?

Minister : This action was taken a month ago. No such situation has arisen so far.

Dr. Sir Gukul Chand Narang : Will the Honourable Minister see to it that the practice is revived or resumed, while the legality of the measure is being examined ?

Minister : We will consider this. No delay will take place. We will get the matter examined without any delay.

Rai Bahadur Lala Gopal Das : The question is, will the Administrator obey your orders ? (Laughter.)

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : There is the rub ! (Laughter.)

SHORT NOTICE QUESTION AND ANSWER.

ARREST OF SARDAR HARI SINGH, M.L.A.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—
1 P.M.

- (a) the date, time and place of arrest of Sardar Hari Singh, M.L.A. ;
- (b) whether it is a fact that at the time of arrest he was handcuffed by the police ;
- (c) if so, whether he was guilty of any act of violence which necessitated his being handcuffed ?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan : (a) Sardar Hari Singh was arrested on the 28th August, 1939, outside the court of the Additional District Magistrate, Hoshiarpur.

(b) and (c). I saw the news in the Tribune that he had been handcuffed and it pained me considerably to see that piece of news and I made immediate enquiries into the matter of my own accord, before I received a similar intimation from my friend opposite, the Leader of the Opposition. This is the information which I have received in response to that enquiry which was made at my suggestion. It is reported that the prosecuting sub-inspector served the warrant on Sardar Hari Singh outside the Additional District Magistrate's court. He was handcuffed on arrest because of his intemperate behaviour and because of the threatening attitude of the crowd outside.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Whose intemperate behaviour ?

Premier : Sardar Hari Singh's.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Sardar Hari Singh's ! Does not the Honourable Premier know him ?

Premier : I know him very well. It is possible that he might have lost his temper. We are all apt to lose our temper. This was outside the Additional District Magistrate's court. Since the crowd was threatening and violent, the sub-inspector arrested Sardar Hari Singh and immediately took him inside the Additional District Magistrate's court, because the warrant was issued by the Additional District Magistrate. He was brought before the Additional District Magistrate and Sardar Hari Singh's counsel immediately applied to the court that his handcuffs should be removed, but apparently the attitude of the crowd and the behaviour of Sardar Hari

Singh himself was such that the court refused the application. That is the information which I have received. If my honourable friends have information to the contrary I shall be glad to receive it.

Diwan Chaman Lal : I have information to the contrary.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know if the Honourable Premier, in view of the fact that he knows Sardar Hari Singh personally, has thought it fit to make further enquiries into the matter instead of being satisfied with the mere report of his subordinates ?

Premier : If my honourable friend can give me any further information, I shall be glad to make inquiries.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know if the Honourable Premier realises that the handcuffing of Sardar Hari Singh itself might have given provocation to the crowd ?

Premier : It is quite possible that the attitude of the crowd might have become more violent after he was handcuffed ?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Was Sardar Hari Singh taken to jail in handcuffs ?

Premier : That was under the orders of the court.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The Honourable Premier has not understood me. What I want to know is when the magistrate remanded the case, was Sardar Hari Singh taken to jail in handcuffs or without handcuffs ?

Premier : Apparently after his application was refused he must have been taken in handcuffs. I cannot say it definitely, but I can make enquiries.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does the Honourable Premier mean that the order of the court applied to a prisoner even when he has left the court ? Has the police to use its discretion or is it to abide by the orders of the court in respect of the handcuffing of the prisoner ?

Premier : I think it has to abide by the orders of the court until the prisoner is actually lodged in the jail.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know what were the orders of the magistrate—not to remove the handcuffs when he was in court or to take the prisoner to jail in handcuffs ?

Premier : I should like to have notice of this question.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know if any general directions have been given to the police in respect of the handcuffing of respectable persons ?

Premier : Yes.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What are they ?

Premier : He will find them in the police rules.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I want to know whether it is obligatory, under these rules, for the police to handcuff every prisoner irrespective of his status and offence ?

Premier : On the contrary they say that they should not handcuff any person unless certain circumstances exist.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Are these rules available ?

Premier : I believe he will find them in the Assembly library.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I ask whether the report that the Honourable Premier has read out was a report by the particular police officer who was responsible for the handcuffing ?

Premier : No.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Whose report is it ?

Premier : We have to address all such enquiries to the deputy commissioner.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Did the deputy commissioner make any enquiries from the policeman in charge ?

Premier : I presume he must have.

Diwan Chaman Lall : And from whom else ?

Premier : Perhaps other people who were present.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Is there any note to the effect that he made enquiries in that capacity or was it a casual summary one ?

Premier : He could not have said this unless he had made sure that that was the order of the magistrate.

Diwan Chaman Lall : What sort of enquiry was it ? Who were the people involved in the enquiry ? Was any enquiry made from Sardar Hari Singh also ? Or was any enquiry made from the people who were alleged to have been causing trouble ?

Premier : The deputy commissioner probably was not the presiding officer of the court. He must have seen the file and the orders of the court.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Is it a fact that Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma was also handcuffed ?

Premier : I want notice of that question.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I want to know whether the Premier is in a position to say that he was guilty of any act of violence or otherwise ?

Premier : I am sure he does not like me to volunteer any information on that point.

Lala Duni Chand : Have the Government any information that the idea was to produce the moral effect contemplated by General Dyer ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the Government has already made any atonement or is intending to make any atonement for the grievous wrong done and whether the Government's conscience is feeling easy or uneasy ?

Premier : Government is always impersonal. (Laughter.)

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I wish to intimate that I intend to give notice of an adjournment motion arising out of the unsatisfactory nature of the reply given by the Honourable Premier.

ADJOURNMENT MOTIONS.

ARREST OF SARDAR HARI SINGH.

Mr. Speaker : I disallow adjournment motion No. 20¹.

Diwan Chaman Lall : With regard to adjournment motion No. 22² re the handcuffing of Sardar Hari Singh, may I have your direction in the matter? Would you prefer this adjournment motion to stand over till tomorrow or the day after pending notice of the adjournment motion arising out of the unsatisfactory nature of the reply given to the Honourable Premier or would you prefer to take the motion as it is now which is in substance the same?

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member has not yet given notice of an adjournment motion on the ground of unsatisfactory answer.

Diwan Chaman Lall : He will give notice of an adjournment motion arising out of the unsatisfactory nature of the reply.

DACOITIES IN BILOCHPUR.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) : Sir, I ask for leave to make a motion for adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the failure of the Rohtak District Police to protect the victims of dacoities committed by about 25 armed dacoits mounted on camels in the village of Bilochpur, tahsil Jhajjar, in May, last which lasted for several hours and resulted in murder and loot and their failure to arrest the dacoits.

I take full responsibility for the facts stated above.

Mr. Speaker : Will the honourable member please state if he has got any corroborative evidence of the facts stated by him? Did he put a question in this connection?

Lala Duni Chand : I sent questions regarding this matter three or four months ago, but these questions have not yet come on the agenda.

Mr. Speaker : Is the case under police investigation?

Lala Duni Chand : Why should there be any case under investigation when the police has not arrested anybody? The police has failed to arrest even one dacoit?

Mr. Speaker : Has the honourable member got any proof of the fact that police was informed before hand?

Lala Duni Chand : I have got this proof in my possession and within my knowledge that the police knew very well that dacoities of that kind were taking place frequently. This fact was within the knowledge of the police. Similar dacoities had been taking place in Rohtak district, particularly in Jhajjar tahsil.

¹CHAUDHRI KRISHNA GOPAL DUTT, M.L.A., to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the unclean method of the Punjab Ministry to decrease the strength of the Opposition in the Punjab Legislative Assembly by putting behind the bars Sardar Hari Singh and Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma, two important members of the Opposition.

²CHAUDHRI KRISHNA GOPAL DUTT, M.L.A., to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the handcuffing of Sardar Hari Singh, a distinguished member of this House during his recent arrest.

Mr. Speaker : Does the honourable member mean by 'similar dacoities' that in every case 25 men were committing dacoities?

Lala Duni Chand : When the police knows that dacoities and murders are the order of the day in a particular district, it follows that the police should take measures to prevent further dacoities.

Mr. Speaker : Then the honourable member's position is that by drawing inferences from other dacoities the police must have come to know about this dacoity.

Lala Duni Chand : From the circumstantial evidence and not merely by inference.

Mr. Speaker : Then the honourable member's report is not corroborated by evidence?

Lala Duni Chand : Yes, Sir, but I take full responsibility.

Mr. Speaker : In my opinion the motion is not in order.

PREMIER'S OFFER OF HELP TO BRITISH GOVERNMENT IN CONNECTION WITH THE WAR.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt (North Eastern Towns, General, Urban) : May I move my adjournment motion¹?

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member's motion is covered by the War resolution.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : In this connection I want to know whether the resolution which will be taken up as the substantive resolution will be the one sponsored by the Congress Party.

Mr. Speaker : I will decide that question when it arises.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : It arises now.

Mr. Speaker : It does not arise to-day.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Then I will press my adjournment motion.

Mr. Speaker : I disallow it. (Laughter.)

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Mr. Speaker, you should give your ruling on the merits of the case.

Mr. Speaker : I have already stated that this matter is closely connected with, nay it is covered by, the motion which is coming up on the 3rd November and that it can be discussed with it. Now the honourable member has raised a further point—which of the several motions will be discussed as the principal motion and which as amendments? I have told the honourable member that I will decide that question when the occasion arises.

¹CHAUDHRI KRISHNA GOPAL DUTT, M.L.A., to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the statement of the Honourable Premier of the Punjab, issued from Simla through the Associated Press on August 25, 1939, offering unconditional help to the British Government in the current War.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Why does it not arise to-day ? It is for the Honourable Premier to make a statement on the floor of the House whether he is prepared to take up our resolution or not, because the question arises out of this adjournment motion.

Mr. Speaker : That matter is not before the House to-day and, therefore, I request the honourable member not to press it.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : When you say that this question is going to be discussed as a separate motion—

Mr. Speaker : All I said was that it is closely connected with the War motion and that, therefore, it can be discussed when that motion is discussed.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : May I ask you under which rule you are ruling it out of order ? If a separate resolution is to be discussed it is for us to press it or not.

Mr. Speaker : Notice of that motion was given a few days ago. This motion has been reached. Notice of the War motion was received a few days ago. The day and hour of its discussion was fixed and therefore nothing in anticipation of that motion can be allowed to be discussed unless that motion is reached.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : But notice of this motion was given first and therefore you should give your ruling on the merits of the motion and not on the basis of anything likely to come up before the House.

Mr. Speaker : If I allow this motion, will the honourable member say in fairness that its discussion will not anticipate discussion of certain aspects of the War motion ?

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : May I point out to you the difference ? It is this. If you rule this motion in order and admit it, then it is up to us to say "very well, as the Honourable Premier has allotted a separate day for this we will not take up this motion, on the understanding that our resolution is taken up first."

Mr. Speaker : That is what I wish to avoid. In my opinion the motion is out of order for several reasons. It can be discussed later on ; while its discussion now shall anticipate discussion on the war motion. I therefore disallow it.

DEATH OF NATHU KUMHAR.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth (Amritsar City, General, Urban) : I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the tragic death of Nathu Kumhar of Nag Khurd, tahsil Amritsar, on 28rd June, 1939, through torture by police authorities at Majitha while he was in police custody.

Mr. Speaker : Did the honourable member put any question on the matter ?

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : I put seven questions but they were not admitted by you.

Mr. Speaker : On what ground ?

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : You combined them into one question and said that if I was willing to put those questions in the form suggested by you, they would be admitted, otherwise not.

Mr. Speaker : Did the honourable member agree ?

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : No.

Mr. Speaker : Is the matter not pending in a court of law ?

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : No.

Mr. Speaker : What action, if any, has been taken by the honourable member or anybody else in the matter ?

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : I made enquiry.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I beg to inform you that an enquiry committee was appointed by the Punjab Provincial Congress Committee and its report was duly supplied to the Honourable Premier in August, 1939.

Mr. Speaker : Was no action taken otherwise and was no complaint filed in the court of the district magistrate ?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : No.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : On the other hand the people concerned are being prosecuted and harassed in another case.

Mr. Speaker : Did the Honourable Premier receive any representation ?

Premier : No representation was received, but my honourable friend handed over to me the other day some papers stating that they were the report of the enquiry committee. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh did it.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : I sent it to the Premier from my office.

Premier : You sent me papers about this case.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The Provincial Congress Committee sent a copy of the report of the enquiry committee.

Minister for Public Works : The matter is before a court of law.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : This case has nothing to do with any court of law.

Minister for Public Works : The theft case in which the occurrence is alleged to have taken place is now pending before a court of law.

Diwan Chaman Lal : The point, Mr. Speaker, is not about the theft case. We are not concerned with the theft case at the moment. The adjournment motion refers to torture having been inflicted upon one Nathu Kumhar, as a result of which he died while he was in police custody. That matter is not before court of law. The fact of his having been tortured by the police and he having died as a result of that torture is not before any police court or before any magistrate. In regard to this matter an enquiry committee sat, prepared its report, and handed that report over to my honourable friend officially on behalf of the Punjab Provincial Congress Committee. That is the stage at which this matter has reached. Now this matter comes before you by way of an adjournment motion. The real fact is that that man was tortured by the police and as the result of the torture the man died. An enquiry committee was set up by the Punjab Congress Committee and its report was handed over to the Honourable the Premier.

Mr. Speaker : Is there any evidence to show that the man was tortured by the police and that he died as a result of that torture ?

Diwan Chaman Lall : There is conclusive evidence to this effect.

Mr. Speaker : If there is conclusive evidence, why was not a complaint filed ?

Diwan Chaman Lall : The report was submitted to the Honourable Premier and no action was taken by him on it. Therefore, we are within our rights to raise this question by an adjournment motion. You could not have forgotten the Kiro case in which strictures were passed by the Honourable the Chief Justice, but towards the end that case did not reach the stage which it should have. I submit that this case is worse than that case and should be investigated and debated on the floor of this House and I am certain that as a result of the debate action will be taken by my honourable friend, the Premier. He has so far taken no action.

Premier : The honourable member is relying on the facts which are not correct. He has got wrong information. The enquiry committee's report or whatever it was, was sent to the department concerned. An immediate enquiry was held into the matter, and this is the information I have received as a result of the departmental enquiry. The enquiry was held by a magistrate and he came to the conclusion that Nathu committed suicide and this fact was established and there is no cause to believe that there was any case of torture and that the police was in any way responsible for his death. If my honourable friend has got legal and convincing evidence he should go to a law court. It is not a case for an adjournment motion. The question is that if my honourable friend has got any evidence the right course for him is to go to a law court.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : We cannot go to a law court. No public servant can be prosecuted without the sanction of the Government.

Mr. Speaker : Did the honourable member apply to the Government for sanction to prosecute ?

Diwan Chaman Lall : The report of the enquiry committee was sent to the Honourable Premier and he should have allowed the prosecution. Instead of that a departmental enquiry was held and the result of that enquiry was an ex parte report to the effect that there was no case of torture resulting in death and that a case of suicide was established. At this stage we have come to the House, because it is a matter of great public importance. In regard to the action being taken against a public servant, section 270 of the Government of India Act states :—

No proceedings civil or criminal shall be instituted against any person in respect of any act done or purporting to be done in the execution of his duty as a servant of the Crown in India or Burma before the relevant date, except with the consent, in the case of a person who was employed in connection with the affairs of Burma, of the Governor-General in his discretion, and in the case of a person employed in connection with the affairs of a Province, of the Governor of that Province in his discretion.

We sent the report of our enquiry committee to the Honourable Premier, which amounts to a request to him to get the necessary sanction for prosecution ; but what he did was to get an ex parte report from the authorities. Therefore, the only tribunal to which we can come now is this House and as it is a matter of very great public importance it should be debated on the floor of this House.

Premier : What the Government could do was to make an enquiry and I have already given the result of that enquiry to my honourable friend. The only other evidence on which the Government can rely is the report of the Civil Surgeon. The report of the post mortem examination is as follows—

Diwan Chaman Lall : On a point of order. This is not the stage for my honourable friend to give us the accounts of the facts of the enquiry. We are at present not concerned with the details of the case.

Premier : My honourable friend's contention is that in every case in which they cannot prove facts by evidence, they should bring in adjournment motions rather than go to a court of law. In the present case only two courses were open to us. One to hold a departmental enquiry, which we have already done and the result of which I have already communicated. The other course is open to my honourable friends. They can go to a court of law.

Diwan Chaman Lall : That course is not open to us. We are prohibited under section 270 of the Government of India Act.

Premier : You are not prohibited.

Diwan Chaman Lall : I am not a Public Prosecutor and I have no locus standi to prosecute a public servant. The only authority who can prosecute is the Government itself.

Premier : Did the honourable the Leader of the Opposition apply for permission ?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I may inform you that the people who went to the police station were beaten by the police in the presence of the chowkidar and the lambardar. Under these circumstances how can any man go to a court of law ?

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : We set up an enquiry committee and its report is there.

Mr. Speaker : The point is, how will the matter be decided by this House ? Statements will be made by three, four or five members from one side and by the same number of members from the other side. (Interruption.)

Diwan Chaman Lall : Five or ten people from this side and the same number may be on the other side but this House is for that very purpose. The object, business and the reason why we are here is to ventilate public grievances. This is a public grievance of the gravest type. My honourable friend says that a magistrate held the enquiry. Does my friend know that not a single witness, who was willing to give evidence, was brought before the magistrate ?

Premier : Really ?

Diwan Chaman Lall : And he says, "Really". A copy of this very statement was sent to my friend the Honourable Premier, and now he says "Really." He had the information. He does not even read the documents sent to him.

Premier : I confess I receive thousands of communications. Does the honourable member mean to say that I should remember every document?

Diwan Chaman Lall : I will say that as Premier of the Punjab, when a serious charge of death is made, it is his duty to—

Premier : But the Premier is not a Clerk of Court.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Quite true, but he is here as a servant of the Public. As a servant of the public he should consider it his duty to see that when a serious charge of this nature is made, an enquiry of a judicial kind is set up into the matter—not a hushing inquiry, not an inquiry which would deny facts.

Premier : Law courts are open.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Unfortunately the Honourable Premier is not a lawyer and, therefore, it is no use arguing with him on the legal point. The law courts are open to whom? They are open to the Government but not to me, not to honourable members sitting on these benches. Let my honourable friend make a statement now that he will send this case for trial before a properly constituted magisterial authority and we will be perfectly satisfied, but if he says that he will not do so, then how can we be robbed of our right to discuss a matter of an urgent public importance of this nature before this House?

Mr. Speaker : But was this murder committed by the policemen in the discharge of their duties?

Munshi Hari Lal : They were inquiring into the case.

Mr. Speaker : Right. But the question is whether the alleged torture or beating was a part of the duties of the police? Section 270 of the Government of India Act, 1935, says:—

270.—(1) No proceedings civil or criminal shall be instituted against any person in respect of any act done or purporting to be done in the execution of his duty as a servant of the Crown.

But the question is whether this beating was given in the discharge of their duty or their duty was to investigate the case. (Interruption.)

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : You are probably not aware that this matter has been up to the Federal Court and in a case of which I am personally aware, it has also been before the High Court. One of the doctors, I forget his name at the moment (An honourable member : Hari Ram) was accused of having done something dishonest by way of misappropriation or criminal breach of trust. He was prosecuted and I believe he was convicted and during the course of trial this question was raised whether he could be prosecuted without the sanction of the Governor under section 270 of the Government of India Act, 1935. Probably that court did not pay proper attention to this point, but the matter was again raised in the appellate court and it ultimately went to the Federal Court and it must be known to all the lawyers what the decision of the Federal Court was. The Federal Court, so far as I am aware, decided that the doctor concerned could not be prosecuted without the sanction of the Governor.

Malik Barkat Ali : No.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Please, listen. There is another case of a patwari who was accused of having deliberately made false entries in the record of rights. That case came up before the High Court on the revision side and the Honourable Mr. Justice Din Muhammad decided that that patwari could not be prosecuted without the sanction of the Governor and his conviction was set aside on that ground. Now, may I ask you whether Mr. Justice Din Muhammad made a mistake in thinking that section 270 applied to the case? Should he have held that section 270 had no application to the case because making deliberately false entries in revenue records was no part of the patwari's duties. And did not section 270 apply to that doctor's case because misappropriation is no part of the official duties of an Assistant Surgeon or Sub-Assistant Surgeon? In the same way, in the present case, I am only speaking on an abstract matter—

Mr. Speaker : I have not formed a definite opinion yet.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : I thank you for lending me your open mind as well as your ear. Now, in this case also the police were investigating a case, probably a theft case.

Premier : May I cut my honourable friend short? Let us not take much time of the House. I have no objection to the motion.

Malik Barkat Ali : But this is an important point.

Mr. Speaker : I will give the honourable member time to speak.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Let me make the position absolutely clear. It is not usual that a person should be prosecuted in the discharge of what is laid down as one of his official duties. In fact no occasion arises for the prosecution of an officer when he is just doing his official duty. It is only when he is doing that official duty but does something illegal and objectionable while doing that duty (hear, hear) that the necessity and occasion for sanction of the Governor arises.

Malik Barkat Ali : It appears to me that my learned friend, Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang, has not very carefully studied the ruling of the Federal Court reported as 41 Punjab Law Reporter 680. I have very carefully perused that ruling. A sub-assistant surgeon was the accused in that case and there were two charges against him. The one charge was of embezzling Government funds. The second charge was that of falsification of Government registers. When the case came up before the High Court of Judicature at Lahore, it was decided that no sanction was needed, and the ground of the judgment of their Lordships was that it was no part of the duties of a Government servant to embezzle money, it was no part of the duties of a Government servant to commit offences and, therefore, if a Government servant committed an offence, then no question of sanction arose. The case went up, on appeal, to the Federal Court. Their Lordships of the Federal Court came to the conclusion that so far as the charge of embezzlement of funds was concerned, no sanction was needed because a Government servant cannot in the execution of his duties commit the offence of embezzlement. But so far as the charge of falsification of accounts based on the entries made by him in the register was concerned, the Federal Court came to the conclusion that it was a part of the duties of the sub-assistant surgeon to make entries in the register. (An honourable member : Correct entries.) Correct or incorrect does not matter. I am sorry that my learned friends have not taken the trouble of reading that judgment. I have sent for that judgment and I can quote from that judgment when it comes. Fortunately, there is a note of that judgment in my copy of the Government of India Act and it is on the basis of that note and on the basis of my careful reading of that judgment that I am making these submissions. The Judges of the Federal Court came to the conclusion that the act of making entries was an act imposed upon the doctor by his duties and if, in performing that act, he acted illegally or made false entries, then section 270 requires that his prosecution can only be instituted after the sanction of the Government has been obtained. My learned friend seems to think that there is no difference between the two cases. In the case of the embezzlement charge, the Federal Court upheld the decision of the High Court and laid down that no sanction under section 270 was needed. In the case of the charge in regard to falsification of accounts, they held that the test of sanction was the nature of the act done and not the mere fact that at the moment he happened to be a Government servant. It is the act which will determine whether sanction is needed or not needed. Then there is another question. You will be pleased to see that section 270 was enacted to grant indemnity to officials who had acted before the Government of India Act, Part III, came into effect, namely, before provincial autonomy came into effect and, therefore, section 270, is confined in its operation to all acts which have been done by Government servants before 1st April, 1937. Therefore, if an act is done by a Government servant after 1st April, 1937, then section 270 does not at all apply. I will read out to you the relevant portions of section 270 :—

No proceedings civil or criminal shall be instituted against any person in respect of any act done or purporting to be done in the execution of his duty as a servant of the Crown in India or Burma before the relevant date....

I lay emphasis on these words—"relevant date"—which have been defined as the date of coming into operation of Chapter III, namely, commencement of provincial autonomy. Therefore, if an act has been committed before the 1st April, 1937, then section 270 comes into play at once. Section 270 is not intended to apply to those acts of Government servants which have been committed after 1st April, 1937. Then, Sir, I draw your attention to the second part of that section. It says :—

Any civil or criminal proceedings instituted whether before or after the coming into operation of this Part of the Act, against any person in respect of any act done or purporting to be done in the execution of his duty as a servant of the Crown in India or Burma before the relevant date shall be dismissed unless the court is satisfied that the acts complained of were not done in good faith.....

The same words "before the relevant date" occur. Therefore, my submission is that clause (1) and clause (2) of section 270 are intended to apply to those cases where the act in question has been done by an official of the Crown before 1st April, 1937. One can easily understand the reason of Parliament granting indemnity to public servants for acts done before the coming into operation of provincial autonomy. Government wanted to grant indemnity to those servants who had served it under the old orders. Therefore, if the torture in question was committed after 1st April, 1937, then no question of section 270 arises at all. To sum up, the judgment of the High Court as well as the Federal Court judgment held concurrently, that sanction was not needed in respect of the embezzlement or misappropriation charge, because it was not a part of the duties of a Government servant to embezzle or misappropriate. But in the case of falsification of entries in the official registers, the Federal Court held that sanction was needed, as it was a part of the duties of the sub-assistant surgeon to make entries—and even if he makes illegal or false entries the act of making entries was one done in execution of duty and section 270 (1) would apply.

[Malik Barkat Ali.]

Mr. Speaker : If a Government servant commits murder, may I take it that no action can be taken against him unless sanction of the Governor is obtained ?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Supposing a Government servant is deputed to disperse a crowd and he fires on an individual and pleads that he did it in the discharge of his duties, then the question would arise whether he has committed a murder or his act was justified in the discharge of his official duty. If the heirs of the deceased want to prosecute him, I take it that they would not be allowed to prosecute him without the sanction of the Governor. This is my reply. I will also submit one thing more and that is this. We people here, who are representatives of the people of the Punjab and of our various constituencies, are not public prosecutors. We have to ventilate public grievances, whatever those grievances may be, when they are brought to our notice and prosecute the offenders in courts of law. As my honourable friend on my right pointed out, he was not a public prosecutor. In addition to the duties which we have to discharge here as members of this Assembly, the Honourable Premier wants to cast upon us the duties of public prosecutors that we should go and make complaints and then we should try to bring the offenders to book. On the question of principle I want to ask you, supposing there is a genuine case of torture which results in death—I am not aware of the facts of this case beyond what has been stated on the floor of the House—but let us assume that there has been an actual and real case of torture resulting in the death of an innocent person, then, judging from your earlier remarks, you seemed to suggest that it was the duty of the heirs and relatives of the deceased to go to a court and try to prosecute the offender and no question should be raised here. My submission is, supposing there are no relatives, he has left no heirs, he has no friend and supposing nobody in that village or in that town is sufficiently public spirited to take upon himself the duty of bringing the offender to book, then is it not the duty of the Government, when such a case is brought to its notice, to move suo motu in the matter and try to bring the offender to book ? We here are, so to say, the mouth-piece of the public and when a case is brought to our notice, it is our duty to bring it to the notice of the authorities concerned. It is no reply to say that if there is evidence, they should go to a court. That was said half a dozen times in the course of the speech that the Honourable Premier was pleased to make. Why should Diwan Chaman Lal try to prosecute the offender ? It is enough that he should bring it to the notice of the persons concerned who have got the power to set the law in motion. Does the Honourable Premier expect Diwan Chaman Lal to give up his profession, give up his private business and go and prosecute the offenders in this case ? Supposing there are 29 cases, as there may well be one in each district and there may be other cases also, then does he expect or do you expect that the members on this side of the House would be running about from their homes and trying to find out the offenders and bring them to courts? With due deference to the Honourable Premier, who insists upon such a thing, I would say that it would be an absurdity to expect such a thing from us. It is not the duty of a member to prosecute an offender. His duty is finished when he brings such cases to the notice of the Honourable Premier and if he fails to set the law in motion then he fails in the discharge of his duties. So far as the technical side is concerned, I am not sure whether I was right or wrong because I was speaking from memory. But with regard to the arguments advanced by my honourable friend, Malik Barkat Ali, that the Federal Court held so far as the charge of misappropriation was concerned the sanction of the Governor was not necessary, but so far as falsification of entries in the official record was concerned, the sanction of the Governor was necessary, may I ask if it is the duty of the official to make incorrect and false entries in Government records? Certainly not. And that was why I interjected the word 'correct' and my honourable friend was upset over it. That was a relevant interruption. It is not the duty of any Government servant to make incorrect or false entries in a Government register or in a Government book or in a Government record. If he does so he is not discharging his official duties. But at the same time it was held by the Federal Court that the sanction of the Governor was necessary because the thing was done under the colour of discharging his official duty or in the course of discharging his official duty. Apply the same argument to the present case. Why did the policeman go to Nathu Kumhar? Why was he brought into the lock-up? Why did the policeman go there? Did he go there to shake hands with him or to ask him 'how do you do'? He went to the lock-up to do some official duty and that was probably to make an enquiry from him and ask him to give evidence.

When the deceased refused to give any information or could not give any information the policeman probably lost his temper and tortured him. You know what the police do in order to extract information. You know very well, everybody knows very well. They have all sorts of methods of finding out the truth and these methods are not gentle. It was in the course of that investigation, trying to extract information that he inflicted torture. Therefore this torture was inflicted while he was discharging his official duties, and he might have foolishly thought that it was a part of his duty and that a little torture was necessary to get out information. Intending probably a little torture he inflicted too much which caused the death of the man. Therefore in this case section 270 was applicable. This is so far as the technical aspect is concerned. You will remember that my honourable friend did not say anything about the patwari's case to which I have drawn your attention.

Malik Barkat Ali : The Federal Court authority is higher.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : I quoted another instance. The High Court is the highest court in this province and its pronouncements must be respected by us. The man was discharged and the conviction set aside because sanction had not been taken.

Diwan Chaman Lall : I want to say just a few words in reply to Malik Barkat Ali. Reference has not been made on the floor of the House to section 197 of the Criminal Procedure Code. My honourable friend has gone wrong in respect of two points. One is that he has completely ignored section 197 of the Criminal Procedure Code. The second point where he has gone wrong is in the example given. The interpretation of section 197 is as follows. My honourable friend should know that the origin of all sanction is section 197. The wording of section 197 is quite clear. We referred to the Government of India Act because the provisions there have not altered the spirit, meaning and significance of section 197. What does section 197 say? It says:—

When any person (then details of the person are given) any public servant who is not removable from his office save by or with the sanction of local Government or some higher authority, is accused of any offence alleged to have been committed by him, while acting or purporting to act in the discharge of his official duty, no court shall take cognizance of such offence except with the previous sanction of the local Government.

Mr. Speaker : It does not apply to the present case.

Diwan Chaman Lall : The sub-inspector in charge is the person who is removable by the local Government. Therefore no prosecution of the sub-inspector can take place without the sanction of the local Government.

Mr. Speaker : Is he removable by the local Government?

Diwan Chaman Lall : Yes. No criminal action can be taken against him without the sanction of the local Government.

Now I will proceed further with reference to the second point. 'Purporting to act in the discharge of his official duty'. What does it mean? Examples are given in some cases. My honourable friend says the Federal Court has held that for embezzlement no sanction is required. Why, because the transaction is the same. For instance, a man goes to collect taxes in a village. While he is collecting the taxes he feels that if they do not pay they should be put to trouble. He assaults some people. That has been held to require the sanction of the local Government because it is the same transaction. Why is it that the other part was held by the Federal Court to be covered by the implication of the section? Because the sub-assistant surgeon had the duty imposed on him of keeping accounts. If he committed a crime in the process of keeping those accounts then sanction is necessary. In the other case no duty is imposed.

Mr. Speaker : What is the position of the Opposition?

Diwan Chaman Lall : Here a duty was imposed on the officer to make an enquiry and in the course of that enquiry he assaulted the man.

Mr. Speaker : What does the Opposition expect the Government to do?

Diwan Chaman Lall : I will tell you when the adjournment motion comes up: we will tell the Government what we expect them to do in this matter. If my honourable friend is prepared to give the necessary sanction let the case go to the court. We are willing to drop the matter. If he does not give us that assurance I submit that we must press the adjournment motion.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member means that either the Government should hold a departmental enquiry or allow the prosecution of the person concerned.

Diwan Chaman Lall : They cannot hang him.

Mr. Speaker : If the Government shows willingness to hold a departmental enquiry or directs the prosecution of the person concerned, there the matter will end.

Diwan Chaman Lall : The point is perfectly simple. My honourable friend can say all right. I am quite willing that this matter should go to a law court; I will give the necessary sanction if applied for. If he does not say that then let us have the matter thrashed out on the floor of the House.

Premier : Sir, I do not think it will be proper for me to enter into the technical side of the question raised. The position which my honourable friend has taken is this that if they bring a case to the notice of the Government and if Government hold an enquiry and come to the conclusion that the allegations are not correct then they must be ventilated here. If Government come to the conclusion that those allegations are correct then it is not necessary to ventilate them here; if they do not agree to a departmental enquiry then the case must be discussed here. Therefore if that precedent is allowed then it means that in any criminal case they can come here and ventilate their grievances. In this case an enquiry was held after the allegation was made.

Diwan Chaman Lall : No one of the witnesses was summoned.

Premier : I have got a report from the magistrate—

Diwan Chaman Lall : Even the time and place of the enquiry was not intimated to the people who were to give evidence.

Premier : My honourable friend is simply saying what he has heard from the honourable member behind him.

Diwan Chaman Lall : The record is in possession of my honourable friend; he had been warned of this fact beforehand.

Premier : The magistrate who held the enquiry has given the names of the witnesses.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Witnesses of the sub-inspector. People complaining have not been heard. They were not told the place where they were to give evidence.

Premier : He has given the record of their evidence including that of one Barkat (and other relations) who has filed a suit for compensation. That suit is still hanging fire, I believe. It was a case by Barkat, son of Nathu, under section 180, claiming Rs. 5,000 as compensation for torture. Therefore my honourable friend is not correct when he says that the magistrate did not make an enquiry.

2 P.M.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Can you show the papers to this side of the House for their satisfaction, if there is nothing confidential?

Premier : Yes, outside this House. I can show the magistrate's findings and also the deputy commissioners's orders.

[Premier]

This is not the first instance, but invariably when my friends find that they have not got a case in the law court, they come and start moving adjournment motions as if we are the court of appeal. That is a position which is most unfortunate because it would make justice impossible in such cases. If my honourable friends cannot under the law give any proof or evidence and have no leg to stand upon in a court of law, they come and give notice of adjournment motions and ventilate the whole case which should be ventilated in a court of law. They should first go to a court of law, and if any sanction is necessary they should come to me. If I do not give sanction, then it would be open to my learned friends to move adjournment motions. Before coming to me for sanction they want this House to be turned into a supreme court and they want to ventilate every criminal case in this House. I think it is most unfair to this House and to the province because it is unnecessary waste of time. It might give some consolation to my friends, but I do not think it is fair to the House or to the province to allow the present state of affairs.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I have to make one observation. It has been said that we ought to have gone to a court of law. I would state that there is another procedure which has been adopted by Government. The person who gives a bribe and the person who takes it are both liable to be prosecuted in a court of law. It is a crime to give bribe just as it is a crime to accept it. But Government has adopted another procedure, and that is this that if five respectable persons send in a complaint to the authorities then they would enquire into the case and if on enquiry it is found that the complaint was a false one, then they ask the officer against whom the complaint is made to ask for permission to bring a suit and prove his innocence in a court of law. It comes to this that the man who gives wrong information should be prosecuted. Here is a similar case though not of bribe-taking, but one in which a serious charge was made that a man tortured another man to death. An enquiry was held. When Government find that the report of the deputy commissioner is that the man committed suicide and that he was not tortured to death, Government should ask their officers to prosecute the man in a court of law charging him with giving false report. That is a procedure which lies in the power of Government. It is not fair to say that the relations of the man should go to a court, when we the representatives of the people want to invite the attention of Government to ventilate our grievances. We have a right to ventilate our grievances and when we exercise that right why should we be debarred from moving adjournment motions.

Then it is said that in every criminal case we move adjournment motions. May I draw your attention to the fact that it is not in an individual case that we are ventilating our grievances, but it is the methods of the police that we want to discuss while moving the adjournment motion and we are citing an instance of the man who was tortured by the police. Therefore it is not the question of an individual case or every criminal case when we differ from the Government or from the court. Therefore I submit that this adjournment motion is in order.

Khan Bahadur Nawab Muzaffar Khan : The difficulty of the friends on my right appears to be that they cannot go to a court of law, because the sanction of Government is necessary and it is because of this difficulty that they have brought the motion. The proper course for them, I venture to submit, was to have lodged a complaint and applied for sanction. If Government thought that the case was strong then permission would have certainly been given. But as pointed out by Malik Barkat Ali, no permission is necessary under the law. In any case the proper course was to have lodged a complaint.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Then the people who have no resources must remain at the mercy of the police.

Mr. Speaker : I have heard the learned arguments advanced by honourable members of the Opposition as well as by the Honourable Premier. In my opinion the matter is not free from doubt. However, had a complaint been lodged, the position would have become clear. Any one could lodge a complaint.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : That is not our business. Our duty is in this House.

Mr. Speaker : That's true. But if the honourable members are helpless because they cannot depute anybody to lodge a complaint they must leave the matter where it is. When they come to this House they should come after having done all they could do before coming here.

Diwan Chaman Lall : That is what we have done. We have "finished all the procedure."

Mr. Speaker : No complaint was lodged. No enquiry or trial was held. No particular individual was charged or named as offender. The whole matter is doubtful.

But as more than one hour has already gone and as the Premier says that instead of wasting time permission might be given to discuss the adjournment motion itself, I am inclined to hold it in order if he is still of the same opinion.

Premier : I would like you to study this matter carefully. This is not the first instance when such a case has arisen. There was also another case recently in which a detailed enquiry could not be held. But I did not object because it would be preventing a discussion. In this particular case they have come to this House after exhausting every other source. That gentleman has given notice to the collector for compensation under section 80. That is pending and now my honourable friend wants to raise an adjournment motion. They can still make an application in a court of law and after that is done and if sanction is necessary they can come to me and if I decide not to give the sanction then they can move the adjournment motion and not till then.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : It would be setting a bad precedent. It means that the members of this House who have got a right to move adjournment motions should go about the province and find out if there are any cases and then go to a court of law. That is no part of our duty.

Mr. Speaker : In my opinion the admissibility of this motion is doubtful. So, if the honourable members desire, I will look up the point and give my ruling on 2nd November, 1989.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : The aggrieved party should have the benefit of doubt.

Diwan Chaman Lall : You have already allowed motions like this in the past. There are precedents which you can follow.

Mr. Speaker : In the case of doubt I must naturally give the benefit of the doubt to the Opposition.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : On a point of order. Unless you have already given your ruling, I would submit that under rule 44 the only time when the Speaker can read the motion before the House is when he definitely rules it to be in order. If he has any doubt the rule does not empower him to read it to the House. Rule 44 is definite.

Mr. Speaker : Motion is that leave be granted to make a motion for adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the tragic death of Nathu Kumhar of Nag Khurd, tahsil Amritsar, on 23rd of June, 1939, through tortures by police authorities at Majitha while he was in police custody. Is there any objection to the leave being granted?

(Objection was taken by the Treasury benches.)

Objection having been taken, will those who are in favour of leave being granted please rise in their places?

As more than 35 members have stood up, the motion is allowed. Its discussion will be taken up at 8-30 p.m. to-day.

VILLAGE PANCHAYAT BILL.

Clause 6.

Mr. Speaker : The House will now resume discussion on the Village Panchayat Bill. The question is—

That in sub-clause (2), line 2, between the words "authority" and "and," the word "who will be either a first class magistrate or a first class subordinate judge" be inserted.

The motion was lost.

Munshi Hari Lal (South-Western Towns, General, Urban): I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (2), lines 3-4, between the words "confirmed" and "by" the words "or until objections taken by five voters to the election on the ground of fraud, material irregularity, false personation, and improper reception or rejection of vote are rejected" be inserted.

My amendment is quite clear and it does not require any further comment. I simply submit that in election, chance should be given to the voters to question. The panch should not be in a position to act as panch until objections taken are decided one way or the other by the prescribed authority. With these words I move the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in sub-clause (2), lines 3-4, between the words "confirmed" and "by" the words "or until objections taken by five voters to the election on the ground of fraud, material irregularity, false personation and improper reception or rejection of vote are rejected" be inserted.

Minister of Public Works : I oppose the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in sub-clause (2), lines 3-4, between the words "confirmed" and "by" the words "or until objections taken by five voters to the election on the ground of fraud, material irregularity, false personation and improper reception or rejection of vote are rejected" be inserted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (2) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural): I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (3), lines 4—7, the words "or whom.....panch" be omitted.

You will find that by this sub-clause the Government wants to exclude certain persons from the membership of the panchayat and the reason for excluding any member are given in clause 8 of this Bill. I will draw your attention to sub-clause (f) of clause 8 whereby a panch can be removed from office whose continuance in office is, in the opinion of the Government or of the officer to whom Government has delegated its power of removal, undesirable in the interests of the public or of the panchayat. So you will find that any person can be removed for the reasons given. When section 8 gives power for refusing confirmation of any undesirable panch, this part, as to undesirability, in this sub-clause becomes redundant. There is no use of having this part when the Government shall be armed by another clause to refuse the confirmation of any panch. At the same time you will see that the Government is going to make certain rules as to the qualifications or disqualifications of the panches. When the Government have got those rules too and when they have section 8 for the removal or refusing confirmation of a panch, there is no reason why this part of the sub-clause be retained. If the Government is going to press that this part of the clause should be retained, then it means that the Government has got certain ulterior motives and those might be that the Government wants to debar certain Congressmen or those persons who do not belong to the same school of politics as they are. That might be the object, otherwise the purpose could very well be served by clause 8. I would, therefore, appeal to the Honourable Minister in charge that this part of sub-clause (3) be omitted for the ordinary purpose will be served by clause 8.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in sub-clause (3), lines 4—7, the words "or whom.....panch" be omitted.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural), (Urdu): Sir, if we, putting aside this amendment the notice of which has been given, read this clause, we find no difference whatsoever. It reads thus:—

The prescribed authority may refuse to confirm the election as panch of any person who could be removed from office under any of the provisions of section 8 or whom such authority for any reason which it may deem to affect the public interest may consider to be unfit to be a panch and upon such refusal the election of such person shall be void.

[Pt. Muni Lal Kalia.]

If the object of this sub-clause of the clause is this that the prescribed authority has been given powers to remove undesirable persons in the interest of the public, then I must submit that such a provision has been made in clause 8 (f). I think, therefore, that part (f) of clause 8 is self-contained and sufficient enough to serve the purpose. But if the Government means something else and has got some other secret object in view then I submit that the Government should have expressed that object in clear words. They should have stated in this clause whether they really want to obstruct the elections, if it is not of their liking.

My honourable friend Munshi Hari Lal just moved a very healthy and useful amendment to the effect that no election should be declared valid until objections taken by five voters to the election on the ground of fraud, material irregularity, false personation and improper reception or rejection of vote are rejected. But it is a pity that the Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill, without giving the slightest consideration to the amendment, flatly refused to accept it. It means that the Government is not prepared to grant even this simple and ordinary safeguard to us. But so far as the amendment moved by my honourable friend Lala Duni Chand is concerned the Government may rest assured that by accepting it the former would not lose anything. This amendment is not going to undermine its prestige. The Government has got sufficient safeguards in the form of clause 8 (1) to deal with any case it likes. The part of the sub-clause which is sought to be deleted reads as follows: "Or whom such authority for any reason which it may deem to affect the public interest may consider to be unfit to be a panch." Now there are two expressions which we strongly object to. One is "public interest" and the other is "for any reason." By means of these expressions the Government can do any harm or play any mischief in the panchayats. You have already got clause 8 (1) which provides for a number of disqualifications. Under the provisions of the said clause undischarged insolvents, persons convicted of non-bailable offences, or persons guilty of misconduct if elected, as panches, can be removed from their offices by the Government. But the expression 'public interest' implies still wider powers at the Government and strikes at the very root of democratic principle underlying the present Bill. The other day in the course of a question, I asked the Government as to whether any correspondence had passed between the Planning Committee set up by the Congress provinces and the Punjab Government. The Honourable Minister for Development disposed of the question by only saying that it was not in the public interest to give any information in the matter. In short the term 'public interest' covers a wide scope and can be applied in season and out of season. Even if the answer to a question is not ready the minister concerned can dispose of it by having recourse to this term.

Furthermore, we do not know the exact description of the "prescribed authority." Anyway, we believe that it might be panchayat officers or assistant panchayat officers. To-day when we asked the Government to state the minimum qualifications of the candidates recently appointed for the posts, the Honourable Minister was pleased to inform us that they were overflowing with missionary zeal. But we perfectly know the exact significance of the term "missionary zeal." It means that they would play the part of puppets in the hands of the Unionist Government. The honourable members opposite ought to know that they would not be able to cling to the ministerial benches for all time to come. And when they would change seats with us only then they would come to know what the prescribed authority really means. It is not unlikely that certain non-matric candidates have been appointed as assistant panchayat officers. Now, would it be conducive to the growth of democratic panchayats to allow these under-matrices to decide the fate of panches returned by popular elections? It is absolutely advisable on the part of the Government to be cautious but it is certainly inexpedient to be over-cautious. In fact the Government fears lest it should be accused of bad drafting in case it accepts our amendment. But it ought to know that duplication of phrases in a Bill like this is a sufficient proof of bad drafting. Now, Sir, so far as the term 'public interest' is concerned it does not show that the Government is anxious to do things which are in the best interests of the public. The real object of the Government in keeping that term in the clause is to create difficulties for public spirited persons to be elected as panches. In fact the Government wants to put in the cage birds having no wings to fly and no tongue to chirp. In the previous Panchayat Act there was no mention of any prescribed authority and public interest. Then how can the Government substantiate its statement that the present Bill is a great improvement upon the former one? It has been alleged that this Bill would prove a blessing to the poor villagers. But I am sure the prescribed authority would turn every popular election into a farce. He would remove all the right thinking persons from the panchayats under the cloak of public interest. The Government has got an array of equally suitable Acts in its legal armoury to deal with such public spirited persons, and so it should not place much reliance on this very clause for removing such persons. I, therefore, submit that this amendment may kindly be accepted.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, my submission is that the Government is free to take powers under the provisions of clause 8 and it may take further powers by means of moving new clauses, but one thing I must suggest to the Government that it should obtain powers only by means of unequivocal provisions. It is no use acquiring such powers under some vague and ambiguous clauses. There are already 6 parts of clause 8 (1), and the Government is at liberty to extend it further. If the Government intends to bar all Congressmen and other public-spirited persons from being elected as panches it may say so openly and frankly. We would not then object to it. But the Government cannot be allowed to bring forward clauses in a veiled form and thereby hoodwink the simple-minded people. We do not find any striking difference between the present Government and the old bureaucratic one. Under the latter form of government right-thinking persons were not allowed to work on district boards and municipal committees. The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram would, I am sure, bear me out that in those days disinterested persons were refused permission to enter such institutions. Only self-seeking and ambitious persons were encouraged to fight elections to the district boards and municipal committees. In fact this type of persons serve as puppets in the hands of authorities.

[Lala Duni Chand]

Does the Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram wish that only such persons should be allowed to serve on the panchayats as panches who are self-seekers and who have no idea of public service whatsoever? Let me point out to him that if in any panchayat there are one or two such panches who have the idea of public service uppermost in their hearts and are not merely the 'yes men' of the Government, even they would be able to improve the condition of the panchayats. If my friends debar such persons from becoming panches it would simply mean that they want that only such persons should be recognized as panches as are already to be found in the existing panchayats. There are many such instances where people have been turned out of municipal committees and district boards on the ground that their continuance in office was, in the opinion of Government undesirable in the interests of the public. I have already stated that my friends can have any powers which they like, because they have an overwhelming majority in this House. But I would request them to use those powers honestly.

Now, Sir, if the Government vests the power of removing a panch in a prescribed authority the result would be disastrous. As you know there are Congress committees in the villages as well. It is possible that the Congressmen would like to become members of the panchayats and thereby to serve the public. Now, it is also quite conceivable that other persons who do not see eye to eye with the Congressmen would go to the prescribed authority and tell him that such and such person should not be recognized as a panch otherwise he would create obstacles in the smooth working of panchayats. In this way public-spirited people would be debarred from becoming members of the panchayats, on the ground that their inclusion in the panchayat would be undesirable in the interests of public. I fail to understand that in the first place my honourable friends desire that people should take part in elections to the panchayats but when they take part in elections and go to the voters and secure votes and get themselves elected, they are told that they cannot become members of panchayats. Is it justice? Is it fair play?

Besides, if my honourable friend considers he would find that in the existing panchayats and municipal committees there are people who use these seats merely as stepping stones to their future success. Their only duty is that when the Honourable Ministers or Deputy Commissioner or other officials go on tour in their areas and ilaqas they wait on them and tell them that such and such person was not good from the point of view of Government and so on and so forth. Does my friend wish to perpetuate such traditions in future as well. On the one hand my friends make great claims for democracy yet on the other hand they are debarring public-spirited people from becoming members of panchayats. Do my friends wish to shut the door of public service against the real representatives of the people. I request them to give an opportunity to the public-spirited people to come and serve on the panchayats. It is no use harping on the old theme that their government is the government of the people when in fact they are doing all that lies in their power to suppress the voice of the people. By no stretch of imagination this could be called fair play. I am laying great stress on the point merely on the ground that if such public-spirited people are given ample opportunity to serve on the panchayats they would not only be useful for the public but they would be a great asset to the Government as well. They can prove themselves useful for the Government and the public in hundred and one ways. For instance they can keep the Honourable Ministers informed about the grievances and ills of their own ilaqs and thus they can prove their worth. If on the other hand my friends wish to bring in old type of people, I assure them that they would not let them know about the real state of affairs and thus the Honourable Ministers would never get any knowledge about the rural affairs. I, therefore, submit that even in the interests of my friends opposite it is necessary that such persons should be allowed to serve on the panchayats and they should not be debarred from becoming panches on the ground of public interest. In the past 'yes men' had been simply deceiving the officials and had been keeping them in the dark. This is a godsend opportunity and my honourable friends should try to make amends.

To conclude, I may submit that if my friends wish to have any powers they should do so openly and not secretly. They should not have these extraordinary powers on the pretext of public interest. We are fully aware of the fact as to what is in the public interest and what is against it. My friends are in the habit of concealing all their activities on the pretext of public interest, so much so that even cases of deception and fraud have been hushed up on this very score. I, therefore, request the Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill not to insist on retaining these words in the sub-clause under consideration.

Minister for Public Works (Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : I oppose the amendment. There are two parts of this clause. The first only empowers Government to remove all those persons that can be removed under section 8, sub-section (1). If a person is to be removed and if he belongs to that category and considered unfit, I do not see why Government should not refuse to confirm his election. If we do not elaborate what procedure will have to be followed he will be notified one day and disqualified on another. This is a simple way. If he is not to remain a panch his election should not be confirmed.

Then there is the second part which some of the honourable members opposite called redundant. That is not the fact. We had an amendment rejected by one of the honourable members opposite about false personation, improper reception of votes and other mal-practices during an election. That is meant to cover this. If in the course of election the prescribed authority is convinced that somebody by some means, i.e., false personation, etc., got himself elected then the authority concerned may refuse to confirm the election and save money. It must be realized that the Panchayat law is a rough and ready method of dealing with local affairs. So the procedure must be a simple one. We do not want the villagers to go through the elaborate process of election petitions and incur expenditure. The purpose of both is the same. If the sub-clause stands as it is I think there is no redundancy or anything of the sort and I see no reason why the amendment should be accepted.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That, in sub-clause (2), lines 4—7, the words "or when" be omitted.

The motion was lost.

Lala Duni Chand : I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (3), lines 7—9, the words “and upon such refusal the election of such person shall be void” be deleted.

The motion was lost.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) : I beg to move—

That after sub-clause (3), the following proviso be added :—

“Provided that an opportunity shall be given to the person concerned for explanation or defence before such refusal order.”

When a person has spent a lot of money and has taken immense trouble to be elected but fails to get the confirmation by Government for any reason for which the Government may consider him unfit to be a panch, he should be given an opportunity for explanation or defence before such refusal order. He can be simply described as undesirable in the interests of the public. In such circumstances it is extremely necessary that the person who has been elected should be given some opportunity to have his say. In all cases, criminal or civil, an accused or defendant is given an opportunity to make his defence. In this case too it is extremely necessary that the member or the panch, against whom that refusal order is made, should have some opportunity to have his defence or his say.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That after sub-clause (3), the following proviso be added :—

“Provided that an opportunity shall be given to the person concerned for explanation or defence before such refusal order.”

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, in view of the reply of the Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill, the amendment now before the House has become all the more necessary. I may submit that sub-clause (3) of clause 6 invests arbitrary powers in the prescribed authority who can refuse to confirm the election as panch of any person, while no provision has been made to afford an opportunity to the person concerned to offer explanation or defence before such refusal order. In this connection I may add that my learned friend, Lala Duni Chand, was right in making a suggestion that in order to make prompt justice available, the language of the Bill ought to be made simple and free from any ambiguity. I am of the opinion that the proposed amendment helps to make the sub-clause more comprehensive and clear and therefore deserves to be incorporated in the Bill. It clarifies the matter that if in the opinion of the prescribed authority a particular person is guilty of an offence or of accepting illegal gratification or of committing grave irregularities in connection with the election, he shall be given an opportunity to explain or defend himself before an order refusing to confirm his election is passed by the authority. Strictly speaking it is contrary to all canons of justice to penalize a person without providing him with an opportunity for explanation or defence. Now it is quite possible that the person who reports against a particular panch may have some personal grudge against him and might wish to wreak vengeance against him. Besides, it is also possible that the prescribed authority may have a dislike for that panch for some personal or private reasons and thus considering him undesirable may refuse to confirm his election. The Honourable Minister was pleased to remark that he would take all these facts into consideration while framing rules under the Bill and would see that the person concerned is provided an opportunity for explanation or defence before the refusal order. But my contention is what prevents the Honourable Minister from making a provision to this effect in the body of the Bill itself. The prescribed authority is liable to abuse his powers for reasons already stated. Of course we fully realize that if the prescribed authority has already made up its mind to remove him by refusing to confirm his election as a panch, then even ten explanations offered by the person concerned would fail to satisfy it. But all the same the proviso as suggested is essential and indispensable if it is intended to administer even-handed justice. I may point out that in every Act, be it District Boards Act or Municipal Act or Small Town Committees Act, a definite provision has been made that if a complaint is made against a certain person, the authorities shall afford him an opportunity to defend himself or offer an explanation before any action is taken against him. I just want to ask a simple question. If a complaint is made against the panch that he is a thief or if he is accused of some other misdemeanour he is removed. Is it not possible that those persons who have any grudge against him may have given a false report? In the case of proceedings having been taken against him under section 182, Indian Penal Code, is it fair to remove him without giving him a chance to defend himself? It is very necessary that a procedure must be laid down in this connection.

If the result of an election is to be declared on, say, the 15th, he should before that date be asked to show cause why his nomination paper should not be rejected. To this notice he should reply before the 15th setting forth the reasons for not refusing to accept his nomination paper, and the 'prescribed authority' should decide the issue accordingly.

If the amendments were made to the effect that in the first instance a charge may be framed and then he may defend himself through a lawyer it may be said that much time will be wasted. But when the amendment is an innocent one and nothing of the sort is contained therein, then why should it be opposed? When it is said that the provisions of the law will not be abused then why is he not given an opportunity to defend himself?

At the time when he seeks election to the panchayat, nothing is said against him, but when he has incurred the expenses and is duly elected the Government steps in and just to create an impression on the public and to show that it is very clever, his election is set aside. This will only increase expenditure and will cause misapprehension and suspicion in the mind of the people.

In the end I beg to submit that the amendment be accepted and incorporated in the Bill.

Minister of Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana): I oppose the amendment. I have already said that we cannot have any elaborate procedure of election petitions or anything on the lines of the elections to various other bodies. The amendment says, "provided that an opportunity shall be given to the person concerned for explanation or defence before such refusal order." Now take the case of defence. Suppose the prescribed authority thinks that the man, as the honourable member was suggesting, is given to cattle-lifting or is otherwise of a defective character. Then for the purposes of defence, would he be producing evidence? The prescribed authority would then turn into a court of law. I cannot think of any prescribed authority coming to a decision in a matter of this sort without giving the person adequate chance for representing his point of view. The procedure that we would be adopting would be dilatory and defective and if anything is necessary in this direction we will consider it at the time of rule making. I oppose the amendment.

[Minister of Public Works.]

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That after sub-clause (3), the following proviso be added:—

“ Provided that an opportunity shall be given to the person concerned for explanation or defence before such refusal order.”

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (3) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Munshi Hari Lal (South-Western Towns, General, Urban): I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (4), lines 2-3, between the words “ authority ” and “ shall ” the words “ shall take prescribed oath and ” be inserted.

Minister of Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana): To save the time of the House I may at once say that I am prepared to accept the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Sub-clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in sub-clause (4), lines 2-3, between the words “ authority ” and “ shall ” the words “ shall take prescribed oath and ” be inserted.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural): I have got an amendment in my name and I am not going to press it provided the Minister is willing to have a suitable form of oath. I want to know the form of oath which he is going to prescribe because it is just possible that he will prescribe an oath similar to the one which we have now in the district board and other bodies or in this House about loyalty to the King and so on. What I would like to have is some sort of oath that all the panches would be above communalism and that they would try to be as honest as possible and they would not dabble in politics, because much depends upon the sincerity and honesty of these people. So I want the Honourable Minister to insert some such form of oath for these people. This is what I have suggested in my amendment.

Lal & Duni Chand : May I suggest loyalty to the Unionist Government as part of the oath? (Laughter.)

Minister of Public Works : That will also be considered. (Laughter.) “ Prescribed,” according to the definition means, prescribed by rules made by the Government under this Act. What the exact form of oath is to be, I cannot say at present. We will prescribe the exact form later on. I cannot give any assurance at this stage that it will be in a particular form. The question will be considered at the time of prescribing it.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in sub-clause (4), lines 2-3, between the words “ authority ” and “ shall ” the words “ shall take prescribed oath and ” be inserted.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (4) as amended stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

ADJOURNMENT MOTION.

DEATH OF NATHU KUMHAR.

Mr. Speaker : The Assembly will now take up the discussion on the adjournment motion.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth (Amritsar City, General, Urban) (Urdu) : Sir, I beg to move—

That the Assembly do now adjourn.

Sir, the incident which I am going to relate to the House took place at Majitha on the 28rd June, 1939. On the following day the Provincial Congress Committee received a letter from a resident of Nag Khurd informing the said Committee that one Nathu Kumhar of the said village had met his death through tortures by the police authorities at Majitha. It was further stated therein that he died while he was in police custody. On this the Working Committee of the Provincial Congress Committee appointed a committee consisting of Khalifa Fazl Din, Feroze Din Mansoor and myself to institute an enquiry into the matter. Thus we set out for Nag Khurd on the 27th June. No sooner had we taken our seats in the motor lorry than we started our work. We asked the motor driver ; we sounded a doctor sitting in the lorry and we enquired from a Sikh passenger into the case. All of them deposed that the death of Nathu Kumhar was caused by the police. They were of the opinion that the poor fellow was murdered at the instance of Ghulam Rabbani, Sub-Inspector, Police.

Mr. Speaker : Order, order. Withdraw.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : Very well, Sir. I withdraw that. Anyhow we reached Nag Khurd at half past four. At that time some zamindars were sitting near a well and talking about the sudden and tragic death of Nathu Kumhar.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the Chair which was occupied by Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali of the panel of Chairmen.)

We too sat close to them and began to enquire into the causes that led to his death. At first they were much perturbed to see us meddling with their affairs but when they came to know that we had been specially deputed by the Working Committee of the Provincial Congress Committee for the purpose they most willingly furnished us with the required information. After that we recorded certain evidences and cross-examined seven witnesses. Thereupon we made for Majitha to hold a similar enquiry there too. Even at Majitha we were told that Nathu was tortured to death at the instance of the sub-inspector, police, Majitha. We again went to Nag Khurd to complete our enquiry. We recorded statements of 15 persons in all and they held the same opinion that the death of Nathu was caused by the police while he was in latter's custody. After that we visited village Nag Kalan which is situated at a distance of one mile from Nag Khurd. There we met the lambardar of the village. We enquired from Karam Dad, Faqiria, Aziz and Din Muhammad. Babu was not present there and so we could not see him.

Now, Sir, in order to substantiate the charge made against the police I would like to inform the House as to how the police attempted to dispose of the dead body of Nathu. The police brought his corpse to Nag Kalan at twelve in the night and having placed it in the school compound sent for the village chaukidars. When they came the police directed one of them to fetch grass for the horse of the sub-inspector. Another chaukidar was sent to bring ropes and the third was despatched to arrange for a charpai. After having made all the necessary arrangements, the police between 1 and 2 a.m. took the corpse to a well. But they soon found 2 or 3 persons talking about the death of Nathu. The sub-inspector directed the policemen not to throw the corpse into that well lest they be detected. They proceeded further and reached another well but there too they found, by means of torch light, persons sitting and talking about the same incident. Then they reached the third well but here again in the torch light they saw certain Gujjars whispering to one another. In short they visited no less than 6 wells for the disposal of the body. At long last they came across an abandoned well and there they threw it into the water. (Interruptions.)

Sardar Sampuran Singh : On a point of order. The Honourable Premier should get up and say what he has to say. He should not make any remarks in that irregular manner.

Premier : I have not made any remarks and it is sheer impertinence on the part of my friend to make that remark.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : It is a greater impertinence on the part of my friend and it is a lie. It is impertinence to do a thing and then to deny. It is the height of impertinence.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : I request the Honourable Premier not to interrupt me.

I was submitting, Sir, that that well was out of use and as nobody was found there, the sub-inspector of police thought that place quite suitable to dispose of the dead body. So the dead body was laid on a charpai and thrown down into the well by means of ropes. Then a rumour was set afloat to the effect that Nathu Kumhar had committed suicide and his death was due to drowning. This was false propaganda and nothing else. In this connection I may submit for the information of the House that when the dead body of Nathu Kumhar was taken out of the well his body was half submerged in water with his legs and belly in water while his head and chest were above water. I wonder how it could be said that his death was due to drowning when no excess of water had been found in his lungs and stomach. May I ask the Honourable Premier if this is how poor people are being protected by his sympathetic government and is this the protection provided to the poor which he is so proud of?

Now, Sir, this tragedy does not end here. Two police constables are posted to see that nobody comes near the dead body. Over and above all, a story is concocted to the effect that Nathu Kumhar has run away from the custody of the police and committed suicide by throwing himself into a well. And this cock and bull story is conveyed to every corner of that ilaqa by the touts of the police. In this respect may I ask the Premier what inquiry has been made against that constable from whose custody the man in question ran away? Has he ever thought why he ran away? He would certainly have been tortured by the police to tell what they wanted him to tell. I may further submit that Kumhars were collected on the 14th and some of them who could grease the palm of the sub-inspector were allowed to go home. But Nathu Kumhar who was a poor man could not afford to bribe the sub-inspector. The cruel sub-inspector beat him to death. A man of sixty could not stand the police torture and died. Moreover when he was taken out of the well his thighs and forehead were bleeding. May I ask the Honourable Premier whether this kind of bleeding has ever been found in cases of suicide. How regrettable it is that Sir Sikander has not got the courage to lay before this House the true facts and figures relating to the tragic death of Nathu Kumhar.

I was submitting that when the relatives of Nathu Kumhar came to know that his dead body had been found in a well they ran straight off to the police sub-inspector and requested him to give them the dead body of the deceased. But he refused to do so. The sub-inspector of Majitha sent telegrams to the superintendent of police at Amritsar requesting him to send more police for his help. Mian Noor Hussain Shah, Deputy Superintendent of Police, reached Nag Kalan with 20 constables as asked for. Noor Hussain Shah, Deputy Superintendent of Police, is the man who got this sub-inspector employed in the police department and got him transferred to the Amritsar district. Now, when the dead body was demanded by the wife and sons of the deceased, the sub-inspector showed his revolver to them and ordered them not to come near the dead body, otherwise they would meet the same fate as the deceased.

Why are you bending your head, my dear Honourable Premier? Is this the justice done under you to the poor people of this province?

Mr. Chairman (Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Biasat Ali): The honourable member will please address the Chair.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth: I address the honourable member through you, Sir. Well, after that, the corpse was sent to Amritsar for post-mortem in a lorry. What should I say as to what happened to the doctors as well as the magistrates?

Premier: Sir, may I know whether what the honourable member has stated is based upon his testimony? Is it his own evidence or hearsay that Nathu's forehead and thigh were bleeding when his corpse was taken out of the well?

(A Voice: Had Dr. Sant Ram Seth been there that murder would not have taken place.)

Dr. Sant Ram Seth: Then, Sir, the post-mortem is done in Amritsar hospital and it is said that the sub-inspector of police spent about four or five thousand rupees during that night in order to make that case in his favour. (Interruption.)

Premier : If the honourable member makes these charges against that sub-Inspector out of this Chamber, I am sure, he will be prosecuted by him.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : What to say of the sub-inspector, I challenge you to prosecute me.

Premier : I doubt if the honourable member has so much courage as to say these words out of this Chamber and if he does so he will see the consequences.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : Sir, I was submitting that his post-mortem was done in Amritsar hospital.

Mr. Chairman : I request the honourable member to wind up. It is more than 18 minutes.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : As far as the post-mortem report is concerned I think the Honourable Premier is quite aware of it. When the post-mortem was done the relatives of the deceased claimed the dead body. But the authorities gave them no ear and after declaring it unclaimed property gave it away to a Maulvi. Then the relatives of poor Nathu Kumhar had to knock the Maulvi's door and after much entreaties they got it from him. I wonder that Maulvi has surpassed this Government as far as mercy and generosity are concerned.

I may further add, that the deceased had two sons Barkat and Chiragh and the former sent a representation to the Honourable Premier on the first of July. He also sent a representation to the Deputy Commissioner of Amritsar and Superintendent of Police and even Inspector-General of Police. And when he saw that no help was given to him by anybody, he being disappointed from every door sent a representation to His Excellency the Governor. This shows that he did not make any delay in informing the high authorities. They sent several representations to the Honourable Premier. They approached the honourable member representing that constituency in the House. It has been alleged that my honourable friend, Mir Maqbool Mahmood, had visited the village to enquire into the matter, but my information is that he did not at all reach Nag Khurd. I told the sons of the deceased that I could not help them in any way other than requesting the Deputy Commissioner to institute an enquiry into the matter. I advised them to approach their representative Mir Maqbool Mahmood and persuade him to help them. I am not aware of the fact whether Mir Sahib interviewed the Deputy Commissioner, Superintendent of Police or the Honourable Premier in this connection. This much I know for certain that Barkat, son of the deceased, approached the Premier but the latter did not at all condescend to pay any heed to his grievances. With these words, Sir, I appeal to the honourable members opposite, who claim to be the upholders of the cause of poor people, to support my motion.

Mr. Chairman : Motion moved—

That the Assembly do now adjourn.

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) (Urdu): Sir, before I make my submission with regard to the adjournment motion under discussion I deem it my duty to express my deep and profound sympathy with the poor relatives of Nathu Kumhar in their recent bereavement. They are my brethren and my heart sincerely goes to them in sympathy in their plight. It is also my duty to acquaint the House with the position of the Government in such cases and to clarify its position with special reference to this particularly sad incident. The Government does not claim that all the police officials are not corrupt or tyrannical, at the same time it does not admit that all of them are dishonest or cruel. Moreover, it must be admitted to our shame that some of our countrymen are apt to deviate from the path of truth when making statements about incidents in which their friends or relatives are involved. It is also well known that unfortunately there are certain political bodies and leaders who mislead the poor credulous people by holding out false hopes to them which make them suffer a lot. These factors have to be admitted; nevertheless it is my privilege to announce in the House on behalf of the Honourable the Premier that if it is established by evidence that any person has been victimised by the Punjab police, the officer concerned would be given exemplary punishment. On several previous occasions it has been stated in reply to certain Assembly questions that police officials found guilty of corruption or torture had been severely dealt with by the Government. And if it is proved in this particular case that Nathu had been a victim of police excesses the officer concerned will not go unpunished. But the Opposition should understand that before expecting the Government to act they shall substantiate the charge laid against the official. Mr. Chairman, the fact is that Dr. Sant Ram Seth was not present on the spot and was not an eye witness of this tragic incident. He has reproduced here what he heard from others. That may be true or it may be false; but it must be established in a court of law, or police investigation or official enquiry before Government can take action. That, Sir, has not been done. I too, Sir, was not present at the spot when the incident occurred. The information which I am giving to the House now is based on reports submitted by responsible officers. Unless it is proved to be false we have to act on it. Our information is that in the month of June, a theft took place in the village of Nag Khurd and that Barkat, son of Nathu Kumhar, and certain other Kumhars of the village were suspected of having committed the crime. The sub-inspector in charge of the police station Majitha summoned all the suspects to the thana, but as Nathu was not one of the suspects he was not called. We are told in the official report that on 23rd June Nathu of his own accord went to the police station and stated that he had reasons to believe that his son had actually committed the theft and that he would assist in the recovery of the stolen property. It is to be noted that Nathu was not a suspect, and he was not in police custody, so it is not clear why Nathu came forward to make such a statement. Anyway we are told that he asked the police authorities to recover the stolen property from his joint house with his son. At about that time it seems some one frightened him that the recovery of the stolen property would surely result in his prosecution also. On this it is alleged that Nathu disappeared, and later his dead body was found in a well.

Now, Sir, there are two versions of the death of Nathu. One is that he was tortured to death by the police and his dead body was thrown into a well. The other version is that fearing his complicity in the crime he lost his mental equilibrium and committed suicide by throwing himself into a well. I will frankly state that it does not seem clear as to what was his actual state of mind when he breathed his last. I hold no brief for the sub-inspector concerned. But what we have to explore is whether he died of torture by police or not. I can assure the House that I have also heard conflicting rumours about this incident and I tried my best to find some proof. I may submit that as this village is situated in my constituency, so I made inquiries with regard to the matter now before the House. My honourable friend over there has laid great stress on the point that we did not pay any attention to this matter. Let me point out to him that I did not neglect it. When the matter was reported to me, as a human being and as the representative of that constituency, I regarded it my duty to go to Amritsar forthwith and look into the whole matter.

Diwan Chaman Lall : I do not want to interrupt my honourable friend, but may I ask one question? If Nathu did admit that he would produce from the joint house with his son the stolen property, how is it that the police then let him off and did not arrest him? The second question that I would like to ask is whether it is a fact that water in the well was only 4½ feet deep?

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : My learned friend would forgive me if I say that a distinguished lawyer of his reputation and standing ought not to have asked such a question which betrays such ignorance of law. If stolen goods are recovered from joint possession it does not by itself hold any individual person responsible.

Diwan Chaman Lall : My honourable friend's proposition is extraordinary. Nathu admitted it himself that he had the stolen property in the joint house with his son and that he was prepared to produce it. How is it then that the police did not arrest him?

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : If my honourable friend does not follow my Urdu I would explain it in English which appears to be clearer to him. What I said was that he is reported to have said that from their joint house the stolen articles kept by his son would be produced, then some people frightened him that if that was done, he might also be implicated. But my honourable friend as a distinguished lawyer should know that when the property is recovered from a house in joint possession, it does not make any individual responsible. Let me, however, make it clear that I personally cannot say whether Nathu did or did not actually utter the words attributed to him. The case of theft against his son is sub judice and I do not wish it to be prejudiced.

Diwan Chaman Lall : My honourable friend also knows that the police must arrest both of them and then try to find out who is responsible for it.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : My time is limited, if my friend wishes I can discuss with him the legal points involved in this matter outside the House. (Laughter.)

Diwan Chaman Lall : It conclusively proves the story told by this side of the House.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : Under the circumstances what can the Government do? They find that no case has been proved in court against the sub-inspector. Immediately after the event a magistrate held an enquiry on the spot and gave a verdict of suicide. The only evidence to which we could turn was the post-mortem report, and what do we find? The post-mortem examination report by the Civil Surgeon is here and it has been established that it was not a case of torture.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : He never performed the post-mortem examination. It was done by the Assistant Surgeon.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : The post-mortem examination is performed by both the doctors. Both their reports are to the same effect.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : But your Deputy Commissioner told me so.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : Probably my friend misunderstood the Deputy Commissioner. He must have said something else. However, the fact of the matter is that the post-mortem examination clearly established the fact that in the opinion of the doctors there was not a single injury on the dead body of Nathu which could have been caused before his death. The report of his internal organs also confirms this opinion.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Whose report is this?

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : Civil Surgeon's.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Did the Civil Surgeon perform the post-mortem?

Minister (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : He examined the body.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Did he perform the post-mortem?

Minister : It was performed under his supervision.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : I may submit for the information of my honourable friends opposite that both the Civil Surgeon and Assistant Surgeon were present at the post-mortem examination. Their report says that no trace of any anti-mortem injury was found on the dead body of Nathu. Let me also point out that this much the report did say that a small sign of an injury was discovered on the eye of the dead body, which in the opinion of the doctors was the result of biting of some insect after death had taken place. Beyond that there was no other sign of any injury on the body.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : Probably leeches must have bitten the dead body near the eye.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : The story of the biting of leeches was related to me by my honourable friend and some others. It seems that his knowledge of anatomy failed him when he invented this story.

Sir, I recognize that there are often cases about which if my honourable friends from this side of the House or that side of the House make any definite report to the Government, it is our duty to institute inquiries into the matter at once. And after due enquiry if the Government find that there is any matter which necessitates action, they at once take it. Now in the present case the Government had had recourse to the same procedure. As soon as the report about the death of Nathu was received a first class magistrate, Mr. Shorie, was deputed to inquire into the matter. He went to that village and examined the witnesses, including some whose names have been mentioned on the floor of the House by my honourable friend opposite. I may also point out that later an attempt was made by some of these witnesses to resile from their earlier statements. However, in the light of these statements, Mr. Shorie held that the allegations of torture were not proved and facts were found to be as I have stated on the floor of the House. So it was not proved that the death of Nathu did occur as a result of torture by the police. That may or may not have been the real case, God alone knows. But we have to go by facts as proved on the file.

Then, Sir, my learned friend made certain insinuations against the Deputy Commissioner and Syed Nur Hussain Shah, the Deputy Superintendent of Police. I emphatically repudiate all these insinuations as baseless. My friend is not at all justified in attacking in this House officers who are known to be honest and are respected for their spirit of true service to the people of their ilaqa. It is not justifiable that such honest and sympathetic officers should be made the target of baseless allegations under the cover of this House.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : May I know whether there is any officer who in the eyes of the Government does not possess the same qualifications ?

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : Many bad officers have been punished. I am constantly being interrupted and I would request the Chair to allow me two or three minutes more to finish my speech.

In short, as far as our information goes, these are the facts. I do not say that they are gospel truth. They may be wrong but the story of torture by the police has not been substantiated. Without proof Government is unable to punish anybody. We cannot, like my friend opposite, tempt the simple people of that village into making incorrect statements by promising to secure for them Rs. 25,000 by way of compensation and later desert them by paying Rs. 8 only through local subscriptions. I do not know how far these statements are true but I can assure my friend opposite that my source of information is almost the same as his. When I came to know of this incident I went to the Deputy Commissioner and the Superintendent of Police and enquired from the Sub-Inspector of Police and from the relatives of Nathu and others concerned.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : May I know whether the Parliamentary Secretary tried to settle the dispute by mutual adjustments ?

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : Yes, I have tried and will continue to do so. I do not, like my friends of the Congress, wish to see 'Tamasha' at the expense of these poor people. They are my constituents. They share my joy and grief just as I share theirs. Their worries are mine. I cannot mislead them. I told them that if they can prove torture I will be prepared to fight for them against the highest police officer. But if they cannot do so, just as in this case I honestly felt and my friends of the Congress in their hearts know, it cannot be done. In the face of Doctor's report and Magistrate's enquiry then it is cruelty to give them false hopes. Moreover, let me point out that unfortunately my ilaqa is a hot bed of party factions. I was told that certain mischievous individual of the village had been trying to instigate the residents of the village against each other and he had been trying to mislead the police also.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : His name is Hussaina.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : I did not wish to mention his name because he has been convicted in another case and is now behind the bars. However, that man has tried to create unpleasantness in the village by setting one party against the other and he is reported to be responsible for pulling the beards of innocent respectable people of the village. I felt it was wrong of the sub-inspector to have encouraged a man of this type and I told him so and also mentioned the facts to the Deputy Commissioner and the Superintendent of Police. I also informed them that Nathu's relations appeared to be duped by certain interested parties and should not be proceeded against. I found the Deputy Commissioner and the Superintendent of Police both sympathetic and fair-minded and am grateful to them. In short, my genuine sympathies are with Nathu's relatives but I cannot promise them that the sub-inspector will be punished unless they can prove their allegations. The position is the same even if I were the complainant. Law is no respecter of persons. The Congress has spoilt the chances of those poor innocent people.

Mr. Chairman : The honourable member's time is up.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh (Hoshiarpur West, General, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, in view of the high-handedness committed by the police two adjournment motions have already been moved in this Honourable House; one by Sardar Hari Singh which was to the effect that during the investigation of a case in the Hoshiarpur district, an accused made good his escape from the custody of the police on account of the brutal treatment meted out to him by the latter and committed suicide by throwing himself from the top of a hill; and the other by Mr. Dev Raj Sethi which was also to the effect that at Lyallpur a certain person named Kala Singh had been beaten to death by the police. Sir, before speaking on the motion now before the House, I would appeal to the Honourable Premier that when adjournment motions of this kind are brought before the House, he should not look at them from the political point of view. He should, rather, consider them dispassionately and see as to what the Punjab Government had been doing for the amelioration of the condition of the poor people. In this connection I would also like to say that whenever an adjournment motion is moved by the Opposition, the Honourable Premier invariably opposes it. But even when he has no objection to its being discussed he considers it as a challenge thrown by the Opposition. Sir, this attitude adopted by the Honourable Premier, especially when he possesses a comfortable majority at his back, affects the police administration adversely. It rather encourages the police to commit atrocities on the people. I am of the opinion that it is mainly due to provincial autonomy that Government have been compelled to defend the police in season and out of season. They have to do so because during the general elections they have to depend much upon the support and co-operation of the police in securing votes for their candidates. It is, therefore, quite obvious why Government are always out to defend the police from public criticism. Besides, you will perhaps remember, Sir, that during the last Simla session, I asked some questions regarding the mal-practices of the police and the Parliamentary Secretary, Mir Maqbool Mahmood, was pleased to state that the Honourable Premier had issued instructions that any police officer guilty of excesses or mal-practices would be severely dealt with. I would like to cite an example which would indicate as to how far these instructions have been carried out. Sometime ago the Deputy Inspector-General of Police dismissed a police sub-inspector of Sheikhpura for his misconduct and irregularities committed by him. But one of the highest authorities in the Punjab Government asked the Deputy Inspector-General of Police on the telephone to cancel the dismissal orders of the sub-inspector and re-instate him. (Voices from the Government benches : Question). In this connection I asked a question on the floor of the House, which was to the effect that a police sub-inspector had been re-instated in spite of his dismissal by the Deputy Inspector-General of Police....

Premier : But your remark that he was re-instated by the orders of one of the highest authorities of the Punjab Government is incorrect.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Whatever I have stated is absolutely correct.

Premier : If what the honourable member says is true, then he should name that Government official whom he is referring to.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : I do not exactly remember. Perhaps it was the Honourable Premier himself.

Premier : The honourable member is telling a lie.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Then the Honourable Premier is lying a thousand times more. I had asked a question in this connection. The Honourable Premier can send for the proceedings of the Assembly. In reply to that question his Parliamentary Secretary admitted—

Premier : What is the name of that sub-inspector ?

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : I do not remember that.

Premier : I assure my honourable friend that I never telephoned the Deputy Inspector General of Police in regard to this matter. He is deliberately making a wrong statement and telling a lie.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Absolutely not. I am stating facts.

Premier : My honourable friend has got no right to insinuate. If he states that fact outside the House, he will know the consequences.

Mr. Chairman : The honourable member will please proceed without insinuating.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : I have seen such challenges thrown to us several times. I know full well that the Honourable Premier wields great power, but he may rest assured that the Opposition is not going to be cowed down by such threats.

Shaikh Karamat Ali : Sir, I belong to Sheikhpura and therefore generally all such cases in which police or other cases are involved for misconduct or corruption come to my notice. So I would ask the honourable member who is speaking on the motion now before the House that if he does not remember the name of that sub-inspector, he should at least inform us the year when he was dismissed and then re-instated. If my honourable friend is unable to give us this piece of information then I would not hesitate to say that he is haranguing for the sake of mere propaganda. He is rather wasting the time of the House.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Already a question to this effect has been asked. I was submitting that when that was the mentality of the Government why should not the police feel encouraged to indulge in excesses? I would like to relate another incident of a similar nature, which took place in the Hoshiarpur district.

Mr. Chairman : The honourable member will please speak to the motion.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Sir, now we have to find out as to how the death of Nathu took place. I am of the opinion that it is the imperative duty of the Honourable Premier that instead of expressing mere lip sympathy he should get the case thoroughly investigated and the guilty persons brought to book. But I am sorry to point out that so far as the enquiry into the causes is concerned, we have already had a bitter experience about the enquiry that was held in connection with the death of Kala Singh. When an adjournment motion in regard to his death was moved in this House, the Honourable Premier promised to hold an inquiry in the matter. But so far the results of that enquiry have not been conveyed to this House. This fact amply proves that justice has lost all its charms so far as the Honourable Premier is concerned. I would submit that in such matters he cannot hoodwink this House by merely indulging in platitudes. They should do something substantial, and refrain from defending the police without any justification, so that the poor people may get justice. Then, Sir, the deputy commissioners have definitely been instructed not to do any public work on the recommendations of Congress M. L. A's, as otherwise this would enhance their prestige in the eyes of the people.

Premier : I should like to know the names of such deputy commissioners.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Ask Sardar Sampuran Singh and he would explain to you everything. I was saying that the motion under consideration related to Amritsar from where hail many eminent and distinguished members of the Unionist Party. But it is interesting to see how far they have advocated the cause of justice. If any honourable member among them rises to speak, he must eulogise the police. As a matter of fact when licences of revolvers were granted to certain persons involved in the Fatehwal case, we fully realized that justice could not be expected of this Government. It is very difficult for the poor to obtain even-handed justice.

Again, Sir, we are fully aware of the fact of this adjournment motion. We know that Government have a majority at their back and they would reject it. Although we realize that our adjournment motions are sure to be defeated, yet we are compelled to move them because we have no other alternative to ventilate the grievances of the public. But the difficulty is that threats are held out to us by Government that if we dared say certain things outside this House, we should be prepared to take the consequences. I would submit that we do not care a fig for such threats. If a necessity arose we would repeat these facts outside the House. What can Government do? At the most they can incarcerate us for a year or two. (Hear, hear.) I, therefore, make it clear that I would not hesitate to tell publicly as to who was responsible for the death of Nathu. I would again request the Government that they should not do injustice to the people merely on account of their numerical strength in this House. The Honourable Premier having acquired a little political power is surpassing even Hitler in his arbitrary actions. He must remember that unrestricted repression on the poor shakes the very foundations of mighty empires.

How earnestly I wish that Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan became the same Sir Sikander that he was three years ago! He should adopt the same old policy of justice and fair play.

Sir I assert with all the emphasis at my command that the adjournment motion should not be viewed from the party point of view. It should not be viewed from a wrong perspective that it has been moved by the Congress party and therefore it should not be given any serious attention.

I request the Honourable Premier to prove his case by agreeing to the appointment of an enquiry committee composed of two members from the Treasury benches and two from the Opposition. We have no faith in enquiries conducted by the magistracy. Public opinion can only be satisfied by an impartial and independent enquiry into the incident.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana (Pakpattan, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu): Mr. Chairman, the incidents alleged to have led to the death of Nathu, potter, as recounted by Dr. Sant Ram Seth do credit to the doctor's power of argument. It is to be regretted that he adopted the medical profession. Had he been called to the Bar he would have occupied the seat of highest judicial eminence in the province which is now occupied by Sir Douglas Young.

From his statement no one can decide whether Nathu was tortured to death at the hands of the police or that he committed suicide. He has related a fantastic story of the incident. He says that the police after doing him (Nathu) to death took his body to the village and placed him near a certain well. Then they got a charpai and rope from the villagers and took him from one well to another. Now this is a story which not even a fool will credit. Even the most illiterate rustic will have his suspicions with regard to its authenticity.

My honourable friend's case is so weak that no amount of appeal to sentiments can make it in the least plausible. Can any one with even a little commonsense believe that an educated sub-inspector (even presuming for argument's sake that the death had occurred at his hands) would commit such a folly as to take his victim's body from well to well risking a meeting with people and actually meeting them in the way and then crowning his folly with a farther stupid act of placing where Nathu's body was thrown. Such a grand case is made out by my honourable friend that even the Privy Council cannot find any flaw in it for setting aside the findings of the honourable doctor.

It is very interesting to note how the evidence has been collected by my honourable friend. While in the lorry the Sikh and other passengers in it are reported to have held the police responsible for Nathu's death. Again on arriving in the village, the villagers repeat the allegation that Nathu died at the hands of the police. All these so-called witnesses are persons who have stated what they themselves heard from others. Not a single person has come forward to let my honourable friend benefit by what he actually saw or heard. There is no eye-witness not even a person who could have heard the cries of the victim when the alleged atrocities of the police were actually being perpetrated. In my honourable friend's opinion the evidence is sufficient for giving the highest punishment provided for by the law to the sub-inspector concerned. No one can successfully contend that Nathu's death was due to his torture by the police.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Under your party's regime nobody ever dies of torture.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : How ridiculous is the allegation that since Nathu had refused to give illegal gratification to the sub-inspector, he was murdered by the police! Further post-mortem examination of the body by the Civil Surgeon, is, according to my honourable friends opposite, to be disbelieved, because they say he is corrupt. The magistrate who conducts an enquiry into the matter is also telling a lie. The only persons whose statement is to be given any credence is, according to my honourable friend, the man in the lorry and his fellow passengers.

Even the possibility of his committing suicide seems very doubtful. It is stated that he himself informed the police as to the whereabouts of the stolen property and asked them to recover it from his house. The circumstances do not permit a final decision regarding the cause of his death, but it can very safely be said that the death did not take place on account of any torture suffered at the hands of the police.

Ever since the Unionist Government assumed office there has been a very great change in the attitude of the police. Repression and violence have almost died down. That is the reason why thefts have increased very largely in this province.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Bravo !

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : What do you mean by saying "Bravo?" It is you who are the friends of the thieves and bad characters and you encourage them to commit thefts. You who come into the House straight from your shops, have neither any social position nor any standing. You have neither any houses of your own nor any property.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : On a point of order. Is the honourable member in order when he points out on the floor of the House that members sitting on this side have no houses and no property.

Mr. Chairman : The honourable member should not be personal.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Sir, I was submitting that my honourable friends opposite possessed property in Lahore and Amritsar but had no stake in the rural areas, and they did not know how far the police was instrumental in saving the life and property of the village folk.

The honourable members are so loud in censuring the police but let two of my honourable friends Sardar Sohan Singh's bullocks be stolen and I will see how he can get them back without calling in the police to help.

Let me state here that the zamindars do not like this Government. They rather dislike it for having adopted a lenient policy which has emboldened the oppressors to do as they please.

[Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana.]

The Opposition is responsible for encouraging 'goondaism' and lawlessness in the province. If they have no regard for their own property they should at least think of others, and should assist the Government in suppressing lawlessness.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : My honourable friend Mir Maqbool Mahmood has made certain remarks with regard to the Deputy Commissioner of Amritsar. I assure him that I too interviewed him and placed the whole case before him. He admitted that my arguments were convincing but he expressed his inability to take any action since the reports submitted by the civil surgeon and the magistrate did not corroborate my statement. The honourable Mir Sahib has said something about Mr. Shorie too. In this connection my submission is that on the night of the 23rd June Chiragh, son of Nathu, was also in the police custody. When Nathu was being tortured he clearly heard his father's shrieks. He also cried aloud for help. But how could help be available to them when police itself was responsible for all those atrocities? When witnesses were produced the police took special care in not recording Chiragh's evidence. It is only 3 days later when Mr. Shorie, the magistrate, visited the spot that Chiragh was forcibly made to affix his thumb impression on a document.

The honourable Mir Maqbool Mahmood has remarked that I advised the sons of the deceased to file a case against the Secretary of State and that I made an offer of 25 thousand rupees to them for the purpose. I assure the House that I said nothing of the sort. It is only a baseless story concocted by my honourable friend opposite in order to strengthen his weak case. Similarly Mian Sultan Mahmood Hotiana has said that there must be somebody present when Nathu was being tortured by the police. He ought to know that this is the very point which I have been stressing all the time that he met his death in the presence of his son. Now how can the son of the deceased lodge a complaint before the police when the police itself is responsible for the death of his father. The honourable Mian Sultan Mahmood has concluded that Nathu did not commit suicide at all. I assure my friend opposite that we too hold the same belief and understand that his death took place as a direct result of torture, and not by committing suicide. Anyway he has advanced a very clumsy and ridiculous argument in support of his contention. Before rising to take part in the debate he ought to have consulted his party leader in the matter. One of his wild remarks was that the Congressites are the friends of thieves and robbers. But I would advise him to ask the Honourable Premier first as to what is the political significance of these friends of thieves and robbers whose constant endeavours and strenuous efforts had forced the British Government to make a present of provincial autonomy to the province. I think it is well-known to the treasury benches that sycophants and flatterers cannot get their due rights. Let the time come and we would show to the world how the British Government gives way to the Congress might. We will again kill the game and throw it before these sycophants. These good old persons like baba ji would not be able to do anything. With these words, Sir, I commend my motion for acceptance by the House.

Minister of Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : I am afraid one has considerable difficulty in defending any action of the police because an impression is created that everything said against the police is correct and anything said in defence must necessarily be wrong. I admit there are good officers and bad officers and there are defects in the police also. But every attempt is being made to eradicate this evil and what I have to appeal to the House is this. They should consider this case on merits unbiassed and not be carried away by the impression that anything done by the police is necessarily wrong. Now let us examine what are the facts of the case.

The house of one Mahi Kumhar of village Nag Kalan was burgled on the night between 18th and 19th of June last and some ornaments were stolen. On a report made to the police, the sub-inspector of police went to the village and entertained suspicion that one of the Kumhars themselves appeared to have committed the theft. The sub-inspector returned to the thana on that day and went to the village Nag Kalan again on the following day. He learnt that suspicion rested upon Chiragh, son of Nathu, deceased and some others. On this he, the sub-inspector, sent for Nathu, deceased, and impressed upon him the desirability of inducing his son to restore the ornaments. Nathu was allowed to return to his house to satisfy himself as regards the guilt of his son. On 23rd June Nathu came to the Majitha Police Station and told the sub-inspector that he was satisfied that his son had committed the theft and undertook to help in the restoration of the ornaments. (An honourable member: From the graveyard?) This was before his death. The honourable member should have the sense to follow me. Hoping to recover the stolen property, the sub-inspector went to the village Nag Kalan, searched the house of Nathu and recovered some stolen ornaments. This is a very important fact. It is being asked what was the motive for the deceased to commit suicide? The motive was that the stolen property was recovered from the house of the accused and the old man was naturally perturbed in his mind as to what was going to happen to his son and himself after the recovery of the stolen ornaments from his house. This was agitating his mind and there is evidence on file that he was agitated over it. So Nathu and his son were taken into custody. This is another fact perhaps about which there was some misunderstanding. The party stopped at the district board school for the night. Now I would like to say that the school is situated on the main road. It is alleged that the torture took place here. It might be that the police sometimes resorts to torture. But generally they take the suspected person to the police station. But would they resort to torturing a man in a district board school situated on the main road and adjoining living houses? No sub-inspector with any commonsense would do this. At night Nathu escaped from the custody and his dead body was found in a deserted well on the 24th. Now I would not like to discuss the fairy tale related by my honourable friend opposite. It has been sufficiently dealt with by the honourable member from Montgomery as well as by the Parliamentary Secretary, General. The story is such that anybody who goes to a village after the occurrence and hears it would believe it particularly when he knows that there are factories in the village. I would not go to the extent of saying that those members who went and made this inquiry actually concocted the whole evidence, although allegations to that effect have also been made on the floor of this House.

[Minister of Public Works.]

But I would say this that at the most the honourable members who went to make this enquiry heard a distorted version of one faction only and on that they have based their report. There are always two versions in every case. How can we admit the uncorroborated verbal allegations of one party alone? In all such matters one has to take facts. Let us now take the facts. As soon as this occurrence took place on the 28th of June, an immediate enquiry was ordered and a first class magistrate of repute went to the spot. He made enquiries and what does he find? He finds that no allegation as regards torture is at all made. On the 26th he examines this man Chiragh, son of Nathu, about whom it is now being said that he saw his father murdered in his own presence. When he deposed before the magistrate on the 26th, he said nothing of the sort. That is an after thought. Whether it is his own imagination or some body else is putting things in his mouth, I cannot say, but this is an after thought.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Are you willing to set up an independent enquiry?

Minister : A first class magistrate has already held an independent enquiry.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : You set up an independent enquiry and you will know the truth.

Minister : Enquiry by a magistrate is an independent enquiry. He is not in any way connected with the occurrence. I am submitting that before him no allegation was made on the 26th as to torture or extortion. Allegations to this effect were subsequently made on the 28th and what the magistrate has to say in this connection is significant. It is as follows :—

My belief is that Ibrahim, Nam Din, Nizam Din, Barkat, son of Nathu, Mahi, Buta and Sardar Ali who were produced before me on the 28th June, 1939, in court are making false allegations inasmuch as their having witnessed the alleged beating to Nathu, deceased, by the Police is concerned. I also believe that the statement which Chiragh accused, made before me on 26th June, 1939, is correct and that he made false allegations before me in his second statement made before me on 28th June, 1939.

This is very significant. As I have said the magistrate came to the conclusion that naturally the first statement was a true one and the second one was a coloured version. He says further—

The crucial point to be determined is whether Nathu was given beating and whether that beating was given by Police. The oral evidence led before me having been found useless in arriving at any conclusion with regard to this problem, I resort to post-mortem examination and the reply to my questionnaire.

As already stated the Civil Surgeon and the residential Surgeon did not find any anti-mortem injuries on the dead body of Nathu. As a result of post-mortem examination the death was found to have been caused by drowning.

Some honourable members suggested that perhaps the post-mortem examination was performed by an assistant surgeon. I have here before me the report of the Civil Surgeon himself. He says—

There were no contusions or anti-mortem injuries on the body.

Torture could not possibly have been committed because the medical authorities find that the death was due to drowning. Some one alleged here that no fluid had been found in the body of the dead man. This is contrary to the post-mortem report which I have got here. All the symptoms have revealed to the medical experts that the death was due to drowning. Then it has been alleged that the sub-inspector went and paid Rs. 5,000 to the Civil Surgeon. This is an allegation that I would like not to refute. To direct that sort of allegation against a responsible officer of the I.M.S. like Colonel Beausang stands self-condemned.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : We know so many I.M.S. officers.

Minister : There are many M.L.A.s too.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : And we have a proof of one.

Minister : Repeat the insinuation outside and you will know the consequences. If you like to get the information repeat the allegation outside the Chamber.

Then, Sir, the same matter was enquired into by the district magistrate himself. The Deputy Commissioner of Amritsar about whom one of the members just said that he was convinced that there was something wrong in this affair says—

The enquiry establishes that Nathu died from drowning in circumstances which suggest suicide and credible evidence has not been produced to substantiate the allegation that the Police beat Nathu to death which is also disproved by medical evidence.

This is the report of the Deputy Commissioner. What other enquiry could have been held? A first class magistrate enquired into the affair immediately after the occurrence and found the allegation to be untrue. The Deputy Commissioner looked into the evidence and found that there was no ground to come to a different conclusion. We have been told that corruption is rampant in every department in this province. I would not deal with the matter as to how the murder took place. If there was to be a torture they would generally take such a man to the police station and not leave him in the village and least of all after the murder is committed they would not go about with a torch advertising the fact and then placing the corpse in a well. Somebody said, I think it was my honourable friend from Amritsar, that the man was found half submerged in water. There was 6½ feet of water in the well.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : 4½ feet.

Minister : 6½ feet.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : That is wrong.

Minister : If the honourable member goes and takes a dip in the well, he will find himself dead.

Munshi Hari Lal : Will the Honourable Minister kindly give us the report of the Civil Surgeon in extenso and tell us what were the symptoms which led the Civil Surgeon to conclude that the death was due to drowning?

Minister : This is the report of the Civil Surgeon —

I saw the body. There were some small pieces of skin round the eyes torn off as if by crabs or some small water beetles. There were no contusions or anti-mortem injuries on the body.

Then there is the post-mortem report in which he says "fluid comes out from the mouth on moving from side to side. Death in my opinion was due to drowning."

Munshi Hari Lal : What were the symptoms?

Minister : What symptoms do you want? I can read the whole report.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : In a post-mortem report condition of all organs of a man is also given. Have you got that report?

Minister : This is the post-mortem report—

Condition of subject	Fairly stout. Rigor mortis present in legs, body decomposed.
			Both upper and lower lids of both eyes are ulcerated. There are several punctural wounds superficial on the nose, right cheek, front and neck of left elbow and over the left arm. Remarks by Medical Officer	Death in my opinion was due to drowning

Here is the opinion of two experts. I am not a medical man, but all that it reveals is that the death was due to drowning.

Munshi Hari Lal : May I know who were the doctors who carried out the post-mortem examination?

Minister : The Assistant Surgeon and the Civil Surgeon.

They ask, what has happened to the constable who was in charge of Nathu when he went to commit suicide? Nathu was not in the charge of the constable. He was in the charge of the chowkidar of the ilaqa.

It has been said that nobody was allowed to go near the body of Nathu. This is a precaution which was taken in this case as is always taken in every case. From the time the police takes charge of a body, it is responsible till the post-mortem is performed. After the post-mortem the body is handed over to the relations of the deceased person. Till then nobody has a right to go near the body. This was the essential precaution that was taken in this case and is always taken in every other case. (Interruptions.) This is not the concern of the police. What happened was that from the time the dead body was recovered from the well till it was taken to mortuary, it was in the charge of the police.

It was said that the shrieks were heard and Nathu was lodged in a room in the month of July while the whole party along with the police was sleeping out in the compound. This statement is also contrary to facts.

It is said that Barkat has served the Secretary of State with a notice. If he has facts the best course for him is to proceed in a court of law, then the true findings would be given in this case. But this is the least of all matters in which there should be an adjournment motion. There are many cases in which allegations are made but eventually they do not succeed. If adjournment motions are tabled in every such case, it will be sheer waste of the time of this House and no useful purpose will be served. To-day nearly two hours have been wasted in dealing with a case about which there is no doubt that it was a case of suicide in which an old man of 70 who was perturbed, because stolen property had been recovered from his house, lost his head and committed suicide. Such suicides take place daily. Certain persons under similar circumstances get mental derangement and put an end to their lives. I do not like to recall by name a similar case which occurred this morning. Where was the strange phenomenon in Nathu Kumhar's case? Stolen property was recovered from his house and he and his son were going to be challaned by the police and imprisoned. Nathu was very much perturbed. He went and jumped into a well and thus ended his life.

Again, the wholesale allegations of corruptions against officials and police do no good to anyone. The honourable members of this House are responsible people and they, before making any such allegations and charging officers of Government with acts of this nature, should at least ask questions or get information and then come and make those allegations.

The report of the so-called Enquiry Committee is totally one-sided. During the course of the debate it has been established that there is not an iota of evidence to prove that the police ever beat Nathu or extorted money from him. As a matter of fact the story of extorting money from Nathu has been introduced for the first time in this debate and is an afterthought and contrary to facts.

With these words I oppose the motion.

Chairman (Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali) : The question is—

That the Assembly do now adjourn.

The motion was lost.

The Assembly then adjourned till 12 noon, on Thursday, 2nd November, 1939.

PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

SIXTH SESSION OF THE FIRST PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Thursday, 2nd November, 1939.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at 12 noon of the clock. Mr. Speaker in the Chair.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

MOTOR VEHICLE No. P-8009-C.

5252. Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that a motor vehicle No. P-8009-C began to ply for hire in the month of May on the road between Narpur and Una ;
- (b) whether it is a fact that the above-named road is in a good condition and that all lorries are allowed to run on it ;
- (c) whether it is a fact that the District Magistrate of Hoshiarpur kept in his possession for a period of two months the permit and licence of the vehicle mentioned in (a) ;
- (d) whether he is aware of the fact that later on the above-mentioned motor vehicle was forbidden to run on the Narpur-Una Road and the permit and the licence were returned to its owner after two months ; if so, the reasons therefor and the action Government proposes to take in connection with the loss thus suffered by the owner ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) Yes.

(b) No. Four or five miles of this road form part of the Garhshankar-Narpur road, which has been notified as a hill road. Under rule 89 of the Punjab Motor Vehicles Rules, 1931, a public motor vehicle cannot be operated on a notified hill road unless the public motor vehicle licence has been specially endorsed.

(c) As a result of an accident in which vehicle P-8009-C, and a second lorry were involved, and which was alleged to have occurred as a result of the dangerous practice of racing, the District Magistrate suspended, pending the result of enquiries, the licences of both vehicles under rule 13-N of the Punjab Motor Vehicles Rules, 1931, and required the owners to surrender these documents.

[Sh. Faiz Muhammad.]

(d) Yes. The owners of vehicle P-8009-C had obtained permission to use it on the hill road by misrepresenting their object. This, coupled with the fact that the vehicle was later involved in an accident, appear to constitute ample justification for the District Magistrate's order. In any case, if the owners felt aggrieved by the action of the District Magistrate, they had their remedy in an appeal to the Commissioner under rule 45.

APPLICATION OF MANAGING DIRECTOR, HOSHIARPUR EXPRESS TRANSPORT COMPANY, LIMITED.

5253. Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether he is aware of the fact that on 15th August, 1939, the Managing Director of the Hoshiarpur Express Transport Company, Limited, Hoshiarpur, applied to the District Magistrate for permission to run his lorries from Hoshiarpur to Chintpurni, from 18th August, 1939, to 23rd August 1939 on the occasion of the Chintpurni Fair ;
- (b) whether it is a fact that the District Magistrate neither sent any reply to the application submitted by the above-named Company nor did he allow it to run its lorries on that occasion ; if so, reasons for the same ;
- (c) whether it is a fact that the visitors to the fair were put to a great deal of inconvenience for want of a sufficient number of lorries and that Seth Sudershan, M.L.A., went to the Court of the 1st Class Magistrate, Sardar Kehr Singh, and narrated all the facts before him ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) An official of the company mentioned applied to the District Magistrate, on behalf of the Managing Director, to ply ten lorries on the hill road from Hoshiarpur to Bharwain during the Chintpurni fair.

(b) The District Magistrate selected the additional vehicles to be given permits on the occasion of the fair after careful consideration of the claims of all applicants, a number of drivers and owners being present when the decision was announced. The District Magistrate's decision was based on the principles that owners already operating on the road should be given preference for the extra permits.

(c) (First part) No. (Second part) The honourable member mentioned went to the office of Sardar Kehr Singh, the Registration Authority, on the 21st August, and applied for permits to enable the lorries of the Doaba Motor Service Company, Limited, to run on the same road. The Registration Authority visited the motor stand the same evening after the honourable member had seen him in office and found no passengers left over. There were indeed a few lorries standing by for the morning service.

APPLICATION OF THE HOSHIARPUR EXPRESS TRANSPORT COMPANY, LIMITED.

5254. Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether he is aware of the fact that the Hoshiarpur Express Transport Company, Limited, Hoshiarpur, applied to the District Magistrate, Hoshiarpur, for permission to take a wedding party on 21st June, 1939, from village Hakumatpur to Una via Jejon ;
- (b) whether it is a fact that the above-named Company has received no reply to their application from the District Magistrate so far ; if so, the reasons therefor and the action Government propose to take in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) No such application appears to have been received in the office of the District Magistrate.

(b) Does not arise.

SCARCITY OF DRINKING WATER IN TAHSILS DEHRA AND NURPUR, KANGRA DISTRICT.

4798. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state whether it is a fact that several representations were made by the public of Bhatoli-Phakorian, Bangoli and several other villages of tahsils Dehra and Nurpur of Kangra district, representing their troubles with respect to the scarcity of drinking water supply in their villages ; if so, what action the Government has taken on those representations ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : Representations were received from the public of village Bhatoli-Phakorian and from members of the depressed classes of village Kherian in the Dehra tahsil. No representation was made by the inhabitants of any other village situated in either of the two tahsils—Dehra and Nurpur.

2. Government propose to give a grant-in-aid of Rs. 822 towards the cost of improving the water-supply of village Bhatoli-Phakorian during the current financial year.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Is it within the knowledge of the Government that there is scarcity of water in other villages as well ?

Minister : Yes, there is.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : May I know if the Government proposes to take action with regard to those villages ?

Minister : Proposals are received from time to time and they do receive careful attention.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : In view of the fact that this is within the knowledge of the Government, I merely wish to know if the Government contemplate taking any action suo motu without waiting for any representation.

Minister : Suo motu action is being taken.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the Government has ever considered the question that if the Government cannot give bread to the people, it should at least give water where it is required ?

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Can the Government give an indication with regard to the action taken by them suo motu ?

Minister : Cases are being examined and the papers will be laid before the Sanitary Board.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : When did this matter come to the notice of the Government that there is scarcity of water in the villages ?

Minister : I require notice for that.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether the Government was aware of the scarcity of water in that ilqa before the representation was made ?

Minister : It is very difficult to answer this question offhand. If my learned friend gives me notice, I shall try to collect the information.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Since how long has this matter been under the consideration of the Government ?

Minister : I require notice.

CIRCULAR PROHIBITING FORMATION OF SMALL EYE CENTRES.

4881. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state whether it is a fact that in May, 1938, a circular was issued to Civil Surgeons in the Punjab by the Inspector-General, Civil Hospitals, prohibiting the formation of small eye centres by relatively unskilled doctors, if so, a copy of the Provincial Government orders on the subject may be laid on the table ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : Answer to the first part of the question is in the negative. The second part does not arise.

SEDUCTION OF BOYS IN SCHOOLS.

4960. Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : With reference to his reply to my unstarred question No. 730,¹ will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state—

(a) the number of cases of seduction of boys by teachers brought to the notice of the Director of Public Instruction by the Youths Welfare Association, Lahore, at the time the deputation of the Association waited upon him on or about the 1st of December 1938 :

(b) whether it is a fact that all these cases related to the municipal and private recognised schools at Lahore, and had been decided by the school authorities concerned before the date the said deputation waited on the Director of Public Instruction without any punishment in some cases or after some light punishment being given in other cases to the offenders ;

(c) whether it is a fact that the Director of Public Instruction promised to call for the files of the said cases so as to be able to see what further action could be taken by him to bring to book the offenders who had either been let off altogether or were only nominally punished ;

(d) whether the Director of Public Instruction has since been able to examine the files and to take action against the offenders and, if not, the reasons for the delay ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) Four.

(b) Yes. Two cases related to teachers serving under the Municipal Committee, Lahore, which has not delegated powers to any officer of this Department. The other two cases related to teachers serving in privately managed schools, the managing committees of which disposed of the cases themselves.

(c) Director of Public Instruction promised to ascertain the facts of the case, and this has been done.

(d) Yes. Three of these teachers have been called upon to show cause why their departmental certificates should not be cancelled under Article 180, Punjab Education Code. In the case of the fourth man, the Administrator, Lahore Municipality, is being asked to hold an enquiry.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : I want to know if it could be possible for the Honourable Minister to give us an idea of the type of enquiry held into the cases of the three teachers referred to here.

Minister : The enquiry was held by the privately managed school authorities and this action was consequently taken.

FACILITIES FOR TEACHING OF URDU, HINDI AND PUNJABI LANGUAGES IN GOVERNMENT, DISTRICT AND MUNICIPAL SCHOOLS IN THE PROVINCE.

5010. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state—

(a) the facilities available at present in the Government, district and municipal board schools in the province for the study of Urdu, Hindi and Punjabi languages ;

(b) whether any instructions have recently been issued by the Government or the Education Department regarding the study of the above-mentioned languages in the above-mentioned schools ; if so, whether he will be pleased to lay a copy of those instructions on the table of the House ;

(c) whether any circular orders have been issued by the Government or the Education Department regarding the study of Hindi in the Government, district and municipal board schools in the Ambala division ;

(d) whether it is a fact that in Ambala division Hindi is mostly in vogue as a written and spoken language ;

[L. Duni Chand.]

- (e) whether any alterations have been made or contemplated regarding the position of Hindi in Government, district board and municipal board schools in Ambala division ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) The necessary arrangements for the teaching of Urdu, Hindi and Punjabi exist in Government, District Board and Municipal Board Schools where there is a demand.

(b) Yes. A copy of Director of Public Instruction's Memo. No. 14507-8-G., dated the 7th July, 1938, is placed on the table.

(c) Yes.

(d) No.

(e) None.

Copy of Memorandum No. 14507-G., dated the 7th July, 1938, for the Assistant Director of Public Instruction, Punjab, to the Inspector of Schools, Rawalpindi Division.

Minimum number of students for which the teaching of certain subjects can be introduced in Government or Local Body schools.

Your memorandum No. 6897-E, dated the 21st May, 1938.

The teaching of Punjabi or Hindi may be introduced in Government or Local Body schools provided the number of boys desirous of reading that language in each class does not fall below 8. In this connection your attention is invited to this office letter No. 18401-E, dated the 25th October, 1928. The subject of Drawing may also be introduced if at least eight students in each class offer to take up the subject. The minimum number of students for the introduction of Arabic or Sanskrit should be—

- (a) thirty in all classes of a school in a town or locality which has besides a Government or board school, a denominational school or schools in which arrangements for the teaching of the language or languages in question exist; and
- (b) fifteen in all classes of a school in a locality in which there is only a Government or a board school.

Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan : Has it been brought to the notice of the Government or the Director of Public Instruction that in the schools controlled by the Hissar District Board some boys are taught in Urdu and some in Hindi ?

Minister : I require notice for that.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the Honourable Minister treats Hindi, Urdu and Punjabi languages alike so far as their teaching is concerned ?

Minister : As languages they are treated alike, but if my honourable friend has in his mind the question of medium of instruction then there is discrimination.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the same kind of facilities exist in Government and Municipal schools for teaching Hindi and Punjabi as they exist in the case of Urdu ?

Minister : Yes, as languages the same facilities exist.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know whether the Honourable Minister received the representations orally or verbally or in writing from the Muslim public of Hissar that the District Inspector of Schools has been introducing Hindi at the expense of Urdu in all board schools ?

Minister : I have no recollection.

Lala Duni Chand : Should I understand that Hindi and Punjabi are taught in the same number of schools as those in which Urdu is taught?

Minister : I have already said that it is a question of demand and I have laid on the table a copy of the letter on the subject.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the demand to that effect has been insistently made in the Ambala division, particularly, in Hissar, Gurgaon and Rohtak districts regarding facilities being granted for teaching Hindi?

Minister : Wherever demands have been made they have been met with.

Lala Duni Chand : My question was whether such demands have been made in that part of the Punjab?

Minister : Might have been made.

Lala Duni Chand : What particular facilities have been granted or what particular arrangements have been made in order to meet those demands?

Minister : Arrangements are automatically made according to the conditions laid down in the letter which I have laid on the table.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : The Honourable Minister has said that he has received no representation at all.

Minister : I never said that. What I said was that I have no recollection.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I remind him that I in company with other gentlemen of the Hissar district waited upon him and represented to him that the District Inspector of Schools of Hissar district has been introducing Hindi without the will of the villagers in many villages which are populated predominantly by Muslims.

Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan : May I know what is the medium of instruction according to the Education Code and whether this can be changed without the orders of the Director of Public Instruction or not?

Minister : Medium of instruction in the Punjab is Urdu but we have made some exceptions in the case of certain girls' educational institutions and the policy of the Government is to maintain the status quo.

Premier : We have set up a convention not to discuss communal matters through oral questions. So, I would request the honourable members not to discuss this question here.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know if the Honourable Minister is aware of the fact that an impression is growing in the province that the Education Minister wants to discourage Hindi?

Minister : It cannot be the medium of instruction as opposed to Urdu which holds the ground, barring exceptional cases.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know whether any primers prepared for spread of literacy have been prepared in Hindi script?

Minister : I remember having supplied some primers in Hindi also.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether the position of medium of instruction in the Ambala division is the same, i.e. Urdu, as in other parts of the province?

Minister : The medium of instruction is the same, i.e., Urdu, in the entire province and so long as we look forward to constitute one nation, there should be one medium of instruction and not many.

LADY DOCTOR, FEMALE HOSPITAL, DHARAMSALA.

5023. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state whether it is a fact that a representation was received by him from one Subedar-Major Hari Kishan Gurng, O.B.I., 1/4th Gurkha Regiment, complaining against the unsympathetic conduct of the lady doctor in charge of Female Hospital, Dharamsala, who refused to attend to his wife who was seriously ill after delivery; if so, the action, if any, the Government has taken or proposes to take in the matter?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : Yes, the lady doctor has been warned to be more sympathetic towards the patients in future.

TRANSFER OF PRINCIPAL NANDA FROM INTERMEDIATE COLLEGE, ROHTAK.

5057. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

(a) whether the transfer of Principal Nanda of the Intermediate College, Rohtak, has anything to do with the rustication of two Jat students, one being the younger brother of the Secretary, Jat High School, Rohtak, and the other being the son of the agent of the Senior Vice-Chairman, District Board, Rohtak;

(b) whether a deputation of Rohtak Unionists waited upon him on his last visit to Sonapat in this connection and a promise was held out by him to them about the transfer mentioned in (a) above which was subsequently fulfilled;

(c) if the answer to (a) and (b) be in the negative, the reason for this transfer?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) No.

(b) Yes. But no promise was held out.

(c) In the interests of public service.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister please state the reasons on the basis of which Mr. Nanda was transferred?

Minister : I have said that it was in the interests of public service.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : For how long did he remain as Principal of the College at Rohtak?

Ministr : For about 3 years.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Did Mr. Nanda work for 3 years as the Principal of that college or had he to perform the duties of a professor as well?

Minister : I think he was Principal for three years.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : This is wrong that he remained Principal for 8 years. Even the previous Principal of that college was also transferred after a short period.

Minister : When I assumed office, Mr. Nanda was the Principal and he is transferred now.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether Principal Behari Lal was also transferred after a short period?

Minister : He went on leave preparatory to retirement, then changed his mind and came back and was posted to another institution because it was not desirable to make frequent changes at Rohtak.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it not a fact that Messrs. Nanda and Behari Lal were transferred because they were not agriculturists?

Minister : No. I repudiate that charge.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether it is a fact that Mr. Nanda was transferred from the Rohtak college because he rusticated two such Jat students from his college in whom people highly placed were interested?

Minister : The honourable member has not been fair. I have no hesitation in stating that the question of the agriculturist and the non-agriculturist was never in my mind.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know what the Honourable Minister means by 'interest of public service'?

Minister : Since I am being pressed, I have no hesitation in saying that after personal knowledge of the officer concerned, I came to the conclusion that he was unfit to hold an independent charge of an institution.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether there was any political consideration involved in his transfer or not?

Minister : There was absolutely no political consideration. The conclusion at which I arrived, after an interview with that officer in which he suppressed certain facts, which he should have brought to my notice, and distorted other facts, was that he was not fit for holding independent charge of the college.

Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister tell us what were those particular defects that were found in him and on account of which he was found to be unfit to hold an independent charge?

Minister : It is not in the public interest to discuss these details.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it in the public interest to discredit a public servant?

Minister : You have compelled me to do that.

Mr. Speaker : The next question.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : One more supplementary question, please.

Mr. Speaker : No more supplementaries. The next question.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Then as a protest I do not want to ask my next questions.

*5063 and *5065.—Cancelled.

FINANCE SECRETARY'S REVIEW ON THE REPORT OF THE OUTSIDE AUDIT DEPARTMENT, PUNJAB.

5074. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Finance Secretary to the Punjab Government in his review on the report of the Outside Audit Department, Punjab, for the year ended 31st March, 1938, relating to the accounts of the Punjab Education Department remarked that the financial interests of Government were not sufficiently kept in view in certain institutions, for example, in one school a new clock was purchased for Rs. 42, but it did not work for a single day and had to be auctioned for Rs. 4 ; if so, the action taken in the matter by the Government ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : Yes. In the case mentioned the clock was bought on the 17th July, 1935 and auctioned as unserviceable on the 16th December, 1936. Government are taking action in the matter.

PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

5091. Shrimati Raghubir Kaur : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state —

- (a) the number at present of primary schools in the district of Amritsar ;
- (b) whether the system of co-education is prevalent in these schools ; if so, what is the ratio of girl students in them ;
- (c) whether any and if so, what steps the Government taking for popularising the system of co-education up to the primary standard in the province ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) 869.

(b) Yes. About 3·8 per cent. of the total enrolment in co-educational schools are girls.

(c) Government has already issued two circular letters on the subject and district boards are being encouraged to open co-educational schools.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know if it is a fact that the Minister for Education has received representation against the system of co-education ?

Minister : I do not think I have.

STUDENTS' STRIKE AT GOVERNMENT COLLEGE, DHARAMSALA.

5122. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state the causes, events and effects of the recent students' strike at Government College, Dharamsala, district Kangra, and the action taken by the Government in the matter ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : A partial strike occurred at the end of June in the Government Intermediate College, Dharamsala, which was amicably settled by the students unconditionally apologizing and asking to be allowed to return to college. It is not in the public interest to enter into further details now.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Will the Minister please state the causes for the strike ?

Minister : The last portion of the reply is that it is not in the public interest to enter into further details now.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : I am not asking about the first portion. Will the Minister state the causes ?

Minister : I am referring to the last portion of the answer and not of the question.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : The Minister is trying to evade the reply. I want a reply to the first portion.

Minister : I am not trying to evade to answer the question. The honourable member should realise that a certain matter is still pending and it is likely to remain pending for some time. Therefore, it is not desirable to enter into the details of the strike, the causes, the events, and such other things.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Who is making the enquiry ?

Minister : The enquiry is complete and certain action is contemplated.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : If the enquiry is complete, did the enquiry also give reasons for the strike ?

Minister : The reasons were given and I am not prepared to disclose them in the public interest.

Munshi Hari Lal : When the enquiry is complete where is the public interest standing in the way of disclosure of the causes ? We want to know the causes.

Minister : I have already made it clear that a certain matter is pending and certain action was contemplated, but somehow or other that action is now being postponed. Therefore it is not in the public interest to discuss the case.

Munshi Hari Lal : Do I understand that the investigation of the causes that led to the strike is still pending ?

Minister : I have said that the enquiry was held and the report was submitted but because certain action contemplated has been postponed, it is not in the public interest to discuss the matter as a whole.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Will it be possible for the Minister to state against whom this contemplated action is to be taken—against the teacher or against the students ?

Minister : It is against a certain officer.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : In view of the fact that the action is merely to be taken against a certain officer will it offend against public interest if the Minister will be pleased to state the causes so far as they relate to the students ?

Minister : The causes of the strike would be a relevant matter in that enquiry. Therefore I would not discuss it.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it a matter of public interest that action was taken but it was postponed and is it not in the public interest to disclose why the action ordered to be taken has not been taken ?

Tikka Jagjit Singh Bedi : Is any action likely to be taken against the officer ?

Minister : I am unable to answer that question.

SMALLPOX.

5126. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state—

- (a) the total number of cases of smallpox in the district of Hoshiarpur since 1st January, 1939 ;
- (b) the number of deaths due to smallpox in the same period ;
- (c) the number of persons vaccinated in this area in the same period ;
- (d) the number of cases and deaths among those vaccinated ;
- (e) the number and names of villages in the said district affected by the epidemic during this period ;
- (f) the official source of information re the outbreak of smallpox in the villages and whether the reporting agency has proved efficient and expeditious in the said district during the recent outbreak of this fell disease ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) 371, from 1st January to 2nd September, 1939.

(b) 161.

(c) Primary vaccinations	6,860
Revaccinations	24,625

LAHORE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN.

5130. Raja Muhammad Sarfraz Khan : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state—

- (a) the total number of failures in each subject in the Intermediate and B.A. examinations of the Punjab University held in 1939 from amongst the students of the Lahore College for Women, stating also the names and qualifications of the teachers in charge of teaching in each of these subjects ;
- (b) the reasons for the number of failures disclosed by the above figures where their total for any particular subject exceeds three and the steps being taken by the College to eliminate the possibility of so many failures in future years :
- (c) the qualifications of the Urdu teacher of the Lahore College for Women in the subject of English and her qualifications for undertaking instruction in general translation into English, to the Intermediate standard students and instruction in translation into English of the books prescribed as textbooks in Urdu for Intermediate girl students and why a person who might be at least a Master of Arts has not been found for such work ;

[Raja Muhammad Sarfraz Khan.]

- (d) the qualifications in English of the teacher in charge of Persian for the Intermediate classes and her qualifications for undertaking instruction in translation into English of the books prescribed for the Intermediate in Persian ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : I regret that the answer to the question is not ready.

FEMALE HOSPITAL, MORINDA.

5194. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that the Civil Surgeon has recently made inquiries into the working of the female hospital at Morinda, tahsil Rupar, district Ambala ; if so, what has been the result thereof ;
- (b) the steps the Government intends to take to redress the grievance of the public, if any, regarding the working of the said hospital ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) and (b) Enquiries were made by the Civil Surgeon in May and July last. As the Sub-Assistant Surgeon is an employee of the district board, all papers together with the reports of the Civil Surgeon and the opinion of the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Punjab, were forwarded to the Commissioner, Ambala division, for necessary action. No information has yet been received by Government in regard to the action taken by Commissioner or the district board.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if complaints have been pouring in regarding this lady since she was posted ?

Minister : I do not understand what my honourable friend means by "pouring in." He put a definite question and I have answered that.

Lala Duni Chand : If the Honourable Minister does not understand what is meant by "pouring in," may I convey what I mean in a different language ? Is it not a fact that ever since she was posted people have been making complaints against her ?

Minister : If they started making complaints on the very first day she was posted that would naturally make me dubious.

Lala Duni Chand : If the complaints started almost from the time she was posted and continue up to this time, will he consider the matter ?

Minister : I do not know what the honourable member now is driving at. I have given the reply. The enquiry was held and the papers connected with the enquiry have now been forwarded to the Commissioner for necessary action, because the lady concerned is an employee of the district board. Some action will be taken.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it not a fact that several enquiries have been made during the last two years in the matter and nothing has come out of the enquiry ?

Minister : I suppose my honourable friend is speaking about the Punjab Congress Committee.

Lala Duni Chand : Will the Minister himself say whether it is not extremely improper on his part to answer in that way, if not impertinent?

Minister : It was an impertinent question as to why the action to be taken was postponed.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know whether it is a fact that the people of Morinda who were complaining all the time submitted representations for the transfer of this lady?

Minister : I think, it is.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : What were the orders passed thereon?

Minister : An enquiry was held and papers have now been sent to the Commissioner. It is not for the Government to transfer an employee of the district board.

Lala Duni Chand : Does it not hold good in the case of this lady :

مرض بزمنا کی جون جون درا کی

Minister : It is true in the case of many gentlemen.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know whether any time limit has been fixed by the Government for holding an enquiry?

Minister : I have already stated that the enquiry is complete. Papers have been sent to the Commissioner and the Commissioner and the district board are likely to take some action on the enquiry.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : How long will it take?

Minister : It is very difficult for me to say how long it will take for the district board to move in the matter. If they do not move quickly they will be reminded of their duty.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : How long does it require to take action on an enquiry?

Minister : That is a very hypothetical question. That depends upon the nature of the report and the circumstances of the case.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Then, how can the Honourable Minister say that it is not like the Provincial Congress Committee?

NEW GIRLS' SCHOOLS IN THE PROVINCE.

5213. Tikka Jagjit Singh Bedi : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state—

- (a) whether in accordance with the provisions of the budget of the current year, about two hundred new girls' schools were to be opened in the province;
- (b) if the answer to the above be in the affirmative, will he be pleased to state how many girls' schools will be opened in Montgomery district out of these;
- (c) the number of girls' schools which have actually been opened in that district?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) 180 girls' primary schools are to be opened in the province during the current financial year.

(b) Seven.

(c) All the seven schools have been opened.

Tikka Jagjit Singh Bedi : Would the Honourable Minister be pleased to state as to when these schools were opened in the Montgomery district ?

Minister : I think they were opened in the beginning of October.

FEES FOR CATARACT OPERATIONS.

5217. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : (i) Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is not a fact that fees are charged from the patients for cataract operations performed in the Government hospitals at Beri, Moga and several other places ;

(b) if so, whether any regular account is kept and whether the amount so received is deposited with the hospital authorities ;

(ii) Will Government please lay a copy of the rules on the table, if any, made by the Government in that behalf ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (i) (a) For cataract operations performed in the civil hospital at Beri in the Rohtak district fees are charged from well-to-do patients. Subscriptions are also collected which are used for providing comforts to poor patients on the advice of the Hospital Visiting Committee.

The hospital at Moga is a local fund institution. Fees are charged from patients for cataract operations performed in that hospital.

(b) A regular account is kept by the medical officer. The amount realized in fees is, in the first instance, credited to provincial revenues in the case of a Government hospital and to the local fund concerned in the case of a local fund hospital. The share, if any, of the medical officer is drawn afterwards.

(ii) In private and family wards of Government hospitals the scale of fees is laid down in Appendix I of Appendix LIII to the Punjab Medical Manual, a copy of which is available in the Assembly Library.

As regards local fund hospitals and dispensaries, each local body has its own rules.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know if the Honourable Minister is not in a position to say as to what share of the fees is drawn by the medical officer ?

Minister : That I am unable to say.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Have the Government no say in the matter ? Are there no rules about it ?

Minister : There are.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What is the portion charged by the person who performs the operations in Moga and Beri centres ?

Minister : I would require notice for that question.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know as to who decides whether a patient is well-to-do or not? Is it left to the sub-assistant surgeon there?

Minister : Different procedures are followed in different institutions.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Has the Honourable Minister received any complaint that in order that the doctors may charge fees, some poor persons are also shown as well-to-do?

Minister : In fact the complaints that I have received are to the contrary, sometimes well-to-do people who are in a position to pay give out that they are too poor to pay.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it not necessary then in view of that to issue clear instructions, so that there may be no opinion about it?

Minister : The instructions are quite clear. The average man in this province is not willing to pay. He is willing to call himself poor and indigent.

POST-MORTEM EXAMINATION OF DECEASED FEMALES.

5233. Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that the post-mortem examination of deceased females is also conducted by male doctors; if so, why such examinations are not conducted by female doctors wherever they are available;

(b) the action Government contemplates taking in the matter?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) Yes. Women doctors have generally little or no experience of even ordinary medico-legal work.

(b) Under the rules post-mortem examination cannot be conducted by an officer below the rank of assistant surgeon. There are at present only four women assistant surgeons in the whole province, one of whom is attached to the Punjab Mental Hospital. The practice to which the honourable member refers must therefore necessarily continue to a very large extent. Besides in view of the answer to part (a) of the question, Government do not consider that women doctors should be allowed to do post-mortem examinations.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Cannot the Government hasten to change the rules so that lady sub-assistant surgeons may also be allowed to conduct post-mortem examination on female bodies?

Minister : This is a request for action.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : I want to know whether the rules can be changed so as to allow lady sub-assistant surgeons to conduct post-mortem examinations of females. I have not made a request to change the rules.

Minister : I have given reasons for not entrusting the work to them.

Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : Am I to understand that even when there are more women assistant surgeons the post-mortem work will not be given to them?

Minister : That is a hypothetical question.

LADY DOCTOR AT MORINDA, DISTRICT AMBALA.

*5251. Mrs. Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that recently an inquiry was held into the complaints made by the public at large against the lady doctor at Morinda, district Ambala ;

(b) the main grievances of the public enquired into and the result of the enquiry held by the Civil Surgeon, Ambala ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haya : (a) and (b) Inquiries were made by the Civil Surgeon in May and July last. The complaints principally were that the lady doctor had been charging fees to which she was not entitled, that she had made incorrect entries in the registers and that she had allowed her brother to work in the hospital. As she is an employee of the District Board, all papers were forwarded to the Commissioner, Ambala division, by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals with his opinion. No information has yet been received by Government in regard to the action taken by Commissioner or the district board.

ADJOURNMENT MOTIONS.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Southern Towns, General, Urban) (Urdu) On a point of privilege. My submission is that the other day I introduced an adjournment motion in the House. But you were pleased to remark that it should be reintroduced in the House after having been properly worded and couched in better language. I enquired whether my motion would be in order after effecting the required change and you were pleased to promise that its being ruled out would not stand in the way.

Mr. Speaker : All I said was that if the motion was properly drafted, both in form and substance, I would consider it.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : My contention is that my adjournment motion was placed on the list, but afterwards it was disallowed on the ground of its defective language. But now even after I have made the changes asked for, the Assembly Secretariat writes to me to say that it was not being included in the list as it was once ruled out of order. Now I would like to know the reason why it is not being included in the list.

Mr. Speaker : Did I say that it shall be entered in any list ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : No, Sir. What I want to ask is as to why I am given such an arbitrary reply while you agreed to consider the same motion if better worded.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member's motion is not included in the list of motions for adjournment.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : This is what I complain of that you are yet to consider, and the Secretary writes that it can not be included in the list.

DISMISSAL OF CHAUDHRI ARJAN DAS, LAMBARDAR.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural): I ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the extreme high-handedness practised on a fairly large scale and resorted to recently by the local administration in order to crush and paralyse all legitimate Congress activities in Hoshiarpur district as evidenced by the dismissal of Chaudhri Arjan Das, Lambardar of village Kharar Achharwal, tahsil Garhshankar.

Mr. Speaker : Has the honourable member got a copy of the order of dismissal?

Lala Duni Chand : I have not got the order in my possession.

Mr. Speaker : Is the honourable member in a position to say whether there was an appeal against the order?

Lala Duni Chand : I do not know.

Mr. Speaker : Then let the aggrieved person first go to the appellate authority.

Lala Duni Chand : I want to know one thing. If a judicial avenue is open, does the fact that that avenue is open bar me from seeking any other remedy? I want your ruling on the point.

Mr. Speaker : If there is a remedy, on the executive or the judicial side, as a rule that remedy should be availed of before any person comes to this Assembly, which is not a court of appeal to decide all minor matters.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Remedy at the hands of whom? It is not the people, who get this treatment, who come here and discuss these adjournment motions. It is the members of this Assembly, who are not at all connected with anything that happens, who bring in these adjournment motions.

Mr. Speaker : I agree with the honourable member; but the question is whether, when there is a remedy, on the executive or the judicial side, the aggrieved party should exhaust remedy, before his case can be placed before the House by one of its honourable members. In my opinion this should be done.

Lala Duni Chand : If I fail to appeal to Sir Sikander Hyat or to some other Minister, does that also debar me from moving an adjournment motion?

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member should collect information. But he says that he has not got even a copy of the order of dismissal. All he says is that so and so has been dismissed; but he is unable to say on what charge.

Lala Duni Chand : I am responsible enough to ascertain the facts. I shall not be so stupid as to say an incorrect thing. Do you mean to say that if the lambardar had been rewarded I would come here and say that he has been dismissed?

Mr. Speaker : On what charge has he been dismissed?

Lala Duni Chand : I can explain.

Mr. Speaker : I want a copy of the order itself. I cannot accept an uncorroborated report.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Does corroboration mean production of witnesses ?

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member may interpret as he likes.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I wish to state one thing more and it is this. Supposing the Government has gone out of its way and done a thing which is illegal and which is against public interest and the injured person dare not go to a court of appeal. Then, are we to discuss that question or not ?

Mr. Speaker : With what object ?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : To ventilate the grievance of the public that that man has been unlawfully injured. Now there is a lambardar here.

Mr. Speaker : Had it been shown why the lambardar was dismissed and that the administrative responsibility of Government was involved for his dismissal, an adjournment motion would have been in order.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : What I was going to say was that an appeal in this case might lie to the Commissioner or the Minister. But he does not appeal because he is afraid of further action by the Government since he is appointed by the Government. Then in that case does an adjournment motion lie or not ?

Mr. Speaker : If any other remedy is open it must be resorted to before coming here. This House is not a court of appeal.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : It would be a court of appeal if the man who has been appointed comes here and says, "I do not go to the court but I come here to appeal". Now what is the position ? That man has not got the strength enough to go to the Government and he does not want to take action or there may be some other reason why he does not go to the court of appeal. But still it is a matter of public interest.

Minister for Revenue : The lambardar is appointed or removed by the Deputy Commissioner as I have explained many times in this House. If he is not satisfied with the decision of the Deputy Commissioner, he can appeal to the Commissioner and then finally to the Financial Commissioner. Nothing further can be done. In this case the man has appealed to the Commissioner.

Mr. Speaker : The dismissal of an individual lambardar is not a matter of public concern. It is the charge on which he is dismissed, which might be a matter of urgent public importance. But we do not know what the charge is. A copy of the order of dismissal could have been easily obtained. The Honourable Minister for Revenue says that an appeal is pending before the Commissioner.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I was not discussing that particular question. You were pleased to rule that if any remedy lay in a court of appeal, that question could not be discussed here. I was submitting that it is not an individual grievance that we wanted to discuss here.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : On a point of order. If an appeal is preferred then you would say that the case is sub judice and it cannot be discussed. And when an appeal is not made you remark that an appeal should first be preferred. I request you to enlighten us as to which course is open to us for moving adjournment motions.

Mr. Speaker : If an appeal lies, under the law in force, it may be preferred. But if the aggrieved person does not care to appeal, he may be taken to have no complaint, though the original order passed against him may involve the administrative responsibility of the Government.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : We have instances of lathi charges by police. It is open to the man who is lathi-charged by the police to go to a court of law and yet on the very basis of lathi charges we have been permitted by you to move adjournment motions. The point at issue is a certain action of Government for which the administrative responsibility of the Government is there. What I want to know is this. You say if any other remedy is open, then that remedy must be first resorted to. In the case of lathi charge certainly a remedy is open and yet you have always been pleased to permit adjournment motions on that subject.

Mr. Speaker : It is the illegality of the order of the magistrate or the police officer, under whose orders the constables made the lathi charge, which is discussed. The injuries received by one individual or a number of individuals is not the matter which really makes the adjournment motion admissible. It is the illegal order or action on which an adjournment motion is or can be based.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : That is exactly our contention. We, as a house of representatives, are concerned with this case.

Mr. Speaker : Then the order should have been here to enable the House to judge its illegality.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : May I be permitted to say that when an honourable member of this House makes himself responsible for a statement it is only fair that his statement should be accepted? If, during the course of discussion, you find that an honourable member has wasted the time of the House, I dare say the House could take action against him. But when an honourable member comes to you and makes a certain statement and he accepts responsibility for his statement, to require him to produce a copy of an order and to give further evidence is, I think, not consistent with the dignity of the representatives of the people. I therefore submit respectfully that you may be pleased to revise your views with respect to this matter.

Mr. Speaker : According to Campion, page 198, an adjournment motion "must not deal or be based on uncorroborated report and official information must be available." Is there any official information before the House?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Corroboration would be like this. Supposing a man writes to me—

Mr. Speaker : The time of the House is very valuable. So, let us proceed.

USURPATION OF POWERS OF SENIOR AND JUNIOR VICE-PRESIDENTS, HOSHIAHPUR DISTRICT BOARD.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural): I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the extreme high-handedness practised on a fairly large scale and resorted to recently by the Deputy Commissioner in order to crush and paralyse all legitimate activities in Hoshiarpur district as evidenced by the usurpation of all powers of senior and junior vice-presidents of the district board by him.

Mr. Speaker : Will the honourable member please state the rule of law, if any, under which the alleged usurpation was made; and explain the factum of usurpation?

Lala Duni Chand : As the Honourable Minister knows there is no rule of law under which these powers have been taken and therefore it is not possible for me to quote any rule. The allegation is that the junior and senior vice-presidents who had been exercising certain powers for a long time have now for the first time in the history of the local board administration been deprived of these powers. The whole thing is a terrible type of repression that is being carried out in the Hoshiarpur district. We want to tell this House what sort of repression is being practised in the district. More than one hundred men have been arrested indiscriminately for one thing or the other.

Mr. Speaker : That matter is not under consideration now.

Lala Duni Chand : I am referring to this repression simply to illustrate my point, the high-handedness of the Deputy Commissioner. I have quoted this instance in support of that statement. In this case there is no other remedy open to us.

Mr. Speaker : Will the honourable member please refer to section 19-A of the District Boards Act and say which powers were delegated by the district board to the Deputy Commissioner and the vice-presidents respectively?

Lala Duni Chand : Certain powers were given to the junior and the senior vice-presidents long ago and this has been the practice so far as my knowledge goes. The district board has not passed any resolution to the effect that the powers so far exercised by them should be taken away and given to the Deputy Commissioner.

Mr. Speaker : What I wish to know is what powers were given by the district board to its chairman.

Lala Duni Chand : The Deputy Commissioner is the chairman of the district board. He has got certain powers and he has been exercising those powers.

Mr. Speaker : The question is whether all powers have been delegated to him alone or some powers have also been delegated to the junior and the senior vice-presidents?

Lala Duni Chand : Each of these three functionaries have been given separate and distinct powers within the scope of the resolution.

Mr. Speaker : Can the honourable member quote a single instance in which one of the two vice-presidents was not allowed to exercise his powers ?

Lala Duni Chand : I claim to know all about Hoshiarpur as a number of people from Hoshiarpur whom I know personally as being respectable and responsible have been coming to me and placing all these facts before me and I warned them against the facts being wrong. They assured me that the facts are perfectly correct. In fact in every municipal committee powers are allowed to these functionaries, because one man cannot do all the work of the district board. Therefore these powers have been distributed among all these three.

Mr. Speaker : The point is whether the powers, which were exercised by the two vice-chairmen, were also delegated to the chairman.

Lala Duni Chand : So far as my information goes no such powers have been or were delegated to the deputy commissioner. (Voices : No.)

Rai Sahib Rai Hari Chand (Urdu): May I say a word about the matter under consideration ? Usually there are some powers which are delegated to the chairmen of district boards. They in order to facilitate the working of the said boards confer some of the powers on the senior vice-chairmen and some on the junior vice-chairmen. In the case now before the House no departure has been made from the previous practice. Let me also point out that it is true that some of the powers of the senior and junior vice-chairmen have been taken away, but it is not correct to say that all of their powers have been usurped.

I P. M.

Rai Faiz Muhammad Khan (Urdu): I may submit that in this case nothing had been done which can be considered to be against the law. I am the junior vice-chairman myself and I can say on my own personal experience that powers which were previously conferred on me have not been taken away. For instance, the powers as regards gates, public health and trees were conferred on me and even now they are vested in me. As a matter of fact no power has been taken away. Similarly the senior vice-chairman is entrusted with some other duties.

Mr. Speaker : That appears to be correct. What may have happened is that all powers under sections 20 and 27 were conferred on the chairman ; while some of those powers also were conferred on the vice-chairmen. If so, it is open to the Deputy Commissioner not to exercise all powers himself but to give some of these powers to the senior or the junior vice-president. But it is equally open to him to tell them at any moment that he himself will exercise all those powers.

REMOVAL OF NATIONAL FLAG.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt (North-Eastern Towns, General, Urban) : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, insult and removal of national flag by Mr. Jagdish Swaroop, Assistant Sub-Inspector of Police, Hansi, district Hissar from the house of Lala Brij Mohan Lal on the 6th August, 1939.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava (Lahore City, General, Urban) : Sir, on the day when His Excellency the Viceroy was proceeding to Hissar to preside over a Durbar, this house on which the national flag was flying was situated on the road through which His Excellency the Viceroy had to pass. This assistant sub-inspector of police removed the national flag for reasons best known to him. On this insult of the national flag, there was a great agitation and public meetings were held and the reports of these meetings were sent to the Honourable the Premier and were also sent to the newspapers. Some enquiry was made by the Government. At this moment I have not got with me the papers and Government communiqué. I have just sent for these papers. Sir, our contention is that the assistant sub-inspector had removed the national flag and the Government now want to cover him. We say that everybody has a right to hoist that flag on his house and by removing the national flag, the whole province, nay, the whole of India, has been insulted. To vindicate this insult this adjournment motion has been moved.

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : So far as the respect of the national or Congress or League flag is concerned, that is a matter on which there can be no two opinions. But the question at issue at this stage is whether the adjournment motion on the facts alleged, is in order or not. I would request the honourable members opposite to state as to what specific facts are sought to be enquired into. The incident is alleged to have taken place on 6th August. They could have put any questions with regard to this matter or tabled a resolution. If they have not thought fit to do so, I would request that in fairness to the House they should put a short notice question or tell us on what particular point further enquiry is sought.

Mr. Speaker : A complaint was made to Government. An enquiry was ordered with the result that the facts stated on the floor of the House were found to be incorrect. What else could the Government do ?

Parliamentary Secretary : My submission is that if there is any additional point on which the honourable members opposite want to elicit information, let them put a short notice question and we shall be ready to meet them and supply any information which they may particularly require, and, if necessary, we shall make further enquiries.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : A telegram was sent to the Deputy Commissioner and the Superintendent of Police of Hissar and also to the Premier of the Punjab that very day and it was also sent to the press. Then a letter was sent by the President of the District Congress Committee, Pandit Neki Ram, to the Premier. I also wrote to the Premier and I have received this information and I can take action on that. I have also read in the papers that the Director of Public Information Bureau issued a communiqué that those were not the facts. Therefore, the information that the Government had in its possession has already been given and so on this matter no short notice question is necessary.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu) : May I draw your attention to your own ruling which you have repeated more than once on the floor of the House, that is, that if in the case of any adjournment motion any legal remedy is available you have always been pleased to hold that adjournment motion.

out of order? Now, in this case the house of a private person was trespassed and there was a legal remedy available and it was that he could have gone to a court and filed a suit. In the circumstances I submit that if you can over-rule other adjournment motions on this plea you can follow the same procedure even now.

Mr. Speaker : Does the honourable member wish that the motion should be ruled out of order? What has the mover of the motion got to say?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : The grievance is not of an individual in this particular case. The insult was not hurled against an individual person, it was against the whole nation. The question is that the police officer has exceeded his authority in pulling down and insulting the national flag. He has not injured the feelings of an individual person; he has injured the feelings of the whole country. It is a fit case in which you should rule the adjournment motion in order. It is not the only instance of this kind. The incident of Simla must be fresh in the minds of the honourable members. The Government has been rather very diffident in taking action against the military officer and thereby encouraged others.

Mr. Speaker : It is the removal of the national flag which is the matter of public concern in this case and not its removal from the house of A, B or C. The complaint is not that an offence has been committed against an individual person. The removal of the flag is said to have injured the feelings of the public. So, I allow the motion. (Hear, hear.)

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : The question then is, how is this ruling consistent with the past ones?

Mr. Speaker : I cannot allow that matter to be discussed. Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt asks for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, insult and removal of the national flag by Mr. Jagdish Swaroop, Assistant Sub-Inspector of Police, Hansi, District Hissar, from the house of Lala Brij Mohanlal on the 6th August, 1939.

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : No objection.

Mr. Speaker : Then the motion will be taken up at 8-30 p.m. to-day.

RESOLUTIONS.

WAR CONTRIBUTIONS BY LOCAL BOARDS.

Mrs. Duni Chand (Lahore City, Women, General) : I beg to move—

This Assembly recommends to the Government that instructions be issued to all local boards not to sanction any money for the help of British Government during the recent war.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : May I say a word to save the time of the House? In this connection the Government have already come to the decision that local bodies will not be allowed to contribute from their municipal or district board funds and these orders have already been conveyed to the local bodies. (Cheers from Opposition benches.)

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether the money sanctioned by the Rohtak District Board has been accepted by the Government for the prosecution of the war?

Minister for Public Works : No expenditure has been allowed. Though we appreciate sentiments of the local bodies nothing of the sort has been allowed. They are in need of funds and they can spend them on local purposes and not elsewhere. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Speaker : Does the honourable lady member wish to move her resolution?

Mrs. Duni Chand : No, Sir.

DUTY ON SALE OF COMMERCIAL COMMODITIES.

Rana Nasrullah Khan (Hoshiarpur West, Muhammadan, Rural)
(Urdu) : Sir, I beg to move—

This Assembly recommends to the Government to impose a reasonable duty on the sale of all commercial commodities other than agricultural produce, particularly those the consumption of which is mainly confined to richer classes.

Sir, my object in moving this resolution is to bring to the notice of this Honourable House the miserable plight of the poor villagers on the one hand and the squandering of money by the rich urban classes in purchasing articles of luxury on the other. Besides, I wish to suggest that a reasonable tax should be imposed on the sale of such commodities and the proceeds should be utilized in ameliorating the condition of the rural classes. Now if we cast a glance at the mode of living of the people in the towns, we find that the people spend extravagantly on the purchase of commodities other than necessities of life. For instance, enormous sums of money are spent in buying sarees of different hues, articles of luxury, especially powders, scents, lipsticks, hair dyes, toilet, costly furniture and materials for the embellishment of houses, as for example, sofasets, curtains for great show, equipment of bath rooms etc. If a reasonable tax is imposed on the sale of such articles, then those people (particularly the rich) who use them will have no difficulty in meeting this additional tax. I am of the opinion that they have become so much accustomed to the use of such articles, that they would not feel the pinch at all, if the imposition of sales tax results in an increase in the prices of those commodities. Generally the traders dealing in cosmetics, toilets and commercial commodities other than agricultural produce reap rich profits on their sales. I think they would not grudge to pay a portion of their profits if a tax is imposed upon the sale of those articles which are not necessary for ordinary living.

Besides, I would like to invite the attention of the House to the miserable condition of the poor zamindars who reside in rural areas. The poor zamindar toils hard to eke out his living by working in the scorching heat of the summer and biting cold of the winter. When his labours fructify, i.e., when he reaps his harvest, one-fourth of his produce goes to the exchequer in payment of Government dues. Half of the produce is taken away by the sahukar or the shop-keeper in lieu of certain debts. What is left after these deductions is not at all sufficient for him to make his both ends meet or to procure for him and his family some clothes to cover their bodies. In comparison we find that businessmen pay one-hundredth of the profit of their sale, for it is entirely at the disposal of the income-tax officer. I may also draw the attention of the House to the fact that the average income of the produce of agriculturists is taken into consideration once and the Government sticks to it till the other settlement comes. For example, when the average income was taken in the Hoshiarpur district, there was an average rainfall of 48 inches a year. Now the rainfall is 15 inches a year and the lands cannot produce one-tenth of the income. Such cases should be relieved from the tax imposed on luxuries, for they have cut their gardens to pay revenue by using wood. I would, therefore, request the honourable members who are here to represent the poor zamindars, to make serious efforts to relieve them of their hardships.

Now if we look at the splendid and costly mode of living of the people of Lahore, we find that clerks in Government service and rich businessmen residing here go about making purchases of articles other than those necessary for a moderate mode of living. If a reasonable tax is levied upon the sale of such articles I am sure it would not affect their pockets adversely, because their incomes are so large that after spending money on these luxuries they still save sufficient money to deposit in the banks. I may submit that when we, the villagers, come to Lahore we are bewildered to find here babies and ladies in excellent sarees, suits, furnished with clips, high-heeled shoes and painted as a toy, travelling motor cars, tongas and taxis in large numbers. We find that even if one has to go to a place situated at a small distance, he goes there in a tonga or a car. This means that the people living here are in general sufficiently well off and can afford to possess cars and tongas. All this goes to show that the businessmen and Government servants in Lahore are able to bear the burden of an additional tax. Again, if with the increase in taxation on the sale of such articles, the demand for them diminishes, it would stand in good stead to our country, because the use of foreign articles would be discouraged and these people would be disposed to buy goods made in our country. Instead of getting supplies of fresh fish from the local markets they prefer stale Karachi fish. Costly canned fruits imported from foreign countries find more favour with them than those available in their own country. In short they make no secret of disliking everything that is made in India.

Then, Sir, let us take the case of our westernised young 'Babus.' Their drawing room furniture, sofa sets, couches, soft cushioned chairs and other articles of decoration is a clear proof of the height of luxury and ease.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : What about the furniture in this House?

Rana Nasrullah Khan : Your own drawing room will not be very different in this respect.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Come and have a look at it yourself.

Rana Nasrullah Khan : Sir, they have separate sets of winter and summer curtains for their doors and windows. For the sticky summer heat they have fine net curtains and for keeping out the chilly winter winds thick woollen ones are hung up. If these luxuries were taxed no one will be the worse for it. Not satisfied with their life of luxury and ease, our brethren, students and businessmen have even adopted many things from among the articles used particularly by women, for instance, face powders, creams, oils, and nail polishes (laughter). It is in the fitness of things that these cosmetics used by ladies and gentlemen alike should be taxed. I am not saying this in a lighter vein but I seriously mean it. The revenue derived from this source can with advantage be used for the relief of the zamindars and the poorer classes.

The zamindars have to pay a major portion of their hard earned income as land revenue, but in comparison with it the sum paid as income-tax by the businessmen is quite negligible. As an instance of their disparity in forms of taxation, I quote the basis of assessment in Hoshiarpur District. The land revenue is assessed on the average price of the last 20 years. When the assessment was last made in that district, the average rainfall was 48 inches; it is not more than 15 inches now. Again at that time we used to have two crops annually whereas we have only one at present. But the revenue which was assessed on the basis of those conditions which were prevalent so many years ago cannot be revised, until the next settlement. This is not the case with the income-tax which is always fluctuating in accordance with the prosperity or otherwise of the tax-payer. It is high time that this unfair disparity between the two should be remedied.

With these words I commend the resolution to the House and hope that the House will give it its whole-hearted support.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh (Punjabi) : Can I ask one question, Sir? Is it going to be the practice of the Unionist Party to waste the only day that we get for non-official business in moving such flimsy, meaningless and third-rate resolutions?

Mr. Speaker : Resolution moved—

This Assembly recommends to the Government to impose a reasonable duty on the sale of all commercial commodities other than agricultural produce, particularly those the consumption of which is mainly confined to richer classes.

Begum Rashida Latif Baji (Inner Lahore, Muhammadan Women, Urban) (Urdu) : Mr. Speaker, I have not been able to follow the import of the resolution moved by the honourable member, Rana Nasrullah Khan, and the speech which he has delivered in this connection. In the first instance he has drawn a comparison between the townsmen and the villagers; and the way in which he has referred to Lahore indicated as if its inhabitants are all well-off and poverty does not exist here. He has also made mention of the craze of fashion of richly dressed ladies moving about on the Mall and of the use of powder, rouge and lipstick. I am at a loss to understand where the necessity of making a mention of women arises. Probably the influence of certain friends has affected the mode of life of his family which compelled him to say these things. I had expected that in connection with the subject of the motion he would talk about such expensive luxuries as motor cars, radio sets, and others. But instead he has indulged in talking at length about women, their costly dresses and their use of cosmetics. Let me tell him that the fault does not lie with women, but with men who buy them such articles of toilet. There is no harm if a tax is imposed on such superfluous things. There is already a heavy duty on these commodities. The Central Assembly have imposed 60 per cent duty on perfumeries, and similarly all such articles are heavily taxed. I do not object to it, but it must not be ignored that, in the first place, an import duty is levied on all such commodities, secondly, terminal tax has to be paid at the time of bringing them into the city and, lastly, the shopkeepers have to pay income-tax. In spite of all this, I wonder, on what ground the honourable member accused citizens of fleecing the public. It seems that the honourable member has tasted canned fruits in some, garden or tea party given by one of the Ministers, which they often give, and that is why he is mentioning these things in his arguments. Otherwise if you look closely to the lot of the poor inhabitants of Lahore, the capital of the province and a big city, you will be wonderstruck to see what a wretched life they are leading as compared with that of the villagers. They can hardly get the bare necessities of life. Villagers at least get fresh air and pure water, while here in Lahore you find nothing but mud, uncleaned streets, offensive smell and impure air. In towns people spend a lot of money on the education of their children, who after getting their B.A. or M.A. degrees hardly get a job worth twenty rupees a month and very often resort to suicide. These young men are gradually losing their health. In view of this fact it is the duty of the Government to make arrangements for them in the villages and grant them lands so that they may get sufficient quantity of fresh milk, bread and butter and thus get rid of this city life which is proving a curse to them. I am really unable to understand what purpose can be served by such speeches which can only cause a rift between the urban and the rural population. It would have been proper if he had talked about riches, luxuries, prodigalities and motor cars. No doubt a motor car costs you about three or four thousand rupees, but it is very useful as it saves time. Afterwards he has complained, why there are tongas and no bullock carts in the cities, and why people do not walk on foot? If the Honourable Ministers were to come in a bullock cart it would take them at least two hours to reach here. Motor car is a modern invention and a very useful one too. The prominent Congress leaders travel by aeroplanes even for their routine work simply because it saves much time. Rana Sahib has made mention of Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava's drawing room; I have had an opportunity of seeing the said "drawing room". In a corner there is lying a "Takhat Posh" with a "Khes" and a pillow on it and the other room is occupied by Mrs. Gopi Chand and that is all about it.

I do not understand the object of this resolution. I make an appeal to the House that such resolutions, which may tend to widen the gulf of hatred between the city people and the villagers, should be scrupulously avoided. When the townsmen are criticized we shall have to reply to such criticism. The honourable member has throughout his speech made Lahore the butt of his criticism. I, being a citizen of Lahore, am bound to give a reply. (An honourable member: Lahore is being transferred into an earthly paradise.) Yes, but I can only say—

ہم کو معلوم ہے جنت کی حقیقت لیکن

دل کے پہلے کو غالب یہ خیال اچھا ہے

I am not referring to paradise in this verse in the religious sense. Let religion alone. This verse rightly applies to the paradise created by Mr. Macnabb, the real worth of which is fully known to the inhabitants of Lahore.

[Begum Rashida Latif Baji.]

We, citizens, have every sympathy with the villagers and I have always been voting for those Government Bills which were beneficial to the interests of the villagers. My submission is that either Rana Sahib should explain his real object in moving this resolution or he should withdraw it. With these words, Sir, I oppose the resolution.

ADJOURNMENT MOTION RE REMOVAL OF NATIONAL FLAG.

Premier (The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan) (Urdu): Sir, I would like to inform the honourable Leader of the Opposition, through you, that unfortunately I was not present in the Chamber when the adjournment motion regarding the insult and removal of the national flag was admitted. I am afraid that discussion on such a delicate question would give rise to certain unpleasant controversies. It is a fact that you and I understand the exact significance of the national flag but the difficulty is that the masses do not know what it really means. Then there are millions of people who do not recognize the Congress flag as the true national flag. The Muslim League considers its own flag to be the real national flag, while the Congress advances the claim of its own flag. Under these circumstances it would be difficult for us to decide as to which one is the real flag. So far as the question of a flag is concerned my firm belief is that every political body should respect the flags of the other parties, and if any one dares to insult any of the flags he should be severely dealt with. It does not seem desirable that every party should respect its own flag. What I want to see is that every party flag should be equally respected by all. I am anxiously waiting for the day when our national flag would be held as a national flag in the true sense of the word. I, however, assure my honourable friends opposite that if it is proved that the said official really insulted the flag I would give him an exemplary punishment. I will appoint a gazetted officer to institute an enquiry into the matter.

Diwan Chaman Lall: What sort of enquiry would the Honourable Premier hold? May I suggest that perhaps it would be more advisable, in view of the nature of the enquiries held in the past, to hold an independent enquiry by two non-officials, two officials with an independent chairman. I think it will satisfy us if an enquiry of that nature is held.

Premier: My honourable friend should know that it has now become a thing of the past when enquiries held by Government officers were found biased and coloured. Such things could only happen under irresponsible governments. Any fear of this kind should not be entertained under the present popular and responsible regime. I admit that there still exist certain officers who have not changed their old bureaucratic mentality as yet but our main object should be to produce officers who could be safely and conveniently entrusted with such important matters. Let me assure my friends opposite that we have got a sufficient number of officers who really enjoy the confidence of the public. If there is any officer who has failed to create confidence in the mind of the public the whole administration should not be blamed for it. Anyway I will appoint an officer who could be relied upon. My honourable friends opposite may rest assured that the report submitted by him would certainly be a true and unbiased one.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Could my honourable friend give one single instance to this House during the last 2½ years when allegations were made by the Opposition and the enquiry conducted by the Government had satisfied the Opposition benches? When a matter is raised about the death of a man, you say you are having the matter enquired into and that you are satisfied. These are very serious matters. I agree that there are many officers who are doing their duty honestly and properly without fear or favour but that is not the point. The point is that in view of the experience which the Opposition has had it is necessary to instil some sense of confidence in the public in regard to this matter. I agree with my honourable friend that when any flag is insulted it is a matter of grave concern both to the Government and the Opposition.

Premier : I assure my honourable friend that it is not always that the reports of the enquiries held into matters of grave concern have gone against the Opposition. Our officers submitted true reports on both the previous occasions when the Congress flag was insulted in Simla. On the first occasion the persons responsible for the insult of the flag were properly warned.

Diwan Chaman Lall : The report made on the first occasion was only this that somebody had insulted the national flag and on the second occasion—

Premier : However, I am sure that our officers submit true and unbiased reports.

Mr. Speaker : I think this discussion should take place at 3-30 P.M. when the adjournment motion is taken up.

Premier : Sir, my object was only to save the time of the House so that the discussion on resolutions may continue up to 4-30 P.M.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava (Lahore City, General, Urban) (Urdu) : Sir, I also want to make a few observations in this connection. Our past experience is that the enquiries held by the police department have hardly ever been satisfactory. The general practice followed by the police officials is that they do not call for those persons who happen to be in possession of real facts and the required information. My submission is that on the previous occasion when the national flag was insulted at Simla the police could not apprehend the real culprits. But on the second occasion it were only non-official persons who caught hold of the soldiers and brought them to the thana. When the military authorities were informed of the incident they sent an unqualified written apology to me, which I forwarded to the Manager of the Bhandar with the remark that they should accept it. But this time not only has the flag been insulted and removed but the man who protested against this high-handedness also been beaten. I will, therefore, be satisfied only if the Honourable Premier is prepared to assure me that he would see to it that eye-witnesses are called to give evidence. Sir, every flag happens to be an ensign of its respective party and any person found guilty of insulting it should be severely dealt with. The flags of all political bodies should be respected and revered by all and sundry. This time when certain Congress workers made a report to the effect that a certain police official had insulted the national flag at Hansi we at once deputed Sardar Kapoor Singh to hold an enquiry into the matter. He accordingly reached there and made an enquiry and thus he is in a position to state his findings. Now, if the Honourable Premier is prepared to assure us that the Congress workers at Hansi and Sardar Kapoor Singh would also be included in the list of witnesses I think our object in moving the adjournment motion would be served. I would then ask my honourable friend, Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt, not to press his adjournment motion further so that the whole time could only be devoted to the discussion of the non-official resolutions.

Lala Duni Chand : Sir, I would like to make one suggestion for your consideration.

Mr. Speaker : The Honourable Premier made a suggestion which was accepted by the Leader of the Opposition. There the matter ends.

Diwan Chaman Lall : What was the point of raising the adjournment motion on the floor of the House if the matter was to be decided in this fashion? Why should the matter be decided before the adjournment motion is raised on the floor of the House and the time of the House wasted unnecessarily?

Mr. Speaker : I have already pointed out that this point can be raised when the adjournment motion is taken up.

Lala Duni Chand : This question concerns us all and every member can make suggestions. That is why I want to say—

Mr. Speaker : Will the honourable member please resume his seat?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : If it is taken up at that time the House will be deprived of discussing the non-official business.

Mr. Speaker : Now the House is being deprived of discussing a resolution.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : On a point of order, Sir. How is it that the suggestion made by Lala Duni Chand has not been allowed by you while the suggestion made by Lala Deshbandhu Gupta has been permitted?

Mr. Speaker : I request the honourable member not to make such criticism.

Premier : My friend requested me to assure him that I would appoint an officer. That I did, but my honourable friend now wants something more which I cannot do. It is impossible at the moment to take any action. I will appoint an officer and a very reliable officer to make an enquiry, but I am also asked to see that the complainant is also examined before I come to a conclusion. That I think would be unnecessary, because the enquiry officer appointed by the Congress will merely depose before the officer what he has heard, as he was not an eye-witness. Therefore it will be unnecessary for us to trouble Sardar Sohan Singh Josh—I do not know who enquired into the matter on behalf of the Congress (An honourable member : Sardar Kapoor Singh)—or Sardar Kapoor Singh because he is not cognisant of the facts at all. Other people who made the complaint will certainly be examined. This much I am prepared to do.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : I withdraw my adjournment motion.

Lala Duni Chand : In order to vindicate our self-respect as a protest I leave the House along with some other members of the House.

Minister for Education : The respect is here. Only the honourable member has gone.

(After a few members had left the Chamber.)

Mr. Speaker : What is all this about ?

Diwan Chaman Lall : The honourable Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt wishes to withdraw his adjournment motion. Apparently this has been agreed upon by the Leader of the Opposition and the Premier.

Premier : How does this justify a protest ? (Laughter.)

Diwan Chaman Lall : After all that is for Lala Duni Chand to decide. (Laughter.)

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : The honourable member has withdrawn as a mark of protest against your treatment towards the two members. It has nothing to do with what the Premier said, or what anybody else said. Whatever may have been the reason for the protest, that need not be gone into, as those who protested are not here.

Mr. Speaker : Did they protest against my treatment towards them ? I did not maltreat them.

Premier : My friend, the Minister for Education, remarked just now that the respect is still here, he alone has gone. (Laughter.)

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I, with due deference to you, say that it is a very petty remark to pass ?

Mr. Speaker : Is it the pleasure of the House that the leave granted for the discussion of the adjournment motion be withdrawn ?

The Assembly agreed unanimously.

RESOLUTION.

DUTY ON SALE OF COMMERCIAL COMMODITIES.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta (South Eastern Towns, General, Urban) (Urdu) : Sir, with your permission I beg to move an amendment to the resolution which is now before the House. The amended resolution will read thus :—

This Assembly recommends to the Government to impose a reasonable duty on the sale of articles of luxury particularly those imported from foreign countries.

As there are several important resolutions on the agenda to-day, I would try to take as little time of the House as possible. The resolution is a strange commentry on the mentality of my Unionist friends and shows, left to themselves, to what limit they can go. Besides, the resolution is so vague that it makes no sense. I have tried to make my amendment acceptable to the whole House and I hope that the resolution as amended by me will be unanimously passed. The resolution moved by the honourable member is so vague and impracticable that I doubt if he has had the benefit of consultation with the Honourable Premier or any of his parliamentary secretaries. The draft is a hopeless one. All the same I am in sympathy with the object of the resolution in so far as it seeks to discourage the use of articles of luxury. I am glad to see that he deplores the occurrence of famines and the presence of increasing unemployment in the province; I also agree with him that the people of such a province can ill-afford to waste money on purchasing articles of luxury. I am very glad to find that my honourable friend has realised the need for drawing the attention of the province towards this growing evil by tabling a resolution which is now before the House on this subject. The object being common, may I hope that my honourable friends sitting on the Treasury benches would also accept my amendment which only seeks to improve the original resolution? I assure my learned friend that as far as the members sitting on this side of the House are concerned they do not believe in mere lip sympathy; they are always anxious to see that articles of luxury should not be imported into this country. We believe not only in simple living and avoiding the use of articles of luxury but we also believe that in order to provide bread for poor people we should encourage indigenous industries of our country. You are aware of the fact, Sir, that many honourable members sitting on this side of the House have gone to jails for freeing our country from the curse of foreign cloth and the use of intoxicants, which articles are generally used by the richer classes about which mention was made by my honourable friend opposite. Our life is an open chapter and there can be little doubt that they are pioneers in this respect. I would therefore request my honourable friend to persuade the members of his own party to lead a simple life and give up the use of articles of luxury. I hope he has the support of his party to this resolution. If the whole object of the motion is to discourage the use of articles of luxury, then there is no necessity to bring forward such a resolution before this Assembly. The purpose can well be served if it is moved in the Unionist Party, as, so far as the members of the Opposition are concerned, they are already doing all that they can do in the matter.

Mian Abdul Rab : On a point of order. We have not received a copy of the amendment which the honourable member is moving.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Shall I read it?

Mr. Speaker : I cannot allow the amendment.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : The Speaker has full discretion to allow.

Mr. Speaker : Rule 121 (1) says—

If notice of an amendment has not been given two clear days before the day on which the resolution is moved, any member may object to the moving of the amendment, and such objection shall prevail, unless the Speaker in the exercise of his power to suspend this rule allows the amendment to be moved.

As the honourable member's amendment is intended to take the place of the original resolution and as it cannot be circulated to all the members in time, I have disallowed it.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : The original resolution makes no sense. Will it be acceptable to you if I partially amend the resolution and not seek to substitute it by another resolution? Let me add after the words "sale of" the words "articles of luxury particularly those imported from foreign countries" and omit the rest.

Mr. Speaker : It will not cover the whole ground. The honourable member may give me his amendment in writing.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I was submitting that my learned friend should bear in mind that one of the chief complaints against the present Ministry is that although two and a half years have passed since they assumed office, up till now the same old system is in vogue in the province and practically no change whatsoever has taken place in the mentality of the Ministry. They have not moved their little finger to encourage indigenous industries; nor have they cared to give any fillip to the use of indigenous goods in order to help the poor people of this province. May I tell my honourable friends sitting on the Treasury benches that they are not helping the poor by persisting in that attitude? Does the present Ministry really represent the poor people? A visit to the palatial bungalows of the ministers would show that even to-day many articles of luxury decorate their tables. In their drawing rooms one would find such costly articles of luxury the like of which are not to be generally seen anywhere else. One has only to attend an official Durbar to see how my honourable friends opposite exhibit their love for foreign made goods. I am sure the learned mover of the motion as a member of the Unionist Party himself must have seen some such Durbar. In such Durbars one can see Durbaries putting on pagries of foreign muslin bearing the trade mark 626. Not only pagries, 90 per cent. of their dresses are also made of cloth imported from foreign countries. If my honourable friend, the mover, wishes to rid this country of this evil and desires that a duty should be imposed on all articles of luxury especially on cloth with that object in view I would suggest to him to appeal to the honourable members sitting on the Treasury benches that they should set an example by giving up the use of foreign cloth. It is a matter for regret that even that honourable member now sitting on that side who once believed in khaddar has given up his creed ever since he associated himself with his present colleagues. The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye comes in the same dress today as my other friends on the Treasury benches do.

Minister for Education : But his heart still loves swadeshi. When the Mahatma said "You will get Sawaraj in twelve months if you wear khaddar", I wore it for thirteen months.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Unless the object of the resolution is to provide justification for some coming taxation measure the resolution is such on which all sides of the House are in agreement, and no more time of the House should be wasted in discussing it. I, therefore, request the House to pass it in the form as I have suggested, although my amendment has been over-ruled. My friends should not only rest content with the passing of this resolution, but they should see that the use of articles of luxury is positively discouraged in the province. It is a matter of great regret that two and a half years have passed since my friends assumed office, but they have not been able to create an atmosphere in the province which should discourage the use of foreign things and encourage swadeshi. In my opinion this atmosphere can only be created if the Punjab Government which in season and out of season claim to be a popular government, takes some definite action to encourage swadeshi and discourage badeshi articles of luxury. In this connection I would also like to draw the attention of the honourable members to an article written by Mahatma Gandhi who wrote that the Punjab was the only province in the whole of India where the demand for foreign cloth was the greatest. The women-folk in the Punjab loved to adorn their bodies with sarees of different hues imported from foreign countries. As a matter of fact the Punjab has earned a bad name for the use of luxuries and foreign articles. I think a good deal of responsibility for this state of affairs lies on the shoulders of those who rule the destinies of the province. It is the imperative duty of the Treasury benches to give a lead in this matter by using Indian made articles. If one happens to visit the Lawrence gardens in the evening, he will find ladies wearing luxurious sarees of the latest designs. Besides there are other cosmetics like lip sticks, powders, etc., and toilets on which people especially our women-folk squander much money. In this manner lakhs of rupees go to foreign countries through this channel. Then there is the student community. It has completely come under the sway of the western fashions. The students are so much enamoured of foreign articles of toilets that they cannot do without them. In fact the use of such articles has become part and parcel of their lives. I would, therefore, appeal to the honourable members opposite, who profess to represent the cause of the poor, that they should make a serious effort to bring about a change in this mentality. If they wish that the hard-earned money of their countrymen should remain with them and not flow into foreign countries, they should embark on such measures as would encourage the use of swadeshi. I may add that the object of the resolution can be achieved only if they would do something substantial to stem the tide of fashions which is sweeping our province. I assure my honourable friends that I am not making this speech in a light hearted manner. I would particularly ask the Honourable Minister for Education to cast off foreign clothes and take to swadeshi again. He should set a noble example so that healthy effect may be produced on the mind of the student world. He should issue instruction to the head masters of schools and principals of colleges to impress upon the students the necessity of using swadeshi. Before I finish my speech I would once again appeal to the Treasury benches that they should wear khadi on ceremonial occasions at least, so that the people at large may be impressed and follow in their footsteps. With these words I close my remarks and oppose the motion under discussion, if it is not amended.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana (Pakpattan, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, whenever the question of making a reduction in the land revenue or water rates is raised in order to afford relief to the zamindars, we are given the stereotyped reply that Government have no money. Now with a view to meet this objection an honourable member on this side of the House has brought forward this motion. I may point out that the resolution under discussion has not been moved by the mover in his personal capacity but as a resolution sponsored by the Unionist Party. The resolution proposes that a reasonable tax should be imposed on the sale of such commodities the consumption of which is mainly confined to the richer classes and that the proceeds should be utilised in ameliorating the miserable condition of the poor zamindars. I am of the opinion that the honourable mover and the Unionist Party deserve to be congratulated for bringing this proposition before the House for discussion. As a matter of fact the proposal is very wholesome and would prove beneficial to the poor zamindars. I may submit that during the debate one of the honourable members on the opposite benches remarked that he could not make out anything from the resolution as it was clumsily worded. May I enquire as to why my honourable friend took the trouble of delivering a speech when he did not understand the subject? Sir, it has been argued that if the resolution is carried out it would adversely affect the poor people residing in towns. My contention is that this is far from truth as the tax is to be imposed on the sale of those commodities which are particularly used or consumed by the richer classes. For instance, imposition of a tax on articles of luxury, like motor cars, radios, carpets, etc., would not affect the pockets of the poor people. I do not think it would do them any harm. Again it is a matter of great regret that my honourable friend, Lala Deshbandhu Gupta, took exception to our dresses. I may assure my honourable friends over there that so long as they keep up shabby appearances, we would continue to wear elegant dresses. Then my honourable friend objected to the residential houses of the honourable ministers. He said that their residences were furnished with costly materials and all kinds of luxuries. I may point out to him that whereas the ministers in Congress-governed provinces deposit their salaries in the banks while our ministers spend them freely on the purchase of various articles with the result that their salaries are almost distributed among the traders; otherwise there is no material difference between our ministers and their ministers.

Besides, I would submit that there can be no two opinions about the principle underlying this resolution. It would immensely benefit those poor zamindars who eke out their living with great difficulty. I, therefore, suggest that this resolution should be unanimously passed by the House and that the Government should take early steps to translate it into action. With these words I strongly support the motion now before the House.

Chaudhri Suraj Mal (Hansi, General, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, I rise to support the resolution moved by my honourable friend, Rana Nasrullah Khan.

I belong to a small village and whenever I have an occasion to visit Lahore, my eyes are dazzled with its brilliance. It occurs to me, as it so often does to my honourable friend, Sardar Sohan Singh Josh, that I have all of a sudden been transported from the hell of poverty to the heaven itself. (Laughter.)

It seems natural that those who have money enough to spend on luxuries should be made to shoulder the burden of taxation and with their money the burden of the poor zamindars should be lessened. I do not want that there should be mutual hatred between the villagers and the citizens. It has been said that the resolution now before the House aims at widening the gulf between the villagers and the citizens, but I do not share in this view. There is no question of causing a rift between them. The resolution merely aims at taxing the articles used by the rich people.

I would make bold to say that it would be desirable for the ministers, their parliamentary secretaries, as well as the Congress, to represent themselves in their true colours. To represent oneself as something which one is not, is very objectionable. I am reminded here of an incident at Simla. One morning I went to see some one staying at a certain hotel. On my arrival there I was surprised to see an acquaintance of mine whom I had so far thought very simple in his ways and a right sort of man, wearing a strange dress such as the Europeans put on at night. I do not even know what they call it. (An honourable member : A dressing gown.) He was staying there in a suit all by himself like a prince. Now, as I happen to know the man I can say that it is better to pass oneself as one really is than to pretend what one is not.

A friend of mine at Hissar often argues with me as to why I sometimes wear a suit or a necktie contrary to the mode of dress adopted by my elders. I always tell him that if it came to comparing such articles in our respective houses, at least a cart load of khaddar will be found in my house whereas only one or two such articles will be found at his place.

I am one of those who advocate the use of Indian made goods and dislike all kinds of extravagance. But I also believe in one's actions being in consonance with one's professions. If my honourable friends opposite lay so much stress on the use of swadeshi goods then they should prove it by putting it into practice. I would request my honourable friend-Lala Deshbandhu Gupta, to think twice before giving expression to such thoughts. If the Opposition are what they claim to be let them support this resolution which aims to tax those commodities which are used by the richer classes. With these words I strongly support the resolution under discussion.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi (Lyallpur and Jhang, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, it is a matter of great pleasure that we have been afforded an opportunity of discussing a non-official resolution of a fundamental nature after a long time to-day.

Both sides of the House seem to agree upon the principle of my honourable friend's resolution, viz., the taxing of the richer classes for the benefit of the poor. It gives me great satisfaction to know that a member of the Unionist Party has at least made a distinction between the rich and the poor.

Agreeing as we do with the fundamental principle underlying this resolution, I cannot help observing that in view of the importance of the resolution, the seriousness required for its discussion seems lacking in the House as yet. Furthermore we have in the coming months to discuss the Report of the Retrenchment and Resources Committee, as also the recommendations of the Darling Committee. They all necessitate economies and fresh sources of revenue. In the absence of these a final decision may not be possible but one thing is certain and that is this. On the one hand there are those people who have only two acres of land in their possession and have to work very hard upon it to eke out a living. These people are deprived of half of their incomes by way of land revenue. On the other hand there are people who ride in Rolls Royce cars, smoke expensive cigars and wear costly suits and have no fear of such heavy taxation, as land revenue, which the poor zamindars have to pay. Those rich people should be taxed heavily.

Retail sales of commodities ought to be taxed. If you were to go through Anarkali, from Lohari gate to Nila Gumbad, you will note that the shops are flooded with articles of foreign manufacture. Raja Brothers Store, for instance, must have at least six or eight lakhs worth of goods but if you ask for anything manufactured in this country, it will be hardly available. At least 90 or 95 per cent. of goods stocked in these shops consists of useless and 'frivolous' articles, which our rich friends buy from them. If one were to go still further up the Mall one would come across certain shops whose daily sale income ranges between 800 to 1,500 rupees. These shops can easily be taxed at a rate of 4, 5 or 10 per cent., and this money can be utilized in improving the lot of the poorer classes. The sooner it is done the better.

It is very essential to accept this amended resolution from the economic as well as the moral point of view. It will help in removing the difference of burden of taxation between the rich and the poor.

I would like to move formally the amendment that my honourable friend, Lala Deshbandhu Gupta, has tabled—

This Assembly recommends to the Government to impose a reasonable duty on all articles of luxury particularly those imported from foreign countries.

This House does not question the sincerity of Rana Sahib's resolution, but if we really want to lessen the burden of the zamindars we should prefer this amendment, which seeks to impose tax on imported goods as against those produced in this country. We must buy articles made by our famine-stricken sisters of Hissar district in preference to Lancashire manufactures. The exhibition which will shortly be opened at Lahore has the same purpose in view. It also seeks to popularize goods made by the industrial schools and other industrial concerns in India and to discourage buying Japanese and other foreign made articles. Rana Sahib has thought it proper to make a hit on the mode of living of Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava. He says his drawing room is also furnished with articles of luxury. If the honourable member is fortunate enough to visit Doctor Sahib's drawing room, he will find nothing but a jajam made out of hand-spun and hand-made cloth. He eats flour ground by hand. He tries as far as possible to use articles of necessity and those prepared only in villages. I wish the honourable ministers could follow him in this respect. The honourable ministers who give their dogs Glaxo biscuits should not only support such resolutions but should also 'overhaul' their own life as a positive proof of their good intentions. They should discontinue their patronage of English firms, like Rankin's and take to Indian tailors in their own province.

Delivering lectures in public meetings attended by thousands of listeners is not all that is required. Mere words do not help in providing bread for the poorer classes. It is necessary that our weavers and workers of other professions should get work, and to provide work for them is the only practical proof of the Government's claims of sympathy for the poor people. I strongly support this resolution in its amended form and recommend it for the acceptance of the House.

Chaudhri Ali Akbar (Gurdaspur East, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, the resolution moved by my honourable friend, Rana Nasrullah Khan, should receive a fair and dispassionate consideration. It should not be allowed to become the cause of contention between townsmen and villagers. My experience of some 40 years has convinced me that whenever a villager become a little better off he at once gets disgusted with village life and, therefore, leaves the village for some city. It is only the poor who can put up with village life. That is why I submit that only the people living in cities should be taxed. The poor villagers do not often receive even dry crumbs while city people enjoy rich and delicious food. The kitchen expenses of the latter are far beyond the wildest imagination of villagers. Justice and equity demand that those who earn their livelihood by the sweat of their brow should not be saddled with too many or too heavy taxes. Taxation should be confined to those living in ease and effluence. There is a difference of Heaven and Hades between the lots of city people and villagers. While the former are joyfully soaring in Heaven the latter are rotting in Hades.

The honourable lady member, Baji Sahiba, is a woman and still she is pleading the cause of her voters so frankly and fearlessly. Then why should not the rural members of the Opposition stand by their voters? I am really surprised at the attitude taken up by the Opposition. They have been very quick to catch sight of our turbans costing Rs. 2 a piece but the costly sarees of their own womenfolk have always managed to keep out of their ken. If any one wants to know the tales that these sarees have to tell he has only to go for a walk on the Mall in the evening. I happen to be fairly well off yet my turban is not worth more than two rupees but in the cities even those women wear sarees costing Rs. 100 each whose husbands are mere clerks or labourers in factories and workshops. The burqa of a city woman costs as much as would be enough for fifteen pajamas in villages. In spite of this life of ease and luxury the city people do not have to pay much by way of taxes. But in the villages even a poor cultivator possessing no more than 2 or 4 kanals of land is not immune from payment of land revenue. The attitude of the Opposition is really disappointing. They always profess to be the enemies of capitalists but now that they find that the purse of the capitalist is going to be touched they have come out in their true colours as the friends of the capitalists and enemies of the poor.

My submission is that the rich should be prepared to share some of the comforts of life with the poor. If rich and well-to-do people are taxed surely the money thus collected will go to benefit the poor villagers. I could never think of the Opposition siding with the rich at such a crucial moment as this. I sincerely tell you that I have been pained by their present attitude. They should come forward and accept this little burden so that the proceeds may be spent on the welfare of the poor. Sir, I am confident that the House will pass this resolution unanimously and with these words I whole-heartedly support it.

Shrimati Raghbir Kaur (Amritsar, Sikh, Women) (Punjabi): Mr. Speaker, I rise to support the amendment moved by my honourable brother. He has remarked that although the world is overflowing with riches, wealth and fortunes yet the poor classes of people are leading an extremely miserable life. My submission is that this tax should be imposed only on rich people. If you take the trouble of passing through the Anarkali you are sure to find shops packed to their fullest capacity with articles of luxury worth millions of rupees. These things are intended to be used only by rich and well-to-do people. The shopkeepers deal in such articles because their sale fetches big profits. Similarly wealthy people have raised big palatial buildings in order to get them tenanted for high rents. But, Sir, just look at the pitiable condition of the poor masses. They generally live in huts. On account of limited accommodation they not only tether their cattle inside their huts but also cook their meals therein. If by chance these rich and wealthy people were to cast a glance over the plight of the poor they are sure to tremble in their very shoes at the horrid spectacle of misery in its naked form. It has been said on the floor of the House that ladies usually wear precious sarees. My submission is that just as capitalists put on well-cut suits and wear costly shoes similarly their wives and girls wear highly valuable sarees. I just want to give you an instance of sheer poverty prevailing in the country. In connection with the election of Dr. Satyapal Ji we visited the hilly tract of the Sialkot district. On reaching there we were extremely wonderstruck to see that young girls of 18 were covering their bodies only in a piece of cloth. It gave me an immense shock to find that the real owners and inhabitants of this country, generally known to be a land of riches, were moving about naked. It is a pity that the foreigners have forcibly made us submit to their unpleasant yoke, and now they are exploiting us by imposing taxes on us without our previous consent and approval. There is no doubt about it that from the opposite benches a resolution has been moved in order to impose duty on commercial commodities. But I submit that what is most essential is practice. And I am afraid if the Government will do something practical even in this matter that has been brought before this House by the honourable member who is sitting on the opposite benches. I, therefore, submit to all the honourable members of this House, through you, that they should extend their co-operation to the attempt to be made in imposing reasonable duty on foreign articles in order to make people purchase only indigenous articles. The advantage will be twofold. Thus the quantity of articles imported from foreign countries will also be reduced.

As regards articles of luxury I have to submit that we should try to avoid their use. Anyhow if certain people cannot do without them they should at least try to patronize particularly indigenous articles. When foreign articles of luxury are in no way better than those made in this country, then where is the necessity of purchasing only foreign articles and neglecting indigenous ones. What a pity it is that the daughters of those who work in factories from sunrise to sunset cannot have sufficient cloth to cover their bodies while daughters of rich people are clad in silk and scarlet. As a matter of fact capitalist millowners do not care to see to the conveniences of labourers. What they want to get out of their investment is profit and they get it at the expense of poor labourers. They have nothing to do with the hardships of a labourer. Just imagine a poor labourer prepares fruit-juice, motor cars and builds palatial buildings for the use of rich people while he himself has got no place to hide his head and so the poor fellow being compelled sleeps on the road-side where he may fall a victim to malaria or where a snake or a scorpion may bite him. This is the standard of life which is being enjoyed so to say by the labourers of this province. If they are neglected by millowners they should not be neglected by us who are here to plead their cause. At least we should not turn a blind eye to their miserable condition. I, therefore, recommend to the Government to improve the condition of labourers and to raise their standard of life.

In the end I urge upon the Government that we should encourage indigenous articles so that the poverty of the province may be removed and our country may prosper in double quick time. With these remarks I support the resolution moved by this side of the House.

Mian Abdul Aziz (Outer Lahore, Muhammadan, Urban) (Urdu): Sir, I think it is no use discussing this resolution because both sides of the House are prepared to pass this resolution unanimously. But what is more important than passing the resolution is taking action over it. As you are aware, resolutions are passed in this House so often but no action is taken on them. In this respect my submission is that the Government should at least prohibit as many badeshi articles, if not all. In my opinion if the Honourable Minister for Development had given careful consideration to this matter and started factories for manufacturing indigenous articles of daily use he would have done a very useful and beneficial work for the development of industry. And in addition to that the unemployed youths of this province, who are knocking from door to door, would have been accommodated there, and the necessity of moving this resolution would not have arisen. But how regrettable it is that the Government have not taken any serious step in manufacturing indigenous articles since they have come into power. We should look towards Japan which has taken a lead in this matter and surpassed almost every country in producing articles of its own country. May I, in this respect, ask the Government, through you, Sir, whether they are not in a position to provide Rs. 50,00,000 yearly for manufacturing important and useful articles of daily use? I think that the Punjab Government should also take a lead in producing indigenous articles of daily use and they should, in my opinion, avoid the manufacture of showy articles of luxury against which much has been said from this side of the House. If the Government agrees to our proposals it is well and good and we assure the Honourable Minister for Development that our services are at his disposal. I am afraid that it is, what I should call, only a pious wish of the Government to start manufacturing factories of Swadeshi articles but not deeds, though I presume that they feel in their heart of hearts that such industry will indeed do a lot of good to the country. If all the honourable members of this House determine to encourage indigenous articles and agree unanimously to the resolution, as amended, the Government would be obliged to take action according to the resolution. (An honourable member: Will you encourage?) Yes, why not? It has always been my desire to encourage indigenous goods and I have been trying for the last several years if I could find any desi article though inferior than foreign article. I have been giving preference to indigenous articles over foreign articles. (Cheers from the Opposition.) And still I do so, inspite of the fact that I do use some foreign articles, I mean those indispensable articles without which sometimes we cannot do. In connection with those articles of luxury and toilet which are meant for the use of ladies or gents, I would say, they can also be disposed of provided we determine to do away with them. As far as the encouragement of indigenous articles is concerned I would like to make a very useful suggestion in this respect and that is this. A specific dress made of desi cloth should be fixed for all the honourable members of this House. It is necessary that the dress must be made of desi cloth.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : It will offend John Bull.

Mian Abdul Aziz : My honourable friend says it will offend John Bull. It may offend. Either we should not move such resolutions or we should have the courage to do whatever we like, whether it pleases or offends John Bull. Words do not make castles. Work is required. What our Government lacks is practice and action. I must submit that it is no use taking credit by moving such resolutions unless and until Government do take action. Again I draw the attention of the Honourable Minister for Development to the fact that what is required is action and therefore I request him to confine his every energy to produce indigenous articles of daily use particularly in the Punjab.

An honourable member : I move that the question be now put.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That the question be now put.

The motion was carried.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : On a point of order. I want to ask whether the closure motion can be moved when there are several members anxious to speak including the Honourable Minister for Development?

Mr. Speaker : Will the honourable member please resume his seat? The closure motion has been put and carried.

Mr. E. Few : I also rise on a point of order. It was only an isolated member from this side who said, 'yes'.

Mr. Speaker : Did anybody challenge my decision? (Voices : "No".) The reason why I did not allow the Honourable Minister to speak is that according to rules he has no right of reply, if the mover of the motion does not reply.

Rana Nasrullah Khan (Urdu) : Sir, I have listened to the speeches of my honourable friends with rapt attention. During this discussion some points have been advanced by them and I wish to refute them. In the first place my honourable friend, Lala Deshbandhu Gupta, who sought to amend the resolution, said that a duty should be imposed on articles of luxury which are imported from foreign countries and that no such duty should be imposed on goods which are manufactured in India. I for one cannot make any difference between articles of luxury which are produced in this country or which are imported from abroad. But on the other hand this thing indirectly reveals the mind of my honourable friend over there. Although my friend in season and out of season champions the cause of the poor and expresses himself to be a great friend of the poor yet it seems as if his sympathy is merely lip deep. Whenever any question of taxing the richer classes is taken in hand, he always opposes it. His amendment is a living proof of this. Although he desires to impose a duty on the articles of luxury imported from foreign countries yet he does not want that a similar duty should be imposed on such articles which are produced in India. He has also stated that he happened to go to a bath, and he saw there lip stick, different kinds of powders and lavenders and so on and so forth. Obviously that bath room cannot be of any young man where he saw all these articles of luxury. But my point is that these things are merely luxuries and if any one can buy them he can also pay a bit more by way of a duty. If a duty is imposed on the sale of all commercial commodities, it can enrich the provincial exchequer and consequently the increased income can be spent to alleviate the distress of the poorer sections.

Besides, it was stated by my friends opposite that our ministers ride in cars and live in great style. Let me point out that our ministers draw a fixed amount from the provincial exchequer by way of salaries. They are at perfect liberty to spend that amount in whatever way they choose to do. If they are spending less or spending more, this has nothing to do with my friends opposite. Just have a look at the expenditures of the ministers of Congress-governed provinces. All their expenses are borne by the provincial exchequer. If they board an aeroplane, or go to Europe for improving their health, the heavy load of their expenses falls on the poor people. That thing can only be legal for the Congress ministers but our ministers have nothing to do with such ways of receiving money from the public funds.

Now, Sir, I may submit that if a rich man can spend Rs. 5,000 for buying a motor car, I do not think that he would be in any way hard-pressed if he were asked to pay Rs. 5,500. In the same way if there is anybody who uses articles of luxury which in fact are not necessities, he would not mind paying a bit more by way of a duty. In my opinion the levying of such a duty on articles of luxury can go a long way to help the poor. My honourable friends opposite simply wish that a duty should be imposed on foreign articles of luxury and such articles which are manufactured in this country should be exempted from it. In other words one can say that they wish to stop the importation of foreign liquor but they would not feel any hesitation in gulping down bottle after bottle of country made liquor.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Oh, you have caught the point.

Rana Nasrullah Khan : We on other hand do not wish that a duty should merely be imposed on articles of luxury, which are imported from foreign countries, but what we desire is that a reasonable duty should be imposed on the sale of all commercial commodities other than agricultural produce, particularly those the consumption of which is mainly confined to the richer classes. Besides, one of my honourable friends opposite has pointed out that the entry of all the goods should be stopped. But he should bear in mind that if he wishes to ban the entry of all foreign goods, where would he get his machinery from? In the circumstances we cannot ban the entry of foreign goods in toto. With these words I again commend my resolution for the acceptance of the House.

Minister for Development (The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram) (Urdu): Sir, during the discussion on this resolution many things have been imported in to the debate which are not relevant to the motion now before the House, for instance, many honourable members while discussing this resolution brought in the question of foreign and Indian made goods. Similarly the questions of simple living, eradication of unemployment and questions pertaining to urban and rural people were brought in. A discussion of all these things is useful and important in its own place. The question that only Indian made goods should be used and as far as possible the use of articles made in foreign countries should be avoided, is one about which there cannot be two opinions. But instead of discussing the real object of the resolution, if such irrelevant matters are brought in, they cannot, beyond wasting the time of the House, serve any useful purpose. I may make it clear to honourable members that they should not think even for a minute that this Government does not wish to encourage the use of swadeshi articles. I should like to inform them that orders have already been issued by Government to the effect that indigenous goods should be preferred to foreign goods and further that articles manufactured in this province should be preferred to articles made in other provinces. Not only this, the policy of Government is that even if there is a slight difference in quality indigenous articles should be preferred to foreign goods and articles made in our province should be preferred to articles made in other provinces.

Mian Abdul Aziz : Are these instructions merely on paper or are they actually carried into practice?

Minister for Development : They are being actually followed.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : During the last year, that is in 1938, a resolution was unanimously passed.

Minister : At present nothing that happened in 1938 is under discussion.

I wish to say a few words as regards the object underlying the resolution now before the House. But before proceeding with it I would like to point out one thing which pertains to the query made by my honourable friend Mian Abdul Aziz, as to whether this resolution will merely be passed or it will be enforced as well. Another honourable member had expressed similar misgivings and asked if this resolution would only be accepted or it would be carried into effect. I assure this Honourable House that this resolution, if passed will be given effect to such an extent that some of my honourable friends opposite may begin to protest that we are implementing this resolution too quickly. There is no doubt that effective and almost immediate steps would be taken to implement the spirit of the resolution.

Mian Abdul Aziz : Have you brought in this resolution merely to increase the burden of taxes?

Minister : Certainly.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : Chaudhri Sahib, I appreciate your boldness.

Minister : The wording of the resolution is as follows:—

This Assembly recommends to the Government to impose a reasonable duty on the sale of all commercial commodities other than agricultural produce, particularly those the consumption of which is mainly confined to the richer classes.

The real object is clear enough. There is no reference in the resolution to rural and urban people, or men and women or young boys and young girls or old men and old women. Its main object is to find ways and means to increase the revenues of the province.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it a fact that the Government desire to impose a new tax and this resolution is to provide justification for the same?

Minister : Certainly, there is not the slightest doubt about it. The main object underlying this motion is that ways and means should be found out for enhancing the provincial revenues, and, therefore no attempt has been made in the resolution to tie the hands of Government in any manner or to place any limitations on them. It is intended to impose a reasonable tax on the sale of all commercial commodities except agricultural produce. But at the time of levying such duty care will be taken to see that normally only those commercial commodities are taxed the consumption of which is mainly confined to the richer classes. It must be borne in mind that agricultural produce would not be touched by this tax. So there is no room for the real object of this resolution being misunderstood. I may also add that this resolution has been brought forward at the instance and with the full concurrence of the Unionist Party.

The necessity for getting this resolution passed has arisen because Government desired to know the views of the House on this matter. As a matter of fact the intention of Government was to obtain the permission of the House for imposing a tax on the sale of commercial commodities. But I may tell the honourable members that we would take good care to lay the burden of additional taxation on the shoulders of those only who are capable of bearing it.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : What about the amendment to this resolution?

Minister : We have not seen it. It is not in our possession, nor has it been proposed from the chair. At the same time I may candidly tell the honourable members opposite that we are not at all prepared to accept the amendment. We believe in plain speaking. We are not in the habit of making mental reservations or mincing matters. Government have no desire to have their hands tied in this matter. They desire to secure an unqualified verdict of the House for the purpose of imposing a reasonable duty on the sale of commercial commodities specified in the resolution.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : May I know if hand spun and hand woven articles would be subject to a sales tax?

Minister : So far as this resolution is concerned, it undoubtedly invests Government with full powers. But my honourable friend may rest assured that at the time of drafting Bills for levying such duties Government would take all these facts into consideration. But at the present moment Government desire to have a free hand in the matter. My honourable friend can raise this matter when a Bill to this effect is introduced in the House.

Then there is an other matter on which I would like to say a word or two. It is a matter of regret that whatever may be the subject under discussion in the House, the opposition misses no opportunity to attack the poor Ministers. My honourable friend over there had the audacity to accuse the Unionist Ministers that they had got princely bungalows built for themselves. But I may remind him that whereas the estimated cost of Ministers' bungalows here has been 60 thousand rupees, in the United Provinces Ministers' bungalows have been constructed at a cost of 70 thousand rupees. (Hear, hear). (Voices from the opposition benches : Question). My honourable friends question my statement. I refer them to this year's budget of the United Provinces. They can enquire about the correctness of my statement from the officers concerned in the United Provinces.

Besides, I would like to tell the honourable members that there is another reason for raising money through the imposition of this duty. Government intend to spend a large portion of the proceeds thus obtained on the development of industries. But at the same time I may also point out that for this purpose we are not going to tax the zamindars who are already groaning under the crushing burden of land taxes. Naturally it would be the richer classes who will have to bear the brunt. My honourable friend, Mian Abdul Aziz, remarked during his speech that Punjab Government had utterly failed to establish new industries in the province. He said that we had done nothing worth the name to tackle the problem of unemployment. He also stated that innumerable young men were wandering from door to door in search of work. But my honourable friend forgot that it was the lack of funds that stood in our way. I may assure my honourable friend that Government are fully alive to their responsibility in the matter. He enquired why Government could not set apart a sum of twenty or thirty lakhs of rupees for this purpose. The reason is obvious. We are short of funds.

Mian Abdul Aziz : Government could provide two crores of rupees for the Hissar people, but it is a matter of surprise rather pity that they are unable to make any provision for the purpose of establishing new industries.

Minister : It has pained me to hear these words from a gentleman of the position of Mian Sahib. He has totally ignored the miserable plight of the famine stricken people of Hissar. He does not realise what havoc famine has wrought among those unfortunate people. They have lost their all because of this famine. Their cattle perished for want of fodder. They were rendered peniless because their crops totally failed. They could not get food because their crops failed and they had no funds to purchase food. They were forced to knock from door to door in order to earn their livelihood. So it was the bounden duty of Government to make provision for the purpose of alleviating their distress. My honourable friends profess sympathy for the poor but now the cat is out of the bag. However let them understand that no Government can afford to neglect their responsibility towards famine stricken people. Besides we shall have to construct canals, as we have done in other tracts, passing through famine stricken ilaqas and the expenditure will have to be charged to provincial revenues. But so far as the establishment and development of industries is concerned, zamindars cannot be expected to contribute any more to them. Their burden of taxes is already very heavy. But those people would be asked to contribute for this purpose who have not made any financial contribution to the provincial exchequer so far or have made a much lighter contribution as compared with their zamindar brethren.

I think I have made myself quite clear about the object of the resolution. This object is the finding out of ways and means for raising more funds. I assure my honourable friends that Government have full sympathy with the motion under consideration, and will take speedy action in the matter, perhaps, more speedy than my friend Lala Deshbandhu Gupta would relish, and when a Bill to give effect to this resolution is being introduced he will probably cry out 'what on earth was the hurry about this measure?' My friends of the opposition may rest assured that a Bill to tax commercial commodities is coming and will be introduced in the House in the near future. With these words I close my remarks and strongly support the resolution.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : May I put a question through you to the Honourable Minister for Development?

3 P. M.

Is it a fact that the Honourable Minister for Development wrote in the Tribune that in the Punjab, as the conditions are at present, there is no scope for further taxation?

Minister : Yes, from the classes which have been bearing the main portion of the burden of taxation so far.

Mr. Speaker : I have to invite the attention of the House to the honourable Lala Deshbandhu Gupta's amendment which was objected to by honourable members on both sides of the House on the ground that sufficient notice had not been given of it. I disallowed the amendment. Then another amendment was drafted and moved by Mr. Dev Raj Sethi. Now if the House is inclined to waive the objection, I shall gladly allow the amendment and read it to the House.

(Some honourable members : We object to this amendment).

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : You have been accepting such amendments in the past.

Mr. Speaker : If that latitude means that honourable members should always give short notice for amendments, that would place me and the House in an awkward position.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : The honourable member has moved the amendment with your permission.

Mr. Speaker : Even now I have no objection personally. I will read the amendment. The resolution if amended, as proposed, will read as follows :—

This Assembly recommends to the Government to impose a reasonable duty on all articles of luxury particularly those imported from foreign countries.

(Some honourable members objected to the amendment.)

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : You allowed a debate on it and there is no question of objection now.

Mr. Speaker : Objection to an amendment can be taken at any stage. As I did not read it out earlier it may be taken that I did not allow it. I did not propose it to the House.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I requested you to allow me to formally move the amendment and you asked me to put it in writing. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi then moved it. You have been allowing such amendments previously.

Mr. Speaker : Every case should be decided on its merits.
Resolution moved is—

This Assembly recommends to the Government to impose a reasonable duty on the sale of all commercial commodities other than agricultural produce, particularly those the consumption of which is mainly confined to richer classes.

EXEMPTION FROM ATTACHMENT OR SALE OF RESIDENTIAL HOUSES.

Tikka Jagjit Singh Bedi (Montgomery East, Sikh, Rural) (Urdu):
 Sir, I beg to move—

This Assembly recommends to the Government to take necessary steps to exempt from attachment or sale the main residential house of every non-agriculturist judgment-debtor whose total assets do not exceed Rs. 5,000 in value.

Sir, I thought that I might not be able to move my resolution to-day. But it is a great pleasure to me that I have got an opportunity to move my resolution before the House. As it is our foremost duty to extend every possible help towards the poor, may they be agriculturists or non-agriculturists, I have placed this resolution before this House for its approval. As a matter of fact this resolution seeks to help the non-agriculturist judgment-debtor whose total assets do not exceed Rs. 5,000 in value. And I hope that our generous Government would be kind enough to pass this resolution according to its old policy. And I request the other honourable members of the House also to vote for it.

I may also submit that I have seen many cases myself where a non-agriculturist who is very rich to-day has been rendered penniless to-morrow. His ruin has been due to some failure in business or bad luck. Anyhow in some cases the non-agriculturists are put to very great trouble and that is why my resolution seeks to help them and does not go to help big non-agriculturists. Just imagine, when the residential house of a non-agriculturist debtor is attached by his creditor, the poor debtor, his wife and his children are rendered homeless and they have no place to hide their heads. With such cases in view I have tabled this resolution. May I again submit to the Government that if they consider this matter dispassionately they would find that in my resolution there is nothing that may be considered unjust. I, therefore, hope that the Government by accepting this resolution would earn the good wishes of those worried non-agriculturists whose property costs less than Rs. 5,000. With these words I move my resolution.

Mr. Speaker : Resolution moved—

This Assembly recommends to the Government to take necessary steps to exempt from attachment or sale the main residential house of every non-agriculturist judgment-debtor whose total assets do not exceed Rs. 5,000 in value.

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh (Eastern Towns, Sikh, Urban) (Urdu): Sir, I rise to oppose this resolution. Before I proceed with my arguments I want to submit that the honourable mover has committed a great blunder in putting such a resolution before the House. As I am an urban citizen I know many a non-agriculturist and the nature of my trade keeps me in touch with them. I am sure none of them would be in favour of such a resolution as my honourable friend Tikka Sahib has moved.

My arguments against this resolution are more than one. First of all, as we are all aware, almost every business in towns is generally done on credit be it in the shape of trade-loans or pro-notes, hoondies, etc. It invariably happens and the general practice in towns is, that commodities are sold to retail dealers valuing in each case a few hundred rupees as credit in the shape of trade-loans. With the enactment of the proposed law, these trade-loans will automatically cease. I am afraid, my honourable friend the mover of this resolution is not either aware of these hard facts or he is too proud of the majority at his back to take any notice of them. My submission is that the whole of business done in towns is based on credit. Generally small traders get goods worth Rs. 50 or Rs. 100 or Rs. 200 on credit from artiyas or big traders. But when the creditors would find that the property of those persons whose total assets do not exceed Rs. 5,000 could not be attached or sold, even in execution of decrees they would automatically stop selling goods on credit, and the result would be, that trade and business done in towns would come to a dead stop. The creditors under this legislation, if passed, will insist on selling everything on cash and this would eventually result in utter ruination of trade. The poor small trader will be deprived of his credit, and will be put to endless difficulties to finance his business. With his credit gone, he may have to close his doors, with nothing left to him to feed the hungry and starving, who depend on him. Will it be doing him a good turn? I, therefore, submit that the honourable mover was ill-advised in bringing this resolution. If he had taken advice from the non-agriculturists and had consulted them, he would never have tabled such a mischievous resolution. I should warn my honourable friends sitting on the ministerial benches with a big majority at their back, that if this measure results, as I fully believe, it will, in killing the poor man's trade and taking away from him the only means of his subsistence, the responsibility will be of the Government and Government alone.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the Chair and Mr. Deputy Speaker occupied it.)

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh (Amritsar North, Sikh, Rural) (Punjabi) : Sir, I wish to amend the resolution which has been moved by my honourable friend Tikka Jagjit Singh Bedi. My amendment is as follows :—

That in line 4, between the words "exceed" and "in" for the figure "Rs. 5,000" figures "Rs. 1,000" be substituted.

It means that all the residential houses of non-agricultural judgment-debtors whose total assets do not exceed Rs. 1,000 in value would be exempt from attachment or sale.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Sardar Sohan Singh Josh wants to move an amendment of which no regular notice has been given. It has been handed over to the Chair just now. The amendment is "read Rs. 1,000" for Rs. 5,000 in the last line in Resolution No. 4". Is there any objection to this amendment being moved?

Nawabzada Muhammad Fayaz Ali Khan : I object to it.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Then I am sorry I cannot allow because no notice was given.

Diwan Chaman Lall : I understand that Mr. Speaker did accept certain amendments. Mere objection on the part of an honourable member in this case does not necessarily rob the Deputy Speaker of his authority to see that the business of the House would be better conducted by a sitting and if an honourable member says that he raises an objection, then that does not necessarily follow that the Deputy Speaker cannot waive that objection.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I have the discretion to do so but because certain honourable members object to it, therefore, I do not allow it.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : My amendment has been ruled out of order. I, therefore, think that the resolution as it stands, will not be able to give any benefit or relief to poor non-agriculturist judgment-debtors. It simply says that the residential houses of only those judgment-debtors would be exempt from attachment or sale whose total assets do not exceed Rs. 5,000 in value. In my opinion this limit of Rs. 5,000 would benefit those who own big houses and live in great style. A man of ordinary means does not possess assets to this extent. As a matter of fact our object is to help only the owners of small houses who really need protection and who live in rural areas.

Besides, I wish to point out to my honourable friends who are opposing this resolution, that some persons whose residential houses were attached and who were turned out of their houses, asked me to do something in that behalf so that their houses should be exempted from attachment or sale. Now a resolution to this effect has been moved by a Unionist member.

But obviously this resolution has been introduced for the benefit of the richer sections. Had my amendment been accepted we would have also voted in favour of it. But the resolution as it stands is intended to benefit the richer sections of non-agriculturists. And in the circumstances I am constrained to oppose it.

Raja Fateh Khan (Rawalpindi East, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, when the resolution was being moved I was under the impression that the Opposition party which has so far been pleading the cause of the poor non-agriculturists would support the resolution now before the house. But I was literally taken aback when I found that the so-called champions of the poor non-agriculturists are now opposing a resolution which is intended to protect the residential houses of non-agriculturist judgment-debtors from attachment or sale. This attitude on the part of my honourable friends opposite reminds me of a Punjabi adage which is as follows:

مولوي كرم دين بھيان دا نه پتران دا نه دھيان دا
نه سنڀان دا نه شيعان دا نه روپيان دا نه وهيان دا

(Loud Laughter.)

I am also reminded of a couplet by Sir Muhammad Iqbal which is as follows:

خند خندا نست وبا کس يار نيست
مار اگر خنده شود جز مار نيست

Even when a serpent is out on frolic it retains its essential character and nature.

It is a matter of great surprise that previously this criticism was levelled on the Government that it had no sympathy for the non-agriculturists. But now when a resolution has been tabled by the Government to give relief to the non-agriculturist judgment-debtors, my friends are again opposing it on the plea that in this way the sahu-kars would be debarred from realizing their debts by attaching or selling their residential houses. In my opinion the following verse aptly applies to them:

از ضعيفان نان ربودن حکمت است۔ گر کے اندر پوستين بڑا
ازين شان جان ربودن حکمت است۔ مر زمان اندر کمين بڑا

In my opinion my friends over there have come out in their true colours and to-day they have proved this fact beyond any doubt that they are neither a friend of the poor agriculturists nor a friend of the poor non-agriculturists. However, I am pleased that our Government who have at heart the welfare of the poor, have treated the poor alike. With these words I support the resolution now before the House.

Begum Rashida Latif Baji (Inner Lahore, Muhammadan, Women, Urban,) (Urdu): Sir, the resolution now before the House seeks to exempt the already encumbered houses belonging to the non-agriculturists from sale or attachment. I would like to inform the honourable members that these houses are not usually worth one thousand rupees or so. The buildings in cities are undoubtedly costly and expensive, as generally the non-agriculturists live in the cities. Sir, I have not been able to understand the logic of the amendment moved by the honourable member opposite. It seeks to exempt the residential houses of only those non-agriculturist judgment-debtors whose total assets do not exceed Rs. 1,000 but ignores the case of those whose total assets amount to about Rs. 5,000. It is, therefore, obvious that honourable members over there have absolutely no sympathy for non-agriculturists. Let us see how the representatives of the urban people, I mean, Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt and his friends oppose this very sound resolution. I would ask the honourable Leader of the Opposition as to whom he represents in this House. I think it would not be out of place if I submit that we should not care for our personal interests. We are here to represent the case of our constituents. We have to voice their feelings and ventilate their grievances before this House. (Hear, hear). Strictly speaking our personal interests should not stand in the way of larger interests of the people. I would go a step further and say that even if we have to suffer a loss of ten thousand rupees in attempting to do good to the poor, we should not mind it. I heartily congratulate my brother Tikka Jagjit Singh who due to his profound sympathy for the non-agriculturists, has brought forward this useful resolution. (Hear, hear).

The honourable members must be aware of the fact that in cities there is a large number of people who are heavily indebted. Their residential houses are already mortgaged. In these days when living is so very hard and means of income are few and far between, it is very difficult for these people to redeem their mortgaged property. They are unable to meet the expenses of their family even. I may also point out that usually the women have great attachment for their hereditary houses and in fact these are their chief concern. Men can do without houses. You might have seen poor houseless labourers sleeping on the projecting platforms of shops. But women do feel the necessity for a shelter. I, therefore, thank the honourable mover on behalf of women for bringing forward this resolution, and I would appeal to the honourable members over there that they should lend their whole-hearted support to this resolution in the interest of women. They should realize the feelings of those mothers and sisters who have been rendered homeless because their residential houses were attached in lieu of certain debts. One cannot comprehend how unhappy they feel. I may also add that in cities no person is considered respectable whose house is attached. As a matter of fact a person is respected only if he lives in his hereditary residential house and in his own mohalla. I am sure the honourable members are fully aware of these facts. I, therefore, fail to understand why those honourable members who have been returned by the urban people, are bent upon opposing this resolution. On the one hand they express their profound sympathy for their constituents while on the other they are out to bring about their ruin. Are they not aware that the non-agriculturist debtors are groaning under the crushing burden of debts? I would request the honourable members that we should at least endeavour to protect them from being ejected out of their houses and see that their residential houses are not attached. As I have already stated they are so heavily indebted that they are not in a position to redeem their mortgaged property. In fact their debt goes on piling up by leaps and bounds. A capital amount of one thousand rupees at an exorbitant rate of interest accumulates into several thousands in no time.

Besides, the resolution enjoins the creditor that he can realize his debt by attaching any property other than the residential house. There is clearly an advantage that would accrue to the people and that is that in future those persons who mortgage their residential house on the occasion of marriages of their children and indulge in all sorts of extravagances would be debarred from doing so. They would not be able to spend recklessly on certain rites as nobody would be prepared to mortgage their residential houses. Consequently their social life is bound to improve. But supposing they are faced with such a contingency that they cannot do without borrowing, then in that case they can sell their residential houses instead of mortgaging them. I am of the opinion that it is thousand times better to sell a house than to mortgage it because in that case the question of payment of interest would not arise. With these words I strongly support the resolution under discussion.

Captain Sodhi Harnam Singh (Ferozepore North, Sikh, Rural). (Urdu): Sir, I was under the impression that this resolution would appeal to the good sense of all the honourable members and nobody would oppose this harmless proposition. But it has shocked me to find my non-agriculturist friends on the opposite benches opposing it tooth and nail, merely because the Unionist Government is extending its helping hand to the poor non-agriculturists. The object of the resolution is to benefit the non-agriculturists whether residing in the rural or urban areas. It is intended to exempt from attachment or sale the main residential house of every non-agriculturist judgment-debtor whose total assets do not exceed rupees five thousand in value. But my honourable friend Sardar Sohan Singh Josh has proposed that only those non-agriculturist judgment-debtors should receive the benefit, the value of whose total assets does not exceed Rs. 1,000. I am afraid I must express my dissent with my honourable friend's proposal. He must realize that there is a large number of non-agriculturist debtors in the cities as well as in the villages. I may tell my friend that in rural areas the value of 12 or 13 acres of land comes to three or four thousand rupees. Of course in the cities the houses do fetch high prices. But if we narrow down the scope of the resolution, that is, limit the value of total assets to Rs. 1,000 then those people to whom Government also want to render help, would be deprived of it for no fault of theirs. The number of non-agriculturist debtors, the value of whose assets does not exceed Rs. 5,000, is not so small as my honourable friends consider it to be. I, therefore, submit that the Unionist Government intend to safeguard the interests of the non-agriculturist judgment-debtors in the same way as they did in the case of agriculturists in protecting them from the clutches of the sahukar. As a matter of fact our Government want to save the poor non-agriculturist debtor from utter ruin. I hope that saner counsels would prevail with the honourable members opposite and they would withdraw their opposition to this wholesome proposition. With these words I support the motion under discussion.

Lala Bhagat Ram Choda (Jullundur, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir it appears from the resolution now before the House that under the guise of showing sympathy to the poor non-agriculturists, the Government have tried to administer a severe blow to their credit. I may submit that if Government were really desirous of helping the poor non-agriculturists, they could do so in several other ways. I am of the opinion that a systematic attempt has been made to render the poor non-agriculturists homeless by destroying their credit (Voices from the Government benches : "No, No.") and also to drive a wedge among them. I may point out that the amendment moved by my honourable friend Sardar Sohan Singh Josh, is quite reasonable. If Government genuinely desire to help them as they profess to do, they should accept that amendment, and curtail the limit of the value of assets to Rs. 1,000. I may add that in villages those people whose assets are valued at Rs. 1,000 are not regarded as indigent ; what to speak of those the value of whose assets comes to rupees five thousand. They are considered to be sufficiently rich in the rural areas. Besides, those people who possess assets worth five thousand rupees leave the villages and take up their abodes in the cities because they consider themselves unsafe in view of frequent dacoities and the changed attitude of the zamindars on account of the enforcement of black Bills. I wonder if the number of non-agriculturist debtors, the value of whose assets does not exceed five thousand rupees, is sufficiently large. My honourable sister, Begum Rashida Latif Baji, was pleased to remark that the resolution would prove very beneficial to the non-agriculturists residing in the cities. May I point out to the honourable lady member that only a small number of non-agriculturists living in the towns possess houses of their own ? They generally reside in rented houses and do business on the basis of credit. The big business houses advance them goods on credit, because they know that the latter possess assets worth two or three thousand rupees. The case of the zamindars is quite different, and there is no comparison between them and the people residing in towns. If any of their subsidiary occupations is stopped how would they be able to pull on and maintain themselves. Their children will curse the Unionist Government for snatching their bread from their hands.

The Bills that the Government has recently passed, evidently for the benefit of the zamindars, have resulted in stopping their credit. They cannot borrow money without selling their land, and have to resort to dishonest methods. You are also making the non-agriculturist take to dishonest dealings. My submission is that the present Government is bent upon annihilating them. They are not prepared to give any quarter to the non-agriculturists and the town-folk in the Punjab. How will a non-agriculturist who has got no land to till, be able to earn his living ? The poor fellow is at present living on borrowings but in spite of all this, my honourable friend the Chaudhri Sahib says that his eyes are dazzled when he visits the city. But he does not know that this whole edifice rests upon the rock of credit. Even if a shop keeper has started his business with one or two thousand rupees he does not earn enough to make both ends meet, but now the Government wants to deny him even that much by imposing this restriction upon him. This Government never tires of professing sympathy for the poor zamindars, but it is bent upon destroying poor people living in the towns. You talk of five thousand, but poor people do not possess houses so valuable as that.

It is only the bungalows that are worth so much. Perhaps the property of my friend is in danger of being attached that is why he has brought forward this resolution. The Government has shown itself in its true colours. A poor man is a poor man whether he is an agriculturist or a non-agriculturist. If a poor man needs a sum of two hundred rupees he has to mortgage property worth about a thousand. Wealthy people should help the poor. If it is the intention of the Government to help the rich then they should declare that they do not want to help the poor.

This Government is an agent of "White masters" and for its own interest tries to create divergence and antagonism between the villagers and town-dwellers on the one hand and the agriculturists and non-agriculturists on the other. With these words Sir, I oppose the resolution.

Sardar Partab Singh (Amritsar, Sikh, Rural) (Punjabi): Sir, I rise to oppose the resolution now under discussion and support the amendment moved from this side of the House. (Voices: No amendment has been moved). Very well then I only oppose the resolution.

I beg to submit, Sir, that the object of this resolution, i.e., the exemption from attachment or sale of the main residential house of every non-agriculturist judgment-debtor whose total assets do not exceed Rs. 5,000 in value, does not in any way help the non-agriculturists. It rather imposes a restriction on them and seems to have a baneful effect.

It is well known that the non-agriculturists mainly depend on credit for their commercial undertakings. With the exception of their residential houses they have no other property on the security of which they can borrow money. If in accordance with the resolution the limit is fixed at Rs. 5,000 the petty trades people will not be able to get money for the purpose of investing it in their trades. It was in order to check this danger and to enable the petty trader to get credit, that my honourable friend Sardar Sohan Singh Josh suggested the limit to be reduced to Rs. 1,000. Otherwise, how is the non-agriculturist to carry on his trade when we know that he has no land to fall back upon for his subsistence.

Now, Sir, so far as the business of money lending is concerned it is our firm belief that so long as the Government does not promote the commercial policy known as laissez faire, the pace of trade and commerce in the Punjab can not be quickened. This policy holds that business classes should be given a free hand in their commercial activities. Similarly we believe that no restrictions should be imposed on the lendings and borrowings of those whose property is worth more than Rs. 1,000.

This condition of Rs. 5,000 which is being imposed by this resolution will in reality be a stumbling block in the way of the petty businessman. The money-lender is in no case going to risk his money by lending it to a person who does not possess property worth more than Rs. 5,000. If, as suggested, the condition was only of Rs. 1,000 the small businessman could easily get the required loan, and in that case even those people who have property worth two, three or four thousand rupees and are now debarred from getting any credit will benefit by this reduction of the limit.

[Sardar Partab Singh.]

The Government is going to do a great injustice to such people who do not possess any land and are now going to be deprived of even that small trade which supports them and their families. Mr. Speaker, do you think any bank or money-lender will lend any sum to those people? What is the security on which he can risk his money? These petty tradesmen who merely eke out their existence through business on a very small scale will be utterly ruined if this resolution is accepted. Here is an opportunity for the Government to give a practical proof of their oft quoted claim of the Punjab leading all other provinces in beneficial activities. Let the petty tradesmen be afforded facilities to pursue their trades in such a manner as to give a lead to other provinces.

The Government says it has sympathy for the non-agriculturists living in rural areas. We also feel for them but this is not the way to show sympathy as the Government is showing.

It appears that the honourable member who moved this resolution could not faithfully serve the interests of the zamindars and having realized that, he has tried to whitewash his own and the Unionist Party's omissions and commissions by moving this resolution and parading himself as a champion of the non-agriculturists. He probably wants to show to the world outside that in spite of his being a member of Sir Chhotu Ram's party he has come forward with a resolution which seeks to help the non-agriculturists, but Sardar Sohan Singh Josh and Partab Singh have opposed it.

It is only proper for the Government that before it imposes that restriction on the people whom it is going to ruin they should be called upon to give their opinion on this resolution. The prestige of our province is in the hands of these petty traders and the Government are bent upon destroying this prestige by cleverly passing this resolution in the House.

With these words I strongly oppose this resolution.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood (Parliamentary Secretary) (Urdu): Sir, I am sure that this day would stand memorable for ever in the annals of the Punjab Assembly. It would be so because to-day the honourable Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh, the president of the capitalists non-agriculturists Conference, Sardar Sohan Singh Josh, the so-called socialist and pretender-senior of the cause of the poor and Sardar Partab Singh, the Congress worker, have all exposed themselves by making speeches in favour of the capitalists and wealthy persons affected by this resolution who render the poor debtors homeless by obtaining usurious decrees against them. (Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : مان نالوں دیجلی) They have championed the cause of richer classes in a very clumsy manner. Let them realize that it is not the object of the honourable mover of the resolution that every residential house valued at Rs. 5,000 belonging to a judgment-debtor should be exempted from attachment or sale. The resolution aims at protecting against attachment and sale, the residential house of such persons only whose total assets do not exceed Rs. 5,000 in value. These assets would include even the trinkets of their wives and the clothes of their children. And it does not mean only the actual price of the house. Its value may be Rs. 200, 300 or Rs. 1,000. The object of this resolution is to save the wife and children of such a judgment-debtor from the misery of homelessness. I wish that such a useful and healthy resolution had not been opposed by our friends opposite. My honourable friend Sardar Sohan Singh Josh has frequently said among the agriculturists that the recent agrarian Bills had been passed into law simply to enable the big landlords to devour the smaller ones. I ask him in all seriousness as to what has happened to his socialistic hue and cry now that the present resolution aims at saving the smaller fishes from being swallowed by the big capitalists. It should not be understood that this resolution, if adopted, would only be applicable to rural areas. But on the other hand it would be equally applicable to the rural as well as the urban areas. It has been stated that this resolution would give a great set back to trade and commerce in the province. If that were the real objection of my friends opposite they would have requested the Government that it should make certain provisos to safeguard and promote bona fide and legitimate commerce in the province. But on the other hand they have exposed themselves by mis-interpreting the object of the resolution on the floor of the House. I request Sardar Sohan Singh Josh to consider calmly and dispassionately as to whether he would support a creditor approaching the poor debtor's house with a decree in his hand and turning the latter's wife and children out of their home. Let him search his conscience as to whether the attitude adopted by him to-day is compatible with his socialistic views.

Similarly my honourable friend, Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh has remarked that this resolution would do great harm to healthy trade and commerce in the province, and that Government should not accept it. I challenge him to ascertain general opinion of his urban constituency on this very issue and find out what his electorate thinks of it. I am sure they would whole-heartedly support our view point in the matter. If the honourable members opposite had suggested that only such judgment-debtors should be given the benefit of the resolution whose assets do not exceed Rs. 5,000 and the residential house or portion thereof protected does not exceed Rs. 1,000 or so in value there might have been some justification. But they have failed to move such an amendment. Similarly I fail to understand the attitude of Sardar Partab Singh who does not want to save even a house worth Rs. 200 or 300.

Furthermore, Sir, it has been stated that people possessing property worth Rs. 5,000 would not be able to borrow money for business purposes. My submission is that this is a fallacious argument and if it should prove a hinderance we are always at liberty to amend the law. On the other hand I think that a man possessing assets worth Rs. 5,000 would be in no worse position to borrow money for business purposes against the security of his other property or he can sell his house of his own volition. The economic condition of the debtors in urban classes, no less than in rural classes, calls for immediate redress. If helping hand is not extended to them at this critical juncture, economic disintegration threatens to follow in its wake. I would simultaneously urge that Government should provide suitable banking facilities to give restricted credit to the classes affected by this resolution.

In the end, Sir, I offer my hearty congratulations to the honourable Tikka Jagjit Singh on moving such a beneficial resolution. Although it is not a comprehensive one yet it will make a good start. I would further urge that the Government should see that the poor judgment-debtors in urban areas are not given protection under the present resolution but also allowed to enjoy all the protection afforded to rural classes such as the damdopat system and the provisions of the Debt Conciliation Boards. With these words, Sir, I whole-heartedly support the resolution under consideration.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang (West Lahore Division, General, Rural): Sir, just now Sardar Sohan Singh Josh referred to a Punjabi proverb which means that if a woman loves another's child better than its mother, there must be some sinister motive in it. I am not referring to the honourable lady member who spoke on this resolution. All I can say about her is that she is sadly mistaken about the aim and object and import of this resolution and I entirely sympathise with her and greatly appreciate the kind and sympathetic sentiments that she expressed. When I refer to this proverb I intend to apply it, and I think Sardar Sohan Singh Josh also intended to apply it to the Unionist Party.

The resolution which is now before this House must be assumed to have the imprimature of the Unionist party if it was not actually drawn up by the defacto leader of the Unionist party, I mean the Honourable Minister for Development. Sir, that reminds me of the Persian verse which my friend has just now quoted :

من خوب می شناسم یزراں یار سارا

He wanted to imply that he fully understood the object of the mover of this resolution. I should not like to say anything harsh or hard about the mover of the resolution. But I must say that he is himself the victim of a great misunderstanding and hallucination, if he has not actually been put up as a tool by the powers that be. Sir, you will probably remember the well known saying in England, "beware of Greek gifts."

When the war between the Trojans and the Greeks was going on, the Greeks made a very big wooden horse which was hollow inside, filled it with some of their best fighters and then closed the door keeping small perforations for ventilation and decorated and painted it most beautifully and moved it to just near the city walls during the night and left it there. On it they had written, "a present from the Greeks" or something like that. The Trojans who looked at it were struck by its beauty and they did not realize what the gift was going to be. So they took the horse within the walls of the city of Troy which were hitherto impregnable to the Greeks. Now the Greeks as soon as they found that they had been taken to a place of vantage, they opened the door of this moving fortress and about a hundred of them or so fully armed to the teeth and protected with coats of mail, came out and took the Trojans by surprise and thus this Greek gift resulted in the ruin of the Trojans. The whole city was set on fire. Now as Sardar Partab Singh pointed out the Honourable Minister or any one else who inspired this resolution, had probably two objects in view. One was to throw dust in the eyes of the non-agriculturists. The second was to drive a wedge into their ranks. This is a sort of inducement thrown before their eyes and it is an attempt to create an impression upon their minds that the Honourable Minister for Development or the Unionist party and their agents are innocent and are not confining their energies and activities to the advancement of the interests of the agriculturists alone but have the welfare of the non-agriculturists as well at heart. I can only say :—

عنائے تو بہ لقاے تو

You can keep this Greek gift to yourself. The non-agriculturists are not such fools as not to see through the game which the Unionist ministry is seeking to play through one of their members. As I have said, he may be an innocent victim. He might be actually mistaken. He might have had good intentions. But if he was moved by good intentions I sympathise with him and like a brother I would tell him that he was ill-advised in bringing forward this resolution and I shall tell him the reasons. Now in the first place everybody, including Baji Sahiba, referred to towns. They said, " Oh, the houses in towns are worth more than Rs. 5,000 " and so on, although that was more or less irrelevant. They forget that only 10 per cent of the population lived in towns and the non-agriculturists are nearly 50 per cent of the total population and even if we were to assume that the whole population of towns consists of non-agriculturists, then it would mean that at least about 40 per cent of them live in villages and you know the condition of the non-agriculturists living in villages. They are as poor as their agriculturist brethren. In fact they are even poorer than the agriculturists, because the agriculturist has at least his land whereas these poor people have as a rule no lands and their houses are not worth much. You know they have no money. (Interruption). Whatever money they had, they have given to my friend and his friends and they have only the papers which they can lick at their leisure. (Laughter). They derive what consolation they can by looking at their bahis, their bonds and their pro-notes. They have no money, but they have only papers which my friends fully know, and that is why they say and the Honourable Premier also remarked only the other day that he had wiped out debts amounting to crores and crores of rupees because he knew that those papers now are not worth anything, not worth even the price of so much raddi. They are worthless papers. Therefore it cannot be said that people in the cities would suffer in this way and would become homeless and so on. I fully appreciate the very sincere and deep hearted sympathy expressed by Baji Sahiba for those who might be rendered homeless. No one likes that anybody should be rendered homeless, be he an agriculturist or a non-agriculturist. But a little reflection would have convinced Baji Sahiba that this resolution, if put in the form of law, would be the surest way of rendering people homeless. Probably she did not realize it. Otherwise she would have joined this side in opposing this resolution. I tell her how it is that this resolution, if made law, would render the non-agriculturists homeless. She should know and honourable members including Mir Maqbool Mahmood should know, that these non-agriculturists are as a rule and on the whole landless people, because they have been precluded from buying land and under the recent legislation, what little land they possessed as mortgagees is also being taken away from them so that they have only their little business of shop-keeping now to fall back upon. (Interruption). That sahuکار business is also gone and my zamindar friends are happy because they feel much lighter than they did a few years ago because all their debts have been wiped out and their enthusiasm and earnestness and zealous support of the Government has brought them their reward. But what about the poor non-agriculturists? He has only his shop with a small business. Can that business be carried on without money and if he is poor, where is that money to come from? If his credit is lost and the Government intend to apply the spirit of the Land Alienation Act to the houses of the non-agriculturists, what would be the result? (Interruption). Now, Sir, when a non-agriculturist knows that he cannot carry on business without borrowing, he is bound to borrow. He is forced to borrow and what are his assets? On what basis, on what security can he borrow? Mir Maqbool Mahmood says that Rs. 5,000 does not refer to his house, it refers to his ornaments, it refers to his books and clothes of himself and his children and all that must be taken into consideration. He is a lawyer and he ought to know that so far as the Hindu non-agriculturists are concerned, they are governed generally by Hindu law. In fact they are presumed to be governed by Hindu law and it is not men who wear jewellery. They might have a watch or so whether of gold or silver or anything else. But jewellery is generally worn by women and if the wife has some jewellery it is her property, it is her Stridhan and it would not be included in the man's assets. If it is included what happens if a creditor wants to proceed against a non-agriculturist judgment-debtor? The latter if he wants to escape execution of decree against him, is not going to disclose what jewellery his wife wears or his daughters wear. Then will the creditors bank upon the Primer of English or Manual of Grammar or some other text-book which that debtor's son is reading or his son's shirts and pyjamas? How are these assets to be ascertained?

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : Another house.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Then make an amendment to be seriously considered in a proper form. Then the amendment moved by my honourable friend was not accepted by this House. Some honourable members from that side stood up and said 'No, we object, because due notice was not given.' If these people were honest and really had some sympathy for the non-agriculturists, as they profess to have, they should have accepted at least the amendment which was moved by my honourable friend Sardar Sohan Singh Josh. But they wanted just to parade their sympathy and not to arrive at a workable solution of the difficulty, if there is any difficulty at all. Then, again, remember Rs. 5,000 is not a small sum. Tikka Sahib is a rich man. He is a big landlord and he may have any number of houses, but people would be lucky who have some little house to hide their heads. It is not many people who have even one house even a small house. How many non-agriculturists, I ask him and ask my honourable friends, how many non-agriculturists in the Punjab are there whose total assets exceed Rs. 5,000? I challenge my honourable friend to prove that there are more than five per cent or seven per cent of them. Even if we assume their number to be ten per cent, what becomes of the 90 per cent whose assets do not go up to Rs. 5,000? (Interruption). Listen to me. Ninety per cent of the people are to be debarred from raising debts on the only security they may possess in a tangible form, namely a house. What will happen? I ask Baji Sahiba to listen carefully, she was anxious to see that no one is turned out of his house and I say that this is the surest way of turning people out of their houses. If she would listen to me, she would understand that when a person cannot raise a debt by mortgage or otherwise, and has to meet a necessity either for carrying on his business or for something else, the only alternative left to him would be to sell his house and in this way more people would be turned out of their houses, than if this resolution or any legislation based on this resolution were not passed. So, if she really wants that no one should be turned out of his house and should be enabled to carry on his little business on the security the only tangible security, of his house, she should have opposed this resolution, otherwise she will see before her eyes in her own Mohalla, if she has any poor trader living there, that he will have to sell his house and go out, because without selling his house—he would not be able to carry on his business.

Begum Rashida Latif Baji : Sir, through you I wish to convey to the honourable member that we Muhammadans regard the taking or giving of interest as haram.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Now the honourable lady member has imported Shariat into the debate. We are not followers of Shariat and therefore we are not bound. We consider the paying of interest and taking of interest not haram and we believe that without this system no business can be carried on and that the economic backwardness of the Muslims is due to this prejudice.

Pir Akbar Ali : No.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : This is one of the causes of the backwardness of the Muslims, but I would not go into this question. My friends are welcome not to take any interest, but they are bound to pay interest and the Government itself pays interest. In Muslim countries, Muslim governments pay interest. It is not a thing without which any government or any country can carry on business. Muslim Government here is also charging interest.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Honourable member's time is over.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : One word about the hamdardi shown, the sympathy that the non-agriculturist has begun to be shown from the 1st of April 1937 and is being shown every day from the first of April 1937 up to day. All those black Bills, some of which are now Acts are a standing monument to the sympathy of the Unionist Government for the poor non-agriculturists of this province! All the little they had has been taken away from them.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker resumed the chair).

If they were not in Government and if they had done what they have done, they would have been hanged for dacoity and robbery.

(Laughter from the Treasury benches). It will lead to impoverishment and death of so many people. This is the sympathy that you have shown. Even in this resolution I can trace the hands of the greatest sympathiser of the non-agriculturists, Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram. All these resolutions No. 2 and this one and No. 9 and No. 10 were probably all drafted by him or at least inspired by him. We have long been hearing of death duties.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : No. 2 is by Mrs. Duni Chand.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : I meant No. 3 which was moved by Rana Nasrullah Khan.

Premier : He said he will say just one word.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Have I said more than one word?

I thought the Honourable Speaker may also hear what I have to say, because he has not yet stopped me. You are wasting time now and every minute costs. This is what I wanted to say and I warn the non-agriculturists of this province not to be misled, not to be deceived by this lip sympathy and hypocritical sympathy of the Unionist Government. It is intended to throw dust in their eyes, it is intended to drive a wedge in their ranks. I hope they are sensible enough to see through the game of the Unionist Government so far as this matter is concerned.

Premier (The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan): Sir, I was not surprised to hear the rather eloquent and pointed speech of my honourable friend opposite on this resolution. The arguments which he adduced to-day were every one of them identical with the arguments which he adduced when similar measures were before this House to afford relief to agriculturists. Even then he was vehement trying to convince this House that the poor agriculturists would be ruined and would not be able to borrow if these Bills were passed. At that time one of the arguments was why protect the agriculturists only, what about the poor non-agriculturists. That was the burden of their speeches at that time and now when one of the members on this side has moved a resolution which directly benefits the poor non-agriculturists my honourable friend gets up and adduces exactly the same argument which he advanced against the so-called black Bills.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : That argument has not yet been proved incorrect. Time will show that it was correct.

Premier : It has proved incorrect. Moreover it has prompted my honourable friend's speech or at least has affected my honourable friend Sardar Sohan Singh Josh because he has to-day spoken against the resolution. I was surprised that a socialist should speak against the resolution which seeks to benefit poor people. (Interruptions). I am not aware whether this change in the attitude has taken place since—

Mr. Speaker : May I know whether the honourable member has yet to make a long speech or the Resolution under discussion is to be put to vote to-day?

WAR RESOLUTION.

Premier (The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan): Sir, to-morrow we will take up the War Resolution and it has been decided, in consultation with my honourable friend, the Leader of the Opposition, that there should be no question hour to-morrow as well as on Monday. We will take up the whole of to-morrow for this resolution and instead of adjourning at 7 o'clock, we shall adjourn at 7-30, with a short break of half-an-hour at about 6 o'clock to enable the Muslim members to break their fast. We will then sit till 7.30 to-morrow and then resume the discussion on Monday for 2 hours. The question hour will be dispensed with on that day also and we will put to vote, if the House so desires, the resolution at about 2 o'clock on Monday.

Mr. Speaker : What about adjournment motions ?

Premier : No adjournment motion will be taken up to-morrow.

Since the resolution on war was originally given notice of and is to be moved from this side of the House, I thought that the time of 6½ hours should be divided according to the proportional strength of various parties ; and at the special request of my honourable friend, the Leader of the Opposition, but not to form a precedent I have decided that we should give them 3 hours and take a little over 3 hours for ourselves. I have asked my Whip to submit a list of the honourable members, who will speak from this side of the House, and also to indicate the time which each honourable member will take, and I hope the Whips of the other parties will also do the same.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : I may submit that the Leader of our party has not left any instructions or mentioned to anybody that on Monday only 2 hours will be given. We will take up this question on Monday.

Premier : You might take it from me that my statement is correct. We will take up 2 hours on Monday and no more.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : Sometimes there is a misunderstanding.

Premier : There is no misunderstanding in regard to this. In any case I am not going to allow more than two hours on Monday.

The Assembly then adjourned till 2.30 p. m. on Friday, 3rd November, 1939.

PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

SIXTH SESSION OF THE FIRST PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Friday, 3rd November, 1939.

*The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at 2-30 p. m. of the clock.
Mr. Speaker in the Chair.*

UNSTARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

RECRUITMENT OF MAYOS IN POLICE DEPARTMENT.

848. Chaudhri Muhammad Abdul Rahman Khan : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state as to how many Mayos resident in the Punjab have so far been taken in the Police Department from 1937 up to the present date ?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : A reference is invited to the answer given to Question *4076¹ put by the honourable member for the South-East Gurgaon (Muhammadan) Rural Constituency during the last Budget Session.

RENDERING OF HELP TO FAMINE-STRICKEN AREA OF THE FIROZPUR-JHIRKA TAHSIL.

849. Chaudhri Muhammad Abdul Rahman Khan : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state as to what steps the Punjab Government is going to take to help the people in the famine-stricken areas in the Firozpur-Jhirka tahsil, and whether any sum has been allotted for the purpose ; if so, what ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : At present thanks to the latter rains the situation has somewhat improved.

RELIEF TO THE CULTIVATORS OF TAHSIL AJNALA.

850. Khan Sahib Chaudhri Fazal Din : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether he is aware of the fact that due to scarcity of rains the maize and fodder crops this year have failed in tahsil Ajnala, district Amritsar ; if so, what relief Government intends to grant to the cultivators of this tahsil ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : The crops are reported to have suffered somewhat.

The question of granting relief will be considered after the results of the girdawari are known.

COMMUNAL REPRESENTATION IN STAFF OF THE DEPUTY COMMISSIONER, HISSAR.

851. Chaudhri Suraj Mal : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the total number of employees in the office of the Deputy Commissioner, Hissar, along with their names, names of the districts to which they originally belong, their educational qualifications ;
- (b) the total number of Hindu zamindars among those employees ;
- (c) whether it is a fact that the Hindu zamindars are not properly represented on the staff in the said office of the Deputy Commissioner, Hissar ;
- (d) whether it is also a fact that the District Zamindar League, Hissar, sometime ago, agitated for a due share of the zamindars in the establishment of the said office ;
- (e) if the answers to (c) and (d) above be in the affirmative, the action that the Government proposes to take to give the Hindu zamindars their due share ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : The information is not readily available and the amount of labour and time involved in its collection would not be commensurate with the results obtained. I shall, however, always be prepared to examine any particular instance of disproportionate representation which honourable member may wish to bring to my notice in a more informal way.

COMMUNAL REPRESENTATION IN STAFF OF THE OFFICE OF DISTRICT AND SESSIONS JUDGE, HISSAR.

852. Chaudhri Suraj Mal : Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) the total number community-wise of the clerks at present working in the office of the District and Sessions Judge at Hissar along with the places to which they originally belong and their educational qualifications ;
- (b) the number of Hindu zamindars among them ;
- (c) whether it is a fact that the Hindu zamindars are very poorly represented in the office of the said District and Sessions Judge, Hissar ;
- (d) whether it is a fact that a representation was recently made by the zamindars of the Hissar district requesting the authorities to give the Hindu zamindars their due representation in that office ; if so, what does Government intend to do to give the Hindu zamindars their proper share in that office ?

The Honourable Mr. Monohar Lal : (a) A statement is appended.

(b) One.

(c) Yes.

(d) Yes. A representation of the kind mentioned was recently made to the District Judge, Hissar. The District Judge has promised to bear the matter in mind when vacancies are being filled.

SUB-SOIL WATER.

853. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether the general sub-soil water level has gone down in any area of the Punjab as a result of the installation of tube-wells ; if so, what steps do Government propose to take in the matter ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : Tube wells have not been worked in sufficient numbers to affect general sub-soil water level but the possibility exists if wells are allowed to multiply unduly in certain districts. Government is watching the situation.

ANTI-BLINDNESS WEEK AND EXAMINATION OF THE EYES OF BONA FIDE STUDENTS IN AMBALA AND KARNAL.

854. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of bona fide students whose eyes were examined by teachers or doctors in the districts of Ambala and Karnal, respectively, in connexion with the Anti-Blindness week organized by the Government during the last financial year ;
- (b) the number of students who were found short sighted ;
- (c) the number of students for whom spectacles were provided in these two districts by the education authorities through their parents or out of school Red Cross funds, respectively ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : I regret that the answer to the question is not ready.

NATURE OF THE DUTIES OF C. I. D. OFFICERS.

855. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state the nature of duties that officers in the C. I. D. are required to perform ?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan : The duties which the Criminal Investigation Department and its officers are required to perform are given in Chapter XXI of the Police Rules, Volume III.

FALSE REPORTS BY C. I. D. OFFICERS.

856. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state the number of C. I. D. officers who were found by their higher officers, during the last two financial years, to have made false reports or placed incriminating articles in the houses of innocent people in order to have them entangled into the meshes of law ?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan : There has been no such case.

UTILIZATION OF REFUSE OF TOWNS AND CITIES.

857. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state whether any experiments are being made at present by the Departments of Agriculture and Industry for the further utilization of the refuse of towns and cities in the province and if so, what has been the result of their labours so far and how far the suggestions made by these two departments are being popularized through the Director of Information Bureau, for the utilization of waste matter ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : The Punjab Agricultural Department is not making any experiments in the connection stated. The matter is beyond the experimental stage as it is now a well-known and proved fact that town refuse can be converted into useful compost. Experiments have been made in this connection elsewhere and it is quite unnecessary to repeat them. The Institute of Plant Industry, Indore, have perfected a sanitary and extremely profitable method of disposal of manure, and this system has been recommended by Government to local bodies.

The Industrial Department has done work in connection with industrial waste only, and so far as this is concerned, as a result of the research carried out at the Industrial Research Laboratory, the tannery waste is being utilized for the manufacture of glue.

EMPLOYEES DRAWING MORE THAN RS. 200 PER MENSEM IN NON-INDIAN INDUSTRIAL CONCERNS IN THE PUNJAB.

858. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state the number of non-Indian industrial concerns at work in the Punjab on 31st March, 1939, with an investment of more than 75 per cent of foreign capital and, if possible, the number of Indian employees drawing more than Rs. 200 per mensem in these concerns?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : A list is laid on the table. This does not include the names of such foreign companies as are registered outside India but are carrying on work in the Punjab.

Information relating to the number of Indian employees drawing more than Rs. 200 per mensem in these concerns is not available to Government.

Names of Non-Indian industrial concerns registered under the Indian Companies Act, 1913, in the Punjab on 31st March 1939 with an investment of more than 75 per cent. of foreign capital.

INDIGENOUS SYSTEM INVESTIGATION COMMITTEE.

859. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state whether the investigation of malpractices so often resorted to by sellers of indigenous drugs and medicines falls within the scope of the Indigenous System Investigation Committee appointed by the Government to control the activities of bogus vaid and hakims; if not, whether Government propose to take any steps in the matter?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : The answer to the first part of the question is in the negative. It is not possible to give any answer to the second part, as the nature of the alleged malpractices has not been stated.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT BY DEPUTY COMMISSIONERS AND COMMISSIONERS OF THE RECEIPT OF PETITIONS AND MEMORIALS FROM THE PUBLIC.

860. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state whether the rules provide that the Deputy Commissioners and Commissioners should acknowledge receipt of memorials, representations or petitions received from the public in the Punjab about their grievances, complaints, etc.; if not, whether Government propose to take any steps in the matter?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan : The rules do not specifically provide that all memorials, representations, etc., should be acknowledged, but the fact that a representation is not acknowledged does not mean that action is not being taken in suitable cases.

SCIENTIFIC SYSTEM OF STORAGE OF GRAINS.

861. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state the names of districts where the scientific system of storage of grains has been introduced in the Ambala division and the steps which are being taken to have this method popularized in its rural and urban areas?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : So far as the Punjab Agricultural Department is aware, no scientific system of storing grain is being practised in the Ambala division. Presumably, the scientific system which the honourable member has in view is the system of cement khattis which are being used successfully in Muzaffarnagar district of the United Provinces. Recently the Department erected two such experimental khattis at Lyallpur in order to collect data. As soon as the results of experiments which are being made with these two khattis are available, steps will be taken to popularise this system of storing grain, if it proves successful.

MUHAMMADAN CASTES INCLUDED IN SCHEDULED CASTES FOR PURPOSES OF GRANT OF SCHOLARSHIPS.

862. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

- (a) which Muhammadan castes have been included in the scheduled castes for the purpose of educational scholarships granted by the Government;

- (b) the total number of scholarships allowed to the Harijans, the number of scholarships availed of by the Harijans and other castes mentioned in (a) last year and this year ;
- (c) whether it is also a fact that scholarships to Harijan students are given, generally speaking, after one year of the date of their application while others get these after three or four months of the date of their application ; the reasons for this disparity ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : I regret that the answer to the question is not ready.

POSTS IN THE HIGHER GRADE OF ANGLO-VERNACULAR SECTION.

863. Malik Barkat Ali : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

- (a) the total number of posts in the higher grade of Rs. 200—250 of the Anglo-Vernacular Section in the Department of Education ; and
- (b) the total number of posts held by the Mussalmans in this section ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) Total number of posts in the grade of Rs. 200—10—250 as well as in the revised grade of Rs. 150—8—190 of the Subordinate Educational Service, Anglo-Vernacular Section (Men's Branch) .. 103.

(b) Total number of posts in the above mentioned grades held by Muslims 39

POSTS IN Rs. 140—10—190 GRADE IN ANGLO-VERNACULAR SECTION.

864. Malik Barkat Ali : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state the total number of posts in the Rs. 140—10—190 grade in the Anglo-Vernacular Section of the Education Department and the number of these posts held by Mussalmans ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (1) Total number of posts in the grade of Rs. 140—10—190 as well as the revised grade of Rs. 105—7—140 of the Subordinate Educational Service—Anglo-Vernacular Section (Men's Branch) .. 233.

(2) Number of posts in the above mentioned grades held by Muslims 84

PROMOTIONS GIVEN TO MUSLIMS IN HIGHER GRADES OF EDUCATION DEPARTMENT.

865. Malik Barkat Ali : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state whether it is a fact that out of 23 officials promoted under order dated 1st August, 1939, to the Rs. 200—250 grade in the Education Department, only 8 are Mussalmans and out of 20 promotions in the Rs. 120—10—190 grade in the year 1937-38 only 8 are given to Mussalmans, if not, what are the correct figures in this respect ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : No promotions to the grade of Rs. 200—10—250 were given under order dated 1st August, 1939. It is, however, a fact that out of 23 promotions (including 4 officiating and one provisional) ordered in the Director of Public Instruction's office order No. 19919-E., dated the 4th September, 1939, 8 were given to Muslims.

In the year 1937-38, 21 promotions to the grade of Rs. 140—10—190 (not Rs. 120—10—190) of the Subordinate Educational Service (Men's Branch) were ordered and out of this number 9 were given to Muslims.

It is, however, added for the information of the honourable member that promotions from grade to grade in the Subordinate Educational Service are not given on a communal basis but on the basis of seniority, record, degree of responsibility of posts held and high academic qualifications.

PUNITIVE POLICE POST, RAJA JANG, TAHSIL KASUR.

866. Malik Barkat Ali : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether a punitive police post has been located at Raja Jang, tahsil Kasur, district Lahore ;
- (b) if so, since when and for what reasons ;
- (c) how the expenditure on account of the imposition of the said police post was distributed over the various communities inhabiting the said place ;
- (d) whether any communities were exempted from this imposition ; if so, the names of the communities so exempted ; and
- (e) whether a fresh proposal has been made to subject any exempted community to the burden of the said charge, and whether any decision has been arrived at over that proposal, if so, what ?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : (a)—(d) A reference is invited to the replies given to questions *4485¹ and *4681² put by the honourable members for the Eastern Towns (Muhammadan) Urban Constituency and the Amritsar South (Sikh) Rural Constituency in the spring session.

- (e) No.

PERSONS HOLDING LICENCES FOR SELLING POISONOUS DRUGS IN LAHORE DISTRICT.

867. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of persons who hold licences for selling poisonous drugs in Lahore district ;
- (b) their medical or educational qualifications ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) 78.

(b) 7 qualified medical practitioners and 11 chemists and druggists. The other licence holders are pansaris.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS AND HOURS OF SITTING.

Premier (The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan): Sir, I beg to move—

That there be no starred questions at to-day's sitting of the Assembly, that the Speaker shall adjourn the Assembly without question put at 7.30 P. M. instead of at 7 and that there shall be an interval of half an hour to enable the members to break their fast.

The motion was carried.

REPORTING OF ASSEMBLY PROCEEDINGS IN THE PRESS.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Before you proceed further, I want one point to be cleared up on the floor of this House. We know that as far as the reporting of speeches or the proceedings of this House is concerned, the press is not protected from the ordinary law but in The Civil and Military Gazette of 28th I read that the Premier cautioned the pressmen specially with regard to the speeches of proceedings of to-day and the 6th which will be in connection with the War Resolution. I want to know the necessity of a special warning to the press.

Mr. Speaker : That matter is not now before the House. The Honourable Leader of the Opposition might see the Premier and settle with him.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : It is a matter which concerns the press and the public. Therefore, I think that if a statement is made on the floor of the House, it would be much better.

Mr. Speaker : Barring questions of privilege and a few other matters, no question can be raised on the floor of the House without previous notice. So, the honourable member may see the Premier.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I point out that the question is very important ?

Mr. Speaker : The importance of the question does not mean that all the Rules of Procedure should be laid aside. May I ask the honourable member to point out the rule under which he is raising the point ? (Interruption.)

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : It is the Speaker alone who can exercise any censor on the proceedings of the House and if the Premier has issued any warning, he has exceeded the limits and I would request the Chair to intervene in the matter. It is not a matter to be discussed between the Leader of the Opposition and the Premier. The press—the nationalist press—is practically debarred from publishing what the Premier does not want to be published.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is making a speech, which he has no right to make.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I am not making a speech. I am only pointing out that it is an important privilege and you being the custodian of that privilege should protect it.

Premier : My honourable friend opposite is doubtless correct in saying that so far as the proceedings inside this Chamber are concerned it is your privilege to regulate them but so far as the publishing or printing of our proceedings outside this House is concerned, as I have repeatedly declared on the floor of this House, I believe in prevention rather than cure. It was therefore that I told my friends, the journalists, that the honourable members of this House are immune from legal action when they make speeches in this House, but I am advised that anything which would be published outside this House of the speeches delivered here will not be immune. Therefore, in the interest of the honourable members and of the province they should very carefully weigh everything before it goes out of this Chamber for publication and I am sure that my friends of the fourth estate will appreciate such a gesture on my part rather than resent it.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : There is no question of resenting it. How will the Premier appreciate if the press boycotts the debate to-day?

Mr. Speaker : I cannot permit such questions.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I rise on a point of privilege. My point is that the representative of the Civil and Military Gazette has given publicity to a false report against me. Yesterday I raised a point of order in connection with an adjournment motion that was then under discussion. Now it has been published in the said newspaper that I revolted against party discipline. As it is a sheer misrepresentation of facts, I seek your protection. To clear a point in your ruling, may be in connection with an adjournment motion moved by a member of one's own party, cannot be described as a revolt against party discipline.

Mr. Speaker : If a newspaper misreports the proceedings, I will certainly see to it; but if any newspaper writes anything against any individual member, that is not a matter for the House to decide.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : It was due to defective reporting.

Mr. Speaker : I will see if there was any misreporting.

Lala Duni Chand : I want to rise on a point of privilege. It is that, notwithstanding the adverse circumstances in which some of us find ourselves and which we have to face, we are here under your protection as members of the Assembly. Whatever rights we are given as members of the Assembly should not be denied to us. My point is that yesterday a question was thrown open to discussion by you and when I wanted to take part in that discussion, you flatly refused my—

Mr. Speaker : Order, please. Will the honourable member please resume his seat? He has not raised a matter of privilege.

Lala Duni Chand : The next point, Sir. (Laughter.) It very often happens that some of the honourable ministers make objectionable remarks against us. We are, therefore, entitled to protection at your hands and if they make any such remarks you should allow us a free licence to retort, (Laughter.)

Mr. Speaker : If any honourable member, be he a minister or not, casts reflections on or uses unparliamentary language against any other honourable member and my attention is invited to it, I shall certainly take immediate action and make the Honourable Minister or member concerned withdraw the objectionable remarks. This has been invariably done in the past and shall be done in future as well.

Lala Duni Chand : I submit that—

Mr. Speaker : I cannot allow a speech or discussion.

Lala Duni Chand : I am not discussing, I am merely going to make a statement. On a point of privilege I can surely make a statement.

Mr. Speaker : I request the honourable member to resume his seat and call upon Sardar Bahadur Sardar Gurbachan Singh to move his motion.

WAR RESOLUTION.

Sardar Bahadur Sardar Gurbachan Singh (Jullundur West, Sikh, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

This Assembly approves of the policy of the Punjab Government towards the present international crisis in condemning Fascist and Nazi aggression and declares its determination to resist this aggression and to protect the security and honour of the Punjab and India with all available resources of the Province. It further desires that it should forthwith be made absolutely clear that the constitution of India shall be examined de novo at the end of the War with a view to the immediate attainment of the objective of Dominion Status with effective protection of the due rights of the minorities and other sections and in consultation with and agreement of all the parties concerned.

Sir, I feel privileged in moving this resolution. It means an acknowledgment of the special position of my community in the defence of the motherland and the Empire. (Hear, hear, from the Unionist benches.) I also feel a sense of pride that it is given to the Punjab to recognise the primary duty which a citizen owes to his motherland to express unshaken determination to defend it with the last drop of blood. (Hear, hear, from the Unionist benches.) It further affords me great relief that both Hindus and Muslims have joined with me in moving this resolution. This union has heartening significance that no community claims predominance, and that each is ready to take its share in promoting and defending common interests. This joint action will further set at rest certain claims which without foundation have found a place on the platform and in the press. India is at present seeking a definition of its own position in the British Commonwealth. It is strange that while other countries are busy preparing for defence, we are concentrating on political advance. We are only able to do so because British guns are thundering in the far-flung battlefields and British airmen and seamen are risking their lives to retain freedom of the seas and the air. If the enemy guns were thundering at our doors and the airships looming on our horizon ready to blot out of existence all that we love, we would never think of future forms of Government but would set our hearts to meet the danger. It is true that peace reigns in India, but we must not forget that this peace is the gift of Britannia. What we need is an awakening that we may have to face the ordeal ourselves. For this, two things are essential—unity within the country itself and adequate preparation for defence. The realisation of unity depends upon ourselves and the preparation for defence on the Central Government. This resolution is an evidence that we are ready for service.

[S. B. S. Gurbachan Singh.]

and sacrifice and we must press on our Government to mobilise our manpower and resources. It may be that England does not immediately need our assistance but in the interest of India it is incumbent on the Government to raise an army bearing some proportion to the armies of other countries officered by Indians. We heard of an Indianisation Committee, which seems to have gone into dissolution just when it ought to be functioning and planning, not only for Indianisation of officers ranks but raising of new armies. Then again, in these days of mechanised armies, the sooner we start making our own motor engines, aeroplanes and other war materials, the better. India owes a debt of gratitude to the Statesman for its steadfast advocacy of immediate organisation for the production of war materials and for the development of the Indian resources. We hear of Supply and Economic Boards, but so far no representatives of the interests vitally concerned have found a place on them. Then, again, does the control of prices mean that India is never to be lifted out of the slough of depression? These, however, are problems for His Excellency the Governor and our far-sighted Premier to consider and press in the right quarters for solution. The war is a cleansing and purifying process, otherwise God would never permit the tragedy. It unsettles settled facts and starts mankind anew on the path of progress. India has proved by working the provincial autonomy, which His Excellency the Viceroy has so generously acknowledged in his statement, its claims to be raised to Dominion Status under the Statute of Westminster. We can affirm that no province has worked the provincial autonomy with greater success than the Punjab. (Hear, hear, from the Opposition benches.) I will be failing in duty not to express that India deserves the earnest of the assurances given by His Majesty's Government. There is no reason why a constituent assembly, which is really the proper name for a round table conference, should not immediately begin to consider the changes in the Government of India Act. Government should not relax its efforts to unite India and give an opportunity to learn by direct experience the nature of dangers and the means of averting them. Anglo-Indian unity is essential not only to win the war but to enjoy together the fruit of peace. In any case the Khalsa is ready to do its duty and find its soul in the flaming fires of war. The politicians may talk in the familiar language of politics, but the Khalsa will march in thousands to the colours to retain the distinction won by our forefathers to be the sword-arm of India. (Hear, hear, from the Unionist benches.)

Mr. Speaker : The motion moved is—

This Assembly approves of the policy of the Punjab Government towards the present international crisis in condemning Fascist and Nazi aggression and declares its determination to resist this aggression and to protect the security and honour of the Punjab and India with all available resources of the Province. It further desires that it should forthwith be made absolutely clear that the constitution of India shall be examined de novo at the end of the War with a view to the immediate attainment of the objective of Dominion Status with effective protection of the due rights of the minorities and other sections and in consultation with and agreement of all the parties concerned.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava (Lahore City, General, Urban) (Urdu) :
Sir, I beg to move my amendment which is as follows :—

That after the first two words of the motion the following be substituted—

views with grave concern that the British Government have made India a participant in the War between Great Britain and Germany without the consent of the people of India and that in complete disregard of Indian opinion laws have been passed and measures adopted curtailing the powers and activities of Provincial Governments.

This Assembly being definitely of the opinion that the declarations, authorised by the British Government, in answer to the demand of an unambiguous statement of its War and peace aims in reference to India, are wholly unsatisfactory and disappointing, recommends to the Government to convey to the Government of India and through them to the British Government that in consonance with the avowed aims of the present War, it is essential, in order to secure the co-operation of the people of India, that the principles of democracy and self-determination should be applied to India, and her policy be guided by her own people and that India be regarded as an independent nation entitled to frame her own constitution safeguarding, inter alia, in the fullest degree, the rights and interests of all minorities and further that suitable action be taken in so far as possible in the immediate present, to give effect to those principles in regard to the present governance of India.

This Assembly disapproves of the attitude and policy of the Punjab Government in offering unqualified co-operation to the British Government in the face of the denial of our rights by the British Government and in utter disregard of public opinion in the country, thereby lowering the honour of the Province.

The speech of my honourable friend who has preceded me has created a sort of suspicion in my mind. He has been pleased to remark that the Sikhs of the Punjab are prepared to stake everything in order to defend their country at this critical juncture. He went on further to mention among other things the activities of enemy raiders now hovering around England. By this the honourable member appears to draw an illogical inference that the so-called invasion of England is tantamount to an attack on India. And when he says that he is prepared to make any sacrifices for the sake of his country, may I understand since when some Sikhs of his way of thinking have begun to consider England to be their mother country? (Hear, hear.) Well, Sir, so far we have been given to understand that the Sikh was born solely to oppose the tyrant and defend one who is being tyrannised over. When India has been suffering from repression for the last two centuries how does it lie in the mouth of my honourable friend to say that his country is prepared to make all kinds of sacrifices to defend England when it is attacked. May I know whether it is not his duty to protect India from the repression of others? When he is not prepared to make any sacrifices for India he has no right whatsoever to make this declaration on behalf of the Sikhs that they are ready to fight for Britain against Germany and thus defend India.

Besides, I may submit that it is stated in the resolution which has been moved by my honourable friend over there that this Assembly approves of the policy of the Punjab Government towards the present international crisis in condemning Fascist and Nazi aggressions and declares its determination to protect the security and honour of the Punjab and India with all available resources of the Punjab. In addition he has also pointed out that he is prepared to render help to the Britishers in fighting the Fascist and Nazi aggressions in England, France and elsewhere in Europe. It is a thousand pities that my friend is prepared to protect England if attacked but he is not ready to stand for the protection of his own country. As a matter of fact he wishes to perpetuate that repression in India by helping British Imperialism.

Now, Sir, the amendment which I have moved consists of three parts. The first part of the amendment is "that this Assembly views with great concern that the British Government have made India a participant in the War between Great Britain and Germany without the consent of the people of India.' I may here also point out that the Governments of Dominions, which are popular Governments, have also declared war against Germany. But if those Governments wished they could have done otherwise as Ireland has decided to remain neutral. They have decided to enter war on the side of England because the public opinion in those countries wants that. On the other hand the Government of India, without consulting the people of India, without consulting the Central Assembly, declared that they were at war with Germany. It is possible that the Premiers of some provinces might have been consulted, but this much I can say that at least the Assemblies were not asked to express their opinion about it. Such is the treatment that we are meeting at the hands of the Britishers.

Then, again, whenever we see that any tyranny is being perpetrated in any country, be it our own country or any other, we sympathise with the weak and are prepared to help them as far as lies in our power. Now when we see that our country is being made the target of imperial repression we earnestly desire to rid it of that aggression. I may also point that we are ready to make sacrifices in union with the British Government provided they let us know their real war aims. Let them take it from me that we are not going to co-operate with them merely on the ground that they are fighting with Germany because she is in their opinion the aggressor. We wish to know as to what are the British war aims particularly in reference to India. Britain should declare how they would treat India in view of her professions to be fighting for self-determination and democracy. This plea can no longer be advanced that the status of India is not like the other Dominions and that the present Government is not a popular Government, with whom the Viceroy could have held any consultations. But I may submit, let alone consulting the people of India, the Viceroy has caused to be passed such laws and measures by which the powers and activities of the provincial governments have been curtailed. Let me point out for the information of the honourable mover of the motion that the Viceroy has himself admitted in his declaration that during the last two and half years the provincial governments have worked very successfully. If that is so, may I know why under the Defence of India Act he has taken in his own hand all powers relating to law and order which were previously vested in the provincial governments? Besides, when the Criminal Law Amendment Act, otherwise known as the Army Anti-Recruitment Act was passed it was expressly stated on the floor of the Central Assembly that the said laws would be applied to particular provinces only when the governments of those provinces agreed to do so. Moreover, if we read the debates of those times we would find that it was made abundantly clear during that discussion that the Government of India had no mind to curtail the powers of the provincial governments. But the pity is that the powers relating to law and order which were vested in the provincial governments under the provisions of the Government of India Act, 1935, have been taken away from them. Is this the reward which the Viceroy has given to the people of India in return for successfully working the provincial governments? We record our emphatic protest against the usurpation of powers.

The second part of my amendment is that the statement which the Viceroy has issued, with the authority of the British Government is wholly unsatisfactory and disappointing. And therefore we wish that Britain should clearly state her war aims as regards two or three points with particular reference to India. Why do we want such a clear declaration of the British War aims? Not because we want to strike a bargain, but because we want to know as to what is the object for which India is being asked to co-operate in the war. I wish to make it clear that we do not want to fight for increasing the power of the British Imperialism. Had we been assured that so far as India was concerned England would withdraw herself after the war, in that case we, certainly, could have thought that England was fighting for truth, independence and for putting an end to aggression, and did not merely mean to maintain the status quo. In that case and in that case alone we could be willing to co-operate with Britain.

Now, Sir, if we wish to judge whether the statement of the Viceroy has satisfied anybody or not, we should take into consideration the pronouncements of the Congress and the Muslim League. The Congress Working Committee has passed a resolution that the statement of the Viceroy was wholly unsatisfactory and was calculated to arouse resentment among those who were anxious to gain and were intent upon winning India's independence. The Muslim League has also passed a resolution in which they have expressed the opinion that the inauguration of the Federation should be given up and that the entire constitution of India should be considered de novo. It means that the demand for India's independence is common.

Now, Sir, I would like to draw the attention of the honourable members to the pledges that were given during the last Great War. But before doing so let me quote one of the hallowed causes for which the Allies were fighting :

3 P. M.

Now we are faced with the greatest and the grimmest struggle of all. Liberty, equality, fraternity, not amongst men, but amongst nations—great and small, powerful and weak, exalted and humble, Germany and Belgium, Austria and Serbia—equality, fraternity, amongst people as well as amongst men—that is the challenge which has been thrown to us.—The Great Crusade: [Lloyd George's Speech at Glasgow on June 29, 1917.]

The causes of which I have already made mention are to this effect :—

On one point only are they (the German Allies) perfectly clear and definite. Under no circumstances will the "German demand" for the restoration of the whole of Germany's colonies be departed from. All principles of self-determination, or, as our earlier phrase goes, government by consent of the governed, here vanish into thin air.—(The Great Crusade, page 256).

It would be clear from this that Germany was acting against the principles of self-determination and therefore the Allies were forced to embark on a war in order to defend this sacred principle. Then again it was said :

The settlement of the new Europe must be based on such grounds of reason and justice as will give some promise of stability. Therefore it is that we feel that government with the consent of the governed must be the basis of any territorial settlement in this war.—The Great Crusade, page 257; Lloyd George's Speech at Westminster, dated January 5th, 1918 on "The War aims of the Allies."

This means that they were determined to arrive at a settlement in which they would recognise the right of self-determination for every country. I ask the honourable members whether India was granted this right. In

[Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava.]

1917 Mr. Montague, the then Secretary of State for India, made a declaration to this effect :—

The policy of His Majesty's Government, with which the Government of India are in complete accord, is that of the increasing association of Indians in every branch of administration, and the gradual development of self-governing institutions with a view to the progressive realisation of Responsible Government in India as an integral part of the British Empire. They have decided that substantial steps should be taken in this direction as soon as possible.—[House of Commons : August 20, 1917.]

After this Mr. Montague came to India. I should like to draw the attention of the House to the opinion which he expressed in his diary about the Government of India. He said that the Government of India was "anti-diluvian, too wooden and too iron". In plain words it means that the attitude of the Government of India was that of absolute indifference towards public opinion and that it had absolutely no sympathy with the aspirations of the Indians. In this connection I may state a very interesting incident which is given in Mr. Montague's diary of April 18th.

The Viceroy came in to see me with a problem : was his name or mine to appear first on the report ? He told me that was my scheme and my report ; that the reforms would always be known as the Montague-Chelmsford reforms, but that it being in India, he felt he must sign first. What an interesting problem, fraught with what consequences to a great Empire, requiring our serious attention !

It would appear that after the completion of the report a difficulty arose about the signing of the report. The Viceroy was very keen to append his signature first. This point was a little hotly discussed between the Viceroy and Mr. Montague. The House can easily understand from this the bent of mind and the attitude of the Government of India. This Government would fight for trivial matters but would not move its little finger to press for India's right of self-determination.

Mr. Montague further writes in his diary of the same date :—

I told him that it was too early yet to say that there would be any reforms arising out of the report, that that depended upon the action taken by him in India and by me at home. We had only begun our difficulties. I might be out of office in a few weeks ; he might have done some internment affair which would upset the apple cart.

This shows that the Secretary of State apprehended as to what the Government of India would do after his departure from India. Mr. Montague has stated this fact in his diary that he was prepared to invite Messrs Tilak, Basu, and others for an interview but the Government of India was deadly against them. Now what happened in India after the departure of the Secretary of State, was this. We, instead of getting Montford Reforms got Rowlatt Act and martial law regime in the Punjab. But afterwards the Viceroy made a proclamation that Government adhered to the policy laid down in the preamble of the Government of India Act of 1919. I may quote it for the information of the House.

Whereas it is the declared policy of Parliament to provide for the increasing association of Indians in every branch of Indian administration, and for the gradual development of self-governing institutions, with a view to the progressive realisation of responsible government in British India as an integral part of the empire :

And whereas the progress in giving effect to this policy can only be achieved by successive stages, and it is expedient that substantial steps in this direction should now be taken."

and so on and so forth and thus the Act was passed.

In other words it was stated that the principle of self-determination would be sedulously adhered to in the governance of India. But the goal would be reached by successive stages. Heaven knows when these stages would come to an end ! Then we were promised that a review would be made after a period of ten years and if the British Government was so pleased we would get another instalment. In pursuance of this policy the British Government appointed the Simon Commission in 1927 to go into the matter of granting further reforms to India. When they came to this country, a committee of seven members of the Central Legislature was nominated by the Government to collaborate with the Commission. But this committee was not given an equal status with the Commission. The honourable members of this House might remember that the Simon Commission was boycotted in India. But the visit of that Commission to our province was marked by the death of the 'Lion of the Punjab' who died as a result of the injuries received at the time of a demonstration made by the people at Lahore. After the death of that great leader, I mean Lala Lajpat Rai, a resolution was tabled in the Calcutta session of the Congress that complete independence should be accepted as the ultimate goal of India. But Mahatma Gandhi and Pandit Moti Lal Nehru intervened and requested the Congress to defer the matter and give another opportunity to the British Government. Afterwards the Congress would be free to declare its creed as the attainment of complete independence for India. Later on, Mahatma Gandhi and Pandit Moti Lal Nehru saw Lord Irwin, the then Viceroy, on several occasions and the question of reforms to be granted to India was discussed. As a result Lord Irwin made a lengthy declaration in 1929. I may be permitted to quote an extract from it.

I am authorised on behalf of His Majesty's Government to state clearly that in their judgment it is implicit in the declaration of 1917 that the natural issue of India's constitutional progress, as there contemplated, is the attainment of Dominion Status.—[Statement by His Excellency the Viceroy on October 31, 1929].

After that, Mahatma Gandhi issued his statement in which he enumerated the conditions and asked whether Dominion Status would be granted immediately or by stages ? Whether the Round Table Conference which had been called would proceed on the basis of full Dominion Status or not ? Will Dominion Status be at all granted ? On the 23rd December, 1929, Pandit Moti Lal Nehru and Mahatma Gandhi met the Viceroy, it was the same day that a bomb burst under His Excellency's Special Train. What was the outcome of this meeting ? His Excellency refused to hold out any definite promise of Dominion Status, and the result was that the Session of the Indian National Congress held at Lahore, passed the Complete Independence Resolution and the "Independence Day" was celebrated on ensuing January 26, with great enthusiasm ; and is still celebrated every year as a national festival. In his speech before the Central Legislature the Viceroy denied that he had ever—

Sought to delude Indian opinion into the belief that a definition of the purpose, however plainly stated would, of itself, by the enunciation of a phrase have provided a solution for the problems which have to be solved before that purpose is fully realised.

Again referring to the Round Table Conference Lord Irwin added : "The Conference will be convened for the purpose of elucidating and harmonizing opinion and so affording guidance to His Majesty's Government on whom the responsibility must subsequently devolve of drafting proposals for the consideration of the Parliament," which meant that there was going to be no Constituent Assembly and India could not expect to have the right of framing its own Constitution. All that it could hope to have was a conference; that too in an advisory capacity and not capable of making constitution amending laws.

Again, Sir, we come to the Statute of 1919 and the Instrument of Instructions; I mention these because the Viceroy's statement contains a reference to all these. Paragraph IX of the Revised Instrument of Instructions to the Viceroy and Governor-General, issued on March 15, 1921, completely clears any misunderstanding or doubt regarding the full implications of the policy of His Majesty's Government;

For above all things it is our will and pleasure that the plans laid by our Parliament for the progressive realisation of responsible government in British India as an integral part of our Empire may come to fruition, to the end that British India may attain its due place among Dominions.

In 1931 came the Gandhi-Irwin Pact, and consequently Mahatma Gandhi agreed to attend the Round Table Conference. In the Governor-General in Council's notification (Home Department) No. S-481/31/Political, it was stated—

As regards constitutional questions the scope of the future discussion is stated, with the assent of His Majesty's Government to be with the object of considering further the scheme for the constitutional Government of India discussed at the Round Table Conference. Of the scheme there outlined, Federation is an essential part. So also are Indian responsibility and reservations or safeguards in the interests of India, for such matters as, for instance, Defence, External Affairs, the position of the Minorities, the Financial Credit of India and the discharge of obligations.

The safeguards were a part of the scheme and Mahatma Gandhi himself admitted that there could only be so if they were more in the interests of India than that of Great Britain.

During the debate on the Government of India Bill in 1935 it was said that it contained no Preamble. I want to read out from the House of Commons debate what was said in this connection—

The Bill contains no Preamble..... There is, however, no need for a Preamble in this case as no new pronouncement of policy or intentions is required.....

Referring to the Joint Select Committee's Report it was asserted by Sir Samuel Hoare that—

Subsequent statements of policy have added nothing to the substance of this declaration (of 1919) settling once and for all the attitude of British Parliament and people towards the political aspirations of Indians.—(Hansard, volume 297, page 1163, column 2).

It was also said that after a policy was declared in the Parliament there was no need for its further repetition or elucidation.

A mention was also made by His Excellency Lord Linlithgow, during his recent statement, of the Instrument of Instructions sent to the Viceroy in 1935. These instructions contain :—

XVI. And finally it is our will and pleasure that our Governor-General should so exercise the trust reposed in him that the partnership between India and the United Kingdom within our Empire may be furthered to the end that India may attain its due place among our Dominions.—(Section E of Instructions from His Majesty the King, dated 8th March, 1935).

After recapitulating these facts I beg to submit, Sir, that these are the pledges that were given to us. Besides these, other pledges were also given but we have to see how far these pledges can be relied upon? How far have they been fulfilled? We have been told that India will be granted Dominion Status, but that too only after the War and in progressive stages. That a Round Table Conference will be called and it will be determined therein whether there is any need of amending the Government of India Act, 1935. The British Government probably think, that what they have already granted is enough. If they do so, I submit, Sir, that they are living in a fool's paradise and nothing else. That was in regard to the professions of the British Government. Let us now come to the positive proof that is being given here in India. The War was declared on the 3rd September, 1939, and the declaration to this effect was published in the Government Gazette (Extraordinary) on the same date. The moment it was published at Simla, and even before it was made known to the general public, arrests had been effected under it at Gujranwala and other places. You will be surprised to know, Sir, that those who were not being released on bail have to-day been set at liberty by the Government and cases against them have been withdrawn for want of any proof. Measures of this type are being passed and given effect to in such a panicky and agitated manner. This is how peace is being given to the Indian people. We consider it better not to give any serious thought at all to their promises of the grant of Dominion Status. What has become of their promises in Europe? They had promised to help Abyssinia and it was conquered by Italy. How did they help Spain in its struggle against Fascism? Did they give any assistance to the Czechs? On the other hand it was announced by His Majesty's Government in London that they did not want to be involved in the internal affairs of other states; then why do they, Sir, involve themselves in the internal affairs of India?

Now that Germany has attacked Poland and it has been brought home to Great Britain that Hitler's next step might be a demand for Colonies which were wrested from Germany after the last war, England is feeling anxious and has waged the war against Germany. But I may, Sir, with your permission, make it clear that the Treaty of Versailles in itself contained the germs of a second great war. Under this treaty Germany was made to hand over her colonies to the Allies. Now when she has taken arms to repair the injustice done to her cause after the termination of the previous war and to recover her colonies snatched away from her under the treaty we are told that Hitler is an aggressor and an enemy of democracies. The British Government say that they are now fighting for democratic principles and the independence of smaller nations. They say they are out to put an end to this constant menace of aggression. But let them understand that nothing short of a real and practical proof in support of their professions can satisfy us now. What we want to know is the object that they have before them in waging war against Germany. I would like to know how their war aims would apply to India. We should know what we are going to fight for. All the solemn pledges that they gave to various European Governments have remained unfulfilled, and all the sacred promises that they held out to Indians have been thrown to the winds. In this connection it will be interesting to note that recently a committee was appointed to explore ways and means to Indianise our armies. The report submitted by the committee reveals this deplorable reality that India is unable to defend her boundary lines. If such is the progress that India has made during all this time under the British regime, then how can we expect anything better in future ?

Sir, our demand is quite simple and plain. We demand that England should declare that she is prepared to grant India also the right of self-determination. We demand that India should be entitled to frame her own constitution through a Constituent Assembly elected on the basis of widest possible franchise. That is what we want and that alone could satisfy us. It has been alleged that there are innumerable communities living at present here and that absence of British yoke would split the unity of India and result in a terrible civil war. It seems that England treats us as a minor and wants to play the rôle of a court of wards or of a guardian. They say we will not be able to frame a constitution that can be acceptable to all. And so they themselves would prepare a constitution for us in which special weight would be given to the views and interests of the minorities. I ask them what right they have got to decide the question of safeguards to the minorities. Do they want to set one community against the other and thus take all the advantage to themselves and keep us slaves for ever ? Let them understand that we ourselves would solve our own problems and bring about an amicable settlement among the various communities of the country. Our country is just like a family. If a brother quarrels with his brother no third party has the right to interfere in their domestic affairs. And if the latter persists in poking his nose into their affairs he is sure to play the rôle of the monkey who swallowed bit by bit the bread that was intended to be equally divided between two cats. Similarly, the British Government is exploiting the situation by playing the rôle of the proverbial monkey. It is unfortunate that political interests of India are being jeopardised under the cloak of religious and communal considerations. I hope the Honourable Premier would bear me out that this is being done even in the Punjab under the Unionist Government that claims to be non-communal. If you would please go through the manifesto of the Unionist party you are sure to find that great stress has been laid therein on the point that it is out and out a non-communal body. But let me remind you of the challenge that was thrown by Mr. Jinnah when he addressed a meeting here in Lahore on the 11th October, 1936, asking the Unionist party to substantiate its claims of being a non-communal body. He stated that the Unionist party had resorted to that political stunt simply to seize the seats in the Assembly. Otherwise it was definitely a communal party. He further said that though he had been accused of starting electioneering campaign on communal lines yet he was prepared to make a political alliance with Hindu and Sikh parties for working the constitution in the Punjab. At that time the Muslim League and the Unionist party were divided into two hostile camps but now they have joined hands with each other. I fail to understand as to whether the Punjab is being governed by the Unionist party or by the Muslim League. Anyway it is not governed by a coalition government as is evident from the report published in the Indian Information Series. The relevant portion of the report runs as follows :—

The Unionist party commands an absolute majority in the legislature (97 in a total House of 174 excluding the Speaker) but the leader of the Unionist party took two non-Unionists into his cabinet in order to give special representation in the cabinet to the urban Hindu and Sikh minorities.

It is only to-day that we have come to know that urban Hindus and Sikhs also constitute separate minorities. (Laughter.)

Since (1) the non-unionist ministers are the choice of the unionist leader, and (2) have agreed to carry out the Unionist party's programme, and since (3) the ministry as a whole depends for its majority entirely on the Unionist party, it is a Unionist ministry in its political complexion, though not exclusively unionist in personnel.

Thus the Punjab Government itself admits that it is not a coalition Government. But I want the Punjab Government to state whether it is the Unionist party's policy or that of the Muslim League which is being followed in the province. We have good reasons to believe that this Government has taken certain steps in complete disregard of the Unionist party's policy. In this connection I think it would not be out of place to state that the Muslim League Radical Party of the Punjab has recently issued a pamphlet in which it has laid certain charges against the Punjab Government. But I leave it to the Honourable Premier to clarify his and his party's position in the matter.

Sir, I was submitting that under the cloak of religious and communal considerations we are being denied our legitimate rights. On many an occasion we were promised that the British Government would do this and would do that for the constitutional development of India. But every time our hopes were frustrated by the diehard attitude of the British Government. Now, again, His Excellency the Viceroy is pleased to refer us to the pledge given in the Preamble of the Act of 1919 by remarking that "the natural issue of India's progress is the attainment of Dominion Status". It is a pity that we could not attain it in 1919, and we failed to attain it in 1935. Again, our efforts have proved abortive to attain it in 1939. If such is the attitude of the British Government, then I am sure we would neither succeed in attaining it in 1959 nor even in 1989. It is a fact that so long as our country serves as an economic market for England she is not prepared to lose its hold on India. It is the vested interests and imperialistic designs that are forcing the British Government to keep India as its vassal.

I remember a resolution was tabled yesterday by a Ministerialist member, though it was not moved. It was to the effect that a duty should be imposed on the products of Indian Mills. May I ask the Government, what it means? To me it means that the Punjab Government wishes to encourage English cloth in this province at the expense of Indian cloth. By giving this instance I want to arrive at the conclusion that so far as the Punjab Government is concerned it is going to strengthen the power of imperialism in every trivial matter; with its present policy, it will not be possible to attain independence and liberty. Since our demands are based upon honesty and righteousness, therefore, unless and until our demands are met, we would not be convinced that Britain is fighting for something noble and high. We are fully aware that to fight for Britain means strengthening of imperialism and we will never be prepared to help an Imperialist Government and no power on the face of earth can compel us to do so against our wishes. My submission is that we should know what we are fighting for. I may also point out that as long as our rights are not accepted we are not ready to offer unconditional help to Britain, who should declare beforehand how she will treat India in view of her professions to be fighting for democracy and self-determination. It is high time to adjust our claims in an honourable manner. Then we have been threatened with the bogey of German and Russian attacks on India. In that connection my submission is that if at all there is any possibility of any hostility from that quarter, which I doubt very much, I am confident enough to say that those who can break the chains of slavery put by the strong hands of Britain, who can attain independence and freedom after fighting against the devil of British Imperialism can never be ruled by Germany or Russia. (Cheers from the Opposition.) Those who fight for their rights and privileges cannot be threatened with such a bogey of Afghanistan or Russia. Let me again submit that these funny threats cannot prevent us from achieving our goal. (Cheers.) I am not afraid of it, and I make a present of these ideas to those people who do not want to participate with the poor. Let them be afraid of this bogey which according to the Government communiqués even does not exist.

Now I should refer to the last part of my resolution in which we have stated that we disapprove of the attitude and policy of the Punjab Government in offering its unqualified co-operation to the British Government. It has been said that the Punjab Unionists are a part and parcel of India. I cannot say how far it is correct. It seems to be very strange that when the whole of India is demanding the satisfaction of its aspirations, no such voice has arisen from the Punjab Unionist Headquarters. Instead of that what is done here? You remember, Sir, a big Viceregal durbar was held in Shalamar Gardens in October, 1937, and the Honourable Premier gave an advance promise to His Excellency the Viceroy that Punjab would help England to the last man in the event of war. Last year also in Simla a dinner was given in honour of His Excellency the Governor and then again Sir Sikander Hyat made an offer of the people of the Punjab to go to the help of England when it was attacked. It means that the Premier of the Punjab has no concern whatsoever with the opinion of the rest of India, nor even of the Muslim League howsoever objectionable may be the conduct of England towards it. This year also he made a declaration of rendering every kind of help to Britain unconditionally and also published an appeal to Indians to help Britain at this grave juncture in the History of British Empire. I may remind him that at that time when he was pleased to make this sort of declaration even the Muslim League had not been of the opinion that any help, conditional or unconditional, should be given to Britain and in fact it had not arrived at any decision regarding that important matter. We are fully aware that the goal of the Muslim League is also full independence. But the Honourable Premier, who has given pledge to the Muslim League, has always been hoodwinking the Muslim League by giving such kinds of statements in the Press, from which it is obvious that it is only the Punjab Ministry who being the camp followers of John Bull want to render unconditional help to Britain in the event of war. I must submit, therefore, that it is only the Punjab Government which is a blot on the fair name of India as far as the question of independence is concerned. It would not be out of place if I draw the attention of the House to the resolution moved against the Honourable Premier in the Executive Committee of the Muslim League in regard to his statement assuring unconditional help to England in the present war, further asking him as to what right he had got to give such statements without consulting the Executive Committee of the Muslim League. And as a result of that resolution a warning was given to the Honourable Premier not to make such statements in future without getting the previous sanction of the Muslim League. And after all Mr. Jinnah was compelled to write to the authorities in England that the Muslim League had nothing to do with such schemes and statements to which Sir Sikander had given expression off and on. Now it would have been clear to the House that both the All-India Muslim League and the Congress Party disapprove of the attitude and policy of the Punjab Government in offering unqualified co-operation to the British Government. You will be surprised to know that during the last Great War Punjab gave two hundred and forty million pounds to England and as far as recruitment was concerned the Punjab gave three lakhs ninety thousand men consisting of one lakh seventy thousand Mussalmans, ninety thousand Hindus with equivalent number of Sikhs and forty thousand Christians and what compensation was given to us? Mere slavery for another span of years, the claims of which, Mr. Speaker, we are sure to unlock very soon, nay immediately.

Under these circumstances I want to point out that it is our duty to tell the Punjabis as to what they are fighting for in the present war. Have they been given any undertaking by the English? How regrettable it is that we are not at liberty to tell them that they are not bound by law to help England? We can get some loophole out of the law. But the Honourable Premier was pleased to give warning to the effect that if anybody opened his mouth against the army recruitment he would be prosecuted and sent to jail. In addition to these declarations made by the Premier, other hundred and one unclean methods are being adopted by his Government. One of them is, the wrong, incorrect and unfounded propaganda done by the Punjab Government against our Party. Besides attacking our Party, much stress has repeatedly been laid on this point that there is danger of other nations invading India. The Honourable Premier may rest assured that there is no possibility of any invasion from aliens and if at all it actually happens Indians will fight to their last drop of blood to guard their motherland from the attacks of aliens. Some of my honourable friends sitting opposite are smiling at me since I do not belong to a martial class. I may tell my honourable friends who are smiling at me that I believe in something which is much stronger than violence and it is a recognised fact that non-violence has always proved successful where violence has utterly failed. (Cheers from the Opposition.) If they doubt my words I challenge the Government to come and see which wins the battle, violence or non-violence. Always it is truth and righteousness and not deception and hoodwinking that wins in the end.

[Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava.]

I have done. But, Sir, before I finish my speech, I would submit to the honourable members to consider my amendment dispassionately and to support it in the fair name and glory of our country that is India.

Mr. Speaker : Motion under consideration, amendment moved—

That after the first two words of the motion, the following be substituted—

views with grave concern that the British Government have made India a participant in the War between Great Britain and Germany without the consent of the people of India and that in complete disregard of Indian opinion laws have been passed and measures adopted curtailing the powers and activities of provincial governments.

This Assembly being definitely of the opinion that the declarations, authorised by the British Government, in answer to the demand of an unambiguous statement of its War and peace aims in reference to India, are wholly unsatisfactory and disappointing, recommends to the Government to convey to the Government of India and through them to the British Government that in consonance with the avowed aims of the present War, it is essential, in order to secure the co-operation of the people of India, that the principles of democracy and self-determination should be applied to India, and her policy be guided by her own people and that India be regarded as an independent nation entitled to frame her own Constitution safeguarding, inter alia, in the fullest degree, the rights and interests of all minorities and further that suitable action be taken in so far as possible in the immediate present, to give effect to those principles in regard to the present governance of India.

This Assembly disapproves of the attitude and policy of the Punjab Government in offering unqualified co-operation to the British Government in the face of the denial of our rights by the British Government and in utter disregard of public opinion in the country, thereby lowering the honour of the Province.

Khan Bahadur Captain Malik Muzaffar Khan : On a point of order. As many members are anxious to speak on this subject, it would be better if time-limit is fixed for both sides. It would be unfair if certain members are permitted to speak for an hour while others who are anxious to speak are not allowed to do so.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood (Parliamentary Secretary) : Mr. Speaker, the resolution before the House is a very important one. It calls for a very dispassionate consideration and, if I might submit, plain speaking. More than that, as you are aware, while we are speaking here, important negotiations are being conducted in Delhi by our leaders and I plead that speakers on both sides should exercise some restraint.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Why not postpone the resolution until termination of the negotiations ? (Interruption.)

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : This will bring the realities to light. I was submitting that speakers on both sides should exercise restraint so that nothing may be done here which may reflect on the chances of success of those negotiations which are going on. I hope I am speaking for both sides when I say that this House wishes Mahatma Gandhi and Mr. Jinnah godspeed in their endeavours to find an honourable settlement of the communal question. (Hear, hear.) With regard to the proposition before the House I submit that it has to be considered in the light of some realities of the situation. What are the facts that we have to face ? The world is in the throes of a gigantic struggle. England is in it. She may have blundered in the past, she certainly has at times blundered in the past in her imperialistic designs. (Hear, hear.) (An honourable member : Not plundered ?) I would say both. I am not here to hold a brief for the sins of omission or commission or the imperialistic designs of England. That discussion is out of court. The position that I take is this, that as an Indian—a self-respecting Indian—I am grateful for the good contribution that England has made to this country but I condemn many things for which I hold her responsible. But the issue that we have to face is this that whether we like it or not, there are certain patent facts about England's position in the present war which cannot be fairly denied. It must be admitted that the present war is not the seeking of Britain. It must be admitted that the Nazi and Soviet aggressions of Poland have precipitated this war. It must be admitted that the resistance to this aggression by Britain commands the respect of all reasonable, disinterested and fair-minded sections of the community. (Laughter from the Opposition benches.) My friends laugh there. I invite their attention not to the speech which the honourable Leader of the Opposition has delivered but to the statement of Mahatma Gandhi, to the statement of Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru and to the statement of my leader Mr. M. A. Jinnah. More than that I invite their attention to the resolution passed at the time of the declaration of war by the Congress Working Committee, by the Muslim League Working Committee and all other political organisations without exception and perhaps the only exception are the Akalis. All of them say that their sympathies are for the righteous cause of England, France and the Empire. Do they deny that ? If that is the position, I submit that we should dispassionately see how far we are entitled to-day to take a line in the interest of humanity and in the interest of India. There is yet another side of the picture. It cannot be denied in fairness that, whoever may be to blame for precipitating this war, our own motherland is faced with danger and that a situation may arise in which India—whether it likes it or not—may be face to face with a serious calamity. That being the situation, the issue that is before us is this, what is the attitude which the Punjab should adopt and what is the part that the Punjab should play at this time. In facing this problem we have also to realise, despite what the Leader of the Opposition may have said, that to-day it is the accepted position of all thinkers who have given thought to this problem, that whatever be the shortcomings of England, the world and India would be worse off if England were to lose in this war. I submit with respect that in examining this proposition we cannot ignore these basic realities of the situation and that done, the Punjab to-day has to give its answer to the two main issues raised in the resolution and in the amendments. The issues are these :—(1) Shall our co-operation be conditional ? (2) What should be our re-action to the attitude of the political advancement of the country. Let us examine these particular positions one by one. I will first begin with the question of our conditional support. I was enamoured of the eloquence of my friend the Leader of the Opposition, for whom I have the greatest respect. He said that our life is for India, the world, and humanity. Respected. But when it comes to fulfil that word—that word of sympathy for that cause—it reminds me of that bureaucrat who came pushing through the crowd with a flag in his hand and said, "I am here to stand for the sufferings of humanity" and when there was the last march to Palestine, he said, "I want my bag of gold". And what is the attitude of the Opposition. They say, all love and sympathy for India, and those affected by the world war and all that, but they claim that the minorities' bag and baggage must be handed to them with an honourable agreement as the prize. I am deliberately trying to restrain myself to-day and I appeal to my friends to interpret my words in that conscientious, friendly and patriotic spirit and let us in that spirit meet each other's point of view. Let us examine the problem or the proposition of conditional or unconditional co-operation as a practical proposition. The charge against my leader—the Premier—is that he has offered unconditional support from the Punjab. Now, those who glibly talk of conditional and unconditional support should realise the reaction of what they do. Assume for the sake of argument that England has to-day bluntly, brutally, and unfairly refused to accept any condition for the grant of Dominion Status. Imagine that the war continues, that the aggressors continue to bomb the innocent civil population. Imagine that ships continue to be sunk bringing death to innocent children, women and old men. Realise that the aggressors cross over the boundaries or the borders of our motherland and bombs begin to drop without discrimination of Hindu or Muslim or rich or poor. I ask, in those conditions, will it be justified, shall we be justified, with the declaration that we have made, with the traditions and history of India in our hands to say that we shall not throw our weight on the right side of humanity because it has not paid the price? Shall it lie in our mouths to declare that we shall not defend the best culture of our mothers, wives and sisters because we have not been paid the price for the few things that we have not got? (Hear, hear.) As a self-respecting Indian I shall not submit to domination, I shall certainly not submit to any domination or pressure, from inside, which stands in the way of defending the best in our culture. (Hear, hear.) Apart from this practical side of the question there is also another fallacy in the position taken up by the Opposition. They do not say that they do not want to have or give co-operation. They say, "We want a declaration, we demand a certain statement, an assurance, a pledge from England that after the war and during the war certain things will happen". That statement of theirs, to my mind, is in itself a compliment to England that she can be trusted that after the war she will carry out that pledge or not take back what is given from unwilling hands. I submit that if England can be trusted to that extent surely she can more honourably be trusted to play the gentleman to those who play the gentleman to her. I submit that so far as those pledges and declarations are concerned, I honestly believe that they are not worth the scrap of paper on which they are written. The real thing that is needed is unity in our ranks to deliver all goods. I submit that freedom has never been given and it will never be given. It is to be got and in order to get it we must unite and fairly deal with each other. Now, this is so far as conditional or unconditional part of the resolution is concerned.

I take up now the political aspect of the question. On that point, I am sure, there is no difference of opinion so far as the immediate goal of India is concerned, between the different sections of the House. We, so far as the resolution is concerned, have said that we want the whole thing to be examined with an immediate objective of Dominion Status in view. But we use the expression "Dominion Status" in a particular sense wherein the minorities get their due protection and which is acceptable to them. Now, that being assured, I am sure, the most rabid nationalists on that side have not asked for anything more than that. What is the difference between their position and ours? The difference is only to allot a place for the minorities of India in that future picture. You will find that in our resolution we have definitely said that India that we have in view is of such a nature that the minorities have as much protection and security in their motherland as the majority community. Now, in the resolution of that side what is the position? Up till very recently the Congress leaders openly declared that they do not recognise any such thing as minority interest. Thanks to Mr. Jinnah and thanks to the Honourable Premier of the Punjab and other leaders of minorities and also to the declaration of the present Viceroy, so far as this aspect is concerned, the Congress has partially come to its senses. What is the position? Till yesterday resolutions were moved by the Premiers in various Congress provinces but they had not a word to say about the minorities. I am glad that after the kick that they have received they have some courage in the present discussion to say a word about the minorities by means of the resolution which has been tabled by the Opposition and the amendment moved by them. That is a step in the right direction. I understand it is under instructions. But even there I would submit that there is a catch that while we say that the constitution must be with the acceptance and agreement of the minorities, they have again made the majority, the so-called nation of India, to be the judge of what is going to be the fate of the minorities and they will not know where their interest lies.

Two words more and I have done. My honourable friend, the Leader of the Opposition, said, "We shall not co-operate if these things are not conceded to us and we shall not give our support if these objectives are not given to us." May I ask him what is that solid contribution that my friends of the Congress may make or may refuse in the prosecution of the war? Fighting men are our material and our contribution. (Cheers.) That is the stuff which His Highness the Maharaja of Patiala, Sir Sundar Singh Majithia and Sir Chhotu Ram can produce. (Laughter.) So far as money is concerned, non-Congress India is the greatest contributor of it. Anything contributed from the Congress side will not suffice a single day's shelling on active war. There is only one thing which they can contribute and that is the supply of war contracts. I am sure they will continue to do that. The position that I take is that the Congress is the most important political organisation of our country; therefore, I want in the interest of India, that they should not take up a position which may put them to shame in the international world.

I have only one submission to make. The honourable Leader of the Opposition had certain fling at the policy and the views of the Honourable Premier. I leave it to other speakers to deal with it in detail. He talked glibly that the Honourable Premier will be here when the war is on. Probably he does not know that the Honourable Premier's contribution to England in connection with the war is that he has sent his two sons to the war without any pay or salary. (Interruptions.) (An honourable member : What about Sir Sundar Singh Majithia ?).

Premier : His son has joined to the Air Force as an honorary officer.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : One word more. I am sure, Sir, that when the history of these days comes to be written, those of us, who know anything of the picture, will realise the great and solid contribution made by the Honourable Premier in recent history and past history, in order to ensure the Hindu-Muslim unity, in order to bring the present leaders together, in order to get India's freedom and in order to establish the right of India to be free and to be raised to its full stature. I am sure that contribution will be found second to none in India in its generation. With these words I appeal to all sides of the House that the issue of war transcends all petty party or parochial considerations and that the time has come when we must justify our professions and generously contribute our best to justify the Punjab in the eyes of India and India in the eyes of the world. (Cheers from the Unionist Benches.)

Shaikh Sadiq Hasan (Amritsar City, Muhammadan, Urban.) (Urdu) : Sir, I rise to support the motion now before the House. I may submit at the very outset that the policy adopted by our Government is really commendable inasmuch as they have resolutely decided to fight against Nazism and to put an end to the aggressive methods which the German Government have adopted with a view to dominate the world. They have rightly come to the conclusion that all the resources of the province should be mobilised and utilised to defend our country against this unprovoked aggression. As a matter of fact the British Government have been forced to wage war for the vindication of democracy. It is a pity that my honourable friends of the Congress party have failed to understand the ambitions of Germany. They must realise that the object of Germany in attacking Poland was not merely to conquer that country, but to enhance its power and influence so that she might bring other weaker nations under her sway. My friends must be aware of Italy's aggression. In spite of her pious professions she invaded two peace-loving countries of Abyssinia and Albania without any apparent cause and annexed them forcibly. Similarly, Germany first annexed Austria and then took forcible possession of Czechoslovakia. Do my honourable friends on the opposite benches think that if Germany came out victorious, she would not attack India ? I may tell them that if the same brutal and inhuman treatment is meted out to the Indians as is being meted out to the people of Czechoslovakia the Opposition would tremble in their shoes. This is a question of life and death for the Indian people.

I think the Indians should hold themselves in readiness for wholeheartedly supporting the British, lest Germany be victorious. Gentlemen, if that happens, God forbid, that will be the blackest day in Indian history. It is not merely a question of Germany only but we have also to be aware of the Russian Bear lying in ambush especially when she has so shamelessly appropriated more than half of Poland.

My friends of the Opposition only know how to talk. It is very easy for them to call the victor as vanquished and the vanquished a victor. We have to bear in mind that the greatest Muslim power, Turkey, has sought alliance with the British because she does not trust the Russians on one side and Germany and Italy on the other. The British apprehending danger to their foothold in the Eastern Mediterranean have had to strengthen their relations with Turkey. In view of these acts on the part of such powers, that are capable of defending themselves, how does it lie in the mouth of the honourable Leader of the Opposition to say that he will turn out any invader of this country by mere words ?

I also beg to submit that I personally feel that it is the duty of the British Government to declare that after the war is over they will grant Dominion Status to India. I want also to make it absolutely clear that we are not going to tolerate any imposition of a constitution whether it be from the British Parliament or from the Congress. We want to throw off the yoke of British Imperialism as well as that of Congress Fascism. (An honourable member : May you long live.) Sir, it is the greatest desire of every patriotic Indian to see his country free from the domination of others. I piously hope for the day when the old grandeur and splendour of the Maurya, and the Mughal periods will be restored to this country. (Interruptions.) Yes, I also say that the splendour of Maharaja Ranjit Singh's days will be restored.

Mr. Speaker, I myself believe that the British Government does not want to grant independence to India and that is but natural. Any Government which has once held sway over a country does not easily want to relinquish that hold. This is equally true of the Congress which has not so far tried to come to an agreement with the Mussalmans or the other minorities in India. What is happening in the Congress governed provinces ? How are the minorities being treated ? Firing is being resorted to in Cawnpore and Lucknow, and those very things are happening again which used to happen in the old bureaucratic regime. (An honourable member : What is happening in the Punjab ?) The honourable member should have patience. Why is he feeling so uncomfortable by my speech ? If the Congress governments were to show that spirit of toleration which is the crowning policy of the Sikander Government India could attain independence within a short time.

With these words I support the war resolution now before the House.

Rao Pehop Singh (East Punjab Landholders) (Urdu) : Sir, no one can deny the fact that Germany has flagrantly violated Poland and has been guilty of wanton aggression. It was with a view to fight against Nazi and Fascist aggression and to safeguard the independence of smaller nations that Great Britain entered this war. We are thankful to our Honourable Premier and his Government for promptly making an unconditional offer of assistance to Great Britain, and we strongly approve of this policy.

Now, Sir, I would like to place before this House my personal or a Punjabi's point of view. (Voices : Is this your point of view or that of the Punjabis'?) The Indian army is composed of sixty per cent. Punjabis who on hearing that the war had been declared adopted the same attitude as is described in Shrimad Bhagwat Gita by Lord Krishna. He says that in a war which is fought for a noble cause, the Kshatrya willingly takes part. The doors of Swarga (Heaven) are thrown wide open and at this juncture active participation in war is the only way leading to it and a refusal can lead only to the gates of hell (Narak).

(Rao Pohop Singh).

This fact should be borne in mind that our soldiers have gone to Shanghai, Egypt and Razmak in order to safeguard their motherland. These brave-men have gone to those distant places with the idea of defending the honour of their mother country. They are going to lay down their lives for us but if in their absence we pass a resolution condemning India's participation in this war, we will be doing a great injustice to our soldiers. We will be dubbing those as traitors who are constantly in danger of losing their lives by a bomb from above or a bullet from the front or it may be a depth charge from a U-boat. Among these men are our own kith and kin. They are the cream of the martial races and they are facing all these dangers for protecting the lives and honour of their countrymen. If they were to learn what is being done behind their backs by their own countrymen, would they not think us ungrateful? I ask those, who do not belong to the martial races and who have no relatives at the front, to abstain from disgracing their soldiers and not to earn the epithet "ungrateful".

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the Chair and it was occupied by Mr. Deputy Speaker.)

During the last Great War Belgium was completely annihilated. A greater part of France presented a scene of utter wreck and ruin. England suffered heavily. The Czar and his family were executed. Germany sustained a crushing defeat and the Kaiser fled away from his country. But it were our brethren belonging to the martial classes who were pressing on victoriously to Mesopotamia and Syria. It was due to their marvellous achievements on the battlefield that peace and tranquillity in our country remained undisturbed. It is a pity that when our brethren were shedding their blood in the front line trenches these shopkeepers and businessmen took to profiteering and exploitation in complete disregard of the gravity and seriousness of the situation.

Sir, it is a matter of satisfaction that, Soviet Russia has not declared war against the Allies as yet. Despite this, "black outs" and "all clears" are a matter of daily occurrence in England and France. The whole trade and commerce has been upset there for fear of air raids. Poland has been effaced from the map of the world. Europe is expecting every moment a political upheaval of an alarming proportion. Every European country is feverishly making preparations for her self-defence. But still our troops have reached Egypt, Razmak and Singapore to defend us from any possible attack. The members of the martial classes alone know how to take up arms and how to give battle to an enemy country. What do these brethren of ours on the opposite benches know of such an adventurous life. I may be allowed to say that they would realise the worth of these martial classes only if India is invaded by a thousand planes. They would come to their senses only if a 'black out' is declared once in Lahore. I earnestly request my honourable friends opposite not to take any step that may bring shame to our armed forces in consolidating their position in foreign countries. In fact I am grateful to the Honourable Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan who has made an offer of unqualified support to the British Government. It is gratifying to note that various political and religious bodies of India have also followed suit. Even the Hindu Mahasaba has assured its fullest co-operation to the British Government, though it has made a special request for the removal of all distinctions between martial and non-martial classes. It would be interesting to note that some weeks ago the honourable Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang also made a declaration on behalf of his community of his full support to the Government. We are, though undoubtedly exploited and weak, partners in the British Commonwealth; he even went further by saying that if at all India has to remain a slave of any foreign country, let it then be England and England alone. My submission is that even Shriman Mahatma Gandhi has not lagged behind in this respect. When he met His Excellency the Viceroy at Simla, he expressed his heartfelt sympathy with England in her present calamity. He told His Excellency the Viceroy with tears in his eyes that he really felt shocked when he thought that Westminster Abbey and the Houses of Parliament would be a target of air-raids. Similarly Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru has also expressed the advisability of offering unconditional support to the British Government at this grave juncture and advised his colleagues to put off their demands till the termination of the war. My honourable friends opposite might have read the declaration made by Sir Radhakrishnan and Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru in this respect. The Muslim League was wise enough to make a similar declaration at the very outset. But I fail to understand as to why the Congress leaders have gone back upon their words of honour. Here I may be allowed to make some general observations. Sir Samuel Hoare has in his recent speech described Shriman Mahatma Gandhi as the greatest of all Indians, but I can without fear of contradiction assert that Mahatmaji is one of the few greatest leaders of the world. Now, Sir, if I make a critical survey of his political policy it should not be construed as a disrespect to the great Mahatma. In the beginning Mahatmaji issued a statement to the effect that India should offer unconditional help to the British Government. Then in a later statement he remarked that he was the only man in the Congress Working Committee who had been championing the cause of the British Government for unconditional help. But when His Excellency the Viceroy made his declaration he was the first to reject it, and hence, great as he is and a devotee of non-violence as he is, he yielded to the section seeking cheap credit. At the same time he declared that he was in no hurry to precipitate civil disobedience, for it would only embarrass the Government and thereby result in a disaster of the first magnitude for the British Government as well as for India. He held the opinion strongly that those who were in the habit of crying نودی بچہ ہائے ہائے could not be relied upon to abstain from indulging in violence. Similarly Babu Rajendra Prashad, President, All-India Congress Committee, has exhorted Congressmen to remain non-violent even in the face of all sorts of provocation. Recently Dr. Kitchlew too has complained that Congressmen were forgetting the Gandhian cult of non-violence and have frequently revolted against party discipline. In fact it is well-known to all of them that factious element has taken root in the Congress ranks. They strongly believe that under these unfavourable circumstances it would be impossible for the Congress to organise effective and successful non-violent revolution through civil disobedience. Anyway it is strange that the Congress is neither willing to help the Government nor to embarrass it and it is still more strange that it does not wish for the defeat of the British. Our honourable friends opposite have remarked that if the Englishmen liberate us, they will be in a position to effectively defend the boundary lines of India. But let them understand that it is one thing to say but quite another to do.

Sir, there is no doubt about the fact that every sovereign state tries to exploit its vassal. And I do admit that England has successfully played its part in that capacity. But still it is gratifying to note that we have been compensated by England. We have not only been granted a constitution but also trained to work it. Our two and a half years' experience is a sufficient proof of the utility of this training and further advance to the Dominion Status is in sight.

I was submitting that if we lose this opportunity we will commit a great blunder. As you are aware the English have explained their position by saying that they have invested their money in several businesses here in India. They cannot leave this land all of a sudden because in doing so their own interests suffer. At this critical juncture when Russia and Germany have joined hands it will be most unreasonable to disassociate with the English and place ourselves at the mercy of Russia which may mobilise its army of forty lakhs to exploit us. I may also submit that when moving this resolution I have not the least doubt that Dominion Status would be given to us in response to our help given in the present war. We are confident that as we had been awarded with Montague-Chelmsford Reforms after the last Great War, similarly our glorious deeds in the present war will also bring us our objective of Dominion Status.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Honourable member's time is over.

Rao Pohop Singh : I wind up my speech by saying that it would be much better if a declaration is made to the effect that Dominion Status will be given to India after the present war. I am sorry that the most important part of my speech remains unfinished.

Sardar Sampuran Singh (Lyallpur West, Sikh, Rural) : Sir, I rise to support the amendment moved by our leader. I would not like to go into an academic discussion of so many pledges given by the British, or their historical bearing on this resolution. But I would like to grapple direct with the main question before us this afternoon, which is not really of helping or not helping the British in this war. The real question before us is of taking stock of our constitutional relations with the British as they stand to-day ; and if we find that they are not prepared to improve those relations, at least to make them say clearly how far they are willing to go and to see if that is consistent with our self-respect and honour, and to try to adjust our activities accordingly and to talk no longer in vague phraseology. Sir, with this viewpoint before our minds we have to judge whether the conduct of the Punjab Government has been consistent with this object, for which we are striving at this critical time in history. We know that only two years ago there was a great durbar at Lahore and our Prime Minister made a declaration, or say, made a sort of promise for rendering every kind of help in case the British Government was ever involved in any war.

Premier : That is not correct. I never made a declaration or a statement to that effect.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : Sir, I would like to read his exact words from a book published by his own Government—"Eighteen Months of Provincial Autonomy in the Punjab."

Premier : Then it is not a declaration by me.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : As a leader of his party or of the people who organised that function he advanced that promise to the Viceroy of India and for my purpose that is enough.

Premier : That is not correct.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : I would like to be corrected.

Premier : That statement was made in an address presented to His Excellency by the landed gentry of the Punjab and not by me as the Prime Minister of the Punjab and that was read by Raja Narendra Nath and probably signed by my honourable friend also.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : I had nothing to do with that document. I would like to know from the Leader of the House if he has dissociated himself from that statement. I am glad he does not do that and naturally he endorses it. I was expecting that he would be dissociating himself.

Premier : Certainly not.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : After that there have been several statements by him and I would say a few words so far as that part of the conduct of the head of this Government is concerned. As I was already submitting, this is the time when we should be taking stock of our present position qua our relations with the British Government and this is the time when we could enter into negotiations and make our position clear and consistent with so many promises which had been made by the British. Instead of doing that, they have tried to put obstructions in the way of the Indian National Congress and have discouraged it in every way in this great task and besides, by asking the Government of India to introduce the Army Bill and helping them in passing that enactment, they have in a sense given a carte blanche to the British nation to deal with India as they like. Instead of supporting the case of their own nation they have strengthened the hands of the other side and thus enabled them to continue exploitation of this poor country. We have been threatened that if we do not help the British at this time there is a great danger of other nations invading India ; and it has been said that if there were guns thundering at our doors we would realise the critical position of our country. I am afraid they are exaggerating the situation. They should know that Japan is too busy in China and from the attitude of Russia they should have known that there was no likelihood of any hostilities from those quarters.

Premier : Molotov speaking (laughter)!

Sardar Sampuran Singh : I am afraid this bogey of Russia has been there for a long time. We have been threatened with this for centuries. Ever since the British came into India this threat of Russian invasion has always been on our heads. Even now these rumours are from interested quarters and this Government is being made a tool to propagate them. There is really no danger of actual invasion of this country either from any Asiatic or European power so far as an actual attack of India is concerned. But, Sir, even for the sake of argument if we admit that there is a real danger of having guns thundering at our doors, then I would ask a very simple question from the members of the Government. What do they want to protect? Their lives? Do they call themselves alive? Their country is already in the hands of another nation. They are perhaps improving the condition of their country inch by inch, but how many centuries has it taken to develop from one kind of slavery to another. Perhaps they will say that Rome was not built in a day, perhaps not in a week, not even in a year; but I would ask them to take a lesson from Japan. Forty years ago, Japan was as backward as any nation in the world, but they had the means to improve themselves, the making of their fate lay in their own hands, they had not to go to beg other people to improve their conditions and they have worked a miracle in these thirty or forty years. So, I would say that if the Government think that by even not asking for more rights they are going to get them, and they are going to improve the condition of their country without putting in a hard struggle for it, let me tell them that this dream will never materialize. If therefore, they are not prepared even to negotiate with and ask the British Government to give them a constitution which is consistent with the principles of democracy, and they are not even willing to be firm with them to get their position made clear, I am afraid they will not be doing anything for their country. They have, as a matter of fact, put hinderance in the way of the progressive people of the country who are so keen and eager for the advancement of their motherland (heer, hear). Some of my honourable friends from the Government side have said that it is not graceful to enter into any negotiations at this time in a bargaining spirit. Sir, you would not be bargaining for yourself, nor even for your children, you would be negotiating and bargaining, if you like to call it so, for the whole of the country and the nation, you would be placing the feelings of patriotism and humanitarianism above the desire of pleasing your masters for your personal ends. Therefore, I would submit that this kind of bargaining for the benefit of your motherland and to get what is your birth right is more honourable than the efforts which you make to please your masters for your personal benefit. (Hear, hear.)

At this stage Mr. Speaker resumed the chair.

Diwan Bahadur S. P. Singha (East Central Punjab, Indian Christian): Sir, without repeating elaborate statements and arguments, we may take it that the case of the Opposition can be summarised in Mahatma Gandhi's Biblical language: "We asked for bread and have got a stone." Our cry for bread is no new cry and neither is the stone a new gift. To take out this stone from the museum of the past at this critical juncture is to hurl it at our own head. Is it not a fact that with the reforms the stone ceased to be a real stone? The Opposition prides itself on calling a spade a spade. why not then recognise that with the reforms we started getting bread, though the bread was as hard as stone. It must also be recognised that though the bread continued to be hard, it ceased to be as hard as stone when we got provincial autonomy. Our teeth have been able to bite into it and at least the Punjab has not only bitten, but eaten and even digested it. If some of our friends still think that they have been eating stone, then it is not the fault of the bread, but of their false teeth. There was a hue and cry against the All-India Delhi brand. Well, that particular loaf of bread has been withdrawn and the Viceroy has promised that a new one will be baked and he hopes that it will prove to me more edible. This was not considered good enough and it was asked whether it will only be edible or a whole-meal bread with all the vitamins intact like the Australian and the Canadian variety. Sir Samuel Hoare has assured us in unambiguous terms that we can even have the Irish variety. Sir, I think for the present, this is good enough. If we have energy to spare, let us leave the British Government alone and concentrate on putting right our own house, for if we are united no one can keep the bread from our mouth, no one can deprive us of the bread of our choice. I have no quarrel with the demand that it should not be baked in an oven in England, even though Indian bakers go to assist the English chefs. I am at one with the Opposition in the desire that we use Indian ata, that the ata be kneaded and the bread baked in India, and then sent to England to have the hall mark of Parliament stamped on it and to have it wrapped up in appropriate "White Paper," but we must not turn a blind eye to certain realities. We must recognise that when one crosses the seas one leaves Zat Pat behind. In an Indian clime our environment is different. So, if the baking is to be done in India, there should be no pretext of too many cooks spoiling the broth. We must all have a hand in doing the job—not some made to stand outside blowing the bellows for the fire in the oven. There must be on the one side no chhut and no chauka and on the other no bullying and no danda. The job is difficult and we must recognise it, for we are a people with diverse tastes—some like halal, some like jhatka, some like red chillies, some garam masalla, some like ghee, some like oil, some like goat's milk and some the buffalo's, some like coffee, others prefer lassi, so on and so forth. We must also take note of the fears of Mother India. She weeps as she sees her big sons quarrelling, but she is also apprehensive that when her big sons make peace, the cries of her little ones may be drowned in the smacks of satisfaction of the big, burly brothers. Sir, I am not afraid of the future. The joint family system is in our blood. As sure as night follows the day, we shall compose our differences and our Mata will smile again her forgotten smile. But what fills one with concern is the spectacle of distrust which induces some brothers to sit tight while the family house is on fire. I trust the family and I trust the court of wards.

Sir, we seem to be living in a world of unreality. We are far removed from the war zone, that we do not seem to realise that there is a war on, a war that can devastate civilization, a war which if not won by the Allies will change the geography and the civilization of the world and make our country which is in sight of its great destiny, a land of shattered dreams, either a mass of bloody red or a door-mat under a tyrant's heel. Let those who wish, leave aside all questions of the Empire or loyalty to the Crown. Let them at least be loyal to their own country. This is a war for the defence of our own hearth and home. (An honourable member: A Christian speaking!) No, an Indian speaking. If there are some people who have hypnotized themselves into a state of blissful indifference by the hypnotic influence of oft-repeated ideological Mantras, the Punjab with its sanity and its sense of reality cannot allow our future to be ruined by inaction. I shall not insult the honourable members on the opposite benches in whom the same rich red blood of the Punjab is flowing as on this side by thinking that they can be content to see their country ruined without raising a hand to save it. They act under the orders of a far away High Command. But let aeroplanes from the north drone over our heads and they will be galvanised into action, High Command or no High Command. But that may be too late. Now is the time for action. Every breath of dissatisfaction is a breath of satisfaction for our enemies. Sir Sikander, as the representative of the Punjab by a democratic vote of the people, has already spoken in the name of the Punjab. We shall by our votes on Monday endorse his call to arms. We fought in the last war for a hope. We shall fight in this war for the fulfilment of a hope. My community in the last war, though not officially recognised as a martial class, supplied from the Punjab the highest percentage of its population for various kinds of services in the war. We are prepared to go one better this time.

I do not preach what I do not practice, Sir. I took part in the last war (hear, hear) and was away from my home for over five years. I have offered again as also my elder son, and my younger son is eager to join if they will take him even as a drummer boy. (Applause.)

Rai Sahib Rai Hari Chand (Una, General, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, I rise to support the resolution moved by my honourable friend, Sardar Gurbachan Singh. I may point out at the very outset that we the Rajputs of the Punjab have already assured the Honourable Premier of our unstinted support in the prosecution of war. I again take this opportunity to announce that I have been authorised by the Rajput Sabha to state that the Punjab Rajputs would not lag behind the other martial classes of the province to sacrifice everything in a fight against aggression. We fully realise that Britain is fighting a righteous cause. She has embarked on this war in order to put an end to aggression. We are also aware of the fact that we stand or fall with Britain. If Britain is successful in this life and death struggle, India is sure to get Dominion Status. But if Britain is defeated India would be plunged into chaos. Now there can be no two opinions about the fact as to why Britain decided to go to war with Germany. It is admitted on all hands, right from the King-Emperor to Mahatma Gandhi, that this war is being fought to end aggression. I, therefore, hold the view that there exists no difference of opinion between ourselves and the Congress on the issue of war except that the latter wants to express mere lip sympathy with the ill-fated country of Poland and do nothing solid in connection with the restoration of independence to that country, while we are prepared to render active help in the form of money, men and material. As a matter of fact we are ready to stake our all in order to obliterate Nazism altogether. The Congress wants to bargain with England at a time when the latter is waging war for the vindication of democracy. We on this side of the House are of the opinion that in this war of ideals bargaining with England is useless.

This is against our proud martial traditions. Besides, although it is true, as my honourable friend, the Leader of the Opposition, remarked that England had been pursuing imperialistic policy, none can gainsay the fact that if we were to come under the domination of another power like the Nazis we would be much worse off than before. I am, therefore, of the opinion that the policy adopted by the Honourable Premier on the issue of war is the one that is best suited to us under the present circumstances. With these words I support the motion now before the House.

Sayed Mohy-ud-Din Lal Badshah (Attock South, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, my resolution may be taken as an amendment to the one moved by the Government benches. It is to the effect that this Assembly—

Mr. Speaker: The honourable member need not move his motion. He may discuss it.

Sayed Mohy-ud-Din Lal Badshah: The problem before us is whether India should take part in the present war and whether or not India should give unconditional help to Great Britain. In order to settle this question we have to see to what extent the interests of India are involved in the present European war. It is no doubt in a way true to argue that if Poland is attacked it does not affect India, but it is not the direct effect upon India of a European war which should be the only concern of the Indian people. We have to bear in mind that every war has its repercussions. It will indirectly affect India's relationship with other countries. It may have a very far-reaching effect on the future of this country.

If unfortunately England were to be defeated in this war India would have to lose all the advantages it has so far received from Great Britain. We want to see India a free country and to march shoulder to shoulder with other countries of the world. No one wishes India to remain under the foreign yoke but no one even desires to lose what India has attained after decades of endeavour and sacrifice. Great Britain's defeat in this war means India's defeat. (Hear, hear, from the Government benches.) On the other hand if the United Kingdom wins this war India will not only demand Dominion Status but complete independence can also be demanded. All this is possible so long as Great Britain remains in power, but if she is defeated the question of granting or receiving independence would not arise.

Punjab is very closely linked with the Indian army in so far as the bulk of the fighting forces is recruited from this province. For this very reason I deem it my foremost duty to offer all our available resources to His Majesty's Government. Just as the Honourable Premier has said that he can offer lakhs of recruits I may also venture to say that a few thousand men can also respond to my feeble call. (Hear, hear.) Our victory in this case will only be a physical rather than a spiritual or moral one. If all classes and communities in India were to unite and deem it their duty to participate in this war on the side of Great Britain I am sure she will not waver from granting our independence to us and that would be our moral victory. But before we take part, it would also be very proper on the part of the British Government that it should make an announcement at this stage regarding the promises which she had already made, so that those who have offered their lives may be encouraged to know that they are giving their lives for the freedom and protection of their own hearth and home.

Mr. Speaker : One amendment has been moved and it is under discussion. All other amendments which deal with different aspects of the same amendment can be discussed together ; but they will be moved, without any speech, of course, and voted upon separately, if so desired.

Malik Barkat Ali : May I take it that those gentlemen who have given notices of amendments to resolutions will not be permitted to speak in support of their amendments ? If not, will they be permitted to speak during the course of this debate ?

Mr. Speaker : Yes.

Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz (Parliamentary Secretary): Mr. Speaker, Mir Maqbool Mahmood, in his very eloquent speech, has voiced the sentiments of all of us on this side of the House and I would not have got up if I had not felt it my bounden duty to say something relating to a matter about which the honourable Leader of the Opposition has said nothing during his speech when tracing the history of the constitutional reform in our motherland, I mean the four years during which the deliberations of the Round Table Conferences were taking place. Before I say something about that period I would like to touch one or two other things. I am one of those few persons who believed and still believe that through the League of Nations, the revision of some of the clauses of the Treaty of Versailles could have taken place if the dictators had not taken it into their own hands to start these wars of aggression. When I was in Geneva at the end of 1931, opinion was already crystallising in favour of a revision of many clauses of the Treaty of Versailles and responsible people, responsible statesmen like the Marquis of Lothian, in Great Britain were delivering speeches in connection with it. Unfortunately the dictators especially Herr Hitler came into power and he planned to redress the so-called wrongs through aggression. He began marching towards other countries and the great powers kept silent as long as they felt that some of the places had belonged to Germany and were theirs as of right, but when Herr Hitler started attacking small nations, that were struggling hard for their economic development and were trying to achieve progress in spite of their handicaps, then the world naturally felt that the time had come when such wanton aggression should be stopped. Several of the people who, I find, are criticising some of the methods employed by the British Government or are criticising those very persons who are standing by Great Britain to-day, were cursing Mr. Chamberlain and Great Britain last year when the Munich Pact was signed, I could name some of those very persons who are at present sitting on the opposite benches. (Hear, hear.) (An honourable member : They are always the opponents.)

The British Government along with the French Government very wisely decided to stand by Poland and check the wanton aggression of Hitler. The time had come for India, and specially, for the Punjab to decide what they were going to do about it. Were they going to offer unconditional help or were they going to say, "First give us something and only then shall we give you the necessary help" ?

5 P. M.

I feel proud of the fact that so far as my own province is concerned, we did not offer any conditional help and we are grateful to the Honourable Premier for voicing the sentiments of not only this side of the House but of every community and race in the Punjab. I challenge my honourable friends opposite to prove that I am wrong. There is not a single community or race in the Punjab, which is not ready to get recruited in hundreds and thousands (Hear, hear from the Unionist benches) and will not readily fight for Great Britain. Punjab has realised that this is not an imperialist war, they know that Great Britain and France are fighting to-day for weak nations. They also feel that the balance of power has been completely upset when German Nazism joined hands with Russian Communism. This combination means that the danger is not so far away and we have to be prepared for defending our hearths and homes. It is the duty of every Indian to take this into account and be ready to defend his motherland, hearth and home.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable lady member's time is up.

Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz : I will only take about 2 or 3 minutes more. I wish to say something about the Round Table Conference and would like to have an opportunity of saying about my honourable friend, Sardar Sampuran Singh's remarks in the Minorities Committee of the Round Table Conference. It is said that the autonomy granted to the provinces is not full self-government and that the British Government does not wish to give Dominion Status or full liberty and freedom to India. Sir, I am one of those persons, who is convinced—and I repeat the word 'convinced'—that it is not Great Britain which will not give us Dominion Status but it is we ourselves who have not managed to get it. I am at this moment thinking of the heart-rending scenes that I had to witness during the three Round Table Conferences, specially during the Third Round Table Conference, where, unfortunately, very few of us were present, and where the representatives of the minority communities of our provinces sold India. I wish a record had been kept of the speeches delivered by the members of the minorities at that conference but, unfortunately the proceedings were not recorded. Had they been kept the people in our country would have known why these reserved powers for the Governors and the Governor-General have been placed on the Statute of the Government of India Act of 1935.

Premier : Those proceedings were recorded but they are a secret document.

Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz : They have not been made public and that is why hardly any one knows about them. What happened at the first Round Table Conference? The majority community went and said, "Hand over everything to us and leave the minorities at our mercy?" The position as explained by my father 9 years ago is the same to-day. Here are a few lines from his speech. This is how far we have advanced. He said—

Believe me, without this Hindu-Muhammadan unity all your dreams of self-government are in vain. With Hindu-Muhammadan unity you can confront the representatives of the British parties and say, "Here is the united demand of India", and then I am perfectly certain they will see that India is now united and is in a position to conduct the affairs of self-government as an equal member of the British Commonwealth of Nations, and they will be more than ready to meet you half way.....

[Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz.]

In connection with this I would like to say that when during the first Round Table Conference, in the first few days, from the Princes to the representatives of the smallest minority said that nothing less than full Dominion Status would satisfy them, people who did not want India to get anything, were trembling in their shoes. I can repeat instance after instance of what I have witnessed with my own eyes. What would happen if everything had to be handed over to the Indians! Such were the questions that were being asked. Now, what was the reply given by my honourable friend, Sardar Sampuran Singh, to my father's stirring appeal. The Muslim community was asking for a statutory majority of 51 per cent., the statutory majority which we are now enjoying to-day and under which provincial autonomy has been such a success in the Punjab. What did my honourable friend say? If only he had accepted this then—I am sure sometimes his conscience does prick him—had he accepted it then, India would not have been in such an unhappy state to-day. What did he say?

Politically we are opposing Muhammadans, who numerically speaking, are much stronger than us and possibly what agitation we can make against the British Empire and what can we do if things are not done according to our wishes.....

My friends were asking for 30 per cent. in the Punjab. (Sardar Sampuran Singh : No.) Yes, I can show you. Then further on he said—

I am not threatening anybody, but I know that unless our people at home are satisfied and are shown that justice has been done to them, I feel that there will be great excitement and perhaps, with a Muhammadan government in the Punjab, which it shall be, if they get statutory permanent majority in the councils and the great resources of the mighty British Empire at their back, there might be a "civil war."

That was the exact statement which my honourable friend made at that time. Both of my honourable Sikh friends are witnesses of what happened there. My colleagues on the opposite benches say that it is the British Empire that divides us. Divide and rule is their policy. I challenge them to deny that (hear, hear) when we had a talk in the Prime Minister's room where only a few of us were present, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, Mr. Wedgewood Ben and Mr. J. H. Thomas, the three friends of India from the Labour Party did not leave any stone unturned to make us come to a settlement. They appealed to my friends "For God's sake compose your differences". There were 118 press representatives waiting outside. When after 4 hours' discussion, we got up, did not the Prime Minister say 'Gentlemen, should I go and tell the world outside that India could not settle because of one seat?' My father delivered 17 speeches in the city of London and everywhere he told the people that the real representatives of the majority community were the Congress representatives who had not come; that is why no settlement could be arrived at. The very next year the Congress co-operated. What happened then? Mahatma Gandhi knows all about the discussions that often went on till 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning, and still we could not come to a settlement and even Mr. Gandhi had to say 'Unfortunately I have failed'. Believe me, that I felt so depressed—sitting there one felt that the earth should open and swallow one rather than one should have to witness such scenes. The position is the same what it was nine years ago. When the negotiations broke down, my father came home and said, 'Let us pack up and go, the Conference is finished!' Yes! indeed it was finished when no settlement could be arrived at.

Now as regards the Viceroy's statement, I took it as a challenge thrown out to our leaders. Had I been in Mahatma Gandhi's place, I would have there and then called all the leaders—Pandit Nehru, Mr. Jinnah, Sir Sikander and others—and would have asked them to sit down round one table and not get up from that place until they had settled everything. We talk of the third party: we talk of other persons and go on quibbling and quarrelling between ourselves. Why cannot we come to a settlement? I said to my sisters at the All-India Women's Conference Committee meeting the other day. My sister sitting opposite was there. I said that our leaders cannot achieve it, let us go and picket their houses and make them settle everything. India is groaning under this heavy burden of disunion. We must have full self-government; we cannot show our faces to the people outside. I know that if an agreed solution were to be arrived at, the British Government will not say 'no' and will not be able to say 'no' to a united demand. With these few words, I give my whole-hearted support to this resolution, but before I sit down I would like to say that the members of my tribe are as impatient to get recruited as are the members of other tribes in the Punjab. (Applause.)

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh (Eastern Towns, Sikh, Urban): Sir, I am one of those who condemn the Nazi aggression and their unprovoked and brutal attack on Poland. This condemnation has already been expressed by the greatest Indian of our time, Mahatma Gandhi, during his first interview with His Excellency the Viceroy. He extended even his moral support in the prosecution of war. His sympathy with Poland was stated in no uncertain terms. A question then arose and it was this, that the British Government be requested to define its war aims, and be further requested to make a clear and unequivocal statement, whether the principles of democracy and self-determination for which the war was being fought, will apply to India to the fullest degree or not, not immediately and forthwith, I may make it clear, but on the termination of war. This was the demand made by the Congress and it was supported by a large opinion of non-Congress circles also, not only in India but also in England. What has been the response to this demand? The response to the demand was in the form of a statement or declaration made by His Excellency the Viceroy. I put it to my friends on the Ministerial benches whether they will put their hands on their hearts and tell us whether that declaration or that statement satisfied them. To my mind that statement was very halting and wholly unsatisfactory and it has not satisfied anybody, not only in India but also in England. This is what Mr. Wedgewood Ben, a very responsible member of the British Empire and an ex-Secretary of State for India thinks of this statement. He says it is a clumsy document: it has a certain Indian tinge. It is massive: it is like an elephant. It is clumsy in action and is followed by something very insignificant. This is not the opinion of an irresponsible extremist but the opinion of a responsible person who is no other than an ex-Secretary of State for India. Professor Keith says of this declaration that it is incompatible with the crusade of liberty in Europe. I should put it to my friends whether the making of this demand and asking the British Government to make known their intentions regarding the future of India was in any way an extraordinary demand. I put it to my friends whether it is in any way an unreasonable demand? Will not this demand be made by any self-respecting nation which had not obtained its own freedom, before plunging herself whole heartedly into this war, a war which was not directly her concern. I want to lay emphasis on the word 'directly'. Would you or would you not give us even the liberty to ask the British Government to make known their intentions regarding the future of India not to be given effect to to-day but on the successful termination of war?

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the Chair and it was occupied by Mr. Deputy Speaker.)

I would like to know from my friends whether there is anything wrong or extravagant in this demand made by the Congress on behalf of India, a demand which is supported by a great volume of politically self-conscious non-Congress India also. This is a direct question and I would expect a direct answer. I should make it clear that I am one of those who believe in co-operation with the British Government. I am one of those who believe in partnership with the British, but a partnership on the basis of equal status and as an equal member of the British Commonwealth of Nations. This is the partnership that I believe in and this is the partnership that I wish to be secured for our country (hear, hear). In view of the unsatisfactory nature of the response to the Congress demand, was anything else open to the Congress but to take the step which it has taken in withdrawing its ministries? Let us not have a narrow view of things, let us not forget that India is not only the Punjab. India consists of 11 provinces and its Assemblies. Let us not forget for a moment that 8, if not 9, provinces are united in the demand that unless Britain makes known its intentions India is not going to assist. I concede that some help will even now be forthcoming, both from the Punjab and the other provinces. I do not deny that some support, meagre as it may be, will be forthcoming; but is it not in the interest both of India and Britain that the latter must have the fullest measure of support from this country and which it can get from a satisfied India alone, and not from a discontented India? That is the position that we shall do well to bear in mind and calmly think over (hear, hear). This declaration by the Viceroy did not even satisfy the Muslim League, although their dissatisfaction was for reasons other than those of the other political bodies. The advice given by my friend Sardar Bahadur Gurbachan Singh that it is not necessary that we should even think of our own political advancement before plunging ourselves whole-heartedly into war is hard to digest. Is it right to say that we should not even think of our political advancement? Not to think of our own political advancement will be foolish and suicidal. The Congress made their position very clear in stating their case and there was no bargaining in it. They said that if you want help of this country to its fullest degree it would be in the interest both of India as well as England that it should be the spontaneous help of a satisfied and willing India rather than of a discontented and unwilling India. Let us not forget that India to-day is a politically awakened India and nothing short of an assurance of the grant of full Dominion Status in the immediate future can satisfy her. Do my friends mean to say that because there are political differences among the communities, and unfortunately those differences are there, therefore we shall have to wait till doomsday and until those differences have been finally made up to get what we believe to be our birth right ?

My sister Begum Shah Nawaz has just now been pleased to tell us that it was Sardar Sampuran Singh who did not accede to certain demands at the time of the last Round Table Conference which resulted in the failure of negotiations. Whether it was Sardar Sampuran Singh, Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh or Sir Sundar Singh Majithia to whom this responsibility is sought to be attributed is not a matter of immediate concern to any one. My sister might have spared herself the trouble of reminding us of the contentions and fruitless discussions that took place then. May I however ask her with all respect whether she wants the Muhammadans to stand in the way of India's progress ? Assuming that the Sikhs did then a certain thing, does she wish that the Muslims should in their turn repeat that very thing ? Does she really wish to postpone the Dominion Status for centuries to come ? I do not know if the British Government are really in earnest, but they cannot be otherwise when all this terrible war is raging. What is then that prevents them from making a clear declaration ? It is quite open to His Excellency the Viceroy to say that so far as the British Government is concerned, they are perfectly willing to give Dominion Status as defined by no other authority than Lord Balfour in 1926 when he was presiding over the Imperial Relations Committee in London. The Dominion Status that we ask for is Dominion Status as between equal partners within the British Empire. I think Government should tell us even now if they are really in earnest, that whilst they are quite willing to the grant of immediate Dominion Status, they are not able to satisfy our demands, because of communal differences amongst us. Why do they not say that directly and throw the blame upon us ? There is no doubt that there are differences amongst us, but they are our domestic concern. Those differences must be made up and sooner or later they will be made up. Does it mean that we have to wait until we have finally made up those differences ? I submit, I cannot understand the logic of all that.

Our younger generation is getting impatient. As I have already said they have ceased to think of Dominion Status as the ultimate goal. Nothing short of immediate grant of this Dominion Status would appeal to them and I see no reason why a declaration should not be made in clear terms that India will have Dominion Status on the termination of the war. There can be no two opinions about it.

If the Congress is satisfied and if men like Mahatma Gandhi and Pandit Jawahar Lal come forward to help in the recruitment, I believe that not six lakhs but sixty lakhs of men will be forthcoming in that case.

An honourable member : What about leadership ?

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : I am not concerned with leadership. I am here just to see to the protection of our hearth and home. I am one of those who believe in partnership with the British, but partnership of the nature that I have described and not partnership of domination, a thing that has been going on for centuries. That will have to be put an end to. This was a reasonable demand that the Congress made on behalf of this country and it pains me to see that this very reasonable demand has not been met.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker resumed the Chair.)

Let me say this that the British authorities, be they in India or be they in England, have misjudged the entire situation. They have tried to under-rate the influence and power of the Congress. They cannot ignore the fact that the Congress is in power in eight provinces—a power and influence which is not equalled by anybody else, by any other association or organisation, however important otherwise. Their majority in those provinces is indeed very great. I do not think I need take your time in quoting facts and figures and show that you cannot underrate the power and influence of the Congress. The Congress does not represent any one community. It does claim to represent all communities and I do make bold to say that it does actually represent all communities more than any other organisation in India. I do believe that it is the Congress alone which can deliver the goods. My honourable friend, Mir Maqbool Mahmood, who comes from Amritsar, the place from which I also come, made some very sarcastic remarks as to what the Congress had to offer in men and money. So far as money is concerned, the Congress provinces of Bombay and Karachi have much more to offer than the province of my honourable friend. As to men I do not think it should be the monopoly of any one community or of any one province to make this boast. It should be open to everybody and to all classes to offer themselves for war. That is why I have tried to make out the point that there should be no discrimination between martial and non-martial classes, and that all able bodied men should have perfect liberty to join the Army if they want to join it. That is my position.

I think this Assembly will be doing a real service indeed if instead of passing its stereotyped Government resolution, they point out the real position as they see it. Do they or do they not think that a satisfied India will be of much greater help to England than a dissatisfied India and if this is the position I would request the Honourable Premier, through you, Sir, that he should not keep aloof from the other provinces. We should join other provinces in making our demands known to England and telling her that this is what we Indians want. We have our own Hitler in this province before whom even the Premier has to bow.

Premier : Stalin would probably be a better simile.

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : I am sorry that I have to say these things in his absence, but shall we be justified in saying that because he has tried to do so much harm to our community—I mean the community of non-agriculturists—and because he has openly been partial, that provincial autonomy as such has failed? On the other hand this is exactly what the Muslim League has been saying.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member will please wind up, if possible.

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : Even the European Group in Bombay supported our demand. Mr. Bramble on behalf of the European and Progressive Group in the Bombay Assembly said this :—

All parties and interests are united in the demand for Dominion Status within the meaning of the Statute of Westminster and that a declaration to this effect should be made forthwith.

This is what a European gentleman on behalf of the Progressive Group in the Bombay Assembly said. But what is the advice offered to us from the Unionist benches ? They say, do not think of your political advancement.

Premier : Have you not read our resolution ?

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : Yes, I have read it very carefully. Otherwise I would not have sponsored my own.

Premier : Then you have not understood it.

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : What did my friends of the Muslim League say ? This is an extract from the resolution that they moved in the Madras Assembly, "that the democratic parliamentary system of Government under the present constitution had failed and therefore it was unsuited to the conditions and genius of the people of India". These are not my words but the words of the Madras Muslim League resolution. If my Muslim friends are in a majority in certain provinces and reap all the harvest and the benefit, they are satisfied. But in other provinces where they are in a minority they simply say that representative institutions have failed. Perhaps consistency is not a virtue with my friends. Our Honourable Premier is a very important member of this Muslim League and I am really sorry that such a thing should come from them. I would for my part much rather be under a Muhammadan yoke than under a foreign one and even if I had any difficulties and disabilities they will be removed in course of time. I would much rather be harassed by my countrymen, even by an advanced agriculturist like Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram, than by a foreigner. (Hear, hear.)

Premier : That is the real patriotic spirit.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : But that is not your position.

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : Muslim League's resolution further claims that "India's future should be wholly reviewed and revised de novo and the British Government should not make any commitment without the approval and consent of the Muslim League". Just see the audacious nature of demand being made on behalf of a community, not on behalf of India. Just see the difference between the demand made on behalf of India and the demand made on behalf of a particular community. I submit that such a demand from my Muslim friends has been made only to set back the progress of the country. Imagine the consequences if every other community was to make a similar demand. If you begin to make such demands, I do not know where things will end. Before I conclude I make a very earnest and humble appeal to the Honourable Premier through you, Sir, and it is that he should like the other provinces, make the true position of his province clear to the British authorities and join the other provinces in demanding full Dominion Status for India.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : Will the honourable member vote with the Premier if he made that statement ?

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : Yes, if his statement came into line with the amendment that I have given notice of.

Sir William Roberts (European) : Sir, I should like to support the motion moved by Sardar Bahadur Sardar Gurbachan Singh. Those of us who have been watching and reading the Indian press for the last three or four years have been convinced of the strong antipathy of Indian public opinion to Hitler and his policy. There has been plenty of criticism of Great Britain for failing to enter into war in the matter of Abyssinia where Italy had been the aggressor. But I should like to remind you that Great Britain was the only power which sent even a single ship to enforce sanctions. Then again, in the case of the rape of Austria, and in the case of war in Spain and in the conquest or taking over of Czechoslovakia, there was strong criticism in the Indian press of a lack of moral action by Great Britain. I believe that the press and the public when criticising in this way felt that they themselves would have been responsible and would have been taking part had Great Britain taken some action. It was not due to some desire to see the Empire involved in trouble to gain a temporary advantage. I do not believe that. When this war broke out there was plenty of evidence that on the moral issues India was overwhelmingly in favour of a declaration of war. After all Nazi power and Nazi claims mean that might and strength is right, in other words, where a country is strong and another weak, you can trample on the rights of the other nation. That is the fundamental thing. It is an issue far bigger than Dominion Status. It is far bigger than the British Empire. It is one of the world conditions for order and progress, and for that reason it is welcome to all of us who love India to find India offering strong moral support for the action of the Empire in declaring war against Germany. (Hear, hear.) Then, our leaders, Mr. Jinnah, Mahatma Gandhi and Pandit Jawahar Lal and many others declared unequivocally where their hearts and their opinions lay. But unfortunately these big men were overruled by perhaps smaller men, who did not have such a clear vision—smaller men on the Congress Working Committee—and India is after all far from the scene of war and these smaller men persuaded or the majority insisted at this time on bargaining. It was only in this province and through our leader, Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan, that a clear vision was seen that the attainment of Dominion Status was forthcoming. This is my opinion and I say so sincerely not because I am defending this resolution, but this is the surest and best road for the progress of India, because we would be fighting for something bigger than ourselves, bigger than Dominion Status, bigger than the Empire, and this will be a unifying force to bring us together, to unite us and make us a great nation instead of being so many Hindus, so many Muslims and so many Sikhs. I have been asked by the Chairman of my central organisation, whom I informed that I might be speaking to-day, to convey the sincere tribute and admiration of the European community to our Premier and to the leaders of the Punjab, for the lead they have taken, and I have been asked to say also that this comes from every European in the country. We are after all a minority community and I should like to make it quite clear that we are in sympathy with the Indian aspirations. (Hear, hear.)

I myself would like to see Dominion Status attained to-day (hear, hear), but I would ask you to remember that we are living in a practical world. We are not all Hindus, we are not all Muhammadans, and we are not all Europeans nor Christians, nor are we all engaged in commercial interests, nor are we all zamindars. There are so many varied interests that you must adopt a practical scheme whereby these interests are represented, and not mere numbers. I would ask you, therefore, to bear this in mind and to take this opportunity of a cause which after all, as I have told you, is bigger than the Empire and bigger than Dominion Status of bringing about the unity of India, so as to attain this high ideal of Dominion Status (hear, hear).

Mian Abdul Rab (Jullundur South, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I rise to support the resolution which has been moved by my honourable friend Sardar Bahadur Gurbachan Singh. I have listened with interest to the speeches of many honourable members and I have noted that the Leader of the Opposition, Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava, has also tried to sing the songs of liberty, but for the life of me I have not been able to understand who can be that unfortunate Punjabi who does not want India's freedom. Who can be that wretched Indian who does not desire India's salvation? If any one says that the Mussalmans are opposed to independence being granted to India, my only reply to him can be (because I do not want to use harsh words) that he is not acquainted with the history of Islam. But one cannot afford to overlook facts and truth and whoever does this commits a great sin.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava has argued that India has nothing to bother about if England is attacked. Probably he has forgotten that this very Hitler had in his statement after the annexation of Czechoslovakia renounced all territorial ambitions in Europe. Still the world knows how wantonly Poland was attacked and subsequently divided between Russia and Germany, on the principle of نصف انى و نصف انكم (i.e., half for me and half for you). Now does my honourable friend believe that in case Great Britain is defeated in this war Hitler will close his eyes towards India? (Hear, hear). In the present circumstances helping Britain is tantamount to helping India itself. The person who fights shy of facing the situation under cover of the word "liberty" is perhaps the greatest enemy not only of India but of freedom as well. If the worst comes to the worst and Great Britain suffers defeat, will India then get a passport to freedom? (Voices : We will get our liberty). Never, my friends are mistaken. For heavens sake consider this dispassionately and tell me whether Hitler or Stalin will guarantee your freedom. (Voices : We will win our own independence). This is only a false hope. The chain of English bondage has rusted after 150 years of British rule and is about to snap but Hitler's new chain will not break so quickly.

I am reminded here of a king's story who selected mullahs and pandits as his ministers and not a single one of them was a soldier. A neighbouring prince got wind of this matter and attacked his country. The king sought the advice of his ministers but they told him to have patience and everything would be all right. When the enemy had crossed his frontiers and was advancing further the king was alarmed and again asked for their counsel. What could the mullahs and pandits do now? They merely said, 'Sir, if you will lose your country the enemy will lose his faith'. I wish the same may not be the case with you, lest it should be said that you lost your country and Hitler lost his faith.

Munshi Hari Lall : Why are you exhibiting such cowardice when your strength is 8 crores ?

Mian Abdul Rab : My friend asks me not to exhibit cowardice. For his guidance, I may read an Urdu couplet—

اس سادگی پہ کون نہ مہر جائے اے خدا
لڑتے ہیں اور ہاتھ میں تلوار بھی نہیں

The second thing which I would like to mention is the condition of Great Britain granting something before we can offer any assistance. It is just like the case of the servant who when leaving home in quest of employment was advised by his elders to ask for rewards or increase in salary only when the master seemed pleased. On finding employment with a rich man he was allotted the duty of looking after the horse of his master and was also asked to bathe the animal occasionally.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : It seems a nice yarn.

Mian Abdul Rab : Please do not feel so uncomfortable. Try to give me a patient hearing. Well, Sir, after a week the master found that although the animal was given water to drink it was not being scrubbed. He, therefore, ordered that the horse may not be given any water to drink but it must be scrubbed. The servant used to tie the horse's mouth before giving it a bath. One day the horse died of thirst while he was being scrubbed. On being asked for the cause of the horse's death, the servant informed his master that as he had been ordered to scrub the animal and not to give him any water to drink he had obeyed this order to the letter and the horse had died. The richman laughed at the stupidity of the servant and the servant promptly asked for his reward from his master. One should not be such a fool as that servant was, to ask for rewards at the most inopportune moment.

Dr. Shaikh Muhammad Alam : May I know from the honourable speaker who was the rais and who was the servant ? (Laughter).

Mian Abdul Rab : The honourable member is not in his seat and therefore has no right to speak. However I can assure him that it is not about the honourable member, so he need not worry.

Now, the Opposition alleges that the policy of divide and rule is being pursued in India. May I ask if the majority itself has done its duty towards the minorities and tried to win their confidence ? If the minorities are satisfied and the British Government is faced with a common front I do not see any reason how the British Parliament can refuse our demands.

I beg to submit, Sir, that my friends of the Opposition should take pity on the wretched plight of India and should at least follow the advice of the Poet of the East which he has expressed in the verse :—

اچھے من میں قلوب کو یا جا چواغ زندگی
تو اگر میوہا نہیں بیٹا نہ بن اپنا تو بن

As true Indians it is our duty, that we should not at least try to oppose those who are going to help Great Britain if we cannot extend our own assistance. In spite of my differences with the Premier I whole-heartedly support him in this war resolution.

Mr. E. Few (Anglo-Indian) : Sir, I rise to support the motion approving the action and attitude of the Honourable the Premier in having placed the resources of the Punjab in the present crisis at the disposal of the British Government. I belong to a microscopic minority community, but what we lack in numbers we are making up by devotion and love of our country and the Empire. We are at a very critical stage just now when the Empire is in a life and death struggle, and the Congress has sprung upon us a demand that they should be allowed some sort of government by which they can perpetuate tyranny of the majority on the minority. You hear these people very glibly talking of freedom. What is freedom? This House is an emblem of that freedom? We do not want that kind of freedom whereby the Congress can perpetuate tyranny as is being done in the Congress governed provinces under the garb of non-violence put forward by Mr. Gandhi. When trouble brews the Congress takes refuge in Mr. Gandhi's non-violence and they follow his lead. Now, Mr. Gandhi, in his personal capacity has offered unconditional help; why then do they not follow him now? It would appear that the Gandhian cult is only an end to a means and that it is made use of when necessity arises. The Congress attitude in bargaining at this particular juncture reminds me of three brothers in a household. These three brothers had differences among themselves regarding the management of the property. They were suddenly attacked by burglars but the junior member remained aloof and said, "unless you promise to make over the charge of the property to me, I am not going to take any part in repelling these burglars." Is this attitude natural? There are quarrels in all families, but directly an outsider appears, the ranks are closed and they keep together.

The other point to be considered is that India in entirety as also the British Empire are agreed that this Nazi aggression should be resisted and unless this is done, there will be no room for anybody else. But though appeals have been made to my brothers on the opposite side, they can only see their own view point. If they really represent the country, then why do they want any condition? It is simply because they do not represent the country, except so far as their vocal performances are concerned. They say "unless you give us freedom, we won't help you." This shows the Congress in its worst and naked form of pure communal selfishness. (Hear, hear.) The Poles have been rendered homeless and trampled upon, but the Congress says, it does not matter we should look after our ourselves. Czechoslovakia has been wiped off from the map, but it does not affect the Congress. Austria is now under the heel of the Nazi boot, but it does not matter to the Congress. They want to keep somebody under the heel of their own boot.

5-55 P. M.

(At this stage the Assembly adjourned till 6-25 p.m. to enable the Muslim members to break their fast).

The Assembly re-assembled at 6-25 p.m., Mr. Deputy Speaker in the chair.

Mr. E. Few : Sir, I was saying that the Congress was pressing these demands in spite of the fact that other nations were being obliterated day after day. Therefore, it seems to me that no humanity is left in the High Command. India is at a very critical stage and this is the time when we should all unite together and give of our best. The very fact, that the war is being waged for the purpose of maintaining the principle that right should prevail over might, should be sufficient for those people who have got no doubt on the subject, because these people have always been claiming that they won the last war. But I do not think they can really lay any claim to that. The last war was won by the peasantry of the Punjab (Hear, hear), Muslims and Sikhs. (Hear, hear). If they are needed again, I hope, they will be there in the firing line to defend the honour of the Punjab and the Empire.

I have nothing more to say except that we are very fortunate at this juncture to have so noble an individual as the Honourable Premier at the helm of the affairs of the Punjab. The Punjab knows him and he knows the Punjab. When he speaks, it is the voice of the Punjab that speaks. (Hear, hear). We owe our allegiance to him and if we follow his lead, I am sure, the result will be that he will lead the Punjab to victory and to our desired end, namely the Dominion Status. (Hear, hear and applause).

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana (Pakpattan, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, I rise to support the war resolution moved by my honourable friend, Sardar Bahadur Sardar Gurbachan Singh. It is a matter of gratification that this resolution has been welcomed by a large number of the honourable members of the House. But I intend to make only a few observations with regard to the alternative resolution or amendment, whatever it is, which can safely be divided into 4 parts. In the first part it has been regretted therein that the United Kingdom has made India a participant in the current war without her consent and approval. My submission is that it is not the United Kingdom that has forcibly dragged India into the war but it is India herself that has, in view of her own interests, expressed her willingness to take part in the war. When the Honourable Premier tendered his offer of unqualified support and co-operation to the United Kingdom he did not at all mention that he was doing so at the instance of the former. On the other hand he openly declared that he was making the offer of his own accord.

Besides this, Punjab can only take benefit out of the present war if England comes out victorious. Only in this case our demands can be met and dreams materialised. As far as Indo-British connection is concerned I would submit that never was the safety of India so vital as it is to-day. It is high time to catch time by its forelocks and take advantage of the friendship of the English; if we lose this opportunity, take it from me that everything is lost and it will be nothing but a serious political blunder. I again submit that our aspirations can be satisfied in case we help England and then after that we lay our demands before them. We should not be bantias and businesslike as to bargain with the British at this important and critical moment in history. What we should do is to express our loyalty by action and do something solid for the British which can only be done by placing our services at their disposal.

Then, Sir, my submission is that we should not be inactive. Supposing God forbid, India or the Punjab is attacked, who will go to the front to protect the security and honour of the Punjab and to save us from Fascist aggression? Only the English would come to our rescue, as we are not powerful enough to resist that aggression. Moreover when the English are fighting in the name of justice, when they are fighting in order to protect small nations and small states from Nazi aggression, when they are fighting for the sake of Poland and when they stand by their pledges with Poland I think there is no reason why we should not help the English who are at war with Germany for such a noble and high cause.

The second point that has been opposed by the other side of the House is with regard to unconditional help. In this respect, I would like to submit that Mahatma Gandhi at first was also of the opinion that unconditional help should be given to Britain. But the difference is this that Mahatma has not been faithful to his words and has changed his opinion while our Premier has not changed that opinion and is true to what he has once said. (Hear, hear). I have got many instances where Mahatma Gandhi has changed his opinions. Sometimes he says, I am at one with the views of the Congress and sometimes he says, no I am contrary to them. At one time he says, he will do civil disobedience and at another time he changes like wind.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I challenge the statement of the honourable member.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Then another objection has been raised by the opposite benches that the services offered by the faithful and loyal people of the Punjab has been offered against the wishes of the Assembly. This objection seems to be very strange. Just imagine when the number of offers made by the people of the Punjab exceeds the number of electorates what should we take? When this is the condition one cannot say that the offers have been made against the wishes of the Assembly which represents the electorates of this province. It clearly shows that the people at large are going to co-operate with the Government with heart and soul in rendering their services to the English. And I am proud that to help in this war against aggression, thousands have come forward from every community and tribe in the province to offer themselves for recruitment.

Then after so much had been said against the attitude and conduct of British towards India, Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava also stated that provincial autonomy has proved successful in this country and, therefore, England should reward us with Dominion Status. My submission is that the Congress Party to which my honourable friend belongs has not been able to satisfy the minorities of a single province out of eight provinces. And out of those eight provinces, I am afraid, he cannot quote a single instance where they have proved themselves competent enough to administer the province and besides that they are unable to quote any instance of any Congress province whose minorities have declared that they are pleased and satisfied with the Congress Government. When my learned friend, Dr. Gopi Chand says so he should not turn a blind eye to one of those provinces where firing was resorted to like firework.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Honourable member's time is over.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : I want to make one more submission and then I will resume my seat. May I ask one question? Do my friends remember that meeting of different leaders when the Viceroy summoned them in order to arrive at a mutual understanding? Do they remember what happened in that meeting? One leader turned his face towards the east and another towards the west, hence they could not place a mutual demand before the Viceroy and therefore the negotiation failed to bear any fruit.

(Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana.)

As far as negotiation with the Viceroy is concerned my friends who are sitting on the opposite benches may rest assured that this battle will be won by our Premier. Let the present war come to an end and our Premier would again come forward and would get for us such a constitution by which everybody will be entirely satisfied. With these words I finish my speech and pray to God, the Almighty that to-day as our leaders Mr. Gandhi and Mr. Jinnah are sitting at Delhi with His Excellency the Viceroy and a problem of grave importance is before them to be settled, they may come to a useful and healthy decision so that the names of Mahatma Gandhi and Mr. Jinnah may be written in gold on the pages of history. Let us pray to God that we may listen to very pleasant news to-night on the Radio. (Voices of 'amen'.)

Master Kabul Singh (Jullundur East, Sikh, Rural) (Punjabi): Sir, realising the horrible consequence of the war we must, before deciding one way or the other know as to what are the British war aims. You are aware of the fact that on the 3rd September the spiritual leader of Sir Sikander, Mr. Chamberlain stated that Britain had entered the war for defending the rights of all nations to live their own lives, for defending democracy and for checking the Nazi aggression. In order to judge the veracity of his statement let us take into consideration his past record of six years. But before taking into consideration this record we should bear in mind that after the last Great War class war began in every country. The peasants and labourers were inclined towards socialism more and more. As a matter of fact Communist Government was established in Russia. Now in view of the statement referred to above so far as the question of the independence of nations is concerned, we are aware of the fact that Japan devoured Manchuria and Mussolini took possession of Abyssinia and Albania but Mr. Chamberlain had long slept over these facts. Let alone checking the aggressors, he even secretly supported Mussolini. So far as the question of defending democracy is concerned the example of Spain is before us. Previously a popular Communist Government was reigning in Spain. But due to the connivance of Mr. Chamberlain now the monarchists and big landlords are reigning supreme. Besides, Herr Hitler and Mussolini openly helped the rebels. Mr. Chamberlain was seeing all these facts but he remained unmoved, and adhered to the policy of neutrality. Not only he remained neutral, but he even compelled France to observe neutrality. Now the result is before the world that instead of popular Communist Government to-day a Fascist of the type of Franco is at the helm of affairs in Spain. Thus Mr. Chamberlain instead of defending democracy gave a great encouragement to Fascism.

Now coming to the question of the Nazi aggression I can say without fear of any contradiction that there is the hand of Mr. Chamberlain in it as well. The reason for this is not far to seek. After the Treaty of Versailles the power of France was on the increase. Mr. Chamberlain fearing from the rivalry of France and further in order to keep the balance of power in Europe thought it necessary to strengthen the position of Germany. In view of this he encouraged Germany to make fortifications in the Rhineland where according to the Treaty of Versailles fortifications were not to be allowed to be made. Ostensibly his object was to increase the power of Hitler so that France from fear of Germany should always remain dependent on Britain. Besides Germany took possession of Austria. But Mr. Chamberlain and his Government did nothing. Then again he himself handed over Czechoslovakia to Hitler. As a matter of fact even the Russian Government was prepared to help the democratic Government of Czechoslovakia. But Mr. Chamberlain after getting this promise from Hitler that he would attack the Communist Government of Russia, handed over the said country to him. I am confident that if Hitler had assured Mr. Chamberlain of his intention of attacking Russia even Danzig and the Corridor would have been handed over to him silently, because the British Imperialism wishes to keep at a safe distance from the communist and socialistic Government of Russia. To-day her military power is so great that it is not a child's play to begin hostilities against her. Hitler and his military advisers knew this thing full well. And that is the reason why Mr. Chamberlain could not persuade Hitler to attack Russia.

Now Sir, in order to put a stop to the Nazi aggression in Europe Russia wanted to conclude a treaty of mutual assistance between herself, France and Great Britain. The British statesmen carried on negotiations for a long time but were not successful in their efforts. The reason was that Russia wanted that Great Britain should give a guarantee similar to that which they had given to Belgium, to Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania that in case of an attack from any power Great Britain would help them. But the British statesmen did not agree to this. Against this they wanted Russia to help Poland in case of an aggression from any power. Besides the condition on which the help was to be given was that she should not send her forces to fight on the Polish soil. What a funny proposal? It meant that after finishing with Poland when Hitler challenged Russia on her own soil, then and then only she was to fight and not before. But I may point out that Russian statesmen were not such simpletons as the Britishers thought them to be. The result was that after some futile negotiations they came back without meeting with any success. (Premier: It looks as if the whole Cabinet of Russia is seated here). I may point out to-day that our Premier wishes to gather support for the Britishers in their war against Hitler by raising the bogey of Russia and by resorting to other propaganda. But I wish to point out that this war would never have occurred if Russia, France and England had come to an agreement among themselves. It will not be out of place to mention that the real cause of the breakdown of the negotiations was that the Britishers wanted to have undue advantage over Russia. Moreover they wanted to get out of this difficulty by setting Germany against Russia. But Russia knew very well this diplomatic move of the British statesmen. That was the reason why the Russian Government did not agree to the proposals of Britain. In this connection I am reminded of a story which aptly applies to the British statesmen. It is stated that a biju once attacked a bania and his wife. A jat was passing by. He came to the rescue of the bania and his wife. Now the biju left the bania and attacked the jat. At this the wife of the bania asked her husband to help the jat. But the bania replied, let the jat and the biju settle among themselves. Similarly, the British bania wanted to escape by setting Biju Hitler against Russia jat. But Russia knew very well the diplomatic moves of Britain, so he did not come round. The result was that negotiations fell through. As no agreement was arrived at between the three powers, so Hitler was emboldened to attack Poland. In the circumstances the whole responsibility of the war lies on Mr. Chamberlain. This is his record up to the 1st September, 1939, who as a matter of fact is not fighting for defending democracy and poor people but is fighting for the sake of giving encouragement to the aggressive activities of the Fascists.

Now Sir, the declarations of Mr. Chamberlain can be judged by his present attitude. After the destruction of Poland, Hitler submitted some peace proposals. Mr. Chamberlain not only spurned them away but he himself did not put forward any counter peace proposals. Here I wish to point out that even Mr. Lloyd George, at whose instance during the last Great War, Sir Sikander made the Muslims attack Turkey and sent to destruction thousands of Mussalmans and got the Khalifa deposed and made the Muslims to fire volleys at their own Holy places, Ka'ba and Madina, has said that they should have carefully considered the peace proposals of Hitler. But Mr. Chamberlain did not agree. And Sir Sikander is also supporting him. Let me point out that if at this time Mr. Lloyd George had been the Prime Minister of England Sir Sikander would certainly have supported him, because he is a person who will always bow before a rising sun. I wish to know from my honourable friends opposite as to why Mr. Chamberlain is fighting even after the destruction of Poland? Is he fighting for the restoration of Poland? No. Because half the Polish territory has been occupied by Russia and Britain has not declared war against her. On the other hand even Mr. Churchill and the British press are justifying her attitude. Besides may I know whether this war is being waged for the restoration of Czechoslovakia? I say no. Because even the allies are not unanimous on this point. In France a provisional Government of Czechoslovakia has been established under the presidentship of Dr. Benes with Paris as its headquarters. On the other hand the ambassador of the dummy state carved out by Hitler is present in London. From this one can safely conclude that this war is not being waged for the restoration of Czechoslovakia but it is being fought in furthering the cause of imperialism. That is the reason why the Britishers are not stating their war aims.

Now the Honourable Premier and his other colleagues say that if they did not help Britain, Germans and the Russians would invade India. And, therefore, in order to oppose them we should assist the British Government. But I ask if the Germans and the Russians invade India what opposition can these people offer? I am sure if at all the Germans and the Russians come here, my honourable friends over there would bow before them as they have always worshipped the rising sun. I can tell them plainly that Russians will never attack this country for they do not invade other countries with swords in their hands. On the other hand by establishing a communist Government in their own country for the last twenty-two years they have launched an attack against the capitalistic world. Now by giving twelve acres of land and a cow and a pig to every peasant in Poland they have launched another attack against my friends Sir Sikander and Major Khizar Hayat Khan and other big landlords of the same type. The Russians need not come here. What is needed is that their achievements should be broadcast to the poor peasants of this country. When these peasants will come to know of such state of affairs, they will themselves settle their affairs with Sir Sikander and Major Khizar Hayat Khan.

In conclusion I may submit that this war is being waged for furthering the cause of Imperialism. Our country's and poor people's interests are not involved in it. Therefore we should have nothing to do with it. With these words I support the amendment moved by my honourable friend, Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava.

Khan Sahib Chaudhri Pir Muhammad (South-East Gujrat, Muhammadan, Rural): Sir, those who have been following the events during the last two years, which led to this present war, know fully well how Fascist and Nazi Governments have been acting like hungry wolves and devouring petty states which had the misfortune of being their neighbours. This policy of unjustifiable aggression, if allowed to go unchallenged by the democracies and the liberty loving nations of the world, is fraught with serious consequences to the peace and advancement of the world and as it is likely to bring about chaotic confusion in the political and international relations between the civilised countries of the world, Great Britain, which occupies the foremost place in the great powers of the world, felt duty bound to come to the help of small nations, with a view to protect and safeguard the democratic principles involved and which were being mercilessly trampled upon.

It was thus that France and England were forced to go to war with Hitlerism. They tried their level best, even at the risk of being called cowards when Hitler attacked Poland without any ultimatum. India, a subject country, has been under the benign rule of the British Government for about a century and during this long period it has made considerable advance. The attainment of dominion status is its final goal and that final goal is not only near but is quite visible. This being the case we would be committing a blunder of the gravest magnitude if we, so far as the prosecution of the present war is concerned, embark on a policy which instead of accelerating our progress towards the visible goal, may retard our pace for attaining our objective for a century more. India forms an important unit of the British commonwealth and is treated on an equal basis with other units of the Empire, even with the Dominions; and at the same time has been given a definite promise of Dominion Status in the near future. This being the case, apart from other considerations, our self-respect demands that we should not lag behind any other unit of the Empire in placing our entire resources at the disposal of His Majesty the King for the prosecution of this war. On hearing the speech of Sardar Kabul Singh I thought I was in the Parliament of Russia. There are persons outside who are always trying to instigate people to disloyalty, but I think Sardar Kabul Singh has done worse by saying that Russia has no opportunity of attacking India. The war has just begun: nobody knows when and where it will end; and it is just possible that India may be involved in the trouble and the only country from which India stands in danger of an invasion is Russia. Even by keeping aloof from the war it will increase the difficulties of the British Government in the prosecution of war. We shall be helping and encouraging Russia in a way to invade India as soon as it gets the opportunity. Now a word about the distinction between martial and non-martial races mentioned in the resolution of Sardar Santokh Singh. In this connection I may point out that this distinction has not been made by the Government. This distinction is the creation of the non-martial races themselves simply because they are not anxious to get themselves enlisted in the army; and when by chance, if a member of a non-martial race joins the army he behaves in a manner, which is not in keeping with martial spirit and totally fails as a soldier during the war time. I would, therefore, advise my friend to produce such like men so that when they enter the army they may prove as useful soldiers. With these words, I support the resolution moved by Sardar Bahadur Gurbachan Singh.

Mr. K. L. Gauba (Inner Lahore, Muhammadan, Urban): Sir, I rise to support the motion moved by the Leader of the Opposition (hear, hear). I do not support this amendment because I happen to sit on this side of the House. The issues before us to-day are really much too serious for us to decide them on the trivial question whether one sits on this side or that side of the House. The issues before us are as grave as the issues which were before the House of Commons when the question was decided to declare war on Germany. It is as serious as the decision which the German people took—rightly or wrongly—when Poland was to be invaded. We are here to arrive at an equally important and grave decision, because if the resolution moved by the Government or the Government supporters to-day is carried, it means a vast drain on the resources of the province, and it means also practically the death warrant to thousands of youngmen of this country. (Congress benches: Hear, hear). But there are times when youngmen are called upon to make sacrifices and when youngmen ought to be called upon and they ought to make sacrifices for the nation. What we have to consider is whether this is the time and whether, if they are to make those sacrifices, for what consideration and what ideals, for what achievement and for what hopes these sacrifices are to be made.

Now, Sir, let us turn for a few minutes to the main resolution moved by my friend, Sardar Bahadur Sardar Gurbachan Singh. That resolution, I take it, represents the view of the party in power. The resolution consists of two parts. The first part is to the following effect:—

This Assembly approves of the policy of the Punjab Government towards the present international crisis in condemning Fascist and Nazi aggression and declares its determination to resist this aggression and to protect the security and honour of the Punjab and India with all available resources of the province.

Now it is surprising how, in all the speeches that have been made by my friends opposite, they have used the words Fascist aggression and Nazi aggression. They have not used any such word at all about the Russian invasion of Poland. If Poland is the real issue in the present war, then I submit that there is no answer to the question why England is not at war with Russia? (Hear, hear). If Poland has been torn,

7 P. M. if Poland has been raped, if Poland is the victim of aggression, then, why has not England declared war on Russia? (An honourable member: Discretion is the better part of valour). It is not for me to answer that question, it is for Mr. Chamberlain to answer. Last year his air raid precautions were not ready and so he was not prepared to declare war on the issue of Czechoslovakia. And now, because he is not prepared for war with Russia, he is prepared to allow aggression on the part of Russia, but as he thinks he can fight Germany, he is not prepared to allow aggression on the part of Germany. I am not now seeking to defend aggression on the part of anybody. That is not my position. We are here to criticise aggression whether it comes from Germany or from Russia or even of Great Britain herself as in the case of India. We are against aggression of any kind.

Now what is the next part of the resolution? It speaks of a danger to the honour and freedom of this country and declares that, therefore, it is necessary for the Government to use all its resources, its man power and so on to protect them. A statement on these lines was made by the Punjab Government in August last. May I ask what the Government has done during these two months to meet that danger, beyond arresting a few leaders in the province under the Defence of India Regulations? Has it distributed any gas masks in the province? Has it constructed a single air raid shelter? Has it purchased a single anti-air-craft gun? No. All that it has done is to utilise the Defence of India Regulations and lock-up a few persons, who made speeches. That is the entire contribution that the Punjab Government has made in connection with the war, during the last two months. The rest has been talk.

Now, coming to the second part of the resolution, it says

It (this Assembly) further desires that it should forthwith be made absolutely clear that the constitution of India shall be examined de novo at the end of the War with a view to immediate attainment of the objective of Dominion Status.

So far as examination is concerned, the British Government has never said that it would not be prepared to examine the working of the constitution. Even during the last war, the British Government was prepared to examine the constitution and it even did examine the question eventually but it took nearly twenty years to come to a precise stage of any tangible importance and to pass the Government of India Act of 1935. The process of examination went through all sorts of stages during which all sorts of promises were made. It said that the last war was for maintenance of democracy, that it was for safeguarding the rights of minorities, and that it was a war for justice and liberty. We heard all these things being said while we were children in those days. But when we grew up we had the Versailles Treaty. That treaty showed how the ideals of justice and liberty for small nations were really translated into practice. Now, what is the guarantee that all these declarations are not going to suffer precisely the same fate? India has had enough experience of the last war and it is not necessary now for me to excite the feelings of the Punjabis by mentioning the incidents that occurred in the Punjab immediately after the war. Perhaps England might have turned a new leaf now. What we want now is a clear and precise declaration of what its aims with regard to India are. Last time we were deceived, but shall we be deceived now? The people want a declaration that India will be an equal partner with the other parts of the Empire and nothing less. A mere declaration mind you, is asked for. Though England's previous declarations have been found unreliable, we are, nevertheless, prepared to trust her once more and leave the matter to her honour. Although it is more than two months since the war was declared it is a matter of surprise to everyone that the British Government has not yet come forward to declare its aims though from all quarters of India there has been a splendid response of loyalty and offer of services.

Premier : Thanks to somebody.

Mr. K. L. Gauba : Thanks to you. (Cheers). The other day the Honourable Premier said that if he had his way he would get Dominion Status in fifteen days. I entirely agree that it lies in his power to get India Dominion Status in 15 days, but not in the way that he wants. He wants—

Premier : You leave that to me.

Mr. K. L. Gauba : We have left a great many things to you. We have relied on too many of your promises to our cost. Now, it is perfectly true that the Premier has got the power in his hands to get India Dominion Status in 15 days. Punjab is the place where the army is recruited from. If the Premier took up the position that the Congress has done, if he takes up the position that no recruitment will be made from the Punjab unless the British Government makes a clear declaration of its war aims and unless India is assured of Dominion Status, I am sure we can have Dominion Status in fifteen days. He wants us to place implicit faith in his hands. But I am afraid that the record of the last two or three years precludes us from reposing any faith in his promises.

Perhaps I have exceeded my time. I shall, therefore, conclude my speech by saying that I have carefully considered the resolution with a full sense of responsibility. I do not represent any large party in this House, nor do I represent large land owners like Sir William Roberts. But perhaps I can claim to represent the man in the street and I can say that the man in the street is prepared to take up the question of war provided you meet his demands. The man in the street is not prepared to suffer oppression or an inferior status. I think it lies with the Premier to make that perfectly clear to the British Government. A careful study of the resolution and the amendment has led me to conclude that the amendment of the Honourable Leader of the Opposition correctly represents the view point of the man in the street. I do not belong to the Congress. I have criticised the Congress on more than one occasion. I have had differences with the Congress, but I do feel that the struggle which the Congress is putting up at this moment really represents the best in this country and I think it is the duty of every patriotic Indian to sink his differences and support the cause which the Congress has taken up. (Hear, hear and cheers).

Sardar Gopal Singh (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Reserved seat, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, when my honourable friend, Master Kabul Singh was making his speech it seemed as if the distance of hundreds of miles between the borders of Russia and India had dwindled to almost nothing and that the honourable Master Sahib was making a speech preparatory to the promulgation of Russian laws and measures in the province. He has in the course of his speech very innocently asked the British Government to state its war aims. I may not be able to make him understand its designs for waging war against Germany but so far as I know, the British Government wants to give battle to every aggressor—be he a Stalin or a Hitler—who is rendering poor people homeless and making them subsist on dogs' flesh.

Sir, the British Government's war aims are quite simple and plain and they can be very easily understood. The Allies, i.e., the United Kingdom and France have taken up arms in defence of those smaller nations who were unable to maintain their political existence and integrity in face of the Nazi menace. They are out to put an end to all sorts of aggression and to uphold democratic principles against totalitarianism.

As soon as war broke out in Europe, the Honourable Premier made a declaration to the effect that his Government would offer unstinted support to the British Government in its present war operations. I may be allowed to say that the party to which I belong owes allegiance to the Honourable Premier and has most willingly accepted his leadership. It does not seem necessary for any member of my party to make a separate declaration when its leader has already done so. Since a general procedure is being followed here and everyone is expected to give expression to his views, I whole-heartedly support the declaration recently made by our leader outside the House.

Sir, it is not a matter of great surprise if His Excellency the Viceroy has not held out any assurance in his recent memorable declaration that India would be granted Dominion Status after the successful conclusion of the War. I may tell my honourable friends opposite that it is due to the diehard attitude of the majority community in India that we are being denied such assurances to-day. I am a humble member of that weak and down-trodden minority community which is groaning under the tyranny of the majority. Let the majority community understand that so long as it does not concede legitimate rights to the minorities the British Government is not prepared to strengthen its hands by giving it Dominion Status. (Hear, Hear).

I should also tell my leader and Mr. Jinnah that if Sir Sikander and Mr. Jinnah come to terms with the Congress and ignore 12 crores Achhuts then Dr. Ambedkar's position would be the same as of Mr. Jinnah's to-day. I must, therefore, submit that before they come to terms they should also consult our leader Dr. Ambedkar. I may again submit that this problem can be solved in no time provided the Congress leaders show their broad-mindedness and come to terms as soon as possible and do not dilate upon it any longer. God forbid, we have not lost our confidence in our Honourable the Premier and as my honourable friends who are sitting on the opposite benches are aware that the whole province is with him as far as unconditional help of the British in the present war is concerned. I being the representative of Scheduled castes also declare before this House that our services however humble they may be are at his disposal. (Hear, Hear). I am also at one with those honourable members of this House who belong to martial classes that now again another opportunity has arisen for them to show their loyalty to the Crown by supporting the British cause against Nazi aggression. (Cheers). I have also attentively listened to my honourable friend, Sardar Sampuran Singh who has threatened us of the thundering guns of Russia at our doors. I would like to submit one point in a passing manner. And that is this that I think there is nothing common between Sardar Sampuran Singh and Sardar Baldev Singh and the Russians except beard. (Laughter and cheers from the government benches). Then, Sir, some-of my friends who find favour with Russia have stated that Russia is not imperialist. I may submit to them that they are under a very wrong impression. The dictatorship of Russia is even worse than imperialism. Moreover I may tell them that they cannot have better masters than the English. It has been said by my friends who are sitting on the opposite benches that they are not afraid of Russia and that there is no possibility of any hostility from that side. I am sorry to say that if they had had a bit of conscience and sense they must have realised that when the Dictator of Russia can join hands with Hitler and can threaten Finland and Turkey, can he not attack India? What hitch has he got in not doing so? And I may assure my honourable friend, Master Kabul Singh that Russia would not be afraid of him. As it is said that safety lies in fear, it is high time for India to please its minorities by redressing their complaints and gird up their loins for the present war. Mussalmans and Achhuts must be given their due rights. With regard to the minorities I must assure the opposite benches that Sararaj cannot be attained by treading upon the claims of 19 crores of people. What do they mean by "other provinces". When there is peace there may be 11 provinces in India but when there is war there is only one province and that is the province of the Punjab. (Hear, hear).

Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz : Sir, may I with your permission ask the honourable member one question? Is he aware of the fact that one of the main reasons why the Congress could not come to any agreement with the Muslim Delegation in London was because Mahatma Gandhi did not agree to seats being reserved for the depressed classes?

Sardar Gopal Singh : Yes, I very well remember it.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I interrupt my honourable friend? Do I take it from the Begum that she herself is a greater friend of the scheduled classes than Mahatma Gandhi? (Opposition Cheers).

Sardar Gopal Singh : It is abundantly clear that from the military point of view it is only the Punjab that counts. The other provinces simply do not count. Nor is there any martial tribe in them. Then there are no martial races in India other than the martial races of the Punjab and the Gurhas. I may also point out that if the English go away in that case my friends would be left to the mercy of the martial races. In the circumstances it is they who want the British to remain in India as rulers. It is in their interest to keep them here, because if they withdraw from India the trade of my friends would be stopped and their business would come to a stand still. But at the same time they do call the Sikhs and the Muslims as traitors because they want the Britishers to remain in India. In my opinion this allegation is entirely incorrect. The people who really want them to remain in India are not the Sikhs or the Muslims, but they are my friends the Hindus. I do not wish to lay any further emphasis on the point, so I leave it here.

To conclude, I may submit that as the Patnans, Jats, Zamindars and other martial races have assured the Premier of their whole hearted support, in the same way I on behalf of the martial Ramdasias, Ramdharies, and Mazbis assure him that they are at his beck and call and that they are prepared to support the Britishers with all their available resources. As regards my friend Master Kabul Singh the following Punjabi adage aptly applies to him :—

یار دے دوار — سچان دھڑی رمائی جاون
 دے دھیا ملے نہ ملے الہ جگائی جاون

(Loud laughter and cheers). With these words, I support the resolution now before the House.

Khan Bahadur Captain Malik Muzaffar Khan (Mianwali South, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I rise to support this resolution not in the mercenary spirit of a lawyer or a lecturer but in the capacity of an honest soldier of the Punjab. I feel that Sardar Gurbachan Singh and other honourable members deserve credit for having brought forward a resolution which truly voices the feelings of all the martial classes in the Punjab. I sincerely believe that at this juncture it is the bounden duty of the martial classes of this province to offer their unstinted and unconditional support to Great Britain in the prosecution of war.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker resumed the chair).

Besides, I am of the opinion that a friend in need is a friend indeed. If a friend stands in need of our help, we should not deny it to him. Now at the time of this unparalleled crisis, Britain expects us to stand by her through thick and thin and it behoves us that we should respond to her appeal generously and co-operate with her in rooting out the Nazi aggression. But we deplore the barter spirit of the congress with which it has approached the issue of war. It has made its support conditional. It like the بہارے دار آؤ wants to be assured of some remuneration before giving its full support to the British Government on this grave issue. But I may submit that participation in a war is not a new thing for the Punjab. In fact we of the Punjab are proud of our past high traditions of bravery and loyalty to British Government. The honourable members must be aware of the unique record of services rendered by this province during the last Great War. In this connection my honourable friend the Leader of the opposition was pleased to remark that our country contributed lakhs of men and crores of rupees for the successful prosecution of that war, but all our services and sacrifices proved to be of no avail in getting us the substance of independence. But he conveniently ignored the fact that it was due to those sacrifices of the martial classes, that Congress was holding the reins of government in eight provinces of India.

In my opinion this is not the time for beating about the bush, nor will it do to bury our heads ostrichwise in sand. If we wholeheartedly support the British Government in her campaign against the menace of Nazism I do not see any reason why we may not get Dominion Status after the conclusion of the war?

I want to assure my honourable friends on the opposite benches that not only the young Punjabi but the young and old alike are ready to take up arms in support of His Majesty's Government at the call of their beloved and worthy leader Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan. Mine are no empty words. In spite of the extreme poverty of my district, Mianwali will again be in the forefront in supplying men and money. The havoc wrought by famine will in no way damp the loyalty of my district, and God willing it will once more make its mark as it did during the Great War.

I am not only expressing my personal feelings but I also speak on behalf of those petty land-holders whom I have the honour to represent in this House. I take this opportunity of conveying their sentiments to the Punjab Government.

My honourable friend, Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh was pleased to recommend to the Government that the distinction between the martial and non-martial classes be removed. I entirely agree with his proposal but there is one thing which should be made clear before this distinction is removed. Experience is the touchstone on which the efficiency of the fighting forces depends. I, therefore, suggest that a company composed of the honourable members from the opposite benches be formed and Lala Duni Chand be made the officer commanding while Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt should be his second in command. This company should be detailed to Waziristan for active service and after six months, on its return, I will be the first person to ask the Government to remove the distinction between the martial and non-martial classes. (Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt: I also belong to a martial class). Let him understand that martial classes are those who have laid down their lives in bloody battles and whose blood had painted the battle fields red. It is not easy to remove this distinction of the martial and non-martial classes.

In the end I want to thank the honourable mover of this war resolution and strongly support the resolution in its entirety.

Captain Sodhi Harnam Singh (Ferozepore North, Sikh, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, when the last great war, in which hundreds of thousands of men were killed, in which millions of pounds were spent, thousands of women were widowed and as many children were made orphans, was over the British Government was forced by the circumstances to devise ways and means of putting an end to such wholesale massacres of civil population in future. The result of the deliberations took the form of the League of Nations and its list of members included Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany, Russia Japan, etc. The first to break away from the League were Japanese. Japan attacked China and when according to the covenant of the League of Nations, restrictions were imposed upon her she resigned from the membership of the League. Then Italy in the Abyssinian campaign compelled the League to apply sanctions against her and she also left the League. Germany closely followed in her wake and finally Russia quitted the League of Nations. All of them want to make their power felt through strength and brutal force. Japan has overrun greater part of China. Italy has conquered Abyssinia. Germany started with the incorporation of Austria into the Reich, swallowed Czechoslovakia and has now annexed a part of Poland. All the time Great Britain had been tolerating these acts of high-handedness and now when the situation has become absolutely intolerable she has had no alternative but to declare war. It was only for the protection of the democracies that Great Britain took up arms, otherwise her own interests were nowhere being threatened. If the British Government had not adopted this attitude Germany was sure to have attacked the other smaller States of Europe.

HOURS OF SITTING.

Premier : I move—

That the business may not be interrupted at 7-30 p. m. but that the Speaker may adjourn the House at 8 p. m. without question put.

The motion was carried.

WAR RESOLUTION.

Captain Sodhi Harnam Singh : Sir, I was submitting that had the British Government failed to declare war against the Nazi aggression the latter would have by this time played havoc with the independence of several other neighbouring states also. In the plan of aggression the totalitarian states, i.e., Germany, Japan, and Italy have made it a principle to commit all flagrant acts of direct aggression with one accord. Not only this but also Soviet Russia, the so-called upholder of the cause of the weaker nations, has stepped forward and in spite of a vast ideological difference with Germany has joined hands with her to have its own share in the former's recent swag. It is well-known now that all these aggressors are determined to weed out democracies from the world. If the Allies are defeated in this War, India is sure to be invaded by any of these aggressors. I request my honourable friends opposite to exercise their imagination for a moment and to think as to what would be our condition under any such dictatorial regime. Just as it is being done at present in Germany and Russia similarly in India also every request for legitimate rights would be answered by a volley of bullets. My honourable friend, Master Kabul Singh should be thankful to the political sagacity of the British Government that even after saying such highly objectionable things he is not taken to task. But such a latitude would not be extended to persons of his type under any totalitarian regime. The terrific plans of these dictators include the occupation of all the agricultural countries of the world, and especially India. And so there is greater reason for us to support all those who are out to crush these dictators. Thus it is our bounden duty to place our entire resources at the disposal of the British Government. I, therefore, request the Honourable Premier to do all that is necessary for the successful prosecution of the War. With these words, Sir, I support the resolution moved by my honourable friend, Sardar Bahadur Sardar Gurbachan Singh.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta (South-Eastern Towns, General, Urban) (Urdu) : Sir, I have carefully studied the resolution moved by my learned friend and Mr. Gauba has already invited the attention of the House to the first two parts of this resolution and stated how absurd this resolution is. I wish to draw the attention of the House particularly to its last part which reads thus :—

It further desires that it should forthwith be made absolutely clear that the constitution of India shall be examined de-novo at the end of the War with a view to the immediate attainment of the objective of Dominion Status with effective protection of due rights of the minorities and other sections and in consultation with and agreement of all the parties concerned.

Sir, when I read the last lines of this resolution I was reminded of all those persons who stood in the way of independence and freedom at a time when thousands of youngmen of the country were sacrificing their lives for this noble cause. My submission is that one can understand the position that all communities and sections should be consulted as to the future constitution of India. This point has been made clear in the amendment moved by the Congress Party also. But the Unionist resolution goes further and says "agreement of all the parties concerned should be obtained." What I want to know is whether the Government have explained to the members of the Unionist Party the full implications of this riddle. Have they kept in view the history of the last 20 years while making such a proposal? Let me ask the Honourable Premier and Mir Maqbool Mahmood whether they will follow their leader, Mr. Jinnah, if an agreement on the questions of independence and the protection of minority rights is reached between him and the Congress. Does not the Honourable Premier remember that ten years back when serious attempts for communal settlement were made by the Congress and the recommendations made by the All-Parties' Conference had received overwhelming support throughout the country and an honourable settlement was within sight, the horse race leader, Sir Agha Khan, was brought to India to fail that attempt? A so-called All-Parties' Muslim Conference was held at Delhi for the purpose when both Mr. Jinnah and late Maulana Muhammad Ali were mobilising Muslim opinion in favour of the scheme passed by the All-Parties' Conference at Allahabad. Have they forgotten that at that time their very friends who are now giving us sermons on unity and independence raised all sorts of objections to prejudice Muslim public opinion against the agreed solution? Let me remind my friends that at that time when the Congress had succeeded in getting the support of Raja of Mahmudabad, persons like Sir Shafaat Ahmad and Muhammad Yakub were put up to torpedo that great effort at unity.

Premier : Which incident is the honourable member referring to?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I am afraid the Honourable Premier has got a short memory, I am referring to the All-Parties' Muslim Conference held at Delhi in 1929, when the late Moti Lal Nehru was also living.

Premier : That settlement was not arrived at with the consent of the Congress and the Muslim League. Both parties met at that time. If the honourable member wants to know further details for his satisfaction he might inquire from Mr. Jinnah, and ask him what happened there.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Sir, this also supports my view. All that I wish to emphasise is that there can be no constitution on which all communities, sections and interested parties can agree. This part of the resolution makes an absurd proposition. I cannot help expressing my fears that if to-day an agreement between Mr. Gandhi and Mr. Jinnah is reached some of these very gentlemen, who are to-day declaring Mr. Jinnah to be their leader, will disown him.

Sir, I fear lest history may not repeat itself. The history of the last 20 years shows that whenever efforts were made for unity pseudo-leaders were made to raise all sorts of slogans to thwart such efforts. In view of all this one is simply amazed to find that a resolution has been tabled by my friends opposite in which it is stated that the future constitution of India should be framed in consultation with and "agreement of" all the parties concerned which they know full well is an impossible condition. How strange it looks that the very persons who are responsible for the present disagreement and disunion in the country are to-day preaching sermons on unity to us! May I point out to them that the bogey of Hindu majority which is raised by them has no real basis? It is a mere myth. With your permission, Sir, I shall read a small paragraph from one of Mahatma Gandhi's recent articles in "the Harijan" in which he has dealt with this question at length. He says:—

I know the fashion is to talk of the Hindus forming the majority community. But Hinduism is an elastic indefinable term, and Hindus are not a homogeneous whole like Muslims and Christians. And when one analyses the majority in any provincial legislature it will be found to consist of a combination of the so-called minorities. In other words and in reality so far as India is concerned, there can be political parties and no majority or minority communities. The cry of the tyranny of the majority is a fictitious cry.

Does not the example of our own province lend support to the view expressed by Mahatmaji that the Hindu majority exists in fiction? Similarly, the so-called religious minorities are a myth. There can be only political minorities in the country. My honourable friend, Begum Shah Nawaz, has just blamed my honourable friend, Sardar Sampuran Singh, for having opposed the unanimous formula for unity at the Round Table Conference. But may I ask her as to why she does not direct her attention to her own side and put this question to Sardar Ujjal Singh, who was the leader of the Sikh delegation at that time? Is it because to-day he is sitting on her side as a Parliamentary Secretary that she does not wish to throw the blame on him? In short, my contention is that there can be only political parties and no majority or minority communities. In addition it has been said that it is not correct to say that the Britishers want to hold India any more, and that the Unionists also stand for the freedom of the country. Let me read once again from "the Harijan" and tell them which category they belong to. The Mahatma writes:—

Britain has hitherto held India by producing before the world Indians who want Britain to remain in India as ruler and arbiter between rival claimants. These will always remain.

This applies to my friends. As a matter of fact my friends who to-day claim themselves to be the great supporters of unity are those very persons whom Britain has always used for its purposes. They have never made any sacrifice for winning India's independence. This fact cannot be denied that even now these people are playing into the hands of John Bull who is their real leader. They dare not say a word against his will. In this connection I am reminded of a beautiful poem by a well known Punjabi poet in which he has drawn a true caricature of my friends. I will not recite the whole poem, but with your permission, only quote one or two verses. Describing the Unionists the poet says:—

مے جان بل جہاں مون نہ مگا مہارا
انگوڑ کا مے خادم اک اک جہاں مہارا
انگوڑ کی غلامی جہاں میں مارے
آسان نہیں ملانا نام و نشان مہارا
برطانیہ سے کہ دو جب تک مہارا دم ہے
خادم رہیگا اس کا ہند۔ ان مہارا

I do not wish to lay any more emphasis on the point that the courage and bravery of my friends is only limited to this much and no more.

Let me now invite your attention to the remark made by my friend, Mir Maqbool Mahmood, who said that the war was not of Britain's seeking. He has said so to justify the attitude of the Unionist Government towards war, but he forgets that the other day when asked as to what his Government's attitude would be if to-morrow Britain becomes an aggressor against some small country, his leader replied that even in that case he would be the first to support the British Government.

Premier : Who said so ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Refer to the debates.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member will please avoid reference to debates of this session.

Premier : I am afraid my honourable friend either did not hear me or else he is making a statement which is not at all correct.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : If you are prepared to revise your opinion to-day I shall be the first person to welcome it. But I must say that this is a fact and it suits my honourable friend to forget it so soon.

Premier : I am sure that all these facts are incorrect and the responsibility lies on my honourable friend.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I assert that it is in the personal interest^s of my honourable friends to co-operate with Britain and to justify her actions. Let them frankly admit that and I shall have nothing to say against them in this respect, for, after all, in this world every one is free to choose his purpose in life. Some people have set an ideal before them that they would fight for their country and win independence. The ideal of my friends opposite is to fight for and always co-operate with Britain. Let me also say a word about the military forces that are now paraded before us. It is the same military which resorted to firing in the bazaars of Peshawar while Hindus and Muslims were jointly shedding their blood for the sake of the Khilafat.

Premier : Rest assured your speech will not reach Delhi. I request the press not to publish it.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I know that the Premier has already taken that precaution and warned the press not to report my speech. Let him at least have the patience of hearing the hard facts on the floor of the House. Why should he get perturbed over it ? What I wish to emphasise is that if it suits my friends to say that they would support Britain in all eventualities, they may give this assurance to the British Government by all means. When the time comes they will once again be awarded jagirs and squares of land for their services. But I wish to tell them that they should not at least deceive their province.

My honourable friend, the mover of the resolution stated that the Sikhs of the Punjab were prepared to co-operate with the Britishers unconditionally. I challenge this statement and with full sense of responsibility make an offer to him and to my honourable friend, Sir Sundar Singh Majithia, to resign their Assembly seats and contest the re-election on the war issue with my honourable friend, Sardar Partab Singh, or for the matter of that with any other Sikh member of the Opposition to judge whether public opinion is on his side or on the side of the Congress (Cheers and interruptions).

If the public opinion is not on his side, he cannot succeed in throwing dust in the eyes of the world by mere expressions of loyalty. This being the position to persist in that attitude is, to say the least, an act of treachery to the country.

Khan Bahadur Nawab Chaudhri Fazl Ali (Gujrat East, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, I thought that my learned friend who preceded me would, while discussing this resolution, advance his reasons to show that the British should not be helped at this critical juncture. But I regretfully say that he, like other speakers, has miserably failed to make out a case. In this connection whatever he said amounted to a sheer criticism of the conduct of the Honourable Premier, the Ministers and the Unionist Party. I would submit that mud slinging, use of vituperative language and raising of such a hue and cry would not help them. All these things have rather convinced me that their efforts would not be crowned with success. Their position is like that of a person who having failed to adduce weighty arguments begins to indulge in sinister attacks. The real issue before the House is whether we should help the English in the prosecution of this war. But my honourable friend preceding me sometimes referred to the Khilafat agitation, sometimes to the Delhi conference and to other irrelevant matters which had absolutely no bearing on the subject under discussion. I fail to understand as to what my honourable friend wanted to show by making a reference to the Khilafat movement and since when and why he has advocated its cause.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: I was in jail in the days of the Khilafat movement.

Khan Bahadur Nawab Chaudhri Fazl Ali: Let him be there. Nobody stands in his way. May he remain there for ever. But so far as we are concerned we consider jail as a great curse. We do not even wish our enemies to be in jail. It is only the guilty persons who are sent to jail, but under certain circumstances an innocent person can also be sent to gaol. However, I may point out that the real question now before the House is whether we should or should not render assistance to the British Government in this crisis. It has been urged by the honourable members opposite that Britain failed to keep her plighted word on one occasion and broke her solemn pledges on the other. The fact of the matter is that my honourable friends over there are making frivolous pretexts for not rendering assistance to the British at this hour of dire need. Then another honourable member remarked that when the British Government did not move its little finger against the aggressor who gave a death blow to the independence of two other countries, how is it that they have now declared war against the aggressor for the sake of Poland? Does my honourable friend mean to say that Britain should not sympathise with Poland and give the aggressor full latitude to destroy the weaker nations? Again, previously if for certain reasons Britain did not deem it fit to go to war, does it mean that she should refrain from doing so even now? I may point out that it is our bounden duty to help a weak nation when it is being made the victim of aggression. Decency and humanity demand that we should extend our helping hand to one who, even if he is our enemy, is at war with an aggressor in order to defend the weak. Even our religion teaches us that we should defend the tyrannised against the tyrant. But look at the position taken up by the honourable members over there when they say that they would not help the weak unless and until the British concede their demands. They say that they are out to condemn the tragic end of Poland. But when Britain takes up arms against the aggressor and does not permit the use of force, they come forward and say that they are not going to help the British. I may submit that this kind of attitude on the part of my honourable friends is most objectionable and against all canons of decency.

It is a sort of fashion these days to demand some return for every little thing that is done for others. May I ask the Opposition if nothing was granted after the last War? An honourable member said that the present Reforms are the result of the sacrifices made by them and the Unionist Party is eating the fruit of the tree which they fed with their life's blood. I wonder how he can have the cheek to say so when it is well-known to him that we owe all this to the sacrifices and efforts made by Hindu, Sikh and Mussalman jats of the Punjab.

Sir, so far as the Congress spirit of bargaining is concerned I need not make any comment on it. Because it is their bania mentality that they will try to avail of every opportunity for bargaining and benefiting by under-hand means in their dealings.

I have one complaint to make against the Government. I do not understand what they are doing. I wonder where is the necessity for His Excellency the Viceroy to invite every Tom, Dick and Harry. I am at a loss to understand what part they can play in this war and in what way they can be of any use to the British Government. All they can and will do is to trade their wares for four or five times their original price. They will no doubt sell one tin of ghee for the price of four. They have nothing to lose by this or any other war. It is we the martial classes who will bear the brunt of this war and will lay down our lives on the battlefield, whereas they will only be making money by carrying on their business as usual. You cannot expect us to sit tight and not to move our hands to assist the British Government when our country is in danger. (Interruptions.) Is it gentlemanly to make such a din when some one is speaking?

Every one must do his duty to his King and country. We are soldiers and our duty will take us to the theatres of war. You are businessmen and your duty will be to take up your scales and weigh whether you do it honestly or dishonestly. We have to perform our duty regardless of the fact whether what others are doing is good or bad.

I was at Simla when our Premier issued his timely statement. On my return hundreds of men of my district came to me and sought my advice as to whom to send their offers of services and to whom to address their telegrams. The deputy commissioners of the various districts find no time to do any other work excepting that of receiving such offers. The newspapers are full of lists of those persons who have offered their services and resources. Self-respecting persons know that it is necessary to give proper help to Great Britain. In our district various communities and people of different shades of opinion held public meetings in which they resolved t offer their services. On the occasion of the Honourable Minister of Education's visit to Lalamusa our Deputy Commissioner in the course of his speech remarked that he was receiving such a large number of offers of help from the district that it left no time for him to attend to his own work. On the other hand the letters offering help and the reports of the proceedings of such public meetings have increased the work of the Government departments so much so that the Government has had to issue orders that such letters be sent to their respective deputy commissioners.

My honourable friends blame the British but they must bear in mind that so long as they do not have unity in India it is impossible for her to get Dominion Status. The English will go on ruling India for a thousand years more if we do not unite. It is only through unity that we can attain freedom.

Those who do not understand the circumstances which led to the present war, those who do not know all the particulars about Poland, are not in a position to judge whether Great Britain is fighting for a just cause or not. My honourable friends opposite who do not know what monarchical change means, do not realise that a new king in place of even a tyrant is always a curse, because in the newly established regime neither the life and property nor the honour of the people is safe. But what have our friends to worry their heads about when they know that the War will be fought by the martial races and if India were defeated they could very easily go to the victor and say that they had all along hated the British and that that was evident from the resolutions they moved before the war. Every thing is expected of these people who have neither sympathy nor good wishes for any one—

کرکھی مر - کو یی جیڈو - شہرا کھول پتاسے پڈو

(Laughter.)

I assert with all the emphasis at my command that nothing can prevent us from taking part in the war.

PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

SIXTH SESSION OF THE 1ST PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Monday, 6th November, 1939.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber, at 12 noon of the clock. Mr. Speaker in the Chair.

DISMISSALS OF HINDU AND SIKH EMPLOYEES OF THE LAHORE MUNICIPALITY.

868. Dr. Sant Ram Seth : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the number, community-wise, of municipal employees working under the Lahore Municipality in 1937, 1938, 1939, excluding the menial staff;
- (b) whether it is also a fact that a deputation consisting of Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri, Member, Legislative Assembly, Lala Sita Ram, Member, Legislative Assembly, Lala Guranditta Mal Kapoor and others waited upon the Deputy Commissioner of Lahore on 25th July, 1939, to represent the grievances of the Hindus and Sikhs; if so, what action does the Government propose to take in this connection;
- (c) the number of dismissals community-wise from the Municipal Committee, Lahore, in 1937, 1938, 1939?

The Honourable Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : I regret that the answer to this question is not yet ready.

STUDENTS READING URDU, HINDI OR GURMUKHI IN SCHOOLS IN THE PUNJAB.

869. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to lay a statement on the table of the House showing separately the number of students studying Urdu, Hindi or Gurmukhi, respectively, in each area under the jurisdiction of an A. D. I. of Schools in the Punjab on 31st March in each year from 1937 to 1939?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : I regret I am unable to reply to the question as the benefit derived from the supply of the desired information will not be commensurate with the labour and expense involved in the collection thereof.

ALLOTMENT FOR IN-DOOR PATIENTS IN CIVIL HOSPITALS AND DISPENSARIES IN THE PROVINCE.

870. Mrs. Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state the total yearly amount allotted to all the civil hospitals and dispensaries in the province to feed in-door patients and the number of in-door patients admitted into each of those hospitals and dispensaries during the last financial year?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : The labour involved in collecting the information asked for by the honourable member would not be commensurate with the results.

GOVERNMENT HIGH SCHOOLS IN THE PROVINCE AND FEES PAID BY STUDENTS.

871. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state—

- (a) a list of all Government high schools in the province with the number of students in each class, the amount of fee paid by them and pay bill of the staff as on 30th June, 1939 ;
- (b) a statement of income from fee to each school for the year ending 31st March, 1939, and amount of loss contributed by the Government ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : The honourable member is advised to consult the printed list of high schools in the Punjab which also gives enrolment. A copy of this list was supplied to him by the Education Department in January this year.

The value of the remaining information would not be commensurate with the time and labour spent on its collection.

CANDIDATES WHO APPEARED, FAILED AND PASSED IN PRABHAKAR EXAMINATION.

872. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to lay on the table of the House a statement showing—

- (a) the number separately of candidates who appeared, who passed and who failed in Prabhakar Examination, 1930 to 1939 separately for each year ;
- (b) the number of candidates who appeared, passed and who failed in papers Nos. 3 and 5 of the said examination during the years mentioned in part (a) of the question and also the number of candidates who obtained less and who obtained more than 30 marks in these two papers ;
- (c) the information asked for in parts (a) and (b) with regard to any of the 10 centres except Lahore, Amritsar, and Delhi including Ambala and Ludhiana for the above period ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a)

Year.					Number appeared.	Number passed.	Number failed.
1930	75	30	45
1931	110	45	65
1932	152	56	96
1933	190	73	117
1934	243	72	171
1935	274	126	148
1936	339	153	186
1937	397	147	250
1938	542	247	295
1939	623	263	360

(b) and (c) It is against the established practice of the Punjab University to publish such information.

CENTRES OF COMPULSORY EDUCATION IN AMBALA DISTRICT.

873. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to lay on the table of the House a statement—

- (a) giving full information of all centres of compulsory education in the Ambala district as on 31st March, 1939, with particulars, such as the number of boys receiving and also of boys not receiving education in respect of each tahsil ;
- (b) containing the number of boys receiving education class-wise from infant to 10th class in all schools as on 31st March, 1939, in respect of each tahsil ;
- (c) containing the number of middle and high schools of boys with number of students class-wise from infant to the 10th class learning English with name and place of school in the Ambala district as on 31st March, 1939 ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : I regret I am unable to reply to the question as the benefit derived from the supply of the desired information will not be commensurate with the labour and expense involved in the collection thereof.

REMODELLING OF MOGAS.

874. Sardar Tara Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) how many applications were received for the remodelling of mogas by the Canal Department, Bathinda division, from January, 1938, to 1st October, 1939 ;
- (b) the reasons for remodelling them and the expenditure incurred in that connexion ;
- (c) whether it is a fact that Government undertakes the work of remodelling of mogas only in those cases in which they received applications for that purpose ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) Four hundred and eighty-six applications were received regarding shortage of supplies on outlets and their shifting or splitting.

(b) Outlets were remodelled either because they were not working well or because the design of the channels was changed to improve their working.

Rupees 2,876 were spent during the period.

(c) Individual outlets are remodelled when applications are received.

Outlets are remodelled without receiving applications if they are over-drawing and tails of channels are suffering from shortage of supply. Outlets are also remodelled without applications when the design of a channel is changed to improve tail supplies.

RELIEF FOR THE ZAMINDARS OF FEROZEPORE DISTRICT.

875. Sardar Tara Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether it is a fact that in the Ferozepore district generally and in the ilagas of thana Bagha Purana, Muktsar and Nathana particularly, chari, makki and guara crops have been destroyed by pest; if so, the action the Government proposes to take to give relief to the zamindars of that area who have been continually suffering for the last three years on account of famine conditions?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : With the exception of Rabi circle and some of the barani villages of the Nathana sub-tahsil, the damage to crops is not appreciable.

There has been shortage of rain, but as 49 per cent of the area in this district is irrigated, it is wrong to say that the zamindars have been continuously suffering from famine conditions.

The question of granting relief does not appear to arise at any rate till after the results of the girdawari are known.

RELIEF FOR FAMINE CONDITIONS IN FEROZEPORE DISTRICT.

876. Sardar Tara Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether it is a fact that owing to the paucity of rains in the Ferozepore district generally and particularly in the ilagas thana Bagha Purana, Nathana and Muktsar, severe famine conditions are prevailing in consequence of the failure of barani crops; if so, the action the Government propose to take to give relief to the zamindars of that area?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : The attention of the honourable member is invited to the reply given to question No. 875 above.

REMISSION OF LAND REVENUE IN CERTAIN VILLAGES OF FEROZEPORE DISTRICT.

877. Sardar Tara Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) whether he is aware of the fact that owing to the paucity of rains for the last three years no kharif and rabi crops have been sown in the villages Gobindpura, Joga Nand, Bibiwala, Mahna, Tung Wali, Kahan Singh Wala, Bacha Kalan and Bacha Khurd, in the Ferozepore district, and that even those which were sown were destroyed;

(b) whether the Deputy Commissioner, Ferozepore, has received any representations for the remission of land revenue from the zamindars of the villages mentioned in (a); if so, the action taken on them?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) Information available does not bear out the honourable member's statement excepting in village Kahan Singhwala.

(b) Yes. They are being examined and relief, where necessary, will be given in due course according to rules.

REMISSION OF ABIANA IN CERTAIN VILLAGES OF FEROZEPURE DISTRICT.

878. Sardar Tara Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that in the villages Mahraj, Labra, Dhodlok, Labra, Sondha, Labra Mahabbat, Labra Bega, Ganga, Gohind-pura, Joga Nand, Bibi Wala, Mannha, Beg Wali, Bacha Kalan, Bacha Khurd, Chak Kahana Singh Wala, Chak Om Singh Wala, Chak Fatah Singh Wala, Chak Bohr Wala, particularly and in ilaga sub-tahsil Nathana, generally, makki and ghahri crops have been destroyed by pest and the gwara crop has also been severely damaged by tela;

(b) whether it is a fact that the zamindars of the above-mentioned villages have submitted representations to the canal authorities for the remission of abiana; if so, the action Government propose to take in the matter to give adequate relief to the sufferers?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) Yes. Some damage occurred to early sown crops.

(b) Representations have been received and are being dealt with according to the rules.

CANDIDATES TAKEN AS CONSTABLES OR ASSISTANT SUB-INSPECTORS OF POLICE BY SUPERINTENDENT OF POLICE, FEROZEPURE.

879. Sardar Tara Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) community-wise the number of those candidates who were taken as constables or assistant sub-inspectors of police by the Superintendent of Police, Ferozepore, between April, 1937, and October, 1939;

(b) the number of persons taken into the Police Department from the ilagas Nathana, Bagha Purana, Muktsar in the Ferozepore district, during the period mentioned in (a) together with their names, parentage and home addresses?

The Honourable Major Nawabzada Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : (a) Constables.—Hindus 11, Muslims 98, Sikhs 99.

Assistant Sub-Inspectors.—Direct appointments to the rank of assistant sub-inspector are made by Range Deputy Inspectors-General of Police and the Assistant Inspector-General, Government Railway Police; not by Superintendents of Police. During the period in question the Deputy Inspector-General of Police, Eastern Range, appointed one Sikh and one Hindu from the Ferozepore district.

(b) From Nathana 8
From Bagha Purana 12
From Muktsar 4

It is not the practice to give names in such cases.

ACADEMIC QUALIFICATIONS OF CLERKS IN THE OFFICE OF THE DEPUTY COMMISSIONER, FEROZEPORE.

880. Sardar Tara Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state, community-wise, the number of clerks in the office of the Deputy Commissioner, Ferozepore, and the number of B.A.'s and LL.B.'s among them ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia :

		Total number.	B. As.	LL.Bs.

ADDITIONAL POLICE POST STATIONED IN CERTAIN VILLAGES IN THE FEROZEPORE DISTRICT.

881. Sardar Tara Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that an additional police post has been stationed in the villages Gholia Kalan, Gholia Khurd, Manoke Kalan in ilaga Nathana Bagha Parana in the Ferozepore district ; if so, the period for which it has been stationed, its annual expenditure and the manner in which it will be realized from the inhabitants of those villages ;

(b) whether he has received any representation from the residents of the village Manoke requesting that the expenditure in respect of the said punitive police post may be charged only from villages Gholia Kalan and Gholia Khurd where murders usually take place and not from the people of village Manoke ; if so, the action the Government has already taken or proposes to take on that representation : if no action is contemplated the reasons therefor ?

The Honourable Major Nawabzada Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : (a) Additional police have been located in the area comprising villages Gholia Kalan, Gholia Khurd, Phulewala and Manoke for two years with effect from the 15th December, 1938, at an estimated cost of Rs. 8,187-4-6 for the first year and Rs. 7,447-4-6 for the second. The cost will be apportioned among the inhabitants in the manner prescribed in subsection (4) of section 15 of the Police Act, 1861.

(b) The honourable member is asked to refer to the answer given to his recent Question *4778¹.

GRANT TO DISTRICT BOARD, FEROZEPUR, FOR MAINTENANCE AND DEVELOPMENT OF ROADS.

882. Sardar Tara Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the amount of money given by the Punjab Government to the District Board, Ferozepore, during the financial years 1936-37, 1937-38, 1938-39 and 1939-40 for the improvement, maintenance and upkeep of roads in that district ;
- (b) the name of the area in which the above-named district board has constructed new roads out of the grant referred to in (a) ; if no new road has been made, the reasons therefor ?

The Honourable Major Nawabzada Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : (a) Grants-in-aid totalling Rs. 1,35,981 were given to the District Board, Ferozepore, for maintenance and development of roads, as shown below :—

	Maintenance.	Development.
	Rs.	Rs.
1936-37	34,710	..

NEW AND IMPROVED METHODS OF AGRICULTURE.

883. Sardar Tara Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state whether it is a fact that demonstrations are organized by the Agricultural Department in the various districts of the province to acquaint the zamindars with the new and improved methods of agriculture ; if so, the number of such demonstrations held in the district of Ferozepore during the last three years ; if no demonstrations have been organized there during this period, the reasons therefor ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : The reply to the first part of the question is in the affirmative. A statement showing the number of demonstrations given in the district of Ferozepore during each of the 2 years 1937-38 and 1938-39 and for a period of 3 months during 1939-40 is enclosed.

In addition, demonstrations of improved implements and agricultural exhibitions are arranged on the occasions of fairs and other public gatherings in the district. Further, methods relating to the control of insect pests, fungal diseases, etc., are demonstrated each year in a large number of villages in the district.

SUPPLY OF BULLS TO ZAMINDARS FOR BREEDING AND AGRICULTURAL PURPOSES.

884. Sardar Tara Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

- the action the Government has taken so far to supply better class of bulls to the zamindars for agricultural purposes in ilaga thana Bagha Purana, Nathana and Muktsar ;
- whether Government has sent any bulls of Haryana breed to the areas mentioned in (a) for breeding purposes ; if none has been sent there so far, the reasons therefor ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : (a) Pedigree bulls are being supplied regularly for agricultural purposes every year at concession rate in thana Bagha Purana, Nathana and Muktsar, through the District Board, Ferozepore.

(b) Bulls of the Haryana breed have been sent to the areas mentioned in (a) for breeding purposes. Their present strength in each taqas is as follows :—

Bagha Purana	94
Nathana	90
Muktsar	49

RECRUITMENT OF INSPECTORS OF CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES FROM ZAMINDARS.

885. Sardar Tara Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

- the number of candidates recently taken as inspectors of co-operative societies and the number of those among them who belong to the Ferozepore district ;
- community-wise, the number of persons working at present as inspectors of co-operative societies ;
- the reasons why at the time of recent recruitment the rights of the zamindars of the Ferozepore district which is a backward area, were ignored, and the steps Government propose to take to redress their grievances in this respect ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram :

(a) First Part	10

RELIEF FOR THE ZAMINDARS OF FEROZEPORE DISTRICT.

886. Sardar Tara Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- whether it is a fact that owing to acute famine conditions that have been prevailing during the last three years in the Ferozepore district, especially in tahsils Muktsar, Moga, and sub-tahsil Nathana the financial condition of the zamindars of those areas has become very wretched ;
- whether it is a fact that they are unable to pay off their taqavi loans ;
- if the answer to the foregoing parts (a) and (b) be in the affirmative, the action Government propose to take in the matter ; if no action is contemplated, the reasons therefor ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) No.

(b) No.

(c) Does not arise.

APPLICATIONS REGARDING BENAMI TRANSACTIONS.

887. Subedar-Major Raja Farman Ali Khan : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) tahsil-wise the number of applications received regarding benami transactions by the revenue authorities in the Rawalpindi district ;
- (b) how many of them were rejected by the tahsildars concerned ;
- (c) how many were accepted by the deputy commissioner of the district and how many were rejected out of them ;
- (d) whether Government is aware that on account of those rejections the zamindars feel so disappointed and dejected that they have given up the idea of submitting applications in respect of benami transactions and mortgages in future ;
- (e) the action Government intends to take in the matter ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia :

(a) Rawalpindi	497
Gujar Khan	297
Kahuta	87
Murree	Nil

(b) None. The tahsildars do not reject applications, but submit them for the Deputy Commissioner's decision.

(a)			Accepted.	Rejected.
Rawalpindi	5	18
Gujar Khan	34	199
Kahuta	9	20

(d) No. I may inform the honourable member that benami cases are generally started suo motu by the special tahsildar appointed to investigate such cases, and by other revenue officers during the course of their tours. The zamindars are keen to take advantage of the new legislation.

(e) None.

NOMINATION OF EXTRA ASSISTANT COMMISSIONERS.

888. Subedar-Major Raja Farman Ali Khan : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) how many Muslims and how many non-Muslims were selected this year to be nominated as extra assistant commissioners ;
- (b) how many of such candidates are related to extra assistant commissioners who are still in service or those who have retired as such ;
- (c) whether the son of any Indian military officer has been taken as an extra assistant commissioner ;
- (d) how many persons already in Government service have been promoted to the cadre of the extra assistant commissioners this year and how many among them belong to notified agricultural tribes ?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikandar Hyat-Khan :

- (a) Muslims 17
 Non-Muslims 17

(b) This information is not available in the Secretariat and to collect it by addressing all the candidates would entail amount of time and labour out of all proportion to the advantage to be gained therefrom;

(c) Two.

(d) Sixteen, of whom eleven belong to notified agricultural tribes.

FAMINE TEST WORKS IN HISSAR DISTRICT.

889. Rai Sahib Chaudhri Het Ram : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) what was the total number of famine works maintained by the Government in Hissar district in September, 1939;
 (b) what was the total number of persons working at these works;
 (c) what was the maximum number of famine works in 1938;
 (d) what was the maximum number of persons working at these works;
 (e) whether it is a fact that test works have now been reduced;
 (f) whether it is also a fact that famine conditions in Hissar district are the same even now as they were at this time last year; if so, the reasons for reducing the number of test works?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) Thirteen relief works in addition to tank works which varied from 8 to 26.

(b) The daily average of workers and dependents during the month of September was:—

Relief works	27,793 to 47,169
Village tanks	1,653 to 7,460
Dependents	8,705 to 17,518

(c) Twenty-one.

(d) Workers	64,524	} On a daily average.
Dependents	25,349

(e) Yes.

(f) First part.—There has been improvement in the Bhiwani tahsil, not elsewhere.

Second part.—Financial considerations have made imperative a further tightening of control.

EMPLOYMENT OF PERSONS AT FAMINE WORKS IN HISSAR DISTRICT.

890. Rai Sahib Chaudhri Het Ram : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that many persons who go to famine works at Hissar for work are refused employment at these works; if so, why;
 (b) whether it is a fact that on the first date of every week the names of persons, who work at the famine works, are entered on the registers and no other persons are employed during the week even if some persons who had been employed on the first day absent themselves and make room for others; if so, why;

- (c) whether it is a fact that adult males and females who live within four miles of the famine works are not employed at these works, if so, why?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) Admission is refused only to those living within a radius of 4 miles who are obviously not destitute.

(b) The system mentioned was tried, but has been abandoned. Admissions now take place on any week day.

(c) No: but such cases are scrutinized more closely and if relief is not necessary they are not admitted.

DETERIORATION OF HEALTH OF PEOPLE IN HISSAR DISTRICT DUE TO FAMINE CONDITIONS.

891. Rai Sahib Chaudhri Het Ram : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that the health of persons living in rural area of Hissar district has suffered greatly on account of serious famine conditions and there has been an increase in sickness and mortality;

- (b) if the answer to (a) above be in the affirmative, what steps does Government intend taking in the matter and particularly to afford protection against cold to those working at the famine works now that winter is about to set in?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) and (b) Inspections made very recently by the Director of Public Health in person reveal no serious falling off of health. Nevertheless precautions have to continue and in addition to the relief afforded by Government an appeal has been launched for public subscriptions, the proceeds of which will be spent generally in the provision of comforts for the sick and infirm. A grant has also been promised by the Indian Peoples' Famine Trust.

RELIEF FOR FAMINE CONDITIONS AT HISSAR.

892. Rai Sahib Chaudhri Het Ram : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether any reports have recently been received from the Deputy Commissioner, Hissar, and Commissioner, Ambala division, about the serious famine condition at Hissar at present; if so, what steps have the Government taken to save the famine-stricken people of Hissar district;

- (b) whether it is a fact that a fairly large number of people in villages in Hissar district go without meals and have no means of livelihood; if so, what measures, if any, Government proposes to adopt for giving food or providing work to them?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sunder Singh Majithia : (a) Yes. Relief measures continue.

(b) First part.—No.

Second part.—Yes.

Last part.—Relief measures continue.

EMBEZZLEMENT IN PUBLIC HEALTH EQUIPMENT DEPARTMENT.

893. Chaudhri Abdul Rahim : With reference to the answer to starred question No. 4905¹, asked by Malik Barkat Ali, M.L.A., on 23rd March, 1939, will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state whether the report of the special audit has since been fully examined ; and, if so, what effective measures have been taken to remove complaints of serious embezzlement in the Public Health Equipment Department and also state whether any suitable post has so far been given to Sufi Ghulam Nabi for whom instructions had been issued for a suitable vacancy being provided to him ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : The report of the special audit is still under consideration. Sufi Ghulam Nabi who was employed as a temporary peon in the Public Health Equipment Depot, Jullundur City, prior to his discharge, was offered a permanent post of peon on Rs. 14 pensem in the office of the District Medical Officer of Health, Jhang, but he did not accept it.

TEMPORARY AND OFFICIATING SUPERINTENDENTS, DEPUTY SUPERINTENDENTS, INSPECTORS AND SUB-INSPECTORS OF POLICE IN ROHTAK DISTRICT.

894. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of temporary and officiating superintendents, deputy superintendents, inspectors and sub-inspectors of police posted in Rohtak district since 1st April, 1937 ;
- (b) communal ratio of the above-mentioned officers on 1st April, 1937, 1st April, 1938, and 1st April, 1939, in the Rohtak district ;
- (c) the total police strength on 1st April, 1939, in Rohtak district, their number community-wise and of those belonging to Rohtak district, the southern districts of Rohtak, Gurgaon, Hissar and Karnal, and other districts separately ?

SELECTION OF PUBLIC PROSECUTORS.

895. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state—

- names of persons that are being considered for public prosecutorship in the Rohtak district ;
- the number of vacancies which are to be filled ;
- the main consideration on which the candidates are to be taken ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : The appointment mentioned is not vacant and no question of considering candidates for it arises.

WAR RESOLUTION.

Mr. Speaker : The Assembly will now resume discussion on the War Resolution.

Khan Bahadur Nawab Chaudhri Fazl Ali (Gujrat East, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I only want to make two submissions. One of them is that the whole of the Punjab feels that the Honourable Premier has saved the honour of the Punjab by the words in which he expressed his sentiments. Everyone is ready to do his duty by his King and country under his guidance. He is to us what was once said about Sir Sayyad Ahmad Khan :—

نورجی ہوئے کہ ہیوم ہمارا تو ہے
قوم کی کشتی کا سہارا تو ہے

The second thing that I want to say is that the honesty of purpose which Sardar Bahadur Sardar Gurbachan Singh has exhibited in expressing the feelings of the zamindars through this resolution deserves special mention and we are grateful to him for his kindness in voicing our sentiments.

Mian Muhammad Iftikhar-ud-Din (Kasur, Muhammadaan, Rural) : Mr. Speaker, speaking at a late stage of this discussion, as I am doing, I have no time to recite poems like the previous speaker. I shall merely confine myself to an analysis of the past and present political activities of those who have called upon the people of this province and of this country to offer unconditional support in this war undertaken by British Imperialism. The role of British Imperialism itself is sufficiently clear to all of us and I think there is not a single speaker or member in this House who would not admit that the mere disappearance of the British Empire from the world would be the greatest step towards freedom that one can imagine. As we all know, not only is British Imperialism the greatest cause of subjection and slavery in the world to-day but it is also the greatest incentive to all would-be aggressors. This has never been more true than in the present decade. The history of the National Government in England during the last four years is so well-known that nobody, not even Mr. Chamberlain, would now deny that Abyssinia, Spain, Austria and Czechoslovakia have been sacrificed not only with the complaisance but with the actual co-operation of that Government.

Now, to come nearer home, this country has received appeals from various quarters. I just mention the more prominent leaders. Sir Michael O'Dwyer, Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan, Sir Sundar Singh Majithia, Sir Chhotu Ram, Bhai Parmanand together with the Indian Princes have asked the people of this country to offer unconditional support in this "war for the defence of democracy and freedom in the world". I ask them, where were they when freedom in Abyssinia and democracy in Spain, Austria and Czechoslovakia were being destroyed? We never heard of Sir Michael O'Dwyer, Sir Sundar Singh Majithia or Sir Chhotu Ram drawing their swords in defence of freedom then. Nor did we hear Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan call upon the people of this province to fight for the freedom of Palestine or to oppose the crimes and atrocities that British Imperialism was committing in that country. (Congress benches : Hear, hear.) However, we thank Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan for not repeating his past. We know the military record of the Honourable Premier. The British Government have often referred with appreciation to his activities in the Fourth Afghan War against his Muslim brethren. (Congress benches : Hear, hear.) As I said we are thankful to him at least for not repeating his past performance against the Afghans in the case of the Arabs of Palestine. To come back to this country I ask the House, if these people are the defenders, then who on earth is the enemy of democracy and freedom particularly so far as this country is concerned?

[M. Muhammad Iftikhar-ud-Din.]

I ask, is there a more reactionary party than the present Unionist Party of this province? Who on the British side has played a more dishonourable role in the affairs of this country than Sir Michael O'Dwyer? (Congress benches: Hear, hear.) These gentlemen have called upon the people of this country to offer unconditional support to British Imperialism. Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan of course has the good excuse that in the interest of the Muslim minority, it is essential to retain the power of British Imperialism in this country. While examining that excuse we must remember that Bhai Parmanand and Raja Narendra Nath and for that matter other Hindu Sabha leaders have also declared that in the interest of the Hindu community it is necessary to maintain British dominance in this country. Apparently there is a contradiction. How is it that both Hindu and Muslim communalists have aimed at the same policy, namely: the preservation of British Imperialism in this country? Naturally if the existence of British Imperialism in this country is beneficial to the one, it cannot be beneficial to the other. However, if you examine it closely you will find that actually there is no contradiction. They are both perfectly consistent in calling upon the people of this country to co-operate in this war. Their consistency lies in their common aim and interest to defend feudalism and to retain with the help of the Princes (Congress benches: Hear, hear), and that of British Imperialism their own power and privilege in this country. This is their common aim, and this their common interest. This is why the Muslim communalists on the one side and the Hindu communalists on the other have joined with the British Imperialists typically represented by Sir Michael O'Dwyer and the Indian feudal lords, that is the Indian Princes, to call upon the people of this country to offer unconditional support to British Imperialism.

I ask these people to look for a moment at the moral side of the question. They often say that this is not the time to put forward our demands, that this is not the time to bargain. When there was no war and during the last twenty years this country was carrying on its struggle for freedom in its own way, where were Sir Michael O'Dwyer, Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan and Sir Suhdar Singh Majithia? During war and peace we have known their activities and their objectives. But now, looking at the present crisis from a purely moral point of view, if it is proved by the Premier and Sir Michael O'Dwyer that the non-co-operation of India in this war would lead to the complete disappearance of Poland from the world, I ask, looking at it from a purely moral, international, humanitarian and democratic point of view, is it not justified that the freedom of the four crores or less of Polish people be sacrificed and that of the thirty-five crores or more of Indians be gained? So from the moral point of view it is impossible to argue and prove that democracy and freedom demand the co-operation of a slave India in this war at this stage. But India is prepared to fight even for the liberty of four crores of Poles provided we are certain that she is going to get freedom by this war. But knowing the past history of the leaders of this war, knowing their present and being sure of their future, we cannot but demand of them to declare their war aims—and no declaration is forthcoming. I appeal to Sir Sikander, chivalrous and courageous and brave as he must be, is it chivalrous, is it sportsmanlike, is it fair-play for any people to fight an unknown enemy for an unknown cause? We have neither been consulted in this war nor informed of its aims. To us both the enemy and the cause are unknown. And if there is any cause it is to us that of British Imperialism. I think as a chivalrous person, as self-respecting person, the Premier should expect every soldier in this country to refrain from joining in this war, even under the penalty of death, when he is not sure that he is fighting for some noble cause. But Sir Sikander might reply that we know the enemy; it is Germany. That we know the cause: it is democracy and freedom. But I would first ask the Premier, if he is really so enthusiastic to defend democracy and freedom seven thousand miles away in Poland, why does he not fight here at home for the freedom of nearly forty crores of Indians? I think every Indian has the right to ask that question of Sir Sikander and the other leaders who have offered unconditional support to British Imperialism in this war.

But I think we can look at the matter from a different point of view. Even for a small country we are prepared to sacrifice the freedom of India. I go further; if we knew that we could gain our freedom only by acting as mercenaries or agents of a foreign Imperialism, as we would be doing in this war, we would forego that freedom. Even if British Imperialism to-day declared in unequivocal terms to give India complete freedom at the end we would not enter this war for the sake of that freedom if we were not sure that this war was being fought for a noble aim. So, when we appeal to our countrymen not to join in this war our appeal is thoroughly moral, completely international and wholly democratic. And if a few representatives of British Imperialism have offered unconditional support and if the poverty-stricken masses of this country are forced to enlist themselves in the army, without having a correct conception of the aims of this war, the guilt for killing will not be on them but on those who lead them into this war and on those who have been the cause of their poverty in the past and in the present. To sum up, the question before the Indian masses is: whether to aid the decadent and demoralized Imperialism in its fight against vile Fascism or to let them both die a natural death. We will not, as I have said, resort to dishonourable means in order to achieve our freedom. If we, the present generation, therefore, fail to wrest freedom from the hands of Britain by brave and honourable means we shall hand our banner unsoiled to the coming generation. The present struggle is not the struggle of any individual country or of a party, but of humanity itself; and from that struggle if we lead this country on the correct path, not only a free India but a free world will arise.

Malik Barkat Ali (Eastern Towns, Muhammadan, Urban): I am at one with the honourable Leader of the Opposition in deploring the fact that before deciding to enter this war in fulfilment of their obligations towards Poland, His Majesty's Government did not even design to consult India. It is said that India is the brightest jewel of the British Empire. It is also said that India is a separate and independent member of the League of Nations and a very optimistic Secretary of State, Mr. Wedgewood Benn, was so much affected by this improvement in the status of India that in a flight of fancy he went to the length of saying that India, which was aspiring after dominion status, was already in enjoyment of dominion status in action. On the occasion of the last war, India's contribution in men and money drew forth most eloquent and undoubtedly sincere tributes of appreciation and unstinted admiration from British statesmen of all schools of thought. And yet on this momentous occasion when India was going to be vitally affected, India was not considered worthy of consultation. Why? Is it because India is still treated as a dependency of the Crown, a happy hunting ground for unchecked exploitation and as a snug and cosy corner for British Imperialism? Mr. Wedgewood Benn, who recently so warmly espoused the cause of this country in the House of Commons, felt and noticed the strength and genuineness of this grievance on the Indian side, and with a view to mollify Indian sentiment, he offered the explanation that India could not be consulted because Germany was rapidly advancing towards the East and there was no time for consultation. This explanation, unsatisfactory in the extreme, cannot stand a minute's test in these days of rapid communications, for if the dominions could be consulted over the wires, surely India also could be consulted over the wires. I, therefore, feel that it is the bounden duty of this House in sheer self-respect, to place on record its protest against this treatment that has been extended to this country.

Having said so much, my agreement with the Opposition ends. I regret that I cannot lend my support to that portion of the amendment in which what is called "the attitude and policy of the Punjab Government in offering unqualified co-operation to the British Government" has been condemned. I am not aware of any official statement issued by the Punjab Government in which its attitude and policy have been defined. Probably the honourable the Leader of the Opposition was referring to two pronouncements made by the honourable the Premier. One was a speech made at Simla on the occasion of the dinner which the Punjab Ministers gave to His Excellency the Governor in September, 1938, and the other was a statement issued from Simla on the 25th of August, 1939. Now, it is undoubtedly true that at the time when these pronouncements were made, they undoubtedly caused a good deal of uneasiness in patriotic circles, so much so that even that great organisation to which I belong, namely, the All-India Muslim League, felt itself compelled to dissociate itself from some of the sentiments expressed in those statements and rightly. For, what were the Indian leaders declaring? Simply this, that while they were aware of and prepared to discharge the obligations on the Indian side, they wanted England also to remember that there were obligations on the English side too. To put the matter a little more explicitly, and to mention first, the Leaders of the Muslim League, what did they say? They simply said that the Constitution Act of 1935, which had been forced on India, had proved an utter failure in its actual working and that the Governors on whom special powers had been conferred for the protection of the minorities, had been guilty of utter neglect and indifference in discharging their statutory obligations, and that, therefore, the entire question of India's constitutional advance shall be examined de novo. The leaders of the Muslim League also drew the attention of the British Government to its shabby Palestine policy and, therefore, stated that if England was anxious to secure full, effective and honourable co-operation of the Muslims, it was necessary that England should create a sense of security and satisfaction amongst Muslims. The League also declared—I regret that my honourable friend, Sardar Santokh

Singh, is not present—I want him to note this point—the League also declared that while the League stood for the Freedom of India, the League desired that no declaration regarding constitutional advance of India in the immediate future should be made unless and until the consent not only of the Muslim League but of all major interests and communities in the country was obtained previously.

Now coming to the Congress side, what did the Congress leaders demand? The Congress leaders called upon the British Government first to state their war aims. Secondly, the Congress leaders wanted the British Government to declare their intentions as to the future of India and whether those principles of self-determination and freedom for which England was ostensibly going to war were going to be applied to India or not, and thirdly, whether as an earnest of its bona fides England was prepared to introduce some element of responsibility at the centre and thus break the complete irresponsibility obtaining there. The House will agree with me that these demands and declarations, whether made on the side of the Muslim League or on the side of the Congress, were perfectly good and honourable demands and that there was certainly no tinge of bargaining in them. The sole motive and desire of those who were putting forward these demands was that India's war effort should be made with dignity and with a sense of freedom and not under the compulsion of an artificially created enthusiasm. (Hear, hear.) Now the English press, the Tory press, the Junker press seized all these declarations and misrepresented India's attitude by saying that these Indian leaders were really engaged in sordid bargaining, being in fact inspired by a desire to take undue advantage of England's difficulty. I am very glad, that the Honourable Premier, who was at first considerably affected by these views and this propaganda expressed in the Tory press, has reconsidered his position, has changed his views and by means of this resolution, which, I take it, is the official resolution, has put himself in a line with advanced political thought in this country, for, does not this resolution declare, No. 1, that England should forthwith make clear that the constitution of India shall be examined de novo at the end of the war, and that full and effective protection of the due rights of the minorities and other sections shall be made not merely in consultation with them but with the active consent of all parties concerned—one of the demands made by a major political organisation? No. 2, does not this resolution demand that the immediate objective at the end of the war shall be the attainment of Dominion Status—a demand made by another major political organisation? These were the very demands which were stinking in the nostrils of the Tory press and were construed by them as pieces of sordid huckstering and mean bargaining. If the resolution under debate represents therefore the attitude and policy of the Punjab Government, then I fail to see any material left on which any indictment of the Punjab Government can be based. I, therefore, feel that it is impossible for me to support this part of the amendment.

I will now deal with the principal resolution. I regret that in keeping with my convictions and my allegiance to that great organisation to which I belong, I cannot support this resolution in the form in which it stands at present. My disagreement is not with that portion of the resolution, in which the determination of the Punjab Government to render the utmost aid to the British Government in its life and death struggle with Hitlerism and "to protect the security and honour of the Punjab and India with all available resources of the Province" is expressed. This I consider the constitutional duty of every Government functioning under the aegis of the British Crown. Nor am I objecting to that part of the resolution in which it is laid down that the future constitution of India shall be examined de novo and that no scheme of further constitutional advance shall be framed except in consultation with and with the active consent of all interests and parties concerned. My objection is to that part of the resolution in which the goal of India's policy is defined as the attainment of dominion status. I object to this goal of dominion status because in the first instance I believe in the independence of my country and I am not going to be content with anything short of full political freedom. I am conscious, I will be told in reply, that dominion status is the highest form of self-Government realisable under the aegis of the British Crown. I am conscious, I will be told, that the dominion status of to-day is not the dominion status of 1926 as it was defined by Lord Balfour, but that it has been considerably extended and widened by the Statute of Westminster of 1931 and by all those constitutional conventions which have gathered in the meantime round the constitutional relations between the mother country and the dominions. I am conscious, I will be told, that as a matter of fact, one of the recently created dominions, no other than Eire, actually declared its intention of remaining neutral in the present war and England did not murmur or utter a single word in protest. I am conscious, I will be told, that another dominion, the South African Government, actually debated on the floor of the House, the question whether South Africa should remain neutral or should stand by England and that during the course of this debate a member of the Government, a Minister, actually stated that even if neutrality had to be departed from, and South Africa has to enter the war, it should be merely by way of passive belligerency for the safeguarding of its defences and not by way of active belligerency. Knowing all this, I still object to this expression "dominion status" because it appears to me that the fundamental principle obtaining in all these dominion constitutions and politics is the rule of democracy, namely, the rule that the Government of a state shall be run by the absolute and unfettered authority of a majority of its citizens of all ranks and conditions. I can easily understand this democratic rule working very well in societies like those of the dominions which are perfectly homogeneous societies, societies which know only political majorities and political minorities, such that a majority of to-day may as a result of the swing of the pendulum of the ballot box become a minority to-morrow and a minority of to-day may become a majority to-morrow, but they know no such thing as a permanent never-changing religious majority or a religious minority. There is no such thing in the dominions as the protection of a religious minority at the hands of an intolerant religious majority. If facts are like these, does it not follow that you cannot apply to India absolutely the rule which prevails in the dominion constitutions? This is why I object to dominion status being the goal of India's policy.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know whether the present Government is a religious majority or otherwise?

Malik Barkat Ali : I will be told, Sir, by the authors and supporters of this resolution that they do realize my this objection to dominion status, and that is why they have introduced in this resolution a further declaration that this dominion status shall be tampered with by provisions having for their objective "the effective protection of the due rights of the minorities and other sections in consultation and agreement with the parties concerned." My simple answer to that position is this that dominion status and provisions for the protection of the interests of minorities are really a contradiction in terms and that you cannot ask for dominion status on one hand and on the other ask for the protection of the minorities. This is really stultifying yourselves. I submit that in a country like India where there are religious majorities and religious minorities, the rule of majority is entirely out of question.

I will now deal with the objection that was made the other day by Sardar Santokh Singh. He read from the instructions issued by the Leader of the Muslim League, Mr. Jinnah, to the various Muslim League parties in the Congress-governed provinces and drew attention to the following words which were recommended to be used in the counter resolution to be moved by the Muslim League parties :—

"This Assembly recommends to the British Government that the democratic Parliamentary system of government under the present constitution has failed and is utterly unsuited to the conditions and genius of the people....."

My learned friend could not really understand these instructions of Mr. Jinnah. May I ask him whether he made any attempt to understand what Mr. Jinnah meant? He seems to think that when Mr. Jinnah was objecting to the rule of the democratic Parliamentary system he was as it were asking for autocracy or bureaucracy or oligarchy. Nothing of the kind. Mr. Jinnah was only asking for what his party has been asking in this province. Has it not been the standing complaint of his party that they are being subjected in the Punjab to the domination of a permanent religious majority and have they not been complaining that they do not want a religious majority? Undoubtedly the Unionist formation is a complete answer in a way to their objection. But apparently they are not satisfied. Whether they are satisfied or not, the fact remains that a religious majority cannot be put in the seat of power, and Mr. Jinnah has simply emphasised what they have been proclaiming themselves from the housetops, namely, that a religious majority cannot be allowed unchecked away. Mr. Jinnah is perfectly right when he says that we will have to evolve by common consent some form of constitutional device in which the right of the meanest Indian worker or tiller of the Indian soil shall be guaranteed: his right to live, his right to liberty and the pursuit of happiness and all those things that go to make them up. These rights must be assured to him by the constitution. These rights cannot be made dependent on a majority. These rights cannot be made disposable by a majority. They must be assured to the subject by title indefeasible as it were against all majority.

In conclusion, a word about the proposal of a constituent assembly. I will be very brief. The proposal is certainly very attractive to look at, but it is open to the very same objections that I have already enumerated. May I ask, how is this constituent assembly going to be constituted? How are the various communities to be represented on the assembly? If representation will be in proportion to their numerical strength, will it not follow as night the day that even on the basis of adult franchise, the great Hindu majority will be the master of the situation? Again, may I ask how you will reach your decisions in this constituent assembly? Will those decisions be reached by the democratic rule of counting heads? Well, if that will be the manner in which these decisions are going to be reached, will it not follow as an inevitable corollary that the great Hindu religious majority will be supreme at the centre? Or is the Congress prepared to declare that no decisions affecting any community will be taken in the constituent assembly except with the consent of members of that community, or at least the bulk of them, say two-thirds? If so, say so, and if not, do we not remain where we are? I therefore say, approach the problem howsoever you will, you come back and back to the same old question of a communal settlement. What have you done in this direction? Do you seriously believe that your proposal of a constituent assembly, in the absence of an agreed settlement, will prove an effective solvent of India's difficulties? I, therefore, find it impossible to support the amendment tabled by the Opposition. I cannot also support the main resolution as it stands for the reasons already given. My view is that this House while recognizing that it is the constitutional duty of every Government functioning under the aegis of the British Crown to render its utmost assistance to His Majesty's Government in the prosecution of the war, should enter a protest against the failure of His Majesty's Government to consult India on this occasion, and should also call upon the British Government to declare that no constitution shall be evolved unless and until all the major parties have not only been consulted but have actually consented. With these words I beg to resume my seat.

Diwan Chaman Lall (East Punjab, non-Union Labour): Sir, I regret very much that this debate in this House has taken on a shape of complete unreality and if evidence were needed of the unreality of this debate, my honourable friend Malik Barkat Ali's speech just delivered would provide that evidence. My honourable friend, Mr. Speaker, in passing I refer to him, said that he regretted very much that the British Government had not consulted India with regard to the declaration of war. But his own resolution which he has tabled recognised the so-called constitutional position of Great Britain to declare war and make India a participant in that war. My honourable friend is a great stickler for constitutionalism. If that is his position, then what is the regret that my honourable friend feels in regard to the participation of India in this war? My honourable friend further says, he recognises the justice of the demand made by my honourable friend the Premier in the Government resolution tabled on this question.

Let us look at the first demand. He says he has no quarrel with the statement that we must resist aggression, Fascist and Nazi aggression. I do not know whether the Fascists are part and parcel of this war today; or whether Italy has declared war against the British Empire or against India. (Laughter) I do not know. My honourable friends have more information on this subject than we have although their ignorance is proverbial. My honourable friend should note that if there is any Nazi aggression in India, it is to be found in the Punjab and nowhere else. (Hear, hear.) Can my honourable friend deny that to-day in the year 1939, an honourable member of this House, duly elected, elected unopposed, for two years has been in jail without any trial or charge? Is that Nazism or is that liberty and democracy in action? Will my honourable friend deny that since the passing of the Defence of India Ordinance, and subsequently the Act, within these two months, 133 persons have been arrested in the Punjab by my honourable friend's Government, which is claiming to fight outside India for liberty and democracy and denies that liberty and democracy to our own country? Does my honourable friend deny that a regular reign of terror prevails in the Punjab, politically? Not a newspaper can write frankly and without any fear of being called upon to account for it. Will he deny that? Will he deny that a grave breach of privilege of this House has been committed by my honourable friend in the name of liberty and democracy when he asked newspapers not even to report fully, frankly and freely the debate on this question on the floor of this House? This is liberty and democracy in action to-day in the Punjab and it is these gentlemen who are wanting to fight Nazi aggression not in India, but outside the borders of India.

Again, this very able constitutional lawyer unfortunately forgot to lay stress upon the second statement. It is a very important statement in the resolution which betrays—I do not know whether my honourable friend the Premier has really seen to the wording of the resolution—a very serious state of affairs. It means that if this resolution is adopted by this House there can never be any political or constitutional advance in this country. What does the resolution say?

Malik Barkat Ali : Who will be responsible for that?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : You will be responsible.

Diwan Chaman Lall : He who is going to give his support to the resolution; it is he who will be responsible not primarily but secondarily. What does the resolution say? It says—

"With a view to the immediate attainment of the objective of Dominion Status with effective protection of the due rights of the minorities and other sections and in consultation with and agreement of all the parties concerned."

I would ask my honourable friend to be perfectly frank with this House. Does he not realise that the acceptance of this resolution can possibly mean only this that at no stage in the historical development of our constitution from the present stage would India be able to achieve freedom? My honourable friend, Mr. Singha—I do not see him in his seat—says for five years he was out of India in the last war, but I understand it was only as Secretary to the Y. M. C. A. If he gets up and says, I do not agree, or my honourable friend, sitting over there, Mr. Few, representing the Anglo-Indian community, the privileged community, the community which has been guaranteed by the Government a minimum wage of Rs. 55 in the Postal and Telegraph and Railway Departments, if he says this is my privilege, I do not agree to any advance, what will be the result? There will be no advance if the Government resolution is accepted. One man can hold up the entire show. Does my honourable friend agree that this is the position that this resolution would lead us into and that there would never be any advance, because every section would not only be consulted, but every section would have to be in agreement? This is the reason why I said that there is no atmosphere of reality about this debate. Finally my honourable friend the Premier pointed to the demand for dominion status. I do not know if my honourable friend the Premier and his party are members of the Muslim League or not. If they are members of the Muslim League, the resolution does not talk of independence; it talks of dominion status although I understand that the creed of the Muslim League is independence. I ask my honourable friend the Premier if he is dissociating himself entirely (his affinity and affiliation) with the Muslim League by producing this resolution in contradistinction to the actual wording of the Muslim League creed demanding independence for India? (Malik Barkat Ali: The words are "freedom of India"). He does not now recognise his own interpretation. That is why, Mr. Speaker, I again insist that it is an unreal background. The background to this debate is not the conservative officials in the India Office waiting to receive the news in an expectant mood as to the number of members of this House, who support my honourable friend, Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan, in regard to this resolution. This is not the background. That is not the atmosphere in which we should be discussing this matter. The atmosphere and the background are war, the terror and horrible sufferings inflicted upon innocent people, driven to the shambles of war by this Government, in a cause, which they declare to be the cause of liberty and democracy. May I ask my honourable friend, if that is the position and if that is the background, what is the attitude of my honourable friend in regard to those of us here, that is the Congress, which has declared through its recognized leaders full co-operation with the British Government, provided the high purpose, for which this war is being fought, that high purpose is recognized also in the affairs of India? What is my honourable friend's reply to it? I say that in this great task, in this great calamity, in this great tragedy which is facing the whole world, we must not forget the main proposition of the high purpose for which obviously as stated by them, the King, the Viceroy, the Prime Minister, this war is being fought by British statesmen. Writing about the country of Liliputians, Dean Swift reports that the Liliputians with their tiny eyes could see every cell of the skin of Gulliver, but that they could not see his face. That is equally our situation here. We want to discuss every aspect, every little matter, every difference between one community and another, but forget the main issue, which is freedom of India; not even freedom of India but forget the main issue which is whether this war is being fought for a high purpose. Is this war being fought for liberty and democracy? If it is, what about democracy and liberty for India? How can we say to our sons, who are of age, to go to war and say to them with a lie on our lips that this war is being fought for liberty and democracy, when those principles of democracy are being denied, definitely denied, to us? We say to the British Government, "Make this declaration that your purpose is liberty and democracy, but not merely for Poland, not merely for Czecho-Slovakia, not merely for these small countries in Europe, but that your aim in this war is liberty and democracy equally for the four hundred million of people of India. What difficulty is there for my friend in getting the British to make that declaration? We have seen to-day the declaration of His Excellency the Viceroy, stating that he asked the Muslim League and the Congress to come to terms regarding provincial Governments, meaning the setting up of coalition governments in the provinces, but that they could not come to terms; therefore the matter of central responsibility, freedom and independence at the centre is now at a stand still.

I submit that this is not the first occasion that the British Government has raised this problem of minority and sectional interests. May I remind the House that it was not long ago, I believe it was in the year 1925, that Lord Birkenhead, the then Secretary of State for India, in reference to the Simon Commission wrote to the then Viceroy of India and stated—

I should therefore like to receive your advice if at any moment you discern an opportunity for making this (Statutory Commission) a useful bargain counter for further disintegrating the Swarajist Party.

This was that high official, the Secretary of State for India, Lord Birkenhead, wanting to utilise the Simon Commission, as I suspect the present occasion is being utilised for a similar purpose, in order to disrupt the Swarajist party which was the only party standing up against the Simon Commission at that time as they are wanting to defeat the Congress now. In 1928 Lord Birkenhead said and I want honourable members and particularly members of the Muslim League to listen to the words which I am going to read out now and which he addressed in a letter at that time when he was Secretary of State for India.

"We have always relied on the non-boycotting Muslims, on the depressed community, on the business interest...."

These are the very sectional interests that we talk about in this resolution before us; "on the business interest and on many others, to break down the attitude of boycott", to break down the determination of the Congress to demand a declaration free of all ambiguity regarding the independence of India. The whole policy is now obvious. So this is Lord Birkenhead speaking. Listen again to the policy of divide and rule. "It is to terrify the immense Hindu population by the apprehension that the Commission is being got hold of by the Muslims and may present a report altogether destructive of the Hindu position thereby securing a solid Muslim support and leaving Jinnah high and dry." Mr. Speaker, it is the policy of divide and rule which is applied by Secretary of State after Secretary of State and this is the game which is evidenced by the very words of that Secretary of State, who was responsible for the Simon Commission, when it came to India in 1927.

Malik Barkat Ali: How have you treated Jinnah now?

Diwan Chaman Lall: Oh not badly! But I will come to my honourable friend in a minute. So, this is the attitude and when my honourable friend moves this resolution regarding the agreement of sectional interests, do not forget that it is this idea of dividing the country into sections and relying upon sections (Cheers from Opposition benches) that has been the cause of the backwardness constitutionally of this country, that has been a cause of denying to us our original freedom as an independent nation. During the last war the cry was 'self-determination for nations'. At the end of the war that cry was conveniently forgotten. During this war, at the very outset, the cry is 'liberty and democracy' and when we say, "Grant us our liberty and give us a democratic constitution", both things are denied to us on the plea of sectional interests. The same Mr. Jinnah and the same Congress of the days of Swarajist Party are unable to agree, let them fight one against the other so that the status quo may be maintained. That seems to be Birkenhead touch. I appeal to all Englishmen in this province and through them to all Englishmen outside. No man in this House has as many good friends among the English as I have in every walk of life. The best ten years of my life were spent at school and university among them. When I started the labour movement in this country and centralised it, I owed the inspiration to the direct assistance given to me by the British Labour Party, millions of whose members are to-day fighting in the trenches, or will be fighting in the trenches risking their lives. I appeal to these Englishmen to realise that when we ask for a declaration of freedom, independence and democracy for our country, we are asking for it not because we want to take political advantage out of England but because we want to be able to tell our own people with not a lie on our lips but truth upon our lips that this is a cause worth fighting for. (Cheers.) How can we go to them, how can we go to our children and tell them to risk their lives for a high purpose which it is said, is agitating the minds of the British unless the British translate that high purpose into reality as far as our own country is concerned? All that is happening to-day is that Mr. Jinnah and Mahatma Gandhi are being asked to square up their differences. It reminds me of the story of the gentleman who dreamt that the Mother Superior of the Convent and the monk from the Abbey were going along a road towards Heaven. On one side of the road was a drain of muck and on the other side was a drain of honey. One fell into the muck while the other fell into the honey and as they arrived at the gates of Heaven, St. Peter said, "How disgraceful! The condition under which you two can enter Heaven is that you should lick each other clean." (Laughter.) That is what the British Government is wanting—that the Muslim League and the Congress should lick each other clean. We all know perfectly well the absurdity of a position like that. I submit that the time has come not to mince matters but to tell the truth in regard to the position which is a very serious position. Let not my honourable friends run away with the idea that getting hold of mercenaries is solving the problem. This war may end in disaster for everybody. The last war saw three great empires vanish like morning mist and the fourth—the French—on the verge of revolution. The pace is much quicker to-day. Victory cannot go to mercenaries. It can go to nations fighting solidly for an aim for which men can be called upon to sacrifice their lives. If my honourable friend does not know this let him read descriptions of the last war, let him read General Crozier's book and let him read Henri Barbusses Le Feu and realise what tragedy war is, what suffering it entails, what sights are to be seen of decaying flesh and strewn bones and how generals themselves have behaved in order to make men fight, how they have had to shoot some in order to make the others fight. War is not a picnic. Therefore, I am surprised at my honourable friend Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram getting up and hoping that the war will last for fifteen years. He hopes that this war will certainly last at least seven years. I ask him to get into touch with the mothers of those sons who are to-day risking their lives in the front line trenches. Ask them whether they want war to last seven years or whether they want it to come every 15 years. The excuse he gave is that the agricultural produce will go up in price (laughter) not realising that this is not the only method of making prices go high. It reminds me of the story of burning your house in order to roast your pig. My honourable friend gives a modern version of that story. I submit that the time has come when we should say frankly to the British that we are shoulder to shoulder with them provided they carry out their high purpose in relation to India. (Hear, hear) I regret that the news that we have read this morning fills one with despair, that such is likely to be the case of British statesmen. The news this morning is most disappointing and I hope that my honourable friends and their British colleagues will remember that it is not going to be a small matter. The pace, as I have said, is a quicker pace to-day than it was in the year 1914. We do not know, when we are told that after the war this matter will be settled for us, whether there will be a British Empire after the war to settle this matter for us. (Laughter.) It is not a matter to be laughed at. It is a serious matter because we do not know how quickly the world is moving towards international disaster and it is for that reason that wisdom dictates, honesty dictates, truthfulness dictates that a declaration should be made that independence would be made for India as soon as possible. (Loud cheers.)

Khan Bahadur Nawab Muzaffar Khan (Attock North, Muhammadan, Rural): Sir, I am neither a politician nor a lawyer. I do not believe in catch words and catch phrases. I am an old man and belong to old school of thought, a school of thought to which some of the most eminent men of Muslim India belonged. I mean Sir Syed Ahmed Khan, the grand old man of Aligarh, Maulana Nazir Ahmed of Delhi, Maulana Shibli Naumanji, the founder of Nadwa-tul-Ulema. Those were men who saw both sides of the picture, anarchy and bloodshed before the British advent and then also saw the progress that had been made under the British Government. It was their well-considered and definite opinion that the fate of India lies with the British and they thought that the wholehearted co-operation of the Indians with the Britishers was in the interest of India. I find it very difficult to change my views at this time of my life and I support this resolution wholeheartedly, not only I support the resolution but I thank the Honourable Premier for bringing forward that resolution. I think that whatever we may say on platform, we all feel that we should help England at this juncture. My honourable friend, Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang's son is now in the army and the younger brother of my honourable friend, Lala Gopal Das, has offered his services in the air force which have been accepted. So I say that we should not go by those catch words and catch phrases. We are all one, whatever our political views. I am glad to say that the Honourable Premier has every Hindu, Muslim and Sikh with him in this respect. (Hear, hear from the Treasury Benches.)

[Khan Bahadur Nawab Muzaffar Khan.]

I have to say a word in regard to what my honourable friend, Sardar Santokh Singh said. He made a reference to the Congress and while making that reference he said that the Congress was the only body to deliver the goods. I wish it were so. But I regret to say that it is not a fact. Responsible people like Sardar Santokh Singh should not make statements which they know are likely to mislead people in England. He must have seen the statement of Mr. Gandhi, made only the other day in which he stated that the Congress does not enjoy the confidence of either the Muslim League or of the Muslims generally. The same can be said of other minorities in India. I was also surprised to see the resolution of my honourable friend, Pir Mohy-ud-Din Lal Badshah. I know him since a long time and I have known his father. He should follow in the footsteps of Sir Sayed Ahmed Khan and I would have appealed to him, if he had been present here to-day to follow in the footsteps of his own father, the late revered Pir Sahib of Makhad. I remember with what zeal and energy his father went from village to village for recruitment during the last Great War. His resolution shows a spirit of bargaining. It runs as follows :—

"That keeping in view the feelings and aspirations of the various political bodies of the country His Majesty's Government will soon make a declaration about the future of India so that she may stand shoulder to shoulder....."

I think this part of the resolution savours of bargaining and also that he has not kept in view the interests of minorities, whether they are Muslims, Sikhs or depressed classes. I would appeal to him to fall in line with other Muslims, not only in this province but outside the province. I also humbly appeal to Mahatma Gandhi to take lesson from what happened in Egypt and from the policy of the late Zaglul Pasha and inspire confidence amongst minorities in India. There was a time when Muslims had great confidence in Mahatmaji but it is not the case now. He was good enough in the case of depressed classes to resolve to starve himself unto death. Why not do the same in the case of Muslims and thus solve this communal problem and the difficulties that face us to-day? With these few words I support the resolution that has been moved by the three honourable members of my party.

Subedar-Major Raja Farman Ali Khan (Gujarkhan, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, I crave your indulgence for a while to say a few words on behalf of the martial classes and the soldiers belonging to different communities. As I live in the Indian Troop Canteen which is frequented by soldiers of various communities, I am in a position to feel their pulse and say what they aim at. Before coming to the real issue, however, I would like to express how deeply we are indebted to the British nation. It is a plain fact that before the advent of the British into this country, the people here did not know at all what it was to be well dressed. (Laughter.) Really they did not know this much. The first and foremost business of the inhabitants of this country was to commit highway robbery. Thousands of people used to be looted in the broad day light and even womenfolk used to be kidnapped. But now who stands to benefit by the peaceful government established by the British people in this country? Obviously the banias stand to benefit thereby. The railway, the motor cars, lorries and ships have come into being and every kind of facility has been provided to the merchants and tradesmen. This is the age of light and learning. The martial classes used to make raids on their neighbours in the past but now we know it to our cost that our hands have been tied up by the British. Had it not been for education, the honourable members would not have been able to wax eloquent to-day like nightingales in this House. But, alas, we the soldier communities are deprived of this benefit altogether. Our only concern is to uphold the dignity and the old traditions of the Punjab which is the sword arm of India. On the other hand, the rest of our countrymen who have never seen an arrow, a bullet or a battleship have been quietly living from time immemorial as 'pandits' and devotees of learning and deities. They have been pursuing knowledge in the past and are even now concerned with education alone. The only other class that is prosperous in the villages, is that of banias. Their business both in peace and war is to amass wealth through trade and commerce. Besides these two classes of people, there is the third class of martial races to which we belong. We are born as soldiers under the very shadow of swords. We have been wielding swords. Sometimes we killed others and sometimes others killed some of us. That is our old tradition. We are out to uphold it even now. We will maintain and demonstrate our warlike spirit irrespective of any gain or loss. (Applause.)

I fail to understand how the non-martial classes whose only vocation in life is to work at the spinning wheel (Charkha) have arrogated to themselves the right to establish their government in this country. When war begins, it is we who fight and embrace the fire of enemy guns. But when the question is to establish government in the country, how is it that the devotees of charkha—the spinning wheel—come forward and claim to rule over the country? Our hands are tied up by the British; otherwise we would make these devotees of charkha flee before us down to Cape Comorin. (Laughter.) Let me say only this much that Mahatma Gandhi tried at first to entrap the Muslims by spreading the net of Congress throughout the country. At last even he has been obliged to say in so many words that if the Britishers will leave India, the people of the Punjab will come down upon the rest of India and resort to plunder and loot. Furthermore, the North-West Frontier Province is not far away from this place. Let us see what is happening there. The Waziris inhabiting the frontier number only a few hundreds and they kidnap the womenfolk of non-martial classes while the latter do nothing more than cry themselves hoarse against such atrocities. My honourable friends here do not go there to help their brothers in distress. How, then, can they achieve anything in the battlefield? They may deliver speeches and make all sorts of propaganda in the newspapers against war, but let them remember that the martial races will maintain their warlike spirit. The district of Rawalpindi has made an offer to provide about two lakhs of men for the army. My honourable friend Pir Mohy-ud-Din Lal Badshah alone has promised to supply one lakh recruits to the army. Several other persons will likewise help the Government with men and money.

Let me in the end, Sir, say a few words about our benign Ministry. It is a soldiers' ministry while the other provinces have bania ministries. Our ministry has two tried soldiers in it. The first is the Honourable Premier himself. The other is the Honourable Major Nawabzada Malik Khizar Hayat Khan. There is yet a third noble figure who is really a lion.

Mr. Speaker : I cannot allow the honourable member to proceed any further. He has already exceeded his time.

Chaudhri Faqir Chand (Karnal North, General (Reserved Seat) Rural) : Sir, I fail to understand the significance of this class struggle that is going on in our province. On the one hand there is the question of martial and non-martial classes and on the other hand there is a discrimination between the agriculturists and non-agriculturists. We, the depressed classes have always sided with the Government but what has been granted to us as a reward for our services ? Secondly, it is beyond my comprehension that in spite of the fact that our population is no less than 9 crores the Government has not cared a twopence for our welfare, and still has the cheek to expect assistance from us. There are cliques which have the upper hand in the administration of our province and they have their own people upon whom they shower rewards in the form of squares of land or titles for their services. The Government are not aware of the miserable plight of the depressed classes. Whenever their case comes up for consideration, the question of martial and non-martial and agriculturist and non-agriculturist crops up. We are prepared to help the Government in the present war as we did during the last war. But what is the guarantee that our case will not again be filed and will not meet the same fate, and that our condition, despite our sacrifices will not remain the same ?

Our friends on the Treasury Benches boast that they have attained swaraj. I ask them whether this swaraj is going to be synonymous with the regime in which the rights of the minorities are being trampled under foot ? God help us from such a swaraj in which only those who are in power get everything and a population comprising of 40 lakhs of souls is left in the lurch. What is the good of a majority party coming into power when it does not protect the rights of the minorities in the province ? It is no doubt true that the depressed classes have not the means to make their voice heard but the Almighty who is ever watchful over his poor creatures will avenge them.

The major problem which is to be solved, is that of hunger. The people whom the Honourable Minister for Development represents are dying of hunger and are begging in the streets of Ambala. Although very high sounding speeches are delivered by the Honourable Minister, yet nothing is being done for giving relief to these people. He has also his own clique to satisfy and he cannot do anything independently for the poor.

The Government should give equal attention to the public at large and it should not exclusively be confined to its cliques. We, the 40 lakhs who belong to the depressed classes in the province are willing to help Great Britain in this war. It is well known that we have always given every possible assistance to her. On the occasion when the Prince of Wales visited India, and the Congress and the Khilafat Committees received him with black flags we the depressed classes wholeheartedly gave him a rousing reception.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member's time is over.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang (West Lahore Division, General, Rural) : Sir, I wish to say very few words. There has been a long debate and it is not necessary to make a long speech. The questions before the House are really two, as I have been able to understand the position. One is whether the policy of the Punjab Government, as announced by the Premier, is to be supported or is to be opposed. The other question is whether any declaration which the Government has to make in compliance with the wishes of the Congress, should or should not be made unless certain conditions are fulfilled. To my mind there is nothing else of any importance before this House. Some people have utilized this opportunity to show their loyalty: they are quite welcome to do it. (A voice: Squares of land.) I would not refer to squares: let them have the benefit of their loyalty. They will have surely fought in any case. What I feel is this that the resolution has probably not been tabled or moved to convince the British Government that the Punjab would fight but with a different object; and it is that object which I want to expose before the House. So far as fighting is concerned I entirely agree with my learned friend here that it is a terrible thing: it causes a great deal of misery and so on; but I am not afraid of fighting if it becomes our duty to fight. Sometimes it becomes a sacred duty to fight, it becomes a national duty to shed blood, it becomes a national duty to welter in blood, to have our bones strewn on the battlefield. It is necessary. I am not by conviction a believer in non-violence, such as is preached by some of our leaders. Non-violence in an individual is a great virtue. Violence without necessity is a great sin. I believe in the saying: ahimsa parmo dharma (Non-violence is a great virtue) but sometimes non-violence becomes a great vice, a great evil, and that is when the question of defending one's honour, one's hearth and home arises, and then it becomes a disgrace not to fight. If then any one, whether he is a member of a martial tribe or a non-martial tribe, is afraid of fighting, if he wants to save his skin, if he is afraid of shedding blood, whether his own or of the enemy, I would look upon him as a cad and coward. In fact this is the lesson which I want the Indian people to learn. They have forgotten the virtue of fighting, particularly the so-called non-martial classes, I am not one of those who think that fighting in all circumstances is a sin. In some circumstances not fighting is a greater sin, and I tell you that so far as I can understand the mental attitude of the Punjabis, they would fight whenever they get an opportunity to fight and I can tell the Honourable Premier that even if he had not made any declaration calling upon the Punjabis to fight—I go further even and say that if he had said the Punjabis should not take part in this war—the Punjabis would have still fought (Shouts of no, no) and in spite of all these things recruits would have still come forward because either they fight because they are loyal or they fight because of necessity. But I shall not go into this question. It was not necessary at all to publish to the world whether the Punjabi was prepared to fight or not. It was absolutely unnecessary. Any one who knows the Punjabi, whether sitting in the India Office in London or sitting in Delhi or Simla or anywhere else in this country or elsewhere, knows and would have been fully convinced that given an opportunity the Punjabi would fight. (Interruptions.) Nobody can deny the truth of that statement. The Punjabi will fight, particularly when he knows that he can gain by fighting. There are hundreds and thousands of people who are starving. Go to Hissar and some parts of Rohtak and offer them the alternative to work in their fields for the whole day or go to the front, and they will say, we shall go to the front. Go to the people of Jhelum and Rawalpindi where the whole land is barani and they cannot make their bread or butter, and offer them the alternative of going to the front and they will prefer to go to the front. So, as I said, it was not necessary to table a resolution to get the opinion of this House that the Government's policy of offering unqualified support to the Government is correct. That goes without saying. But what I suspect is this. So far as the first part of the resolution is concerned it is only an introduction, it is only a sort of padding. The real resolution is in the last two or three lines of the resolution. The sting lies in the tail of the resolution. And what is it? That resolution is intended to warn the British Government not to grant Dominion Status or freedom to India unless every section of the population is consulted and its agreement is obtained. This is the reason for tabling this resolution. This question is pending before the Government. (Interruptions.)

Mr. Speaker : No interruptions please. Let the honourable member continue his speech without interruptions.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : The Congress negotiations are going on and the Government is relying upon the differences among the Indians, and here comes the most obliging Premier and he says, I shall strengthen your hands, I shall give you the opinion of my Assembly which will say, do not give anything to these people unless every Tom, Dick and Harry is consulted. (Interruptions.) I am not referring to any particular body. Far it be from me to speak disparagingly of any great or small political or religious organisation. Not at all. The Honourable Premier must remember, and you would recollect that the other day when this debate started, one of the honourable members on the Unionist benches stood up and said: I warn Sir Sikander that even if the Muslim League comes to an agreement with the Congress, unless we are consulted and we agree, no political advance should be made in India. Here is this friend who calls himself an American, by appearance he is a Sikh, the seat that he occupies belongs to the Hindus and by affinity and alliance he is certainly not a member of the depressed classes. I am referring to him only to give an example. To-morrow any three people can form an organisation and say, we do not agree to this. That organisation may be composed of Hindus, Muslims, Christians or Sikhs. I am speaking absolutely impersonally. That organisation may lay down that there should be no political advance in India unless every interest in this country is consulted and its agreement is taken. I think this is putting a spoke in the wheel of India's constitutional progress, and even if Michael O'Dwyer was drafting a resolution he could not have drafted a worse one. The latter part of this resolution is most mischievous, most disloyal to the country and most unpatriotic, I would not use a harsher word. No one who has the slightest love for his country could have put his signature to the latter part of this resolution, because it means that if this is to be taken literally, there can be no advance in the country for a crore of years, because it is impossible to expect forty crores of people to come to an agreed settlement. If it were the question of a settlement between the Muslim League and the Congress, one could have understood it, because the League represents a large number of Muslims and the Congress is a great non-communal organisation. I may say by the way that Lord Zetland was entirely wrong in saying that the Congress was a Hindu organisation. (Cries of 'it is' and 'it is not'.) As it is, the Congress is being blamed by the Hindus for showing too much favour to the Muslims. I think Mahatma Gandhi—I speak with all deference to him—has been wrong in taking upon himself the task of negotiating with a communal body. He should have said, "if Mr. Jimmah wants to negotiate, let him negotiate with Mr. Savarkar, the President of the Hindu Mahasabha and we shall then step in to square their differences." Mahatma Gandhi has been rightly served and he should take the lesson to heart. The mistake of 1916 has been repeated from time to time, but never with such disastrous results as on this occasion. I hope this will open the eyes of the Congress. As I have said, they should not have taken up the task of the negotiations. They should have said, let the Hindus and Muslims negotiate with a view to coming to an agreement, and then the Congress will step in to square up their differences, if any. In putting themselves in the position that they did, they have lent themselves to the charge of representing only one community, and Lord Zetland has some justification in making his remarks, though he is entirely mistaken with respect to the real nature of the Congress.

I wish to say just one word about fighting. Again and again it has been flung in the teeth of the poor non-agriculturists that they are banias, they are shop-keepers, they will sell ghee, they will sell milk and so on. My own position since 1914, which is now 25 years, has been that if Government is sympathetic, if Government is unsuspicious, if Government is a friend of India, it should introduce conscription in this country and make every mother's son fight for his country whenever necessity arises. Then all these differences of martial and non-martial races would disappear. There is no such distinction in England, there is no such distinction in France. Are there no shop-keepers in France and are there no shop-keepers in England? There are millions of shop-keepers in England and whoever he may be, every man when called upon to take the sword in defence of his country, is ever ready and has it ever been said that a certain section of the Englishmen or a certain section of the Frenchmen because they were shop-keepers and merchants were in any way worse in fighting than others? This is the greatest wrong, I say so on the floor of this House, that the British Government has done to this country. It has made India impotent and absolutely incapable of self-defence. Raja Farman Ali was perfectly right when he said that if it came to that he and his friends would certainly sweep everything before them from Peshawar to Cape Comorin. I have often pointed this out to the Congress leaders but they are sleeping over it. They do not realise this. They go on after prohibition, after Tenancy Bill, after this and after that, very good things in their way but they have not realised what is of primary importance, that is the defence of the country and making the Indian people fit for self-defence. But they have not so far raised their little finger and from that point of view I consider that the Congress has neglected one of its most important duties. I entirely agree with my honourable friend here. The only remedy is not to keep these people back from the army but to make it compulsory for them to join the army, to give them two or three months training and then send them out to fight. No one will then remain behind when it becomes his duty to defend his hearth and home, when he really knows that his country is in danger. He will certainly fight to defend his country, his honour, the honour of his womenfolk and his own life and property and the lives of his children and his neighbours. No one will lag behind.

One thing more I would say, with your permission. Now that the Congress has raised this point, the British Government would be most unwise in ignoring it. These gentlemen may help the Government; certainly they will. We shall all help when it becomes necessary, when we know that our hearths and homes are in danger but not for the purpose of receiving titles or squares. I know what these gentlemen will do. When the war is over, they will refer to the pages of the Civil and Military Gazette and say 'my name is there, I gave 20 recruits, I gave Rs. 500. What will you give me?' (Interruption.) I know it from personal experience. I have seen hundreds of chits taken by these gentlemen from British Officers. I warn the British Government. The Congress has raised this point and it will be suicidal to ignore the wishes of the Congress. After all the Congress represents a very large majority of Indians. We have slight differences with the Congress but we fully and heartily and entirely endorse the demand of the Congress for a declaration regarding India's future. If they do not want any gadbad inside the country, they must concede the demand made by the Congress.

Premier (The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan): Sir,—

Dr. Shaikh Muhammad Alam: May I take it that I have not caught the eye of the chair?

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. The honourable member must know that when a minister or the Premier rises to speak, he has to be given preference.

Premier: Sir, it is with a heavy heart, that I rise to-day to speak on the motion before us. To confess frankly, I was expecting better news from Delhi, and hoping that I might be able to announce some satisfactory settlement between the two major political parties in this country. It would have made my task much easier and, incidentally, would have saved the breath of several of my friends opposite, if the consummation which I have always so deeply cherished and desired had been achieved. But unfortunately it has not been so and we must, as stated by His Excellency the Viceroy, hold our patience and see what the future will bring forth. Let us hope and pray that the efforts initiated at Delhi will not be wasted but will eventually materialise and bring in their train that mutual amity and goodwill which alone can bring about real and lasting unity between the major communities and the major political parties in this country. (Hear, hear.)

Sir, I should like to congratulate my friends of both sides of the House on the commendable tone and on the level of the debate, which has been conducted in accordance with the best traditions of this Assembly. Except for one or two speeches, which I am sure the speakers themselves in their calmer moments would admit that they should not have made, the discussion on the whole has proceeded on a level worthy of this House. It is hardly necessary for me to impress on this House that the resolution before us is of the greatest importance. We are to-day asked to decide a question of great import and moment, a question on which depends the future not only of our own province but of our motherland. It is for this reason that I now request my friends on both sides of the House to take stock of the position calmly and dispassionately, without any petty sectional, class or communal bias, and I may be allowed to add, irrespective of party alignments and considerations. May I also warn my friends against being swayed by mere rhetorical eloquence. When my eloquent friend, Diwan Chaman Lall, was speaking with his usual fluency, and when later my honourable friend, Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang, harangued us, and in doing so nearly cried himself hoarse, I wondered whether they had grasped the full significance and import of the resolution. In trying to make an impression by mere rhetoric they seem to have forgotten their duty towards their country and province. Let me remind them of what Froude said about rhetoric. He said "Oratory is the harlot of the arts." Those who have dabbled in the game of politics know that rhetoric is a good vote-catching device. As Baldwin once said "Rhetoric can win votes on a division or at an election, but God help the person who tries to think on rhetoric". This House is, however, used to such rhetorical flights and I am confident that it will not be swayed either by the superficial eloquence of my friend, Diwan Chaman Lall, or the impassioned peroration, delivered in best Hyde Park style, of my honourable friend, Dr. Sr. Gokul Chand Narang.

Now, Sir, let us first of all analyze the problem and, as I have already said, examine it dispassionately. Let us assess values at their proper and true estimation in the light of the facts as they are and not as we would wish them to be. I do not propose to waste the time of the House by following the example of my honourable friend, the Leader of the Opposition, in undertaking a chronological or historical survey of the problem. Any such diversion is not likely to help us in the solution of our difficulties, or in focussing our attention on the more important aspects of the problem with which we are faced to-day. Nor would it in any way help—except perhaps in relieving the feelings, to some extent, of those who suffer from an inferiority complex—to use intemperate language in referring to the British nation or Government, or to recapitulate, the omissions and commissions of British rule in this country. Our difficulties and problems are there, and will continue to be there unless we ourselves make up our minds to remove them and put our heads together to solve them. It would be sheer dishonesty to blame the British people and the British Government for the present unfortunate state of affairs in this country. I think that my friends opposite, in their calmer moments, when they are in a mood to give thought to this problem calmly and dispassionately, would come to exactly the same conclusion. Whether there was any justification or not in the past for such accusations, I repeat that to blame the Englishmen, to-day, for our internecine quarrels and troubles would be unfair, unjust and dishonest. (Applause and interruptions.) I confess that sometimes I have felt sorely tempted, out of sheer disgust, to pay back my communalist friends opposite in their own coin. But I have always succeeded in conquering that feeling and I can assure you that in spite of repeated and undeserved provocation—and believe me sometimes it is extremely grave and trying—I have never swerved from the path which it is the duty of every patriotic Indian to follow in order to attain national unity—an ideal for which I have been consistently and ceaselessly working for the last 25 years or more (applause). I have spared no effort towards the attainment of that ideal, and will continue to do my best. I am afraid it is not for me to divulge the details of my recent activities in this behalf now or even later, but, perhaps, when the much desired consummation is brought about and those who are aware of these efforts are free to open their lips they may be able to tell you of the humble part I have played in bringing the parties together. I was hoping that these negotiations, which were being followed anxiously and prayerfully by all well-wishers of India would be successful, sponsored as they were by His Excellency the Viceroy who—I can assert from my personal experience and contact with him—is one of the greatest well wishers of this country (Hear, hear).

Now, Sir, before we proceed further, let us be clear about our objective. What is it we want the British to concede? Let us first take the Congress and those who endorse the Congress demand. They desire Great Britain to make a clear declaration regarding her war aims. I am not sure what the object of this demand is; but apparently they do not want England merely to define her ideology. What we really want Great Britain to do is to make clear her intentions in regard to this country. I, therefore, do not see why we should go about it in a tortuous way. Let us face facts honestly and not try to camouflage our demands. Equally, we should not try to hide or suppress our real sentiments and feelings in regard to the present war. India as a whole, including the Congress, the Muslim League, the Hindu Mahasabha, the Liberal League and for that matter all other parties and communities, has openly and repeatedly denounced the German aggression. There is no difference of opinion on that point. Spontaneous and universal sympathy has been evinced for Great Britain and her Allies in the cause for which they are fighting. Mahatma Gandhi, Mr. Jinnah, Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru and all other prominent leaders—except of course my honourable friend, the drawing room socialist-cum-communist opposite—have made a declaration to that effect. As I have said, the righteousness of the cause for which the Allies are fighting is admitted, and the sympathy of every conscientious person in this country is with the democracies. Yet I must confess that I am sometimes confused, and I dare say others also find some difficulty in making out the implications of the statements of some of our leaders who, it seems to me, occasionally speak with two different voices. Let me give an instance. Every one of these leaders has declared that he does not want to take advantage of Great Britain's difficulties and therefore is not in favour of any bargaining at this juncture. This is what Mahatma Gandhi has said. He has also declared that he tried his best to get the Congress Working Committee to agree to an unconditional support of Great Britain but apparently without success. Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru has also said that he does not favour any bargaining; and other prominent leaders of the Congress and other political parties have said exactly the same thing. And to-day we have heard my honourable friend, the Leader of the Opposition, repeat the same sentiments; but in the very next sentence he contradicted himself. It is therefore not surprising that the man in the street, who is incapable of understanding the subtleties of mind of these leaders, is incapable of reconciling these conflicting declarations. For myself I frankly confess that these double-barrelled professions and statements are extremely confusing. An ordinary person like myself can attach only one meaning to the phrase—no bargaining means no bargaining or, in other words, unconditional support. On the one hand, they say that the British and their Allies are in the right; that they are fighting a war of righteousness; that they have been forced into this war by wanton and unwarranted aggression on the part of the Nazis; that they are fighting to vindicate right against brute force and for the sake of justice, civilisation and the peace of the world. They say all these things; but in the same breath they say that “all these considerations notwithstanding we will not co-operate with you because you have not yet declared your aims and intentions vis-à-vis this country”. When we read these irreconcilable statements reproduced in the press and see the editorial comments of some of the Indian-edited papers, stressing the two conflicting aspects of these pronouncements and winding up with a peroration that India does not want to bargain, we wonder and wonder. I leave it to the House to draw their own conclusions and decide whether this attitude of the Congress constitutes bargaining or not. Personally, I have no hesitation in asserting that it is bargaining and a most despicable form of bargaining, a very mean type of bargaining unworthy of this country. When we are morally convinced that a certain principle is just and worth fighting for, then we must fight for it without ‘ifs’ and ‘buts’, and without any mental reservations.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Is it not true that what the Congress demands is not a bargain but what it demands is honesty and truth? If the British Government is fighting for these high principles why do they not say that these also apply to Indians? This is not bargaining; it is asking for truth and honesty. It is despicable to say that it is bargaining.

Premier : I would have agreed with my honourable friend opposite if he and his friends had merely demanded a declaration regarding the future of this country and had stopped at that until the war was over. If we are convinced that the Allies are in the right, then the proper and honourable course for us is to say, ‘Since you are fighting for justice and for preservation of democracies we will wholeheartedly help you; but when the war is over and you refuse to give us what is due to us then “God help you”’. That is what the Congress should have said. (Cheers from Ministerial benches and interruptions from the Opposition.)

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : آپ کا ایمان گیا۔ Ap ka iman gaya.

Premier : I have not followed what my honourable friend has said; but I believe he repeated what my honourable friend Mian Abdul Rab said. My honourable friend forgets that we all desire political advance for our country. There is no Indian worth the name who does not want political emancipation of his country and I repeat that we on this side of the House are second to none in the desire for the early achievement of our ideal. (Hear, hear.) All political parties, including the Congress and the Muslim League, have declared in unambiguous terms that they want political freedom for their country.

Dr. Sir Gukul Chand Narang : Your resolution does not say so.

Premier : My honourable friend is unnecessarily impatient. I will deal with the point which was made by him and by Diwan Chaman Lall and Lala Deshbandhu Gupta later, though I am not sure if I will be able to convince him.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : May I ask whether the Honourable Premier is prepared to omit the words after the word 'minority'?

Premier : This is not the occasion to put questions. Let me proceed with my speech now. We will deal with these details later. Sir, I was saying that there is no Indian worth the name—and the Punjabi is foremost among them—who does not desire self-government for his country ; but the problem is how are we going to achieve this objective. My honourable friend who interrupted me is aware that Great Britain is engaged in a life and death struggle. Does he want to take advantage of her difficulties to force a charter of freedom from her ? My honourable friend must remember that empty words will not win India her freedom. At no time have mere words won freedom or independence. I challenge my honourable friend opposite to point out a single instance in history where words alone have won freedom for people. It is deeds that can win freedom. (Hear, hear.) My honourable friend seems to have forgotten that well-known adage "First deserve and then desire". If they believe that the harangues of my honourable friend Diwan Chaman Lall, or his drawing room socialist colleague, or for that matter even the speeches and statements of more highly placed leaders, can win freedom for this country, they are living in fools' paradise.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Slavish mentality. Independence is our birth-right.

Premier : My honourable friend is again indulging in slogans and catch-phrases which would be in place in a Hyde Park meeting, but which are not appropriate or becoming in an Assembly like this. Let me remind him that 'self-determination' and similar other slogans have done a lot of mischief and are largely responsible for the present day ills of this world.

Mr. Speaker : I request the honourable members not to interrupt the Premier.

Premier : So far as we on this side of the House are concerned, we are content to wait for the attainment of our goal until after the war. My honourable friends, opposite, however, want an immediate declaration. That is the line of argument adopted by them in their speeches. So far as our objective is concerned, I have already said that there are no two opinions. We all want to achieve our political objective at the earliest possible opportunity ; but there is a difference of opinion between my friends opposite and those on this side of the House as regards the methods and means. My honourable friends opposite want to take advantage of the present difficulties of Great Britain. We on this side do not consider that course as fair or honourable. Our training and traditions teach us to spurn a person who tries to take advantage of the difficulties of his friend (cheers). A true Punjabi can never stoop to exploit the difficulties of a friend. If my honourable friends do not consider the British to be their friends, they must have some regard for their long association with them. We are Punjabis and Punjabis are renowned for their chivalry and valour. It is foreign to the nature of a Punjabi to stoop to anything which may savour of meanness or subterfuge. Let us give the British and their Allies unconditional support at this time of their need. Let us not stoop to any bargaining. We know perfectly where we stand. And we know also our strength. Let us give our unstinted and unconditional support to them now and when the war is over that very strength and support which we extend to Great Britain to win the war will win us our freedom. When the war is successfully concluded, we will say to Great Britain "we have stood by you in time of your need; now as honest and honourable people you must give us our due." If they refuse then to concede our legitimate demand, I would be the first to lead you in fighting for our political rights. My honourable friends opposite insist that Great Britain must make an immediate declaration and want our charter of freedom signed, sealed and delivered now. What would happen, may I ask them, if Great Britain is defeated in this war? Would they then get that charter framed and show it to the aggressor who invades India and beseech him to desist from setting foot on Indian soil on the strength of that charter; or would they have the declaration printed and placard the route of the invader and expect him to refrain from overrunning our country because of that declaration? The position which my honourable friends have taken up is neither prudent nor honourable. No sensible and honourable man will take up that position; and I am confident that the Punjab, the province of brave and honourable people, will never take up that position. (Cheers and interruptions.) My honourable friends must not interrupt me. These are all hackneyed arguments which I have already met. I repeat my question. What would happen if England is defeated? Will my honourable friends opposite then attain their freedom?

Diwan Chaman Lall: You will be just as great a slave.

Premier: I will be, but what about my honourable friend? I am trying to impress upon him and his friends that they would always remain slaves in this country if, God forbid, the British are defeated.

Diwan Chaman Lall: Unless you change your mentality. (Laughter.)

Premier: I want you to change yours if you genuinely desire freedom. As I have said, freedom can be attained only by deeds and not merely by lip professions.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang: May I ask the Honourable Premier a question? (Voices: No, no.) (Interruptions.) The Chair can say if the question is not allowed. Does he not think that if India is contented there is a greater chance of England winning the war than otherwise? In fact, there will be less chance of its being defeated than if India were discontented.

Premier: How can India be contented so long as people like my honourable friends opposite insist on denying to the minorities their due rights? (Cheers from Ministerial benches.)

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang: This is nonsense. Your minority wants India to remain a slave.

Premier: I am not concerned with minority interests at the moment. My honourable friend insists on bargaining with Great Britain. He and a handful of his colleagues opposite are welcome to indulge in their pastime. Let them, if they can do so, coerce the Imperial Parliament. So far as we on this side are concerned we do not subscribe to those principles or tactics. We believe in above board and straightforward methods. If we had come to the conclusion that it would be in the interests of our country to withhold our support we would have said so openly and boldly. We would have acted up to our convictions and not contented ourselves by passing wordy and tortuous resolutions behind closed doors; nor would we have taken shelter behind slogans and catch phrases. As I have said this is no time for bargaining but for action. The Nazis have kindled the flame of war and the blaze might spread throughout Europe and even beyond. Is it not our duty to stamp out that flame before it reaches us? When the countryside is on fire, one instinctively sets about extinguishing the fire in order to save the house even if the ownership of the house is disputed. On an occasion like that one does not think of title-deeds but of saving the property first. My honourable friends opposite say that since they have got only occupancy rights in the house they will not help in extinguishing the fire until they are assured of complete ownership and for some inexplicable reason they seem to ignore the blatant fact that if the house is burnt to ashes there will be little left of it, while they may be quarrelling among themselves or with a third party regarding its title or ownership. The analogy in the present case is complete.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: This is exactly what you have been doing.

Premier: This is exactly what I have been asking my honourable friends not to do.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: You do not want freedom of the country unless something is granted. (Interruptions.)

Premier: I know the kind of freedom my honourable friend wants. He wants supremacy for himself and nothing for me. We would have attained freedom long ago if he and those of his ilk had wanted freedom for the whole country.

Now, let me refer to His Excellency the Viceroy's declaration which has been criticised by some speakers opposite. It has been described by some as wholly unsatisfactory and halting in character, while a few have had the fairness to concede that except for a few minor details it is on the whole not so unsatisfactory as has been depicted in a section of the Indian-edited press. I am prepared to admit that His Excellency the Viceroy's pronouncement has not met with complete approval either from the majority community or the minorities. Neither of them, if I may use a hackneyed Punjabi phrase, consider it to be 16 annas satisfactory. This is not surprising. In view of the widely-conflicting demands of the majority and the minority communities, it is extremely difficult, if not altogether impossible, to formulate a declaration which would completely satisfy all the various interest concerned when there is such divergence of opinion among them. But let us not overlook the fundamental principle which has been conceded in the Viceroy's statement. This statement was elucidated by Lord Zetland in a recent speech in the House of Lords, and was further clarified by Sir Samuel Hoare, who, as we are all aware, was intimately connected with the framing of the present constitution as Secretary of State for India. A careful study of all these pronouncements makes one thing clear beyond doubt and that is that the British Government is prepared to grant Dominion Status to India immediately after the war, provided we can come to some kind of agreement amongst ourselves. It is surprising that this particular aspect of the statements made by these responsible officers of the Crown has either been completely ignored or glossed over by the 'nationalist' press in this country. It has been even said that Sir Samuel Hoare deliberately qualified his statement in order to make the two major communities in this country fight. I hold no brief for Sir Samuel Hoare ; but I must say that these hackneyed arguments and accusations will not convince any one in these days of provincial autonomy. If those who doubt the bona fides of the British are themselves honest, why do they not take Sir Samuel Hoare at his words and try to smooth the way for full-fledged Dominion Status ? Instead of bandying words and phrases they should try to press the leaders of their respective parties to come to an immediate agreement over the outstanding issues and then say to the British Government "Here you are we have settled our differences, now you fulfil your undertaking and let us have Dominion Status".

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : We know them too well.

Mr. Speaker : Order please. I have already requested and request again that no interruptions be made.

Premier : I thought my honourable friend's knowledge was confined to Russia alone. I was not aware that he could condescend to recognise smaller fry like Sir Samuel Hoare. His horizon was blinded by such stalwarts as Stalin and Lenin.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : They will come.

Premier : That day will never dawn, you may rest assured. Let me now point out the implications of Sir Samuel Hoare's statement. There seems to be a great deal of confusion regarding the scope and meaning of Dominion Status. Even my friend Malik Barkat Ali seems to have slipped up as is evident from his own remarks. He said that, while he agreed with this resolution, he could not whole-heartedly endorse it because Dominion Status is mentioned and his creed is complete freedom. These may not be the exact words which he used ; but I gather that that was the meaning which he wanted to convey. If he is here now, I might point out to him that freedom as I understand it means that India should have full control over her affairs. Mahatma Gandhi and other prominent leaders have also given exactly the same interpretation to this word. While it undoubtedly postulates that the control of Defence and External Affairs should also eventually be transferred to Indians, it does not necessarily connote that we should cut adrift from the British Commonwealth altogether. And why should we ? At a time when powerful nations with conflicting ideologies are wooing each other in order to gain strength and supremacy over their adversaries, it would be suicidal for India even to think of severing its connection with Great Britain. Nazi Germany, which was only yesterday thirsting for Russia's blood, is today hugging Russia to its bosom. The same Herr Hitler who depicted Russia as the biggest enemy of mankind in his book "Mein Kampf" is to-day going arm in arm with Monsieur Stalin in order to usurp the independence of their weaker neighbours and to share the loot. I am surprised that my friend Sardar Sohan Singh Josh should still continue to applaud Russia in spite of the fact that his foreign Guru is today a bosom friend of the blood-thirsty Nazis whom he and his friends were never tired of denouncing.

[Premier.]

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : What did Churchill say about it ?

Premier : Churchill probably hates them both and he is quite right too.

Diwan Chaman Lall : He says "make pact with Russia at all costs." (Interruptions.)

Premier : Do not let us be side-tracked over extraneous issues. Let us be quite clear in our minds about our future status. We, all of us, want freedom for our country, but, as I have said, not necessarily outside the British Commonwealth. Mahatma Gandhi has declared in unambiguous terms that he will be quite content with the freedom conferred by Dominion Status provided it is of the variety granted to other Dominions. And what did Sir Samuel Hoare say in his speech ? Let me quote his own words. He said :—

There are no two kinds of Dominion Status as some people seem to think. The Dominion Status that we contemplated was Dominion Status which has been described by Mr. Wedgwood Benn, Dominion Status of 1926, that is, Dominion Status of the Westminster Statute.

Now this is the Dominion Status which has been guaranteed to us by the British Government and which, in addition to other privileges, also carries with it the right to sever our connection with Great Britain if we so desire. What more do my honourable friends opposite want if they can get this kind of Dominion Status without blood-shed and without even raising their little finger. Would they not be content with it ? I ask my friend Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang whether he would not be content with the Dominion Status of the variety I have described. I put the same question to my friend, Diwan Chaman Lall. Is he prepared to say that he would not be content with Dominion Status of Westminster variety ? I make bold to ask even my socialist friends opposite whether they would not accept it.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : I shall be content with real Dominion Status, but you will not be. The Muslim League wants complete freedom.

Premier : My honourable friend need have no fear or doubt on that score. I would be perfectly content with the kind of Dominion Status defined by Sir Samuel Hoare ; but this does not mean that I would favour severance of connection with Great Britain as I consider that it would be suicidal to do so. Without British help and protection our newly-earned freedom will not last long. The country will be overrun by covetous marauders in no time. We will soon be groaning under the Nazi heel or flattened out under the heavy Soviet foot. Surely, my honourable friends cannot be aspiring for freedom of that kind. I hope not. Anyway, I am not one of those who aspire for that kind of freedom.

Coming back to the Viceroy's declaration, it may be disappointing, but may I again, even at the expense of annoying my honourable friends opposite, ask, who is responsible for the unsatisfactory nature or character of that declaration ?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Those fifty people who rushed to the Viceroy.

Premier : My honourable friend cannot evade the issue by trying to be frivolous. Let us face facts as they are. I make bold to assert that we—by “we” I mean Indians—are ourselves to blame if that declaration does not completely conform with our wishes. On the one hand, the major political party in this country pressed him for a declaration which would ignore the existence or interests of other parties in the country and may I remind my friends opposite—

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : There is the Congress Working Committee’s resolution.

Premier : My honourable friend is talking about resolutions. I am stating facts and I know the facts, as I was one of those who had the privilege of being consulted in this matter. The Congress wanted a particular kind of declaration. There are other parties and interests which demanded a different kind of declaration. In the circumstances, how can you with any justification blame His Excellency the Viceroy for not making a declaration which would satisfy every one of the fifty two interests mentioned by my friend, Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang ? It is unfair and unjust to blame the Viceroy when the fault lies elsewhere. We know that in Lord Linlithgow we have a true friend who is keenly sympathetic towards the aspirations of India. It was Lord Linlithgow who went out of his way to placate the Congress and to persuade them to accept office in the provinces. I do not think that any Indian, who has any sense of decency or honesty, will wish for a better friend and Viceroy than Lord Linlithgow at this juncture. He has been incessantly and continuously trying to help this country to rise to its full political stature. He tried to accommodate the Congress Party even at the risk of alienating the sympathy of other interests and parties to an extent which verged on consternation among the latter. It is an irony of fate that to-day the very party which he tried to placate is the most pungent in its criticism of the Viceroy’s declaration. I call it sheer ingratitude. I consider that the whole country owes a deep debt of gratitude to Lord Linlithgow for his untiring efforts to compose our differences and to solve our complex problems. I should like to take this opportunity of paying my quota of tribute to Lord Linlithgow for his farsighted statesmanship, sagacity, perseverance and courage and for the sympathy with which he has dealt with the vexed Indian political problems. During the past fortnight he has seen no less than 52 representatives of the people and I am glad to say that most of them—I do not say all of them but a large majority—came back satisfied that in him India had a true and sympathetic friend (applause) and whatever may be the result of his efforts—and let us hope that they will be crowned with success—he can derive some consolation from the knowledge that he has earned and enjoys the confidence of all the numerous and diverse interests in this country. I am confident that he will continue to do his very best to bridge the gulf which unfortunately at present exists between the major communities and the other parties ; and I hope and pray that he may succeed in bringing about harmony and unity among the various communities without which, I am afraid, there can be no hope of our attaining freedom. (Interruptions.)

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Premier name one Viceroy who was not a friend of India ?

Premier : I am now speaking of the Viceroy whom my honourable friend himself quoted. Probably, he has changed his opinion because of the anxiety of the Viceroy to safeguard the interests of the minorities also. It is no use throwing blame on others for our own sins and weaknesses. It is fashionable among certain types of politicians to throw the blame on the British. Loose talk of this kind might have been justifiable in the past; but it would be sheer dishonesty and injustice to hold the British responsible for our communal differences to-day. If a communal settlement is achieved, I am confident that Dominion Status will be ours for the mere asking. On a previous occasion I said that we would secure Dominion Status within 15 days if the various interests could come to an agreement.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Now one week ?

Premier : Yes, even that may not be impossible provided you accept my advice. But so long as the mentality of my honourable friend and of his associates remains unchanged, all these aspirations would remain unfulfilled as mere dreams. And why is it that we have not succeeded so far ? Because, to put it frankly, my honourable friends opposite are not sincere and are fond of confusing the issues instead of trying to face facts boldly and squarely. Their silvery smooth-tongued speeches cannot have any effect so long as they speak with mental reservations. They say one thing and mean quite another. One of the main reasons which stands in the way of a settlement is the desire on the part of various political and communal parties to gain supremacy at the expense of others. They seem to overlook the fact that if one party tries to exploit another, its rivals can play the same game; and the result is that each tries to outreach the other. I am afraid that without a change of mentality there is no hope of this vexed problem being solved. Unless we approach it in a spirit of accommodation and mutual confidence and goodwill, it will be futile to hope for any tangible results. My honourable friends opposite may be clever and subtle in trying to accuse their opponents of adopting 'a dog in the manger' policy; but such accusations and counter-accusations will not bring us any nearer to the solution of our difficulties. I have been in close touch with prominent leaders of the various parties for the past few months and I have done my utmost to bring about a rapprochement but so far without success. I have, however, not given up hope and am confident that the time is not far off when the two main political parties will come nearer each other. The most formidable obstacles in the way of an agreement are those pseudo-nationalists who go about the country side with nationalistic slogans on their lips and communal bigotry and venom in their hearts; spreading poison from town to town and village to village. It is these political adventurers who are largely responsible for thwarting the efforts of those patriotic persons who are striving for an honourable settlement. I hope my friend, Lala Deshbandhu Gupta, will forgive me if I say that the speech which he made the other day was most unfortunate. It is such utterances that help in widening the gulf. I hope he won't mind my saying so openly and frankly.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Truth is always unpleasant.

Premier : Exactly that is why I ask for my honourable friend's forgiveness. Let him search his heart and say whether he and those of his ilk are responsible for widening the gulf or whether it is the British Government or the Britisher in this country.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : It is you and your friends.

Premier : I do not propose to argue with my honourable friend, but I make him a present of my views which should provide him with ample food for thought. Now, Sir, before I proceed further, let me deal with the two amendments which have been moved.

Mr. Speaker : Only one amendment has been moved.

Premier : But the other, No. 6, has also been discussed. I am glad it has not been formally moved and I trust it will be withdrawn. I will briefly refer to it because I was somewhat intrigued to receive notice of it, as it has been tabled by a member of the Independent Party. Subsequently however, I found that it was sponsored by the honourable mover in his individual capacity and not on behalf of the Independents. The first portion of his resolution is identical with our own and is as follows :—

This Assembly views with approbation the policy of His Majesty's Government to crush Nazism and Fascism and assures them that the province of Punjab will place all its resources and be ready for every sacrifice in order to uphold the dignity of democracies".

Then it goes on to say :—

This assembly further views with satisfaction His Excellency the Viceroy's move to again discuss the situation with leaders of public opinion in India and hopes that this step will prove useful for the country.

Unfortunately, those efforts have hitherto proved abortive ; but I may point out that the latter part of this sentence is somewhat vague and obscure and my honourable friend has failed to explain what he wants to convey. And finally his motion concludes thus :—

This assembly, however, without any idea of bargaining is strongly of the opinion that keeping in view the feeling and aspirations of the various political bodies of the country His Majesty's Government will soon make a declaration about the future of India so that she may stand shoulder to shoulder with other respectable countries of the world and make befitting sacrifices.

Now my honourable friend has not made it clear to which political parties he refers. He has also not indicated whether His Excellency the Viceroy and the British Government in making a declaration should respect the wishes of the Congress or the Muslim League or the Liberals or some other political party. He is no doubt aware that there is a sharp cleavage between the views and demands of the various parties I have mentioned ; and the difficulty arises from the fact that unless these differences can be composed it is impossible for any one to make a declaration which would be acceptable to all the parties and interests concerned. But what is even more important and significant is that my honourable friend's amendment makes no reference whatsoever to the rights and interests of the minorities. Perhaps, he does not consider it necessary to provide any safeguards for the minorities. He is, of course, perfectly at liberty to ignore them if he so desires. He is the religious leader of a large Muslim community and has every right to say that no safeguards are necessary for minorities. This nationalistic and non-communal tendency is a welcome indication of his liberal political outlook and I wish him luck. But I request him not to move it in view of the fact that his amendment, except for the concluding portion, is almost identical with the Ministerial Party's resolution, and the part which differs from the main resolution is objectionable from the point of view of the minorities.

[Premier.]

Now, let me try to explain the implications of the resolution moved by my friend, Sardar Bahadur Sardar Gurbachan Singh, on behalf of the Ministerial Party. The first part merely reiterates the position which the Punjab has taken up regarding the present war and voices the feelings and views of the people of this province. I wish to express my gratitude for the wholehearted support of my war policy which my honourable friends have extended to me in the course of this debate. I was fully aware that I had the support of the people of the province and their representatives when I made my declaration at the outbreak of hostilities. I know my Punjab and I know the sentiments and feelings of the martial classes and their leaders as also of the representatives of the people in this House. And I was fortified by that knowledge when I made that declaration on the 3rd of September last. I am gratified that every word of that declaration has been endorsed and vindicated by the accredited representatives of the people of this province yesterday and to-day. (Hear, hear and applause.)

Now let me deal with the concluding part of this resolution. It runs thus :—

It further desires that it should forthwith be made absolutely clear that the constitution of India shall be examined de novo at the end of the war with a view to the immediate attainment of the objective of Dominion Status with effective protection of the due rights of the minorities.

My honourable friends Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang, Lala Deshbandhu Gupta and Diwan Chaman Lall, have taken objection to this part of the resolution and even they have no quarrel with it except for the words "agreement of the parties concerned". Now let me try to explain why these particular words were embodied in the resolution. My honourable friends are perfectly aware that we have been making continuous and repeated attempts to settle our communal differences, but unfortunately without success. And why have these attempts proved abortive? I have already stated some of the reasons which have been responsible for thwarting our efforts; but where there is a will there is a way. If we decide even to-day to sink our differences and make a united demand regarding the future constitution of this country, I am certain it will be conceded by Great Britain. And after all, what are these differences which are keeping us apart? The question of loaves and fishes and a share in the administration. These matters can be settled without difficulty provided there is a spirit of accommodation on both sides. The community which happens to be in a majority in a particular province can afford to be generous to the minorities. After all we are brothers and an elder brother should show a spirit of magnanimity in dealing with his younger brothers. If all of us make an approach to this problem in a spirit of give and take, it will be solved in no time. And why can we not do it? We have done it in the Punjab and are hopeful that these differences will yield to similar treatment elsewhere.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : The day you are free to take up that position.

Premier : My honourable friend is still harping on hackneyed and obsolete slogans and this particular one is a dishonest slogan. It may have had some justification 10 years ago; but, as I have said, it would be sheer dishonesty to hold Great Britain responsible to-day for the existing communal controversies in this country. I may remind my honourable friend that some of his co-religionists openly advocate that the Hindus should not endeavour for a settlement with the minorities and that they should, and can, win swaraj single-handed and then deal with the minorities according to their sweet will. My honourable friend Mr. Deshbandhu Gupta and the other protagonists of this view, however, are either ignorant or deliberately seem to ignore the fact that the caste Hindus as such do not constitute an absolute majority in this country. There are at present 12 crores of Achhuts who are included in the category of "Hindus". These 12 crore Achhuts, call them Harijans or by whatever name you like, constitute the bulk of the Hindu population.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Do you claim to represent them ?

Premier : I do not claim to represent them ; but they have their representatives in this House and you can ask them what they think about this proposition. I may remind my honourable friend that even Mahatma Gandhi had admitted that they constitute one of the minorities in this country. If you take away 12 crores of Achhuts and 9 crores of Muslims as also the Parsees, Anglo-Indians, Indian Christians and numerous other smaller minorities such as Sikhs, Budhists, etc. the result would be that all these minorities combined will constitute a majority ; and the remaining caste Hindus will become a minority. This is the analysis from the communal point of view. Now let us examine it from the political point of view. The Congress is undoubtedly at the moment the largest political party in this country ; but even so it commands allegiance of only a very small proportion of the vast population in this country. Put the Congress on one side and the Muslim League, the Liberal Federation, the Hindu Mahasabha and the various provincial political parties such as the Justice Party, the Khalsa Nationalist Party, and if you add to them the Communists, the Kisans and similar other organisations, not to speak of Indian States which constitute one-third of India, it would be found that the balance is heavily over-weighted against the Congress. I am not in the habit of mincing matters and now I have explained the position both from the communal and the political points of view, I trust my honourable friends opposite will appreciate why I put in the resolution those particular words to which they have taken objection. Let me further clarify my point. Let us assume for the sake of argument that all these various minority parties come to an understanding and put forward a united demand that since they together constitute an overwhelming majority of the people of this country, the new constitution should be framed in accordance with their wishes. And supposing His Majesty's Government accepts this plea, then what would my friends opposite do ? It would not be logical for them to oppose this demand because they have been pressing the British Government to accept their point of view on precisely identical grounds. If a constitution is imposed on this country at the combined request of the interests opposed to the Congress, will they be prepared to accept it ? I am sure they will then turn round and vehemently denounce it on the ground that it was not an agreed solution.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Exactly what they want.

Premier : They will then cry themselves hoarse and blame the British Government for betraying them. It is for this reason that I put in those words in the resolution so that every one of the parties should have the satisfaction of knowing that they will have a voice in framing the future constitution for this country—a matter which is of vital concern to all the parties and interests concerned. Let me, however, hasten to add for the assurance of my honourable friends that this part of the resolution does not necessarily imply that there must be complete unanimity even in minor matters of detail. After all, these words must be interpreted in the widest possible sense and the whole resolution must be seen in its true perspective. What we mean to convey is that, so far as the basic and fundamental principles and some of the more important details are concerned, there should be a general agreement among the parties concerned. Once the various parties and interests are agreed on broad principles, there should be no difficulty in coming to an agreement over the details. It is the vital basic issues which matter and not the minor details, which should not be difficult of adjustment. Without this agreement it would be impossible to formulate a constitution which could be expected to work smoothly and harmoniously. Any constitution which is superimposed without the agreement and consent of all the parties concerned would lead to endless trouble and might result in chaos and civil war. Surely, we do not want another 'treaty of Versailles' which is mainly responsible for the present hostilities and bloodshed in Europe. I hope my honourable friends are now satisfied that those particular words in the resolution are not only not objectionable but are essential in the interests of every one concerned. I do not think it is necessary for me to analyse or explain the rest of the resolution which is clear and self-explanatory.

I should now like to say a word or two about the counter-resolutions of which notice has been given by the Opposition. You will remember, Sir, that during the last war a section of the press in this country and certain political fugitives, who had taken up their abode in European countries, published statements which gave an erroneous impression to our enemies in regard to the sentiments and feelings of the people in India. It is believed that these incorrect and mischievous statements were partly responsible in encouraging Germany to undertake the bloody and unsuccessful enterprise of 1914. Germans were under the impression that on the declaration of war there would be a universal upheaval in this country. I venture to suggest to my friends opposite that their resolutions may also give a misleading impressions to our foes. When we know that the whole of India has condemned Nazi aggression in the strongest possible terms, it would be improper to move such resolutions. We, of course, know that these resolutions are nothing more than political tactics and do not even represent the real sentiments and doubts of that microscopic section of the public whom my honourable friends represent in this House : but these resolutions will be published and might mislead people in other countries which, I am confident, is not the intention of my friends opposite. They must realise that they would be taken there at their face value and there would be no Gopi Chand or Chaman Lall to interpret them there. The present war is no joke but constitutes a real menace to this country. My honourable friends opposite should take warning ; the danger is much nearer than they realise. I appeal to my friends to try and be a little more realistic. I repeat that the danger is there, and that it is much nearer than even some of us on these benches realise. We know that when we are face to face with this danger, my honourable friend Lala Deshbandhu Gupta, will not be there to meet it and it would be for us on these benches and those whom we represent to bear the brunt of the attack and repulse it. (Hear, hear and cheers from Ministerial benches.) My point is that such resolutions, which do not reflect the opinion of any section of the people in this province, might mislead and encourage unscrupulous aggressors who have got a covetous eye on this country. It is for this reason that I wish that these resolutions had not been tabled. That they will be thrown out by the House I have not the slightest doubt.

Sir, I am afraid, I have already taken a great deal of the time of this House, but I should like very briefly to refer to one or two other points made by my honourable friends opposite. I will first deal with the speech of my honourable friend, the Leader of the Opposition. He started by twitting my Sikh colleagues on these benches. He said: "My Sikh brethren apparently look upon England as their motherland". I need only say in reply that it is an irony of fate that my Sikh friends on the opposite benches should have to rely upon Doctor Gopi Chand and Lala Deshbandhu Gupta to protect the interests and champion the cause of the Sikhs. (Interruptions and cheers from the Ministerial Benches.) Let me remind my honourable friend, the Leader of the Opposition, that a true Sikh never shirks his duty to fight for justice and righteousness. Indeed, it is his religion, his faith to fight against tyranny and oppression. If the Sikh stalwarts of the Punjab have decided to offer their wholehearted and unstinted support to fight against the Nazi aggression and Zoolm they are merely acting up to the valiant traditions of the community (applause); but my honourable friends—(Interruptions).

Mr. Speaker: I have more than once requested the honourable members not to interrupt. I will request them once more to let the Premier continue uninterrupted.

An honourable member: His speech is provocative.

Premier: I next come to Sardar Kabul Singh. If you will allow me to say so, his name is a misnomer. It should have been Moscow Singh and not Kabul Singh (Laughter). From the way he spoke one might have thought that we were sitting in Moscow or Leningrad because he went over the whole field of international politics in a manner which would have done credit to a full-blooded Bolshevik; he spoke as though the Russian Foreign Minister, M. Molotov, was speaking (Laughter). But it is my duty to remind my honourable friend that his duty is not to Moscow but to his own country and above all to his Panth. He should not try to side-track the gallant Sikhs by his Bolshevik ideas. Nor should he try to discourage the Sikhs from joining the army. By doing so he will be doing the greatest injury and the greatest Zoolm to his community. (Interruptions.) If he and his Sikh colleagues on those benches are true Sikhs—and I hope they are, although a section of their community doubts it, but I am sure my friend Giani Kartar Singh is a true Sikh because he wears the Akali pugree (laughter)—I earnestly appeal to them not to do or say anything which might affect the Sikh position in the army. They must remember that the importance of the Sikhs is due to the fact that they contribute the largest percentage of any community in this country to the Indian Army. There are as many as 24,000 Sikhs in the peacetime strength of the Indian Army. Do they want the Sikhs to lose their importance? Sardar Kabul Singh and his friends may desire it; but I, as a Punjabi, do not wish our province or the Sikhs to lose the benefit which we derive from the presence of these brave soldiers in our army. (Cheers and interruptions.)

My honourable friend, the Leader of the Opposition, also criticised the recent amendment of section 126 of the Government of India Act and mentioned that it involved the transfer of law and order to the Government of India. I am afraid he has not had time to study carefully the amendment or the original provision in the Act. The administration of law and order has not been taken away from the provinces and will continue to be our responsibility.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The responsibility of action under the Defence of India Act lies with the Government of India.

Premier : The Defence of India Act is a Central Act and the Government of India can take action under that Act if the provinces fail or refuse to take the necessary action themselves; otherwise most of the powers are entrusted to the provincial Governments. And even where the Government of India decides to take uniform action throughout the country it has to be taken through the provincial agency.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : But you are not responsible.

Premier : Why not? I am responsible for the action of my officers. I am as much responsible as every Congress Government was before it decided to quit office. (Interruptions.) Another remark which my honourable friend, Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava, made and on which he laid a great deal of stress was this. He said "Ham Indianisation chahte hain." My answer to this is that now is the opportunity to attain it. He cannot have it both ways. On the one hand, he says do not join the army, and on the other he wants Indianisation. Now when an opportunity has come he spurns it. Apparently, he wants only peacetime soldiers; but he must realise that scope for rapid Indianisation in a peacetime army is limited because the strength of the army in time of peace is comparatively much smaller. There will be a big scope now on account of our war requirements and if he is genuine, he and his friends should avail of this opportunity by offering their services in large numbers.

Then my friend, Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang, raised the question of martial and non-martial classes and said that there should be no discrimination. There seems to be some confusion of thought about this matter. There are no such categories as 'martial' and 'non-martial'. There are the enlisted classes and those who are not enlisted for the army. Those who are included in the category of 'enlisted' classes have been selected after careful test and trial spread over a long period. My own regiment was originally a Madras Regiment which was raised about 200 years ago. Now it is manned exclusively by Punjabis. By a process of trial and test on active service, the less efficient were gradually replaced by more suitable and efficient elements, and these are detained until more suitable and better material is found. That is how the present magnificent Indian Army has been constituted. If my honourable friends opposite want their kith and kin to adopt a military career, there will be ample opportunity for them to offer their services during the course of the present war. If they can come forward in large numbers when a demand is made on them, they will have ample field for proving their worth and staking their claim for a share in our fighting forces. I have made that suggestion on several occasions before also, and when the opportunity offers I hope that they will not fail to avail themselves of it. During the last war the doors were thrown wide open, and ample opportunity was afforded to non-enlisted classes to join up, as pointed out by my friend, Diwan Bahadur Mr. S. P. Singha, and other speakers during the course of this debate. Had my friends been keen they would have come forward then. Several people belonging to these classes did avail of this opportunity though their number was small and they mostly came from the north-western districts. I can give instances, from my own knowledge, of individuals belonging to non-enlisted classes from Rawalpindi and Attock districts who joined up. Most of them were Arora or Khatri Sikhs. I had a hand in recruiting them. Some of them, before they joined the army, used to go about with their donkeys from village to village buying agricultural produce and doing retail business on a small scale. Others used to sell Gur and Ohholas; but they did quite well once they joined up. There may still be young men of these classes in Gujar Khan and other tahsils of the Rawalpindi and Attock districts who may be keen to follow the example of their kith and kin during the last war. I understand that some relations of one of the prominent Sikh leaders are even now serving in the army. They may not be descendants of Sardar Hari Singh Nalwa, but even so they provide good fighting materials. Then there are Sikh Sunyaras who make extremely good fighters. The same is the case with Mazhabi and Labana Sikhs. Only the other day three Sunyaras reservists from my own village were recalled for service in a mechanical transport unit. All these classes provide excellent material for the army. (Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang: Conscription.) It is easier said than done. Where will he find the money to pay for universal conscription? That is an important aspect of the question which my honourable friend in his enthusiasm seems to have overlooked. But why worry about conscription? There is no dearth of volunteers and, as I have said, when the present war develops there will be ample opportunity for all those who are anxious to serve their country to enlist. As I have said, now is the opportunity to prove your worth and stake a claim. If and when the call comes and the classes whom you represent come forward and offer their services to fight for their King and their country, nobody will be happier than myself. But I would vehemently oppose any claim for a share in the peacetime army if they refuse to come forward and offer their services during the war.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh (Punjabi): Sikhan te gas mask fit nahin aume: "سیکھوں کے گیس ماسک فٹ نہیں آئے۔" (Laughter.)

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang: May I just ask one question about the point which the Honourable Premier was just now raising? It is of importance. Is it not a fact that the so-called non-martial people are only being registered and not recruited? This is a very important point from his own point of view.

Premier : It seems that my honourable friend opposite has not studied the registration scheme. Both the enlisted classes and the non-enlisted classes are eligible for registration under that scheme. Some of them will be embodied in regular units while others will be enlisted in territorial units as and when the necessity arises.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Only for the period of war and twelve months after the war.

Premier : My honourable friend seems to be confusing the registration scheme with some other scheme. Surely, my honourable friend understands that the strength of the army cannot be retained on a war footing when the war is over. The strength is considerably less in times of peace and a very large proportion of officers and other ranks will have to be demobilized when the present war is over. The point which I want to stress is that the classes which prove their worth and merit on active service will have a legitimate claim for retention in the peacetime army also. Surely, he cannot expect that people with hoary traditions and long connection with the army extending over more than a century should make room for peacetime aspirants for an army career.

Sir, I may be allowed to make a passing reference to an uncharitable remark made by my honourable friend, the Leader of the Opposition, in the course of his speech to-day. I was somewhat surprised when he uttered—

”پنجاب گورنمنٹ کو تو کوئی تکلیف نہیں ہوگی۔ وزیر تو مزے کریں گے
ایک دن پنجابیوں کو تکلیف ہوگی۔“

“Punjab Government ko to koi taklif nahin hogi. Wazir to maze karenge lekin Punjabion ko taklif hogi.”

I wish he had not made those remarks. I feel a great deal of diffidence and embarrassment in having to controvert this unwarranted aspersion and if I do so it is because I owe it to my colleagues to vindicate their position. Let me inform my honourable friend—and I believe he already knows it—that my colleagues here are every one of them prepared to make every possible sacrifice, material, financial or otherwise, to help in the successful prosecution of the war. (Applause.) Those of us who have sons of serviceable age have already offered them in the service of their motherland. The youngest son of my honourable colleague on my right—Sir Sundar Singh Majithia—is now serving with the Royal Air Force. (Cheers.) And allow me, Sir, to detail the information for the benefit of my honourable friend and other members of this House that there is not a single individual on the Ministerial benches who has not already offered his personal services and his resources to Government. Every one of them is ready to fight for the honour and safety of his country. (Cheers.)

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I never said anything of this nature because I was never personal in my speech.

Premier : My honourable friend if he looks at the report will find that he used the very words which I have quoted. However, I do not blame him because he was probably judging us by the standards acceptable to his colleagues on those benches. He would have been nearer the mark if he had said that his "drawing room socialist friends" and others of that type will be comfortably sitting in their houses when other people would be fighting.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava: That I know.

Premier: Perhaps it would have been more appropriate if I had used the word boudoir or parlour instead of a drawing room. My honourable friend, the Leader of the Opposition, was equally unfair and unjust when he said that :

"یہ صوبہ ہندوستان کے لئے بدنامی لائے والے ہے۔ اور یہ صوبہ ہندوستان کی غلامی کا باعث ہے۔"

"Yeh sooba Hindustan ke lie badnami lane wala hai : aur yeh sooba Hindustan ki Ghulami ka bais hai."

It was hardly necessary for him to remind us that we are not politically free yet ; we all know it. But we are all anxious to achieve that ideal at the earliest possible opportunity. There is no difference of opinion among us on that issue. The only difference between us is in regard to the method for the attainment of that objective. Who knows if the course which we on these benches advocate may not prove to be more expeditious and effective than the one which my honourable friend wishes to follow ? Personally, I am convinced that the method which we favour is more honourable, and is likely to lead us to our goal much quicker than any other course. I am sorry that my honourable friend should have used such disparaging remarks for his own province which is pursuing a more honourable and a more straightforward method of achieving our objective than the Congress, which is at the present moment engaged in bargaining with Great Britain. And may I ask my honourable friend :—

"وہ کس کے ہل بوتے پر سودا کر رہے ہیں۔ پنجاب کے ہل بوتے پر۔"

"Woh kis ke bal bote par suda kar rahe hain — Punjab ke bal bote par".

They are trying to bargain with Great Britain on the strength of the Punjab.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava: Congress is not bargaining. You are bargaining.

Premier: I would leave that to the House and the country and the world to judge. Then my honourable friend glibly said : "Why should we worry about Russia ? Why should we worry about Germany ?—because they are not going to invade India. And even if they do so we will rout them by sheer force of non-violence." Germany and Russia can invade this country only if Great Britain is defeated. Then why ask Great Britain for a declaration regarding the future political status of this country ? And why all this bargaining ? If my honourable friend is morally convinced that Great Britain and her Allies are fighting for a righteous cause, then it is his moral duty to support them. If, on the other hand, he thinks that Great Britain is going to be defeated and that when Germany and Russia come here he will rout them by his non-violence, it is no use demanding a charter of freedom from the British Government. (Interruptions.) My honourable friend said that he would by sheer force of non-violence rout such formidable enemies as Russia and Germany. These were the words which he used :—

[Premier.]

”م روس اور جرمنی کو بھاگ دینگے جو بولش ایمریٹلزم کو بھاگ سکے ہیں
وہ روس اور جرمنی کو بھی بھاگ دینگے۔“

“Ham Roos aur Germany ko bhaga denge ; jo British Imperialism ko bhaga sakte hain woh Roos aur Germany ko bhi bhaga denge.”

If my honourable friend is so sure of the efficacy of this doctrine of non-violence, then why should he hesitate to give his unstinted support to Great Britain at this juncture, when she, according to the admission of his own leaders, is fighting in the cause of righteousness and justice ; and later when the war has been brought to a successful conclusion he can use his weapon of non-violence against the British to win our freedom if they refuse to concede it with good grace.

Now, Sir, I come to my honourable friend, Mr. Gauba. I hope he will forgive me for not dealing with the whole of his somewhat lengthy speech which except for one or two points, does not deserve much notice. He began by saying : “I represent nobody. I do not belong to the Muslim League, nor do I belong to the Congress. But I belong to the man in the street.” I have no quarrel with this statement of his and I am prepared to accept that he represents nobody. His other point was that Government had done nothing to ensure the safety of the people and the only reason which he gave in support of his contention was that we had not provided a single gas mask. It was amusing to notice that this request for gas-masks immediately followed a heated peroration which ended up with the words “we are not afraid of Russia ; we are not afraid of Japan ; we are not afraid of anybody.” Apparently, the sudden thought that a bomb might explode on the Golf Road in the compound of his residence seems to have upset him ; hence his request for provision of gas masks to the members of this House and people outside. Let me assure my honourable friend that Government is doing everything possible for the safety of the people in this province. I doubt if gas masks could be of much use ; but in case my friend is particularly anxious to secure one I might inform him that Messrs. Medoomull and Durga Dass otherwise known as Cheap John have in stock a large number of these masks. He can buy one from them for the small sum of Rs. 4-15-0. (Laughter.) Now, Sir, a brief word in regard to my honourable friend Sardar Santokh Singh's speech in which he repeatedly said : “Let us be in earnest.” I do not think that anybody on these benches will disagree with him in this view ; but there may be some uncharitably disposed persons who consider that Sardar Santokh Singh himself will not be prepared to act up to this exhortation if he finds that the Muslim League is likely to get into power in this province. I, however, do not endorse that view because my friend, Sardar Santokh Singh, also said in the course of his speech that he would be prepared to serve under anybody provided they were his countrymen. I congratulate him for expressing these patriotic sentiments. If others also follow his example, Dominion Status would be ours to-morrow, but mere occasional expression of such sentiments in this House is not likely to take us very far. We must put them into practice in our daily life in the clubs, at social gatherings and in our homes. If this is done, the atmosphere of the province will change for the better in no time and the mentality of the masses with it.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Teach Jinnah the same lesson.

Premier : My appeal is meant for everybody ; but charity begins at home ; and it would be more useful if my friend, Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang , gave a lead in this matter.

Sir, I particularly wish to draw the attention of the House to a very important and significant speech made by my honourable friend, Sir William Roberts. He was speaking for the European community—not only the non-official Europeans in the Punjab whom he represents in this House but on behalf of the whole European community in this country. He read a message from the Central European Association which cannot but evoke feelings of friendship and goodwill among Indians for their British fellow subjects in this country. That message contains an unequivocal and most welcome expression of views regarding our future political status. It clearly and unreservedly indicates that the non-official British community is wholeheartedly with us in our desire for early attainment of Dominion Status and that nobody would be happier than they if Dominion Status was granted to us at once—to-day. These are noble sentiments indeed ; and I wish to take this opportunity to convey to the European Association, on behalf of this House, our warm and grateful thanks for this friendly gesture. I also wish to offer my thanks to Sir William Roberts and through him to the Central Association for their generous appreciation of the war offer made by the Punjab. Sir William Roberts said that “the European community was full of gratitude to the Punjab for the promise of its unconditional support in the war”. I have quoted Sir William's words to support my contention that a generous gesture from India at this juncture cannot fail to evoke an equally generous response from Great Britain. The initiative taken by the Punjab has had the effect of winning the sympathy and willing support of the European community, from Peshawar to Tuticorin and from Bombay to Calcutta, for our political aspirations. If the rest of India were to follow the example of the Punjab and thus demonstrate that ‘a friend in need is a friend indeed’, I am confident that Great Britain would not have the slightest hesitation in conceding our demand for Dominion Status.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Did they add the rider with respect to consultation and agreement of every Tom, Dick and Harry ? And if they did not add, why have you added it ? They are more just than you.

Premier : I have already met his point, but as I predicted his blind obduracy would not allow him to see reason.

Sir, I must make a passing reference to the speech of my honourable friend, Diwan Chaman Lall. It was a masterpiece of laboured eloquence. With a greater part of his speech, which consisted of exploded platitudes, we on this side have no quarrel. But I must say that he was unfair and unjust in his criticism of his erstwhile leader Mr. Jinnah. Perhaps in his eagerness to please his communal-minded colleagues on those benches he forgot that Jinnah whom he was condemning to-day is the same Jinnah whom he and his friends lauded to the skies. Only a week ago the Hindustan Times in a leading article praised him and hailed him as the same old Jinnah of pre-Muslim League days—as the one and only leader who held the key to the solution of the Indian problem—and beseeching him to give a lead to the country as a whole. Now that this tactical manoeuvre to get him to agree to the Congress viewpoint has failed I would not be surprised if he is again the recipient of fulsome and filthy abuse from the same quarters. But whatever others may say about Jinnah, it does not behove my friend, Diwan Chaman Lall, to emulate them because, as I have already said, he was not long ago his colleague and accepted leader.

It now remains for me to deal with the last speaker on the Opposition benches—I mean my friend, Mian Itikhar-ud-Din, the drawing room socialist. Most of his speech was so confused and incoherent that it was difficult to follow. But during those rare moments, in his impassioned harangue, when he was coherent I gathered that he was talking about Russia, Siberia and the inequities of British Imperialism. All that I can say is that if Stalin and his henchmen were here to listen to his harangue to-day, they would be trembling in their shoes, for the safety of Stalin who would find it difficult to retain his undisputed dictatorship of the Soviet in face of such a formidable rival and exponent of Bolshevik ideals.

Mian Muhammad Itikhar-ud-Din: Just as Mr. Chamberlain will yield to him.

Premier: I do not want anybody to yield to me. But the strong arm of the Punjab is capable of forcing even the strongest to yield. We, however, do not look to Russia for inspiration.

Sir, I would not keep the House much longer but before I wind up my speech I may be allowed to read a message from some members who are unavoidably absent to-day. You will have noticed, Sir,
 3 P.M. that the attendance is very full to-day. This is as it should be considering the importance of the business before us. The nine members who are absent to-day, owing to illness or other unavoidable reasons, have asked me to communicate to the House that they whole-heartedly and enthusiastically support the resolution moved by my honourable friend, Sardar Gurbachan Singh, on behalf of the Ministerial Party. These names are:—

Sir Muhammad Nawaz Khan,
 Rai Bhagwant Singh,
 Sardar Balwant Singh,
 Sardar Fatehjang Singh,
 Sayad Afzaal Ali Hasnie,
 Rai Bahadur Sham Lal,
 Khan Bahadur Makhdum Muhammad Hasan, and Rai Bahadur Binda Saran.

Dr. Sheikh Muhammad Alam: On a point of order. Is it in order to read names of people that are in favour of a particular resolution? Is that the convention?

Premier: I am merely communicating a message from some members of this House.

Diwan Chaman Lall: I notice that Mr. Chamberlain's and Lord Zetland's names are missing from this list (laughter).

Premier: They will be added at the same time as my honourable friend's name (laughter).

In conclusion may I remind the House that the Punjab has already declared its intention of supporting Great Britain and its Allies in this war with all its resources. And why has it taken that decision? Because, as I have repeatedly made it clear in my speeches and statements, it is imperative in the interests of our own country that we should give unstinted and unqualified support to the Allies. India with its vast land frontiers and extensive sea board is extremely vulnerable. If, God forbid, Great Britain is defeated in this war we would be at the mercy of those ruthless aggressors who are planning to bring the whole civilised world under their sway. We would be an easy prey to any invader from the east or the north-west. My communist friends opposite may be looking forward to Russian penetration and dreaming of a Soviet India. Let me tell them that Stalin would not commit such folly in a hurry. But it is not only Russia that we have to consider. There are others who would be prepared to sacrifice a great deal in order to get a hold over India. Let me warn the House that long before any of the bigger powers make a move for India we will have to face and quell trouble nearer home. We have turbulent neighbours on our borders and beyond them. Even in peace time they are a handful. We are aware of the raids and kidnappings at Kohat, Bannu and Dera Ismail Khan, in the settled districts of the North-West Frontier Province where a Congress Government has been functioning for over two years now. Some non-Muslims are afraid that the predominantly Muslim tracts in the north-west may welcome an invasion from their co-religionists across the frontier. They are labouring under a misapprehension. Let me assure them that they are doing a great injustice to their Muslim brethren by harbouring such ideas. We who live in that part of the province still remember the harrowing tales of Durrani invasions and raids when they used to overrun our ilaga plundering and burning our homes and of the untold misery and destitution which they left in their wake. It is we in the north-west of the Punjab and later the rest of the Punjab who will have to bear the brunt if India is invaded and not those down-country glib-tongued politicians who are either incapable of realising the danger to which this country is exposed or deliberately ignore it. If they had been placed as we are they would then have appreciated the gravity of the situation; and instead of indulging in the dangerous pastime of sitting on the fence or bargaining with the British, when the safety of India is at stake, would have done precisely what we in the Punjab have done by offering unconditional support to Great Britain and her Allies. We in the Punjab are fully aware of our obligations to our own province and to our motherland. It is our duty, as the Sword Arm of India, to protect our country and our hearths and homes against the onslaught of invaders from without and the mischief of traitors from within (cheers). It is a matter for gratification that the appeal which I made at the outbreak of hostilities on September 3rd has evoked a generous and enthusiastic response throughout the province from every class and section of the people. Both His Excellency the Governor and I have been inundated with a spate of telegrams and letters from individuals, associations, tribes and communities, offering their services and resources for the great and patriotic cause which we in this province have espoused. (Applause.) I take this opportunity of expressing once again my gratitude and thanks to all those numerous public-spirited and patriotic Punjabis who have made such splendid and generous response to the call for duty (hear, hear). I am glad to be able to inform the House that Raja Narendra Nath, Bhai Parmanand, Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang, and their friends are also among those who have offered their services. They deserve special credit for their patriotic gesture because in spite of their political differences with us they have not lagged behind others in placing their resources and services at the disposal of Government for the sake of their King and country (hear, hear). I am proud of them for this truly Punjabi gesture and congratulate them for the patriotic and public-spirited lead which they have given to the classes whom they represent. It has had the desired effect for we have received an offer from one such caste to raise a whole battalion of young men exclusively of that caste for service (hear, hear).

As for Congressmen, their attitude is inexplicable. They concede that Great Britain is fighting for a just and righteous cause and are willing to help but at a price. The safety of the country or its honour does not seem to worry them, but they are prepared to join in if Great Britain would throw some crumbs at them. I however do not blame them. It is obvious that they have not yet realised the gravity of the situation. When they begin to appreciate it, I am confident that they will revise their opinion and attitude. They are at present like the ostrich which buries its head in sand to avert the danger. My socialist-cum-communist friend, Mian Iftikhar-ud-Din, is also labouring under a similar misapprehension. Or may be he is awaiting the advent of Bolsheviks to secure his rightful place as the Stalin of India. He may be visualising that if there is any movement in Russia or the borders of India there will be hulchul—a revolution—in this country and then he would play the part of Stalin and Sardar Sohan Singh Josh would be his Commander-in-Chief (laughter). If so, let me tell him that he is living in a fools paradise. Long before that eventuality arises he and his friends would be safely housed elsewhere (laughter). And, in any event, his palatial houses, luxurious motor cars, valuable estate and big bank balance would all have gone to the proletariat long before the election of the dictator takes place (laughter). Then why not adopt the straightforward and honourable course and stand shoulder to shoulder with us in defending the honour and integrity of our country? Sir, whatever the rest of India may do, the Punjab will continue to play its honourable role, and, if needs be, fight to the last man to defend our country, to protect the honour of our women-folk and for the safety of our hearths and homes. It looks as if we will have to fight outside our country to avert the danger which at present threatens to wipe off the democracies of the world and to destroy the whole fabric of civilisation. The Punjab has already given its verdict and will live up to its great and hoary traditions of courage and sacrifice. I can confidently assert that if we are called upon to do so, the Punjab would be prepared to put a million combatants in the field within a few weeks in order to fight the ruthless and unscrupulous enemies of liberty, justice and religion (cheers); And incidentally win freedom for our motherland (applause) not by political manœuvring or bargaining but by virtue of its deeds and by extending whole-hearted and honourable co-operation to a friend when he needs our support (cheers). Let us hope that others in this country will soon follow the example of the Punjab and even try to vie with each other to outstrip us in the service of humanity and our motherland. Sir, as I have said, Punjab has already given its verdict. The people of the province irrespective of class and creed have unequivocally declared that they will stand by Great Britain through thick and thin in this war. They have done their duty—as was to be expected of brave and honourable people. It is now for the accredited representatives of these people to do theirs. I am confident that they will not shirk it and by their vote to-day indicate that they are worthy of the confidence of the valiant people of this province and are out to uphold the honourable and gallant traditions of this great land of the Five Rivers. (Loud and prolonged cheers.)

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : The Premier is playing the game very well and he deserves the Defence Secretaryship.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

“That the question be now put.”

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Motion under consideration, amendment moved is—

“After the words ‘This Assembly’ the following words be substituted for the words occurring in the original resolution :—

“views with grave concern that the British Government have made India a participant in the War between Great Britain and Germany without the consent of the people of India and that in complete disregard of Indian opinion laws have been passed and measures adopted curtailing the powers and activities of Provincial Governments.

This Assembly being definitely of the opinion that the declarations, authorised by the British Government, in answer to the demand of an unambiguous statement of its War and peace aims in reference to India, are wholly unsatisfactory and disappointing, recommends to the Government to convey to the Government of India and through them to the British Government that in consonance with the avowed aims of the present War, it is essential in order to secure the co-operation of the people of India, that the principles of democracy and self-determination should be applied to India, and her policy be guided by her own people and that India be regarded as an Independent nation entitled to frame her own Constitution safeguarding inter alia, in the fullest degree, the rights and interests of all minorities and further that suitable action be taken in so far as possible in the immediate present, to give effect to these principles in regard to the present governance of India.

This Assembly disapproves of the attitude and policy of the Punjab Government in offering unqualified co-operation to the British Government in the face of the denial of our rights by the British Government and in utter disregard of public opinion in the country, thereby lowering the honour of the province.”

It also recommends that all distinctions between martial and non-martial classes be removed forthwith so as to allow every able-bodied Indian to offer himself for recruitment.”

Mr. Speaker : The question is —

This Assembly approves of the policy of the Punjab Government towards the present international crisis in condemning Fascist and Nazi aggression and declares its determination to resist this aggression and to protect the security and honour of the Punjab and India with all available resources of the Province. It further desires that it should forthwith be made absolutely clear that the constitution of India shall be examined de novo at the end of the War with a view to the immediate attainment of the objective of Dominion Status with effective protection of the due rights of the minorities and other sections and in consultation with and agreement of all the parties concerned.

ENTERTAINMENTS DUTY.

Minister for Finance (The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal): Sir, I beg to move—

That the draft order, prescribing rates of entertainments duty, under subsection (1) of section 3 of the Punjab Entertainments Duty Act, 1936, as amended by the Punjab Entertainments Duty (Amendment) Act, 1939, published with Punjab Government notification No. 3706-Ex., dated the 28th August, 1939, be taken into consideration.

Sir, in submitting this simple motion to the House it is not necessary for me to say more than a few words.... You will observe that this draft order, as published in the Gazette, contains exactly the same duties on admission to places of entertainments as are contained in section 8 of the Act of 1936, except in regard to the first item, that is, "where the payment, excluding the amount of the duty does not exceed four annas—Six pies.” In other words, according to this draft order, as now proposed, it is intended to remove the exemption limit which rested before at 4 annas. We are doing so because in many other provinces the exemption limit to-day is much less than 4 annas. As a matter of fact, in one of the provinces there is no exemption limit at all. The matter was examined at great length by the Retrenchment and Resources Committee and the evidence that was produced before them was unanimous in the direction in which the proposed draft order is conceived now. All that I need say further in support of my motion is that the result of this change is expected to yield a further income of about 70 or 80 thousand to the Punjab exchequer. There is no reason why this exemption limit should exist here when a lesser limit exists elsewhere and none in some places. It cannot be argued that a person, who, for admission to a cinema or other entertainments, can pay 4 annas or two annas cannot pay an additional duty of 2 pice. Therefore, I submit my motion for the consideration of the House.

Mr. Speaker : The motion moved is—

That the draft order, prescribing rates of entertainments duty, under subsection (1) of section 3 of the Punjab Entertainments Duty Act, 1936, as amended by the Punjab Entertainments Duty (Amendment) Act, 1939, published with Punjab Government notification No. 3706-Ex., dated the 28th August, 1939, be taken into consideration.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi (Lyallpur and Jhang, General, Rural) (Urdu) :

4 P.M.

Sir, I rise to object to the draft order now under consideration. My submission is that the imposition of the proposed entertainment tax would mostly affect people living outside Lahore. In mufassil cinema houses tickets worth one anna and two annas are generally sold. Now if this tax of 6 pies is imposed on one anna ticket it would mean a levy of 50 per cent tax on each ticket, and if it is levied on 2 annas ticket this would amount to 25 per cent. The Honourable Ministers drawing fat salaries cannot realise the hardship of this tax but the poor cinema-goers would surely be hard hit by this surcharge of 6 pies. Let them ask the poor and labouring classes as to how strongly they would feel it. These poor people visit cinemas for the sake of either entertainment and relaxation or education, and therefore they should be allowed to enjoy as much as they can. The Honourable Minister of Finance is free to enhance the rates of tax proposed to be levied on tickets of higher classes. The other day a ministerialist moved a resolution to the effect that a certain tax should be imposed only on richer classes. But it is a pity that to-day the Government intends to replete its exchequer by imposing a tax on poor and labouring classes also. With these words, Sir, I request the Honourable Minister of Finance to exempt the poor classes from the imposition of this tax.

Mr. Speaker : That point will be considered when the draft order is taken into consideration.

The question is—

That the draft order, prescribing rates of entertainments duty, under subsection (1) of section 3 of the Punjab Entertainments Duty Act, 1936, as amended by the Punjab Entertainments Duty (Amendment) Act, 1939, published with Punjab Government notification No. 3706-Ex., dated the 28th August, 1939, be taken into consideration.

The motion was carried.

Minister for Finance : Sir, the amendment¹ of which I have received notice is really a negation of the proposal which I have made.

You will see that in the original Act, section 3, the whole of the provision already exists, except as regards duty on admission fee up to annas four. The suggestion made in the amendment is that that be deleted. The effect will be that it will be left with the original position as in the Act itself. It is a sheer negation of the proposal I have submitted before the House. Further this amendment, in the form in which it has come, is not in time. Unless the honourable member proposes to oppose the whole order, this amendment cannot be taken up.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : My answer to the objection is that we are now revising the whole schedule and when we are revising the whole schedule we are revising every part of it. The Finance Minister thought it proper to fix the same rate as was fixed before. Therefore it is a new rate and not the old rate. It is not negation. A certain part in the schedule is to be removed : that is why this is an amendment and is in order.

Mr. Speaker : When was this draft circulated ?

Finance Minister : The notification was issued over two months ago.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The question is when was notice given that it would be taken up for consideration to-day. We are expected to give notice of an amendment two clear days before it is taken up. We could give notice of an amendment only when we were informed that it was going to be moved to-day.

Finance Minister : The least that was to be done was to give timely notice of the amendment. The motion is on the agenda paper for to-day and honourable members have had adequate notice.

There was no justification for delaying notice of amendment beyond the permissible day. It is one of those cases in which I think you, Mr. Speaker, would not think it proper to condone the provision that requires two days' notice.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : Notice was given on the 3rd before 3 p.m.

Mr. Speaker : If the whole draft order is taken as one clause then, of course, the proposed amendment can be treated as such ; but if each item is to be treated as a separate clause, then it is a negation.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : If it is one clause even then we have a right to move an amendment.

Mr. Speaker : If we do not take it as one clause, that is to say, if we take each item proposing a tax as a separate clause then it will be a negation. Let us take each item as a separate clause. This appears to be the safest course.

Item. The question is—

“That the item

Where the payment, excluding the amount of the duty does not exceed four annas..... six pies” be passed.

¹That in line 8, the words “does not..... six pies” be omitted.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, Generally speaking, entertainment duty is imposed on those who go to cinemas. And I may submit that there are four or five kinds of cinema-goers. The first kind consists of those who get a fat salary, say Rs. 1,000 a month and this type of people go to pictures for mere relaxation.

There are others who have got money as well as leisure. They find time hanging heavy at their hands and to while it away they go to some cinema house at 5 P.M. or 9 P.M. Then there is the student community who go to cinemas merely to feast their eyes on the sights which I need not describe. But there is another class which goes there not to enjoy itself but to gain knowledge. To them the pictures are a source of knowledge and information. When villagers go to cities they part with some of their money not for the sake of entertainment but to satisfy their curiosity and to add to their knowledge by seeing the pictures acting and talking like living beings. The same is the case with the working classes in the cities. Whereas for the rich the picture houses are merely places of entertainment, for the poor labourers they are temples of knowledge. Thus the pictures have an educative value for them and, therefore, to saddle them with a tax will amount to putting an insurmountable obstacle in the way of their gaining knowledge and adding to their information.

Thus the Honourable Minister of Finance wants to tax these poor people and to deprive them of all opportunities of gaining knowledge. I need not say, Sir, that the lower class seats are occupied by the poor. The Ministers, police officers and others are always to be found in higher classes. Moreover, these higher class visitors of cinema houses and other places of entertainment are almost invariably admitted free. The police officers have their free passes. So have the members of the Board of Censors, and I think the Ministers are no exception to the rule. I submit, Sir, that if a list of those officials is prepared who get free passes and then the price of one or two tickets is deducted from the salary of each one of them the exchequer will receive much more than Rs. 70,000 which the Honourable Minister expects from the proposed tax. The Honourable Minister of Development will bear me out that the poor villagers go to picture houses merely to gain knowledge and that, therefore, to tax these poor and uneducated people is nothing less than callously depriving them of the benefits of an attractive source of education and knowledge. With these words I request that the item proposing a tax of 6 pies on a ticket worth four annas be deleted.

Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali (Hafizabad, Muhammadan, Rural) : Sir, I would like to say a few words in this connection. My honourable friends over there, at one moment are very loud in claiming that they want schools, that there should be colleges, that there should be hospitals, that there should be rural uplift and so on and so forth; and at another moment their demand is that the abiana should be reduced by 50 per cent or that land revenue should be reduced to 60 per cent and that no new tax should be levied. I would remind my honourable friends that unless and until there is a large sum of money at the disposal of Government to balance the budget of the province and unless and until they resort to some sort of taxation, it is impossible to satisfy their demands or to give the desired relief to the poor. The allegation of my honourable friend, who preceded me is that the proposed tax will be paid by the poor people, who go to cinemas for the sake of acquiring knowledge. The first thing which I submit is that this proposed tax is certainly a luxury tax, because going to cinema is not a necessity. We may go to cinema for acquiring knowledge or entertainment. There is no necessity or compulsion for the poor man to go to cinemas and pay this tax. This tax of two pice which the Government proposes to levy is very reasonable and I do not think that they should raise even their little finger against this proposal. If this tax is going to hit the poor very hard, there is no reason why they should go to the cinema at all. If they can afford to pay annas 4 for this luxury they can certainly pay two pice more.

I was a member of the Resources and Retrenchment Committee and this matter was thoroughly discussed in that committee. We unanimously decided to recommend the levy of this luxury tax. The percentage of the tax paid by the rich people, who buy tickets for Rs. 3 or Rs. 4 is higher than the percentage which the poor people desirous of going to cinemas will have to pay. If they are really poor, there is no reason why they should go to cinemas at all. They may consider this small tax of two pice as a tuition fee for acquiring knowledge and learning through cinemas. With these few words I support the motion.

Begum Rashida Latif Baji (Inner Lahore, Muhammadan, Women Urban) (Urdu): Sir, the draft order prescribing rates of entertainments duty now before the House aims at levying a tax on those who go to cinemas and spending the sum so realized in a way that may be conducive to the public good. In this connection my submission is that a person who can spend four annas for admission to a place of entertainment can also very easily pay 6 pies by way of an entertainment duty. In this way the revenues of the province will also be increased.

Besides, if you think that a tax of 6 pies on every four anna ticket will discourage the people from going to cinemas, it will be all the more conducive to the public good. Because, only those persons go in for the four anna class who earn only so much which at night time ignoring the interests of their wives and children they spend on going to cinemas. If instead of squandering away their meagre earnings on cinemas they spend them on their wives and children it will be a thousand times better. Along with this I wish to bring this matter to the notice of the Government that as generally in all cities places of entertainment are situated within the municipal limits, therefore the Government are not justified to levy tax on them. In my opinion the money thus realized should be handed over to the municipal committees concerned.

Mr. Speaker : That matter is not now before the House.

Begum Rashida Latif Baji : Certainly that is so, but we have to bring these matters to the notice of the Government. I therefore avail of this opportunity and bring this matter once again to the notice of the Government. There is no gainsaying the fact that there are numerous places of entertainment at Lahore and if only a tax of 6 pies per ticket is realized that sum can amount to thousands of rupees. In my opinion this sum can go a long way in improving the conditions of the city. I perfectly remember that the Lahore Municipal Committee once passed a resolution to this effect that a tax should be imposed on places of entertainment and in this way the income of the said Committee should be increased. But the Government opposed the suggestion of the committee. Now, I, as a representative of the urban people consider it my duty to inform the Government that they have no right to levy this entertainment duty. But on the other hand municipal committees should be allowed to levy this tax.

Mr. Speaker : That is a separate matter.

Begum Rashida Latif Baji : I know that that is a separate matter. After all we have to lay our views before the Government. While supporting the draft order prescribing rates of entertainments duty, I request the Government that the tax so realized should be spent for the welfare and benefit of those persons from whom it could be realized.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava (Lahore City, General, Urban) (Urdu) : Sir, the entertainment duty that is proposed to be levied under this draft order on all payments for admission to any entertainment will affect two classes of people. In the first place it will affect the cinema goers. For instance, if anybody goes to a cinema and spends one or two or four annas for admission, he will have to pay six pies by way of entertainment duty. Secondly, it will affect the film industry and the film distributors. In view of this I propose to discuss the matter now before the House from these two standpoints.

Now Sir, the Honourable Minister has stated that this measure is likely to bring in an annual income of Rs. 70,000 to 80,000. He has also pointed out that there is not a single province in which this exemption is given and there is no reason why it should be continued in the Punjab with a consequent loss of revenue to Government. Further, my honourable friend Chaudhri Riasat Ali has pointed out that if the cinema goers cannot pay four annas and six pies instead of four annas they should give up the habit of cinema going. Let me point out that if my honourable friend wishes to stop these people from going to cinemas in this way he should have asked his Government to enact a law directing the managers of cinemas not to charge less than four annas and six pies in any case. If he had done that it would have been quite a separate matter. But he does not wish to do so and simply wants to tax them. Besides, if he wishes that people should not go to cinemas, may I know how his Government would be able to realize Rs. 70,000 by way of entertainment duties? Then again, if the cinema goers cease going to cinemas what is the object for which he proposes to levy this duty? In my opinion this argument of my honourable friend does not hold water.

Now let alone the closing down of cinemas, everywhere in the world efforts are being made that those people who labour day in and day out should be provided with some sort of entertainment. The independent and free nations provide such films for their people from which they can learn much. But in our country our film censors do not keep this thing in their view

I may submit that if labourers and other people were compelled to give up cinema going on account of this high duty then in my opinion they would be compelled to have recourse to other bad and pernicious entertainments, for instance, wine drinking and such other entertainments which are not only injurious from the point of view of health but are ruinous from the financial standpoint as well. The harmless entertainment of cinema was invented merely for the sake of saving the people from falling a victim to other bad entertainments. In my opinion it is a harmless entertainment and at the same time it is very useful as well. Previous to the coming into field of movies, pictures were shown by means of magic lantern. Now we have a very highly developed film industry and all along providing entertainments to our people we can impart education to them by means of films. Now the draft order provides that a duty of 6 pies should be levied on tickets where the payment excluding the amount of duty does not exceed four annas. It means that a person who buys a ticket for two annas will have to pay six pies by way of entertainments duty. Previously such persons generally spent two annas for buying the ticket and two pice for some edible. But now they would be compelled to spend six pies more which brings the total to three annas. Besides, it has been stated by my friends opposite that a higher duty has been placed on tickets of more value and if they raise that duty still further, it would prohibit the people from going to cinemas and thereby the cinema owners would be put to a great loss. But let me point out that many people who go for higher classes go free. For instance every owner of a theatre gets 10 free passes daily and similarly police people also get free passes. If a tax is imposed on such tickets it would be justifiable as well as profitable. Even if a duty of eight annas is levied it can be realized very easily. But the pity is we do not take into consideration these facts.

Further a person who can spend Rs. 2 or 3 for a ticket, on whom my friends have levied a duty of six annas, could have very easily paid if the duty was enhanced to eight or nine annas. They would not have minded paying this extra duty. But to ask the poor cinema goers to pay a duty of six pies is in my opinion a great hardship.

In addition if my friends are opposed to cinema going, they can pass an order prohibiting the people to go to cinema. But as they are not against cinema going and as a matter of fact are in its favour, so it behoves them to impose such a tax on this kind of entertainment which should help the development of the film industry and particularly the Indian films from which the people can learn much and which can provide entertainment as well. In the circumstances I suggest that the tax of six pies should not be imposed on tickets of less value than four annas. But on the other hand after ascertaining the number of free goers to cinemas this duty can be levied which will bring in more revenues as well as save the poor people from further taxation. With these words I oppose the draft order prescribing the entertainment duty.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That the following item be passed:—

Where the payment, excluding the amount of the duty — does not exceed four annas—
Six pies.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That the following items be passed :—

Exceeds four annas but does not exceed eight annas	..	One anna ;
Exceeds eight annas but does not exceed one rupee	..	Two annas ;
Exceeds one rupee but does not exceed two rupees	..	Four annas ;
Exceeds two rupees but does not exceed three rupees	..	Six annas ;
Exceeds three rupees but does not exceed four rupees	..	Eight annas ;
Exceeds four rupees but does not exceed five rupees	..	Twelve annas ;
Exceeds five rupees but does not exceed seven rupees and eight annas	..	One rupee ;
Exceeds seven rupees and eight annas but does not exceed ten rupees	..	One rupee and eight annas ;
For every five rupees or part thereof in excess of the first ten rupees, in addition to the payment on the first ten rupees	..	One rupee.

The motion was carried.

Minister for Finance : Sir, I beg to move—

That the proposed draft order be passed.

The motion was carried.

Secretary : I have to report to the Assembly that an error which occurred in marking the name of a member upon the division list when the division on Sardar Bahadur Sardar Gurbachan Singh's motion took place, has been corrected. The result of voting after this correction will be—

VILLAGE PANCHAYAT BILL.

Clause 6.

Mr. Speaker : The Assembly will now resume discussion on the clauses of the Village Panchayat Bill.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : There is one amendment—

That at the end the following proviso be added—

Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (4) or any rules made by the Government thereunder, an outgoing panch shall, unless the Government otherwise directs, continue in office until the election of his successor is confirmed.

Mr. Speaker : This is a new clause. The honourable member cannot move it without obtaining the leave of the House. He may read it without making a speech. If the House gives him the requisite leave he may move its consideration.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I beg to ask for the leave of the House to move—

That at the end the following proviso be added :—

Notwithstanding anything contained in subsection (4) or any rules made by the Government thereunder, an outgoing panch shall, unless the Government otherwise directs, continue in office until the election of his successor is confirmed.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That leave be given to move that at the end the following proviso be added :—

Notwithstanding anything contained in subsection (4) or any rules made by the Government thereunder, an outgoing panch shall, unless the Government otherwise directs, continue in office until the election of his successor is confirmed.

The motion was carried.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Sir, I beg to move—

That at the end the following proviso be added :—

Notwithstanding anything contained in subsection (4) or any rules made by the Government thereunder, an outgoing panch shall, unless the Government otherwise directs, continue in office until the election of his successor is confirmed.

Minister for Public Works : I accept the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That at the end the following proviso be added :—

“Notwithstanding anything contained in subsection (4) or any rules made by the Government thereunder, an outgoing panch shall, unless the Government otherwise directs, continue in office until the election of his successor is confirmed.”

The motion was carried.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : Sir, before this clause is put to the vote I wish to raise an important matter for the consideration of the Government. I am sure that the Government is entitled to the gratitude of the province for having brought in this Bill. The two greatest leakages in the small income of the zamindars of the province are, firstly, excessive interest, and, secondly, costs of litigation. Litigation alone costs zamindars Rs. 4 crores a year which is equivalent to the whole of the land revenue paid. Government have already passed beneficent laws to relieve indebtedness. The present Bill should reduce at least 2 crores a year of the litigation expenses of poor villagers, saving them from the harassment to which they are now subjected in certain courts. This Bill will also give a new life and tradition of self-respect to the village brotherhood and should lead to improvement of village conditions. There is, however, another side of the picture. Luckily in most of the villages of the province, relations between the peshawars (generally known as Kamins) and the landlords are healthy and friendly. So far as these villages are concerned there is no reason to believe that the peshawars stand the risk of any oppression at the hands of the panches. But unfortunately that is not so in all the villages. And though there are many villages in which inter-communal relations are very good, on which they deserve to be congratulated, there are some villages—such as in my district—wherein due to communal frenzy the peshawars belonging to one community are not properly treated, by certain landlords belonging to the other community. For such places, it is only fair that Government when framing rules for the constitution of the panchayats should take due care having regard to the condition of the panchayat areas concerned to ensure that legitimate representation is given to the peshawar classes. I would further submit that these panches have to decide by a majority and will have judicial powers to decide cases. Giving of judicial powers to the panches is very welcome and necessary reform. It would, as stated by me, give protection to the rural population and would be a most welcome relief to their heavy burden. But here again the poor peshawar, in case against the landlord—particularly if the bulk of landlords and peshawars belong to different religions—is not likely to have fair play from the landlords—with rare exceptions—in the present circumstances of the province. As such in those villages where the relations are not friendly, the peshawars are likely to be oppressed. Similarly if the landlords belong to different religions and their relations are not good there is a similar risk. I would, therefore, suggest that when the Government are framing rules they should issue instructions to see that in such cases, by transfer of the case or other suitable method, due protection is given against harassment. Moreover, in certain villages, poor peshawars are not given ordinary facilities to case themselves or to bury or to cremate their dead or to deposit their manure. Powers should be given to panchayats, and where they fail, to the Provincial Panchayat Officer on revision, to deal with such cases even if it may necessitate compulsory acquisition of land preferably out of Government land. These are the points which I wish to place before the Government and I would request a declaration of their policy in the matter before this clause is passed.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Major Nawabzada Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana): Sir, as far as due protection of the peshawars—including the scheduled castes, the christians and other classes—is concerned, I am in complete agreement with the Parliamentary Secretary (General). Government will give due consideration to this question when framing the rules. Ample powers have been given under the Act to officers concerned to prevent any majority tyrannising the minority. Instructions will be issued in this connection and such injustices will not be allowed to happen. If they do happen, action will be taken promptly. As to the complaint that in certain cases peshawars are not being treated well by the zamindars this Bill should help to cure that. As soon as peshawars are enfranchised, the landlords or the majority community or whatever party seeks power will have to look to them for votes. That fact itself would, I think help in remedying the trouble. Nevertheless, wherever there is justification for such complaints or reasonable chance thereof, as stated, Government will issue instructions to see that it is avoided.

Mr. Speaker: The question is—

That clause 6 as amended stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

The Assembly then adjourned till 12 noon on Tuesday, 7th November 1939.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

SEARCH MADE OF CERTAIN HOUSES IN VILLAGE GHANIEKE.

4615. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether he is aware of the fact that the houses of Bhai Jagat Singh, Bhagat Singh and Sunder Singh of village Ghanieke (Bangar), thana Fatehgarh, district Gurdaspur, were searched on the night of 10th December, 1938, under the Arms Act ;
- (b) whether anything incriminating was found with them ;
- (c) whether the above-mentioned persons were taken into custody, if so, the period for which they were kept under restraint ;
- (d) the reasons for arresting them and then letting them off ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) :
(a) and (c) No such searches or arrests were made by the police. It is alleged by some of the persons mentioned that a party of bad characters posing as police officers searched one or more of the houses in the village but I believe I am right in saying that none of them make any accusations against the police.

(b) and (d) Do not arise.

4633. Cancelled.

INFRACTUOUS TRIAL OF MR. K. L. GAUBA BEFORE A DISTRICT AND SESSIONS JUDGE.

4668. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that soon after the purchase of land mentioned in question No. *4667 the same District and Sessions Judge was appointed by the Government as special Sessions Judge to try criminal case against Mr. K. L. Gauba (son of late Lala Harkishan Lal) and others ; if so, did he inform the Government at the time of appointment that he had purchased land of Lala Harkishan Lal and Sons from Special Official Receiver ;

[Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava.]

- (b) whether any application was made by Mr. K. L. Gauba in the High Court for transfer of the case from his court on the grounds of above-mentioned purchase of land ; if so, what was the result and will the Government lay a copy of the judgment on the table of the House ;
- (c) if transferred whether the case was tried de novo ;
- (d) what did the infructuous trial before the court of District and Sessions Judge cost the Government ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) The officer in question was District and Sessions Judge, Gujranwala, and as such an Additional Sessions Judge for Lahore. The case "Crown versus K. L. Gauba and others" was entrusted to him in this capacity, in May 1937. He did not make any special report to Government of the purchase of the land, since it had been effected by his wife and son.

(b) Yes. An order for transfer was made on the 19th August, 1937. Copies of the order can be obtained from the court in the usual way, and it does not seem necessary to lay a copy on the table here.

(c) Yes.

(d) The matter is nearly two years old, and figures of the cost could not be collected now without an expenditure of labour out of proportion to the result to be secured.

CRIMINAL CASES CHALLANED BY SUB-INSPECTORS OF POLICE IN AMRITSAR DISTRICT.

4710. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the total number of criminal cases challaned by sub-inspectors of police in the Amritsar district in 1938 ;
- (b) in how many of these cases the accused persons were acquitted ;
- (c) whether any entries are made in the character rolls of sub-inspectors if any cases challaned by them result in acquittal ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) : (a) and (b) I am afraid that I am not clear what the honourable member means by "criminal cases challaned by sub-inspectors of police." As he will see from a perusal of Rule 27·1 of the Punjab Police Rules, no case is put into court except under the orders of a gazetted officer and after a thorough scrutiny of the charge sheet by the police prosecuting staff. Possibly the honourable member wishes to have figures of criminal cases investigated by the various sub-inspectors. I am accordingly laying on the table a statement showing the number of cognisable cases registered in each of the police stations in the Amritsar district in 1938, with a summary of the results. In considering these figures, however, it must be remembered that in most police stations there are two or more investigating officers.

(c) No. (The current instructions regarding the making of entries in character rolls will be found in Rule 12·34 of the Punjab Police Rules).

EXEMPTION OF SWORD FROM ARMS ACT.

4711. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the names of the districts in which sword has been exempted from the Arms Act ;
- (b) whether any increase in crime has occurred in those districts since its exemption ;
- (c) if not, whether he has considered the question of exemption of sword from the Arms Act in other districts of the province also ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) :
(a) Since September, 1935, there have been no restrictions on the possession and carriage of swords (other than sword-sticks) in any district of the Punjab.

(b) During the last few years there has been a serious increase in the number of murders in the province, and a rise in certain other forms of violent crime, but there is no reason whatever to connect this with the orders issued in regard to the possession of swords.

(c) Does not arise.

RESOLUTION PASSED BY THIS HOUSE ON SUBJECT OF FEDERATION.

4721. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state whether he has received any acknowledgment of the receipt of the resolution passed by this House on the subject of Federation last year and forwarded to the Secretary of State for India and also any intimation as to the intention of the British Government in the matter subsequent to the receipt of the resolution ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Khan Bahadur Mian Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana) : First Part.—Yes, an acknowledgment was received from the Government of India.

Second Part.—No.

CHALLAN OF ACCUSED PERSONS IN CONNEXION WITH CRIMINAL ASSAULT ON CONGRESS WORKERS AT ASAUDHA.

4743. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state whether the police has so far put the formal challan of the accused persons in connexion with the criminal assault on the Congress workers at Asaudha on 19th February, 1939 ; if so, the date of arrest, the names of arrested and the date of challan put in the court ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : Yes, a challan in the Asaudha Riot case (F. I. R. No. 12, dated 19th February, 1939, under Sections 324, 325, 326 and 148, Indian Penal Code, Police Station Bahadurgarh), was put in court on the 24th April, 1939. Six persons were arrested on the 20th February, four on the 21st February, one on the 8th March and four on the 21st April, 1939. Of these, six persons were not challaned, evidence against them being insufficient. It is not in the public interest to give names.

RIOTS AND THE POLICE AT AMRITSAR.

4747. Dr. Sant Ram Seth : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state whether it is or it is not a fact that law abiding peaceful citizens of Moghul Gate, Karmon Deori, Katra Jaimal Singh, Katra Kanahayan and Hall Bazar of Amritsar made a request to the police present on the spot to help them while they were being looted by the rioters, but the police on duty remained inactive ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood): If the honourable member will specify the date on which the alleged incident is believed to have occurred, I will make inquiries.

RAID ON THE HOUSE OF DR. ISHAR DASS BHATIA IN AMRITSAR.

4748. Dr. Sant Ram Seth : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the house of Dr. Ishar Dass Bhatia, a leading and respectable citizen of Amritsar, was raided by the police with some badmashes and the police insulted his brother and servants in his absence and refused to leave the house unless and until requested by Mr. Farid, M.A. (Cantab.), a Professor in Islamia College, Amritsar ; if so, what punishment does the Government propose to award to the police men concerned ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Badadur Sardar Ujjal Singh): The house of the gentleman named has never been raided by the police ; but during the communal rioting on the 2nd March last it was necessary to post police on the roofs of some of the houses in this locality to prevent the throwing of missiles on persons engaged in the Muharram celebrations. It is understood that two constables did enter the house of Dr. Ishar Dass Bhatia for this purpose, and made their way up to the roof, but there does not appear to be any foundation for the suggestion that they insulted the inmates or that they were requested to leave. Had there been any improper behaviour, it may perhaps be assumed that it would have been brought to the notice of the local officers, but no such complaint has ever been made to the Deputy Commissioner or to the Superintendent of Police.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : I am in possession of a joint statement of his daughter, his servant, his brother and Mrs. Ishar Dass in which it is complained that the police trespassed into their house without permission and acted in an objectionable way and when asked to stay away and go back, the police men began to beat them.

Parliamentary Secretary : If they had any complaint, they should have lodged it with the police officers or the Deputy Commissioner.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : The people have no confidence in the police.

Premier : And they have confidence in you alone ?

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : When you are the Premier, how can we enjoy the confidence of the people ?

Premier : Then you should allow those in whom they have confidence to secure justice to them.

Munshi Hari Lal : Is it not a fact that house trespass is a cognisable offence, and there is no need of making any complaint to the authorities by a private person ?

Mr. Speaker : But a report has to be made to the officer in charge.

Munshi Hari Lal : Not when the police is itself involved.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether in view of the valuable information supplied by the honourable Dr. Sant Ram Seth, Government will take more serious action in the matter and make enquiries into the truth of the information that has been given by the honourable member ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If the honourable member who has got this information prefers this complaint to local officers, they will certainly make inquiries.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether the Government is going to do anything in the matter, whether it is going to move the district magistrate or any other officer to inquire into the correctness or otherwise of the information given ?

Parliamentary Secretary : What is there to prevent my honourable friend from forwarding this report to the local authorities for making the necessary inquiries ?

CONTRACT OF CARRYING POLICEMEN AND POLICE OFFICERS IN LORRIES.

*4764. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the name of person or persons to whom the contract of carrying policemen and police officers in lorries within the same town or from place to place in the Punjab by motor vehicles, is given ;
- (b) the rate of charges and the yearly cost of the same ;
- (c) on what basis the selection of a contractor or contractors has been made ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadar Sardar Ujjal Singh) :
(a) Contracts have been made with—

- (i) Bawa Narindar Singh Bedi, the proprietor of the Sri Guru Nanak Motor Company, Muzaffargarh, for one year from the 1st August, 1938, for the carriage of police in the Muzaffargarh district.
- (ii) The British Automobile and Engineering Company, Lahore, for the transport of under-trial prisoners in the districts of Lahore, Amritsar, Multan, Ferozepore, Jullundur, Ludhiana, Ambala and Hissar. Under the terms of the contract, which extends till the 22nd November, the Company is also required to place vehicles at the disposal of the police for the carriage of men of the Force in times of disturbance ;
- (iii) The same company as at (ii) above, for the carriage of Additional Police throughout the Ferozepore district ;

(iv) Seth Sri Chand, Mail Contractor, Dera Ghazi Khan, for the carriage of police officers in lorries in the Dera Ghazi Khan district ;

(v) Lala Tikkan Lal, Mail Contractor, Dera Ghazi Khan, for the carriage of police officers in lorries in the Dera Ghazi Khan district ;

(b) (i) The rates are fixed per trip, varying from five annas to one rupee per passenger according to the length of the journey ;

(ii) The cost of vehicles required for the transport of police is included in the main contract for the carriage of under-trial prisoners ;

(iii) Rs. 8,880, per annum ;

(iv) Rates ranging from five annas to nine annas a mile ;

(v) Rates ranging from four annas to nine annas a mile.

(c) Contracts (i) and (iii) were concluded after calling for tenders. In the case of (ii) the present contractor was chosen by selection, with the approval of Government. Tenders for a new contract were recently called for.

In the case of contracts (iv) and (v) the Superintendent of Police entered into engagements with the contractors of the Postal Department. It is understood that the latter department had called for tenders before entering into their engagements. If and when these contracts are renewed the desirability of inviting tenders will be considered.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know for how long the company referred to by the Parliamentary Secretary has been enjoying the monopoly or the contract ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I don't know, which company the honourable member is referring to but I have stated that in certain cases the contract was given in 1938 and in another case probably in 1937 but that expires on the 22nd of this November.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it not a fact that this company has been enjoying this monopoly for a considerable time ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Which company ?

Lala Duni Chand : The company to whom the contract of lorries has been given. You have mentioned it in your answer.

Parliamentary Secretary : I have stated in my reply that in different districts different contractors are employed and if my honourable friend wishes to make inquiries about any particular contractor he might give notice of a new question.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it not true that a particular contractor has been given contract in more than one district ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know what is the name of that contractor or that company and the proprietors thereof ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have stated in reply to part (a) (ii), the British Automobile and Engineering Company, Lahore, for the transport of under-trial prisoners in the districts of Lahore, Amritsar, etc., and also for the carriage of police.

Lala Duni Chand : I want to know for how long this company has been enjoying this contract ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If my honourable friend gives notice of a question, then I shall collect the necessary information.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it not a fact that people have come forward to carry policemen in lorries at much more reduced rates than those granted to this company ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am not aware of it, but if my honourable friend gives fresh notice, I shall collect the information.

DERAHS OF EUNUCHS IN LAHORE CITY.

4772. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) the number of derahs of eunuchs in Lahore City ;

(b) whether he is aware that these derawalas purchase boys of poorer classes and get them castrated for the purpose of dancing, etc ;

(c) whether he is also aware that in these derahs these boys are offered on wages to badmashes for unnatural offences ;

(d) whether the police has ever raided these addas ;

(e) any other action that Government intends to take in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) : (a) Eight.

(b) and (c) No. If the honourable member desires more detailed information I would invite him to read the account at pages 331-332 of the Glossary of Tribes and Castes of the Punjab and North-West Frontier Province (Volume II) (1911).

(d) No.

(e) Does not arise.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know whether any effort was made in order to inquire into the allegations made in this question ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The answer was prepared after full inquiry.

RECRUITING CAMPAIGN BY COMMISSIONER, RAWALPINDI.

4777. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether the Commissioner, Rawalpindi division, has started a recruiting campaign at the direction of Punjab Government ;

(b) whether the Punjab Government has received instructions from the Central Government in connexion with the recruitment propaganda and campaign ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Khan Bahadur Mian Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana) : (a) and (b) No.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Will the Honourable Premier please state whether the recruiting camp that is carrying on its activities in the province has been instructed by the Punjab Government to abstain from recruiting Sikhs belonging to certain districts ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Not to my knowledge.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : May I know if the recruiting is carried on under the orders of the Government of India ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Punjab Government has nothing to do with it at the present moment.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Does the Punjab Government let the Government of India carry on recruiting without its permission ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

RECRUITMENT OF POLICE OFFICERS FROM ROHTAK DISTRICT.

4781. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state the number and residence of assistant sub-inspectors, sub-inspectors and inspectors of police from the Rohtak district recruited since the introduction of Provincial Autonomy with names of those who were recommended by the Punjab Government for these posts ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) : Since April, 1937, three residents of the Rohtak district (one of Rohtak proper, one of Ganaur, and the third the son of an official who is understood to have come originally from the Rohtak district) have been appointed assistant sub-inspectors. One of these was later appointed to the rank of prosecuting sub-inspector. No other residents of the district have been recruited to the rank of sub-inspector or inspector. The concluding phrase in the question is not understood. These appointments are made by the prescribed departmental authority in accordance with Police Rules, and Government do not take any part in the selection.

RECRUITMENT OF EXTRA ASSISTANT COMMISSIONERS AND OTHERS FROM HISSAR DISTRICT.

4782. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the number and residence of extra assistant commissioners, tahsildars and naib-tahsildars, with educational qualifications, belonging to the Rohtak and Hissar districts recruited during the last 8 years ;
- (b) the names of those, if any, whose rolls were called for directly by the Punjab Government ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) A statement is laid on the table ;

(b) The roll of one person, viz., Chaudhri Amar Singh, B.A., was sent for by Government. The recruitment to post of naib-tahsildars is made by commissioners of divisions.

Statement.

MAULANA FAZAL ELAHI OF WAZIRABAD.

*4831. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether there exists a ban on the return to the Punjab of Maulana Fazal Elahi of Wazirabad who has for long been a political exile from the country ;

- (b) if answer to (a) above be in the affirmative, reasons for the same and whether he has ever considered the question of lifting it ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Khan Bahadur Mian Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana): (a) No, except in so far as he is a fugitive from justice.

- (b) Does not arise.

CONVICTIONS OF KISAN JATHAS IN LAHORE.

4874. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the detailed account of the arrests and convictions in connexion with the Kisan jathas at Lahore during the last week ;
 (b) the reason for refusal of the Honourable Premier to allow any member of the deputationists to see him to represent their case ;
 (c) the steps the Government propose to take to solve the situation ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood): This question, which was originally tabled for the preceding session of this House, is now completely out of date, and the honourable member appears to have renewed notice without considering the purport of the question.

REPRESENTATION OF LAND-OWNING ZAMINDARS OF ROHTAK REGARDING HOLDING OF CONGRESS CONFERENCE IN THEIR COMMON LAND.

4875. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether he and the district authorities, Rohtak, received a representation by registered post before 19th February, 1939, from the land-owning zamindars numbering more than forty that they wanted the Congress Conference to be held in their common land ; and
 (b) whether they further asked the Government to take necessary action as breach of peace was apprehended ;
 (c) the action taken on the representation ; if any ; if not, why not ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood): (a) Yes, but all the persons who signed the representation were not landowners and those who were, owned only about 4 per cent of the land in the village.

- (b) Yes.

(c) The necessary arrangements were made to preserve order at the conference.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I ask whether any one of the 40 or 50 signatories to the representation was a landowner of the village, and whether in spite of this representation the Government did not take any action ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already stated in reply to the main question that some of the signatories to the representation owned land in the village but their share in the common land amounted to no more than 4 per cent and in spite of that the Government took suitable action.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What was the number of the land-owning zamindars who signed the said representation ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already stated that the share in the common land of the land-owning signatories to the representation was only 4 per cent.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that the particular land on which the conference was proposed to be held was the property only on section Thola of the village, and most of the zamindars of that section had signed the representation ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Their share in the common land is only 4 per cent, but you are welcome to your own calculations.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : My question is whether considerable number of such landowners who belonged to the section that owned that land in common had signed the said representation.

Parliamentary Secretary : I submit that the honourable member is giving information rather than asking for it. If he wants to ask for any specific information he should put a separate question.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : My question is whether that particular common land is the property of the whole village or only a part of it ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice for that question.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it not the duty of the Government to take proper action when it is requested to do so irrespective of the fact whether the signatories own less or more percentage of the common land ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already stated that suitable action was taken in spite of the fact that the share of the signatories in the common land was very small.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether the Government's conception of suitable action is that there was an awful disturbance and certain people had to be removed to the hospital in spite of the fact that Government was forewarned ?

Premier : If political rowdies would not desist from their nefarious activities, surely the Government cannot be blamed.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know how many of these rowdies were the henchmen of the Honourable Premier and Minister of Development ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

DACOITIES AND ROBBERIES COMMITTED IN PURKHALLI.

*4920. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of murders, dacoities, and robberies committed during the period between 1st April, 1938, and 31st March,

1989, within a radius of ten miles from Purkhali, including Purkhali, Rupar tahsil, Ambala district ;

- (b) whether it is a fact that Munshi Ram, Mangal Ram and Jiwa Ram of the said village Purkhali were made, as a result of threatening letters received from dacoits, to pay Rs. 300 at one time and Rs. 500 at another time and now they have received threatening letters demanding Rs. 1,100 more ;
- (c) the steps that the Ambala police has taken in the matter and the steps that the Government intends to take ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) :

(a) Murders	2
Dacoity	1
Robbery	1

(b) Three threatening letters were received by Jiwa Ram, in one of which Rs. 500 were demanded and in another Rs. 1,100. In the third no specific sum was mentioned. Neither of the other men mentioned appear to have received any such letters, and none of the three have actually paid any money to anyone. The letters received by Jiwa Ram are believed to have been written by a resident of Purkhali with whom he is on inimical terms.

(c) Every effort is being made to bring the persons responsible for the recent dacoities in the Ambala district to justice, but as already explained there is no reason to connect the letters received by Jiwa Ram with these crimes.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the Government is aware of the fact that in the past the district of Ambala has not been a criminal district and that it is only recently that Ambala district has exhibited criminal tendencies ? (Laughter.) May I know the reason why it is so ?

Premier : Perhaps my honourable friend has now taken to touring the villages and preaching certain unwholesome doctrines.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether it is not true that the fact of the district of Ambala becoming a criminal district is entirely due to the policy persistently followed by the Government for the last two years ?

Premier : Perfectly true, inasmuch as the Government has been very lenient and has given a very long rope to those people who have been preaching such doctrines.

BEATING OF NAGHAHIA RAM DAKAUT OF VILLAGE BHARATGARH BY THE POLICE.

*5009. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that during the night between 24th and 25th March, 1989, burglars broke open the doors of four shops belonging to Kishori Lal, Partap Chand, Barkat Rai and Muni Lal of the village Bharatgarh, Rupar tahsil, Ambala district ;

(b) whether it is a fact that on 26th March, 1939, the sub-inspector of police concerned came to the said village and sent for one Naghabia Ram Dakaut and beat him on his saying that his son suspected by the sub-inspector of police to be the thief in the case, had been away from the village for the last seven years or so ;

(c) whether it is also a fact that Lambardar Ram Singh, Subedar, realized eleven annas three pies from each of the owners of the four shops mentioned above to meet the cost of the food of the sub-inspector and his men who had come to the village for investigation ; if so, the action, if any, that the Government propose to take in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) :

(a) Yes.

(b) The attendance of Naghabia Ram was required in the course of the investigation. It is not correct that his son was suspected, or that he himself was beaten.

(c) No.

SOHAN SINGH, SON OF GANGA RAM, VILLAGE CHOKI MINAR, THANA
BARSAR, DECLARED AS BADMASH No. 10.

5019. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state whether it is a fact that Sohan Singh, son of Ganga Ram, village Choki Minar, thana Barsar, has been declared Badmash No. 10, or his history sheet opened in the police station and restrictions have been imposed on his movements ; if so, the reasons for the same and the action the Government intends to take in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) : The contents of Police Register X are not made public, and I do not think that it would be in the public interest to answer questions on this subject.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know whether any information with respect to the history sheet of such persons is also confidential ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know whether the Punjab Government has changed its policy during this year ? Has not the Government been answering such questions in the past ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

DEMAND OF SECURITY FROM LALA NAND KISHORE KOHLI, IN CON-NEXION WITH 'PRABHAT' FILM JOURNAL.

5138. Master Kabul Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state whether he is aware of the fact that recently Lala Nand Kishore Kohli of Jullundur City applied to file a declaration of a monthly film journal named 'Prabhat' ; if so, whether any security has been demanded in that connexion ; if so, the reasons therefor ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Khan Bahadur Mian Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana): Yes. Nand Kishore Kohli applied to start the Prabhat. As District Magistrate, Jullundur, had reasons to believe that the proposed venture was likely to be used for one or other of the purposes enumerated in section 4 (1) of the Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act, XXIII of 1981, read with section 16 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, XXIII of 1982, he demanded security under section 7 (1) of the Act which is refundable under section 7 (2) if no action against the paper is taken within 3 months by the Punjab Government.

QUASHING OF THE ORDER DEMANDING SECURITY FROM "ARYA MUSAFIR"
BY THE PUNJAB HIGH COURT.

5246. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that the order of the Punjab Government demanding security of Rs. 1,000 from "Arya Musafir" (Urdu weekly of Lahore) under section 4 (1) (h) of the Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act has been quashed by the Punjab High Court on 10th July, 1989, with costs ;
- (b) whether it is a fact that the learned Judges held that the translation of the alleged offensive poem filed by Government was wrong and that the Advocate-General also agreed with the Honourable Judges ;
- (c) if so, what action has Government taken against the person who had translated the said poem for the Government ;
- (d) what precaution did the Honourable Premier take before ordering the forfeiture of the security to verify whether the translation was correct or not ;
- (e) whether he read the poem (which is in Punjabi) himself before passing orders or merely relied on the translation put up by his subordinates ;
- (f) what precaution do Government propose to take to guard against such mistakes in future ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood): (a) No. It was not an order of the Punjab Government demanding security of Rs. 1,000 from the Arya Musafir which was set aside by the High Court, but an order forfeiting a security of Rs. 1,000 deposited by the publisher of the paper in May, 1987.

(b) No, but the Advocate-General did not contest the meaning or intention that the publisher placed on the poem subsequently in court.

(c), (d), (e) and (f) Do not arise.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does the Honourable Parliamentary Secretary mean that the Honourable Judges of the High Court did not set aside the order and did not declare that the translation was not correct ?

Parliamentary Secretary : They did not specifically declare that the translation of the Government was incorrect.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Has the honourable member studied the copy of the order ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes, I have.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the honourable member please let us know as to what were their findings on this point of translation ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If the honourable member feels so interested he can find it out for himself, but I repeat that the High Court did not state that the translation filed by Government was incorrect.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What then were the reasons for the High Court to quash the order ?

Mr. Speaker : I disallow the question.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : The honourable member is trying to evade the question. He is trying to say that the High Court quashed this order of security on some other ground, while I maintain that it is not so. This is why I am asking the honourable member to give the reasons for the order of the High Court.

Is the Parliamentary Secretary in a position to confirm or contradict that the translation submitted by the translator was correct ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have carefully examined the translation and I still hold that the translation filed by the Government Department concerned was not incorrect. But what actually happened was that the petitioner submitted another translation which unfortunately was not contested by the Advocate-General and the High Court thought that because the Advocate-General did not contest, it must be correct.

Lala Duni Chand : Has the Parliamentary Secretary got a copy of the order of the High Court with him ? If so, will he be pleased to let us know what were the findings of the High Court ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have seen the order of the High Court and if the honourable member so desires he can get a copy of it and I repeat that what I have been stating is on the basis of the judgment of the High Court.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know how long ago the Parliamentary Secretary read the order of the High Court ?

Parliamentary Secretary : For the last time this morning and for the first time about three weeks ago.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Was the translation examined by the Honourable Premier before sanctioning the forfeiture of the security ?

Mr. Speaker : I disallow the question.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : There is a definite question on that point. I am drawing attention to part (e) which is to this effect—

“ Whether he read the poem (which is in Punjabi) himself, before passing orders or merely relied on the translation put up by his subordinates.”

Parliamentary Secretary : I submit that parts (c), (d), (e) and (f) of the question arise out of parts (a) and (b) and as the answer to those parts is no, therefore these questions do not arise.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Part (e) asks a definite question whether the Honourable Premier, or whoever passes orders of forfeiture, examined that translation himself or simply relied on the translation submitted to him by his subordinates?

Parliamentary Secretary : All such papers are examined by the department concerned and in case of doubt the Honourable Premier also does go through them and it will interest him to know that I understand that not a single case has occurred in recent times in which the High Court has disputed the official translation.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Why did not the Advocate-General then take exception to the translation filed? I want an answer to this question that if the translation submitted by the Government was correct why did not the Advocate-General justify that and take exception to the translation filed by the defence.

Parliamentary Secretary : That question can be addressed to me if I were the Advocate-General.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does the Parliamentary Secretary mean that they are not responsible to explain the reasons for Advocate-General's attitude in this matter?

Parliamentary Secretary : If the honourable member gives a separate notice of that question, it could be looked into.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Did the Government write to the Advocate-General asking as to why he did not raise any objection to the translation?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have nothing to add to the answer already given.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does not the Parliamentary Secretary feel that the Government gets a bad name if translations of such matter are not accepted by the High Court as correct and the orders of the Government are set aside?

Parliamentary Secretary : I beg to object to his repeated insinuations that the translation was not accepted.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : There is no insinuation. It is clear.

Parliamentary Secretary : Not true.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether in view of the admitted facts that as many as 300 papers have been required to deposit securities, the Government, the Honourable the Premier or the Parliamentary Secretary, will give closer thought to this order of the High Court and issue necessary instructions?

Premier : The information of the honourable member that more than 300 papers have had to pay their securities, is quite incorrect.

CANCELLATION OF GUN LICENCES.

*5260. Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state whether, after the last District Board elections in Hoshiarpur, the gun licences of certain persons have been cancelled and their guns confiscated in the Hoshiarpur district; if so, the reasons for this action?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh): The District Magistrate recently cancelled the licences held by certain persons in Hoshiarpur, but this action had nothing to do with the District Board election, which had been completed several months before. The cancellations were ordered because in the opinion of the District Magistrate the licensees could not safely be left in possession of arms.

ARMS LICENCES OF MIAN ALIAS MUHAMMAD, PRESIDENT, GREY CANALS REFORMS COMMITTEE.

5269. Captain Sodhi Harnam Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) when and why the arms licences of Mian Alias Muhammad, President, Grey Canals Reforms Committee, of village Sadhu-shahwala, tahsil and district Ferozepore, were suspended ;
- (b) whether any inquiry was held regarding the alleged allegations made against him ;
- (c) if so, who conducted the inquiry and the result of the inquiry ;
- (d) the opinion of the police as reported to the inquiry officer ;
- (e) the period for which his licences remained suspended ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) : (a) The arms licence of Mian Alias Muhammad was suspended by the District Magistrate on the 23rd November, 1938, as it was reported that the licensee was very old, that one of his hands was defective, and that he was in the habit of handing over his weapons for other persons to use.

(b) and (c) An enquiry was made under the District Magistrate's orders by the Tahsildar and the ilaga Magistrate. It revealed that the Mian Sahib was an old man, but the other allegations were not fully established.

(d) It is not the usual practice to disclose the contents of the police reports in such cases.

(e) The order of suspension was revoked on the 10th October, 1939.

LICENCES FOR REVOLVERS IN HISSAR DISTRICT.

5294. Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of licences for revolvers granted in the Hissar district during the years 1937-38-39 with the names of the persons who have been granted licence and also the criterion observed in the matter of granting such licences ;
- (b) whether any number is fixed up to which such licences can be granted in the said district ; if so, what is that number ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) :

(a)	1937	4
	1938	4
	1939	5

I do not think it necessary to give the names. Licences for revolvers are granted only to those who have a genuine need for them, and can be relied upon to keep them in safe custody.

(b) No.

KISAN AGITATION IN LAHORE.

5302. Sardar Harjab Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the total number of persons arrested during the Kisan agitation at Lahore under sections 145 and 117/188, Indian Penal Code, respectively ;
- (b) whether and when does the Government intend to release the prisoners incarcerated in connexion with this agitation, now that the Provincial Kisan Committee has decided and ordered the agitation to be suspended ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) 1,580. Out of these 1,226 were arrested under section 145, 322 under section 188, 28 under section 143, and 1 under sections 117/188 of the Indian Penal Code, while 8 were arrested under sections 107/151 of the Criminal Procedure Code.

(b) The attention of the honourable member is invited to the Press Communiqué issued by the Punjab Government on the 9th of September, 1939.

Press Communiqué.

As a result of the assurances given to the Premier by the deputation that met him in Simla on August 28th the Punjab Government have decided to release as soon as possible all prisoners convicted during the recent Kisan agitation with the exception of certain ring-leaders and persons sentenced for instigating others to take part in the movement. The cases of these latter prisoners will also be considered individually in due course.

V. B. STANTON,
Deputy Secretary to Government, Punjab, Home Department.

Dated Simla, the 9th September, 1939.

INTERVIEW BETWEEN MAHATMA GANDHI AND HONOURABLE PREMIER
RE RELEASE OF POLITICAL PRISONERS.

5303. Sardar Harjab Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether recently any interview took place between Mahatma Gandhi and the Honourable Premier regarding the release of Punjab political prisoners ;
- (b) what has been the outcome of that interview ;
- (c) whether the Punjab Government has after that interview considered afresh the question of the release of the political and State prisoners in question in the Punjab ; if so, with what result ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Khan Bahadur Mian Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana): (a) No.

(b) and (c) Do not arise.

PROSCRIPTION OF "CHINGARI."

5304. Sardar Harjab Singh: Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether the Government proscribed the 1939 June issue of "Chingari" monthly edited by Sajjad Zaheer from Saharanpur;

(b) if the answer to (a) be in the affirmative, on the basis of what article published therein was the action taken and the reason thereof?

Parliamentary Secretary (Khan Bahadur Mian Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana): (a) Yes.

(b) The issue was proscribed as it contained matter of the nature described in clause (a), (d), (f) and (i) of subsection (1) of section 4 of the Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act, XXIII of 1931. I must decline to give further publicity to objectionable articles by placing them before the House.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma: May I know the reasons why Government is unable to disclose to this House the article on the basis of which this prosecution took place?

Parliamentary Secretary: As already stated I should not give further publicity to objectionable articles by replying to such questions.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: Reasons can be stated without giving publicity to articles. He wants the reasons and not the articles.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma: I want the reasons.

Parliamentary Secretary: Reasons cannot be given without making mention of the objectionable articles.

Lala Duni Chand: Is this the reason that the Chingari, as its name applies, will conflagrate the Punjab?

Parliamentary Secretary: No. That is not the reason.

CALLING OF MEMBERS OF JAMIAT-UL-QURESH-I-HIND AS MIRASIS.

5313. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava: Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state whether he has received a copy of the resolution adopted by Jamiat-ul-Quresh-i-Hind, in its conference held on 26th August, 1939, protesting against its members being called Mirasis as a community; if so, what action does he propose to take in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood): First part.—Yes.

Second part.—Until it is clear that public opinion supports the request, no action is possible.

RECRUITMENT OF ACHHUTS IN PUNJAB POLICE FORCE.

5319. Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state whether or not any Achhut has been recruited to the police force in the Ambala district during the last two years in compliance with the instructions issued by Government that in future Achhuts should also be recruited to the provincial police force ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) : No. No Achhut candidate with the requisite physical qualifications has yet presented himself.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Has Government issued instructions to relax the standard of qualifications in respect of the depressed classes so that they may be recruited as police constables ? The Government can enlist the second best man, if he belongs to depressed classes.

Parliamentary Secretary : The Government has issued no such instructions. The police has to perform most important work, therefore, the qualifications cannot be relaxed in respect of any candidate.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Has Government taken any steps to make these people fit for recruitment ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Preference will be given to a depressed class candidate, if he possesses the requisite qualifications.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : When Government can find two suitable persons for the posts of Parliamentary Secretaries, there is no reason why they cannot find any depressed class candidate for the post of a police constable.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know if the Government have called for a report whether depressed class candidates appeared for the posts of constables or not ? What particular deficiency have the Government found in them ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Have the Government called for any information on this point ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No information on the point requires to be called for. Whenever recruitment is made, every candidate is selected on merits and, as I have already said, if a depressed class candidate of suitable qualifications comes forward, he will be recruited.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I want to know whether any depressed class candidate did apply and if so what was the result ?

Parliamentary Secretary : So far as this question is concerned it deals with Ambala district and in that district no depressed class candidate with suitable qualifications presented himself.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : How many depressed class candidates came forward for enrolment ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If my honourable friend gives notice of that question, I will collect the information for him.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu) : What are the qualifications after all which he cannot find in depressed class candidates ? Were they of short chest and of low stature ?

Parliamentary Secretary : General physical fitness and suitability of the candidate to perform duties that are expected of policemen.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu) : May I ask as to whether the candidates belonging to the scheduled castes happened to be physically unfit for police service ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Not all of them but as stated the depressed class candidates in Ambala district have not come forward who were considered to be suitable for recruitment in police force.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the Parliamentary Secretary in a position to make a statement if Government have considered depressed class candidates in any other district as suitable for the posts ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Some depressed class men have been recruited.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : How many ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I think nearly two dozens but if my honourable friend gives notice of a question I will collect exact information for him.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Two dozens out of how many ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is not possible for me to reply to that question off hand. I have stated that if he gives notice of a question I shall supply him with the necessary information.

INTERNMENT OF PUNJABI BY ENEMY IN HOSTILE COUNTRIES.

5332. Sayed Amjad Ali Shah : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to lay on the table the number and names of the Punjabis who have been interned by the enemy in hostile countries ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Khan Bahadur Mian Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana) : An inquiry has been made from the Government of India on this subject. In the meantime, if the honourable member has obtained any information from private sources, and can give me the names of any residents of the province believed to be in Germany, I should be grateful if he would do so.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the Parliamentary Secretary in a position to say whether the publicity in charge who generally talks in Hindustani from Berlin is a Punjabi ?

Parliamentary Secretary : May be ! (Interruption.)

Sayed Amjad Ali Shah : He might be a Nazi and, therefore, not interned.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : What is your information ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Probably he does not wish to return to his home.

USE OF KHADDAR CAPS AND KHADDAR COATS BY GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS.

5334. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether there are any instructions by the Government against the use of Khaddar coats and Khaddar caps by Government officials serving in the Punjab, while on duty ;
- (b) if the answer to (a) be in the affirmative, whether Government has made inquiries that there is no old government circular prohibiting the use of Khadi dress requiring cancellation ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) The honourable member's attention is invited to the reply given to question ¹*4355 put by Munshi Hari Lal on 12th April 1939.

(b) Does not arise.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the honourable Parliamentary Secretary kindly read that reply ? It is not likely to be a long one and I want to know the nature of that reply.

Parliamentary Secretary : The reply has already been given and he can refer to that answer.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What objection is there now ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is stated that no instructions have been issued.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I want to know whether old instructions stand, whether the predecessors of the present Government had issued any instructions to that effect and those instructions still stand.

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already stated that if he will refer to the question put earlier, the answer will be found.

REPRESENTATION MADE BY THE INTER-COLLEGIATE MUSLIM BROTHERHOOD, LAHORE.

5344. Khan Muhammad Yusaf Khan : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that a representation has been made to him by the Inter-Collegiate Muslim Brotherhood, Lahore, asking him to issue instructions to all Government schools, colleges as well as Government aided schools and colleges and to all other Government departments that in order to conveniently perform their Jumma prayers and attend the Khutba the Muslim students and Government servants be permitted to absent themselves from their institutions and offices, respectively, from 12 o'clock in the noon to 2-30 P.M., on every Friday ;
- (b) whether his Government is aware of the fact that the Central Government has already admitted this religious right of the Muslims and has conceded to this legitimate demand ;

[Khan Muhammad Yusaf Khan.]

- (c) if the reply to (a) or (b) above be in the affirmative, what action has the Government taken so far, or contemplates to take in this respect?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood): (a) Yes.

(b) I am not in a position to say what orders have been issued by the Central Government.

(c) Orders have been in force for many years directing the heads of all offices in the Punjab to give any Muslim official who may apply for it leave on Friday for a sufficient time to enable him to take part in the Jumma prayers. In this connexion the honourable member is invited to refer to paragraph 3-A of Punjab Government Consolidated Circular 1. If any case is brought to the notice of Government that sufficient time is not allowed to any Muslim so desiring for Jumma prayers by any heads of offices, Government shall take suitable action. As regards schools and colleges, perhaps the honourable member will put a question to my honourable colleague here, if he desires further information.

WEAPONS USED BY CERTAIN ORGANISATIONS OF A MILITARY CHARACTER.

5345. Khan Muhammad Yusaf Khan: Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of private organisations of a military character for instance 'Bajrang Aklara', etc., in the Rawalpindi City and mufasil;
- (b) the nature of the weapon; if any, that each of these organisations has adopted as an essential symbol of the organisation;
- (c) whether any of the weapons such as the trident (tarshool) of the 'Bajrang Aklara' used or carried by the members of these organisations comes under the Arms Act;
- (d) whether it has been brought to his notice that weapons carried by the members of such organisations are offensive, and dangerous to human life, if used, and stand as constant menace to public safety in case a communal riot or a clash of any other nature that takes place in the city or at any other place in the Rawalpindi district;
- (e) if the reply to (c) or (d) above be in the affirmative, what action the Government propose to take in order to ensure public safety?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood): (a) 8.

(b) Belchas, Tirsuls, swords, hatchets, Banas and Dangs.

(c) Tirsuls, used by one of these bodies, are believed to be weapons for purposes of the Arms Act.

(d) Yes.

(e) The matter is under consideration.

5358. Cancelled.

PROVINCIAL SERVICE OFFICERS.

5362. Khan Haibat Khan Daba : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state the names and designations of provincial service officers who are holding joint charge of two or more posts under the Government and are receiving allowances for all such posts ?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan : Unless the honourable member explains and justifies the purpose of the enquiry, it seems that the time and labour involved in collecting the information sought would not be justified. If the honourable member specifies any special case on which he desires particular information or explains the purpose of his enquiry the matter will be attended to.

ARRESTS UNDER DEFENCE OF INDIA ACT, AND UNDER INDIAN PENAL CODE.

5391. Dr. Sant Ram Seth : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state district-wise the total number of arrests (i) under Defence of India Act, (ii) under section 124-A and sections 107, 147 and 153, Indian Penal Code and (iii) under Criminal Law Amendment Act, during the period from May to October, 1939, and the total number of convictions out of them ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : The number of arrests and convictions under the Defence of India Rules reported up to the 2nd of November, 1939, were 137 and 29 respectively. The arrests under the Defence of India Act were for offences connected with the war and included a batch of Ahrars who courted arrests under the Defence of India Act for sinister purposes. As to the rest of the question, to give publicity to statistics relating to sections of such wide and varied application would not serve any useful purpose and might lead to considerable misunderstanding.

DEATH OF KALA SINGH, SON OF GURDIT SINGH, LAMBARDAR.

5417. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether the Government has arrived at any final conclusion regarding the tragic circumstances under which death took place of Kala Singh, son of Gurdit Singh, Lambardar, Lyallpur district, in July, 1939 ;
- (b) the contents of the findings of Mr. Ved Prakash Gautam, 1st Class Magistrate, Lyallpur, who held the inquest ;
- (c) the contents of the report submitted by the deputy superintendent of police who was specially deputed to make further inquiries ;
- (d) the observations of the Inspector-General of Police on the above report ;
- (e) what action has the Government taken or intends to take in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh): (a) and (e) It is likely that the police officer concerned will be proceeding on leave preparatory to retirement during the next few weeks. If so, Government propose to leave matters at that.

(b) A reference is invited to the reply given to Question 1*3471 put by the honourable member for the Lyallpur and Jhang (General-Rural) Constituency in the autumn session last year.

(c) The honourable member presumably refers to the inquiries made under the orders of Government by the Deputy Inspector-General of Police, Central Range, at the beginning of this year. These proceedings were purely departmental and Government do not propose to publish the Deputy Inspector-General's report, but I may say that the inquiry did not bring out any material facts over and above those which had already come to notice in the course of the magisterial investigation. I should like to draw attention to the fact that in the last paragraph of his report the Magistrate clearly indicated his opinion that no such influences had been brought to bear on the deceased Kala Singh as would have caused a normally balanced person to resort to suicide.

(d) Government cannot undertake to disclose the observations of the head of department in a matter of this kind.

BEHAVIOUR OF DEPUTY SUPERINTENDENT OF POLICE, LAHORE, TOWARDS MIAN IFTIKHAR-UD-DIN, M. L. A.

5418. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi: Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether any inquiry into the untoward behaviour of the Deputy Superintendent of Police, Lahore, towards Mian Iftikhar-ud-Din, M. L. A., during the last budget session, was held as then promised by him on the floor of the House; if so, what were the findings;

(b) whether any action has been taken against the police official concerned; if so, what?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander-Hyat Khan: This is a question about the inquiry that I promised regarding the incident in which Mian Iftikhar-ud-Din was involved. Enquiries were made under the orders of Government by the Deputy Inspector-General of Police, Central Range. He examined the Deputy Superintendent of Police concerned, five other officers who were on duty at the time, and eleven non-official witnesses. The result was to make it plain that the Deputy Superintendent neither abused nor assaulted the honourable member in any manner whatsoever. On the contrary, the enquiry shows plainly that the honourable member's conduct was most unbecoming as a member of this Legislative Assembly, and that action against him under section 353 Indian Penal Code, would have been fully justified.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state the names of non-official witnesses that were examined?

¹Vol. VI, page 183.

*Though the question was not put it was answered by the Premier in the public interest.

Premier : If he will give notice of the question I will consider.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Has he not said that they were all independent ?

Premier : I have said that, and I would add, for the benefit of my friend that I have satisfied myself about the inquiry which shows that the language used by my friend Mian Iftikhar-ud-Din was not what a gentleman should use.

COMPLAINTS AGAINST ZILLADAR OF BHIWANI SECTION.

4555. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the name of the zilladar of Rajbah Bhiwani, Section Bhiwani, Rohtak Division ;
- (b) the name of the Deputy Collector in the above division ;
- (c) the name of the Sub-Divisional Officer in the Bainsi sub-division ;
- (d) the name of the Executive Engineer of the Rohtak division ;
- (e) whether village Mahem, district Rohtak, is in the beat of the zilladar of Bhiwani Section ;
- (f) whether any complaints of demanding bribe from the land-holders of Mahem and of adopting communal measures in granting remission has been received by him, recently against the zilladar mentioned in (e) ;
- (g) if so, whether any inquiry has been held into the matter ;
- (h) the result of that inquiry and if no inquiry has been held, the reasons therefor ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) Lala Viroo Ram, Zilladar, 1st grade.

- (b) Bakhshi Dwarka Das, Deputy Collector.
- (c) Lala Chander Bhan, Upper Subordinate (Residue).
- (d) Mr. A. N. Wilson, Executive Engineer.
- (e) Yes.
- (f) Yes, at end of December, 1938.
- (g) Yes.

(h) The complaints were received long after crops were cut when no evidence at site was available : kharaba had however been checked by the Deputy Collector.

The allegations were not proved in enquiry.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Were any steps taken by the Government to remove the disproportionate appointments of one community in that department ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I regret to say that I am unable to answer any communal question on the floor of the House. If the honourable member will give notice of an unstarred question, he will get the answer.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : It is not a communal question. I protest against the insinuation. The question gives the names of certain officers appointed in the Irrigation Department of the Ambala division and the names given are of one community. May I know what action was taken by the Government thereafter when the fact came to the notice of the Government that the representation of other communities is totally missing and the members of one community only hold the senior posts?

Minister : There is no question of any community. The exigency of service requires that those people should be appointed who are best suited.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know whether persons of no other community were found suited to fill some of those appointments in that division?

Minister : Is that a question?

DAMAGE DONE TO CROPS BY HAILSTORM IN AMRITSAR DISTRICT.

4598. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state the names of the villages, tahsil-wise, in the Amritsar district where crops have been damaged owing to the hailstorm in the months of February and March, 1939 and whether any relief has been given to the sufferers?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : A statement is laid on the table.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Again, I have not received a copy of that statement.

Minister : My honourable friend can get a copy from the Assembly office.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : This question should be settled once for all.

Mr. Speaker : According to our Rule 27, it is the Minister who has to supply such copies to the members concerned one day before.

Minister : How are we to find out the addresses of members? We generally supply these copies to the Assembly office and they are laid on the table and are available to the members here.

Secretary : The answers to Assembly questions received from Government are treated confidential till they are actually read out in the Assembly.

Premier : Can members treat them otherwise? The difficulty is that a question is supposed to be confidential until it is put in this House. But we would try to send a copy a day earlier.

Minister for Revenue : But it is very difficult to locate the members.

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : Rule 27 says:—

“Lengthy answers to starred questions may, on statement by the Minister concerned, be placed on the table of the Assembly without being read but a copy in such case shall, if possible be delivered to the member...”

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : In our case it will always be impossible.

Premier : We do not know the addresses of several honourable members, therefore, we can only send them to the Secretary and he can communicate it to the members concerned.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Is the Secretary authorised to circulate copies of such statements?

Mr. Speaker : If for any reason, the Minister concerned is not able to send a copy of the statement one day before to the member concerned, he may certainly have it communicated to the member concerned through the Secretary.

Premier : Quite so.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : But the difficulty is not solved.

Mr. Speaker : It can be solved only by an amendment of the relevant rule. The rule as it stands is elastic enough to let a Minister say that it was not possible for him to comply with it.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : They should at least plead that it is not possible. Up till now they have been shifting their responsibility on the Secretary. If it is not possible, that can only mean that the statement is not ready, and it cannot be supplied.

Mr. Speaker : For one thousand and one reasons it may not be possible for a Minister to communicate it.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Then you should hold that they are not prepared to abide by the rules.

Lala Duni Chand : The difficulty can be solved by your ordering the Government that they must supply copies of such statements to the members one day before.

Secretary : Whenever a Minister wants a copy to be forwarded to the member concerned, an extra copy may be forwarded to the Assembly office.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : If possible.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : The Minister for Development promised the other day to supply copies beforehand. May I know whether the Government is not ready to abide by the promise already made by one Minister?

Mr. Speaker : There is no question of promise. The Rule is clear. Under it a Minister shall, if possible, supply a copy of the answer to the member concerned one day before.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The reply which has been given by the Honourable Minister was that a copy was sent to the Assembly office and that it was the duty of Secretary to forward it to the member concerned. They seek protection under that excuse. We say that it is not the duty of the Secretary. Under the rules the particular Minister or Parliamentary Secretary has to supply a copy. If they were to say that it is not possible to supply a copy, then it would have been a different thing. Their argument was that it was the duty of the Secretary, but they did not say anything whether it was possible or not possible for them to do so, and we want your ruling on that point.

Mr. Speaker : I have already tried to explain that if for any reason a Minister is not in a position to send a copy one day before, as required by the rule, to the member concerned, he may forward it to the Secretary with a note that he (the Secretary) may do his best to send it immediately to the member concerned.

NEGOTIATIONS WITH BILASPUR DURBAR IN CONNECTION WITH BHAKRA DAM PROJECT.

4776. Sardar Hari Singh: Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- whether the negotiations proceeding with the Bilaspur Durbar in connection with the Bhakra Dam Project have fallen through,
- if the answer to (a) above be in the affirmative, on what grounds,
- whether an alternative scheme has been devised by the Government; if so, the main features of the scheme?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): (a), (b) and (c) Owing to the war and the fact that an alternative scheme, is under examination, negotiations with the Bilaspur Durbar are at the moment in a state of suspense but have in no sense been broken off.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: What has the war to do with it?

Parliamentary Secretary: Because it is very difficult to import large materials from England which are necessary for the construction of this Dam.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: Does the honourable Parliamentary Secretary mean that the moment the negotiations are finished an order will have to be placed?

Parliamentary Secretary: I wish the honourable member may try to understand the answer. What I said was that the Government feel that on account of war it is very difficult to get large materials from England for the construction of the dam. Negotiations with Bilaspur Durbar depend upon the construction of the dam. The other thing is that the Government have found out another alternative scheme wherein it is not necessary that the same difficulties may arise as in the case of this scheme. Therefore, the Government, for the present, have suspended negotiations with Bilaspur Durbar.

Lala Duni Chand: The question relates to the negotiations with Bilaspur Durbar. May I know whether the war has anything to do with those negotiations?

Parliamentary Secretary: I have already said that on account of war and also because there is another alternative scheme, which the Government is considering, we have suspended those negotiations.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: Does the Parliamentary Secretary mean and will he give us a frank reply that the Government is of the opinion that the alternative scheme is better than the scheme which has been under consideration for such a long time and whether it is in view of that fact that they have given up the idea of the Bhakra Dam Scheme?

Premier: My honourable friend is now asking which scheme is better. Our experts will decide which is the better of the two. Even if we conclude negotiations with Bilaspur Durbar now, it would not be possible for us to start work at once on account of the war. So we thought it desirable that negotiations should not proceed and for the present should be suspended—not that we have given them up—pending the settlement of the question whether Bhakra or the other scheme is better, more economical and more beneficial. If the new site is found to be unsuitable then it would undoubtedly be necessary for us to negotiate with Bilaspur Durbar. But if we find that the other scheme is likely to be promising, even so we propose to continue negotiations with the Bilaspur Durbar.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava: May I know the date by which the matter will be decided and the alternative scheme proceeded with?

1 P.M.

Minister for Revenue: I cannot give any definite date.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does the Premier realise that it has already taken a very long period for them to negotiate? Is it not open to the Government to conclude the negotiations and yet wait for sometime to give effect to the scheme?

Premier : My honourable friend has got strange ideas. They do not seem to realise that when once you give a definite undertaking and promise to another party you must abide by it like a gentleman. This is what gentlemanliness demands.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I protest against the insinuation. The record supports my contention. He is trying to evade the question. The question is a simple one. I only wish to know as to why could not Government conclude negotiations owing to the outbreak of war.

Premier : I have already said that once you conclude an agreement you must abide by it like a gentleman. We do not believe in concluding agreements and then treating them like scraps of paper.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What a high sense of justice: Why talk of gentlemanliness!

Mr. Speaker : Question hour is over.

Chaudhri Suraj Mal : As we want to put more supplementary questions, this question may be taken up the next day.

Mr. Speaker : If other members also wish to put more supplementary questions, they may do so on the next day.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : They are simply trying to throw dust in the eyes of the people.

ADJOURNMENT MOTION.

UNAPPROVED MOTOR STANDS.

Maulvi Mazhar Ali Azhar (North-Eastern Towns, Muhammadan, Urban) : I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the failure of the Government to take action under rule 58-A of the Punjab Motor Rules, 1931, read with section 2 (24) of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1939, by stopping public motor vehicles from collecting passengers from unapproved motor stands, resulting in serious inconvenience and nuisance to the public.

No objection being taken Mr. Speaker fixed 3-30 p.m. for discussion.

VILLAGE PANCHAYAT BILL.

Clause 7.

Mr. Speaker : The House will proceed to consider the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi (Lyallpur and Jhang, General, Rural) (Urdu) : I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (1), lines 4-5, the words "for a period of one year" be omitted.

Mr. Speaker, the clause now under consideration is clause 7 and relates to the election of 'sar-panch' and 'naib sar-panch'. The select committee has recommended that they should be elected for a term of one year only while the object of our amendment is that they should be elected for a longer period, say 3 years.

Sir, I beg to submit that the 'sar-panch' will have to do a lot of work. When the panchayats come into being he will have innumerable duties assigned to him. It would not be an exaggeration if we call him the chief executive officer of a panchayat. His duties will be civil, as well as executive, judicial as well as criminal. He will have to be a sanitary inspector as well as an engineer. He will also have to function as a revenue collector. Taking all these things into consideration it does not seem advisable to elect a sar-panch for one year only. For, in that case he will not be of any use at all. Out of the twelve months for which he is elected he will have to spend six months in getting his training and during the remaining six months, he will give most of his time to canvassing for next election. If it is designed that these panchayats may be popular and that they should function on a sound basis, it is very necessary that the sar-panch should be a capable person and secondly that his term of office should be the same as in the case of municipal committees, i.e., 3 years. There is already very little literacy in rural areas and if in addition to this, inexperience is also added to a sar-panch's drawbacks, he will prove an utter failure.

Our amendment that the election should be for a period of 3 years instead of one year as recommended by the select committee, seeks to check another evil prevalent in rural areas. It is well known that the factional spirit is the order of the day in our villages. This spirit is brought into play during such elections. If it is desired to mitigate this factional spirit the Government cannot do better than accepting this amendment.

Let me assure the Honourable Minister for Public Works that this amendment has nothing to do with party politics. For the success of the panchayats it is very essential that this amendment should be accepted. This amendment is practically the same as that which is going to be moved by some of my honourable friends on this side and which is to the effect that the term of one year should be increased to three years.

With these words, Sir, I move my amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Sub-clause (1) under consideration, amendment moved is,—

That in lines 4-5 the following four words be omitted :—
" For a period of."

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : I have another amendment to this clause and both the amendments may be moved together.

Mr. Speaker : Only those amendments or motions can be discussed together which raise different aspects of the same matter. In the present case the substitution of the word 'three' for the word 'one' has nothing in common with the other amendment, viz., that the words " for a period of one year" be deleted. Therefore, I had to propose that amendment in the form I have done and that is parliamentary practice. To quote the exact words :

Whenever several amendments are about to be moved to the same clause, the chairman proposes each of them in such a form as not to exclude any later amendments; and with this view he often proposes only the first words of an earlier amendment.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma (Kangra West, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, It is laid down in clause 6 which has already been passed by the House that a panch shall hold office for three years. This means that the life of each panchayat will be three years. This being so there is no reason why the sarpanch and naib sarpanch should not be elected for three years. It is clear even to the meanest imagination that the duties of a sarpanch are both administrative and judicial and therefore cannot be fully understood and mastered in the twinkling of an eye. Again the people of the villages are not highly educated and that is another reason why a sarpanch should not be expected to become expert and efficient in a month or two. He must be allowed sufficient time to become conversant with the duties of his office so that he may be able to discharge them properly and thus prove really useful to the villagers. With these remarks I commend to the House the proposal that in line 5 for the word "one" the word "three" be substituted.

Minister of Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : I only want to say that this aspect of the question was fully considered and we decided against it for this reason that it is desirable to have a change. These panches will have executive and other duties and if at any other time they think there should be a change they can do so. We do not want them to go to the stage of no-confidence motions or other elaborate procedure. If a sarpanch is doing well he will continue. This is nothing new. Even in the case of municipalities and district boards the vice-presidents' tenure is for one year and after that there is a change. (Interruption.) I meant 'Vice-chairman.' By providing the clause as it is we want to take care that an undesirable man should not remain in office for any length of time. If he does not command the confidence of the majority in the panchayat he will go ; but if he is a good man, he will be re-elected and continue to do good work.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : Suppose the majority of the panchayat passes a vote of no-confidence against a sarpanch, then would the Government remove him even if one year has not passed ?

Minister : If there is election after every one year, there is no necessity for such motions. Members would not like to bring forward no-confidence motions against a colleague. They would rather wait for a few months and at the time of election they will elect a new man. This will be in the interests of the villagers themselves.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : The functions of the vice-chairmen of municipalities and district boards are altogether different from those of the sarpanches. The duties of the former are purely administrative, whereas in the case of the latter they are judicial also. So, my point was that it was necessary that the Government should consider that the man who is expected to administer justice should have efficiency about him.

Minister : There is a mistake in the honourable member's conception of the functions of these panchayats. All decisions are by the majority. One man's decision will not be effective. Further, if the man misbehaves in any way in the discharge of his judicial duties, it is all the more essential that a change should take place.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That the four words 'for a period of' in lines 4-5 be omitted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (1), line 5, for the word "one" the word "three" be substituted.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That the word "one" in line 5 be omitted.

The motion was lost.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (1), line 6 for the word 'one' the word 'another' be substituted.

It is only a verbal change in order to remove ambiguity. One member may be elected both as sarpanch and panch if people like it.

Mr. Speaker : Sub-clause under consideration, amendment moved—is—

That in sub-clause (1), line 6, for the word 'one' the word 'another' be substituted.

Minister for Public Works : I accept the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That in sub-clause (1), line 6, for the word 'one' the word 'another' be substituted.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Question is :

That sub-clause (1) as amended stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That sub-clause (2) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (3), line 3, between the words 'area' and 'for' the words 'or is unable by illness or other circumstances to perform his duties' be inserted.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That sub-clause (3) as amended stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : I move that leave be granted to introduce the following new sub-clause after sub-clause (3)—

"(4) In the absence of sarpanch and naib-sarpanch from the panchayat meeting the panches present in meeting may elect one of them as chairman of that meeting with right of an additional or casting vote."

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That clause 7 as amended stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 8.

Munshi Hari Lal : I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (1), line 2, for the figure '75,' the figure '70' be substituted.

My amendment is a simple one and merely formal.

Mr. Speaker : Amendment moved is—

That in sub-clause (1), line 2, for the figure '75' the figure '70' be substituted.

Minister for Public Works : It is correcting a misprint and I accept it.

Mr. Speaker : Amendment moved is—

That in sub-clause (1), line 2, for the figure '75' the figure '70' be substituted.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That first six lines of sub-clause (1) stand part of the sub-clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Now the House will discuss part (a) of sub-clause (1).

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) :
I beg to move—

That in part (a) of sub-clause (1), line 1, for the words 'a non-bailable' the word 'an' be substituted.

The clause will then read as follows :—

Who is convicted of an offence or subjected to an order which in the opinion of Government or of the officer to whom Government has delegated its power of removal,

My object in moving this amendment is that instead of non-bailable offence it should be any offence, because in that case there is less likelihood of the powers being misused. It would be a case where the nature of the offence is such that it makes a man unfit for the job he holds. Therefore it does not matter even in ordinary cases where the police cannot take cognizance of the case. There may be instances when a person is undesirable. Why should he go scot free when in the popular estimation he is a person undesirable for the post. I think it does not make any difference. In a way it enhances the power of the Government. For this reason I hope the Honourable Minister will not have any objection to accepting this amendment. It only enhances the power of the Government.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in part (a) of sub-clause (1), line 1, for the words "a non-bailable" the word "an" be substituted.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : Sir, I oppose this amendment. If the word "non-bailable" is excluded from this clause, the result will be that the persons, who are convicted of trivial offences, such as motor driving, etc., will be debarred from being a member of the panchayat. There are bailable offences, in which the character of a person is not affected. I think such persons are entitled to be elected to the panchayat.

Munshi Hari Lal : Sir, I am surprised to see the opposition coming from the Honourable the Minister. It shows his ignorance of law. There are offences of serious nature which are bailable. May I give him the instance of section 354, outraging the modesty of a woman. Offences under section 354 are bailable. Offences under section 448—house-trespass—punishable for 2 years—is bailable. Offences under sections 494 and 498 are bailable. Offences under section 420—punishable with 7 years' imprisonment—are bailable. Offences under sections 470, 417 are all bailable. It shows that the Honourable Minister is not aware that there are offences, which even involving moral turpitude, affecting the character of a man, and condemning the man in society, are bailable. I can give further instances of the offences that are bailable, but which are of very heinous character. I submit that the Honourable the Minister should take into consideration all these bailable offences and should not allow any person convicted even under these sections, to become a member of the panchayat. The Honourable Minister will be well advised to make the panchayat pure. The panchayat will be administering justice and it is necessary that it should inspire confidence and be above board. The panchayat should consist of persons of unimpeachable character and this can be achieved by accepting the amendment.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma (Kangra West, General, Rural) (Urdu) : I was really surprised to hear the Honourable Minister stating by way of an argument that if the word "non-bailable" is removed even people convicted of some offence connected with motor driving will be disqualified. I wish he had paid a little more attention Minister of Public Works : If the word 'an' is substituted for the words 'a non-bailable' the scope of disqualification will become too wide.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : That is exactly what you have not been able to understand. Our contention is that the Government under the clause under discussion already have the power to remove a person who is not fit to be a panch. Then where is the necessity for inserting or retaining the words "a non-bailable". Let the Government have full discretion in the matter so that if the Government or the officer to whom it may have delegated its powers in this behalf is of the opinion that a certain person has been convicted of an offence which renders him unfit to be a panch the person in question may be removed forthwith. This Government is very fond of retaining widest possible powers in its hands and we are giving it more powers. Why should it fight shy of accepting those powers ? This amendment in reality gives some powers to the Government. The present Government has always been enamoured of assuming more and more powers to itself. Now this is a God-sent opportunity for them and they can avail of it and accept the amendment now before the House.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I wish to add one word only, that is, that the Honourable Minister should at least recognise the service that Munshi Hari Lal has done him. It seems as if he has no knowledge about the matter now before the House. He seems to think that a non-bailable offence necessarily implies defect of character and moral turpitude while in the case of a bailable offence it is not so. In my opinion Munshi Hari Lal has clarified this matter beyond any doubt and now it behoves the Honourable Minister not to persist in retaining these words in the clause under consideration. I also hope that he would thank Munshi Hari Lal for the service which he has rendered to him and accept this reasonable demand. I, therefore, request him that in view of the old adage "better late than never" he should accept this amendment.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural), (Urdu) : I may point out that my learned friend, who has just spoken does not know as to what is the real object of the sub-clause under consideration. Now I would tell him as to what the Honourable Minister means by non-bailable offences. What he means is that if any Congressite goes into the jail under section 153-A or Defence of India Act, because such offences would be non-bailable offences, he should not be allowed to become a panch in any case. That is what the Government is really aiming at. As a matter of fact he is fully aware of the fact that under section 124-A, 153, or under the Defence of India Act no such defect of character is involved but he knows at least this much that such offences are non-bailable offences and likely to be committed by Congressmen. The Congressmen are bound to be arrested and imprisoned under the measures referred to above and therefore he thinks it better to debar them from becoming members of panchayats. If, on the other hand, Government's object is to keep out persons of bad character from the panchayats, in that case panches convicted of any offence, whether bailable or non-bailable involving defect in character should be removed from panchayats. There are certain bailable offences, say section 498 and 354, Indian Penal Code, conviction under which involves a defect in character but panches convicted for any such offence would not be liable to be removed if this amendment is not accepted by the Government. Will it be proper that a person who kidnaps a woman and is even convicted for that offence be allowed to become a panch ? In the circumstances I would request the Honourable Minister at least to consider over this matter dispassionately. If he wishes to exclude the bad character from the panchayats he should do well to accept our amendment. Let me also point out that if he wishes to retain these words merely to disqualify the Congress members, there are hundred and one ways of disqualifying them. But he should not insist on retaining these words in the sub-clause under consideration. I would therefore, again request him to accept our amendment.

Munshi Hari Lal : I want to put a question to the Honourable Minister. May I remind him that sections 108, 109 and 110 of the Criminal Procedure Code, deal directly with the point of character ? Section 110 of the Criminal Procedure Code is

Mr. Speaker : Is that a question or a speech ?

Munshi Hari Lal : Does he mean to say that anybody who is convicted under section 108, 109 or 110, in which the defect of character is established, can be bailed out ? Does he mean to say that—

بدمشا ۱۰ نمبر کا پی جی آر سیکشن ۱۰

Badmash of No. 10 can be a panch ?

Minister for Public Works : As far as I have been able to understand there has been unnecessary criticism and discussion about a very clear clause. There are two parts of it. The first relates to one who is convicted of a non-bailable offence, whether he is a Congressite or anybody else. There was an insinuation made that it is meant for a particular class. I can assure you that I never realised that all non-bailable offences or convictions were reserved for my honourable friends opposite. If that is the case then I might agree with them but otherwise provision against non-bailable offences apply to all accused alike. It only means that a man who is convicted of a non-bailable offence will be dealt with under this clause. Then there is the second part dealing with the criticism advanced by Munshi Hari Lal. Offences that are non-bailable but still involve defect in character, will be dealt with under the second part, that is—

- (a) who is convicted of a non-bailable offence or subjected by a criminal court to an order which, in the opinion of Government or of the officer to whom Government has delegated its power of removal, implies a defect of character unfitting him to be a panch.

So all non-bailable offences will be dealt with by part 2 and not by part 1. So it is clear enough. I do not know what is all this confusion about. You can add a comma after the word 'offence'.

Munshi Hari Lal : No court would put the interpretation as put by the Honourable Minister.

Minister of Public Works : I am not a lawyer, but the language is clear.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Therefore you must follow the lawyer.

Minister of Public Works : Is it because the honourable member has quoted the Indian Penal Code irrelevantly, that I should follow him ?
(Interruptions.)

Sayed Amjad Ali Shah : Sir, may I ask you a question and have some light on this matter ? My honourable friends on this side of the House seem to think that the words "implies a defect of character" apply also to the first part ?

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : There are no two parts.

Sayed Amjad Ali Shah : As far as I understand, it applies to the second part, that is, "or subjected by a criminal court". Will you throw light on this ? Let us take for instance, that the amendment of my honourable friend, Pandit Muni Lal Kalia is accepted, would not all offences—whether they concern a radio licence or a motor driving licence—be covered by this amendment (Voices : "No,") and people will be debarred ? (Voices : "There is no qualification.") That is what I am asking the Honourable Speaker. That qualification applies to the second part.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I do not say that there are no parts in this clause. The clause is—

- "(a) who is convicted of a non-bailable offence or subjected by a criminal court to an order which, in the opinion of Government or of the officer to whom Government has delegated its power of removal, implies a defect of character unfitting him to be a panch."

I take it my friends on the other side understand that by the simple use of the word 'or' the clause becomes two parts, but, as a matter of fact, that is only an alternative. The main clause is there. What is the main portion ? It is that any person who is convicted of a non-bailable offence or has been subjected to an order of a criminal court, such order or such offence, such non-bailable offence, which in the opinion of the Government or the person to whom such powers have been delegated, implies a defect of character unfitting him to be a panch. There is the qualifying clause also that in this case the Government wants to introduce two points, that is, non-bailable offence which implies a defect of character unfitting him to be a panch.

The Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill says that he is a layman and that he only talks in the tone of a layman. In this case
2 P.M. I only want to bring this point to the notice of the Government that most of the ordinary offences may imply a defect of character. So, if the main idea of the Government is to remove a person of bad character there should be no classification of the offence, because there are offences under the heading 'non-bailable offences' which directly or indirectly or strictly speaking imply a defect of character. My honourable friend Munshi Hari Lal and others have given a long list of such offences. Just now, my honourable friend, Sayed Amjad Ali, was pressing whether the holders of licences under the Motor Vehicles Act and Radio Act, when convicted will be removed for defect of character. I say if there is cheating on the part of such persons, they must also be removed. The idea is that any person having a bad character should not hold that post and should be removed, whether he has committed one offence or the other. It appears that in the draft the word 'bailable' has been left out. There is no ambiguity otherwise. 'Bailable' must have been used first and then 'non-bailable'. A person may be of a defective character, but if the offence is bailable, you do not want to touch him.

Mr. Speaker : The second part of this sub-clause relates only to an order.

Minister of Public Works : After the word 'or' the second part starts.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : There are no parts. That is only an alternative with regard to an offence or crime. I will just read it out to you. The first part in the alternative is like this :—

"Who is convicted of a non-bailable offence or subjected by a criminal court to an order."

That is the first use of the word 'or'. The second use of the word 'or' is :

"Which in the opinion of Government or of the officer to whom Government has delegated its power of removal...."

So, if you remove these two alternatives, then the sub-clause reads as follows :—

"Who is convicted of a non-bailable offence which in the opinion of Government implies a defect of character unfitting him to be a panch."

I do not understand where there are two parts in this sub-clause. There is only one part. That part is that any person who is convicted of a non-bailable offence must be removed. Our objection is that if a person commits a bailable offence or offences under section 107 or 108 or 109 meant for miscreants, or offences under that section which is meant only for those persons who are wanderers and who have got no work can become panches, and the Government will not remove them.

Mr. Speaker : What does the word 'which' in line 3 refer to?

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : It refers to 'non-bailable offence or an order of criminal court.'

Mr. Speaker : Order and conviction are two things.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : The ambiguity is obvious. What is the idea of having the words, 'non-bailable offence'? The second alternative is sufficient. If that is to be taken correct, then it means that the first portion becomes redundant.

Mr. Speaker : Why?

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Because the words, 'who is subjected by a criminal court to an order' are sufficient. My submission is that the expression used in the first part is redundant. This thing should be done under the second alternative which is free from ambiguity.

Lala Duni Chand : The first part relates to conviction and the second part relates to an order passed under section 109 or 110, Criminal Procedure Code. If that interpretation is correct, then it will not cover bailable offences.

Mr. Speaker : Non-bailable offences are taken out of the purview of the sub-clause.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : May I just ask one question, which, I hope, the Honourable Minister will be pleased to answer? Certain sections of the Indian Penal Code were quoted which are bailable and which imply a defect of character, like section 420, etc. The reply of the Honourable Minister to this was that that case would be covered by the order. Is not that so if I understood him rightly? Has he satisfied himself that an order also applies to a conviction. Prima facie the reference is to an order passed under preventive measures under the Criminal Procedure Code, say, sections 107, 108, 109 and 110; otherwise the word 'conviction' would have been used and there would have been no necessity of a different language. I hope the Honourable Minister would be following me or trying to follow me at least. (Minister for Public Works : "I am".) I do not mean any disrespect to him. If he will try he will understand. If he does not make any distinction between a conviction order and an ordinary order passed under Criminal Procedure Code, then of course, it is very difficult to convince him. But if he thinks that this language is used with a purpose and is intended to apply only to orders passed under the Criminal Procedure Code, then I would tell him, with due respect to him, that his object would not be served, because, then he cannot say that, if a person is convicted under section 420, legally he will be able to remove him because that is not an order passed but it is a conviction. Though, of course, generally speaking an order of conviction is also an order, but then the language which would have been used would have been different. If I am correct in the submission that I have made that it refers only to orders passed under the Criminal Procedure Code, then surely an evil would follow. The Minister's hands would be tied if he finds that a panch has been guilty of grossly defective character under sections 498 or 420 or such other thing. I do not know if sections 376 and 377 are bailable or not; probably they are non-bailable. Under the amended Criminal Procedure Code all offences are now bailable except those punishable with death or transportation for life. In view of the distinction made between bailable and non-bailable—and these offences are entered in the schedule as non-bailable—I think the amendment ought to be acceptable to the Honourable Minister. Surely it does not mean that he is not going to unseat a member of the panchayat who has been guilty of a bailable offence although it implies grossly defective character. If he really wants to protect them then it is a different matter ; but if he does not want to protect them, he ought to accept the amendment. My question to him is, does he want to protect the people who are guilty of a bailable offence implying defective character ?

(Shaikh Faiz Muhammad, Parliamentary Secretary, stood up.)

I ask the Minister. You are his legal adviser but not his conscience keeper. I want to ask the Minister.

Minister for Public Works : The word 'order' I think would cover both cases. If that language does not serve the purpose I have no objection to making it more clear. Would it meet his objection if we say 'convicted of any bailable offence' ?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : So far as I am concerned it will be all right ; I think they too will be satisfied. (Congress benches : "Yes, yes".)

Now, would the Honourable Minister's lawyer colleague frame an amendment or should we frame one ?

Shaikh Faiz Muhammad : In that case it would be 'who is convicted of a non-bailable offence ; or is convicted of a bailable offence or subjected by a criminal court to any such order as in the opinion of such court involves a moral turpitude or implies a defect of character, unfitting him to be a panch.'

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : That does not meet the point. If a person is convicted under section 326 of grievous hurt, does it mean that he should be removed ?

Minister for Public Works : Yes, because that implies rash habit and the man is unable to control himself on certain occasions.

Shaikh Faiz Muhammad : All persons convicted of non-bailable offences whether that non-bailable offence implies defect of character or not are included. So far as bailable offences are concerned we are going to include offences involving defect of character. Therefore the clause would read :—

Who is convicted of a non-bailable offence or is convicted of a bailable offence or subjected by a criminal court to any such order as in the opinion of such court involves moral turpitude or implies a defect of character, unfitting him to be a panch.

Mr. Speaker : Is 498 bailable or non-bailable ? (Voices : "Bailable.")

Shaikh Faiz Muhammad : That implies defect of character.

Mr. Speaker : This clause does not cover all offences. Bailable offences are naturally excluded. The best course in these circumstances would be to divide the whole clause into two parts : (i) who is convicted of a non-bailable offence, and (ii) who is convicted of a bailable offence or subjected by a criminal court to any such order.....etc. The word 'convicted' must be used otherwise it will be misinterpreted, i.e., 'who is convicted of a bailable offence or subjected by a criminal court to any such order as in the opinion of such court involves a moral turpitude or implies a defect of character, unfitting him to be a panch.' Both the purposes will be served.

The change I have suggested is this that in the case of a non-bailable offence nothing is left to Government or the authority to whom power has been delegated to show any favour to the man : the man must go. But in the case of conviction of a bailable offence or in the case of any order of a criminal court which in the opinion of such court involves a moral turpitude or implies a defect of character, the man must be tried.

Munshi Hari Lal : Our object is that it should be also in the case of conviction of a non-bailable offence.

Shaikh Faiz Muhammad : It means defect of character.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : The apprehension in the mind of these gentlemen is that this may apply even to offences which may come under the Defence of India Act. I have just been told that even profiteering is made a non-bailable offence under this temporary measure. I do not think that the Minister had that in view when he was framing the clause : certainly not. So that if it appeals to him he may add the words 'non-bailable offences under the Indian Penal Code' and the rest as proposed by the Honourable Speaker.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That in part (a) of sub-clause (1), line 1, for the words "a non-bailable" the word "an" be substituted.

Minister of Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : May I move an amendment to remove any ambiguity ?

That for sub-clause (a) the following be substituted :—

- (i) who is convicted of a non-bailable offence ;
- (ii) who is convicted of a bailable offence or subjected to an order which conviction or order in the opinion of the officer to whom Government has delegated its powers of removal, implies a defect of character unfitting him to be a panch.

Mr. Speaker : The Government member has just now handed over to me a slip on which the following amendment is proposed :—

For sub-clause (a) of clause 8 (1) the following be substituted :—

- (i) who is convicted of a non-bailable offence ;
- (ii) who is convicted of a bailable offence or subjected to an order which conviction or order in the opinion of the officer to whom Government has delegated its powers of removal, implies a defect of character unfitting him to be a panch.

Munshi Hari Lal : It means then that 35 members on this side who have been convicted are unfit to be panches. It means then a stop to political activity.

Mr. Speaker : I propose to put this amendment to the vote of the House in two parts. The question is—

“ That sub-clause (a) which runs as follows :—

‘ (a) who is convicted of a non-bailable offence ;’ may stand part of the clause...

The motion was carried.

The second part as drafted and now handed over to me runs as follows :

- (b) who is convicted of a bailable offence or subjected to an order which conviction or order in the opinion of the officer to whom Government has delegated its powers of removal, implies a defect of character unfitting him to be a panch.”

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) : I do not want these words : ‘implies a defect of character unfitting him to be a panch’. I have made a substitution for these words. My amendment is—

“ That in part (a) of sub-clause (1), lines 7—9 for the words ‘implies..... panch’ the words ‘discloses a case of moral turpitude or moral degradation’ be substituted.”

(Urdu) : The rejection of the previous amendment of Pandit Muni Lal Kalra has added not a little to the importance of my amendment. The object of this amendment is quite clear. This part of the clause is very dangerous in its present form. If my amendment is not accepted the position will be that even if a man is convicted of a bailable offence or has been subjected to an order which does not imply any moral turpitude the Government will have the power to remove him from the office of a panch. Thus if a Congressman is convicted of a bailable offence and the Government does not like that man he will not be allowed to become or remain a panch. The words “implies a defect of character unfitting him to be a panch” in the present clause are too wide and vague. You have no clear conception of what that defect of character will be. On the other hand the meaning of the expression “moral turpitude” is quite definite and clear. The High Court has explained this expression in several rulings. Similarly, there can be no doubt or ambiguity with regard to the meaning of “moral degradation.” But it is not the same with the expression “defect of character.” As I have said it is too vague and indefinite.

The present attitude of the Government raises serious doubts about its intentions. The clause as it stands can mean only one thing. It is that everything should be left to the sweet will of the Tiwana. It means that if a man has been convicted under section 124-A, Indian Penal Code, the Honourable Tiwana Sahib will be willing to allow him to become a member of this Assembly but not of a panchayat even if he is a saintly person and a staunch nationalist. This is the mentality of the Government and, therefore, if the clause is left as it is and the interpretation of the law remains in the hands of the present Minister and his officers it is very likely that an offence which in the case of a Congressman is taken to imply defect of character may be interpreted otherwise, than where a non-Congressite is concerned. This shows that the intention of the Government is not to improve the law so as to make it more useful for the people but to forge new fetters for nationalist workers.

I would like to make it absolutely clear that I hold no brief for those who are guilty of offences involving moral turpitude. If there is such an offence remove the man by all means, but do not leave the law vague. If my amendment is accepted you will have the ruling of the High Court to guide you as to the correct interpretation of moral turpitude. But in the present form of the clause you can put any interpretation upon the expression "defect of character". You can go to the extent of murdering King's English to suit your purpose. With these words I commend my amendment to the acceptance of the House.

Mr. Speaker : Before I propose Lala Duni Chand's amendment I want to explain the second part of the proposed amendment, because every honourable member has not got a copy of the new amendment. The second part is—

"(b) who is convicted of a bailable offence or subjected to an order which conviction or order in the opinion of the officer to whom Government has delegated its powers of removal, implies a defect of character unfitting him to be a panch."

The last 11 words are proposed to be omitted by Lala Duni Chand.

Minister for Public Works : Sir, I would suggest that, if the honourable members have no objection we should leave this sub-clause, and take up the next sub-clause. We will amend the sub-clause, if necessary, after the whole clause has been discussed. Thus we will save the time of the House. I accordingly move—

That the consideration of the whole of sub-clause (a) be postponed.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That part (b) of clause 8 (1), stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That part (c) of clause 8 (1) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) :
Sir, I beg to move—

That in part (d) of sub-clause (1), lines 2—4, for the words "from panchayats" the words "for a period of more than two months" be substituted.

Under the Rules, Sir, three meetings may be held during the course of 3 or 4 days, and the man may be absent from his village for 3 or 4 days or so, and he could be removed from the panchayat. To safeguard this I have included the period of more than two months. These meetings may be held within one week or a fortnight, and the man may be absent from his village for about a fortnight for one reason or the other. One meeting may be held at 12 o'clock and the other adjourned meeting might be held at 4 P.M. I want that at least minimum period should be fixed. If the Honourable Minister thinks that the period of two months is a longer period a lesser period should be fixed. There should be some safeguard. It is likely to be abused against persons who are in minority in the panchayat.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in part (d) of sub-clause (1), lines 2—4, for the words "from panchayat" the words "for a period of more than two months" be substituted.

Minister for Public Works : I do not think any change in the present sub-clause is necessary. The words "reasonable cause" would meet the circumstance if it is a reasonable cause. If a person is absent for any cause which is not reasonable, he will be removed from the panchayat. The panchayat will be sitting from day to day and will be performing judicial and administrative functions, it would be inadvisable to change the sub-clause.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I do not want to press my amendment.

The motion was by leave withdrawn.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (d) stand part of clause 8 (1).

The motion was carried.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Sir, I beg to move—

That in part (e) of sub-clause (1), lines 1—4, the words "in the opinion of the Government or of the officer to whom Government has delegated its power of removal" be omitted.

Sir, this is a repetition, because in the opening words of the clause "Government, or any officer to whom under section 75 (1) it may delegate its power in this behalf may after such enquiry as it or he 3 P.M. may deem fit remove," cover the whole clause. Therefore, it is redundant here.

Minister of Public Works : It is essential that these words be retained.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in part (e) of sub-clause (1), lines 1—4, the words "in the opinion of the Government or of the officer to whom Government has delegated its power of removal" be omitted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That part (e) of sub-clause (1) of clause 8 stand part of the sub-clause.

The motion was carried.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I beg to move—

That in part (f) of sub-clause (1), lines 2—5, for the words "Government or of the of removal" the words "the majority of electors of the panchayat area" be substituted.

[Sardar Kapoor Singh.]

Sir, I find that the Honourable Minister has adopted this sub-clause from the District Boards Act. But he has been pleased to incorporate only that portion of the clause which served his purpose and has left out the remaining portion as it did not suit him. I may point out that it is laid down in the District Boards Act that a member can be removed if in the opinion of the Government or the majority of the electors, his continuance in office is undesirable in the interests of the public. Similarly my object in moving this amendment is to vest the power of removal of a panch in the majority of the electors of the panchayat area. That is, if the majority of voters of a panchayat area consider that a panch should be removed from office as his continuance would prove detrimental to the interests of the public or the panchayat, they would send a requisition or request to the Government for his removal in the same manner as is provided in the District Boards Act. But here in this sub-clause (f) the Honourable Minister has withheld the power from the electors. I see no reason why they should be deprived of their right to throw out a panch if in their opinion he is not a desirable person to continue in office, when a provision to this effect exists in the District Boards Act. Besides, the Honourable Minister is aware that there is nothing in the Bill which allows a vote of no-confidence to be moved against a panch, so the grant of the power of removal to the majority of electors is all the more desirable. This would enable them to get rid of an undesirable panch. With these words I request the Honourable Minister to accept my amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That in part (f) of sub-clause (1), lines 2—5, for the words "Government or of the of removal" the words "the majority of electors of the panchayat area" be substituted.

The motion was lost.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : I beg to move—

That in part (f) of sub-clause (1), line 5, between the words "removal" and "undesirable" the words "the majority of electors of the panchayat area" be inserted.

I expect that the Honourable Minister in charge would accept this amendment. The Government has power of removal. There should be some option left for the voters also for the removal of any undesirable panch. This should be done because we find that there is no other power given to voters to remove any panch, who is undesirable, by the passing of a vote of no-confidence. I hope that the Minister would accept this amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Will the honourable member please read the sub-clause after inserting the words proposed?

Sardar Kapoor Singh : That would read in this way—

"(f) whose continuance in office is, in the opinion of the majority of electors of the Panchayat Area " (Interruptions.)

Mr. Speaker : After the word 'removal' the honourable member has to read the words 'the majority of electors of the panchayat area.'

(Voices : It does not make sense.)

Sardar Kapoor Singh : Then may I again redraft the amendment if the Honourable Minister is prepared to accept the principle?

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member may redraft it if he likes.

Minister of Public Works : I must oppose the principle also. How can we agree to invest the voter with the power of removal before a particular period? In this case they will be exercising civil and judicial powers and if a panch happens to fall out in the heat of the moment, they might go and canvass and try to turn that man out. Memories are generally short and in three years time he may not be there. It would mean that if the proposal is carried it would go against the working of the panchayat.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That part (f) of sub-clause (1) of clause 8 stand part of the sub-clause.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I want to secure the deletion of sub-clause (f). Not only myself but six or seven other members from this side also desire that sub-clause (f) be deleted. I have stood up to point out, in case it may have escaped your notice, that I consider this portion of the clause to be one of those dangerous clauses which can be used improperly. What is required is that panchayats should be popularised among the villagers and to achieve this purpose the guiding principle should be one of creating a spirit of social service. With sub-clause (f) in the Bill that spirit cannot be created.

According to this clause the Government intend to reserve such powers to themselves as might make it possible for them to do as they please. The exact words of the sub-clause are "Whose continuance in office is, in the opinion of the Government or of the officer to whom Government has delegated its power of removal, undesirable in the interests of the public or of the panchayat." I know Sir, what will be the causes for which the panches would be removed. Any one who desires to serve his countrymen but is not a persona grata with the Government will be removed. There are a large number of village workers who are not in agreement with the ideals or policy of the Unionist Government and I am afraid they will certainly come under this clause. The prescribed authority has already been empowered under clause 6 to accept or reject any election he likes, and so far as the Government could devise they have specified all such conditions in sub-clauses (a), (b) and (c). Now they are trying to take another power in their hands, that is, of removing a panch without rhyme or reason.

The honourable members on this side of the House suspect the Government of having some ulterior motive in keeping this sub-clause in the Bill. They apprehend that the presence of the public workers of rural areas in the panchayats will not be tolerated, and if they are selected they will be removed on one pretext or the other. If that is not the case the Government should accept this amendment. I ask the Treasury Benches to let the House know as to what power they want to keep to themselves. In ordinary circumstances these powers will be nothing but a sword of Democles hanging constantly above our heads.

With these words I propose that sub-clause (f) be deleted.

Sardar Sampuran Singh (Lyallpur West, Sikh, Rural) : Sir, this sub-clause (f) is extremely vague and gives almost unlimited, undefined and unqualified authority to the Government and officers appointed under their order. If such authority is given, I am afraid, none of the members of panchayats will be safe from such officers. If they want to be unfair towards those members, they can remove them very easily. This is against the general principle of democracy. Democracy requires that executive officers or the Government themselves should not be in a position to interfere with such institutions without any proper and judicial reasons. As we go through clause 8, we find that Government has tried to make a very exhaustive list of all those acts for which a panch can be dismissed. They have in sub-clause (a) given the authority to the officers to remove a person who is convicted of a non-bailable offence or who is subjected by a criminal court to an order which in the opinion of Government or the officer, implies a defect of character. Then in sub-clause (b) they have given them the authority to remove a person who refuses to act, or has become incapable of acting or is adjudged an insolvent. Then again in sub-clause (c) they have taken very vague powers to remove a person who has been notified as disqualified for appointment in the public service and so on and so forth. They have practically tried to lay down every little cause which could possibly be imagined for the removal of such panches. After that they give vast and undefined powers to the officers of turning out a man for no reason but only if that officer or Government happen to think that in their opinion he is not a fit person to be kept there. This is a very vast power and in a country where we are supposed to work on democratic principles, it is very unfair that the Government under this enactment should try to give that carte-blanc to such executive officers.

With these remarks I very strongly oppose this sub-clause (f) and would submit in the end that this is against all principles of legal jurisprudence that such vague powers should be given to any officer of the Crown.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (f) stand part of sub-clause (1).

ADJOURNMENT OF THE ASSEMBLY.

Premier : Sir, I move—

That the Assembly at its rising this day shall be adjourned till Monday the 20th November, 1939.

The motion was carried.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the chair and Mr. Deputy Speaker occupied it.)

ADJOURNMENT MOTION.

UNAPPROVED MOTOR STANDS.

Maulvi Mazhar Ali Azhar (North-Eastern Towns, Muhammadan, Urban) (Urdu) : I beg to move—

That the Assembly do now adjourn.

Before I proceed with my speech I would like to submit that if the government is labouring under the impression that I believe that the old rules are not in operation and something else is in force in the Punjab then I think the Government is entirely mistaken. What I want to submit is that the same rules as are provided under the old Act are being in force in the Punjab to-day. But first of all I would like to draw your attention to Rule 53 (a) of the Punjab Motor Rules, 1931, which empowers the registering authorities to control the bus stands and reads as follows :—

“ The person in charge of a light motor bus shall not allow such light motor bus to loiter in any public place for the purpose of collecting passengers or goods or to stand for the aforesaid purpose in any public place other than one approved by the Registering Authority for the purpose.”

As regards the old Act and rules I would say, it is clear from them that a stage carriage, as it has been stated, cannot collect passengers or goods in any public place unless it has been approved by the Registering Authority for this purpose. My submission is that the definition of a public place as given in old Act is something different from one given in the present Act. And that is why the necessity of moving this adjournment motion has arisen. Let me also submit that as regards the old Act the definition of public place was as follows :—

“ Public place ” means a road, street, way or other place, whether a thoroughfare or not to which the public are granted access or over which they have a right to a pass.

Under this definition instead of having registered public places for getting passengers, people began to keep lorries on their own or rented land and in this way they carried on their business. In that case the question arose whether such places were to be considered as public places. This case went up even to the High Court. The decision made by the High Court is as follows :—

“ The mere fact that a place would be styled as a public place for the purposes of the Gambling Act and the Penal Code does not necessarily mean that it is a public place under the Motor Vehicles Act, 1914 ; to make it a public place under the Motor Vehicles Act, it must be a road, street, way or a place over which the public have a right to pass, or to which the public are granted access.”

It is clear from this decision of the High Court that places taken on rent for carrying on this business cannot be considered as public places because the public have no right to pass over them, or to these places the public are not granted access. But we do not find this sort of definition in the Motor Vehicles Act of 1939. The definition of public place has been changed in this Act. The definition of a public place in section 2, sub-section (24) reads as follows :—

“ Public place ” means a road, street, way or other place, whether a thoroughfare or not, to which the public have a right of access, and includes any place or stand at which passengers are picked up or set down by a stage carriage.”

The last part of the definition makes it clear that a public place includes any place or any motor-stand at which passengers are picked up or set down by a stage carriage. As regards the word "stage carriage" I would like to draw your attention to the definition of this word also as given in section 2, sub-section (29). It reads thus :—

"Stage carriage" means a motor vehicle carrying or adapted to carry more than six persons excluding the driver which carries passengers for hire or reward at separate fares paid by or for individual passengers, either for the whole journey or for stages of the journey."

Now it would be clear from the definition of public place given above that under the present Act enforced from 1st July, even those places that have been declared private places by the High Court have come under the definition of public places. I think, it might be said in reply from the opposite benches that the old rules are in force. I may tell them that I agree with them as far as rules are concerned. But what I really object to is this that the definition of the old Act is not in operation. It has already been laid down in Rule 58 (a) that no motor vehicle is entitled to pick up passengers from any place other than the one approved by the registering authorities.

Now I want to draw your attention to the present position. How strange it is that the Government, instead of enforcing the present rules in the Punjab, has made attempts to enforce the old rules from the 1st of July although the new Act is now in force! I may further add that none of these stands which are a source of mischief in many a way has been authorised by the registering authority. In this respect I would like to quote an instance of a case filed against a private motor-stand in Amritsar. The driver of that unapproved motor-stand was prosecuted and he confessed his guilt in the court and eventually he was fined. Do you know what happened afterwards? Instructions were issued to the police not to challan such addowalas in future. Since the case, fortunately or unfortunately being an ordinary case was disposed of in a lower court and did not go up to the High Court, we could not therefore have the ruling of the Honourable High Court regarding this particular matter. This has been the position for the last so many months and as you are aware, Sir, the private motor-stands are increasing day and night and therefore it cannot be denied that the increase in the number of private motor-stands is resulting in serious inconvenience and nuisance to the public. Besides, these private stands affect the business adversely. Even the lives of passengers travelling in lorries are not safe as the lorries starting from private, unapproved, and unauthorised motor-stands generally try to overtake one another. Reports regarding these private stands show that several of these accidents are due to the said stands and failure to take action against them is another contributory cause. My submission, therefore is that the problem is really one worthy of careful consideration mostly for the reason the lorry traffic is becoming not only a nuisance for the public, but also a danger to public safety. Everyday happenings clearly show that it is high time that the authorities concerned bestir themselves and take proper steps to remove this potential menace to human life. It is, I think, necessary for the Government to consider every possible point, minor or major, before the introduction of a new Act, in order to avoid any difficulty that may stand in its way later on and not to sleep over matters at the initial stage. It is up to the Government to see if there is any obstruction in the way of an Act. And if actually some difficulty arises, the Government should see to its remedies before that Act is enforced. Otherwise hundred and one other difficulties would arise out of it which will prove harmful to the Government later on. If my contention is true, then it follows that collecting of passengers from the private motor stands is in direct contravention of the existing rules, and that the Government is guilty of abetting such people to commit this offence. I am sure the Government would say in reply to my remarks that the old rules are still in force in the province. But my submission is that even the old rules do not allow collection of passengers from the private stands without the previous sanction of the registering authority. I may in this connection submit for the information of the Government that definition of the expression 'Public Place' is clear beyond all doubts. Since I do not propose to take further time of the House, I commend my motion for its acceptance.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Motion moved is—

That the Assembly do now adjourn.

Sardar Ajit Singh (South West Punjab, Sikh, Rural) (Punjabi) : Mr. Deputy Speaker, my honourable friend Maulvi Mazhar Ali Azhar has just remarked that private motor stands shall also come within the definition of public stands according to section 2 (24) of the Indian Motor Vehicles Act, 1939. Rule 53 (a) of the Punjab Motor Vehicles Rules, 1931, clearly lays down that private stands cannot be run without the previous sanction of the Local Government or the registering authority. But in spite of these provisions, private stands are being allowed to work unhampered and unchecked without registration. If even now the Government realises its mistake, because it has cared little in the past for the various representations of the public and the motor unions—it is worthy on its part, and should henceforth order the closing of unregistered motor stands and admit our adjournment motion. In this way much of the precious time of the House will be saved. The Government should not feel ashamed of realising its mistake, because wise people say—

صم کا بدولت م نہ کر ا جائے تو اسے بدولت نہ کہنا چاہئے

The Government will rather deserve congratulations if it stops this nuisance. Much of the uneconomic competition of the lorrywallas in fares and speed will be avoided, and lakhs of zamindar's sons who have already parted with their lands and purchased lorries will be able to earn their livelihood. The general condition of these private stands is getting worse day by day. Even in Lahore, the most developed and civilised city of the province, most insanitary and filthy plots of land are being utilised as private stands. Some people have adopted this as a profession, like the pahalwans of Lahore, and pay Rs. 2 or Rs. 4 as rent for the land per mensem and hire the services of two or three scoundrels (badmashes) to work as hawkers, and thus start a regular stand. Now this filthy piece of land will fetch them about three to four hundred rupees a month because they will charge each lorry from Re. 1 to Rs. 3. These hawkers are indeed becoming an immense nuisance to the public. If, even the Honourable Ministers and especially the Honourable Premier were to visit the crossing between the Banda and Azad Bus Service stands in front of the railway station in ordinary dress, the hawkers of the Azad Bus Service would pounce upon them and drag them to their stand, and in the scuffle that may ensue they are sure to get their clothes torn to pieces and they may even lose their senses. Such an experience will open their eyes and bring home to them the truth of our contention. It is evident from the recent Government report that there are 25 private motor stands in Lahore alone, but I am sure that there must be not less than 50 at present. Had there been some check or restraint on the starting of such stands there would have been no possibility of any insult to anybody. It is a pity that the Government which was anxious the other day to impose an entertainment tax on poor people who purchase cinema tickets of less than four annas value does not think it proper to levy a fee on such badmashes and dacoits who loot the lorrywalas in broad daylight by the sheer dint of their manual force, and without any investment charge Rs. 2 to Rs. 8 per lorry as adda commission and make money by such foul means. I believe that if all the private motor stands were amalgamated into one and a single stand is auctioned either by the local Government or the Lahore Municipality, it is sure to bring in no less than one lakh of rupees as motor stand fee. This step on the part of the Government would not only replete the exchequer by a substantial sum, but it would also redress the grievances of the public to a great extent. Now-a-days the poor passengers have to wait for the departure of the lorry for hours together in each stand. But if there is only one stand, lorries would depart after every five minutes and this would considerably save the time of the passengers.

There is another nuisance caused by the existence of these numerous stands. The hawkers of each stand promise the passengers that the lorry would stop at any place required even if it is only to stop at the first nearest town. Moreover, the passengers are auctioned as it were to the lorrywalas and whoever agrees to take the passengers at the lowest rate is allowed to take the passengers in his lorry.

In 1938 the Indian Motor Vehicles Bill was introduced in the Central Assembly. At that time there were several doubts and apprehensions in the public mind in regard to certain provisions of the Bill. But thanks to the efforts of the Congress party in the central legislature, the Bill was so amended that every big or small motorwalla can now safely earn his livelihood without the least difficulty if the rules are framed in such a way that it is beneficial to him. But it is a pity that the Act has not yet been brought into force in spite of the fact that except Chapter IV the Act is enforced under the rules of 1931 from 1st July, 1939. The Punjab Government is responsible for this loss to the industry due to its not properly working the Act. Anyway the delay is causing great hardship to the interests of poor motor-wallas who are unable to compete successfully with big capitalists. Now with the exception of Chapter IV the whole Act has been brought into operation. In fact only this Chapter can benefit the poor lorrywalla, but the power to enforce that chapter rests with the local Government according to the notification of the Central Government and the local Government can enforce that chapter even now without waiting till April, 1940, if it has any sympathy for the poor lorrywallas. I hope and trust that the Government would exercise its right of controlling the motor stands under rule 53. (a) by instructing deputy commissioners and registering authorities not to allow unauthorised stands and disallowing such stands forthwith. With these words I support the adjournment motion.

Master Kabul Singh (Jullundur East, Sikh, Rural) (Punjabi): Sir, whenever any section of population becomes conscious of its position, in accordance with the old adage "unity is strength" it organises itself in order to protect its interests and rights. Now a section of people whose interests are opposed to the interests of the former section considers it as a danger to itself and consequently begins to throw obstacles in the way of the former section. And in many cases they come into conflict with each other. In view of this we see that for some time in the past poor people consisting of kisans and labourers after selling their landed property have bought lorries in order to make their livelihood by plying them for hire. Such vehicles ply for hire from public motor stands. Now some selfish and clever people in order to keep control over the motor traffic have set up private motor stands. And those people who ply their vehicles for hire from public motor stands have organised themselves into a motor union. The said union is doing excellent work. In many cases the said union has excelled the police in many respects because it has a great control over the drivers of public vehicles. Naturally the owners of private motor stands who have formed monopolies of their own are feeling uneasy and have set up private motor stands at numerous places and are becoming a source of danger to the public at large. Just as in the old days tongawalas troubled the public, in the same way these people pull the passengers this way or that way. And in this so-called scuffle the passengers are put to a great trouble. Not only this but these people in order to collect passengers drive their vehicles at a tremendous speed which results in serious and fatal accidents. Let me point out that this is not only my opinion but even the responsible police officers are of the same opinion. The Superintendents of Police of Jhelum and Gujrat in their reports of 1936 and 1937 have stated that one of the many causes of numerous lorry accidents is the setting up of various private motor stands. The Superintendent of Police of the Jhelum District wrote in his report that these people in order to collect more passengers drive their lorries at a speed of 45 miles per hour. Consequently many accidents are the order of the day. Sometimes this competition for collecting passengers becomes very unhealthy and financially weak persons are ruined. In other words those people who have sold their lands and have taken to lorry driving in order to provide their children and themselves with livelihood, cannot compete with the capitalists. In this way those people are debarred from putting up something for the rainy day. After getting ruined they become unemployed and thus augment the number of unemployed and in this way become a source of danger to the public. Therefore it is the duty of the Government that they should not sacrifice the interests of the public in order to benefit a selected few. But it behoves them to discontinue the setting up of private motor stands and discourage the monopoly holders and thus protect the interests of the public.

One word more. Road Development Association was formed under the patronage of the last Governor of the Punjab. The object of the said association was to benefit only a few "yes" men of the Government. But the pity is that our so-called zamindara Government, who in fact are the Japan made zamindara Government, are following the same policy. In the circumstances I appeal to the Government that they should discontinue the system of private motor stands and encourage the public motor stands and thus protect the interests of the public. With these words, I support the adjournment motion now before the House.

Shrimati Raghbir Kaur (Amritsar, Sikh Women) (Punjabi): Sir, the question now before the House is that the Government have failed to protect the interests of those people who are plying their motor vehicles for hire from public motor stands. Everybody knows that the interests of such people are protected in foreign countries. But here in the Punjab no attention is being paid to safeguard the interests of such experts and mechanics. The Government who have power in their hands are in the habit of singing their own praises in season and out of season that they are the great well-wishers of the poor and that they are out to protect their interests and to better their condition and want to eradicate poverty, but whenever the question of the bread of the poor comes before them they do not pay any attention to it. I wish to tell them that poor people who found it difficult to make their living on land sold their ornaments and lands and bought lorries. They did not buy these lorries for pleasure and merely for the sake of fun. On the other hand they bought them for providing their children and themselves with livelihood. These poor people have neither lands which they can till, nor can they get employment. Therefore disappointed on all sides they took to driving of lorries so that they should make their both ends meet. Now the owners of the private motor stands are bent upon ruining them. What they do is that they set up a private motorstand by demolishing a house and there they stand their lorries and ply them on hire. The result is that the poor lorry drivers who ply their vehicles for hire from public motor stands are put to a great loss. I request the Government which claim to be the wellwishers of the poor to give a serious consideration to this matter.

Besides, the owners of private motor stands mete out a very insulting treatment to the public. In this connection I wish to cite an incident which I saw with my own eyes. I was at Sargodha. There I saw one husband and wife who wanted to go somewhere. Although both of them wanted to go to a particular place, still one lorrywala forcibly made the husband sit in his lorry and the other lorrywala forced his wife to sit in his lorry. Neither of the lorrywalas allowed them to get down. The result was that both of them felt very much insulted. I may also point out that when the new Motor Vehicles Act was enacted we thought that henceforward the setting up of private motor stands would be discontinued and thus the public would be saved from disgraces and insults which previously they were used to receive from the tongawalas. The Honourable Minister for Public Works is a rich man and I am certain that he has never travelled in tongas or lorries and therefore it is very difficult for him to know how the people are insulted and disgraced by these lorrywalas.

Minister : I have travelled several times in lorries.

Shrimati Raghbir Kaur : I would therefore request him to prohibit the setting up of private motor stands. It behoves him to think of the poor people who have neither houses to live in nor clothes to put on. Let me also point out that on every lorry not only one but three persons depend for their livelihood. Namely the owner, the driver and the cleaner. If the setting up of private motor stands is not stopped the result would be that many people would become unemployed. And according to the old adage "an idle man's brain is the devil's workshop" they would try to bring about "inqlab" in the country. In the circumstances it behoves the Government to solve this problem. With these words I support the adjournment motion now before the House.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural)
(Urdu): Sir, I must point out at the very outset that to-day my honourable friends on the treasury benches do not appear to be serious about the motion now before the House. The reason is quite obvious. The subject matter of the motion does not relate to war—a subject on which the Honourable Ministers are very keen to express their views in order to win the approbation of the higher authorities. Again so far as the urgent importance of this matter is concerned, Government think that the motion perhaps pleads the cause of a union which is not so important as would require serious notice on their part.

4 P.M.

But the Government should consider the matter from a different point of view. That is, they should look at it with a view to find out how much lorry traffic there is in the province and whether there is any part in the Punjab where the lorries do not ply. Incidentally the Punjab is the only province in India which has the greatest mileage of metalled roads to its credit and it is but natural that the traffic should also be terrific. The traffic has been gradually on the increase since this ministry came into power. (Hear, hear.) Now the object of the motion under consideration is to bring this fact to the notice of the Government that they have miserably failed to take action under the rules to stop public motor vehicles from collecting passengers from unapproved motor stands, resulting in serious inconvenience and nuisance to the public. In this connection I might make a mention of the fact that some time back in reply to a question we were informed by Government that there were no less than 25 lorry stands in the city of Lahore alone. I am of the opinion that too many motor stands prove to be a great nuisance to the public. The passengers are put to much unnecessary inconvenience because they have to wait for a long time before the requisite number of seats of a lorry are occupied. I hold the view that the motor stands should be established at fixed and authorised places. Their number should be reduced. For instance, if instead of two motor stands in a city, there is only one motor stand, it would prove beneficial to both the passengers as well as the lorry owners. The former would be saved weary waiting and unnecessary inconvenience, while the latter would be sure of passengers coming in large numbers. Besides, additional facilities can be provided to the passengers if the motor stands are established at authorised places. Naturally the lorries would be started at fixed timings, adding to the efficiency of the motor traffic as well as to the convenience of the passengers. But the difficulty is that Government would quietly make a reply that they are not prepared to interfere with the administration of the municipal committees as this affair comes within the purview of their administration. It would not be out of place to mention that Government stands to gain by adopting this attitude, but as different bus associations have influential members of the Government party as their patrons or secretaries who would not allow anybody to interfere with the irregular activities of these associations, we fully realise that if a change is brought about in the rules relating to the motor traffic, the trade of the minions of Government would heavily suffer and that is why Government continue to connive at them and take no action in this matter. Moreover it appears that Government have no intention to offend these lorrywalas. As lorries are an excellent means for making propaganda during the elections, Government want their co-operation and assistance immensely. So, they would not move their little finger to take action against them for their irregularities. Besides, Government are apt to reply to our criticism that they feel averse to meddling with the affairs of local bodies who are responsible for this state of affairs. If we press the Government in the matter, they would say that as the municipalities are incompetent and have failed to discharge their duties efficiently, they would like to supersede them or else appoint executive officers to carry out their administrative work. As a matter of fact Government would try to shift the responsibility of this sorry state of affairs to the municipal committees which in turn would blame the people. I, therefore, submit that if Government evince no interest in this matter, it is because they have nothing to gain by doing so. Again, it is a thousand pities that lakhs of rupees go to the coffers of the Government by way of licences issued to the drivers and contractors of motor stands, but the authorities pay no heed to the grievances of the drivers. Government think it wise to leave the lorrywalas alone to take care of themselves, who hold conferences and pass resolutions enumerating their grievances and requesting the Government to redress them. Only the other day a conference of the lorrywalas was held at Ferozepore. Shaikh Hissam-ud-Din was elected its president. He explained to them their difficulties and through a resolution requested the Government to remove them. But the Government instead of redressing their grievances thought it fit to make arrests from among them for the speeches made by them.

As I find that the honourable members are getting anxious to go and take part in a certain function I would finish my speech by appealing to Government to amend its rules relating to the motor traffic and enforce them so that the public may be relieved of the inconvenience which is being caused to them on account of unapproved motor stands. With these words I support the motion now before the House.

Honourable members : The question be now put.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That the question be now put.

The motion was carried.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana): Sir, I thought that this was hardly a matter on which an adjournment motion could have been moved, entailing loss of time of this House and an expenditure of a few thousand rupees. We must examine what is the position at present. The mover of the adjournment has admitted that at present old rules are in force. He knows perfectly well that no action of the sort that he contemplates can be taken under these rules on account of the High Court judgment to which a reference has been made. He confused the issues and said that the new definition of a "public place" in the new Motor Vehicles Act, 1939, applies. I am afraid it is not the case. It is a question of opinion about a legal matter. I take the view at present I am advised to take; while my honourable friend can take another view. He is quite at liberty to do so. I will try to convince him that under the rules in force no administrative responsibility of the Government is involved. He tried to argue that though the old rules are in force, the definition of "public place" is not applicable. How can that be? Under the rules in force I am not empowered to take the action which he wants me to take. Under the new Act, the old rules will remain in force for 9 months. I will read the relevant section of the Act. Section 182 (2) says:—

[Minister for Public Works.]

"Notwithstanding the repeal of the Indian Motor Vehicles Act, 1914, rules made by any provincial Government under subsection (2) of Section 11 of that Act and rules made by the Governor-General in Council, under section 14 of the Act, being rules in force at the commencement of this Act, shall, subject to the provisions of sub-section (3), continue to be in force for a period of nine months from the commencement of this Act."

Now, Sir, the position is that these old rules are in force for a period of nine months. The Act came into force on 1st July, 1939. Therefore, the period for which the rules would remain in force is till the 1st of April. That being the case, I do not see how the Government can take action as has been asked by the honourable mover of the adjournment motion. I am fully conscious of the evils and I am at one with him that efforts should be made to remedy them. The betterment of the motor trade is one of our concern and I am anxious, as anybody else—I would say more than anxious—to set the motor trade on a stable footing and to bring about more earnings to the lorry owners as well as the drivers. (Hear, hear.) This object will be achieved when new control has been set up. We will then have regional control authorities who will limit the number of vehicles on particular routes and this will avoid the cut-throat competition which has been complained of. But until these rules come into force, nothing can be done and, as I have pointed out at present, whether we agree or not, the evil is there. We are powerless under the present legislation to take any action. I would suggest that in similar cases, in order to save public money and time of this House, the honourable members should put a question that can elicit such like information. Where was the object in rushing forward about the legal interpretation of a rule and wasting the time of the House? (Interruptions.)

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Order please.

Minister of Public Works : Why table an adjournment motion? I am here on the floor of the House but the honourable member never asked me about it. I would have been too glad to tell him that the rules are not in force and nothing can happen till the 1st of April next. New rules would be brought into force from that date. (Interruption) (An honourable member : Action can be taken to-day.) (Interruption.) So, when the time comes to make these rules, we will take into consideration all the points that have been raised to-day. I cannot say what form the rules will take, but due care will be taken that rules are framed in such a way that they result in the safeguarding of the interests, convenience and safety of the travelling public and others, and as soon as those rules are framed and passed, all these troubles that have been mentioned will be dealt with. With this assurance given on the floor of the House I do not think that the honourable member would press this motion for a division. (Voices : Withdraw.)

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That the Assembly do now adjourn.

The motion was lost.

The Assembly then adjourned till 2 p. m. on Monday, 20th November, 1989.

PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

SIXTH SESSION OF THE FIRST PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Monday, 20th November, 1939.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at 2 p. m. of the clock. Mr. Speaker in the Chair.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

NEGOTIATIONS WITH BILASPUR DURBAR re. BHAKRA DAM PROJECT.

Chaudhri Suraj Mal : With reference to the answer to question 4776¹ asked on 7th November last, will the new scheme of tube-wells and supplying water during the rainy season to some parts of the Hissar and Rohtak districts affect in any way the idea of the Government of completing the Bhakra Dam scheme or the Kangra Valley scheme?

Minister for Revenue : I do not think so.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Minister please inform us whether the proposed new scheme is likely to benefit all the crops or only the fodder crops of certain areas?

Minister : If my friend gives notice I will give a reply.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Do I understand that the Honourable Minister does not know that the proposed new scheme is to provide water only for a particular season?

Minister : I do not want to commit myself. I require notice.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does the Honourable Minister know that there is wide resentment against the proposed scheme amongst people living in those areas?

Minister : I am not aware of it.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will he kindly give us the reasons why the Government is not proceeding with the original Bhakra Dam scheme?

Minister : The negotiations with regard to it have been suspended on account of war and other things. My friend must have seen the Governor's speech and accordingly we cannot carry out the scheme immediately.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does the Honourable Minister mean that owing to the outbreak of war they cannot even proceed with the maturing of the scheme?

Minister : Yes, unless we get the opinion which has been collected by the engineers from America.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : The two engineers who have returned from America and who went there at Government expense in this connection, have they been asked to submit their report and revise the scheme in the light of the knowledge gained in America?

Minister : I am very sorry that my friend is very hasty. The engineers came only a few days ago. They will submit their report and the Government will consider it.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Has the Government asked them to give up that project and not to proceed with it ?

Minister : No.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What are they doing at present ? Are they busy writing their report ? Have they not been informed of the decision of the Government that they are not to proceed with the Bhakra Dam scheme ?

Minister : There is no such decision.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Has not the Bhakra Dam scheme or the negotiation been suspended ?

Minister : Suspension does not mean that they should not go on preparing that scheme.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Is it a fact that the material required from foreign countries and for want of which the construction of the dam has been postponed cannot be had in this country ?

Minister : The machinery has to come from England or from America. America supplies it at a very great cost. Therefore, we are not in a position to get all the machinery immediately.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : I want to know whether the Government has enquired from any institution here whether it can supply the required material or not ?

Minister : We make a great deal of these things in our own workshops.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether the negotiations with Bilaspur Durbar have been given up ; and if so, why ?

Minister : I am sorry I cannot give that information.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that the negotiations were discontinued because the Durbar demanded more money which the Government was not prepared to pay ?

Minister : No, Sir. It is a very delicate question and I refuse to answer that.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : May I know if the Government is prepared to take up the construction of the dam if the Tata Steel Works supply the required material at a price lower than that charged by foreign firms ?

Mr. Speaker : That is a hypothetical question.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Have the engineers submitted any report mentioning the difficulties in procuring the necessary material ? Is there anything on record to show that the material is not available in India ?

Minister : We are all business people and we know what is required.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know definitely whether Government have any intention of proceeding with that scheme in the near future ?

Minister : I have already replied that question.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I ask if there will be any necessity of the Bhakra Dam scheme after adopting the alternative scheme?

Mr. Speaker : The next question.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : May I know if the difficulty because of the scarcity of material which is being felt in the case of the Bhakra Dam scheme was also experienced in the case of the Haveli Project or not?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

IRRIGATION OF LAND BY WESTERN JUMNA CANAL AND SIRHIND CANAL.

4783. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) the area, in bighas, of the land irrigated by the Western Jumna Canal and the Sirhind Canal in the Ambala district;

(b) the names of villages in the Ambala district with the area of land of each village irrigated by the above-mentioned canals?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) and (b) Sirhind Canal does not irrigate any area of the Ambala district.

A statement is placed on the table giving the required information.

Statement showing the names of villages in the Ambala district with the area of land of each village irrigated by the Western Jumna Canal, with total for the canal.

INQUIRY INTO THE SYSTEM OF KANKUT AND OTHER MATTERS IN TAHSIL UNA.

4841. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state the result of the investigation conducted by a Commissioner appointed by the Government last year to go into the question of the grievances of the tenants of 84 villages in tahsil Una in relation to the system of Kankut and other allied matters, and the action taken or proposed to be taken in the matter by the Government?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : No such Commissioner was appointed by the Government last year.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Has any enquiry ever been made, if not by the Commissioner, by any other official?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have said that no officer was specially deputed to hold an enquiry.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Was any enquiry made by any subordinate official or by any person?

Minister : The Commissioner has got a Revenue Assistant who deals with such complaints.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : What was the report of his enquiry?

Minister : The Revenue Assistant is there to look after these complaints.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I want to know the result of those complaints, whether they were contended, or whether they were in order or justified or unjustified?

Minister : It is a matter of opinion.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I want to know the actual facts and not the Honourable Minister's opinion. What were the orders passed by the Revenue Assistant ?

Minister : My friend said whether they were justified or unjustified. I say that it is a matter of opinion.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : What was the opinion of the Revenue Assistant who conducted the enquiry ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already said that the Government did not appoint any special officer. There are Revenue Assistants in the districts, who look into such matters. The Government has received no special report with regard to this matter.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Was any representation received by the Government ?

Parliamentary Secretary : As I have already said, the Government did not appoint any officer to hold such enquiry and no report has been received by them.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Did Government receive any representation from these villages and have they made any enquiry into the allegations ?

Minister : There have been allegations for the last twenty years.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What was the last representation received by the Government about ?

Minister : I am afraid I cannot give my honourable friend the information, but if he gives notice I will look into the matter.

DAMAGE TO CROPS BY HAILSTORMS IN MULTAN AND MONTGOMERY DISTRICTS.

*4873. Sardar Ajit Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that the crops in Chak 1/14-L., district Montgomery, were totally destroyed by hailstorms on the evening of the 27th February, 1939 ;
- (b) whether it is a fact that the crops of Chaks 94, 95, 96, 88/6-R. of Montgomery district were destroyed on the evening of the 28th February by hailstorm ;
- (c) whether it is a fact that the crops of Chaks 55, 56, 57, 58, 88, 86/12-L. of Montgomery district were destroyed on the evening of 26th February by hailstorm ;
- (d) whether it is a fact that the crops of Chaks 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 117, 118, 139, 140, 141/10-R., district Multan, were totally destroyed by hailstorm on 28rd March, 1939 ;
- (e) if the answers to (a), (b), (c) and (d) above be in the affirmative, the action the Government has taken so far or intends to take to help the sufferers ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) To the extent of 64 acres only.

(b) and (c) No. The storm was slight there.

(d) The damage to crops was severe in Chaks Nos. 184, 185 and 186 ; moderate in Nos. 133, 117 and 118 (10-R) ; slight in the others.

(e) A statement showing the relief granted is laid on the table.

ASSESSMENT OF THE URBAN AND RURAL AREAS IN LAHORE DISTRICT.

4927. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) the total land revenue to which the rural and urban areas in Lahore and Chunian tahsils were assessed at the time of last settlement, that is, in 1911-12 respectively ;

(b) the total proposed land revenue to which the rural and urban areas in Lahore and Chunian tahsils respectively are to be assessed according to the recent settlement in 1937-38 ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) The land revenue imposed at the settlement of 1911-12 was :—

Tahsil.	LAND REVENUE IMPOSED.
	Rural areas.	Urban and sub-urban circles.	Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Lahore	3,83,422	1,09,548	4,92,970
Chunian	5,73,324	7,409	5,80,733

(b) The land revenue demand imposed at this settlement (1937-38) is subject to sliding scale remissions to be announced at each harvest on the basis of current prices. During the last rabi a remission of 2 annas per rupee of the sanctioned demand was allowed. Supposing the same rate of remission will be found due for this kharif, the net demand for the year works out to Rs. 4,17,774 for the Lahore tahsil and Rs. 6,20,541 for the Chunian tahsil.

NUMBER OF LAMBARDARS IN THE PROVINCE.

4936. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state the number of lambardars in the whole province taken into custody in the year 1938 for not depositing the sums of land revenue collected by them in time and the number of days of their detainment in each case ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : The preparation of these statistics would require an amount of time and labour out of all proportion to the results obtainable. I regret that Government do not feel justified in calling for them.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : That is what I expected.

Minister : You might expect anything you like.

TOTAL AREA OF LAND SOLD IN THE GANJI BAR.

4938. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the total area sold so far in the Ganji Bar, Montgomery district, and the maximum rates per acre realized so far in this respect ;
- (b) total area given as grants in different forms in the said Ganji Bar and on what conditions ;
- (c) total area given on lease for temporary cultivation at present in the same colony and the terms of such leases ;
- (d) remaining area in the said colony which has not yet been brought under cultivation ;
- (e) what are the plans of the Government for the disposal of the lands not yet disposed of in the said colony ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) The total area in Multan and Montgomery districts is 76,689 acres. For Montgomery alone since 1925 it is 41,228 acres. The highest price realized is Rs. 1,018 per acre.

(b) 889,548 acres, as per details given in the statement attached. The conditions will be found in Punjab Colony Manual, Supplement IV, 1933 edition.

(c) 39,759 acres. Conditions are given in the correction slip No. 27-C. M., dated the 17th March 1937, page 235 of the Punjab Colony, Supplement IV, 1933 edition.

(d) 69,657 acres.

(e) Most of the area left is either of poor quality or cannot easily be irrigated. Future allotments must depend upon the supply of water available.

AREA NOT CULTIVATED IN RABI 1989.

*5025. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma: Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that a very large area has not been cultivated in rabi 1989 in the province;
- (b) whether it is a fact that this non-cultivation is due to the failure of rains at the time of sowing of rabi crops;
- (c) if the answer to (a) and (b) above be in the affirmative, whether the Government intends to grant or proposes to grant any remission to the zamindars so affected in the province?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Kuan): (a) The area sown in rabi 1989 fell short of that sown in rabi 1988 by 11 per cent.

(b) Yes: most probably.

(c) Liberal suspensions and remissions of land revenue and abiana have been granted to those who suffered from shortage of rain, kungi, hailstorms, etc.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma: May I know whether any remission was given to the Kangra district or any part of the Kangra district?

Parliamentary Secretary: I am afraid I cannot give figures districtwise unless the honourable member gives notice.

COMPLAINTS AGAINST THE DISTRIBUTION OF TACCAVI LOANS IN HISSAR DISTRICT.

*5029. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the method according to which taccavi fodder to the zamindars of district Gurgaon is being distributed at present;
- (b) whether complaints of corruption regarding Re. 0-4-0 per bullock and also misappropriation of fodder by those entrusted with the distribution of taccavi fodder have recently reached the Government; if so, with what result;
- (c) whether it is also a fact that fire recently broke out in the fodder heaps at Faridabad and Ballabgarh in the Gurgaon district; if so, whether it has been ascertained that it was only a trick to conceal the dishonesty of those concerned with the distribution work;
- (d) whether Government have also received complaints about weightment of fodder at the Government dumps in the districts; if so, with what result?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): (a) Deserving zamindars are at first given by tahsildars fodder parchis, on the presentation of which at the nearest fodder dump, fodder is supplied accordingly.

[Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan.]

(b) Yes : such complaints about corruption as have reached Government are being investigated by the local officers. No complaints of misappropriation have been received.

(c) Yes. But in the course of a magisterial enquiry it was found that there had been no attempt to conceal the dishonesty of those entrusted with the work of distribution.

(d) No.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know by whom the enquiry was conducted ?

Parliamentary Secretary : By the Revenue Assistant.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Parliamentary Secretary please state whether those persons who made complaints were examined and their statements recorded and also whether they were afforded an opportunity to substantiate their allegations ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I cannot give the honourable member the details of the enquiry. But this much I can assure him that an enquiry was held in this connection.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know if the complainants were called upon to give their statements ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I regret the details of the enquiry and the manner in which it was conducted cannot be given.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I take it that enquiry means that the complainants should not be examined nor afforded any opportunity to substantiate their allegations ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether the enquiry was conducted on the spot or at the headquarters ?

Parliamentary Secretary : As I have already stated the details of the enquiry cannot be given.

PRICES OF BHOOSA AND KARVI MEANT FOR DISTRIBUTION AMONG ZAMINDARS OF GURGAON DISTRICT.

*5030. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the rates of prices fixed by the Government for bhoosa and karvi that is being given to the zamindars on taccavi in Gurgaon district ;
- (b) whether Government has ascertained the prices of fodder, bhoosa and karvi in the adjacent United Provinces, district of Muthra, etc., if so, what are these prices ;
- (c) whether it is not a fact that the zamindars who bring fodder from the adjacent United Provinces district get it four times cheaper as compared with the rates fixed by the Punjab Government for the taccavi fodder ;

- (d) if so, the action Government contemplate to take to provide fodder at cheaper rates to the zamindars of Gurgaon in the famine-stricken area ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) (i) Bhoosa at Re. 0-12-0 per maund.

(ii) Karvi at Re. 0-12-0 per maund during June 1939. In other months it varied from Re. 0-12-0 to Re. 1 per maund.

(b) The prices of bhoosa and karvi in the adjoining district of Muttra in the United Provinces varied from Re. 0-7-0 to Re. 0-9-0 per maund. The incidental charges on account of freight, loading, etc., amounted to Re. 0-5-0 per maund, in the case of bhoosa and in the case of karvi to Re. 0-6-0 per maund.

(c) No. They had to pay a higher price than the price fixed by the Punjab Government.

(d) Does not arise.

REMISSION GRANTED TO KISANS OF DOABA.

5047. Shrimati Raghbir Kaur : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state what remission and financial help, if any, have been allowed to the Kisans of Doaba where the last Rabi crops have been destroyed by drought and hailstorms ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : As regards hailstorms there has been no serious damage, and no remission.

On account of drought, Rs. 31,870 have been suspended from the land revenue demand for Rabi 1939.

There has been no special demand for taccavi.

CLERICAL AND MINISTERIAL ESTABLISHMENT IN DEPUTY COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE, JHANG.

5104. Sayed Nawazish Ali Shah : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) the strength of the clerical and ministerial establishment in the Deputy Commissioner's Office, Jhang ;

(b) how many of them are agriculturists and non-agriculturists ;

(c) how many of them belong to the district of Jhang and how many are outsiders ;

(d) how many of them belong to Chiniot tahsil ;

(e) what steps Government intend taking to give proper representation to the said tahsil and eliminate the element that does not belong to the Jhang district ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Khazanfar Ali Khan) :

(a)	84
(b)	Agriculturists	..	27
	Non-agriculturists	..	57
(c)	Residents of the district	..	72
	Outsiders	..	12	This includes three divisional appointments not under the control of the Deputy Commissioner.
(d)	5

(e) It is not possible for Government to fetter the discretion of officers in selecting the best candidates by giving special consideration to as small a unit as a tahsil.

APPEALS TO COMMISSIONER, JULLUNDUR, AGAINST ORDERS OF DEPUTY COMMISSIONER, FEROZEPORE.

5105. Captain Sodhi Harnam Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the names of officials of all classes working in different departments under the Deputy Commissioner, Ferozepore, who preferred appeals to the Commissioner, Jullundur, against the orders of punishment by Mr. Amin-ud-Din, I.C.S., Deputy Commissioner, Ferozepore, who has since been transferred ;
- (b) how many of these appeals were accepted and how many were rejected ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) As regards the giving of names attention is invited to the policy of Government enunciated in the Volume of Secretariat Instructions, Chapter XVI, paragraph 427, clause (e). The number was ten.

(b) Five and five.

REPRESENTATION MADE BY INSIDAD NAQAIS GREY CANALS COMMITTEE.

5109. Captain Sodhi Harnam Singh : With reference to the answer to my starred question No. 4606¹, asked on 17th April, 1939, will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether the matter represented to him by the deputationists consisting of the members of the Insidad Naqaish Grey Canal Committee on 4th January, 1939, has been finally considered ; if so, the action taken or proposed to be taken in the matter ;
- (b) whether the deputationists were given an opportunity to produce evidence in support of the complaints made by them in that representation : if not, why not ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : Enquiries into the matter are proceeding.

NAIB-TAHSILDARS AND TAHSILDARS.

*5198. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state:—

- (a) the number of Naib-Tahsildars and Tahsildars appointed directly communitywise from 1st April, 1937, till now in the Province;
- (b) the minimum educational qualifications necessary for being selected for the above mentioned appointments;
- (c) whether those candidates who were selected for these posts satisfied these conditions?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a)

			Tahsildars.	Naib-Tahsildars.
(i) Muslims	8	24
(ii) Hindus	3	21
(iii) Sikhs	3	12
(iv) Others	1	1

(b) (i) For Tahsildars.—The rules will be found at Rule 5 (1) (a) of the Punjab Tahsildari Rules.

(ii) For Naib-Tahsildars.—The rules will be found at Rule 5 (1) (b) of the Punjab Tahsildari Rules.

(c) Yes : with one exception which was covered by proper authority.

NAIB-TAHSILDAR, KHARAR.

*5199. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that recently serious allegations against the conduct of the present Naib-Tahsildar of Kharar have been made to the Deputy Commissioner, the Commissioner and the Government;
- (b) whether Sardar Naranjan Singh, Pleader of Kharar, district Ambala, has made representations against the said Naib-Tahsildar to the above authorities;
- (c) the enquiry, if any, held and the action, if any, taken thereon?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) and (b) Yes, allegations were made against the present Naib-Tahsildar of Kharar to the Deputy Commissioner and Commissioner by and at the instance of Sardar Naranjan Singh, Pleader of Kharar.

(c) After a thorough enquiry it was found that these allegations were totally false.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I ask if the pleader who made the complaint was given an opportunity to prove the allegations?

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether the complaint was made in writing and whether the specific allegations were made in writing?

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes, Sir.

Lala Duni Chand : If these allegations were found to be false, was any action taken or is intended to be taken against the pleader?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is not necessary that if allegations are not proved, action should be taken against the person who made such allegations. On the other hand, the policy of Government is to encourage the public to bring to the notice of Government cases of corruption or malpractice.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it true that the allegations made by the pleader against the naib-tahsildar referred to actually happened in open court?

Parliamentary Secretary : As far as I know the statement of the pleader was taken, when he said that his complaint was not against the Naib-Tahsildar himself but against one of his munshis for taking bribe.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if this gentleman made a representation to the Bar Association, Ambala, and he repeated the same allegations that he had made in writing to the Deputy Commissioner?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

APPLICATIONS RELATING TO BENAMI TRANSACTIONS.

5231. Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) the number of applications made to and disposed of by the revenue officers under the new legislation relating to Benami transactions in the Rawalpindi district;

(b) if the action is still to be taken on such applications, the reasons for the delay in disposing of these applications?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) 813 and 197.

(b) Applications are being duly considered but it may be observed that only with difficulties is attendance of parties secured as cases relate to scattered villages in the district, and most cases have to be heard on the spot.

LAMBARDARS.

5259. Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state the names of lambardars of the Hoshiarpur district who have been suspended or dismissed after the last district board elections in Hoshiarpur and the reasons for the action taken in each case?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): With your permission, Mr. Speaker, I should like to give one answer to cover this question and questions Nos. *5204¹ and *5178²—

(a) A statement is laid on the table. For detailed reasons in each case the honourable member is referred to the files of the cases from which copies may be obtained under the rules. Of those dismissed one was for taking part in a subversive movement; his case is sub-judice, on appeal; and 8 were for unauthorised absence. Of those suspended one zaildar was dealt with on a police report; one sufedposh for subversive activities; 2 lambardars for failure to pay their dues to the village bank; one for an offence in connection with the recovery of land revenue; 3 for taking part in a subversive movement; 2 for non-payment of fines; 3 for neglect of duty and 5 for giving false evidence. One zaildar was degraded for neglect of duty.

(b) The information is included in the statement.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh: May I enquire from the Parliamentary Secretary whether the zaildar who has been degraded had refused to fight the district board elections against a nominee of the Congress?

Parliamentary Secretary: About whom is the honourable member asking this supplementary question?

Chaudhri Kartar Singh: About the zaildar who has been degraded because he had refused to fight elections against the nominee of the Congress.

Parliamentary Secretary: No zaildar has ever been degraded on account of his having refused to fight district board elections against a nominee of the Congress.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh: Then what was the charge against him?

Parliamentary Secretary: I have already said that if the name of the person concerned is mentioned, I would furnish the necessary information.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: Was the zaildar concerned degraded because he had refused to stand against a Congress candidate in the district board elections?

Parliamentary Secretary: It is an unfounded insinuation.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh: Then, for the neglect of which duty was he degraded?

*5204. SARDAR HARI SINGH: Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state the number of lambardars suspended and dismissed in Hoshiarpur district since the last elections to the District Board, Hoshiarpur, with the names of those suspended and dismissed and reasons therefor?

*5178. SARDAR HARI SINGH: Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) how many zaildars, sufedposhes, lambardars have been either dismissed or suspended or degraded since 1st March, 1939, in the district of Hoshiarpur, and, reasons in each case;

(b) number of similar cases last year?

Parliamentary Secretary : I will let the honourable member know after making an enquiry if he tells me the name of the zaildar. But it should be sufficient for an honourable member of this House to be told that action was taken against an official for the neglect of his duties.

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Parliamentary Secretary : Such supplementary questions should be withdrawn rather than disallowed.

Statement showing action taken against zaildars, sufedposhes and lambardars in Hoshiarpur district.

POSTPONEMENT OF SETTLEMENT OPERATIONS IN GURDASPUR.

5261. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether he has received a resolution regarding postponement of settlement operations in Gurdaspur district, adopted by the District Board, Gurdaspur; if so, what action does he propose to take on it?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (i) Yes.

(ii) The matter is under consideration with the forecast report of re-assessment of the Gurdaspur district. No orders have yet been passed.

DAMAGE BY FIRE IN VILLAGE MATAB GARH, DISTRICT AMBALA.

5270. Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) whether he is aware of the fact that a heavy fire broke out at village Matab Garh alias Taprian, Police Station Jagadhri, District Ambala, on 8th December, 1938, and caused a serious loss to the Achhuts of that place so much so that they were left destitute;

(b) whether it is a fact that soon after the fire broke out the Naib-Tahsildar of Jagadhri went to the said village to see things for himself;

- (c) whether it is also a fact that the aforesaid Achhuts have submitted a representation to the authorities at the Jagadhri Tahsil for help; if so, the action taken or intended to be taken thereon?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): (a) I am now informed that fire broke out in December 1938, in the abadi of Chamars known as Taprian in Jagadhri tahsil.

(b) Yes.

(c) First part.—None reached the Deputy Commissioner.

Second part.—I am asking the Deputy Commissioner to report.

Chaudhri Jugal Kishore: Is it a fact that the houses of the Harijans were completely burnt down?

Parliamentary Secretary: I have already replied to that question, and have stated therein that reply is awaited from the Deputy Commissioner and has not been received upto this morning.

Chaudhri Jugal Kishore: A year has passed and yet no remedy has been provided.

CLOSURE OF BAHUNA MINOR IN HISSAR DISTRICT.

5290. Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan: Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether the Bahuna Minor (Western Jumna Canal) in Hissar district, remained closed from 5th to 11th July, 1939; if so, the reasons for this closure;

- (b) whether the zamindars concerned have suffered any loss by the temporary closure and if so, whether Government intends compensating them for the loss?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): (a) No. The Minor remained closed only on 8th July, 1939, but had reduced supply on 9th and 10th July, 1939, as it could not draw any more on account of low supply in the Sirsa Branch.

(b) The zamindars have not suffered any loss and the question of compensation, therefore, does not arise.

TEMPORARY ALIENATION OF LANDS.

5291. Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan: Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether Government's attention has been drawn to the revenue ruling reported in Lahore Law Times of 1926 at page 15 and the Civil Ruling reported in Lahore All-India Reporter 1939 at page 235 which hold temporary alienations of land given in execution of money decrees as lease not terminable before the fixed period and on the strength of the above rulings, one Habib, Rajput, of village Mangali, Hissar district, has failed to get his land (80 b. k., half canal irrigated and half barani given as temporary alienation for 14 years for Rs. 75) redeemed on payment of proportionate decretal amount ; if so, what amendment Government proposes to make in the existing law to afford relief to the zamindars whose lands are given on temporary alienation in money decrees without proper regard to their income ?

[K. S. Ch. Sahib Dad Khan.]

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): Yes, I have also seen the order passed on Habib's application.

The point raised in the question will be referred to the Law Department for consideration.

CONSOLIDATION OF LANDS.

5297. Sardar Harjab Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state as to whether after consolidation the land is treated as ancestral or self-acquired ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): The answer would appear to depend on the nature of the rights held in the land vacated. The attention of the honourable member is invited to section 12 of the Punjab Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1936.

REMISSION OF LAND REVENUE IN DOABA.

5298. Sardar Harjab Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether Government intends remitting land revenue chargeable from kharif crops this year in Doaba on account of the failure of rains at the proper time ; if so, how much of the land revenue is intended to be remitted ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): The question of granting relief will be considered in due course according to rules after the results of the girdawari are known.

GRANT OF LAND TO MEMBERS OF JAMIAT-UL-QURESH-I-HIND.

5314. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state whether he has received a copy of the resolution adopted by Jamiat-ul-Quresh-i-Hind, in their conference held in Lahore on 26th and 27th August, 1939, regarding grant of land to the members of that class and if so, what action does he propose to take on the resolution ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): Yes. A petition was received asking for special consideration for Mirasis alleged originally to be Qureshis. While Government are always ready to consider any deserving claims, they are not aware of any grounds for granting special consideration to this class.

SUPPLY OF SEED FOR RABI CROPS TO ZAMINDARS OF AJNALA TAHSIL.

5320. Khan Sahib Chaudhri Fazal Din : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether he is aware of the fact that on account of the failure of last kharif crops and also of the refusal of the village sahukars to lend money the zamindars of barani villages in the Ajnala tahsil are unable to get seed for the cultivation of the next rabi crop ; if so, the action that Government propose to take to help those zamindars in this predicament ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): (a) Yes. If rain falls it is our intention to provide taccavi. Without rain grant of seed taccavi is useless.

SCHEME FOR THE SUPPLY OF WATER TO BARANI TRACT OF HISSAR DISTRICT.

5322. Chaudhri Suraj Mal : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that a sketch of a scheme to supply water for the kharif crops in barani tract of the Hissar district out of the surplus water of the river Jumna has been proposed ; if so, whether Government has come to any conclusion after consideration of that scheme ;
- (b) if the answer to (a) above be in the affirmative, whether he will be pleased to lay a copy of the scheme on the table of the House and also state when it is likely to be taken in hand, whether immediately or at some future date ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): (a) Yes. Government has sanctioned detailed surveys to be carried out and an estimate prepared.

(b) A copy of the plan¹ showing the approximate alignments of the proposed channels is placed on the table. The irrigation boundary as shown in this plan is only tentative, final boundary will be fixed when the scheme has been completed after surveys when it will be definitely known how far the area can be commanded. The construction will be taken in hand immediately after estimates are completed and the House sanctions funds.

EXPENDITURE INCURRED ON FAMINE RELIEF MEASURES IN HISSAR DISTRICT.

5323. Chaudhri Suraj Mal : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the total expenditure incurred on the famine relief measures of all kinds in the district of Hissar from 1st July, 1938, to 31st August, 1939 ;
- (b) the total expenditure on the over-head charges in this connexion, including the expenditure on tools and plant and charged for their conveyance from the headquarters to the relief centres and the total pay of all the additional officers from the Financial Commissioner down to the tahsildars employed in this direction during this period ?

¹Kept in the Library.

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) The total cost of relief measures on famine in the Hissar district from 1st July, 1938, to 31st August, 1939, is as under :—

	Rs.
(1) Famine Relief measures	37,74,364
(2) Expenditure on special famine staff including the pay, etc., of the Fodder Adviser and his staff	1,22,216
(3) Concession rates for the import of fodder (separate figures for the Hissar district are not available, but it is understood that the major portion of the amount was spent for the import of fodder in this district)	18,67,471
(4) Amount of taccavi advances under— Act XII of 1884	18,67,292
Act XIX of 1883	11,350
(5) Remissions of abiana during the harvests of kharif 1938 and rabi 1939	7,17,730
(6) Remissions of land revenue during the harvests of kharif 1938 and rabi 1939	3,43,017
(7) Remissions of taccavi under both the Acts	63,993
(8) Suspensions of land revenue during the harvests of kharif 1938 and rabi 1939	10,68,058
(9) Suspensions of taccavi during the harvests of kharif 1938 and rabi 1939	6,90,635
Total	1,05,26,126

These figures include the pay of special famine staff, the pay and travelling allowance of the Fodder Adviser and his staff and the cost of fodder concessions, as it is understood that major part was spent for the import of fodder in the Hissar district. Suspensions and remissions have been included for kharif 1938 and rabi 1939 only, as the figures required are with effect from 1st July 1938. The figures of rabi 1938 are not included, as the collections for rabi are normally over by 1st July.

(b) First part.—The expenditure on over-head charges and the cost of tools and plants and their conveyance charges are included in the cost of relief measures. The time and labour involved to separate this information will be incommensurate with the results.

Second part.—The expenditure on account of the pay of additional officers and establishment employed exclusively on famine duty amounts to Rs. 1,05,762 plus £ 75 on account of the overseas pay of Assistant Commissioners. It does not, however, include the pay of additional officers, viz., Additional Financial Commissioner and Additional Revenue Secretary and Additional Deputy Commissioner, as they were not exclusively engaged on famine administration.

Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : May I know what is the amount which fell to the share of Harijans out of the relief money sanctioned by the Government ?

Minister : I have already mentioned it in the statement.

Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : What action does the Government propose to take against those officials of Government who have been guilty of embezzlement in this respect ?

Minister : Does it arise out of this question ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Have any instances of embezzlement on the part of the members of the distributing agency come to the notice of the Government ?

Minister : Probably my honourable friend is thinking of another question which comes later on.

REPRESENTATION FOR REVISION OF LAND REVENUE IN VILLAGE
MIRA, DISTRICT ATTOCK.

5330. Pir Mohy-ud-Din Lal Badshah : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether he has recently received any representation from the zamindars of village Mira, tahsil Pindi Gheb, district Attock, requesting that on account of the failure of crops successively for some years past land revenue for the current year may be remitted ; if so, the action taken thereon ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : First part.—Yes.

Second part.—Report from the local officers is awaited before any action could be taken.

CHAHI-NAHRI CROPS IN CHAK NAHRI, TAHSIL GUJRAT.

5343. Khan Sahib Chaudhri Pir Muhammad : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that in Chak Nahri in tahsil Gujrat, which is non-perennial and is under fluctuating assessment, remission of land revenue on account of protective leases to wells is granted only when rabi crop matures by well irrigation alone but not to crops which are sown by means of nahri irrigation and are matured by well irrigation, i.e., chahi nahri crops ;
- (b) whether he is aware of the fact that such like nahri crops in the rabi harvest are only assessed to chahi rate of land revenue and not to nahri rate, i.e., they are treated as chahi only for purposes of land revenue ;
- (c) if the answers to the above be in the affirmative will he kindly state the reasons for depriving chahi nahri crops in rabi harvest from the benefits of a protective lease, and whether the Government with a view to remove this anomaly and the long standing grievance of the owners of the wells in this chak, intend to take any action in this matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) Yes.

(b) Yes.

(c) The rules sanctioned at settlement, do not allow the benefit of protective lease to be given to such chahi-nahri crops as their assessment at chahi rates alone is a concession in itself.

Khan Sahib Chaudhri Pir Muhammad : What is the reason for the difference in the treatment of these two kinds of crops ?

Minister : The idea is that the man must make something out of what he has spent from his pocket.

Khan Sahib Chaudhri Pir Muhammad : May I know whether in such areas where the crop cannot be matured without well irrigation, it is not justifiable to give protective lease?

Mr. Speaker : That is a hypothetical question.

SCHEME TO SUPPLY CANAL WATER TO KOKRI-KALAN, KAPURE, BHINDER-KALAN AND KHURD.

5352. Sardar Rur Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that the Government have sanctioned a scheme to supply canal water to the area consisting of Kokri-Kalan, Kapure, Bhinder-Kalan and Khurd and surrounding villages ; if so, when it will be operated ;
- (b) whether any representations have been made to the Government by the inhabitants of Kokri-Kalan or the said ilaga in this connexion ; if so, the action taken or intended to be taken on them ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) A scheme has been prepared and is under consideration. If it is found practicable, a demand will duly be put up to the House.

(b) It is not clear to which representation the honourable member refers. The inhabitants of this ilaga made representations for preparation of a scheme and for changing the alignment of the proposed channels which have been given due consideration.

Sardar Rur Singh : Will the Parliamentary Secretary kindly state as to how long the scheme will take to mature ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Not much time.

Sardar Rur Singh : Every time this question is put the stereotyped answer is given that the scheme will mature soon. May I definitely know how long it will take the scheme to mature ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Not much time.

SHORTAGE OF WATER-SUPPLY AT THE TAIL OF KAHROR MINOR.

5353. Munshi Hari Lal : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the irrigators at the tail of Kahrur Minor issuing out of Mailsi canal sent telegram, in May and in October to the irrigation authorities complaining against shortage of water supply ; if so, reasons for the shortage of water supply and the action intended to be taken in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : The answer to the first part of the question is in the affirmative.

Owing to river supply in April, May and June, 1939, being the lowest on record, and supplies in October being below requirements, all outlets on Sutlej Valley Project Canals, including those at tail of Kahrur Minor, did not get their full supply during these months.

However every effort was made to distribute the available supplies proportionately to each Chak.

THAKUR NARAIN SINGH, TAHSILDAR, JAGADHRI.

5354. Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that Thakur Narain Singh, Tahsildar, Jagadhri, is hard of hearing ;

(b) if the answer to part (a) above be in the negative, whether the Government intends to get him medically examined to find whether he is fit for Government service ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) Yes ;

(b) This physical disability is not such as to make this officer unfit for Government service.

Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : Did the Government get Thakur Narain Singh medically examined ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Government does not as a rule get everybody medically examined.

Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : Then, how can he hear what is said in his court ? (Laughter.)

ALLOTMENT OF LANDS IN NILI BAR.

5363. Khan Haibat Khan Daba : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state the total area of Government lands given on lease for temporary cultivation in Nili Bar and the area of the land that has been permanently allotted so far ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : First part.—829,812 acres.

Second part.—554,265 acres.

IRRIGATION OF LANDS BY HEAD WORKS, PALLAN MARI, S. V. P.

5364. Khan Haibat Khan Daba : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) how much of the new area was brought under new scheme of irrigation after the construction of the Head Works, Pallan Mari, S. V. P., and how much of the area previously irrigated by old Mailai canal was included in the new scheme ;

(b) how much of the area previously under the natural sailaba of the Sutlej river was transferred to the new scheme ;

(c) how many villages (with names) were included in the new scheme ;

(d) whether it is a fact that sailaba area was transferred to the new scheme to the great detriment of the proprietary owners of the villages in this area owing to the unsatisfactory arrangement consequent upon the new scheme ;

[Kh. Haibat Khan Daha.]

- (c) if the answer to (d) is in the affirmative, whether the loss then incurred by the proprietary owners was brought to the notice of the Government; and if so, to what extent these sufferers were compensated for this loss?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): (a)

	Acres.
New Area	241,015
Area previously irrigated by the old Lower Sutlej Inundation Canals, all of which has now come on the new Mailsi and Pakpattan Canals ..	818,709
	<hr/> 1,059,724

(b) 15,351 acres.

(c) A statement¹, giving the names of the villages irrigated at present from the new Mailsi Canal is placed on the table.

(d) No.

(e) Does not arise.

DROUGHT IN MIANWALI DISTRICT.

5377. Khan Bahadur Captain Malik Muzaffar Khan: Has the attention of the Honourable Minister of Revenue been drawn to the scarcity of rain and the consequent drought prevailing in the Mianwali district for the last four years; if so, reasons why it has not been declared a famine-stricken area like that of Hissar, Rohtak and Gurgaon and no relief works have been started to help the poor inhabitants of the area?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): Drought in the Mianwali district came to the notice of Government in January, 1939, when reports were called for from the Veterinary Department as well as from the Deputy Commissioner, Mianwali and Commissioner, Rawalpindi.

Owing to substantial rainfall in February last, the situation has considerably eased.

Scarcity of fodder has been met by the introduction of concession rates for the carriage of fodder to Piplan and Aluwali stations in the Mianwali district.

A sum of Rs. 89,000 has been sanctioned for distribution as taccavi under Act XII of 1884 and another sum of Rs. 7,000 under Act XIX of 1883.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: Is it a fact that the districts of Rohtak and Gurgaon have not been declared famine-stricken areas?

Parliamentary Secretary: There is a very long distance between Mianwali and Gurgaon.

¹Placed in the Assembly Library.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : The Parliamentary Secretary has not taken the trouble of going through the main question which runs as follows :—

Why has it not been declared a famine-stricken area like that of Hissar, Rohtak and Gurgaon ?

Now my question is whether they are actually declared as such.

Parliamentary Secretary : The question is about Mianwali and the honourable member is referring to Rohtak, Gurgaon and Hissar.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it or is it not a fact that the districts of Rohtak and Gurgaon have not been declared famine-stricken areas ?

Minister : There is no question of declaring Rohtak and Gurgaon as famine-stricken areas.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that Rohtak and Gurgaon have not been declared as famine-stricken areas ?

Minister : Yes.

LANDS REDEEMED UNDER THE PUNJAB ALIENATION OF LAND
(SECOND AMENDMENT) ACT AND THE PUNJAB RESTITU-TION OF MORTGAGED LANDS ACT.

5379. Khan Bahadur Captain Malik Muzaffar Khan : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to lay on the table a list showing—

(a) the area of lands of Mianwali district which has been redeemed under the Punjab Alienation of Land (Second Amendment) Act and the Punjab Restitution of Mortgaged Lands Act, separately ;

(b) whether he is aware that agriculturists in the Mianwali district are experiencing great hardship in the redemption of their lands ; if so, what action does he intend to take in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) 127 kanals and 1 marla under the Punjab Alienation of Land Act, and none yet under the Punjab Restitution of Mortgaged Lands Act.

(b) No. The latter part does not arise.

Khan Bahadur Captain Malik Muzaffar Khan : Is it a fact that in some districts special officers have been appointed for this purpose ?

Minister : We have appointed nobody as yet.

Khan Bahadur Captain Malik Muzaffar Khan : Is the Government prepared to appoint any such officer for the Mianwali district ?

Minister : Applications are being received and as soon as a sufficient number has been received Government will consider them.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Has it been brought to the notice of the Honourable Minister that some of these tahsildars abuse, threaten and intimidate people ?

Minister : I have no such information.

PATWARIS.

5416. Khan Muhammad Yusaf Khan : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (i) whether patwaris are to all intents and purposes Government servants and
- (ii) that in the matter of concession and privileges attached to Government service these patwaris are not treated like all other Government servants; if so, the reasons for continuing to treat them differently from other Government servants ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (i) No.

(ii) Does not arise.

ACHERIS OF HISSAR DISTRICT.

5419. Master Kabul Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that one hundred and seventy-five Acheris of the Hissar district have not so far been exempted from the operation of the Criminal Tribes Act; if so, the reasons therefor;
- (b) whether the Government intends to exempt those persons from the operation of the Criminal Tribes Act whose conduct ever since their conviction over five years ago has been above reproach ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) No. Only 75 members of Aheri Tribe, whose antecedents and criminal record did not justify exemption and who have been declared as members of a notified criminal tribe by name, are now restricted under the Criminal Tribes Act.

(b) If and when the District Magistrate, Hissar, is satisfied by their behaviour that these men are entitled to exemption he will take appropriate steps.

ACHERIS OF HISSAR DISTRICT.

5428. Chaudhri Sahib Ram : Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that the one hundred and seventy-five Acheris of the Hissar district have not so far been exempted from the operation of the Criminal Tribes Act; if so, the reasons therefor;
- (b) whether the Government intends to exempt those persons from the operation of the Criminal Tribes Act whose conduct ever since their conviction over five years ago has been above reproach.

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : The honourable member is referred to the reply just given to question No. *5419 put by Master Kabul Singh.

FOREST CASES OF KANGRA DISTRICT.

4799. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state the total number of forest cases tried under the Forest Act within the limits of Kangra district during the financial year 1988-89, and the total expenditure incurred thereon ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : First part.—84.

Second part.—Rs. 552-12-0 on account of diet money and travelling allowance to witnesses and to the officials of the Forest Department who attended the courts as witnesses or as in charge of prosecution.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Were all these trials purely under the Forest Act or also under the Indian Penal Code ?

Minister : The question relates to the Forest Act only.

COLLECTIVE FARMING.

4922. Khan Muhammad Yusaf Khan : Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state—

- (a) whether the Government has allotted any substantial amount for encouragement of collective farming for the zamindars of the province, specially for those who inhabit the barani areas and own small tracts of land ;
- (b) the number and names of places, if any, where the experiments in this respect are being carried out by Government or by private enterprise to the knowledge of the Government;
- (c) the results, if any, so far achieved in this connexion ;
- (d) whether the Government proposes to encourage such enterprises amongst the zamindars ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : So far as parts (a)—(c) of the question are concerned, no scheme for the encouragement of collective farming has been sanctioned by Government or is contemplated.

(d) The matter requires very careful consideration and Government do not regard it as desirable to make any definite statement in answer to a question beyond this that the question will be carefully considered.

THE MARKETING ACT.

5157. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state—

- (a) the approximate time within which the Marketing Act may be expected to be enforced ;
- (b) whether it will be applied throughout the province or to a few selected markets only ;
- (c) in case the Act is to be applied to certain markets, the names of those markets ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : (a) Rules are under preparation, and no date can be specified yet when the provisions of the Act will be enforced in practice.

[Hon'ble Minister for Development.]

(b) and (c) Government have arrived at no decisions in regard to the points on which information is sought.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I inquire as to how much time it will take to frame these rules ?

Minister : The honourable member may inquire but I cannot answer the inquiry. (Laughter.)

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : How is it that the Honourable Minister finds it impossible to reply to my question ?

RELIEF AFFORDED BY THE CO-OPERATIVE DEPARTMENT DURING THE FAMINE PERIOD TO THE FAMINE-STRIKEN AREA IN AMBALA DIVISION.

5238. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

(a) tahsilwise the number of court decrees, attachments, auctions, arrests and convictions made in respect of the realisation of the debts by the Co-operative Societies in the districts of Rohtak, Hissar, Gurgaon and Karnal during September, 1938 to August, 1939 ;

(b) the steps which the department took to afford relief to the debtors of these areas during this famine period ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : The information asked for by the honourable member is being collected and will be supplied when received.

APPROVED LIST OF NEWSPAPERS FOR THE PUBLICATION OF NOTICES OF DEBT
CONCILIATION BOARDS.

5245. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that the Government has supplied an approved list of newspapers for the publication of notices of Debt Conciliation Boards ;

(b) the basis of the selection of newspapers included in the said list ;

(c) whether there is only one list for the whole province or different lists for different districts of the province ;

(d) the names of the newspapers included in the so supplied list or lists ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : (a) and (c) Government have instructed the Director, Information Bureau, to advise the Chairmen of Debt Conciliation Boards regarding the selection of newspapers in which the notices of the Boards are to be published.

Accordingly, the Director, Information Bureau, recommends from time to time to each Board separately the names of suitable newspapers.

(b) The selection of a newspaper for such recommendation is determined by the following considerations—

- (i) its circulation in the area served by the Board concerned ;
- (ii) the rate of its charges ; and
- (iii) its general attitude towards the principle of conciliation of debts as embodied in the system of the Debt Conciliation Boards.

(d) It is not in public interest to disclose the names of newspapers which have been recommended. It is, however, open to every newspaper to apply to the Director, Information Bureau, and satisfy him regarding its suitability for the publication of the notices of some or all of the Debt Conciliation Boards.

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri : Would it not be proper, and would it not be in the public interest to publish the names of those papers that are patronized by the Debt Conciliation Boards ?

Minister : As I have already stated it is not in the public interest to disclose the names of the papers.

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri : To what papers should the litigants look for these advertisements ?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Is the Honourable Minister serious in saying that it is not in the public interest to disclose the names of these newspapers ?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : It is in the public interest that the names of these newspapers should be widely known to the public, so that the public may know in which papers the advertisements will appear. The public has a right to know the names of these papers. If the Honourable Minister is serious then I would say that his attitude is most perverse.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Does this public interest which the Honourable Minister wants to conceal, mean that most of the advertisements are given to a certain paper that belongs to him ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether the policy of those papers is also taken in view when advertisements are given to those papers ?

Minister : I have nothing to add to the answer already given to this question.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : I want to know whether the Honourable Minister is serious in giving this reply ?

Minister : Yes, I am serious.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Then it is most perverse. He has something to conceal.

Minister : There is nothing perverse ; there is nothing to conceal. In fact it is my honourable friend who is perverse.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Certainly the Honourable Minister has something to conceal.

Diwan Chaman Lal : May I ask in what way the public interest is damaged by disclosing the names of the newspapers ? Is it democracy or Nazism in action ?

Minister : I have nothing to add to my previous answer. The honourable member is at liberty to form his own opinion.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Yes, I have formed an opinion about you and it is a very bad one. (Laughter.)

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Is it not in the interest of the good administration of the province and in the public interest that the names of the newspapers should be disclosed?

Minister : I have nothing more to say on this point.

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri : Is the Honourable Minister aware that debts are wiped out on the non-appearance of a party before the Board?

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : May I ask if the Government has taken any steps to let the people know the names of the papers in which these advertisements are given? Will it not be in the public interest to publish the names of these papers in the Gazette?

Minister : I do not think so.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : May I know why the Government is suppressing this information from the public? The public should know where to look for these advertisements.

Minister : Copies of the issues of the newspapers in which the advertisements appear are generally sent to the parties concerned.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : May I know why certain advertisements are given to certain newspapers and why they are not given to certain respectable papers? Why is Government ashamed of publishing the names of those papers who do not get advertisements?

Minister : My honourable friend is not asking supplementary questions; he is entering upon an elaborate argument.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Is it not in the public interest to inform those people who are invited by the Debt Conciliation Board that they should see the notices of the Board in such and such papers for obtaining the information which they require?

Minister : I have already given my answer.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : What is that answer?

Mr. Speaker : The Honourable Minister has given his answer. Whether the honourable member considers it satisfactory or not, is a different thing.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Under the Act these notices are issued and therefore it is of the utmost importance that the public should know the names of the papers in which such notices are published.

Minister : The practice is that copies of the issues of the papers in which the advertisements appear are sent to the parties concerned.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Under what provisions of the Act is this done?

Minister : There is no such provision in the Act, but it is a practice which is generally followed.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Sir, I would request you to allow half an hour for the discussion of this question.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : The Government is always giving evasive answers and concealing true facts from the honourable members of this House, who are anxious for the good administration of the province. It is a most important question and at least half an hour should be allotted for its discussion.

Mr. Speaker : Has the honourable member—leave of the Assembly to raise a debate as proposed by the Leader of the Opposition ?

(Voices from the Opposition : Yes, yes.)

How many members are against the leave being given ?

(Voices from Government Benches : All, all.)

Diwan Chaman Lall : You are extraordinary people.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : If you would permit me I would read out the rule for a second. What I mean to submit is this that if the matter is at all within your discretion—and you have only informally to ascertain the wishes of the House, but the ultimate decision rests with you—then I would pray that.....

3 P.M.

Mr. Speaker : What is the good of collecting informally the sense of the House, if I have not to give effect to it ? How can I ignore it ? (Hear, hear from Treasury benches.)

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : You should ignore if you can ignore it and if the law permits you to do it. This is the fittest case in which the Chair should ignore the objection of the Government members.

Mr. Speaker : Leave is to be given by the House and not by the Chair.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : That is why I put it. If you are bound, then no question arises but if you have at all any discretion, I would submit that this is the fittest case in which that discretion should be used.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is a learned lawyer and knows well that it is for the House to give leave. I have only to collect the sense of the House informally whether the House is in favour of or against the leave being granted.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : I shall read out the rule :—

(b) on notice given at question time, a period not exceeding half an hour after the hour of interruption or after the conclusion of the business on the list for the day, whichever is earlier, may be allowed to a member to raise a debate on any matter of urgent importance which has been the subject of a question on that day, but no votes shall be taken on such debate :

Provided that the Speaker before allowing such a debate to be raised shall informally ascertain by voices whether the member has the leave of the Assembly for the purpose, and if the Speaker declares thereupon that leave is refused the debate shall not be raised."

Mr. Speaker : Can I, under the rule, declare against the sense of the House ?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Please listen to me. This rule does not lay down that if part of the House or even majority of the House refuse leave, the Speaker is bound by that informal expression of opinion.

[Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang.]

You will kindly read the words of the rule once more. The proviso simply says :—

“ Provided that the Speaker before allowing such a debate to be raised shall informally ascertain by voices..... ”

You are not even bound to ascertain formally. You are required only to ascertain informally for your own satisfaction by voices whether the member has leave of the Assembly for the purpose.

Mr. Speaker : The words are “ has the leave of the Assembly ” and not “ has the leave of the Chair.”

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : The rule does not say “ If the House refuses leave the Speaker shall refuse leave.” These are not the words. The words are :—

“ If the Speaker declares thereupon that leave is refused the debate shall not be raised.”

You are not bound to declare that the leave is refused. You ascertain informally. You have heard five or six voices from that side and they say, “ no, no”. Five or six voices on this side say, “ yes, yes”. On a matter of this great importance my submission is that even if you want to informally ascertain the wish of the House, you ought to be more formal and a little less informal so that you may know the strength of the opinion on our side. I personally feel, as I submitted only a short while ago, that the attitude of the Government, on some occasions, really becomes most objectionable.

Mr. Speaker : No more discussion on this point.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : This is a question for your decision (Interruptions.)

Mr. Speaker : I have collected informally the sense of the House and in my opinion the majority of members present in the House is against leave being given. Short Notice Question will now be taken up.

Diwan Chaman Lall : This is democracy in action ! (Laughter.)

SHORT NOTICE QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

FAMINE OR SCARCITY IN HISSAR, ROHTAK AND GURGAON.

Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) present position in regard to the famine or scarcity conditions prevailing in Hissar, Rohtak and Gurgaon districts ;
- (b) whether Government has made an estimate of the conditions that it may have to face in Hissar, Rohtak and Gurgaon in the ensuing winter season, and if so, the manner in which it is proposed to meet them ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) Hissar.—Famine conditions prevail in the district, except in the Bhiwani tahsil, where there has been some improvement.

Rohtak.—Famine conditions prevail in the Jhajjar tahsil and part of the Rohtak tahsil.

Gurgaon.—Owing to rains in the month of September the situation has improved.

(b) Yes, relief measures will continue in the Hissar and Rohtak districts.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the experience gained by the Government of the relief operations of the last year is that the handsome relief given by the Government does not really go to the people who are entitled to it? Is that the experience of the Government or not?

Minister : Is that a question, Sir?

Mr. Speaker : No. The next question.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : May I put a supplementary question? Has the allegation reached the Government that somebody in charge of this relief in the Hissar district has made forty thousand rupees out of it? If so, has the Government taken any steps to enquire into the matter?

Minister : I have not received any such allegation but if my honourable friend would convey to me the gist of that allegation of which he speaks, I will certainly make enquiries.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : All right.

Lala Duni Chand : A supplementary question.

Mr. Speaker : I do not want to allow a large number of supplementaries on this short notice question because we have already exceeded the limit fixed for questions and if more questions are allowed we shall perhaps be spending at least half an hour on these questions. Only important supplementary questions can be asked.

Lala Duni Chand : Only two supplementary questions have been put on this important short notice question. May I know if the Government is aware of the fact that hundreds of complaints have been made to the effect that the relief does not actually reach the people for whom it is meant?

Minister : The Government is not aware of it.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Does the Honourable Minister remember that I submitted to him a representation containing serious allegations in connection with an embezzlement of an alarming nature?

Mr. Speaker : No questions relating to negotiations or correspondence alleged to have passed between a member and a Minister, can be asked.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : He says that he made an allegation of embezzlement and they, on that side, say that they have not heard of any. The Honourable Minister said that no allegation had reached him. He is giving the lie direct to the answer. He says that he made a report of embezzlement.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : My question is whether the Honourable Minister received any complaint of this nature through me?

Minister : The Honourable member did not send any complaint direct. He sent to me only a copy of a letter which he had written to Maulvi Fateh Din.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Is that not an allegation ?

Minister : That is no allegation at all ? It is private correspondence between him and Chaudhri Fateh Din.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Allegation need not be correct. (Interruptions.)

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether the Honourable Minister went through that complaint and took any action thereon ?

Minister : I did go through that complaint and it was another specimen of the complaints that we receive from him almost every day.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : The Honourable Minister says he receives so many complaints from me. But has he ever made enquiries to find out whether they are correct or baseless ?

DETENTION OF MR. MUHAMMAD SADIQ IN LAHORE FORT UNDER CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT ACT.

Master Kabul Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) the date on which Mr. Muhammad Sadiq, son of Ali Bakhsh, was detained in the Lahore Fort under the Criminal Law Amendment Act ;

(b) the place where he is detained at present and the present state of his health ?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan : Muhammad Sadiq is not, and has never been, detained in the Fort at Lahore. This man was discovered roaming about in the uninhabited tracts of the Muzaffargarh district. As he was unable to give a coherent account of himself and made extravagant claims as to his parentage, he was sent to Lahore and has since been restored to the care of his relatives who were traced by the police.

Incidentally, this question indicates the reckless way that questions are sometimes asked in this House without proper verification of facts, and I have agreed to allow this question to be asked as a short notice question contrary to the usual policy in such matters, in order to counteract other misapprehensions of the kind which seem to have affected the honourable member.

Premier : Sir, I may be permitted to inform my honourable friend opposite, Munshi Hari Lal, that I propose to answer his question relating to Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma, M. L. A., to-morrow. The information is ready but I have not seen the final answer yet.

UNSTARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

ACREAGE RATE.

896. Khan Bahadur Mian Nur Ahmad Khan : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) whether there are any canals on which unlike the Nili Bar Canals no acreage rate has either been levied or recovered from zamindars up to this time ;

- (b) if the answer to (a) be in the affirmative, the names of such canals and the reasons for their exemption from the levy of acreage rate ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) Yes.

(b) (i) Western Jumna Canal ;

(ii) Sirhind Canal, and

(iii) Upper Bari Doab Canal (old areas).

The watercourses on all the old canals were dug by the zamindars and there was no need for an acreage rate which is levied only on the Colony Canals where the watercourses were dug by Government.

RELIEF FOR OWNERS WHO HAVE SUFFERED LOSS ON ACCOUNT OF CONSTRUCTION OF NILI BAR CANALS.

897. Khan Bahadur Mian Nur Ahmad Khan : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the total area of the riverain lands along the banks of river Sutlej in the tahsils of Dipalpur, Pakpattan and Mailai which, due to the construction of Nili Bar Canals, has been permanently deprived of the benefit which accrued to it on account of flooding,
- (b) the total amount of loss suffered by the owners in this way, and
- (c) the steps, if any, the Government proposes to take to afford relief to the said owners ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) 23,100 acres.

(b) Nil, as the area has been given canal irrigation.

(c) Does not arise.

PERIOD OF FLOW OF KHARIF CHANNELS OF NILI BAR COLONY.

898. Khan Bahadur Mian Nur Ahmad Khan : Will the Honourable Minister be pleased to state whether the Honourable Minister is aware of the fact that the period of flow of the khariif channels of the Nili Bar Colony during the khariif of the current year has been much less than the usual period of six months entailing closure of many channels during the latter part of the season to the detriment of the standing khariif crops ; if so, the action the Government proposes to take to compensate the zamindars of the said areas ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : In early kharif, the supply in the Sutlej was the lowest on record, but in spite of this the area sown on Sutlej Valley Project Canals was greater than last year. During late kharif in September and early October supplies were 60 per cent better than last year's, sufficient to mature kharif crops the condition of which is reported to be good.

RECRUITMENT OF POLICE CONSTABLES IN JHANG AND LYALL-PUR DISTRICTS.

899. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state, community-wise, the number of constables recruited for the police force in the districts of Lyallpur and Jhang during the period from 1st April, 1937 to 31st March, 1939 and also state how many of them belong to those two districts and how many of them belong to other districts in the Punjab ?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana :

	Total number of recruits.	Muslims.	Hindus.	Sikhs.	Others.	Local residents.	Residents of other districts.
Lyallpur	82	52	6	22	2	45	37
Jhang	29	21	5	3	..	14	15

GRANT-IN-AID GIVEN TO ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS BY DISTRICT BOARDS.

900. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

- (a) the grant-in-aid given by each of the district boards in the Punjab to elementary and primary schools within their jurisdiction during the years 1936-37, 1937-38 and 1938-39 ;
- (b) the number at present of elementary and primary schools respectively in each of the five divisions ;
- (c) the number at present of students in such schools in each division, respectively ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : I regret that the answer to this question is not yet ready.

FAMINE CONDITIONS IN SANGHAR TAHSIL IN DISTRICT DERA GHAZI KHAN.

961. Sardar Muhammad Azam Khan : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether he is aware of the fact that the Sanghar tahsil of district Dera Ghazi Khan on account of lack of rains and consequent failure of crops last year, is suffering from far worse famine conditions than any that obtained in Rohtak and Hissar districts last year and that many sufferers in the said tahsil are leaving their homes in dire poverty and destitution and that cattle have died in thousands on account of lack of fodder ;
- (b) if answer to the above be in the affirmative, what has the Government done or proposes to do to save the Sanghar people from want and consequent death ;
- (c) whether Government proposes to afford relief to the sufferers in the form of reduction in revenue and grant of taccavi loans ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) It is a fact that owing to the failure of hill torrents, kharij crops in the Sanghar tahsil are below average and many villagers have migrated to the riverain Sindh circle and Muzaffargarh. There is, however, nothing abnormal about this migration. No report has been received to the effect that thousands of cattle have died on account of lack of fodder as there is sufficient grazing along the river banks.

(b) and (c) The following relief was given in the Dera Ghazi Khan district during the last two harvests :—

Harvest.	Amount suspended.	AMOUNT REMITTED.
		Out of current demand.	Out of suspended revenue.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Kharij 1938	36,081	76,598	15,344
Rabi 1939	7,885	86	2,941

The question of granting relief in kharij 1939 will be considered in due course according to rules after the results of the girdawari are known.

Seed has been advanced by the Co-operative Societies and Agriculture Department and taccavi loans will be advanced if necessary.

LOSS OF PROPERTY AND CATTLE DUE TO FLOODS IN SANGHAR TAHSIL.

902. Sardar Muhamamd Azam Khan: Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) whether he is aware of the fact that in the month of July, 1939, one-half of the abadi of village Mangrotha (tahsil Sanghar) was swept off by floods, the loss of property and cattle amounting to Rs. 25,000 and that on account of the coming of winter the houseless sufferers are in a pitiable condition ;

(b) if answer to the above be in the affirmative, what has the Government done or proposes to do to help the sufferers ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) The abadi of village Mangrotha was seriously flooded due to unauthorised construction of embankments in the hill torrents by the villagers themselves. The loss did not exceed Rs. 18,000.

(b) The Indian Red Cross Society has given Rs. 800 for the relief of very needy sufferers and this amount is being distributed.

GRANTS FROM GOVERNMENT OF INDIA FOR RURAL DEVELOPMENT.

903. Sardar Baldev Singh: Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

(a) the total amount received up to 1st October, 1939, from the Government of India as grants for rural development ;

(b) what amount, out of these grants, has so far been spent on the various items of rural development in the Punjab ;

(c) out of the money spent, what amount has been spent in the Ambala district ;

(d) what is the proportion of the amount spent in the Ambala district to the amounts spent in the Gujrat, Gurdaspur, Jhelum, Mianwali, Dera Ghazi Khan, Rohtak and Hisar districts, separately ;

(e) why Ambala district has received such step-motherly treatment ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : (a) Rs. 14,61,006 ;

(b) Rs. 14,26,386 ;

(c) and (d) With the exception of the discretionary grants of Rs. 1,91,547, out of which Rs. 3,500 were allotted to the Deputy Commissioner, Ambala, funds for all other schemes were placed at the disposal of beneficent departments. As most of the schemes are of a general nature, it is not possible to apportion the expenditure district-wise.

(e) Does not arise.

SUPPLYING OF HYDRO-ELECTRIC TO THE INHABITANTS OF AMBALA DISTRICT.

904. Sardar Baldev Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state the reasons why Government has not supplied electricity generated at the Mandi Hydro-Electric Headworks for private and public use to the inhabitants of the Ambala district?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : So far only Stage I of the Uhi River Hydro Electric Project has been executed. The present system is almost loaded to capacity, and further extensions of the Hydro Electric Grid cannot be contemplated unless the present supply of power can be augmented. It was proposed to augment this power by construction of a Thermal Station, but the outbreak of War has rendered it impossible to obtain the necessary plant at an early date. The proposal to extend the Grid from Ludhiana to Ambala and other important towns on the main route to Delhi was examined some time ago but was dropped as sufficient load was not forthcoming to justify such extension. The matter will be considered again in due course when arrangements have been made to augment the power available at present.

REPRESENTATION OF HINDU AGRICULTURISTS IN GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENTS IN FEROZEPUR DISTRICT.

905. Chaudhri Sahib Ram : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state the total amount paid as abiana by the Hindu agriculturists of the Ferozepur district and their representation in all the Government Departments in the Ferozepur district?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : The collection of this information would involve great deal of labour which is not commensurate with the results.

POLICE CONSTABLES.

906. Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri : Will the Hon'ble Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) community-wise the number of police constables in each district of the province ;
- (b) community-wise the number of police constables freshly recruited during the last five years in each district of the province ?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : Figures showing the communal proportions in the police as a whole will be found in the consolidated statement supplied annually to all honourable members. To collect the other figures desired by this question would entail an expenditure of time and labour out of all proportion to the result. In this connection a reference is invited to the reply given in the last spring session to Question 4093* put by the honourable member for the South-Eastern Towns (General) Urban Constituency.

RECRUITMENT OF NAIB-TAHSILDARS.

907. Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri : Will the Hon'ble Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether the Government has fixed any communal proportion for the recruitment of naib-tahsildars in the Rawalpindi division, or issued any instructions to the Commissioner or the officers concerned in this connexion ; if so, what their nature is ;
- (b) whether any such proportions have been fixed for any other division ; if so, the name of the division along with these proportions ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) and (b) The question of communal proportions in the various divisions is under the active consideration of Government.

NUMBER OF NAIB-TAHSILDARS.

908. Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri : Will the Hon'ble Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) community-wise the number of naib-tahsildars in each division of the province ;
- (b) community-wise the number of naib-tahsildars freshly recruited during the last five years (1935—39) in each of the provincial divisions ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) and (b) Statements are laid on the table.

(a) Statement showing community-wise the number of Naib-Tahsildars in each division of the Punjab.

Name of division.	Muslims.	Hindus.	Sikhs.	Christians.	Total.
Ambala	13	17	1	1	32

HONORARY MAGISTRATES WORKING IN GUJRAT.

909. Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri: Will the Hon'ble Premier be pleased to state—

- how many honorary magistrates are at present working in the town of Gujrat ;
- whether there is any Hindu on the bench of honorary magistrates in the town of Gujrat ;
- whether there is any Hindu working as honorary magistrate independently of the Bench ;
- if the answers to (b) and (c) above be in the negative, the reasons for excluding the Hindus from this honorary public post ?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat Khan : There are two honorary magistrates sitting in Gujrat (both Muslims), in addition to the members of the town bench. The bench consists of three Muslims and one Sikh. The question of adding a Hindu is under consideration.

HINDU MEMBERS FOR THE DEBT CONCILIATION BOARD, GUJRAT.

910. Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri: Will the Hon'ble Minister of Development be pleased to state—

- whether any Hindu has been appointed as a member of the Debt Conciliation Board, Gujrat ;

[R. B. Mr. Mukand Lal Puri.]

(b) whether the Government is aware of the fact that the creditor class in the Gujrat tahsil to deal with which the Board has been appointed consists of almost 90 per cent. Hindus ;

(c) if the answer to (a) above be in the negative, why no representation has been given to the creditor class on this Board ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : (a) No.

(b) Hindu creditors are about 60 per cent. of the creditor classes.

(c) The Sikh member belongs to the creditor classes.

NUMBER OF EMPLOYEES OF RAWALPINDI MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE.

911. Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : Will the Hon'ble Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) the number of employees in the Rawalpindi Municipal Committee ;

(b) the community to which each employee belongs and the grade of pay and the actual pay that he draws at present from the committee ;

(c) the duration of each employee's service and the designation of the post he holds ;

(d) whether it is a fact that the Muslims in the said committee are not adequately represented ;

(e) if the reply to (d) above be in the affirmative, what action the Government propose to take to redress this grievance of the Musalmans of Rawalpindi City ?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : (a) 447.

(b) and (c) A statement¹ is laid on the table.

(d) No.

JHATKA DISPUTE IN PASRUR INTERMEDIATE COLLEGE.

912. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : With reference to the reply to my unstarred question No. 818* will the Hon'ble Minister for Education be pleased to state—

(a) whether the students who created trouble in the Pasrur college and who were responsible to create hatred between the sister communities were dealt with or not ; if so, what punishment was awarded to such students ; if none, the reasons therefor ;

(b) the status quo which was maintained ?

¹Placed in the Assembly Library.

*Page 45 ante.

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) No student was punished. It is not in the public interest to assign reasons for any particular action in such a matter.

(b) The cooking of jhatka meat was continued in the boarding house attached to the College.

RECOGNITION OF ZAMINDARA HIGH SCHOOL, KARNAL.

913. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Hon'ble Minister for Education be pleased to state whether he is aware of the fact that Muslims of Karnal opened a zamindara high school last year and it has not been recognized so far; if so, reasons for the same and whether the Government intends to give it a grant-in-aid?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : Yes, but the authorities of the school have not so far applied for its recognition. The question of giving recognition to the school, therefore, does not arise. The question of giving grant-in-aid can be considered only after a school has been granted recognition.

NAIB-TAHSILDARS AND TAHSILDARS NOMINATED FROM AMONG THE SCHEDULED CASTES.

914. Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Will the Hon'ble Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) community-wise the total number of persons nominated as naib-tahsildars and tahsildars in the Punjab during the current year;

(b) whether due representation in the appointment of naib-tahsildars and tahsildars has been given to scheduled castes, if not reasons for the same and the action the Government intends to take in the matter?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) Tahsildar, candidates: nil. Naib-tahsildar candidates: 40, viz., 19 Muslims, 18 Hindus, 8 Sikhs.

(b) 1st and 2nd part.—No suitable person belonging to the scheduled castes was recommended by the deputy commissioners for appointment as naib-tahsildar.

Third part.—The question of fixing communal proportions in the various divisions in the province is under the active consideration of Government.

HINDU AND MUSLIM PIAS IN ROHTAK TOWN.

915. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Hon'ble Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) the number of Hindu pias in the Rohtak town and in its vicinity;

[K. S. Khawaja Ghulam Samad.]

- (b) the number of Muslim pias in the Rohtak town and its suburbs ;
- (c) whether the Muslims of Rohtak did ever apply to construct pias in the Rohtak town ;
- (d) whether they applied for permission to build a piao in Mandi, Rohtak where hundreds of Muslims go daily on business ;
- (e) whether this application was brought before the Municipal Committee in a meeting for decision ; if so, the Municipal Committee's orders passed thereon ;
- (f) order passed by the Deputy Commissioner, Rohtak, on the resolution passed by the Municipal Committee in connection with the matter mentioned in (d) ;
- (g) copy of Deputy Commissioner's order together with committee's resolution in connection with the pias ;
- (h) whether it is a fact that the Hindus constructed a piao in the said Mandi on public ground ; if so, whether permission of the Municipal Committee was obtained for constructing it, if not, the action taken by the committee thereon and the Deputy Commissioner's order passed thereon ;
- (i) whether he is prepared to lay the papers containing full details of Hindu piao on the table of the House ; if not, why not ?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : (a) 6.

(b) 3.

(c) Yes. The Municipal Committee sanctioned their application for the establishment of a piao on municipal land in Bazar Bazaza subject to Commissioner's sanction.

(d) Yes.

(e) to (i) The Hindu community without proper sanction but on the strength of an agreement between the Municipal Committee and one Baldeva, reconstructed in April, 1939, a piao which had existed in Mandi Rohtak since 1922. The Municipal Committee sanctioned the construction of another piao in the same locality for Muslims in August last. The Deputy Commissioner in regard to the Hindu piao advised the Committee to take action under sections 172 and 195 of the Municipal Act. In regard to the Muslim piao the Deputy Commissioner suggested to the Committee that it would be a bad precedent and that the encroachment should be removed. It would not be in the public interest to lay on the table a copy of the correspondence.

APPOINTMENTS GIVEN TO SCHEDULED CASTES MEN.

916. Lala Harnam Das : Will the Hon'ble Premier be pleased to state the number of persons belonging to scheduled castes so far appointed in the various government departments on monthly salaries of rupees.

forty and upwards specifying the posts and the scales of the posts to which they have been appointed since 1st April, 1937, and also the places of residence of the persons so appointed, and if no such has been appointed to a post carrying a monthly salary of Rs. 40 and upwards the reasons therefor?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat Khan : The information required by the honourable member is being obtained. It will be communicated to him when ready.

PROFESSORS, LECTURERS AND DEMONSTRATORS IN GOVERNMENT INTERMEDIATE AND DEGREE COLLEGES IN THE PROVINCE.

917. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Hon'ble Minister for Education be pleased to state, communitywise, the number of professors, lecturers and demonstrators in the Government Intermediate and Degree colleges, in the province in each grade of service?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : A statement giving the required information is laid on the table.

Statement showing community-wise the number of professors, lecturers and demonstrators in the Government Intermediate and Degree Colleges in the Punjab.

ELECTION OF VILLAGE PANCHAYAT OF VILLAGE NUTKANI, DISTRICT DERA GHAZI KHAN.

918. Munshi Hari Lal : Will the Hon'ble Minister of Public Works be pleased to state :—

- (a) when the last election of the Village Panchayat of village Nutkani, tahsil Sanghar, district Dera Ghazi Khan, take place under the Panchayat Act ;

*Parsi.

†On foreign service. A Muslim is working in his place.

[Munshi Hari Lal]

- (b) whether there is any Hindu or Sikh Panch included in the Panchayat ;
- (c) whether or not any representation was made to the Commissioner and Deputy Commissioner by the Hindus or Sikhs of the village Nutkani praying for their representation on the said Panchayat ; if so, with what result ?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : (a) November, 1936.

(b) No.

(c) The Hindus made representations to the Deputy Commissioner who was unable to take any action in the matter. He has reported that so far as is known no Sikh lives in the village. I may add for the honourable member's information that a panchayat consists of elected members only.

PANCHAYAT OFFICERS.

919. Chaudhri Muhammad Abdul Rahman Khan : Will the Hon'ble Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of panchayat officers in the Punjab ;
- (b) the name of each panchayat officer, his home address and qualification and the pay he will get ;
- (c) what points were kept in view while making the selection of the panchayat officers mentioned in (a) above ?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : The information is being collected and will be supplied to the honourable member in due course.

HONORARY MAGISTRATES.

920. Chaudhri Muhammad Abdul Rahman Khan : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to lay on the table of the House a statement showing the following particulars about the honorary magistrates in the province—

1. Names, 2. Grades, 3. Academic qualifications, 4. Squares of land or jagir awarded to them so far, 5. Ilaga, 6. The average of the cases decided by them during this year so far, 7. The average of those cases among them the decisions of which were not altered on appeals ?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat Khan : I am afraid that it would not be possible to collect the full information desired by the honourable member without an expenditure of time and labour out of proportion to the results to be obtained, but the honourable member will find a good deal of information regarding the number of cases tried by honorary magistrates.

in the statements at the end of the annual "Notes on the Administration of Criminal Justice in the Punjab." A full list of the honorary magistrates in the province is published in Part II of the Half-Yearly Civil List. The educational qualifications are not given there, but I may mention that before appointing any person as an honorary magistrate and before renewing the powers of any of the existing honorary magistrates Government invariably satisfy themselves that the gentleman concerned is at least able to read and write the vernacular fluently.

INDUSTRIAL CHEMISTS AND THEIR ASSISTANTS IN THE UNIVERSITY LABORATORIES.

921. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

- (a) community-wise the number of industrial chemists and their assistants in the University laboratories and state if all the communities are properly represented on its staff;
- (b) whether the senior research assistant of these laboratories is qualified in Chemistry;
- (c) the steps Government intends to take to give due share to the Muslims in this department?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye: (a) The University Technical Chemistry Laboratory is run under a contract between the University and the Forman Christian College, Lahore. The staff at the Laboratory is employed by the College and not by the University. The new appointments at the Laboratory are, however, subject to the approval of the University Advisory Committee. The number of the industrial chemists in the Laboratory community-wise is as follows:—

- (i) Christian 1 (He is an American);
- (ii) Hindu 8 (One man has been appointed temporarily).

There are no posts of research assistants in the Laboratory. The staff at the Laboratory is, however, assisted in their work by the Principals and staff of the Hailey College of Commerce, Lahore and the Punjab College of Engineering and Technology, Lahore.

(b) There is no post called as senior research assistant in the Laboratory. The head of the Laboratory, however, is a graduate in Chemistry of the Princeton University (United States of America).

(c) Attempt has been made to see that the various communities be represented on the staff of the Laboratory. A Muslim gentleman has just resigned from the staff and his place has been filled only temporarily pending a permanent appointment. Government does not consider that any particular action in the matter is necessary.

DIRECTOR, PROFESSORS, LECTURERS AND DEMONSTRATORS IN CHEMICAL LABORATORIES OF THE UNIVERSITY.

922. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

- (a) the name of the Director of the Chemical Laboratories of the Punjab University ;
- (b) community-wise the number of professors, lecturers and demonstrators in the said laboratories ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) Professor S. S. Bhatnagar, O.B.E., D. Sc., F. Inst. P., F. I. C.

(b) Hindus	7
Muslim	1
Sikh	1
Christians	2 (one post was vacated recently and officiating arrangements are under the consideration of the University).

HINDU SCHOLARSHIP HOLDERS.

923. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to reply to my unstarred question No. 720¹, dated 22nd March, 1939 ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : I regret that the answer to the question is not ready.

PROSECUTING DEPUTY SUPERINTENDENTS OF POLICE.

924. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : With reference to the reply to my unstarred question No. 728² will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state whether he intends to take any action in order to give due share to the unrepresented community in the appointments of prosecuting Deputy Superintendents of Police ?

The Honourable Major Nawabzada Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : If the cadre of Deputy Superintendents be viewed as a whole, what the honourable member calls the "unrepresented community" will be seen to have fared by no means badly, and the fact that none of the Prosecuting Deputy Superintendents happens at this moment to come from that community does not call for any special action.

OFFICE SUPERINTENDENTS IN THE SECRETARIAT OF IRRIGATION BRANCH.

925. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) community-wise the number of office superintendents in the Secretariat of Irrigation Branch ;

- (b) the steps which the Government propose to take to give due share to the under-represented communities in the and Secretariat ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) Number of office superintendents including one deputy superintendent 10

Christians	8
Hindus	5
Muslims	2

- (b) None. The appointments to the posts of superintendents are not made on communal basis. They are made by selection combined with seniority.

COMMUNAL REPRESENTATION IN THE SECRETARIES AND UNDER-SECRETARIES IN THE PUNJAB CIVIL SECRETARIAT.

926. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) community-wise the number of Secretaries and Under-Secretaries in the Civil Secretariat of the Punjab Government ;
- (b) the action which he proposes to take to give due share to the under-represented communities in the said Secretariat ?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan :

- (a) The honourable member will find this information on pages 9—11 of the Civil List.
- (b) The appointments to the Secretariat are made purely on merit and is a result of the exigencies of the service and not with regard to communal considerations.

DISTRICT JUDGES AND SUB-JUDGES IN THE PROVINCE.

927. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) community-wise the number of district judges showing separately the number of P.C.S. and I.C.S. officers, senior-sub-judges and sub-judges separately ;
- (b) the steps which he intends to take to give due representation to the under-represented communities in the civil and judicial services in the Punjab ?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan : (a) The required information in regard to the Punjab Civil Service district judges as well as sub-judges (which include senior sub-judges) is given at page 25 of the Consolidated Statement showing the proportionate representation of the various communities serving in the different departments of the Punjab Government as it stood on the 1st January, 1939. The names of both Indian Civil Service and Punjab Civil Service district judges are also given at pages 27-28 of the Punjab Civil List corrected up to 1st July, 1939.

(b) Recruitment to the Punjab Civil Service, Judicial Branch, is now made in accordance with the Regulations under section 255 (2) of the Government of India Act, a copy of which is laid on the table. It will be seen that these regulation provide for the due representation of all communities.

NOTIFICATION.

The 8th October, 1938

No. 7929-G-38/33386.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 255 (2) of the Government of India Act, 1935, the Governor of the Punjab is pleased to make the following regulations as to the number of persons in the Subordinate Civil Judicial Service of the Province who are to belong to the different communities in the Province. These regulations are in supersession of all previous regulations on the subject:—

(1) Recruitment for all vacancies shall be conducted in the following communal proportions—

						Per cent.
Muslims	50
Hindus and others	30
Sikhs	20

(2) Recruitment will be made in units of 10, and in every alternate year one of the vacancies allotted to Hindus and others should be assigned to others (viz., Indian Christians, Budhists, etc.). Of the total number of recruits 60 per cent. should be zamindars and 40 per cent. non-zamindars and in each year one seat at least should be given to Hindu zamindars from the allotment for Hindus and others. A representative of the scheduled castes shall be recruited from time to time outside the communal proportions laid down for Muslims, Sikhs, Hindus and others.

(3) The provisions of rules (1) and (2) above shall be subject to suitable candidates being available and subject to their having passed the prescribed qualifying examination.

(4) In the allotment of vacancies to Sikhs and Muslims, care should be taken to ensure that both zamindars and non-zamindars are represented and that the proportions of 60 : 40 are observed as far as possible.

(5) For the purposes of these regulations the term zamindars shall include—

Punjab Government Notification, No. 10056-G-38/25110, dated 28th July, 1939.

- all members of tribes notified as agricultural under the Punjab Alienation of Land Act, 1900 and
- all hereditary proprietors or hereditary tenure-holders of agricultural land mainly dependent thereon and residing in rural areas, as well as actual cultivators of such land.

Explanation 1.—A candidate will be held to be a zamindar if he can show that either his father or grandfather is or was a proprietor or tenure holder of agricultural land and is or was mainly dependent thereon.

Explanation 2.—The words "mainly dependent thereon and residing in rural areas," apply both to proprietors and tenure-holders.

A. V. ASKWITH,

Home Secretary to Government, Punjab.

APPLICATIONS FOR THE RECTIFICATION OF CASTE.

928. Khan Muhammad Yusaf Khan : Will the Hon'ble Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- the number of applications for the rectification of caste that have been made to the Collectors or other revenue authorities in the province since the present Government has assumed office ;
- the number of cases wherein the applicants succeeded in getting their castes rectified ;

(c) the number of such applications made in Rawalpindi district during the same period as in (a) ;

(d) the number of such applications as were accepted by the revenue authorities themselves and the number of those which were sent for judicial findings in civil courts separately ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : Enquiries have been made from the deputy commissioners. Their replies are awaited.

DEPARTMENTAL INQUIRY AGAINST THE PATWARI AND ZAILDAR OF VILLAGE SADALPUR.

929. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Hon'ble Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether recently a departmental inquiry was held against the patwari and zaildar of village Sadalpur, tahsil Patachabad, district Hissar, in connexion with the misappropriation of fodder taccavi ; if so, the result thereof and the action taken in the matter ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : First part.—Yes.

Second part.—The patwari was suspended in March, 1939, on a charge of irregularity in connection with fodder taccavi and as a result of enquiry was reinstated in June. The zaildar was also suspended and the conclusion of the local authorities was that the charges of misappropriation against him were probably true. As convincing evidence was not forthcoming the zaildar was reinstated by the Deputy Commissioner. An entry about the incident has been made in the zaildar's book and he has been removed from the office of circle inspector for the distribution of gratuitous relief.

REPRESENTATION AGAINST ADDITIONAL DISTRICT MAGISTRATE, ROHTAK, RE ELECTION OF VICE-PRESIDENT, JHAJJAR SMALL TOWN COMMITTEE.

930. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Hon'ble Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that several Muslim Municipal Commissioners of Jhajjar had represented last year to the Government in writing through me complaining against an irregularity committed by the Additional District Magistrate, Rohtak, in the election of Vice-President of the Jhajjar Small Town (Municipal) Committee ; if so, whether any inquiry was made or any other action taken by the Government ;

(b) The result of the inquiry, if it was made ?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : (a) and (b) No such representation was received by Government.

FINANCIAL CONDITION OF SMALL TOWN COMMITTEE, TOHANA.

931. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Hon'ble Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) the financial condition of Small Town Committee, Tohana, district Hissar ;

[K. S. Khawaja Ghulam Samad.]

(b) whether it is under debt or is free from encumbrances?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : (a) The financial position of the Committee is satisfactory.

(b) The Committee is not in debt.

APPOINTMENT OF CANDIDATES OF SCHEDULED CASTES AS EXTRA ASSISTANT COMMISSIONERS.

932. Chaudhri Faqir Chand : Will the Hon'ble Premier be pleased to state the number of Extra Assistant Commissioners appointed direct or by promotion from the scheduled classes of the province during the last two years and if none has been so appointed, the action that Government proposes to take in the matter?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan : The honourable member is referred to the reply given to unstarred question No. 697¹ put by Bhagat Hans Raj on the 17th March, 1939.

REPRESENTATION OF THE MUSLIM LEAGUE, REWARI, RE FEE CONCESSION TO MUSLIM STUDENTS.

933. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Hon'ble Minister of Education be pleased to state —

(a) whether it is a fact that the Secretary, Muslim League, Rewari, submitted a representation, dated 24th May, 1939, to the Director of Public Instruction through Inspector of Schools, Ambala Division, requesting for grant of special fee concessions to Muslim students studying in the Government High School, Rewari, irrespective of the percentage fixed by the department;

(b) whether any inquiry is made by the headmaster to find out the income of a student's father before granting him any concession in fee; if so, how this inquiry is made;

(c) the number of scholarship-holders who have been given fee concessions in the current year and during the past 4 years in the said school with their names and father's incomes?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) Yes; the representation was received and the Inspector was asked to enquire into the matter.

(b) Yes; the parents desirous of obtaining fee concessions for their children submitted applications in which they explained the need of the concession. The applications were handed over to the teachers community-wise to scrutinise them and to express their opinion and make recommendations on receipt of which the concessions were awarded. This year, however, the applicants were required to give information in the form of a questionnaire before their applications were considered.

(c) The required particulars of the scholarship-holders enjoying fee concessions are as follows :—

Year.	Name of scholarship-holder.	Annual income of father.
		Rs.
1935-36	1. Harkaish Chand 2. Umrao Singh	360 60
1936-37	1. Umrao Singh	60
1937-38	Nil.
1938-39	Nil.
1939-40	1. Mata Din	96

IRREGULARITIES AND MAL-PRACTICES AT THE HISSAR CENTRE EXAMINATION.

934. Chaudhri Sahib Ram : Will the Hon'ble Minister of Education be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that about six months ago the parents of Gian Parkash and Sudershan Singh, students of 4th class of M. B. Main School, Hissar, made complaints in writing to the educational authorities regarding irregularities and mal-practices at the Hissar centre examination held on 26th March, 1939;

(b) whether he is aware of the fact that the application containing the complaints were, after an endorsement by the M. L. A. of the Constituency on 31st May, 1939, sent to the authorities under a registered cover ;

(c) if the answer to (a) and (b) above be in the affirmative whether any action has been taken so far on those applications and if not, the reasons for this delay in disposing of these applications ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) and (b) Yes.

(c) The Inspector of Schools, Ambala division, has quashed the Examination result and ordered the promotion of all the twelve boys, who were declared as failed by the Assistant District Inspector and the District Inspector of Schools, Hissar.

MUNSHI MOHAMMAD RAMSAN KHAN, TEACHER IN JAMALPUR SHAIKHAN SCHOOL.

935. Chaudhri Sahib Ram : With reference to the answer to starred question No. 8604, asked on 19th January, 1939, by Pandit Shri Ram, Sharma, M. L. A., will the Hon'ble Minister of Education be pleased to state—

- (a) the result of the magisterial inquiry held for the second time into the case against Munshi Mohammad Ramsan Khan, a teacher of the D. B. Primary School, Jamalpur Shaikhan, in the Hissar district if it has been completed by now ;
- (b) the reasons why the case was entrusted for inquiry to another magistrate when Khan Abdul Latif Khan, Naib-Tahsildar, Tohana and Kanwar Balbir Singh, Magistrate, 1st Class, with Section 30 powers, had already inquired into the case and also submitted their reports ;
- (c) whether it has not come to his notice that in the inquiry held for the second time the complainants were not allowed to appear before the magistrate and given no chance to substantiate the charges against the said teacher ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : I regret that the answer to this question is not yet ready.

ADJOURNMENT MOTIONS.

AHRAR MOVEMENT.

Dr. Satya Pal : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the repressive policy adopted by the present Ministry to crush the Ahrar Movement by prosecuting its leaders and workers.

Mr. Speaker : In my opinion the motion is not in order.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May we say a word in regard to this matter ? It is a very important matter.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is a Parliamentarian of standing. Will he please point out the rule under which an honourable member can make a speech at this stage ?

Diwan Chaman Lall : That is exactly what I want to say. On another occasion I referred you to certain rulings given in the Central Legislature.

Mr. Speaker : I want a rule or ruling of our Assembly and not of other legislatures.

Diwan Chaman Lall : We have our own rule relating to adjournment motions. It says that a matter which is urgent, or of public interest or of recent occurrence may be discussed by way of an adjournment motion on the floor of the House. That is the rule which governs this particular adjournment motion. (A voice: Definite matter.) My honourable friend says, 'definite matter.' Can there be anything more definite than that the members of the Ahrar party have been arrested wholesale, people have been arrested while reading the Koran or leading processions and that people have been assaulted? This is certainly a definite matter which can be discussed here.

Mr. Speaker : May I draw the honourable member's attention to Rules 43 and 44 of our own rules. Rule 43 says :—

Leave to make a motion for an adjournment of the business of the Assembly for the purpose of discussing a definite matter of urgent public importance must be asked for after questions and before the list of business for the day is entered upon.

Rule 44 says :—

If the Speaker is of the opinion that the matter proposed to be discussed is in order he shall read the statement to the Assembly and ask whether the member has the leave to move the adjournment.....

Diwan Chaman Lall : True. The Speaker has the discretion in this matter, but it should not be an arbitrary discretion.

Mr. Speaker : I can allow the honourable member seeking the leave or even any other honourable member to make a speech or say a few words to explain the motion. That is not forbidden. But when the motion is not in order, in my opinion, all I need do is not to read it to the House, giving or not giving reasons.

Diwan Chaman Lall : True. Your practice in the past has never been to arrogate to yourself a duty, which is, to say the least, a very unpleasant duty, but to let the House give whatever guidance it can, in order to have an opportunity to come to a right conclusion whether this particular matter is within the rules or not. That has been your practice in the past and a correct practice too. I want to suggest that this particular adjournment motion is covered by our practice, covered by our rules and covered by the precedents on similar occasions in other legislatures.

Mr. Speaker : It is true that in some cases I allow honourable members to explain their motions and state their facts, so that the House may understand the object. But when I consider a motion to be out of order, I decline to read it to the House.

Diwan Chaman Lall : On what grounds?

Mr. Speaker : I need not state any.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Quite true. I have no intention of cross-examining you. All that I say is that it might prevent us in future from wasting the time of the House. If honourable members were to be informed as to what particular rules have been infringed in regard to this particular adjournment motion, then they would be careful in future in giving notices of such adjournment motions.

Mr. Speaker : The object of an adjournment motion is to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance. In my opinion the Honourable Dr. Satya Pal's motion does not relate to a definite matter of urgent public importance.

Diwan Chaman Lall : I do not say that you are debarred from entertaining any opinion. It is your privilege to hold any opinion. All I suggest is that opinions are based upon either rules or precedents. They do not drop from the sky.

Mr. Speaker : In my opinion the subject matter of the motion is neither definite nor of urgent public importance and therefore it is not in order.

ARREST ETC., OF KISAN MORCHA LEADERS.

Dr. Satya Pal : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the arrest and conviction and detention in jails of kisan morcha leaders even after a settlement has been arrived at.

Mr. Speaker : The motion is out of order.

ARREST AND DETENTION OF M. ABDUL KARIM WAZIRABADI.

Dr. Satya Pal : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the arrest and detention of M. Abdul Karim Wazirabadi at Chichawatni without any warrants and without the police having taken sufficient care to verify if the arrested man was the required person.

Mr. Speaker : The motion is out of order.

HANDCUFFING OF PANDIT BHAGAT RAM SHARMA, MEMBER OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the handcuffing of Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma, M. L. A. a member of this House during his trial.

Mr. Speaker : The motion is out of order.

PRESS EMERGENCY POWERS ACT, 1931.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the abuse of the Press Emergency Powers Act, 1931, by the Government in demanding securities from such a large number of newspapers and Presses as disclosed in the answer given by the Honourable the Premier to question No. 4732¹ and supplementary questions put thereon.

Mr. Speaker : Lala Deshbandhu Gupta asks for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance namely, the abuse of the Press Emergency Powers Act, 1981, by the Government in demanding securities from such a large number of newspapers and Presses as disclosed in the answer given by the Honourable Premier to question No. 4792¹ and supplementary questions put thereon.

Premier : I have no objection.

Mr. Speaker : The motion will be discussed at 6-30 P. M.

SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATES.

Finance Minister : Sir, I beg to present the Supplementary Estimates, first instalment for 1939-40. I beg to intimate that the demands made in these Estimates are made on the recommendation of the Governor.

NORTH-WESTERN RAILWAY LOCAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE.

Minister for Public Works : Sir, I beg to move—

This Assembly shall elect on such date as may be fixed by the Honourable the Speaker and through the method of proportional representation and single transferable vote, two representatives, who shall be members of the Assembly to serve on the North-Western Railway Local Advisory Committee, representing the rural interests and the travelling public.
