The motion was proposed, put and carried.

Mr. Speaker : I propose to fix Tuesday the 28th November, 1939, as the date for holding the election of two representatives of the Punjab Legislative Assembly to serve on the North-Western Railway Local Advisory Committee. Members should send in nominations to the Assembly office not later than 8 P. M. on Friday the 24th November on proposal forms which can be had from the office.

VILLAGE PANCHAYAT BILL.

Clause 8—continued.

Mr. Speaker : The House will now resume consideration of the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill, clause by clause.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the following new part be added —

(g) who becomes a whole-time salaried officer of the Government or of a local body.

According to clause 6, all the officials are excluded from the panchayat, but there is still a possibility that after the constitution of the panchayat a member gets Government service or local body service, then in that case that member will continue to be a member of the panchayat. Take the case of certain members of the Debt Conciliation Board. There are certain members of the local bodies who at first were not Government servants but thereafter they were appointed as members of the local Debt Conciliation Board and they still continue to be members of the local bodies. Take the case of the Ludhiana Municipality. One of the members of that municipality was made a member of the Debt Conciliation Board and we wrote to Government asking whether he was entitled to sit on the local body and the Government ruled that that member should continue to be a member of the local body. There is the possibility that a member of the panchayat might accept Government service or local body service, in that case he will continue to be a member of the panchayat. It is for the reason that if any member accepts such service he should be removed by Government from the panchayat that I move the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Sub-clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the following new part be added—

(g) who becomes a whole-time salaried officer of the Government or of a local body.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Southern Towns, General, Urban) (Urdu) : Sir, the amendment that has been moved by my honourable friend Sardar Kapoor Singh is quite like the one which I have given notice of. I would, therefore, seek your permission to say a few words about it at this very stage. My main point is that the employees of the district boards and the municipal committees should not be debarred from becoming the members of panchayats. On the other hand the whole-time salaried servants of the Government should certainly be disqualified to become "panches" or "sarpanches" of the panchayats. The chief aim of the amendment that stands in my name is that the employees of local bodies should not be debarred from becoming panches or sarpanches of the local panchayats. There will be absolutely no harm if they are allowed to seek election to the panchayats.

With these words, Sir, I resume my seat.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : I am prepared to accept the amendment in the name of Pandit Shri Ram Sharma, but not the one moved by Sardar Kapoor Singh, because as the last speaker said I feel that the servants of local bodies should be allowed to be elected to panchayats if they command the confidence of the electorate.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the following new part be added—

(g) who becomes a whole-time salaried officer of the Government or of a local body.

The motion was lost.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Southern Towns, General, Urban) : I beg to move—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the following new part be added :—

(g) who is or afterwards becomes a whole-time salaried servant of the Government.

The motion was carried.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) : Sir, I move—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the following proviso be added :—

Provided that an opportunity shall be given to the panch concerned to offer explanation or defence before any action is taken under parts (a), (e), (2), (c) and (f).

You will see that the provisions of clause (8) are very drastic and it is but necessary that an opportunity should be given to the person concerned, when the Government decides whether a person should be removed from office or not, to make his explanation. In some cases it may not be necessary to give an opportunity, for example no explanation is necessary if a person refuses to act. But in such cases as (d) that the panch has absented himself without reasonable cause, there may be reasons for absence and in such cases he must be given an opportunity to give his explanation and an ex-parte decision should not be taken against him. Similarly in the case of (e) where a panch is guilty of misconduct in the discharge of his duties, it may be that a false report is made against the person, why should that person be not given an opportunity to explain? The report of misconduct made against him may be absolutely false or the complainant may be inimical or the whole thing may be of a different nature or of a different type and he may have had good reasons for acting in a particular way or he might have acted in a particular way in the discharge of his duties. Again, in the case under part (a) where a defect of character is implied, the word "character" has not been defined in this Act and it does not find a place even in the General Clauses Act or anywhere else. So, it is the individual opinion of the officer to whom the Government has delegated its power which will be considered. That officer may be the panchayat officer, who may be a non-matric and even if a matric, he may not have that knowledge and wide discretion which generally a first class magistrate or other responsible officer possesses. Supposing he does not like that panch to be there he may say that a certain thing which that panch has done which he believes to be in the interests of the village is not correct and on that basis he says that his character is defective. The panch concerned must be given an opportunity to defend himself. As this clause contains drastic measures, some restriction must be placed on them. Even in the cases tried by district and sessions judges there are appeals, reviews and revisions. Even in the case of district boards or even under section 16 of the Punjab Municipal Act an opportunity is given to the person concerned to explain himself before he is removed. I want that a similar provision should be enacted in this Act also. After all, this is a legislation allied to the Municipal Act or the District Boards Act or the Small Towns Act. I do not understand why a departure is sought to be made in this legislation. The panches are not supposed to be so well conversant with the local affairs and it is all the more reasonable that an opportunity should be given to these persons to offer an explanation. Such unfettered discretion should not be given to the officer.

My suggestion, after all, does not make any distinction. A fortnight's delay will not affect the course of events either way. After all, a person who has spent money, who has been sent by his people, will discharge his duties faithfully and there is no reason to leave the matter entirely to the unfettered discretion of the officer who may not have the mind to study or examine the case dispassionately. Therefore my amendment is not only harmless but very useful. I expect that the Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill who has been liberal in accepting some of our amendments, will also accept this amendment. My amendment will improve the Bill and will make it more healthy. With these words, I move my amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the following proviso be added :—

Provided that an opportunity shall be given to the panch concerned to offer explanation or defence before any action is taken under parts (a), (c), (d), (e) and (f).

The next four amendments and the first part of amendment No. 51 being substantially the same raising different aspects of the same matter, may be discussed together and will be voted upon separately, if necessary.

Munshi Hari Lal (South-Western Towns, General, Urban) : Sir, I submit that no penalty proposed in clause 8 should be imposed upon any panch or a sarpanch, unless he has got an opportunity of explaining himself and unless an enquiry is conducted in his presence. At present the clause stands thus—

Government, or any officer to whom under section 75 (1) it may delegate its power in this behalf, may after such enquiry as it or he may deem fit remove any panch.

The amendment moved by himself and my honourable friend Pandit Kalia propose an enquiry to be conducted in the presence of the panch and an opportunity to be given to the panch to explain the charges that may be levelled against him. I submit this because the section is penal in nature and entails a certain disability of the panch.

[At this stage Lala Bhagat Ram Choda drew the attention of the Chair to the fact that there was no quorum and on the bell being rung there was found to be quorum.]

I was submitting that an opportunity should be given to the panch before he is removed from office to explain himself and that the enquiry should not be conducted in his absence. As the present clause stands it means that the officer conducting the enquiry may not observe this statutory rule. He may go on enquiring into the conduct of the panch and into the allegations made against him in his absence. My amendment and that of Pandit Muni Lal Kalia only raise the point that the enquiry should be conducted in the presence of the panch and that he should be given an opportunity to explain before he is removed and that he should not be left at the mercy of the local Government or of the officer to whom the powers of his removal may have been delegated. It is only to ensure justice and to inspire confidence that we move this motion. It is consistent with the principles of criminal law that nobody should be condemned behind his back. He should be given an opportunity to clear himself and we provide an opportunity. With these remarks I support the amendment that has been moved by my learned friend.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Southern Towns, General, Urban) (Urdu) : Mr. Speaker, the amendment that stands against my name covers the whole subject matter of both the amendments that have been separately given notice of by my honourable friends Pandit Muni Lal Kalia and Munshi Hari Lal. I would like to submit that since the name of the Bill under consideration is the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill it is therefore, in the fitness of things that it should be framed in accordance with the principles underlying the formation of panchayats. But it is a pity that such principles are not being observed in the case of the present measure. I would like to invite your attention to clause 8, sub-clause (1). Under the provisions of that sub-clause the Government has sought to place certain unnecessary limitations on the election of panches. It is provided therein that the Government shall have the power to remove the members under such and such conditions. I do not object to the removal of undesirable persons from the panchayats but the point which I like to stress is that the Government should desist as far as possible from interfering with the affairs of the panchayats. We have good reasons to fear that the provisions of this clause would be misused. We have already got bitter experience in this connection. We know how the Government generally takes undue advantage of certain provisions. If you only take the instance of the question hour in the Assembly you are sure to judge how far such privileges are being abused by the Government. Even our pertinent questions are replied to in a very impertinent and evasive manner.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member should speak to the motion.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I was submitting that we have got sufficient experience of the mentality of the Government and we are, therefore, justified in demanding such safeguards. Now we have to see as to how the Government would use those powers that are sought to be obtained by means of this clause. Our past experience is awfully disappointing and for future we do not entertain any high hopes. I, therefore, request the Government to introduce the real democratic principles in the clause.

Now let us see what are the grounds on which panches can be removed by the government. They are given in parts (a), (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f). As regards part (a), the authority or the officer to whom Government has delegated its powers can also give orders of a panch's removal. Particularly the last words of this part (a), viz., "implies a defect of character unfitting him to be a panch" have widened the arbitrary powers of the Government to do away with panches. My submission is that this is not justifiable. Supposing a panch has been elected by the rural people and the Government do not like him to be a panch. Now what would be the attitude of the Government? The Government will disapprove of his election by saying that his character is defective.

Now come to part (c) that reads thus :—

(c) who has been notified as disqualified for appointment in the public service.

This part can also be interpreted in a wrong way. My submission is that the Government should know as to under what circumstances the man concerned has been removed from Government service and that the Government should also try to find out whether actually there is anything in him which is held to be responsible for his being disqualified from the service. Furthermore, in parts (e) and (f) also powers of arbitrarily doing away with panches are delegated to the officers. Take part (f) for instance. It is as follows :—

(f) whose continuance in office is, in the opinion of Government or of the officer to whom Government has delegated its power of removal, undesirable in the interests of the public or of the pauchayat.

Before I proceed with my speech I would like to inform the Government that these words 'the interests of the public' repeated by the Government have proved a source of nuisance to us. We are tired of these words. I am afraid this 'interest of the public' might not play havoc with these panches as well. I was submitting that the amendment under discussion requires that the principles underlying the panchayats should be upheld. The Government should not introduce Nazism in the panchayats, against which much hue and cry was raised by the Government benches during the discussion made on the War Resolution. But if you study clause 8 carefully you will find that Nazism and Facism are present in that clause. This amendment of mine does not approve of its arbitrary powers that are likely to be vested in a Government's nominee. I have already made this point clear that the Government want to put more restrictions on the appointment of panches. After all, what is the use of making discouraging provisions in this Bill. In this connection I would again like to draw your attention to the last lines of parts (a) and (c), i.e., "a defect of character unfitting him to be a panch" and "disqualified for appointment in the public service." When this is the position, who will be the Government's nominee to whom Government is going to delegate its power in this behalf, that we do not know. What we should do is to imagine what havoc that person would do, in whom these powers have been vested by the Government. It is now clear that by this method the Government will bring on panchayats men of its own choice and through them party propaganda will be done in countryside. As far as I think, deputy commissioners would not be given this responsibility as they are already busily engaged with their work. If tahsildars and naib-tahsildars or the panchayat officers are nominated by the Government, I think, they will, as experience shows, play a second fiddle to the Government and this would be a death blow to the object which is sought to be achieved in this Bill. Under these circumstances, I think, my amendment to clause 8 is very necessary. As you are aware that under this clause there is no provision by which a panch can stand in good stead, I press upon my amendment which is to the effect that an opportunity should be given to the panch concerned to offer explanation or defence before any action is taken against him. As a matter of fact even in lower courts every possible opportunity is given to an accused to defend his case. But it would be very unjust and inequitable if a panchayat officer or a Government's petty nominee is empowered to remove panches who have the confidence of rural people, without having given them an opportunity to offer explanation or defence. If the Government really do not want to appoint panches of their own choice and that they do not intend to do party propaganda in country-side through them they should give proof of this. My submission in this respect is that if the Government agree to afford an opportunity to the panches, as my amendment requires, to defend their cases, I would not at all suspect their intentions. Before I resume my seat I must submit that if my amendment is accepted by the Government it is well and good, otherwise this Act should not be called Punjab Village Panchayat Act, but it should be called (Dheenga Mushti Act) an Act which will create factions and dissensions.

Minister for Public Works (the Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana): I think the amendment moved is based on a misconception. It is thought perhaps that there will be no enquiry. The opening words of the clause are: "Government.....may after such enquiry as it.....may deem fit." So, there is no doubt or ambiguity in this regard. There will be an enquiry and the person concerned will get a chance to represent his point of view. Of course it will not be an elaborate enquiry of the sort that some of my honourable friends say it should be. There will be no defence or arguments just as in a court of law. The deciding authority will have the full power. We want rough and ready sort of arrangement for dealing with the panches and a proper enquiry would serve the purpose. It has been presumed that perhaps the power will be given to irresponsible and junior persons. Nothing of the sort will be done. The Government will appoint responsible and senior officers for this purpose. That being the case, I think there will be no hardship. With these words I oppose the amendment.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma (Kangra West, General, Rural): Sir, we are surprised to hear the views of the Honourable the Minister on this point. It is really astounding that opposition should come from the Honourable the Minister on an amendment which intends to make the provision more just and equitable to all the persons concerned. If you go through the provisions which have already been passed or which are going to be passed, you will find that there is an attempt by the present Government to reserve arbitrary powers in the hands of the officers and to do away with the panches. When we read this provision with section 10 and with the present section which is under discussion we find that the power which is given under section 6, namely that of election, is taken away by the provisions of sections 10 and 8. Section 10 enacts that when it would not be possible for the Government to elect a panch, it will be within the power of the district magistrate or the officer, who is in charge of the panches in every district, to nominate any member without caring for the wishes of the constituents or for the wishes of the people for whom these panches are being elected. We then come to the section which is under discussion. Here the Government has reserved to itself the power of arbitrarily doing away with the services of any man and not even giving him an opportunity of explaining his conduct which is ordinarily done in almost all cases under the Government Servants Conduct Rules which are at present in force. We do not understand the reason why the Minister concerned should oppose this measure which only intends to make this provision more equitable and more just to all the persons concerned. The Honourable Minister pointed out to the House that there are the words "such enquiry as it may deem fit" and this is a good substitute and gives reasonable opportunity to the person concerned to defend his case. We fail to understand it. We know the type of enquiries which are held by the present day Government. We find that these enquiries are a mere farce. He has conveniently forgotten that ordinarily nobody cares for the rights of the people. The parties are not called upon to explain their conduct. So far as the dictionary meaning of the words enquiry is concerned, it does not in any sense import the word 'defence.' Ordinary dictionary meaning of the word 'enquiry' should be clear to him. Strangely enough the Honourable Minister gives another reason that if this amendment is accepted, it will give it the shape of a regular court of law. Why is the Honourable Minister afraid of these courts of law? Courts of law are there.

[Pt. Bhagat Ram Sharma.]

to administer justice and do justice to all the parties concerned and if this amendment is going to give this whole enquiry the shape of a court of law so much the better for the Minister, for the Government and for the people who are going to be mostly affected by this hard legislation which is going to be enacted by the Government. These loopholes are there and are pointed out by the Opposition but the Honourable Minister is reluctant to agree and give his mind to these suggestions. With these words I support the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That at the end of sub-clause (1) the following proviso be added :—

Provided that an opportunity shall be given to the panch concerned to offer explanation or defence before any action is taken under parts (a), (c), (d), (e) and (f).

Munshi Hari Lal (South-Western Towns, General, Urban): Sir, I beg to ask for leave to move the following new sub-clause:—

That after sub-clause (1), the following new sub-clause be added:—

- (2) A Panch or a Sarpanch or a Naib-Sarpanch so removed by an officer to whom powers under section 70 (1) may be delegated may appeal against his order to the prescribed authority within thirty days from the date of the order.

The motion was lost.

Munshi Hari Lal (South-Western Towns, General, Urban): Sir, I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (2), line 2, between the words "clause (c)" and "of", the words "or clauses (e) and (f)" be inserted.

Now, the sub-clause would read thus:—

No panch who has been removed under clause (a) or clause (c) or clauses (e) and (f) of sub-section (1) shall be eligible for re-election within such period not exceeding five years as Government may fix in each case.

not exceeding 5 years as Government may fix in each case. The Treasury Benchers may also put an interpretation upon this clause that a person who is removed under (e) and (f) will never be eligible for re-election. If this is the interpretation, then he is debarred from seeking re-election within such period as Government may fix and which may not exceed 5 years. At any rate I have considered this clause and I have not been able to make out what is in the mind of the sponsor of this Bill. The clause, as it stands, is dubious. I submit that it would be quite consistent with the policy of clause 8 that persons removed under (e) and (f) shall have the same fate as a panch removed under clauses (a) and (c). Clauses (e) and (f) are also very important. Clause (e) says—

Who, in the opinion of Government or of the officer to whom Government has delegated its power of removal, has been guilty of misconduct in the discharge of his duties.

If a person has been removed on this ground and is found guilty of misconduct in the discharge of his duties should he seek re-election immediately after the period of that panchayat is over or should he also incur the same disability as his brother under (a) and (c)? A person who is found guilty of misconduct in the discharge of his duties is as much to be blamed as a panch removed under the other sub-clauses. I hope the Government will not smell a rat because it comes from the Opposition. I am giving more powers to the Government. With these remarks I move the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Sub-clause (2) under consideration: amendment moved is—

That in sub-clause (2), line 2, between the words 'clause (c)' and 'of' the words "or clauses (e) and (f)" be inserted.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana): I think, Sir, this will make the provisions more drastic. At present the qualifications follow in (a) and (c). According to this amendment it will be extended to (e) and (f). I do not exactly follow the purpose as to why we should like all of them to be penalised.

Munshi Hari Lal : I have said that it is purification of the panchayat. Should a person who has been removed for misconduct in the discharge of his duties incur any disability for a certain period or not, or is he to be entitled to stand for re-election immediately after the period for which the panchayat is elected is over?

Minister for Public Works : According to the present clause he will be removed; but in cases under (c), which you will see is far graver, we have provided that the disqualification may extend up to a period of five years.

Munshi Hari Lal : What about (e) and (f)?

Minister for Public Works : He will be removed simply from membership.

Munshi Hari Lal : He can stand for re-election immediately.

Minister for Public Works : Yes, unless he is disqualified otherwise.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That in sub-clause (2), line 2, between the words 'clause (c)' and 'or', the words 'or clauses (e) and (f)' be inserted.

The motion was lost.

Munshi Hari Lal : I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (2), lines 3-4, for the words 'within.....exceeding' the words 'for' be substituted.

I submit that my amendment is that the words 'within such period not exceeding five years' be deleted and for these words 'for' be inserted.

Mr. Speaker : I would ask the honourable member only to move the deletion of words which he wishes to be omitted. He can proceed further if the House allows these words to be omitted.

Munshi Hari Lal : You will see that in sub-clause (2), lines 3-4 if the words 'within such period not exceeding' are substituted by the word 'for' it will read as follows—

No panch who has been removed under clause (a) or clause (c) of sub-section (1) shall be eligible for re-election for five years—

I want to fix five years, so that he shall not be eligible for re-election for five years.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member's amendment is that the words "within such period not exceeding" be deleted. Then Lala Duni Chand in his amendment No. 57 wants that the words "such period not exceeding" should be omitted. Then there is another amendment in the name of Pandit Shri Ram Sharma in which he wishes that the words "such period not exceeding five years as Government may fix in each case" be omitted, while the word "within" should not be omitted. The honourable member wishes that the word "within" should be omitted, while the other honourable members want that the word "within" should not be omitted. I, therefore, suggest that the deletion of the word "within" should be moved first. If that is not carried, then all the other amendments may be moved one by one.

Munshi Hari Lal : I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (2), line 3, the word "within" be deleted.

The motion was lost.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (2), lines 3-4, the words "such period not exceeding" be omitted.

The object of the amendment which I have proposed is to remove the defects that may be present in the Bill under consideration. Consequently the honourable members sitting on this side of the House have tried, on the one hand, to secure that those persons who will be dealt with under this Bill, will be given an adequate opportunity to defend themselves, and on the other hand, we are seeking to provide sufficient punishment for those who will be ultimately found to be guilty under this Bill. Our attitude, therefore, is based on a sound principle of law, namely that no innocent person should be punished and also that the guilty one should be awarded effective punishment. In view of this twofold object we have moved this amendment that before a person is convicted under this Bill, he should be given ample opportunity to defend himself, and when a panch or sarpanch has been found guilty of a malpractice he should be adequately punished for that. As a matter of fact we know it to our cost that rightly or wrongly the attitude of the Government is different towards different classes and communities. As a result of this unfortunate policy of the Government, several persons who are found guilty of serious offences are allowed to go scot free while certain others are heavily punished even for ordinary and technical offences. What aggravates the position is the fact that when any patriot commits any offence under the impulse of nationalism, he is severely dealt with while a loyalist who may be found guilty of a heinous crime is not brought to book at all. Loyalists are often appointed to high posts instead of being punished for their offences. We know many instances of this kind. But whenever a nationalist is found to be guilty of any crime, however minor or technical it may be, he is dismissed from his post forthwith and is awarded a severe punishment for that. In the days of non-co-operation, those who took part in the national movement were debarred from seeking election to local bodies for a period of five years.

Sardar Dasaundha Singh : If the word "within" is retained, then both the amendments Nos. 66 and 67 go. Both of them are out of order.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is not right.

Sardar Dasaundha Singh : But amendment No. 66 is out of order.

Mr. Speaker : We should wait till that amendment is reached.

Sardar Dasaundha Singh : Amendment No. 67 is also altogether out of order. It reads: "That in sub-clause (2), lines 3-4, the words "such period not exceeding" be omitted.

Mr. Speaker : If these words are omitted, the clause does not become meaningless. Therefore, the amendment is not out of order. Whatever may be the object of the amendment, the clause shall not become meaningless if the amendment is carried.

Lala Duni Chand : I may be allowed to say in reply to the Honourable Deputy Speaker that if my amendment is accepted, although I am afraid it will not be accepted, then the presence of the word "within" will amount to a clerical mistake and will afterwards be corrected as such. It is not the proper time to raise this objection. Far from curtailing the powers of the Government we are seeking to give them a very effective power in the matter under consideration. We want the Government to appoint an officer who will decide as to whether a panch or a sarpanch has been guilty of an offence.

Mr. Speaker : Repetition.

Lala Duni Chand : My point is simply this. When it is an officer appointed by Government who is to adjudicate upon the wrong doings of a panch, we are placing a powerful weapon into the hands of Government. We on this side of the House do not bring forward amendments out of any ulterior motive. We aim at improving this Bill. First we moved amendments in order to save innocent persons. This amendment is intended to provide adequate punishment for those who are proved to be guilty. I would, therefore, commend this amendment to the acceptance of this House. I know that only the question of acceptance is involved. In this House we have no hope of carrying our amendments through.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That in sub-clause (2) lines 3-4, the words "such period not exceeding" be omitted.

The motion was lost.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural): I move my amendment without any speech:

That in sub-clause (2), lines 4-5, the words "as.....cases" be deleted.

The motion was lost.

Munshi Hari Lal (South-Western Towns, General, Urban): I beg to ask for leave to add the new clause which runs as follows:—

In the case of the panch being removed on the ground of his being adjudged insolvent he shall not be eligible for re-election until the order of adjudication is cancelled and until he has obtained a certificate of discharge from a competent court.

My object is that if a man is declared insolvent, he should not be a panch so long as the order of adjudication stands. He should be entitled to seek re-election after the order has been cancelled.

Minister for Public Works : Can the honourable member give reasons at this stage?

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That leave be given to move that at the end of sub-clause (2) the following new clause be added:—

In the case of the panch being removed on the ground of his being adjudged insolvent, he shall not be eligible for re-election until the order of adjudication is cancelled and until he has obtained a certificate of discharge from a competent court.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clauses (2) and (3) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Clauses 9 and 10.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clauses 9 and 10 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 11.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (1), lines 1-2: between the words "Government" and "a panchayat" the words "or the majority of the electors of panchayat area" be inserted.

Sir, the clause that relates to the constitution and establishment of the panchayats clearly shows that the Government may by notification establish a panchayat in any village irrespective of the idea whether the inhabitants of that area are in favour of its establishment or not. The Bill does not contain any provision to the effect that before establishing a panchayat in any village the Government would be bound to elicit opinion of the inhabitants as to whether they approve of the idea of its formation or not. They would have practically no voice in the matter. That clause has already been accepted by the House.

5 P.M.

[S. Kapoor Singh.]

Now the clause under discussion deals with the suspension and abolition of the panchayats. Here again the inhabitants are being deprived of the right of expressing their opinion in the matter. Our contention is that the Government should not be the only judge as to whether a certain panchayat is incompetent to perform its duties or it abuses its powers. In our humble opinion the true judges are those who return the panches to the panchayats. In the former case the Government will have to rely upon the reports submitted by its own officers, probably the panchayat officers or the assistant panchayat officers, and it is very likely that the official so reporting may be prejudiced against certain panches. In this case he would certainly make a biased and prejudiced report against the panchayat. I would, therefore, like to impress upon the Government that those persons alone should have the voice in the matter who take part in the election of the panches. With these words, Sir, I hope and trust the Honourable Minister would condescend to accept my amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in sub-clause (1), lines 1-2, between the words "Government" and "a panchayat" the words "or the majority of the electors of panchayat area" be inserted.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : Sir, I must oppose this amendment. It introduces a dangerous principle. Generally when once elections have been held, there can be no interference, but the honourable mover of the amendment introduces a principle that any day when a majority of electors in a place are opposed to a particular panchayat due to an honest decision, they should be able to have the election set aside. The power of supersession and suspension only rests with the Government and cannot be exercised by the majority of the voters. And if this principle is introduced there will be no working of the panchayats for there will be no security for the panches.

Munshi Hari Lal (South-Western Towns, General, Urban) : I have not been able to follow the reasons advanced by the Honourable Minister. The residents of the panchayat area elect the panches. But what is the check on the panches? The panchayats and panches can only succeed if they command the confidence of the electors of the area. At present the Government sitting at Lahore or the officer of the Government who may be a political man and not an administrator will have it in their hands to report against a particular panch. There is no check on the panches, there is no watch over them. The question is if the power be given to the people of the panchayat area to see if the panches are working honestly, the panches will act above board. But if they think that they are not subject to any public vigilance and there is no authority in the immediate vicinity to scrutinize them, they might grow lax they might act as autocrats and they might grow corrupt. I submit, that the administration of the panchayats should be pure and it is in the interest of the purity of administration that some control should be given to the persons who elect the panches to see that they are working properly. This is a very salutary amendment. With these words I support the amendment.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma (Kangra West, General, Rural): The Honourable Minister in charge has termed this amendment as a dangerous principle introduced in this wholesome enactment. It is due to this dangerous principle that this Government is in power in the province. He says that if the electors are given some power to interfere in cases where the panches are not doing their duty, it would be introducing a dangerous principle. I submit that the principle which he calls dangerous is that wholesome principle of democracy whereby people elected on the votes of the people are forced to see that they continue to command the confidence of the electors and are not like the Punjab Government who, even though the people outside are crying that they are dying with hunger, do not care for the people and are sitting tight in their seats and do not even care to listen to the cries of the people outside. The cardinal principle of democracy is that people elected on the votes of their constituents should always be mindful of the duties which they owe towards their constituents. This amendment is based on that principle and I am sorry to learn that the Honourable Minister thinks this a dangerous principle. With these words I support the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That in sub-clause (1), lines 1-2 between the words "Government" and a "panchayat", the words "or the majority of the electors of panchayat area" be inserted.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the Chair and it was occupied by Mr. Deputy Speaker).

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Southern Towns, General, Urban): Sir I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (1), lines 8—10, for the words "or should.....panchayat" the words, "but for no other reason" be substituted.

to itself sufficient powers under the clause. I, therefore, request my honourable friends opposite to accept my amendment as it is not going to place any effective check on the Nazi tendency of the present Government.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That a sub-clause (1), lines 8—10, for the words "or should....panchayat" the words "but for no other reason" be substituted.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu), Sir, my amendment is identical with the one moved by my honourable friend Pandit Shri Ram Sharma. I want that the first part of the clause may be retained but the latter portion should be omitted. The importance of my amendment cannot be properly understood unless the actual words are read. The clause runs as follows :—

If in the opinion of the Government a panchayat is incompetent to perform, or persistently makes default in the performance of a duty imposed on it by or under this Act or exceeds or abuses its powers.....

So far the Government has taken sufficient powers with regard to the suspension or abolition of a panchayat. But it goes on to make a further demand, i.e.—

Or should there be any other reason which in the opinion of the Government necessitates the suspension or abolition of a panchayat.

I want this portion to be omitted because the Government has already taken sufficient powers in this connection and those powers are comprehensive enough to include every reason for which a panchayat may be suspended or abolished. When you have the words "exceeds or abuses its powers" there is no need for making any further demand like the one contained in the words which I want to omit. We know that the Government should have some such powers and we are prepared to give it those powers. But our fear is that the excessive demands made by the Government are very dangerous. Supposing some honest and influential Congressmen are elected by their fellow villagers and they want to do real service to the people unmindful of the favours or frowns of the Government or its officials. Now our fear is that in such cases the panchayat will abuse its powers.

There is another point which I think the Honourable Minister of Development will readily concede. The Ministers have been helped by certain people in connection with their elections and now they will demand something in return.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I would request the honourable member to speak to the motion.

Lala Duni Chand : I am only referring to the situation which the Ministers will have to face. Their friends would go to them and say "Look here. Congressmen have captured such and such panchayat. We helped you during the elections and now you should remove these badmashes." (Laughter from the Ministerial benches). Yes, they call Congressmen badmashes and it is your practice to encourage such people. It is only to such wild talks that you lend your ears. That is why we are afraid that you will allow only such panchayats to function as readily fall in line with you and that all those rendering real and useful service to their fellowmen will never be permitted to live. With these remarks I move my amendment and support the one moved by my honourable friend Pandit Shri Ram Sharma.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I would like to make only a few observations with regard to the amendment moved by my honourable friend Pandit Shri Ram Sharma. The range and scope of this clause is very wide, and I am afraid it would, if accepted, be misused and give rise to various misunderstandings. In my opinion the clause should be framed in such a manner as would do the least harm to the interests of anybody on the panchayats. If the object of legislation is to visualize the real intentions of the framers of any measure then I venture to say that this particular clause has miserably failed to do so. This does not acquaint us with the objects that are supposed to be before the framers of this Bill. The Government has already got sufficient powers in its hand to suspend or abolish any panchayat, and I am sure it does not stand in need of any further powers to this effect. By merely calling it a residuary clause the Government cannot satisfy the Opposition. It should give up such round about ways of presenting things. Let it come forward and say like honest persons that it wants to suspend or abolish any panchayat for any reason, whatsoever.

What is the object of retaining these words in the sub-clause under consideration ? To my mind my honourable friends over there are either playing with words or they wish to delude the people into believing that they have taken great pains to enact this law or that they wish to increase the volume of the Bill with a view to show to the public that they have spent much time and labour to frame it for the benefit of the rural classes.

Now I wish to point out that the Government would lose nothing if these words are deleted. The Government have already got vast powers to abolish or suspend panchayats and they should not try to have more powers. The sub-clause under consideration says—

If in the opinion of Government a panchayat is incompetent to perform, or persistently makes default in the performance of a duty imposed on it by or under this or any other Act or exceeds or abuses its powers.....

Now there are four things under which a panchayat can be suspended or abolished. In the first place if there is any panchayat which in the opinion of the Government is incompetent to perform its duties it can be suspended or abolished. We have absolutely no objection to it. There cannot be two opinions about it that a panchayat which is incompetent to perform its duties should be abolished. Secondly, if any panchayat is competent but persistently makes default in the performance of its duties or does things contrary to the advice of the deputy commissioner or the authority to whom the Government has delegated its powers, in that case no reasonable person will object to panchayat being suspended or abolished. Thirdly, if a panchayat exceeds its powers there is no reason why it should not be abolished and new one brought into being. We entirely agree with these provisions. Fourthly, if any panchayat abuses its powers it could be suspended or abolished. It is just possible that a panchayat which abuses its powers may become a source of danger and, therefore, it is but necessary that that panchayat should be abolished. These are the four reasons for which a panchayat can be abolished. In my opinion these powers are quite sufficient for the Government and therefore the words "or should there be any other reason which in the opinion of Government necessitates the suspension or abolition of a panchayat" should be deleted because they give indefinite powers to the Government. In this connection I may also point out that while discussing clause 8 of this Bill we have seen that the Government can remove a panch who has a defect of character, or who has been adjudged insolvent or who has been guilty of misconduct in the discharge of his duties or whose continuance in office in the opinion of the Government is undesirable in the public interest. Now these are very wide powers under which the Government can remove individual panches. The Government with one stroke of the pen can remove all the three or more panches on the ground that they have a defect of character or that they are guilty of misconduct in the discharge of their duties. The fact of the matter is that no reasonable person can raise any objection against the action of the Government. In the circumstances if the Government persists in retaining these words it would mean that they wish to arrogate to themselves indefinite powers in the matter of abolishing or suspending panchayats at their own sweet will or they wish to show to the public that they have taken great pains and that lawyers and legislators have laboured to frame this Bill for them.

Now, Sir, there is yet another thing which I wish to bring to your notice. That is that the Honourable Minister for Public Works stated in reply to an amendment of my honourable friend Munshi Hari Lal that if he accepted his amendment that would make the clause more penal and drastic. This attitude on his part is most unreasonable. When we wish to make the provisions of the Bill more drastic my friend gets up and says that he wants to make the provisions of the Bill less penal, but when we want to make its provisions less drastic and less penal and less indefinite and wish to prevent the Government from assuming indefinite powers he takes up quite a different line of argument. I for one cannot understand as to what he means by it. I would, therefore, submit that these words should be deleted.

An honourable member : There is no quorum.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : May I proceed ?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member should go on.

Lala Duni Chand : You should take cognizance of this fact.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The counting has taken place more than once.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I was saying that the words 'or should there be any other reason which in the opinion of the Government necessitates the suspension or abolition of a panchayat' be deleted.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : On a point of order, Sir. May I know whether it is in the power of the Chair to allow the debate to be carried on even when there is no quorum ? I want your ruling on the point.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The count has already taken place once. It is not necessary to do so again.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Then, are we to understand that if there is any point of order raised on the ground of want of quorum it cannot be raised more than twice on any particular working day ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : On a point of order, Sir. Will this ruling hold good even in case only two or three members remain seated in their seats ?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : When the Speaker has once satisfied himself, counting need not be resorted to over and over again.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know if the rules of procedure of the House can be overruled ?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Order, order.

Lala Dani Chand : There is no such rule which can allow you to go on.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I wish to know from the honourable members sitting on the Treasury benches as to what is the necessity for insisting on retaining these words in the sub-clause under consideration.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : On a point of order. Are we to understand that the particular rule regarding the quorum has been suspended ?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Order, order. The honourable member should go on with his speech.

Lala Dani Chand : On a point of order. That part of the proceedings during the time when there was no quorum should be deleted.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The Honourable Speaker gave this ruling just to-day and the Speaker can decline to have recourse to counting over and over again.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Decline to take notice of absence of quorum.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Order, order.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Urdu) : I would like to know the reason why these words should be retained which from legal point of view are redundant and unnecessary. They are quite indefinite. Their retention makes the clause rather clumsy. It would not be out of place if I say that Government are endeavouring to keep the sword of Damocles hanging over the head of the panchayats, by retaining these superfluous words. In this connection my learned friend expressed his apprehensions that this clause, as it stood, would be a source of perpetual danger to the Congress committees which seize power in the village panchayat. But I may point out that these words are a standing menace even to their own henchmen in the panchayats. Suppose for instance that owing to certain reasons a panchayat fails to accord a splendid reception to a Minister who pays a visit to that village. The result would be that that panchayat is sure to be penalized under this clause. Again, if a deputy commissioner calls upon the members of a panchayat to contribute liberally in connection with a certain function and the latter fail to carry out the behest of that officer for one reason or the other, this clause is apt to be vigorously applied against that panchayat. I may also point out that Government do not realise that they are wasting a huge amount of money in enacting this damned Bill which contains so much redundant matter. While discussing the adjournment motion with regard to Nathu, potter's death, the Government hurled accusations at the Opposition that they were guilty of wasting public money over the discussion of trivial matters. But here in the case of this clause the same charge can be laid at the door of the Government, as they are wasting time in discussing unnecessary words. Besides, when those persons who practise law, study this enactment they would laugh at these superfluous words. They might think that nobody in the Legislature cared to object to their inclusion. Perhaps it would not occur to them that it was this callous Government with a comfortable majority at its back, who paid no heed to the amendments moved by the Opposition and was, therefore, responsible for the retention of these words.

Again, I am sure, the Parliamentary Secretary who has taken pains in drafting this Bill, would realise that law should be definite, flawless and unambiguous. It should not admit of various interpretations. But Government's insistence on retaining these indefinite and superfluous words goes to show that they have some ulterior motives in their mind. They want that the panchayats should play a second fiddle to Government, otherwise they would not permit them to function. I want the Government to lay their cards on the table. Most of the provisions of this Bill have been adopted from the Municipal Act and other Corporation Acts, but Government have failed to introduce the spirit underlying them. I see the Honourable Minister smiling, laughing and nodding his head at our observations. I fully realise from his non-chalant attitude that he attaches no importance to our point of view. I may point out to him that he is not to remain in office for ever and it is likely that the honourable members on this side of the House may occupy those seats some day. The honourable member sitting behind him nods his head contradicting me because he thinks that theirs is the unshakeable majority. Anyhow what I want to drive at is that while making a legislation we should see that the law to be enacted is definite and unambiguous, so that the powers given by it are not abused. Similarly in the case of this Bill we should take good care not to invest the Government with unlimited powers, because there is every likelihood that the officer whom the Government may delegate powers under this clause, may indulge in favouritism and nepotism and thus bring the Government into disrepute. I, therefore, say that the clause under discussion is a fundamental one and we cannot brook the idea of investing the Government with unlimited powers. May I know as to what it is that they are so much afraid of? They have a comfortable majority at their back. At the same time the panchayat officers who are supposed to work in a missionary spirit, are their own proteges. They would control the panchayats. I, therefore, see no reason why these obnoxious and superfluous words should be retained in the clause. They should be left out, and instead those words suggested by us should be inserted in it. I am of the opinion that the cardinal principle of being brief, definite and to the point should be adopted. With these words I support the amendment now before the House.

Minister for Public Works (Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : Sir, I am afraid it is very difficult to reply to reasoning based on fear and misapprehensions which should not exist at all. It has been said that Government are taking powers to suppress the Congress committees and Congress movement in villages. That is not the purpose. Certain things have been specified under which in case of defaults the panchayats would be suspended or abolished. Then there are comprehensive powers taken to cover cases which cannot be foreseen at this time. There are many things that cannot be foreseen. In such cases Government will have power to stop the panchayats from going with the maladministration or any other default that might be discovered. It was said—I would not use the same language as used by my honourable friend from Ambala who described the Congress members in a particular way.

Lala Duni Chand : It is your description.

Minister for Public Works : I will not use that word. It is your self-description that may be quite apt—but I will not use it. I can only assure my honourable friend that we do not see things in that light. Action will be taken against those panchayats that actually are of such a type that their existence is not in the interest of the village or the area concerned. Why should my honourable friend oppose be nervous of giving powers to Government? They are always saying that they would be coming to power shortly and the Unionist Government is going out. No such fear should lurk in the minds of the party that is aspiring to office. Apparently they know it in the heart of their hearts that that day is far off, and perhaps they would like the powers of Government to be curtailed. The provisions of the clause are quite salutary. I, therefore, oppose the amendment.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu) : On a point of order, Sir. I want to draw your attention to rule 49 of the Rules of Procedure. It is as follows :—

If, when the Assembly is sitting, notice is taken by a member that the number of members prescribed as quorum by sub-section (3) of section 66 of the Act are not present, the person presiding, unless he is satisfied that such number of members are present, shall direct the division bells to be sounded and at the expiration of two minutes shall count the members present. If less than the required number be present, he shall either adjourn the Assembly till the next day or suspend the meeting till such number are present.

I want to know whether you are satisfied with the number of members present in the House. I may submit that the quorum is not complete.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : It is not necessary to have recourse to counting over and over again. When the Speaker is once satisfied that the quorum is there, he need not take notice of any member, if he draws his attention to it unnecessarily.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Mr. Deputy Speaker, my point is this. I want to know if once the quorum is complete, does it mean that it remains complete during the course of the day?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : For as long a time as the Speaker is satisfied that the quorum is there he need not have recourse to counting over and over again.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I want to know only whether you are satisfied, and if so, how the quorum is complete.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That in sub-clause (1), lines 8—10, the words 'or should..... panchayat' the words 'but for no other reason' be substituted.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (1), line 11, between the words "notification" and "suspend" the words "in which the reasons for so doing shall be stated" be inserted.

Several reasons have been given in this section for which a panchayat may be suspended or abolished. Some of these reasons are definite and I have no objection against them. But there is another vague and indefinite reason given in the section with respect to which my honourable friend on my left moved an amendment that the words " or should there be any other reason which in the opinion of Government necessitates the suspension or abolition of a panchayat, Government may by notification suspend or abolish the panchayat," be deleted. Now, this reason is an indefinite reason. In the foregoing words of the clause a number of reasons have been given under which a panchayat may be suspended or abolished. It is, therefore, necessary that the Government should undertake to give a definite reason in this respect too. The Government may have any reason for abolishing or suspending a panchayat but that reason must definitely be stated. I should be excused if I say that although this Government takes pride in being called a Government of the Jats, in this respect it is only behaving like a Government of the Banias. A zamindar does things in a straightforward way. The Government wishes to retain the power of suspending panchayats. But it is not prepared openly to say that it will suspend the panchayats for these definite reasons. I appeal to my learned friend to act in the true spirit of Jats and to accept my amendment which requires him to state in so many words why a panchayat is to be removed or abolished. I would again ask him to remember that the straightforward way is the Jat's way. The other way is that of the Banias.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under [consideration, amendment moved—

That in sub-clause (1), line 11, between the words " notification " and " suspend " the words " in which the reasons for so doing shall be stated " be inserted.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalra (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I have stood up to make a few observations with your permission. The Government has reserved for itself powers to suspend or abolish the panchayats for certain given reasons. Now, they ask for another power, namely, to abolish or suspend a panchayat for a reason best known to themselves. But they should bear in mind the fact that times have now changed and it is not possible for any Government to carry on for any length of time by means of such vague measures. Even if it is intended to apply the vaguest of all reasons, namely, public interest, it is necessary that the same should be reduced to writing. After all what is the reason for the Government to insist on the inclusion in this Bill of words which are of a too wide significance ? I imagine that the Government is of the opinion that by incorporating such vague words into the Bill it stands to gain in several ways. For instance, if a panchayat is suspended and the action is represented as an injustice before the Honourable Minister in charge of the department and he is asked to give reasons for suspending the panchayat, he will be able to take shelter behind the vagueness of this provision and say that it is not in public interest to disclose the reason. If the Government wishes that an offence for which a panchayat is suspended is not repeated by its successor it is but natural that reasons are adduced for passing that order against it. It should be clearly mentioned, that the panchayat was suspended on account of its negligence, misconduct, so on and so forth. Moreover, the words " reasons for so doing " are not words of our own making. They exist in several other enactments. For instance, there is a provision in the Municipal Act according to which Government has to clearly state the reasons for superseding a municipal committee. In the case of the Lahore Municipal Committee such reasons were given by the Government before passing the order of supersession. Similarly, when Executive Officer's Act is sought to be enforced with respect to a municipal committee the Government gives reasons for so doing. Not only this. Whenever the Government feels called upon to take action against a municipal councillor or a president of a municipal committee reasons of that action are clearly stated. Another objection against the inclusion of the vague provision is, that it is a provision which is contrary to the spirit of another provision of this Bill. It is provided in this Bill that if a panch is sought to be removed reasons mentioned in clause 8 (a), (b), (c) will be mentioned and it will be clearly stated that the action is being taken against him for misconduct, bad character and so on, and so forth. If reasons are so necessary to be stated in the case of a panch, I fail to understand why no definite reason should be stated if an entire panchayat is to be wiped out. Why should the Government be so obdurate to retain this provision and insist on not giving reasons for the removal of a panchayat? Surely even obduracy can be expected to have a limit. I submit that no consideration of prestige should stand in the way of Government's agreeing to adduce a definite reason for suspending or removing a panchayat. There can be no two opinions so far as this matter is concerned. There is no doubt that the Government is secure in its position and it can rush through any measure with the help of the majority behind its back. But even the majority it has got in this House should not make it so blind to reason as to insist that after giving a few reasons for suspending or removing a panchayat another final reason will be considered sufficient, namely, shaking of the head. I beg of them to state clearly as to why the head is shaken. Such a provision as is sought to be retained in this measure would create doubts in the minds of the people as to the bona fides of Government. People will be justified in entertaining the belief that the Government wishes to do something else and say something else. The real purpose of the proposed law is different from what is actually stated to be. The Government seems to be afraid lest their friends should be estranged from them if they are told the exact reasons for which a panchayat is proposed to be suspended or removed. They are making, therefore, a crude attempt to please everybody. They are aiming at creating an atmosphere of uncertainty so that they may be able to keep their real intentions concealed in the mist of vagueness. I shall give you an instance how this scheme will work if this vague provision is allowed to be retained in the Bill. If a panchayat is suspended and after that the fact comes to light that members composing it belong to the party which is so loyal to Government it will be sought to hoodwink them by means of all sorts of plausible excuses. If the Minister in charge is taken to task by the people he will be able to say that the thing has been done at the instance of the Premier. If a question is put to the Premier he will be able to say that the action has been taken on receipt of complaints from the public. It is, therefore, clear that the Government will use this provision as a shield. I would urge that such provisions are the negation of straightforwardness. The learned Deputy Speaker has several times remarked that we should finish with this Bill as soon as possible. He seems to think that no discussion is needed on this Bill. But what does he say about the attitude of the Honourable Minister in charge who listens to our objections and even smiles in agreement but when we have finished he simply shakes his head in disapproval. I would ask the Deputy

[Pt. Muni Lal Kalia.]

Speaker to impress the value of time on the Honourable Minister if he is so anxious that we on this side should finish with this Bill without delay.

Do whatever you please. Throw the panchayats to dogs. Hang all the panches. But state the reason or reasons for the action that you take. After all, why should anyone hesitate in accepting this harmless demand? When a magistrate passes an order he gives reasons in its support, but you want to play havoc with the panchayats without even a semblance of an explanation for so doing. This amendment does not intend to restrict your powers. You are welcome to suspend or abolish any number of panchayats. Abolish by all means all the panchayats in Ambala, Hissar, Rohtak, Rawalpindi, etc., and continue the nefarious game in other districts. But tell us why you are abolishing them. That is all this amendment wants. My friends, your attitude is highly amusing inasmuch as....

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member is requested to address the Chair.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I am saying everything through you, Sir. I was saying that the attitude taken up by the Government is ludicrous. They say they will suspend or abolish a panchayat at their sweet will but they will not state the reason for so doing. Now what is their difficulty? They can say that such and such panchayat is incompetent to perform its duties. Then there is the question of persistent default in the performance of a duty. In such a case they can say that the panchayat was warned many a time but it persisted in making the default in question and, therefore, we are going to abolish it. Similar is the case with "exceeding or abusing its powers." Thus the clause provides the Government with four clear reasons. Then you have the words "or should there be any other reason which in the opinion of the Government necessitates the suspension or abolition of a panchayat." We wanted to omit these words and stated the reasons for our desire to omit them. But the Government did not agree to their omission and assured us that these phrases would not be used to throw Congressmen out of power. Very well, we accept their assurance at its face value. But this stipulation makes it all the more necessary that the reasons for suspending or abolishing a panchayat be stated because the words "any other reason" are too vague and wide. Thus the amendment is very reasonable and necessary. It can do no harm to anyone. On the other hand it will work as a safeguard so far as the public is concerned. I would, therefore, request the Government to accept it.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Southern Towns, General, Urban) (Urdu) : Sir, a good many reasons can be advanced in favour of this amendment, but the attitude taken up by the Honourable Minister reminds me of the saying :— اندھے اکیں دیکھنے تو اپنے دیکھنے کے We have proposed one after another so many useful and reasonable amendments but instead of trying to understand their reasonableness the Minister has in each case shook his head with a smile on his lips. The attitude of the Government is becoming more and more unreasonable at every step.

So far as the suspension or abolition of a panchayat is concerned the Government wanted that in addition to the reasons enumerated in the clause it should be empowered to abolish a panchayat for "any other reason which in the opinion of the Government necessitates suspension or abolition." The House has given that power to the Government. But now we want that the Government should state the reason for suspension or abolition of a panchayat and no reasonable person can object to such a harmless and wholesome demand. It has been said that since the Congress party has expressed hopes of capturing the Treasury benches in the near future it should not grudge these powers to the Government. But that is not a cogent reason because we do not want even a Congress Government to deteriorate and become unreasonable like the present government.

After all, why should the Government object to this amendment? Every one will admit that the present attitude of the Government is incomprehensible. The Government have been given more than sufficient powers so far as suspension or abolition of a panchayat is concerned. Some of the reasons for so doing are expressly stated in the clause but then you have the words "any other reason" and thus it is incumbent on you to state what that "any other reason" is. We are not making any unreasonable demand and if you are not prepared to accept even this most reasonable and harmless amendment you will be advertising your utter unreasonableness.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma (Kangra West, General, Rural) (Urdu): When during the discussion on the previous amendment it was suggested from this side that the Government should not be given unlimited powers the Honourable Minister was pleased to remark that our fears were unfounded. He also suggested that it amounted to imputing motives to the Government to say that these powers would be used by the Government against its political enemies, i.e., the Congressmen. May be he is right. But past experience shows that our fears are not unreal and imaginary. The use which this Government has been making of the Defence of India Act is enough to justify our fears and our unwillingness to give unlimited powers to this Government.

The attitude of Government shows that there is some ulterior motive behind it and that is why the Government do not want to accede to our wishes. There is something that they want to conceal as it has been said by Ghalib—

کچھ تو ہے جس کی پردہ داری ہے

If the Government is at all relying on justice, as far as the sub-clause under discussion is concerned, then they should not make any hue and cry against this amendment which is to the effect that at the time of suspension or abolition of panchayats Government should give reason for so doing in the notification. This amendment is very simple and it would have been clear that what is required by this amendment is what justice requires. And if the Government persists in this very attitude this thought will linger in our mind that there is something in its mind which is contrary to justice and on account of which the Government wants to suspend a certain panchayat. With these words I support this amendment.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: The question is—

That in sub-clause (1), line 11, between the words "notification" and "suspend" the words "in which the reasons for so doing shall be stated" be inserted.

ADJOURNMENT MOTION.

PRESS EMERGENCY POWERS ACT, 1931.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The Assembly will now take up the discussion of the adjournment motion—

Premier (The Honourable Major Sir Sikander-Hyat Khan) : May I submit, Sir, that in consultation with my honourable friend the Leader of the Opposition it is proposed that the speakers from the Opposition Benches, may if they so desire, take 45 minutes and the speakers from this side will take 45 minutes. Thereafter, the question, if it is to be put, may be put before 8 o'clock.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta (South-Eastern Towns, General, Urban) (Urdu): Sir, I beg to move—

That the House do now adjourn.

I think it necessary to submit at the very outset that until my honourable friend opposite made those figures available to me in reply to my question referred to in the adjournment motion I neither knew nor even expected that under the regime of this Government, that never gets tired of making lengthy declarations of its being democratic and popular, the plight of the Press would be so miserable and its freedom would be so callously curbed. The record of its sins of omission and commission during the past two years and a half was sufficiently black but I do admit that it had never struck me that under the present regime the Press has been so ruthlessly throttled.

Sir, so far as the worth and importance of the Press is concerned I am sure there would be no one in the House who would not bear me out that the evolution of democracy in a country mostly depends upon the freedom of the Press. Even a learned and experienced person like Lord Bryce says—

It is the newspaper press that has made democracy possible in large countries.

In a similar vein the Honourable Sir James Crerar, the then Home Member of the Government of India, while introducing the Press Emergency Powers Bill, in the Central Assembly admitted that—

The Press, Sir, discharges a function in the State which cannot be dispensed with. Whether it be the instruction of the Public, the formulation of public opinion or the reasoned criticism of public activities or the policy of the Government, they perform an inestimable part in public life. At the present moment, more particularly, when great constitutional issues are under consideration we must look to the Press to discharge its functions as the fourth Estate in the realm.

So far as the freedom of the Press is concerned I believe that even those honourable friends of mine, who think it their pious duty to object to every motion that emanates from the Opposition howsoever reasonable it may be, would admit that the freedom of the Press is one of the criteria to judge as to how far any particular country or a province has succeeded in bringing about the evolution of democratic form of government there. I think even the Honourable Premier himself is of the opinion that the first and the foremost duty of a Government is to protect the freedom of the Press. One may skip over the question of the reactionary attitude that this Government has adopted during these two years and a half in connection with certain other matters, but since it has curbed the freedom of the Press in the province I cannot be expected to forgive it even for a moment. The other day I put a question to the Honourable Premier to state the names of the newspapers and presses from which securities had been demanded as well as the names of the papers and presses whose securities had been confiscated under the Press Emergency Powers Act since 1st April, 1937, and also to state the amounts of securities so demanded or confiscated in each case. In reply to this question a lengthy statement was made available to me. When I went through it and examined the figures, I found that the number of the papers that had been asked to deposit securities was not 40, 50, 100 or 200, but it was more than 300. The number of printing presses that were called is that where their predecessors demanded securities from one newspaper they demanded securities from five newspapers. Again it is quite clear from the official statement that 90 per cent. of the newspapers from which securities were demanded had not even been born. Before it could be seen what those newspapers published the Government thought them dangerous and asked them to furnish securities and in this way they strangled them outright. I ask them if they acted democratically when they demanded securities from newspapers which had not yet seen the light of the day and in regard to which they had not got any material to justify them to hold that those newspapers would commit offences. The natural result of this repressive policy of Government is that either those newspapers are compelled to deposit the required securities or close down their publication. I can say without any fear of contradiction that in no other province have securities been demanded from so many newspapers during two years or even in a period of five years, as have been asked to furnish securities during two years in the Punjab. Let me make it clear that the figures which I am quoting are taken from the statement that has been supplied to me in answer to my question. Probably the Honourable Premier will put forward this plea in his defence that there has been some misunderstanding about their figures. In fact the figures that he supplied in answer to my question were about the securities demanded and the figures that were supplied in answer to a previous question were about the actual deposits. If it is so, may I know how far those figures are exact which he has supplied later and whether or not the other figures have been supplied by him? If it is not so, will he please state whether it is a matter to be proud of? No matter what the previous Government had been doing, at least this much is quite correct that in this short space of two years 90 per cent. of the newspapers, monthlies and weeklies, which were asked to furnish securities, were those which had not yet come into existence. Is this the way in which a democratic Government acts? Anyone who knows the meaning of democracy cannot call this Government a democratic Government.

Besides, there is another interesting aspect of this list of newspapers. If you have a look at it you will find that among the newspapers from which securities had been demanded and which were considered to be dangerous include such magazines and newspapers which have absolutely nothing to do with politics. The names of some of these are as follows: the "Railway Worker", the "Vaidic Magazine", the "Railway Advocate", the "Financial World", the "Ahisa" the "Arur Bans Samachar", the "Arya Patrika", "Alhakim", that is the Government is opposed to even medicine, the "Istry Jiwan", my sister Begum Shah Nawaz is present in her seat and she should also listen to it very carefully. The "Film Adviser", the "Ashhut Samachar", the "Filmy Sansar", the "Arya Vir" and over and above all there is one thing which still is more astonishing. My learned friend the Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram is not present in his seat, but I ask his Parliamentary Secretary to listen to it carefully that in this list of newspapers there is one magazine, namely "Sana-o-Tajarat" which appeared to the Government so very dangerous that they felt the necessity of demanding security from it. Besides, the list included the "Film Director" and the "Guru Nanak". (Hear, hear). Apart from the consideration that the Government may defend and justify every one of its acts, if it cares to ponder over this matter a little and tries to give a reply, it will have to admit that previous to this no Government has ever demanded so many securities from the Presses. I ask them in all seriousness whether the Press Emergency Act was meant to be abused that you should use it so indiscriminately against such weeklies and literary and industrial magazines and social journals even at times when they had not seen the light of day. Is it not an open abuse of this Act. Did the Government of India introduce this Act in the Central Legislature with this object in view? Does it not amount to a condemnation of this Act?

Now I would like to draw your attention to the words used by Sir James Crerar, while moving this Bill in the Central Legislative Assembly. He said—

“The bill is restricted to incitement and encouragement of murder and crime involving violence and nothing else.”

Now, in view of these words will my learned friend tell me if the Act has been properly used in this province and that he has acted according to its provisions or has abused it? He should reply to this question on the floor of the House. If even in these circumstances he tries to justify his conduct, it will have to be taken for granted that since they have come into power practically no change has taken place in the provincial Government. The fact of the matter is that my friends are otherwise occupied and the administration of this province is being run as usual by the Chief Secretary and other I.C.S. officers and that our Ministers are helpless. If it is not so, then the second alternative is that our Ministry is inefficient and careless. However he will have to admit one of the two things, that either the Ministers are so very helpless that they cannot go against the wishes of the Chief Secretary and other Secretaries, or that they are so very careless that they do not know as to what is happening in the province.

I once again draw the attention of the Honourable Premier, who has strangled so many papers, to the words of Sir James Crerar that the Bill was restricted to incitements to and encouragement of murder and crime involving violence and nothing else. Sir, I would like to know if anybody could have any apprehensions about the newspapers and journals like the Beopar Sandesh, the Sanat-o-Hirfat, the Istri Jiwan and the Guru Nanak, that they would incite to or encourage murder or any offence involving violence. I must say that their activities and opinions were to be confined to social and commercial matters. I am, therefore, of the opinion that if in the face of the concrete facts stated by me, the Honourable Premier has the courage to say that his Government have neither abused the powers vested in them by the Press Emergency Act, nor have they tyrannised over these newspapers, he would be making a really bold statement. We are fully aware that the big Sardars and Faujdars of the Unionist Party can throw out any motion brought forward by the Opposition by means of their numerical strength. But I may point out that they cannot hoodwink the province or the country by rejecting a motion merely by voting against it. I want the Honourable Premier to meet these objections with facts and cogent arguments and not with the votes of a comfortable majority at his back. In this connection I would like to draw the attention of the House to section 4 of the Press Emergency Act. Its perusal would make the object of the Act quite clear. It runs as follows :—

4. (1) Whenever it appears to the Local Government that any printing-press in respect of which any security has been ordered to be deposited under section 3 is used for the purpose of printing or publishing any newspaper, book or other document containing any words, signs or visible representations which—
 - (a) incite to or encourage, or tend to incite or to encourage, the commission of any offence of murder or any cognizable offence involving violence, or
 - (b) directly or indirectly express approval or admiration of any such offence, or of any person, real or fictitious, who has committed or is alleged or represented to have committed any such offence (or which tend directly or indirectly,....)
 - (c) to seduce any officer, soldier, sailor.....etc., etc.

I do not want to take much of the time of the House by quoting extracts like that. But may I ask if in view of the clear and unequivocal words of this section my honourable friend can advance any argument to prove that the powers have not been abused. Sir, I have already stated the names of those innocuous newspapers and journals which have been victimised by the Government under the cover of the Press Emergency Act. Now I may bring to your notice the percentage of those newspapers from which securities have been demanded. There are about 650 newspapers and journals published in our province, and the number of those newspapers which have been ordered to deposit securities is more than 300 or in other words the percentage works out to be 51 per cent. of the total publications. These newspapers and journals could have added to the number of publications in our province but the pity is that the Honourable Premier has strangled them outright. This is an important matter and I would like the House to realise its seriousness. In this connection I may add that a Premier of another province, who is a Muslim Leaguer, and is also a friend of the Honourable Sir Sikander Hyat, had the audacity to say that the Bombay Government had demanded securities from a considerable number of newspapers and was responsible for stifling a large number of Muslim newspapers. I do not want to discuss the list of newspapers strangled by the Punjab Government, from the communal point of view although much can be said about it. But when the Bombay Government issued facts and figures relating to this allegation, it was found that only 21 newspapers had been asked to deposit securities which were later on refunded in the case of several of them. Similarly, the Government of the United Provinces has been much maligned by my honourable friends. The figures supplied by the United Provinces Government go to show that securities had been demanded of only 15 newspapers. In this connection it is interesting to note that the bureaucratic Government of our province during the last four years of its regime ordered the newspapers to deposit securities to the tune of Rs. 97,000 and refunded the money to the extent of Rs. 64,000. These figures speak for themselves. They need no elucidation. It is said that deeds are more eloquent than words. It is the actions which really impress the people. Fine words butter no parsnips. To-day we have to see how the Honourable Premier meets our objections.

Besides, I would like to point out that these presses from whom securities have been demanded, have absolutely no connection with politics.

The honourable members can easily realise how this coercive attitude on the part of the Government, would prove detrimental to the trade of printing, etc. My lawyer friends would agree that it is a fundamental principle of jurisprudence that so long as a charge against a person is not proved to the hilt that person is considered to be innocent and he cannot be convicted under the law. But it is a thousand pities that with the advent of democracy in our province the meanings of justice and law and the principles underlying them have changed altogether. I know full well that the Honourable Premier would quietly reply that he believes in the proverb "Prevention is better than cure." But I cannot help saying that this is no cogent reply to the objection as to why he had demanded securities on such a large scale. I can say with the fullest confidence that the number of securities demanded from newspapers in the Punjab is far larger than the number of securities demanded by all the eight Congress governed provinces. These are solid facts which the Honourable Premier cannot refute with flimsy arguments. Now let us see as to what is the object of the Press Emergency Act and whether under its provisions Government were justified in demanding securities from the newspapers and journals of which I have already made mention. May I know if that was the object of the framers of this enactment? Sir, I know that in order to meet this objection, Government would say that under the Act the powers to demand securities have been vested in the magistracy. It is the magistrates who in the exercise of these powers demanded securities from the newspapers. The Government are in no way responsible for this. I cannot help saying that such a preposterous and unconvincing argument can be expected of only Sir Sikander. Besides, it is laid down in the Act that at the time of demanding securities the magistrate would record his reasons for doing so. I think it is about ten days that I gave notice of this adjournment motion. May I know if the Honourable Premier has taken the trouble of calling for the files and studying them with a view to find out as to what reasons have been recorded by the learned magistrate for demanding securities from the journals and newspapers like the Ahmisa and Sanat-o-Hirfat? I am constrained to remark that the Government are deliberately suffocating the Press. They want to suppress the truth lest the people should see things in their true perspective.

With this end in view the Government have established another department to curtail the liberty of the Press. It is called the Information Bureau, Punjab. The first attempt invariably is to demand security at the very outset. In this way the coming out of new journals is discouraged. But if some paper or press is tenacious enough to survive this ordeal, it is threatened with the application of the Defence of India Act that has only recently been promulgated, so much so, that sometimes the proceedings of the Punjab Assembly are not allowed to be published in the Press without being first subjected to censorship. An example is not far to seek. It was so done in connection with the discussion of the resolution pertaining to the present European war. But if in spite of these measures some papers stick to truth and righteousness, the Director of Information Bureau, Punjab, is there to work as their evil genius. That officer tries to gag them by offering the bait of Government advertisements to them. In addition to this several other back door methods are adopted. Can our Premier take pride in these measures? I hope he would make a departure from his stereotyped method of trying to defend his mistakes, and make an open confession of his errors to-day. If he thinks that this confession will bring him into disrepute, he may prohibit the publication of to-day's debates in the Press, so that outsiders should not know it. He must admit his mistakes. Sir, if the Honourable Premier fights shy of bringing the black deeds of his Government to the notice of the public, he should take the necessary steps to prohibit the publication of his confession in the Press. I have repeated this because if he does even this much I will be satisfied. It is a pity that he has not realised so far that Press is the very soul of democracy. But he has left no stone unturned in throttling the voice of the Press. I would like to strike a note of warning to Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan that the Press will not take this humiliating treatment and the repressive policy lying down. To-day he is in a position to forbid them to express their resentment against him, under the pretension of war. But he should realise that this state of affairs will not last for ever. The Press will ultimately be obliged to retaliate. The Premier should not underestimate the force of the Press. When the time comes for its retaliation, the Premier will not be able to enjoy a sound sleep. If, however, the Premier will persist in his old methods, the Press will be obliged to say that he is out to finish up with the Press of this province, and is also bent upon uprooting democracy from this soil. But the time is not far off when the Press will be compelled to defy the Government even at its own peril. I want to see to-day if the Premier again defends his policy or pleads guilty to the charge of abusing the Press Act that has been levelled against him.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Southern Towns, General, Urban) (Urdu) : Sir, the Press (Emergency Powers) Act of 1981 was brought on the Statute Book with the sole purpose of preventing the acts of terrorism that were alleged to be committed during 1929-80 and 1981. But unfortunately the Unionist Government in the Punjab have taken it into their heads to put a different meaning into this Act. They seem to think that it is an act of terrorism to say anything against the unreasonable propaganda of the Unionist party. Now every sensible person would realise that the criticism of any party in power does not constitute an act of terrorism.

We have had a foreign bureaucracy in the Punjab upto 1987. But bad as that bureaucracy was, the present democratic government is even worse than that. A general outline of the misdeeds of this Government as regards Press has already been presented to you by my honourable friend Lala Deshbandhu Gupta. I will now lay before you a specific and a concrete example of their highhandedness. It would be interesting to note what flimsy reasons they give for taking action under the Press Act. As a matter of fact I had also given notice of an adjournment motion relating to this subject. But unluckily the name of Rohtak District had crept into the wording of that notice. That was enough to upset the mental equilibrium of the Unionist Government because nothing is more irritating to it than the name of the Rohtak district in the mouth of a critic. Consequently my adjournment motion was disallowed.

[Pt. Shri Ram Sharma.]

Let me come to the real issue now. There were only two papers in the districts of Rohtak, Gurgaon, Hissar and Karnal. One was the Congress organ. The other is the organ of the Unionists which is generally known as the "Today Gazette." Obviously the Unionist Government disliked the "Haryana Tilak" and with a set motive issued three successive warnings to it. The first warning was issued on the pretext of communal conflict that appeared in the locality. In fact the police had failed in its duty to maintain peace and tranquillity in the public but the Government wanted to punish the Congress organ for the sins of the police. The second warning was given to this paper on account of a leading article published therein saying that the Unionist Government is composed of big landlords and that it had no real sympathy with the small landholders. As if not content with these two warnings given through the District Magistrate, the Punjab Government became anxious to issue yet another warning and they found an opportunity for this third warning on the 7th October, 1938, when the Honourable Premier and the Honourable Minister for Development went to Rohtak and had their procession taken on elephants. Goondaism was rampant in the front part of the procession as badmashes were beating and looting shopkeepers and others. In their very presence a poor confectioner's shop was looted in the Conference compound and his servant was so mercilessly beaten that he remained in hospital for weeks. A general state of lawlessness was created in Rohtak by the supporters of the Unionist party. When an enquiry was demanded by the public and the true reports were published in the Haryana Tilak, the Government seized the third opportunity to issue a warning. It was not the District Magistrate who issued these warnings. It was the Chief Secretary of the Government under whose signatures the warnings were sent. But what exposes the Unionist Government is the pretext on which those warnings were given. When in the Assembly I asked for the reasons of those warnings, most evasive and wrong answers were given. The reason for the second warning was repeated in an answer to a question relating to the third warning. Finally the notice to deposit a security of Rs. 1,000 in respect of the paper and Rs. 1,000 in respect of the Press of Haryana Tilak was issued by the Chief Secretary, Punjab Government, on 14th August, 1939. It was mentioned in the notice that certain articles were published in the Haryana Tilak, dated 18th July, 1939, on account of which this action was being taken. Now, one of those articles was written by myself and its heading in Urdu was as follows :—

”ہریانہ کے مرکز میں حکومت کی مٹی پلید“

* اتحادی کورلمنٹ کا ضلع رملک کے فڈم و نسق پر اثر“

There was nothing in this article which could be said to constitute an act of terrorism nor was there any disaffection spread against the Government nor between different classes of His Majesty's subjects. To prove this I would like to quote the following important and larger portions of this article :—

”ضلع رھتک کی جانبدار کمزور حکومت کا دور ابھی ابھی ختم ہو چکا ہے۔ اندھیر کوئی کے زمانہ کی یادگار کے طور پر اس قدر اہم میپٹر لکھی دت اور مختصر بشیر احمد سابق باغیہ مال اور حال قلعہ ریلیف علیہاں باقی ہیں۔ ضلع رھتک کے نظم و نسق میں دو زبردست خرابیاں پائی جاتی ہیں۔“

ایک تو جرائم شہری اور غلہ کوئی کی حوصلہ افزائی۔ یہ ایک کھلی ہوئی حقیقت ہے کہ ضلع رھتک کے چند تھانوں میں ضلع ہر کے جرائم کی اسکیمیں تیار ہوئی ہیں۔ کیا سہ کیا جدا کیا چوری کیا ڈاکہ اور کیا قتل سب سب ہی تو جرائم یہاں سے پیدا ہوتے ہیں جو ضلع کا صدر قیام ہے۔

Further in my criticism I said :—

[Pt. Shri Ram Sharma.]

Another point was raised in connection with the famine relief measures in the Hissar and Rohtak districts just as the matter was made subject of interpellations. This is what was actually written :—

دوسری ہدایتی ریلیف کے کام میں کہلی اور منظم بے ایمانی ہے جس میں گورنمنٹ کے خزانہ سے نکالا ہوا نصف روپیہ بھی غریب کسانوں کے ہاتھ نہیں پہنچتا۔ اور عین صدر مقام پر اندھیر گری کا وہ بار بار گوم رہا ہے جس کی مثال دور نزدیک نہیں ملتی۔

I draw pointed attention to these words for which security was demanded.

In the end of that article I wrote :—

میں اس سلسلہ مفہوم کو ان الفاظ کے ساتھ ختم کرتا ہوں کہ ٹوٹی پارٹی کے مقامی سرغنوں کے ہاتھ میں نذرانے کے کٹ پتلی بننے کا نتیجہ اس خونخوار کی شکل میں نمودار ہوا ہے۔ میں اُمید کرنا چاہتا ہوں کہ ضلع روہتک کے حکام اور پنجاب گورنمنٹ اپنی پچھلی غلطیوں اور حماقتوں سے سبق حاصل کرے اور ضلع روہتک کی مصیبت اور بربادی ختم ہونے میں آئے۔“

But the only lesson which the Government learnt was that it demanded security of Rs. 1,000 from the "Haryana Tilak" and of the same amount from its press. Then, in connection with satta and gambling it was commented in the paper on which the security has been demanded :—

”ستھ اور جوا کے لئے قصہ روہتک اور علاقہ بہت بدنام ہو چکا ہے۔ روہتک کی قماربازی اور سٹے بازی کا ختم کرنا کوئی خالہ جی کا کھر نہیں۔ کوئی سیورنگڈنٹ پولیس بڑا ہی بے لاگ اور دل گردے کا آدمی ہر تو ان جرائم کی روک تھام ہو سکتی ہے۔“

Because :—

”جرائم کی حوصہ افزائی کا ذمہ بعض صورتوں میں پارٹی گورنمنٹ ہے“

In the fourth article an attempt was made to offer criticism on the work of the Fodder Advisor; but that seems to have offended the Government. It was pointed out :—

”مولوی فتح دین۔ فوڈر ایڈوائزر کی مانتی میں تقسیم تقادی ہوسہ میں غریب زمینداروں پر بڑی زیادتی کی گئی اور زمینداروں اور مانتی انیسویں نے خوب لوٹ کھسوٹ مچائی ہے ضلع روہتک کی جو قسط کانفرنس ہوئی اُس میں پانچ ہزار سے زائد زمینداروں نے جمع ہو کر اتفاق رائے سے اس مولوی کے خلاف عدم اعتماد کی تحریک پاس کی ہے۔“

The next news to which exception was taken was about the tour and speech of Sir Chhotu Ram who said that :—

”اگر سرکاری ہفتوں کا قرضہ نہیں دوئے تو تمہاری قید اور قرقیان کی جائیگی۔“ اس خبر میں درج ہے کہ وزیر صاحب نے مسٹر بشیر احمد— اسسٹنٹ قضا انچارج کو ایک شاباشی کا پرائیویٹ خط لکھا تھا۔“

The policy of the Unionist Government was criticised in this respect but the articles criticising the Government were made the basis for demanding security. Is it fair? I want to make it clear in this House that the Government has demanded security on the basis of those articles which were absolutely harmless and in which only healthy criticism was offered on the basis of facts.

According to the Government the last objectionable news is about a daring dacoity in villages Bilochpura in the constituency of the Honourable Minister for Development and the headings of which are :—

(۱) قطعی ہے فوری اور دیدہ دلیری کے ساتھ رز روشن میں پانچ چھہ
مہنگے تک نہایت ہولناک اور سفسٹی خیز داکہ۔

(۲) موضع بلوچپور تحصیل جھجور میں پچیس تیس مسلح داکوؤں نے
گاؤں میں ناکہ بندی کر کے غدر مچا دیا۔

(۳) اتحادی گورنمنٹ کی غلط پالیسی اور پولیس حکام کی جانبداری
اور کمزوری نے ضاع رہتک کو موہہ سرحد بنا دیا۔

(۴) رہتک ضلع کی نواایخ میں ایسا خوفناک داکہ کہی نہیں پڑا۔

Now, what is the attitude of Government about the gutter press which supports its own cause? There is a newspaper which is the organ of the gutter press which exists for furthering the cause of the Unionist Party. It is virtually owned by one of the Honourable Ministers who has been its editor too for a long time. Previously he had to go from village to village collecting funds to keep his newspaper going. But now all the expenses of this paper are provided from the money which goes to it in the shape of charges for publishing advertisements of the conciliation boards. The sum amounts to three to four thousand a year. Although its sale is very limited, and more than half of the total circulation is being sent free of cost, it continues to exist with the help of funds indirectly supplied by Government. And the Honourable Premier was pleased to remark that the newspaper was very magbul (popular) among the people. Surely the Government has monopolised every thing magbul. One of its secretaries is Magbul and one of their third class party organs is also very magbul (Laughter) I have very little time at my disposal, otherwise I am capable of subjecting the deeds of this Government to a good surgical operation. It is guilty of gagging the newspapers which offer even legitimate criticism on its policy. On the other hand it supports by all means, fair or foul, its own gutter press like the Jat Gazette of Rohtak. Recently Tahsildar, Jhajjar, was courageous enough to return this party organ of the Unionist Party unread as he did not wish to read it and he was made the butt of most objectionable criticism in that paper. Although sins of commission and omission are committed everywhere in the days of this Government, the Rohtak district has the most unenviable reputation in this respect. But nobody pays any attention to the crimes and highhandedness committed in the Rohtak district. Why? It is considered that the Rohtak district is the very soul of the Unionist prestige and power. No attempt is, therefore, made to tamper with the loyalty of such party agents who are guilty of offences of all types and descriptions. The North-West Frontier of the Punjab, Sir, had been reformed to a very great degree on account of the influence of the Congress Government there, but the conditions in the South-East Frontier have become worse. The Sikander Shahi has made conditions worst on account of its conniving at various crimes and highhandedness committed by men who are best suited to further party interest and the officers there are made to be subservient to these party agents and the publication of these facts is being dealt under the Indian Press Emergencies Act.

Premier (The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat Khan): Sir, I do not propose to pay any attention to the hectic and irrelevant arguments of my honourable friend the last speaker who constantly smarts under the feeling that in his own district he is being routed by another political party and attempts to vomit forth unnecessary bile in this House. I for one am not prepared to bring the debate to his level. He has tried to read out certain extracts, taken away from their main context, to pillory the Government for taking securities on their basis from his own paper. I would not go into the details and the antecedents of that paper or the antecedents of its editors and those who run it. I will confine myself to the relevant points raised in the speech of my honourable friend Lala Deshbandhu Gupta who moved this adjournment motion. One of the appeals which he made in the course of his speech was that I should not try to convince the House by rhetoric but should confine my speech to facts and figures. I am going to accommodate my honourable friend in that respect and I will confine my speech mainly to facts and figures. Before I come to detailed figures, I may just give a brief summary of what I am going to say. Here is a Press communiqué which I was going to issue but fortunately my honourable friend gave notice of this adjournment motion and I welcome it, because it gives me an opportunity of vindicating the position of the Government and incidentally my own, for I happen to be in charge of this particular department. It is fortunate, Sir, the communiqué runs as follows—

Incorrect and misleading reports have appeared in the Press based on wrong inferences drawn from a statement laid on the table of the Punjab Legislative Assembly on 27th October, 1939, in reply to a question asking for the names of the newspapers and printing presses from which securities had been demanded under the Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act from the 1st of April, 1937 to 31st March, 1939. The reporter responsible for the circulation of the misleading report does not seem to have fully comprehended the nature of the information contained in the official statement the heading of which clearly stated that the amounts given therein denoted demands only. Apparently demands had been taken to mean deposits of securities with the Government. They have confused the two things, demands with deposits. The statement included demands of securities required by the Provincial Government under section 7 (3) and section 3 (3) of the Act and initial securities by district magistrates under sections 7 (1) and (3) (1). The latter are always refundable after three months provided no action is taken by Government during that period. Out of a total number of three hundred applications for starting fresh newspapers and 67 for starting printing presses, from whom securities had been demanded in the course of two years, the number of those who actually deposited that security was 23 and 34, respectively. The figures regarding applicants are in no way abnormal as compared with the preceding years. In the case of demands of initial securities by district magistrates from new declarants 90 per cent of the securities represented demands from new ventures of men without growth many of which represented no bona fide intention of supplying the public with news. The would-be publishers invariably had no financial backing and no experience of journalism and were frequently dummies.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is there any such provision in the Act that you can demand securities on this ground ?

Premier : Wait, you will get everything, provisions of the Act and the policy of the Government, everything. They had no experience of journalism and were frequently dummies—

The total sum is inflated by one person trying more than once to get a declaration under different names (Interruption).

I will come to that point of which my honourable friends wanted to make capital about the Railway Samachar and Shakti and some other papers which he mentioned. I have got a concrete instance here—

Excepting the case of one printing press, the initial security of all newspapers and presses whatever their amount deposited by the new declarants, were refunded to them after three months (hear, hear).

An Honourable member : You could not help that.

Premier : Please listen to me. I am giving you the facts. You were giving us fiction. This is the amount, the actual amount—

Held by Government in that form or deposits made by newspapers and printing presses is only Rs. 27,500 and not Rs. 2,22,000 as alleged in the newspaper's report. It may be pointed out that when a person comes forward in good faith to make a declaration for starting a newspaper or a printing press, his political convictions are not the basis for demand of security.

An Honourable member : Ah !

Premier : My honourable friend says ' Ah '. I can give the instance of my honourable friend sitting opposite.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : I say ' Ah ' because I have experience.

Premier : I refer to my honourable friend Dr. Satyapal.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : There must have been some special reasons for that.

Premier : My honourable friend Dr. Satyapal would bear me out that when he wanted to start the National Congress, no initial security was demanded from him. There is another recent instance, a prominent member of the Congress Party from the North-Western Frontier Province has recently come into this province and wants to start a paper. No security has been demanded from him. So I can with my hand on my heart say that political considerations do not enter into this decision. My honourable friend Mr.

[Premier.]

Josh says—'I have my own experience'. He is speaking of his own experience but his experience unfortunately is not confined to two years. His experience probably dates back to the last ten or 12 years, and we have not done any more than taken necessary precaution which was prescribed by his previous experience. Now let me give you some details. I am afraid I may have to bore the House, because these figures are dry but statistics are always useful. As I have already said, the number of securities actually deposited by newspapers and printing presses during the period from 1st of April, 1937 to 31st of March, 1939, was 23 and 34, respectively. I will now give you comparative figures for years previous to the present Government coming into office and also for the years during which this Government has been responsible for the administration of this department—

- (a) The number of securities actually deposited in the two years (1935 and 1936) preceding Provincial Autonomy, by newspapers under the orders of the local Government under section 7 (3) and under District Magistrates' orders under section 7 (1) and enhanced securities under section 9 (1) was 28 as against 23 for the first two years under Provincial Autonomy.
- (b) The number of securities actually deposited in the two years (1935-36) preceding Provincial Autonomy by printing presses under the orders of the local Government under section 3 (3) and under District Magistrates' orders under section 3 (1) and enhanced securities under section 5 (1) was 25 as against 34 for the first two years under Provincial Autonomy.

This gives a full and vivid comparison of the entire action taken by local Government of the pre-Provincial Autonomy period since the coming into force of the Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act, XXIII of 1931, and by the present Ministry from the 1st April, 1937 to the 31st of March, 1939. I might give comparative figures which would make the position quite clear. These are the figures—

Pre-Provincial Autonomy—

1935	10
1936	18

First three months—

1937	9

Remaining 3 months of—

Provincial Autonomy period—

First 3 months of—

The yearly average during the pre-autonomy period for the years I have mentioned is 12.57 and the yearly average for two years of provincial autonomy is 11.50. So my honourable friends will see that so far as the period when we have been concerned with this matter goes we compare favourably with the pre-reform period.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What about confiscations ?

Premier : I will come to that. I have got the figures with me and my honourable friend need not be impatient. I will give him the figures of actual amount forfeited and he will be surprised when he sees these figures. These figures, however, represent cases in which deposits were actually made, they do not represent the total number of demands and the amounts demanded. That may be made clear by the detailed figures of demands made by Government (excluding district magistrates) given below. I give the figures by the year now :—

Year.	1932.	1933.	1934.	1935.	1936.	1937— 1st January, 1937 to 31st March, 1937.	1937— 1st April, 1937 to 31st December, 1937.	1938.	1939— 1st January, 1939 to 31st March, 1939.
Number of publishers of newspapers from whom securities were demanded ...	16	4	6	4	8	4	4	9	4

My honourable friend will see that we compare very favourably with the pre-reform days.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : From whom securities were demanded.

Premier : These were securities demanded by the provincial Government. If the honourable member listens to me I will make it quite clear.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Let us know the pre-autonomy days figures pertaining to securities that were demanded by district magistrates.

Premier : These are the figures of securities demanded by Government directly. I will give you figures for magistrates also. If you just have patience you will have all the figures. These figures indicate that as compared with pre-autonomy period, these figures are smaller. Now, let me give you the actual amounts, the total amounts asked for—

	Rs.
1932	88,000
1935	15,500
First 8 months—
1937	5,000

Remaining 9 months—

So if my honourable friends will compare these figures with the figures for pre-autonomy period, they will find that the figures for our period are much less so far as the actual amount is concerned. Now let me give the House the figures regarding the number of papers that deposited securities—

1932	4
1934	5
1935	3
1936	5

Three months—

Nine months—

1937
1939	1

The amount actually deposited by these—

					Rs.
1932	9,500
1933	1,000
1934	8,000
1935	2,500
First 3 months of 1937	3,000
Nine months of 1937	Nil
1939	1,000

Here again my honourable friend will find that the actual amount of security asked for during our regime is much smaller than what was asked for in the preceding years. In 1932 the local Government took action against 16 newspapers and 19 printing presses and demanded securities to the extent of Rs. 98,000 and Rs. 44,500, respectively, of which only Rs. 9,500 and Rs. 7,000 were deposited. In 1935 the local Government called upon 11 newspapers and 13 printing presses and demanded securities to the extent of Rs. 15,500 and Rs. 17,000, respectively of which Rs. 2,500 and Rs. 8,000 were deposited.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : But those were civil disobedience days.

Premier : I will indicate the reason why the figures went up in 1932. The severity of action in 1932 was due to the newspapers' aggressive attitude during the Kashmir agitation and in 1935 due to the Shahid Ganj affair. The corresponding number for the nine months of 1937 under Provincial Autonomy was 4 for newspapers and 17 for printing presses. They were required to deposit Rs. 8,000 and Rs. 10,500, respectively of which there were no deposits by newspapers while Rs. 7,000 were deposited by printing presses. Action was necessitated by the acute form which the Arya Samaj versus Sanatanist controversy took during these months. My honourable friend forgets that there is a very large number of communal papers which have no other business except to abuse one section of the same religion or of another religion. My honourable friend will see that in the main action was taken against those periodicals and newspapers which come under this particular category. As I have said, so far as political papers are concerned we do not ordinarily ask for any security except in those cases where we have reason to believe that they are dummies and not bona fide people who want to black-mail.

My honourable friend knows that for sometime during this year, the communal tension was at its height, and only last year, that is, 1938, it showed inflated figures. We had to take action against several people merely to see that no further trouble was created in the province. This is the reason why the Arya Samaj Satyagrah movement passed without any serious disorder. My honourable friends must be thankful to the Government for that. I do not take credit for that myself. I am thankful to the kindly Providence for his guidance. In other provinces my honourable friend knows perfectly well what has happened. He is always in the habit of making comparisons. These comparisons are odious and sometimes most embarrassing to me because I do not wish to say anything unsavoury about any other Government, but, unfortunately when he, professing himself to be a Congressman, distorts facts, it is my duty also to give the true facts. I will give a recent instantaneous of what happened in some other province. I hope my honourable friends of the Press Gallery will not publish it, because apparently it was not published by the Government concerned. There must be some good reasons for it. I do not blame the Government concerned for it. A few weeks ago, I understand, hand-cuffed prisoners were shot at and fired upon by the police at Ahmadabad railway station. There were several instantaneous deaths and nothing has appeared in the Press here and that news has been suppressed and withheld. These are very odious and in some comparisons, but in order to vindicate the position of myself and of my colleagues, I have to state true facts on the floor of this House. I have no other motives in giving out the news here. I am told by one of the press representatives that some veiled reference did appear in the press here, but I have never seen it and I ask my honourable friends here whether they know anything about this news. It is really a gruesome tale to tell. It must make one's hair stand on end.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Was it at Bulandshahr ?

Premier : No, it occurred at Ahmadabad railway station. Evidently the Bombay Government had very good reasons to suppress the news.

My honourable friend wanted to know what was the position so far as the district magistrates were concerned. I have given sufficient facts and figures and they will in our circumstances compare very favourably with those of any other province. In fact our figures are lower than those of any other province, and much lower than our own previous figures. So far as the actual deposits are concerned, the actual amounts are only on paper. Now let me give the figures of district magistrates, who are in the best position to judge of the antecedents and bona fides of each applicant. I dare say my honourable friends there will concede that it is impossible for me to know intimately every one in the 29 or 30 districts of the province, where in some cases nearly 50 or 60 or even 200 declarations are filed and it is impossible for me to know the antecedents of all those persons. Supposing my honourable friend had asked, for a declaration for his paper "The Tej." It would be necessary for me in the ordinary course to write to the Chief Commissioner or the Deputy Commissioner of Delhi to find out the antecedents and bona fides of Lala Deshbandhu Gupta, his financial backing and his journalistic tendencies and whether his intention really was to convey news to the public or whether he wanted the paper for the purpose of black-mailing. All these particulars are best known to the district authorities. But now if he will put in a declaration, I would probably give my sanction without any question, because I know him personally. I also did the same thing in the case of Dr. Satyapal and others. I never asked Dr. Satyapal for any security.

Now let me give some figures. The following table will show the number of newspapers from which securities were demanded by district magistrates, under sections 7 (1) and 8 (1). These securities are refundable after 3 months. It was only in the case of one press that the security was kept by us. In the case of all others, the security was refunded. (Cheers). In 1932 the security was demanded in 20 cases; in 1933 in 53 cases; in 1934 in 51 cases; in 1935 in 65 cases; in 1936 in 126 cases; in 1937 in 104 cases; in 1938 in 135 cases; and in 1939 in 75 cases. All the money was returned and Government did not keep a single pie.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : It was returned under the law. There was no favour.

Premier : Quite right.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Why was security demanded from Bande Mataram when only the names of the editor and the publishers were to be changed? Before that the Bande Mataram was not required to deposit any security.

Premier : I am afraid I cannot give a reply to this question off-hand. If any security was demanded, there must have been some good reasons for doing so. Perhaps the district magistrate was not satisfied with the antecedents of the new gentlemen and possibly in the interest of law and order he had to ask for security.

Now the following figures will give the total amount of security demanded :—

In 1932, Rs. 17,700; in 1933, Rs. 42,000; in 1934, Rs. 32,200; in 1935, Rs. 54,650; in 1936, Rs. 78,500; in 1937 for the first 3 months, Rs. 31,900, and during the autonomy period Rs. 42,500; in 1938, Rs. 85,800 and for the first 3 months of 1939, Rs. 48,000. This was the total amount demanded.

The actual amount deposited is as follows :—

	Rs.
In 1982	1,750
In 1983	2,700
In 1984	1,550
In 1985	5,950
In 1986	5,600
In 1987 (1st January, 1987 to 31st March, 1987)	3,950
And for the Autonomy period	3,150
In 1988	4,750

In one case the amount was not returned and that is not mentioned here.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know the number of papers from which security was demanded?

Premier : I have given those numbers.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I want the total from 1982.

Premier : The honourable member is a clever man. He can total at once for himself.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it or is it not a fact that during the last two years the number of papers and periodicals from which security was demanded is larger than the number of periodicals and papers from which security was demanded during—(Interruptions).

Premier : I am giving the actual figures. The number of papers from whom securities were demanded was as follows :—

In 1982	20
In 1983	53
In 1984	51
In 1985	65
In 1986	126
In 1987 (1st January, 1987 to 31st March, 1987)	39
(1st April, 1987 to 31st December, 1987)	65

My honourable friend can total them for himself.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What about your regime?

Premier : I have given particulars of my regime. I have given particulars of the actual amounts deposited.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : What about 1989?

Premier : 1989? The number of papers that deposited the required security is nil.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Do you mean to say that the figure of 300 for two years given by you the other day is wrong?

Premier : It is not wrong. I have given you figures for three years because we did not separate the first three months of the Provincial Autonomy period. You have got 65 for 9 months, then 135 for 1988 and then 75 for 1989. You have got that figure and you will find that the figures tally. My honourable friends can draw their inference. The list which we laid down was unfortunately long but that is neither my fault nor that of district magistrates. A large number of applications are for new ventures of mushroom growth, many of which represent no bona fide journalists. I will give instances and my honourable friend will be surprised to know the reason why we asked certain people for securities. The would-be publishers and keepers almost invariably have no financial backing, no experience in journalism or press work and are frequently dummies, put forward by those who cannot get declarations accepted in their own names without demand of initial security or those who do not want to deposit securities demanded by the Government. The total sum is inflated on account of one and the same person trying more than once to get a declaration through dummies. They put forward a declaration under one name and then they go and put declaration in another name. On the face of it, it looks very distinct but it is actually the same party which works behind the scenes (Interruptions). I give you instances which will convince you.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is there any provision in the Press Emergency Act which says that the magistrate should go into such considerations before demanding security? Is there any mention of the fact that the financial backing of a paper has to be taken into consideration while demanding security? Can you point out one such provision?

Premier : There is little time left and if the honourable member will listen I will convince him. I have told him that the action is taken according to the provisions of the Act itself. My honourable friend should first listen to me and if there is lacuna I will certainly explain it to him if he will come to me. (Interruption). Let me give you a few instances. My honourable friends always get restive when true and convincing facts are given. In April, 1936, a gentleman, whose name I omit, applied to start a newspaper entitled Salik from Rawalpindi. The District Magistrate, Rawalpindi, had reasons to believe that the proposed venture would be used for one or other of the purposes enumerated in sub-section (1) of section 4 of the Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act, XXIII of 1931 read with section 16 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, XXIII of 1932. He demanded initial security of Rs. 500 from him under section 7 (1). The security was not deposited. Had it been deposited and had Government taken no action against the paper during the three months of its life, this security would have been refunded to the man. But instead of adopting this straight and direct course, he resorted to subterfuges. In August of the same year he put forward his father to file a declaration for the same paper. As the same objections stood against his father, he too was required to deposit the same amount. The security was not deposited and in January, 1938, the son applied to start a paper under another name—Itihad. Naturally initial security was again demanded by the District Magistrate but again it was not deposited. In May next the man repeated the same experiment with another venture entitled Gunah (sin). Similar action was again taken by the District Magistrate. Having failed in four attempts to take out the declaration in his own name or in the name of his father, he put forward, in February, 1939, another gentleman whose name I omit, an employee of his, to start a venture entitled the Shifa-ul-Mulk. This time he gave the venture a name which could easily be taken for the name of a medical venture.

Premier : This time he deliberately tried to hoodwink the District Magistrate by bringing the name of a medical venture but the District Magistrate was wide awake and he knew what was happening. He, therefore, asked for a security. Simultaneously he put up another person to file a declaration for starting the Mashir-i-Hind. In both cases security was demanded by the District Magistrate. He again applied in April, 1939, to start the Andher Nagri. (The very name of the venture (City of Darkness) was the index to the political mind of the man). This time a security of Rs. 1,000 was suggested. During the last 3½ years the man, either himself or through his father, has put in nine applications to take out a declaration, his attempt being that he should take it out without any security, although he must have known that the security demanded was only initial and refundable after three months. This case would show that it was only one man who made all these attempts but the amount demanded aggregated up to Rs. 4,500 and not a penny out of it was deposited in the Government treasury and it raised the number of securities demanded from one to nine and the amount from Rs. 500 to Rs. 4,500. These are actual figures.

I will give another interesting instance. An employee in the office of a newspaper here applied in August, 1938, to start the Jivan Prabhat. A security of Rs. 300 only was demanded by the District Magistrate, Lahore, but he did not deposit it and in January, 1939, he again applied to start another paper entitled the Chitterkar. The District Magistrate required Rs. 500. He did not deposit the amount and the paper did not come out. Then, in another case a gentleman applied in December, 1938, to start two Urdu and Hindi weeklies entitled the Mahratta Vir and the Mahratta. The District Magistrate demanded initial security of Rs. 500 in each case. The securities were not deposited and the papers did not come out. In June, 1939, he applied again to start an Urdu weekly entitled the Bharat Bhushan and in October, 1939, the Mahratta and the Swastika. Thus within ten months he applied five times under five different names.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : It only shows how much people are oppressed.

Premier : If he will take the average then he will come to the exact figure.

There are several other cases in which the dodgers when called upon to deposit initial securities put up dummies and when there were reasons to suspect that they were dummies and that they were trying to hoodwink the Government, naturally we had to take the precautionary steps to see that security was deposited.

Now, I might give another instance of a paper in which one of my honourable friends opposite, who is not present to-day, is interested. A person gave declarations under several names, i.e., Dukhi Dunia, Inqilabi Dunia and all kinds of declarations, and thus security was demanded, but he did not deposit it. He was the same man applying under different names. We could not definitely establish the relation between the dummy and the principal but suspicions were there.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is there any justification?

Premier : No security is demanded without justification. This does not show that Government vigilance in the matter of the control of the press has in any way suppressed attempts of genuine and bona fide journalists or editors or printers and publishers whether they have political views, belonging to one school or not. The number of newspapers during the last seven years has increased—and my honourable friend will be interested to know that—from 447 in pre-autonomy days to 627 in zalm Government's time. He should compare these figures. There were 447 papers before but in 1938 there were no less than 627 running concerns in the province, that is nearly 50 per cent. more than what they were in 1932. My figures in that respect are much more than of any other Government.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What is the amount of refund ?

Premier : My honourable friend wants the amounts of securities refunded. I will give some figures in that connection. As a matter of fact I am replying to a question by Lala Duni Chand which I might answer here—

	Rs.
Refunded initial securities under section 3 (1), 5 cases..	3,500
Refunded initial securities under section 7 (1), 21 cases ..	11,800
Refunded under special orders of Government the securities deposited by nine presses totalling ..	7,000
Four papers	7,500
Grand total ..	29,800

To this my honourable friend can add the amounts which we refunded out of deposits before 1937.

It may also be added that during the whole period of eight years—I am also taking pre-autonomy period—

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : You are taking 5 pre-autonomy years and 2 years after autonomy.

Premier : Yes. During the period of eight years beginning with the enforcement of the Press Emergency Act, the total amount forfeited out of initial securities deposited under sections 3 (1) and 7 (1) is not more than Rs. 5,750 out of the total deposits of Rs. 50,800. I have not tried to differentiate between pre and after autonomy period.

There is one point which must also be made clear. The figure 41 for the year 1936 which was referred to by my honourable friend, Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava, during the course of supplementary questions after our lists had been laid on the table on the 27th October, 1939, related to demands of Government under sections 7 (3) and 8 (3) plus deposits made under District Magistrates' orders by publishers of newspapers and keepers of printing presses under sections 7 (1) and 3 (1) and did not include those cases—and they were the numerous ones—in which district magistrates had required securities but they had not been deposited, whereas the lists now given include all cases whether securities had been deposited or not. The press reports were misleading. (Interruptions). I said that the basis of comparison was not correct. You will now find that this is a good average of 82 per year as compared with 41 for 1986.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : This comparison does not improve your position.

Premier : Either I am a dunce or my honourable friend does not understand me. In reply to his question in April, 1938, we told Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava that the figures for the years 1932 to 1937—I am taking comparable figures—were—

In 1933	27
In 1934	30
In 1935	20
In 1936	41

and 2 in the second period.

The figures for the year 1938 is 27. That will give my honourable friend a correct perspective of the whole situation. This shows there was no difference in action taken in 1932 and 1936 and that action was less stringent in 1938.

The note published in the Tribune, dated the 31st October, 1939, would show that the Government of the United Provinces demanded securities from 16 newspapers amounting to Rs. 31,000. If this is correct, then I daresay that the figure of Rs. 15,500 during my regime compares very favourably with that figure.

I do not think I need go into more figures. But before I sit down, let me tell my honourable friends opposite that so far as the present Government are concerned, they are extremely sympathetic towards all democratic institutions as well as towards those newspapers which my honourable friend says are more or less straightforward. He must be aware that so far as we are concerned, the number of newspapers has increased from 447 to 628 in spite of those who try to hoodwink us by giving false declarations and all kinds of these things. In spite of that, we are doing our best and so far as genuine, honest and straightforward newspapers are concerned, I can assure my honourable friends that they will receive the fullest protection and the fullest support and sympathy of this Government. (Hear, hear). It is only those blackmailers and those people, who try to create communal or class bitterness by one means or the other that rankle in my eye and they will continue to do so. I can assure my honourable friend that if I get any legitimate opportunity to suppress and actually stifle them, I will not have the slightest hesitation in doing so. (Hear, hear). With these words I resume my seat.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I would request the Honourable Premier to answer one question. What is his reply to the allegations that I made with regard to the abuse of the existing provisions of the Press Emergency Act? He has admitted that securities have been demanded from some papers as they did not possess sufficient financial backing. I want him to point out some provision of the Act which empowers him to demand security from newspapers on that ground.

Premier]: When did I say that(?) I said that there are journalists and publishers, who have almost invariably no financial backing and no experience and who are not genuine and bona fide. They are frequently dummies put forward by blackmailers who want to deceive the Government; and the district magistrates in accordance with the provisions of the Act and within the provisions of the Act can ask for securities from such persons. My honourable friend is aware that there is such a thing as appeal to the High Court. Where justice is not done, they can always go to the High Court, if they like. How many of such persons have filed an appeal against the orders of the district magistrates ?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That the Assembly do now adjourn.

The Assembly divided : Ayes 19, Noes 50.

PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

SIXTH SESSION OF THE FIRST PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Tuesday, 21st November, 1939.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber, at 2 p.m. of the clock, Mr. Speaker in the Chair.

AGRICULTURAL INSPECTORS SELECTED FOR TRAINING IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

*5282. Lala Duni Chand: Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state—

- (a) the number and names of Agricultural Inspectors selected by the present Government for training in foreign countries;
- (b) whether it is a fact that the Agricultural Inspector, Raghubir Singh, was selected in spite of the opinion of the Head of the Department that he was not the proper person to be selected; if so, the reasons for ignoring the opinion of the Head of the Department?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram: (a) Government does not select Agricultural Assistants (which is understood to be meant by Agricultural Inspectors since there are no employees of this designation) for training in foreign countries.

Usually a number of Agricultural Assistants apply annually to the Head of the Department (Director of Agriculture) for long leave of either one or two years on average and half average pay, as may be due to them, with the object of undertaking post-graduate study abroad at their own expense and leave is usually granted by the Head of the Department to two or three such Agricultural Assistants annually, if they can be spared and are considered suitable for the course of study which they propose to pursue.

A list of those Agricultural Assistants to whom such leave has been granted since the 1st April, 1937, is attached.

(b) The answer is in the negative. No Agricultural Assistant of this name (Raghubir Singh) was considered for such leave, nor is any Agricultural Assistant of the name serving in the Agricultural Department. (The Raghubir Singh was granted leave to proceed abroad for further study by the Head of the Department but there was never any question of his not being a proper person to undertake this study).

[Minister for Development.]

List of Agricultural Assistants granted leave since the 1st April, 1937, for post-graduate study abroad.

1. Bhai Jaswant Singh.
2. Chaudhri Sawan Mal Sikka.
3. Chaudhri Ahmad Khan Waraich.
4. Bhai Umrao Singh.
5. Chaudhri Abdul Ghafoor Riaz.
6. Thakar Ranbir Singh.
7. Agha Ali Aaghar Khan.
8. Chaudhri Lal Chand Sikka.
9. Chaudhri Kartar Singh.

INSPECTION OF THE B. C. G. A. FACTORY, KHANEWAL, BY THE CHIEF INSPECTOR OF FACTORIES.

5337. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state the dates of inspection of the B. C. G. A. Factory, Khanewal, by the Chief Inspector of Factories, prior to 7th January, 1938, during the years 1936 and 1937 ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : The dates of inspection are :—

- 7th April, 1936,
- 19th March, 1937,
- 3rd April, 1937,
- 17th December, 1937.

AMELIORATION OF THE LOT OF CULTIVATORS IN THE PUNJAB.

5361. Khan Haibat Khan Dahi : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

- (a) whether investigations have been carried out to find the average income per day of cultivators in the Punjab ;
- (b) if the answer to (a) is in the affirmative, what is the daily income per head of—

- (1) land holding cultivators ;
- (2) landless cultivators ;

- (c) whether it has been ascertained that a cultivator can afford two square meals a day for himself and his family on this income ;

- (d) what is average holding of agricultural land in the province and whether these holdings are economic or uneconomic ;

- (e) whether the question of ameliorating the lot of these cultivators by granting Government land in the canal colonies to deserving cultivators has ever been considered, and if so, with what result ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : (a) Some investigations have been conducted in the Punjab which give some idea about the daily income of cultivators and tenants but the data cannot be called representative of the various tracts of the Punjab. They are published in 'Farm Accounts' and 'Family Budgets' series of the Board of Economic Inquiry, Punjab, for the last several years.

(b) and (c) Figures may be worked out from the above publications for what they are worth.

(d) The average size of cultivators holdings in the Punjab has been worked out in Publication No. 11 of the Board of Economic Enquiry, Punjab. It is not known whether the holdings of these sizes would be economic or uneconomic.

(e) Yes. 34,000 acres were granted in the Nili Bar Colony to cultivators whose holdings in their home districts were very small. Similarly, 18,900 acres have also been granted in the Pir Mahal Extension in the Lower Chenab Colony, part of which was to be granted to such persons.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Minister please enlighten the House on part (c)? Has he himself ascertained the fact? The question reads "whether it has been ascertained that a cultivator can afford two square meals a day for himself and his family on this income".

Minister : But the answer is quite clear.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I want to have the answer 'yes' or 'no'.

Minister : I cannot say a plain 'yes' or 'no'. My answer is "Figures may be worked out from the above publications for what they are worth."

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Have Government taken the trouble to work out the figures?

Minister : No.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Have Government taken any steps to find out whether the income of the cultivator has increased during their regime or whether it has decreased? If it is falling, what steps have Government taken to improve the conditions of the cultivators?

Minister : Does that question arise out of the original question or my answer thereto?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : This is a very important question, and I think the question does arise. After all the object of the question is to find out what steps Government are taking to ameliorate the condition of the cultivators. I want to know whether Government have taken any steps to add to their income or to improve their lot in any way. (No reply). That shows your sympathy for the cultivator.

Lala Duni Chand : According to different estimates made from time to time the average income of an Indian per day is not more than 1½ or 2 annas at the most. Is the Honourable Minister in a position to say whether the average income of the agriculturist is below this average?

Minister : I am afraid I cannot answer this question without a fresh notice.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : It is rather embarrassing.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether it is true that on the whole agriculturists are much poorer than other classes of poor people ? Is the Honourable Minister aware of that fact ?

Minister : I am not sure whether it is true, or not, although I suspect it is.

PROMOTIONS AND SUPERSESSIONS IN THE VETERINARY DEPARTMENT.

5390. Dr. Sant Ram Seth : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state the number of promotions made in the year 1938 in all grades of services in the Veterinary Department and also state the number of supersessions allowed in the same year while giving such promotions ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : Thirty-four promotions involving twelve supersessions were made in the following services of the Veterinary Department during the year 1938 :—

Serial No.	Service.	Number of promotions.	Number of supersessions.
1	2	3	4
1	Punjab Veterinary Service (Class I.)	2	Two officers of the Punjab Veterinary Service (Class II) were superseded by one officer.
2	Punjab Veterinary Service (Class II).	5	3 Veterinary Assistant Surgeons.
3	Subordinate Veterinary Service (Veterinary Assistant Surgeons).	19	NIL.
4	Subordinate Veterinary Service (Clerical Establishment).	7	6.
5	Subordinate Veterinary Service (Laboratory Assistant at the Punjab Veterinary College).	1	1

Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan : Is it a fact that a Jat whose increment had for the last several years been stopped was made Deputy Superintendent, Veterinary, very shortly after the present Honourable Development Minister assumed charge and now he has been thrust into the Veterinary College as Professor ?

Minister : If the honourable member gives notice of that question, I will find out the facts for him.

LANDS LEASED, MORTGAGED OR SOLD IN CONNECTION WITH CO-OPERATIVE BANK LOANS.

5421. Master Kabul Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state—

(a) how much area of land in connection with the loans of the co-operative bank was yearly leased, mortgaged, and sold and for how much amount, in the districts of Rohtak, Hissar, Gurgaon, Karnal, Campbellpur, Lyallpur and Montgomery during the years 1981-82 to 1988-89, separately ;

(b) how many persons were kept in the lock-up during each of the years mentioned in (a) for non-payment of the loans of the co-operative bank ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : The time and labour involved in collecting the information asked for will hardly be commensurate with the results likely to be obtained.

Sardar Sohan Singh Joshi : Can the Honourable Minister give any information regarding his own district ?

Minister : No, Sir.

Rai Bahadur Mukand Lal Puri : Is it a fact that these co-operative banks harass people while making recoveries ?

Minister : Not very much.

Mr. Speaker : From which answer given by the Honourable Minister does this question arise ? He has told you, in other words, that he declines to answer the question.

Rai Bahadur Mukand Lal Puri : Part (b) of the question does not require much time and labour.

Mr. Speaker : I thought his answer covered both the parts.

Minister : Yes, Sir.

Rai Bahadur Mukand Lal Puri : Have any enquiries been made on that point whether it requires much time and labour ?

Minister : It is quite apparent from the nature of the question.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it for reasons of expediency that the information is being withheld ?

Minister : There is no question of expediency.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that the Honourable Minister while making speeches makes this propaganda among the people that if any body does not return his loans, his lands would be mortgaged, auctioned and sold ?

Mr. Speaker : That does not arise from the answer given. Disallowed.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether the Honourable Minister ascertained during his last tour of Rohtak and Karnal districts that in realising loans there the department was scandalously cruel and dishonest ?

Mr. Speaker : The Honourable Minister has already replied that he cannot answer the question, because the time and labour it shall involve will not be commensurate with the answer.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : This is a question which can be easily replied to by the Honourable Minister with the help of the information he has in his possession.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member cannot extort an answer. He cannot get milk out of a stone. (Laughter.)

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether the Honourable Minister for Development is aware of this much that his efforts to protect the debtors are frustrated by the co-operative societies ?

Mr. Speaker : That question does not arise from the answer given.

Rai Bahadur Mukand Lal Puri : How much expenditure does the Minister anticipate would be incurred in answering part (a) or part (b) ?

Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan : Is it a fact that some people have been compelled to part with their houses in order to pay up the amount due ?

Mr. Speaker : That question does not arise.

Rai Bahadur Mukand Lal Puri : My question remains unanswered ?

Mr. Speaker : Silence is an answer. (Laughter.)

Rai Bahadur Mukand Lal Puri : Would not a letter to the district judge of every district bring a complete answer to parts (a) and (b) without any extra expense ? May I know why the Government does not undertake this enquiry when ex hypothesi it would not require any more expense than that of a letter to the district judge of each district ?

Mr. Speaker : That is a question of opinion.

Rai Bahadur Mukand Lal Puri : Will you please call upon the Minister to give an answer ?

Mr. Speaker : Sorry ; That is not in my power. However, the House may possibly compel him to give a reply.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I point out that it does not require the whole House but a part of the House consisting of fifty members bringing in a no-confidence motion who can also extort information ?

Mr. Speaker : Yes. But a no-confidence motion shall be discussed and decided by the whole House.

MONEY PAID TO THE JAT GAZETTE, ROHTAK, AS ADVERTISEMENT CHARGES.

5424. Master Kabul Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

(a) the amount of money paid to the Jat Gazette, Rohtak, as advertisement charges by the Debt Conciliation Boards of Karnal, Ambala, Rohtak, Gurgaon and Hissar districts, separately, during the years 1987-88 and 1988-89 ;

(b) the number and names of papers published in the districts of Ambala, Karnal, Rohtak, Hissar and Gurgaon ;

(c) whether advertisements pertaining to the Debt Conciliation Boards mentioned in (a) are published in other papers than the Jat Gazette ;

(d) if not, the reasons for this differential treatment ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : (a) 1937-38. A sum of Rs. 156 was paid by the Debt Conciliation Board at Karnal only.

1938-39. Rs. 246, Rs. 855, Rs. 808, and 524 were paid by the Debt Conciliation Boards at Hansi, Sonapat, Karnal and Jagadhari respectively.

(b) Thirteen newspapers :—

1. Yadava Zamindar	(Gurgaon district).

(c) Yes.

(d) Does not arise.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it true that these papers carry on political propaganda on behalf of the Unionist Party ?

Minister : I do not read all these papers. I glance through some of them.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : What is the total amount paid to the Jat Gazette alone by all these conciliation boards ?

Minister : The honourable member can total up the figures for himself.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it true that Jat Gazette is kept alive only by such contributions, otherwise it would have died long ago ?

Minister : No.

Rai Bahadur Mukand Lal Puri : What is the other name of Jat Gazette ?

(Laughter.)

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What proportion does this sum represent of the entire advertisement income of the Jat Gazette ?

Minister : I do not know.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : The Honourable Minister has been the editor of that paper. Can he refresh his memory and say as to what was the total approximate income of the Jat Gazette by way of advertisements when he was the editor ?

Minister : I was editor in 1923.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is not the Honourable Minister connected with that paper even now in one form or the other ?

Minister : No.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it not a fact that this amount paid to the Jat Gazette by the conciliation boards represents the major portion of advertisement income of that paper ?

Minister : I cannot say anything about it.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know if Government has taken into consideration the circulation of those newspapers before giving them advertisements for publication ?

Minister : Yes, most certainly.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know if the circulation of the Jat Gazette has been estimated ?

Minister : I cannot give the exact result of the inquiry, but the matter is ascertained every year from the deputy commissioner of the district.

LANDS LEASED, MORTGAGED OR SOLD IN CONNECTION WITH CO-OPERATIVE BANK LOANS.

5430. Chaudhri Sahib Ram : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

- (a) how much area of land in connection with the loan of the co-operative bank was yearly leased, mortgaged and sold and for how much amount, in the districts of Rohtak, Hissar, Gurgaon, Karnal, Campbellpur, Lyallpur and Montgomery during the years 1931-32 to 1938-39 separately ;
- (b) how many persons were kept in the lock-up during each of the year mentioned in (a) for non-payment of the loan of the co-operative bank ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : The time and labour involved in collecting the information asked for will hardly be commensurate with the results likely to be obtained.

MONEY PAID TO JAT GAZETTE, ROHTAK, AS ADVERTISEMENT CHARGES.

5433. Chaudhri Sahib Ram : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

- (a) the amount of money paid to the Jat Gazette, Rohtak, as advertisement charges by the Debt Conciliation Boards of Karnal, Ambala, Rohtak, Gurgaon and Hissar districts, separately during the years 1937-38 and 1938-39 ;
- (b) the number and names of papers published in the districts of Ambala, Karnal, Rohtak, Hissar and Gurgaon ;

(c) whether advertisements pertaining to the Debt Conciliation Boards mentioned in (a) are published in other papers than the Jat Gazette ;

(d) if not, the reasons for this differential treatment ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : (a), (b), (c) and (d) The attention of the honourable member is invited to the answer given to the Assembly question No. *5424¹, to-day.

RELIEF MEASURES FOR THE PEOPLE OF THE SUB-MOUNTAIN TRACTS IN THE AMBALA DISTRICT.

5457. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

(a) if he or any other Honourable Minister has ever paid any visit to the sub-mountain tracts in Ambala district lying below or near Shiwalik hills along the whole northern boundary of the district with a view to acquire correct information regarding the economic condition and the other grievances of their inhabitants ;

(b) if he is aware of the fact that the agricultural population of these tracts lives in a state of chronic poverty and semi-starvation ; if so, whether the Government proposes to take any relief measures ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : (a) I recently paid a visit to the district and addressed zamindars' meetings at places fairly close to the sub-mountain tracts and heard their grievances.

(b) The statement regarding the chronic poverty and semi-starvation of the agricultural population is much exaggerated. The Shiwaliks have suffered severely from denudation and erosion and the chaos emerging from them have done considerable damage to the cultivation below. Uncontrolled grazing and indiscriminate felling by the people in the past is mostly responsible for this state of affairs. The question of improving the economic condition of the people within the Shiwaliks is already engaging the attention of Government. Closures are being arranged in order to re-clothe the bare hill slopes with a view to check the rapid flow of water, to improve the quality and quantity of fodder and to encourage the growth of varieties of valuable grasses.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether the Honourable Minister was ever told by anybody when he was pleased to pay a visit to this tract that forty or fifty per cent of the people living in this particular area of Ambala district were actually starving ?

Minister : No such statement was made to me, although wherever I go I hear people saying that they are very hard up and that their district is very backward in every respect.

Lala Duni Chand : Will he take this fact from me ? I recently was there and I was told by the officials that as many as forty to fifty per cent of the population of this part of the district do not get two meals a day or even one meal a day.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : Is the honourable member asking for information or supplying it?

Mr. Speaker : I think the honourable member is making a statement of facts and will base his question on that statement (Opposition cheers.)

Lala Duni Chand : On the basis of the information supplied by me, will he be pleased to pay a visit to that tract of the district in order to verify the correctness of the information?

Minister : When I next tour through the district, my honourable friend may suggest the name of the place which he wishes me to visit.

Lala Duni Chand : May I suggest the tract, the sub-mountain tract along the hills with a length of some 70 miles and with a width of some 10 to 15 miles? This is the tract to which the Honourable Minister has never been.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I ask, if the facts enumerated by Lala Duni Chand are correct, whether Government has decided to take any action?

Minister : I have already stated the action taken by Government so far as the prevention of damage by hill torrents is concerned. So far as other action taken in other directions is concerned, I am afraid, the giving of such information is beside the scope of an answer to an Assembly question.

Diwan Chaman Lall : It is a serious matter that so many people should be starving as alleged by my honourable friend. Has my friend the Minister decided to enquire into this matter and afford certain measures of relief to those who are starving in these tracts?

Minister : I am not prepared to accept the statement of Lala Duni Chand at its face value. I will certainly make enquiries when I go there next.

HIGH RATES OF ENERGY AT AMRITSAR.

5463. Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether the Government has recently received any representation from the Textile Manufacturers' Association at Amritsar, regarding the high rates charged by the Amritsar Municipality for energy supplied for industrial purposes ;
- (b) whether it is a fact that the Punjab Hydro-Electric Department also supply energy to certain areas within the municipal limits at Amritsar and the rates at which the department supply energy are much cheaper as compared with the rates charged by the Municipal Committee especially for energy supplied for factory lighting ;
- (c) whether Government is aware that on account of the supply of energy at comparatively high rates, the factorises at Amritsar suffer from a great disadvantage ; if so, the action proposed to be taken in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) Yes.

(b) Connections for the supply of electrical energy within the municipal limits of Amritsar but outside the 'area of supply' specified in the Amritsar Municipal Electric Licence are given by the Punjab Public Works Department, Electricity Branch. The Electricity Branch tariff is generally lower than the rates charged by the Municipal Committee under the Amritsar Municipal Electric Licence.

(c) Some time ago the question of revising the maximum rates prescribed under the Amritsar Municipal Electric Licence was referred to an Advisory Board appointed by Government under the Indian Electricity Act. The Textile Manufacturers' Association had full opportunity to represent its case before the Board. The recommendations of the Board are under the consideration of Government.

ALTERATION IN RATES PRESCRIBED IN AMRITSAR ELECTRIC LICENCE.

5464. Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state whether Government appointed in April 1938 an Advisory Board to go into the question of what alterations, if any, should be made in the maximum rates prescribed in the Amritsar Municipal Electric Licence for public and private supply; if so, whether this Board has so far submitted its report and if so, what, and when do the Government propose to take action on its recommendations?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : Yes. The recommendations of the Board are now under the consideration of Government.

CLERICAL ESTABLISHMENT OF HIGH COURT AND COURTS SUBORDINATE THERETO.

4819. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Finance Minister be pleased to state—

(a) the number of clerks originally employed for the clerical establishment in the High Court of Judicature at Lahore and subsequently transferred to the courts subordinate thereto during the last 12 years;

(b) the posts which they held and the pay they drew in the said High Court;

(c) the post to which and the pay on which they were transferred to these subordinate courts?

(d) the number of clerks transferred from the subordinate courts to the establishment of the High Court during the same period and the posts which they held in the subordinate courts and the pay which they used to draw there before their transfer;

(e) the pay on which and the posts to which they were transferred to the High Court?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : I regret that the labour and expenditure involved in collecting this information would be out of all proportion to the results to be achieved by such an enquiry.

DEFECTS IN ACCOUNTS OF OLD CENTRAL JAIL, MULTAN.

4980. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) whether any defects were discovered in 1938 in the accounts of the Old Central Jail, Multan, for the year 1935-36 ; if so, whether any inquiry has been made into the matter, and, if so, with what result ;
- (b) whether any action has been taken or is intended to be taken against those responsible for these defects ;
- (c) whether he will be pleased to lay a copy of the report on the table of the House made by the officer deputed to make an inquiry into this matter ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) and (b) The honourable member's attention is invited to the answer given to starred question No. 4968¹ asked by Chaudhri Kartar Singh.

(c) It is not in the public interest to disclose the contents of the report.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : What is the result of the enquiry ?

Minister : I said at that time that the matter is under consideration of the Government but that the irregularity is not of any serious nature.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Can I know the nature of the irregularity ?

Minister : If the honourable member wishes to probe further into this matter I should have notice of the question.

REFUND OF UNDISBURSED DIET MONEY DEPOSITED IN COURT BY LITIGANT PUBLIC.

5031. Maulvi Mazar Ali Azhar : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that the diet money of witnesses in civil cases has to be deposited in advance with the court concerned ;
- (b) whether it is also a fact that there are no rules in existence requiring the courts to refund suo motu or even to ask the parties concerned to apply for the refund of such money in cases in which this money remains undisbursed and ultimately lapses to Government ; if so, the action proposed to be taken in the matter ;

- (c) the number of civil cases in which diet money was deposited in all the civil courts at Lahore, within the last three years, and in which the money so deposited remained undisbursed, has not so far been refunded to the parties concerned with the reasons for not doing so and the action the Government propose to take in the matter ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) Yes.

(b) No. The instructions on the subject are contained in rule 36 of Chapter 9, High Court Rules and Orders, Volume II, as amended by correction slip No. 26, dated the 28rd April, 1984.

(c) Government consider that the labour involved in collecting the information required will be quite disproportionate to the advantage to be gained, but if the honourable member would like to bring any specific case of breach of the rules or of inequitable treatment to their notice, they will inquire into it.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether it is true that as a result of the working of the existing rules considerable amounts of money lapse to the Government every year ?

Minister : If the honourable member would define what he means by 'considerable' I may be able to give an answer.

Lala Duni Chand : May I say large sums of money ?

Minister : That does not help me any more.

Lala Duni Chand : A few thousands in the whole of the province.

Minister : If the honourable member really wishes to know the exact figures I can find that out but probably it will take a long time to compile them spread over a large number of districts and over a long period as they are.

POLITICAL AND UNDER-TRIAL PRISONERS.

*5119. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state the following particulars with respect to political and under-trial prisoners, (1) Charan Singh in Mianwali Jail, (2) Fateh Singh in Multan Central Jail, (3) Pt. Ram Kishan in Ludhiana District Jail, (4) Ujagar Singh 'Ult' in Hoshiarpur Sub-Jail, (5) K. S. Dhillon, Hoshiarpur Sub-Jail, and (6) Teja Singh, Hoshiarpur Sub-Jail :—

KISAN PRISONER PIARA SINGH.

5149. Sardar Hari Singh: Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state—

(a) the weight on admission and present weight of kisan prisoner Piara Singh lodged in Lahore Borstal Jail;

(b) the state of his health and the treatment accorded to him?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal:

(a) Weight on admission 102 lbs.
Present weight 111 "

(b) The state of his health is good, and therefore the question of treatment does not arise.

UNDER-TRIAL KISAN PRISONERS BABA BHAGWAN SINGH, HARBANS SINGH AND OTHERS.

5183. Sardar Hari Singh: Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state—

(a) whether on 3rd August, 1939, under-trial kisan prisoners Baba Bhagwan Singh, Harbans Singh and others were given severe beating by the Jail Warders under the orders of and in the presence of superior jail officials;

(b) statements on the incident by the prisoners alleged to have been beaten;

(c) whether an impartial inquiry has been conducted; if so, with what result?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal: I regret I must trouble the honourable member to give more definite particulars about the under-trial prisoners—the names of all of them about whom information is sought, and the place of their confinement. On receipt of these necessary particulars the required information will be obtained.

Diwan Chaman Lal: Do I take it that there are two Bhagwan Singhs and Harbans Singhs, thus making it difficult for my honourable friend to find out in which jail they are confined?

Minister: If I can give my assurance to the honourable member, I may say that I did make considerable effort to find out, but I could not secure the information.

CHANAN SINGH, STATE PRISONER.

5301. Sardar Harjab Singh: Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) the state of health of Chanan Singh, a State prisoner; whether or not he is in the opinion of physicians in a delicate state of health;

(b) whether Government considered the question of his release; if so, with what result?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) The latest reports show that the State prisoner is in very good health.

(b) As has been explained in the House on a number of occasions, the cases of all State prisoners are reviewed by Government at short intervals. It is not proposed for the present to release this particular prisoner.

Rai Bahadur Mukand Lal Puri : When was this case last reviewed ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice for that.

Rai Bahadur Mukand Lal Puri : May I take it from the statement of the Parliamentary Secretary that these cases are periodically reviewed as a routine and that no particular enquiry was made in this case ?

Parliamentary Secretary : In those cases which are periodically reviewed, no enquiry is made.

Rai Bahadur Mukand Lal Puri : Is it the policy of the Government not to release this prisoner ? What are the charges against him ?

Parliamentary Secretary : My friend knows the charge against this prisoner. If a notice is given of this particular question, a reply shall be given.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Has he ever been brought before a court of law ?

Parliamentary Secretary : At present I have no particular information on this point, but if the honourable member will give a notice he shall get a reply.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Under what law has he been arrested and detained ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If the honourable member gives notice of this question, all the information available will be supplied to him.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Has this particular person been arrested and detained under Regulation 3 of 1918 ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am not aware of this. I require notice for this question.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Is it not a fact that Hitler and Mussolini whom my honourable friend condemns, act like my honourable friend's Government ? (Laughter.)

Mr. Speaker : Is this a supplementary question ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : When was this case reviewed last ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am afraid this question also requires notice.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : When will it be reviewed next ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I require notice for this question.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Is it the policy of the present Government to arrest and keep people in jail without any trial ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If the people will transgress the limits of law, it would be the public duty of the Government to arrest them. They will be arrested in the public interest.

Diwan Chaman Lal : Is it in the public interest or public duty that persons should be arrested and detained without any trial and without any charge ? Is that public duty ?

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : For how long has he been in jail ?

Parliamentary Secretary : For this question I require notice.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : How many times has the Government considered this case ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I require notice for this question.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Has the Government ever considered this case at all ?

SARDAR HARI SINGH, M.L.A.

*5316. Sardar Harjab Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state as to why S. Hari Singh, M.L.A., for whom A class has been recommended by the court was carried from Hoshiarpur sub-jail to the Lahore Central Jail in the 3rd class compartment by the Police on the 29th of September, 1939 ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : The honourable member is referred to paragraphs 576-C (18) and 576 D (15) (a) of the Punjab Jail Manual which provide that a better class prisoner may travel in a higher class than 3rd class by rail on paying the difference in fare for himself and his escort. Sardar Hari Singh travelled in intermediate class from Hoshiarpur to Lahore and duly paid the difference between it and 3rd class.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is there any fixed rule relating to the carriage of A, B or C class prisoners in the different compartments of the railway train ?

Minister : That is exactly what I have stated in my reply. If the honourable member desires that I should read to him those paragraphs of the Jail Manual, I am prepared to do so.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I want only this simple information namely, in what class A, B or C class prisoners are allowed to travel respectively.

Minister : I will read the relevant paragraphs of the Jail Manual.

Paragraph 576-C. (18).—A class prisoners shall be subject to the same rules as regards transfers as are applicable to Class 'B' prisoners.

Paragraph 576-D. (15) (a).—Accommodation.—Normally third class railway accommodation shall be provided, but where suitable 3rd class carriages with proper sanitary arrangements are not available, inter-class accommodation shall be allowed. Prisoners may be allowed to travel by a higher class than 3rd class at their own expense if they wish to do so, in which case they will be required to pay the difference in fares both for themselves and for their escorts.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Is there any distinction between European prisoners and non-European prisoners so far as the travelling in railway compartment is concerned ?

Minister : If the honourable member wants this information he must give notice for this purpose. I would not venture to give an off-hand reply. I will have to make enquiries.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : If a prisoner happens to be a European Tommy, in what compartment of the railway train is he carried ?

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Has a Punjabi prisoner ever been carried in an intermediate class compartment ?

SCHEME FOR RECRUITMENT OF CLERKS IN JAIL DEPARTMENT.

5399. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) whether any scheme for recruitment of clerks in the Jail Department has been introduced by the Government in recent years, if so, whether he will please lay it on the table of the House ;
- (b) what effect has it on the scheme for recruitment of assistant superintendentship, Jails.

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) No scheme for the recruitment of clerks in the Jail Department has been introduced in recent years. The honourable member may be referring to the scheme for separating clerical and executive duties in Punjab jails. This scheme was introduced on the 1st March, 1938, in order to increase efficiency in both spheres and to cope with the increased clerical work.

(b) The honourable member is referred to the reply given to parts (d) and (g) of question No. 166¹ asked by Chaudhri Muhammad Sarfraz Khan in January, 1938.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Has it any effect on the recruitment of the assistant superintendents ?

Minister : No, I do not think so.

REMOVAL OF LIQUOR SHOP FROM WITHIN SMALL TOWN AREA, SHORKOT.

5404. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that the Shorkot (district Jhang) Small Town Committee passed a resolution for the removal of the liquor shop from within the Small Town Area and submitted it to Government ; if so, when that resolution was passed ;
- (b) what action has the Government taken in the matter ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) Yes. A resolution was passed on the 25th August, 1939, but it has still to be confirmed by the registered electors of the town under section 5 of the Punjab Local Option Act, V of 1923.

(b) Does not arise.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I ask the Honourable Minister as to what is the considered policy of Government if a local body wishes to close a liquor shop within its limits ?

Minister : This is no occasion to discuss a broad question of Government's policy. I have stated in answer to this particular question that a resolution to that effect was passed but it has still to be confirmed and when it has received that confirmation, due effect would be given to it as required by the law.

TREATMENT ACCORDED TO PANDIT BHAGAT RAM SHARMA, M.L.A., ON HIS ARREST.

5411. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma, M.L.A., used to be brought into court with handcuffs on both hands as an under-trial prisoner ;
- (b) whether it is a fact that he used to be kept in cell ;
- (c) the offence for which he has been prosecuted ;
- (d) the period for which he has been in the lock-up ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma, M.L.A., used to be brought to court with handcuffs on one hand only. These were removed while he was in court.

(b) He was kept for some days in the juvenile ward which consists of two cells, a compound and a latrine, but whenever this ward was required for an approver, he was removed to the hospital ward.

(c) He was prosecuted for a breach of the Defence of India Rules.

(d) From the 18th September to the 18th October, 1939.

Rai Bahadur Mukand Lal Furi : Was it under instructions of the Government that instead of handcuffs being on both the hands they were placed on one hand only or was it due to the indulgence shown by the local police officers ?

Parliamentary Secretary : There are definite rules governing the handcuffing of persons. According to the rules a person, guilty of all offences which are punishable with three years' or more imprisonment, has to be handcuffed. There are other details regarding these rules and the Honourable Premier will make a statement shortly in answer to a short notice question which has been tabled.

Sardar Lal Singh : Do you mean to say that it is incumbent on the police to handcuff a person who is prosecuted for an offence the punishment for which is three years ? Is it not discretionary on the part of the police ?
(Interruption.)

Parliamentary Secretary : The Honourable Premier is making a statement in reply to a short notice question and he is giving the necessary information.

Diwan Chaman Lal : May I know whether it is a fact that the honourable member was kept in handcuffs not on one hand but on both the hands for a period of three solid hours while he was produced before the court on 23rd September ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice of that question.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I ask whether it is a fact that the chain which was passed through the handcuffs was passed not once, not twice, but three times in order to make it more uncomfortable for my honourable friend ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If my honourable friend gives notice of the question, I will certainly go into it and if such a thing is done which is against the rules, it will certainly be enquired into.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Is it a fact that although the prison is only two minutes walk from the court, my honourable friend, handcuffed on both hands, was kept standing on the roadside for half an hour for the public to have a look at him ?

Parliamentary Secretary : My information is that he was handcuffed only on one hand and that he tried to create a demonstration there and it was therefore necessary to handcuff him. (An honourable member : Disgraceful.)

Diwan Chaman Lall : If my honourable friend had made that statement originally there might have been some truth in it. He is now improving the statement that he has already made. May I ask him whether it is a fact that on each one of these occasions, that is, on the 26th September, the 30th of September and 9th of October my honourable friend was handcuffed on both hands and was brought to court in order to listen to the charge ?

Premier : Assuming that that allegation is correct, what then ?

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I ask my honourable friend if that allegation is correct, whether it conduces to the dignity of this Government that it should treat an honourable member of this House who, until he is convicted, is an innocent man, in this particular manner ?

Premier : My honourable friend must remember that whereas he or I, as members of this House, have privileges in this House, we have no privileges outside this House and if we offend the law, we must be treated accordingly because the law is no respecter of persons.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Perfectly true. I am not asking for special privileges for the honourable gentleman. What I am asking is this that until he is convicted, he is an innocent man. Is it conducive to the dignity of this Government that an innocent man should be treated in this fashion ?

Premier : According to what my honourable friend is now saying no under-trial prisoner should be handcuffed. But I am not prepared to accept that position.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I ask my honourable friend if he is prepared to accept the position that a gentleman of the position of an honourable member of this House, should be treated in this wild manner by the minions of my honourable friend's Government ?

Premier : A gentleman of my honourable friend's position or of the Honourable Speaker's position or my position should not in any way transgress the law if he wants to be immune from such experiences.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I ask my honourable friend to remember once again that until a person is convicted, under the eye of the law he is innocent? Is it conducive to the dignity of the Government to treat a man, who is innocent, in this wild manner?

Premier : I have already told my honourable friend that every murderer is, in the eyes of law, as innocent as anybody else until he is convicted, but that is no reason why he should not be handcuffed.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I take it that my honourable friend is putting Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma on the same level as an ordinary murderer?

Premier : No. I am putting him on the same level as any other person who had committed the same sort of crime.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Therefore, he was treated in this wild manner deliberately, contemptuously and insultingly, merely because my honourable friend happens to be an opponent of my honourable friend's Government.

Premier : My honourable friend's insinuation is uncalled for. He is in the habit of judging others according to his own ideas. If the treatment meted out was according to the rules, then he can claim no immunity but if it is not in accordance with the rules, then my honourable friend can give notice and we will make enquiries.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I ask my honourable friend to be in full possession of the rules when a question of this nature has been tabled? May I ask him whether it is necessary for him now to evade answering this question merely because he is not in possession of the actual rules on the subject?

Premier : My honourable friend is fond of accusing others. He put a certain question and he got the answer. See the question and see whether the answer is correct or not. You said that there were three-ply chains.

Diwan Chaman Lall : The question has been put with regard to the handcuffing of my honourable friend. It is up to the Government to be in full possession of all the facts relative to the handcuffing of my honourable friend not on one occasion but on all occasions.

Premier : So far as the question of handcuffing is concerned the answer was that he was handcuffed on one hand. He has made an allegation now that he was handcuffed thrice, or that three-ply chains were used to put him to inconvenience. If that is the allegation, we will make enquiries into that also.

Diwan Chaman Lall : It is not a question of allegation. May I ask my honourable friend if he is satisfied that the answer given is evasive in view of the allegation made and the series of questions put?

Premier : I have no reason to doubt the veracity of the answer in view of the question put.

Diwan Chaman Lall : True, but my honourable friend's answer was "I want notice of this question."

Premier : As I tried to point out, the question did not ask whether the handcuff was put in a particular manner. The question was whether he was handcuffed and the answer was 'yes.' He was handcuffed on one hand, and if he was handcuffed on one hand it was obvious that the chain was twined round his arm twice. It was not possible to—

Diwan Chaman Lall : Is he forgetting the question that was put and answer given? The question put related to a series of incidents relating to the handcuffing of my honourable friend in regard to which my honourable friend has now stated that only on one occasion he was handcuffed and that on one hand only but all the other occasions are not mentioned.

Premier : May I refresh his memory by reading the question? The question is—

“(a) whether Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma, M.L.A., used to be brought into court with handcuffs on both hands as an under-trial prisoner;”

The answer is—

“(a) Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma, M.L.A., used to be brought to court with handcuffs on one hand only. These were removed while he was in court.”

Diwan Chaman Lall : That is with reference to one occasion. I asked with reference to all those occasions including the 23rd September when he was kept for three solid hours in handcuffs.

Premier : The answer is that he used to be brought to court with handcuffs on one hand only.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Is my honourable friend satisfied with that answer?

Premier : I have no reason to doubt the veracity of this answer.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The Parliamentary Secretary has said that Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma stood in front of the police station to stage a demonstration. May I know the reasons for deducing that?

Parliamentary Secretary : What I said was that our information was that he made a demonstration before the public and thereby created disorderly atmosphere and therefore it was necessary to handcuff him. That is based on the information that we have received.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Does the Parliamentary Secretary mean that he of his own accord and not by force stood in front of the police station and staged a demonstration?

Parliamentary Secretary : Not before the police station but before the public.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : At what place?

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I ask, in reference to the reply given by the Parliamentary Secretary just now, whether he is prepared to place that document on the table of the House from which he is supposed to have read out this reply? My challenge is that it is not contained in any document in his possession. It is an after-thought created on the spot.

Premier : I think it would suit the convenience of the House if these supplementary questions are asked when the answer to the short notice question is given.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I ask my honourable friend whether he is prepared to place on the table of the House the document from which he has read the answer ? It will show that the statement which he has made, is not to be found in any document in his possession and that it is an entire after-thought.

Premier : If my honourable friend will put this question when I answer the short notice question, I will answer it.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I ask my honourable friend to remember that this does not refer to any question to be put to him ? The reply has been given by the Parliamentary Secretary. If he has any document in which this reply is contained, may I ask him if he is now prepared to place that document on the table of the House ? I say that there is no such reply contained in any document in his possession.

Premier : The reply given by the Parliamentary Secretary was given on my behalf. There is also a short notice question which would have removed all doubts and misapprehensions which my honourable friend has, if I were to read the answer to that question. It contains all the information and is a comprehensive answer and it also covers the point which has been raised by the Honourable Leader of the Opposition with regard to the demonstration.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : It is quite possible that in the reply which the Honourable Premier is going to give, the fact regarding demonstration before public may not be there and therefore we will not be in a position to put any supplementary questions with regard to it. The Parliamentary Secretary has made a statement on the floor of the House. Let him substantiate his reasons for deducing it.

Premier : My honourable friends may put supplementary questions on both questions.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I take it then that the allegation that I made is correct, namely, that it was an after-thought on my honourable friend's part to make that particular insinuation against my honourable friend, Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma ?

Premier : I am afraid my honourable friend's allegation is wholly uncalled for.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I ask him whether he is aware that Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma categorically denies the statement made by the Parliamentary Secretary and characterises it as a lie ?

Premier : He denies several things categorically now which he probably would not have done some weeks ago.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : On a point of order. Is the Honourable Premier in order in ascribing motives to a particular member ?

Mr. Speaker : No.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I protest against those remarks which he made against me on the floor of the House. It is not dignified for the Honourable Premier to use such language against me. (Interruptions.)

Mr. Speaker : I did not quite follow the Honourable Premier.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Let the Honourable Premier repeat what he said.

Premier : I said that my honourable friends will be in a better position if they put supplementary questions both on the short notice question, when it is answered by me, as well as on this question.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : We want to know what reply the Honourable Premier gave when a question was put by Diwan Chaman Lall to the effect that Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma denied the statement of the Parliamentary Secretary?

Mr. Speaker : What did the Honourable Premier say about Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma? (Voices : The Reporter may be asked to read the exact words.)

Premier : I said that there are several things which Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma may now categorically deny and which he would not have denied a few weeks ago.

Diwan Chaman Lall : The Honourable Premier is in a privileged position and is in charge of law and order. He can do many things which are denied to an ordinary member of this House. May I ask him not to abuse his position as Premier of this province and Minister of law and order in making insinuations of this kind against an ordinary member of this House?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : My objection to the remarks made by the Honourable Premier is that the case of Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma is sub judice and whatever he says here will have a bearing on the case.

Mr. Speaker : The Opposition side has not told me the exact words up till now.

(Voices : The Reporter should be asked to read them out.)

Premier : I need not refer to any case which is sub judice.

Diwan Chaman Lall : The Honourable Premier has quite correctly repeated what he said on the first occasion. There is no good calling the Reporter to repeat what he said. I take it that what he said is absolutely correct. But we characterise it to be an unfair statement.

Mr. Speaker : Will the honourable member please repeat what he said so that I may grasp it fully. What is the insinuation which is alleged to have been made by the Honourable Premier?

Diwan Chaman Lall : The point, Mr. Speaker, is this that the Honourable Premier said that there are certain things which Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma denies now and which he would not have denied a few weeks ago. That is the statement. What is wrong with it is this that it means that he is prepared to utter lies in order to defend himself.

Mr. Speaker : A far-seeing person may not consider it advisable to disclose or state certain facts to-day; but he may state them after some time. So, where is the insinuation? (hear, hear.) (Interruptions.)

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Supposing the Premier said Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma will categorically deny the fact which he would not have done before, what would it amount to? The case is sub judice even when he says that they should not be relied upon.

Mr. Speaker: What is being said to-day may not have been said a fortnight back. (Interruptions.)

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma: I want to ask the Premier whether in view of the insinuations made he would go to the court and say on oath that I have told a lie.

Premier: I never said that.

Diwan Chaman Lall: The definition of insinuation is that it has two meanings.

Premier: Take a charitable view of it.

SHORT NOTICE QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

DRUGGISTS AND RISE IN THE PRICE OF MEDICINES.

Sardar Ajit Singh: Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state whether it has been brought to his kind notice that the druggists of Lahore have recently raised the prices of medicines to make profits under the pretext of war; if so, what action has the Government taken to check this profiteering?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram: Government are aware that immediately after the outbreak of war certain firms raised the prices of medicines and particularly of quinine. Deputy Commissioners have received powers to enable them to take action when necessary, but recent inquiries made by the Deputy Commissioner, Lahore, show that the price of quinine has now steadied itself at Rs. 35 a pound as against Rs. 25 before the war. The Punjab Government have formed the conclusion that this price is not excessive in view of the fall in the value of the rupee against Dutch currency, and the necessity of dealers in this country being able to sell their stock at a price permitting them to cover the cost of replacement.

The honourable member must understand that it will not be possible to replace the stocks of any medicines manufactured exclusively in Germany, and that there being a scarcity demand for these, their prices are bound to rise. Government feel no anxiety about the supplies of other drugs but will be grateful to the honourable member if he will bring any specific cases of apparently excessive prices to the notice of Government.

Sardar Ajit Singh: Is the Honourable Minister aware that it has become a practice in Lahore that the big druggists of Lahore refuse to give medicine at any price to customers who order them by saying that they have not got that medicine and if required by the customer the druggist could send for it from some other shop?

POST OF SUPERINTENDENT, GREY CANALS.

Mian Abdul Rab: Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether it is intended to advertise the post of the Superintendent, Grey Canals, which on the death of M. Hashmat Ali has recently fallen vacant, and if so, when and if not, the manner in which this vacancy is intended to be filled?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : First part.—No. Second part.—For the present the duties of the Superintendent are being performed by the Revenue Assistant, Ferozepore. The question of the successor to the late Superintendent is under the active consideration of Government and the appointment will be made in due course.

Pir Akbar Ali : Will the Honourable Minister be pleased to say if the advertisement will secure the best man for the post ?

Minister : No, Sir.

Pir Akbar Ali : Will he please state the manner in which the Honourable Minister wants to fill the post ?

Minister : There are certain rules on the subject and if my friend will study them, he will find the whole thing.

Pir Akbar Ali : What are those rules for filling the post ?

Minister : The rules are that the Commissioner appoints the man. Just at present the whole question is under consideration.

Pir Akbar Ali : But what are the rules for selecting a suitable man for the post ?

Minister : The whole question is under consideration, as I have said. I am afraid I cannot give my friend the information he wants.

Rai Bahadur Mukand Lal Puri : Has the Honourable Minister any objection to inviting applications by advertisement ?

Minister : It is a technical post and there is no necessity for doing so just at present.

ASSESSMENT OF LAHORE DISTRICT.

Rai Bahadur Gopal Das : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) for what year or years the figures of cultivated, matured and irrigated area have been taken as the basis of assessment in each tahsil in regard to the recent assessment of the Lahore district ;
- (b) for how many years the prices of different kinds of agricultural produce have been made the basis of fixing commutation prices for each tahsil in relation to that district ;
- (c) whether he will also be pleased to lay on the table of the House the last assessment reports of each tahsil of Lahore and also the assessment report of the whole district ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) The five years ending 1934-35.

(b) The average prices of the twenty years ending 1934-35.

(c) Tahsil assessment reports are confidential. The district assessment report will be laid on the table of the house when ready.

DEFENCE OF INDIA ORDINANCE AND HANDCUFFING OF PANDIT BHAGAT RAM SHARMA.

Munshi Hari Lal : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma, M.L.A., an honourable member of this House, was handcuffed on the 13th September, 1939, when he was arrested under the Defence of India Ordinance and was subsequently brought to the court on different dates with handcuffs on both the hands ;

(b) if answer to (a) above be in the affirmative, the action Government proposes to take in the matter ?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan : (a) Yes. Under the existing rules handcuffing on arrest is obligatory when a person is accused of a non-bailable offence punishable with a sentence exceeding in severity the term of three years imprisonment, as also is the handcuffing of persons who are violent, disorderly or obstructive, or acting in a manner calculated to provoke popular demonstration. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma is charged with an offence which is non-bailable and for which the maximum punishment is five years. In addition, when the Station House Officer, Dharamsala, went to the house of Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma to arrest him, the latter demanded to know his authority in a haughty and truculent manner. When shown the warrant, he started to move into the interior of his house. The Station House Officer fearing that Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma was attempting to evade arrest, handcuffed him and produced him before the Court. There he adopted an obstructive and objectionable attitude, inviting the support of other Congressmen, who heralded his appearance with the usual slogans. As his behaviour was calculated to provoke a public demonstration, it was considered advisable to handcuff him at subsequent hearings. No application was made to the court by his counsel for the removal of the handcuffs, and I may add that only one hand of the honourable member was handcuffed.

(b) None, as the action taken was in accordance with the Rules.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I enquire whether the Honourable Premier's reply to part (a) is yes, or whether he has modified his reply ?

Premier : Yes, because of the Rules.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The question was whether it is a fact that Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma was handcuffed when he was arrested under the Defence of India Ordinance and whether he was brought to the court with handcuffs on both the hands.

Premier : I have said that he was handcuffed only on one hand.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : In answer to part (a) the Honourable Premier has replied by saying yes. It follows that he was handcuffed on both hands.

Premier : In part (a) I have given the reasons why he was handcuffed and in the latter part I said that he was handcuffed on one hand only.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : On whose information is this answer based ?

Premier : On the report of the local authorities.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it based on any entry in the police diary ? Are these facts reported in the police diary ?

Premier : I could not say.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the Honourable Premier prepared to make an enquiry and punish the officer concerned if it is found that he gave wrong information ?

Premier : I have no reason to doubt the veracity of the officer who gave the information, because he naturally made a full enquiry and then gave this answer to us. Since the law court is also concerned, my friend may be sure that nobody would dare to give a false report on the question whether Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma was produced in court with both hands handcuffed or only one hand.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : My question is this. The honourable member has himself stated that he was handcuffed on both hands, while the officer concerned has reported that he was handcuffed only on one hand. The statements are contradictory and in view of the fact that the honourable member's statement is more acceptable to the House, is the Honourable Premier prepared to make further enquiries into the matter and take action if the report of the officer that Pandit Bhagat Ram was handcuffed on one hand is proved to be incorrect ? If it is proved that the information given by the officer is incorrect, then you should punish him.

Premier : Punish whom ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : That officer concerned.

Premier : And if the information given by the honourable member is incorrect ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Then the honourable member will have to apologise.

Premier : One will have to apologise and the other will be sacked !

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Hang him, if you like.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : You can then prosecute the honourable member for perjury.

Diwan Chaman Lall : The question is this, whether the magistrate who tried the case was consulted by the police officer who made the enquiries, whether other persons who were present in the court were also consulted, or is it only an ex parte contention of the police officer in charge that my honourable friend Bhagat Ram Sharma was handcuffed only on one hand ?

Premier : I have already answered that question. I have no reason to doubt the veracity of the answer given by the local authority. I have also made it quite clear that my honourable friend Pandit Bhagat Ram was produced in the law court every day in that condition, that is, with handcuffs on one hand only and it is a fact which cannot be hidden in any way, and if my honourable friend is not satisfied he has got sources to find out whether he was handcuffed on one hand or not. If necessary, I can give him the necessary help to get at the sources. I cannot possibly conceive that an officer could give a false report, particularly when it is a question of fact and when the gentleman concerned was produced in court before a magistrate.

and so many lawyers and other people. If my honourable friend has any misgivings he had better make enquiries from independent sources, and as I have said I shall give him the help he needs. So far as I am concerned, I have the fullest confidence in the reply that I have read out.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I say that I have the fullest confidence in the statement made by Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma? May I ask therefore whether in view of the fact that the statement of the Parliamentary Secretary which was challenged on the floor of the House, he is now satisfied that the statement made by him is incorrect? And if it is incorrect, will he not hold those responsible for the information on which he has based his statement?

Mr. Speaker : That is a request for action.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I want to know whether handcuffing provokes demonstration or a mere arrest?

Premier : That is not a question of fact, but a question of opinion, and it would depend on circumstances. Sometimes an arrest provokes demonstration, another time handcuffing provokes demonstration.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Was Pandit Bhagat Ram handcuffed to frighten people? And may I know the basis for the Station House Officer to say that the attitude of Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma was haughty and truculent and that he attempted to evade arrest?

Premier : The basis is that when the Station House Officer went to the house of Pandit Bhagat Ram to arrest him, the latter questioned his authority to arrest him and he probably said: Kidar ae ho, kiya bat hai? He probably asked questions in that loud tone. But when the Station House Officer showed him the warrants, he might have edged towards the nearest door to give a message to someone in the house, and the officer probably thought that he might escape through that door.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Is it in the rules that a truculent and haughty person should be handcuffed?

Premier : I have given two reasons. Unfortunately the police have no discretion there and this is an additional thing, sone par sohaga, as you might call it.

Diwan Chaman Lall : I hope the House is now aware of the source of the fairy tales which originate from Government benches. (Laughter).

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : May I know whether with the advent of this Government all officials have become infallible?

ABSENCE WITHOUT LEAVE OF KHAN BAHADUR MAKHDUM SAYED MUHAMMAD HASSAN, M. L. A.

Mr. Speaker : As required by Rule 84 of the Punjab Legislative Assembly Rules I have to bring it to the notice of the Assembly that Khan Bahadur Makhdum Sayed Muhammad Hassan a member of this Assembly has been absent without permission from all sittings of the Assembly for a period of more than sixty consecutive days computed in the manner provided in sub-section (4) of section 68 of the Government of India Act.

ADJOURNMENT MOTION.

HANDCUFFING OF SARDAR HARI SINGH, M. L. A.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta (South Eastern Towns, General, Urban): Sir, I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the unsatisfactory nature of the reply given by the Honourable the Premier to Short Notice Question¹ regarding handcuffing of Sardar Hari Singh, M. L. A., given on 31st October, 1939.

Mr. Speaker : Lala Deshbandhu Gupta has given notice of his intention to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the unsatisfactory nature of the reply given by the Honourable the Premier to Short Notice Question¹ regarding handcuffing of Sardar Hari Singh, M. L. A., given on 31st October, 1939. Is there any objection?

Premier : I have every objection. A question was asked and answer given and if there was any doubt about the answer itself, my honourable friend could have come to me and I would have allayed his doubts.

Mr. Speaker : Will those in favour of giving the leave please rise in their places?

As more than 35 members stood up in their seats for leave being given, Mr. Speaker fixed 6-30 p.m. for the discussion of the motion.

PRECEDENCE OF GOVERNMENT BUSINESS ON THURSDAYS.

Premier : I beg to move—

“That Government business do have precedence on Thursdays, 30th November and 7th December, 1939.”

MUSLIM PERSONAL LAW (SHARIAT) APPLICATION BILL.

Begum Rashida Latif Baji (Inner Lahore, Muhammadan Women, Urban) (Urdu) : Sir, I beg to move—

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) Application Bill.

The motion was carried.

Begum Rashida Latif Baji : I beg to introduce the Punjab Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) Application Bill.

VILLAGE PANCHAYAT BILL.

Mr. Speaker : The House will now proceed to discuss the clauses of the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill.

Clause 11.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Southern Towns, General, Rural) (Urdu) :
 I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (1), lines 11-12, the words "or abolish" be deleted.

The aim of this amendment is to secure a change in the last portion of the clause which seeks to empower the Government to abolish a panchayat.
 The reasons for which a panchayat can be suspended or abolished are given in the clause as under :—

If in the opinion of Government a panchayat is incompetent to perform, or persistently makes default in the performance of, a duty imposed upon it by or under this or any other Act or exceeds or abuses its powers or should there be any other reason which in the opinion of Government necessitates the suspension or abolition of a panchayat, Government may by notification suspend or abolish the panchayat.

It will be noted that in addition to the four reasons which are specifically mentioned in the clause on account of which a panchayat may be suspended or abolished, there is yet another vague reason for which a panchayat may be suspended and it is given in the words "or should there be any other reason which in the opinion of Government necessitates suspension or abolition of a panchayat." Surely these words give wide and unlimited powers to Government to suspend or abolish a panchayat. It is in view of these very wide powers of the Government that I do not want it to go to the length of abolishing a panchayat. Even in the case of local bodies, we find that whenever a committee is suspended the Government waits for a certain period to see if the circumstances are favourable for restoring the said committee.

Furthermore, the old district board and municipal committee rules were made by the previous irresponsible Government or by Ministers whose powers were more restricted than those of the present Ministers under the provincial autonomy. Now that we are passing this measure during the regime of a so called democratic Government, it quite behoves us to withhold the powers of abolishing a panchayat and we should only empower the Government to suspend it under certain circumstances. The word "abolish" should, therefore, be deleted.

Let us not lose sight of the principle which underlies the establishment of panchayats. The aim is to save the villagers from unnecessary litigation and to train them in self-government. It would not be in the fitness of things, therefore, to empower the Government to abolish panchayats in any case, which are calculated to do immense good to the villagers. I may be allowed to mention here that we have throughout been trying to obtain the maximum powers for the panchayats and leave the minimum powers with the Government. The Government, on the other hand, has been making an effort to acquire as much power for itself as may be possible and leave as little power for the panchayat as practicable. Why does the Government adopt this attitude? The Government wants to further its own ulterior ends by acquiring the maximum power over the panchayats. My amendment seeks to withhold the power of abolishing a panchayat while I do not object to Government having the power to suspend a certain panchayat under specified circumstances. For this purpose the words "or abolish" should be deleted from the last portion of the sub-clause which is under consideration. I hope that the Honourable Minister will not object to this amendment of mine.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in sub-clause (1), lines 11-12, the words "or abolish" be deleted.

Minister for Public Works (Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan, Tiwana) : Sir, I oppose this amendment. If this amendment is carried, Government will not have the power to abolish a panchayat. Suppose there is a murder or faction or there are other very serious circumstances and the panchayat cannot work there satisfactorily. The Government must have power to abolish the panchayat. Suspension of course will be resorted to in the first instance and then abolition. The suspension cannot go on for an unlimited period. Under extraordinary circumstances the Government should have the power to abolish the panchayat. With these words I oppose the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in sub-clause (1), lines 11-12, the words "or abolish" be deleted.

The motion was lost.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Southern Towns, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I beg to move—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the words "for a period not exceeding three years" be added.

[Pt. Shri Ram Sharma.]

Sir, briefly put, the aim of this amendment is to put a limit to the period for which Government should be empowered to suspend a panchayat. With a view to this, I propose that the period of three years would be enough for which a panchayat may be suspended. The Government should not be empowered to suspend a panchayat for an unlimited period. The wording of my amendment is quite plain and I need not make a long speech to explain it. Even in the case of municipal committees the Government waits for favourable circumstances to re-instate a committee which is suspended on account of certain reasons. The same should be the case with the panchayats. They should not be suspended for an unduly long period. With these few words, I commend my amendment for the acceptance of the House.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the words "for a period not exceeding three years" be added.

Minister for Public Works (Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : Sir, I oppose this amendment. The same arguments that applied to the last amendment apply to this amendment also. There should be no time limit for the suspension of a panchayat. It should be open to Government to re-establish the panchayat whenever there are favourable circumstances. It should not be incumbent upon Government to re-establish the panchayat within three years if circumstances do not justify it. Abolition cannot be for a certain period. When we abolish, it would be for an unlimited period.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the words "for a period not exceeding three years," be added.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (1) of clause 11, stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

That in part (b) of sub-clause (2), lines 3-5, for the words "disposed.....direct," the words "utilized, during the period intervening fresh election of the panchayat to meet charges in connection with duties of the panchayat as given in this Act," be substituted.

Sir, sub-clause (b), as it at present stands is as follows :—

"the funds and other property, if any, vested in the panchayat shall be disposed of in such manner as Government may direct."

We want that these funds which originally belong to the panchayat should be utilized during the period intervening fresh election of the panchayat to meet the charges in connection with the duties of the panchayat as given in this Act. There should be some certainty about it. It has been pointed out by the Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill that circumstances sometimes may necessitate a panchayat to be revived and at another time it may happen that the Government may not be in a position to revive a panchayat in a certain village. That means that some village may go without a panchayat for a number of years and in that case the funds which have been collected by the panchayat may be employed by the Government in any way they like. If the intention of the Government is that the funds collected for a certain purpose should be spent for that very purpose, then I say that there should be no objection to the Government in adopting such an amendment. The funds should not be utilised for something else. They should not be utilised for a purpose altogether different or inconsistent with the purpose for which this money was collected. In the case of municipal committees, when a committee is superseded, municipal fund is only employed for the purpose for which it is already employed, i.e., according to the Municipal Act, but in this case the Government wants to take some powers which go far beyond those given in the Village Panchayat Act itself because in that case the hand of the Government would be quite free. In that case money may be spent in any way they like in any village. My amendment is not only of a harmless nature but it will improve things. In a matter like this, in the matter of expenditure of funds, the Government should not have a free hand. These funds are collected from poor villagers and we do not think that in a case like this there should be any objection. I may inform the House that rules should be made such that money collected by the panchayat must be earmarked for their needs only. There should be no ambiguity because it is very difficult for the Government to keep in view all the pledges or assurances now given on the floor of the House, at the time of framing the rules. I suggest that my amendment be adopted.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in part (b) of sub-clause (2), lines 3-5, for the words "disposed..... direct," the words "utilized, during the period intervening fresh election of the panchayat to meet charges in connection with duties of the panchayat as given in this Act" be substituted.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : According to part (b) of sub-clause (2), the Government shall have the power to dispose of funds and other property in any way that it likes. By this power it is just possible that the Government may use or utilise that money not only for that panchayat area, not only in that district, but the Government may utilise that fund in another district too. All the funds, under section 63, are collected by the panchayat from the people of the panchayat area. I would draw your attention to section 63 (a) of this Bill. It says :—

"(a) all grants from Government or Local bodies and all sums other than judicial fees and fines received by or on behalf of the panchayat under this Act, or otherwise ;"

You will find under the first part that except the Government contribution all that money is to be paid either by the people of that area or by the local board of that district. The second part (b) is "the balance (if any) standing at the credit of the panchayat at the commencement of this Act ;" that means that funds would come from the people of that panchayat area. Clause (c) is as follows :—

"the balance and proceeds of all funds which in the opinion of the Collector were or are being collected for the common secular purposes of the village."

That would include malba and all such things. Thus all those funds which the panchayat will have at its disposal shall be collected from the people of that area but on the other hand the Government, on suspension or abolition of panchayat, shall have the power to dispose of those funds for the benefit of the people of other districts also. For this reason I support the amendment and at the same time move my amendment and I expect that the Honourable Minister would accept it.

Minister for Public Works : I oppose both the amendments. The reason is that they are based on an undue fear. Whenever a local body is superseded—and this applies to municipal committees also—all the funds standing to the credit of that local body vest in the Government. It has been said that perhaps the Government would utilise those funds for some other purpose instead of benefiting that area. That is not the case. No Government, least of all a responsible Government, would like to use those funds for any other area except that for which they are meant and for the inhabitants of that area. But I do not think that there should be a rigid provision in the Bill binding the Government in this matter. Sometimes there might be objects which may be in the interest of those villagers as well as others on which these funds might be spent. But I do not think that will be the case generally and there should be no fear on this point. So I oppose the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That in part (b) of sub-clause (2), lines 3-5, for the words "disposed.....direct," the words "utilized, during the period intervening fresh election of the panchayat to meet charges in connection with duties of the panchayat as given in this Act" be substituted.

The motion was lost.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Southern Towns, General, Urban) (Urdu) :

Sir, I beg to move—

That in part (b) of sub-clause (2), line 4, for the word "Government" the words "the two-thirds majority of the electors" be substituted.

Now part (b) of sub-clause (2) to which this amendment relates reads as follows :—

The funds and other property, if any, vested in the panchayat shall be disposed of in such manner as Government may direct.

The object of this amendment is that the decision as to how the property vested in the panchayat should be disposed of should be left with the people of the area concerned. They can understand their requirements better than the Government. I know that the Government has been opposing all our amendments to clause 11. In this respect the Government and the Opposition have been virtually representing Nazi-ism and democracy, respectively. But I hope this amendment will receive a better treatment.

The demand made in this amendment is very reasonable and in accordance with the principles of true democracy. I want the people to decide how they want to spend their money. But in the next amendment I have also proposed that if the people neglect their duty in this respect then the Government should take the matter in its hands. Then again I have not left the decision to a bare majority. I know that sometimes there are party factions and when a decision is taken by a negligible majority it cannot inspire confidence. I have, therefore, proposed a majority of two-thirds. Nothing can be more reasonable than this proposal. After all the money will not be sent by the Government by money order with an order to spend it for this or that purpose. Only the people on the spot can decide what is good for the people of the locality. The Government, should, therefore, give them an opportunity to decide for themselves. If they do not prove equal to the occasion then let the Government step in by all means. In fact I have proposed such a provision myself. With these remarks I commend my amendment to the acceptance of the House.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in part (b) of sub-clause (2), line 4, for the word "Government" the words "the two-thirds majority of the electors" be substituted.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : Sir I have to oppose this amendment. It is clear on the face of it that it will be unworkable. In each case, when a small item is to be spent, the honourable member would have a referendum taken in the village and votes obtained. Suppose the two-thirds majority is not available to vote for the expenditure to be incurred, then what would happen? It is just like asking the people of this province to control the budget of the legislature. That is not possible. It is a small executive committee appointed which can be expected to administer the funds. But if the votes have to be taken on every item, I think, it would be impossible in actual working. So I must oppose this amendment.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know what is the difficulty in asking the people just after the elections to state their requirements and to let the Government know the purposes to which they want their money and the attention of their panchayat to be devoted?

Minister for Public Works : Suppose you have to spend Rs. 2 on clearing a drain, then you will have the votes taken of the whole village. Then there is an item involving a cost of 8 annas, again you get all villagers collected and have to take their votes and get a two-thirds majority. If there is no two-thirds majority, then no work will be done.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : My suggestion was that the Government could ask the people of the panchayat area just after the elections, to state the main purposes to which their money should be devoted. That would settle the matter once for all. What is your objection to such a procedure?

Minister for Public Works : It is unworkable. If there is no two-thirds majority, what will happen then?

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in part (b) of sub-clause (2), line 4, for the word "Government" the words "the two-thirds majority of the electors" be substituted.

The motion was lost.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I beg to move—

That in part (c) of sub-clause (2), lines 1-2, for the word "Sessions" the word "District" be substituted.

I know that this amendment is going to be accepted but I wish that the Honourable Minister does not accept it (Laughter).

This part of the clause relates to withdrawal of cases pending before a panchayat which has been suspended or abolished. The district magistrate has been given powers to withdraw the criminal cases and my amendment requires that the powers to withdraw civil cases should be given to the district judge and not to the sessions judge.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in part (c) of sub-clause (2), lines 1-2, for the word "Sessions" the word "District" be substituted.

Minister for Public Works : How can I oppose an amendment so ably moved from that quarter ? I accept it.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in part (c) of sub-clause (2), lines 1-2, for the word "Sessions" the word "District" be substituted.

The motion was carried.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to move—

That at the end of sub-clause (2), the following be added :—

"(d) The functions or duties delegated to the panchayat under section 20 of the Act shall, from the date of notification, be considered as withdrawn and assumed by the District Board."

I think the Honourable Minister will accept this. Let me explain to him the purpose of my amendment.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : The honourable member can only seek permission to move that clause.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : I would like to know from the Honourable Minister one thing. You are delegating certain powers under section 20 of this Act to the panchayats. But there is no provision for their withdrawal.

Minister for Public Works : When you delegate these powers to a body and that body ceases to exist, then it is clear that these powers will revert to the original delegator.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : May I know one thing ? If a district board has delegated certain powers to the chairman and vice-chairman, then there is a rule by the Ministry that those powers cannot be withdrawn by the district board.

Minister for Public Works : But that is where the chairman and vice-chairman are alive in flesh and blood. Here the body will be non-existent. The two cases are not identical.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : The District Board Act does not provide anything about the withdrawal of such powers. So in that case, when the panchayat is abolished or superseded and when the district board has delegated certain powers to the panchayat, there is no provision for the district board for the withdrawal of those powers. How can the district board withdraw those powers ? You are already having one rule for the withdrawal of powers from the chairman and the vice-chairman.

Minister for Public Works : The honourable member is bringing in the District Boards Act. That Act is not to be amended. The provisions of the District Boards Act stand. By this you cannot change the provisions of that Act at all.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : The district boards are going to delegate certain powers. The district boards can delegate powers to the head of the department or to the panchayat under section 20; but they cannot withdraw those powers under the Act.

Minister for Public Works : I object to leave being granted.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That leave be granted to move. That at the end of sub-clause (2), the following be added—

“(d) The functions or duties delegated to the panchayat under section 20 of the Act shall, from the date of notification, be considered as withdrawn and assumed by the District Board.”

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (2) as amended stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (3) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 11 as amended stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 12.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 12 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 13.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I beg to ask for leave to move—

That between the first paragraph and the proviso the following new sub-clauses be inserted:—

“(2) The sarpanch or, in his absence, the naib-sarpanch, may, whenever he thinks fit and shall within three days, when required in writing by a majority of the panches convene a meeting of the panchayat.

(3) The meetings of the panchayat shall be public.”

Mr. Speaker : Pandit Shri Ram Sharma has given notice that in line 3, for the word “month” the word “fortnight” be substituted. Does the honourable member wish to move that amendment?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I am not moving my amendment.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That leave be given to move—

That between the first paragraph and the proviso, the following new sub-clauses be inserted:—

“(2) The sarpanch or, in his absence, the naib-sarpanch, may, whenever he thinks fit and shall within three days, when required in writing by a majority of the panches convene a meeting of the panchayat.

(3) The meetings of the panchayat shall be public.”

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : Amendment No. 4¹ is covered by part 1 of the proposed new clause which has been disposed of just now.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : No, Sir. The first part relates to the general meetings called at the request of the panches. The second part of the proviso relates to certain meetings at the request of the panches or by a majority of the panches. In the first place I agree that generally a meeting should be called by the sarpanch; but supposing the business requires an emergent meeting to be called at short notice for some urgent matter, it is just possible that the panch might be absent. In that case such a requisition shall be sent to the naib-sarpanch who shall have authority to call such a meeting. If such an authority is not given to the naib-sarpanch—

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : My learned friend will be convinced that this amendment is altogether unnecessary. I would invite attention to clause 7, sub-clause (3) which has already been passed. It says—

The naib-sarpanch shall act for the sarpanch whenever the latter is absent from the panchayat area, for a period of more than three days.

Whenever the panch is absent the naib-panch will act for him. The amendment, therefore, is unnecessary.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 13 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 14.

Lala Duni Chand : I beg to move—

That in proviso to sub-clause (2), line 2, for the word "two" the word "three" be substituted.

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : That is again out of order, because some of the panchayats will consist of three members. In that case it would be ridiculous to have a quorum of three.

Lala Duni Chand (Urdu) : I admit that the minimum number of the panches required for the formation of a panchayat is three and the maximum number is seven. I do not propose to question that. But my amendment seeks to provide that when any meeting of a panchayat is attended by only 3 panches no decision of the panchayat should take effect unless there is unanimity of opinion about it.

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : We have already provided that in case of three panches the decision of two, if made unanimously, would take effect.

Lala Duni Chand : My submission is that unless the decision of all the three panches is unanimous it should not take effect. The decision of three panches would certainly inspire confidence in the mind of their electors. The proviso as it stands in the Bill will, I am sure, give rise to party factions in the panchayat. It is, therefore, in the interests of the panchayat itself that my amendment should be accepted.

¹That in the proviso, line 1, between the word "sarpanch" and "when" the words "or in his absence the naib-sarpanch" be inserted.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in proviso to sub-clause (2), line 2, for the word "two" the word "three" be substituted.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : We will have a number of panchayats in which the total strength of panches will be three. If we insist on unanimity, how will they function? The result will be that one differing member will hold up the work of the panchayat.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That in proviso to sub-clause (3), line 2, for the word "two" the word "three" be substituted.

The motion was lost.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I ask for leave to move—

That at the end of clause 14, the following new clause be added—

- " 14-A. (1) Minutes of the proceedings at each of the meetings of the panchayat shall be drawn up and recorded in a book to be kept for the purpose, shall be signed by the Chairman of the meeting of the next ensuing meeting ;
- (2) A copy of every resolution passed at any meeting of the panchayat, shall, within three days from the date of meeting, be forwarded to the Deputy Commissioner."

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That leave be given to move—

That at the end of clause 14, the following new clause be added :—

- " 14-A. (1) Minutes of the proceedings at each of the meetings of the panchayat shall be drawn up and recorded in a book to be kept for the purpose, shall be signed by the Chairman of the meeting of the next ensuing meeting ;
- (2) A copy of every resolution passed at any meeting of the panchayat, shall, within three days from the date of meeting, be forwarded to the Deputy Commissioner."

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 14 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clauses 15-16.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clauses 15 and 16 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 17.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I beg to move—

That in the proviso, line 1, for the word "entertainment" the word "appointment" be substituted.

The clause as it stands is as follows :—

The panchayat may employ such servants as may be necessary for carrying out the duties imposed on it by or under this Act and may pay the salaries of such servants out of the panchayat fund.

[L. Duni Chand.]

This is the first part of the clause and its wording is quite correct. The difficulty arises in case of the proviso. It is stated therein :—

Provided that the entertainment of any paid clerical establishment shall be subject to the previous sanction of the Deputy Commissioner.

I think that the word "entertainment" has not been correctly used and it seems to be misfit here. I suggest that for the word "entertainment" the word "appointment" be substituted. With these words I move my amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in the proviso, line 1, for the word "entertainment" the word "appointment" be substituted.

Minister for Public Works : The present word "entertainment" is perfectly sound and good and I do not see any need for the change proposed.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in the proviso, line 1, for the word "entertainment" the word "appointment" be substituted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 17 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 18.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 18 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 19.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) :
Sir, I beg to move—

That at the end of part (a) of sub-clause (1) the words "and the removing of encroachments from such ways and spaces" be added.

Now as the clause stands, "it shall be the duty of the panchayat, within the limits of the fund at its disposal, to make arrangements for carrying out the requirements of the panchayat area in respect of the following matters" and one of these matters is stated to be "public ways and public open spaces including their sanitation, and drains." I want that at the end of this the words "and the removing of encroachments from such ways and spaces" should be added.

Shaikh Faiz Muhammad : Will it not be covered by the phrase "comfort and convenience"?

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : If so, all the clauses from (a) to (p) might as well be omitted. If brevity is taken to that extent then there is no necessity for retaining these different parts.

Minister for Public Works : Please see clause 21 (1) (a).

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : You have differentiated between the two terms in clause 19, "public ways" and "public open spaces," whereas in clause 21 (1) (a) you say, "to remove any encroachment on a public way or drain," so that the question of "open spaces" remains unprovided for. Supposing there is encroachment on an open space, that is not provided in the Bill. There are open spaces which are often used by the villagers for different purposes on the occasion of marriage and other religious ceremonies and for such purposes it is necessary that open spaces should be kept and maintained and provision made for it.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That at the end of part (a) of sub-clause (1), the words "and the removing of encroachments from such ways and spaces" be added.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : I oppose the amendment. There are two things that the mover of the amendment wants to bring within the purview of this amendment. The first is "public ways". If you read clause 21 (1) (a) you will find that provision is made for this. Then the second object of the mover is to bring in "open spaces." Now open spaces stand in a different category. Sometimes they are vested in the village proprietary body and to vest the panchayat with control over these open spaces would mean clash with private rights which is not the purpose of this legislation. There is no idea to usurp or take away the powers or the rights of the proprietary bodies. I therefore oppose the amendment.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : May I ask one question? Is it not the intention of the Government to empower the panchayat to remove encroachment from open spaces belonging to the village when there is a likelihood of a dispute regarding encroachment on such spaces?

Minister for Public Works : "Open spaces" is a vague term. It may mean anything. If it is in the public interest that the encroachment should be removed, it is provided for. But to ask the panchayat to go and get hold of any and every space is not contemplated and is not desirable.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Then why are these sanitation and drains duties given to the panchayat? Disputes are likely to arise even there.

Minister for Public Works : Cleanliness or otherwise of a place affects the health of the locality. That is different from taking control over a thing. A person living in a municipality is asked to clean his house and keep it clean. That is totally different from taking control over that house.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That at the end of part (a) of sub-clause (1), the words "and the removing of encroachments from such ways and spaces" be added.

The motion was lost.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalra (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) :
 Sir, I move—

That in part (b) of sub-clause (1), line 1, between the words "wells" and "ponds" the word "water-pumps" be inserted.

The motion was carried.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalra : Sir, I move—

That in part (k) of sub-clause (1), line 2, between the words "of" and "horses" the word "cattle" be inserted.

This also appears to be an omission. (k) is—

"The improvement of the breeding of horses and other animals used for agricultural or domestic purpose."

My submission is that cattle is the only form of animal that is most essential. Horses are there by specific name and animals include camels, donkeys and others, but when there is a specific term for cows, oxen and bulls why not use it? I think breeding of cattle is more important than any other kind of animal and therefore it may be made clear.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in part (k) of sub-clause (1), line 2, between the words "of" and "horses" the word "cattle" be inserted.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : I may point out for the information of the honourable member that we considered the question but we came to the conclusion that cattle is a restricted term? Many animals that are useful for domestic and agricultural purposes are not covered by the word "cattle." Therefore we have used this term.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalra : What is the use of having the word "horse"?

Minister : It is not a domestic animal. You will not call poultry cattle. It is because of that that we have a more comprehensive term in the use of the words domestic and agricultural purposes.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in part (k) of sub-clause (1), line 2, between the words "of" and "horses" the word "cattle" be inserted.

The motion was lost.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalra (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) :
 Sir, I move—

That at the end of part (l) of sub-clause (1), the words "including village common lands" be added.

Part (1) relates to public gardens and public playgrounds. I may remind the Government that in one or two of their official reviews the Government promised that at the time of introducing the Punjab Panchayat Amendment Bill, they would make attempts to control the village common lands. I refer them to the Forest Department Report.

Minister for Public Works : I have nothing to do with it.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : You may have nothing to do with it but Government has and you are a member of that Government. One Department of the Government says at one place that the panchayats will be given powers for the preservation of the village common land but the Minister here says that he has nothing to do with it. In these days consolidation of holdings is going on in some villages and there are disputes between the non-agriculturists and depressed classes of the villages and other people. It is all the more necessary that the panchayat should have a voice in the preservation, maintenance and upkeep of the village common land. It has been pointed out that the Government does not want to interfere with the proprietary rights of the villagers. But those who will constitute the panchayats, a majority of them, will be agriculturists, therefore control by them will not be an interference with the rights of the people. It is all the more necessary that the village common lands should be included in the Bill more especially when the Government has already given an undertaking to include them and hand their management over to panchayats.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the chair and it was occupied by Mr. Deputy Speaker.)

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That at the end of part (2) of sub-clause (1), the words "including village common lands" be added.

Minister for Public Works : I am not aware of any pledge of Government to which a reference has been made by my honourable friend the mover. If the amendment is carried it will vest the panchayats with powers to control the village common land. The panchayats will include the professional and other labouring classes who have nothing to do with the proprietary body. The village common land belongs to the village proprietary body. Our idea is to bring about harmony between the various classes of people residing in a village, but a provision like this will certainly mean a clash. The effect of this amendment would be to take away the rights of the proprietary body. I would come forward with such a legislation when the labourer is declared as the owner of the mills and factories. Then perhaps the zamindar will be prepared to consider whether he should cede rights in the village common land. At present I oppose the amendment.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma (Kangra West, General, Rural) : The Honourable Minister perhaps does not know the conditions prevailing in the villages these days. The village proprietary body is not the only body which has a right in the village common. Under the present Unionist Government, as under the old regime, there is a third party which is a stronger party which is getting practically everything out of these village commons. As far as my district is concerned, most of the income of the village common goes to the Government and not to the village proprietary body. When I talk of Government, of course I mean the Forest Department. The Forest Enquiry Committee headed by Mr. Garbett went to our district and made a detailed enquiry into the matter and made a report. A representation was made by the people to the commission that it is in the interest of the village conservation to hand over the administration of village common land to the people. There is a conservancy scheme under which the village common should be handed over to the people. According to the present state of affairs, the village common is in the charge of the Forest Department. It has been suggested that these should be considered as community forests and the control of these community forests should be handed over to the village panchayats. It was said in reply to this suggestions that a scheme is under consideration of the Government according to which the control of these community forests will be handed over to the people and as far as I remember there was even a recommendation of this in the report by Forest Commission in which it was clearly given that there should be some via media by which the control over these village forests should be handed over to the villagers or to the village proprietary body. To-day I am surprised to learn that the Minister stood up and said that the interests of the proprietary body are at stake. But he has very conveniently forgotten that the main income from all the village shamilats goes to the coffers of the Forest Department and perhaps it is for this reason that he is not willing to accept this very wholesome amendment coming from the Opposition which aims at ameliorating the conditions of the poor zamindars in the villages whose income goes to the coffers of the Government.

Under the so-called conservancy scheme the present Government has taken the excuse to victimize the agriculturists. It does not help the village community and the Forest Department. The forests are burnt every year. There is not a single tree standing in these jungles. The Honourable Minister said that there is the ror going on in the Hoshiarpur district. I am not against the Forest Department or the conservancy scheme. I am not opposed to it. It is a good scheme. This scheme is useful for a particular country and here in our country it is of absolute necessity. The present Government is responsible for the policy of not taking the village proprietors into confidence and the present Government is primarily responsible for the destruction of the village forests. The Government should not persist in opposing this wholesome amendment. The Forest Commission has recommended that the management of the village forest should be handed over to the village panchayats and the village proprietary bodies. With these words I support the amendment.

Chaudhri Ali Akbar (Gurdaspur East, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I rise to strongly oppose the amendment that has been moved by my honourable friend Pandit Muni Lal and supported by my honourable friend Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma. In fact the honourable member who has supported the amendment under consideration, hails from the district which abounds in jungles. The idea underlying the amendment may be to take possession of the forests which belong to the Government. If he had been a resident of such district as mine, he would have regarded this amendment quite unreasonable. It would be very inconvenient to bring large tracts of shamilat land under the control of the panchayats. It may not be so in the district of Kangra. But in other districts the zamindars are the common masters of the shamilat-i-deh. Every patti is entitled to a different piece of the common land and when this land is distributed among the pattidars, it is cultivated and yields considerable produce to the zamindars. Why and how should such land be handed over to a panchayat? With these words, Sir, I oppose this unreasonable amendment of the Opposition.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That at the end of part (i) of sub-clause (1), the words "including village common lands" be added.

The motion was lost.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) :
Sir, I beg to move—

That at the end of part (n) of sub-clause (1), the words "camels and horses" be added.

Sir, you will kindly observe that in sub-clause (1) (n), the words are "the voluntary registration of the sales of cattle," and it has been pointed out by the Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill, that the word "animal" is wider in meaning than the word "cattle." It includes all other different kinds of animals. But in this case the word "cattle" is used in order to exclude horses, camels and others.

5 p.m.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That at the end of part (n) of sub-clause (1), the words "camels and horses" be added.

The motion was carried.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) : I move—

That in part (o) of sub-clause (1), line 3, after the word "and," the words "the publication of market prices of the agricultural commodities and" be added.

Although I know that there is provision in the Marketing Act as to the publication of market prices, still the marketing committee shall be away from many panchayat areas and it is extremely necessary that all the cultivators who produce all these commodities should also know the market prices. Up to this time they do not know the prevailing market prices. The traders come to the villages and give false market rates to the villagers and get the produce according to their own rates. Under these circumstances it is extremely necessary that this power should be given to the panchayats so that they may be able to publish it in that panchayat area. I expect from the Honourable Minister that he would accept this amendment because they pose to be there for the welfare of the zamindars and my amendment is for the benefit of the zamindars.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in part (o) of sub-clause (1), line 3, after the word "and," the words "the publication of market prices of the agricultural commodities and" be added.

Minister of Public Works : I oppose the amendment. To begin with it is doubtful whether all panchayats would have the necessary funds for carrying out this object. If you will kindly see part (b) you will find that already wide powers are there and any such functions can be carried out (Interruptions). There is the question of degree of necessity. I oppose the amendment.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That in part (o) of sub-clause (1), line 3, after the word "and," the words "the publication of market prices of the agricultural commodities and" be added.

The motion was lost.

Lala Duni Chand : I move—

That between parts (o) and (p) of sub-clause (1), the following new part be inserted:—

“(p) protection of non-agriculturists particularly members of schedule caste and menials from oppression, boycott and harassment and report such cases of oppression, boycott and harassment as it may think proper to the District Magistrate.”

(Urdu) : Sir, I have decided to speak on this Bill in my own tongue so that all the honourable members who have come here to protect the rights of zamindars may know how far we on this side of the House are at one with them in the matter of the protection of the rights of the zamindars. Then, we will see how far these honourable friends help us in our effort to safeguard the interests of the people living in the rural areas.

The object of clause 19 is to entrust the panchayats with certain duties calculated to benefit the people living in the rural areas. Some of my honourable friends have sought to improve this Bill in several ways. The object of my amendment is to impose this new responsibility on the panchayats so that they should see that no members of the scheduled castes and low castes living in the rural areas are oppressed and harassed by members of the proprietary classes.

Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : And also to see to it that women belonging to the scheduled castes are not abducted.

Lala Duni Chand : There are always two classes in a village, the class of proprietors of the village and the class of non-proprietors, that is, members of the scheduled castes or our Achhut brethren. Generally the idea prevalent in the villages is that any treatment can be justifiably meted out by the members of the proprietary classes to the members of the low classes. The impression seems to have taken firm root in the minds of the members of the higher classes that members of the lower classes reside in villages simply to work as slaves and serfs for the members of the proprietary classes. I want that it should be made the responsibility of the panchayats to see to the interests of the scheduled castes. It should be part of the duties of a panchayat that if instances of oppression of the members of the scheduled castes are brought to its notice, it should pass them on to the district magistrate who will do the needful to redress any wrongs that may have been perpetrated. I want this Honourable House to bear in mind that village life is particularly of a very miserable type for some classes. The influential and strong village proprietors seem to entertain the primitive idea that any amount of oppression on the poor and downtrodden sections of the village population is quite justifiable.

It is a matter of daily occurrence that the zamindars do not allow Harijan women to enter their fields to answer the call of nature. They do not allow the Achhuts to graze their cattle on their lands. The landowners have placed various restrictions on the movements of the members of the depressed classes living in their villages, so much so that they are sometimes forbidden even to ease themselves on the dung hills. They cannot enter or leave the village without the previous permission of the zamindars. We daily receive hundreds of complaints to the effect that such and such chuhras, chamars or kamins have been victimized by the village landlords. The Unionist Government is in the habit of declaring from its house top that it stands for the welfare of the depressed classes, and it never gets tired of making such declarations. Now, if it sincerely wishes to grant the Achhuts or Harijans those rights that are being enjoyed by others then it is incumbent upon it to accept my amendment. I assure the Government that the acceptance of my amendment would do no harm to any of its interests. On the other hand it would go a long way in helping the materialization of its own oft-quoted policy and programme. My object in moving this amendment is to empower the panchayats to protect the non-agriculturists particularly members of the scheduled classes from oppression and harassment. The treatment that is being meted out to-day to the Harijans in the villages can better be imagined than described. They are not allowed even to put on white clothes. They are oppressed and boycotted, threatened and intimidated by the landowners even under the slightest pretext. It is not open to them to sit on a charpoy in the presence of any landholder. The members of the non-agriculturist classes and especially of scheduled castes are made to work for the zamindars for nominal wages and if they refuse to do so they are subjected to corporal punishment. I may point out to the Government that so far as the Harijans are concerned reign of terror is prevailing in villages. If the present Government is really a democratic one, as it often claims to be, then it should see to it that the poor fellows are accorded better and more sympathetic treatment by the zamindars. It is high time that the Government shook its lethargy and took necessary steps for the amelioration of the condition of the Harijans. It is now imperative on the Government to give solid and material proof of its oft-made claims. I know that the wealthy non-agriculturists living in villages are being treated better by the land owning classes, but the condition of the poor people is extremely pitiable. I, therefore, request the Government to give such powers to the panchayats as would enable them to protect the rights of the Harijans. It is a very innocent amendment and I do not think the Honourable Minister would have any objection to its acceptance. I hope and trust that if he sincerely wishes to do anything good for the Harijans he would certainly accept my amendment.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: Clause under consideration amendment moved—

That between parts (o) and (p) of sub-clause (1), the following new part be inserted:—

“(p) protection of non-agriculturists particularly members of scheduled caste and menials from oppression, boycott and harassment and report such cases of oppression, boycott and harassment as it may think proper to the District Magistrate.”

Lala Harnam Das (Lyallpur and Jhang, General, Reserved Seat, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, I rise to support the amendment now under consideration. So far as the Panchayat Bill is concerned, I would like to submit that the powers delegated under it are in fact passing into the hands of those who are in the habit of oppressing and harassing our community. The real object of establishing village panchayats was to dispense free justice to and emancipate those poor, destitute and penniless people who are unable to get two square meals a day. If our Government really wants to do justice it should try to take a leaf out of the book of Emperor Jehangir who had hung a golden chain at his palace wall. It was open even to the poorest of the poor to come and pull it and get his grievances redressed. We want similar arrangements to be made here in the Punjab also. Originally the object underlying the formation of panchayats in the villages was to extend justice even to the most destitute persons without making them spend a single penny for the purpose. But, it is a pity that the Punjab Government is enacting this Bill with a view to keep my community enslaved for ever. It is, I am sure bringing about our complete ruination. It is in fact, compelling us to emigrate from the Punjab. The present attitude of the Government clearly shows that it is trying to carry out the wishes of the Honourable Premier to the last letter. During the last Budget Session he remarked in a reply to my speech that the Harijans of the Punjab should better leave the province. Sir, there is no doubt about the fact that the Punjab Government has always tried to cause a split among the ranks of the depressed classes. Recently it has appointed certain Achhut panchayat officers to work only among their own community. Thus the Government wants to throw dust in the eyes of the scheduled castes by making an intensive propaganda in its own favour through those officers. In other words the Government wants to keep them in the dark for ever. It wants to win them over by mere expressions of sympathy. They are told that if they would quietly submit to the yoke of the Unionist Government it would prove immensely useful for them. It is a fact that these poor people are not acquainted with the real state of affairs. The present Government wants to become popular among the Achhuts by bringing forward such measures but in fact this too like others would prove a deadly weapon against my community. As I have already stated the object of introducing the Panchayat Bill should have been to save the poor litigants from the payments of the court and counsel fees. But the present Bill I am sure would only give unlimited powers to the wealthy sufedposhes and lambardars.

I may also submit that Achhuts do not consider the Panchayat Bill to be a useful one, as it goes against their interest. The question is of money and they are very poor so much so that they are unable to hold conferences and press upon the Government by passing resolutions against this Bill. As powers are to be invested in big zamindars and the rights and liberties of poor members of scheduled castes are to be trampled down, this Bill will not find favour with them. Moreover, they are fully aware that as soon as they decline to obey a panch or any distinguished person they will be put to great trouble and the panch will get them convicted and sentenced for some months or fined Rs. 40 or Rs. 50. Numberless forms of repression are in evidence in rural areas. The time at my disposal is very short, otherwise I would have stated them. Anyhow I should like to place some of them before you. As you might be aware, the Achhuts are engaged in minor industries such as tanning, shoe-making, weaving, etc., etc. Due to general economic depression, the Achhuts are unable to serve lambardars and other prominent persons gratis and are constrained to refuse to work for nothing and this leads to their being boycotted completely by the rural gentry. If we take a general view of their present condition irrespective of panchayats that are still to be formed we will but pity them. Do you know how they are treated by zaildars and lambardars? In fact they subject them to all sorts of atrocities and excesses. If a prominent person of a village becomes angry with an Achhut, a meeting is at once called by the lambardar or zaildar and all of them arrive at this kind of decision that such and such treatment should be meted out to the Achhut community of the village. I want to point out that if the members of depressed classes continue serving them gratis they are pleased and if they decline a little they are doomed. In this connection I should like to quote an instance of Chak N.3. 249 Gogera, district Lyallpur, where an Achhut, Sindhi by name, refused to mend a slipper. Now I would tell you what happened to him. Hamid Ullah the suspended lambardar called the prominent zamindars of the village who were his kith and kin at his house at night and the Achhuts including Sindhi were also called for. Hamid Ullah asked them to stop their tanning work as they remained busy at their work and on that score the zamindars could not get men to work in their fields. Moreover they were compelled to mark their thumb-impressions to the effect that they did not require canal water. Consequently the poor Achhuts had to give up the tanning work on that very day and after that when they sought justice from the authorities they were completely boycotted by the zamindars of the village and even the canal water which was reserved for them had been sold to other zamindars. This matter was brought to the notice of the Deputy Commissioner but he paid no heed to the poor Achhuts and took the side of the zamindars. Nevertheless, two lambardars pleaded the cause of Achhuts.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The scope of the amendment is very wide but I would request the honourable member to be brief.

Lala Harnam Das : I may further submit that if Achhuts do not work in the fields of zamindars the whole village is incited against them. By submitting these facts I mean to say that if they refuse to work for zamindars they are badly treated by them so much so that false cases are started against them. Often it so happens that professional tax is levied on most of them. So they have to work gratis lest this tax should be levied upon them. As I have already submitted in villages Achhuts are compelled to over-work so much so that they are forced to work on fixed wages. For instance, they are compelled to weave 5 seers of cotton per rupee. And if they work on these wages they cannot make both ends meet and if they do not work on these wages they are completely boycotted. They are sometimes closed in their houses and the shopkeepers refuse to supply them with various provisions. They are not allowed to go out even for easing purposes and if they dare go to the fields they are shoe-beaten. May I under these circumstances ask the Government how it will arrange to provide them with medical aid if they fall a victim to some fatal disease? I remember an incident of this type occurred in a village. A member of the depressed classes fell a victim to cholera and as no local help was extended to him the medicine was sent for from another Chak. I may also add that at the time of boycott, they are not allowed even to cut grass from the ground of the village and to bring fuel from a neighbouring village. My honourable friend Lala Duni Chand has referred to proprietors. I should like to submit that the real proprietors are neglected and they are not being provided with a place to hide their heads. It is a pity that those who have no claim over this country are considered to be proprietors while the claims of actual proprietors are thrown over-board. I, therefore, submit with all the emphasis at my command that so far as Almighty is with us there is no power on the face of the earth that can efface our existence.

Let me also submit that this Panchayat Bill will lead to the decline of depressed classes. And the present Government in relation to the Achhuts stands on the same ground as the fowler referred to in the following couplet :

نہ تو دیم ہی کیا نہ کیا آزاد میں

تو نے پر نوچ کے صیاد میں چڑھ دیا

It was absolutely essential to incorporate such provisions in the Bill as would safeguard the rights and interests of the poor people particularly kamins, Indian Christians and Achhuts. But on the other hand such a stringent and harsh Bill is being enacted as would I am sure leave no choice for the poor Achhuts but to emigrate from the Punjab. Now these people are in fact praying for the downfall of the Unionist Government.

In the end I would like to say that the present amendment is undoubtedly a very important one, and in view of the fact that the Achhuts have already been denied any right of representation on the proposed panchayats, I would request the Honourable Minister to accept it. But at the same time I am sure he is not prepared to accept it as it has become the second nature of the Government to turn down every good and useful suggestion that may emanate from this side of the House. With these words, Sir, I support the amendment moved by my honourable friend on the right.

Sardar Moola Singh (Hoshiarpur West, General, Reserved Seat, Rural) (Punjabi) : Sir, I rise to support the amendment under consideration. Before I proceed with my speech I would like to acquaint the honourable members of the House with the object underlying the Panchayat Bill. Before the inception of the Unionist Party the main practice was that all village disputes were settled according to the principles of arbitration. In almost all such cases justice was properly done to the parties concerned. Such decisions were generally accepted by all. But when the Unionist Party came into being it instigated one community against the other by raising the question of agriculturists and non-agriculturists, etc.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I would request the honourable member to be relevant. He is not speaking to the amendment.

Sardar Moola Singh : Sir, I am developing my argument in support of this amendment. What I want to submit is that the establishment of the proposed panchayats would give rise to several other disputes. I am afraid only big landlords would be elected panches, and thus armed with the provisions of the present measure they would surely tyrannise over the Achhuts and since they are agriculturists and the Achhuts are non-agriculturists they would try their best to bring about the complete ruination of the latter. There is no doubt about the fact that such panchayats would prove harmful to our rights and interests. But if you accept the amendment moved by Lala Duni Chand there can, I am sure, be some chance of our welfare. It is a pity that no provision has been made in this Bill for our representation as well as general welfare. The hardships that we are subjected to in the villages are well known to every one. But since the Honourable Minister of Public Works is no less than a native ruler or a prince, he or the Honourable Sir Sundar Singh cannot be expected to be aware of our plight. They were born with silver spoon in their mouths. (Laughter). Only Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram had some knowledge of our miserable condition. But ever since he became a Minister of the Punjab Government he has completely forgotten us. We are being tyrannised over in the villages. It is not open to us to leave or enter a village without the consent of the zamindars. We are made to work gratis and if we refuse to do so we are subjected to great hardships. We are not allowed to graze our cattle in the fields of the zamindars. We cannot sit on a charpoy in the presence of a big zamindar. Under such circumstances it is absolutely necessary to accept this amendment. If the Government wants to do justice let it come forward and accept it. Otherwise the present Bill is not going to benefit us. Even my honourable friend Sardar Gopal Singh once remarked that our community could not gain anything under this measure. Now he has entered the Chamber and I am sure he will try to throw a flood of light on the provisions of the Bill. The honourable Seth Kishan Das has been one of the members of the select committee appointed for the purpose of submitting a report on the village Panchayat Bill. I hope he will also support this amendment. With these words, Sir, I support the amendment under consideration.

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh (Eastern Towns, Sikh, Urban) : I rise in support of the amendment that has been moved by my friend Lala Duni Chand. It is agreed on all hands, that the population of our villages consists for the most part of agriculturists. Others are in a minority and at most places in a hopeless minority. It is therefore all the more necessary that it should be the special concern of the Government to protect the interests of all those who are in a minority, be they in the villages or in the cities. We have heard from time to time very many complaints that in some of the villages our Harijan brethren are not allowed even to draw water from the common well. The tales of oppression of the minority at the hands of the majority in the villages are not unknown. These tales have reached people from time to time and I feel sure that Government is not unaware of them.

The boycott of these minorities at the hands of the majority is also a weapon which has been frequently used in the past. Now to remove all these complaints the amendment moved by my friend Lala Duni Chand appears to me to be very modest and very reasonable. What does this amendment say? That these poor people who are in a hopeless minority, in the villages be given permission to approach the panchayats which will be dominated by the agriculturists themselves and lay before them their grievances and their complaints. Not that they expect them to redress their grievances immediately. The very modest request made in that amendment is that if the panchayat feels satisfied that those grievances are genuine, that those complaints are real, they may bring those things to the notice of the district magistrate of the district. That is all what the amendment says. I really see no harm in it. Panchayats will be dominated by your own men sitting on Government benches. They will be for all practical purposes pro-Government people and I really fail to understand what difficulty the Government has in accepting this very reasonable demand made by Lala Duni Chand. If nothing more can be done, it should be the concern of some one to at least hear these complaints. The remedy suggested by this amendment, namely that the panchayat should make representations to the authorities, is not to my mind a very effective remedy. As a matter of fact by accepting that amendment Government will be saving themselves from a great trouble. You now complain that these petty questions are brought before this House, but hereafter you will be able to say, 'that such and such matter has already been enquired into by the panchayat and the complaint found to be baseless.' To my mind Lala Duni Chand places in your hands a weapon which will serve the Government purpose, more effectively. This amendment, if accepted, will however give some satisfaction to these people at least to know that they will have the right to put their complaints before their village people, although they may belong to the same class which oppress them so much. With these words I support the amendment.

Chaudhri Ali Akbar (Gurdaspur East, Mithamniara, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I rise to oppose the motion now before the House. At the very outset of my speech I may point out that we are the representatives of the rural people and we know much about the rural areas. None of the honourable members over there reside in the villages and therefore they cannot claim to know more about the rural conditions than ourselves. Besides, honourable members who represent the achhuts are also not putting up in the rural areas. On the other hand they are residing in the cities and at the instigation of the urban members they daily bring charges against the Honourable Ministers. In addition I may point out that honourable members while delivering speeches do not confine themselves to the object of the amendment but they simply go on harping on the same old tune that saildars and sufedposhes perpetrate untold cruelties on the achhuts. I can say without any fear of contradiction that such allegations are entirely incorrect. The fact of the matter is that my honourable Hindu friends have converted the achhuts to their religion and while doing so they held out great promises to them that they would eat and drink in common with them and that they would allow them to draw water from their wells. But now neither they eat nor drink with them nor do they allow them to draw water from their wells. These poor people have been left in the lurch. In the circumstances I ask them whether they are meting out cruel treatment to them or we? As a matter of fact my honourable friends over there held out these promises with a view to increase their voting strength and to capture more seats. Even now they pretend to show some sort of sympathy for them by moving this amendment. After all I ask them what is the use of expressing sympathy which is merely lip deep? To me it seems that by expressing such lip sympathy my honourable friends wish to exhibit to the achhuts that they are their well-wishers so that they should always side with them and remain under their influence. Their object solely is to keep them in their old degraded condition. In fact they do not desire that they should become conscious of their entity and break away from them.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member is irrelevant.

Chaudhri Ali Akbar : Sir, I am only refuting the arguments of my honourable friends over there. In the olden times the achhuts worked with the zamindars quietly and lived with them peacefully and happily

They even ate and drank from their houses and also got their ~~share~~ from them and lived like brethren. Now our Hindu friends have moved this amendment in order to win their sympathy and thus they wish to get their votes for increasing their strength in the panchayats.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member is not speaking to the motion.

Chaudhri Ali Akbar : The object of the amendment now before the House is that the achhuts should not get any benefit from the panchayats but that they should seek justice from the magistrates. Well Sir, nobody can deny this fact that if the panchayats are established in the villages the poor and needy people who have not any money with them for going to courts, can get their disputes settled by the panchayats. Even now where there are no panchayats people get their disputes settled by means of panches. If any one in a village feels any trouble the panches are in duty bound to remove it. Besides my honourable friends must have seen that people of some tribe as far example Sansies and Bazigars, never go to courts for getting justice, but on the other hand they get their disputes settled in their panchayats. Can any one of my honourable friends tell me that any person from amongst them ever goes to courts seeking justice? If not, may I know why they are instigating the achhuts to go and seek justice from the magistrates instead of panchayats? I do not see any other object, save that they wish to win their sympathy and thus get their votes for increasing their strength in the panchayats. Generally the panchayats will consist of big people of the villages and it will be they who would settle the disputes in the panchayats. I do not think anybody can have any objection to this. When the panchayats are established they will mete out justice to all regardless of colour and creed. They will settle the disputes of all kinds of people. So the question of a kamin does not arise. My honourable friends consider the achhuts as kamins inasmuch as they do not eat or drink in common with them nor do they allow them to draw water from their wells but we on the other hand regard them as our brethren and if they join hands with us we are prepared to eat and drink with them. (Hear, hear). In short, I may submit that they will receive much benefit from these panchayats and there is no need for them to go to the magistrates for getting justice.

Besides, I know why my honourable friends are pressing this amendment. If it is accepted it will go a long way in securing the votes of achhuts for them and thus their voting strength will increase and they will be in a position to capture more seats on the panchayats. In view of this I am constrained to remark that we are not prepared to support this thing. Then there is yet another reason why my friends are pressing this amendment. That is that they want to keep these achhuts entirely dependent on them and under their influence lest they should become conscious of their entity. Obviously my honourable friends wish to deceive and befool them. But we cannot allow them to do so. With these words I strongly oppose the amendment now before the House.

Chaudhri Jalal-ud-din Amber (West Central Punjab, Indian Christian) (Urdu): Sir, I would be failing in my duty if I do not support this amendment in the interest of my Christian brethren residing in the rural areas. (Hear, hear). I may point out that the village kamins mostly live and work in the villages. I would like to give the House an idea of the difficulties from which they suffer. When we go to the country-side we find that a very harsh treatment is meted out to the menials. They are oppressed, harassed and put to great hardships. The paltry remuneration paid to them is not commensurate with the amount of labour they are required to put in. They are not allowed to have the use of the manure they themselves store by sale or otherwise as their own property. Now the zamindars specially in the ilaqa of Raiwind have adopted a novel method. That is that they get rent deeds executed from these village kamins for their dwellings that they have been occupying for many decades and in certain cases since ages—lest the latter should claim proprietary rights. As a matter of fact they are treated as serfs. I, therefore, welcome this wholesome amendment moved by my honourable friend from Ambala. I am of the opinion that justice and equity demand that these village kamins should be protected from oppression, boycott and harassment. I think it is absolutely necessary to make a provision in this Bill that it should be one of the duties of a panchayat to report such cases of oppression, boycott and harassment to the district magistrate for such action as he may deem proper.

Besides, now-a-days we find that everywhere people are demanding from their respective Governments that the rights of the minorities should be safeguarded. That is the reason why in India the question of Hindu-Muslim unity has not fruited. The minority communities demand the safeguarding of their rights. I may also point out that a panchayat is a sort of miniature Government in the village. Hence it would be in the fitness of things if the duty, as is sought by this amendment, is assigned to it. It is regrettable that when it is admitted on all hands that the suggestion is a useful one, the Government should feel averse to accept it. I do not want to take much of the time of the House as the matter has already been discussed thread-bare. But I must say that it would rebound to the credit of Government if they agree to make this provision in the Bill that in case of oppression against menials a panchayat could report such cases to the district magistrate; otherwise no voice can be raised in favour of the oppressed poor people, who would be right if they said to the Government.

Sardar Kartar Singh (Lyallpur East, Sikh, Rural) (Punjabi): Sir, my honourable friend Lala Duni Chand has moved this amendment with object of making an addition to the duties to be entrusted to the panchayats. Now as the panchayats are to be established in the villages, none can gainsay the fact that the zamindars would preponderate in these institutions. I am of the opinion that if it is sought to invest the zamindars with increased powers, my honourable friends should ungrudgingly agree to this amendment. In this connection I may point out that wherever democratic institutions have been established or are being established this principle has been accepted as fait accompli that the rights of minorities must be safeguarded because without this arrangement the success of these institutions is considered to be doubtful. As the principle underlying the panchayats is that of democratic rule, it is necessary that a provision in the Bill should be made to safeguard the rights of those classes in the rural areas who are in a minority. I, therefore, submit that the object of the amendment moved by my honourable friend from Ambala is that the panchayats should undertake to protect the non-agriculturists specially the members of the scheduled castes and the village menials, wherever they are oppressed, boycotted and put to great hardships and report such cases of oppression, boycott and harassment as they may think proper, to the district magistrate. I am of the opinion that the panchayats must be invested with a power of this kind so that it may become incumbent upon them to hear and redress the grievances of the oppressed. Besides, this power is not going to prove detrimental to the panchayats. The zamindars should not be opposed to it. It does not become of them to shirk this responsibility. They should not give an opportunity to the minorities to lay this blame at their door that the Punjab zamindars wield political power but they do not want to exercise it with even-handed justice. I would like to draw the attention of the House to the slogans of those of my honourable friends who declare from house tops that the establishment of swaraj in India should be kept in abeyance until the rights of the minorities are adequately safeguarded. I am, therefore, of the opinion that those people who hold such views should not adopt a callous attitude towards this amendment.

Now, in order to show how far the incorporation of this wholesome amendment is necessary, I would like to relate my own experience. I have extensively travelled in the ten districts lying beyond the river Chenab. I was pained to see that the non-agriculturists residing in the rural areas of those districts were being treated very shabbily by the zamindars. They were being tyrannised simply for the reason that they belonged to low castes. If Sardar Ujjal Singh were present in the House, I would have asked him as to what treatment was being meted out to his non-agriculturists brethren.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member is not speaking to the motion.

Sardar Kartar Singh : I leave this matter here. But what I want to drive at is that if the provision is incorporated in the Bill, it would prove beneficial to the rural people at large. Besides, it is a matter of common knowledge that sometimes minor religious disputes in the villages assume serious proportions and result in the breach of the peace of a whole district, division or even the province, specially when two rival factions in the press support or condemn the action involved in that dispute. Sometimes these disputes jeopardize the peaceful relations of the communities in the province. It is to nip such evils in the bud that the panchayats are to be established in the village. It is expected of these institutions that they would keep a vigilant eye so that in rural areas the strong may not tyrannise over the weak and the majority do not trample upon the rights of the minorities. But unless a panchayat is empowered by law to combat such evils, it would not be possible to achieve this object.

Besides, I have certain misgivings in my mind that the Unionist Government would frame rules or provisions in the Bill in such a manner that the panchayats would play second fiddle to them and the people would be forced to vote in their favour during the general elections. Such provisions or rules would nullify the purpose for which the panchayats are to be brought into existence. However, if the amendment moved by Lala Duni Chand is accepted by the Government, it would have a salutary effect on the panchayat, because in the presence of such a provision the oppressed would be able to secure justice at least in a few out of a hundred cases.

In short, this amendment is useful from every point of view. It is clearly beneficial to the minorities and is also calculated to enable the majority community to show generosity to the minorities. Furthermore, it will prove helpful to the Government in maintaining law and order in the province. Litigation will certainly decrease because disputes will diminish. If, however, the Government refuses to accept it, we shall be led to think that the majority community is not prepared to do justice to the minority and is not willing to be fair to the weak parties or listen to their grievances. If this amendment is turned down, the true mentality of the majority party will be exposed and the minorities will be obliged to look for their own remedies. They will try to find ways and means to obtain freedom to live in the province. With these words, Sir, I beg to support the amendment that has been moved by my honourable friend Lala Duni Chand.

Khan Bahadur Nawab Chaudhri Fazl Ali (Gujrat East, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, I have carefully listened to all the speeches that have been delivered from the other side of the House. Nothing new has been said in any of them beyond vilifying the Unionist Ministry. The Opposition members have shown the same deplorable mentality of blackmailing the popular Government of the Punjab. They had better print all the abuses they want to hurl upon the Unionists, in the form of a big poster and hang it on the walls of the Assembly Chamber. By so doing, they will save much of their energy and the valuable time of this august House. Every time they have to waste their breath for nothing. Their only business is to criticise the Government in season and out of season.

Adverting to the point under discussion, I may be allowed to submit that it is the height of ingratitude and faithlessness on the part of those who now come forward to charge the zamindars of high-handedness and cruelty while in fact they have been their sole protectors from times immemorial. Is there any person in the Punjab who can have the audacity to deny that all the so-called Harijans and kamins, whom I would not call by these names because my religion forbids me to do so (and this is the belief of the Sikhs also) have been living on the actual generosity of the zamindars in the past? I am rather glad that on account of our healthy influence upon them, they are becoming conscious of their rights and interests which were denied to them by my honourable friends sitting on the other side of the House. When the hostile critics of the Government and the zamindars say that we do not allow the depressed classes and the kamins to graze their cattle on our lands, they incidentally reveal the fact that these poor classes possess even cattle like the landowners. On what do their cattle and they themselves live if the zamindars do not extend their hospitality to them?

What is most ridiculous in their speeches, is their claim that they know about the villagers more than the Ministers and the zamindars do. Now every sensible person would agree that this claim of theirs is most unfounded. It is they themselves who have dubbed these poor classes as "achhuts" and "kamins". You may ask, Sir, from the Muslims and the Sikhs if they regard any person as untouchable? We do not recognise any caste system. Our attitude is fully depicted in the Persian couplet of Sheikh Saadi which runs as follows:—

نبی آدم اعضای یکدیگر اند که در آفرینش ز یک جرهر اند

All men descend from the common ancestor. That is our belief. There are, of course, different professions that different people follow, and we do not compel any one to stick to any profession. Nor do we look down upon them for reason of any profession. All labour is equally respectable. On the other hand those who say that the zamindars are cruel to the Indian Christians or other kamins, they themselves have degraded them from the level of humanity. They are not doing any service to the Punjab by exciting the feelings of the Indian Christians against the zamindars who have been very fair to the former. May I ask what is wrong with the "sep system"? Every 'sepi' gets eight "topas" of grain or two cart-loads of crop at the time of the harvest and even that person who is not a 'sepi' gets one cart-load from the zamindar. The zamindars have, in a way, fixed jagirs for the poor classes living in the villages. Every expenditure of these labourers is a charge on the zamindars. The question of begar and cruelty does not arise. The dwellers of cities pay to their kamins only on such festivals as Bisakhi or 'Id or on the occasion of a marriage or birth and even then a paltry sum of a rupee or 2 annas or 4 annas, but the zamindars pay them frequently not only yearly or six-monthly but throughout the year. A labourer on the agricultural field gets something from the zamindar on every conceivable occasion, every harvest, every marriage, betrothal, and other religious festivals. Does it lie in the mouth of any true Christian or other so-called kamin to say, in spite of these hard facts, that zamindars maltreat the workers in the villages? No fair-minded person will be a party to that view. Only an ungrateful soul can do so.

Again, the question of house-rent has been brought forward as if it was a strange thing and had not been heard anywhere before. May I ask what is the harm in charging rent for any house? The fact is that we provide them with land to live in, food to take and clothing to wear. They live on our generosity from the cradle to the grave and yet ingratitude has misled some of them to dub us as cruel. If things have come to such a pass, then I will say in the words of an Urdu poet:—

اگر اب نبی نہ سمجھو وہ تو اس بت سے خدا سمجھو

But I must admit our faults as well. Our greatest sin perhaps in their eyes is that we have given them the right to vote which our honourable friends sitting on the opposite benches would not have given them at all. Do they really regard it our guilt? If so, we are proud of this guilt of ours! It goes without saying that the Unionist Government has given the poor classes freedom to ventilate their legitimate grievances.

[K. B. Nawab Ch. Fazl Ali.]

I am glad, however, that my friends, the Achhuts, have learnt after all how to put forward their grievances cleverly. We on this side feel gratified to see them waxing eloquent as it was by our efforts that they got separate representation and the right to ventilate their grievances. But there should be a limit even to misstatement of facts. It has been said that the members of the scheduled castes are oppressed by the zamindars, but is that a fact? Could, for instance, my friend, Sardar Sohan Singh Josh, who is a zamindar, endorse this statement?

All sorts of flimsy accusations have been hurled against the zamindars. It has been said, for instance, that the word Musalli used as a name for a section of the Muslims is an offensive word. But this objection is due to a misunderstanding of the real meaning of the word which is Arabic in origin. The fact of the matter is that the so-called oppression of the zamindars is the creation of those brains which are always busy finding out the faults of the Unionist Government. To them I will say—Ai badi samum in hama acurda tust. I will not say Ai badi saba in hama awurda tust. There is a class which instigates the untouchables to put forward all sorts of impossible demands before the zamindars. Some times it is urged that the zamindars should recognise the proprietary rights of those with respect to those lands which have been occupied by them, say for 6 years. Are my friends prepared to give the same rights to those tenants of their houses who occupied them six years ago? I submit that the honourable member has not been true to the interest of his community who says that the zamindars oppress the members of the scheduled castes. It is sheer injustice to call those people unjust who actually provide the members of the scheduled castes with food and clothing and everything. On the other hand the zamindars can legitimately complain against the attitude of the scheduled castes and must say they are ungrateful and disloyal. The zamindars look after the needs of these people. But if sometimes the crops in a village fail the members of the scheduled castes refuse to work and move to some other prosperous village. But the zamindars put up with all this. They feel that just as they themselves cannot do without members of the scheduled castes the latter too cannot do without them. The real thing is this. Some people are always on the look out for an occasion to criticise the Unionist Government in most scathing terms. They do so in the guise of lending support to the cause of the untouchables.

There is an amusing aspect of the amendment under discussion. On the one hand the zamindars are being dubbed as tyrants, and on the other, their panchayat is expected to forward the grievances of the scheduled castes to the district magistrate. If the zamindars are really tyrants why do these gentlemen expect their panchayats to represent the grievances of the untouchables to the district magistrate? If the zamindars are just, there should be no complaint against them. Another point may be considered in this connection. If any matter is outside the jurisdiction of a panchayat, these people have the right under the law to approach the high authorities including the deputy commissioner. I hope that the amendment moved by the learned Lala Sahib will meet with the same fate which every senseless amendment of this type deserves. The only object underlying this amendment is to vilify the Unionist Government. If the only object with which amendments are moved from that side is the vilification of the Unionist Government my honourable friends may be advised to put down all sorts of accusations which they wish to hurl at the Unionist Government on a paper and give that paper to every member of their party to be read out in this House. With these words I oppose this senseless and impracticable amendment.

(Voices : Question be now put.)

Mr. Speaker : How many honourable members have spoken?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Six honourable members have spoken for the amendment and two against it.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : But from different groups.

Mr. Speaker : So much the better. The question is—

That the question be now put.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That between parts (c) and (p) of sub-clause (1), the following new part be inserted :—

“(p) protection of non-agriculturists particularly members of scheduled castes and menials from oppression, boycott, and harassment and report such cases of oppression, boycott, and harassment as it may think proper to the District Magistrate.”

After ascertaining the sense of the House by voices, Mr. Speaker said that he thought that ‘Noes’ had it.

An Honourable Member : But there were more voices of ‘Ayes’ than ‘Noes’.

Mr. Speaker : According to parliamentary practice in the case of motions moved or opposed by Government the Speaker’s decision on the collection of voices is generally in favour of Government.

ADJOURNMENT MOTION.

HANDCUFFING OF SARDAR HARI SINGH, M.L.A.

Mr. Speaker : The House will now proceed to discuss the adjournment motion of Lala Deshbandhu Gupta. However I may inform the honourable members of the House that when I allowed the motion, my attention was not invited to the fact that the case of Sardar Hari Singh was pending in the High Court and that his bail application was to be heard to-morrow. So, I request all members not to say a word about the merits of the case. The debate must be restricted to handcuffing and handcuffing alone; so that the debate, held in this House, may not touch directly or indirectly the case pending in the court.

Premier : Sir, before we proceed further let me make one statement. I am glad that you have drawn the attention of the House to the fact that his appeal is pending in the High Court, and every one of us must endeavour not to bring in debate any matter which might prejudice the case of our gallant friend Sardar Hari Singh. We should be very careful to do that. At the same time I may warn the honourable members that there are one or two things which may prejudice the case. I will refrain from mentioning them; but there are one or two things which it will not be possible to suppress, although I should like not to mention them, so that there should be no possibility of this case being prejudiced. If my honourable friends will bear that in mind I shall try to mention only those facts which are necessary. But I am afraid there are one or two facts which may indirectly impinge on the case. I merely warn honourable members not to mention them.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the chair and Mr. Deputy Speaker occupied it.)

Lala Daghbandhu Gupta [South-Eastern Towns, General, Urban] (Urdu): I beg to move—

That the Assembly do now adjourn.

Sir, I regret to say that in the course of only two days this is the second time that I am taking upon myself the unpleasant duty of exposing the Government for their acts of omission and commission in which they have transgressed all limits of law, order and constitution. At the very outset of my speech I may point out that I do not feel any pleasure in doing this unpalatable task. My honourable friends sitting on the treasury benches, however good or bad they may be, are after all our kith and kin. While criticising their wrongful acts, we have constantly to keep this fact in view that nothing should be said which might harm our national prestige. Besides us, I mean to say we who, on a matter of policy are divided in two opposite camps, there is also a third party which is keenly watching us and taking note of our attitude to this toy constitution of provincial autonomy.

As regards the incident forming the subject matter of to-day's adjournment motion, I may say that not I alone but other members of the House too feel sorry for it. We are pained to note that the Government of our province is capable of doing such shameful things which have practically no parallel in any other part of the country.

Sir, the adjournment motion tabled by me is divided into two parts. The first part relates to the humiliating treatment meted out to my honourable friend Sardar Hari Singh. The second part, which deserves serious attention of the House, is about those worthless statements issued from time to time by the honourable members of the opposite benches in their defence. Their position has so much deteriorated that they have practically ceased to enjoy the confidence of this House. I assure them that whatever I say I mean it. Let them realise the truth of my statement. They should think that I am not pleading a case. I do not hold any brief. Perhaps you remember that the Honourable Premier replying to a short notice question of mine admitted that he felt grieved at the news of handcuffing Sardar Hari Singh who is decidedly a thorough gentleman and a highly respectable member of this House, respected by the Government benches also. The Honourable Premier said:—

I saw the news in the Tribune that he had been handcuffed and it pained me considerably to see that piece of news and I made immediate enquiries into the matter of my own accord; before I received a similar intimation from my friend opposite, the Leader of the Opposition. This is the information which I have received in response to that enquiry which was made at my suggestion. It is reported that the prosecuting sub-inspector served the warrant on Sardar Hari Singh outside the Additional District Magistrate's court. He was handcuffed on arrest because of his intemperate behaviour and because of the threatening attitude of the crowd outside.

Then, Sir, as far as handcuffing of Sardar Hari Singh, a prominent member of this House, is concerned, not we alone who have the privilege of being his colleagues feel this excess but even the Premier has felt it deeply. Before we invited his attention to this incident he held an enquiry into this matter of his own accord. I may say that every member of this House is honourable and respectable and whenever such a treatment is meted out to any of them as has been meted out to Sardar Hari Singh, it should be natural and common sentiment with every sensible Minister to make an enquiry into the matter and see why it has been done. I understand that the Premier made an enquiry into the matter without being asked to do so and without any pressure being brought upon him in this connection. I appreciate his efforts and congratulate him on that. But when we proceed further and go through the result of the enquiry instituted by the Honourable Premier, we find that it is not only disappointing but also shocking. The Honourable Premier was pleased to acquaint the House with the result of the enquiry in the following words—

It is reported that the prosecuting sub-inspector served the warrant on Sardar Hari Singh outside the Additional District Magistrate's court. He was handcuffed on arrest because of his intemperate behaviour and because of the threatening attitude of the crowd outside.

Sir, we repeatedly asked the Honourable Premier as to whether he believed or possessed sufficient reasons to believe that a responsible person like Sardar Hari Singh could ever be intemperate and could ever lose his temper. I ask even you, Sir, as to whether you believe that Sardar Hari Singh can ever be expected to lose his temper. But the Honourable Premier advanced only one argument, namely, that the attitude of the crowd was threatening. Then a moment later he remarked that its attitude was violent. In short he tried his best to offer some justification for that action. Now, Sir, I draw the attention of the House to another part of the answer given by him. In the course of his reply the Honourable Premier remarked "If my honourable friend can give me information I shall be glad to make enquiries." Now, may I ask him as to whether the dissatisfaction expressed by this side of the House was not sufficient to induce him to institute further enquiry into the matter?

Before I read out the statement made by Sardar Hari Singh I would request the honourable members of the House to attach similar importance to that statement and treat it in the same manner as if it has been made by them. Let me assure the House that I do not stand as a defence counsel for Sardar Hari Singh. In my opinion it would be enough to place the whole statement as it is before this Honourable House. He himself sent this statement to the honourable Leader of the Opposition and the latter received it through the Superintendent of the Central Jail, Lahore. I would request the Honourable Premier to carefully listen to it. It says:—

Reference Short Notice Question re my handcuffing and the answer.

Description of my behaviour as "intemperate" has amazed and pained me, as few epithets hurled at me could. The "threatening attitude" of the crowd is another invention. Also it is to be borne in mind that according to the official admission I was removed to the court "in a minute." Of course, there was no illegality about handcuffing. The matter could have been plainly stated without resort to "devices." I do not blame the Honourable Premier. He has to depend upon the answers forwarded by the District Magistrate, who had to rely upon the police version. My only grouse is that my statement was not called for by him. The question may be asked; Was Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma, M.L.A., also "intemperate" in behaviour? Here are the facts of the case. Unless I am deliberately lying, they are the true version.

"On 28th August afternoon I was watching proceedings in the case against Sardar Dasandha Singh under section 117-188 in the court room of Additional District Magistrate, Hoshiarpur. The prosecuting sub-inspector who later arrested me was leading the prosecution evidence. I was seated in a chair a few feet behind him. Two foot constables of police entered the court room by the northern door, one of them had the "handcuffs" in his hands. Within a minute the prosecuting sub-inspector turned round and asked me to accompany him to the verandah outside the court. I obeyed him, and we went out into the northern portion of the verandah, followed by the two constables. The prosecuting sub-inspector told me, "I am a sub-inspector of police. Here I have warrants for your arrest." I replied, "I willingly surrender, I was calm, cool and dignified. The constables handcuffed me and in a minute I was removed into the court room. I did not ask the court to have my handcuffs removed. I did not protest or grumble against handcuffing. Sardar Shivsaran Singh, Counsel for Sardar Dasandha Singh, who later acted as my counsel too, however, on his own initiative, invited the attention of Additional District Magistrate to the fact of handcuffing, at which the court asked the arresting prosecuting sub-inspector. "Is it at all essential to handcuff him"? To which the prosecuting sub-inspector replied :

"The question was repeated and the same answer elicited. The prosecuting sub-inspector implied that he would remove the handcuffs if the court ordered, he himself, according to his light, having no choice in the matter. The Additional District Magistrate, however, instructed that handcuffs be put on one hand only and was pleased to remark that he would consider the matter and pass orders later on. My counsel Sardar Shivsaran Singh, who interviewed me in the sub-jail next day, told me that the Additional District Magistrate had been pleased to tell him that the Rules allowed exception from handcuffing only in case of arrest under section 124-A, Indian Penal Code, and he would see to it that I was not handcuffed while in the court room.

Later on, however, probably under instructions from the Punjab Government, I was never handcuffed during the course of trial, or at the time of transfer to Central Jail, Lahore.

As regards the "threatening attitude" of the crowd, call it, "crowd" or "mob" whatever you like, people present at the time of arrest were the very people who were witnessing the proceedings of the case against Sardar Dasandha Singh in the court room.

I hope the Premier's answer does not insinuate that I resisted or had a mind to resist arrest. I further hope he did not wish to convey that there was apprehension of the crowd rescuing me, during my transit from the verandah to the "dock" a distance of a few yards.

Let it be said to the credit of the prosecuting sub-inspector that he was, otherwise, exceptionally polite to me. The court was very courteous to me. They all treated me with perfect consideration. Most probably as the facts narrated above show the prosecuting sub-inspector and the court in the first instance had no knowledge of the Government's instructions that ordinarily respectable people should not be handcuffed. The prosecuting sub-inspector only followed the general procedure of arrests in our province. To my mind he did not handcuff me to humiliate or degrade me.

However, I cannot too strongly repudiate the charge of "intemperate behaviour" which I regard as a very unkind cut.

These facts may please be brought to the notice of the Premier and the matter dropped.

Premier The last words "and the matter dropped" should have been underlined.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I will explain why the matter has not been dropped. After reading out the statement I again draw your attention to the reply given by the Honourable Premier. It should be borne in mind that Sardar Hari Singh himself has related the whole incident from A to Z. But his statement does not at all show that he lost his temper at the time of his arrest. It neither tells us of any crowd assembling outside the court nor of its threatening attitude. On the other hand Sardar Hari Singh is kind enough to make an expression of his opinion about the magistrate in question. Now I ask as to how far the Honourable Premier, who claims to be the sole defender of the rights and honour of the members of this august House, was justified in remarking—

Since the attitude of the crowd was threatening and violent the sub-inspector arrested Sardar Hari Singh and immediately took him inside the Additional Magistrate's court.

Sir, before going into details I would like to submit that so far as the question of handcuffing Sardar Hari Singh is concerned, the action of the police was in direct contravention of the Police Rules. The rules provide that unless a person is arrested in connection with a non-bailable offence rendering him liable to an imprisonment of more than 3 years he should not be handcuffed. I request the Chair to direct the Honourable Premier to pay full attention to my submissions and stop talking over there. He is entirely mistaken if he thinks that he can dismiss the matter by making a pre-conceived stereotyped speech. We do not want to hear set answers prepared by his Secretariat. I would again request the Chair to ask the Honourable Premier to be attentive. May I invite the Honourable Premier's attention to what I am saying?

Premier : The honourable member may go on.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I know he has got set answers ready but I want him to listen to me, so that he may feel that he should revise his opinions and ways of dealing with such questions, although I may be hoping against hope. Sir, I want to bring to your notice two or three things in particular. In the first place I may point out that Sardar Hari Singh was handcuffed in direct contravention of Police Rules. It is clearly stated therein that if a person is arrested the police are not authorised to handcuff him so long as his attitude is not violent. Could the Honourable Premier confidently say that the attitude of Sardar Hari Singh was violent or that he tried to avoid arrest? Can any one entertain even a reasonable suspicion of violence about him? If not, I may submit that by describing the attitude of Sardar Hari Singh as intemperate and the behaviour of the crowd as threatening the Honourable Premier has according to an Urdu adage عذر گناہ بد تر از گناہ committed a great sin. Sardar Hari Singh made a reference to this matter in his letter and said that it was a very unkind cut. As a matter of fact he was pained. He was amazed when he read that the Premier had given a reply of that nature and had made an insinuation or an allegation of that nature. Sir, I wish that at least on some occasion the Honourable Premier should rise above these petty things and should give up the old policy of defending the Government officials in season and out of season to which he has become accustomed. I ask him, how far is it justified to resort to repression indiscriminately and how far is he justified in defending his subordinates without caring whether they have acted rightly or wrongly? Besides, it has become a habit with him to treat every information supplied to him by his subordinate officers as a gospel truth and if any honourable member says anything contrary to it, he will never believe it, but will instantaneously say that it is incorrect, false and a lie. Let him think over this matter for a while and say how far this attitude of his is justified. In this connection I want to draw your attention to the fact that the offence for which Sardar Hari Singh was arrested was a bailable one. It was therefore the duty of the police to inform the person whom they intended to arrest to arrange for his release on bail if he so wished. This means that handcuffing was a matter apart and even the question of arrest should have arisen afterwards. I ask my honourable friend over there that when the law provided this, was it not the duty of the police officer who arrested Sardar Hari Singh to inform him that he could obtain his release on bail and in case the latter failed to furnish the bail he would have to be arrested? Besides, the honourable member was not a person likely to abscond. There is yet another thing to be borne in mind and that is that he was sitting inside the court room and he was taken outside and arrested. The prosecuting sub-inspector called him out of the court room and arrested him there. Such were the circumstances when Sardar Hari Singh was arrested and still the Honourable Premier had the courage to say that Sardar Hari Singh's attitude was intemperate and the behaviour of the crowd threatening, though as a matter of fact there were only those people present who were sitting quietly inside the court room hearing the proceedings of another case. In view of these circumstances it behoves the Honourable Premier to accept the statement of Sardar Hari Singh as correct and instead of making a speech in defence he should admit that whatever Sardar Hari Singh has written about this affair is cent per cent correct. If he cannot take any action against his subordinate officers he should at least express his regret for their actions and he should say that the report received by him from his subordinate officers is not correct. He should accept the statement of the honourable member as correct.

Again when we asked supplementary questions with regard to this matter, the Honourable Premier reported that if that information had been wrong the district magistrate would never have supplied it. He could not have supplied it unless he was sure about its accuracy. But I would like you to listen to his words with care. He said :—

But apparently the attitude of the crowd and the behaviour of Sardar Hari Singh was such that the court refused the application.

I ask him could there be greater lie than this? The fact of the matter was that Sardar Hari Singh was handcuffed on both hands and the magistrate ordered the handcuffs to be removed from one of his hands and he also inquired if it was at all essential to handcuff him, and remarked that as he was not sure about the rules on the point he would consider the matter and pass orders later on. On the one hand the magistrate's attitude was like that and the prosecuting sub-inspector also remarked that he had no alternative but to handcuff him, but on the other hand the deputy commissioner sent this report that the attitude of Sardar Hari Singh was intemperate and that the behaviour of the crowd was threatening and that was why he was handcuffed, otherwise his handcuffs would have been removed. Although according to an old adage دروغ گو را حافظه نه باشد it is quite correct that a liar has a very short memory, yet I ask him, and I do not say that he has told a lie, because he is in the habit of reading out the reports received by him from his subordinates, whether Sardar Hari Singh was not arrested outside the court room. If that is a fact then it means that he was not arrested before the magistrate. In spite of all this the Honourable

Premier says that the magistrate did not remove his handcuffs because he realized that the behaviour of the crowd was threatening. I ask him whether he was arrested inside the court room and if not how then the magistrate arrived at this conclusion that the attitude of Sardar Hari Singh was intemperate and the behaviour of the crowd was threatening. (Premier : God save us from our friends.) How nice ! May I ask him, what he has to say about it ? He is only in the habit of reading out reports received by him from his subordinates. Has he ever taken the trouble of distinguishing between truth and falsehood ? Has he taken the trouble of finding out what words the magistrate actually used and whether it was at all necessary to handcuff him ? The fact of the matter is that he has done nothing to ascertain the facts for himself. If he had tried to ascertain the facts he could have strengthened his case. But he is still harping on the same tune that the magistrate gave no order to remove his handcuffs and therefore the police was justified in taking that action. I request him that he and the honourable members should not consider this matter from the point of view that it was the case of Sardar Hari Singh or for the matter of that any member of the Opposition party. I want that you should seriously consider this matter whether it was proper that in such cases my friends should disbelieve the statements of the members and take those of the police officials, who receive bribes every day and against whom very serious complaints are made every now and then, as gospel truths. The Honourable Premier should think over it for a while. I warn him that if to-day we are in the Opposition it may be that you may be here to-morrow. He should have some regard for the dignity of the House and should not follow blindly the reports of the police officers.

Besides, I may point out that the Honourable Premier is very fond of adopting the traditions of the British Parliament, so much so that he has adopted the word " Premier " for " Prime Minister " as is the case in England. But may I ask him if in that country any honourable member of the Parliament was ever treated so badly ? Can any Minister dare say in Parliament that the statement of an honourable member is incorrect and that of the police is correct ? What pains me much is that this is not the first occasion when this has been said, but there are four or five such instances on record, when the statements of the police were preferred to those of the honourable members. My honourable friend Pandit Shri Ram Sharma has more than once made such statements on the floor of the House, but my honourable friends opposite at once jumped up and declared them to be incorrect. Again at the time of the Kisan conference, three honourable members went to Amritsar and on return they issued a statement, but the statement of the superintendent of police was preferred to their statement and was considered to be correct. I, therefore, request the Honourable Premier to rise above these things and leaving aside the party question he should think over the matter, because it involves the dignity of the whole House and for the matter of that of the whole province. I want to make it clear that the members of Opposition do not feel any disgrace in being handcuffed, because they have been to jail several times for the sake of their country. But if at any time my friends are sent to jails, they would not be able to stand the test.

Sir, in this connection I am reminded of an interesting incident. Lala Dina Nath was one of the renowned journalists of the Punjab. The Honourable Premier might be acquainted with him. Once he happened to go to the New Delhi Jail, where he met with a 70 year old prisoner. The old fellow scrutinised the journalist from head to foot and asked him as to what brought him to jail. Lala Dina Nath was a witty person. He asked the old prisoner to tell him what he thought. He replied that it was impossible to think that a physically weak person like Lala Dina Nath could commit burglary or murder but it was a certainty that he must have committed an offence under section 420 or section 375, Indian Penal Code. (Laughter.) And so it would not be a matter of surprise if some of my honourable friends opposite may have to go to jail on account of offences coming under the purview of such sections. But I may point out that the honourable members on this side of the House would go to jail under sections 121-A or 124, Indian Penal Code, or under the provisions of some Ordinance. There is likelihood of their going to jail under other sections also. But I would submit that they should realise that maltreatment of Sardar Hari Singh is an unfortunate incident which cannot be easily forgotten. Why go far? Let us take the case of my honourable friend Rao Pohop Singh. He had been sentenced to 7 years imprisonment in connection with a case and the section under which he was convicted was simply obnoxious. If I correctly remember, the Honourable Minister for Development made tremendous efforts in connection with his defence. Eventually these efforts were crowned with success and he was acquitted honourably on an appeal to the High Court and now he is an honourable member of this House.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I would request the honourable member not to be personal.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I am paying him a tribute as he was acquitted by the High Court.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member should not be personal.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : He was honourably acquitted. However, I leave his case if the honourable member takes it ill. I would take the case of Pir Sahib of Makhad who has now joined the Opposition. He was recently arrested under section 302, Indian Penal Code. The case against him dragged on for a considerable period and at last he, too, was acquitted honourably. May I know if on account of his being involved in a case, his respectability has suffered to any appreciable degree? What I mean to say is that so long as an accused person is not convicted he cannot be considered an offender against law. I, therefore, submit that the treatment which was meted out to Sardar Hari Singh in the capacity of an accused is simply unbearable. It does not become of this august House to brook that treatment. I would rather say that such kind of shabby treatment meted out to an honourable member amounts to a slur on the fair name and prestige of this House and that no honourable member should tolerate it.

Now I draw the attention of the House to an incident which took place during the question hour. In reply to a certain question, the Honourable

Premier tried his level best to conceal the facts. When my honourable friend Diwan Chaman Lall suggested that the document concerned on which the Parliamentary Secretary based his reply, be placed on the table of the Assembly, the Honourable Premier was at once on his legs and gave such evasive answers that the matter was shelved. Similarly, in reply to another question he was pleased to remark that the provisions of the Ordinance were such that they were obliged to handcuff Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma. May I know if during the period of 2½ years, since they came into power, they can cite any example when a European offender was handcuffed by the police; even if the accused was guilty of offences like forgery, dacoity, murder, etc.? I may point out that the Unionist Government has not the courage to handcuff a European offender; but it is a travesty of things that the honourable members of this House, who may be arrested for political offences, are handcuffed without any demur or hesitation. I regret to say that it is more than two years since provincial autonomy was introduced in this province, but the attitude of the Government has undergone no change. Here the same spirit of old bureaucracy is working. To-day when the Honourable Finance Minister was asked whether there was any rule under which any A or B class European prisoner could be made to travel in a third class, he was non-plussed and tried to get out of this difficult position by saying that he would look into the Jail Manual. It is a matter of regret that he is ignorant of the fact that such an invidious distinction is being maintained between Indian and European prisoners. It is a pity that my honourable friends over there have never cared to pay attention to such matters. I may point out that if they want that such unfortunate incidents should cease to occur again, they shall have to bring about a change in their own mentality. I maintain that so long as their attitude continues to be indifferent, their prestige is bound to suffer, even if they put forward elaborate statements in their defence.

Besides I may tell the honourable members that Sardar Hari Singh would never forget the remarks made by the Honourable Sir Sikander Hyat on the floor of this House. It is really surprising to note that the Honourable Premier accepted the statement of a subordinate officer as correct while he refused to give credence to the statement made by the honourable member of this House. I cannot help saying that in view of these considerations the present regime is even worse than the previous bureaucratic rule. In this connection I may add for the information of my honourable friends that I was arrested six times between the years 1921 and 1932, but I was never ill-treated like Sardar Hari Singh. I would say that it is nothing short of an inexorable injustice that when questions are asked in connection with the arrest and handcuffing of an honourable member of the House, the Honourable Premier instead of expressing regret for this maltreatment and calling explanations of the officers concerned, has applauded the action of the magistrate and the police officer who arrested the honourable member. I may make it clear to my honourable friends opposite that if to-day the batons of the police have been reserved for us, to-morrow the same can be used against them. The difference lies in the fact that our backs are strong enough to bear them but they would not have the courage to endure them. (Laughter.) If ever my honourable friends over there happen to go to jail they would be brought to their senses. Besides, I may point out that this question, i.e., as to how far we can rely on the statements made by the Government, is also before us. If Government would not give credence to the statements made by the Opposition, the Opposition, too, would be compelled to look upon the statements of the Government with distrust.

My honourable friend, the Premier, complains that the number of adjournment motions which are brought forward from this side of the House is extraordinarily high; but if his Government changes its attitude, it can considerably lessen the number of such motions. In that case a good deal of the time of the House will be saved and we shall be spared the unpleasant duty of saying some harsh words. In view of these things, I shall once again submit before my learned friends occupying those benches that if the Honourable Premier comes forward and says that he trusts the word of Sardar Hari Singh, this motion will not be pressed for vote. We want to ask him this straight question: does he place more reliance on the statement of the magistrate and the police than on the word of Sardar Hari Singh, M.L.A.?

Mr. Deputy Sepaker : Motion moved—

That the Assembly do now adjourn.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, I crave your indulgence to say a few words in regard to the adjournment motion that is now under consideration of the House. It is really a matter of profound regret, both for the Opposition as well as the Treasury benches, that such an unfortunate incident should have happened as has necessitated this adjournment motion which we are discussing to-day. It is not a matter to laugh at or to be lightly brushed aside.

In the first place I would like to submit for the information of the Honourable Premier that according to the Government of India Act, 1935, which has made it possible for him to establish his Government in the Punjab, the honourable members of the Opposition constitute as much an integral part of the Government as he himself and the other Honourable Ministers do. The Opposition is also a part and parcel of the Government as it is constituted under the Government of India Act of 1935. The Honourable Premier should not, therefore, lose sight of the fact that Sardar Hari Singh and Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma are as important members of the House as the occupants of the Treasury benches, and the Honourable Premier's Government is incomplete without them, just as this House is incomplete to the extent to which some of its members are deprived of their constitutional right to sit here. Will not the Honourable Premier feel sorry for this state of affairs that one part of an institution should perpetrate atrocities on the other part while both of them are equally essential components of the same machinery? This point of view may look strange and novel to the Premier that we the humble members of the Opposition are as much an essential part of his Government as the honourable members sitting on the Treasury benches are. But a reference to the Government of India Act makes it clear beyond any shadow of doubt.

Besides, what makes this unfortunate incident all the more unfortunate is the fact that the humiliating treatment in question has been meted out to Sardar Hari Singh about whom the Premier has had personal knowledge for the last two and a half years. Every honourable member of this House knows it full well that Sardar Hari Singh is a man of cool temper and calm and dignified manner. It was the first and foremost duty of the Premier to see if the official report about the conduct of Sardar Hari Singh also tallied with what he himself knew about him on the basis of his association with him for the last two years. I for one, would not take at its face value any report that may be made about the conduct of a man whom I know quite intimately. I would first ponder if the person involved is capable of doing a thing which he is alleged to have committed. The question is not whether he was handcuffed on one hand or two hands. But the question is whether Sardar Hari Singh should have been handcuffed at all, and I may add that this question was decided once for all in 1929 when the protest raised against the shabby treatment meted out to political prisoners like Sardar Bhagat Singh, compelled Government to institute jail enquiry. I was also appointed a member on the committee that was set up to make the necessary enquiry. The question was ultimately referred to the Government of India and after correspondence of two years it was decided that only those political prisoners should be handcuffed about whom it was feared that they would run away or commit violence. This was clearly decided by the Jail Enquiry Committee. The Honourable Premier may look up the report of that committee. I may incidentally observe that it was in connection with this jail committee that I had the privilege of coming into contact with the worthy Premier for the first time. I fail to understand if the police really thought that such a distinguished member of this House as my honourable friend Sardar Hari Singh is, would have attempted to abscond if he was not handcuffed by the police. Nor can I believe that he would have committed any act of violence.

Furthermore, the Punjab Government itself has accepted the view that I have expressed here to-day and it has circulated instructions to the magistrates to the effect that those persons should not be handcuffed who are not likely to run away or commit any act of violence. It is really strange that in the face of these instructions and in the regime of the Honourable Premier who has an undoubted reputation for his noble and gentle disposition, any magistrate should dare handcuff an honourable member of this House and especially Sardar Hari Singh.

I may here strike a note of warning to the Premier. He should not see maltreated any person whose services he may have to utilise to-morrow. He is heard sometimes to talk of coalition ministry and he should realise that should such a scheme ever materialise, he will probably look up for a man like Sardar Hari Singh, who really possesses qualities of head and heart. Has not the Police Department humiliated Sardar Hari Singh as well as this House by handcuffing him in the manner in which even an ordinary person is not dealt with? It quite behoves the Premier to introduce some element of humanity into his administration. I do not say that his Government is quite inhuman. But incidents such as these do indicate that our Government is devoid of noble sentiments of humanity. We have known it to our cost that under the regime of our popular Ministry even the honourable members of the provincial legislature are subjected to the same humiliating treatment at the hands of the police which is not meted out even to ordinary citizens in self-respecting countries. If the Government is prepared to introduce an element of humanity in its administration, we will be grateful to it for that.

Premier (The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan) : Sir, I have been pained to see this adjournment motion tabled but at the same time I must say that I am glad that this has come up for discussion. I am glad that I have been afforded an opportunity to give expression to my personal feelings in the matter as my honourable friend Lala Deshbandhu Gupta has moved this adjournment motion in a characteristically vituperative manner. But I have nothing to complain of on that score because natures are indeed hard to change. Neither I nor any of my honourable friends here is capable of changing the very nature of a person. I have only to pray that Almighty God may guide all those people who go astray to the right way. I hope that at last my prayer will be fulfilled, although I am very sorry to say that this prayer has not been fulfilled during the last two and-a-half years. Let us hope that it will be fulfilled before the expiry of the term of the present Assembly.

My honourable friend, Lala Deshbandhu Gupta, has been pleased to remark that one very great defect in the Premier and his colleagues is that they do not accept the statements made by some of the honourable members of this Assembly as true while they treat all the reports received even from the humblest of their officers as gospel truth. But the question is : which honourable member made a statement that was not accepted ? So far as my honourable friend Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma is concerned, our experience in this House shows that he has a short temper. Anything said on the floor of this House is likely to make him lose his temper. It is therefore quite likely that when the Sub-Inspector showed him the warrant of arrest he may have uttered some harsh words. From my experience of him in this House I think, at any rate, that he is quite capable of it. After all it is human nature. It cannot be easily curbed.

But the case of my honourable friend, Sardar Hari Singh, is quite different. From his attitude in the House during the last two and-a-half years, from the manner in which he discusses things I can say that he has never transgressed the limits of propriety. He has had occasion to say the harshest of things but he has always said them with scrupulous regard to the canons of propriety. I must point out that so far as the honourable members sitting on those benches are concerned, I have the greatest regard for Sardar Hari Singh. His honesty of purpose, his cool-headedness, his sweet nature cannot but elicit my profound admiration. But our political beliefs are apt to make us fanatics sometimes. The fact remains that I have the greatest regard for Sardar Hari Singh. So when I read in the Tribune, dated the 30th, that Sardar Hari Singh was handcuffed, I did not wait, for any request for action from my friend, Doctor Gopi Chand Bhargava, or Lala Deshbandhu Gupta. I at once wrote to the Home Secretary that such and such thing had appeared in the Tribune and that he should at once make enquiry why it was thought necessary to handcuff so respectable a person as

[Premier.]

Sardar Hari Singh. I have got the file here and my honourable friends can satisfy themselves that on learning that Sardar Hari Singh had been handcuffed, I took action immediately. These are my words :—

I should like to be satisfied that the handcuffing was necessary and justified. Full enquiry should be made with regard to details and facts.

This order is dated 31st. Dr. Gopi Chand wrote his letter afterwards. This thing alone should be conclusive proof of the fact that I felt grieved at hearing that Sardar Hari Singh had been handcuffed. However I made enquiries and acquainted my honourable friends with all the facts I had been able to gather in answer to a question which was asked on this point. But my honourable friends seem to take exception to the source of my information. But may I know what other source of information is open to me? The only agency at my disposal is the official agency. It may be good or it may be bad but one has no other source of information. I admit that there are defects in my administration. But the defects which are many years old cannot be set right overnight. At any rate it has not been possible for me to right all the wrongs within the last one or two years. I am, however, doing my duty. Whenever I have had an occasion to award punishment to a guilty officer, I have meted out deterrent punishment to him. As a matter of fact people have come to hold the opinion about me that I am very harsh with my officers. But I must look to my officers to supply me information. It has been suggested that I ought to have enquired from Sardar Hari Singh himself. But unfortunately in the present case Sardar Hari Singh is in the position of an accused person. I cannot make him a prosecutor or a judge. I assure my friends, however, that I have tried to gather information from non-official sources as well, so far as it has been possible for me to do so. I for one cannot make myself believe that a gentleman of such a calm temperament and sweet nature as Sardar Hari Singh's could ever resort to violence. I am sure that if my honourable friends on those benches had acted on his advice they would not have brought forward this adjournment motion.

Now, let us examine the facts in this case. The police seems to have been under the wrong impression that it was its duty to handcuff a person accused of an offence which was alleged to have been committed by Sardar Hari Singh. My honourable friends on those benches still entertain the notion that the offence was neither non-bailable nor cognisable. But this is not the case. Apparently they have not seen the notification by which the law was promulgated.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : That was only about the Lahore district.

Premier : My friend is not a lawyer. For Lahore District, section 117 was enforced and section 187 was enforced elsewhere. If my honourable friend consults some legal advisor, he will know the exact position. I myself am a layman and therefore I am speaking subject to correction. But what I wish to make clear is this. It would have been far better if this adjournment motion had not been moved. In that case I would have called upon the sub-inspector and told him that he had committed an error of judgment by handcuffing so respectable a person as Sardar Hari Singh and that he should express his regret. Thus the matter would have ended.

Now what are the actual facts of the case? On the one hand I sent for an explanation from the police officers and on the other there was a hue and cry raised in the newspapers. The police then submitted to me its version of the incident. Now even if we suppose that the police has given this reply to conceal its fault in the matter, how am I to blame? Had you come to me in the very first instance I would have dealt with the matter in the way which I have explained. But you decided otherwise and made open allegations against the police. You put a question and now you have come forward with an adjournment motion. Thus you compelled me to follow the usual routine and, therefore, the police submitted this answer in reply to my enquiries in connection with your question. The police officer had to put in a defence of his conduct and if he has explained away your allegations you cannot blame him. Now look at what the police has to say :—

Non-bailable warrants for the arrest of M. Hari Singh, M. L. A., were issued on 28th August, 1939, by the Additional District Magistrate, Hoshiarpur. As M. Hari Singh was at the time in the court of the Additional District Magistrate listening to the proceedings of a case under section 117-188, Indian Penal Code, Prosecuting Sub-Inspector, Gurdial Singh, to whom the warrant was endorsed took him out of the court room and showed him the warrant of arrest, whereupon M. Hari Singh and a large number of Congressites began shouting revolutionary slogans.

There is nothing in it about which anyone should tell a lie. Shouting of revolutionary slogans is no longer an uncommon occurrence. Even responsible Congressmen often shout such slogans and surely the crowd that had assembled there did not consist of responsible Congressmen only. There must have been many irresponsible persons there, and thus there is every likelihood that the pastime of shouting such slogans was freely indulged in. But what of that? These things have become very common now and the police could not gain anything by making an incorrect statement in this connection. You say you have your misgivings. I am free to admit that I had some misgivings too when I read in the report that—

"M. Hari Singh looked like losing his temper and started somewhat intemperate interrogation of the prosecuting sub-inspector."

Knowing Sardar Hari Singh as I do, I could not but look askance at this statement. He is a cool and calm man and an honest political worker. Instead of flaring up at the prospect of being arrested, he would certainly welcome any sufferings that he had to face on account of his political convictions and activities. There are many Congress workers who would lose their temper at such a time but not Sardar Hari Singh. He knows how to make sacrifices in a dignified manner. That, Sir, is my impression, nay, my conviction about the character of Sardar Hari Singh. But then it struck me that there is another possibility too. It is just possible that the sub-inspector of police adopted such a tone or demeanour as would excite the anger of the most dignified and cool-headed persons from amongst us. Under the circumstances it would be very natural for Sardar Hari Singh, or for the matter of that for anybody, to lose his temper. As I say, it is quite natural. But in spite of that I am not prepared to admit that Sardar Hari Singh lost his balance of mind and used intemperate language. (Hear, hear.)

[Premier.]

Thus the probability is that there was a crowd outside the court room and when it saw Sardar Hari Singh being arrested it began to shout slogans like "Down with the police" and its number swelled. There is nothing unusual about it. But it is just possible that this demonstration and the attitude of the crowd set the sub-inspector thinking. He probably thought that it was a non-bailable and cognizable offence and, therefore, he might be asked to explain why he did not handcuff the accused. The result was that he handcuffed Sardar Hari Singh. But we must bear in mind the fact that he at once produced Sardar Hari Singh in the court. There a lawyer invited the attention of the Additional District Magistrate to this matter of handcuffing, and as has been stated by Sardar Hari Singh himself in his letter which my honourable friend has read out in the House the magistrate asked the sub-inspector whether it was "at all essential to handcuff him". To this the sub-inspector is stated to have replied

There is another point which calls for a brief explanation. It has been said that so far as the behaviour of the police is concerned there has been a marked deterioration in my time. I have been also accused of white-washing the conduct of the police force. My submission is that the reports of the administration of this department are available to everybody and a comparison will show you the marked improvement that has been effected during the last two years and-a-half. As regards the allegations of white-washing may I know whether my honourable friends want me to blacken the face of the whole department with coal tar? There may be some black sheep in the police force but there are so many God-fearing and good-natured policemen whose conduct leaves nothing to be desired. Now how can I send to the gallows all these "white sheep" for the faults of a few black ones? If you care to ascertain the true facts you will find that the record of this Government in this respect is better than that of any previous regime. Wherever my colleagues and I go we carefully go through all complaints of high-handedness and corruption against police officers and try to ascertain the truth by making inquiries about the reputation of the officer concerned from respectable people of the locality. In this way we have succeeded to a great extent in eradicating corruption and high-handedness.

We are feeling the responsibility more than my honourable friends over there do. We are being sneered at by the Opposition that the Government is doing nothing. I may tell my honourable friends who are sitting on the opposite benches that they will realise it when we go away and the Punjab goes from bad to worse. We do not want that when we relinquish our charge, our opponents should say that we have then left the province in a miserable plight. But what we want you to say then is that no doubt you differed with us but whatever we did in order to stop this high-handedness of the police no matter whether we succeeded or failed in that attempt, we did it honestly and earnestly. I want this much only. When my friends will look to the facts they will realise that we are doing our best to turn out the black sheep so that people may live peacefully. As you are aware, Sir, the Opposition has said many things more but I may say, that I do not as a matter of course want to give any reply to some of them lest any bitterness may crop up in this august House. Anyhow I may tell my honourable friends one thing and that is that if they consider it dispassionately they will realise that I had informed the Leader of the Opposition that I was making enquiry into the matter. Again if he had seen me in the beginning I would have certainly said that I was much pained by the incident and perhaps I would have been able to give more attention to it. I place before you the net result of my information. But I should point out that it is impossible for me to turn the positive into negative, because it will be sheer dishonesty. I bear no grudge against the honourable friends who have brought in this adjournment motion. I know their motive is nothing but publicity, and incidentally I have got an opportunity to acknowledge and express my sense of respect for Sardar Hari Singh. But I can suggest no remedy for the bogus cry of imminent danger raised by the Opposition. Just imagine that we have got more than sixty notices of adjournment motions. I ask my honourable friends if it is desirable or advisable to give notices of adjournment motions with regard to minor matters of little importance without rhyme or reason. It might be said from the other side that I am saying this because I feel uneasy while replying to an adjournment motion. I would like to let them know that I feel much pleasure in satisfying them and may also tell them that I have become accustomed to this habit of theirs. As a matter of fact, I am like a soldier ever prepared to serve them even if it requires me to stand on my legs for twelve hours a day. But as far as these sixty or sixty-one notices of adjournment motions that we have received are concerned, may I ask my honourable friends over there to study them and if need be appoint an arbitrator to decide as to how many motions are really fit to be given notice of, or how many motions are fit to be moved by a responsible member of this House or how many motions there are the subject matter of which could be easily disposed of by me in consultation with the Leader of the Opposition outside the House or how many of them could be disposed of by proper investigation without discussing them on the floor of this House. If they consider these adjournment motions dispassionately they will come to the conclusion that there are only three adjournment motions which require your careful attention. It is something else that scenes are created on such occasions, hot words are exchanged between both sides of the House and my honourable friend Lala Deshbandhu Gupta gets an occasion to utter his well chiselled phrases or the honourable member from this side, Rao Pohop Singh, gets an opportunity to speak out blunt truths. I may also mention here, of course passingly, that Rao Pohop Singh was involved in a case and eventually the High Court acquitted him. Similarly my honourable friend Pandit Muni Lal Kalia was also involved in a case and he secured his release by tendering an apology. (Interruption.) Sir, I do not want to offend anybody. I have mentioned this matter only to bring home to my honourable friends the general truth that those who live in glass houses should not pelt stones at others. I may further say that as a humble servant of this province as well as of this House, although at present occupying the Premier's chair, I want to bring it to their notice that the honourable members come to me, I listen to them and tell them that certain of their complaints are legitimate and others are not so. I also ask them to make sure about facts and also assure them of my co-operation and service. If honourable members opposite do the same and co-operate with me in this way, and my learned friend Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava is also prepared to extend his co-operation in disposing of the debatable matters, our troubles will end in no time. But it is very regrettable that the Opposition cannot feel comfortable unless they come down upon the Government and make them a target of their severest criticism in this House. May I ask my honourable friends who are very fond of giving notices of adjournment motions if Dr. Gopi Chand or Diwan Chaman Lall has ever given notice of an adjournment motion? Has Dr. Narang ever given notice of a similar motion? What I want to point out is that responsible members or those who realise their responsibility cannot easily be moved to bring in an adjournment motion.

I was telling my honourable friends that I was always at their service. I think it will be better if my friends over there are kind enough to consult me as to the desirability of certain motions being moved in the House. And I can give them my opinion that such and such adjournment motions may be moved and such other motions may be left out because I am confident that I can satisfy them about the latter even outside the House. And if there is some important adjournment motion we can agree to its being discussed in this House. This procedure, if it is adopted, will save much time of the Opposition, the Government and this House, and I think Pandit Muni Lal Kalia will also be relieved of much trouble because he has to speak on every motion. (Laughter.) I have great regard for Lala Duni Chand who has reminded me of the Bombay Jail incident when I had the privilege to meet him.

I may once again tell my honourable friends that it is also my endeavour to stop all such unpleasant bickerings and we should one and all work to enhance the prestige of this province and this House. They should not make it a point to bring frivolous adjournment motions. This will benefit us and this House and ensure peace for the province.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava (Lahore City, General, Urban) (Urdu) : Sir, I have attentively listened to what the Honourable Premier has said. He has remarked that the offence of Sardar Hari Singh was non-bailable as well as cognizable. In this connection I would like to draw your attention to the Punjab Government Gazette of 23rd June, 1939, where on page 906 (A) it is given that—

"In exercise of the powers conferred upon him by sub-sections (1) and (2) of section 10 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1932, the Governor of the Punjab is pleased to declare that any offence punishable under section 188 of the Indian Penal Code when committed within the district of Lahore shall be cognizable and non-bailable."

What I want to submit is that if there is any other order making the offence under section 188 non-bailable in other districts than Lahore then it is another thing. I believe the Honourable Premier might know it but he has not told us anything about it. It is, however, given in section 188 that an accused is punishable for one month imprisonment and Rs. 200 fine. Therefore it does not come under that rule under which a person is to be handcuffed. My submission is that for abetment section 117 no person can get more punishment than what he can get under the original section. It is very regrettable that the Honourable Premier has failed to satisfy us and he has not thrown much light on the painful incident of handcuffing of Sardar Hari Singh. May I ask him one question, whether Sardar Hari Singh was intemperate or the behaviour of the crowd was intemperate? And I want to know whether his handcuffing was due to his violence or the violence of the crowd on account of which it was feared that he might have slipped away from that place. The Honourable Premier read the news before it reached me because at the time he was nearer to Lahore because I was in Kashmir. He has told us that the news caused him pain as well as surprise. Again, we are told that when he received the report of the Deputy Commissioner he had misgivings about Sardar Hari Singh losing his temper, and using intemperate language. This should be enough to discredit the official report. The Honourable Premier has complained that instead of going to him with our complaints and grievances we come to the House with adjournment motions. He has suggested that the course recommended by him would be conducive to everybody's convenience and would save much valuable time. But in this case I did write to him asking whether he approved of the action of the police. What was the result? Did it improve the situation in any way? He has said that he has been compelled to follow the usual routine and thus when a question was put he had to give the reply that had been supplied to him by the officers concerned. He has told us that he made non-official inquiries as well. But probably this enquiry shows that his findings must have been identical with the information supplied by the police because if they were different he would have told us. He says he could not but ask for a report from the Deputy Commissioner and the police. But how could he expect a better reply in view of the political freemasonry that exists in the officialdom? How can any officer admit anything about the conduct of a subordinate which might be likely to bring a bad name to the department? I must submit that now that we have a popular Government we should not confine our enquiries to the old stereotyped methods of the bureaucracy. On such occasions an opportunity must be given to the other side to explain its viewpoint. You may say that the other side will also be an interested party. Quite so. But you cannot expect Sardar Hari Singh to tell a lie. This is not my opinion alone. The Honourable Premier shares it with me. But even if we suppose that Sardar Hari Singh may give a distorted version of the facts and the report in the newspapers was one sided too there was another party from which the truth could be ascertained. There were so many people there. Why not ask them to give you the actual facts of the case ?

Now, Sir, Sardar Hari Singh did not know the relevant rule regarding the arrest of persons. I therefore wrote to him and pointed out the relevant rules. I also inquired from him whether he was taken from the court to the jail and vice versa handcuffed or not ? He says that he did not know the rules and so probably the police and the magistrate. He wanted that matter to be dropped. But let me point out that when any honourable member of this House, or for the matter of that any other gentleman is insulted I regard it my bounden duty to set the wrong right and bring the breach of law to the notice of the proper authorities. That is the reason why we have taken up this matter here.

Now there is yet another thing which I wish to bring to your notice, that is, that Sardar Hari Singh writes in his letter that his attitude was not violent for which he might have been handcuffed. As a matter of fact he remained calm, cool and dignified. These facts are further corroborated by the attitude of the magistrate about whom my friends are now saying that if the attitude of Sardar Hari Singh had not been violent the magistrate could have ordered the removal of his handcuffs. The magistrate was pleased to remark that he was not sure about the rule regarding the handcuffing of persons, otherwise he would have ordered the removal of his handcuffs at once and also promised to consider the matter and pass orders later on. Now my honourable friends over there are contending that as the magistrate did not order the removal of his handcuffs, the police had no other alternative but to keep him handcuffed. But may I know whether anybody can plead ignorance of law ? Can a magistrate or a prosecuting sub-inspector plead ignorance of law ? It is a matter of common knowledge that ignorance of law is no excuse and therefore I may submit that this argument on the part of my honourable friends opposite does not hold water

It was the duty of the police which is familiar with such things to draw the attention of the magistrate to this fact. It was their duty to point out the irregularity and whether it was justified to handcuff Sardar Hari Singh. Such are the things under which we are compelled to move adjournment motions. Let me also point out that had my friends assured us that an inquiry would be conducted in a way that would satisfy us, this adjournment motion would not have been moved at all. But as we are not given any such assurance we are forced to resort to this method. And further whatever facts they state on the floor of the House are such which cannot satisfy us. Whenever we bring any complaint against any breach of law, we do expect that such case should be entrusted to some judge so that if we disagree with his judgment we can appeal against his order. But how can we appeal against the findings of our friends opposite. The Assembly Chamber is not a court of appeal. In the circumstances the only alternative left to us is to censure the Government by moving adjournment motions. Whenever any popular Government carries on their administration in a way which does not satisfy the people the natural result is that they try to point out to Government their duties. If the Honourable Premier brings about some change in the working of the Government which could satisfy the public, the necessity for the adjournment motions will not arise. But as he has done nothing to this effect, it is natural that we should move adjournment motions and thus right our wrongs. I may also assure him that we do not feel any pleasure in wasting his time as well as the time of the House by bringing forward adjournment motions. But when we see that anybody is being insulted we feel it our duty to protect him from such insults. As there is no other way open to us for setting the wrong right, we are compelled to move the adjournment motions. If the Honourable Premier wants to lessen the number of adjournment motions he should try to satisfy the public in so far as such cases are concerned.

To conclude, I may submit that the notices of adjournment motions are not given merely for the sake of fun. Whenever any notice of any adjournment motion is given the party also considers it and thereafter it becomes the party's motion. So I would submit that the adjournment motions that have been tabled by this side of the House are our party's motions and not that of individual members. (Hear, hear.) With these words I support the adjournment motion now before the House.

An honourable member : The question be now put.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is :—

That the question be now put.

The motion was carried.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Sir, I do not think that after the speech of the Leader of the Opposition there is anything still left to be said for which I should take time of the House. But the Honourable Premier has said one or two things and I deem it necessary to reply to them. At the very outset he was pleased to remark that my speech was most offensive. In this respect I may very respectfully point out to him that truth is always bitter. If there was any bitterness it was only because I was stating hard facts. Otherwise I assure him that I do not feel any pleasure in condemning or saying anything which may offend him.

Again the Honourable Premier remarked that he had been wishing for some change in our attitude but his wishes have not been fulfilled. I am grateful to him for his good wishes. But let me submit that it is mentioned in the Holy Quran that the prayers of those who do good deeds are accepted. Now I would like to draw your attention to one or two things. The Honourable Premier while addressing me asked as to what other sources of getting correct information were available to Government. He further remarked that they had to depend upon their agency which included both the good and the bad persons and that they were obliged to give credence to the information supplied by this agency. May I ask the Honourable Premier if he could not write a letter to Sardar Hari Singh through the Superintendent, Jail, and ascertain true facts from himself? May I know what prevented him from doing so or what harm there would have been if he had done so? Equity and justice demand that he should have communicated with the honourable member in order to find out real facts. It is a pity that on the one hand my honourable friend the Leader of the House admits that Sardar Hari Singh was ill-treated, and on the other, he has, in spite of his being a responsible Premier of the Province, accused him of intemperate behaviour. I am still of the opinion that he should have at least ascertained the true facts by writing a letter to Sardar Hari Singh through the Superintendent of the Jail. Leaving even this apart because Sardar Hari Singh was in jail, my honourable friend Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma was present here. May I know if the Honourable Premier enquired from him whether he was handcuffed on one or both the hands? I may point out that he did nothing of the kind. But he persists that as according to the police report Pandit Bhagat Ram was handcuffed only on one hand, the police report is more reliable than the statement made by the honourable member. I want to tell the Honourable Premier that at least he should have ascertained the veracity of the police report from the accused. In view of these facts I wonder how this Government can claim itself to be a popular government. I am rather of the opinion that in this respect it is even worse than the previous bureaucratic Government.

Besides, I would submit that the Honourable Premier has more than 12 parliamentary secretaries at his disposal. If he had appointed one of them to ascertain facts about this matter, we would certainly have attached more importance to his statement than that of the police. As the honourable members are aware these gentlemen undertake long journeys to Hyderabad, Patna, Madras, etc. I ask, where is the difficulty if my honourable friend, the Premier, appoints one of the parliamentary secretaries, and charges him with the duty that wherever an incident of this kind occurs, he should proceed to the spot forthwith and report the facts? I assure him that such a report would command our fullest confidence. As a matter of fact we would consider it more reliable and more correct as compared with the other reports. I may also point out that if the Honourable Premier would require the assistance or co-operation of the Honourable Leader of the Opposition in order to ascertain true facts, he would be prepared to do so. He, in order to obtain correct information, would even go to the extent of spending money from his own pocket. Besides, I would submit that if the Honourable Premier finds it difficult to spare a parliamentary secretary for this purpose, he may at least depute that honourable member of the House, in whose constituency the incident occurred. We feel confident that keeping the dignity and prestige of the House in view, the honourable member concerned would submit a true report of the facts. To be brief, everything can be done if they are only anxious to ascertain the truth as the dictum goes 'where there is a will, there is a way'. But when they lack the will, they cannot find out the way. The Government is not prepared to furnish us with the requisite information and therefore we have no other alternative but to bring forward an adjournment motion. Again, it is said that the opposition is in the habit of moving adjournment motions on flimsy pretexts. I assure the Honourable Premier that we do not derive pleasure in moving such motions and sitting late in the evening up to 8 P.M. But the difficulty is that we have to face obstacles at every step and we have no other alternative to ventilate our grievances.

After all, we too have to perform our duty. We bring forward adjournment motions only when all other constitutional ways fail us. In fact the Premier has closed all other doors to us. An example is not far to seek. The Government may cast a glance on the last two years' record of the question hour in this Assembly, and see for themselves, what kind of replies they have been giving to our questions. Almost every information used to be withheld—and is being withheld even at present—under the pretence of public interest. If the honourable parliamentary secretaries were to devote even half as much attention and care to giving the correct information as they do in order to withhold it, much of the time of the House would be saved. All that is wanted, is a change in the attitude of the Government, but the Ministry turns a deaf ear to our counsels. The Honourable Premier has moved even to-day that the two coming non-official days should be devoted to Government business. In spite of such things the Premier is in the habit of declaring exultantly that the Government gives one day during every week for the transaction of business other than Government business, and yet he gets up during every session to move that Government business would have precedence over other business. May I ask why if we have no duty to perform, we are sitting in this House at all? Are we expected to be the yes-men of the Government? If the Government were to follow the right path, we will not unnecessarily raise any hue and cry. It is our duty to warn the Government against its errors and prevent it from following a wrong course of action. But the pity is that neither the Government leaves the wrong path nor does it allow us to raise any voice in protest. The following Urdu couplet aptly applies to this case:—

کہتے کے مر جڑیں یہ مرضی ہوے صناد کی ہے

Another thing to be noted in this connection is that whereas the Premier has paid a glowing tribute to Sardar Hari Singh, he has not cared to believe the statement which the Sardar Salib sent through the Jail Superintendent and which I read in this House a little while ago. I wonder what is the hitch in accepting his statement when Sardar Hari Singh has been good enough to say that the Superintendent of Jail and the sub-inspector of police did not misbehave with him. Is there any necessity of instituting an enquiry, after the statement of Sardar Hari Singh? I take it that every word of Sardar Hari Singh's statement is correct. But the Premier has declared that he used intemperate language and "looked like losing his temper". The Honourable Premier has, in the same breath, stated that Sardar Hari Singh was not the man to do such a thing. Please give up this ridiculous position. If you will change your attitude, you will find us as jealous guardians of your honour as you yourself are. But if you wish to set things right by the jugglery of words alone, I may point out that that would not do. The injury you have done to Sardar Hari Singh by your harsh remarks, will not be healed by your praising him. That can only be healed by your accepting his statement as correct. We do not want you to punish any official. Our complaint is only this that whatever report comes to you from your subordinates, you read it straight away on the floor of this House, without checking its correctness or otherwise. But you do not accept the statement of Sardar Hari Singh as correct although he has been good enough to say that the sub-inspector of police, the magistrate and the jail superintendent were all courteous to him. I wonder why his statement has not been believed in by the Premier.

In the end I may be allowed to submit that the first step that the Premier can take to enhance the confidence of the Government among the public, is to place reliance on the statement of Sardar Hari Singh, and accept it as correct.

In the end I wish to plead guilty to the charge which has been levelled against us, namely, that we are in the habit of bringing forward adjournment motions for trifling occurrences. But it is these trifles which sometimes assume formidable proportions. Do you not remember that Lala Lajpat Rai received one lathi blow at the hands of police but the incident had most serious repercussions? It inflamed the minds of hundreds of youngmen of the province. I would request you, therefore, not to treat these incidents as mere trifles. If you wish that after two years, we should join in the chorus of felicitations offered to you, you should change your attitude now. You should bring about a marked change in your ways. Keep your house in order first and if that is done I assure you that the Opposition will have no need to bring forward such adjournment motions.

Premier (The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan) : Sir, my honourable friend, Lala Deshbandhu Gupta, began his speech by saying that there was no need to make a lengthy speech but still he spoke for full twenty minutes but I propose to speak only for ten minutes and I shall not take more time than this.

My honourable friend, Lala Deshbandhu Gupta, has taunted me by saying that my jugglery with words will not pay for any length of time. I have only to say this much in reply that if my words, which he is pleased to characterise as jugglery, had not been based on honesty of purpose, I would have gone long ago. I sincerely pray that if my friends on those benches are in the wrong God Almighty may guide them along the right path. If, on the other hand, I am one of those who go astray, I may be set right so that I may work along with my friends opposite for the betterment of this country. I have no doubt that my honourable friends are serving the best interests of the country according to their own lights. But I too am doing my duty as best as I can. The difficulty with my friends seems to be that they want me to treat the guilty and innocent Government officers alike. Naturally I cannot do so. Then, it has been pointed out that generally my attitude is not the same with respect to other adjournment motions as has been in the case of that moved about Sardar Hari Singh. My answer is the same. Sardar Hari Singh, being a different sort of man, deserves different treatment.

Another point which was raised was this. It was urged that we should try to obtain information from non-official sources. We are already doing this. Whenever my colleagues go on tour I ask them to come into contact with local people to learn from them the actual facts about cases which are reported by the official agency. I am sorry to say that when the truth is known, that has to be disclosed to my friends opposite in all its nakedness. I know my friends feel pained to know the truth but it is a weakness with me that I cannot help saying out the truth howsoever bitter. There is no doubt that after I have said them, I am sorry that I have said painful things. It is in my nature that I cannot injure the feelings of anybody, high or low.

I shall make one request to my friends opposite. After all we are their servants. As servants it is our right to expect that if we act honestly and do our duty, our work should be appreciated. You may hold any opinion about us but if we work well we expect that our work is appreciated.

Anyway it is a matter of satisfaction that my honourable friend opposite has appreciated my conciliatory tone. My submission is that should my honourable friends opposite adopt a sympathetic and favourable attitude towards the Government, I assure them that we would be only too glad to accommodate them in most of such cases. If they take one step towards us, we would readily take three steps in their direction to meet them halfway. But such things can only be possible if the Opposition is prepared to come forward with a genuine desire of doing anything substantial for the general good of the province. Co-operation pre-supposes sincere efforts from both sides. It cannot be one-sided. I on my part extended my right hand towards my honourable friend opposite, and I do admit, that he too responded to my invitation but unfortunately due to some political or inherent weakness he not only withdrew his right hand but also refused to offer even his left one. I wish he had again adopted his previous attitude. (Dr. Sir Gokul Chandra Narang: What is the allusion to the right hand and the left hand?) I use my right hand for assisting and serving my friends, and have kept my left hand for giving a slap to my foes. But it is a fact that I have seldom used my left hand.

My honourable friend has suggested in his speech that I should frequently consult the Leader of the Opposition in matters of far-reaching effects. I assure that I have often consulted my honourable friend opposite in matters of such a nature. But I would like to inform him that it is far from me to give him unnecessary trouble of holding enquiries into such matters. I do not think it proper to burden him unnecessarily with extra responsibilities. It would be useful neither to him nor to me. However, I think my honourable Leader of the Opposition would bear me out that I have often sounded and consulted him in order to know his mind about certain matters. I admit that in most cases such a consultation can help us to arrive at a certain definite conclusion. I consider the Opposition as an effective limb of the Government. In England it is called the King's Opposition. I do not take it for a body of my enemies. I realise the importance of this limb. It is my firm belief that if it were to do some constructive work the province is sure to flourish and prosper. In case it fails to perform its duties properly, the province is bound to suffer a lot.

Again my friend remarked that the Government has arbitrarily deprived the Opposition of its two non-official days during the current session. He has referred to the days that fall on the 30th November and the 7th December. Personally I was quite willing to allow the Opposition to utilise those days but the difficulty is that the slow progress of our work has made it necessary to effect this change. It is a pity that during all these sittings we could dispose of only 19 clauses. I think it is well known to my honourable friends opposite that every sitting costs no less than Rs. 4,500 to the province. I hope that when they calmly and dispassionately consider the matter they will realise the advisability of effecting this change in the agenda meant for those days. It is unfortunate that so far we have disposed of only 19 clauses of the Village Panchayat Bill. We have yet to dispose of several other lengthy Bills. There is the Corporation Bill containing more than 400 clauses. Then there is the Primary Education Bill with about 27 clauses. If we could not quicken our pace I would be constrained to extend the hours of sittings. Besides these Bills we intend to introduce the Reports of the Retrenchment Committee and of the Revenue Committee for general consideration in the House. I need hardly lay stress on the point that all this pending work is not our private business. It is the work of the Opposition as well as of the Government. It is in fact the work of the whole province. (Dewan Chaman Lal: Why did you sit at Simla for six months and did not call a session?) It was the desire of my honourable friend opposite not to hold any session at Simla. Moreover, the cooling plant has not been installed as yet. It has been estimated that the installation of such a plant would mean another expenditure of one and a half lakhs of rupees. So it was my intention to lengthen the autumn session of the Assembly. Anyway this long break has made it possible for my honourable friend opposite to enjoy the bracing climate of Gulmarg. I too wanted to reach Kashmir and stay with him for a fortnight but the activities of the wretched Hitler did not allow me to leave headquarters. Thus it is only under compulsion that the Government has proposed to make use of the non-official days. But I may be allowed to say that this decision was made with the consultation of the honourable Leader of the Opposition. Very likely this session will drag on till May next, and thus the Opposition will have a number of non-official days to make use of. For the present whatever has been done has been done because circumstances compelled me to do it.

I was submitting that the Opposition should refrain from bringing forward adjournment motions regarding the most trivial incidents. They should as far as possible avoid indulging in this practice because incidents of this kind are very common and occur very often in every day life. I am unable to understand their line of thought. How can they expect us to perform a miracle overnight when as a matter of fact this country has been under foreign domination for the last 150 years? How can I remove in two years and a half all these defects and evils which have crept in during the last 150 years. Besides, the Opposition no occasion of sneering at us that we are afraid of the English. In this connection I would like to submit that my honourable friends are labouring under a misapprehension. They have no idea of the grave responsibilities that rest upon my shoulders. I, therefore, repeat that they are entirely mistaken in their judgment of me and my colleagues. Let me assure them that I do not fear anybody except the Almighty God. I have never bowed before anybody and will never do so before anybody however great or powerful he may be. (A voice: But you are afraid of Germany.) I may tell my honourable friend who has made this remark that Germany will not be afraid of him because then he will keep a still tongue in his head and would be shivering in his shoes. I can assure him that he will not have the courage to utter a single word before the Germans. Had he been in Hitler's Germany and spoken these words he would have been standing with his face to a wall and a firing squad at his back and I do not know what else they would have done to him.

Dewan Chaman Lal: The same treatment which you are meting out to Teja Singh Swatantar.

Premier: Let me assure my honourable friend who has interrupted me that I have never treated him badly. As far as the question of the release of Sardar Teja Singh is concerned I have looked forward to a suitable opportunity every six months and Sardar Sohan Singh Josh will bear me out that I have asked Sardar Teja Singh many a time to give an undertaking to the effect that he has nothing to do with Russia or Germany and that he is solely interested in the well-being of his motherland. But he has paid no heed to this. (Interruption.) Sometimes he expresses his sympathy with China while at other times he is head over heels in love with the Russian proletariat, but he never faces things as they are here in his own motherland. The time has, however, come when things will appear in their true perspective and the world would be able to differentiate between truth and falsehood. And I may assure my honourable friends that those whose convictions are based on truth and righteousness and who wish to serve mankind without fear will survive and those who believe in words and not in deeds will be no more. And at that time the question of martial or non-martial races will not arise. Everybody will come under the banner of unity, discipline and cohesion and even the non-martial classes will join us as camp-followers.

In the end, I would like to say that it is my heart's desire that my opponents should join hands with us and stand shoulder to shoulder with us. I am sure that my learned friend Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava will agree with what I have said and that he will co-operate with us and his other colleagues will also follow in the footsteps of their honourable leader.

PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

SIXTH SESSION OF THE 1ST PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Thursday, 23rd November, 1939.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at 2 P. M. of the clock. Mr. Speaker in the chair.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

TRAVELLING ALLOWANCE BILL DRAWN BY THE HONOURABLE MINISTER OF DEVELOPMENT.

5466. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state the amount of travelling allowance bill drawn by the Honourable Minister of Development in respect of his tour of Karnal, Gurgaon, Rohtak and Hissar districts in the month of July, 1939?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : Such travelling allowance as was due under the rules and within the vote of the Assembly has been paid.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : My question was regarding the amount of the bill of travelling allowances drawn by the Honourable Minister of Development in respect of his tour of Karnal, Rohtak, Gurgaon and Hissar districts, but the reply given to my question is not relevant. Will the Parliamentary Secretary please give me the actual reply I want?

Parliamentary Secretary : I said : "Such travelling allowance as was due under the rules and within the vote of the Assembly has been paid." I have nothing more to say.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What I want to know is the amount of travelling allowance drawn by the Minister of Development.

Parliamentary Secretary : I have nothing to add to the reply already given.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : May I know what is the harm in disclosing the amount?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether it is not in the public interest to tell us the travelling allowance or whether there is some other reason behind it?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : On a point of order, Sir, I am fully aware of the fact that according to the rules a Minister can answer a supplementary question with silence. But is he justified in giving evasive, insufficient and wrong replies?

Mr. Speaker : I am afraid, I cannot help the honourable member.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I want to know whether the Parliamentary Secretary has given this evasive answer in the interest of the public. Sir, I want your ruling on this.

Mr. Speaker : Can the honourable member refer to any authority under which I can force an Honourable Minister to answer a question ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether limits are fixed for the Honourable Ministers as far as their tours are concerned ?

Mr. Speaker : From which answer to the question does this supplementary question arise ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know the rate per mile of travelling and halting allowances paid to the Honourable Minister ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know as to why the Parliamentary Secretary feels shy in replying to this supplementary question ?

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : On a point of order. Is it not a fact that such type of questions have been replied in this House in your presence ?

Mr. Speaker : Is that a point of order ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether the amount of travelling allowance is so large that the Parliamentary Secretary on that score does not want to disclose it, lest it should bring disrepute to the Treasury benches ?

Lala Duni Chand : Is the amount of allowance in question known to the Parliamentary Secretary or is he unaware of it ?

CIVIL LITIGATION IN JHANG DISTRICT.

5488. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that civil litigation in the Jhang district has considerably decreased during the last three years ;
- (b) if the answer to the above be in the affirmative, whether the Government has effected or intends to effect a proportionate decrease in the judicial officers posted there and if not, why not ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) Yes.

(b) Government hope in the near future to effect a reduction in the number of judicial officers in the province and proposals to this end are under consideration.

CONVICTION OF SARDAR MUHAMMAD, ETC., UNDER DEFENCE OF INDIA ACT.

5511 Munshi Hari Lal : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that Sardar Muhammad, Gyan Singh and Ranjit Singh, after their conviction by the Additional District Magistrate, Multan, on 18th October, 1939, under the Defence of India Rules were transferred from the Multan District Jail, if so, the date when and the place where they have been transferred ;

(b) whether it is a fact that these prisoners were bar-fettered when they were being taken away from Multan ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) They were transferred to the Ferozapore District Jail on the 20th October, 1939.

(b) Yes.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know whether the political prisoners are also fettered when being removed from one jail to another ?

Minister : The question was with regard to the conviction of Sardar Muhammad, Gyan Singh and Ranjit Singh. After their conviction under the Defence of India Rules they were treated under certain rules provided in the Jail Manual, e.g., rules in paragraphs 756 and 757.

Munshi Hari Lal : When were these rules framed ?

Minister : They have been in existence for a fairly long period.

Munshi Hari Lal : Before the Ordinance came into action ?

Minister : Yes.

Munshi Hari Lal : Do those rules apply to political prisoners as well ?

Minister : The honourable member is unnecessarily dragging political prisoners in. Under the rules no distinction is made as long as it is a C class prisoner.

Munshi Hari Lal : Will the Government take into consideration the change in the political atmosphere of the country ?

Mr. Speaker : That is a request for action.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether there is distinction in the case of prisoners of certain classes ?

Mr. Speaker : That question does not arise.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : It does.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether class discrimination of prisoners of A, B and C class is taken into consideration when they are fettered for being removed from one place to another ?

Minister : I may be allowed to inform the honourable member that this restriction of placing fetters was removed at a particular period in the history of Punjab jails and it led to a remarkably large number of escapes and the position was then restored and while prisoners are transferred from one jail to another, these necessary steps are taken in order to keep the prisoners in safe custody.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Can the Minister of Finance cite one instance in which a political prisoner attempted to escape ?

Minister : I was not referring to any particular class of prisoner at all. But may I cite the instance of a gentleman who had recently been released at the instance of a particular leader whom the honourable member knows well ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : In view of the fact that there is no apprehension whatsoever at any time of a political prisoner escaping, will Government consider or have Government considered the question of making an exception in the case of political prisoners ? (Interruption.)

Minister : Prithvi Singh.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : You are talking of twenty years back.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Has the Honourable Minister introduced any change since his advent to the office ?

Minister : This rule has been in existence before I came into office and it exists to-day.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : The question that I ask is whether the Minister has made any reforms in regard to the political prisoners in jails.

Minister : I have adequately answered this question.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Is the honourable member prepared to reconsider these rules with a view to revise them in the case of political prisoners ?

Mr. Speaker : That is a request for action.

JOGINDER SINGH, PRISONER OF FATEHWAL CASE.

5533. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that Joginder Singh, a prisoner of Fatehwal case, now confined in Central Jail, Lahore, weighed 135 pounds on his entry into the jail ;

(b) what is his present weight ;

(c) the reasons for the reduction in his weight ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) His weight on admission in the Central Jail, Lahore, on the 13th February, 1939, was 129 pounds.

(b) His present weight is 122 pounds.

(c) The reasons are not known. He has refused to take extra diet which was sanctioned for him.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Was he ever confined in a separate cell ?

Minister : That I do not know.

DIET MONEY OF WITNESSES IN CIVIL COURTS.

5554. Shaikh Karamat Ali : Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that the diet money of witnesses in civil cases has to be deposited by the parties in advance with the court concerned ;

- (b) whether it is also a fact that there are no rules in existence requiring the courts to refund suo motu or even to ask the parties concerned to apply for the refund of such money in cases in which this money remains undischarged and ultimately lapses to Government; if so, the action proposed to be taken in the matter;
- (c) the number of civil cases in which diet money was deposited in all the civil courts at Lahore, within the last three years, and in which the money so deposited remained undischarged and has not so far been refunded to the parties concerned with the reasons for not doing so and the action the Government propose to take in the matter?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : The attention of the honourable member is invited to the reply given to question No. *503¹ put by the honourable member from North-Eastern Towns (Muhammadan) urban constituency.

APPOINTMENT OF ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENTS, JAILS.

5562. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) whether any instructions regarding appointment of Assistant Superintendents, Jails, were issued by the Government in or about 1930; if so, whether he will be pleased to lay a copy of these instructions on the table of the House;
- (b) the number of Assistant Superintendents recruited on those instructions with the number separately of those among them who have by now been confirmed and of those who have not so far been confirmed stating the reasons why some of them have not been confirmed?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) The rules are reproduced in paragraphs 252—258-A of the Punjab Jail Manual.

(b) Seventy-seven Assistant Superintendents have been recruited of whom 75 have been confirmed; two have resigned; and one is awaiting confirmation. Confirmation in a post depends on the existence of a permanent vacancy; there is no permanent vacancy at present.

HOSHIARPUR KISAN MORCHA UNDER-TRIAL PRISONERS.

5563. Sardar Harijab Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the under-trial prisoners in connection with the Kisan Morcha at Hoshiarpur were ordered to be fettered; if so, reasons for the same?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : Some prisoners were punished with fetters for deliberate and insistent breaches of jail discipline.

SALARIES AND ALLOWANCES DRAWN BY THE HONOURABLE MINISTERS AND PARLIAMENTARY SECRETARIES.

5576. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to lay on the table of the House a statement giving the following information—

- (a) the total amount drawn as pay by each Minister and Parliamentary Secretary since April, 1937, to 30th of September, 1939, respectively ;
- (b) the total amount of travelling allowance drawn by each Minister and Parliamentary Secretary for the same period, respectively ;
- (c) the total amount of other allowances including allowances for attending the sittings of the Assembly and select committees, drawn by each Minister and Parliamentary Secretary, respectively ;
- (d) the total amount of travelling allowance and other allowances drawn by each Minister and Parliamentary Secretary, respectively, for visits paid to places outside the province ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a)—(d) Such salaries and allowances as were due under the rules and within the vote of the Assembly have been paid.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : May I know if it is a fact that this information is not given because the Government is afraid of members or public opinion ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I invite the Parliamentary Secretary's attention to the question—

- (a) the total amount drawn as pay by each Minister and Parliamentary Secretary since April, 1937, to 30th of September, 1939, respectively ?

I want to know the total amount. I know that they could not have been paid over and above their due ; but what I want to know is the total amount paid. Is the Finance Department not in a position to give the total amount. Is the Honourable Minister of Finance not in a position to give this much information or is it for reasons of expediency that Government is not disclosing the figure ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Whatever is already available to the members of the Assembly, is public property. As to other items I have nothing to add to the reply already given. As the honourable member knows, at the end of the year all this information is laid before the Public Accounts Committee and those who are interested can go further into it.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does it not mean that there is some information available which they want to withhold from honourable members of this House ?

Parliamentary Secretary : We have nothing to withhold in regard to this matter but after questions of this nature have been answered to some extent in the past it is found that they involve lot of labour and taking into consideration the purpose for which they have been used it is thought best not to give any answer beyond what is already stated.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the Parliamentary Secretary really serious in saying that the collection of this information involves a good deal of labour ? Is it not handy in the Minister of Finance's office ? Does he realize that in view of the supplementary budget that we have to discuss, this information may be required ? We would like to have more cogent reasons for the refusal of the Parliamentary Secretary to answer this question.

Parliamentary Secretary : If any supplementary grant is asked for, it will be for the honourable member to raise this question then.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does he mean that the honourable members are not entitled to get this information if they do not want to use that at the time of discussing supplementary grants ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have nothing to add to the reply that I have given.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Then you should frankly admit that you do not want to give this information as it goes against you.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I ask whether the amounts that are not disclosed on the floor of the House exist in the official record ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What about parts (c) and (d) ? The honourable member has said that whatever was due has been paid but what is his reply to parts (c) and (d), I mean—

(c) the total amount of other allowances including allowances for attending the sittings of the Assembly and select committees, drawn by each Minister and Parliamentary Secretary, respectively ;

(d) the total amount of travelling allowance and other allowances drawn by each Minister and Parliamentary Secretary, respectively, for visits paid to places outside the province ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The answer given relates to parts (a) and (b) of the question and covers all that is there.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Does it not amount to reducing the asking of questions to a farce if such replies are going to be given by them ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Munshi Hari Lal : We can have information regarding (a) and (b) from public records but we cannot have information on (c) and (d). What are the papers available to the outside world from which they can know that the Honourable Ministers or the Parliamentary Secretaries have attended so many meetings of the select committees and have gone so many times out of the province ? From where can we have this information ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : To-morrow if an adjournment motion is moved on account of this unsatisfactory reply given by the Parliamentary Secretary, they should not then be allowed to plead that the information was not sought. The information has been sought for and it is being deliberately denied to us.

Munshi Hari Lal : I want to know the source of information. Wherefrom can I get information on (c) and (d) ? This is my question.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Parliamentary Secretary give this information if the Opposition gives an undertaking that they will keep it confidential ? (Laughter.)

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Is the Accountant-General's office in working order ? (Laughter.)

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether the refusal to disclose the amounts is due to the fact that they are exorbitant ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

TOTAL AMOUNT PAID BY GOVERNMENT TO NEWSPAPERS AND PERIODICALS.

5577. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) the total amount, if any, paid by Government to different newspapers and periodicals since April, 1937, up to September, 1939, either by way of subsidy or by way of cost of copies purchased by Government for distribution or other purposes ;

(b) the names of such papers and periodicals with amounts so received by each of them ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) No subsidy has been paid by Government to any newspaper or periodical. Various Government departments and offices purchase copies of newspapers and periodicals for their own use, for distribution, or for both. The labour and cost involved in any attempt to compile totals of such purchases would be out of all proportion to the value of the results.

(b) Does not arise.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Parliamentary Secretary at least give us the names of those papers which have been purchased in large numbers for distribution from time to time by the Director of Information ? If not, the amounts paid or the number of copies purchased, at least the names of those papers which are being purchased in large numbers by the Director of Information for distribution in villages should be given.

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already stated that Government as such pays neither in subsidies nor purchases any copies of any periodicals or newspapers and, therefore, part (b) does not arise. If my honourable friend wants some other information and gives notice of the question in a precise form, it will be obtained.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Parliamentary Secretary please read the reply which he had just read in which he had admitted that copies for purposes of distribution are purchased ?

Parliamentary Secretary : My honourable friend has not strictly followed my answer. I did not say "by the Government" but "by certain Government departments".

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : You may draw any distinction. I want to know whether Government purchases any papers and periodicals in thousands for distribution in villages or not ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Certain Government departments purchase these copies.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Every work of the Government is done by departments. The Government as a whole does nothing.

Parliamentary Secretary : Not necessarily.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Parliamentary Secretary please name the papers which have been so patronised or purchased by the department concerned ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice for that question.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it a fact that there are certain papers from which security has been demanded and yet they are being patronised in this matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice for it.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the Parliamentary Secretary in a position to say whether the Inqilab, the Zamindar and the Ahsan are amongst the papers which are being purchased in thousands or hundreds for distribution purposes ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I could not say that.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Have instructions been issued to rural officers or workers of the rural uplift department for the purchase of these papers for distributing them in villages ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am not aware of any such instructions ; but I know such instructions have been issued by certain other provinces, and if such instructions are issued here there will be no harm.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does the Director of Information supply information on such matters to the Parliamentary Secretary or is he left free to do what he likes ?

Lala Duni Chand : Does Government consider the policy or the contents of the paper before ordering their purchase for distribution purposes ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have said Government does not purchase these copies.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Which departments of the Government buy these papers and distribute them among the people ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Various departments.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Which are those departments and what is their number ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If the honourable member gives notice of a separate question, I will certainly collect the information.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : What are the names of papers bought by the department ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the Parliamentary Secretary personally concerned with any department which deals with this underhand business ?

Mr. Speaker : That question is not permissible.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : The Parliamentary Secretary is withholding from us certain information to which we are entitled and we are trying to get the information by a process of elimination. May I know if it is the department of the Honourable Premier or the Parliamentary Secretary which deals with this sort of thing ?

Parliamentary Secretary : What sort of thing ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : The ordering of certain papers to be purchased in hundreds and thousands for distribution purposes ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already stated that this is undertaken by various departments and all departments are under the supervision of the Premier and if there is any such specific information desired by the honourable member and if he puts a precise question we shall ask for information.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the department of the Director of Information one of such departments ?

Parliamentary Secretary : One of what departments ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : My honourable friend says by various departments. Is that one of those departments ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Which departments ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : The various departments which deal with the purchase of the papers.

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice for that question. I could not give the answer off-hand.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Parliamentary Secretary inform us whether he himself has ever recommended any of the papers or ordered any copies of the papers to be purchased ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have sometimes purchased the papers of my honourable friend opposite but have not given any orders or recommended for any specific paper.

CHAUDHRI ATA ULLAH.

5585. Munshi Hari Lal : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that one Chaudhri Ata Ullah, President, District Congress Committee, Multan, and a member of the All-India Congress Committee was convicted by the Additional District Magistrate, Multan, under section 124-A and 153-A, I. P. C., to a rigorous imprisonment of eighteen months in May or June last ;

(b) whether it is a fact that the trying magistrate recommended him to be placed in B class ;

(c) whether it is a fact that Chaudhri Ata Ullah is serving his sentence in C class as an ordinary class prisoner ; if so, why ; and the action the Government intends to take in the matter ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) Yes.

(b) No.

(c) Yes. Government have rejected an application for "B" class for this prisoner, as they are satisfied he is not a suitable person for such classification.

Munshi Hari Lal : Has the Honourable Minister looked into the judgment of the trying magistrate ?

Minister : I have looked into all the necessary papers as regards the recommendation made by the magistrate.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Does the Honourable Minister know what is the position of Chaudhri Ata Ullah ?

Minister : Yes.

Munshi Hari Lal : May I know if Chaudhri Ata Ullah sent an application to the Jails Department for being placed in B class in June ?

Minister : Does the honourable member wish me to state all the facts as regards the classification of Chaudhri Ata Ullah ? What is the exact inquiry ?

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : With regard to his position ?

Minister : I have looked into all the facts myself.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Does the Minister think that he is not fit for B class ?

Minister : That was my decision.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Does the Minister know that another person involved in the same case was given 'B' class, and if so, does he know that this differential treatment has led to Hindu-Muslim question ?

Mr. Speaker : That question does not arise.

Mian Abdul Rab : Can the Honourable Minister give his social position ?

Minister : If the Speaker desires, I am perfectly prepared to read out the whole thing but it is not usual to read out the material on which Government comes to its conclusion ; and I have come to the definite and deliberate conclusion after going through all the facts.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know the source of your information ?

Minister : No.

ALLOWANCES DRAWN BY HONOURABLE MEMBERS OF PUNJAB ASSEMBLY.

*5588. Chaudhri Muhammad Abdul Rahman Khan : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to lay on the table of the House a statement showing the amount, separately drawn by each honourable member of the Punjab Legislative Assembly as allowance for attending the sessions of the Assembly since April, 1937, to the present day ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : For figures up to the 31st October, 1938, the honourable member is referred to the answer given to question 4881 asked by Chaudhri Nasir-ud-Din on the 10th November, 1938. It is hardly worth while spending time and labour on bringing this statement up-to-date.

AMOUNT OF PAY AND ALLOWANCE DRAWN BY HONOURABLE MINISTERS AND PARLIAMENTARY AND PARLIAMENTARY PRIVATE SECRETARIES.

5589. Chaudhri Muhammad Abdul Rahman Khan : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to lay on the table of the House a statement showing the amount, separately drawn by each Honourable Minister of the Punjab Government and by each Parliamentary and Parliamentary Private Secretary as pay and allowance since April, 1937, to the present day ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : Such pay and allowances as were due under the rules and within the vote of the Assembly have been paid.

CASES TRIED UNDER SECTION 124-A, I. P. C.

5591. Chaudhri Muhammad Abdul Rahman Khan : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state —

- (a) the number of cases tried during the current year under section 124-A, I. P. C.;
- (b) in how many cases the High Court upheld the decisions of the lower courts ;
- (c) whether the Government sanctioned the institution of the cases mentioned in (a) above ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) Fifteen. Six are still pending in the lower courts.

(b) This information is being collected and will be communicated when it is ready.

(c) Yes ; no prosecution under this section can be legally instituted unless the sanction of Government has been previously obtained.

ARREST AND DETENTION OF BAKHSI AND RATTAN SINGH.

5640. Shrimati Raghbir Kaur : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether or not there are any internees in the Lahore Fort ;
- (b) whether or not Bakhshi of Lahore and Ratan Singh of Jullundur are interned in the Lahore Fort ; if so, what are the reasons for their internment ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) Yes.

(b) Yes. For having acted in a manner prejudicial to the public safety.

Shrimati Raghbir Kaur : For what offence were they interned ?

Parliamentary Secretary : This is not the place where such matters can be divulged. (Laughter.)

BASE COINS.

5645. Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) whether he is aware of the fact that in many cases people refuse to accept not only base but even genuine coins which causes a lot of inconvenience particularly to travellers ;
- (b) if the answer to the above be in the affirmative, the special steps that Government have taken so far or proposes to take to put an end to this trouble ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) No, I have no such knowledge.

(b) Government have no powers to interfere with individuals in this respect.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it within the knowledge of the Finance Minister that the rupees bearing the inscription of Queen Victoria are refused by even Government treasuries ?

Minister : Not to my knowledge.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that even Government departments refuse to accept rupees bearing the effigy of Queen Victoria ?

Minister : I have already stated that I have no such knowledge that this kind of rupee is refused.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Has Government made any efforts to ascertain whether people have any genuine grievance in connection with this matter ?

Minister : How am I to go about making a general enquiry ? The information such as is available to me leads me to say that I have no such knowledge. If the honourable member will furnish me with any further information, I shall receive it gladly.

Lala Duni Chand : If the Honourable Minister does not possess that knowledge, let him take this knowledge from me and make enquiries from various Government treasuries.

Minister : What knowledge ? If he were to give me specific instances, I would be prepared to take the assertion that all that is taking place, but that the honourable member does not do.

Lala Duni Chand : The knowledge that I want to impart is that invariably rupees bearing the inscription of Queen Victoria are refused by Government treasuries, and I know personally about the Ambala Treasury. Will the Honourable Minister make enquiries or send any orders ?

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Is the Honourable Minister aware that it is the general complaint of the public that the railway booking clerks put the travellers to a lot of inconvenience by returning these base coins, and some times they put the genuine coins given by the passengers to the booking clerks in their pockets and give them in return base coins ?

Minister : It may be so. I have no knowledge.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know as to how the fact can be brought to the notice of Government that this grievance does exist ?

Minister : I can only answer it by saying that if honourable members merely go on saying that these coins are refused, then it does not convey to me any definite knowledge on which I can act.

Lala Duni Chand : Will he try the experiment of tendering such coins when purchasing tickets and see how he is treated ?

Minister : When I next travel—I do not travel very much—I may possibly find out.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is he prepared to ascertain this grievance disguised as a commoner ?

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Will the Honourable Minister tell me the agency through which this grievance should be brought to his notice ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : If anybody refuses a genuine coin, what is the remedy ? Is it not the duty of Government to provide a remedy for this ?

Minister : It is not an offence and we could not punish it in any manner, and that is what I meant by the mild suggestion that it is not possible for Government to interfere with individuals in this particular matter. That is the present position. It may be unhappily so.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Will you consider this matter and provide a remedy ?

Mr. Speaker : That is a request for action.

PROHIBITION.

5646. Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state —

- (a) whether prohibition has so far been introduced in any of the districts in the Punjab ; if so, in which district and whether the experiment has proved successful
- (b) whether the question of introducing prohibition in some other districts as well is at present under consideration of Government ; if so, when it is likely to be decided ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) Not yet.

(b) Does not arise : but the whole question will shortly be examined afresh in the light of the financial situation.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Is the Honourable Minister aware of the resolution which was passed by this House to this effect ?

Minister : Yes.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What action has Government taken on it so far ?

Minister : I have answered that question more than once and the answer is implicit in what I have just said.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does he hope to take any action in the coming year on the resolution ?

Minister : We entertain many hopes.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it a pious hope and will it ever remain so ?

Minister : A pious hope is better than an impious hope.

Lala Duni Chand : Has Government ever considered the question of giving a lead to other provinces in this matter, as it claims to do in many other cases ?

Minister : I think the division from which the honourable member comes has so embarrassed the finances of this province, that leadership in this respect for the time appears to me out of question.

Lala Duni Chand : Will the Finance Minister advise the Government to transfer my division to the United Provinces ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister kindly let me know whether prohibition will be introduced in the Punjab when famines have ceased to ravage the south-eastern districts of Hissar and Rohtak ?

Minister : If the kahat goes on at this rate, I think I can not answer the question in the affirmative.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Could the Honourable Minister foretell as to when the finances of the province will have been stabilised and prohibition introduced ?

Minister : I am not a prophet.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know if financial considerations alone stand in the way of introducing prohibition, or whether there are some other considerations also ?

Minister : I do not understand what the honourable member means by the question, but let me say that the financial considerations are cogent and complete enough for the time to postpone even contemplating the introduction of this change.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know if there is any divergence of views among the members of the Treasury Benches on the question of prohibition, or are financial considerations alone responsible for the postponement of the introduction of prohibition ?

Minister : That we may not enquire into. I am not here to give you any information as to the state of opinion that exists in the Cabinet on this question.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know the views of the Government ? Are they at variance with the views of the Assembly ? The Assembly has passed a resolution on the subject.

Minister : I can only remind the honourable member that Government did not oppose the resolution when it was brought forward in this House.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What are the personal views of the Finance Minister in regard to prohibition ?

Minister : What have my personal views to do with regard to this matter ?

S. JOGINDAR SINGH OF CHHINA.

5665. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state

- (a) the state of health of S. Jogindar Singh of Chhina convicted in the Fatehwal murder case, at present lodged in the Lahore Central Jail;
- (b) his present state of health;
- (c) the reasons for the deterioration of his health;
- (d) whether he is confined in a solitary cell; and if so, the reasons therefor?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) On admission to the Lahore Central Jail on the 13th February, 1939, his health was indifferent. His weight was 129 lbs., i.e., 14 lbs. below the standard weight.

(b) Indifferent.

(c) Not known.

(d) Yes, for one month; because he quarrelled with and beat a fellow prisoner in the jail.

Lala Duni Chand : Has the Government taken care or will the Government take care to see that this man does not suffer from tuberculosis?

Minister : I think every prisoner whose health is not good and as a matter of fact whose health may even be very good, is under fairly frequent medical examination.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : What medical relief is provided to this prisoner in view of his indifferent health?

Minister : I think he is receiving all necessary medical attendance in the jail.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : What is his diet?

Minister : I have no particulars with me at the present moment.

PROHIBITION IN THE PROVINCE.

5668. Dr. Sant Ram Seth : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Punjab Legislative Assembly passed unanimously a resolution of prohibition to be enforced in 5 districts of the Punjab Province in the first instance; if so, the number and name of those districts in which the prohibition has been enforced and if it has not been enforced in any district, the reasons therefor?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : Government has in mind the Resolution in question, but owing to extraordinarily heavy strain on the provincial finances due to grave famine conditions in a large part of the province and very large expenditure that the famine has caused directly and indirectly it has not been possible to take any steps required by the Resolution. Nor is Government at present in a position to engage the preventive staff necessary to give effect to the Resolution. The whole position would be reviewed as soon as the provincial finances make that possible.

DISPOSAL OF CRIMINAL APPEALS BY DISTRICT MAGISTRATE, LUDHIANA.

*5673. Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Will the Hon'ble Minister of Inances be pleased to state the number of criminal appeals disposed of by the District Magistrate, Ludhiana, from June to September, 1939, giving dates of institution of each of them and the dates of decision, the names of the parties and their counsel in details as well as the final result in each of them ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : A statement giving some of the information required by the honourable member is laid on the table. As these cases were decided some time ago and have been consigned to the Record Room, I do not consider the time and trouble involved in collecting the remaining information will be justified.

Statement showing the disposal of criminal appeals by District Magistrate, Ludhiana, from June to September, 1939.

ARREST AND DETENTION OF SARDARS RATAN SINGH AND MOLA SINGH.

5638. Master Kabul Singh: Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the reasons for the recent arrest of Sardar Ratan Singh, resident of village Mandhali, district Jullundur, and that of Sardar Mola Singh of village Behwalpur, district Hoshiarpur;
- (b) where have they been lodged and what proceedings, if any, Government propose to take against them;
- (c) whether they are under-trial prisoners or internees;
- (d) whether their legal advisers, relatives, and friends are allowed to see them; if so, whom are they to approach for the purpose?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood): (a) Sardars Rattan Singh and Mola Singh (not Mola Singh) were arrested for having acted in a manner prejudicial to the public safety;

(b) Lahore Fort. Further action against them is under contemplation.

(c) They have been detained under section 2, Punjab C. L. (A) Act, 1935.

(d) Interviews with near relatives are permitted, for which applications should be made to the Superintendent of Police, Special Branch, II, C.I.D., Punjab.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh: How long will they have to remain there under the Criminal Law Amendment Act?

Parliamentary Secretary: I want notice of that question.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad: May I know the rules under which friends are allowed to see the prisoners? The answer says about relatives only?

Parliamentary Secretary: According to rules near relatives are permitted. But I am afraid I cannot say off-hand whether friends who are not near relatives would be permitted.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad: May I enquire whether the Parliamentary Secretary has ever studied the Jail Manual and whether his reply is based on a study of that Manual?

Parliamentary Secretary: I must confess in reply to this question that I have not lately studied the Jail Manual except the relevant clauses of it.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad: As far as I know there is a provision in the Jail Manual in regard to friends also.

Diwan Chaman Lall: Which rule of the Jail Manual is my honourable friend referring to?

Parliamentary Secretary: I cannot cite the particular rule just now but if my honourable friend is interested in it I shall be delighted to give him the information later on.

Diwan Chaman Lal : May I take it that it is rules 26—28 that my honourable friend is referring to, of the Prison Rules under which interviews are allowed to prisoners in jail custody ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I cannot say ; it may be so.

CLASS FOR CHAUDHRI AFZAL HAQ, AHRAR PARTY LEADER.

5641. Chaudhri Muhammad Abdul Rahman Khan : Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) when Chaudhri Afzal Haq, the leader of the Ahrar Party, was arrested ;
- (b) the class that was allotted to him in the jail in the beginning ;
- (c) whether it is a fact that he has been now given A class ;
- (d) if the answers to (b) and (c) be in the affirmative, the reasons for not giving Chaudhri Afzal Haq A class from the outset ;
- (e) whether in the matter of allotment of a particular class to a prisoner the Punjab Government also is consulted or whether decision of the local officers alone in that respect is final ;
- (f) whether he would be pleased to lay on the table of the House a report about Chaudhri Afzal Haq's present state of health and the nature of facilities provided to him in the jail in view of the month of Ramzan ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) Chaudhri Afzal Haq was arrested on the 26th September, 1939.

- (b) Ordinary class.
- (c) He was given " better class " on the 12th October, 1939.
- (d) The court was making enquiries regarding his status.
- (e) The classification of an under-trial prisoner is made by the trial court. The prisoner has the right of filing a revision application against this classification to the District Magistrate.
- (f) His health is indifferent and he has attacks of asthma from time to time. A jail cook is allotted to him to prepare his food.

Lala Duni Chand : Is the Government aware of the fact that Chaudhri Afzal Haq is one of the foremost recognised political leaders of the Punjab ?

Minister : If I may say so, the honourable member has put so many questions into one. We are all aware that Chaudhri Afzal Haq was a member of the Legislative Council, the previous Council, and he is regarded by some to be a leading politician.

Lala Duni Chand : Was not that fact by itself sufficient to give him a better class ?

Minister : Government was not dealing with it. It was a matter for the court.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know the nature of the enquiries made by the magistrate ?

Minister : I do not know. The matter lies entirely in the discretion of the court and the court made the necessary enquiries and within a fortnight he was put into a better class.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Is it a fact that Chaudhri Afzal Haq criticised the Premier's policy and, therefore, he was not given B class at the beginning?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : What does the Honourable Minister mean by 'better class'? Has he created another category, because we know only A class, B class and C class?

Minister : When a prisoner is an under-trial prisoner, he is either in the ordinary class or a better class. The question of A, B and C class arises after conviction.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I enquire as to which court was making the necessary enquiries regarding Chaudhri Afzal Haq's status?

Minister : The court before whom he was an under-trial prisoner.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I enquire whether it is not a fact that that court had the full complete description of the honourable gentleman and was fully aware of the fact that that gentleman had been a member of the past Legislative Council?

Minister : I have no knowledge of the extent of the court's information.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Is it not a fact that in ordinary circumstances when a prisoner is brought before the court for trial a full description of that prisoner is given, with the fullest details regarding the status of the particular prisoner, what he was and what he has been?

Minister : I think the honourable member is quite right in making that assumption; but I am not sure whether that would include a prisoner being a member of a previous legislative chamber.

Lala Duni Chand : Does the Government admit that it was a mistake on the part of the court to have given him ordinary class?

Minister : I am not sitting in judgment on the court. The court had complete discretion and the court after satisfying itself, as the court was bound to do, gave the under-trial prisoner the better class.

Lala Duni Chand : Is not the Honourable Minister the highest authority so far as the question of classification is concerned?

Minister : The matter at the stage did not concern me.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : According to Jail rules, jail authorities had perfect discretion in giving any class. I would request the Honourable Finance Minister to see whether there is not a provision in the Jail Manual to that effect.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member may see the Manual himself.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I am asking the Honourable Minister as to why the Superintendent did not decide the question of his classification in the very first instance when according to rules he is entitled to decide about the treatment which a prisoner should receive as long as the court has not decided that point?

Minister : The court gave him the ordinary class.

Munshi Hari Lal : Was this discretion exercised in accordance with the instructions of the Local Government ?

Minister : I do not understand what the honourable member means ?

Munshi Hari Lal : I mean, is there any instruction regulating the exercise of discretion by the magistrate ?

Minister : No. I do not see why the honourable member should make such a statement.

Munshi Hari Lal : I was told the other day by a magistrate that he is acting according to instructions.

Minister : A very emphatic 'no'.

Lala Duni Chand : When a flagrant instance of this kind comes to the notice of the Government does the Government take any action and did the Government take any action in this case ?

Minister : I do not see how the Government was called upon to take any action.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister please state whether Chaudhri Afzal Haq has been to jail before and whether he has been placed in higher class before ?

Minister : I am not in a position to answer that question.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Does the Honourable Minister know that Chaudhri Afzal Haq was placed in A class when he was in jail last time ?

Mr. Speaker : That is irrelevant.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know if the Honourable Minister will take note of the fact when he makes an enquiry ?

Minister : Which enquiry ?

Chaudhri Muhammad Abdul Rahman Khan : Though the Assembly has become brown from white, yet the language of the Assembly seems to be the same, that of the white men.

Khan Bahadur Nawab Muzaffar Khan : Is that a supplementary question ?

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is making a speech.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : He is requesting you to ask the Honourable Minister to reply in Urdu.

Mr. Speaker : I have more than once explained from this chair that there is no provision in the Government of India Act, nor in our rules under which I can compel an honourable member to speak in Urdu.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Let there be a convention in this respect.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the Government is aware of the fact that when Chaudhri Afzal Haq was convicted in 1930 as a member of the Working Committee, he was given A class and he was allowed to travel in the 1st class ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know from the Honourable Minister whether he is prepared to enquire from the magistrate concerned as to how it took him full 15 days to enquire into the matter?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

ARREST OF SOME MEMBERS OF THE PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

5642. Chaudhri Muhammad Abdul Rahman Khan : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the names of those honourable members of the Punjab Legislative Assembly who have been arrested so far ;
- (b) the nature of their offences, and the nature of the punishments awarded to them ;
- (c) the class given to them at first in the jail, the class given to them at present, and the names of the jails in which they are confined ;
- (d) whether he would be pleased to lay on the table of the House a copy of the report about each Honourable Member's present state of health ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : If the honourable member will kindly indicate the period over which he desires the information regarding arrests I will have the necessary enquiries made. It would also help me if he would make clear whether he wishes for information regarding arrests of every kind or only arrests under certain provisions of law. If the latter, would he kindly state the particular provisions ?

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : On a point of order. The member who puts a question should be afforded facilities to put supplementary questions before others.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is a lawyer. Will he quote any rule or law under which I can do that ?

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Allowing of putting of supplementary questions by the questioner in preference to other members is, I suppose, the duty of the chair and he must see that the questioner understands the answer.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member must understand that under the Government of India Act all that is permitted is that members may be allowed to speak not only in English but in some other language also, but there is no provision which authorizes the chair of the Assembly itself to make rules that answers to questions put in English should be in Urdu. That question has arisen in the House many a time and that is how I have viewed the matter.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : On a point of order. The Parliamentary Secretary speaks in Urdu in regard to one question and in English in regard to another.

Mr. Speaker : That is so. But the question is whether I can compel him to answer questions in Urdu.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Is it not open to the chair to force him to answer in Urdu ?

Mr. Speaker : Is there any rule or law which empowers the chair to do so ?

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Is it not open to the chair to force a member to speak in Urdu when he has spoken in Urdu before on that very day or in that very session ?

Mr. Speaker : It is not in my power to force any member to speak in Urdu.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : But you can allow a member who can speak in English very well to speak in Urdu.

Mr. Speaker : To permit an honourable member to speak in Urdu is different from forcing him to speak in Urdu.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : That is a question of taking a lenient view which you have already taken of Urdu speaking.

Rai Bahadur Mukand Lal Puri : What is the answer to part (a) of the question.

Parliamentary Secretary : I am afraid my honourable ver definite ? not carefully follow the reply which I gave. I said that I shall be delighted to collect the necessary information if the honourable member would kindly indicate the period over which he desired the information. It would also help me if he would make it clear if information is required regarding arrest of every kind or under certain provisions of the law. No supplementary question of the kind suggested by my honourable friend arises out of the answer.

Rai Bahadur Mukand Lal Puri : Is not the question very definite ? The question is about the arrest of the members of the Punjab Legislative Assembly. It came into existence only in 1937. After all how many members of the Assembly could have been arrested ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Granted, but I wanted definitely to know whether my honourable friend wants information for one year or for two years or for three years and whether he wants under the Defence of India Act or under section 124-A or under section 153 or any other provision of the law. It will help me to collect the information.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Would it have been at all difficult in view of the fact that cases are very few, to collect the information and place it at the disposal of the House instead of wasting the time of the House ? (Hear hear.)

Rai Bahadur Mukand Lal Puri : The information is sought only for a period of 2 years and 4 months. Does the Government think it too expensive to collect that data or does it refuse to answer the question ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have not refused to answer the question. What I have asked the honourable member is to be more precise.

Rai Bahadur Mukand Lal Puri : The question is quite precise.

Premier : May I interpose with your permission ? I understand that another question has been asked which is more definite and a reply will be given to that question. I understand that the total number of arrests is 11 including cases under ordinary law like cheating.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I ask my honourable friend whether all the members arrested happen to belong to the Opposition ?

Premier : No. I think there are few from the Opposition. There are some from the so-called Independent Benches.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Are there any amongst these 11 who belong to the Unionist benches ?

Premier : I believe there are one or two.

Diwan Chaman Lall : What are their names ?

Premier : My honourable friend is now anticipating. I have promised a detailed reply in answer to another question that has been asked.

Lala Duni Chand : Has the Government considered the desirability of shutting up the remaining members of the Opposition also so that the Unionist benches may go on merrily ? (Laughter.)

Mr. Speaker : Order, order.

Premier : If my honourable friend also commits an offence under section 409 or any other similar offence, then I would not be able to help him, I am afraid.

ADJOURNMENT MOTIONS.

Mr. Speaker : After carefully going through the notices of the remaining adjournment motions, I have come to the conclusion that, strictly speaking, none of them is admissible.

Diwan Chaman Lall : I have no doubt that you are correct with regard to some adjournment motions; but there are some other adjournment motions, and before you disallow them, we would like to express our point of view as to their admissibility.

Mr. Speaker : I am not going to disallow all motions en bloc. I will follow the usual practice.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu) : On a point of order. Previously copies of the adjournment motions were handed over to the honourable members of the House, but now this practice has been discontinued.

Mr. Speaker : The notice of an adjournment motion is given not less than half an hour before it is sought to be moved ; and it is the giver of the notice, who hands over to the Speaker the written statement, which he proposes to discuss. So, if he has not kept a copy of it, he has to thank himself.

Diwan Chaman Lal : An honourable member who has given notice of an adjournment motion is entitled to get a copy of it from the office. You might have inserted some words or changed the motion or modified it in consultation with the honourable member. Therefore, it is necessary that the honourable members should get a copy of the adjournment motions.

Mr. Speaker : May I invite the honourable member's attention to Rule 42, which runs as follows :—

A member asking for leave must, not less than half an hour before the commencement of the sitting of the day, hand to the Speaker a written statement of the matter proposed to be discussed.

Diwan Chaman Lal : The office has been supplying copies of the adjournment motions to the honourable members previously. The honourable member concerned certainly must have a copy of the adjournment motion.

Mr. Speaker : I have never modified or corrected the written statement handed over to me for discussion as an adjournment motion.

DIWAN CHAMAN LAL'S INTERVIEW WITH SARDAR IQBAL SINGH.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the refusal of the Superintendent of Police to allow Diwan Chaman Lal, M.L.A., to have an interview with Sardar Iqbal Singh arrested on his entry in the Punjab after the expiry of his one-year externment.

Mr. Speaker : The motion is inadmissible for several reasons. It is not definite. It is vague. The name and district of the Superintendent of Police are not given. The place and date of arrest are not given. Therefore the motion is clearly out of order.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Is there anybody on the Government side who objects to this motion being moved ?

Mr. Speaker : The question whether there is any objection to the motion being moved will be asked after the motion is held by me to be in order. If I hold it to be out of order that question will not be put. In my opinion the motion is not in order. So, the honourable member may ask for leave to make his next adjournment motion.

ARREST OF SARDAR IQBAL SINGH.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the refusal of the Premier to give any information to the House in regard to the arrest of Sardar Iqbal Singh on his entry in the Punjab after the expiry of his one-year externment.

Mr. Speaker : Was any question about this matter put to the Minister concerned ?

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : The day Sardar Iqbal Singh was arrested, I put a short notice question, but it was turned into a starred question.

Mr. Speaker : Did the honourable member receive a reply to it?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Is it necessary under the rules to put a question before an adjournment motion can be moved?

Mr. Speaker : It is not necessary that a question should be put in every case.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : May I know whether it is necessary under the rules to put a question to a member of the Government before an adjournment motion can be moved?

Mr. Speaker : No. But speaking generally adjournment motions arise out of questions put and answers given. However, where it is said, as in this case, that certain information is refused, while it is not refused in fact, a question would be necessary.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : That is one of the reasons for the motion of adjournment.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : To give this reason for disallowing the adjournment motion is liable to be misunderstood.

Mr. Speaker : There are other defects too. The next motion.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I draw your attention to the wording of this adjournment motion. The wording is not that the Premier has refused to reply to a question. What the adjournment motion refers to is the refusal of the Premier to give information to this House. There is no question of any questions being put to him. It is the refusal which—

Mr. Speaker : How can it be said that the Honourable Premier has refused to give information?

Diwan Chaman Lall : I shall explain. The honourable member put a short notice question and the information should have been made available immediately. The short notice question is put but the short notice question is not treated as a short notice question. It is treated as a starred question thereby leading to the conclusion—

Mr. Speaker : Let it be taken for granted that a short notice question was put, but that the Premier decided to treat it as an ordinary question. Does that amount to refusal to give the information?

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I draw your attention to the fact that what is involved is the principle of demanding urgently certain information which the Honourable Premier did not give to the House or to the honourable member seeking that information. Since he refused to give that information at the time and in the manner in which it was demanded, surely it is tantamount to refusal. Is it not?

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : The adjournment motion does not refer to the refusal of the Honourable Premier to answer the short notice question.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : A short notice question is put when a matter is very urgent and if it is to be treated as an ordinary question, then it damages the question of urgency necessary for adjournment motions or getting information or taking any action if the information is refused.

Premier : May I submit that short notice questions are meant to be short notice questions in case of extreme urgency and not to short-circuit the ordinary procedure. My honourable friend should know that notices of short notice questions are only given when there is a particular urgency. I can cite dozens of instances where there was no urgency and notices of short-notice questions had been merely given in order to evade the ordinary procedure. Under the ordinary procedure questions take their turn. Therefore, if they want answers out of turn they may put those short-notice questions which really relate to urgent matters and not otherwise. Where the matter is urgent or where it is possible for the Government to secure the necessary information, we always accept these short notice questions but where it is not possible to get information expeditiously then it is physically impossible for us to accept those questions as short-notice questions. So, it will not serve any useful purpose. I have not been in a position to make that information available but in matters of extreme urgency a short-notice question may sometimes be useful and we make every endeavour to give the information where it is possible.

Diwan Chaman Lall : There should not be a wrong impression created with regard to Honourable Premier's statement with reference to short-notice questions. The urgency of this short-notice question lay in the fact that this gentleman had been arrested without a charge being levelled against him. He is detained under an exceptional procedure. He can be detained in the first instance only for fifteen days. The urgency arose out of the fact that the first detention can only be for a period of fifteen days. Therefore, the matter was urgent and this House wanted to get information as to why this particular gentleman had been arrested. In the second instance my honourable friend knows that under the Criminal Law Amendment Act he can be detained in the second instance for two months. After the expiry of the first fifteen days he had been detained under express orders of my honourable friend. My honourable friend knows all about it. He knows all about the circumstances of his detention, and, therefore, there could have been no difficulty in answering this question as a short-notice question.

Premier : I think the honourable member is doing me an injustice. When I came to know all about it, I informed the Leader of the Opposition informally. He did ask me what the position was and I promised to make enquiries and I did make enquiries. When I got the information I communicated it to him, but when Sardar Sohan Singh's notice was received I was not prepared. (Interruption.)

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : When the information is given in answer to this question, may I take it that it will be open to this side of the House also to submit their objections to this adjournment motion on other grounds ?

Mr. Speaker : The next notice please.

ABDUCTION OF MINOR SON OF TUHI RAM, MAHAJAN.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the failure of the authorities concerned in knowingly not taking any cognisance of serious crime of abduction of the minor son of one Tuhi Ram, Mahajan of village Guhna, Police Station Sonepat, Rohtak, by a band of badmashes with the object of extorting money, in the last week of October, 1939.

Mr. Speaker : The next motion.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu) : Sir, I had tabled a short notice question regarding this matter but to my surprise that is being made a long notice question. And when the Government came to know that local authorities had failed to do anything in the matter, Rs. 1,200 was given to badmashes in order to secure the boy. The authorities have scandalously failed in the discharge of their duty and—

Mr. Speaker : I did not consider the motion in order. Therefore, I did not read it to the House.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu) : May I know on what grounds my adjournment motion has been ruled out of order ?

Mr. Speaker : I am not bound to give reasons

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu) : I want to know the reasons so that I may be more careful in future in tabling adjournment motions.

Mr. Speaker : I do not consider it necessary to give any reasons.

ELECTIONS TO DISTRICT BOARD, ROHTAK.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the intention of the Government to further postpone the already overdue elections of the District Board, Rohtak.

Two years have already been wasted over the redistribution of circles and now on the pretext of war the Government intend to further—

Mr. Speaker : Order please. The next motion.

NOMINATION OF HARIJANS OF ROHTAK TOWN.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the intention of the Government not to give representation through nomination to the Harijans of Rohtak town, who failed to get representation in elections, and whose population and voting strength is one-fifth of the Hindus and one-ninth of the entire town population.

Sir, it is very important matter concerning the Harijans.

Mr. Speaker : The next motion.

DIWAN CHAMAN LALL'S INTERVIEW WITH SARDAR IQBAL SINGH.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : My motion arises out of the unsatisfactory nature of the answer.

Mr. Speaker : Which answer ? Has any answer been given ?

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Which adjournment motion are you referring to ?

Mr. Speaker : I am referring to motion No. 59, which stands in the honourable member's name.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : This is the same as the previous one with a little addition. It makes the motion more definite.

Mr. Speaker : He wanted to see him as his legal adviser.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : But here nobody cares.

Mr. Speaker : There is no question of caring. When an accused person is in the custody of the police, anybody can see him with the permission of the police authorities concerned. But they are not bound to give permission. How is the administrative responsibility of Government involved if a superintendent of police refuses to allow a lawyer to see a person who is in police custody ? The honourable member has other remedies. He can approach the district magistrate.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : He cannot approach the district magistrate because under the Criminal Law Amendment Act he is convicted by the provincial Government.

Mr. Speaker : In that case also he must have some remedy. He can approach the next higher authority.

Diwan Chaman Lall : When Hitler arrests a man one can approach his deputy, Herr Hess. Whom are we to approach here ? (Laughter.)

Mr. Speaker : The motion is out of order.

BEADON ROAD MURDER.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the failure of the police in promptly reaching the scene of murderous outrage last week on the Beadon Road, Lahore, resulting in aggravation of the tragedy.

Mr. Speaker : The motion is out of order.

FAILURE OF COTTON CROP.

Sardar Ajit Singh : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the situation arising out of the miserable condition of the zamindars of the province due to the utter failure of their only monetary cotton crop throughout the province especially in the South-West Punjab.

Mr. Speaker : The motion is out of order.

HANDCUFFING OF PANDIT BHAGAT RAM SHARMA, M.L.A.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the unsatisfactory nature of the reply given to-day by the Honourable Premier to the Short Notice Question of Manshi Hari Lal regarding the handcuffing of Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma, M.L.A.

Mr. Speaker : I understand that this matter has been discussed in detail in connection with Sardar Hari Singh's arrest. Both cases are more or less identical.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : One relates to the conduct of the authorities in the Hoshiarpur district and the other in the Kahgra district.

Mr. Speaker : I would like to hear the question and answer about the Honourable Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma, to enable me to decide how far the answer is unsatisfactory.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : That question was whether Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma—

Mr. Speaker : I want the question and answer verbatim.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : It may be supplied by the Assembly office.

Mr. Speaker : Will the Secretary please help me ?

Secretary : The question ran as follows :—

Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma, M.L.A., an honourable member of this House, was handcuffed on the 13th September, 1939, when he was arrested under the Defence of India Ordinance and was subsequently brought to the court on different dates with handcuffs on both the hands;
- (b) if answer to (a) above be in the affirmative, the action Government proposes to take in the matter ?

The answer was :—

- (a) Yes. Under the existing rules handcuffing on arrest is obligatory when a person is accused of a non-bailable offence punishable with a sentence exceeding in severity the term of three years imprisonment, as also is the handcuffing of persons who are violent, disorderly or obstructive, or acting in a manner calculated to provoke popular demonstration. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma is charged with an offence which is non-bailable and for which the maximum punishment is five years. In addition, when the Station House Officer, Dharm-sala, went to the house of Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma to arrest him, the latter demanded to know his authority in a haughty and truculent manner. When shown the warrant, he started to move into the interior of his house. The Station House Officer fearing that Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma was attempting to evade arrest, handcuffed him and produced him before the court. There he adopted an obstructive and objectionable attitude, inviting the support of other Congressmen, who heralded his appearance with the usual slogans. As his behaviour was calculated to provoke a public demonstration, it was considered advisable to handcuff him at subsequent hearings. No application was made to the court by his counsel for the removal of the handcuffs, and I may add that only one hand of the honourable member was handcuffed.
- (b) None, as the action taken was in accordance with the Rules.

Mr. Speaker : The motion is out of order.

The following adjournment motions proposed by Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan were ruled out of order :—

PLIGHT OF ZAMINDARS OF SEHNA AND BET ILAQA.

Motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, failure of the district authorities to properly acquaint themselves with the sad plight of the zamindars of the Sehna and Bet Ilaga, to recommend and obtain remission of land revenue for them in consequence of their declining to visit the villages in the Sehna and Bet Ilaga in spite of several oral requests and in spite of deputations of the villagers waiting on them for seeing with their own eyes, the general condition of crops, health of the people and their cattle, and the appalling poverty of the Ilaga.

POSTING OF POLICE AT THE LUDHIANA CENTRAL CO-OPERATIVE BANK.

Motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, failure of the authorities to take proper and suitable action in the matter of the posting of the police at the Ludhiana Central Co-operative Bank without any justification even though the matter of posting of the Police was brought to the notice of all the officers concerned.

Motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the posting of the police at the premises of the Ludhiana Central Co-operative Bank on the 19th of October, with the object of ousting and preventing the duly elected Directorate to enter the Bank and transact business although the Directorate had taken possession of the Bank in pursuance of a warrant of possession issued by the Senior Sub-Judge, Ludhiana, on 18th October, 1939, at 1-25 P.M.

ABDUCTION OF MINOR SON OF TUHI RAM.

Premier : Sir, with your permission I should like to make a brief statement with regard to the adjournment motion by my friend Pandit Sri Ram about the abduction of a boy in village Guhna. You have disallowed the adjournment motion ; but in the interest of my honourable friend opposite, and as the matter is of public importance I will read out the following with your permission. These are the facts as reported by the Superintendent of Police :—

Sub-Inspector, Sonapat, heard a rumour that a minor boy, son of Tuhian Bania of village Guhna had been kidnapped and conveyed this rumour to me on 2nd November. Mr. H. L. Gupta, a Bania shopkeeper of Rohtak also wrote to me about the alleged kidnapping of the boy and I got his letter on 12th November. On the receipt of this report of the Sub-Inspector I had ordered him to send for Tuhian Ram, father of the boy and to make enquiries from him. I ordered that in case his story showed the occurrence of an offence under section 364, Indian Penal Code, or any other cognizable offence an F. I. R. should be registered and investigation started at once. I wrote to Mr. Gupta also that so far no complaint had been made to me by the party concerned about the alleged kidnapping and suggested that the best course would be for Tuhia Ram to lodge a complaint at Police Station, Sonapat, where necessary legal action would be taken by the local police at once. The Sub-Inspector, Sonapat, reports that Tuhian Ram notwithstanding he was repeatedly summoned, did not give any information or lodge any complaint about his son being kidnapped. The Sub-Inspector also reports that the minor boy Jai Narain, son of Tuhian Ram, Bania, of Guhna, about whom this rumour was spread, was brought to and left at the house of Mr. Sant Lal, LL.B., Pleader, some days ago by his own father.

I have ordered the Deputy Superintendent of Police to personally go to Guhna to-morrow morning and to get hold of Tuhian Ram and to personally record his statement.

I have satisfied myself that the minor boy alleged to have been kidnapped is at Sonapat and living with his relative Lala Sant Lal, Vakil, now.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Does the Honourable Premier mean to say that according to his information the minor boy was not kidnapped ?

Premier : The Superintendent, Police, reported that the father of the boy was sent for and it was suggested to him that the best course for him would be to lodge a complaint at the police station Sonapat where necessary action would be taken by the local police at once. But he did not give any information or lodge any complaint about his son being kidnapped. As a matter of fact he himself took his son to the house of Sant Lal, B.A., LL.B., Pleader, some days ago and left him there. The boy was still with Sant Lal.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I cannot question the statement made by the Premier, as no question can be raised on it, but I would request him to make further enquiries whether the Sub-Divisional Officer of the place advised the father of the boy not to lodge a complaint with the police and get the boy back by paying ransom money.

Premier : Who advised ?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The Sub-Divisional Officer advised the father of the boy to pay some money for the boy and get him back.

Premier : I am afraid the information of my honourable friend opposite seems just as flimsy as that on which the adjournment motion is based. This is the Superintendent Police's report. He sent for the father of the boy and another gentleman also and asked whether he wanted a report to be lodged.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : My request is that he might enquire from the Sub-Divisional Officer as to what advice he gave—

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : The Leader of the Opposition asked whether the Sub-Divisional Officer advised the father of the boy to accept money. (Interruption.)

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Sir, with your permission I wish to put a question to the Honourable Premier. Though my adjournment motion has been ruled out of order, he has been kind enough to make a statement with regard to it. Now I want to know if he is aware of the fact that the boy in question remained away from his parents for 22 days and whether he is also aware of the fact that two days after the boy was kidnapped the

[Pandit Shri Ram Sharma.]

Sub-Divisional Officer came to village Guhna on tour where in the presence of the police and the people he was told that the boy was abducted and taken to a jungle of Guhna, a place of shelter for absconders, and was kept there and other places for 22 days, and was later on released by the kidnappers after receiving a ransom of 1,200 rupees.

Mr. Speaker : Is that a question or a speech ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : This is merely a question. Is the Honourable Premier aware of the fact that the boy was kept away from his house for 22 days and his release was obtained by payment of Rs. 1,200 as ransom money and was it also brought to his notice that when the father of the boy requested his case to be registered by the police, the Sub-Divisional Officer advised him not to do so because he was afraid that if he did so the absconders would kill his son ? If not, I place these facts before him and take responsibility for their correctness.

Premier : I have already said that it was suggested to the father of the boy to lodge a complaint at the police station, Sonapat, where necessary action would be taken by the local police at once. But he did not give any information or lodge any complaint there about his son being kidnapped. Now my friend says that somebody, may be an officer of the Government, advised him not to lodge any complaint. When that is so, how can an adjournment motion against the Government in this case be justified ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : If the Honourable Premier accepts my challenge I can prove that the whole administration in the Rohtak district is corrupt.

Premier : Now my friend says that the whole administration in the Rohtak district is corrupt. (Voices : Why not hold an enquiry ?) What should be inquired into ? The boy is with his relatives.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : On a point of order, Sir. Before ruling my adjournment on this matter out of order had you been pleased to allow me some time, and if you had seen the statement of the Honourable Premier, the motion would have been held in order by you. So, now I wish to draw your attention to the fact that the matter now before the House is a very important one. If you give me an opportunity I can prove—

Mr. Speaker : Order, order, please.

RESTITUTION OF MORTGAGED LANDS (AMENDMENT) BILL.

Mr. Speaker : The House will now resume discussion of the Punjab Restitution of Mortgaged Lands (Amendment) Bill.

Minister for Revenue (The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia) : Last time when I was speaking on the Bill the House adjourned. My objections to this Bill being introduced are three. First of all, the new Bill provides a sort of differential treatment between one class of landholders and another, and as such I think the Bill should not be discussed in this House.

The second reason is that this Act has only been in force for a short time. Even the rules under this Act have only recently been framed, I think in August last, and we have not had sufficient experience of its working.

An honourable member : Louder please.

Minister : I cannot speak any louder than that. I was saying we have not had any experience of the working of this Act. Government has in the interval appointed some officers—some I.C.S. officers—who would after making due enquiries submit a report about its working.

The last point is that when my Bill was being discussed in this House at Simla, many provisions of the same nature were fully discussed by the House, and I find that now an endeavour is being made to put them in the form of a Bill.

In the circumstances, my objections are that it would be waste of time of the House to go on with this measure when we are not in a position to tell the House what is the effect in the province of the Act that was passed. As soon as the matter is fully gone into and we are in a position to tell the House, if need be, what effect it has had in the interval, then there would be time for my friend to put forward a motion of this kind. One thing more I must point out. My friend Dr. Gokul Chand Narang during the debate on the last Bill said that 9 per cent compound interest should be allowed. In the present Bill I am very glad to note that they have come down from 9 to 5 per cent compound interest. Perhaps further on they would still come down and accept what has been provided in the Bill.

In these circumstances I strongly object to the motion.

Mr. Speaker : The question is :—

That leave be given to introduce the Punjab Restitution of Mortgaged Lands (Amendment) Bill.

TENANCY (AMENDMENT) BILL.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi (Lyallpur and Jhang, General, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Tenancy (Amendment) Bill.

Mr. Speaker : Motion moved is :—

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Tenancy (Amendment) Bill.

Minister for Revenue (The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia): I object to it.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi (Lyallpur and Jhang, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, the Honourable Minister for Revenue has done a great injustice to those people to whom the Bill, now sought to be introduced in the House, relates. The present Unionist Ministry has been in office for the last thirty months and yet it has done precious little to alleviate the sufferings of the tenants-at-will of this province. The Punjab Tenancy Act now in force was enacted in 1887 and no substantial amendment has been made in it since then. It goes without saying that kisans—the actual tillers of the soil and not the owners of land or the zamindars—who constitute between themselves 21,56,814 families and have a total population of about one crore are absolutely landless, although their only occupation is agriculture. They cultivate with their own hands nearly one-half of the total cultivated land of this province. It is a thousand pities that the so-called Zamindar Government has not moved even its little finger to help them so far. I may be allowed to submit that according to the Darling Committee half of the cultivated land in the Punjab is tilled by tenants-at-will. This means that out of 37,000,000 acres of land cultivated every year in the Punjab about two crore acres of land are cultivated by tenants-at-will alone whom this Bill that I seek to introduce in this House, is calculated to benefit.

Again, according to the Darling Committee, the Punjab produces every year about 72 crores of rupees worth of crop out of which half, that is, approximately rupees thirty-six crores worth of crop is produced by the tenants alone. It is evident, therefore, that the tenants contribute a very large share into the provincial agricultural wealth every year. They bring to this province an income of 86 crores every year, that is, about 3 crores every month, 10 lakhs every day and 1½ lakh in every working hour of the day. In spite of all this, the tenants live a miserable life in the province. The Unionist Ministry has not tried to do anything for the amelioration of their conditions, and what is worse, when we bring forward a measure which is calculated to benefit this poor but wealth-producing class, the Government oppose that measure even at its introduction stage. The matter calls for immediate and urgent attention, and is not to be lightly brushed aside. It is well worth pondering over. The tenants in question have in fact turned the jungles of the Punjab into smiling gardens. They have not made one or two but several blades of grass grow where none grew before, and yet so precarious is their position that the zamindars can eject them with a three months notice from the land which they may have been tilling for the last forty years or several generations. The Unionists would do well to remember that it is the poor tenants who have made it possible for the former to live in spacious bungalows and travel in first class motor cars.

[Mr. Dev Raj Sethi.]

In spite of this my honourable friends who profess sympathy with them do not allow them the ownership of even one yard of land in the province. In fact the big landholders live on the hard-earned income of the tenants who day in and day out work in the agricultural fields. Is it not an act of sheer ingratitude on the part of the landowners not to allow these tenants to erect on their land a house to live in? How tragic it is that the real producers of the wealth of the province are steeped in misery and are almost starving! This is not my view alone. It is borne out by the Darling Committee which observes in page 35 of its report as follows:—

Our general conclusion, therefore, supported moreover by our individual experience is that at present prices the tenant who has no land of his own is hard put to it to make both ends meet.

How the tenants are exploited by the zamindars is ably expressed by Professor Brij Narain in a passage quoted by Darling Committee in its report on page 32 which runs as follows:—

The non-cultivating landlord is able to exploit the tenant because of the ever-growing pressure of population on the soil. Land is scarce relatively to demand and there are no alternative means of earning a livelihood for the tenant class. Under such conditions it is not surprising that the landlord's share should contain a large element of loot. Government's land revenue is a share of t his loot.

Let me make it clear, Sir, that the Bill that I want to introduce in the House makes only a very modest demand on behalf of tenants-at-will. I am certainly not asking for the moon. For instance, I am not asking you to dispossess all the zamindars of their land and then redistribute the same equally among the tillers of the Punjab. What I demand through this Bill is simply this that those tenants who have been tilling a certain piece of land for the last six years prior to 18th October, 1938, should be given the rights of occupancy tenants of the same land. This step, when taken, would recompense the landlord in several ways. At present the tenants-at-will have no stake in the land. They are not at all interested in permanent improvements. But the moment the security of tenure is granted, their whole angle of vision will undergo a change. "The magic of ownership turns sand into gold" is a maxim which works wonders. No intelligent zamindar can deny that the principle of Diminishing Returns is at work in agriculture in this province; and is responsible for decreasing yield. The one way to counteract it and to replace it by Increasing Returns is to create some permanent interest for the tenant in the land. The Bill under discussion has the same objective. The tenants should be entitled to receive one-half of the gross produce of that land and they should be freed from the clutches of the zamindars who compel them to pay several unnecessary taxes. These unreasonable charges should no longer be recovered from them. Other dues in whatever form should legally be forbidden in the future. Moreover, the zamindars should not be allowed to compel them to pay any portion of the land revenue or water rate that may be imposed upon the land which they have to cultivate.

Most probably my honourable friends like Raja Ghazanfar Ali Sahib will stand up and say that there are many defects in this Bill. I agree there may be many defects in this Bill. But there is a way of removing defects. The Bill may be referred to a select committee. Government will have a clear majority in the select committee and all the defects in this Bill may be removed in that committee. Then, how many Bills have been brought forward on behalf of Government which were absolutely free from defects? When a Bill is drafted, there are bound to be some defects in it which are removed later on in the select committee and thereafter. I would, therefore, submit that this Bill should at least be allowed to be introduced. Another objection may be raised that if this Bill is passed into law, it will give rise to a class-war. I am sure that if the injustice which is being done to the tenants in the Punjab is allowed to continue for any length of time it is bound to result in a class-war. I earnestly request the landlord class to believe me that in moving this Bill I am prompted by the only desire of helping the landlord. It is as their sincere friend that I am moving this Bill because I believe that the only way to avert the menace of class-war is to enact such a measure. It is, therefore, the bounden duty of the Punjab Ministry to look into this matter without delay lest we are caught napping. After all, is there any reason or justice in refusing justice to a class which is adding to the wealth of the province at the rate of one and a quarter lakh of rupees per hour? Is it right that these people should not be allowed to possess one marla out of the 4 crores of acres of agricultural land in the province? My honourable friends on the Government benches should bear in mind the fact that history always repeats itself. Indifferent treatment was shown to tenants in Russia; all of them were ejected. Their demands were refused. What was the result? The world knows it too well. Sir, I see that no importance is being attached to this Bill to-day. The Government can throw this Bill out with the help of its comfortable majority in the House. But it is not in the power of the Government to arrest the rising tide of events in the world. I am sure that if the Government does not wake up to its responsibility towards the tenants in the province the events will recoil with a vengeance. At that time the Government will be hard pressed to effect a change. It may be said that a committee has already been appointed to go into this question. But committees cannot satisfy hungry people. We want that leave for introducing this Bill be granted. Something should be done for those one crore people who make it possible for members of this Assembly and the Ministers to receive fat allowances. Something should be done for those people who contribute about four crores of rupees annually towards the Government revenues. I would again request that leave be given to introduce this Bill. It should thereafter be referred to a select committee and then passed into law.

Minister for Revenue (The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia) : Sir, my friend has tried to bring in extraneous matter in the course of his debate on this subject. His Bill creates a new class of occupancy tenants which is altogether different from what is provided in the Tenancy Act. For the benefit of my friend I may state that sections 5 and 6 of the Tenancy Act provide the method of settling this question. That Act provides in Chapter II :—

A tenant who at the commencement of this Act has for more than two generations....

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Is it of 1866 ?

Minister : It is the Act of 1887. It reads —

- A tenant who at the commencement of this Act has, for more than two generations in the male line of descent through a grandfather or grand-uncle and for a period of not less than twenty years, been occupying land paying no rent the rector beyond the amount of the land revenue thereof and the rates and cesses for the time being chargeable thereon, or
- (b) who having owned land, and having ceased to be landowner thereof otherwise than by forfeiture to the Government or than by any voluntary act, has, since, he ceased to be landowner, continuously occupied the land, or
 - (c) who, in a village or estate in which he settled along with, or was settled by, the founder thereof as a cultivator therein, occupied land on the twenty-first day of October 1868, and has continuously occupied the land since that date, or
 - (d) who being a jagirdar of the estate or any part of the estate in which the land occupied by him is situate, has continuously occupied the land for not less than twenty years, or, having been such jagirdar, occupied the land, while he was jagirdar and has continuously occupied it for not less than twenty years has a right of occupancy in the land so occupied, unless, in the case of a tenant belonging to the class specified in clause (c), the landlord proves that the tenant was settled on land previously cleared and brought under cultivation by, or at the expense of the founder.

I need not read section 6. But this is the ordinary procedure by which a person becomes an occupancy tenant of the land. My honourable friend has probably forgotten that besides the occupancy tenant there are other classes of tenants who have to quit the land under certain conditions, land belonging to the zamindars who lease it out to the tenants for the purposes of cultivation after the lease expires. But let me remind him that in the Punjab which is, only a land of small holders, there are not many people who own big areas of land—

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Question.

Minister : My friend says, question, but when he has read the Revenue Committee Report, he will know that there are only 13 big landlords in the province. But leaving that question aside there are tenants who have been holding lands for a very long time. Now the relations between the landlord and the tenant and between the petty landlords and his adjoining landlord from whom he takes land for cultivation to eke out a living have been very cordial in this province.

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri : Why do you not want to do something for them ?

Minister : The honourable member must understand that conditions in the adjoining province, the United Provinces to which I also have the honour to belong are quite different from what they are in the Punjab. United Provinces is a province of big landlords, while the Punjab is a province of petty land lords. That I think is a point which would not be disputed by anybody in spite of the fact that some body on the Opposite benches says 'question.'

Sardar Ajit Singh : A little louder please.

Minister : Shut up.

Sardar Ajit Singh : Is it parliamentary for the Minister to say 'shut up' to a member ?

Minister : (In a raised voice) I am very sorry, Sir. But please let me go on with my speech.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the Honourable Minister in order in replying to the honourable member in that manner ?

Mr. Speaker : He has expressed regret.

Minister : If my honourable friends would have patience and hear me, I would give them the experiences that I have of this Tenancy Act in the United Provinces. Previous to the time of Lord Macdonald relations between the landlords and the tenants in the United Provinces were very cordial.

There was no question of ejecting a tenant who had been there on the land for generations past and who was treated by the landlords or the zamindar as one of the members of the family. The time came when this question of occupancy or non-occupancy tenure was mooted. The object behind that measure at that time was that there should be a fixity of tenure so that even tenants, who cultivate that land should carry on their work properly and that the land may not be spoiled and the utmost benefit may be taken out of the land. First of all there was a provision of 12 years time, in which they had to acquire occupancy rights. A scheme was produced by Lord Macdonald that 7 years lease if given to the tenants would not be counted towards the 12 years time to get occupancy rights. That did not satisfy the people. Endeavours were made, as endeavours have been made here in this province in the Land Alienation Act of benami transactions, and the people tried to evade the provisions of the lease. That was the period of manoeuvres of tenants with the connivance of some of the petty officials. Afterwards when this did not satisfy the United Provinces Government, they enacted a law creating statutory tenancy whereby a man once a tenant, became a tenant for life and five years after his death. No provision has been made to give occupancy rights to such tenants, and particularly when my honourable friend says that the number of such tenants is very large, surely he does not contemplate that all those people, 21 lakhs of people, whatever the number is, should each and every one of them, get occupancy right. This is not the objective of my honourable friend. My idea is, I may be wrong that there should be some sort of fixed tenure and nothing more nor less. That fixity of tenure should be given to every tenant. It is not necessary that we should provide for 6 years term to acquire occupancy rights. The result of this would be that previous tenants, who are holding the land from year to year for generations past should immediately be ejected. That will be the action that will be taken. (An honourable member : By merciful zamindars.) (Interruptions.) If that is the objective behind this, I think my honourable friend is quite welcome to have that view. The position is this. Surely you can do something else than create a new occupancy tenant in this province and create a condition here which exists in the United Provinces, under which the relations of the tenants and the landlords have become very strained. Our province is a happy province where relations between landlords and tenants are not strained at all. They have been living from generation to generation and there has been no question raised during the last so many years while the Act has given protection to all people who are there.

Now, the further question is of 4 years tenancy. I think that is what my honourable friend has provided for for those people whom he does not want to give occupancy rights. Does he want to stop me from giving my tenants 20 years lease? If that is what he means then his object is not to be obtained by those provisions. Now, the only point which he has raised is that this Zamindar Government has not done anything for the poor tenants or for the poor zamindars. I do not know what else we could have done in spite of all the objections, in spite of all the obstructions that are raised in this House by the benches opposite. They may be quite right in putting forward their view, but if they have the real interest of the poor tenants at heart, they should have at that time seen that those people who are being tyrannized, and who are being crushed under the weight of debt, all of them, should get relief. Where was that sympathy at that time? (Hear, hear.) If that sympathy was not there at that time, now this sympathy coming from my honourable friend, is nothing else but a lip sympathy and an endeavour to try to put the present tenants and the zamindars at logger-heads with each other. If that is the objective of my honourable friend that there should be commotion in the province and that the peace and prosperity of the province should be disturbed and that there should be no step forward, if that is the objective of my honourable friends, they are quite welcome to have that view. Under the circumstances we try our best to keep peace and order in the province and try to carry on the province to a higher goal which we have set before us. My honourable friend does not know the situation, which arose probably at the instance of certain people outside the House, who created trouble between the tenants of that part of the country. My honourable friend does not know that Government is fully alive to the situation. We looked into details, and immediately provided that no undue liberties should be taken by the landlord from the tenants. We stopped all unauthorised exaction that used to be taken by the landlords from the tenants, though we have not yet been able to stop what happens when the tenants take their produce to the mandies or markets. My honourable friend to my right is doing his best to check that thing. That is the sort of sympathy which my honourable friends want to show to the poor tenants and wanted to save them from the exactions of the landlords. That is the sympathy for the poor tenants.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : They want land.

Revenue Minister : As regards land my honourable friend is very anxious to know what we have done. We have land in the Nili Bar Colony. We have given instructions to the Colonization Officers to reserve 50 per cent. of the area for the poor tenants.

Sardar Ajit Singh : Wherefrom should they get money for this land?

Revenue Minister : From you. To allow you to have influence therein.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : What about the remaining fifty per cent.?

Minister of Revenue : Please let me go on. When I go to Kangra you can ask that question. As regards the fifty per cent we have provided that men should get land up to two rectangles on five years' rent and nobody would be turned out of this land for that period provided the land is two rectangles or below two rectangles. In the case of people who take less than ten rectangles, the period would be four years. In the case of still bigger areas the period is three years. (Interruptions.) Previous to this land could be taken by people who had the largest purse at their command or who managed to get money from some places not known to us. I have had experience that for Ganji Bar land, which I consider was not worth that much, people paid rupees forty thousand per acre for land which they purchased somewhere near the mandis. I was astonished at these bargains. The result was that they could not pay the instalments and they lost the land. That is not the condition now. We are at the present moment providing means for many people who are cultivating these lands. If people want land they are quite welcome to come and get it on the conditions which the Government has fixed and placed at the disposal of the people. This is what we have done with regard to the large number of tenants who go from place to place and who cultivate the land in colonies of the province, for a very long time. My friend's proposition is certainly a novel one which creates a new class of occupancy tenants in the province and would probably create another serious trouble in this province which is leading a peaceful life. (Voices : Landlords.) There is no question of landlords. Big landlords are nowhere to be found. If my honourable friend has got his Soviet friends coming from outside, those landlords would not be allowed to remain here. That is what he is driving at at the moment. Our sympathy is for the poorer tenants, we have given them land, we have provided means for them to get lands and eke out their living. We have provided further these Acts for them which give them the necessary facilities. Are our friends really interested in the poor people of the province? If so what are they going to do with regard to houses? (Interruptions.) Are they going to give them facilities in the matter of occupation of these houses? I think they know what sympathy they can expect from these quarters. Well, I need not dilate on this subject any further. I shall close with the remarks that these friends are trying to seek sympathy of these people for the purposes of the coming elections. They are probably looking forward to the time when the new elections would take place and during the intervening period they are carrying on their propaganda. I do not direct my remarks to the present company but to members outside—probably men of their ideas—who are carrying on this propaganda to give a bad name to the Government so as to achieve their aims. With these few remarks I say that I am justified in opposing this motion.

Mr. Speaker : Question is ;

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Tenancy (Amendment) Bill.

The motion was lost.

MINIMUM RATES OF WAGES BILL.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : I move—

That leave be granted to introduce the Fixation of Minimum Rates of Wages Bill.

Mr. Speaker : Motion moved—

That leave be granted to introduce the Fixation of Minimum Rates of Wages Bill.

Minister of Development (The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram) : I object to it.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh (West Hoshiarpur, General, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, if my memory fails me not I do not think such a useful Bill has ever been brought forward in any legislature. And therefore I expected its acceptance during the regime of Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram. As I thought that Chaudhri Sahib would prove to be as much sympathiser and well-wisher of the poor as he professes himself to be. But when he objected to it my surprise knew no limits and I was convinced of the fact that the Honourable Minister for Development had thrown overboard all those principles which he had professed during his elections.

Mr. Speaker : Please speak to the motion.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Sir, as this Bill concerns the Honourable Minister of Development, I am submitting to him that when the labourers, who are under the impression that the Government is in the know of their hardships, are disillusioned and come to know that the Honourable Minister of Development has refused to accept this Bill, how extremely will they be shocked? I am unable to understand why the Honourable Minister of Development is conveniently ignoring this fact that labourers are compelled to work for 15 hours at a stretch in cotton factories and they are paid 8 annas for that labour. It appears from the attitude of the Honourable Minister of Development that he approves of the exploitation by Ghansham Das Birla and Shri Ram of Delhi in this province and it shows that Sir Chhotu Ram is obliged to play a second fiddle to Sir Sikander Hyat Khan. We may press our proposals as strongly as possible but the Government, as experience shows, would go its own way. However I deem it my duty to request the Honourable Minister of Development that if he is fully aware of the necessities, requirements and demands of the labouring classes of the provinces and if he actually feels their hardships and is anxious to ameliorate their conditions, he should take the time by its forelock and should not hesitate in granting me leave to introduce the Fixation of Minimum Rates of Wages Bill. But if he is going to give a long rope to big mill-owners who exploit labouring classes day in and day out and if he does not raise his little finger against them then it is another thing. However I should hope that he would be generous enough as to grant me leave to introduce this Bill.

Minister of Development (The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram) (Urdu): Sir, the honourable mover has expressed much surprise on objection being raised by the Government to leave being granted to introduce the Bill which according to him is intended for the relief of the low paid labourers. Before I proceed with my speech I would like to inform him that it is the policy of the Government to ameliorate the conditions of the backward classes of the province, and I assure him that my personal sympathy is also with them. Let me, however, point out to my honourable friends opposite at the very outset that I differ with the honourable mover for exactly the reason which he has advanced in support of his motion. He has remarked in the course of his speech that fixation of minimum rates of wages would prove conducive to the welfare of the poor workmen. But I do not share the opinion of my honourable friend opposite that this measure would benefit the working classes. On the other hand I sincerely believe that the enactment of this Bill will prejudice the interests of the poor labourers and workmen. Moreover, it will surely retard industrial progress in the province. The immediate effect of this Bill will be that nearly 80 per cent of the factories and industries that are working successfully at present in the province will disappear. But this does not mean at all that the remaining 20 per cent of them will not suffer. Even they will suffer a lot and work with great difficulty.

It is my firm belief that the enactment of such a measure for a single province will definitely be detrimental and prejudicial to the industrial progress of that province. Such a Bill should be passed into law by the Central Legislature so that it may be equally applicable to all provinces. Supposing the Bill is enacted by this House and it comes into force only in the Punjab, what will be the result of it? The result will be that all the industries and the factories of the Punjab will suffer seriously and no new factory will be started for fear of this measure, whereas the industrial concerns of other provinces where the minimum rates of wages have not been fixed will flourish and prosper more than ever. Those provinces will profit by the industrial deadlock in the Punjab and new factories will be set up there which under normal conditions should have been started in the Punjab. Moreover, the problem of unemployment is threatening us with all its evil consequences. It is very likely that if wages are fixed at a certain minimum rate, and industrial concerns close as a consequence many thousands of workmen will be thrown out of employment. We cannot compel employers to keep them in their employment and continue to remunerate them at a rate of wages which they cannot afford. Even on this one ground alone we are perfectly justified in opposing this Bill outright.

Again, Sir, there is one thing very interesting about this Bill. Had any Bill similar in purpose to the present Bill been introduced by the Government in order to raise the standard of living of the working classes the Opposition would have consulted and sounded those capitalists and industrialists who helped them during their elections. Now as the honourable mover of the Bill had good reasons to believe that the Government was not at all likely to favour it he plucked up courage and gave notice thereof. Had it been known to him that the Government intended to grant leave for its introduction he would have thought twice, perhaps, "thrice" before proposing to move in the matter.

Furthermore, Sir, it should be borne in mind that there are certain honourable members in the House who are representing capitalistic classes in the Punjab. It is their first and foremost duty to look after the interests of these factory owners. They, I am sure, will not be prepared to support this measure. They are perfectly alive to the idea that the enactment of this Bill will bring the whole industrial development in the Punjab to a standstill and play havoc with the invested capital of the province. These honourable members who have formed an Independent group in the House will, I presume, oppose such a legislation tooth and nail.

Moreover, the passage of this Bill will mean a great financial strain on the State exchequer. In order to bring it into effective operation the Government will have to make elaborate arrangements. The Bill provides that the Government should set up in each district or sub-division a joint board for the purpose of determining and settling minimum rates of wages. This will involve considerable financial commitments. Then, suppose the orders of the joint boards are disobeyed or not carried out properly, or any of the other provisions of the Act are violated. The Bill provides that such breaches should be tried by courts of law. This implies that the work of courts will be considerably increased, and the Government will have to increase the strength of its magistrates in every district. The establishment of a joint board in each district or sub-division and the appointment of at least two more magistrates in each district will involve a few lakhs more of expenditure. I hope that my honourable friend can now understand that this scheme will cost the Government large additional sums every month. It is regrettable that whenever any measure for an increase in the revenue is brought forward by the Government our friends opposite raise a hue and cry against it and most vehemently oppose it saying that the Government intends to exploit the moneyed classes of the province. Now they should think for a moment that if they are not prepared to support any Government proposal for an increase in daily income but recommend fresh services and further press for a reduction in land revenue and abiana how far are they justified in bringing forward such a measure which will undoubtedly lead to large additional expenditure. I know they are not at all serious and have given notice of this Bill simply to win cheap popularity among the public and the press. With these words I oppose this motion.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That leave be granted to introduce the Fixation of Minimum Rates of Wages Bill.

PUNJAB COURTS (AMENDMENT) BILL.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Sir, I beg to move—

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Courts (Amendment) Bill.

Mr. Speaker : Motion moved—

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Courts (Amendment) Bill.

Finance Minister : I object.

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar (North-Western Towns, General, Urban): Sir, the reasons for this legislation are given in the statement of objects and reasons of the Bill which is printed and has already been circulated to the members. Since the motion has been opposed by the Government it appears necessary to say a few words just by way of further explanation of the object of this Bill.

As has been pointed out in the statement of objects and reasons, before the High Court judgment reported in Indian Law Report 5 Lahore 288, it was possible for the High Court to exercise its powers and remedy a wrong that might have been done to a party by a lower court. That wrong was occasioned by an interlocutory order. It is well known to those who have knowledge of law that all interlocutory orders are not appealable. When a remedy is open to a party to a suit by way of appeal and revision the party can go up to the High Court and seek justice from there; but it must be within the knowledge of lawyer members of this House and certainly of the Honourable Finance Minister that certain interlocutory orders can be easily and without any fear of contradiction dubbed as foolish or frivolous. When an interlocutory order of that type can be passed by a court and a party can be very unjustly injured by that particular order then the opposition of the Government to my Bill means "does not matter, let that wrong stand till the case has been finally decided." Now there may be a case of wrong exercise of jurisdiction: there may be a case in which the court refuses to summon a witness and there may be a case in which an interlocutory order as passed by a court is contrary to the established judgment of other High Courts. In the absence of a ruling to the contrary by our own High Court the judgments of other courts are entitled to respect at the hands of law courts even in our own province. But there is a subordinate judge who disregards all those rulings and passes an interlocutory order against which no appeal lies, against which no other remedy is open to the aggrieved. It is for cases of this kind that leave is being sought to introduce this Bill. We had before the Act of 1935 came into force, section 107 of the old Government of India Act to fall back upon, and our High Court in spite of 5 Lahore 288 interfered and tried to set right injustice done where the High Court was satisfied that real injustice had been done. The strongest argument that I can adduce for leave being granted to introduce the Bill is the fact that the High Court had been moving under section 107 of the old Government of India Act, which shows that there had been instances and that there are cases in which interference of this type is called for. What is it that this Bill asks for? This Bill asks for nothing more than this that every man in the province should be assured that there is no restriction on the part of the High Court to do justice where justice is needed to be done. What is the principle? What is it that the Opposition asks for? The Opposition merely asks for this, that where the High Court thinks that a grave wrong has been done by a subordinate court, the High Court should have power to interfere in that case. I put it to the Government, through you, if it is fair that Government by opposing a measure of this nature should give the world outside an opportunity of saying, here is a government which puts obstacles in the way of administration of justice? As it is some of the members of Government have but scant respect for judicial officers. Probably the opposition of the Government may be explained with reference to the attitude which Government has been taking in certain other measures with respect to the desirability of giving judicial jurisdiction in those cases. We find that our Government is not very fond of their judicial officers. They even look askance on judicial officers and perhaps because of that mentality and because of that view Government is anxious to restrict the scope of interference even by such an august body as the High Court. Therefore although I am perfectly sure that arguments will not avail when minds are made up in pursuance of a certain policy, still if it be possible at all for any argument to go home, I dare say the argument is strong enough. This is an argument which my honourable friend the Finance Minister must have put forward a number of times before the Honourable Judges during the days of his private practice. He must have said that such and such a subordinate judge had misbehaved and that under section 107 the Honourable Judges should interfere. If they told him that they could not interfere, he would have answered back and said that the magistrate had issued a warrant which was against all law. And although the order as such was not open to revision, still the High Court did use to interfere and at the instance of my friend the Finance Minister to whose lot it has fallen to-day to oppose a measure for which he has been standing all his life. It may be that he makes a statement that he had never asked the High Court that it should interfere even in cases where proved injustice had been done by means of interlocutory orders. If so, then that is a different matter, otherwise I do not see any reason for leave not being granted.

Minister for Finance (The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal): I shall be very brief in formulating my objection to the motion that has been made. It will be seen that the main clause in the Bill for which leave to introduce is sought is in these words: That the High Court may call for the record of any case where a subordinate court has acted among other things in a manner not conducive to interests of justice.

One has only barely to apply one's mind to see that those are very wide and indefinite terms and I venture to submit that if the Bill remains in this form and this is the only operative amendment to the present law, it would render the revisional jurisdiction of the High Court much larger than its appellate jurisdiction is at the present moment. You will see further towards the end of this clause 3, sub-clause (c) which reads: "or otherwise to secure the ends of justice." A very large measure of indefiniteness is let in. The words are far from precise and would render the revisional jurisdiction of the High Court indefinite, in fact the jurisdiction of the court would be enlarged beyond anything that might be even in the remote contemplation of the honourable member who has sponsored this legislation.

Further, this section 44 of the Punjab Courts Act is the same as section 115 of the Civil Procedure Code which defines revisional jurisdiction in other parts of this country, and it would also be readily recognised that to have the revisional jurisdiction in this province different from that which exists elsewhere when we are proceeding on the same procedural law, would also be a matter that would require a more serious justification than has been offered by the honourable member on the other side.

[Finance Minister.]

Next, Sir, it has been said that at one time section 107 of the Government of India Act afforded the parties who felt aggrieved a kind of relief which is sought under this Bill. Now it is not correct—I say with all respect—to say that section 107 of the old Government of India Act could be or could have been fairly invoked to enlarge the revisional jurisdiction of the High Court. That is a proposition, to put it at the lowest, open to serious debate. At any rate, the fact is that section 107 of the Government of India Act that has been repealed has been repealed for all the courts in all the provinces in India and I am not aware that the repeal of section 107 and the substitution for that section of another section in the Government of India Act has been the subject of any grievance in any part of India.

Now, Sir, something has been said, and I am fully aware of the complaints sometimes made on the score of the absence of the possibility of raising a revision against an interlocutory or an intermediate order. We are all familiar with the fact that much controversy exists among the High Courts and different views are held by various judges as to how far an interlocutory order may be subject to revision. Be that as it may. This is no occasion to enter into the merits of that controversy. But it is obvious that if interlocutory or intermediate orders were allowed to become subjects of revision, it would let in a tremendous mass of revisional petitions in the High Court and that will create its own difficulties. We are all aware that people do not go up to the High Court merely because in an extreme case they feel that justice is being denied to them. It is a bigger issue than that. Everybody feels if the case is not decided in his favour that he should go to a higher court. Therefore every one will be rushing to the High Court with these petitions, with these real or imaginary grievances, and it does not require much reflection to see that that would lead to a vast mass of additional work in the High Court. I think one is fairly right in saying that if the revisional jurisdiction of this unrestricted character were to be allowed, we may probably have to increase the number of judges of the High Court. I am not saying that this is a fatal objection. But it will certainly lead to a large increase in the number of judges. May I also say this to those members who can bring a legal mind to bear on the question before us that it may be that a certain type of orders are not at present included amongst appealable orders and their inclusion among these orders may be desirable. If that be so and if our object is to see that a particular kind of order should be the subject of adjudication by the High Court, is it not a case for pressing that the list of appealable orders should be expanded rather than the creation of this indefinite and unrestricted and uncontrolled kind of jurisdiction very different from what it is in the rest of India, very different from what lawyers have so far felt as being necessary? Now I shall bring this to the mind of honourable legal members in particular. You will remember that we had a Civil Justice Committee sitting in India in 1924-25 and that Civil Justice Committee was pressed heavily against the conferment of increased revisional powers to the High Court. That will be within the recollection of legal members. Now what perhaps is not remembered fully but really should be in the recollection of some members here is that after on it was in some quarters considered that as a matter of fact the revisional jurisdiction should be cut down it should be reduced, it should be restricted further, so much so that the Government of India which alone, if I may say so, is the proper body to legislate on a matter of this description, introduced a Bill in the Central Assembly restricting the revisional jurisdiction. When this Bill came, I think Lala Bim Chand will probably remember it, for consideration before the Central Legislative Assembly, it was negatived and we have heard no more of this Bill. So the idea that the revisional jurisdiction as it is even to-day is too extensive is not an idea without considerable support in the country. (Interruption.) It was the 2nd of February, 1927. If you will kindly read the debates of the Central Legislative Assembly you will see the circumstances in which that particular Bill was, as a matter of fact, negatived, I mean the motion for consideration. In these circumstances, when no particular difficulty is felt anywhere else in India, when the enlargement of revisional jurisdiction is likely to lead to difficulties particularly when you consider the terms of the new operative amending clause in this Bill whereby the power sought to be given is more than the power under appellate jurisdiction, I have no hesitation in opposing the introduction of this Bill. The only circumstance I will add is this. It is only in October—not very long ago—I think it was on the 10th of October that a motion for exactly the same Bill stood in the name of the Leader of the Opposition—not more than 5 weeks ago—and he did not think it proper or he did not think worth his while to ask for leave. (An honourable member: “Was it reached?”) Yes, it was reached and Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava asked me whether I would oppose it and I said ‘Yes’ and he did not move his motion. (Interruption.) This Bill was No. 12 of the October list. (An honourable member: “It was not reached.”) It is not a conclusive argument. There it stood and permission was not sought and nothing happened. In these circumstances I trust the House will have no difficulty in throwing out this particular motion.

Lala Bim Sen Sachar: On a point of personal explanation. The remarks made by the Honourable Minister may possibly give the impression that the Bill is being moved without the consent of the Leader of the Opposition because the Honourable Minister has said that he had had a talk with him and knowing from the Minister that the Bill would be opposed by him, the Leader of the Opposition had given up his intention of moving it. But I wish to inform the House through you that this Bill is to-day taken up with the fullest consent and concurrence of our Leader.

Minister: I have not the slightest doubt.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: The question is—

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Courts (Amendment) Bill.

The motion was lost.

ANTI-CHOWKIDARI TAX BILL.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Southern Towns, General, Urban) (Urdu): Sir, I beg to move—

That leave be granted to introduce the Anti-Chowkidari Tax Bill.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: Motion moved—

That leave be granted to introduce the Anti-Chowkidari Tax Bill.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Khizar Hyat Khan Tiwana) : I oppose leave being granted to the introduction of this Bill.

Minister for Public Works : Your wishes will not be fulfilled.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : This is not an occasion to make a lengthy speech. I shall confine myself to a statement of the principle underlying this Bill. Day in and day out it is said in this House that zamindars are the backbone of this province. But no attention is paid to the heavy pressure which is falling on this backbone. We are afraid that if this pressure is not lessened the backbone will give way some day. The first burden on the shoulders of the zamindars is that of land revenue and abiana. If we on this side of the House ask the Government to lessen this burden we meet with an emphatic "No." The second burden is that of the local rate. This is increasing day by day. Now it has mounted to the high level of two annas in the rupee. If we raise the question of reducing the local rate the party in power will oppose us. The third burden which is proving very irksome for the poor zamindars is that of the chowkidari tax. There is no doubt that the big zamindars and turawalas do not feel the burden but the poor zamindars and other poor sections of the rural population are groaning under its pressure. The condition of the harijans is especially miserable. Now when we on this side of the House wish to lighten this burden by moving this Bill the Honourable Minister opposes the very introduction of this measure.

The Government has the power under section 39 (a) of the Punjab Laws Act to appoint chowkidars in a village and to realise the expenses from the village population. But it is not obligatory for the Government to enforce this provision of the Punjab Laws Act. The fact of the matter is that whenever Government assumes certain powers, it is always chary of giving them up. The result is that now the said provision of the Punjab Laws Act is proving even more troublesome than the Defence of India Act. The rules made under the Punjab Laws Act for levying the chowkidari tax are made so stringent that they are never relaxed. It is possible that land revenue may be remitted under some hard conditions but no remission can be claimed in the chowkidari dues. Although in its essence the provision was of an optional nature now it has been made obligatory for the local officers to enforce and levy this hated tax.

The present demand for doing away with the chowkidari tax is not being put forward in a party spirit. This demand had the blessings even of prominent members of the Government party. But it is another thing that when they have come to power they have not paid any attention to this matter. Perhaps they put forward the demand then in a lukewarm way. The idea was that if the demand was conceded so much the better; if not, that did not matter. For instance, the reputed champion of the cause of the poor zamindars, who sometimes looks as if he is the very incarnation of Lenin, I mean, Sir Chhotu Ram has been a strong supporter of the idea of doing away with the chowkidari tax. I wonder why he has left the House now. Perhaps he does not like to listen to what he used to say in 1931. I do not suggest that this is actually the case. His absence may be purely accidental. But it is desirable that he had been here to listen to what he said in 1931. This is what he said on the floor of the Punjab Legislative Council on the 7th March, 1931.

I should also like to draw the attention of Government to one more point which relates particularly to South-Eastern districts.

My honourable friend the Minister for Development hails from the same district from where I come. But he seems to have forgotten this difficulty of his district which he remembered eight years ago. It has fallen to my lot to-day to dwell upon that difficulty. I pray that I myself may not become after the lapse of some years what he has become to-day—indifferent to the difficulties of his home district. He proceeded to say :

The number of chowkidars in the South-Eastern districts is very large.

Mark his words "very large". I wonder if he still thinks the number of chowkidars to be very large. He went on to say :

There are villages in which the number of chowkidars exceeds six. There is a very large number of villages in which the number of chowkidars is 4 or more. Now this is a direction in which Government can easily give relief to the people without suffering loss itself.

This is sound logic indeed. But may I ask my honourable friend the Minister for Public Works if he shares the belief which was held by his colleague eight years ago? Chaudhri Chhotu Ram further remarked :

The chowkidars, it is notorious, do not do any service to the village community.

Now may I ask my honourable friends on the Government benches if this is a fact? To me it is as true to-day as it was when Chaudhri Chhotu Ram delivered his speech. He is a prominent leader of the party of my friend the Minister for Public Works. Will he not listen to what his leader said? He said that the chowkidars did not do any service to the village community. That is exactly what I say to-day and this is why I have brought forward this Bill. I want to tell the honourable members of this House that the only function of these chowkidars is to dance attendance upon the Government officials. This opinion was held by Chaudhri Chhotu Ram when he was only a Rao Bahadur but now he is a Knight and that makes a great difference, the difference that is between day and night. It perhaps changes one's very outlook. The Chaudhri Sahib further remarked :

In ordinary course of things the burden of their salaries should fall on Government itself.

As long ago as eight years he expressed the opinion that this burden of the pay of chowkidars should be borne by the Government and not by the village community. Just at present he like so many others on the opposite benches is not in the Chamber and we find that the strength of the Ministerial party in the Chamber has become equal to ours. Anyway the Honourable

[Pandit Shri Ram Sharma.]

Chaudhri Sahib put another proposal before the then Government to the effect that if the Government could not bear the burden of the pay of chaudiars it should "reduce their number wherever it was in excess of actual needs." He said it was the easiest thing to do. Now, Sir, I would like in this connection to mention the case of a village situated in the constituency of my honourable friend Chaudhri Tikka Ram. You will be surprised to hear that only for one part of that village Purkhas there are no less than six chaudiars and the burden on the people amounts to as much as Re. 1 per head. When I put a question it was admitted that this was really the case but when the reason for this shameful state of affairs was demanded it was stated that it was for the deputy commissioner to appoint as many chaudiars as he considered necessary. Now compare this with what Sir Chhotu Ram said in 1931. He said—

On the question of appointment and dismissal of these chaudiars the village communities are not consulted. Their dismissal and their appointment should be made to depend on the will of the village communities.

This is exactly as it ought to be. Is it not strange that the poor villagers should be made to pay the salaries of so many persons for doing nothing for the village community? Can any one deny the fact that the only thing that they do is to fetch hulkas for police officers and grass for their horses?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member has far exceeded the limit of a brief explanatory statement.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : You are a villager and you know all this. You will, therefore, agree that this is a grievance which must be brought to the notice of the Government. To the Government in 1931 Sir Chhotu Ram said—

This is a reform which the Government can easily undertake (mark the word easily) and if Government effects this reform it will lighten the burden of a large number of villages in the south-eastern portion of the province at least.

May I ask, Sir, why he does not preach the same sermon to the present Government of which he is such an important member? Where is that solicitude for the south-eastern districts now? If there was financial stringency in 1931—a reason to press the demand—what is the excuse now? Now the conditions of the rural population are far worse. To a question relating to prohibition the Honourable Minister of Finance replied that so long as famines continue in south-eastern districts prohibition cannot be introduced. But, Sir, famines will continue to play havoc in the province so long as this Government is in office.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member should speak to the motion.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Anyway, it was only a passing reference. But may I remind Sir Chhotu Ram that he remarked in the course of his speech which I have referred to that he had been "working at this question for the last two years" (i.e., 1929 and 1930). But why has he forgotten the matter altogether now that he is in a position to do something? During the elections the opposite party made a definite promise that chaudiars would be abolished. But what has actually happened is that on behalf of the Unionist Party my honourable friend Chaudhri Ram Sarup instead of proposing the abolition of this tax came forward with a resolution that the people living in the cities should also be taxed with such a tax. This is a case identical to that of the proverbial old woman who instead of her own hunch being cured wanted all the other women to be visited with that deformity. The Premier put the matter off with some evasive words. These people are past masters in promising all and doing nothing.

To show what services the chaukidars render the village communities. I would mention what happened in Balochpur (in the constituency of Sir Chhotu Ram). There was a dacoity in that village and the dacoits continued their nefarious activities for full six hours but no chaukidar went to the police station Beri at a distance of five miles to report the matter to the police within 18 hours. When this shameful dereliction of duty was brought to the notice of the public and the Government by means of an article in a newspaper the Haryana Tilak the whole machinery of the Government at once came into action to crush the paper concerned. Similarly some absconders had to be paid Rs. 1,200 as ransoms for a boy whom they had abducted at village Guhna Police Station, Sonapat. Is it not pertinent to ask in view of all this what purpose these chaukidars and in fact the whole machinery of the Government serves?

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : On a point of order. I invite your attention to the agenda before you to-day. There are about twenty-one new Bills, ten resolutions and sixteen already introduced Bills. Therefore, such a lengthy speech by movers of Bills should not be allowed because other members who have given notice of Bills and who have already moved the Bills also desire that their Bills may be taken up to-day.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I have drawn the attention of the honourable member to the fact that he is permitted to make a brief statement. I pulled him up twice. I would request Pandit Shri Ram Sharma to go on with his speech. He is not permitted to go into details.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I was submitting that the chowkidara tax is being collected by the Government and that tax amounts to thousands and lakhs of rupees, but it is very unfair on the part of the Government that no protection is afforded to the people living in villages. Nothing substantial is being done to check burglary, dacoity and other crimes that are being committed in the countryside. When this is the position then may I ask what is the use of levying this unnecessary tax on poor zamindars? I may also submit that the rural class, particularly the petty cultivators and poor Harijans cannot bear the burden of the tax.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I would request the honourable member not to go into the details.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Sir, I am not going into the details, what I am submitting is that the chowkidara tax is unnecessary burden on the villagers who are too poor to afford this superfluous money to the Government. In the end I submit again to the Government through you, that they should not lose this opportunity of helping zamindars by accepting Anti-chowkidari Tax Bill. Otherwise, I am sure, when zamindars whom they represent and with whom they profess their sympathy come to know that at the time of division the Unionists voted against the Bill, their eyes would be opened. Let me submit with all the emphasis at my command that if the Government persist in the same attitude they will be digging their grave with their own hands. I may also declare that this attitude of the Government would be a death-blow to the very roots of the Unionist Party in the next general election and every member who votes against the introduction of this Bill would be taken to task by his constituents.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu): Why does not the Government approach this matter?

Minister of Public Works: I am coming to that. I was only saying that this Bill is absurd so far as the method of approach to the problem is concerned. He seeks to penalise it. If a tax is levied which is valid under the law, the proper course is to amend that law but not to penalise it. Your penalising the levy of that tax is itself contrary to law. Referring to the merits of the case the House would remember that a resolution was brought forward by this party and the whole matter was thrashed threadbare on the floor of the House. So I need not enter into detailed argument for and against the matter at this moment. The history of the tax is well known. On the annexation of the Punjab it was felt that some arrangement should be made for the defence of person and property in villages and towns. Whatever tax was levied used to be levied in villages as well as in towns but subsequently there came a period when certain elements living in towns were successful in bringing about a state of affairs which resulted into a condition that the tax went on being levied in villages but the towns got away from it. A provision even now exists that such a tax can be levied for the purposes of municipal police but no such tax is being in fact levied. I would not like to go into the history of how the municipalities were let off but when we discuss this resolution here and the sense of the House is taken, equity demands that all those people that live in this province, so far as this incidence of taxation is concerned, should pay it and the matter is engaging the attention of the Government at present. The Honourable Premier gave an assurance that the matter would be looked into. There are various ways of bringing this into effect. What is the present position? It is that the chowkidara is paid by the villager and his property is looked after. It is not the poor but the capitalist whose property is looked after. The poor man has hardly anything to look after and if he is a zamindar, he looks after that himself. So, before long steps would be taken to bring about equity so far as the payment of this tax is concerned. (Interruption). Yes, there are capitalists in the villages. There are capitalists and poor people as well. (Interruption).

Mr. Deputy Speaker: If the honourable member wants to put a question, he should first rise in his seat and then ask the question through the Chair.

Lala Duni Chand: I want to know your definition of a capitalist.

Minister of Education: All Duni Chands!

Minister of Public Works: In villages there are two types of people—the poor and labouring classes and those who live on that labour, may be in some cases landlords, industrialists or the village money-lenders. I am talking of all those capitalists and not of any one category. It has been said that this tax is hitting the poor very badly. You would know that incidence of taxation is generally very small. The levy is sufficient enough to pay the cost of the chowkidars employed in villages. So there is no special grievance as far as the levy is concerned. What is happening is this that the very poor about whom so much has been said are paying it. But comparatively richer people, I would say comparatively richer, because everybody in towns is rich, get away scot-free and it is this inequity that the Government is considering now to remedy.

Then, Sir, certain other matters were brought in, that is, the Honourable Sir Chhotu Ram once said that the chowkidars do not do anything for the villagers but they work for the officials. Certain of the duties of these chowkidars are of such a nature that they have to work for the officials and for the administration whenever it is necessary. But so far as the interests of the villagers are concerned, those who have carefully studied the Panchayat Act must have realised that we are now empowering panchayats to have certain amount of control over the chowkidars and if there are any defects, as the Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram said, they would be set right.

Attempt has also been made to bring in political issues by saying that we had made some promises to the electorate. I am not aware of any promise given by any member of our party with regard to this tax. What we said, and what we stand by, was that we shall do our level best to further the interests of the people we represent and that is what we are trying to do. Where we can remove a tax we do so but where tax is being paid by the villagers while the protection is being afforded to the comparatively rich people, we shall try to remove that inequity. So, I do not think we can agree to this Bill. With these words I oppose it.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: The question is—

That leave be granted to introduce the Anti-Chowkidari Tax Bill.

LAND REVENUE (AMENDMENT) BILL.

Mian Muhammad Nurullah (Lyallpur, Muhammadan, Rural): Sir, I beg to move—

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Land Revenue (Amendment) Bill.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: Motion moved is—

That leave be granted to introduce the Punjab Land Revenue Amendment Bill.

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): Sir, I object to leave being granted to introduce this Bill.

Mian Muhammad Nurullah: Sir, I need not make a long speech with regard to this matter because the reduction in land revenue is an urgent necessity for a landlord. I have given a resumé of it in my statement of objects and reasons as follows:—

The present demand for land revenue is fixed at quarter net assets. Considering the poverty and uneconomic holdings of the land owners, this is too high. Moreover, it compares unfavourably with the rate of state demand payable by other classes. This Bill proposes to give much needed relief to the poor land-owners and to a certain extent to equalise the incidence of state demand on the various classes of the people.

For the benefit of my honourable friends, who cannot understand English, I will read Bayan Aghraz-o-Wajook in Urdu—

You are aware of the fact that previous to the year 1928, when dyarchy was in vogue in the Punjab the Government's share as land revenue was fixed at 50 per cent of net assets. But the late Mian Sir Fazl-i-Husain may his soul rest in peace, moved an amendment by which the maximum share of the Government was fixed at 25 per cent of net assets. That was a very salutary amendment but as ill-luck would have it the depression set in and the prices of agricultural commodities began to fall. Consequently the condition of the zamindars became pitiable and it went from bad to worse day by day. When their condition literally became pitiable a committee, known as the Darling Committee was appointed to suggest ways and means for giving relief to the poor agriculturists. Now whenever we have asked the Government to give relief to the poor in land revenue and other Government dues, they have always replied that they have appointed a committee to suggest relief in the land revenue and that they were waiting for its recommendations and as soon as the said committee submitted its report, they would at once take steps to implement those recommendations and thereby they would provide relief to the poor and needy agriculturists. But let me point out that the Government have received the report of the said committee since long and its copies have been distributed among the members of this House as well. Up till now the Government have taken no action on it. If, Sir, you read the report you will find that there is not a single suggestion in it which can give any satisfactory relief to the poor zamindars. However, I do not like to anticipate it and I am sure when this report comes up before the House for discussion, a full day would be allotted for it. So I do not propose to go into the details of the report now, but this much I can say that if anybody reads it he will find that the framers of the report have admitted that in view of the uneconomic holdings of the zamindars it is highly necessary that some sort of relief should be provided to them. Let me also point out that the relief measures which the committee has suggested are not sufficient, as compared to the appalling conditions of the zamindars. It has been pointed out in the report that those people who pay less than Rs. 10 as land revenue they would be given remission to the extent of 8 annas in a rupee. And those people who pay less than Rs. 25 by way of land revenue they would be granted less remission. But those who pay over Rs. 25 as land revenue they will not be granted any remission at all. So far as the question of the big landlords is concerned their share of the land revenue would be increased to some extent. Personally I have no objection to it. If the big landlords so wish they can pay the whole of the land revenue. What we want is to give relief to the poor zamindars. It is our duty that we should keep their interests in the forefront. If their conditions can be improved by increasing the land revenue of the big zamindars we should not hesitate in doing so.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : Is the honourable member speaking against his own Bill? His own Bill does not provide for any special assistance to the poor zamindars.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I would request the honourable member to confine his speech to the motion before the House.

Mian Muhammad Nurullah: The honourable member is not sitting in his own seat while raising this point of order. A general relief means relief to the poor.

Besides you are aware of the fact, Sir, that in many districts sliding scale system has been introduced. But it is apparent from the report of the Darling Committee that it has not worked satisfactorily. It is therefore necessary that some changes should be made in it. Reverting to the subject proper I may submit that those persons who pay over Rs. 25 as land revenue, will not be granted any remission at all. Let me take the example of a person who pays Rs. 26 as land revenue, he will not receive any remission.

What is the total income of a zamindar who pays Rs. 26 as land revenue? The present demand for land revenue is fixed at quarter net assets. If we multiply 26 by 4 we get 104. That is Rs. 104 is the income per year of that zamindar. It means that if his net income is Rs. 104 he will not be entitled to any remission at all. How sad it is that although his income is less than that of a chaprasi yet he cannot get any remission. In the circumstances, I am constrained to remark that the recommendations of the said committee are very unsatisfactory and so far we have been misled by sweet promises. All the time we were under the impression that when the report of the committee was received great relief would be given to the poor zamindars. But the mountain in labour has produced the proverbial mouse.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member is going beyond the limits of a brief explanatory statement.

Mian Muhammad Nurullah : I am simply developing an argument.

Perusal of the Darling Committee report has convinced me that in the interest of the peasant proprietors who form the bulk of landowners either definition of net-assets be changed or basis of land revenue be reduced from 25 per cent to 15 per cent.

Although it is said that the Government realizes 25 per cent. of the net assets, I can say without fear of contradiction that the Government does not realize 25 per cent of the net assets when prices are low. As a matter of fact it often realizes up to 100 per cent of the net assets by way of land revenue. I have more than once stated on the floor of this House the case of Pir Karam Husain Shah. During the time when the prices of agricultural produce were falling Pir Karam Husain Shah who had to pay arrears of land revenue requested the Government that instead of realizing land revenue in cash from him they should reap his whole harvest every year and thus realize the sum of land revenue due from him. He undertook to till the lands, sow crops in them and water them. Every year he tilled his lands, sowed crops in them, watered them, and the Government reaped those harvests but his arrears of the land revenue were never made good. As a matter of fact he gave 6 harvests to the Government still his arrears of land revenue remained near about the same. The Government have never given any reply to that. Whether they realized 25 per cent or 100 per cent of the net assets by way of land revenue you can judge for yourself. Though the rules provide that the Government should realize 25 per cent of the net assets by way of land revenue actually they are realizing much more. The object of my Bill is that where previously the Government have been realizing 100 per cent of the net assets now they should realize only 60 per cent. And in this way they should give some relief to the poor and needy zamindars. Instead of Rs. 100 charged as land revenue they should charge Rs. 60, i.e., make a wholesale reduction of 40 per cent. So far my friends have been moving such amending Acts which have not satisfied us and they will never go a long way in providing relief to the poor zamindars. All the honourable members of this House are aware of the fact that the crops of the zamindars are failing and agriculture has become a losing concern. In the circumstances I suggest that the realizing of 25 per cent of net assets by way of land revenue is much too high and instead only 15 per cent should be charged. Even now I have received thousands of applications from the zamindars that their crops have failed and it is next to impossible for them to pay their share of the land revenue and that due to failure of cotton crop remission be given.

Again I wish to point out that when the elections were going on my honourable friends sitting on the Unionist Benches declared from housetops that their party would do this thing and would do that thing. They also promised to grant remission to the zamindars in land revenue and water rates. But I may point out that they are now opposed to a reduction in land revenue and abiana. On a previous occasion when I moved a resolution asking for a reduction of 25 per cent in abiana it was opposed and in order to get rid of it the Assembly Session was prorogued. Now I have sought leave to move a Bill by which I propose to give much needed relief to the zamindars. The present demand for land revenue is much too high, and I desire that in future only 15 per cent of the net-assets should be the basis of settlement resulting in a general reduction of 40 per cent in land revenue. Your party has raised an objection under the pretext of realizing 25 per cent. My friends have been realizing 100 per cent of the net assets by way of land revenue. Now what I am contending is that instead of 100 per cent they should realize only 60 per cent. and leave the rest to the zamindar. My friends are also opposing this salutary measure tooth and nail. May I know from them whether they are the representatives of the urban people or of the rural people? It behoves them to levy taxes on the urban sections of the people. These people are very lightly taxed. If they compare the incidence of the demand of Government on urban people with that of the rural people they would find that in a way they are not taxed at all. Besides, there are thousand and one ways of increasing the sources of the province. They can start industries in the province on which thousands of people can be employed. If they start industries in the province they can also turn the agricultural produce to their benefit. In short if my friends had paid any attention to these matters even the question of realizing of land revenue would not have risen at all. If they so marshal the resources of the province they can make the province prosperous. Moreover in this way the pressure on land would also be reduced. Some people would be employed in industries, some in the army and others would take to subsidiary industries and like pursuits and thus the country would become happy and prosperous.

In conclusion I would request the honourable friends on the Unionist benches that they should not go on overburdening the golden sparrow. If they continued to act in a manner in which they have so far acted the result would be that the golden sparrow would die and they would lose everything. My advice is, do not kill the goose that lays the golden egg. If you cannot give any relief to the zamindar in abiana, at least give them some relief in land revenue. I, therefore, expect that all the zamindar members of this Assembly would vote for this Bill. With these words I move my motion.

6 p.m.

My first submission is that my honourable friend has made no differentiation between the big and small landholders. If he had made that distinction, I would have been convinced that he had a genuine sympathy with the small landholders. He ought to have laid down a condition that only the small landholders will benefit by his Bill and not the big landlords.

Mian Muhammad Nurullah : I agree.

Minister for Revenue : My honourable friend shows now that he has sympathy with the small landholders but when it comes to voting he walks into the lobby along with Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang and Sardar Sahib Santokh Singh (Hear, hear). I am sure that when the zamindars will understand the real purport of his Bill they will say : "Save us from such friends." I have all along been hoping that my honourable friend will tell us as to how the necessity had arisen to further lower that rate of land revenue assessment which was reduced in 1928 from 50 per cent of the net assets to 25 per cent. If he means to suggest that this reduction is desirable as the zamindars cannot pay this rate, I shall presently show what the Punjab Government has already done for the poor zamindars. We never forget the poor zamindar and his requirements. My honourable friend the Mian Sahib, most probably, has not read the report of the Land Revenue Committee. At least he has not referred to the rate of assessment prevailing in provinces like the United Provinces. (An Honourable Member : Please talk of the Punjab). I see that my honourable friends feel perturbed at the very mention of the United Provinces.

Sardar Partab Singh : You may fix a higher rate for big landholders.

Minister for Revenue : I quite realize that my honourable friends feel restive on hearing some home truth but I cannot help them. I was saying that my honourable friend has not mentioned the United Provinces, Central Provinces or Madras. The rate of assessment in these provinces is very high but even the Congress Governments have not brought them down during their regimes. For instance it is 40 per cent of net assets in Madras, 50 per cent in Bombay, United Provinces, Berar and Central Provinces and similarly high elsewhere but the Congress Governments have not reduced it. (Interruptions). My honourable friends have, it appears, decided to interrupt me so that I may lose my temper but I may tell them that I have decided that I would not lose my temper to-day (Laughter). I would like my honourable friends to remember that when in 1928 the rate of assessment was lowered the Government made a great concession to the zamindars. Although the question was taken up in my time, it was finally decided in late Sir Fazl-i-Husain's time. But now my friend is suggesting that the rate should be further lowered from 25 to 15 per cent of the net assets.

Moreover, Sir, the honourable sponsor of this Bill has said nothing beyond telling us that the zamindars in the Punjab are poor. Let me hasten to add that I entirely agree with him. But does my honourable friend know the reason for this? The reason is that most of the landholders in this province are small holders. The Punjab is a land of small proprietors and it is free from landlords in the real sense of the word. More often than not, a zamindar has to cultivate the land of his neighbours on a 'batai-system' and make both ends meet.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Confiscate the lands of the big landlords then.

Minister for Revenue : If Russia comes down upon India and you are spared, then you may confiscate the lands of the zamindars. So far as we are concerned, let me assure my honourable friend that we believe in action rather than in mere words. While my honourable friend is merely talking we have shown our active sympathy with the zamindars.

Adverting to the subject matter of the debate, I may submit that the honourable Mian Sahib has even gone to the length of denying the material advantages of the sliding scale system. He was pleased to say that this method benefited none. May I respectfully put it to my honourable friend Sardar Sampuran Singh that if the sliding scale system is really of no use to him and is only a paper transaction whether he would offer on the floor of this House to forego the remissions that come to him under this system.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : My honourable friend Mian Sahib acknowledges the advantages of this system.

Minister : I am grateful to him for this admission. He used to deny this fact previously by saying that it was only a paper transaction.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : That I say even now.

Minister : Let me give you some figures for the last year. In the Lyallpur and Sheikhpura districts over 28 lakhs per kharif and more than 28 lakhs per rabi have been given as remissions, i.e., Rs. 56,28,442 have been remitted.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : You enhance it and then remit it. It is paper transaction.

Minister : My friend tries to enhance by telling the zamindars not to take canal water. That is what he does and for 3½ months they do not take water and he goes on taking the water.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : I say in this House that I never advised anybody to stop taking canal water.

Minister : Now I think my friend will allow me to give some figures as regards remissions that this Government has given since it took charge of the province in 1937. I will now lay before the House the figures relating to the remissions that the Unionist Government have granted to the zamindars. These figures also include suspensions as well and the remissions relating to both the land revenue as well as the water rate. I would particularly draw the attention of Mian Sahib to the remissions pertaining to the water rate charges because he has very often and even now tried to criticise the policy of the Government on this score. His main argument against the Government is that we get 30 per cent profit on the irrigation system of the Punjab. The figures that I am going to quote will remove his doubts. To begin with I may be allowed to say that in rabi, 1937, we suspended the recovery of a sum of 1,35,000 rupees.

Mian Muhammad Nurullah : I think the figures relating to Hissar district are also included in it.

Minister of Revenue : May I take it that the honourable member has absolutely no pity for the district of Hissar? My honourable friend would do well to remember that the Unionist Government stands for the protection of all people of the Punjab. I further hope that the honourable Mian Sahib's Bill is also intended to help the zamindars of the whole of the province and not those of Lyallpur alone. Here are the other figures of suspensions :—

			Rs.
Rabi 1937	1,35,000
Kharif 1937	14,66,000
Rabi 1938	4,82,000
Kharif 1938	25,00,000
Rabi 1939	18,70,000
Total	59,53,000
Average per harvest	11,90,600

Again, the figures for the amount remitted on account of calamities out of current demands are as follows :—

			Rs.
Rabi 1937	14,26,000
Kharif 1937	2,08,000
Rabi 1938	52,000
Kharif 1938	2,58,000
Rabi 1939	12,41,000
Total	31,85,000
Average per harvest	6,87,000

The figures that I have given just now relate to the remissions which were granted from the current demand only. Now I will give the amounts that were remitted on account of calamities, out of suspended revenue. Here are the figures :—

			Rs.
Rabi 1937	6,62,000
Kharif 1937	1,08,000
Rabi 1938	6,04,000
Kharif 1938	2,21,000
Rabi 1939	5,52,000
Total	21,47,000

The House will note that these remissions yield an average of Rs. 4,29,000 per harvest, since the Unionist Ministry came into office.

[Minister of Revenue.]

I will now inform the House as to how much remission we gave to the zamindars on account of the low prices of the agricultural commodities. The relevant figures are as follows :—

			Rs.
Kharif 1937	95,000
Rabi 1938	4,58,000
Kharif 1938	4,88,000
Rabi 1939	5,68,000
Total			16,09,000

Now if my honourable friend Mian Muhammad Nurullah will care to calculate the average per harvest for the last five harvests, he will come to know that we have been granting remission at the rate of 3,21,800 rupees every harvest on account of low prices alone.

Now I would like to quote figures with regard to abiana. The remissions in abiana that have been granted at each harvest since the present Ministry took over the reins of office are as follows :—

			Rs.
Rabi 1937	24,88,773
Kharif 1937	15,55,254
Rabi 1938	5,15,897
Kharif 1938	21,33,574

Sardar Partab Singh : On a point of order, Sir. May I know how it is relevant on the part of the Honourable Minister to quote figures of remissions in abiana in connection with the Bill now before the House ?

Minister for Revenue : My honourable friend has not the courage to face the facts. He and his friends are always loud to condemn us that we have done nothing worth the name for the amelioration of the zamindars. But when we quote figures to refute their false allegations, they feel perturbed and make unnecessary interruptions. Well, Sir, I have stated the amounts of abiana remitted at each harvest during the last two years. Now the figures for rabi, 1939, come to Rs. 11,75,478. After adding these amounts we find that the total remissions on this account come to a colossal figure of Rs. 78,68,976 and the average per harvest works out to Rs. 15,73,795.

An honourable member : But the Honourable Minister should not ignore the fact that the land revenue had been increased by an amount no less than Rs. 80 lakhs.

Minister for Revenue : My honourable friend is unnecessarily getting restive. Let me tell him why this increase was made. In 1924 owing to certain financial necessities, Government were forced to enhance land revenue by Rs. 80 lakhs. But during my tenure of office remissions of abiana were granted to the extent of Rs. 46 lakhs and the total reductions come to about a crore of rupees. (Voices from the Opposition benches : How ?) If my honourable friends take the trouble of coming to my office I will place before them all the figures relating to this matter. Well, Sir, my object in quoting these figures is to show that the present Government is second to none in its solicitude for the welfare of the zamindars. As a matter of fact we do not brag about what we have been able to do for them. Then my honourable friend over there invited my attention to the fact that we should tax the richer classes in order to provide relief for the zamindars. I may point out to him that we are fully alive to that matter and we hope to introduce certain measures to this effect.

Now I come to the suggestion made by Mian Sahib. He says that the land revenue should be reduced from 25 per cent to 15 per cent. If his proposal were accepted then out of the total income of Rs. 475 lakhs and deducting 51 lakhs on account of districts where this rule has not yet been applied owing to these districts not having come under new assessment a sum to the tune of Rs. 2-2/5 crores will be remitted. I earnestly appeal to Mian Sahib to ponder over the matter dispassionately and see for himself whether his proposal is at all practicable. In fact he has failed to suggest how to meet the consequent loss in revenue receipts. But even there my friends opposite do not stop. They make a further demand of 50 per cent reduction in abiana. I may point out that land revenue and abiana form the most important items of the provincial finances. As a matter of fact they are the main sources of income. The next important item is the excise which yields income to the extent of Rs. 105 lakhs. Though the subject is not included in my portfolio, my honourable colleague would tell you that we are having a deficit under this head also. And if we agree to such huge reductions as suggested by my honourable friend over there, the provincial Exchequer is bound to suffer heavily. May I ask how we are to carry on the administration of the province with depleted finances? It is a pity that my friends do not realize our responsibility. They do not take into consideration the interests of the province as a whole. They want that their proposals must be accepted even if the province goes to the wall. We, being responsible for the administration of the province cannot undertake such risks.

Besides, one of my honourable friends opposite remarked that it was not very difficult for the Government to find out money. But I should like to ask if the Congress party (God forbid) comes into power in this province, how they will manage to get more money. Perhaps the Congress ministers would by the use of magic wand convert one hundred rupees currency notes into two hundred rupee currency notes. (Laughter). May be that they may be able to tap some new and novel sources to enhance the revenues of the province by issuing currency notes with any backing. Anyhow those who have to run the Government cannot afford to ignore facts. We are here to face hard realities. He who takes the responsibility alone knows what he is in for. We mean business and do not intend to turn our backs and run away like the Congress ministers who feeling their inability to fulfil their pledges made to their voters have taken the step of resignation from office. (Cheers from Government benches).

I have yet to say one thing more. An honourable friend has remarked that the Punjab has run into bankruptcy. Sir, we had to spend almost two crores of rupees in my honourable friend Lala Duni Chand's districts in the Ambala Division.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : But the people got only half of it.

Minister for Revenue : You say so, perhaps you got nothing out of it. (Laughter). Well, Sir, we spent two crores only because we could afford to do so. If we save something we can spend it on the welfare of the people. Borrowing is not an easy thing. The Honourable Premier tells me that the United Provinces Government wanted to float a loan but failed. Of course borrowing depends upon credit. How can one raise a loan when he has no credit. The Punjab Government floated a loan which was over-subscribed within an hour and this was because of its high credit.

At this stage the Assembly adjourned till 2-30 p.m. on Friday, 24th November, 1939.

PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

SIXTH SESSION OF THE FIRST PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Friday, 24th November, 1939.

*The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at 2-30 p.m. of the Clock.
Mr. Speaker in the Chair.*

QUESTION HOUR.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Sir, I beg to move—
That the question hour be suspended to-day.

The motion was carried.

SUPPLEMENTARY DEMANDS.

IRRIGATION WORKS (CAPITAL EXPENDITURE).

Minister for Finance (The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal) : Sir, I beg to move—

That a supplementary sum not exceeding Rs. 25,94,790 be granted to the Governor to defray the charges that will come in course of payment for the year ending 31st March, 1940, in respect of construction of Irrigation Works (Capital Expenditure).

Mr. Speaker : The motion moved is—

That a supplementary sum not exceeding Rs. 25,94,790 be granted to the Governor to defray the charges that will come in course of payment for the year ending 31st March, 1940, in respect of construction of Irrigation Works (Capital Expenditure).

Thal Project.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi (Lyallpur and Jhang, General, Rural) (Urdu) : I beg to move—

That the demand be reduced by Rs. 10.

Sir, the demand under consideration relates to the Thal Project which has been most anxiously awaited by the people of the Western Punjab for the past 25 or 30 years. It has been estimated that about 6 crores and a half of rupees would be spent on this project. It has been proposed that a sum of Rs. 50,00,000 should be expended during the current year. When we consult the budget estimates we find that nearly half of the sum, i.e., Rs. 26,25,410 was intended to be met from the savings for the purpose. The Government has arranged to distribute the total cost of the project over a number of years and to complete it in 1944. After acquainting the House with these figures I would like to make it clear that the Congress party is not averse to the idea of irrigating barren and unproductive ilagas of the Punjab. On the other hand it is our profound desire to see that not a single drop of water in the five rivers of the province may go unutilized. We whole-heartedly welcome the idea of turning the deserts of the Punjab into green and fertile lands. But the question is as to whether the project under consideration would be profitable from a commercial point of view and whether it would be able to meet its own expenditure.

Mr. Speaker : May I enquire whether the whole or a part of the cost of the scheme was sanctioned in the last annual budget and whether the amount now proposed to be sanctioned is a supplementary demand ?

Minister of Revenue : No, Sir.

Mr. Speaker : Then the motion is in order and the honourable member may proceed.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Sir, I was submitting that this project does not seem to be profitable. The detailed report on the scheme was placed in the Assembly library only yesterday and I have gone through it very carefully. Moreover, I belong to the tlaga adjacent to which this project is being started. I thus happen to possess theoretical as well as practical knowledge of the scheme. I am constrained to submit that this project on which the Government intends to spend a colossal sum amounting to six crores and a half would fail to prove a profitable concern. The reasons are manifold. Firstly, the whole tlaga is virtually a vast desert containing more than 90 per cent sand. Recently an experiment was made in order to ascertain the humidity and retentive power of the soil of that area. It was arranged to irrigate a field 15 feet by 12 feet with the water of a well having a diameter of 10 feet. The well worked for full 24 hours and still the field was not completely watered. If such is the condition of the soil, I do not think the canals would be able to irrigate those arid lands on a commercial basis.

My next point is that even irrigation experts do not hold high hopes with regard to this project. They are doubtful of its success. The Irrigation Research Department is a valuable asset to this province. It was responsible for saving several lakhs in the execution of the Haveli Project. The Irrigation Research Department must have been consulted on the subject. I would request the Honourable Minister of Revenue to place the report of irrigation research experts, if any, on the table of the House. We want to know the opinion of the experts in the matter. I have sufficient reasons to believe that this project which has been already in progress would not be able to meet its own expenditure. Then there is the question of water supply. I do admit that the Government of India has decided in favour of the Punjab Government allowing the latter to use a certain amount of water of the Indus. But now the Sind Government has submitted a strong representation to the Central Government for an increase of its share in the water supply from the river Indus. The Government of India is considering the claim of the Sind Government. In view of the strong representation made by the latter it is possible, the Central Government may revise its previous decision and accede to the request of the Sind Government. Under the circumstances the whole project is likely to end in a fiasco.

Turning again to the financial aspect of the scheme I would like to draw the attention of the House to a sentence on page 2, Volume I of the report that has been published by the Government in regard to the Thal Project. It runs as follows :—

It may be mentioned that both the expenditure and the revenue estimates are on the safe side.

Let us examine the real facts. The Government wants to say that by spending the estimated sum borrowed at the rate of 4 per cent per annum it would be able to get 5.18 per cent return from the project. But when we are already in the grip of a terrible war, how will it be possible to raise loans at the estimated rate? Again, will it be possible for the landlords to pay Rs. 2, or Rs. 3 per acre as estimated in view of the sandy nature of the soil? Another very important point. Has the Government taken into calculation the loss that is likely to be incurred due to appearance of kallar, thur and waterlogging? In the Punjab wherever canals have been dug waterlogging, kallar and thur have wasted hundreds and thousands of acres of rich fertile land. Only the other day the Honourable Minister of Revenue was pleased to remark in reply to a question of mine that so far in the Punjab five lakhs of acres of land had already gone waste owing to kallar and that about 30,000 acres were being rendered barren every year by waterlogging. This figure was based on a survey confined to a few districts. In fact my apprehension is that no less than half a lakh acres are going to waste every year which means a dead loss of about a crore of rupees. The same problem of waterlogging is almost certain to appear in the area to be irrigated by the Thal Project. Has the Government debited this potential loss in calculating the profit and loss account of the project? So far as the productivity of the soil is concerned I think it would be sufficient to quote the note that appears in the margin of page 12, Volume II of the Report. It runs as follows :—

A recent examination by the Director of Irrigation Research of the few sites in the Derajat and in the Thal gave an indication that possibly the soil in the Thal may not be as fertile as that on the Jhakhari Distributary in the Derajat circle and may require a greater quantity of water to give the same yield.

Thus the Director of Irrigation Research himself admits that the soil in the Thal will require a greater quantity of water. Similarly the soil of the Mianwali district will also require a much larger quantity of water to render it productive.

Further it is clear from the Thal Project Report that in that ilaga the average rainfall is hardly eight inches a year and out of twenty-one years 18 years are such in which it did not rain at the sowing time resulting in complete failure of crops. The facts regarding the scarcity of rains have been mentioned in the Thal Project Report. But it is a pity that the Government have very conveniently ignored these facts. Therefore, I would like to submit that the Government should think twice over this important work before they take some practical step towards it. It has been said from the other side that the Government intend to finish this project by 1944. In this respect my submission is that as we are face to face with a war, I think, it would not be advisable to start this work at this critical juncture when the prices of material which is to be used on the project are being raised. Take iron, for instance, its price has already risen by 80 per cent and the prices of cement, concrete and other such material have also risen. Goodness knows when the present war will come to an end. In fact prices rise tremendously during the war and the boom persists even after the war. The Great War was over in 1918 but the prices jumped much higher in 1921 and even 1922 and 1923. According to British estimates the present war may last for three years. Herr Hitler has declared that he has made preparations for a war that may last even for five years. Inevitably during the next five years at least the prices are certain to soar very high and they will persist during the entire period when the project is in progress. Under the circumstances would it be advisable on the part of the Government to squander money like that? Therefore, I am constrained to say that this proposal of the Government seems to be of a very doubtful character. It is time to ponder over whether this work should be taken in hand or not. Strictly speaking we are not against the Thal Project. As far as irrigation is concerned it is our heart's desire that every drop of the five rivers should be spent for the well being and prosperity of the countryside of this province. But we do not see eye to eye with the Government if they are going to construct this project for the purpose of consolidating their party or to win the confidence of the people living in that area. This shows that they have ulterior motives and want to serve their own end. My submission is that before starting this work the proposals should be re-examined and thoroughly considered and that this work should not be executed in haste. With these words I commend my cut motion for its acceptance.

Mr. Speaker : Demand under consideration, motion moved—

That the demand be reduced by Rs. 10.

Sardar Sampuran Singh (Lyallpur West, Sikh, Rural): It is a great temptation to bring that great area under cultivation and also to irrigate it by the water which is flowing uselessly in the great river Indus. We are not against new canal projects. We shall welcome any such project. But there are certain difficulties which are not fully appreciated and I very much doubt if they have even now been appreciated when this project is being executed, if not in great haste, at least with great expedition. This is admitted by everybody that a very large area in this part of the province is sandy.

Minister of Revenue : Have you seen it?

Sardar Sampuran Singh : Yes. You travel at Government expense, I travel at my own.

Minister of Revenue : Probably to buy land!

Premier : Benami! (Laughter.)

Sardar Sampuran Singh : That is reserved for those benches.

Mr. Speaker : Please proceed.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : One of the great engineers of our province happened to remark once that we may be successful in running a canal in this area, but is there any land which is to be irrigated? There is hardly enough arable area for which you are going to spend so much money. Greater portion of that land may not be brought under cultivation because of its sandy nature, and it may not be productive enough. The condition of soil of that place reminds me of a certain branch of the Sutlej Valley Project in the British and Bahawalpur territories which was, I think, called Forest branch of Abbassia Canal. Rest-houses were built on that canal and efforts were made to run water in it as well, but eventually that branch had to be altogether closed, so much so that the material of those rest-houses, which, as I have said, were built on that canal, had to be carried away to other places. I am speaking of the Desert Branch of Abbassia Canal. So far as I remember the actual name of the place is Gagan Hatta. (Interruption.)

Minister of Revenue : I am not concerned with Bahawalpur State.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : Bungalows on the portion of the canal which was running through British territory have also been removed. What to say of Bahawalpur State, all those that were on British Indian territory have had also to be removed.

Premier : Where ?

Sardar Sampuran Singh : On this desert branch of Abbassia Canal of the Sutlej Valley Project.

Premier : But Abbassia branch is not through British territory.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : Portions of British territory were irrigated by that canal and in those portions there were bungalows the material of which had to be removed.

Minister of Public Works : Which tahsil and district ?

Sardar Sampuran Singh : I require notice for that question. (Laughter.)

Premier : Abbassia Canal is only in Bahawalpur State.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : In other parts of the world also similar difficulties have been experienced. In America there was a distance of three miles of sandy tract under a canal and the United States of America had to spend millions to get over the difficulties. Here you have practically to run the whole canal through land which is worse than that found in the United States of America.

Minister of Public Works : What about Africa ?

Sardar Sampuran Singh : That territory is reserved for—(Interruption.) We are certainly not against digging new canals. We welcome the project. (Hear, hear.) But we feel that you are perhaps not cautious enough. You will succeed in making the canal but in this area you have not only to line the canals with cement and concrete but you have to cover them as well, if you want to run them.

Minister of Revenue : Will you please name the engineer who has suggested this ?

Sardar Sampuran Singh : I will tell you when you come to my office.

Minister of Revenue : I am not going to Lyallpur to see you at your office. I want the reply here. I take it that all this is an imaginary thing.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : My sources of information are reliable.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : It is not in the public interest to disclose (Laughter.)

Sardar Sampuran Singh : It is also, I think, a fact which is known to you that very efficient and high placed engineers of your department have expressed their doubts about the success of the scheme. So, I would only submit that in your enthusiasm to do something for the welfare of the people of that area, do not go so far as to put the Punjab in such a great risk, that after spending millions over that project, and after lining it with cement and concrete you find that it is a total failure. It is only this word of caution which I want to say today, so that even at this stage you may overhaul the whole scheme, and go through it carefully and with saner views at your command, and in case you find that this canal cannot be a paying concern you may change your programme. (Cheers.)

Chaudhri Kartar Singh (Hoshiarpur West, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Mr. Speaker, I rise to support the cut motion moved by my honourable friend, Mr. Dev Raj Sethi. As the Deputy Leader of the Congress party, Sardar Sampuran Singh, has stated, the engineers have given expression to some misgivings with regard to this project. But the most important question is this. It has been said more than once from the ministerial benches that they are traders and that, therefore, they know how to do things on commercial lines. Now the question is whether they have paid proper consideration to the commercial aspect of this project. We, the members of the Opposition, of whom 90 per cent are poor soldiers possessing no sugar or iron factories, fully understand that this project is not free from risk. In the previous bureaucratic regime a minister put before the old Council the Hydro-Electric Scheme, but now that crores of rupees have been spent on it the economic experts as well as the members of the Assembly have had to admit that from the financial point of view the scheme has not proved useful to the province. Had that money been spent on sugar factories and other industries the kisans of the Punjab would have benefited to the extent of millions of rupees.

I am convinced that since this Government, based on the popular vote, has assumed office its policy has been directed not towards ameliorating the condition of the whole province but to benefiting the constituencies of its supporters. All its legislations and other activities have as their objective the good will of the voters of the Multan, Mianwali and Rawalpindi districts. Let it be clearly understood that I do not object to public money being spent for the benefit of the voters of these districts. My complaint is that when the question of Bhakra Dam was raised the Honourable Minister of Revenue was pleased to inform us that the scheme was not taken in hand because the necessary material that was to be purchased abroad could not be obtained on account of the War. Now may I inquire whether all the necessary material for this Thal Project has already been purchased? If not, how will you get it during the War which must continue for at least four or five years? Are you quite sure that all this material can be had in India?

Now a sum of Rs. 81,290 has been demanded for the Central Workshops and I am sure that more money will be demanded for the purpose later on, but when you know that you will not be able to get the necessary material for the scheme, why do you insist on taking a risk with the public money amounting to crores of rupees, some of which has been taken out of the revenues of the province and the rest borrowed? You should be as cautious with regard to this scheme as you have been in the case of the Bhakra Dam scheme. I have my misgivings lest this huge sum of Rs. 6,50,00,000 should meet a fate similar to that of the money voted for the Hydro-Electric Scheme. I request you not to repeat the blunder committed by the old Council. I have not visited the ilaga concerned but I put a question which made the Honourable the Premier feel awfully out of sorts. But it has become a habit with me to speak the truth, howsoever unpalatable it may be for somebody. I have got the information—and I speak with the fullest sense of responsibility—that certain honourable members sitting on the Government benches have purchased land in that ilaga at Rs. 2 or so per acre because they know that the price of land in that part of the province is going to rise very soon.

Premier : I should like my honourable friend to give the name of that member. It is most unfair to make an insinuation like that.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member has made a serious insinuation. If he is in possession of facts, he may move a substantive motion against the member concerned; otherwise he is not right in making such insinuations against his honourable colleagues. He should withdraw the insinuation and proceed.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Sir, I have not named anybody.

Mr. Speaker : Please withdraw and proceed.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : I have not made any insinuation against anybody. What should I withdraw ?

Mr. Speaker : That is a stronger reason why he should withdraw, without any further hesitation, the insinuation made by him. If there is nothing to be withdrawn, then by withdrawal the honourable member shall lose nothing, but if there is something to be withdrawn, then he is bound to withdraw it.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : But, Sir, I have not named anybody.

Mr. Speaker : My ruling is that an insinuation against the honourable members, even if they are not named, is an insinuation against the honourable members of this House. Therefore, I request the honourable member to withdraw it ?

Sardar Sampuran Singh : Is it wrong to buy land ?

Mr. Speaker : No interruption please.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : But why should he withdraw ?

Mr. Speaker : Because, I direct him to withdraw.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : Sir, if you regard these words as an insinuation, I withdraw them.

I was submitting that in view of the fact that war is going on in Europe and we cannot have the necessary material for the construction of the canal it behoves the Honourable Minister in-charge to realize his responsibility and postpone the construction of the project. I may also point out that if he thinks that he can buy material for the construction of the canal in the time of war without unduly affecting the budget of the province, then of course he can carry on the work of the construction of the canal referred to above. But if he thinks that there is any danger of loss, in that case I would request him to postpone the construction of the canal till the war is over. With these words I support the cut motion under consideration.

Khan Bahadur Captain Malik Muzaffar Khan (Mianwali South, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I rise to oppose the cut motion that has been moved by my honourable friend, Mr. Dev Raj Sethi. It is a matter of great regret that he has thought it advisable to move it. I think if this cut motion had been moved by an irresponsible member of the Opposition, I would not have felt so aggrieved as I do now. I am extremely sorry to observe that a project for the construction of which we have been looking forward for the last 40 or 50 years is now being vehemently opposed and objected to. This project will not only benefit a few villagers but would do a lot of good to the poor people throughout the district. (Hear, hear.) This scheme, by grace of God and through the kindness of the Honourable Premier, is going to materialize in a short time after anxiously waiting for it for the last 40 or 50 years. It was hoped that this would be completed within the next two or three years and would eventually lead to the prosperity of the poor. But unfortunately because of the international crisis brought about by Hitler it will mature within six years instead of within the previously anticipated period of three years. And it is in fact deplorable that we would have to wait for six years to get water. This scheme is being opposed by my friends but they do not realize that it will be very useful particularly for the zamindars of those tracts where rainfall is scanty. If my friends had known the hardships of the people in these days in the Mianwali District, which I have the honour to represent, when the people there for want of rain and scarcity of fodder emigrate to districts like Sargodha and Jhang carrying their children on the back of bullocks, he would not have dared to oppose this useful project. The real cause of the whole trouble is the absence of canal and scarcity of rains and other hardships experienced by the people. I am sorry to observe that it has become a habit with my honourable friends to oppose any and every suggestion that is intended to benefit the zamindars and kisans of this province. No doubt my friends never miss an opportunity to express their lip sympathy with the zamindars just as my honourable friend, Mr. Dev Raj Sethi, did the other day while moving his Bill. But whenever any practical suggestion is brought forward to benefit the zamindars they invariably oppose it. Now when they see that a project is being undertaken for providing some relief to the poor and needy zamindars they are opposing it tooth and nail. The fact of the matter is that my friends show sympathy for zamindars merely because they are anxious for cheap popularity, otherwise they are opposed to their interests.

Besides, my honourable friend, Chaudhri Kartar Singh, who regards himself to be very honest and infallible has stated that some honourable members of this House have acquired lands in the Mianwali District. I as a sub-registrar of the said district can say without any fear of contradiction that this statement of the honourable member is entirely incorrect and the people who have informed him gave him wrong information.

Before concluding my speech I may submit that we should thank the Government for taking up this scheme in hand. I would also request them that they should do their level best to complete this scheme as early as possible even if they may have to make reductions in the expenditure of other departments of Government in order to supply water to the poor people of this district who have been anxiously waiting for the completion of this scheme for the last so many years. This scheme if it materializes will no doubt benefit the zamindars and even the Government will not feel sorry for having constructed it. We feel a sense of gratitude towards Government on their having undertaken the scheme in right earnest. With these words, Sir, I strongly oppose the cut motion that has been moved by my honourable friend, Mr. Dev Raj Sethi.

Mian Muhammad Nurullah (Lyallpur, Muhammadan, Rural): Sir, a few years ago a resolution was moved in this House. I was practically the sponsor of that resolution which was balloted in the name of Sardar Bishen Singh, a friend of mine from Lyallpur. I had to make the main speech recommending the expedition of the project. Then a few documents were placed in my hands that the people of the ilaga were prepared to give a part of their land or even to accept any enhanced rate simply to make the project a paying one. I am sure after that Government would have taken all the precautions necessary to see that this project would not be a drain. I would request the Government to go into this matter from that point of view and make sure that there is no trouble in future regarding this matter. Secondly, fears were expressed on this side that this may not fail and the soil may prove to be an inferior one. I can say on the authority of an engineer friend of mine, that the experiments of watering the land from the Sind water have proved successful. I am sure that when the water of Sind with those five particles is put into the soil, the soil will improve and naturally it will pay itself.

Premier : Is it the same engineer who advised Sardar Sampuran Singh ?

Mian Muhammad Nurullah : I am not sure of that. That gentleman told me certain things but he was not so pessimistic when he discussed this project. The only redeeming feature in the last budget was the promise of expedition in the construction of the project. We are all for the zamindars and we want that this ilaga should be brought under cultivation as soon as possible and should add to the revenues of the province. (Hear, hear.) Another fear expressed was and my grievance is as to why they have slowed down the construction of the project.

As a business man I must say that delay in this matter will cost us much more and will make this project pay less, for if the war continues, prices are bound to go up and increase the cost of the project. If you had taken funds in hand, raised loans and bought all the material and expedited the project as you did in the case of Haveli, I am sure you would have gained if not one crore, at least 50 lakhs. I do not agree with my friends that from the business point of view the Thal Project will not be a success if it is expedited, and I am sure Government will do their best to expedite it.

Minister for Revenue (The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia) : I do not think I need detain the House very long on this subject. I will give a few figures to answer certain points which have been raised by my honourable friend Mr. Dev Raj Sethi and by my old friend Sardar Sampuran Singh who has taken the trouble to go and visit that ilaga. I do not know with what object he visited the ilaga. It may be that he had been engaged by some client of his to go and visit the place or it may be that he had some other objective in view. Any way I am glad that my friend has been there and has found out that in addition to planning these canals we may have to cover these canals as well. I may remind my friend that when the railway line from Ferozepore to Bhatinda was being built, that tract being very sandy they used to put some sort of tattis along side of the railway track so as to save it from sand. Those times have gone and I have not seen those tattis being used to protect that line from being covered by sand, and the probability is that my friend will not find the necessity of having to cover these canals by another method so as to save them from being filled by sand.

As regards the fear of waterlogging and other things that have been expressed by my friends, I may tell them that we have had the condition of land in sandy tract very carefully examined by experts from the Irrigation Department who have specially studied the soil of the Thal project. The whole tract has been very carefully studied. We had maps made to show where sand is and where land is good. My friend has painted a picture of this Thal. No doubt the word Thal gives an idea that it is a sandy tract. There are sandy tracts in that area but the whole tract is not sandy. Our engineers would be expected to carry water through the sandy tract to the land which will be cultivated by irrigation and use their endeavours to make that land pay as lands in Lyallpur and other colonies have paid in the past. I have seen with my own eyes while passing through Montgomery that that tract used to be a very arid tract and now thanks to the availability of canal water that tract has been transformed into an oasis, many parts of the land which we considered to be useless have been reclaimed and only recently I found that lands on which Government spent a good deal of money to reclaim them have been taken by people who are making a great success and are carrying on their work in the usual way.

My friend has probably forgotten or he has foregotten to read the account that has been given of the land which is to be cultivated in this tract. The gross area, both proprietary and crown, is 2,056,096 acres with 1,448,897 commanded. The area for irrigation in the tenth year would be 831,000 acres. Crown waste land of course is a small tract, that is we have 144,500 acres crown waste and 686,500 proprietary which are going to be irrigated by this project. My friends will recollect that in Khushab area there is something like two lakhs of acres of land of very good quality which will receive irrigation from this project. By lining the canal we may save water to irrigate 235,000 acres.

As regards the question that the scheme may not be a success, of course in the canal projects there are certain schemes which are productive and there are certain others which are protective. We have tried to work the Thal Project as one of the productive projects and not as a protective project—though if necessity had arisen that the people in this part of the country had required some help of providing them facilities of irrigation we would have been justified in building this canal as a protective measure—and I can assure this House that there will be no necessity of making this canal a protective measure. It will be a productive measure and it will probably pay 6 per cent. on the outlay.

The question of thur and waterlogging has been brought in by my friend. That has to be discussed later on and I shall deal with it when that question is taken up. But it may interest this House to know that we have in the project provided nearly 2½ crores to line the canal. We have had some experience in the Haveli Project where 45 miles of canal have been lined and it has stood the test of a flood which came in unexpectedly. We hope to save water from percolation which will come in very handy in irrigating other parts of the tract. My idea is that when the pucca canal is built there will not be a drop of water which will be wasted in seepage and the fear of waterlogging and thur will not be there at all.

Some of my friends, I think the mover of the cut motion, has asked, how is it possible, when as I have said before that machinery is not available, that this project is being carried on? We have certainly slowed down the work on this project to some extent but it is not totally due to want of machinery; we have ordered the construction of some machinery in our own workshops; but it is on account of the impossibility of the Punjab Government being able to raise the necessary loan. I may inform my honourable friend that the Finance Minister does not wish to raise a loan at this juncture at a very high rate. Therefore, instead of stopping the project altogether and disappointing the people of the areas to which irrigation facilities are to be extended, we have adopted the slower course of trying to build this canal by taking 1½ years more than it would have taken otherwise.

We thought that if we gave up the project at the present moment, it would be not only creating a great disappointment in the minds of the people who have waited for more than 50 years, but the possibility is that this canal may not be built at all. My honourable friends will remember and I think my honourable friend has also hinted it, that the waters of the rivers belong to so many people. My friend wants that not a drop of that water should go anywhere else. Probably he has forgotten that the Government of India has to decide this question as there are other people who are shareholders in the waters of our rivers. Therefore, to give up the project at the present juncture would give a chance to others who would claim a bigger share of the water and tell the Government of India that as the Punjab Government is not going to build the Thal canal they might take all the water. So the water would be lost to us for ever. I think this is a policy which should not have the support of any sensible man, what to say of a business-man as my friend is. Perhaps my friend Mr. Kartar Singh will say something different. He says that this money should have been spent on the sugar factories and iron works. There are other people who have started sugar factories and who have started iron works. They are going in for more and more sugar factories at places where they can be constructed with advantage. My friend does not know that in the Punjab it is not very easy to start sugar factories owing to the climatic conditions. However my friend Sir Gokul Chand Narang has tried some experiments in some States. There may be one or two people who are going to oust him from Kapurthala also. Anyhow anything done to expand the industry of sugar has my wholehearted support. (An honourable member: What about cloth mills?) Industrial works no doubt may fail. But the projects that we have built hitherto have not failed and this is the last project. There will be no more barrages built in the Punjab. We may have to fall back on the expediency of building dams instead of barrages in future. Therefore, to put back this project at the present juncture would be a very unwise step and I am afraid I cannot accept the advice of my friends opposite to give up this project at the present juncture.

As regards the idea of people purchasing lands, though my friend has kindly withdrawn that allegation—

Mr. Speaker : I would request the Honourable Minister not to refer to that matter.

Minister for Revenue : I am only trying to explain that to safeguard land being expropriated from the people of the districts through which these canals pass, we have issued a notification stopping even the agriculturists from outside these districts to come and take the land, what to say of non-agriculturists taking it. We find that there are many people who are trying to take advantage by taking the land at cheap prices and reaping the benefit subsequently. So, the Punjab Government has issued that notification to stop this.

As regards the point that things are becoming dearer, it will interest my friends to know that an important factor in the building of this project has been that it has been contracted to purchase cement even at a lower rate than was the case in the Haveli project. There I think we paid something like Rs. 25 to Rs. 30 and we are now paying much lower than that. As regards steel I think we have arranged to purchase it at rates cheaper than in the case of Haveli. Some machinery might have to be renewed. We have got some machinery from Haveli transferred to Thal and we are carrying on the work with the machinery which is available. New machinery we can purchase gradually. So there is no fear at any rate at present that we have to pay much for the machinery. As regards other materials such as bricks, they are available here.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : What machinery do you want? Dredgers?

Minister : Many other things.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : For instance?

Minister : Will my friend say what is needed for an irrigation project?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : The Honourable Minister is the irrigation man.

Minister : I am a layman. But all the same I may tell you that a good deal of machinery, ramming machinery, steel piles, and such like things have to be purchased. Perhaps a good deal of it would be purchased from the Tatas in which some of my honourable friends are interested.

Premier (The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan) (Urdu) : Sir, I am not surprised to see that my honourable friend, Mr. Dev Raj Sethi, has opposed the Thal project. I know that men of his qimash cannot but oppose such a scheme.

An honourable member : What does qimash mean ?

Chaudhri Krishan Gopal Dutt : It is in very bad taste.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : It ill becomes a Premier.

Premier : Evidently my honourable friends do not understand the meaning of the word qimash. In English it means ilk.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Ilk is bad enough.

Premier : You will please suggest some other word.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : You can better say "men of his way of thinking".

Premier : I will say that men of my friend's mentality or sentiments cannot but oppose this scheme.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : To-day you have used qimash to-morrow you will use qallash.

Premier : No, qallash are those who sit on this side of the House whom it is intended to benefit by the new irrigation projects.

I am however surprised at the attitude of the Congress members in this province. While the Indian National Congress professes to be the supporter of everything which is done to benefit the poor people in the country, the Punjab Congressmen make it a point to oppose all such things. I will not say why my honourable friend has opposed this project. I will for instance not say that he has opposed this project as the percentage of population in the area to be affected by the Thal project is of a particular complexion. He has perhaps opposed this new project for the fear that it will result in the postponement of other irrigation projects of a very important nature. But when the Government has undertaken the responsibility of carrying on with the project why should he have any worry ? If he still persists in his attitude I will say :

Qazi ji ap kion shehr ke andeshe se duble ho rahe hain ?

I think that if he continues to mix with those people with whom he is mixing these days there will be no end to his worries. He seems to think that it is this Government which is the originator of the idea of this scheme. But that is not the case. The idea of the Thal project dates back to the year 1880, that is, it is as old as 60 years. For a long time this area has continued to be barren and waterless. It has not been possible for the people living there even to get drinking water.

Chaudhri Kartar Singh : What have you done for the Hissar district ?

Premier : My friend need not worry as he has become an industrialist now.

the Thal for the Mianwali district and Muzaffargarh district. We know that these projects are meant to benefit the ilagas the need of which is the greatest. There is famine in Hissar and there is disease in the Muzaffargarh district. My honourable friends on those benches may not be feeling anxious about the condition of the people living in those areas but the Government cannot be indifferent to its duty. In case it is not possible for us to carry out the Bhakra Dam Scheme on account of paucity of funds due to war we have another alternative scheme on hand. It will be possible to make a temporary arrangement to provide water to the Hissar district out of the Jumna river at the cost of half a crore of rupees. This will enable the people of the Hissar district at least to sow fodder for their cattle. When I last visited this district I made an announcement to that effect and I hope that the scheme will mature soon and water will be available for the next crop.

So far as the Thal project is concerned, our party which was formed in the time of the last Legislative Council got the old Act repealed so that the zamindars will not have to give up three-fourths of their land in order to get benefit from the Thal project. This was indeed a commendable success of our party. In place of the provisions of the former Act much easier conditions were offered to the people whose lands are to benefit from the Thal project. It was pointed out to them that as their lands will increase in value—the lands worth a few rupees per acre will become worth Rs. 250 per acre—so a khush haisiyyati tax would be levied from them just as it is done in the case of lands on other canals. It was further made clear to them that they would have to pay ten to fifteen rupees each in easy instalments of eight annas each. To this they readily agreed and promised to pay up the amount.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : You would not get it.

Premier : I am sure they will fulfil their promises only if nobody goes there to advise them not to fulfil them. My honourable friend knows how people can be persuaded to go back upon their promises. In Lyallpur he did that. People were ready to prove as good as their word but he made them forget all their promises. (Laughter.)

I am sure that if discouraged by the present financial position of the province, we had abandoned the idea of carrying out the Thal project all sorts of misunderstandings would have been created. Perhaps adjournment motions would have been brought forward to condemn the Government for its callousness. It would have been pointed out that the Government was no real friend of the poor zamindars.

There have been financial difficulties in our way. Previously when the Congress Governments assumed offices we got loans from the Reserve Bank as the authorities of the Bank were very accommodating. But experience showed that it was not easy to carry on Governments by raising loans. My honourable friend the Finance Minister knows how difficult it is to keep the budget balanced. There were Governments, however, which did the work of rural uplift by raising loans. Although we did not raise any loan for rural uplift we had to go in for a debt.

But look at the superhuman powers of this wizard of a Finance Minister. He has spent about 2½ crores of rupees on relief work in the famine-stricken area without in any way disturbing the Budget Estimates. Thus our credit was established in the country. Other provincial governments also obtained the sanction of the Reserve Bank to raise loans. First of all Madras and then Bombay came into the field. But even after under-writing, it appears that at least 50 per cent, remained in the pockets of the lenders. Then take the case of the Government of India in comparison with whom we almost pale into insignificance. In spite of the fact that the rate of interest offered was 3 per cent it could get only 98 per cent of the amount advertised. But this humble Government of yours goes to Bombay and the loan is over subscribed in about an hour. Not only that. We got this loan at a rate of interest which is the lowest offered by any Government in the country. (Hear, hear.) Even from Bombay we got application for an amount equal to 60 per cent of the loan to be raised while previously the share of Bombay in our loans was never more than 10 per cent. This is our credit in the market and I am sure that the superhuman faculties of our Finance Minister will always get us the required amount of money. But even if we fail to get it, you gentlemen, and other patriotic Punjabis are sure to make up the deficiency and thus save your Government from any embarrassment. Anyway, my honourable friends need have no unnecessary apprehensions because our experts are of the opinion that this project will have more water than any canal including the Lower Bari Doab. They are sure that it will stand unique among our canals.

Thus some risk had to be taken and we took it. We have also extended the period for the completion of the project. I am sure that our engineers will regret this delay because they had promised that if the project is sanctioned in 1939 water would be available in 1941. The Chief Engineer had promised to complete the Headworks and mains within 18 months. But now they will have to slacken the pace. As my honourable friend, Mian Muhammad Nurullah, has said, this slackening of pace will result inter alia in more interest being paid and the income being delayed by a year and a half. But we cannot help it. However, so far as the risk is concerned we have to take it for the sake of those who have been waiting and hoping for 60 years to get canal water.

Attention has been drawn to the Hydro-Electric Scheme. Yes, risk was taken in this case and the expenditure which was estimated at 6½ crores rose to 12½ crores. I was even at that time of the opinion that the scheme would prove a white elephant and I still hold that opinion. Although the Department has by its efforts succeeded in showing some profit this year, yet I am not very sanguine about the realisation of the high hopes held in connection with this scheme. But just as risk was taken in the case of the Hydro-Electric Scheme we are going to take it in this case. At the worst there can be a loss of one crore of rupees but we are prepared to face it for the sake of those poor people who have been kept waiting for 60 years. (Hear, hear.) Then my honourable friend has laid great stress on the fact that the lands in that part of the province are covered with sand and that there is nothing but sand there. But the trouble is that he does not know much about land. He ought to have remembered that the Lyallpur district which is now so famous for its rich crops was originally no better than a desert. I admit that the land in certain parts of the ilaga concerned is of inferior quality but my honourable friends should know that the remaining area yields very good crop of gram which now-a-days fetches better price than wheat. The Leih tahsil is called 'Thal Jandi.' I do not profess to be an expert but people who ought to know have a saying to the effect that you should readily agree to purchase a piece of land where there are "jand" trees. This opinion is based on the experience of many generations and we must act on the advice contained in the saying.

Moreover, if we have water in excess of the requirements of the Thal ilaga it can be used to irrigate the Khushab and Pind Dadan Khan tahsils. It should also be remembered that the canals are going to be lined which means that their fears about waterlogging are empty and without any foundation. This will also save a good deal of water which can be utilized elsewhere.

My honourable friend, Chaudhri Kartar Singh, suggested that the money which the Government is going to waste on this project should be utilized for opening sugar factories and otherwise industrialising the province. Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang may be able to tell him whether it is in the Punjab or Behar that a sugar factory can be started more profitably. But may I ask, since when this socialist friend of ours has become an industrialist? Let me tell him that the greatest industry of this province is agriculture which supports about 90 per cent. of its population. It is, therefore, this industry which has the first claim on our attention. If we cannot devote 90 per cent of our money to agriculture we must spend at least 75 per cent. on it, and if this Government gets a sufficiently long lease of life we will certainly attain that percentage. Let me make it clear that we are not unmindful of the importance of industry. If we spend 75 per cent. on agriculturists the remaining 25 per cent. will be devoted to the interests of other classes. But I want to see all parts of the province to benefit from any scheme of industrialisation that we undertake. I am waiting for the day when places like Bhakkar and Leiah will become so rich and fertile as to make it possible to open sugar factories there. (Hear, hear.) I, therefore, hope that my honourable friend will withdraw his motion. Otherwise we shall be obliged to think that he and his party cannot brook the prospect of anything done for the good of zamindars.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi (Urdu): Sir, at the very outset of my speech I would like to assure my honourable friend who hails from the district of Mianwali, I mean Khan Bahadur Captain Muzaffar Khan whom I hold in high esteem, that I have not opposed this project at all. ("Hear, hear." from the Government benches.) But I have submitted that the proposal regarding the project should be re-examined and thoroughly considered once again. As you are aware, Sir, the Honourable Minister of Revenue has not replied to most of the objections raised by me. He has admitted that the ilaga to be irrigated by the Thal project is more sandy than any other ilaga in which a project has been constructed. There is no doubt that the Government propose to spend 2 crores and more to line the main canals, and the water may flow through the canals without loss by percolation, but the question is, how and wherewith will the sandy fields be irrigated?

The fields would absorb double or treble or even four times the quantity of water required under normal circumstances. I know several experiments where wells have been working for 24 hours but the field less than one marla in area being sandy could not be filled with water. All I ask is, by having to supply several times the quantity of normal water for irrigation per acre how will the project be made productive? Then comes the question of thurs. The Government has tried to assure us that as soon as the canals are lined in that ilaga the question of thurs will not arise. Is it for me to tell the honourable members adorning the treasury benches that the irrigation experts who deal with such subjects do not agree with what my honourable friends have said? There is an important section which holds the opinion that even if the canals are lined and reinforced, the problem of thurs will still arise. They hold that appearance of thurs is more the result of defective drainage than an after-effect of percolation through irrigation channels. Anyhow it is not a simple affair to analyse the factors that lead to the appearance of thurs. It is still a moot question. Therefore, my submission is that in calculating profit and loss of the heavy project, the loss due to appearance of thurs and kallar ought to have been added on the debit side. I challenged the Honourable Minister for Revenue to place the opinions of irrigation research experts and those incharge of central designs regarding this particular matter on the table. But to my surprise, and to the dismay of the House he has not taken the trouble to do so. I, therefore, submit that the Government should not start this work without first taking the House into confidence, regarding certain important points to which I have drawn their attention. As far as the hardships of people living in Mianwali district are concerned we are at one with the Premier in sympathising with them. But what we really object to is the policy and method of construction of the Thal project. We should not, however, be led away by the warm words of the Premier who knows how to please others by oral professions. As Mianwali, with the sole exception of the district of Hissar, is the poorest district out of the 29 districts of the Punjab, we do not object to the Government spending as much money as they can afford for the well-being of the said district. Let the Thal project be treated as a protected one and we shall all willingly support it. But to present it as a productive one, knowing all the while that it will not be able to pay its way is to throw dust into the eyes of the honourable members. As it has just now been remarked by the Honourable Premier that even Hydro-electric Scheme is proving a white elephant, I would like to suggest to the Government that they should think twice before launching on this project so that no one may fling the same words to-morrow in the face of the Cabinet that the Thal project is also proving another white elephant. Now comes the question of loans. It is well known that only a loan of 62 lakhs of rupees has so far been taken for the project out of the Punjab Government loan of 2 crores floated last summer. During the war it will be very difficult to raise further loans. During the last Great War, Government loans were raised at 4 per cent, 5 per cent, 6 per cent, and even 7 per cent. During the next four years Government will require 2 to 3 crores annually. If the Government has to pay interest at 6 per cent or 7 per cent, how will they make the project productive, when the calculations are based on 3 per cent? The British Government has even at the commencement of the War been forced to raise loans of small amounts like 15 s. and 5£. Public Safety Bonds. Will the Punjab Government be able to raise loans for the Thal project when all the financial resources will have to be tapped for the Empire.

[Mr. Dev Raj Sethi.

As far as the district of Mianwali is concerned the Honourable Premier knows very well how to shed crocodile tears. But may I ask him when one lakh peasants of district Shahpur cry hoarse for water, why does the fountain of tears becomes dry? Before I resume my seat I would like to point out what is being done in that ilaga. Is it not a fact that six private canals flowing in that ilaga are owned by Tiwanas and Noons? Several years ago the Punjab Government constructed a canal at a cost of 19 lakhs. The canal, rest-houses, bungalows, bridges, every thing is ready but the Government canal is not run. Why? Is it because the Tiwanas and Noons who charge 25 per cent. of gross produce as abiana from the small cultivators for the water, will be deprived of their rich booty? If that is a fact the Government stands condemned. The Government may not think it expedient to incur the displeasure of the Tiwanas and Noons, but surely the interests of one lakh of small holders call for a more dispassionate and honest consideration of the question. My submission is that the Government should not conceal full facts with regard to the construction of this project from the House and that the opinions of experts should also be disclosed on the floor of the House so that every honourable member may be able to form an independent and correct judgment.

Minister of Revenue (Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia) (Punjab): Sir, my honourable friend has laid much stress upon this point that there is much sand in that ilaga, but I should point out to him that the quantity of sand in that ilaga is not so much as my honourable friend considers it to be. I would not dilate upon this point as the Honourable Premier has already explained that the sand of that ilaga possesses such fertilizing qualities that the zamindars grow grams instead of wheat and derive more profit out of it than they would have done in case of wheat. And as far as gram blight is concerned we have taken precautionary measures. I, therefore, submit that my honourable friends over there need not bother themselves with regard to the sandy nature of that ilaga. We have consulted best American experts in this connection and if some opportunity occurs I will show my honourable friends how dams are constructed so that their apprehension may be allayed.

As regards thur I am afraid my honourable friend has perhaps conveniently forgotten that thur and waterlogging do not exist particularly in that ilaga and he seems to be dreaming about other parts where it does exist. Had he been aware that sand absorbs water he would not have made such remarks. I may also inform my honourable friend that we would be spending two and a half crores of rupees on lining the canals in this project and our experts have succeeded in solving this problem so much so that even .001 per cent water has not percolated through it. When this is the position how can my honourable friend expect that plenty of water will be wasted through percolation? The Government has spent and is still spending a large amount of money to do away with thur and waterlogging wherever they have appeared. The last budget estimates contained a demand amounting to Rs. 82,00,000 for constructing drains which was sanctioned by the House. But let me tell you that construction of drains is not as easy a job as lining the canals. This report contains some other figures too which throw a flood of light on the activities of the Government in this direction. A waterlogging conference is held twice a year in which this question is thoroughly discussed and important decisions taken thereon. Similarly where there is excess of kallar efforts are made to wash it away and improve the condition of the soil by extra supply of water. The reports show that the experiment has proved very successful.

Now, Sir, I am glad that my honourable friend opposite has expressed some sympathy with the Mianwali district although I am not quite sure what sort of sympathy he has. Only yesterday leave was sought to introduce a Bill which reflected quite a different kind of sympathy from the one professed to-day. (A voice: Please answer the points raised.) I would gladly do that but the trouble is that my honourable friends have not raised any point worth the name. They have been simply trying to raise walls of sand. Now, as regards productivity I may inform my friends that a yield of 6 per cent. is expected by the Government. (Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang: Plus or minus?) (Laughter.) We have paid fullest possible attention to all aspects of the question and it is thought that on the whole we are not likely to be any the losers. I do not want to take any more time of the House. I would simply inform my honourable friends that this project will supply water to the Shahpur, Mianwali and Muzaffargarh districts and if there is water to spare it will be given to Pind Dadan Khan and other places. They should, therefore, refrain from opposing the demand under consideration.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That the demand be reduced by Rs. 10.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That a supplementary sum not exceeding Rs. 25,94,790 be granted to the Governor to defray the charges that will come in course of payment for the year ending 31st March, 1940, in respect of construction of Irrigation Works (Capital Expenditure).

The motion was carried.

FAMINE.

Minister for Finance (The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal): Sir, I beg to move—

That a supplementary sum not exceeding Rs. 37,96,680 be granted to the Governor to defray the charges that will come in course of payment for the year ending 31st March, 1940, in respect of Famine.

Mr. Speaker : The motion moved is—

That a supplementary sum not exceeding Rs. 37,96,680 be granted to the Governor to defray the charges that will come in course of payment for the year ending 31st March, 1940, in respect of Famine.

Officers for Famine Relief.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) (Punjabi):
I beg to move—

That the item of Rs. 21,050 on account of pay of officers be reduced by Rs. 21,049.

Sir, with regard to this particular demand several friends of mine on this side of the House have given notices of a number of cut motions. But it does not necessarily follow that the Congress party is opposed to the idea of the Government having started relief work in the famine-stricken area. Our object in giving notices of such motions is, as is evident from the remarks, to criticise the incompetency and inefficiency of the officer who has been entrusted with the whole relief measure. The idea that has actuated us to move such motions is two-fold. On the one hand our contention is that the relief which is being given is hopelessly inadequate, and on the other hand our grievance is that the arrangements that have been made by the Government for the purpose are definitely unsatisfactory. Let me again point out to the Government that the Congress party in the Assembly does not oppose the idea underlying the relief work. On the other hand it started its own relief centres in those areas for affording material help to the famished people. It has spent a lot from its own pocket for the purpose. But it is a pity that no such centre was opened by the Unionist party or any of the Jat Sabhas for giving relief to the poverty-stricken and penniless people of that ilaga. Anyway so far as the relief work started by the Government is concerned, it was its duty to see whether the public money was being properly and honestly disbursed. But we feel constrained to say that it has done nothing in this direction and I charge it with a criminal negligence of its duty. It is dereliction of duty pure and simple. It is a fact that the officials concerned have misappropriated hundreds and thousands of rupees. The Unionist Government has on various occasions made boastful declarations in connection with the famine relief work. Inside as well as outside the House we are told that the Government has done this and done that for the welfare of those who are face to face with grave dangers. The Director of Information too has not lagged behind. He too has done his duty by singing the praises of his Government for the help it has rendered to the famished. We are told that Rs. 1,75,00,000 have been spent in one way or other for mitigating the effects of the famine.

Minister of Revenue : The honourable member seems to be poor in mathematics.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : I graduated from a college which is managed by the Honourable Minister himself. The students of that college cannot, therefore, be expected to be strong in mathematics. (Laughter.) The Government usually give relief to the poor people in three ways. Either they grant remissions or suspend land revenue or grant taccavi loans. Now the major part of this money has been spent under these three heads. Now, may I ask if the grant of taccavi loans, remissions and suspensions of land revenue amount to relief for the zamindars? If that is so, it is a pity that they are mistaken. Is it not a fact that whenever crops fail in any ilaga for want of rains the Government have to grant kharaaba to the zamindars? Now when the crops of the zamindars have failed, how could the Government realize land revenue from them? They have no other alternative but to grant remissions to the zamindars. In the circumstances if my honourable friends opposite say that they have granted Rs. 40 or 50 lakhs by way of remissions, it cannot be described in any sense of the word as relief for the zamindars. In other words they have been forced by circumstances to adopt this measure. When the zamindars are not in a position to pay their share of the land revenue, naturally the Government have to grant remissions. Now so far as the question of remissions in land revenue is concerned my honourable friends may claim the credit of granting it as a measure of relief. But, how are they justified to describe suspension in land revenue as a relief measure? Because, the suspended land revenue can be realized later on. May I now ask how it lies in the mouth of my honourable friends to say that they have granted relief to the zamindars to the extent of Rs. 40 or 50 lakhs?

Let me now advert to another aspect of the question of granting relief. I mean the test works started for affording relief to the famished people. These works are mainly confined to the building of ponds and roads.

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan : May I know what motion is under discussion?

Mr. Speaker : Demand No. 2.

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan : What motion is the honourable member discussing now?

Sardar Kapoor Singh : Be patient. I am coming to it. The Government commended the construction of ponds and roads and the famished people were put on work in this connection. So far as my information goes these works were under the supervision of the Public Works Department; but the supervising staff was not honest in payment for daily labour.

There is yet another point that I want to make out and that is that Fodder Adviser and his staff were bound as was stated in the Explanatory Memorandum to supply fodder to the famished people but when I visited the ilaga I found to my utter astonishment that these officers were not rendering any service to the people but were actually feeding fat at their expense. Sir, you are aware of the fact that the Fodder Adviser is drawing Rs. 2,500 per month, Rs. 1,500 as pay and Rs. 1,000 by way of allowances. Then there are under him tahsildars, naib-tahsildars, kanungoes and patwaries, who are all engaged in the work of supplying fodder. If we look at the work that they have done so far we may be in a position to know how much money they have disbursed among the poor and how much they have taken for themselves. If we look at the budget of this year we would find that a sum of Rs. 18 or Rs. 20 lakhs was provided for the supply of fodder to the famished people. The Fodder Adviser was authorised to spend this huge amount. So far as I know the money was spent in the following manner. In the first place the Fodder Adviser used to prepare an estimate as to how much fodder was required for the famine-stricken area and then used to place an order to that effect with the contractors through the deputy commissioner of the district. In this connection what appears to me most objectionable is that the Fodder Adviser placed orders with the contractors without inviting tenders, and further such orders were mostly placed with his friends or relatives. (Voices : Question). My friends on the other side are getting restive. Let them wait and they will know whether my statement is correct or not. That is how the fodder was supplied. Besides, fodder centres were opened 20 miles apart. Now the poor zamindars in the first instance were required to obtain chits and after having these chits they had to go to these centres for getting fodder. I hope the honourable members know that generally speaking the contractors are not always honest. Even the most honest of them keeps 20 per cent. profit for himself. Now if we assume the share of the contractor as 20 per cent. it means that he would keep three and-a-half annas in a rupee as a profit for himself and will supply fodder worth twelve annas and a half to the depot. It is therefore obvious that a person who obtains a chit worth one rupee will only be able to get fodder worth twelve annas and a half. But what did he actually receive? As a matter of fact the poor follow under the arrangements could hardly get fodder even worth twelve and-a-half annas. I have already stated that the people were required in the first instance to obtain chits and it is but natural that the officer authorised to issue chits must have extorted something from the famished people by way of his share. Now, if a person after good deal of botheration got a chit say worth five rupees, he then had to go to fodder centres which I have already stated were situated at a distance of 20 miles apart, in order to get fodder. I am stating all these facts on the authority of a friend of mine who told me all these facts. Now when he reaches there he finds that the person incharge of the fodder centre is to be seen nowhere. That is very often the case. As a matter of fact the incharge of fodder centres usually adopt this device to extort money from the poor zamindars. And when after five or seven days he finds him out and tells him that he has got a chit worth five rupees for the purchase of fodder but he is prepared to accept fodder worth three rupees and the remaining two rupees may be kept by him for his personal use ; it is then and then only that the poor fellow gets the fodder worth three rupees. Now may I ask whether the Honourable Minister for Development and his colleagues are prepared to say they have not received such complaints? If they have received such complaints what have they done to put a stop to such a state of affairs? It is a matter of great regret that Government was not moved in the least in spite of the innumerable complaints made by the Congress Committees as well as various prominent persons. But later on when there was much talk about this corruption amongst the people the Government deputed a tahsildar or a naib-tahsildar to start investigations about a weak case and try to restore the confidence in the people by its consequent failure. Under the circumstances it is obvious that Government are not justified in boasting that they provided Rs. 20 lakhs for the supply of fodder to the famine-stricken zamindars of Hissar. I can say without any fear of contradiction that fodder worth Rs. 5 lakhs was misappropriated during transit and the embezzlement by the contractors accounted for an equal figure. I am, therefore, of the opinion that the zamindars in no way received fodder worth more than 10 lakhs of rupees.

Now I would like to make mention of the concentration camps established by the Government in the famine-stricken area for the protection and preservation of breeding cows and stud bulls. In this connection

I may tell the honourable members that in the beginning of famine certain cow protection societies under the aegis of Congress and other well-to-do persons decided to open concentration camps in order to preserve stud bulls and cows of good breed. But when Government received this news they thought that if this work was left to the Congress Committees it would enhance the prestige of the latter amongst the masses and consequently the hold of the Unionist Government would be weakened. And the Government, altogether ignoring the fact that these non-official committees would prove more efficient in carrying out this work, hastened to issue a communiqué that they intended to establish concentration camps for this purpose. It was stated that in the first instance 12,000 cows would be admitted into these camps. Hence in accordance with this announcement good breeding cows were purchased from the zamindars on the condition that they would be looked after as long as the famine lasted and after the conditions had improved they would be returned to them for the same prices. But it is a pity that instead of admitting 12,000 cows, as was announced, hardly five or six thousand cows were admitted in the concentration camps. It is a matter of still greater pity that Government could not keep up its pledged word. That is, they could not fulfil the condition of looking after those animals during the famine period and returning them to the owners at the same prices. In this connection I may submit that in September last Government announced their decision to discontinue the concentration camps and instead of selling the cows to the same zamindars placed them in the market for sale. Even the deputy commissioner issued letters to well-to-do persons residing outside Hissar to come and purchase these cows. I am fully aware of those persons who utilised this offer. It would not be out of place to mention here that those very responsible persons who were loud in their professions that the breeding cows of Hissar must be preserved from falling into the hands of outsiders, in the end themselves decided to dispose of these animals. I would request the Honourable Premier to send for the list of those persons who have purchased those cows. It would be quite evident from the list that cows had been sold either to the officers who had supervised the famine works or to their relations or friends. At the same time the list would speak of the honesty of the officers who are at the helm of affairs in respect of famine works. I am, therefore, of the opinion that these facts clearly show that most of the money provided by Government for which they are claiming so much credit has been wasted or improperly used and the zamindars have not been able to get benefit of this provision to the fullest extent. In view of these considerations I have been obliged to move this cut motion and I hope the House would agree to it.

Mr. Speaker : Demand under consideration, motion moved is—

That the item of Rs. 21,050 on account of Pay of Officers be reduced by Rs. 21,049.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan (Ludhiana, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I rise to support the cut motion now before the House. I would like to point out to the honourable members why incompetent and inefficient officers have been appointed there and why it is that Government do not want to take notice of this fact. But before doing that I may submit that in this august House there are two sorts of honourable members, firstly, those who have no control over their tongue as the Honourable

[Ch. Muhammad Hasan.]

Premier has often pointed out; and secondly, those who have a control over their tongue but have no hold over their conscience. But fortunately you, Sir, being above party politics, possess control both over your tongue as well as your conscience. Now, whenever we speak out the plain truth on the floor of the House, the Honourable Premier gets up and more often than not uses such expressions as "He has the audacity, he has the temerity, he has the hardihood to say" and so on. But I may point out that we are not going to be cowed down by such remarks.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the chair and Mr. Deputy Speaker occupied it.)

Premier : If the honourable member has the courage, he should give this to me in writing; I shall make inquiries. But apparently my friend has not the courage to do so.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : I know it is you who have not the courage. Sir, my honourable friend is in the habit of trying to intimidate members sitting on these benches but I assure him that we will not be browbeaten.

Premier : Sir, I strongly protest against this insinuation. My honourable friend is making this insinuation with immunity only in this House. I should like him to say this outside this House so that an opportunity is given to the officer to vindicate himself.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Should I say that the Honourable Premier has inherited his policy of perpetuating corruption and slavery? But I am not one of those who believe in the saying—'Fathers ate the sour grapes and sons' teeth were set on ache'.

Premier : On a point of order. I want your ruling whether my honourable friend has a right to make an insinuation against a highly respectable officer, an officer whose reputation in this province is known in every district and to every man and child?

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Is this a point of order or a speech?

Premier : My honourable friend has made an insinuation against an officer whose reputation is of the highest. But he always makes insinuations only against honest officers and not against dishonest officers.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member has no right to make defamatory statements against a Government official because the character of a Government official can be impugned only by means of a substantive motion.

Diwan Chaman Lall : On a point of order. May I ask your ruling in regard to this matter? I am not going into the merits of the case, because I do not know anything about its merits. I personally hold that it is undesirable that any statement of this kind should be made on the floor of this House either by my honourable friend's party or by my party. I consider that it is undesirable. All that I am asking is under what rule of procedure or fiat of the Speaker do you hold that this particular matter is out of order. It is undesirable, I quite admit; but how is it out of order?

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Sir, if you refer to the words of the cut motion you will see that I have been permitted therein to bring under discussion the inefficiency and incompetency of the officer. My point is that this officer is indifferent to his duty. This is perhaps due to the fact that the Premier above him is also indifferent. The officer knows that if a report is made against him it will go to the Premier, he will refer it to his Secretary, Mir Maqbool Mahmood, and this gentleman as we all know is singularly indifferent. At least I know him since 1918. He is the last person to care for facts. He will at once say that the officer is an able, honest and most efficient man without taking the trouble of making inquiries. In these circumstances, how can that officer mend his ways?

Much stress has been laid on the officer's being a fodder expert. Yes, he is an expert in the sense that he knows about nothing but bhusa. He never takes the trouble of considering that what is most essential for the health of cows and buffaloes is dana and not bhusa alone. My point is that the officer in spite of his getting 25 hundred rupees per month is not doing any useful work. But my honourable friend the Premier tries to exonerate him.

Premier : Sir, it is indeed shameful to suggest that the officer is dishonest although he is an honest gentleman.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : I have facts to show that the Honourable Premier has all along been busy showing favours to that officer. I want to uphold the honour of the Premier but unfortunately he has no control over his tongue. The other day he used the word "la'nti" in connection with Chaudhri Afzal Haq and he knows it too well what he had to hear in return. I for one am a defender of his honour, but he himself is out to land himself in trouble. I cannot help him.

Sir, I was saying that either the establishment under this officer does not carry out his instructions or he himself deliberately shuts his eyes against his subordinates' misdoings. A very respectable and reliable gentleman, Mr. Hardev Sahai, who is the secretary of the unofficial relief committee made the allegations that Government officials took bribes. How can I reject the statement of this responsible gentleman as totally baseless. He is a resident of the locality. His statement cannot be brushed aside as untrue without proving that it is not true. We have thrown out a challenge to Government to hold an enquiry. If my honourable friend has the moral courage he should at once reach the spot and make enquiries. Is it not a fact for instance that cases under sections 409 and 161 were instituted against Government officials working there and they had to be dismissed? Is it possible that cases are instituted without strong reasons to believe that officials had been guilty of corruption and dishonesty? I have, therefore, to suggest that an enquiry be made into the work of this officer in order to see if the allegations of incompetency and inefficiency against this officer are true or not. It is a fact that the area under cultivation in Hissar has been reduced due to the inefficiency of this officer. Another proof of this officer's incompetency and tactlessness was that he sent cows and buffaloes to the neighbouring province. The result has been that this province has been drained of a fine breed. The zamindars in the neighbouring province have become rich and the people of the Hissar district have been impoverished. This officer ought to have tried to retain those in the province. These things show that the province is not benefiting from the services of this officer to the extent to which it has to bear the burden of his big salary.

My honourable friend Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram said that taccavi was a great help to the famine-stricken people. But he forgets the fact that whereas the zamindars' lands are safe from attachment in satisfaction of the debts owed to the sahukars no such facility exists in the case of debts owed to Government. If he is not able to pay up his debts to Government his lands may be promptly put up for auction. Is this a service to the famine-stricken zamindars? Then the land revenue has not been remitted. It has only been postponed. More burden, therefore, has been piled upon the weak shoulders of the poor zamindars. I am sure that the zamindars in the famine-stricken areas will not be thankful to the Government when they know that their burden has not been lightened but addition has been made to it.

Then, should we think that this officer does not care a twopence for the instructions of the Ministers? If that is so, he ought not to have been retained in service. If the Honourable Premier wishes to benefit him there are so many ways open to him. For instance, he may be sent to Patiala (Laughter). If he is allowed to remain in Hissar he will waste a lot of money of the province.

The Honourable Premier cannot deny his responsibility in the matter, and since, as has been remarked by the Honourable Minister of Revenue, the Government is working on the principle of joint responsibility the whole Government is to blame for this state of affairs. If the money spent in the famine area is not being disbursed properly for the benefit of deserving persons you cannot say that there is nothing wrong with the administration and those responsible for running it.

Then I wish to draw your attention to another side of the activities of this officer which throws a flood of light on his much advertised capability and efficiency. You will remember, Sir, that a number of cattle were received in the concentration camps and it was said at the time that they would be returned to their owners or other approved persons without any charge. But my honourable friends Chaudhri Sahib Ram and Rai Sahib Chaudhri Het Ram will bear me out that instead of being returned to their owners these cows have been sold to Government officials at nominal prices. This is what the Government said :—

The Punjab Government have decided to close the Cattle Concentration Camps in Hissar. Most of the cattle which were concentrated in these camps and fed at Government expense during the worst part of the famine in Hissar have already been restored to their owners. Regarding the rest which have not yet been claimed by anybody, it was represented by the Deputy Commissioner of Hissar that their disposal by public auction would be inadvisable for several reasons. After considering the case Government have decided to authorise local officers to make arrangements to give these unclaimed cattle free of charge to cattle breeding societies or other approved persons who might desire to have them.

Now, may I enquire whether cattle breeding societies or 'other approved persons' and the Government officials to whom these cattle have been sold are one and the same thing? Is this the capability and efficiency of which we hear so much in season and out of season?

Premier : Sir, may I draw your attention to rule 68? The honourable member is trying to defame a responsible and honest officer without any rhyme or reason. The officer in question has nothing to do with the concentration camps. Rule 68 (2) (iii) lays down that a member while speaking shall not—

Utter treasonable or defamatory words or make use of offensive expressions.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : I am not attacking his honesty or using any defamatory expression against him. I am only criticising his incapability and inefficiency.

Diwan Chaman Lall : One word with regard to this rule 68. You will find that the word "defamatory" is immediately after the word "treasonable" and these words fall within section 121-A of the Indian Penal Code and section 124-A of the Indian Penal Code. An honourable member of this House can criticise the character or conduct of an official in his public capacity. I will refer to rule 20 (9). It definitely states that a question can be put with regard to the acts done by an official in his official or public capacity and that no question can be put reflecting on the private conduct or character of an official. In discussing the conduct or character of an official no treasonable or seditious expressions should be uttered. But here we are not prevented or debarred from discussing the conduct or character of an official in his public or official capacity. If an honourable member criticises the public or official character or conduct of an official, that is no defamation at all. The Honourable Premier wants to prevent us from doing our duty. The House will be prevented and debarred from conducting its business. That the discussion of the public or official character or conduct of an official appointed by this Government is desirable or not, is a different matter altogether. Will the Honourable Premier point out any rule of procedure which prevents the discussion of the conduct or character of an official in his public or official capacity?

Premier : An honourable member can say anything against any official in this House with impunity and no court of law can take action against him. There have been very few instances in the House of Commons where the conduct or character of an official has been criticised. When an honourable member has criticised the conduct of an official, he has also criticised it simultaneously outside the House, in order to enable the official so attacked or criticised to vindicate his position by filing a suit in a court of law. If the honourable member is prepared to do so, he is quite welcome to say whatever he likes in this House.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : I am quite prepared to do it, if the Honourable the Premier undertakes to make an enquiry.

Diwan Chaman Lall : We are not defaming anybody. We simply want to criticise the public or official conduct or character of an official. This House is the supreme body in this province and is above all the law courts and no honourable member can be debarred or prevented from discussing the official conduct of an official appointed by my honourable friend's Government. Suppose an official has misbehaved in his official or public capacity in the constituency of my honourable friend, is it not his duty, as a representative of that constituency, to have the conduct or character of that official discussed on the floor of this House? Nothing can debar him from doing that. If in laying those grievances before this House the conduct or character of any official is impugned, then my honourable friend is well within his rights to impugn them.

Premier : My honourable friend is again talking theory. Let me make it clear that if he wants to ventilate the grievances of any of his constituents it is his duty first of all to make sure and satisfy himself that those allegations are correct and he must take responsibility for that statement. That is why I gave an instance of Parliament that where on very rare occasions the public policy of an official was challenged in Parliament, it was done outside the Parliament also so as to give an opportunity to the official concerned to retaliate and vindicate his position. My honourable friend is perfectly aware that we can abuse anybody in this House. My honourable friend may consider somebody to be most honest in this province and yet if some irresponsible member or dishonest member, if I may say so, wants to defame him on account of some grudge, he can do so on the floor of the House because he is immune in this House from any trouble, but what I say is that it is only gentlemanly that the same charge should be repeated outside this House. When a charge of this nature is made in Parliament, it is simultaneously made outside the House as well to give the person concerned a chance to vindicate his position so that he may be able to bring action against the member concerned for the defamatory language used.

Diwan Chaman Lal : This is a most extraordinary position. Here we have certain immunities and privileges which are enjoyed on the floor of this House. My honourable friend cannot compel me to give up those immunities and privileges merely by challenging me to repeat outside what I want to say here. My honourable friend has thrown out a challenge and I am sure he will accept my honourable friend's challenge which has nothing whatever to do with his right to impugn the public character or conduct of any official on the floor of the House but I have not the slightest doubt that my honourable friend will take up my honourable friend's challenge and repeat whatever he is saying here outside the Chamber if my honourable friend so wishes. But may I say this much, is it not my honourable friend's duty, when such matters are brought to his notice, that instead of asking my honourable friend to go outside and repeat the allegation, he should take up that matter, institute an enquiry and find out the truth or otherwise of the charges that have been made? That is the reason why we are here. If on every occasion we are to be asked by my honourable friend, "You are not to ventilate your grievances here unless you are prepared to go outside and ventilate them also" (Laughter) then it would be stultifying the business of this House altogether. Then I would ask, why hold meetings here and why not hold meetings in Mori Gate? (Laughter.)

Premier : That is the proper place for those gentlemen.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Certain privileges have been conferred upon us by virtue of the Government of India Act. Those privileges do not prevent us from bringing into the discussion the character of any official in his official capacity. I refer to rule 20 (9) regarding questions to be put.

It says—

"(9) It must not refer to the character or conduct of any person except in his official or public capacity, nor the character or conduct of any person which can be challenged only on a substantive motion ;"

Who are the persons whose character can be challenged on a substantive motion? They are my six honourable friends who are sitting over there. If I want to challenge them in regard to these matters, I must first of all bring in a substantive motion, namely, a motion of no-confidence, but it does not follow that I have to bring a motion of no-confidence against every official whose character or conduct officially I am bringing forward for discussion on the floor of the House? It would be an absurdity, it would be robbing us of our right to ventilate public grievances if the restriction that my honourable friend wants is to be placed on debates on the floor of this House.

Premier : My honourable friend is trying to confuse the issue by his eloquence. Let me tell him that it is the privilege of a member of this House to ventilate the grievances, to criticise the character, the work or attitude of any public servant but it does not mean that we should defame any person. My honourable friend has cleverly cited to you the rule concerning questions, but in a question you cannot make a defamatory statement which you can in a debate. My honourable friend has again over-looked rule 20 (6) which is—

"(6) It shall not contain arguments, inferences, ironical expressions or defamatory statements ;"

The rule is quite clear on the subject. If my honourable friend wants to impeach him, it is right that he should go outside as well, he should go to Mori Gate, as was said, and there address these remarks with regard to an official and call him by any name so that that official may be able to vindicate his position and if he does not vindicate his position—I will force him to do so—then I will hold an enquiry into his character. On the other hand he can go to a court of law and fight against those defamatory expressions and if they prove false, then he will have the opportunity of getting hold of my honourable friend. That is my point at issue. I think every one will agree with me that one should not criticise the conduct of a Government servant in that manner. By all means do so, but you cannot make defamatory statements. If my honourable friend will look at the parliamentary debates he will find that on rare occasions when it was done there, the member simultaneously repeated those remarks outside the House so as to give an opportunity to the party concerned to sue him if it wanted.

Diwan Chaman Lall : My honourable friend says that no defamatory statements are to be made. May I ask if an officer can write on the character sheet of an official that he is inefficient? If he can write this word that he is inefficient, then why can my honourable friend here, representing his constituency, not mention on the floor of this House that a particular official is inefficient? The charge that he is making is of inefficiency and incompetency. If that is the charge he is making, how is that charge a defamatory charge as far as the official position of the person is concerned? May I submit that whatever my honourable friend says he may say in a manner which my honourable friend may not like, he may say in a manner which I may not like but the fact is that he is pointing out the inefficiency of a certain type of official and he cannot be debarred from stating those facts on the floor of this House and I do suggest to my honourable friend that the custodian of those officials who are badly dealt with by my honourable friend is the Premier. He has the right of reply. He will put right whatever wrong constructions may have been put on the deeds of certain officials who are being criticised. Therefore, a debate will put matters right where matters can be put right but to say that my honourable friend will be prevented altogether from mentioning the inefficiency or the incompetency of an official because there is a rule to the effect that defamatory statements are not to be made, is not correct. This is not defamation. This is criticism of the conduct of the administration. My honourable friend is criticising the administration and in doing that he is naturally criticising the officials concerned with that administration. Surely, my honourable friend would agree with me that he was within his rights.

Premier : My honourable friend talks of incompetency and inefficiency. He has, I think, deliberately kept out the word dishonesty. (An honourable member : This is absolutely wrong.) The gentleman here has charged that officer with being dishonest. That is where I object that that is defamatory language and we should not use such defamatory language because purely from moral and gentlemanly point of view it is not right to take advantage of privileges in this House and call everybody blacksheep and dishonest when it cannot be proved outside. That is my point.

Dr. Shaikh Muhammad Alam : I am afraid we are drifting into a very irrelevant discussion altogether. What is the procedure of the Parliament and what should be done by my honourable friend if he is going to charge the public character of an official is not the question. The question before you is the objection. The objection which is taken is taken under rule 68 where the word used is 'defamatory', that is, a speech of a defamatory character would not be allowed to be made in this House. My honourable friend, the Premier has adopted a very queer position of defining the word 'defamatory' and it is this. He says that if you say anything here against the public conduct of an official you should say it outside also, that is, by saying it outside you take it out from the category of defamation altogether. (Premier : No.) Yes, certainly. If you say anything here you must say it outside also, otherwise in his opinion it amounts to defamation, implying thereby that you can say a thing in this House provided you take the responsibility of repeating it outside also. That is not the rule. The word 'defamation' has to be given a meaning independently of the fact whether it is repeated outside or not or whether the responsibility to repeat it outside is taken or not. If it is defamation it is defamation. If the responsibility to repeat it outside is denied and in fact it is not defamation, then it is not defamation. My honourable friend, the Premier, will, I think, have the advantage of looking to the exceptions to the law of defamation in the Indian Penal Code as to what is defamation and what is not defamation. It is certainly for your consideration, Mr. Deputy Speaker, whether to criticise the public character of an official is not defamation even according to the Statutory Law and independently of the fact whether it is undertaken to be repeated outside or not. It does not affect the meaning of defamation. I submit that while giving the meaning to the word 'defamation' you will only consider whether to criticise the public function of a public official as defamation or not. Certainly, I hope you will not call it defamation.

Premier : My honourable friend has interpreted the word 'defamation' with his legal luminary—

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : On a point of order.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Order, order.

Premier : The gist of the honourable member's speech is that defamation which is defamation here is also defamation outside. That is what I gather from his speech. I may point out to him that that is the reason why defamatory words have been excluded so far as the debate in this House is concerned, because if you utter a defamatory word outside you have not got that immunity outside which—(Interruptions).

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : On a point of order, Sir. (Voices from the Treasury Benches : Order, order.)

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I can certainly raise a point of order. I want your ruling on this point, whether—

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Order, order. A point of order is already being discussed.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : How many speeches by one member can be allowed on one point of order ?

Premier : Same number of speeches as have been made by the other side and no more. I am not speaking more than once.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The same leniency was shown to the Opposition also.

Premier : My honourable friend was arguing that what is defamation inside the House is also defamation outside the House. I agree and that is the reason why the word 'defamation' in this House has been excluded. The honourable member is precluded from expressing any defamatory words. Why ? Because in this House you have got an immunity to say certain things which you cannot utter outside. If my honourable friend utters a defamatory word or expression outside this House against any person or official, he can sue him in a court. That is why this thing has been specifically excluded here. My honourable friend is immuned from saying several things here. (A voice : Prohibited.) That is why I say that you cannot utter a defamatory language because your speeches are privileged in this House.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Defamation is not a privilege.

Premier : It is. No court can take action on anything said within this House.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member may attack the incompetency of the officer or his inefficiency and may say those things which are absolutely necessary to press that point. But the real thing is that the level of the debate should not be lowered and the language should not be wantonly defamatory. (Hear, hear, from the Treasury Benches).

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : May I say just one word? I am not concerned with the merits of the case. The gentleman, whom the Premier has been trying to defend, is a personal friend of mine. I am going to say these words absolutely from an impersonal point of view. I would suggest to my honourable friend just to consult the Indian Penal Code and see whether it is defamation to criticise the public conduct of an officer. I would just draw the attention of this House and particularly of the Premier to the first exception to section 499 of the Indian Penal Code. It says :—

“ It is not defamation to impute anything which is true concerning any person, if it be for the public good that the imputation should be made or published. Whether or not it is for the public good is a question of fact.”

Then, the second exception says :—

“ It is not defamation to express in good faith any opinion whatever respecting the conduct of a public servant in the discharge of his public functions, or respecting his character, so far as his character appears in that conduct, and no further.”

So, the very basis of the point of order raised by the Premier totally disappears.

Premier : Mark the words, ‘in good faith’.

Khan Bahadur Maulvi Ghulam Mohy-ud-Din : Would you allow me to say a few words?

Dr. Shaikh Muhammad Alam : This is after your ruling. You have no right to allow anybody to speak even for a minute.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The discussion is closed now. (Hear, hear, from the Opposition Benches).

Khan Bahadur Maulvi Ghulam Mohy-ud-Din : Sir, I rise on a point of order and it is this that unfortunately an absolutely wrong interpretation is being put on the word ‘defamatory’.

Diwan Chaman Lall : We cannot allow such an abuse of the rules of this House.

Khan Bahadur Maulvi Ghulam Mohy-ud-Din : I am astonished to see that my honourable friend, Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang, has put a wrong interpretation on the word ‘defamatory’. My submission is that the word ‘defamatory’ here means that such words, which would be defamatory in their nature, should not be used. (Voices. Is it a point of order?)

Mr. Deputy Speaker : It is no point of order. (Hear, hear, from the Opposition Benches). Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang said that the word ‘defamatory’ is used here in the Penal Code sense. In my opinion this word is used here in its general sense and not in the Penal Code sense. The object is that the word used should not be defamatory or offensive. It is in that sense that the word ‘defamatory’ is used and not in the legal sense.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Sir, I fail to understand as to what was the matter which led the Honourable Premier to misunderstand me. I have not used any words which can create any misunderstanding. Now I do not propose to take any more time of the House, but before concluding my speech I would like to read out a quotation from an Urdu appeal issued by the Secretary of Congress Committee, Hissar district. It is as follows:—

قحط کی مصیبت پچھلے سال سے بہت زیادہ ہے۔ امداد زیادہ کرنی چاہئے
تھی پڑھے پچھلے سال سے نصف۔ پچھلے سال ۳۱ امدادی کام اور ان پر کام
کرنے والوں کی تعداد ۲ لاکھ سے بھی زیادہ تھی۔ کائے کیسپ کے علاوہ چارہ
تقاویٰ ملنے والے مریشیوں کی تعداد ۷۰ ہزار تک پہنچ گئی۔ ۱۳ سال صرف ۱۳
امدادی کام ہیں جنکا فاصلہ بہت زیادہ ہونے کے کارن لوگ پہنچ نہیں
سکتے۔ اس لئے تعداد صرف ۴۵ ہزار ہے۔ پچھلے سال پندرہ سیر کا اناج ہوتے
ہوئے بھی دو آنہ یومیہ مزدوری تھی۔ اب بارہ سیر کا ہے پھر مزدوری کم
کر کے ڈیڑھ آنہ کر دی گئی ہے۔ کائے کیسپ توڑ دیا گیا۔ تقاویٰ چارہ ملنے والے
مریشیوں کی تعداد صرف ۳۰ ہزار ہے۔ آبیانہ و معاملہ اراضی کی معافی کا
اعلان پہلے ۷ اکتوبر کو ہو ہی چکا تھا پر اس سال اب تک کوئی فیصلہ نہیں
بلکہ کئی گاؤں میں پچھلی فصل کے آبیانہ کی وصولی کی بھی تیاری ہو
رہی ہے۔ اس قحط میں سوکار کی سون مہری اور محدود مدد کو دیکھ کر لوگ
مایوس ہو گئے ہیں اور یہ عام خیال ہے کہ پچھلے سال بھی سوکار نے جو کچھ
کیا وہ کانگرس کی وجہ سے کیا۔ اگر از خود فرض سمجھکر امداد کرتی تو کم از کم
سال جتنا کام تو جاری رکھتی۔

In short my statements are corroborated by this appeal. I do not know why the Honourable Premier became so very restive. I did not say anything which was contrary to facts. I hope now my honourable friend Pandit Shri Ram Sharma will throw a flood of light on these matters. With these words I resume my seat.

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan (Parliamentary Secretary) (Urdu) : Sir, I think if my honourable friend Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan in the course of his speech had not emphatically stated one sentence, I would not have felt any hesitation in saying that such an unpleasant speech had never been delivered on the floor of the House before. That sentence was that in the year 1913 when he was studying in the college he used to be a member of the mock parliament. Now the trouble is that after the passing of so many years he has not been able to shake off that indelible impression made on him at that time that he is no longer a member of that mock parliament but instead is a member of this honourable House.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Ye bhi mock parliament hai.

Khan Bahadur Nawab Muzaffar Khan : I strongly object to the words used against this honourable House that it is a mock parliament. I strongly object and request you to ask the honourable member to withdraw them. He is insulting the whole House.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I would request the honourable member to have the courage to withdraw them.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : What is offensive in it if he describes the working of it as that of a mock parliament?

Khan Bahadur Nawab Muzaffar Khan : I am sorry the Leader of the Opposition should misinterpret it.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I am not misinterpreting it. I am only interpreting what it means.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : What I said was—Ye bhi mock parliament hai. I used these words in a lighter mood. If you wish me to withdraw then I am prepared to withdraw. If you hold that this House lacks in sense of humour I am prepared to withdraw them.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : As compared to the mother of Parliaments, is not this House a mock parliament?

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan (Urdu) : I am extremely sorry to remark that it has become a habit with some of my honourable friends over there that as soon as any honourable member from this side of the House rises to make a speech, they on one pretext or the other try to obstruct or interrupt him. Now, Sir, after hearing the speeches which have been so far delivered on the floor of the House from the Opposition benches, any fair-minded person cannot but conclude that the Opposition party has decided once for all to oppose each and every suggestion, proposal and measure sponsored by Government however useful it may be. (Voices : Question.) To-day some of my honourable friends delivered speeches in connection with demand No. 1 and objected to the taking in hand of the Thal project. (Voices : How is it relevant?) The question now before the House is as to why the Government has so generously and magnanimously spent large sums of money for providing relief to the famine-stricken people. In this connection I may point out that I cannot deny the fact that in view of this unforeseen calamity when the Government was called upon to spend lakhs of rupees without giving a moment's reflection it was impossible for them to pause and take measures side by side to check the defects that may have crept in the working of famine relief works and to which pointed reference has been made by my honourable friends over there. Unfortunately when the famine conditions appeared in the Hissar district the Government was taken as if by surprise and had not sufficient time at their disposal to make a selection of officers for employment on famine relief duty. When they saw that a great calamity had befallen the people their first and foremost duty was to hurry to the aid of the stricken people and try to save them from the jaws of that awful calamity. Similarly, the first thing which the Government did was that they began to send money post haste to the famished people. And the Commissioner sent whatever officers were available, which included amongst them, tahsildar naib-tahsildar and excise sub-inspector candidates, to the Hissar district, so that whatever relief work was to be done should be done under the very eyes of such responsible officers who were expected to do their duty honestly. I may also point out that in view of the past experience Government is however taking steps to see that in future corruption if not rooted out totally should be reduced to its minimum in this district. Besides, the Government have appointed the Fodder Adviser in the person of Khan Bahadur Maulvi Fateh Din who has no equal as all those who know him will bear me out, in integrity, honesty and sympathy towards men and animals alike. (Hear, hear.) I have been pained to see that instead of encouraging him and paying a tribute to him he is being defamed and traduced. He is a type of officer who in bitterest winter seasons, which in my opinion are unbearable for ordinary people, not only toured every nook and corner of the Punjab, but also went to the United Provinces and the Central Provinces for procuring fodder. And after working days and nights on end he proposed best stations for the importation of fodder. In view of these facts I am constrained to remark that only those members will have the heart to make allegations against him who absolutely feel no responsibility as members of this House. I am confident that there is none amongst us who is so irresponsible as to calumny this officer.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know from the honourable member whether he is not running a risk in so far as he is bestowing so many certificates on this officer when he has been challenged on this side? He is not really as honest as Government has tried to make out. Is it not very improper? It will give him a handle and he will use these certificates bestowed on him in order to carry out his activities.

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan : Sir, I cannot tolerate that undue advantage should be taken of your leniency. I gave way to my honourable friend under the impression that he would raise some important and a reasonable point of order. If I knew that he would make a frivolous short speech I would certainly have not given way. But I am of the opinion that so far as the Opposition is concerned, it has made it a point to hurl accusations in season and out of season at the Government as well as its officers. I think it should be a matter of gratification for the honourable members on this side of the House to see that the Opposition has exhausted all its reasonable criticism and is now resorting to meaningless objections. As a matter of fact my honourable friends over there have excessively indulged in misrepresenting facts and my friend Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan remarked that the Government has made no remissions worth the name in respect of land revenue and abiana, but had only suspended the realization of Government dues. I am of the opinion that when my honourable friend was distorting the facts it was the duty of the Opposition to ask him to refrain from indulging in making mis-statements.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : I never said that. Probably the honourable member was sleeping.

Premier : My honourable friend is always in the habit of saying things which he would afterwards deny having said.

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan : It appears that my honourable friend was so much engrossed in making mis-statements that he did not realise what he was saying. I may tell the honourable members that Government made remissions in abiana to the extent of Rs. 15,22,778. (Interruptions.) I am not giving figures regarding suspensions. These figures relate to remissions only. Well, Sir, land revenue to the extent of Rs. 6,20,778 was totally remitted. Now in view of this may I ask if the Opposition is justified in criticising the Government that has afforded relief to the extent of Rs. 1,92,32,626 to the famine-stricken people of one district alone during such a short period ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know if the Government has also given free hand for misappropriations and embezzlements ?

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan : Not at all. But so far as corruption or embezzlement is concerned, unfortunately the persons working in the famine area are the kith and kin of my honourable friend. (Loud applause.) I may point out that Government are fully alive to the need for maintaining the standard of efficiency and honesty required of the officers working there and they are satisfied that the latter are doing their best in the discharge of their duties. It would not be out of place to mention here that at the outbreak of famine Government at once deputed an Assistant Commissioner to the districts of Hissar, Gurgaon and Rohtak. They also appointed an Extra Assistant Commissioner for each of these districts to carry out famine relief measures. In this connection I may also mention the fact that no officer below the rank of a tahsildar or a naib-tahsildar was put in charge of fodder dumps. Besides, these officers have been going round the areas under their jurisdiction without first informing the subordinates of their intention to inspect the account registers in order to see that the entries made in regard to the persons to whom fodder was issued, were correct or bogus. I may also add for the information of the honourable members that in Hissar district alone no less than 64 clerks were dismissed for corruption. I see that my honourable friends opposite are laughing at this piece of information. I know full well that they would have jeered at us if we had not removed these corrupt clerks. Now if the Government can dismiss 64 clerks on the ground of corruption, it means that the officers working there are wide awake to their responsibilities. I may also mention that an officer who was working in the famine-stricken area has been proceeded against for an offence in a criminal court. Besides, Government have issued instructions that the persons guilty of corruption should not only be punished with dismissal from service but also they should be hauled up before a court of law to stand their trial.

It is a pity that in our country, specially in our own province there are certain people who are always out to grind their own axe, no matter, however, great the calamity may be. These people always endeavour to utilise such opportunities for their personal ends. But it appears that the Fodder Adviser has antagonised the people of this type, because he has not permitted such persons to make huge profits by taking advantage of the famine conditions (Hear, hear). I am of the opinion that it is the imperative duty of the Government to encourage such officers who do not allow dishonest persons to have their way. Besides, I may tell the honourable members that on reading the report of the Deputy Commissioner, I find that certain persons including Congressmen have alleged that corruption is rampant among the officers who are said to have distributed taccavi of fodder amongst well-to-do persons. As a matter of fact Government always welcome such complaints if they are made honestly. It is interesting to note that when the Deputy Commissioner enquired of these gentlemen the names of those persons who got the taccavi, they gave evasive replies. I am pained to say that even a responsible person like the secretary of a Congress committee was among the persons who made such vague allegations and refused to furnish the names of the persons who were alleged to have been unduly favoured by the Fodder Adviser or other officers.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know if the Parliamentary Secretary is reading a chapter from a tale? Will he kindly state the district to which this incident relates?

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan : It is no wonder a tale. The report which I quoted is very old and antiquated as it had been received only 13 or 14 days ago.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I ask my honourable friend to give us the name of the Congress Secretary?

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan : Hardev Sahai.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Where did my honourable friend get the information from, that Mr. Hardev Sahai refused to furnish the information to my honourable friend in view of the poster and pamphlet that I hold in my hand in which the entire information has been given? The charge that my honourable friend is making is equally applicable to my honourable friend for getting hold of frivolous information and passing it as genuine information to this House.

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan : I would read out for the benefit of the honourable members of this House just a few lines from the report of the Deputy Commissioner—

"Lala Hardev Sahai, the Secretary of the Hissar Congress Committee, came to see me some days ago and we had a lengthy conversation. He told me that a great well-to-do people who do not need it, are receiving fodder taccavi; he could, however, give me no names though I understand he may do so later. To my request for the names of the well-to-do people whom he also asserted to be on the gratuitous relief lists, he was again only able to say that he would try to find out names and send them to me."

Diwan Chaman Lall : That shows his decency.

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan : That shows the extent to which importance should be attached to the complaints made by those persons who claim to be very responsible but who do not disclose the names of the persons concerned at the time of the inquiry.

Another objection, Mr. Deputy Speaker, that has been levelled against the Government is that a very large amount of famine relief fund is being spent on the official staff and a small margin is given to the famine-stricken people of Hissar. I may be allowed to mention for the information of the critics that the total amount spent in connection with famine during 1938-39 was 52,86,801 rupees while the sum spent by way of salaries of the staff amounted only to .8 per cent of this total expenditure. Again, in 1938-39 the total expenditure was 64,66,711 rupees and the salary of the staff employed was only 1,20,000 rupees, that is 1.8 per cent. of the whole expenditure.

[Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan.]

Now the House will note that in the villages the lambardars receive 5 per cent. of the land revenue that they recover from the zamindars. In comparison to that, the salary of the famine relief staff is insignificant because it is only 1·8 per cent. of the total expenditure.

Now let us see what happened to the cattle of Hissar during the famine. I am sorry to observe in this connection that the honourable mover of the cut has thought it fit to level objections against the Government without making sure of the information on which his criticism was based. As a matter of fact, the protection of the fine cattle breed of Hissar is one of the very few things of which the Government is really proud. Before the Government had taken full charge of the matter, a very large number of cattle had been taken over into the United Provinces on the advice of some honourable members of the Opposition. But it is a thousand pities that even 10 per cent. of those cattle have not come back into the Punjab while about nine thousand cattle, out of those bought by the Punjab Government have been returned to the original owners who applied to them saying that they were now able to maintain their cattle. It is wrong, therefore, that the Punjab Government have sold away the fine cattle breed of Hissar. It will be interesting to note here some of the misstatements made by my honourable friends sitting on the Opposition benches. For instance, my honourable friend Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan was pleased to say that 184,000 maunds of bhusa was swept away by a wind storm. This is clearly a wild statement to make. It is possible of course that an ounce of bhusa might have found its way into the brains of the honourable member himself.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : The Parliamentary Secretary may enquire from my honourable friend Chaudhri Sahib Ram.

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan : And you are only a gramophone record of his! (Laughter.)

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Just as you are His Master's Voice (Laughter.)

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan : One thing, however, is clear that the furious speech of my honourable friend was based on hearsay only and not on any personal knowledge. With such a limited knowledge he was not expected to express any better opinion of the Fodder Expert. Indeed if he had expressed a different opinion, I would have been very much surprised.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I can also say that a report about bhusa having been swept away by a wind storm did reach us.

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan : It is possible that the honourable member had received such a report. But I may inform him that only reasonable reports are sent to the Government because our subordinate officers realise that unreasonable reports made by them would not be appreciated by the Government. I am, however, glad to observe that although the honourable member hails from the district of Ludhiana yet he has had enough moral courage to confess on the floor of this House that his statement was based on hearsay only. (Laughter.)

Premier : Present company is always excepted, of course.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Is it a reflection on the Chair, Sir?

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan : Mr. Deputy Speaker, I have not the slightest hesitation in taking back these words and I withdraw them forthwith. In fact I forgot for the moment as to who else hailed from the same district.

Minister of Education : Perhaps the honourable member looked to the other side only.

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan : I am glad that the honourable member has proved his moral courage by admitting that his information was not based on any personal knowledge. He merely stated what he had heard from somebody else. It is really sad that the honourable members of the Opposition do not see before allowing some one to speak on a motion as to whether he is in possession of the necessary information about the subject matter of the debate or not. It is clear, therefore, that the verdict of the Opposition about the inefficiency or incompetence of the Fodder Expert was not based on facts but on expediency alone. The officer in question must have displeased some interested person in the honest discharge of his duties.

One word more and I have done. May I ask the Opposition as to what steps the Government have failed to take that were necessary for the protection of the famine-stricken area of Hissar? After all famine is a natural calamity and is not the result of any human agency. It is sent by the Almighty. It has visited Hissar to-day, and it may visit, God forbid, any other district to-morrow. It is well known to the Government that whenever rain fails in a barani area, famine does come in. It has been so in the past, at least. Lala Bhagat Ram Choda : It is you people who are the cause of the failure of rains in the province). I would only appeal to the sense of justice of the Opposition. My honourable friend Pandit Shri Ram Sharma who day in and day out keeps up harping upon the sad fact of famine in Hissar, would do well to remember that famines have been visiting this country even before. Now fairness demands that he should recollect what measures used to be taken by the previous Government and then compare them with the steps taken by the present Unionist Ministry in connection with the famine of Hissar. A comparison of this nature will really convince him of the fact that there is a tremendous difference between the attitude of the previous Governments and that of the present popular ministry.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : I would request the Babaji to retire. If he does so, the famine will go along with him.

Minister for Revenue : I have not understood the recipe suggested by the learned Doctor.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I would request Dr. Sant Ram Seth not to interrupt like this.

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan : When I am always prepared to give way, it does not become honourable members on that side to murmur something. The moment I find that a gentleman has the slightest intention of interrupting me, I give way. Will the honourable member repeat what he has said? (Interruption.) It may be so because it is kaljug and every thing in kaljug must be the other way about. Ordinarily the people believe that if the bad people go, calamities go along with them. But now it seems that the good must perish in order to relieve the world of a calamity. But personally I believe that all calamities like the famine will end if we learn to be honest. There should be transparent honesty. We should all learn to call good good and bad bad at all events and in all circumstances. (Hear, hear.)

Now I would come to what Khan Bahadur Maulvi Fateh Din has done for the famine-stricken area. First of all he abolished the system of buying the parchis on payment of cash money. Some people used to purchase parchis and sell them at profit. He put a stop to this practice. The officer no doubt has his difficulties. Some friends go to him to recommend the case of some person so that he may be given some contract. Naturally he who has never been a member of the Assembly does not know what his refusal to accommodate such gentlemen may mean. He does not know that if he insists on carrying on his official work with strict honesty, questions may be asked in the Assembly or that a particular type of expressions may be used about him on the floor of this House. All he knows is to do his work with efficiency and honesty, which I am sure he is doing. But I wish my honourable friends had paid attention to another aspect of this question. If a person with a grain of humanity in him is called upon to perform the duty of giving relief in the famine-stricken areas, he will always remember that he is responsible not only to man but also to God. Unless and until a person is utterly lost to humanity he can never entertain the idea that money which is meant to relieve the distress of the famine-stricken people should go into his own pocket.

Further whenever such questions are debated in this House honourable members should not overlook another fact. Our officers after all are educated gentlemen. They read their morning papers. Whenever they learn that such a thing is under discussion in the House they rush to their morning papers to see how those under whom they have to serve look upon their efforts. If after doing their work with all honesty, sincerity and industry they come to know that their work has not been appreciated their disappointment can better be imagined than explained. If honourable members begin to rely on the reports supplied to them by those people who have some personal grievance against a Government officer or who depend for the information which they convey on those who have had a grievance against him, the result is that the administration gets demoralized. My honourable friends should remember that a good Government depends upon the good work of its officers and the foundation of good work is on its due appreciation by Government. I do not mean to suggest that there is no corruption in the Punjab. India or for the matter of that the world is not free from corruption. Human weaknesses are co-existent with mankind. All I want to say is that most of the officers working under this Government are doing their best to relieve distress in the famine-stricken areas of Hissar. The present Financial Commissioner, Mr. C. C. Garbett took over charge in Simla on the 31st of August. On the following day, that is, on the first of September he came down from Simla to visit the famine-stricken villages of the Hissar district. September is not a very convenient month for an officer to tour in villages and especially in those villages where there is no tree to be found to afford shade. But does this fact alone not show that the officers under this Government are doing everything in their power to relieve the distress of the famine-stricken people?

Unfortunately I am not capable, like many other friends, of forming an opinion after a few hours stay in the famine-stricken area as to how the officers are working. But my friends are not only capable of forming an opinion within so short a time but they can come forward with an amendment on this point. In October I had to visit Hissar, Rohtak and Gurgaon districts along with my friend Pandit Muni Lal Kalia. Of course I did not visit in connection with famine relief work but I had the occasion to have a talk with the deputy commissioners and revenue assistants who were doing relief work. But although I saw the relief works and also had an opportunity of meeting the officers concerned, I cannot be so definite about the conditions there as to be able to speak on a motion on the subject of famine relief in those areas. But there is a friend of mine who has moved a cut motion based on the information which he gathered from another person. What is the guarantee that that person only half an hour before making his report to my honourable friend, had not met with a refusal from Khan Bahadur Fatch Din and was therefore prejudiced against the officer? But my friend has paid no attention to this fact and has simply hastened with his motion.

It would have been much better if the honourable Leader of the Opposition or Diwan Chaman Lall or some other responsible members had gone there and studied the whole situation on the spot. Then if it was found that there were certain defects which should be removed they could bring those defects to the notice of the Premier or the Honourable Minister of Revenue. This would have been the best course for them to adopt if they really wanted an improvement. It should be remembered that this is not a political or economic problem on which there can be a difference of opinion or policy. The plain position is that a certain area is suffering from famine and we, all of us, want to give the people as much relief as we can. It cannot be denied that the Government has done much more in this connection than was warranted by its financial position. We are simple zamindars and so do not know much of arithmetic and accounts. Fortunately we have a Finance Minister who understands these things better than any one in the whole of India. But we zamindars do not understand their intricacies. We know only this much that the poor people have to be saved from the clutches of the demon which is threatening their very existence and, therefore, we should not mind if a few thousands of rupees more are spent. God will help us to find more money for our needs. The Honourable Premier was speaking of the loan which was oversubscribed in about an hour and the low rate of interest at which he got it. But we do not bother about these things. Our belief and faith is that it is due to the blessings of these famished and helpless people that we are able to construct canals and that the machinery of the Government is moving on greased wheels in spite of the hard times through which the world is passing on account of the war. We have left no stone unturned and have used every method of helping these people. Even for those purdah women who could not earn their living otherwise we opened spinning centres and they proved highly beneficial.

6 P. M.

[Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan.]

One of my honourable friends was pleased to remark that the Ministers are never tired of advertising their activities in this behalf and the Government also issues a monthly statement. My submission is that although we believe in gupt dan still this relief is not dan. It is the right of those people. But, Sir, even in spite of these statements to which so much labour is devoted by our Additional Financial Secretary my honourable friends are constantly accusing the Government of doing nothing and you can very well imagine what they would say if we go on working silently and do not speak a word about our activities.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : May I know what my honourable friend means by gupt dan? Is he referring to illegal gratifications that are so rampant?

Premier : No, gupt dan means embezzlements in the offices of the Congress Committees. (Laughter.)

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan : Sir, my chief grouse is that we have not been favoured by any constructive criticism by my honourable friends. When the honourable mover of this motion rose to speak the Honourable Minister and I got ready with our pencils and note books to take down any useful suggestion or proposal that he may have to offer. But neither he nor any other honourable member from that side has tried to be helpful. Let me make it clear that with regard to these beneficent activities we are prepared to pay the fullest attention to every useful proposal, no matter where it comes from. We do not claim to be the only wise persons in the world. We want the administration to be as efficient and perfect as it is humanly possible to make it. Therefore, we are always open to conviction in connection with every activity of the Government. You know, Sir, that there are ilaqas like the Jhelum district which, though not facing a famine in the strictest sense, are in a very sad plight and the Government cannot help the people there for want of funds. This shows that we cannot spare money to meet such urgent claims for relief, not to speak of squandering it. Thus my honourable friends should know that so far as the object is concerned there can be no difference of opinion. But unfortunately certain people try to be too clever in politics. As the proverb goes, too much of everything is bad and the present motion is an example of too much far-sightedness. The discussion on it has proved beyond a shadow of doubt that it was moved for fear lest the whole credit for the relief work may go to the Government.

As I have already said, as far as the controversial subject of famine is concerned we do not hold two contradictory opinions about this. Our main object is to help the sufferers by giving them relief and if the Opposition is to say something against the methods adopted by the Government for the relief of the famine-stricken people, they should see the revenue officers and the Financial Commissioner and ask them to remove any defect if there is any. By doing so they will not oblige the Government alone, but they will be doing a moral duty as well. Let me assure them once again that the Government do not want to take credit for the relief afforded to the famine-stricken areas. Whatever is done by the Government is done in earnestness for the sake of the people and for the good of the province. If the Opposition is labouring under the impression that the Government want to win the confidence of the people and intend to achieve some political object by doing so then I believe they are entirely mistaken. Whereas we have got many schemes in our mind for the welfare of the province, and which are still to be materialised I am afraid if the Opposition will not discontinue indulging in this type of adverse criticism we would be obliged to say that my honourable friends are incorrigible. (Interruptions.) Sir, before I resume my seat I have to thank my honourable friends over there who have listened to my speech with patience and I am grateful to my learned friend Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan in particular who has admitted his mistake in a sporting manner. Sir, my last point but not the least important is that the Opposition should not turn a blind eye to that non-official committee which was appointed by the Government to find out ways and means for spending the collected subscription amounting to 50 thousands of rupees and in which certain members of the Congress were also included.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : How much did you subscribe?

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan : I have not yet become the president of the Central Co-operative Bank. (Laughter.) I was submitting that certain members of the Congress were also taken in that committee. Is it not enough to prove that the Government do not want to make this matter a party question or monopolise it? I, therefore, request the Deputy Leader of the Opposition not to call a division on this issue as it will show that he is anxious to take an isolated position altogether.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That the item of Rs. 21,050 on account of Pay of Officers be reduced by Rs. 21,049.
The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That a supplementary sum not exceeding Rs. 37,96,680 be granted to the Governor to defray the charges that will come in course of payment for the year ending 31st March, 1940, in respect of Famine.
The motion was carried.

MISCELLANEOUS.

HOURS OF SITTING.

Premier : Sir, I move—

That on and after Monday, the 27th November, 1939, until the end of the session on days when the Assembly meets other than Fridays the Assembly shall meet at 12 noon and the Speaker shall adjourn the Assembly without question put at 4-30 p.m. on those days.

Mr. Speaker : The motion moved is—

That on and after Monday, the 27th November, 1939, until the end of the session on days when the Assembly meets other than Fridays the Assembly shall meet at 12 noon and the Speaker shall adjourn the Assembly without question put at 4-30 p.m. on those days.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Two or three days ago the Honourable Premier wanted me to agree to this proposal, and as you know, you have been also discussing this matter with some members of this House. Some alternative proposals were put but they do not seem to have been accepted by the Honourable Premier. I beg to remind you that when the rules were being discussed we were in favour of sitting from 11 to 4-30 without any interruption. But looking to the convenience of some lawyer members of this House and of some other members who come from outside, it was decided.

unanimously that the House should meet at 2 o'clock and adjourn at 6-30. During the Ramzan days, I could understand that change, because it was inconvenient to hold the meetings because some of the members had to break their fast, and therefore, it was right that the House met at 12 and adjourned at 4-30. But I do not see what has happened now that the time is to be changed. As you see 2 o'clock is convenient for every member, but 12 o'clock, as is now proposed, would be inconvenient to many members. Therefore, we should fix such a time which should be convenient to every one of us. I think no case has been made out why the hours should be changed. Another objection is this that this motion has come just now. What I thought was that this motion would be coming on Monday. We were discussing this thing amongst us and we discussed it with you also. Now, some members have left with the idea that this question will be taken up on Monday and not to-day. They might not agree to this proposal. I think the suspension of the rule should not be made unless all the members or majority of them agree to the change. Therefore, I think that this question should be postponed till Monday and then from Tuesday, if the House agrees to the proposal, we can change the hours.

Premier : May I say a few words in reply to my honourable friend the Leader of the Opposition. He was correct when he said that I told him that it would be moved on the next day. This motion is being moved to-day because if we move it on Monday we shall have to spend an hour and a half on its discussion. Therefore it would be in the interest of everybody concerned to dispose it of to-day. So far as I am concerned I am prepared to sit at any time for any number of hours. Personally I have said good-bye to my evening exercise ever since I have been in this bed of thorns. There are other members who, I think, deserve a certain amount of consideration ; and a large number of members came to me and represented that this time is not suitable. In view of the fact that the present session is going to be a protracted one—formerly the House used to be in session lasting for 6 or at the most 7 weeks—and this particular session is going to last for about 5½ months—we started in October and with short breaks on account of certain festivals we will go on till May—therefore they considered that we should have the benefit of such time which would give them an opportunity of taking a little exercise and to attend certain social functions that are usually in vogue at this time of the year. In view of these considerations I agreed to put the motion before the House and leave the House to decide the matter. Personally I think that in view of the considerations which I have mentioned my honourable friend will not oppose the motion and would accede to the request from the majority of members who I am convinced are in favour of meeting from 12 noon (hear, hear) so that there may be no inconvenience caused to anybody concerned. I am constrained to remark that so far as the lawyer members are concerned even when we meet at 2 o'clock they usually put in their appearance at odd hours, usually at the fag end of the session, and when they do arrive there is no time to start legal and technical hares ! You will see that none of the local lawyer members is present at the moment. Even those lawyer members who practise at the High Court usually get the last hour and a half to come here. I am told the work at the High Court is finished before luncheon hour and after luncheon hour they can always come. Therefore I hope my honourable friend the Leader of the Opposition, if the majority of the members want it, will accede to this request of mine.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That on and after Monday, the 27th November, 1939, until the end of the session on days when the Assembly meets other than Fridays the Assembly shall meet at 12 noon and the Speaker shall adjourn the Assembly without question put at 4.30 p.m. on those days.

The motion was carried.

ADJOURNMENT MOTIONS.

HOURS OF DEBATE.

Premier : The next motion is only consequential ; I move—

That on and after Monday the 27th November, 1939, to the end of the session the time for taking up an adjournment motion shall be 4.30 p.m., on days other than Fridays and 7 p.m. on Fridays, and that Rule 45 of the Assembly Rules be accordingly suspended for the remainder of the session.

The motion was carried.

The Assembly then adjourned till 12 noon on Monday, 27th November, 1939.

PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

SIXTH SESSION OF THE FIRST PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Monday, 27th November, 1939.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at 12 noon of the clock. Mr. Speaker in the chair.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

ARREST OF SAYED ATAULLAH SHAH BUKHARI.

5643. Chaudhri Muhammad Abdul Rahman Khan : Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) when Sayed Ataullah Shah Bukhari, a leader of the Ahrar Party, was arrested and whether his arrest took place at the instance of the Punjab Government or local officers of the place from where he was arrested ;
- (b) the class that has been allotted to him in the Jail ;
- (c) whether he would be pleased to lay on the table of the House a report regarding his present state of health ;
- (d) whether he is allowed to read books of his own choice ;
- (e) the nature of the facilities provided to Sayed Ataullah Shah in the jail in view of the month of Ramzan ; if no facilities have been provided, the reasons therefor ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) Sayed Ataullah Shah Bukhari was arrested on the 8th September, 1939, under the orders of the Punjab Government.

- (b) He has been classified as a " better class " prisoner.
- (c) He has had some dental trouble for which he has been treated by an outside dental surgeon.
- (d) Yes.
- (e) It is reported that all facilities were provided to him in the month of Ramzan. The honourable member is referred to the provisions of paragraph 600 (4) of the Punjab Jail Manual.

ARREST OF THAKUR HAZARA SINGH OF KANGRA.

5664. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that Thakur Hazara Singh, Pleader, Hamirpur, district Kangra, a leading lawyer and respectable citizen was arrested on the 18th October, 1939, at Hamirpur under Defence of India Ordinance and was handcuffed ;

(b) whether it is a fact that the said Thakur Hazara Singh, Pleader, and other under-trials are shut in a highly insanitary and unclean judicial lock-up at Dharamsala situated in the court compound when they are brought to court to stand their trials ;

(c) whether it is a fact that the said Thakur Hazara Singh, Pleader, and others were mal-treated and beaten by the police on the 26th instant for refusing to enter the above-mentioned insanitary and unclean judicial lock-up ;

(d) whether it is also a fact that Thakur Hazara Singh and others are being treated as 'C' class prisoners irrespective of their high social status ;

(e) if answers to (b) and (c) are in the affirmative, the action proposed to be taken by the Government in the matter ?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan : (a) Yes. Thakur Hazara Singh, a Pleader, who practises at Hamirpur where there is only a Tahsildar's court, was arrested at Hamirpur on 18th October, 1939, under the Defence of India Rules and handcuffed.

(b) No. A magistrate inspected the lock-up after Thakur Hazara Singh had made a complaint and he reported it to be as clean as it was possible for it to be.

(c) No. This man refused to obey a lawful order to enter the lock-up and the grounds for his refusal were found to be unjustified by a magistrate ; although his behaviour was most objectionable and a grave breach of discipline, only the minimum force necessary to compel him to obey the order was employed.

(d) and (e) Enquiries are being made regarding the classification of Thakur Hazara Singh as an under-trial prisoner. I may however point out to the honourable member that the classification of under-trial prisoners is a matter for the courts. If a prisoner is dissatisfied with his classification by the court trying him, he may apply for the revision of his classification to the district magistrate. The honourable member has not given the names of the other prisoners about whom he wishes to have information, so I regret that I cannot give any reply about them.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I ask the Honourable Premier whether he admits that Thakur Hazara Singh is a leading lawyer and respectable citizen of Hamirpur ?

Premier : Every citizen of the province is respectable in the eyes of the Government.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Does the Honourable Premier know that that gentleman was a candidate for the elections for the Assembly ?

Premier : But that does not distinguish him from other respectable men of that district.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Is the Honourable Premier aware that Radha Kishan, P. I., Kangra, actually tortured this gentleman while putting him into a dirty lock-up ?

Premier : I am not aware of any such incident.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I want a reply to part (c) and it is this, whether he was mal-treated and beaten by the police and, if so, who was the officer who was responsible for mal-treating and kicking him ?

Premier : I have given a very clear answer to that part by saying, 'no.'

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I ask the source of information of the Honourable Premier in this connection ?

Premier : The district authorities.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know whether the head of the police is responsible or the district magistrate, for the information given by the Honourable Premier ?

Premier : I am satisfied that the information received by the Government is correct.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Has the Honourable Premier satisfied himself that the judicial lock-up within the court compound was clean and neat and habitable ?

Premier : I am afraid my honourable friend has not listened to the answer I gave. I have made it clear that a magistrate inspected the lock-up and he reported it to be as clean as it could be.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I was also put in that very lock-up. Will he consider the question of putting it in order ?

Mr. Speaker : That is a request for action. Disallowed.

EXTERMENT AND ARREST OF S. IQBAL SINGH HUNDAL.

5666. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the date of S. Iqbal Singh Hundal's entry in the Punjab after the completion of the term of his externment ;
- (b) the date of his arrest and the reasons for so doing ;
- (c) the place where he is detained now ;
- (d) whether he was ever declared an absconder ; if so, when and for what reasons ;
- (e) whether any prize was offered for his arrest ?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan : (a) He has been visiting the Punjab clandestinely, the exact date of his first visit to the Punjab after the expiry of his externment order on 11th August, 1939, is not known.

(b) 23rd October, 1939, for acting in a manner prejudicial to the public safety ;

(c) the Fort, Lahore ;

(d) and (e) No.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Does the Government deny that he came for the first time on the 28rd October ?

Premier : This we could not say. You say that he came for the first time on the 28rd October. Our information is that he came several times before.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : What are your grounds for saying that he visited the Punjab clandestinely while he was an externee ?

Premier : Our information.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : But what is the proof ?

Premier : But what proof does my honourable friend require ? It is our information.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : Can you give dates of his clandestine visits ?

Premier : I have given dates.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : May I ask why he was not arrested when he was on clandestine visits ?

Premier : We received news of his visits after he had left.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : If he visited clandestinely, he committed an offence. How is it that he was not prosecuted ?

Premier : We knew of his visits after he had left. He was later arrested under section 2 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act. He has been detained by Government for making some inquiries from him. This done, he will be let off.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : How does the Government deny that first he was arrested under the rules made under the Defence of India Act ?

Premier : The question of Government's denying this does not arise. He was arrested under the Criminal Law Amendment Act, section 2.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : What was found on his person when he was taken into custody ?

Premier : Honourable member may give notice of this question. I will give him the reply.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Why was not Diwan Chaman Lall allowed to see him while he was in custody ?

Premier : Diwan Chaman Lall wanted to see him in the capacity of a legal adviser. The question of a lawyer interviewing him did not arise as he was not under detention as an under-trial prisoner. He was to be let off after making some inquiries from him.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it true that in the case of this gentleman Criminal Law Amendment Act has been resorted to simply because there is no evidence against him ?

Premier : My honourable friend's inference is wholly incorrect.

Lala Duni Chand : Under what law is a legal adviser not permitted to see a person who has been detained ?

Premier : A legal adviser is only allowed to see an under-trial prisoner. This gentleman is not under-trial at all.

Lala Duni Chand : I want to know the rule under which legal advice is not allowed to a man who is detained and is kept in custody.

Premier : Legal advice is required only when there is a case in a court or when a man is under trial. Neither of these cases existed in the case of this gentleman.

Lala Duni Chand : When a man is in custody a legal interview is permissible under the orders of the district officer or the superior police officer. Therefore I want to know by virtue of what law was the legal adviser debarred from interviewing this gentleman?

Premier : There are instructions that in cases of section 2 prisoners, no one should be allowed an interview without the permission of Government.

Lala Duni Chand : Does the Government approve of the policy of oppression under the Criminal Law Amendment Act when another legal remedy is open to Government?

Premier : What legal remedy?

Lala Duni Chand : Prosecution for a particular offence.

Premier : Section 2 is for investigation purposes.

Lala Duni Chand : The point is, how is it that when it is open to Government to start a prosecution for an offence, prosecution under the Criminal Law Amendment Act is resorted to? Does Government approve of this policy or not?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Has the Government decided as to when this permission will be granted?

Premier : The Government can detain him only for two months and after that either he will have to be prosecuted or released.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Under section 2, the Government can detain a person only for 15 days. May I know how this period was extended?

Premier : I require notice of this question.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know as to which officer was authorised to detain him?

Premier : I must again ask for a notice, because the authority has to be specified in the order and this must have been done in this case also.

PERSONS DETAINED IN LAHORE FORT.

5667. Sardar Harjab Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the number, together with their names of persons detained in Lahore Fort at the present moment;
- (b) the offence they are charged with, together with their dates of arrest;
- (c) whether it is intended to try them in the open court; and if so, when?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan : (a) Six ; it is not in the public interest to give names ;

(b) They have been detained under section 2 of the Punjab Criminal Law (Amendment) Act, 1935, and were arrested on the 23rd September, 2nd, 5th, 23rd and 25th October and 2nd November, 1939.

(c) This matter is being considered.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : May I enquire as to when the reply to this question was prepared ?

Premier : No date is mentioned here. Most probably it was prepared after the receipt of the question. (Laughter.)

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Has not the number increased now ?

Premier : This was the number when the question was received.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : May I know whether in addition to this number Sardar Arjan Singh Gargaj has been detained ?

Premier : Which Arjan Singh Gargaj ?

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Those who have arrested him must know.

Premier : If my honourable friend is referring to the man responsible for the issue of the posters entitled 'Ailan-i-Jang' the reply is in the affirmative.

ARRESTS UNDER DEFENCE OF INDIA ACT.

5676. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) the number of arrests made and the number of cases started so far under the Defence of India Act in Hoshiarpur district ;

(b) the number of cases started under section 802/115, Indian Penal Code, during the current year ?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan : (a) Thirteen arrests have so far been made. Eighteen cases have been registered.

(b) Two.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether the main reason for starting these prosecutions in the Hoshiarpur district is the fact that Hoshiarpur is an unusually Congress-minded district ?

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is giving information.

Lala Duni Chand : Unless I make it clear to the Honourable Minister what for I want the information, how is it possible to put any question and to get any reply ? It is absolutely necessary that some sort of information should be first given in order to get further information. Otherwise it will be reducing us to a position of helplessness.

Mr. Speaker : But in this case the honourable member may ask his question.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether the reason for starting these prosecutions recently in Hoshiarpur is the fact that Hoshiarpur is an unusually Congress-minded district ?

Premier : That is not my information. I do not know what my friend means by unusually Congress-minded district. But these arrests are made under the Defence of India Act and our instructions are that only persons who infringe the rules under this Act and in connection with anti-war propaganda are to be dealt with.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it within the knowledge of the Premier that of late there have been an unusual number of prosecutions in this district as compared with other districts ?

Premier : Then there must have been an unusual number of offences in this district as compared with other districts. That is obvious.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Is the Honourable Premier aware that a special procedure is adopted by these district authorities in these cases.

Premier : What does the honourable member mean by 'special procedure' ?

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : The ordinary Criminal Procedure Code is not applied to these cases but as soon as information is received through even an ordinary village official, the man is arrested and produced before a court without any enquiry whatsoever.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it true that the presence of a particular officer whom I need not name, in the Hoshiarpur district, is responsible for these prosecutions ?

Mr. Speaker : What is the official position of that officer ?

Lala Duni Chand : He is connected with the criminal administration of the district. He is a magistrate.

Mr. Speaker : Then the question is disallowed. I cannot allow magistrates to be attacked like this.

Lala Duni Chand : I have no desire to attack him. I want to know whether it is within the knowledge of the Honourable Premier that a certain policy pursued by a certain magistrate in Hoshiarpur is the cause for the unusual number of prosecutions started in that district ?

Mr. Speaker : The policy of a magistrate cannot be discussed on the floor of this House except by a substantive motion.

Lala Duni Chand : May I not ask whether it is not within the knowledge of the Premier himself that the presence of the present district magistrate of the Hoshiarpur district is responsible for this unusual persecution and repression ?

Mr. Speaker : No.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Is the Honourable Premier aware that the statement he made on the 12th September has made the district authorities very careless and has encouraged them in setting up false cases in regard to the Ordinance ?

Premier : I do not agree with my honourable friend that officers are capable of starting false cases.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that cases under the Defence of India Act have been instituted even on reports made by ordinary chaakidars, patwaris and constables ?

Premier : Not to speak of constables or chaukidars, such cases can be instituted even on reports made by the honourable member himself.

SUSPENSION AND DISMISSAL OF LAMBARDARS.

5677. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state the number of lambardars who have been recently suspended or dismissed in Hoshiarpur district for reasons of their being members of Congress or being concerned in supposed political activities otherwise ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : None. The attention of the honourable member is drawn to my answers to questions Nos. *5259,¹ *5178¹ and *5204¹ in the current session.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if any lambardars were dismissed or suspended ? Should I understand that the Parliamentary Secretary means to say that no lambardars were suspended or dismissed ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I never said that no lambardar were suspended or dismissed. On the other hand, I have already said in answer to a question that 16 lambardars were suspended and 9 dismissed. When I said that none were dismissed I meant to say that none were dismissed for taking part in Congress activities.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Is a lambardar liable to be dismissed for his political activities ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I do not understand what he means by political activity.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it possible for the Parliamentary Secretary to state for what reasons those lambardars were suspended or dismissed ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If my honourable friend wants me to take the time of the House by repeating an answer which I gave to question No. *5178¹ I have no objection.

Lala Duni Chand : May I point out that up to this time you have not been pleased to disclose any specific reason ? Will you kindly do so now ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I gave the reasons the other day and if my honourable friend so likes, I will repeat them :—

For detailed reasons in each case the honourable member is referred to the files of the cases from which copies may be obtained under the rules. Of those dismissed one was for taking part in a subversive movement; his case is sub judice, on appeal; and 8 were for unauthorized absence. Of those suspended one zaildar was dealt with on police report; one sufedposh for subversive activities; 2 lambardars for failure to pay their dues to the village bank; one for an offence in connection with the recovery of land revenue; 3 for taking part in a subversive movement; 2 for non-payment of fines—3 for neglect of duty and 5 for giving false evidence. One zaildar was degraded for neglect of duty.

Lala Duni Chand : Will the Parliamentary Secretary be pleased to throw some further light on what he means by the word neglect of duty ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The honourable member knows what the duties of a lambardar are. They are available in a public document and when I say neglect of duty, I mean neglect of one of these duties.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it true that the appeals of all those lambardars and sufedposhes who elected to file appeals were accepted and they were acquitted on the ground that they should not have been suspended or dismissed on those grounds?

Parliamentary Secretary : Then what complaint has my honourable friend to make?

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : What does the Parliamentary Secretary mean by subversive activities? Does it include political movements or terrorist movements only?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am afraid I cannot give a detailed reply.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I only want to know whether the term includes political movements or only terrorist movements.

Parliamentary Secretary : If the honourable member looks up Webster's dictionary, he can find out the meanings of the word "subversive."

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I want the meaning that Government attaches to it.

Parliamentary Secretary : It is the same.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : What was the nature of the subversive activities for which the lambardars were dismissed?

Parliamentary Secretary : If my honourable friend gives me the name of a particular lambardar, it may be possible for me to supply that information. At the same time I would submit that as all these dismissals and suspensions are liable to be appealed against in revenue courts, exhaustive comments on this question are highly undesirable.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The Parliamentary Secretary has been pleased to say that one lambardar was dismissed on account of subversive activities?

Parliamentary Secretary : If the honourable member wants me to inform him of the names of the lambardars who were so dismissed, I shall be glad to do so.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I want to know the nature of the activities for which the three lambardars were dismissed.

Mr. Speaker : Are not the cases of some of them pending before the Commissioner in appeal?

Parliamentary Secretary : All of them are appealable.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : May I know the names of the lambardars who were dismissed?

Mr. Speaker : As some cases are under appeal, I cannot allow further supplementary questions.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I do not want to go into the merits of the cases; I want only the names of the persons who have been dismissed for subversive activities.

Parliamentary Secretary : Let me assure my honourable friend that I have the names of the lambardars, sufedposhes and zaildars here and also the reasons for their dismissal or suspension, but I hold that supply of that information would be neither desirable nor fair to the House as it may take so much time. But if any honourable gentleman wants that information about any particular individual I can give it to him.

Mr. Speaker : There should be no objection to giving the names only of those who have been dismissed for subversive activities.

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already submitted that an exhaustive discussion in this House in the form of questions and answers will not be desirable when these cases are liable to be appealed against or are sub judice and appeals can lie to revenue courts.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it not true that according to Government phraseology subversive activities mean Congress activities?

Parliamentary Secretary : No.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : To come to the same question, I want the names of the persons.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member should not insist upon a reply when the Parliamentary Secretary has more than once refused to give any answer.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : It is through you that we want the Premier and the Parliamentary Secretary to give replies to questions that are put.

Mr. Speaker : To insist upon a reply, when it is not given, is out of order.

Lala Duni Chand : Evasiveness is the order of the day on the floor of this House.

Minister : There is no question of being evasive. These gentlemen can apply to the Commissioner and further on to the Financial Commissioners on appeal.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : We only want the names of those dismissed.

Minister : An appeal lies on behalf of the persons dismissed.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : We want the names of the persons. How can the giving of mere names affect the case?

Minister : It is for the men to appeal and not for the House to take any action.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : We do not want to file an appeal, we only want the names of those dismissed.

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already said that if any honourable member is interested in any particular case, he can get a copy of the order.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The Parliamentary Secretary says that he has got the names of these people with him. We want to know the names of those who have been dismissed for subversive activities. But he says, "give me the names and I will give you the information." He cannot seek information from us. We want information from him.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is that a case of guilty conscience ?

Minister : No, Sir.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Have they any conscience ?

Mr. Speaker : I disallow all these questions.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : There must be some valid reasons for withholding such information from the House.

Mr. Speaker : A Minister may refuse to answer a question without assigning any reason. To insist upon an answer is out of order.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : And with all your authority you cannot help us.

Mr. Speaker : I have no authority.

Lala Duni Chand : You can prevent a Minister from being perverse.

Mr. Speaker : Truth in the abstract is always different from the official truth (laughter). That is the practice everywhere, even in the Parliament.

HARYANATILAK PAPER AND THE PRESS, ROHTAK.

5750. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the reasons which led to the demand of security of Rs. 1,000 each from the Haryana Tilak paper and the Press, Rohtak, under orders of the Chief Secretary, Punjab Government, dated 14th August, 1939 ;
- (b) the issue of the paper articles, with specific portions, sentences and words that offended the law, and in what respect ;
- (c) the special reasons as to why the Punjab Government took the action directly without the report or consent of the District Magistrate, Rohtak ;
- (d) whether the previous Deputy Commissioner, Rohtak, Khan Sahib Chaudhri Ghulam Mustafa Khan, who was himself strongly criticised by the Haryana Tilak has reported against this paper ; if so, the objectionable published matter pointed out by him and whether the action was taken on the same ?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan : (a) Both the paper and the press offended against clause (d) of sub-section (1) of section 4 of Act XXIII of 1931.

(b) It is not in the public interest to lay objectionable portions of the offending articles on the table of the House. I would add that as some of the articles in question appeared over the signature of the honourable member he ought to be able to provide this information himself.

(c) The law does not require the report or consent of the District Magistrate.

(d) This is an insinuation, not a question.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I enquire from the Honourable Premier as to which particular article or part thereof comes within the purview of the section referred to that relates to promoting enmity between different classes ?

Premier : Whenever and wherever my honourable friend says anything, nothing but bitterness and hatred can follow.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know as to which of my words can create embitterment between different classes ?

Premier : I have stated in reply to the main question that I do not want to give further publicity to those objectionable writings.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : It has been stated in reply to part (a) of my question that the articles in question come under section 4 (A) but my point is that this section holds liable to action only those writings which are likely to create hatred against the Government and enmity between the various sections of His Majesty's subjects. Now may I ask as to how this section can be applied to those writings ?

Premier : I have stated in reply to part (b) that I do not want to repeat the articles on which action was taken because I do not propose to give them unnecessary publicity and thus create further mischief.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I enquire as to whether the Honourable Premier before issuing orders had gone through those articles which in his opinion were likely to create mischief ?

Premier : My honourable friend perhaps does not know that I have not time enough to go through every sentence written by every newspaper. However I read those parts which had been marked for my perusal and I can say that they were as inflammatory and objectionable as my honourable friend's writings usually are.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Was any legal opinion sought before taking that action ?

Premier : My honourable friends will know the working of the various Government Departments if ever they come to occupy these benches.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The Honourable Premier has said that the writings and speeches of the honourable member are always objectionable. Does he mean to say that his speeches in this House are seditious ?

Premier : Here one can say several things which one cannot say outside this House. That has been my grouse.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Seditious things cannot be talked here in this House. If seditious things cannot be talked here then he is not talking sedition.

Premier : Speeches can be made and unfortunately they have been made in this House which create bitterness and if they would have been made outside the House they would have been dealt with according to law.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know which were the two communities the relations of which were likely to be embittered ? Were they Hindus and Muslims, or Unionists and non-Unionists ?

Premier : I have already stated that the speeches of the honourable member never create anything but bitterness.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Which were the two communities in this case ?

Premier : Bitterness may be created between Sanatanists and Arya Smajists or —

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know whether Unionists are also considered as being one community ?

Premier : No, I treat the Unionist party as a political party of this province.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What is the issue of the paper and what is the number of the articles which were considered to be objectionable ?

Lala Duni Chand : This paper has existed since 1923 and no action has ever been taken by the previous Government.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : May I know whether this paper has only criticised certain articles that had appeared in the Jat Gazette ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I draw your attention to part (b) of my question. May I know what public interest prevented the Honourable Premier from acquainting the House with the issue of the paper in which those objectionable articles had appeared ?

Premier : My honourable friend must have that information already. When the order was delivered to him he must have found in it what issue was responsible for that action.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is the Honourable Premier himself aware of the issue that led to that action ?

Premier : If my honourable friend thinks that the only business of the Punjab Premier is to study and learn by heart the date on which certain articles appeared in the Haryana Tilak he is very much mistaken.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Do I take it that the Honourable Premier passes orders with regard to newspapers with his eyes shut ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : In view of my reply given to part (c) of my question may I ask whether the action was taken at the instance or with the consent of the district magistrate ?

Premier : The reply is quite clear that the law does not require report or consent of the district magistrate.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : The Honourable Premier has often remarked that in such cases the district magistrates are free to take action at their discretion. Then, may I ask as to why the district magistrate was not consulted in this particular case but was kept unaware of the whole matter ?

Premier : I have not said anything in any part of my reply as to whether the district magistrate was or was not aware of the matter.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Was any complaint ever received from the former deputy commissioner of the district ?

Premier : How can I be expected to remember as to how many complaints have been made against the honourable member and by whom ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I enquire as to whether the Government took advantage of this occasion to take action against the paper on any complaint made by the former deputy commissioner ?

Premier : I regret that I cannot add anything to what I have already stated.

HARYANA TILAK PRESS, ROHTAK.

5751. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that the keeper of the Haryana Tilak weekly paper and the Press, Rohtak, had filed the ceasing declaration with respect to both the paper and Press on 23th August, 1939, that is before the time allowed for depositing the security by the Punjab Government ;
- (b) if so, whether it is further a fact that the order for forfeiting the Haryana Tilak Press, Rohtak, was issued by the Chief Secretary, Punjab Government, on 15th September, 1939, at the time when the Press did not exist any more ;
- (c) how the Government was justified in ordering an ex-keeper for the forfeiture of a defunct press ;
- (d) who is responsible for the harassment of the ex-keeper caused by this order and what steps Government propose to take in order to undo the wrong ?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander-Hyat Khan : (a) Yes. The ceasing declarations were filed on the 28th August, the last day of the period allowed for the deposit of the required securities.

(b) The order forfeiting the press was issued on the 14th September 1939, in consequence of the reprinting of the objectionable articles before the 28th August, that is to say, between the date on which security was demanded and the date on which the ceasing declaration was made.

(c) and (d) The question of justification is one for the courts to decide.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that before issuing the order for forfeiting the Haryana Tilak Press, Rohtak, the Chief Secretary ascertained the fact that the press had been closed down or not ?

Premier : My answer was that the articles in question were published in the intermediary period of the ceasing declaration.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know when the existing press had closed down against whom the orders for forfeiture were issued ?

Premier : The press had already closed. A few articles were published between the demanding of security and filing of ceasing declaration. And then you shifted the press to Gaziabad.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it up to the United Provinces Government to take action against my honourable friend ?

Mr. Speaker : That question does not arise.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that, when the orders regarding the forfeiture of the press were issued, there was no keeper of the press at all ?

Premier : There can be no press in the eye of law unless there is some one as its keeper.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is the Honourable Premier aware of the fact that the Chief Secretary issued orders for the forfeiture of the press on 15th September, while as a matter of fact the press had ceased to exist after the 28th August, 1939, and there was no keeper of the press against whom the orders could be given ?

Premier : Then it means that there was no owner of the press and was not being controlled by any one.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Your remarks are meaningless. What I want to inquire is whether the Honourable Premier is aware of the fact that the Chief Secretary issued the order for forfeiting the Haryana Tilak Press, Rohtak, on 15th September, 1939, while as a matter of fact the press had ceased to exist after the 28th August, 1930. If so, against whom was the order issued and under what rule ?

Premier : My honourable friend is asking for information regarding matters which are not included in the question. If he gives notice I shall try to furnish him the necessary information and then he will know as to who was the keeper of the press.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : The Honourable Premier says that I am asking the questions regarding matters that are not included in the question. I refer him to part (c) of the question which says :—

(c) how the Government was justified in ordering an ex-keeper for the forfeiture of defunct press ?

Premier : As regards this part of the question I said that my honourable friend could go to a court of law and if he followed that procedure he would know whether the Government was justified in ordering an ex-keeper or not.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : The question of seeking help from a court is a different matter. When the time comes that will be seen. But the questions asked here should be replied to.

Premier : The matter which can be decided by a court cannot be dealt with here.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : When my question has been admitted by the Honourable Speaker, why can it not be answered here ?

Premier : I have replied in the same spirit in which the question has been asked by my honourable friend.

RETIREMENT OF EMPLOYEES OVER THE AGE OF 55 IN THE SERVICE OF LOCAL BODIES.

*4049. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) whether the Government is aware that there is a large number of employees on the staff of the local bodies (both municipalities and district boards) in the province above the age of

55 and that these bodies also employ men who have retired from Government service ;

- (b) if the answer to (a) above be in the affirmative, what steps the Government proposes to take for the compulsory retirement of such men to relieve unemployment and remove inefficiency caused by the employment of superannuated men ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) Yes, there are some employees of local bodies who have either attained the age of 55 years or have retired from Government service.

(b) The question of amending the Punjab Municipal Act and the Punjab District Boards Act, with a view to preventing the employment of persons above a certain age, is under the consideration of Government.

SALARIES OF SUB-DIVISIONAL OFFICER OF ELECTRICITY BRANCH, PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

4233. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether the salaries and allowances of the Sub-Divisional Officer of Electricity Branch, Public Works Department, were revised and raised some time ago ;
- (b) whether the grades of Subordinate Staff, i.e., Line Superintendents, Machine Attendants, Meter Inspectors, Sub-station Attendants and Linesmen of the same Department have also been revised ; if so, what changes have been made ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) The term Sub-Divisional Officer is used in the Branch only for purposes of departmental administration. For purposes of rules such officers used to be classified as Local Managers, Grade I and II, before the 15th February, 1936 and are now designated as Assistant Engineers (Senior and Junior Scales). The honourable member is perhaps referring to those officers. Their scales of pay were revised as shown below :—

Designation and scale of pay before the 15th February, 1936.	Revised scale and designation.
Local Manager (Grade II) in the scale of Rs. 150—15/2—225.	Assistant Engineer (Junior scale) in the scale of Rs. 150—25—200—15—275/15—380.
Local Manager (Grade I) in the scale of Rs. 200—20—600 . .	Assistant Engineer (Senior scale) in the scale of Rs. 275—15—470/15—500—20—600.

(b) No, the scales of pay of Line Superintendents, Machine Attendants, Meter Inspectors, sub-station Attendants and Linesmen have not so far been revised.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Does the Government propose to revise the grades ?

Parliamentary Secretary : They have not been revised up till now and, so far as I know, there is no such proposal under consideration.

SWEEPERS EMPLOYED BY MUNICIPAL COMMITTEES.

4237. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state whether security of service, and benefits of leave, gratuity and provident fund and housing are guaranteed to the sweepers employed by the municipal committees in the province; if so, in what municipalities; if not, why not, and what does the Government propose to do in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : The honourable member is referred to the reply given to question No. *4187.¹

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know what is the reply to this part of the question, "if so, in what municipalities; if not, why not, and what does the Government propose to do in the matter"? In the reply given to the question which has been referred to, the names of the municipalities are not given. Some have introduced the new procedure and others have introduced it in part. I want to know the names of municipalities which have introduced this system and have taken action on the circular and names of those municipalities which have taken action in part or have not taken action and why.

Parliamentary Secretary : So far as I can recollect I gave the names of the municipalities which had introduced the system as given in the circular.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I have got with me the reply to that question. It was, that in the circular mentioned by the honourable member, deputy commissioners were requested to inform local bodies that in the opinion of the Government sweepers should be treated as whole-time employees and should receive the same privileges as regards leave and provident fund as other employees and so on and so forth. The reports are not yet complete as to which municipalities are giving effect to the proposal and which are giving effect to it in part. The names of the municipalities taking action are not given. In this connection I want to know the names of municipalities which have taken action and names of those which have not taken action.

Parliamentary Secretary : During the current session a similar question was put asking for names of municipalities which had adopted the circular. I had also given names of committees which had not adopted it and had given reasons for their not doing so. If my honourable friend is keen I will hunt out that answer. During this very session a question was asked in reply to which I supplied the information.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The Parliamentary Secretary refers to question No. 4187¹ which I have practically read out. If there is any other question, let him refer to it.

Minister of Public Works : He will quote the number of the relevant question, otherwise he will supply you with the information.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : My question is, "if so, in what municipalities."

Parliamentary Secretary : I replied to such a question during this very session.

DIFFICULTIES OF COMMUNICATION ON PATHANKOT-KULU ROAD.

4945. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether Government is aware that Kulu is one of the most important fruit-growing areas in the Punjab;
- (b) whether representations have been made to Government stating the difficulties of communication which exist on Pathankot-Kulu road in the matter of toll charges;
- (c) if answer to (a) and (b) above be in the affirmative, what action does the Government propose to take to remove this difficulty of communication to enable the fruit-growers to market their fruit without any difficulty?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) Yes.

(b) Yes.

(c) Ghatta-Mandi Section of the Pathankot-Kulu road belongs to the Mandi State and it is proposed to take over this Section for maintenance as soon as negotiations with the Mandi Durbar are concluded. These negotiations also aim at reducing the tolls on this road.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Since when is the Government in communication with the Mandi State with a view to get it done?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am afraid I cannot give dates.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : How long will it take for the present Government to complete the negotiations?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is not possible for me to give the period which would be taken in completing the negotiations.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know if the Government appreciate this difficulty of fruit-growers of Kulu Valley?

Parliamentary Secretary : If Government had not appreciated the difficulty they would not have started the negotiations.

Lala Duni Chand : Has the Government ever considered the question of throwing the public roads from Kulu to Simla open to fruit traffic? Has that question been ever considered by the Government?

Mr. Speaker : Road from Kulu to Simla is not in question.

Lala Duni Chand : It deals with the question of communications and facilities with regard to the export of fruits.

Mr. Speaker : I decline to allow this question.

Lala Duni Chand : Sir, this question is quite clear. It does not deal with any particular road.

Parliamentary Secretary : It particularly deals with the Pathankot-Kulu road.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Has the Government received any representation from the Kulu fruit-growers' association?

Parliamentary Secretary : Representations have been received and it is in consequence of those representations that the Government is taking this action.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know the number of representations received so far?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is impossible for me to give the number of representations.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know whether it was one or more than one?

Parliamentary Secretary : I cannot say.

CLOSING DOWN OF THE KANGRA VALLEY RAILWAY LINE.

*4972. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state if any inquiry has been made from the Punjab Government by the Central Government regarding the closing down of the Kangra Valley Railway Line; if so, what is the attitude of the Punjab Government in this respect?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Fais Muhammad) : No enquiry regarding the closing down of the Kangra Valley Railway Line has been made by the Central Government. An enquiry has, however, been made by the North-Western Railway and the same is under consideration of the Government.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Since when is it under the consideration of the Government?

Parliamentary Secretary : For some time past. I cannot give the exact date.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know whether the Parliamentary Secretary is aware that this question was asked during the last session and the same answer was given by the Government?

Parliamentary Secretary : The position is now the same as it was before, and, therefore, the same answer is repeated.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : How long will it take to settle the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is very difficult to say how long it will take to settle the matter.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Will it be decided during the life-time of the present Ministry?

Parliamentary Secretary : Hope so.

GOHANA MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE.

*4989. Chaudhri Sahib Ram : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) the date when the Gohana (Rohtak district) Municipal Committee was suspended and when it will be restored;

(b) the reasons for the undue delay in its restoration;

[Ch. Sahib Ram.]

- (c) which other municipal committee in the Ambala division remained suspended for such a long or even for a longer time?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): (a) The Gohana municipal committee was superseded in November 1933. It will be reconstituted as soon as its electoral rules which are under preparation are ready.

(b) It takes time to rehabilitate a committee which has been superseded on account of bad management and finances; hence the delay in resuscitating this committee.

(c) The honourable member is perhaps referring to Buria municipal committee, which was superseded in August 1933. The operation of the Municipal Act was withdrawn from the municipality in December last and the municipality was converted into a notified area.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: May I know if the Gohana municipal committee was superseded on grounds of unsatisfactory administration and unsound financial condition?

Parliamentary Secretary: My honourable friend would be well advised to ask Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang as to the circumstances under which the supersession of this particular committee was brought about. (Laughter.)

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: May I ask the Parliamentary Secretary if an ex-Minister can give answer to an Assembly question?

Parliamentary Secretary: No, but my honourable friend is asking supplementary questions in regard to a matter which took place in 1933. He wants reasons as to why that particular committee was superseded. I may inform him that I would be glad to furnish him with the required information if he gives me notice of that question.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh: Will the Parliamentary Secretary please state when the electoral rolls will be ready?

Parliamentary Secretary: I cannot tell this off-hand, but this much I can say that they are in the course of preparation.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh: May I know if there is any procedure or rule laid down, under which the electoral rolls must be prepared within five, six or twelve months?

Parliamentary Secretary: I cannot recall any such rule from my memory. My honourable friend would better consult Municipal Election Rules.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia: Is the Parliamentary Secretary aware that the reasons are given in the supersession order and that they are also published in the Government Gazette?

Parliamentary Secretary: Yes.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia: May I know what were those reasons?

Minister: Why ask this question? If they are published in the Gazette, the honourable member may look it up.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : May I know whether the electoral roll is being prepared for the last six years or has been undertaken recently ?

Parliamentary Secretary : This Government was not in office six years ago. It came into office on the 1st April, 1937. Since then steps are being taken. Rolls have been prepared and the elections will take place in due course.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : How long will it take ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I cannot state that.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : When will the elections be held, after four months, five months or after a year ?

Minister : Without any inordinate delay.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Does it mean a year approximately ?

UNSTARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

COMMUNITY-WISE STRENGTH OF SUBORDINATE ESTABLISHMENT IN THE HEAD OFFICE OF DEPUTY COMMISSIONER, CRIMINAL TRIBES AND RECLAMATION OFFICER, LAHORE.

936. Sheikh Sadiq Hasan : Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) community-wise the strength of the subordinate establishment in the head office of the Deputy Commissioner, Criminal Tribes and Reclamation Officer, Lahore, in the month of April, 1939, and September, 1939, separately ;
- (b) what action the Government intend to take to remove the grievances of the under-represented communities in the above-mentioned establishment ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) The required information is given below :—

			Strength in April 1939.	Strength in Sep- tember 1939.
Muslims	14	13
Hindus	17	17
Sikhs	5	5
Christians	1

(b) It is not possible to fix rigid communal proportions for the head office establishment apart from the other branches of the department. Communal proportions are already maintained as far as possible in making recruitment to the Department as a whole.

SCHEDULED CASTES' STUDENTS IN GURGAON, HISSAR AND ROHTAK DISTRICTS.

937. Chaudhri Prem Singh : Will the Hon'ble Minister for Education be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of boys belonging to the scheduled castes in the districts of Gurgaon, Rohtak and Hissar who have so far passed the Middle Examination ;
- (b) the number at present of schools in the above-named districts exclusively meant for the students of scheduled castes ;
- (c) the total number of Government scholarships meant for students reading in schools up to the middle standard in the Gurgaon district and the number out of them meant for students belonging to the scheduled castes ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) I regret I am unable to answer this part of the question as it is too vague.

(b) There were two such schools for boys in the Hissar district but none in Gurgaon and Rohtak districts on the 31st March, 1939.

(c) None for boys ; but five for girls. None of the latter is reserved for the students belonging to the scheduled castes.

SCHEDULED CASTES' CANDIDATES ACCEPTED AS PATWARIS.

938. Chaudhri Prem Singh : Will the Hon'ble Minister for Revenue be pleased to state the number of candidates accepted as Patwaris this year in the Gurgaon district and the number of Achhuts among them ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : First part
106.

Second part—5.

ACHHUTS EMPLOYED IN GURGAON POLICE.

939. Chaudhri Prem Singh : Will the Hon'ble Minister for Public Works be pleased to state the number of Achhuts employed at present in the Police Department in the Gurgaon district together with the rank each one of them is holding ?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : Two (constables).

940-41. Cancelled.

REPRESENTATION OF MUSLIMS IN KANGRA DISTRICT BOARD.

942. Khan Haibat Khan Dahi : Will the Hon'ble Minister for Public Works be pleased to state :—

- (a) what is the percentage of Muslim population of Kangra District ;
- (b) the total number of elected members of the District Board and the number of Muslims among them ;

- (c) whether it is a fact that only one of the ten nominated seats has been given to the Muslims;
- (d) whether it is a fact that the Muslim population is scattered all over the District and is not compact in any particular zail to be able to return a Muslim member by election;
- (e) whether any representations have ever been made to the Government for giving to arrange proper representation to the Muslims in the Kangra District Board; if so, the action taken thereon?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : (a) 4-7.

- (b) Of the 34 elected members none is a Muslim.
- (c) There are only five seats to which members are appointed by name. One of them is held by a Muslim. The other five seats are filled ex-officio.
- (d) It appears so.
- (e) Yes. As Muslims are entitled only to one seat on the Board on the basis of the formula adopted by Government, no action is called for.

COMMUNAL REPRESENTATION IN OFFICE OF LOWER CANAL EAST AND WEST CIRCLE.

943. Khan Haibat Khan Daba : Will the Hon'ble Minister of Revenue be pleased to state :—

- (a) the existing strength of the staff community-wise at present working in the offices of the Lower Chenab Canal East and West Circle at Lyallpur;
- (b) whether it is a fact that at present all the responsible posts in these offices are held by non-Muslims; if so, the action intended to be taken to give the Muslims their due share?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) Government has fixed communitywise ratios for the recruitment of all classes, of Provincial and Circle Establishments which are being strictly adhered to.

(b) It will be some years before the correct community ratios are attained in all such cadres. Government, however, is fully alive to their responsibility to see that each community gets its fair share of responsible posts in each Circle, at the same time taking into consideration the efficiency of its employees for all posts. Government considers that no useful purpose will be served by collecting the information asked for.

SUBORDINATE ESTABLISHMENT IN HEAD OFFICE OF DEPUTY COMMISSIONER, CRIMINAL TRIBES AND RECLAMATION OFFICER, LAHORE.

944. Sardar Muhammad Husain : Will the Hon'ble Minister of Finance be pleased to state community-wise the strength of the Subordinate Establishment in the head office of the Deputy Commissioner, Criminal Tribes, and Reclamation Officer, Lahore, in the months of April, 1939, and September, 1939, separately?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : The honourable member is referred to the reply given to part (a) of the question No. 936¹ put by Sheikh Sadiq Hasan in the current session.

APPOINTMENT OF SCHEDULED CASTES' CANDIDATES AS NAIB-TAHSILDARS.

945. Lala Harnam Das : Will the Hon'ble Minister of Revenue be pleased to state the total number of candidates appointed direct as Naib-Tahsildars during the last two years and whether it is a fact that none of them belongs to scheduled castes ; if so, the reasons for the same.

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : First part.—54.
Second part.—Yes.

Third part.—No suitable person belonging to the scheduled castes with requisite qualifications was forthcoming.

NOMINATION OF SCHEDULED CASTES' CANDIDATES AS E. A. Cs.

946. Lala Harnam Das : Will the Hon'ble Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the total number of E. A. Cs. taken direct or by nomination, community-wise, since 1st April, 1937 ;
- (b) whether it is a fact that no one belonging to the scheduled castes has so far been appointed as E. A. C. direct or by nomination during this period ; and if so ; the steps Government propose to take to give proper representation to the scheduled castes in future ?

The Honourable Major Sardar Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan : (a) Since 1st April, 1937, 31 candidates have been recruited by competition and direct nomination. Of these 15 are Muslims, 10 Hindus, 5 Sikhs and one Christian.

(b) It is true that no person of the Scheduled Castes has so far been recruited to the Punjab Civil Service (Executive Branch). One such person has, however, recently been accepted as a candidate for appointment to the Punjab Civil Service (Judicial Branch), and the claims of suitable Scheduled Castes candidates for the Executive Branch will always receive due consideration.

GRADE OF PAY OF ACCOUNTANTS AND ACCOUNTS CLERKS IN JAIL DEPARTMENT.

947. Khan Haibat Khan Daba : Will the Hon'ble Minister of Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) the names with grade of pay and the present actual pay of Accountants and Accounts Clerks in the jail department ;
- (b) the names with grade of pay and the present actual pay of each member of the staff at present working in the office of the Inspector-General of Prisons, Punjab ;

- (c) the names with date of appointment of the members of the staff at present employed in the offices of all Jail Superintendents in the Punjab ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : Government considers that the labour and time involved in collecting the information would be out of all proportion to the importance of the question asked.

ADJOURNMENT MOTIONS.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu): On a point of order. No printed list of adjournment motions has been supplied to us, and we are at a loss to know the order in which these adjournment motions will be put before the House.

Mr. Speaker : This point was raised by the honourable member the other day. Under Rule 42 a member asking for leave to move an adjournment motion has to hand to the Speaker half an hour before the sitting of the day a written statement of the matter proposed to be discussed. So, if the statement is handed only half an hour or so before the sitting of the day, there is hardly sufficient time to have it typed and circulated to the members of the House. But if time is sufficient it is circulated as a rule.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu): If it is not possible to supply copies of the list to all the members of the House, they may at least be supplied to those honourable members who have given notice of these adjournment motions.

Mr. Speaker : They can easily keep copies of the statements which they hand in.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu): Even then the difficulty remains. We cannot know the order in which they will be put before the House.

Mr. Speaker : I will call upon the honourable members to move their motions in the order in which they are received.

ABDUCTION OF MINOR SON OF TUHI RAM, MAHAJAN.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Southern Towns, General, Urban) : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the unsatisfactory statement of the Honourable Premier read by him on 23rd November, 1939, about the abduction of the minor son of one Tuhi Ram, Mahajan, of village Guhana, police station Sonapat, district Rohtak.

Mr. Speaker : Will the honourable member please state in what respect the answer is unsatisfactory ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu) : It is unsatisfactory in that it is wholly misleading and wrong.

Mr. Speaker : Please state which part of the question has not been answered.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu) : The Honourable Premier has not mentioned that the local police knew that the boy was kidnapped, kept for twenty-two days and was returned only when a ransom of Rs. 1,200 was paid; he has simply told us that the boy has safely returned to his parents. Why has he not said that the boy was kidnapped and kept for 22 days and that a ransom money had to be paid for his return?

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member may ascertain this by a question.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu) : I tried to elicit this information through a short notice question, but it was turned into a long notice question. It is usually the case with my short notice questions. The pity is that the replies are given to me after 1½ or 2 months when the force is gone.

Mr. Speaker : I want to know in what respect the answer is unsatisfactory and defective?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu) : It is unsatisfactory in that it has not given the full facts of the case and has concealed the failure of the authorities to do their duty.

Mr. Speaker : Which authorities?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu) : The police authority. The police feigned ignorance or remained ignorant, including every police official from the foot constable to the Superintendent. At the top of it all comes the misleading reply of the Premier which is wrong.

Mr. Speaker : His knowledge of facts is not personal. He relies on information supplied by his officers. In what respect is his answer unsatisfactory?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : On a point of order, Sir. You have ruled that in the reply given there is no element of dissatisfaction. May I know whether you hold that even if a Minister deliberately suppresses truth the reply given will not constitute sufficient cause for an adjournment motion?

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member's question is hypothetical. But if a Minister deliberately suppresses something or evades answering a question the honourable member may move a substantive motion but not an adjournment motion.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : In what way then can an unsatisfactory reply afford an occasion for an adjournment motion?

Mr. Speaker : That is for the honourable member to state.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I want to know in what manner, when the reply to a question is unsatisfactory can an adjournment motion be moved?

Mr. Speaker : No hard and fast rule can be laid down. Each case has to be decided on its own facts and merits.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : You are to clear doubts.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu) : Sir, an entirely wrong and misleading reply has been given by the Premier. What can be more unsatisfactory than that?

Mr. Speaker : That is the honourable member's view.

Minister for Public Works : I want to say a few words on this point. As you would remember the father of the boy refused to make any report. When he did not make any complaint how could the police proceed ? The honourable member gave notice of a short notice question raising a new point. We could not reply without making further enquiries and enquiries are being made and he will get the reply in due course. A short notice question can only be answered when we have the information. The information which we had has already been given.

Mian Abdul Aziz : In a case which is cognizable, is it necessary that anybody in particular should lodge a report before the police ? Is it not the duty of the police officer himself to lodge a report and begin investigation ? It is on the legal aspect that I am asking, because so much stress has been laid on the fact that the father did not give information. If it came to the notice of the police it was their duty to start the investigation whether the father of the boy did actually lodge a complaint or not.

Mr. Speaker : As regards the first point raised by the honourable member whether it is not the duty of the police to start an investigation irrespective of whether any regular report is made to it or not, that is a matter of law. My knowledge of law has become stale and, therefore, I am not in a position to express any opinion. As regards the second point, it depends on the first.

Malik Barkat Ali : The matter is very elementary. A cognizable offence has been committed. It becomes the duty of the police as soon as they receive information of its commission, to start investigation irrespective of the fact whether a report is made or not.

Premier : I am sorry that unnecessary heat has been generated. The point is this that a complaint was made to the Superintendent of Police by some one in writing. He sent for the father of the boy and asked him whether it was correct, and to lodge a complaint if there was any truth in the allegation. He refused to lodge a complaint. An enquiry was made and the police found that the boy was living in that very town.

Malik Barkat Ali : May I draw the attention of the Premier to the fact that it is one thing for the police to say that no offence of kidnapping has been committed. Once they take up that position, there is an end of the matter, but if the police have received information, no matter what the source of that information may be, that an offence of kidnapping which is a cognisable offence, has been committed, then it becomes the duty of the police to start investigation at once irrespective of whether the person aggrieved has reported to the police or not.

Premier : The police did make an enquiry and found that the offence had not been committed.

Malik Barkat Ali : The police have no right to call upon the father to lodge with them a written complaint, if the enquiry of the police has brought out that no cognizable offence had been committed.

Premier : The father would not admit that there was a case of kidnapping.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : In the statement made by the Honourable Premier the other day, he said that the Superintendent of Police wanted the father of that boy to lodge a complaint. Then he said that the boy was living with a certain gentleman. That does not mean that the boy had not been kidnapped. He was as a matter of fact kidnapped. A ransom money was paid and he was returned and is now living with another relation, may be because there is a chance of his being kidnapped again. It is not that the boy was not kidnapped. There is not a word about it in that statement.

Mr. Speaker : In this case the attack is on the Premier.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : My attack is on the police authorities of Rohtak.

Mr. Speaker : But the reply is said to be unsatisfactory because the information, expected by the honourable questioner, has not been collected and laid on the table of the House.

An Honourable Member : Unsatisfactory to whom ? To the Ministry concerned ?

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : To whomsoever it may appear unsatisfactory.

Mr. Speaker : Strictly speaking it should be unsatisfactory to the House ; though prima facie it is my duty as well to see, as the representative of the House, that it is unsatisfactory.

Munshi Hari Lal : It is for the questioner to judge whether the answer satisfies him or not.

Mr. Speaker : Then, I am afraid, there shall be a number of adjournment motions on every question.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : That is what the rule says. The rule does not say that it should appear unsatisfactory to the Speaker or to the Minister.

Munshi Hari Lal : The Minister has to speak on the strength of the information which is supplied to him. The Speaker has only to hear what the answer is. It is the questioner who knows the facts and figures and who can determine whether the answer is satisfactory or not.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member's motion is :—

To discuss a matter of public importance, namely, the most unsatisfactory, wrong and misleading statement of the Honourable Premier.

That language is unparliamentary, but if the honourable member feels advised, he may give notice of a censure motion against the Premier.

Munshi Hari Lal : The honourable member does not want to censure the Premier. He wishes to censure the subordinate authorities. Why should he bring in a motion of censure against the Premier ?

Mr. Speaker : Will the honourable member please point out any rule to show how this can be done ? He does not want to censure the Premier, but it is only by censuring him that he can censure the subordinate authorities.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know precisely which are the words in my motion which render it out of order ?

Mr. Speaker : I consider it out of order.

BAN ON THE ENTRY OF MR. M. N. ROY INTO THE PUNJAB.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt (North-Eastern Towns, General, Urban) : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the notice served on Mr. M. N. Roy by the Punjab Government banning his entry in the Punjab for one year.

Mr. Speaker : Leave is sought to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the notice served on Mr. M. N. Roy by the Punjab Government banning his entry in the Punjab for one year. Any objection ?

(No objection being taken, 4-30 p. m. was fixed for the discussion of the motion.)

CITY OF LAHORE CORPORATION BILL.

Minister of Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : Sir, I beg to introduce the City of Lahore Corporation Bill.

I beg to move—

That the City of Lahore Corporation Bill be referred to a select committee consisting of—

Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz.
 Diwan Bahadur S. P. Singha.
 Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan.
 Captain Ashiq Hussain.
 Sardar Bahadur Sardar Gurbachan Singh.
 Chaudhri Ram Sarup.
 Rai Sahib Lala Sohan Lal.
 Sayed Afzaalali Hasni.
 Malik Habib Ullah Khan.
 Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava.
 Mrs. Duni Chand.
 Mian Abdul Aziz.
 Mian Fazal Karim Bakhsh.
 Begum Rashida Latif Baji.
 Rai Sahib Chaudhri Het Ram.
 Shaikh Faiz Muhammad.
 Mr. K. L. Gauba.
 Khan Bahadur Raja Muhammad Akram Khan.
 Mian Abdul Rab.
 Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh.
 Diwan Chaman Lall.
 Lala Sita Ram.

[Minister of Public Works.]

I further move—

That the quorum for the meetings shall be nine.

I would also move—

That the House do agree to a select committee of more than 15 members.

Mian Abdul Aziz : Why honour me by nominating to the select committee for the first time after a period of nearly three years?

Minister : Perhaps the honourable member is the prospective Mayor of Lahore or a time may come when the Corporation may not have him. (Laughter).

Mian Abdul Aziz : It would be your desire not to have me. I myself have no such desire.

Minister : I do not at this stage want to say anything more except to draw the attention of the honourable members to the statement of objects and reasons attached to the Bill and to further remind them that when the present Government came into office, we found the Municipal Committee of Lahore superseded for persistent maladministration. So, the immediate problem was to ask the administrator to clear up the arrears and to draw up schemes to remedy the default for which that local body had been superseded. In short the task was to create order out of chaos left by the municipal committee. After that, the next and the most important problem that had to be solved was what should be the future form of municipal administration in Lahore. There were two obvious alternatives. One was to revive the old municipal committee—there were demands from certain quarters for this—and the other was to constitute a corporation. As demand for revival was made at the time from certain quarters we also considered the question, and came to the conclusion that if the defects which had led to failure in the past were allowed to remain, perhaps the result would be the same. The main defect under the municipal administration as existed was that the executive and legislative and deliberative functions were combined in one body. So, with that defect we were told that if we repeat the experiment, the result would be more or less the same. It was not one committee which had been working unsatisfactorily, but a number of successive committees had not been able to come up to the expectations of modern system of local self-government. So we ruled out that alternative and considered the other alternative of a corporation. Local self-government is supposed to be functioning successfully in other big towns of India such as Bombay, Calcutta, Madras and Karachi where the principal feature of the Acts is that the executive is totally separated from the deliberative and the legislative body. So we came to the conclusion that if we adopt this principle perhaps we will be able to remedy many of the defects from which the administration has been suffering in the past and it is on these lines that the present Bill has been modelled. As you will see, it is mostly modelled on the lines of the Karachi corporation which is the latest enactment on this subject. Through this Bill we should like to constitute three separate authorities, the corporation, the standing committee and the chief executive officer. Specific powers have been given to these various authorities under the provisions of the Bill and care has been taken that there is no conflict among these authorities.

This will lead to efficient working. These are the main principles and if we accept these principles and proceed on these lines, I am sure we will be able to have in Lahore not only local self-government but that coupled with good government. I do not claim perfection for any of the details of the Bill nor is it possible to expect unanimity. In a controversial legislation of this type there is bound to be considerable difference of opinion. But if we consider the measure dispassionately and without any bias, I am sure we will be able to agree on the main principles and if we accept and agree on those principles, then the minor details may be left over to be settled in the select committee which I have just proposed and which I am sure includes representatives from all parts of the House including all the representatives of Lahore, including the Leader of the Opposition himself. With these few words I commend this motion to the consideration of the House. (Cheers.)

Mr. Speaker : Motion moved—

That the City of Lahore Corporation Bill be referred to a select committee consisting of—

Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz.
 Diwan Bahadur S. P. Singha.
 Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan.
 Captain Ashiq Hussain.
 Sardar Bahadur Sardar Gurbachan Singh.
 Chaudhri Ram Sarup.
 Rai Sahib Lala Sohan Lal.
 Sayed Attaalali Hasni.
 Malik Habib Ullah Khan.
 Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava.
 Mrs. Duni Chand.
 Mian Abdul Aziz.
 Mian Fazal Karim Bakhsh.
 Begum Rashida Latif Baji.
 Rai Sahib Chaudhri Het Ram.
 Shaikh Faiz Muhammad.
 Mr. K. L. Gacba.
 Khan Bahadur Raja Muhammad Akram Khan.
 Mian Abdul Rab.
 Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh.
 Diwan Chaman Lal.
 Lala Sita Ram.

That the quorum of the select committee be nine ; and that the House do agree to a select committee of more than 15 members.

Minister : I have received a suggestion from the Honourable Leader of the Opposition that he would like to withdraw from the select committee and in his place Mian Iftikhar-ud-Din may be taken.

Mian Abdul Aziz : I would like to make a suggestion that instead of removing the Leader of the Opposition from the committee he can have him as also Mian Iftikhar-ud-Din. Dr. Gopi Chand is absolutely necessary. He has worked on the committee and he knows the working of the Lahore municipality and I hope the Minister will kindly agree to my suggestion.

Minister : That is why I proposed the name of the Leader of the Opposition. I entirely agree with my honourable friend.

Diwan Chaman Lal : If my honourable friend can omit my name and keep Dr. Gopi Chand's, perhaps that will solve the difficulty.

Minister : There is no difficulty. The only trouble is that under the rules a select committee cannot exceed in any case the number 25 and we have already reached that number. In consultation with the Leader of the Opposition I allotted a certain number of vacancies to be filled up by him. He gave me the names but now he has suggested another name. I have no objection to anything if the list remains within 25. I understand that Mian Iftikhar-ud-Din says that Dr. Gopi Chand's name may continue to be on the committee and that he does not want to be on it.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt (North-Eastern Towns, General Urban): Sir, I beg to move—

That the City of Lahore Corporation Bill be circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon by the 1st March, 1940.

I beg to add that the figure 1939 published in the agenda is a misprint. What I actually sent in was 1940. At the very outset I would like to make it clear to you and through you to the honourable members of the House that the object of the circulation motion is not at all dilatory. It is not my intention, it is not the intention of the Opposition or the Congress Party to kill the City of Lahore Corporation Bill. This circulation motion represents a genuine attempt to get the Bill referred to our masters outside, the citizens of Lahore who are vitally affected by the Bill under discussion. Mr. Speaker, there might be two opinions on the action of the preceding Government in having superseded the Lahore municipality, but I take it that so far as independent opinion is concerned there are no two opinions on the fact that the continuation of the supersession was a crime against democracy in Lahore.

Malik Barkat Ali : Hear, hear.

Minister : Crime against licence! Yes.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : That is what you think of the citizens of Lahore. Now, the Opposition welcomes that the supersession will be ended and that the municipality will be restored. It may, therefore, appear surprising to some of the members of the House that in the face of this opinion held by the Opposition as well as by the general public, we are moving a circulation motion. You will agree with me, Sir, that this Bill is a very comprehensive Bill. This Bill contains 410 clauses and it vitally affects the interests and the welfare of the common people of Lahore and therefore I say that there should be no indecent haste in rushing through this Bill. We should not try to rush through this Bill. Therefore I put in a plea for a cool, calculated consideration and examination of the various clauses of the Bill. The Bill should be before the public at least for a couple of months or so, so that the public should take into account every aspect of the Bill before we here who consider ourselves as the custodians of the rights of the people or as the representatives of the people express any opinion in regard to this Bill. It is, therefore, with that object that I have placed this circulation motion before the House. The other object is that knowing the fate which is in store for the circulation motion, knowing the treatment which is to be accorded to the circulation motion, I want to take advantage of this occasion to place the views of the Opposition before the Government as well as before the prospective members of the select committee, so that the Government may consider ten times before actually rushing through the Bill and before actually enacting this legislation. Mr. Speaker, there are, as I said, no two opinions on the undesirability of the continuation of the supersession of Lahore municipality. I could go one step further and say that time was when there were certain members of the Opposition who honestly believed that the affairs of the Lahore municipality might become better, that the misrule of the superseded municipality might be ended by the supersession of the municipality. May be my honourable friend Dr. Sir Gokul Chand was one of those, may be that Mian Abdul Aziz and some other friends were also amongst those who honestly and genuinely believed—

Mian Abdul Aziz : I was not on the committee then.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt :—who believed that if a respite is given the affairs might improve. I said that there were certain members of the Opposition at that time, I never said that Mian Sahib was on the committee. I do not actually know but at least we have one honourable gentleman who is adorning the Opposition benches, Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang in whose regime the municipality was superseded and I make bold to say that even Dr. Sir Gokul Chand who superseded the municipality at that time was never in favour of the continuation of the supersession for a time longer than was absolutely necessary. Now after tasting the bitter experience of the present administration, it is the unanimous opinion of the citizens of Lahore that the present administration is much more intolerable, is much more stinking than the misrule or the maladministration of the superseded municipality. I make bold to say on the basis of knowledge, on the basis of facts which I have in my possession and I have given a little time and attention to the study of the state of affairs in Lahore that the present administration, the present Macnabbian administration is a hundred times more inefficient and more corrupt than the maladministration of the superseded municipality. (Hear, hear.) I am, therefore one of the first persons who welcome the restoration of the municipality, but before we actually throw the present Macnabbian administration into the grave we should try to examine the structure which the present Government intend building on the ashes of the Macnabbian administration.

So far as I have studied the various provisions of the present Bill, so far as I have studied the structure of this measure, I find that the structure provided for in this Bill is open to serious objections. The constitution of the corporation, which is provided for in this Bill, is a hybrid, reactionary and anti-democratic, and reveals a peculiar mentality of the Punjab Government, which has made a declaration to the effect that it is out to send hundreds and thousands of people of this province to serve as cannon-fodder to save the democracy of Poland, while the same Punjab Government denies the same democracy to the fullest measure to the citizens of Lahore. It is provided in the Statement of Objects and Reasons that the present Corporation Bill is based on the model of the Bombay Corporation Act.

Minister : No, on the model of the Karachi Act.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : I think the Honourable Minister cannot be so ambiguous as to say one thing at one place and another thing at another place.

Minister : I stated that it was on the model of the Karachi Act.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : I was going to say that a portion of the Bill is on the model of the Rangoon and the Karachi Acts, when the Honourable Minister interrupted me. I will read out what is given in the Statement of Objects and Reasons :—

In drafting the Bill an attempt has been made to combine the Karachi model with the provisions of the Punjab Municipal Act, 1911. The Karachi Act was passed in 1933 and is the latest enactment. It follows the Rangoon model and is based on the Bombay Corporation Act, 1888.

I think the Honourable Minister for Public Works while studying the City of Lahore Corporation Bill, has not made a comparative study of the Bombay Corporation Act, the Karachi Act and the Rangoon Corporation Act; otherwise he would not have made such a false statement as is contained in the official document, that is, the Statement of Objects and Reasons, which is appended to the Bill itself. The Lahore Corporation Bill is not only not based on the Karachi Model, it not only does not follow the model of the Bombay Act, but it is diametrically opposed to some of the important provisions of those Acts and therefore I say that he has tried to throw dust into the eyes of the unsophisticated people of this province. I have made a comparative study of the most important provisions of the City of Lahore Corporation Bill, as well as of the Bombay Corporation Act, the Karachi Act, the Calcutta Corporation Act, the Rangoon Corporation Act and the Madras Corporation Act, and I have come to the conclusion that whereas democracy is enjoyed to a great extent in those big towns, here that very democracy in the present Bill is denied to the citizens of Lahore. We should not forget one very important thing while making a comparative study of this measure; we should not lose sight of the fact that those Acts, that is the Calcutta Corporation Act, the Bombay Corporation Act and the Karachi Corporation Act and other Acts of this kind, were passed by the bureaucratic governments. Those Acts were not passed by any popular Government. This is the first time in the history of India that a so-called popular Government has introduced a Corporation measure and in that measure the Government are going to trample under foot the rights and privileges of the citizens of Lahore.

Lala Harnam Das : On a point of order. In view of the importance of this Bill, it is in the fitness of things that some representation should be given to the scheduled class on the select committee.

Mr. Speaker : Order, order. That is not a point of order.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : It is neither flesh, nor fowl, nor good red-herring. I fail to understand how the Government had the temerity or the audacity to place such an objectionable and anti-democratic Bill before this House, unless it be because the Government had absolutely no hand in the matter, probably because the Honourable Minister for Public Works was not even consulted while this Bill was being drafted. I understand from a very reliable source, I am open to correction, that the present Bill is the offspring of a notorious administrator, who has made himself, in the opinion of all right-thinking citizens of Lahore, a nuisance. This is the opinion of all right-thinking citizens of Lahore about this official. I think it would have been better if he had been here during the discussion of this Bill. (Minister for Public Works: No.) Does the Honourable Minister deny the origin and genesis of this Bill, when he says "No"? Is Mr. Macnabb not the originator of the Bill? What does the Honourable Minister mean by "No."? Mr. Macnabb has made himself a thorough nuisance in the eyes of the citizens of Lahore and indirectly in the eyes of the whole province. Does he deny that? If the Government had taken the people into its confidence; if it had cared for the wishes of the people, then it was the duty of this Government not to entrust the authorship of this Bill to such an officer as Mr. Macnabb. Not only that. If it had cared for the wishes, for the feelings and susceptibilities of the citizens of Lahore, it should have long ago removed Mr. Macnabb from his present office. But the Government did not care to do that, probably because this Government which is English-ridden, had not courage to remove an officer, who is a European.

You will be surprised to know, and perhaps you already know, that even a newspaper like the "Civil and Military Gazette," which you know is very friendly to the Government, has condemned from time to time the actions of the Administrator and has demanded the removal of Mr. Macnabb. Not only that but it was only very recently that the "Civil and Military Gazette" devoted one full column to a leading article in which the Lahore Corporation Bill was condemned as an anti-democratic measure. It was said therein that perhaps the Punjab Government did not believe that the citizens of Lahore were capable of managing their own affairs and that the Government evinced a distrust of democracy. The Punjab Government does not at all respect the opinion expressed by nationalist newspapers like the "Tribune," the "Milap," the "Pratap" and others but it should certainly take into account the opinion expressed by the "Civil and Military Gazette" which is theirs and not ours.

Let us make a comparative study of the City of Lahore Corporation Bill and other similar Acts. The charge which I have laid against the Government is that they have placed before this House a Bill which is anti-democratic. In defence of my argument I have to give certain facts and figures. First of all I would like to take the most important question of the constitution of the Corporation. That is, I am sure every honourable member will agree with me, the basic factor of the City of Lahore Corporation Bill. The Corporation, according to the Bill, will consist of 68 councillors out of whom 17 shall be appointed by the Government. I would like to read out to you the constitution of the City of Lahore Corporation as provided in the Bill. It is—

7. (1) The Corporation shall consist of sixty-eight Councillors—

- (a) forty-five elected by ward elections in such manner as the Provincial Government may, by rule, prescribe in this behalf;
- (b) one elected by the Northern India Chamber of Commerce;
- (c) one elected by the Trustees of the Lahore Improvement Trust;
- (d) one elected by the Indian Chamber of Commerce;
- (e) one elected by the Punjab University;
- (f) one elected by the District Board;
- (g) one nominated by the North-Western Railway; and
- (h) seventeen appointed by the Provincial Government;

[Ch. Krishna Gopal Dutt.]

So far as the important question of nomination of seventeen members is concerned, may I ask the Honourable Minister of Public Works whether such a large percentage of nominated members exists in any other Corporation or municipal committee of India? I am glad he is very discreet in being quiet because the answer is 'no.' In no Corporation in India is there such a large percentage of nominated members. Now the pertinent question is as to what are the intentions of the Government in having such a large number of nominated members on the Lahore Municipality? Does he know how many nominated members there are in the Calcutta Corporation, in the Karachi Corporation and in the Bombay Corporation? I would like to state for the benefit of the honourable members of this House what the strength of nominated elements in other Corporations is. In Bombay there is absolutely no nominated element at all. Please note that the Bombay Corporation, which, it is said, has provided a source of inspiration for the authors of the present Bill, contains not even a single nominated member. (Interruption.) There are three members who are appointed ex-officio and not nominated members which you should bear in mind. They are not considered as nominated members. Mind you only three out of 117. In our Corporation out of a house of 68 there are going to be 17 nominated members while in Bombay as I have said there are only three ex-officio members out of a House of 117. It will be a standing shame to the Punjab Government. In Calcutta the nominated element is 8 out of a house of 98. In Karachi the nominated strength is 8.

Begum Rashida Latif Baji : There is none. I have got the letter with me.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : I might have committed some mistake but the notes, which I took down, show that it is 8 out of a house of 64 in Karachi. This question of nomination is an important question and requires consideration on the part of the honourable members of this House. This system of nomination has two origins. In political science, there was a group of political thinkers who thought that, when democracy was, in the very beginning, introduced in certain countries, there might be certain very good gentlemen, there might be certain important interests, which, through the ordinary electoral machinery provided by democracy, might not be represented on a particular representative institution. So they thought that the Government should take that duty upon itself to nominate some of the members so that some of the important interests may be reflected on a particular representative institution. There was another aspect which was political. This wholesome principle of nomination was abused from time to time by the British Government in India and the present Government has taken a legacy from the preceding Government. It has tried to retain that principle and there is every likelihood of its being abused. We have got bitter experience of those people who have been nominated by the Punjab Government from time to time on the various municipal committees. We know that ordinarily speaking, without casting any aspersion against any particular gentleman, those people, who had been nominated so far, were absolutely nincompoops and were thorough reactionaries, had thoroughly retrograde outlook on life and politics, they were the friends of the reactionary government and were the enemies of the aspirations of the people.

We have never found that in any elected body those nominated gentlemen ever took the popular view. Not one instance can be found throughout the province when any nominated member supported the popular cause. Such gentlemen are again going to be nominated on the Lahore Corporation. May I know if there is any other object underlying the provision of seventeen members as nominated members for the Lahore Corporation?

I can well understand that the Honourable Minister for Public Works would get up and say that there are certain important interests which have to be represented on the Lahore Municipality; he would get up and say that there is the question of women and that there is the question of the scheduled castes. But, Sir, so far as we are concerned, we are opposed to the representation of special interests by nominations and especially the large number proposed to be nominated by the Government. I will pick up only one of these special interests and that is the question of the representation of women. I have got the greatest respect for the aspirations of women. I am one of those who believe in complete equality of sex, I am one of those who believe that perhaps no spoon-feeding is required for our women and they do not even demand it in the organisation called the All-India Women's Association. They never asked for any special rights. They never asked for any special representation. What they have demanded is the equality of sex. May I draw the attention of the House to a statement issued on the subject by one of our honourable ladies of this province, who is a very talented lady, Mrs. B. L. Nehru. She issued the following statement on behalf of the Executive Committee of the Central Punjab Branch of the All-India Women's Conference :—

“The Executive Committee of the Central Punjab Branch of the All-India Women's Conference Association at their meeting held to-day, considered the main features of the Lahore Corporation Bill which will shortly come up before the Legislative Assembly for consideration. Before making any comments on the Bill the Committee considers it necessary to enumerate the principles which have, from time to time, guided the deliberations and decisions of the A. I. W. C. They are as follows :—

- (1) The emancipation and freedom of women within the larger emancipation and freedom of the country. If and when there is a clash between the two, it has followed the policy of subordinating the women's interests to the interests of the country as a whole.
- (2) Complete equality of the sexes.
- (3) The establishment of full democracy of which complete local self-Government is an essential part.
- (4) Adult franchise as a pre-requisite of Self-Government.
- (5) Joint electorates without which the attainment of unity of all classes and communities is impossible.

The Corporation Bill tested in the light of the above principles is unsatisfactory. The hold of the Government is greater and the freedom of action of the corporation is more fettered than can be justified. The nominated element is larger than the modern thought and practice allow. The most important question of franchise and electorate is left over for the by-laws.

We, therefore, respectfully recommend to the Government to amend the Bill in such a way as to bring it in conformity with the accepted principles of the present age and the enlightened public opinion of the provinces. We draw the attention of the Government particularly to the following :—

- (1) All sex discrimination be abolished....”

[Ch. Krishna Gopal Dutt.]

I would like the Honourable Minister of Public Works to note these words and I want Baji Sahiba also to note them.

All sex discrimination be abolished by giving women equal rights of franchise with men. Such rights are enjoyed by women in other provinces where equality of status is guaranteed to them in the main body of the Municipal Acts as in the case in Bombay and Calcutta.....".

The only plea which the Honourable Minister for Public Works can adduce is this that the interests of women have to be represented in the Corporation by nomination. What I put before him is that he can leave this question to the Corporation itself. I think the best method of getting the representation of women is to give adult franchise even to women and they should also be allowed to fight the elections on political and economic issues. They should be allowed to fight for their own interests. They should be allowed to fight for the interests of the province and they should be allowed to fight for the interests of Lahore and for political and economic interests (Inter-ruption)—not that they should fight with men day in and day out. (Laughter). At present it is not considered advisable by the orthodox people to have representation of women in that manner. In that case I suggest that it should be left to the Corporation itself to have representation of women in whatever manner it likes. But if the Punjab Government is going to take undue advantage of this fact that there are certain special interests which require representation on the corporation, then I would say that it is a negation of democracy and that no gentleman in this province, who has got any love for liberty or freedom, or for equality and fraternity and all these noble things would be a party to this provision which gives the Government power to appoint 17 members out of a house of 68.

Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz : May I, through you, ask a question? Is it the considered opinion of the honourable member that the representation of women for safeguarding their interests should be left to the corporation and that the State has no duty to safeguard their rights?

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : If this is a suggestive question, I am really sorry. It is the duty of the State to protect the interests of women but it is not the duty of the State to take undue advantage of that fact and thrust their own men and women on the corporation. It is, of course, the duty of the State and what do you mean by State? By State, of course, I do not suppose you mean the Government. State does not mean Government.

Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz : May I ask the honourable member another question? Why has he taken it for granted that the nominations have been provided for in this Bill just because women wanted to be nominated on the corporation or in order to safeguard their rights and interests?

Begum Rashida Latif Baji : I do not want it. (Hear, hear.)

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : I am glad to hear that Baji Sahiba, who has been leading a number of municipal agitations in Lahore, and is interested in municipal affairs has declared that she is not in favour of the system of nominations.

Now, Sir, coming to another question with respect to the constitution of the Lahore Corporation, I would point out that the Bill provides for one elected seat by the Northern India Chamber of Commerce and one elected seat by the Indian Chamber of Commerce. I beg to submit that the attempt of the Government to give representation to the commercial class is very welcome. But my only grouse against the Government in this matter is that the Government, while giving representations to the big capitalists, has failed to give representation to the middle-classes and the lower middle classes who are commercial. Why do they specifically mention here that one seat will go to the Northern India Chamber of Commerce and one will go to the Indian Chamber of Commerce? There is another important organisation in the province which represents the middle classes and the lower middle classes and that organisation is the Punjab Merchants' Association. Why have the Punjab Government failed to give any representation to the Punjab Merchants' Association? The second thing is that while the Government have given representation to commercial classes and to the employers' association, there is not one seat provided for those down-trodden and those poor and poverty stricken labouring classes. Not a single seat has been provided for labour. If it is said that all the interests are to be represented on the Lahore Corporation, then there are two parties to this question, capitalists and labour; while the Punjab Government have provided for the representation of capitalists, they have not done anything for the representation of labour on the Lahore Corporation. I say, that in my opinion, there should be a specific provision in the Bill, guaranteeing the representation of labour, not through back-door method of nomination but through the open door of election, so that these poor people should be able to send their genuine, true and real representatives to the Lahore Corporation.

Now we come to another important question, viz., the appointment of the Chief Executive Officer. I hope if this particular question is discussed on its merits there would be a number of members of the Unionist party who would see eye to eye with us in this particular matter and if they are left free, if they are given freedom of vote by their Premier, I am sure there would be a large number of members of the Unionist party who would vote with us on this particular question. I have had talks with some very important members of the Unionist party and I have come to the conclusion that there are a number of people who resent the appointment of the Chief Executive Officer by the Punjab Government. In the Bill this right is vested in the provincial Government. It would be for the provincial Government to appoint the executive officer. May I ask if it is democracy; or may I ask if it is the distrust of democracy? Why should the Punjab Government have its own nominee? It is said this is local self-government. This Bill is an insult to local self-government; this Bill is an insult to the citizens of Lahore. The Punjab Government believes that the people of Lahore are not able to manage their own affairs, that they are not in a position to elect such representatives who are the best man for the post of Chief Executive Officer. We know that the Punjab Government would come out and say that there were intrigues, wranglings, and parties going on in the Lahore municipality and they are likely to be repeated in the Corporation, and that the work of the municipality should not suffer.

These are old bureaucratic answers which do not require any reply. If this is the honest opinion of the Punjab Government it is better that they should say in the most unmistakable words that there should be no Lahore Corporation at all. They should try to rule the Lahore city with the fiat of Mr. Macnabb or any other gentleman. If they believe in the democratic instinct of the citizens of Lahore they should vest this right of the appointment of the executive officer in their representatives and should not arrogate this right to themselves. I would read out to you what some of the honourable members of the Unionist party had said about this particular matter: not only some of the honourable members of the Unionist party but such a distinguished member as the honourable Sir Chhotu Ram who is a member of the Cabinet as to what his opinion was with regard to the question of Executive Officers. The honourable Sir Chhotu Ram if he has got any individual conscience.—I hope he has, I do not believe in collective conscience—he would certainly give his anxious thought and consideration and and reconsideration to the provisions of the Bill. Sir Chhotu Ram characterised it while speaking on the Executive Officers Bill in the Punjab Legislative Council on the 4th and 7th of May, 1931, as “putting the whole municipality on the shelf, the president and the deputy president on the shelf.” He went on to say:—

They who have been installed in power by the free will of the people do not count for a farthing—it is the Executive Officer who has been placed there by the bureaucracy who will rule the roost. The principle is inconsistent with and directly opposed to the principles of democracy and as such it should not be acceptable to anyone here or outside the House.

This is what Sir Chhotu Ram said then. To-day he is a member of the Punjab Government but he should not forget his own views and forget his own conscience and defy us and oppose us and go with the Government benches. (A voice: He is more responsible now.) This I call as Machiavellian politics ill-suited to the genius of the country. This means that when a gentleman is irresponsible, he has got one set of views and when he comes into power he has another set of views and votes against his own previous views and convictions. If my honourable friend is right we would take it that no gentleman sitting on the other side has got any views.

Now making a comparative study of the question of the appointment of the Chief Executive Officer we have it that in Karachi and Calcutta the appointment is made by the Corporation although it is subject to the approval of the Government. I quite agree with the Government in their view expressed in the Statement of Objects and Reasons as to why the various local bodies in the Punjab or in other provinces have proved a failure. One of the remedies suggested is control by the Government. Control of the Government does not mean Government itself: it does not mean that the principles of local self-government should be thrown to the wind. It does not mean that the Punjab Government should completely ignore the wishes of the representatives of the people. It does not mean that the appointment of such an important officer of the Lahore Corporation should be made by the Punjab Government. What does control of Government mean? The control of Government means that if the Chief Executive Officer is thoroughly bad and is hampering the rapid growth of local self-government or is thoroughly corrupt or undesirable and the Corporation fails to take notice of it and panders to his corruption, it is then that Government should intervene. Absence of such control would mean that a corrupt and undesirable officer will not be removed. If democracy goes wrong and degenerates into mobocracy then Government should exercise its control. It does not mean that from the very beginning the Government should imagine that there is no atmosphere for democracy and that therefore Government should act in an autocratic manner. I think the citizens of Lahore will never be able to agree to the clause by which the appointment vests in the Punjab Government.

Now I come to another question. There are so many members who are anxious to speak and I will not like to cover all these points. I should therefore leave something for them to talk about. Now there are two aspects of the question so far as this executive officer is concerned. Firstly, the appointment of the executive officer and secondly the removal of the executive officer. The method of removal of the executive officer as provided for in this Bill is absolutely anti-democratic. I have to use this word again and again because again and again an attempt is made by the Punjab Government to crush democracy under foot. Therefore I would say that if the appointment of the Chief Executive Officer by the Government is anti-democratic the removal of the Chief Executive Officer is equally anti-democratic. What is the provision in the Bill? The provision is that three-fourths of the majority of members present in the House are required for the removal of the Chief Executive Officer. Now if you know, as you know, the personnel of the Corporation and the constitution of the Corporation, you would agree with me that in view of the very nature of things it would be absolutely impossible to have such a majority and that where an executive officer who is undesirable, who is corrupt, who has made himself as big and as thorough a nuisance in the eyes of the people or in the eyes of the representatives of the people, as Mr. Macnabb has done, it would be next to impossible to dislodge that man from his office. Three-fourths—this means that the Government should always have a hand in the matter. This means that since there are going to be 17 members who will be nominated, without the help of these members, no executive officer who is in the bad books of the people but who is in the good books of the Government shall be removed. It means that at all times under such circumstances it would be the nominee of the Punjab Government who would be in the gaddi and the representatives of the people will never have any choice in the matter at all. Now the Honourable Minister comes here and declares that this Bill is following certain models of other provinces. Let us see what other provinces have to say in this matter. In Bombay out of a house of 117 only 64 are required for the removal of the Municipal Commissioner, which corresponds to the Chief Executive Officer in the Punjab. This means 64/117. By ordinary calculation it would be clear to every gentleman here that it is much less than even two-thirds. In Karachi only two-thirds majority of those present is required for the removal of the executive officer.

I would refer only to one or two other matters. Of course the Bill contains so many clauses that within the short space of time which I have before me it is well nigh impossible to discuss the whole Bill, but I am taking only the important clauses of the Bill.

[Ch. Krishna Gopal Dutt.]

The other question which I want to discuss is the property-tax which is provided for in this Bill. There has been a lot of agitation against the decision of Government to levy a house-tax or a property-tax on the citizens of Lahore. I want to record here my own opinion, which is also the opinion of the Congress Party, and I wish it to be understood by Government that we have got views which are independent of those held by the present leaders of the anti-house tax agitation in Lahore. So far as I am concerned, I am not against the imposition of a house-tax. So far as the Congress Party is concerned, it is not opposed to the levy of a property-tax. I want these gentlemen who have been leading this agitation to understand that after all money has to come from somewhere, and that money has to come from those who are able to pay. I am not discussing the agitation. I am discussing the principle of the tax. I am not discussing as to what the tax should be. I am discussing whether Government had any right to tax those to whom it had not given any representation. Has Government forgotten the old democratic principle: "No taxation without representation"? I believe that the fundamental objection of some of the leaders of the recent agitation is that the taxes should be levied by the representatives of the people and not by the Punjab Government. If Government had any faith in self-government, then it should have left the matter of taxation to the representatives of the people, as to whether it is advisable or desirable to have a house-tax and if so what should be the rate of that tax. But my main objection to the provisions relating to the house-tax is that it has been made obligatory on the Lahore Corporation to levy a property-tax. In my opinion the Government have again shown a distrust of democracy. Government have paid scant respect for the feelings and susceptibilities and views and opinions of the representatives of the people. Does the Government think that it understands better the needs of the people and that those who are elected by the widest franchise in Lahore will not be in a position to understand the requirements of the city, as to whether there should be a tax and if so, how much? Why not leave it to the Corporation? Why say that it shall? The provision, Mr. Speaker, says that the City of Lahore shall levy a property-tax. In my opinion, the Government should leave this question to the Lahore Corporation and change the word shall into may—the City of Lahore may levy a property-tax.

The other thing which I want to put before you is that there is a very vague definition of the "City of Lahore," not vague but at present you will be surprised to know that we do not know nor does the Minister know as to what Lahore is to-day, as to what is the City of Lahore to-day. May I ask him if he knows what the City of Lahore is? He knows it personally, but at least so far as this Bill is concerned we do not know as to what is going to be the jurisdiction of the Lahore Corporation and what is going to be the limits, what is going to be the area over which the Corporation will have some control. According to the definition—

"The City of Lahore" or "the City" means the local area which the Provincial Government may by notification under this Act, declare to be the city and any other area which the Provincial Government may include on the issue of a notification in the Official Gazette under section 364.

It is yet to be seen and it depends on the sweet pleasure of the Government to declare what is going to be the City of Lahore. I want that this should not be left to the Punjab Government. This should be decided here; this should be a part of the Act. I want to bring home to the honourable members that this power entrusted to the Punjab Government has already been abused. I would refer to the recent extensions of Lahore which have been made by the Punjab Government in the teeth of opposition.

Minister : At least you know what Lahore is.

Begum Rashida Latif Baji : I know it very well.

Mian Abdul Aziz : Let us know what the administration knows.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : The better-half knows better. The better-half is the Administrator himself and not the Honourable Minister. I mean the better-half of the Administration. (Laughter).

Dr. Sir Gokal Chand Narang : I thought that the Minister was the better-half. (Renewed laughter).

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Sir, by a notification dated the 22nd of April it was declared that the Governor of the Punjab would increase the limits of Lahore from 26 square miles to 92 square miles. In my opinion this is against the interests not only of the old city of Lahore but also of those people who inhabit the area which the Punjab Government seeks to bring within the Corporation. I represent portions of that area which are adjoining Lahore and I am in a position to say that even the inhabitants of those places are against such an extension. I believe that the city of Lahore would become very unwieldy and it would not be possible for a Corporation to administer and rule all these places very wisely and efficiently. There are a number of objections to this extension. A very lengthy statement was issued by that Grand Old Man of the Punjab who had made a special study of this subject, I mean Raja Narendra Nath Sahib. Raja Narendra Nath Sahib had studied this question in its detail and he gave arguments which were territorial arguments, which were financial arguments, which were also political arguments, to show that this scheme of expansion of the limits of Lahore was absolutely silly and absurd. We do not want to entrust this power to the Government and therefore we want that instead of leaving this thing vague, it should be incorporated in the Act itself, so that the citizens of Lahore and its representatives should know what the City of Lahore means. I would not like to take more time of the House, but I would say one thing and that is that in the opinion of all right-thinking people of Lahore, the present Bill is an anachronism. It is out of tune with the spirit of the times and therefore the Punjab Government should be in no hurry to rush through the Bill but circulate it to elicit public opinion thereon.

Mr. Speaker : Motion under consideration, amendment moved—

That the City of Lahore Corporation Bill be circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon by the 1st March, 1940.

The amendments of other honourable members will be discussed along with this motion, but will be voted upon separately, if necessary.

Malik Barkat Ali : May I know the order in which you would call upon the members to speak, so far as the members who have given notices of amendments are concerned ?

Mr. Speaker : The amendment moved by Chandhri Krishna Gopal Dutt is under discussion. As the remaining amendments are identical with it except as to dates by which public opinion is to be elicited, all amendments shall be discussed together.

Begum Rashida Latif Baji (Inner Lahore, Muhammadan Women, Urban) (Urdu) : Sir, the present Bill is so defective and imperfect that even a cursory glance at it makes one feel that it undoubtedly deserves to be thrown into the waste-paper basket. (Hear, hear from the Opposition benches). Sir, it has been admitted that the Lahore Corporation Bill has been copied from the various Corporation Acts that are at present in force in Bombay, Calcutta and other big cities of India. My contention is that cities like Calcutta, Bombay and Karachi are sea ports. Since they are big commercial centres the inhabitants of those cities are rolling in wealth. The conditions prevailing in Lahore have nothing in common with the conditions obtaining in the said commercial centres. It would have been much better if the conditions of the inhabitants of Lahore were kept in view while drafting such an important Bill. It is no use copying others. If at all it was felt necessary to copy from those Acts, then either this work should have been entrusted to a professional copyist (Laughter) or to a clerk employed for the purpose on Rs. 20 or 25 per mensem. Had it been so copied I would have refrained from suggesting that the Bill should be thrown into the waste-paper basket. The framer of this Bill is the Administrator of the Lahore Municipality. But it is a pity that he does not even know how to copy it. (Laughter). While drafting this Bill he remained at Simla and it seems that he was then under the impression that since he had drunk elixir of life at the hand of the Honourable Khizar he would continue to rule over Lahore. It would be a Himalayan blunder on the part of the Government to keep a person still there who has miserably failed to perform his administrative duties efficiently and who has incurred the odium and displeasure of the whole population of the Lahore city. Each and every line of this Bill is in fact a true index of his Hitlerian mentality, if I may say so (Hear, hear). In fact under this Bill most of the powers have been either retained to itself by the Provincial Government or delegated to the Chief Executive Officer. Very limited powers have been vested in the proposed Corporation. I cannot be expected to make a comparison between this Bill and the Corporation Acts of cities like Karachi, Calcutta, Madras and Rangoon. Any way I would like to make a few observations in this respect and I am sure the House would be in a position to judge as to how fundamentally this Bill of ours differs from those Acts. On the Bombay Corporation there are 117 councillors in all, and only three of them are nominated ones. But they too are ex officio. Otherwise there is not a single nominated member on the Bombay Corporation. Similarly in Calcutta there are 99 corporators and only eight of them are nominated. On the Karachi Corporation, which has been particularly referred to by the Honourable Minister, there are only 64 members. Formerly there were 9 nominated members, but recently they have abolished the nomination system. In support of my statement I can safely refer to the letter I have received from Dr. Shroff who is at present the Executive Officer of the Karachi Corporation. He says that the Corporation has now discontinued the nomination system. It is the Corporation that appoints the Executive Officer in Karachi. It is also empowered to remove or suspend him on a decision made by its two-thirds majority. The Karachi Act provides that the salary of the Executive Officer should in no case be less than Rs. 1,200 and more than Rs. 1,500. The number of the councillors of the Lahore Corporation will be 68. Out of them only 45 would be returned by popular votes. No less than 17 members would be nominated by the local government. Besides this official bloc six members would be sent by various institutions to work on the Corporation. It goes without saying that the latter number would comprise of official as well as non-official members.

Besides, powers have been invested in the provincial Government to appoint the Chief Executive Officer, and not in the Corporation. As far as his removal and suspension is concerned it has been provided in the Bill that the Chief Executive Officer will be removed if 51 members out of 68 are of the opinion that he should be removed. When there are only 45 representatives of the public how can the opinion of 51 be the same? Moreover the Corporation has not been authorised to grant him leave or to appoint any person temporarily in his place. It is evident from the Bill that the maximum limit of the salary of the Chief Executive Officer will be three thousand rupees. This will be the least figure as far as his salary is concerned. But an addition of Rs. 250 is likely to be made in his salary and he will get an Improvement Trust allowance as well. This is exactly the amount being paid to the present Administrator. There is no member, male or female, in this House who has not been elected; where is the necessity for nominations to the Corporation? I would, therefore, request the Government to give up this practice of nomination. For instance, if I am supposed to get into the Corporation as a nominee, I would at least refuse to be included in it as a nominated member, I do not like to have the yoke of nomination round my neck (Cheers from the Opposition), as the nominated members always keep in view the interests of the Government and they, having the seal of nomination on their lips, cannot do anything substantial for the good of the people. They go on praising the Government like a parrot which is taught to sing "G. o j goo j ji, goo j goo j ji". (Cheers from the Opposition). If these seats are for those weak candidates who are unable to seek election, then I do not think there is any need for such weak and uninfluential candidates who are prepared to sell their heart and soul to the Government for this favour and obligation. It would be much better if seats are now fixed according to communal proportion, including a certain number of seats for women candidates so that they may occupy them by election when the time comes.

Sir, at the present stage of democracy when almost every country is involved in the present war for the sake of democracy, and when the Punjab and other provinces have promised to supply men and material and when the youths of this province are going to be sacrificed at the altar of democracy, in reality the dead body of democracy is being buried in the Town Hall to-day. (Opposition cheers).

I may also point out that the citizens of Lahore are quite tired of the atrocities and misbehaviour of the present Administrator. But woe betide us, the Bill that is under discussion shows that the Government still want to keep Mr. Maenabb the despot over our heads, so that he may go on annoying the five lakhs of people of Lahore. I am at a loss to understand the policy of the Government. On the one hand, they are leaving no stone unturned for the sake of democracy, on the other it is obvious from their attitude that they are planning to introduce despotism in Lahore.

Sir, now I should like to submit a few words about the house-tax in this connection. This tax has been levied against the wishes of the people, and in spite of the fact that they raised much hue and cry against it. Despite the agitation the Government has included it in the Bill. Is it not injustice? The Bill provides that the Corporation will impose this tax according to its sweet will. It means that the public has no voice at all. As regards the assessment of the house-tax, I would point out to you how this assessment has been made. Some young men tired of unemployment were appointed on Rs. 30 or Rs. 25 per mensem and asked to make an assessment of houses in the city. They used to parade the streets and muhallahs like soldiers and before starting they used to decide amongst themselves as to how many houses each of them was going to assess. If they met any child playing in the street they would ask him, "Kaka, do you know how many rooms there are in this House?" After getting a reply to such questions they made an entry in the papers. Sometimes they had a look at the outside of a house and estimated its height and length and made an entry. In this way, Sir, assessment was made here and after sometime bills to this effect were struck on the walls of the houses. The defective assessment brought dire consequences in its way as was expected, that is to say, the rent of the house whose rent is less than Rs. 10 was estimated at Rs. 40. Consequently this sort of assessment caused resentment and great agitation amongst people. Women called on me, crying and weeping, with the bills which had been stuck to their walls tied up in their handkerchief, and said, "Baji ji, we have not enough money even to buy our ordinary necessities, sometimes it so happens that we have not money to pay our sweeper and water carrier, how will we pay the house tax?"

Sir, you might be well aware that in every muhallah and street of Lahore meetings were held and resolutions were passed against the house-tax and after that a deputation went to Simla to wait upon the Minister in charge. I think the Honourable Major Khizar Hayat Khan might remember when I made entreaties to him in a very pathetic tone that he should take pity on widows and poor people of Lahore and withdraw the tax proposal. But he replied that there was no such agitation in Lahore against it, though he came to realize it later on that there was actually a great agitation against it and that I did not tell a lie to a him while representing the grievances of women-folk. Then the Administrator who charges Rs. 50 or Rs. 60 thousand from the public of Lahore for nothing sent an order from the pleasant hills of Simla that all the house owners should come in person to the Town Hall on the 20th. Almost 50 thousand house owners gathered round the Town Hall, including house tenants. They went there according to the order of the Administrator on the fixed date, and loud-speaker arrangements had been made there by the leaders in order to control the mob before the procession actually reached there. (Interruptions). Sir, it is not fiction, but I am telling you the truth. As there were almost one lakh of people at that place it was necessary to fix a loud-speaker there in order to control them.

Khan Bahadur Nawab Muzaffar Khan : On a point of order. What the honourable member says is all very interesting but it is hardly relevant and it is high time that we come to the motion under discussion.

Mr. Speaker : Yes. It is irrelevant.

Begum Rashida Latif Baji : Sir, please let me have my say.

Mr. Speaker : If it is not irrelevant.

Begum Rashida Latif Baji : I draw your attention to the section in which it has been provided that house-tax will be imposed on the citizens and when this Bill is enacted into law even the Corporation will not be able to remove it.

Mr. Speaker : Is the matter referred to by the honourable lady member, sub-judice? Is the case not pending in a court of law?

Begum Rashida Latif Baji : There was a very large number of police officials who had blocked the way on all sides. There we came to know that the officer, who has been thrust on us by the Government and who, we know, is going to continue to rule us, was out of the station. It was a direct insult offered to us.

Khan Bahadur Nawab Muzaffar Khan : I rise to a point of order. All this is most interesting but—

Mr. Speaker : I agree.

Begum Rashida Latif Baji : That day we came back. The next day, i.e. the 21st, was allotted to women. You know, Sir, how hot it is in Lahore in the month of August. In this intense heat the women house-owners of Lahore, many of whom were poor widows, started for the Town Hall to make representations. They were accompanied by no male persons. Some of them had small babies with them. In that heat they reached the Town Hall. Muslim women had their burqas on, and my Hindu sisters were wearing khaddar sheets. At that time almost the whole of the Lahore police was there armed with pistols, revolvers and bayonets. It was blocking our way like a veritable solid wall. Jail lorries were standing nearby. We tried our best to reach the Town Hall, but there was no way and we could not proceed further. Even some of the officers standing there would be honest enough to bear me out when I say that the women were very much distressed and said with tears in their eyes that they were not able to bear this burden. When it was found that Mr. Macnabb was not at Lahore and the way was blocked by the police which was standing on both sides all the women had to return sadly disappointed.

This much about the assessment of house-tax. Now I want to say something about the properties. The Bill says that mosques, temples, churches, holy places, dharmshalas and gurdwaras will be exempt from the levy of this tax, but there is nothing to indicate whether the properties attached to these places, on the income from which they have to depend for their maintenance and repairs, etc., will or will not be exempted. Then we find in the Bill that the houses which bring rent up to Rs. 5 per mensem only will also be exempt. But may I ask you, Sir, whether there is any house in Lahore which fetches Rs. 5 per mensem as rent? This provision is put in there only to hoodwink the rural members, but the urban members know it fully well that no exemption is being granted to the poor house-owners. Then we are told that cremation grounds, burial places and cemeteries have been exempted. But this is a matter between the Government and the departed souls. If the people who are dead are anxious to thank the Government for this kindness they are welcome to do so. (Laughter).

Then it is provided in the Bill that if any person fails to pay the house-tax the Chief Executive Officer can obtain distress warrants against him and entry can be effected into his house by breaking the locks, windows, etc. But if the house be occupied by women only then they are to be informed of the fact two or three hours in advance. It is laid down that everything excepting the necessary dress and beddings of the defaulter can be attached. But if the defaulter is an artisan his instruments will be exempted and if he be an agriculturist his cattle and grain will not be touched. But there is no mention of the bullocks of washermen, horses of tongawalas, and similar belongings of other labouring classes. This shows that no leniency has been shown to the poor. If the sofas and other furniture of the rich defaulters were attached one could understand it. But here we find that excepting necessary clothes and beddings everything will be attached. Even old durries and utensils are not to be exempted. We do not know whether all these things are required in connection with some battle going on with Afridis. The Government always professes great sympathy for the poor, but here we find that practically the poor are told that they have no right to live in Lahore and, therefore, they should remove themselves from the city. May I know whether this is the sympathy which the Government has for the poor?

Then, Sir, our ministers and parliamentary secretaries are in the habit of asking us to go to them with our grievances and complaints. But about the administration of Lahore so many complaints have been made and so many deputations have waited on them without any result. All the vernacular papers ventilated our grievances in their columns. The English newspapers like The Tribune and even The Civil and Military Gazette wrote so much against the maladministration of the Administrator. But all in vain.

So far as the administration of the Lahore Municipal Committee is concerned I am at a loss as to what charges I should level at it because the number of charges is legion. Out of them I will only place before you the question of the reduction of the salaries of the Municipal teachers. There are something like 300 or 350 teachers working in the schools run by the Lahore Municipal Committee. Now a uniform reduction has been made in their salaries, i.e., the salaries of all the teachers whether they receive Rs. 80, Rs. 40 or Rs. 50, will be reduced by five rupees. To crown it all, the teachers were made to agree to this decision of the Administrator at odd hours of the night and they were not allowed any choice but to sign, even if they were not willing to get their salaries reduced. Amongst these teachers there are many who have 12 to 16 years' service at their back. And now when they have spent their youth in the service of the municipality it is very difficult for them to go and seek employment elsewhere.

Besides, I may point out that the teachers were in a way compelled to append their signatures to the decision of the Administrator because if they had refused to append their signatures they would have certainly been cashiered before the setting of the sun. In the circumstances the only course open to them was to append their signatures to the decision of the Administrator. In addition I may submit that if I had in my possession the representations which they made to Mr. Macnabb I would have certainly quoted them on the floor of the House. For instance, I may point out that one of the teachers wrote to him that he had five children, a widowed sister and a wife and that he was making his both ends meet with great difficulty on his present pay. In the circumstances he had no other course open to him but to agree to the decision of the Administrator. Another teacher wrote to him that he was paying Rs. 8 by way of rent and that it was very difficult for his large family even to get a bare living with his present pay. Moreover it was very difficult for him to go somewhere else and search for employment for himself, when people are already going from pillar to post in search of employment. Consequently he had to be contented with his lot and could do nothing but to agree to this decision of the Administrator. In short, every teacher appended his signature to the decision of the Administrator with such dissenting notes. In this connection I am reminded of a custom which was prevalent in China in days gone by. It is said that when any body was to be put to death, he was generally given a dagger to end his life. Similarly, the teachers working in the schools of the Lahore Municipal Committee were asked to append their signatures to the decision of the Administrator which was no less than a death warrant for them. I know that in reply to this criticism it may be asked by the Government as to what was the way in which the income of the Lahore Municipal Committee could be increased. But I wish to make it clear to them that this is not a correct method of increasing the income of the Committee that the teachers who receive Rs. 20 should be paid only Rs. 15, but if any reduction is to be made it should be effected in the salaries of those who receive thousands of rupees per month. If the salaries of such high paid employees are reduced by a few hundreds a lot of money can be saved. This is real reduction, otherwise the reducing of the salaries of low paid employees is a sheer injustice. I may also point out that since the Administrator has been appointed he has steadily increased the pay of those employees of the Committee who already draw very fat salaries, on the other hand he has been making reductions in the salaries of the low paid employees. Is this the achievement which the Government is praising so much and on account of which it is trying to keep him here for all times to come?

In addition I may point out that Lord Ripon started the scheme of local self-government in India in 1882 and his main object for doing so was that by the introduction of such a scheme the people of India would get training in local self-government and then slowly they would become fit to govern their provinces when self-government or swaraj was given to them. Moreover it was the intention of that soft-hearted Englishman that Indians should know how to manage the affairs of their own towns. But to-day after the passing of so much time the object of that very principle is being defeated inasmuch as the Corporation shall have to take the sanction of the provincial Government in each and every matter. Instead of re-constituting the Lahore Municipal Committee so that new members should have been elected who would have put forward a new scheme, the Government has brought forward a Corporation Bill, wherein all the powers have been entrusted to one single person. This is the reason why I am suggesting that this Bill should be circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon so that people should express their opinions about it. In this connection I may point out that a meeting was held on the 24th instant by the Rate-payers Association and many resolutions were passed in it that the Bill as it stood was not acceptable to the people and that it should be circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon.

In conclusion I may point out that although Malik Barkat Ali's motion had precedence over mine, yet on my rising up to make a speech he gave way and allowed me to have my say and I am grateful to him for that. Now Sir, through you I wish to convey to him that whatever I wanted to say, I have stated on the floor of the House. I have every hope that now he would put forward sound arguments in support of his motion. (Minister: He is supporting us.) How can it be possible? He is an urban member and he must side with the urban members. I am confident that he will not do any injustice to the urban people. The urban people are literate and they know what is good and what is harmful for them and they also know that the Bill as it stands is going to bring many evils and I am sure they will not accept it. In the circumstances I support the motion now before the House that the Corporation Bill should be circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon.

Malik Barkat Ali (Eastern Towns, Muhammadan, Urban): When it was first announced that the Punjab Government had decided to raise the town of Lahore to the status of a corporation, I received the announcement with a great deal of satisfaction. My satisfaction was natural. The town of Lahore, of which I claim to be a citizen and inhabitant for generations, and its people had been deprived most unjustifiably of their undoubted right to manage and control their affairs through representatives of their own choice on the 28th of October 1936. Since that date, notwithstanding the general wish of the citizens of Lahore that the Lahore Municipal Committee should be resuscitated, the Committee has stood superseded and the people of Lahore have remained deprived of their ancient right. When, therefore, it was stated that this terrible and grave injustice to the town and people of Lahore would be rectified, I received the news with a great sigh of relief. Therefore, with this knowledge, if I rise to speak in favour of the circulation motion, my object is not in any way to obstruct the passage of this Bill or to take advantage of a dilatory motion, but my object is that this Bill, which is undoubtedly a most important Bill, should receive all the care and attention which can be given to it not only by the members of this House but also by those citizens outside who are going to be most vitally affected by this measure. Out of all those salutary processes through which important legislation passes, the first salutary process is that of circulation which should be gone through and not dispensed with. When I go through the provisions of this Bill, I find that the Bill is not only open to grave objections on principle, but that many of its provisions are radically incompatible with that status which the Government says it is going to confer on the citizens of the town of Lahore. I shall state my reasons very briefly.

My first reason is that the Bill is a very important Bill. Even ordinary municipal institutions are described as nurseries of citizenship and as training grounds for the development of that attitude of mind and that citizen spirit which is necessary for democracy. Gladstone describes municipal institutions as follows :—

Municipal institutions are the seedplots upon which and around which are cultivated those habits of thought and that temper of the mind which constitute the noblest heritage of any nation.

A great master-mind and a great constitutional thinker, namely, De Tocqueville, has described municipal institutions as follows :—

Municipal institutions are to liberty what primary schools are to science; they bring it within the people's reach, they teach men how to use and how to enjoy it. A nation may establish a system of free government but without the spirit of municipal institutions it cannot have the spirit of liberty.

A very distinguished judge, Mr. Justice Brown, in the case reported as People versus Draper says as follows, and this I quote with particular reference to what the Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill gave as the gist of his Bill to this House, namely, that the fundamental principle of this Bill is the separation of legislative and executive functions,—I may remind him in passing that this is not the British practice. The honourable judge says as follows :—

Wherever the Anglo-Saxon race have gone, wherever they carried their language and laws, there communities, each with a local administration of its own selection, have gone with them. It is here that they have acquired the habits of subordination and obedience to the laws, of patient endurance, resolute purpose and knowledge of civil government which distinguish them from every other people. Here have been the seats of modern civilisation, the nurseries of public spirit and the centres of constitutional liberty.

And the next sentence is the most important one :—

They are the opposites of those systems which collect all power at a common centre, to be wielded by a common will and to effect a given purpose, which absorb all political authority, exercise all its functions, distribute all its patronage, repress the public activity, stifle the public voice, and crush out the public liberty.

A Corporation is the highest form of local self-government and it, therefore, stands to reason that if the Government has decided to give the town of Lahore the status of a corporation, it should really give the town of Lahore a corporation with all its accepted attributes and trappings and not the mere mockery of a corporation.

My second reason for supporting this motion is that the citizens should be given an opportunity of knowing the provisions of this draft Bill and to this end this draft Bill should be given the widest publicity so as to elicit public opinion. The present Bill was published in the Punjab Government Gazette (Extraordinary), dated the 2nd October, 1939 and to-day, on the 27th November—hardly within two months—there is a motion for reference of this Bill to a select committee. May I remind the Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill that when a similar situation arose in another province, how the Minister in charge of the same portfolio dealt with it? I want to refer the honourable members to what happened during the course of the passage of the Calcutta Municipal Amendment Act of 1928. The Calcutta Corporation, though originally constituted in 1876 was in 1899 radically altered, and its composition was then fixed at half nominated and half elected. Another most important feature of the Act of 1899 was that whereas under the previous Act all civic authority was centred in the

[Malik Barkat Ali.]

Corporation, the bureaucratic Government, in charge of the affairs of Calcutta, in the year 1899 broke up that supreme authority by creating three independent bodies and thus the paramountcy of the Corporation in civic affairs was considerably cut down and materially affected. When this action was taken by the bureaucratic Government of those days, all the leading members of the Corporation resigned and an agitation of considerable dimensions began. It continued till 1918. Then came the War and a promise was made by the Government that they would reconsider the question. In the year 1921, when that great nationalist leader of Bengal, the late Sir Surendra Nath Banerjee, took charge of the portfolio of Local Self-Government, he at once proceeded to take in hand the task of amending the Calcutta Municipal Act. How did he begin? He first called a representative conference of Europeans and Indians to consider the whole matter. That conference thrashed out all the details of the proposed legislation and after several months submitted certain recommendations. Those recommendations were then incorporated in a draft Bill and the draft Bill was then introduced in the Bengal Legislature. I should like the honourable members to note the various relevant dates; It was in March 1921 that the conference was called. The conference made its recommendations in due course, and it was on the 22nd November, 1921, that a Bill embodying these recommendations was introduced in the Bengal Legislative Council. On the 29th November, 1921, within a week of the introduction of the Bill, the Honourable Sir Surendra Nath Banerjee himself moved a motion, not for reference to a select committee, but for circulation of the Bill which was the result of the recommendations of the joint committee of officials and non-officials. It was after the Bill had been before the public until 3rd July, 1922, that a motion was made by the Honourable Minister in charge of public affairs for reference to a select committee. I may here point out that even the Bill of 1899, the product of the bureaucratic Government of those days, was before the public for 18 long months. I submit that within the space of hardly two months, it is absolutely impossible for even honourable members of this House to acquaint themselves with the detailed provisions of this Bill. I put it to the House, how many of us have gone through this full Bill? I put it to the honourable members occupying the Treasury Benches, how many of them have gone through the entire provisions of this Bill? I respectfully submit that it is impossible within the space of two months to do full justice to the detailed provisions of this Bill.

Now, Sir, my third reason, and my most important reason is that this Bill proceeds on principles which it is impossible to accept. My learned friends have already drawn the attention of the House to the nominated block provided in this Bill. So, I will not deal with it in detail. I accept their arguments. If I may be permitted, I may just point out that so far as the Calcutta Municipal Corporation is concerned, that Corporation started with 50 per cent nominated element in the year 1899. Sir Surendra Nath Banerjee by his Act of 1923 reduced it from 50 per cent to 10 per cent and then it was left for Mr. Fazl-ul-Haq, in the year of grace, 1939, to reduce this nominated strength further to 8 per cent and out of these 8 members, in a House of 99, 3 were set apart for scheduled castes. So, you will be pleased to see that the power of nomination kept in its hands by the Bengal Government applies only to 5 seats. Now, I come to the Madras City Municipal Act. In 1904, the Madras Corporation began with a nominated strength of 22 per cent. In the year 1919, after the introduction of the Montagu-Chelmsford Reform scheme, the nominated strength was reduced to 18 per cent, i.e., 9 nominated members against 50 elected members. Then, in the year of grace, 1936, the Municipal Act of the City of Madras was so amended as to completely do away with the nominated element. The present position in the Corporation of Madras is this that the whole House consists of 60 elected members and there is not a single nominated member. The only nominated members are three commissioners having expert knowledge but without the right of vote in the Corporation. Coming to Rangoon, the City of Rangoon Municipal Corporation Act, which is relied on as a model, was enacted in the year 1922. It enacted that at least $\frac{3}{4}$ ths of the members shall be elected, i.e., at least 75 per cent, in our case it is 75 per cent as maximum. What that Act further enacted, was that the remaining members shall be nominated by the Government or elected by certain local authorities. That is the position under the Rangoon Corporation Act. Coming to the Karachi Corporation Act, which was enacted in the year 1933, the nominated element is $12\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, i.e., 8 out of 64. I will now come to the Bombay Municipal Act which is said to be the foundation of this precious draft Bill. Bombay began with a corporation in 1888, with a nominated strength of 22 per cent. In 1922 the nominated strength was reduced to 15 per cent and to-day it has been completely done away with, except to this extent that three experts are nominated, and the Act itself specifies and designates these special experts, namely, the Commissioner of Police, the Executive Engineer in charge of the Public Works Department, and the Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Port of Bombay—three special experts designated ex-officio without any power of nomination left to Government. I leave now this part of the matter and come to the powers of the Corporation. So far as this draft Bill is concerned, what is its fundamental principle in this respect. The principle is this that the Corporation with all its status is really to be obliterated and everything passed over to the Chief Executive Officer who will be appointed by the local government but the Corporation has been given the right to remove him with a three-fourth majority which is impossible. Well, Sir, I will draw the attention of the Honourable Minister to the Karachi Corporation Act. In that Act the Chief Executive Officer is appointed by the Corporation and not by the local government. Under the Rangoon Act of 1922 the Chief Executive Officer is appointed by the Corporation and not by the local government of the province. In Calcutta he is also appointed by the Corporation. In all these cases the appointment is subject to the sanction of the local government. Coming to Madras and Bombay. In these provinces you will be pleased to see that the Chief Executive Officer is appointed by the local government subject to the right of a certain fixed number of members to remove him. My learned and talented friend in charge of local self-government cannot forget that Bombay started in 1888 with this reactionary experiment. Although it started with this reactionary proposal and it has continued in operation, to-day the entire corporation is an elected house. If you could give me an entirely elected Corporation I am ready to accept the proposal. Here you are to have a nominated strength of 17 in a total of 68 members. Further, three members are to be elected by certain bodies but they will be virtually nominated members. They are to be elected by the Lahore Improvement Trust, which is your own creation, the Punjab University and the North-Western Railway. In a constitution of this kind it is impossible to be a party to an arrangement under which the Chief Executive Officer will be appointed by the Punjab Government and though liable to be removed by a majority of three-fourths, is to all intents and purposes irremovable. Let us turn to Madras. There you have a whole elected House. After all, either follow Karachi or follow Rangoon or Calcutta or Bombay or Madras. You are following no example but culling the most reactionary and obnoxious provisions from all over, culling them from here, from there and from everywhere and then making a jumble of them all and presenting them to the House. Let me mention one other provision—not that I am discussing all these provisions, but I am only drawing the attention of the House to something which is most startling and which is almost unheard of so far as legislation is concerned. Here is a Corporation which has not been given the absolute and unfettered right as it must be given—it is impossible to conceive of a Corporation which has no such right—of calling for any record or any correspondence from the Chief Executive Officer. Look to section 55. It says that the Corporation shall have the right to call for reports, returns, statements and so on and so forth but the proviso following virtually takes away this right. What does the proviso enact? The proviso enacts that if the Corporation decides to call for any record or any report it is open to the Chief Executive Officer to say no. The Corporation requisitions but the Chief Executive Officer says “No, I shall not give you the report and shall not give you the record you call for.” What is the solution provided? The solution provided is that the matter is to be placed before the next meeting of the Corporation that might probably meet after a month. At the next meeting the Corporation may decide that it must have the record and must have the return and must have the report. After the second decision again, the Chief Executive Officer can say, “No, I refuse to give you the report and I refuse to give you the record and the correspondence you want.” We have got two meetings. The matter has to be considered in a third meeting. When the matter is considered in the third meeting, what is this poor Corporation to do? This poor Corporation has to appoint a committee, a tribunal of three members. The members of the tribunal are first to take an oath and swear that the documents and information imparted to them by the Chief Executive Officer shall be kept secret and it is after they have taken the oath that they become a tribunal and have power to sit as judges to receive the documents and other information that may be disclosed to them by the Chief Executive Officer. The Chief Executive Officer is to place all documents and other matters before the committee. It is this committee then which is to decide whether the requisition of the Corporation is to be complied with and the matter to be disclosed to the Corporation or whether the matter should not be disclosed and shall still lie with the Chief Executive Officer in his bosom. The Committee, a part of the Corporation, decides whether the Corporation, which is the main body, is to get the record, the returns or the report or not. Have you ever heard of such a provision?

May I ask the Honourable Minister whether he is aware of this provision and whether with this knowledge he has come to the House with this proposal. It is an insult to the House: it is an insult to the government of which he is a member. I am sure honourable members will be startled by the disclosure which I have made. Reference was made in the course of the debate to the Honourable Sir Chhotu Ram. On another occasion when the Executive Officers' Act was being debated on the floor of the House, he expressed himself very strongly, being a strong and conscientious man,—he said that by the Executive Officers' Act you are "putting the whole Committee, the President, the Deputy President and all on the shelf" as it were and by the Board. I submit that the present Bill is even worse and that it is impossible to accept the many obnoxious provisions with which it teems. In the case of the Executive Officers' Act, the committees have at least the initial right of appointing executive officers. Under the present Bill the right of appointing the Chief Executive Officer vests perpetually with the Government.

I now come to another matter. We are told that Lahore will have a corporation and that there shall be a Lord Mayor. What will be the powers of this Lord Mayor? I do not know whether the Minister in charge of Local Self-Government cared to study the provisions of the Madras Act. That Act provides that the Chief Executive Officer shall work under the orders of the Mayor, shall be an ex-officio member of every standing committee and that official correspondence between the Corporation and other authorities shall pass through the hands of the Mayor. Where is that provision in this Bill, or is the Mayor merely going to be more of an ornament, more of an unnecessary decoration than anything useful? The Madras Act further provides that the Mayor—these are the words—the Mayor shall have access to all records and no officer, not even the Chief Executive Officer, shall dare say No to the requisition or the demand of the Mayor for records or other papers of the Corporation.

I will now come to my next reason for supporting this amendment. My fourth reason is that this Bill is a most ill-conceived and ill-considered piece of legislation, a measure that has been conceived in great haste. The House will agree with me that a Corporation is the creation of a single statute. That statute or Act, constituting the Corporation, must be a self-contained Act. I have studied the various Corporation Acts and I find that there are provisions in those Acts for the qualifications of voters, for the qualifications of candidates, for the disqualifications of electors, for the disqualification of candidates, provisions for the conduct of elections, provisions for the disposal of election petitions, distribution of the Corporation area into constituencies, etc. etc. What is there in this Bill relating to these matters? Nothing. I may be told in reply that as in the case of Municipal Acts all these matters are dealt with by rules, so we shall also deal with them by rules. But in saying this you forget the difference between a Corporation Act and a Municipal Act. A Municipal Act is a general Act which is intended to cover and apply to various cities, and as the conditions relating to franchise qualifications, constituencies, etc., vary with each locality, the statute cannot crystallise them and must leave these matters to be dealt with by the rules. But a Corporation belongs to a different category. It is the creation of a single statute. You have not a Corporation Act applying to many Corporations. You will be amused to hear from me that in this Bill there is no provision as to who shall be the voters of the Corporation. During my practice at the Bar I have done various cases and argued several suits which had for their object the setting aside of elections. One of the most important rules laid down in the judgments dealing with such cases is that as the right to vote is the creation of a statute, so it is in that very statute which creates the right to vote, that you must look for the remedy applicable. The right to vote is not a general right belonging to any individual. If there is no Municipal Act, there is no right to vote possessed by any individual. Therefore, you must provide for the right to vote within the four corners of the statute. In every Municipal Act, accordingly, there is a provision that persons shall be entitled to vote, provided they possess the prescribed qualifications. The prescribed qualifications are left to be laid down by the rules, because the conditions of each municipal area vary. But it is this provision in the Act itself which is held by High Courts to be the source of the voter's right to vote. If there is no such provision in the Act, the voter cannot vote. If you go through this Bill which is said to consist of 410 clauses, from clause 1 to clause 410, you will find not a single clause dealing with the right to vote, and if the right of vote is not given by the statute, how can the right be given by the rules? If the Act does not give the right to vote, how will your rules work? Therefore I submit that the present Bill is not a complete and self-contained code.

Again, where are the provisions for the constituencies? We are dealing only with the town of Lahore. We do not want this question of constituencies to be dealt with by Government in the shape of rules, but in every Corporation Act, take the Calcutta Corporation Act, the legislature has very carefully added a schedule or table in which the constituencies are settled, so that it may not be open to Government at any future date to tamper with them, and so disturb the representation sanctioned by the Legislature. In the Government of India Act, you are aware, our constituencies are set out in a schedule. There are so many flaws in this Bill that it is really impossible to accept it. I am sure every thinking member of the House will agree with me that the matter of constituencies cannot be left to the sweet will of any government, whatever that government may be.

The next matter to which I propose to come is this. In the Lahore Municipality the Muhammadans have been enjoying for the last more than fifty years the right to return their representatives by means of separate electorates. What is the provision in this Bill? Clause 8 of this Bill deals with this matter. It reads as follows ;

The elected Councillors shall be elected by such constituencies as the Provincial Government may by notification in the Official Gazette prescribe in this behalf and the number of Councillors to be elected by each constituency and the number of seats to be reserved for the communities in any constituency shall be as stated therein against that constituency.

I have compared the language of this clause 8 with the language of the Calcutta Corporation Act as it was enacted at the instance of the late Sir Surendra Nath Bannerji. This provision "and the number of Councillors to be elected by each constituency and the number of seats to be reserved for the communities in any constituency shall be as stated therein against that constituency" is taken word for word from the Calcutta Corporation Act of 1923. In 1923 the late Sir Surendra Nath Bannerji introduced in the Calcutta Corporation the rule of reserving seats for the Muslims, but the seats were to be filled by joint electorates. Let me put the exact position before the House. Separate electorates were as a matter of compromise introduced in 1923 for nine years, and it was enacted that in 1933 separate electorates shall go and be replaced by joint electorates with reservation of 18 seats for the Muslims. In 1933 the Muslims refused to accept this position and the result was that in the teeth of opposition that clause continued to operate. Left with no alternative the Muslims on one occasion actually boycotted the elections of the Calcutta Corporation. Later on, the matter was reconsidered and in the year 1939 Mr. Fazl-ul-Haq as Minister amended the Corporation Act of Calcutta and provided that the Muslims shall in future be represented through separate electorates. I desire to read out to this House what the Honourable Minister Fazl-ul-Haq said on that occasion. Speaking in the Bengal Legislative Assembly on the 11th of May 1939, the Honourable Mr. Fazl-ul-Haq said—

I think the time has come for a declaration that the system of reservation of seats by joint electorates must go. Their days are gone and there should be either separate electorates or voting on a common register without any reservation at all. The system of reservation on joint electorates seems to be an unmitigated and an unmixed evil. It seems to give the minority community some amount of representation but in reality there is no representation at all.

Then on page 469 of the Bengal Assembly Debates he said, I quote his very words—

At the present moment not merely in Bengal but all over India 99 per cent of the Muslim community want separate electorates. I represent 30 millions of Muslims, and I am in favour of separate electorates.

I was submitting that as a Muslim I do ask the Government to embody in this statute the provision that Muslims shall continue to be represented on the Corporation by means of separate electorates. It may be that the present Government has no intention of departing from that principle. I was considerably relieved the other day—

Lala Duni Chand : You are an advocate of complete independence. Is this demand of yours consistent with that demand?

Malik Barkat Ali : Perfectly. We can discuss it outside. I was saying that I was considerably relieved the other day when reading the press-statement of the Honourable the Premier to the effect that whatever his individual opinion might be,—and his individual opinions are known to all—he is in favour of joint electorates—he realises that the bulk of the Muslim community want separate electorates and he is not therefore prepared, in the present condition of things to give them up. Perhaps I would be told that in view of that statement there is really no necessity for inserting a definite provision for the introduction of separate electorates for Muslims. But my submission is this. Who knows whether you will continue in power to-morrow? My honourable friends who are sitting on my right, the representatives of the Congress, may be in power to-morrow and it is very well known that one of the accepted principles of the Congress governments, wherever they have been in operation, and wherever they have been functioning or might function in the near future, is that separate electorates must go. They cannot reconcile their nationalism with the existence of separate electorates. I am not criticising them. I am only stating the position, a fact. If to-morrow the Congress government is in power and if the matter is left to rules to be framed by the Government without the consultation of this House at all, this House having no hand in the rules that may be framed by the Government from time to time the separation is full of peril for the Mussalmans. If the Congress Government to-morrow, when they come into power, scrap separate electorates and introduce joint electorates, with or without reservation, it does not matter, surely there will be an upheaval in this province. I, therefore, submit that this matter is vital and cannot be left to be handled in this manner. It may be that the Government has not bestowed the fullest thought on this part of the Bill. (An honourable member: What about the Sind Premier?). The Sind Premier does not count in the counsels of the Muslim community. (Laughter). You should know that. Therefore my submission is that this is a most vital matter and it is really impossible for me or for my community to even agree to a reference to select committee of a Bill which besides being full of so many flaws and so many defects, does not embody the principle of separate electorates for Muslims amongst provinces. I feel that it would be better if the Government would really withdraw this Bill and call a representative conference. Not that I am not aware of the stress under which Government feels itself compelled to introduce this Bill. There was any amount of agitation, I know, in the town of Lahore. People were not reconciled to the rule of any administrator. They wanted to regain their ancient liberty. They wanted to be the masters of their civic affairs. They had gone even to the length of disobeying the law. I am perfectly aware of this stress. But surely this stress is no reason for departing from those salutary principles through which every important legislative measure must pass. I therefore, support this motion for the circulation of the Bill for eliciting public opinion thereon. (Cheers.)

[Malik Barkat Ali.]

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava: I want to say one or two things. One is that I never agreed that the discussion on this Bill should finish to-day. The Honourable Premier told me that one day would be sufficient, but I said that more time was necessary and the Honourable Premier has agreed that the debate shall go on to-morrow also.

The other point is this. I am told that it was said that the members who have been taken on this select committee have been taken according to my satisfaction. I want to clear that point. No doubt in the past we were given less number of members on the select committees than we had a right. Now you will observe that out of 174 members in the House excluding the Honourable Speaker we are 61 in the Opposition. This means that the Opposition should have at least 8 members out of a total of 24. But we have now got only 6 and we are entitled to at least two more. I have talked to the Honourable the Premier and told him that we should get a larger share on this select committee and he has told the Honourable Minister in charge that he should take more members. I had pressed for at least one more so that the Opposition might have 7 if not 8. But we have been given only 6. That is the position and it should not be understood that I am satisfied.

Lala Sita Ram (Trade Union, Labour) (Urdu): Sir, I am not here to deny the importance of the Bill under consideration. But before I proceed with my speech in support of the amendment that I have given notice of, I would like to make it clear in the very beginning that by this motion I do not at all intend to effect any unnecessary delay in the enactment of the present Bill, especially in view of the hard lot, the Lahore public is having these days in the hellish regime of the Administrator. It is far from my intention to have recourse to dilatory tactics in this connection. On the other hand, by giving notice of this motion I intended to seek an opportunity for giving an expression to my opinion as to why it is absolutely essential to circulate the Bill for eliciting public opinion thereon, because I hold definite views and a firm belief that the Bill in the present form will be a source of great troubles instead of a panacea for public ills. I would like to submit that unless the honourable members of the House are aware of the history of the circumstances that led to the framing of the Bill in the present form, it would be too hasty on their part to give their votes in support of or against it. Thus in order to acquaint them with the background of the question, I feel it incumbent on me to briefly relate to them the history of Lahore Municipal Committee for the last few years.

Sometime back, Sir, the Committee consisted of 18 members—9 Hindus and 9 Muslims—with the Deputy Commissioner of Lahore as an ex-officio President. Then, due to public agitation, the members were allowed to elect their own president from amongst themselves, and since then this practice (only in theory nowadays) is in vogue. The next phase brought the Congress and the Khilafat on the scene. They had had their day, but it was a short-lived interval. Communal thermometer then recorded an abnormal rise. Interests clashed, differences came into prominence and things moved to a crisis, as a result of which one community resigned en bloc. Unhappy was the day when this came to pass, and still more cursed the long time of 6 years during which the Municipal Committee remained boycotted by one community. It was during this interval of six years, Sir, that vicious seeds were sown and a harvest of thorns was cut afterwards. During this long interval the only community then in the Committee was all powerful. It turned the absence of the other community to its own account. Making the most of this absence they passed the ratio formula on the basis of population and voting strength, and, then with a view to having majority of seats, they extended the area of the Committee. This ground-work being over, efforts were now directed to bring back the Hindus. On their return it was found that the situation had worsened. Many an attempt was made for a smooth-sailing, but owing to the majority party in power nothing came out of it.

The Government was approached and the Dobson Enquiry Committee was appointed to go into the matter. The evils still clung, and no useful purpose was served. With the coming of the Executive Officer came fresh troubles. On the question of certain powers delegated to him, controversy began and friction between the President and the Executive Officer became acute.

At this stage some of the members gave deep and serious thought to the question. They rose above petty communal considerations and devised and chalked out a certain programme of progress. Though only a few in the beginning, their strength increased and they formed the majority which in its last stage included 84 out of the total strength of 47 members. They brought about some solution for the smooth-working of the committee on definite lines. As they had made the diagnosis they had found out the cure. It will not be out of place to say that these members represented the different communities and different interests, and were really of one mind to pull together. They approached the Government with their formula, acquainting the then Minister for Self-Government with the real causes and their remedies, but the Government instead of taking action against the president as desired by these 84 members, took the most drastic action of superseding the committee in its entirety. We had asked for bread and were given stone. The reins of the municipality were made over to one man in the person of an Administrator and the public, to its own heavy cost, is now fully aware of the "improvements" made by him in the municipal affairs.

This is the end we have been drawn to and it clearly shows how our preliminary rights of self-government, which we had got by constant endeavours and strenuous efforts, were being snatched away bit by bit, leaving us in the end like rusties having no civic rights. And the fact which pains one the most is that all this is done not by the foreigners, but by our own brethren who used their power in our destruction. The Government instead of acceding to the request of the Lahore public for reviving the committee have introduced the Bill in the present form. This is a short history and now let us see how far the Bill has the scope to remedy the various evils.

This Bill, one must suppose, aims at remedying maladministration, uprooting corruption, curtailing heavy expenditure and removing communal tension. It was made clear to the Government through petitions at that time, that supersession was not the remedy and therefore the defects should be removed by some other methods which we were not unwilling but were rather anxious to suggest. We were told that the members of the municipal committee were inefficient and therefore supersession was the only remedy. My contention was, and I have not given up my conviction as yet, that supersession was not the remedy and the day-to-day situation is the best proof in support of this contention. To-day I can say that the inhabitants of Lahore have seen that although the income amounting to 26 or 27 lakhs of rupees has been placed under the control of the Administrator, yet he has not proved himself competent enough to improve the conditions of the committee as a whole. I may be allowed to say, Sir, that the fault did not lie with persons. It lay with basic principles and I am sorry to point out that the present Bill is no useful attempt to improve upon them. I may submit, Sir, that there are many defects in this Bill. To enumerate some of them, the first one is that of the very constitution of the Bill and I am sure that even a hundred such Corporation Bills cannot improve the condition of Lahore unless one such Bill is founded on healthy basic principles.

Then the question of limits arises and I can say with my previous experience that people would make complaints against this point. On a previous occasion also these tactics of extending the limits was resorted to in order to ensure the permanent majority of one community over the others and I smell the rat again. If you take the practical side of this matter you will find that suburbs are increasing by leaps and bounds around Lahore and I doubt very much whether the management of these suburbs will be efficiently done with the income received from the municipal areas. Besides, the ilaga of Lahore has now been extended by the Punjab Government. May I, in this connection, ask the government where the money would come from for these additional expenses? My submission is that this blunder which the sponsors of the Corporation Bill have committed, is one of the main defects.

Another thing that I object to is the establishment charges. In the days of the superseded committee it was often complained that the establishment charges of the committee were very high, but instead of decreasing these charges after the supersession of the Municipal Committee the Government has increased them. It cannot be denied, Sir, that the expenditure ratio to the total rates to-day has risen abnormally high.

One more drawback in this Bill is the mode of communal representation. The Government used to complain in the days of Municipal Committee that representatives of different communities often quarrelled in the meetings of the committee. What provision has the Government made in this Bill to ensure against its repetition? The whole defect, Sir, lies with the mode of electorate. So long as members were returned on communal tickets, they must fight tooth and nail for their communities. This pulling in the different directions was but natural.

I would like to state again that we 84 out of 47 members tried our utmost to form a party on non-communal lines, but the Government did not allow us to continue and function. Well, if this is their wish, to see and enjoy this fighting, there is no help. But I must say that municipal administration would not improve a bit unless joint electorate is introduced.

Nawab Sir Shah Nawaz Khan : What is being done where this system has been introduced?

Lala Sita Ram : I wish it were introduced in this province to save us from ills of communalism. Sir, my submission is that under the present Bill the privileges enjoyed by us in the past are sought to be taken away from us. The misfortune is that this is happening under provincial autonomy which is entirely based on democratic principles. We had high hopes of provincial autonomy, but it has borne two fruits so far, namely, the black Bills and the total denial of all civic rights to the citizens of Lahore in the shape of this continuous supersession of the committee. If to lose what we have already got is swaraj or provincial autonomy, then I would say that the good old days of slavery were better than this sham independence of to-day. In this connection I would like to cite an instance, which is aptly applicable to this matter, i.e., of this kind of provincial autonomy. There was a man childless in the old days of foot travelling when railways were not introduced. A friend of his suggested to him to consult a faqir in this connection, but unfortunately that faqir lived at a far away distance from his village. When his brother came to know that he intended to see the faqir he also accompanied him out of sympathy. They started on foot. As it was winter, his brother caught a cold and died in the way. The man who had no child left the idea of continuing the journey and sad-hearted came back to his village. People asked him, "you had gone to get a child. We hope you will be blessed with one now." He characteristically replied "ہاں لیکن بے اولاد آیا، جان پر حال یو دی گنوا بیٹھا"

(Well, I had gone to have an issue, but for the time being I have lost one of my father's). Similar is the case with us. We wanted to have swaraj and we were of the opinion that after provincial autonomy more powers would be granted to us, but it is a pity that we have lost what we had achieved after much effort and no less patience and waiting. We had expected that with the advent of provincial autonomy our powers and rights in the sphere of local self-government would be enhanced. But what has actually happened? We have been deprived of even those limited powers that we already enjoyed. Now let us come to the question of the appointment of the Chief Executive Officer provided in this Bill. I would refer to a speech delivered by Sir Chhotu Ram during the discussion on the Executive Officer Bill in the not very distant past. At that time he was pleased to say that the Bill, if passed, would turn self-government into slavery. He did not like, at that time, that an executive officer should be installed over and above the heads of the elected members. But it is a pity to see that now when he is in power the citizens of Lahore are left at the tender mercy of a single white elephant. May one ask what has brought about such a radical change in his notions of self-government?

Now let us pass on to the nominated element. The proportion proposed by the Government is so high that it should be clear to the meanest imagination that the Corporation will be a mere puppet in the hands of the Government of the day. I am of the opinion that there should be no nominated member in the Corporation. The object of nominations in the past was that certain persons were appointed by the Government to offer some technical advice or to safeguard the Government interests in case they were trampled upon by the representatives of the people. But now that the Government itself entirely consists of the representatives of the people there is no need to continue the system of nomination. We have no nominated member in this House. Then, why should we not act on that adage that what is sauce for the goose is also sauce for the gander? Again, Sir, this Bill does not give any representation to the following:—The labouring class, the Merchants' Association and the Rate-payers' Association. These bodies have been doing useful work and we should be fair to pay some regard to their wishes.

Now a word about house tax. The condition of the city under the Administrator has been described in this House more than once, and, therefore, I need not dilate upon it. As regards the house tax, I have always maintained that it will benefit only the rich people. By questions asked and answers given on the very floor of this House I have clearly proved without a shadow of doubt that so far as the city proper is concerned the proposed drainage scheme is absolutely impracticable. Even the Honourable Minister has admitted this fact. Now, Sir, when it is said in the Dobson Report, by the Government and by you and me, that the sanitary condition of the city is highly unsatisfactory, do you suppose that it refers to the sanitary condition on the Mall or the Lawrence Road? Certainly not. The reference is always to the sanitary condition of the city proper. If you can effect any improvement in the city with your drainage and other schemes, then do impose the house tax on the city proper. I am with you. But your scheme is useless for the city proper, you too have enough reason left in you to admit that it is impracticable. Then why tax the city?

Thus it is clear that whatever you are going to do with the income from house tax will be for the benefit of the civil station, and its rich inhabitants. That is what you want to do and that was the intention when you suspended the committee and threw us at the mercy of the Administrator. You could not achieve that object so long as the city fathers were the custodians of the interests of the city. Even now you have no desire to free us from the clutches of the Administrator. No doubt you have brought forward this Corporation Bill in order to remove the stigma from your fair name, but I know that even if it is committed to the select committee and that committee submits its report at its earliest, you are not going to hurry through it. By the time this Bill comes out of the Unionist furnace and the Corporation area is divided into wards and elections take place with other hundred and one preliminary things, more three years will be gone and during this time the Administrator would have squeezed the last drop of blood out of the already starving population of the city proper. Let me point out that this period of two or three years is not a trifling thing, it would be deplorable if this state of affairs should be allowed to go on as it is at present. It is a matter of great regret and shame that the Government have kept the administration of the city in its own hand since the supersession of the Lahore Municipal Committee and even ordinary rights of self-government have been denied to the people. In the circumstances how can one expect that the matters will not go from bad to worse day by day? At least this much I can say, that so far as the question of self-government is concerned it has received a severe blow in the Punjab. However, at this stage I do not wish to go into the merits of the Bill. When that time comes I shall express my view-point by moving amendments to the original Bill. So to-day I have only confined myself to the general aspects of the question.

In conclusion, I wish to lay stress on the point that this measure is a highly important one and so long as it is not circulated for eliciting public opinion it will, instead of curing the ills which it is expected to root out, go a long way in increasing them. As you are aware five or six honourable members of this House have tabled amendments to the effect that the Bill should be circulated for eliciting public opinion, so that whatever defects there are in it should be brought to our notice by the different classes of people concerned and when it again comes up before the House it should not only be an improved measure but should also be acceptable to all. I hope that in deference to the wishes of so many honourable members scattered over all the parties and representing various shades of opinion, the Government will accede to this ordinary request. With these words I move this circulation motion.

Mrs. Duni Chand (Lahore City, Women, General) (Urdu): Sir, I rise to support the amendment that has been moved by Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt. When I first came to know that a Corporation Bill was going to be introduced I was very much pleased that to-day when corporations were to be found only in a few places in India, Lahore was being given this honour that it would be converted into a corporation. Along with this I was afraid lest there should be something dangerous in store for the citizens of Lahore in the guise of this Bill, because whenever anything is done in the name of goodness in this unfortunate country of the Punjab, generally something else turns out to be the real cause of it. Similarly, I was afraid lest there should be something else at the back of this measure. The honourable member who has preceded me has pointed out in his speech that on the supersession of the Lahore Municipal Committee the Administrator was appointed and within two or three years he has committed so many mistakes which deserve all condemnation. Only recently some such events have taken place which go to show how far the people have suffered in the time of the Administrator. It is a matter of great regret that in these days of enlightenment when other countries and nations are progressing our Government instead of progressing is retrogressing.

Besides, I may point out that the Honourable Premier and other Honourable Ministers are always in the habit of declaring in their speeches that they are the well wishers of the poor and that they are carrying on the administration of the country for the sake of the poor and labourers, and that whatever they do they do for their benefit. But may I know when recently the sweepers of Lahore went on strike whether any sympathy was shown to them? The fact of the matter is that the Administrator made a reduction in their meagre salaries on which they lived with great difficulty, and when they made a representation to him he did not pay any attention to it and consequently they were forced to go on strike. And the dirty conditions that prevailed in the city as a result of their strike are known to every one. On account of these dirty conditions many people fell ill and many died. I think this mistake on the part of the Administrator was such for which no compensation could be made. Then the Administrator forced the low-paid teachers who were making both ends meet with great difficulty on their present pay, either to agree to the reduction of Rs. 5 in their salaries or to get out of service. In the circumstances, the poor teachers had no alternative but to agree to this order of the Administrator. Such things happened under the very eyes of the Ministers. But no one showed any sympathy with them. May I ask the honourable members over there whether that was the sympathy which they showed to the poor people? In this connection I am reminded of a Punjabi adage which aptly applies to the honourable members over there :—

وہ نفع بہادری اور بقتہر دیوے

Now there is yet another thing which I wish to bring to your notice, that is, that the sanitary condition of the city is so very unsatisfactory that heaps of nightsoil are to be seen everywhere. Besides, carts full of dirt and refuse are carried without any cover through the bazaars and if anyone brings these matters to the notice of the Government he is generally told that funds are not forthcoming for the buying of closed carts and therefore nothing can be done. But may I know whether the Government cannot get money for things which are useful for the city, when they can get money for buying water meters and thus benefit the British manufacturers? After all wherefrom has money come for the purchase of water meters? In my opinion the fixing up of water meters in private houses is unnecessary. Do not the Government think that there is a shortage of water in Lahore? To my mind the fixing up of water meters will result in one thing only and that is that previously the public at large washed their drains clean by water from their taps and now on account of the fixing up of these water meters they will not do it. Consequently the drains will become all the more dirty.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable lady member is not speaking to the motion.

Mrs. Duni Chand : Besides, when any complaint was made in the time of the Lahore Municipal Committee, the complainant did generally get some sort of a reply after two or three months, but now if anybody makes a complaint it remains unattended and unanswered. Not to speak of the city proper, if you visit that part of the civil lines where I live, you will find heaps of nightsoil everywhere. Therefore my submission is that just as Government, without much thought, superseded the Lahore Municipal Committee and entrusted its administration to one person who has failed to carry it on satisfactorily nor can he administer it in a better way in future, similarly you may not pass the Corporation Bill without giving due consideration to it. If the Bill as it stands, is passed into law, I think the condition of Lahore will not improve, but it will deteriorate. So far as I have studied this Bill

[Mrs. Duggi Chand.]

I find that all the powers have been vested in the Chief Executive Officer and the members of the corporation will only have to pass the budget. In my opinion such a Bill cannot prove useful for Lahore.

Again, I may point out that if there is any defect in a Bill which is passed into law and enforced, it can be removed by moving amendments later on, but this Bill which is now before the House is good for nothing and is altogether defective. The honourable member who preceded me also remarked that if the Government had provided joint electorates it would have been much better. I support his contention with all the emphasis at my command. But I think that the honourable members opposite regard joint electorates as a bugbear, and are afraid of it. I may point out that it appears as if the honourable members over there have become accustomed to make a fuss over small matters. To-day I make an offer to them and that is : let them introduce joint electorates for women members and then they will see how the Hindu and Muslim candidates will be elected. I assure them that neither the Muslim nor the Hindu women will find any difficulty in the elections. In fact better qualified members will be elected. Along with this I may point out that every woman should be given the right to vote, so that women may get sufficient representation on the Corporation in order to protect their own interests. My submission is that the misfortunes that daily befall people affect women more than men. Men somehow or other get on, but women on account of being illiterate and being always shut up in their houses, can do nothing. I may also point out that women have made numerous complaints to me about the house-tax which has recently been enforced. They daily send some such complaints to me that they have one house, the rent of which provides livelihood for their children and if a tax is to be imposed on it, wherefrom will they bring money to provide bread for their children ? In the circumstances I request the Government to reserve some seats for women on the Lahore Corporation.

When women go to present their grievances, Mr. Macnabb is not available. He is at Simla. He can, therefore, not listen to them. In view of these things I wish that women should not be placed in the position in which this Bill aims at placing them. I feel that women should be given adequate representation in all the local bodies, municipal committees and district boards. I would go so far as to say that women should be given representation equal to men. If women are given greater representation on these bodies, they will be able to look after sanitation and peace better than men. If it is not possible to give more representation to women, at least they should be given equal representation with men. As I have already said, women are by nature more peaceful and just.

Now, I would submit that the idea of corporation is absolutely a new thing. We have already an Act under which municipal bodies have been established. The corporation will have to be established with due regard to the peculiar conditions obtaining here. We have, therefore, to consider what form of a corporation will be most suitable for Lahore. If something is imposed on the inhabitants of Lahore against their will, that will be anything but a blessing for them. If this Bill is rushed through, it will create many difficulties. You should not lose sight of the fact that a very large number of people are interested in the proposed corporation. We should take advantage of the valuable suggestions which may be put forward by the people. I would, therefore, submit that this Bill should not be straight away referred to a select committee but it should be circulated to elicit public opinion. If public opinion is not consulted, people will not like this Bill. My learned sister, Bajiji too has strongly supported the circulation motion.

Another thing to which I wish to draw your attention is this. About fifty or sixty villages are proposed to be incorporated in the new Corporation. I think when we cannot properly manage the affairs of the present body, it will not be wise to increase its area. However, if joint electorates are accepted for the proposed corporation, we may be able to find the right sort of representatives of people to manage the affairs of the Corporation properly. Furthermore, the fact is not unknown to honourable members of this House that the living conditions in the rural areas are much different from those in cities. This will be a great obstacle in the way of the Corporation. May be our brethren on Government benches have incorporated these villages in the Corporation with a view to getting more votes for themselves. They may be entertaining the fear that if only the city area is included in the Corporation, it will not be possible for them to achieve their object. I am of the opinion that the boundaries of the present City of Lahore should be the boundaries of the Corporation. If you are better able to manage the affairs of the Corporation and you find that you are standing on your own legs, you may decide to incorporate some villages also in the Corporation. I do not propose to obstruct your business. I do realize that sooner or later such institutions must come. You may gladly establish a Corporation, but it should be established in such a way that nobody has any grievance. I suspect that the present Bill has been brought forward with ulterior motives. Much stress seems to have been laid on making propaganda for Government and securing seats for supporters of Government. I am, further of the opinion that Harijans should be given special representation. I am sure that if right sort of representatives are returned by joint electorates, they will make the Corporation a real blessing. I will again submit, therefore, that this Bill should be circulated to elicit the valuable opinions of learned people. We should never commit the mistake of rushing through an important measure with hastily suggested amendments. Rushing through with such a measure would be acting just like Hitler. We should never ignore public opinion in the matter of establishing a Corporation. I have again to remind this honourable House that real progress is possible only in those countries where equal rights of women with men are recognised. If the legitimate rights of women are ignored with respect to this Corporation, I would say that honourable members of this House have not realized their responsibility.

Now, I will say something about nominations. We find that nowadays wherever democratic institutions are introduced, nominations are abolished. Just look at this Assembly and the provincial legislatures elsewhere: the nominated element has been banished from them.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable lady member is repeating her arguments.

Mrs. Duni Chand : Sir, I wish to point out that the Congress Ministries have abolished the system of nominations in the local bodies. They have also done away with the honorary magistrates. (Hear, hear). But what do we find in the Punjab? Not only have the nominations not been abolished, they have been retained for the proposed Corporation. This is an affront to the representatives of Lahore. This is a positive insult to them. I would submit that nominated members do not feel their responsibility. They know that the people can do no harm to them. They are sure to get into a body through the back-door by indulging in some flattery of Government. It can never be expected that they would work for the commonweal. If they know that they will have to seek election on popular vote, they will certainly do their best to work for people's benefit. I want also to refer to the fact that the Honourable Premier has been saying in this House as well as outside it that the protection of the rights of minorities is his first concern. He should also know that even the Muslim League has passed a resolution saying that they wish to see India free.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable lady member is again irrelevant.

Mrs. Duni Chand : I want to point out that steps should be taken to remove the evil of communalism in the interest of the country's freedom. The Corporation is offering us a golden opportunity of doing something in this respect. I will strongly urge upon the Government not to introduce the virus of communalism in the proposed Corporation. We all know that the present Administrator of the Lahore Municipal Committee has turned the Hindu officers out of the committee's service one by one. May I ask if such actions do not fan the fire of communalism which is so dangerous for the country's freedom?

Mr. Speaker : That matter is not before the House. The honourable lady member should speak to the motion.

Mrs. Duni Chand : The Administrator knows full well that the protests on behalf of the people can do him no harm. He is not in the least perturbed. He is the master of all he surveys.

I am submitting this with no other object in view except the common good of all communities—

Mr. Speaker : The honourable lady member is irrelevant.

Mrs. Duni Chand : We all wish to wipe off the evil of communalism from this province, and to introduce joint electorate. The main object is that whether a candidate is Hindu or Muslim he should be jointly elected by both the communities.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable lady member's remarks are irrelevant.

Mrs. Duni Chand : Shall I continue my speech to-morrow?

Mr. Speaker : Yes. The House will now take up the discussion on the adjournment motion.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the chair and it was occupied by Mr. Deputy Speaker.)

ADJOURNMENT MOTION.

BAN ON THE ENTRY OF MR. M. N. ROY INTO THE PUNJAB.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt (North-Eastern Towns, General, Urban) (Urdu): I beg to move—

That the Assembly do now adjourn.

Sir, when I learnt last evening that Mr. M. N. Roy's entry into the Punjab had been banned for one year by the Unionist Ministry, the news really left me aghast. But my surprise was not due to the fact that I did not expect such a thing from the so-called popular Government of the Punjab. Far from it. The Unionist Ministry has so often committed such atrocities that we need never cherish an illusion like that. On the other hand we can expect any amount of nonsense from this Ministry. The real cause of my surprise was that our Government should have thought it fit to commit this act of repression at a juncture that has caused a great deal of inconvenience to the public as well as to Mr. Roy. Before I proceed to express my own sentiments and feelings on the subject, I would like to draw the attention of the House to Mr. Roy's qualities of head and heart, his education, his talents and above all his towering personality. He is not a person known merely in one province or merely in this country but he is a man of international fame.

There could not be two opinions about his ability. If you study his writings and articles or confer with him on any subject or enter into correspondence with him, you will find him one of the most capable persons living in this country. One may not agree with him in his ideologies and political proclivities but the question is whether it is proper to ban the entry of a leader of outstanding ability into this province. As regards his intellectual attainments, Mr. M. N. Roy has not many equals. His interests are not confined to politics alone. He is a great scientist too, and the House may perhaps be surprised to know that he is a pupil of Einstein—the well known scientist of the modern age. The latter had sent a cablegram to the Government of India when Mr. Roy was imprisoned after his arrival from Europe, saying that Mr. Roy was a peaceful and peace-loving citizen and even if the Government of India had thrown him behind the bars, they should see to it that he was not subjected to any inhuman or uncivilised treatment in jail.

I may also point out that recently a controversy took place about Einstein's Theory of Relativity between Mr. Justice Suleiman and Mr. M. N. Roy. Mr. Justice Suleiman brought forward certain objections against the soundness of the theory. But Mr. Roy published a reply to that and marshalled his arguments in such an able way as to elicit tribute from all those who read it. It passes my imagination, therefore, that anyone should see in this great scholar a danger to law and order in the Punjab. I for one cannot believe in such a myth. There was no need to raise the bogey of disorder on his arrival in this province.

I have dealt so far with the intellectual qualities of this great man. He is, in fact, a versatile genius. It is a pity that the time at my disposal was very short and when I gave notice of this adjournment motion I had not collected the necessary material concerning him. I rushed to the Library of the Assembly Chamber, but could not find any literature about him. I can, however, anticipate what the Treasury benches would say of him. I know that when the Honourable Premier stands up to make his speech, he will say many nice things. For instance, he will say: "Yes, Mr. M. N. Roy is a very able man but the trouble is that he is a communist and a terrorist. He did this in Germany and did that in Russia. He is a member of the Third International. He is a believer in an international revolution." But the question is this. Does my honourable friend the Premier wish to condemn Mr. Roy for the opinions he held and views he expressed in days gone by? If that is my honourable friend's intention, it is most unfair. But if Mr. M. N. Roy believed in violence while he was in Europe that was due to the peculiar environments in which he was placed. In Europe politics is based on a diplomacy which is Machiavelian in its essence. He saw violence everywhere. There was war in which Russia, Germany and Great Britain were all involved. Naturally in those circumstances and in those environments Mr. M. N. Roy could not shake off his belief in violence. But the question before this House should be: can his past convictions be put forward as sufficient reason to ban his entry in the Punjab?

We have to consider this question from another point of view. Mr. M. N. Roy came to India. The bureaucratic Government at the centre did not think it proper to ban his entry in this country. That reactionary Government has nothing in common with us. Our interests are not common. But even that Government did not consider worth its while to ban the entry of Mr. Roy in this country. In these circumstances I cannot understand why his entry has been banned by the Punjab Government. He may have had any views in the past. What we are concerned with is his present political, social and economic views. We have to see if he is a member of any secret society accepting violence as an article of faith. We have to see whether he is coming to the Punjab with a view to creating anarchy here. So far as the views at present held by Mr. M. N. Roy are concerned, they are very well-known to the world. They are expressed in his own paper and in the other leading papers of this country. I have studied his views and I am of the opinion that Mr. Roy is neither a member of any secret society nor is he in favour of bringing about a revolution by violent means. So far as his views on the present war are concerned the Honourable Premier ought to have paid attention to them. Some people in the Punjab and particularly in Lahore desire us to put this question to the Honourable Premier and through him to the British Government: is this the reward to Mr. Roy for holding the views on war which are so well-known to the world? Why has his entry in this province been banned in spite of his views on the present war? The other day I spoke on the present international situation. I am not in the habit of saying harsh things. But in my speech I said some very harsh things. I am sure Mr. Roy's views in this matter are of a moderate character even when compared with my own views. Does this Government mean that Krishna Gopal Dutt has the liberty of saying things in the Punjab which Mr. Roy has not?

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar: Wait and see, Sir.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt: I would particularly draw the attention of this honourable House to Mr. Roy's views on the present war.

Does the Honourable Premier wish that no prominent person who may be opposed to the creed of the Unionist Party should be allowed to visit the Punjab? All this House needs to consider is, whether Mr. Roy wanted to come to the province to bring about a revolution by violent means? If that was not the case, as indeed it was not, there was no justification in banning his entry in the province. At present there is no question of an impending revolution before us. If there can be any danger at this moment it can be from those people who make anti-recruitment propaganda. I quite understand that the Government wants recruitment for Great Britain and for larger interests of the world. But why should it stand in the way of a gentleman who wishes to come here in order to place his academic views on socialism before the people? I know the young men of Lahore were anxiously waiting for him. They had completed all arrangements to accord a befitting reception to him. Then, they had made arrangements for a debate, a veritable intellectual feast, to be held between Mr. Roy and Professor Brij Narain. Naturally the ban on Mr. Roy's entry must have caused great disappointment to the organisers of all the functions to be held in honour of the great thinker. Mr. Deputy Speaker, I understand that the decision of banning the entry of Mr. Roy had been reached by the Punjab Government several days ago. I am told that the notice which was served on him was dated the 7th while it was actually served on the 26th. In these circumstances, was it too much to expect even from the Punjab Government that it would have the courtesy of sparing Mr. Roy and the organisers of functions in his honour all the inconvenience which the notice caused? What the Government did was to let the organisers make arrangements of the functions which were to be held in Mr. Roy's honour and to let Mr. Roy get ready for his departure to Lahore and then to serve a notice on him suddenly when he was at Dehra Dun, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I do not like to use harsh words about the Premier but sometimes, in the interest of truth, one has to use words which are not soft. My personal opinion about the Honourable Premier is this that he is a puppet playing in the hands of his officers who are so many beasts in the King's uniform. He does not think for a minute that by his actions he is bringing disgrace to the fair name of the province. He has been guilty of making an end to all liberty in the Punjab. He has paid no attention to the honour of this province and of the Government of this province.

Now, Sir, I would like to read out certain sentences from the speech made by Mr. D. J. Boyd while introducing the Punjab Criminal Law (Amendment) Bill in the Punjab Legislative Council. My object in doing so is to acquaint the honourable members of the House with the circumstances which, according to Mr. Boyd, made its enactment imperative. It should be remembered that civil disobedience movement was in full blast at that time. Mr. Boyd declared that since the movement had assumed alarming proportions it was absolutely essential to ask for an effective weapon to cope with such a critical situation. He was of the opinion that extraordinary situation called for an extraordinary weapon. At the same time he expressed his intention of bringing that measure into operation only to suppress the civil disobedience movement. He assured the House that the Government would not allow any of the provisions of the measure to interfere with the civil liberties of the people of the Punjab. It would deal only with those who were carrying on the movement themselves and also against those who were instigating others to take part therein. Mr. D. J. Boyd, the then Home Member, said—

Members will remember that that movement began in an active form in the beginning of April, 1930, and it flourished exceedingly for most of the summer months or all the summer months of that year. The Government fought it naturally with all the forces at its disposal at that time but those forces were proved very clearly by the experience of the time to be insufficient. Government had not sufficient powers and it was only when the various ordinances were brought into force towards the autumn of 1930 that the movement began to wane and about September or October, 1930, its defeat became quite certain. What I would like to emphasize at the present moment is that the ordinary powers contained in the Criminal Procedure Code and other criminal legislation were insufficient to fight the civil disobedience movement. Whatever our politics are, whatever our views of that movement may be, we must all of us if we are honest, admit that civil disobedience means anarchy. The term really spells anarchy and anarchy cannot possibly be allowed to continue.

The Punjab Criminal Law Amendment Bill was introduced in 1933 and was passed into law in 1934. Ever since its passage the Government has been resorting to it in a very objectionable and brazen-faced manner. It seems as if in the opinion of the Government there exists a perpetual emergency which necessitates its permanent operation. I know the Honourable Premier will say that circumstances had compelled him to take such a drastic action. I also know that he will advance a plea to the effect that the political thoughts and ideas of Mr. Roy are such as are sure to create mischief in the Punjab. But let me assure him that he need not be afraid of any such thing. He will be mistaken if he thinks that by addressing a meeting of young students Mr. Roy would lead several of them astray. By merely hearing speeches one cannot be necessarily convinced. Although I have several political differences with Mr. Roy and I have many a time read his articles, but I am free to admit that on those points of difference he has never been able to convert me. Then how does it follow that his speeches are likely to be prejudicial to peace and tranquillity of the province in any way? This Government banned the entry of Acharya Narendra Dev in the Punjab. It prohibited Shrimati Satyawati from entering the province. It served similar notices on Mr. Ghose and Professor Ranga. All of them intended to visit the Punjab with a view to serve the kisans of the province. It is a matter of surprise that this Government which claims to be a friend of the kisans bans the entry of gentlemen in the Punjab who want to come here simply to further its oft-quoted policy. Government says it is afraid of their subversive activities. Let me inform these law-abiding gentlemen that even in their own cabinet there are persons who themselves openly preach the cult of violence and threaten to bring about a revolution in the country. The Honourable Premier can put up with such mischievous and inflammatory utterances because they come from an honourable member of his own cabinet, but he cannot allow the leaders of political thought to come here and favour us with their observations. Now, Sir, I would like to draw your attention to an immensely grave matter. Had it taken place in any other constitutional country it would have been a sufficient reason for the downfall of its Ministry. Recently the Honourable Minister of Development while addressing a conference here in Lahore had remarked that if ever any attempt were made to amend or modify the Land Alienation Act the zamindars of the Punjab would rise in a rebellion. On the following day the report of the meeting was published in the Civil and Military Gazette as well as in the Tribune. It was rather a strange coincidence that in the former newspaper while on one page we found that the Honourable Sir Chaudhri Chhotu Ram had preached the cult of revolution in the meeting; on another page we read a statement issued by the Inspector-General of Police complaining that certain persons were giving incitement to revolution. I am really surprised to see that the Honourable Premier has not taken any action against his colleague. We did not expect him to pass over this sheer incitement to violence and instigation to revolution. Then is it not strange that when Mr. M. N. Roy intends to pay a visit to the Punjab only to acquaint us with his political ideas he is served with a prohibitory order? In fact the notice served on him is unjust, iniquitous and uncalled for. In the end, Sir, I am sure, when the Honourable Premier would dispassionately think over the matter he would bear me out that practically a reign of terror is prevailing in the Punjab. With these words, Sir, I commend my motion to the acceptance of the House.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Motion moved—

That the Assembly do now adjourn.

Sardar Partab Singh (Amritsar South, Sikh, Rural) (Punjab) : Sir, my honourable friend Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt has put this case before you in a very befitting manner. Before I proceed with my speech, I should like to request the honourable members of the House to vote on this matter without party feelings and I hope they will not indulge in party politics as far as this matter is concerned. I may add that American constitutionalists are of the opinion that there is only one sure test of people's liberty of a country and that is to see whether they have liberty of speech. If freedom of speech is below par in a country and that country has achieved its object of full independence, even then it will go on deteriorating towards slavery. It is a matter of great regret that the attitude of the Honourable Premier is very objectionable towards the entry of the most distinguished leaders of India in this province. What opinion will the rest of India form about the Premier who misses no occasion to boast on the floor of this House that he can help British Government by giving 10 lakhs of recruits for the army? If he is so powerful and popular in this province and most of the population of the province have the fullest confidence in him, then why is he so afraid of Mr. M. N. Roy's entry in the Punjab? This fact speaks of his weakness and nervousness. His action has brought disgrace and dishonour upon this province. May I ask the Honourable Premier why he is so nervous as to impose a ban on the entry of distinguished leaders in the Punjab whenever they wish to come to this province in order to give us enlightened discourses on the present political situation in India? Strictly speaking the present Government do not command the confidence of the masses and so they do not want that anybody from outside should come here and know their weakness and that is why they are acting in this undignified manner. I may also add that the unconditional help which the Honourable Premier boasts of giving the British, in these circumstances, is nothing but a colossal hoax. When the Honourable Premier can, as he says, force 10 lakhs of people to take up arms in the name of democracy, why does he ignore the principles of democracy when a leader who is known all over the world, intends to come here? Why does he forget that liberty can be achieved through democracy alone? Does the principle of democracy in which the Honourable Premier believes demand that a notice should be served on anybody who wants to enter the Punjab, howsoever high he is in public estimation? My submission is that the action of the Premier in banning the entry of Mr. Roy in the Punjab is thoroughly anti-democratic and still the Honourable Premier has the boldness to say that the Punjab is being ruled on democratic principles. The Premier does not care a fig for democratic ideals. Nevertheless I say that whenever nationalism and democracy come in the ascendance in our country the land of five rivers will be the leader in heralding such an era. It is a pity that the Premier has strained every nerve to deprive us of an opportunity to listen to the views of one of the greatest scholars of the times. We are fully aware that he wants to reduce us to the state of a frog in the well. Sir, I pity the mentality of the Honourable Premier and his colleagues who were at one with him in serving a notice on Mr. Roy at Dehra Dun. This narrowmindedness of the Punjab Government has been the cause of another doubt in my mind. As you are aware, Sir, it has been stated clearly in the resolutions moved by the Muslim League opposition in the Congress provinces and the speeches made by Mr. Jinnah clearly indicate that the experience of democratic Government has utterly failed in India. May I tell the Honourable Premier who has been trying his best to conceal this fact as far as this province is concerned that truth has revealed itself despite his attempts to conceal it. Does not his attitude show that in the Punjab also democracy has failed? What else does he mean? He does not want Mr. Roy to enter into the Punjab because he is sure that if he comes here his weak points will be exposed and that is why he wants to keep people like Acharya Narendra Deo, Shrimati Satyawati and Professor Ranga away from this province. I am afraid that there must be something wrong with the Punjab if an outsider by merely setting foot on it can endanger the peace of the province that boasts of being the sword-arm of India. Those who have studied the nature and mentality of Sir Sikander are fully aware that he always plays a double game. The other day when the War resolution was being discussed, no mention was made directly or indirectly by the Premier that democracy had failed, but in the amendment to the War resolution moved by Malik Barkat Ali the members of the Muslim League, which Sir Sikander has also joined, a reference was made though in a passing manner. As far as our Premier is concerned he kept mum over that point for he wanted to hide his real feelings. As regards Mr Jinnah, I would say that he is a great stalwart and he is a man who never departs from his principles. I see that the Honourable Premier is making antics to the Press Gallery suggesting that they should not publish my speech. Will he please stop it? On occasions he becomes very nervous and I think that is his second nature. If you study his movements from a psychological point of view, while he is delivering a speech in this House you will see that sometimes he puts his glasses right and then removes them, sometimes he twists the buttons of his coat and sometimes he takes out his handkerchief and puts it again into his pocket. These movements are indeed symptoms of nervousness. If the Honourable Premier and his colleagues want to lead this province and if they are to exhibit the true and correct picture of what is happening in the Punjab they should be much more careful and vigilant and I would suggest to the Honourable Premier that he cannot succeed with nervousness. May I ask him what is the danger which he wishes to avert and for which he has prohibited the entry of Mr. Roy into the Punjab? If he had come here he would have enlightened the people of the province with his advanced views and we would have gained much by listening to the debate between him and Professor Brij Narain on Marxism and Russia. But it is regrettable that we have been deprived of this opportunity on account of the misapprehension of the Punjab Government. It is a pity that a ban should be imposed on a man of Mr. Roy's scholarly attainments and experience. I should like to refer to an instance that shows the farsightedness of Mr. Roy. When I was in America Mr. Roy brought out a paper from Switzerland in which he wrote at that time that here was only one method to solve the political problems of India and that was constituent Assembly. And it is that very demand which has been recently presented by the Indian National Congress to the British Government. What I want to submit is that if Mr. Roy had been permitted to enter the Punjab it would have been advantageous for the province. The Premier could have seen him personally and gained something from his latest experiences. Besides, if Mr. Roy had spoken something not very palatable to the Premier, he could have refuted his arguments in a reply. But I am afraid the Honourable Premier is unable to speak in a mass gathering because unfortunately he has got into the habit of speaking to the audiences who are obliged to hear him in police custody. I think, perhaps the Premier therefore does not like that Mr. Roy should become popular with the masses in the Punjab as he is popular in other parts of India. You might be aware, Sir, that the Honourable Premier knows how to play with words like a juggler and he can very easily please others with soft words and we have seen, that at certain times, he puts aside even his cardinal principles and takes everything lightly. It is therefore just possible that he might have taken the speeches of Mr. Roy very lightly.

His action is not the action of the Unionist Party alone. It is the action of the Punjab Government and therefore the whole province will be held responsible for it. That is why I request him to desist from such acts as are sure to get a bad name for the province. My province is the province of brave, upright and honourable people. Do not indulge in such irresponsible actions. They will soil the fair name of the Punjab. Let me tell him frankly that this action of his will be condemned by the future generations. No true Punjabi can approve of it.

He has miserably failed in the proper performance of his duties by serving this notice on Mr. M. N. Roy. Even men like the Honourable Minister of Revenue do not know what a Constituent Assembly is. Mr. Roy was coming here to enlighten him and others on such questions, and, therefore, you ought to have allowed the people to enjoy the benefit of his vast knowledge. With these words I support the motion under consideration.

Khan Bahadur Maulvi Ghulam Mohy-ud-Din (Sheikhupura, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, unfortunately the motions for adjournment have been made so cheap that I am—

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt: The honourable member remarks that the adjournment motions are becoming cheap. Is it not a reflection on the ruling of the Chair? The Chair has decided that the matter is definite and of urgent public importance. In view of this ruling of the Chair, can the honourable member make the remark that he has made? It amounts to an insult to the House.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member was not serious in his remarks.

Khan Bahadur Maulvi Ghulam Mohy-ud-Din : I repeat that in my humble opinion to deserve a motion for adjournment a matter should be so important and sensational as would create a veritable conflagration in the House.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Is the honourable member speaking on the admissibility of the motion?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Order, order.

Khan Bahadur Maulvi Ghulam Mohy-ud-Din : My honourable friend is feeling uneasy even without hearing me. He ought to exercise a little patience. I had expected that some honourable member would put a short notice question regarding the matter and the Honourable Premier would give a satisfactory reply and the matter would end at that. I wish they had adopted this course and had not at once come forward with a motion for adjournment. They should remember that these motions are the cause of much waste of time and money. But they knew that if they put a question the reply would be so satisfactory and effective as to silence them completely. That is why they did not adopt the proper course.

Now, Sir, my honourable friend Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt has poured a flood of invectives on the Unionist Party and the Cabinet. All that I can say in reply is—

بدم گفتی و خورسدم عفاک الله نگو گفتی۔ جواب تلخ می زید

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt لب لعل شکر خارا

Khan Bahadur Maulvi Ghulam Mohy-ud-Din : I am glad that the honourable member has completed the couplet for me but I must say at the same time that Now, Sir, it has been said that Mr. M. N. Roy is a very able and erudite leader. But who has questioned his ability? We are glad he is such an able person. But the service of the notice on him has nothing to do with his ability. We have been told that Mr. Roy was a favourite pupil of the world renowned Einstein. Again, I am happy that such a great personality has so much affection and regard for one of my compatriots. I know that when Mr. Roy was imprisoned Einstein's love for him came into display and he expressed the hope that Mr. Roy would be well treated in the jail. My honourable friends have not told us what sort of treatment was meted out to Mr. Roy in the jail. It must have been good because otherwise they would not have forgotten to mention it.

My honourable friend in support of, or by way of introduction of his adjournment motion, remarked that Sir Shah Muhammad Suleiman does not agree with the point of view of Einstein and has even published a lengthy article to that effect, and a reply to the article referred to above was given by Mr. M. N. Roy which was greatly appreciated in India. I also admire his intellectual attainments but at the same time I may tell him that that question is not before the House. The motion under consideration is whether or not the Government was justified in banning the entry of Mr. M. N. Roy in the Punjab. I waited and waited in vain that my learned friend would tell us some facts which would convince us that the opinions of Mr. Roy, who according to him and 'the Tribune' regard it his first and foremost duty to foment revolutions in every country, have undergone a great change. My honourable friend should know and I hope that he knows already, that extremist movements and revolutions have generally been started by geniuses and learned people. An idiotic nin-compoop cannot do anything in this world. Only geniuses can bring about any change in this world whether that change may be for the betterment of the people or otherwise. In view of this it was but advisable that the entry of Mr. M. N. Roy should be banned in the Punjab.

Besides, my learned friends have laid great stress on the point that we should not tarnish the fair name of the Punjab and that we should not do anything which should give us a bad name among other Governments. My honourable friends should know that where there are so many good and peace loving inhabitants in the Punjab there are certain other sections of the people who if they are permitted to carry on their nefarious activities, would convert the Punjab into another battle ground for warring sections. Does not the experience of the past two years amply prove this statement that in spite of the best efforts of the Honourable Premier to solve the communal problem it is still unsolved? So far communal riots have not been rooted out of this province and people are still prone to jump at each others throats at the slightest provocation. In the circumstances it is very difficult to allow people the same kind of liberty of press and platform which we certainly like to be allowed in every country. Now may I ask if there is any honourable member who can dare say that he does not enjoy any freedom of speech here and whether there is any other province where such liberty of press and platform is allowed? (A voice: United Provinces). My learned friend says United Provinces. But I wish to draw his attention to the treatment which has been meted out to the Khaksars and I would also request him to direct his attention to other Congress provinces as well. Does he mean that when those Governments stopped and prohibited any movement they were perpetrating cruelties on the people or does he mean that they have not meted out justice to them? My honourable friends should know that lakhs of Khaksars have been carrying on their activities in the broad day light in the Punjab, but when only 200 of them went to the United Provinces they were treated very harshly. I am not casting any aspersions on the United Provinces Government but what I mean is that sometimes Governments are compelled to take such serious steps.

Lala Duni Chand : On a point of order, Sir. You are a great authority on the law of relevancy. I want to know if mentioning of Khaksars is relevant. (Laughter).

Khan Bahadur Maulvi Ghulam Mohy-ud-Din : It is an admitted fact that truth is always bitter. I think my remarks have gone home and that is why my honourable friend is feeling so very restive. I was absolutely relevant in making mention of the Khaksars. I was submitting that sometimes Governments are compelled to take action against certain people which in their opinion are acting or are about to act in a way prejudicial to the peace and safety of the province.

Lala Duni Chand : Sir, I wish to put a question through you.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : But the honourable member has not given way.

Khan Bahadur Maulvi Ghulam Mohy-ud-Din : Sir, I was submitting that according to my honourable friend Mr. Roy has a dual personality. One part of his personality consists of his intellectual attainments. There cannot be two opinions about it. We do admit that he is a very accomplished gentleman. But I am of the opinion that the second part of his personality to which pointed reference has been made by my honourable friend will be somewhat interesting for the whole House. That is, that there is not a single country on the surface of the globe wherein he has not tried to create or foment some sort of revolution. (Interruptions). May I know why my honourable friend is feeling so very restive? Why is he afraid of facing the true facts? Let me point out that Government is duty bound to maintain law and order in the country. In view of this if they see that anybody is acting or is about to act in a manner prejudicial to the public safety, it is their duty to take effective steps to control the situation. In the circumstances if the Government or for the matter of that the Honourable Premier served any notice on Mr. Roy banning his entry into the Punjab, I think there was no harm in it and there was nothing in it which could be of any shame for the Government.

Besides, my honourable friend Sardar Partab Singh remarked that it was the duty of the Honourable Premier to give a reply. He also pointed out that the Honourable Premier was accustomed to deliver his speeches with a cordon of police around him. I think he has conveniently forgotten that when a meeting was being held at Amritsar under the management of the Unionist Party my honourable friend set up another stage on the opposite—

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member's time is up.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava (Lahore City, General, Urban) (Urdu) : Sir, if I have correctly understood my honourable friend who preceded me, he remarked that the main reason for banning Comrade M. N. Roy's entry into the Punjab was that he, as his previous political record showed, had tried to create violent revolutions in every country he visited. It is, therefore, possible that if he had been permitted to enter this province, he might have let loose the forces of violent revolution. Besides, there are two or three other reasons which, I think, could be adduced by Government to defend their action. The first is Comrade Roy's attitude towards war. The Government were seriously apprehensive lest his speeches on this subject should adversely affect the pledges and assurances held out by the Honourable Premier to the British Government. The second reason could be this, The Government apprehended the breach of the peace and communal riots were likely to occur as a result of his speeches. The last but not the least reason could be, that his exchange of views with the people of the Punjab might prove detrimental to the interests of the Unionist Party. But so far as violent revolution is concerned, I am fully aware that Comrade M. N. Roy has many a time announced that he has nothing to do with it. But as regards revolution I am prepared to say that there are persons in India as well as in the Punjab who want to revolutionise the present system of Government. As a matter of fact every Indian would like to bring about a change in the form of Government according to his own ideas. Now Comrade M. N. Roy is a member of the All-India Congress Working Committee. He has signed the creed of non-violence. I may, therefore, add that so long as he is a member of that premier political body, I mean the Congress, it is inconceivable to me that he should utter a word which may smack of violence. He wants to win freedom for India by peaceful and non-violent means. But my honourable friend the Premier differs from this view. He thinks that revolution is inconceivable without resorting to force. But this much I am sure that he, too, wants a revolution in the country, although in a different manner. It would not be out of place to mention here that Comrade Roy wrote a letter to Mahatma Gandhi expressing his views about the war. This letter was published in the newspapers. But for facility of reference I would like to read out an extract from it: It runs as follows:—

I was of the opinion that it would have been not only honourable and dignified, but politically useful, for the Congress to adopt the policy originally recommended by you, the policy which had been called "unconditional co-operation." You have clearly defined that it would be moral support for the professed war aims of England, while there would be no active co-operation nor active resistance. The attitude could be more correctly defined as benevolent neutrality. I recommend neutrality on the part of the Congress, should the useless armed hostilities continue in Europe, disregarding an Appeal for Peace to be issued in behalf of the Congress and personally by yourself.

This makes his attitude towards war very clear. Now my submission is that the Honourable Premier had nothing to fear about Comrade M. N. Roy if he had been permitted to enter the Punjab. If he indulged in making speeches against war, he would have got himself entangled into the meshes of the Defence of India Act. The Government could easily take action against him under this Act. I may tell the honourable members that the All-India Working Committee of the Congress has issued instructions that civil disobedience is not to be resorted to without its permission. Hence Mr. Roy could not violate them. Had he liked it he could disobey the order banning his entry into the Punjab and court arrest. But he could not go against the instructions of a body of which he is a prominent member.

Now I come to the charge that if he had been allowed to make speeches there would have been serious communal riots. In this connection I may point out that when the Viceroy made a declaration regarding the war, negotiations about the communal settlement were being carried on between Mr. M. N. Roy and a member of the Executive Committee of the Muslim League. He announced that he and all those who belonged to the Forward Bloc in the Congress would arrive at a settlement with the Muslim League about the communal problem, so that India might be able to offer a united front to the British Imperialism. As a matter of fact he cannot discriminate between Hindus, Sikhs or Muslims. To him all are alike. In view of this it is inconceivable to me that he would have provoked communal riots by his utterances. In this connection I might make mention of the Criminal Law Amendment Act which was enacted to combat the civil disobedience movement. Section 2 of this Act reads as follows :—

2. (1) The Provincial Government, if satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for believing that any person is terrorist or communist and that he has acted, is acting or is about to act as such in a manner prejudicial to the public safety or peace, may, by special order in each case, authorise any gazetted servant of the Crown to arrest such person without warrant or to direct the arrest without warrant of such person.

Two things have been mentioned in it, i.e., if any person is a communist or a terrorist he can be arrested, because the underlying principle of these creeds is violence. I admit that no Government can tolerate violence. Besides, it is more than two years since Comrade M. N. Roy has been in India. During this period he has done nothing which would savour of terrorism or violence. I may point out that violence or terrorism is now a thing of the past. It has had its day. Now it no longer exists. The honourable members over there can only say this much that this is a school of thought which subscribes to violence for the achievement of freedom of one's country. But so far as Comrade M. N. Roy is concerned he has signed the Congress creed of peaceful non-violence and he sincerely believes in it. I may add for the information of the honourable members that previously he was a communist. But now he is neither a communist nor a terrorist, at best he is a socialist. As political creeds always change, he too, has renounced the creed of communalism. He is no longer the member of the official Communist Party. I am sure the Honourable Premier must be aware of it, as he, too, had been connected with that party. It is a different matter that previously he used to receive reports of that party in the capacity of a member and now he receives them in the capacity of a Premier of the province in order to curb the activities of those who take part in it (Laughter). All the same the Honourable Premier is in a better position to know that Comrade M. N. Roy has nothing to do with the Communist Party. He might have been a member of the Communist Party in the past, but at present he is not. I wonder if my honourable friends opposite need be told that one's political ideas undergo a change with the march of time. It is a matter of every day experience that political views do change according to the changing circumstances. An example is not far to seek. We see before our own eyes that Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram is acting against the views that he held some three years ago. I may be allowed, Sir, to assure the Honourable Minister of Revenue that I am not afraid of what he is showing to me at present. (Laughter). (Minister for Revenue : What am I showing to the honourable member ?) As I am standing quite in front of him, I can easily see what he is signifying to me. Only that person would be afraid of the suggested consequences who would commit the suggested crime. (Minister of Revenue : Please consult your colleagues. Perhaps they may be able to read the writing on the wall). You may kill your humble subjects, if you so desire. (Minister of Revenue : I was making the sign to my honourable friend Chaudhri Kartar Singh). You may address anybody but my submission is that neither Chaudhri Kartar Singh nor I am going to commit any such thing. It is for you to see whether it would be proper on your part to act in the manner suggested by you. I would, however, remind the Honourable Minister that previously the statue of Lord Lawrence used to show a pen and a sword in his hands. Now that pen and that sword are in your hands. You may use them in any manner that you deem fit. But let me make it clear that you will not be able to do so with our consent. (Cheers). It is up to you to interfere with the civil liberty of any person by saying that he was acting or was going to act in a manner that was prejudicial to the public safety. It is high time that the Unionist Ministry realized that that Government cannot be said to be a popular Government which acts in the interests of its own party and proceeds to destroy the civil liberty of its own masters. Is our Ministry cherishing the illusion that acts like these enhance the prestige of the Unionists? No, they reveal their nervousness.

That is the old imperialistic way of handling things. This is Fascism and Hitlerism. But surely a popular government should not follow in the foot prints of the old foreign bureaucracy. Party differences should not be the mainspring of their actions. No one should be punished for his views simply because they do not tally with those of the party in power.

Adverting to the subject matter of the adjournment motion, I may be allowed to say at the very outset that I refuse to admit that the Unionist Ministry knows more about Mr. M. N. Roy than we know about him. He is one of us, and we are in a better position to say what kind of man he is.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member's time is up.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh (Amritsar North, Sikh, Rural) (Punjabi): Sir, I had also given notice of this adjournment motion. Before proceeding to criticise the action of the Government in banning the entry of Mr. M. N. Roy into the Punjab for one year, I would like to give here a brief account of his life so that this House may be able to form an idea of the great personality whose entry has been banned by the Unionist Ministry. More than two and-a-half decades ago Mr. M. N. Roy worked in Bengal what is known as the "Yugantar" movement. I do not know what the blue books of the Premier will say on this point but I will detail my own information about it. Mr. M. N. Roy was subsequently imprisoned. After his release, he started other activities, the most notable being his search after knowledge. In the pursuit of knowledge he had to go out of this country. In this connection he visited various European countries. Thus he became rich in experience. During this period he had had the privilege of meeting some of the foremost leaders of various thoughts. It was his predominant passion to know how best to liberate his country from the bondage. In fact he is a great lover of liberty for all nations of the world, and to that end he has dedicated his entire life. He is out to win freedom for his country. In France he started a paper known as "The Masses" the object of which was to quicken feelings about the freedom and liberty of India. His main purpose was to throw out the foreign yoke in India, by working in conjunction with the labouring classes of the country. During this period he came into close contact with Lenin who had laid the foundation stone of the Third International of which Mr. M. N. Roy was also a member. I may mention here in passing that Stalin is the head of that movement now in Russia and he holds the office of the General Secretary of the Communist Party. After this, Mr. M. N. Roy remained busy working in revolutionary movements in different countries like China, Russia, and others. All this goes to show that he has a burning desire to see that all the countries are freed from slavery. His name was prominently mentioned in what is known as the Meerut Conspiracy case. I too had the privilege of being an accused in that case. We were tried for having conspired to overthrow the British Government in India and establish a new order here like the U. S. S. R.

In the days when we were being tried, Mr. M. N. Roy returned from Europe and began his work here. But the Government placed him under arrest. He was prosecuted in connection with the old communist conspiracy case of Cawnpore and sentenced to 12 years' imprisonment. On appeal his sentence was reduced to 6 years. It is on the expiry of this term that he has started work in India. Since his release he has been a humble worker of the Congress. Being an intellectual head of international fame, he has naturally his differences with Congress luminaries. He has had his differences even with Mahatmaji. He thinks that Mahatmaji should not lay so much stress on non-violence. He believes that consistent with democracy, every body should be allowed to be a member of the Congress even if he does not believe in non-violence as much as Mahatmaji does. The other day Mr. Roy contributed an article to the press in which he wrote that he and his followers would bow to the Congress discipline but nevertheless exercise their democratic right of giving expression to their differences of opinion. You will see, therefore, Sir, that ever since his arrival in India Mr. Roy has been a member of no organisation other than the Congress. He had to give a battle royal to the Congress Socialist party and other similar organisations whom he urged to join the Congress. Recently he has organised a party known by the name of the League of Radical Congressmen. But all the members of this party must first join the Congress. Then, and only then will they be admitted into the League. But being a man of great intellectual attainments, Mr. Roy does not hesitate to exercise his democratic right of criticising even the High Command of the Congress. For instance, he differed with the Congress High Command on the question of recent resignation of the Congress ministries. He was of the opinion that the ministries ought to carry on with the work of preparing the country for the next fight unless and until the Governors are obliged to demand their resignations. But that does not show that he is not a Congressman.

May I ask one question of the Government? How long will they successfully keep the Punjab cut off from the outside world by means of artificial barriers? For how long will they continue to shut off the spirit of revolution by means of barriers raised round the province? Modern inventions, for instance, the radio has annihilated all obstacles of time and space. People can listen in to what great men of other nations have to say without any difficulty. How long will our Government successfully keep prominent men out of this land? Our Government takes pride in fighting to avoid the havoc which Hitler intends to work with the world. But I want to submit that our Premier is even more tyrannical than Hitler. I want to tell the Premier that the Siegfried or Maginot lines which he has raised to shut off new thought from this province will crumble to pieces sooner or later. The spirit of democracy will survive all his tyrannies.

Why was Mr. Roy coming to the province? His visit had nothing to do with the Punjab Government. Professor Brij Narain is making propaganda that Marxism is dead. Mr. Roy wanted to come here in order to tell him and the people of this province that Marxism was not dead: it was alive and kicking, but it is a pity that he was not allowed by the Government to enter the province. It was not creditable on its part to take such a drastic measure against an accredited leader of political thought. This Government is in fact degrading us in the eyes of others. The honourable friend on my left has said certain things with regard to the Congress ministries in other provinces, I challenge him in all seriousness to prove that those governments had ever attempted to interfere with the civil liberties of their people. They might have taken some action against those who were fanning the flames of communalism in those provinces, but such measures we do not object to. It is the first and the foremost duty of a Congress government to eradicate communalism. It is only the Punjab Government which is guilty of supporting and encouraging those newspapers which are in fact responsible for creating communal bitterness and enmity in the province. We have in our possession several cuttings of those newspapers in which incitement to violence and murder has been openly preached, but no action is being taken against them. Let me inform the Government that vigilance is the price of freedom. The lovers of freedom and the students of history know it full well that it has cost so many lives everywhere to get civil liberties assured. With these words, Sir, I support the motion moved by my honourable friend Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt.

Premier (The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan) (Urdu): Sir, My honourable friend Sardar Sohan Singh Josh has likened me to Hitler. For me it is not a complement, but I may remind him that Hitler and Stalin are at peace with each other nowadays. Do I take it that he is going to make peace with me too? Now, Sir, my difficulty is that whenever such a motion is moved I am placed at a disadvantage. My honourable friends opposite have freedom, or shall I say licence, to indulge in the wildest possible talk and say what they please. That is not the case with me. There are certain things which are strictly confidential. There are others which, if explained on the floor of this House, would adversely affect smooth sailing so far as the administration of the province is concerned. However, keeping all these things in view I shall try to convince the honourable members that the action taken was necessary and justified.

My honourable friend Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt has made a speech which may be considered the last word in respect of verbosity. He told us that Mr. M. N. Roy offered valuable criticism of Einstein's theory of relativity. May I remind him that such a criticism was offered by Sir Shah Muhammad Suleiman and Sir Zia-ud-Din too? Again; he was pleased to remark that we should leave aside Mr. Roy's antecedents. It was really amusing to see him skip over the question of Mr. Roy's antecedents with an agility which must be described as extraordinary even in him.

Let me add that Sardar Sohan Singh Josh has made amends for what has been said by my honourable friend Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh has laid bare all the facts and has clearly stated the objects of Mr. Roy's visit. He has also narrated the past adventures of Mr. Roy. May I also in this connection say something which Sardar Sohan Singh Josh has perhaps forgotten to mention? I would like to expose the hollowness of Mr. Roy's patriotism. My information is that Mr. Roy has been working under twelve different names. The press should exercise due care in this matter. My honourable friend does not remember or the thing has slipped out of his memory that Mr. Roy was mentioned in the terrorist outrages of Calcutta. (Interruptions). I am being interrupted by the opposite side. This is not fair. I listened patiently when my friends opposite were speaking. Sir, it appears from the facts which have come to my notice and the information which I have received that Mr. Roy had a hand in the terrorist outrages of Calcutta. I may also point out that Mr. Roy was arrested in the Garden Reach Factory case and was released on bail. During the time he was on bail he absconded, putting the man who had stood surety for him in difficulty. (An Honourable Member : When did that happen?) Please do not ask me an absurd question. Mr. Roy was a prominent member of the Third International. He went to the Phillipines and Mexico and wrote articles frequently on communism and sovietism. My honourable friends sitting on the opposite benches are fully conscious of all these facts. I need not give a detailed account of them. I may only say this much that he was sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment in the case to which I have already made a reference. He was released in 1921 and went out of India. During the last war he had connections with the Indo-German Party. When he came out of prison after completing his term of sentence he worked in the Congress under different names and the various facts brought to my notice prove that he has even now not changed his attitude or his creed. Sir, in this connection, another point is also worth serious consideration. We have to take into consideration the party which invited Mr. Roy to the Punjab. Mr. Roy came here on the invitation of the Radical League. What does this Radical League stand for? This League stands for mass revolution, which is another name for violence. This League denounces the Congress for its creed of non-violence and proclaims that independence will never be achieved by non-violent methods. My submission is that the policy of the Radical League is not wholesome. India can never solve its problem of attaining independence by this policy. It does not behove my honourable friends Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt and Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava to refute the policy of non-violence and then demand a charter of complete independence from the British Government. Supposing Britain is defeated in this war and India is conquered by the enemy, will my friends in that case show that charter of complete independence to the enemy and ask him to go away because Britain had given them complete independence? Let me ask my honourable friends to change their minds. This is not true patriotism and this policy is not wise. Facts are more concrete and real than imaginary views of things. Is it not a fact known to every one of us that a section of the Congress is in favour of direct action and the other section favours the policy of non-violence? My friends must know that violence will not help India and they ought to relinquish the policy tainted with violence. They should not try to embarrass the Government. It is no use creating obstacles in the way of administration. If the Congress itself is heading for violence then there is every justification for the present attitude of the Government. If my honourable friends on the opposite side sincerely believe in non-violence and if they do not doubt the correctness of the events I have mentioned in the early part of my speech, which I have every reason to believe to be true, then they must co-operate with me in maintaining peace and order in the province. I think my friend Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt is not aware of the fact that Dr. Satya Pal is gradually losing faith in non-violence and he is now drifting towards violence.

I had thought that the motion for adjournment would be brought forward by my honourable friend Dr. Satyapal who is nowadays leaning towards the group which believes in violence. I do not know whether the reason for this change in him is personal or political but I do know that if he had sponsored this motion I would have opened my mind to him. It is a pity that the motion has been moved by one who professes a thorough belief in non-violence. I am sorry that I cannot divulge all the information at my disposal, because then those of my honourable friends opposite who really believe in non-violence would have felt obliged to support me.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : What about the Governor of the United Provinces? Does he not know the antecedents of Mr. Roy?

Premier : The Governor of the United Provinces must have his own reasons for acting as he does. But I am responsible for the maintenance of law and order in the Punjab and, as I have stated, I had good reasons to act as I did.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : This morning the Honourable Speaker was pleased to remark that Government truth is something different from abstract truth. Does that apply to what is being stated here?

Premier : The Honourable Speaker is not here just at present. Otherwise he would have been able to tell you what he meant by that remark. Anyway my honourable friend can settle that with Mr. Speaker.

Lala Duni Chand : May I put one question? I shall be obliged if the Honourable Premier gives way.

Premier : I do not give way.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Order, order. The Honourable Premier does not give way.

Premier : As I have said I am not responsible for the administration of the United Provinces. I have told you something about this province. I did not want to go beyond that, but since this question has been put to me, let me inform my honourable friends that there exists a certain group of people which is engaged in under ground activities. I have given them a sufficiently long rope. Far be it from me to interfere with bona fide activities of any party or group but it should be borne in mind that I am not prepared to overlook the underground activities.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Any evidence of their existence?

Premier : My honourable friend wants evidence of the existence of such activities. Let me tell him only this much that if an eye were not kept on those people my friend would have been the first to be abducted. (Hear, hear). If I am giving these people a long rope it is to afford them a chance to realize their mistake and mend their ways. My desire for independence is as ardent as theirs. So long as I find that they keep within bounds and there is a sincerity of purpose I shall be prepared to make the rope still longer. But let them remember that so long as I am responsible for the peace and safety of the province, the cult of bomb and violence shall not be brooked.

Now, Sir, I have stated more than once on the floor of the House that I prefer prevention to cure. My honourable friends want that I should have allowed Mr. Roy to come to the Punjab and make speeches and then arrested and prosecuted him. I wanted to save him all this trouble.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Operation performed successfully and the patient died peacefully !

Premier : I have left this political surgeon to perform operations in other provinces.

ملک خدا فنگ نیست پائے لورنگ نیست

Let him go wherever he likes but the Punjab should be left alone.

If he had been allowed to come to Lahore he would have certainly said something in the course of his lectures which would have compelled the Punjab Government to prosecute him. In that case also my honourable friend would surely have moved an adjournment motion. So I thought it advisable to calmly put up with the adjournment motion now rather than worry Mr. Roy later on.

My honourable friend stated in the course of his speech that now Mr. Roy does not believe in terrorism and violence as he did previously. According to him he has become a convert to the creed of non-violence. Granted, but what was the object of my friend in inviting him to the Punjab ? Did he want him to come here and walk straight into a trap ? If that was the object of my friend, I may tell him, that it was my first and foremost duty to see that he was not entrapped. As a matter of fact, there was absolutely no need of Mr. Roy visiting the Punjab at this time. There are ten other provinces where he can go about and do as much good as he desires to do. If he can prove by his conduct in other provinces that he is doing good, in that case we will have no objection to his coming to the Punjab. But at this time we cannot allow him to come here and preach Marxism to the people. Then, my friends have asked as to what was the harm in allowing Mr. Roy to come to the Punjab, when as a matter of fact they daily made speeches freely against Government and no body objected to them ? In a way my friend has given proof of our large heartedness in allowing so much freedom of speech to the people, the practical example of which we have set in the Punjab. My friend Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt daily expresses his views vehemently without any let or hindrance. We have given him perfect liberty of speech. But if on any occasion he abuses his freedom of speech, he will surely require some sort of politico-medical treatment for curing him of his disease. So long as he remains within limits, I do not propose to take any action against him. In short, I have given perfect freedom of speech to my honourable friends to express their political views, but it behoves them that in times of stress like the present they should remain within proper limits. Now on account of the breaking out of war we are passing through a critical period and if anybody does anything which is likely to assist the enemy, there will be no greater traitor and enemy of his country than that person. When this is my opinion how could I have allowed Mr. Roy to come here? However, I assure my friends that they have full liberty to express their view points about democracy, politics, psychology and economics, but I, may strike a note of warning to them that if they do anything as I have already warned them through the press and on the floor of this House, against the interests of this country, I will not wait for a moment to see whether the offender is Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt or Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava. I would not even spare myself. Action will be taken instantaneously. I would like to make it clear that my friends can very well enjoy freedom of speech, but they cannot be permitted to go beyond the proper limits and convert that liberty into a licence. I have been very lenient to them so much so that they while enjoying liberty have actually begun to indulge in licence. It is now high time that they should refrain from it. I may tell them that henceforward I am not prepared to show any leniency in this respect.

Then again my honourable friend, probably Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt, was pleased to remark that wherever Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram went, he preached that in case the Land Alienation Act was touched there would be revolution. Let me point out that my colleague is following in the footsteps of the Congress and like that body he says that if this thing or that thing is not done it will bring about a revolution in the country. It was the Congress party who began this game and it is now the Unionist Party which makes you beware of the terrors of a revolution in case an attempt is made to infringe the Land Alienation Act in any way. I may therefore say, in the words of the old proverb that :—

حق بحق دار رسیده

Again my friends said many things even to the extent of contradicting one another. One of them suggested that Hitlerism had been ushered into their province and the other remarked that Government was composed of fools and was expected to commit follies like that. Still another honourable member harped on the same tune and said that this Government was nothing short of Nazi-ism and Fascism and was bent upon depriving the people of their civil liberties, that even men like Mr. M. N. Roy of international fame are not spared. My honourable friend, Maulvi Ghulam Mohy-ud-Din, whom the honourable member from Ambala tried to put off the track, stated that governments are sometimes forced by circumstances to take strong action. For instances, the United Provinces Government had to deal with the Khaksar agitation with a firm hand. They had to arrest four thousand Khaksars in order to maintain peace in the province, but matters came to such a pass that they had to resort to firing. My honourable friends opposite have never said a word about civil liberties in the United Provinces being trampled upon by the Government of that province. Do my friends want to create the same state of affairs here also? Do they wish that we should also resort to force? I believe in the wholesome maxim "Prevention is better that cure." That is why I have banned the entry of Mr. Roy into this province. As a matter of fact I have taken this course to bring the disease well under control just in the same spirit in which my honourable friend Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava in a serious case of consumption would have administered calcium in order to heal up the patches. My friends over there perhaps want that this disease should run its course without let or hinderance. So long as I am here, I cannot put up with this state of affairs. If ever my honourable friends opposite occupy these benches, they may have their own way.

Again, one of my honourable friends over there remarked that whenever we adopt precautionary measures or take steps to meet an emergency, we do so in a state of nervousness and that on such occasions, more often than not, we are off the rails and find ourselves in a fix and consequently resort to force. I assure my honourable friends that we never feel nervous. We rather act most democratically, as every democratic government, is expected to do. My honourable friend, the Leader of the Opposition, was pleased to remark that my action was drastic and absolutely uncalled for. Other honourable members dubbed me as Hitler, political adventurer and so on. The views of my friends are so conflicting that I cannot decide whose point of view is correct. It is said that when there is disagreement between two persons the third person is always considered to be the wisest. (Laughter). However, I would ask my honourable friends to state for once as to what they really want to see in the Punjab. Do they want to see violence as the order of the day in this province? Do they want a terrible revolution in this land of five rivers? I can say with the fullest confidence that my friends like Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava would never support any such idea. I am sure they do not want Fascism, nor do they want Nazi-ism. (A voice: Nor do we want Sikandarism). (Laughter).

My honourable friends do not want Sikandarism either. But they are helpless! (Renewed laughter). One thing is sure and that is that the honourable members opposite want democracy in the true sense of the word. If that is so, I may assure them that I am making all efforts to establish and preserve real democracy in the Punjab. In fact, I have not been doing things in a bureaucratic manner but have been acting democratically for I have got the support of 90 per cent of population of the province in what I have done so far.

Whenever the population of the province is of the opinion that we are going astray and that we no longer look to their safety, we will make room for my friend, Sardar Sohan Singh Josh. We want that democracy should remain and if my friend, Sardar Sohan Singh Josh, says goodbye to democracy and wishes to carry on Government on the lines of Stalin and Hitler, he must come in for trouble in this country, sooner or later. We, on these benches, were returned to this House on the ticket of democracy. It was with a view to upholding the principles of democracy that we joined the present war. Now we have taken this step in the interest of democracy. My friends, however, seem to take exception to our upholding the principles of democracy. They do not like that we should be taking steps in the interest of the safety of the province and its population. I assure you, Sir, that if my honourable friends had not brought forward this adjournment motion and had asked me to explain the position in my room, I would have made it still more clear to them. I quite understand the disappointment of my friend, Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt. He had to participate in the debate and had to deliver a learned discourse. But I would request him now to forego the days of his boyhood. Now, he should think of his responsibility. (Laughter). I am, after all, taking these steps in the interest of your safety, not only your safety but the safety of your home and hearth, of your children and of your womenfolk.

I am not in a position to gamble with the lives of the peaceful citizens of the Punjab. On the other hand, I would like to strike a note of warning to those who are working underground for a violent revolution. I have already given them, as the House is well aware, a long rope but if occasion arises I know how to cut it short. My first and foremost concern is to bring them to the right path by persuasion, and if they are prepared to adopt the same course, I would be glad to embrace them; but if they fail to come to the right path, they should remember that I shall not fail to do my duty.

In view of these hard facts, I hope that my honourable friend, the mover of this adjournment motion will withdraw it forthwith, unless, of course, the Opposition decides merely to create a scene by pressing this motion to the vote of the House.

Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That the assembly do now adjourn.

PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

SIXTH SESSION OF THE FIRST PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Tuesday, 28th November, 1939.

*The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber, at 12 noon of the clock
Mr. Speaker in the chair.*

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

KANGRA DISTRICT BOARD ELECTION.

5018. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state whether it is a fact that Kangra District Board election was due in the month of June 1939 ; if so, the dates on which the Government propose to hold the said elections and the steps, if any, so far taken in this direction ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : The general elections of the district board of Kangra which should ordinarily have been held in the summer this year, have been postponed to November 1940.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know the reason why they have been postponed ?

Parliamentary Secretary : This has been ordered at the request of the district board.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : When did the district board make this request ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I cannot give the exact date.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Did the district board give any reasons ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Naturally.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What were the reasons given ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The Government fully considered the reasons advanced by the district board for the postponement of elections and after fully considering the matter the Government decided to accede to the request of the district board.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I want to know the reasons given for that action on the basis of which the Government arrived at a certain conclusion.

Parliamentary Secretary : I have stated just now that I have not got the reasons with me. If my honourable friend wants detailed reasons, he can give me a notice and I will reply.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Has the Parliamentary Secretary any idea of the reasons ? Was it due to the fact that War is going on ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed. When the Parliamentary Secretary says that he requires notice of a question, the same question cannot be asked again.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : When did the Parliamentary Secretary examine the reasons for the postponement of the elections ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is very difficult for me to give the honourable member the exact date. I went through the file some time back and satisfied myself that the answer proposed to be given was according to the facts given on the file.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Is the Parliamentary Secretary aware that the dates for elections were fixed and most of the expenditure which was to be incurred by the Government in this connection was actually incurred and it was only about two weeks or so before the fixed date that the elections were postponed ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have no information on the subject and I am prepared to accept the information which my honourable friend gives me.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know whether it was at the instance of the Chief Secretary of the Unionist Party that the elections were postponed because he had gone there to study the political situation ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I repudiate the insinuation very strongly.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Is the Parliamentary Secretary aware that the Chief Secretary of the Unionist Party went to that district to study the situation ? Is he aware of it or does he deny it ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The Chief Secretary of the Unionist Party as such has nothing to do with the elections of a district board.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know the purpose for which he went there ?

Parliamentary Secretary : There may be hundred and one purposes which it is very difficult for me to specify.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Did the Chief Secretary make any suggestion of that nature ? Did he make a verbal or written suggestion that the elections should be postponed ?

Parliamentary Secretary : So far as I am aware, when the Chief Secretary visited that particular district, no such suggestion was made.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Had he gone there simply to give a tea party to the Nawab of Bahawalpur ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

ADMINISTRATOR, LAHORE MUNICIPALITY'S REPLY TO A LETTER FROM THE HONORARY SECRETARY, INDIAN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

*5050. Rai Bahadur Lala Binda Saran : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether the Punjab Government received a letter from the Honorary Secretary of the Indian Chamber of Commerce in February, 1938 (letter No. I. C.-145/2/90, dated 15th February, 1938) ;
- (b) whether it is a fact that no reply was sent by the Government to that letter ; if so, the reasons therefor ;
- (c) whether it is a fact that the Administrator, Lahore Municipality, sent a reply to this letter (vide his letter No. 1048-G., dated 19th February, 1938) ;
- (d) whether the Administrator sent the reply referred to in (c) above at the instance of the Punjab Government or on his own initiative ;
- (e) whether Government consulted the Department of Industries and have given careful consideration to the suggestions made in letter No. I.C.-145/2/116, dated February 21, 1939, sent by the Indian Chamber of Commerce ; if not, the reasons therefor ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) Yes.

(b) Yes, because the Administrator, Lahore Municipality, who is closely concerned with the Lahore drainage and water supply schemes, had already replied to the points raised in that letter with reference to the extracts thereof published in the Civil and Military Gazette of the 17th February, 1938. Government considered his reply adequate.

(c) No.

(d) Does not arise.

(e) No because (i) the letter under reference had been endorsed to the Secretary, Electricity and Industries Departments, who was taking adequate action on it, and (ii) the Indian Chamber of Commerce did not show any inclination to co-operate with the Administrator, Lahore Municipality, in the matter.

MUNICIPAL LIMITS OF LAHORE.

*5071. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the details of the proposal to extend the municipal limits of Lahore ;
- (b) whether Government are aware of the state of public feeling in the matter ;
- (c) whether Government propose to proceed to execute the said proposal in spite of the opposition of the public to that proposal ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): For details of the area recently included within the municipality of Lahore the honourable member is referred to Punjab Government notification No. 3935-C-39/27667, dated the 24th August, 1939, which was published in Punjab Government Gazette (Extraordinary) of the same date. The notification was issued after giving full consideration to the objections which had been received.

ADMINISTRATOR OF LAHORE MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE.

5075 Sardar Hari Singh: Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state the action Government has taken or proposes to take in response to the insistent and widespread public demand for the removal of the present Administrator of Lahore Municipality?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): No action is contemplated.

HILL ALLOWANCE ALLOWED TO PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT EMPLOYEES.

5084. Sardar Hari Singh: Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether hill allowance is allowed to Public Works Department employees working in the Simla Hills; if so, the category to which such employees belong;
- (b) whether it is also a fact that no hill allowance is allowed to the Public Works Department Road Inspectors, working in the said hills; if so, the reasons therefor;
- (c) whether Government has recently received a representation from the said inspectors for being given the hill allowance like other employees; if so, the action taken thereon?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): (a) Yes; both permanent and temporary employees stationed at Simla are allowed compensatory hill allowance.

(b) Road Inspectors being work charged employees are not entitled to the compensatory hill allowance.

(c) No representation has so far been received by Government from the Road Inspectors for being given the hill allowance like other employees.

RESOLUTION PASSED BY MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE, BHIWANI.

5139. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state whether Government has recently received a copy of a resolution passed by the Municipal Committee, Bhiwani, and also a copy of a representation made by the public of Bhiwani, requesting the Government to remit the unpaid portion of the loan advanced by it for the water works scheme undertaken by the said committee owing to its weak financial position; if so, the action taken or intended to be taken by the Government thereon?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): No such request has been received by Government.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: May I know if the Government is aware of the fact that the Municipal Committee of Bhiwani had borrowed from the Government a certain amount of money for the construction of its water works, and now the Government is demanding recovery of the debt?

Parliamentary Secretary: Naturally if the Government had given some loan to the Municipality, it must be payable by the Municipality. There is no reason to ask this question. I fail to understand its significance.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: I mean to ask as to whether the Government is considering the question of writing off of the debt which was given to the Municipality for the construction of the water works.

Parliamentary Secretary: Such complaints are often made. But the debt is a debt and must be paid.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: But is not the financial position of Bhiwani Municipality weak?

Parliamentary Secretary: The financial position of almost every Municipality in the Punjab is weak?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: But I want to know if the financial position of Bhiwani Municipality is comparatively very bad?

Parliamentary Secretary: I have said that the financial position of almost every Municipality in the Punjab is weak. Some of them are of course, more poor than others.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: Is that the index of the prosperity of the province?

Mr. Speaker: Disallowed.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: May I know what was the total expenditure on the construction of the water works of Bhiwani?

Mr. Speaker: Disallowed. It does not arise out of the reply given.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad: Has the Government ever taken into consideration the reasons why the financial position of nearly all municipalities in the province is bad?

Mr. Speaker: That is a request for action.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad: This is not a request but a supplementary question which arises from the reply given by the Parliamentary Secretary. Is it not the duty of the Government, Sir, to take into consideration the reasons why the financial position of every municipal committee is bad? The reason should be found out and the defect remedied.

Mr. Speaker: The honourable member may answer the question.

Parliamentary Secretary: It is very difficult for me to specify the reasons for the financial backwardness of these municipal committees. I happen to belong to one of the municipal committees and it is my opinion that the real reason for the financial weakness of these municipal committees is the fusion of deliberative and executive functions of the committees. That is one reason and there are certain other reasons but it is very difficult for me to go into those details at this stage.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Have Government gone into those reasons or not?

Parliamentary Secretary : The Government has gone into those reasons and is attempting to separate deliberative functions of the committees from executive functions wherever it is possible.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Have Government ever considered the desirability of appointing a sub-committee to enquire into this matter?

Mr. Speaker : I refuse to allow that question.

LAHORE MUNICIPALITY.

*5143. Rai Bahadur Lala Gopal Das : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state —

- (a) the total income of the 71 villages proposed to be included in Lahore Municipality, from land revenue and local rate and their total population community-wise ;
- (b) whether it is the intention of the Government to credit the land revenue and local rate of these villages to the income of the Lahore Municipality ;
- (c) the approximate loss of income from octroi and terminal taxes to the Lahore Municipality as a result of the inclusion of the above villages within Lahore Municipal limits?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a)

				Rs.
(i) Land Revenue	88,419
(ii) Local Rate	12,948
(iii) Population—
Muslims	56,269
Sikhs	9,928
Hindus and others	16,121

(b) Orders have already issued for crediting to the Lahore municipal funds the local rate levied in these villages. Land revenue will not be so credited.

(c) The only principal articles grown in these villages on which a tax was levied on import into the municipal area were fodder and fruit. It is impossible to say what income accrued to the municipality on this account. But there is no doubt that the loss of this income will be more than made up by the increase from other sources.

LAHORE MUNICIPALITY.

5144. Rai Bahadur Lala Gopal Das : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state —

- (a) whether the residents of the villages and revenue estates proposed to be brought within the limits of the Lahore Municipality under Government notification No. 1529-G-39/15485, dated the 22nd April, 1939, will be required to pay all the taxes which are levied on the residents of Lahore town ;
- (b) if the answer to (a) above be in the negative, whether it is the intention of Government to provide the same facilities regarding lighting, drainage, water supply, roads and public health as are provided to the residents of Lahore to the residents of these 71 villages proposed to be included in Lahore ;
- (c) if it is the intention of Government to improve the conditions in the above-mentioned 71 villages, whether there will be sufficient funds available for the purpose out of the income of the Lahore Municipality ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) Yes; subject to such exemptions as may be considered necessary under sections 70 and 71 of the Punjab Municipal Act.

(b) and (c) It is proposed to improve conditions in the extended area. Generally speaking the nature and extent of the improvements will depend on the proceeds of taxes levied within the extensions.

RESOLUTION CONDEMNING THE INEFFICIENCY OF POLICE ADMINISTRATION IN DISTRICT ROHTAK.

5151. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether he and the local district authorities have received a copy of the resolution condemning the inefficiency of police administration in dealing with the ever increasing number of crimes in Rohtak district, passed in a public meeting held on 18th July, 1939, last at Rohtak ;
- (b) the number of murders, dacoities and other serious crimes committed during the months of May, June and July, 1939, in the district of Rohtak ;
- (c) the action taken or intended to be taken in this matter to allay the feelings of the public of Rohtak due to the panic created by the ever-increasing number of crimes in the locality ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) :
 (a) No copy of the resolution appears to have been sent to the Secretariat, but Government understand that one was received by the Deputy Commissioner.

(b)		Murders.	Dacoities.	Other serious offences.
May, 1939	..	7	..	74
June, 1939	..	8	3	58
July, 1939	..	4	1	56

(c) The figures do not indicate any remarkable increase in crime in the district. There was recently a certain amount of alarm as a result of one particular dacoity case of unusual type, but vigorous action by the police has restored confidence.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Parliamentary Secretary be pleased to state whether the resolution which was forwarded to the Deputy Commissioner was also sent to the Government?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have stated that the representation has not been received in the Secretariat, but Government have received information that the Deputy Commissioner had received that representation.

Lala Duni Chand : Does the Government consider the existing state of crime as normal?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have said that the Government does not think that the state of crime is abnormal.

Lala Duni Chand : How many crimes would the Government expect to be committed in the Rohtak district before it takes any steps?
 (Laughter.)

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I ask my honourable friend, the Parliamentary Secretary, to define the expression, 'abnormal' in connection with the answer that he has given?

Parliamentary Secretary : The number of murders in the whole province was about 1,041 in 1938 and of other serious offences including dacoities was nearly 16,000. The figures for Rohtak district during the whole year do not show any abnormal rise apart from the general rise of figures for crime throughout the province.

Diwan Chaman Lall : What is the number worked out per district?

Mr. Speaker : That can be easily calculated.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Is it a fact that the number of murders committed in the Rohtak district is in excess of the average worked out per district? May I know whether my honourable friend is giving his own figures?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am taking into consideration the crime as a whole and not murders only.

Diwan Chaman Lall : So in relation to murders, do I take it that my honourable friend does not stick to his statement but concedes that it shows an abnormal state of affairs?

Parliamentary Secretary : Since June even the figure for murders has dropped.

Diwan Chaman Lall : How many murders were committed in the Rohtak district during the last month?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice for that question.

Diwan Chaman Lall : The question relates to the months of May, June and July. How many murders were committed during the months of May, June and July?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already said that the number of murders in May was 7, in June 8 and in July 4. If the honourable member wants to know the number of murders committed in that district during last month he should give me notice.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What was the number of murders committed during the corresponding period last year?

Parliamentary Secretary : I require notice for that question also.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What action does he propose to take in connection with the resolution which was forwarded to the Deputy Commissioner?

Parliamentary Secretary : No special action is considered necessary.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that in the resolution which was passed in a largely attended public meeting the details were given about the Bilochpur dacoity and it was urged that subordinate officials were unable to do anything so long as impartial officers were not appointed above their heads and it was also urged that the people should be given arms licences to defend themselves?

Minister : Is it a speech or a supplementary question?

Diwan Chaman Lall : My honourable friend has said that the total number of murders committed in the Punjab in the course of one year was 1,041. Is it therefore correct that the average per district comes to about 85 murders in the course of a year? Is it correct that the figure given by him as worked out on an annual basis is practically twice as much in Rohtak as the average in a district?

Parliamentary Secretary : My honourable friend should not generalise from the figures of one or two months. There may be no crime and no murder for a long period.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Has my honourable friend any figures to show that in the past that state of affairs has prevailed in the Rohtak district?

Parliamentary Secretary : Certainly. In 1938, whereas some other districts like Ferozepore and Sheikhpura showed an increase in crime, there was no such increase in the Rohtak district.

Diwan Chaman Lall : The question put to the honourable member was not whether there was an increase in the Rohtak district. I want to know whether this state of abnormality compared with other districts prevails in the Rohtak district or not.

Parliamentary Secretary : These figures for the month of May, June and July are worked out for the Rohtak district only and they include murders, dacoities and other serious offences. I have already said that although the figures for murders were certainly high in these three months, the crime in other respects was not so abnormal as to require special action.

Diwan Chaman Lall : What was the figure for the previous years ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I will request the honourable member to give me notice for that question. But I may inform the honourable member that some figures are given in the police report and he will find there that the Rohtak district is not mentioned as one of those districts that have shown an increase in crime.

Diwan Chaman Lall : We are not now concerned about the increase in crime generally in the Rohtak district but relating to murder. What I ask is this whether he is aware that the number of murders in the Rohtak district is abnormal.

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already stated that although in those three months the figure of murders was high and cannot be stated as normal, yet on the whole the crime including other offences was not abnormal in the Rohtak district. The question related to the crime as a whole and not to murders only.

Lala Duni Chand : Does the Government consider that the number of murders, i.e. 1,041, in the whole province represents a normal state of things ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Not at all. The Government is taking action in this matter.

Lala Duni Chand : Is the Government aware of the fact that in the whole of Great Britain, the population of which is twice the population of the Punjab, the number of murders is only 100 or 125 a year ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know what is the state of crime in England ?

Mr. Speaker : Is that within the official cognisance of a Punjab Minister ?

(Lala Duni Chand stood up.)

No more discussion please : the honourable member should resume his seat.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Will the Parliamentary Secretary be pleased to state as to whether the number of crimes at present in the Punjab is on the increase as compared with the last year ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Figures for 1939 are not yet available.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Is it a fact that the figures for 1938 show that the crimes are on the increase as compared with the figures of 1937 ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes, in certain respects.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Has the Government taken any steps to stem the increasing tide of crimes ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I would request the honourable member to read the police report for 1938. Reasons are given and the steps taken by the Government are also given.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Is the Parliamentary Secretary in a position to state on the floor of the House the number of murderers and those murdered castewise ? (Laughter.)

Parliamentary Secretary : I do not know whether my honourable friend is serious in asking that question.

ROHTAK DISTRICT BOARD ELECTIONS.

5153. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state when the fresh elections which are now being overdue to the District Board Rohtak, may be expected to take place ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : The next general elections of this Board are expected to be held by the middle of 1940.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Last time in reply to a question of mine I was told that the elections of the District Board, Rohtak, would be held in September 1939. Now may I ask why they are still being postponed for another year ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have not before me the reply referred to, and therefore, I am not in a position to say what was stated therein.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Take it from me that I am speaking the truth.

Parliamentary Secretary : I have never doubted the veracity of my honourable friend.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Then, may I ask the Honourable Minister the reasons for this delay ?

Minister : Expectations of the Government are not sometimes fulfilled. Delay has taken place regarding the distribution of circles which is a very complicated affair.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that the delimitation of wards is not a very lengthy affair and that delay is being caused in spite of the fact that the delimitation has been completed ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No doubt the provisional delimitation of wards has been completed but there were large number of objections and therefore the whole thing has to be revised in order to eliminate all chances of injustice to anybody.

Diwan Chaman Lall : How many years is my honourable friend going to take to find out whether there has been any injustice or not ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Now it is only a question of months.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it a fact that it has become a matter of routine for Government to postpone elections of district boards in any place on the slightest pretext ?

Minister for Public Works : I am afraid not as a matter of routine. Sometimes there is delay due to unavoidable circumstances and they have to postpone elections.

Mr. Speaker : I would request honourable members to ask questions only about Rohtak and not bring in the whole province.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I ask how long have these elections been overdue ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I cannot say off-hand. If notice is given I will be in a position to say how long they have been overdue.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I take it that my honourable friend has merely got the reply and not the file regarding this particular matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have not got the file with regard to the question before the House. As to answer how long these elections have been overdue I should like to have notice.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I know if it is not a question relating to overdue elections ? Is it not within the knowledge of my honourable friend ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The question does not relate to overdue elections : it merely seeks information as to when elections are to take place.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I know if it is not correct that these elections have been due since June 1988 ? Is it a fact that Government requires two solid years to get at the facts relating to what my honourable friend calls 'circles' ?

Minister : Government was not responsible for the delay. The district board was in the first instance asked to make suggestions for the formation of the circles and delay took place there.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Do I take it that if a district board wants to prolong its own life they have merely to delay the reply to my honourable friend ?

Minister : I have warned the district board for this delay.

Lala Duni Chand : Can the Minister for Public Works state that the postponement is not caused by the fact that the Congress is going to fight the elections ?

(Voices from Ministerial benches : No, no.)

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it or is it not a fact that the Honourable Minister for Public Works advised the Junior Vice-Chairman of the Rohtak District Board to get a resolution passed to the effect that the elections be postponed ?

Minister : I am sorry it is an entirely wrong and baseless statement and the honourable member should not have made it. That is all I can say.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Sir, I can prove that my statement is correct.

Mr. Speaker : Please withdraw.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Very well, Sir. I withdraw it.

Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan : Is it not within the competence of the Government to compel a district board to proceed according to rules and the law ?

Minister : Certainly it is. When consulting a board they can delay matters. That is why I warned the board that they should not have done so.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that the Government has spent full four years only on delimiting these wards ?

Minister : No.

NON-MUSLIM WARDS IN THE JAGADHRI MUNICIPALITY.

5263. Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of non-Muslim wards in the Jagadhri Municipality and the total number of voters in each of these wards ;
- (b) the action Government intend to take in the matter in order to remove the disparity in the voting strength of each ward in the said Municipality ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) There are four non-Muslim wards in the Jagadhri Municipality ; the number of voters in these wards is as follows :—

Ward No. 1	928
Ward No. 2	991
Ward No. 3	504
Ward No. 4	1,057
Total					2,880

(b) The question of taking steps to remove the disparity will be considered.

Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : Is the Government prepared to improve the conditions of present wards of Jagadhri Municipality ?

Parliamentary Secretary : That is a request for action.

Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : Is it a fact that the wards already constituted in Jagadhri Municipality are in the interest of Raja Joti Parshad, Rais-e-Azam ?

Parliamentary Secretary : They have been constituted in the interest of the public.

Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : Is not the Parliamentary Secretary aware that the man concerned is also a municipal commissioner ?

Minister : If he has the confidence of people, he would continue his membership.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : The voting strength of every ward given by the Honourable Minister shows that the number of voters is disproportionate in every ward. Have the Government ever made an effort to distribute the wards in such a way as to make the voting strength of each ward more or less equal?

[K. S. Khawaja Ghulam Samad.]

Minister : Every effort is made.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Have Government ever tried to remove the disparity of the strength of voting throughout the province and to mould the wards in such a way that the number of voters in each ward is nearly equal?

Minister : The guiding principle underlying the formation of wards and circles is to bring about equilibrium of voting strength as far as possible. But representation has to be given to various communities according to their due share and it is there that the trouble arises. We have to adjust the claims according to the agreed formula, and it is there that a certain amount of disparity is bound to come. However, every effort is made to minimise it as far as possible.

Lala Duni Chand : Has the Government made any enquiries into the manœuvres adopted and resorted to in order to give an easy seat to a particular individual?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed. That does not arise out of the answer given.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : The reply to my question given by the Honourable Minister is that every effort is made by Government to restore equilibrium of voters in every ward throughout the whole province. In answer to the original question the Parliamentary Secretary gave the following figures as the number of voters in the four wards. In one ward, he said, there were 328 voters, in the second ward 991, in the third 504 and in the fourth 1,057 voters. Has the Honourable Minister made any attempt to restore equilibrium in the municipality of Jagadhri?

Minister : People do not live according to communities. They live mixed up in mohallas. In certain cases, therefore, disparity is inevitable.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : What is the formula according to which due share is given to all the communities?

Minister : The mean of the population and voting strength of a particular local body is the due share of representation of each community concerned. That is the formula that applies to all.

HARIJAN VOTERS IN NON-MUSLIM WARDS OF JAGADHRI MUNICIPALITY.

5264. Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the total number of voters in non-Muslim wards Nos. 2, 3 and 4, in Jagadhri and the number of Harijan voters in each of these wards;
- (b) reasons why no Harijan has ever been elected as a member of the said Committee and the action the Government intends to take in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): (a)

Wards.	Number of voters.	Number of Scheduled Caste voters.
Non-Muslim ward No. 2	991	2
Non-Muslim ward No. 3	504	58
Non-Muslim ward No. 4	1,057	233
Total	2,552	293

(b) No person belonging to Scheduled Castes has ever stood for election. The claims of such persons for representation on a municipal committee are considered when appointments are made to nominated seats.

Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : Why are the voters from other wards not placed in one ward to facilitate the election of Harijans?

Parliamentary Secretary : That is a request for action.

LARGER POPULAR REPRESENTATION ON SIMLA MUNICIPALITY.

5273. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is true that a fresh election of the Municipal Committee of Simla will take place shortly ;

(b) whether the Government has increased or intends to increase the number of elected members in the said Municipality ; if so, to what extent ;

(c) whether it is true that there has been, for many years, an insistent demand for larger popular representation on Simla Municipality ; if so, what consideration has been given to it ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a), (b) and (c) The general election of the Municipal Committee of Simla will be held in June 1940. The number of elected members on the committee has been increased from 3 to 5.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if there are any chances of an elected majority being given to the Simla Municipality ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Always hope for the best.

Lala Duni Chand : Is the Parliamentary Secretary prepared to hold out any hope to that effect ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I cannot hold out any hope. But every one must hope for the best.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What are the reasons for keeping Simla in that backward state ?

Minister : There is no question of keeping it in a backward state. It is a particular constitution found suitable for a particular local body under particular circumstances.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does the Honourable Minister mean that an elected majority will prejudice the interests of the citizens ?

Minister : The honourable member knows that Simla consists of migratory population. Certain representation has been given to the permanent population. It is not possible to confer rights on a migratory population. They are there this year and are not there next year. Then there is enormous property belonging both to the Punjab Government as well as the Government of India. So they must have their representation.

Lala Duni Chand : Speaking generally, does the Government prefer election to nomination ?

Minister : That does not arise. But as the reply was given just now, the elected element has been increased.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the Government consider the case of Simla as an exception to the general rule that prevails in the province ?

Minister : That has already been answered. Simla stands in a different category by itself from other places and so are other hill centres where the population is migratory.

Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister be pleased to condescend to give us some idea of those particular reasons which apply to these cases ?

Minister : Every effort is made to increase the elected element in accordance with the circumstances.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know what those particular circumstances are ?

Minister : I have already stated them. They are, the special interests of the Government of India and of the Punjab Government, the migratory population, the number of Government employees who form the bulk of the population. If we have fully elected element, it will mean that a few house-owners will be controlling the entire municipal administration, which is not advisable.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister please state whether he received any representations from the Muslim public of Simla to increase the number of seats in the municipal committee of Simla ?

Minister : The question savours of clear communalism. So I am afraid I cannot reply to it here. If the honourable member asks me outside, I shall be able to give him the necessary information.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : I am sorry the Honourable Minister has misunderstood my question. There is no communalism. My question is whether he ever received any representation from the Muslims to increase the number of seats. I am not requesting him to increase the number of Muslim seats.

Minister : According to the new constitution effort has been made to give due representation to all interests and communities concerned. Would that satisfy my honourable friend ?

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : To a certain extent.

EXECUTIVE OFFICERS.

*5277. Lala Duni Chand: Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of executive officers appointed for different Municipalities of the Province since 1st April, 1937, up to the present;
- (b) their names;
- (c) the number of executive officers among them whose term of office have expired or who have otherwise ceased to hold the appointment;
- (d) the names of such executive officers?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): A statement giving the required information is laid on the table.

Statement.

13	Rupar ..	Subedar Sher Singh ..	No.	Appointment renewed for a further period of 5 years with effect from 17th August, 1938.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether, in accordance with the statement, only three belong to the two communities put together and the remaining ten belong to another community ?

Parliamentary Secretary : This question savours of communalism and I regret I have to decline to answer it on the floor of the House.

Lala Duni Chand : It is not from that point of view that I am putting the question. Is the fairness or the efficiency of the Government a matter to be informed about or not ? I want to give credit to the Government for fairness and efficiency. I want to know whether out of 13 posts, 10 went to one particular community and the remaining three to two communities put together ?

Minister : I would like to answer the question leaving the communal portion out. The appointment of executive officers is not made only by the Government. The Executive Officers Act empowers the local body to make the appointment first and only if it fails, the Government steps in. So when the local body is making the appointment, we have no control over it, unless the person employed is a dismissed Government servant or is otherwise undesirable.

Lala Duni Chand : I am not holding you responsible for the appointments made by the local bodies. May I know how many out of these 13 appointments have been made by the municipal committees ?

Minister : If you give notice of an unstarred question you will get the answer as it savours of communalism.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the very vigilant and well-informed minister is not aware of the fact as to how many out of these 13 posts of executive officers are appointed by the municipal committees and how many are appointed by the Government ?

Minister : If you give notice of an unstarred question, you will get the reply.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether it is a fact that when the Government stepped into office the number was 5 and 5.

Minister : If you put a question in writing you will get the reply.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the Government does not consider this state of things most lamentable ?

Minister : What state of things ? I have already stated that if the [honourable member gives notice of an unstarred question then he will know the state of things. After that he can take up this question.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : The Honourable Minister has stated that the appointment of the executive officer is made by the majority of members.

Minister : A certain majority.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : A certain majority of members of the municipal committee. Is it not a fact that after a person is selected as an executive officer and recommendations are made by the committee to the Minister, the Minister is in a position to interfere and whether he ever considered the recommendations by keeping the figures of executive officers before him in order to decide that these posts should not go to the members of one and the same caste ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Recommendations are generally made by the committee. If they are complete and carry the requisite majority normally the Government accepts them except in the case of a dismissed Government servant or if the person is otherwise undesirable.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know whether the Honourable Minister interfered in the recommendations of the members of the municipal committee of Bhiwani and whether the municipal committee recommended one person and the Honourable Minister appointed somebody else ?

Minister : This is descending from the general to the particular and for that I should like to have notice.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the Government approves of the proportion 50—50 as just, equitable and fair and if so, why has this proportion been grossly departed from in this case ?

Sayed Amjad Ali Shah : I think there is a convention that communal questions should not be asked either by this side or by that side. If so, we are now departing from that well-established convention.

Mr. Speaker : That matter is between the honourable members of the various parties and the Honourable Ministers.

Lala Duni Chand : Will the honourable member please answer my question ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The Honourable Minister has already stated that all questions savouring of communalism will not be answered on the floor of this House. If the honourable member gives notice of an unstarred question or if he takes the trouble of walking over to the Minister's room he will get all the information.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : On a point of order. To ask whether any proportion has been fixed for appointments in any particular department, in my humble opinion, is not a communal question. Is the Honourable Minister prepared to endorse what his Parliamentary Secretary has said that even this is a communal question ?

Minister : The honourable member wanted information about the gentlemen belonging to the various communities. That is communalism. But we are prepared to give the requisite information to an unstarred question. As regards the other question, my reply is that no proportion can be laid down. I answered that previously. As regards the appointment of executive officers Government is not the sole authority, and my honourable friend being the author of the Executive Officers Act knows it. There are two authorities, one the municipal committee and the other the Government. In some cases the municipal committees make their appointments and in some cases the Government. If my honourable friend wants further details he can give notice of an unstarred question and he will get a reply.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : The question was whether any proportions for appointments had been fixed. The Honourable Minister has said no proportions have been fixed so far as appointments to the post of executive officers are concerned. He should know that there is hardly any appointment of an executive officer which has been made by any municipal committee and if all the appointments or nearly all the appointments are made by the Government whether the proportions fixed for other appointments have been observed by the Government in these instances? That was the question of Lala Duni Chand and that is also my question and I would like an answer to this.

Minister : As the honourable member knows the proportions laid down at present apply to Government services and that no proportions have been fixed or apply to services in local bodies. It is a wider issue and still requires solution.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it not a fact that where municipal committees have appointed executive officers, the Government has not agreed to those appointments in some cases?

Minister : No.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it not so in the case of Bhiwani where the executive officer appointed by Bhiwani Municipal Committee has not been accepted by the Government?

Parliamentary Secretary : The honourable member has now come down to individual cases from a generality. I would like to have notice of the question.

Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan : How long will the Government remain indifferent to the working of the local bodies in the Ambala district?

Mr. Speaker : That does not arise.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : As the Honourable Minister has said that selection or recommendation is made by the municipal committee and the final orders are passed by the Government, I would ask the Honourable Minister to please state whether he considers those recommendations in view of the fact that many persons of a certain caste have already been working as executive officers and that some persons belonging to other castes may also be appointed. Is it not his duty to consider this aspect of the case?

Minister : I have not followed the question.

Lala Duni Chand : Let alone everything else, does not the Honourable Minister consider it in all honesty as a scandalous state of affairs and if so, whether he is going to put an end to this?

Minister : That might be an uncalled for insinuation, but it is hardly a supplementary question.

PUNITIVE POLICE POSTS IN CERTAIN VILLAGES IN RUPAR TAHSIL.

5287. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) if a punitive police post has been posted for Nathmalpur, Gopalpur, Oyand and six other villages in Rupar tahsil, Ambala district; if so, since when and for how much period;
- (b) the total amount to be realized from the nine villages for the maintenance of the post and the sum charged from each of the said villages;
- (c) the reasons for the posting of the punitive post;
- (d) whether it is a fact that the reasons which led to the posting of the said punitive post of police have ceased to exist; if so, the reasons why it has not been removed so far?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) :

(a) Yes, for one year from the 6th July, 1939.

(b) The total estimated cost amounts to Rs. 11,350-4-2. The distribution of the amount between the nine villages has not yet been settled.

(c) The establishment of the post was necessitated by the misconduct of the villagers concerned, who gave shelter and assistance to a notorious gang of dacoits and murderers.

(d) When the orders were issued, the Commissioner was informed that if the inhabitants of the nine villages showed genuine signs of reformation and the absconders were arrested it would be open to him to submit proposals for the early withdrawal of the post. One absconder is still at large and up to the present the Commissioner has not found himself able to make any recommendation.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether it is a fact that a very respectful representation had been made by the inhabitants of the villages concerned to the Honourable Premier assuring him of their good behaviour in future and asking him for the abolition of the post or at least the reduction of the period of the post?

Parliamentary Secretary : Representations may have been made, but unless the Commissioner is satisfied with regard to the state of affairs in these villages, the Government cannot take any action.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the Parliamentary Secretary is aware of the important fact that a representation to that effect signed by hundreds of people has been made?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have stated that the representation may have been made but the Government cannot take any action unless the Commissioner is satisfied with regard to the state of affairs in these villages.

GUJRAT AND SHADIWAL ROAD.

5296. Khan Sahib Chaudhri Pir Muhammad : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether Gujrat and Shadiwal road in district Gujrat was taken over by the P. W. D. some years ago, for getting it

[K. S. Ch. Pir Muhammad.]

metalled, with a view to connecting Shadiwal town with Gujrat and the Grand Trunk Road passing by Gujrat by means of a pakka road ;

(b) whether the Government has taken any action in this respect so far, and, if not, why not ;

(c) whether the Government now intends to have this road made pakka, and if so, when ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): (a) The Gujrat-Shadiwal road in Gujrat district was taken over by the Public Works Department in 1928 for being improved as an unmetalled road and it is being maintained as such.

(b) and (c) In view of answer to (a) above (b) and (c) do not arise.

RECONSTITUTION OF THE GOHANA MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE.

*5396. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) the date on which the Municipal Committee of Gohana, district Rohtak, was superseded and the reasons for its supersession ;

(b) whether the Government has recently considered the question of its reconstitution ; if so, with what result ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): (a) The Gohana Municipal Committee was superseded on the 10th November, 1933, for persistent default in the performance of its duties.

(b) Yes. The committee will be reconstituted as soon as its electoral rules, which are under preparation, are ready.

ELECTION TO NORTH-WESTERN RAILWAY LOCAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE.

Mr. Speaker : Regarding the election of two representatives of the Assembly to serve on the North-Western Railway Local Advisory Committee which is to be held to-day, I may inform the honourable members that voting papers containing the names of candidates are available in the lobby between 2 and 4 p.m. to-day. Honourable members will obtain these papers within these hours, mark their preferences on the paper and deposit it in the box kept for the purpose in the lobby.

No voting paper will be issued after 4 p.m. and no marked paper will be allowed to be deposited in the ballot box after 4-15 p.m. The box will be locked and sealed at this time. The papers will be examined and result announced in due course.

APPLICATION OF RAI BAHADUR BINDA SARAN FOR LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Mr. Speaker : I have to read out to the Assembly the following application received from Rai Bahadur Mr. Binda Saran, Member of the Assembly, for permission to be absent from the Assembly.

The application reads as follows :—

I have been seriously ill for the last four months. I am confined to bed under medical advice. Hence it is not possible for me to attend the meetings of the Punjab Legislative Assembly. I, therefore, seek, through you, the permission of the Assembly under Rule 33 of the Rules of Procedure, to remain absent from its meetings till I have completely recovered from my illness.

Is it the pleasure of the House that the permission asked for be granted ?

The permission was granted.

ADJOURNMENT MOTIONS.

UNSATISFACTORY REPLY OF GOVERNMENT TO A QUESTION.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta (South-Eastern Towns, General, Urban): Sir, I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, unsatisfactory and incomplete reply to starred question No. 5575,¹ given on the floor of the House.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member has given notices of three such motions. I will read them one by one.

No. 1. “LALA DESHBANDHU GUPTA, Member, Legislative Assembly, to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the deliberate withholding of important information by the Government from the members of the House as evidenced by the unsatisfactory and evasive reply given by the honourable Parliamentary Secretary to my starred question No. 5576,¹ and the supplementaries put thereon.”

No. 2. “LALA DESHBANDHU GUPTA, Member, Legislative Assembly, to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the deliberate withholding of important information from members of the House as evidenced by the unsatisfactory and evasive replies given on the floor of the House.”

The number of the question from which this motion arises is not given.

I may mention by the way that notices of these motions were never withdrawn formally. I ruled these out of order yesterday. Now, the 3rd motion of which the honourable member has given notice reads as follows :—

No. 3. “LALA DESHBANDHU GUPTA, Member, Legislative Assembly, to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, unsatisfactory and incomplete reply to starred question No. 5576, given on the floor of the House.”

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Before you give your ruling I want to bring this fact to your notice that the notices of other motions have been withdrawn.

Mr. Speaker : I accept the honourable member's word.

The question is, what does the honourable member wish to discuss under this adjournment motion? From the motion, which I have just read, it is as clear as anything that the object of the honourable member is to criticise the action and conduct of the Parliamentary Secretary, who answered his questions. But while discussing the unsatisfactory and incomplete answers, the conduct and action of the giver of those answers cannot be left untouched. It is perfectly clear from the wording of the motion that the intention of the honourable member is to criticise and discuss the conduct of the Parliamentary Secretary. The honourable member has not stated in what respect the answer is incomplete and unsatisfactory. So, the question is whether under these circumstances the adjournment motion is admissible. I am inclined to hold that it is not in order.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : As far as the question of my intention is concerned, there is no doubt, I gave notice of two adjournment motions earlier and also gave a verbal notice at the very time when the questions were being unsatisfactorily answered. Sir, I would request you to confine your attention to the motion as it is worded—I mean the last adjournment motion. I do not propose to go beyond what this motion seeks to discuss. The question is a very simple one. The question I had asked was :—

Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to lay on the table of the House a statement giving the following information :—

- (a) the total amount drawn as pay by each Minister and Parliamentary Secretary since April, 1937, to 30th of September, 1939, respectively ;
- (b) the total amount of travelling allowance drawn by each Minister and Parliamentary Secretary for the same period, respectively ;
- (c) the total amount of other allowances including allowances for attending the sittings of the Assembly and Select Committees, drawn by each Minister and Parliamentary Secretary, respectively ;
- (d) the total amount of travelling allowance and other allowances drawn by each Minister and Parliamentary Secretary respectively for visits paid to places outside the province ?

The answer given by the Parliamentary Secretary was—

- (a)—(d) Such salaries and allowances as were due under the rules and within the vote of the Assembly have been paid.

The answer is so manifestly incomplete that it needs no further comment. What I wanted was definite figures on four definite points which could not, by any stretch of imagination, be calculated by the members of the Opposition. For instance, let us take part (d). I wanted definite information as to the amount of allowances paid for visits outside the province. The Parliamentary Secretary rose and said that whatever was due had been paid. Nothing could be more evasive ; I think this is a very typical case for your intervention. They deliberately kept num and when we pursued the matter by supplementaries, they withheld every possible information. Another point to be considered is that in the past the practice has been to give information on these points. Therefore, there was nothing objectionable in my asking for information on these points. Now, coming to the rules, I think you have more than once held that unsatisfactory replies could be discussed through adjournment motions.

Mr. Speaker : Only in rare and exceptional cases the unsatisfactory replies to questions may form the subject of an adjournment motion.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : It may be on rare occasions I admit, but the unsatisfactory replies given by the Treasury benches can form the basis of an adjournment motion. I think you do hold that view still and that is the practice of all Parliaments. You will find the same in the House of Commons.

Mr. Speaker : Will the honourable member please quote an instance ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : My honourable friend Diwan Chaman Lall who is better acquainted with the subject will presently deal with that matter, but I can say this much that this is an established parliamentary practice. You have seen that they made every possible effort to withhold important information from us which we were entitled to get, it is a fit case therefore to be discussed, through an adjournment motion. I would also invite your attention to the word "incomplete." The question asked for total amount and they say: "Whatever was due has been paid." The reply is simply scandalous. I could have understood their refusing to answer my question which I admit was an inconvenient one, but I cannot understand their withholding information in that manner.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member says :—" They were deliberately withheld."

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I have deliberately omitted those words.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member uses them in his speech.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What I said was that they gave an impression that the information was withheld deliberately and I am saying nothing new because it was said in the supplementary answer. The question to-day before the House is whether the reply given was incomplete and unsatisfactory and I do not propose to go beyond that.

Mr. Speaker : What was the honourable member's object in asking that question ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : To get accurate information. I would be perfectly satisfied if the Ministry gives that information to-day. In that case I would not press for the adjournment motion.

Mr. Speaker : Please state your object in asking that question.

Diwan Chaman Lall : The control of this House over the financial dealings of the Ministry.

Mr. Speaker : Had the Budget estimate been exceeded ?

Diwan Chaman Lall : We do not know.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : There are all sorts of rumours current about this matter and it being one of the duties of the Opposition members to seek definite information on such points, I put that question.

The question had four definite parts and I wanted to have definite information on those points. The object is to have correct information with a view to use that information at the time of discussing the budget. The other object is to have that information in our possession to enable dispelling any doubts which may have arisen about the Ministry in this respect ; further this would have enabled us to find out whether the amount so paid was correctly paid or not. I do not think, Sir, that you can have any objection as to my right of asking for this information.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Mr. Speaker, I would not have risen ordinarily to say anything on this particular matter but for the fact that it has assumed rather an important aspect because my honourable friend has raised this point by way of an adjournment motion. There are two preliminary things which you must keep in mind in coming to a decision, whether this is a motion within the Rules of Procedure laid down by us or not. The first thing to remember is this. Does it violate the question of urgency? Prima facie a case has been made out by my honourable friend of urgency in regard to this matter. The second point to be remembered is this, are we permitted to raise an adjournment motion on the ground that he has failed to give us a satisfactory or any reply at all? That is the question which is before you. I submit that there is nothing whatsoever debarring an honourable member from bringing in an adjournment motion to discuss the fact that the Honourable Minister in charge has failed to give a reply or a satisfactory reply to a question put by him. Why does an adjournment motion arise? An adjournment motion must be a motion which discusses a matter of public importance and a matter which is of great urgency. Is it or is it not a matter of public importance that the financial dealings of my honourable friends in regard to the travelling allowances drawn by them for journeys inside the province and outside the province should be placed before this House or information given regarding those financial dealings to this House? If this information is not given, then honourable members certainly have a right to demand that an adjournment motion should be tabled which should be in the nature of a censure motion on the Ministry for not handing over the information demanded by the Opposition. Your reply would be, ordinarily a substantive motion would lie. I submit a substantive motion would not lie in this matter, only an adjournment motion arising suddenly out of this reply would be the proper motion to be tabled on the floor of this House. Is the administrative responsibility of the Government involved or not involved? If administrative responsibility of the Government is involved in having drawn certain allowances, which my honourable friend wishes to discuss on the floor of this House and regarding which he needs information, then the adjournment motion is permissible. The allegation is that certain allowances have been drawn for travelling outside the province although that is not permitted according to the financial rules by which my honourable friends are governed. Therefore, if my honourable friends refuse to give an answer as to the amounts drawn as travelling allowance for the period for which those allowances are drawn, whether those allowances are drawn for travelling inside the province or outside the province, I submit that it is a matter of public importance and of urgency which can only be discussed by way of an adjournment motion. It might be said that this reply has been refused on the ground of public interest. I submit that reading the reply given by the Parliamentary Secretary, there is not one word, as far as I can recall, of public interest, that he is refusing the reply on the ground of public interest. According to parliamentary procedure we would be out of order if the reply were to be refused on the ground of public interest and public interest alone. Even then, I submit, the expression "public interest" has to be defined and it is for you to consider whether the particular occasion on which plea of public interest is being applied by the Ministry is actually public interest or not as governed by parliamentary practice. That does not fortunately arise.

Mr. Speaker : The question is whether the Parliamentary Secretary deliberately and purposely did not reply to the question or he could not reply, that is to say, whether he purposely evaded to answer the question or he did not possess the requisite information. In other words, whether his answer was incomplete and unsatisfactory because he did not wish to answer it or because he was unable to answer it.

Diwan Chaman Lall : I cannot say as to what was in his mind, whether he could or could not answer it but the reply is there. In the reply he says that the time and labour that would be spent to collect the information would not be justified.

Mr. Speaker : What view does the mover of the adjournment motion take? Is he of the opinion that the Parliamentary Secretary did not give that reply deliberately or that he was unable to give it?

Diwan Chaman Lall : Well, Mr. Speaker, let us take both the points. Suppose my honourable friend did not deliberately give the reply, even then, it is a matter which is capable of being discussed by way of an adjournment motion. Suppose he withheld deliberately the answer to this question or evaded deliberately to answer this question.

Mr. Speaker : In that case will not the House be discussing his conduct?

Diwan Chaman Lall : No. May I submit that there is a subtle distinction. We are discussing the object with which he did not give the reply. It may be that he deliberately evaded to give the reply, but we are not discussing his deliberate evasion. What we are discussing is the factum of the complaint that we have not received a satisfactory reply in regard to a matter which is within the administrative competence of my honourable friends over there. It is not something outside the administrative competence of my honourable friend. The reply that the Parliamentary Secretary gave was :—

We have nothing to withhold in regard to this matter but after questions of this nature have been answered to some extent in the past it is found that they involve lot of labour and taking into consideration—

These are important words—

"—taking into consideration the purpose for which they have been used it is thought best not to give any answer beyond what is already stated."

It is "the purpose for which they have been used" and this adjournment motion arises out of this.

Mr. Speaker : Perhaps he did not consider it desirable to answer the question.

Diwan Chaman Lall : He says that the reason why he did not give the information is this that it may be utilized for propaganda purposes against them. That is the reason why he refused to give an answer to this question and that, I submit, is a matter which is capable of being discussed by way of an adjournment motion. I may be out of order altogether if I were compelled to move a substantive motion of no confidence in the Ministry. I do not want to table such a motion against the Ministry. I am only concerned with the object of not giving information. That is the only matter that I want to discuss and not the confidence or no confidence this House may have in the Ministry.

Mr. Speaker : Was that excuse tenable or untenable ?

Diwan Chaman Lall : If it had been a tenable excuse I would not have raised this matter. It is untenable.

Mr. Speaker : Does the honourable member wish to discuss that the answer, which the Parliamentary Secretary gave, was not straight and correct and that therefore his conduct should be discussed ?

Diwan Chaman Lall : Again I submit that there is a subtle distinction which may be kept in view. To discuss his conduct is outside my purview at the present moment. I am discussing the particular fact that the answer was refused.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : I would not discuss the niceties of law. All I want to say is this. You, as the Speaker of this House, are the custodian and guardian of the rights and privileges of this House. Although you have no power to compel the Ministers and hold them by neck and say, "you must do this or that," yet I think, it is your duty, as I conceive, to see that this House gets a fair and square deal at the hands of the Ministers. So far as the answer to this question is concerned, even the best friend of the Ministry cannot say that the answer given to this particular question was at all satisfactory. I also feel that it does not do any credit to the Ministry to withhold this information, because it creates unnecessary suspicion as if they have stolen something, as if they have misappropriated something and as if they have abused their powers as Ministers and have wrongly utilized moneys which have been placed by the province in their hands, because they were not prepared to give this information. I think, even if the question was with respect to one item, they should have given full information with respect to all the items of expenditure and made a clean breast of it. If they had nothing to conceal, such an evasive answer should not have been given. I recognize that in discussing an adjournment motion of this kind, if you permit it, it would be very difficult for the honourable mover of the motion to steer clear of any discussion of the conduct or mental attitude of the gentleman who was giving this answer. It is really very difficult to keep them in watertight compartments. But it is clear that the answer on the face of it is most unsatisfactory and without meaning any disrespect to anybody, it is really scandalous and disgraceful. It would be unbecoming of even a petty officer, not to speak of the Ministry of a big province like the Punjab. If I am not mistaken, the answer was given by the Parliamentary Secretary to the Honourable Premier. I think, the Honourable Premier, if he was present on that occasion, should have got up and snubbed his Parliamentary Secretary for giving such an unsatisfactory and evasive answer and he should have taken upon himself to give full information and even more than was asked for by the honourable member who put that question. (A voice : There was some golmal.) I would not presume that and I am not in any way insinuating that there was any golmal. I want the Honourable Premier to be clear on that point. I am not suggesting that there was any golmal and I am not insinuating anything at all against the honesty of the gentleman concerned on the occasion. I know personally that it is not against the law or against the rules for an Honourable Minister to go out of his province and charge the province for his travelling expenses provided that he can conscientiously certify that his visit to a place outside the province was necessary in the proper discharge of his duties or was necessary in the interest of the province or was calculated to advance the interest of the province. Of course, if the Ministers go out on some other mission, say on a pleasure trip and then they charge the province, then they would certainly be guilty of dishonesty ; otherwise it is quite permissible for any Minister to go out of his province if he thinks that his visit to a place outside the province is necessary in the interest of the province. Therefore, if everything was fair and square, there was nothing to conceal. The Honourable Premier should have said, " Yes, on such and such occasion such and such Minister went out and he has certified that it was in the interest of the province or it was necessary in the proper discharge of his duties that he went out of the province and charged so much money. " Nobody would have raised any objection at all. But to withhold this information is unfair, and to say the least, it is something suspicious. (A voice : Like Caesar's wife.) The Ministers like Caesar's wife to whom my honourable friend is referring should be above suspicion.

Mr. Speaker : That would mean that no answer will be taken to be satisfactory by any honourable member of this House.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : No. I would not say a word and would request my honourable friend to drop the matter absolutely if you say that the answer given was satisfactory. I shall leave it there. (Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I agree.) My honourable friend agrees to this.

Mr. Speaker : Assuming the answer to be unsatisfactory, the question is what is to be discussed ?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : I was only referring to the remark that you made that no answer would be considered satisfactory by any member of this House. I am glad that my honourable friend, the mover of the motion has agreed to drop the matter, if you declare the answer to be satisfactory.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Sir, I will read out to you the question raised in the House of Commons which has got a bearing on this point. It is a point of order with regard to adjournment of the House, and runs as follows :—

MR. BELLOC : I rise to ask your ruling, Sir, upon a point of constitutional importance. I wish to know whether it would be in order for a member to move the adjournment of the House in order to call attention to the following matter, which seems to me of great public importance, namely, the refusal of the Minister responsible to this House to give the ground of his action in a matter in which he acted in his capacity of responsible Minister. Can the adjournment be moved on the refusal of the Minister to state the grounds of his action ?

[Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava.]

MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER : I should like to thank the honourable member in the first place for having given me such notice as he was able to give of his intention to put this question. My reply to him is that I do not think it is competent to move the adjournment of the House on those grounds. A Minister cannot be forced to give an answer if he declines on the ground of public policy. Under those circumstances I could not accept the motion of the honourable gentleman to move the adjournment under Standing Order 10.

MR. BELLOC : If the refusal is given without any mention of policy, but a mere curt refusal, is that enough ?

MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER : So long as the refusal is made, as I understand it was made in the case to which the honourable member is referring, on the ground of public interest, then my answer holds good.

And not otherwise.

He did not say that on other matters the adjournment motion would not arise. It is only when the reply is refused on the ground of public interest that an adjournment does not arise.

Premier : I am afraid the time of the House is unnecessarily wasted.

Diwan Chaman Lall : I very strongly object to the expression used by my honourable friend the Premier that the time of the House is being wasted.

Mr. Speaker : I am not certain that it is unparliamentary ?

Diwan Chaman Lall : It is unparliamentary to say that.

Mr. Speaker : I am not sure.

Diwan Chaman Lall : It is a matter which affects the privilege of the House. This House has a duty to perform and that duty is to elicit information from my honourable friend. His duty is to give information. If he refuses to give that information it is for the Opposition to extort the information from him. How does my honourable friend then say that the time of the House is wasted ?

Premier : My honourable friend's definition of "waste," to which I will never agree, is different from mine.

Mr. Speaker : The foot note on page 325 of May's Parliamentary Practice reads as follows :—

A charge that a member has obstructed the business of the House or that a speech is an abuse of the rules of the House is not out of order.

The word "waste" is not mentioned.

Diwan Chaman Lall : The reason for these words is that you can take notice of any honourable member under the rules if he is obstructing. That is the reason for that particular statement.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : It is incorrect to say that it will lead to waste of time.

Premier : My honourable friend is trying to judge it from his own criterion. Sir, you are aware that in this House several questions were asked with regard to the amount of the travelling allowance drawn by individual Ministers, by the Ministry as a whole and by the Parliamentary Secretaries, and details have been given in the beginning. To my mind the question did not appear to have been put with the object of eliciting information. Members vied with each other in putting the same questions with regard to each individual Minister. Last time we gave the figures. My honourable friend must know that when the Ministers or the Parliamentary Secretaries draw travelling allowance, the bill goes to the Accountant-General for verification. It is not easy to collect information always. My honourable friends should have been content with the figures that were supplied during the last session. If, however, information was sought at the close of the year, I would have collected the figures. I may assure my honourable friend opposite that members sitting on this side will not do anything which is either immoral or which a gentleman should not do or which the rules do not allow. This Assembly has sanctioned a certain amount for travelling allowance of Ministers and their Parliamentary Secretaries. They are paid out of this amount sanctioned by the House. Individual members, every week try, I would not use the word "frivolously," to put this question merely to pin-prick. I personally think that it is most undesirable. My honourable friend should have stopped the members on the back benches from putting this question. I gave a detailed answer during the last budget session with regard to Parliamentary Secretaries.

Diwan Chaman Lall : A year ago.

Premier : My honourable friend now must know that the financial year is not closed. It would be easier to collect figures at the end of the financial year and give them those figures ; they might do whatever they like. This question is asked every session and every week and not by one member but by many. I think it is sheer waste of the time of the House and is most unnecessary from that point of view. My honourable friend is aware that it was with the sanction of the House that these travelling allowances are being paid to the Ministers.

Diwan Chaman Lall : Why not tell the House ?

Premier : My honourable friend knows that it takes a long time.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : No, it does not take a long time. There is an account of every Minister in the office. There is no difficulty.

Premier : There is difficulty.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : In ten minutes I can tell you what amount each Minister has drawn in a year.

Premier : It will take ten days and not ten minutes. My honourable friend is thinking of his own time. We are under a democratic form, the bureaucratic form no longer exists.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Accounts are kept in the office.

Premier : These accounts are questioned and challenged by the Auditor-General. Formerly this was not done. Supposing I refuse to answer the question, the proper course for my honourable friend would be to bring a substantive motion of no confidence, because I refuse to give the information, and discuss the matter. On every answer to questions, which from their point of view is not satisfactory, they table an adjournment motion ; and if you allow an adjournment, judging whether the reply to a question is satisfactory or not from the criterion of my honourable friend Dr. Sir Gokul Chand or of the Leader of the Opposition, then we will perpetually sit and discuss nothing but adjournment motions and do no other business. My honourable friends are asking for information which I have given last year. If at the end of the financial year they again ask for this information I would be prepared to give it to them ; but I refuse to give when they put such questions every week which are not meant to elicit information of any use to the public or to the honourable members themselves, but merely to cause pin-pricks. You have seen the mentality with which such questions and supplementary questions are put. I know their mentality and they do not put these questions to elicit information but to pinprick individual Ministers.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I challenge the Honourable Premier to point out one similar question put during the last two years, when information was sought regarding allowances paid to Ministers and Parliamentary Secretaries respectively for visits paid to places outside the province.

Premier : This question does not seek that information. If he had put that particular question I would have given the information.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I had asked for that information in parts (c) and (d) and the Parliamentary Secretary said that the reply covered everything. Have you read the supplementary questions put ?

Premier : I have read them ; I have got them before me. This is one of the facts which my honourable friend asked, there are several other things.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : There was no reply to (c) and (d).

Premier : If my honourable friend had merely confined his question to part (d) I think it would have been easier for us to come to a decision and give the necessary information. My point is that we have been giving answers and it is not with a view to evade our responsibility or to hide anything that we have been doing. We have been drawing nothing which is not sanctioned by this House. If the honourable members want information to satisfy their curiosity, I would be glad to satisfy their curiosity, but it is no use putting this question in the middle of the financial year, unless their object is quite different.

Mr. Speaker : Has the Honourable Premier any objection to answer the last two parts of the question ?

Premier : They are under a misapprehension if they think that the information can be collected in a day. The information has to go to the Accountant-General and it is not that the Finance Member keeps a ledger wherein he puts down that Rs. 10 has been paid to this Parliamentary Secretary or that. I have known cases where a bill of a Parliamentary Secretary has taken eight months before it was passed, merely because there was a doubt and because an objection was taken by the Accountant-General. On many occasions I myself have been questioned the propriety of certain items.

I would be glad to give information with regard to part (d) and I would give him the information as soon as we can collect it. But what benefit would my friend get out of that information unless he also takes the trouble of writing to other provinces and finding out what allowances Ministers and Parliamentary Secretaries in those provinces have drawn ? There is not a single Minister or Parliamentary Secretary here who has charged for any journey except when he has travelled on official business.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I expected that the Honourable Premier would give us a ruling on the point that adjournment motions on such matters cannot be admitted. He has discussed the matter and gone into the merits of the case. He has charged us of putting frivolous questions and at the same time of wasting the time of the House. My submission is that our questions are not frivolous, though it is true that they cause pin-pricks. On the other hand, the replies given by the Government on the floor of this House are frivolous.

The Honourable Premier has stated that we bring in adjournment motions on every question. Over 5,000 questions have been put since this Assembly began and if you look at the number of adjournment motions, you will find that they are not even 100. It is said that we bring forward an adjournment motion on every question. During this session the Honourable Premier has objected to only one adjournment motion. Otherwise he has accepted all, and he has tried to explain the Government point of view. Therefore it means that the points on which we gave notice for adjournment motions were such on which adjournment motions could have been moved. Otherwise the Honourable Premier would have raised objections.

Then it has been stated by the other side that we ask such questions about the allowances drawn by the Parliamentary Secretaries and Ministers every week. The House did not meet for six months and we find that the money of this province was wasted on propaganda tour of the Unionist Party. We are entitled to know what money they have spent on that party propaganda. That information is necessary for us if we are to do our duty in this House, because the Opposition is here to check the Government from doing frivolous things and acting in a way in which a responsible Minister should not do. To ask for that information is our right and as a matter of right we want that information. They could have said that the information was not easy to give, but they did not say so. They said that the labour taken would be too much and that the way in which the answers have been used in the past was not liked by them. Because they did not like the purpose or the way, they did not want to give the information. It is not the public interest but it is this fear of being exposed that is the cause of their refusing to reply.

You will find that if a question is repeated then the reply given to it is : refer to answer to question so and so. If I table a question which has been previously answered and if you permit that question, then the Honourable Minister would be within his right in giving that answer, that is referring to a reply given previously. The answer to present questions shows that the question has not been asked previously ; otherwise the Minister would have referred us to the answer to the previous question.

Then it is said that the travelling allowance bills are sometimes passed eight months after they are submitted, and therefore it is not possible to give the full information. What we want is information about money which has been paid and not about money which has not been paid and the bills for which are still pending. All that we want to know is how much money has been spent out of this fund. We do not want to know whether the bills which have been submitted by the Parliamentary Secretaries or Ministers are correct or not—that is for the department concerned to say. The fact that the Accountant-General has raised objections and for eight months bills have not been passed by him shows that there is something wrong to which the Accountant-General objects. We want to know the amount of money which has been paid to the Parliamentary Secretaries and not money which has been objected to. We have a right to all that information and I think that is the only way for us to discuss this question.

Mr. Speaker, this is not the first time. If you look at the answers given in the past, you will find that it has often been said that it is not in your power to elicit information from the Government. When we make a request to Government to supply certain information and you think that the question is not admissible, you do not allow the question; but when you think that the question is within the rules and you allow it, then the answer is "it is not in the public interest to answer the question." It has become a habit of the Treasury benches in charge of the different departments to refuse information to us and therefore the only course open to us is to bring forward adjournment motions and because you are the custodian of our rights, I would request you to allow this motion.

Mr. Speaker : Will the honourable Leader of the Opposition please state what has been left to be discussed if that adjournment motion is moved ?
(Laughter.)

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : There is still much to discuss.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Before you give your ruling, I want to refer to one or two points.

Mr. Speaker : Even if the adjournment motion is admissible, after this discussion, it has become inadmissible, as its purpose is amply served.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : We are discussing the question of admissibility or otherwise. The Honourable Premier takes his stand on two points. In one place he says that the questions are frivolous. I do not think you agree with him. The very fact that these questions have provoked them so much shows that they are not frivolous. I admit that they pinch a little too much. The other thing he said was that the collection of information involves a good deal of labour.

May I draw your attention to the reply given by the Parliamentary Secretary and ask the House to compare the same with the statement made by the Premier on the floor of the House ? The reply is :—

Such salaries and allowances as were due under the rules and within the vote of the Assembly have been paid.

Surely this reply could not have been given unless the Honourable Premier had satisfied himself that allowances that were paid were really due under the rules, which means he had all that information before him. Otherwise he could not have given this answer. So the plea that the information was not available and it involved a good deal of labour is obviously absurd and without foundation.

Mr. Speaker : Is not that a criticism of the conduct of the Parliamentary Secretary ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : No, Sir, what I want to say is this. The Honourable Premier has tried to convince you that the information was not deliberately withheld but that there was some difficulty in collecting it. What I want to place before you is that they actually had the information in their possession at the time of answering my question. The plea put forward by them therefore is wrong on the very face of it. How could the reply given by the Parliamentary Secretary that the collection of the information involved a good deal of labour be then true ?

Mr. Speaker : Was it deliberately withheld ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : That is for the House to decide or infer. What I want to suggest is that they had no difficulty in collecting same. If they wanted to supply the information to which we were entitled they could have easily given that.

Then, I also wish to point out that the Honourable Premier is not correct when he says that the Opposition has been putting such questions very frequently. In fact this allegation is wrong. My question as it is worded is perhaps the first of its kind. An identical question was never put before in this House. This question sought for definite information on one point and this was the first time when such information was sought. I may also point out that notice of this question was given long, long ago. It was before the Government for a long time. Perhaps the honourable Minister had this question before him for a month or more. The information could easily have been collected during this period. The information was as a matter of fact, in his possession as disclosed by the wording of the reply given. But even if there was any difficulty in collecting the information, I could have understood if they had asked for more time to collect it. They did not ask for more time. On the other hand, Parliamentary Secretary clearly said that in view of the purpose for which the information is sought Government do not want to give any information more than what is already given. It is definitely established that they did have the information in their possession and their statement that they could not collect the information is wrong. The fact is that they do not want to give the information as they think the purpose behind the question was different and that the information would put them in the wrong. I hope therefore that you will kindly rule this motion in order. I may also at once give you an assurance that I shall try to keep within the latitude which rules of debate permit.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member has already been personal to a certain extent and if the motion is allowed he cannot possibly avoid criticising the conduct of the Parliamentary Secretary.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I realise the difficulty but if at any time you find me going beyond the limits you can prevent me from speaking.

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri : Is it necessary now to discuss this adjournment motion since this matter has been discussed for one hour now ?

Premier : May I draw your attention to your own ruling in regard to a similar question, No. 4407¹ put by Dr. Sant Ram Seth on 4th April, 1939? The question was—

Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of places in the province visited by each Minister from April, 1938, to 28th February, 1939;
- (b) the number of speeches made by them during their tours;
- (c) the total travelling allowance earned by each Minister from April, 1938, to 28th February, 1939?

The answer also was similar—

- (a) and (b) The collection of this information would require an amount of time and labour out of all proportion to the results likely to be obtained. Information asked for in (a) is, however, usually published in the press and if the honourable member attaches importance to it he should be able to get it from that source.
- (c) Such travelling allowance as was due under the rules and within the vote of the Assembly has been paid.

The same plea was put forward by Diwan Chaman Lall. He said :—

May I ask my honourable friend whether the information regarding the amount of travelling allowance drawn is also published in the press?

The reply was—

It is published in the Budget.

The further questions and answers were as follows :—

PARLIAMENTARY SECRETARY : My honourable friend has obviously not followed my answer. What I said was that the information asked in part (a) was about the number of places visited by each Minister. I am sure that in the light of that answer he would feel that his question is not justified.

DIWAN CHAMAN LALL : May I ask whether the reply that he gave does not cover the two points, namely, the travelling allowance drawn by the Ministers and the dates on which travelling was done and the amount of travelling allowance drawn by them during that period? May I ask whether he will now revise his opinion and give this information on the floor of the House as has been the custom in the past?

PARLIAMENTARY SECRETARY : The question which my honourable friend has referred to is part (c) and the question which has been answered was in these words which I am prepared to read for his benefit. Such travelling allowance as was due under the rules.

DIWAN CHAMAN LALL : May I ask whether he will look into the question first and then answer it. The question is not whether the allowance was according to the rules or not according to the rules, the question was, what is the amount of travelling allowance? May I ask him to give a correct answer?

PARLIAMENTARY SECRETARY : Such amount as was due under the rules.

DIWAN CHAMAN LALL : Why is he feeling so shy in answering this question? Why does he not answer? How much money was drawn?

PREMIER : The question has been answered in the House a dozen times.

DIWAN CHAMAN LALL : It has not been answered in reference to this particular matter. May I draw his attention to the fact that the question relates to the total travelling allowance drawn between the 1st of April, 1938, and 28th February, 1939. This question has not been answered. We want to bring up to date the information on this point. May I ask whether he is prepared to answer it, since we want to bring up to date the information that the public should have regarding the allowance drawn by the Ministers for travelling.

PREMIER : My honourable friend can get all the information from the Budget.

DIWAN CHAMAN LALL : May I ask whether he has read the Budget and whether this information is contained in the Budget ? This specific item is not contained therein.

PREMIER : No.

DIWAN CHAMAN LALL : Why is he then funkng in giving this information ?

PREMIER : It is not a question of funkng. It is a case of answering a question several times over.

DIWAN CHAMAN LALL : Is it that the honourable member's department feels that the public would probably look with ridicule at the amount of money that the Ministers draw as travelling allowance ?

PREMIER : That is an inference which only my honourable friend can draw.

DIWAN CHAMAN LALL : It is very uncharitable, I agree, but true. Will he be good enough to revise his previous decision as to not giving this information to the House particularly in a matter which relates to the finances of the province ?

PREMIER : I have given the information several times and I am not going to repeat that information every week.

DIWAN CHAMAN LALL : May I, on a point of order, draw your attention to the fact that this House has the right to demand full information relating to finance which should be placed before it. Full information is sought by means of an interpellation and my honourable friend denies that information to this House although this information cannot be found in the Budget.

MR. SPEAKER : It is, no doubt, the right and privilege of the honourable members of this House to get as much information as they consider to be in public interest through interpellations, but it is equally the privilege and right of Ministers to refuse to answer questions, if they do not consider it in the public interest to answer them.

DR. SIB GORUL CHAND NARANG : Is it provincial autonomy ?

DIWAN CHAMAN LALL : We cannot get information regarding our own finances. This is provincial autonomy.

Exactly the same question was asked, the same answer was given, exactly the same ruling was given and I hope that that would satisfy my honourable friends.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : That information has never been supplied. Only the same reply has been repeated but we have not got any information.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : The honourable Premier has promised to give an answer to my question.

Mr. Speaker : Only to part (d).

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : To parts (c) and (d).

(c) The total amount of other allowances including allowances for attending the sittings of the Assembly and select committees, drawn by each Minister and Parliamentary Secretary, respectively ;

(d) The total amount of travelling allowance and other allowances drawn by each Minister and Parliamentary Secretary, respectively, for visits paid to places outside the province ?

Mr. Speaker : Part (d) is important.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I want the total amount.

Premier : No Minister gets any allowances beyond his salary for attending the meetings of the Assembly and the select committee. The parliamentary secretaries also got remuneration which has been given by this House on several occasions. That is the answer to (c).

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Then why not give that information ?

Premier : I have given it.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : The total figures.

Premier : The parliamentary secretaries do not get anything additional beyond what my honourable friend gets.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Do they not get any extra allowance for attending select committee meetings ?

Premier : No more than any other member.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : But they do get their pay as well as allowances. I only want the figures.

Premier : As regards part (d), if my honourable friend gives separate notice, he will get the answer.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : He may give it now.

Premier : I have to collect the information.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : He must have had it when he gave other information.

Mr. Speaker : After all this discussion, I think, no ruling is needed, as the motion need not be discussed further.

Mian Abdul Aziz : Why no ruling ?

Mr. Speaker : Because it is not necessary.

NOMINATIONS TO ROHTAK MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Southern Towns, General, Urban) : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely the reactionary steps of the Government that are being taken to increase the number of nominated members of the Rohtak Municipal Committee in the over due Gazette of the new members of the Committee.

I know that any adjournment motion which is brought forward by me regarding the Rohtak district will never be admitted.

Mr. Speaker : I request the honourable member to withdraw his remarks.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I withdraw these remarks. I may point out that the Honourable Minister can finish the matter by saying that the Government is not taking any such steps.

Mr. Speaker : Did the honourable member put any question?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Yes, Sir. I put a short notice question but it was not answered.

Mr. Speaker : What is the urgency of the matter ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : The matter is urgent in so far as it is very likely that the Government Gazette will be published within the next ten days and that the Government is going to increase the number of nominated members in view of the Congress having won the majority of the seats.

Mr. Speaker : Has the Honourable Minister any facts in his possession ? If so, he may throw some light.

Minister (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : It is for the honourable member to justify his motion, I have only to object.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member has stated facts in the motion itself.

Minister : I would like to know if the motion is in order.

Mr. Speaker : For deciding the point, I would like the Honourable Minister to read the motion and say what he has to say as to the facts of the case. If the facts on which the motion is based are corroborated and Government information is also available there can be no objection.

Minister : The adjournment motion relates to the alleged reactionary steps of the Government that are being taken to increase the number of nominated members. Apparently the honourable member would see that no decision has been arrived at. There are various matters under consideration. I cannot say what is under consideration and what is not and what will be the decision of the Government. I am not a prophet to anticipate a decision of the Government in a particular case. If any order had been passed and if that were unsatisfactory the honourable member would have been perfectly within his rights to bring this motion. But I am not in a position to say what is going to happen in future.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Sir, I wish to put a question to the Honourable Minister through you. Is it not a fact that the Honourable Minister asked Chaudhri Jan Muhammad, a member of the Municipal Committee, Rohtak, to get a resolution passed by the said committee to the effect that the number of nominated members should be increased ?

Minister : It is totally false and uncalled for.

Mr. Speaker : I have more than once requested the honourable members that conversations held outside the House and even inside the House, should not be relied upon or mentioned in this House, as otherwise they shall be contradicting each other.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Is it parliamentary to use the word 'false' for a statement made by an honourable member ? Then it is also open to us to call a reply given by an Honourable Minister as false ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is the word 'false' parliamentary ? If not, will the Honourable Minister take back his word ?

Mr. Speaker : I think tit for tat has been paid and so the matter ends.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Probably the Honourable Minister meant that the information conveyed to the honourable member was false.

Minister : May I say that all I meant was that I do not know the name of the gentleman and that he never saw me. Therefore if the statement can be described by any other word than 'false' then let him suggest it. I will substitute it.

Mr. Speaker : Has the honourable member any proof of the fact ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I wish to point out that the Honourable Minister has not given any reply to my query. He could have very conveniently said that the matter was under consideration or not, or whether the number of nominated members will be increased or not. But he has given no reply. This is the proof of my adjournment motion. What other proof can there be ?

Mr. Speaker : I hold the adjournment motion out of order.

CITY OF LAHORE CORPORATION BILL.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I understand that all circulation motions are being discussed together. Yesterday the practice was that all the honourable members who gave notices of such motions were called by you to speak. There is a notice standing in my name also. May I now speak ?

Mr. Speaker : I shall gladly call the honourable member, if and when I consider it proper.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I am making that request because I have not been able to catch your eye so far. (Laughter.)

Mian Abdul Aziz (Outer Lahore, Muhammadan, Urban) (Urdu) : Sir, I hope that my observations in regard to the Bill now before the House would not be construed as a fulmination of an Independent member against the Unionist Government. I may make it quite clear that I have absolutely no such intentions. I have been rather cherishing the desire that something must be done to resuscitate the Lahore Municipality. But before I proceed with my observations I would like to state the circumstances and the reasons which led the Government to introduce this measure. I assure you, Mr. Speaker, that I would not repeat the arguments already adduced by other honourable members. But it appears that the honourable members on the ministerial benches have somehow or other anticipated my speech and have therefore left the House, because I find here only the Honourable Minister in charge as their sole representative.

Minister for Public Works : An election is going on and they have gone to give their votes. No disrespect is meant to Mian Sahib.

Mian Abdul Aziz : I accept the statement of the Honourable Minister. Sir, I was going to submit that I fail to see any special reason for which this Bill has been introduced. But the Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill, while introducing it, was pleased to remark that its provisions had been adopted from four Corporation Acts. As a matter of fact he said that this Bill is the quintessence of those Corporation Acts which are in force in the four premier coastal towns of India. I for one fail to see why the Government have brought forward this Bill for the establishment of a corporation in Lahore, while no such corporations exist in the imperial towns of Delhi and Simla which are first class municipalities. However we have to see the motive with which it has been introduced. I am of the opinion that when the Bill which consists of 408 clauses would emerge from the select committee, amendments to every clause would be moved in large numbers because the underlying idea of the Bill is defective and the provisions, as they stand, are bound to prove very detrimental to the best interests of the citizens of Lahore. I, therefore, submit that Government have introduced this measure with a view to pacify the public and show that they are conferring a boon on them. I think that this Bill cannot be enacted into law within one year or by the middle of the next year. Even if it becomes an Act, it would take sufficiently long before it is enforced. It is obvious that the wards would have to be reconstituted according to the new Act. After the classification of wards objections would be invited. Then three or four months would be taken up in the preparation of electoral rolls. When these are completed, dates would be fixed for the hearing of objections on rolls. In other words, it means that it would take long before the elections take place under the new Act. I can positively say that full one year would elapse before the Act actually comes into force.

Besides, I have some misgivings about the intentions of the Government who have introduced this measure in order to stabilize their position for the next general elections. In this connection I may point out, as you are aware, Sir, that previously the deputy commissioner of the district used to be the president of each district and the big municipal committees. It was in 1923 when the late lamented Sir Fazl-i-Husain thought that the powers of the local bodies should be vested in the representatives of the people. So the principle of electing a non-official president was laid down. It is a matter of gratification, Mr. Speaker, that just as you have now the privilege of being the first Speaker of this autonomous Assembly, similarly you were the first non-official president of the Lahore Municipal Committee. Afterwards when the late Sir Fazl-i-Husain went over to the Government of India, the Punjab Government could not brook the idea that the representatives of the people should have such wide powers in the matter of local self-government. They wanted to introduce official element in the local bodies in order to keep the prestige of bureaucracy intact and to place a brake on the wholesome activities of the local bodies. I regret to say that the first thing done by the Punjab Government to satisfy its ambition was to foist the Municipal Executive Officers Act on them. I cannot help saying, although with much regret, that my honourable friend on my right, who was the Minister for Local Self-Government, sponsored this Act in order to strangle them. I am at a loss to know why those honourable members of the Unionist party who even now adorn those benches and who were opposed to the old Executive Officers' Bill in the past, have now become its supporters. (Shaiikh Sadiq Hassan : It is the fault of the benches and not the fault of those who occupy them.) (Laughter.)

Mr. Speaker : No interruption please. The honourable member may proceed.

Mian Abdul Aziz : They were so much opposed to that measure and they abhorred it so much that they staged a walk out and the Bill was passed in their absence. At that time the Government wanted to decide that a municipality should be empowered to appoint its own executive officer by a majority of three-fourth or five-eighth or by even a bare majority of one member. The Municipality of Lahore made an effort to appoint its own Executive Officer and declared its verdict in favour of a particular person but when the papers reached the Government for approval, they turned down the decision of the Municipality saying that the requisite majority had not agreed to the appointment. Perhaps the deficiency in the majority was only of $\frac{1}{2}$ person, and it is evident that a man cannot be divided into two parts. But the Government insisted on getting the support of a decimal person more which could not be forthcoming—a physical impossibility—and consequently the Municipality was declared to be unable to appoint its Executive Officer. I am afraid the Government had already made up their mind to appoint some P. C. S. man and ultimately they had their way. But things could not be improved even by the Executive Officer. Next the members of the new Municipal Committee of Lahore told the Government that the real hindrance in the way of improvement of the municipal affairs was the then president of the committee and that unless he was removed, things would not be set right. But the Government had chalked out a different programme. They were bent upon suspending the committee somehow or other. At last they suspended the Municipal Committee of Lahore in October, 1936. More than three years have passed now but the committee has not been restored in spite of repeated and forceful demands of citizens. It may also be noted that the Minister in charge had declared that he very much regretted the suspension of the committee and that it would soon be revived. We are still waiting for that time when the Municipal Committee of Lahore is restored.

Furthermore, it is three years ago that the present Government which claims to be a government of the people, for the people and by the people, came into power and yet neither the old committee has been revived nor a new one instituted in its place. In fact the so-called people's government has turned a deaf ear to the voice of the people. At long last the Minister in charge of Local Self-Government has brought forward the City of Lahore Corporation Bill and says in the statement of its objects and reasons that the following is one of the causes of providing an Executive Officer for Lahore :—

Inability of local bodies to realise the necessity and importance of having a competent and well paid official, corresponding to an English Town Clerk for the conduct of executive duties for local administration.

The honourable members of this House will be surprised to note that not only one or two local bodies but all the local bodies in the Punjab have been condemned as incompetent and inefficient by this paragraph. But may I respectfully enquire if these words do not also apply to the Unionist Ministry of this province? There is hardly any department of the Government which is absolutely free from such shortcomings and defects. There may be some departments, of course, which may be more corrupt than others, or which may be a little better than the rest. The question of "more or less" apart, there is hardly any department of the Government where there is no corruption, favouritism or nepotism. The practice of making "recommendations" is another evil which is rampant in the Punjab. Then why was the Municipal Committee of Lahore specially made a target of suspension? Why do the Government take a drastic action against local bodies alone? Section 16 of the Municipal Act was there to meet the occasion. The local Government could remove a member of a local body whom they considered unfit for the job. But no, the Punjab Government would not do that. They would like to cut the neck of a person where the proper remedy lies in cutting his finger only.

The very first remark made in connection with this Bill by the Honourable Minister in charge of Local Self-Government is unnecessary. Nay, it is entirely incorrect. If he wants to bring the charge of inability, incompetence and corruption against the local bodies, the Honourable Minister will have to condemn all the Government departments as well. Reference is made to English Town Clerk; if so, give all powers to Corporation according to the system prevailing in England.

Further it has been stated :—

Failure of the provincial governments to exercise proper check and supervision over the local bodies.

But are we to blame for this failure of the Provincial Government ? There was no end to the checks which were exercised over the local bodies by Government. They were all provided in the old Act. It was obligatory on the municipal committee to forward the copy of a resolution passed by it within three days of its passage to the Deputy Commissioner. Over him were the Commissioner and the Government. The Deputy Commissioner had the power to suspend or reject a resolution passed by the municipal committee. But if in spite of this strict vigilance on the part of the Deputy Commissioner, the Commissioner and the Government the committee was allowed to pass a resolution which was wrong, it is the Deputy Commissioner or the other two higher authorities who are to blame and not the committee. The third cause has been stated to be—

Failure on the part of the local bodies to appreciate the need of efficient and trained municipal service.

But did the committee refuse to avail itself of the services of any trained and efficient staff provided by Government ? Did the Government so far open a school to train clerical staff or other staff for the municipal committees or is there any such school opened by the Government now ? There was one for a very short period in 1937 or so, the aid for which the Government has stopped. Who is to blame for all this ? Not the committees.

Another reason mentioned was "communal dissensions." I quite agree that India and particularly this province has suffered a great deal on account of this evil of communal dissensions. But do you mean to suggest that the evil is only present in municipal committees. The Dobson Committee made certain remarks in its report. I will not go into the circumstances in which and the reasons for which the Dobson Committee made those remarks. I, however, wrote a reply to that document covering no less than 400 pages or thereabouts. In my reply I met each and every point raised by the Committee and knocked the bottom out of their report. Had the Government courage to answer my reply. No is the answer. Then it has been observed :—

It is admitted that the secret of successful administration in local bodies depends upon a proper separation of legislative from executive functions.

Does the Government intend that within the four walls of a municipal committee there should be one legislative body on the lines of this Legislative Assembly and another body which may be given executive responsibility ?

[Mian Abdul Aziz.]

I want to make it clear on the floor of this House that such an arrangement will not work successfully in Lahore or other municipal committees and it should not be conceived for this city. The peculiar requirements of the citizens of Lahore are of such a nature that they have to be looked after by their own representatives. For instance, there are the problems of upkeep of roads, of keeping the streets clean and of making arrangements for the lighting of the lanes and so forth. These executive functions can be best performed by the representatives of the people in their respective constituencies. If the people have to make a complaint, they can come straight to their representatives. Can you imagine that an executive officer appointed by Government will be able to do all this work in an area of 92 square miles? Impossible. I want to put a question to the Government. How many times has the present Administrator of the Lahore Municipal Committee visited the streets of inner Lahore, to personally examine the state of cleanliness and light? Leave the inner Lahore alone. How many times has he visited the Civil Station with this purpose? I am of the opinion that not one but if fifteen executive officers are appointed to do this job they will not be able to do it half so successfully as the representatives of the people. I would request the Government not to introduce this distinction in the Lahore Municipal Committee. The Government first of all introduced a distinction between the Hindus and the Muhammadans, then between the Hindus and Muslims and the Sikhs, then between zamindars and non-zamindars, then between urban and rural populations and last but not least between the Unionist and non-Unionist members of the Assembly. The result is that the people of this province are suffering the greatest possible loss in these circumstances. If I were asked as to what was the remedy of our present ills, I could very well suggest a remedy. I can show how the differences between the urban population and the rural population on the one hand and the agriculturists and non-agriculturists on the other may be settled once for all. But the fact is there that these distinctions are proving most harmful to the best interests of the country as a whole. These distinctions are present in every walk of life. They are most acute in services where the question of urban against rural and zamindar against non-zamindar is most often raised. The result is that beginning from one to two and two to four, four to eight and five to ten the community has been divided into hundreds of watertight compartments.

Proceeding further the Statement of Objects and Reasons says :—

The Bill provides that three municipal authorities should be charged with carrying out its provisions :—

- (a) A Corporation,
- (b) A Standing Committee, and
- (c) A Chief Executive Officer.

Now it is a well known fact that even the system of dyarchy is most unsatisfactory. In Persian it is said :—

دو پادشاه در اقلع له کجند

But here in this Bill it is sought to create three authorities to rule over the poor city of Lahore. The Chief Executive Officer is No. 3 in this trinity, but in reality as my friends Malik Barkat Ali and Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt explained at length yesterday, he will be all in all.

At this stage I do not propose to discuss the Bill clause by clause. However, I would like to support the arguments advanced by my honourable friends Malik Barkat Ali and Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt. The conditions obtaining in the city as well as in the municipal office have sufficiently been dwelt on by my honourable sister opposite, Baji Ji. All of them have criticised the inefficiency and incapability of the Administrator. This officer has been working in the capacity of a sole custodian of our destinies for the last 3 years. But his appointment has worsened the condition instead of improving it. It is in fact getting worse day by day. Now under the new Bill the Government wants to appoint three municipal authorities for the administration of the affairs of the proposed corporation. The Government is awfully mistaken if it thinks that by distributing the municipal duties and functions among these authorities it would be able to run the municipal administration successfully. On the other hand, this arrangement would surely retard the progress of the municipality. The corporation would say one thing, the standing committee another and the Chief Executive Officer yet another. If the Government says that it has provided the appointment of the standing committee and of the Chief Executive Officer simply to place an effective check on the corporation lest it should do anything irresponsibly, I would submit that it was free to enhance the qualifications and abilities requisite for a member. It might provide that only honest and responsible people should stand as candidates for the membership of the corporation. Thus a body consisting of only responsible and honest people could safely be entrusted with the execution of this Act. I still maintain that by distributing the duties among three authorities the condition cannot improve.

Now, Sir, I turn to the question of the appointment of the Chief Executive Officer. It has been provided in the Bill that the said officer should receive a salary not less than Rs. 2,000 and not exceeding Rs. 3,000. This scale of pay shows that only a commissioner of any division would be eligible for the post. And it is not improbable that this very Administrator may be allowed to work as the Chief Executive Officer. I do not propose to question the ability or efficiency of this gentleman as it speaks for itself. Moreover the Honourable Minister himself knows the real worth of this officer as he has been once the deputy commissioner of his district. But his ability and mentality can be judged by the perusal of the case that was recently decided by the High Court in favour of one Taj-ud-Din, or Taj Muhammad in 1928.

Minister of Public Works : Is that relevant to the discussion which is now proceeding ?

Mian Abdul Aziz : I say that their intention is to keep the same man as Chief Executive Officer. I am blaming the Government. That is the point which I am presenting before you and I am submitting that the amount of Rs. 2,000 to Rs. 3,000 has been fixed for the simple reason that he should be retained there. If they want to prevent us from pointing out the defects and demerits of the Bill then I am constrained to say that our presence in the House cannot serve any good purpose, and it is no use introducing such Bills in the Assembly. Does the Government want us not to express the doubts and apprehensions that are lurking in our minds? If it is sure that my doubts are unfounded and uncalled for then it is free to contradict my points.

Now, Sir, I take the clause that relates to the removal of the Chief Executive Officer. It has been provided that he shall be removed from office if at a meeting of the corporation not less than three-fourths of the total number of councillors vote in favour of a proposition in this behalf. But in spite of the impossibility of bringing three-fourths majority of the corporation to an agreement in regard to such a proposition the Government has retained to itself the right of making a final decision of his removal. Thus it may set aside the decision of the corporation.

Again, the Government has reserved certain seats to be filled by nominations. Yesterday the honourable lady member had mentioned that from one out of the four corporations that are existing at present in India the nominated bloc has been now removed. But here in the present Bill provision has been made for the nomination of no less than 17 members, i.e., one-fourth of the whole strength. The Punjab Municipal Act, 1911, says that the Government can nominate members to the extent of one-fourth of the whole number, which is the maximum number and may be less than one-fourth, but here in the present Bill it has been definitely provided that the Government would nominate 17 members. Besides this, provision has been made for six other members from special constituencies. Now let me point out that these six members would also be no better than nominated members. One of them would be an elected trustee of the Lahore Improvement Trust. This trust is already a nominated body. Thus electing from among the nominated trustees would surely mean a nomination. The second one would be elected from among the members of the Lahore District Board. But why is this arrangement thought fit to be made? Is the district board prepared to co-opt any councillor of the Lahore Corporation? What business has this board got with the municipal affairs? The electorate may return a gentleman who already happens to be a member of the district board but why should the district board have the right to send any of its members to sit on the corporation? The third and the fourth members would be sent by the Northern India Chamber of Commerce and the Indian Chamber of Commerce, respectively. The position of these institutions is well known to the honourable members of the House. I need not say as to how far the election of these gentlemen would serve the purpose of a nomination. They would be out and out pro-government. Again, the fifth member would be returned by the Punjab University. He would be entirely under the influence of the Government and would not dare do anything against the wishes of the latter. The sixth member would be the nominee of the North-Western Railway. He would be definitely an official. In short out of 68 there would be at least 23 members who would be always at the beck and call of the Government. With such a large official bloc it is practically impossible for the corporation to fulfil the expectations of the citizens of Lahore, and be in a position to secure a majority of three-fourth members to remove the Chief Executive Officer. In this House you have got 175 members all elected and not a single nominated member who should present the public with this Bill as an ideal legislative measure. But how regrettable.

it is that all the privileges of public and the powers of the representatives of rate-payers have been taken away by the Government. For instance, the traders union which is the representative of the citizens has been excluded from the Corporation Bill. No mention has been made about it in the Bill. My submission is that the draft of the Bill is very defective. If there is a majority of elected members in the Corporation I am sure even then they will not be able to do the work independently. The Government may say that by the Corporation Bill they are enhancing the prestige of Lahore. But what I want to submit is that if the Government had to spend about three years in the preparation of the Bill they ought to have done something substantial for the benefit of the city of Lahore long before. Now let us see who has framed this Bill. Apparently the Honourable Minister in charge has moved it but as a matter of fact I see the hand of the same person working in this Bill who has got into the habit of spending four months of summer at Simla where cold and pleasant breeze blows. In spite of the fact that the Administrator is not allowed to go out of the municipal limits, he goes straight off to Simla, about 256 miles from here, at the expense of the Committee, and eventually Rs. 15 or 20 are daily spent on the correspondence done with him. May I ask who is going to check these irregularities? None. The Government is sleeping over it and has indulged in giving him a long rope. Naturally the Administrator goes one step further. He has framed this Bill most probably according to his own views as he wanted to have all the powers in his hand. I should like to submit that I do not want this Bill to be circulated, neither do I want to postpone the re-instatement of the committee nor to leave the citizens of Lahore at the mercy of the Administrator. My submission is that if the Government had to spend about three years in the preparation of this Bill they ought to have revived the municipality during that period by holding elections of new candidates since they came into power as the existing Municipal Act was with them. It might be said from the opposite side that I want to postpone this Bill further. As far as my opinion goes, I am sure that two years must elapse before this Bill comes into force. My submission, therefore, is that the Government should fall back upon the Municipal Act and revive the municipal committee and I am sure the work will go on more smoothly now. But, Sir, the Government do not agree to this proposal. What does it mean? It means that the Government intentionally want to throw the Municipal Act in the waste paper basket and on this excuse the Administrator will be thrust upon us for another one year and a half or two years.

As you are aware, many questions are put to the Government with regard to the excesses of the Administrator and you might have also seen how evasive are the answers given by the Ministers and their Parliamentary Secretaries in order to conceal the facts from this House. In fact they have gone to the length of saying that they are not aware of any agitation amongst the citizens nor is there any. I leave it to the House to judge the truth of such replies. If they do not know of any agitation, then they are asleep. It is given in the Bill that the Chief Executive Officer has got powers not to show files to the members of the corporation. It is quite possible that mistakes may inadvertently creep in files, and how strange it is that the Chief Executive Officer says, "I do not show you the files." What does it mean? It is very unreasonable and I wonder that such things have been included in the Bill.

The next thing I object to is the establishment charges. The number of those persons who draw salary less than Rs. 500 is much larger than those who draw more than Rs. 500, which I think would not be more than 6 or 7 persons. It is a pity that even the Corporation has got no independent powers to appoint the essential officers, namely, Chief Engineer, Medical Officer of Health, Secretary and Chief Accountant. Their appointments would require approval of Government and what that approval means is well known and notorious. Clause 3 (c) of Statement of Objects and Reasons is about these appointments and also that of the appointment of the Chief Executive Officer, which is as follows :—

The appointment of the Chief Executive Officer is to be made by the Provincial Government for a renewable period of three years—the Provincial Government has power to remove him..... The approval of Provincial Government is provided in case of.....4 officials named.

Sir, these words are very ambiguous. As you are aware, the Executive Officer of the Municipal Committee, Lahore, was appointed in the first instance for a period of three years and the renewal of the appointment continued indefinitely, though the Committee ought to have power of appointment after the lapse of 3 years. My submission, therefore, is that the words of clause (c) that I have referred to can be misinterpreted as previous experience shows. It is also given in the Bill that :—

The Corporation will have the power to appoint all municipal officers whether temporary or permanent, whose minimum salary is not less than Rs. 500 per mensem.

As the provincial Government has not empowered the corporation to appoint essential officers, I am afraid, there will be no effective check on the doings of those officers and municipal affairs cannot be improved. It has further been provided in clause (c)—

And he can be removed from office by three-fourth majority of the Councillors. The Provincial Government, however, is empowered to remove him at any time if he becomes incapable of performing the duties of his office or has been guilty of any misconduct or neglect which renders his removal expedient.

In case a Chief Executive Officer is proved to be incompetent, the difficulty would be that three-fourth majority of the Councillors might not be of the same opinion and if it is done even then the powers rest with the Provincial Government and they can set aside the decision of the Corporation. Despite this it is being said that our powers are being extended and the supersession of municipal committee will prove advantageous provided the Corporation Bill is passed. It is just like this, "that house is yours but touch it not". It has further been said in clause (c) —

The approval of the Provincial Government has also been provided for in cases of the appointment, salary, allowances and conditions of service of the following officers :—

- (1) Chief Engineer.
- (2) Medical Officer of Health.
- (3) Chief Accountant.
- (4) Secretary.

Which is the controlling authority—Government, Chief Executive Officer, Standing Committee or the Corporation? May I draw your attention to the fact that municipal expenditure is being unnecessarily increased as far as the above-mentioned lines are concerned?

One of them is the Chief Engineer. This is another burden which the citizens will have to shoulder simply because it is so desired by the Government. They have, I think, a European Engineer now-a-days and he will continue to be fed at the expense of the people of Lahore. Then there are the Chief Medical Officer, the Chief Accountant and the Secretary. These are the officers whose salary will be more than five hundred rupees a month. It is provided in the Bill that they will be appointed by the Corporation. But even that is nothing more than a hoax because there are other provisions which leave everything in the hands of the Government. This shows that in actual practice even those four appointments will be made not by the Corporation but by the Government. Diarchy is often described as a very defective and undesirable form of Government, but what about this "unholy trinity" which the Government wants to thrust on the citizens of Lahore? How can you justify this "triarchy" if I may be allowed to use this word? I particularly draw the attention of the Unionist members to this question. They should remember that if this state of affairs is allowed in connection with the municipal administration of Lahore, the day is not far off, when other municipalities are accorded the same treatment. Let them tell the Government that if this Bill is the index of the intentions of the Government about the future of local self-government in the province then there is no need to introduce any Bills at all. Let the Government assume to itself all the powers of the local bodies. (Hear, hear.) I hope the Government will allow them to vote according to the dictates of their conscience.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the Chair and Mr. Deputy Speaker occupied it.)

This much about the objects and reasons as stated by the Government. Now let us turn to some of the clauses of the Bill. There are various clauses which refer to the powers to be exercised by the corporation. I submit that even a cursory glance at these clauses is enough to show that in reality every power will be in the hands of the Government or the Chief Executive Officer. The citizens may feel proud of having a corporation but they will have no power to shape their own destinies.

As regards the areas which are to constitute the City of Lahore I am reminded of the famous couplet —

تو کارے زمین (نہ) سازگتی۔ اے با آسان نیز : واختی

They have not been able to administer the present area of about 25 square miles properly. Then what can be expected of them with regard to the vast area of nearly 92 square miles which they are going to include in the proposed 'City of Lahore'? May I ask as to what are their achievements after the supersession of the committee? Have they effected any improvement in the condition of roads, foot-paths, lighting, cleanliness, and other such matters? Can anybody deny the fact that the condition of all these things has become much worse? Those honourable members who have had a chance to visit any new abadi must be aware of the fact that these abadis have neither roads and foot-paths nor any arrangement of water supply, lighting or other amenities of life. When the committee was in existence the people usually brought their grievances to the notice of their respective representatives and the latter tried to get them alleviated as best as they could. But now their representations are lying in heaps in the office of the Administrator and no action is being taken on them. Similarly if you give all powers to the Chief Executive Officer the condition will become still worse. The Government is always very ready to condemn the members of the committee but why has it lost its voice in the case of the Administrator who has proved much worse than the members? Not only has he not been able to effect any improvement in the condition of the present area but he has thoroughly failed even to maintain what had been done by the committee. See the remarks of the Accountant-General for the years 1935-36 and 1936-37—the time of the Administrator. Still you propose to extend this area to the extent of 91 or 92 square miles! This extension will include about 71 villages some of which belong to the Sheikhpura district. Just imagine the villages of the Sheikhpura district being included in the 'City' of Lahore. Not only 71 villages but a tahsil of another district has been included in the area of the proposed corporation. It means that the area of the corporation would comprise something like 90 or 94 square miles. Now what would be the result of extending the municipal limits? Naturally there will be mismanagement. The present municipal administration has hopelessly failed to look after the needs of the people. How can we expect that the proposed corporation would be able to satisfy the needs of people living within its far extended limits. In the circumstances I would request my honourable friend, the Minister for Public Works, that instead of making such an experiment here at Lahore, let him propose a corporation for Sargodha and try this experiment there and he can also take away Mr. Macnabb to that place. (Laughter.) If that experiment proves successful we will also follow suit. We cannot make this experiment at the expense of Lahore.

Besides, I may point out that if we take into consideration other corporations we would find that their areas are much less than the area of the proposed Lahore Corporation. For instance, the area of Calcutta Corporation is 24 miles and of Bombay 22·77 miles. (Interruptions.) My statement is subject to correction. I for one cannot see any reason for including so large an area in the municipal limits. It looks as if some one has bought lands near about Lahore and the municipal limits are being extended in order to increase the price of those lands. After all I wish to know how the municipal administration will look after the needs of such a huge area when it is a fact that the present municipal administration has failed to cater for the needs of people living only in an area of twenty-five miles. It is a matter of great regret that the Government have increased the municipal limits without taking into consideration the financial position of the said administration. I have taken into consideration the income of the area that is going to be included in the municipal limits and I can say without any fear of contradiction that it will not bring in sufficient revenues for improving the means of communications or the sanitary conditions of such outlying areas. Naturally nothing would be done for the people living there. Besides, in the past the Government have never given any grant and I think that in future they will also follow their previous practice. In these circumstances I cannot but conclude that there is nothing in this Bill which can give any substantial relief to the people of Lahore.

Now the Honourable Minister for Public Works wishes me to conclude my speech, because he thinks I have taken sufficient time. In deference to his wishes, although I do not belong to his party, I will conclude my speech. But before doing so I wish to make it clear to all the members of the Unionist Party that all those members who have moved amendments for circulating the Bill for eliciting public opinion have not moved their motions in order to delay the passage of the Bill, but our object is that the people would be allowed to express their opinions with regard to it. If my friends are desirous of restoring the municipal administration to the people let them request the Government to restore the Lahore Municipal Committee. This Act will take at least one and-a-half years before it can be enforced. In the circumstances I would request them to at least agree to the circulation of Bill for 2 or 3 months for eliciting public opinion thereon. With these words I resume my seat.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : I wanted to give a personal explanation. You were probably not here when a reference was made to me. I have no intention of making a long speech.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : It is difficult for me to permit it for I do not know the circumstances under which the occasion arose.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma (Kangra West, General, Rural) (Uda) : Sir, yesterday I was very much pleased to hear the speech of Begum Rashida Latif Baji. In this connection I may point out that sometime ago I read in the papers that while leading the agitation against the imposition of house tax when even a lathi charge was made on the agitators by the police, Baji Sahiba declared that she would leave the Unionist party and go over to the Opposition benches. Besides, the speech which she delivered yesterday on the floor of this House leads me to think that she is not at one with the Unionist party.

Begum Rashida Latif Baji : I know how I can best serve the interests of my constituents. The honourable member is not within his rights to insinuate against me.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I am not insinuating against her. I am only reminding the honourable lady member of her promise. I may submit that her yesterday's speech also shows that she does not see eye to eye with other members of the Unionist party.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member is not speaking to the motion.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I am only saying something in connection with a speech which was delivered on the matter now before the House. My submission is that yesterday's speech of the lady member also shows that so far as this Bill is concerned, she does not see eye to eye with the other members of the Unionist party. In view of this I request her to fulfil her promise, which she was pleased to make during the agitation against the imposition of the house-tax.

Now, Sir, I may submit that some days ago while introducing another Bill the Honourable Minister for Public Works was pleased to remark that it was a typical measure conferring self-government on the people. The amount of self-government which that measure confers on us is known to most of us. That Bill has been placed before the House and is being discussed in this House. Now this Bill is another typical example of self-government which is especially being introduced for the citizens of Lahore, and is now before the House. My honourable friends can very well understand how far this Bill confers self-government on the people. I am of the opinion that this Bill is a misnomer. It should have been called the Executive Officers Bill because it will legalise the position of the executive officers. I may also point out that there is not a single member in this House, who has some connection with Lahore, and has not raised his voice against the present administration of the municipal committee. Not a single session passes, when at least 20 or 30 questions are not asked about the Lahore municipal administration. Besides, there has been a widespread agitation against the municipal administration and innumerable meetings have been held to protest against the mal-administration of the municipal authorities who utterly disregard the public opinion. All this goes to show that there is something rotten in the state of Denmark. It is a pity that the present Government have all along been sleeping over this state of affairs. They had promised to bring forward a Bill for establishing a corporation at Lahore. But after a period of 2½ years they have given us a thing which is a misnomer for the corporation Bill and is a thoroughly reactionary measure. I may point out that while framing this Bill the principles of democracy have been thrown over board, as the Bill seeks to invest all the powers in the Executive Officer.

Now the object of these circulation motions is to elicit public opinion which is an index of the public mind. We have to see how far this measure brought forward by the Government fulfils the needs and requirements of the people and that is why we want to send this Bill for circulation. I fail to see what makes the Government to oppose this salutary motion. It appears as if they are afraid of the public opinion. They have not the courage to stand public criticism. They are even afraid if a person comes to Punjab from outside.

Minister for Public Works : How is it relevant ?

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I am only giving an argument to show that the present Government cannot stand public criticism. That is why they are opposing these remarks and saying that these are irrelevant. Sir, I was submitting that whenever we table a motion that a certain Bill be circulated for the purposes of eliciting public opinion, so that we may be able to know whether it would prove beneficial or otherwise to the interests of the public, the Government invariably take objection to this. They cannot tolerate that any honourable member from the opposition should get up and criticise them severely. It is a pity that the Honourable Premier, more often than not, holds out threats to the opposition members that if they said certain things outside the House, they should be prepared to take the consequences. I may point out that it is the statutory right of every honourable member of this august House to serve his constituents by giving free expression to his views.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : That argument has already been advanced. That is repetition.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I want to say that such threats held out by the Honourable Premier go to show that the present Government have no principles and that they are afraid of being exposed by others. That is why they invariably oppose circulation motions. Now, Sir, it is proposed to bring 72 villages and a population of one lakh of persons within the jurisdiction of the corporation. I am of the opinion that we should have the views of at least those persons who are going to be affected by this measure.....

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member is again repeating the arguments advanced by other honourable members. The honourable member should say something new.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Sir, I was submitting that a population consisting of one lakh of persons and 72 villages are proposed to be brought in the ambit of the corporation. My point is that we should at least invite the opinion of those persons who would be affected by the operation of the provisions of this Bill. And this object can be achieved only by sending this Bill for circulation. I see no reason why the Government should feel timid to face public opinion. The position of the Government can be compared to that of a poet who steals verses of other poets and passes them on as his own composition but is afraid of reading them in public lest the real author should come to know of his weakness. Similarly the Government have, while framing the Bill under consideration, culled out provisions from the Corporation Acts of Rangoon, Karachi, Bombay and others. They are afraid lest the public should come to know of the lack of originality on the part of the Government. (Hear, hear.) But it is a pity that while conglomerating provisions from other Acts, Government did not care to consider whether the same would prove detrimental or otherwise to the best interests of the people. I cannot help saying that copying, too, is an art which requires some amount of common sense. (Laughter.)

Besides, I may submit that this Bill has been framed in full conformity with the policy of the Government. So far as the underlying principle is concerned, it differs in no way from the previous enactments. I am sure the honourable members are aware that the foremost object of the Government in enacting legislation has been to somehow or other keep themselves in power. This Bill is also meant to help them in achieving that object. It would not be out of place to mention here that the cream of society of the province lives in Lahore and yet our Government are thrusting upon the citizens a retrograde measure. I may point out that by inflicting this Bill on the sensible citizens of Lahore, Government are not only insulting them but also the people of the whole province. They want to prove that in spite of the fact that the elite of the gentry and the cream of society lives in Lahore, the citizens are unfit to manage the municipal affairs of the city. But I am also of the opinion that the Bill is nothing short of an insult to the Honourable Ministers themselves, as they too reside in Lahore. (Laughter.)

I have yet to make a mention of one thing and that is that those very gentlemen who threaten the honourable members to say things outside the House and face the consequences, themselves pay homage to the Executive Officer of Lahore. They have not the courage to differ from him or go against his views.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member's remarks are not relevant.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Sir, I am perfectly relevant. I am submitting that the Corporation's power to remove the Executive Officer has been hedged round by so many conditions that for practical purposes it would be impossible for the Corporation to remove him. In this connection I would observe that it is a great pity that whereas the public is protesting against the Administrator of Lahore, my honourable friends on the Treasury benches bow before him in humble salutations.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I would request the honourable member not to persist in irrelevancy.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I am quite relevant, Sir. The Corporation Bill contains a provision for Executive Officer and surely I am within my rights to say something about him. The present Administrator of Lahore is nothing but an Executive Officer and I cannot be irrelevant in speaking of him in this connection. With these words, Sir, I strongly support my honourable friend Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt's motion for the circulation of the City of Lahore Corporation Bill to elicit public opinion thereon. I hope that the Treasury benches would not oppose this motion as the Bill in question abounds in serious defects and needs radical changes which can only be effected after the public concerned has thoroughly examined it.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang (West Lahore Division, General, Rural) : I shall speak for four or five minutes only and that for two reasons. One, because I do not want my silence to be misunderstood. I support the circulation motion brought by my honourable friend. I do not consider the Bill to be such as to be taken into consideration without giving the public concerned an opportunity to express their opinion on it and, therefore, I strongly support this motion. There are some provisions in this Bill which require very serious consideration. As they are, they are most rotten and I think that proper consideration will make the Honourable Minister in charge probably change his mind so far as those provisions are concerned. This is not the time to discuss those provisions and moreover my friends who have preceded me have already discussed some of them. My second reason for getting up was that I wanted to give a little personal explanation. The honourable Mian Abdul Aziz made some references to me—in fact to one or two actions of mine when I was in charge of the Local Self-Government Department of this province. He referred to the supersession of the municipal committee by me and also to the Executive Officers Act which was passed in my time. So far as the supersession of the municipal committee is concerned, I may simply say that the representation, to which Mian Abdul Aziz referred, reached me too late. As I have more than once told Begum Shah Nawaz Sahiba also—she was also one of the persons who drew up that representation—if the representation had reached the Government earlier it is just possible that the committee might not have been superseded and the action suggested by Mian Abdul Aziz and by other members might have been taken. But, unfortunately, as I have said, the representation came too late. The Government had made up its mind before it arrived. Secondly, I would like to say that the decision was the unanimous decision of the whole Government. Both sides of the Government—the Transferred side as also the Reserved side—agreed. So far as the Executive Officers Act is concerned, perhaps many honourable members of this House do not know that the Bill had been drafted by my friend Malik Sir Feroze Khan Noon. He had introduced it in the House but as it met with some opposition, he changed his mind and I am not disclosing any secret when I say that as soon as I was put in charge of this department, the first thing that Malik Sir Feroze Khan Noon wanted me to take up was this Bill which he had not been able to pilot through the House. I certainly took up the suggestion and had it passed by the Legislative Council and I am not ashamed of having done so. If you compare that Executive Officers Act with the provisions of the present Bill, you will find that apart from any other considerations—if you judge both the measures purely from a democratic point of view—the present Bill from that point of view is much worse than the Executive Officers Act which was passed in my time. Only a few points of contrast might be mentioned. In the Executive Officers Bill although it was originally provided that the Executive Officer would be appointed and dismissed by a majority of not less than three-fourths of members of the committee, I reduced $3/4$ to $5/8$. Now, again, in this Corporation Bill the removal is to be by not less than $3/4$. Whereas under the old Executive Officers Act the appointment was in the first instance to be made by the committees which were given three months' time to make up their minds and the Government was to make the appointment only if the committees failed to make the appointments within three months' time, this Bill now provides that the appointment shall be made by the Government, so that the Lahore Corporation will have no voice in the appointment of the Chief Executive Officer. This is a very important point and in this respect the proposed Bill is much worse, from a purely democratic point of view, than the Executive Officers Act. So far as the powers were concerned, the Executive Officer was supposed to be the servant of the municipal committee and he had to carry out the decisions of the municipal committee. So far as the power of appointment of staff was concerned, he could appoint those municipal servants only who could draw monthly salaries of not more than Rs. 45 so far as Lahore was concerned and so far as other committees were concerned, his power was confined to the appointment only of those employees whose salaries did not exceed Rs. 25. In the present Corporation Bill, the Corporation as such will have no voice in the appointment of officers drawing salaries up to Rs. 500 per mensem and, as was pointed out by my friend here, there are very few appointments which carry a salary of more than five hundred rupees—perhaps three or four appointments only. Then, the Standing Committee, which is to consist of twelve members, will make other appointments which carry a salary of not less than two hundred rupees, so that all appointments which carry salaries up to two hundred rupees will be made by the Executive Officer and as most of the appointments are such as carry salaries below two hundred rupees, it would mean that practically all the appointments will be made by the Executive Officer and the Corporation and the Standing Committee will have hardly any voice in the appointments of their employees. In this respect also the Corporation Bill is anti-democratic as it takes away the power of the corporation. Then again, under the old Act it was only the Executive Officer who enjoyed the security or safety or immunity from the so-called rash action with respect to removal or dismissal inasmuch as the Executive Officer could not be removed except by a majority of 5/8. Now four officers will be appointed practically permanently and those who are appointed immediately after the Corporation Bill becomes an Act, will remain permanent. If they belong to one community they will continue, if they belong to different communities, they will continue, if they are Englishmen, they will continue and the corporation will practically have no power to remove them even for misconduct unless a majority of 2/3—which is a very high majority—agrees to remove any particular officer out of these four officers, namely, Chief Engineer, Medical Officer of Health, Chief Accountant and Secretary. In the present Act, there is a section, under which any employee of the municipal committee can be removed on one month's notice. But under the new corporation law, which the Honourable Minister wants to have enacted, the corporation will become almost absolutely powerless, so far as these four principal officers are concerned. These are some of the points in which the old Executive Officers Act was, from the democratic point of view, far superior to the present Corporation Bill. Of course, nothing depends on this Act or that Act. The municipal government can never be a success unless the public co-operates with the corporation or the committee and if this co-operation will not be forthcoming, no amount of legislation would remove the evils which exist in the municipal administration in Lahore.

One word more and I shall sit down. I think that the step taken by the Government in enlarging the limits of the Lahore Municipal Committee has been most unwise, I do not want to use any strong word, but certainly it is a most unwise and thoughtless step which the Government has taken. If they could not carry on proper administration within an area of 24 or 25 miles, then they will find it impossible to carry on good administration within an area of 92 miles and this Corporation Bill, even if it is passed, will practically be a dead letter so far as the whole area of 92 square miles is concerned. As I said that I would not take more than five minutes, I do not want to prolong my speech and with these words I resume my seat.

(Honourable Members : Question may now be put.)

Mr. Deputy Speaker : It is difficult for me to put the question at this stage. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma has moved an amendment, and I have to give him some time. Then there are several honourable members, residents of Lahore, who have already shown their anxiety to speak.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (South-Eastern Towns, General, Urban) (Urdu) : Sir, every aspect of the question now before the House has been discussed threadbare. I shall, therefore, be very brief in my criticism of the City of Lahore Corporation Bill. The institution of local self-government was first introduced in this country by Lord Ripon in 1882. In those days there were no legislative councils on the modern lines. They were nominated bodies. In 1909 the elected element was first introduced and in 1919 it was further enlarged. The system has been developed in the form of the present Legislative Assembly in which there is no nominated element, all members being elected. But the system of local self-government has been made to deteriorate by our Government. Whereas the nominated element has been driven out from the legislative bodies completely, it is being retained in the local bodies which were primarily meant to afford an opportunity to the people to manage their municipal affairs themselves.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : This argument has already been advanced.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : If by merely using the words " City of Lahore Corporation Bill " and " local self-government " in my speech I am considered to be guilty of repetition, I shall resume my seat. I was only submitting for the consideration of the House that in the proposed corporation one-fourth of the members are to be nominated and then there will be some elected members who will be practically nominated members. What surprises me most is the fact that we have an autonomous Government and that Government is never tired of saying that it is prepared to make the greatest sacrifice to uphold the principles of democracy. But in practice what has our Government done ? It has brought forward this reactionary measure which is of a unique type so far as its being the embodiment of a reactionary spirit is concerned.

Lahore is after all the premier city of the province. It should be given greater amount of liberty in its affairs. But in actual fact, Lahore has been denied even the small freedom which is enjoyed by small municipal committees like Rohtak and Jhajjar. Jhajjar is a small town and its municipal committee is a second class committee.

Sayed Amjad Ali Shah : The Jhajjar municipal committee is not under discussion at this time.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I am only comparing the proposed Lahore Corporation with the present municipal committee of Jhajjar to show that the latter has more powers and a better constitution although the old municipal constitution was prepared by the old bureaucracy. In our neighbourhood there is the Jind State.

Minister for Public Works : Can the honourable member refer to the affairs of an Indian State ?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I request the honourable member to speak to the motion before the House.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Sir, I want to show why this Bill should be circulated to elicit public opinion. In this connection I have said that the conditions in small Indian States are better than have been proposed for Lahore under this bulky Bill. There are in all 62 members in the Jind State Assembly but the Ministers and Government members have no right to vote. But the right of voting in the cases of nominated members has been retained in the Corporation Bill. Among the reasons which the Statutory Commission is said to have attributed to fall in the level of efficiency in the sphere of local self-government there is an important reason which is this—

Failures of the Provincial Governments to exercise proper check and supervision over the local bodies.

[Pt. Shri Ram Sharma.]

This means that the Government is to blame if conditions in municipal committees and district boards are not satisfactory. The remedy is that the Government supervision is done with more strictness. It does not mean that where party interests of Government are involved the local bodies may be allowed to do whatever they wish to do. It is a pity that many times the Government shuts its eyes deliberately to certain misdeeds of the local bodies in the interest of its own party. How can justice be done in these circumstances? I will, therefore, again submit that the Government has not paid attention to the real requirements of the case while drafting this Bill. It has straightaway sought to take more powers in its hands. The Corporation should be given the powers to fix its franchise and adjust other matters connected with representation of various interests. The Government says that it wants to exercise proper check and supervision over the affairs of the Lahore Municipal Committee and that is why it has thought fit to introduce the present Bill. But in fact the powers that were delegated one by one under the system of local self-government are being snatched away from us by means of this very measure. There is no doubt about the fact that this Bill is far worse than the previous measure and deserves to be thrown into the waste paper basket. Ever since its inception the present Government has been announcing that it intends to introduce a Corporation Bill. Now even after the consideration and deliberations of full 3 years the Punjab Government has drafted a Bill which is awfully defective and extremely unsatisfactory. Now it wants to rush through it. It says that it is no use circulating it for eliciting public opinion thereon. The Government takes its stand on the argument that circulation would take time and it would mean delay in its enactment. We have got serious grievances against the Government; it has always neglected the real issue and done what it ought not to have done, and this time too it wants to take a step in the wrong direction. In fact the Government is afraid of the ever increasing popularity of the Congress. It has repeatedly postponed elections of the Rohtak District Board. It fears lest the Congress should seize all the seats on the district board. Here in Lahore also we are sure to return a good number of advanced members to the corporation. Being afraid of our success the Government wishes to have most powers in its hands through this Bill. The present piece of legislation seeks to continue the old nomination system in the proposed corporation. In fact the Government wants to rule over the corporation with the help of the nominated bloc and the Chief Executive Officer. We are perfectly sure that the Government would nominate only those people who would be willing to play in its hands like puppets. In the end I request the Government to accept the amendment regarding the circulation, so that people outside the House may be able to express their opinion in the matter.

Mr. K. L. Gauba (Inner Lahore, Muhammadan, Urban) : Mr. Speaker, I listened very carefully to the speech of the Minister when moving this Bill. The honourable gentleman stated that when he took office he was faced with two problems : (i) to bring order out of chaos in the Lahore municipality and (ii) to constitute a committee where the defects of the previous committee would not occur, that is to say, that his labours and the labours of the Government over the course of the last 2½ years have been devoted to these two objects, namely, bringing order out of chaos and devising a constitution for the municipality of the city of Lahore. Sir, so far as the second part is concerned we have before us to-day the fruits of the labours not only of the Honourable Minister opposite but also of the Administrator and of the Punjab Government. It is not necessary for me at this late stage of the debate to reiterate the arguments that have been already and so ably advanced by other speakers, nor is it necessary for me to reiterate the epithets cast upon this Bill not only from this side of the House but also from members on that side. But, we have to consider one or two matters here to-day which I think have not been touched upon so far. The first is this that this Bill is a consolidating Bill, if I may say so. This is a Bill which sets up an entire constitution: this is not an amending Bill. Now, the first thing that my friend the Honourable Minister opposite ought to have said was, what was the necessity or what is the necessity for this huge cumbersome measure which has been placed before this House, a measure which runs not to a few clauses but which runs in volumes and which contains 410 clauses? Is there any necessity or has any necessity been shown why a Bill of this magnitude is necessary to be proposed here? I have gone through this Bill. I suppose other members of the House who have gone through the Bill will find two things very clear. This Bill can be divided into two sections as it were. Part I is what is called the constitution of the Corporation and part II is about the duties and the functions of that Corporation. So far as the second part is concerned it is merely a rehash of the Municipal Act. Sections are taken bodily from the Punjab Municipal Act. Personally I do not see the reason for it: there may be intelligence in it, there may be sense in it. But what is the object in saying that the Punjab Municipal Act shall not apply to the Corporation of Lahore and yet you introduce a Bill enacting exactly word for word the provisions which would apply to the Corporation of Lahore? Is it not really waste of public time and money? I have here a number of sections which are absolutely verbatim mutatis mutandis the provisions of the Punjab Municipal Act. The Bill sets off by saying that the Punjab Municipal Act shall not apply to the Corporation of Lahore. These very provisions are again enacted in this Bill. This Bill is not going to be passed through this House in a hurry. After all 400 clauses are not going to be disposed of so soon. Even if the members are very considerate with public time and money and even if the amendments are few, nevertheless I think this Bill in the ordinary course must take at least a year for its passage in all its stages. Was it not possible for the Government to do precisely what they intend to do—apart from the question whether what they intend to do is right or wrong—whatever they intend to do could they not have done, one, by amending the Punjab Municipal Act, two, by an amendment of the Executive Officers Act and three, by introducing a new municipal act? I submit and I affirm that it would be possible in this Bill to do precisely the same thing within ten days and that it is not necessary for this huge and cumbersome measure to be placed before the House. One other point was raised by my friend the Honourable Minister. He says that he had two alternatives (i) to revive the old committee and (ii) to establish a corporation. If my learned friend had not the assistance of very eminent lawyers beside him, one might have pardoned his enthusiasm for the enactment of a Corporation Act. But is it not a fact that every municipality is a body corporate? Every municipality ever appointed is a body corporate. The difference between the corporation to be established under this Bill so far as the body corporate is concerned and the municipality is merely a difference in name. Instead of calling it the Lahore Municipality, you will now call it the Corporation of the City of Lahore. Instead of having a President of the Municipality, you will have a Lord Mayor. That is the difference, so far as the corporation is concerned. It was a corporation before, it will be a corporation when it is reconstituted.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I would request the honourable member to be brief.

Mr. K. L. Gauba : I will not detain the House very much longer, but I will just urge one or two things, namely, that so far as this Bill is concerned I think that the Government could have done everything that it wants under the existing law and there is no excuse for not re-constituting the committee forthwith. Now, if the learned gentleman opposite wants to have his Lahore Corporation Bill enacted, there is no reason advanced why he cannot constitute a committee at this stage. After all he could have 68 members if he thinks that that is the right number. He could have 17 nominated members if he considers that that is the right number at this stage. He has not advanced any reason. The statement provides why the committee cannot be re-constituted at this stage, why the government of the City of Lahore cannot be entrusted to the citizens of Lahore at this stage and why they must wait for the passage of this Bill in all its stages in order to have this committee re-constituted.

Minister for Public Works : Do you mean a municipal committee under the Municipal Act?

Mr. K. L. Gauba : Yes, constitute a municipal committee for the transitory period, and when the Corporation Bill comes into force turn that committee into a corporation.

I submit that there is no reason why the present state of affairs should be allowed to continue while this Bill is going on. If the administration of the City of Lahore was in any way better or more efficient or more honest or more straightforward, than it was in the old age, then there might have been some argument for the continuance of what my learned friend described as bringing order out of chaos. I will only give one instance of this order out of chaos. I know other members wish to speak, and I will not take more than two minutes. You have members who have various houses and buildings to be put up in the City of Lahore. You have certain members of the Improvement Trust. One would ordinarily assume that members of the Improvement Trust would be considered to be favoured individuals, persons who might be able to get things done better and more expeditiously than other humble citizens. The case which has been brought to my notice is a most interesting case. The Government sold land in April 1936 on the Ferozepore Road to a member of the Improvement Trust, and the Commissioner of Lahore in September of that year, namely, 1936, asked the Improvement Trust to constitute or draw up a scheme.

Now the Improvement Trust took a year and a half for the drawing up of that scheme, and the scheme was drawn up by the Town Planner himself and at the end of a year and a half, namely, in May 1938 the Improvement Trust passed a resolution unanimously adopting the scheme. That scheme goes up to our friend, the member in charge of Local Self-Government. There it remains for several months and it is returned in January 1939 back to the office of the Improvement Trust, raising certain objections. One does not know yet what the objections are. It is stated that the Honourable Minister for Local Self-Government had certain objections to the scheme. This scheme was received back in the Improvement Trust office in January 1939. Up to May nothing happened. In May 1939 a letter goes to the owners of this land saying that the scheme is still under consideration and that they are unable to state at what time or when they will be able to re-submit the scheme to the Local Self-Government Department. It is November now and though it is nearly 3½ years since this land was purchased, the thing is still in the air and order has not yet been brought out of chaos in the office of the Local Self-Government or the Improvement Trust.

In this connection I would just like to say a word about the circulation motion and about the motion for referring the Bill to a select committee. As I have submitted, so far as the Bill is concerned it is open to very serious objections. Personally, I do not see any reason why this House should not proceed to consider this Bill if the Government is not prepared either one way or another to adopt any other course and if the Government insists on the passage of this particular Bill, then I submit that as the people of Lahore are anxious that the committee should be reconstituted at the earliest possible stage, I submit the question of circulation will only serve the object of the Administrator in continuing the present state of affairs by another six months or so. Therefore I submit that the honourable member might seriously consider two things, namely, the constitution of a municipal committee during the transitory period and a committee which might eventually become the first committee under the Corporation Bill when it is passed. So far as the Bill is concerned, there will be plenty of time between now and the passing of it because it cannot be speeded away. After all 410 clauses are bound to take at least a year. So far as that is concerned, there will be plenty of time for members to consider objections, and I am sure the Honourable Minister will consider the serious objections to the Bill and try to avoid, if possible, the duplication of legislation and if it is possible to cut short the Bill and bring it on the statute book at an early date. I hope he will do it. With these remarks I resume my seat.

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz) (Urdu): Sir, when I looked at the agenda yesterday I was surprised to see that almost all the dilatory motions stood in the name of either the members of the Congress Party or the Independents. Not only that, even my sister sitting besides me thought it fit to come forward with such a motion. You will remember that it is these very members who have been continuously asking the Government to take away the administration of the Lahore municipality from the Administrator and hand it over to the representatives of the people. I put it to these honourable members whether their motions are likely to bring the goal nearer or to waste another year or so. Instead of moving these dilatory motions, had they not better support the motion to commit the Bill to the select committee so that it might be passed and placed on the Statute Book without unnecessary delay and the administration of the municipality might pass over to the representatives of the people?

Speeches were delivered by so many able and well-known members yesterday. But it was in vain that I waited for any one speaking on the principle of the Bill and expressing his opinion on the separation of the legislative and executive functions of the municipality. To-day, however, the honourable and revered member Mian Abdul Aziz has tried to touch this important point. Allow me to say, Sir, that all the time he was speaking I was thinking whether it was the speech of a constitutional lawyer or of a layman. He has laid great stress on the curtailment of the powers of the members, but I wish to remind him that when the municipal committee, about which he has said so much, was asked to elect three persons to work on the Improvement Trust the 48 members of the committee could not come to any decision whatsoever. If in this House in the last two and a half years we have been able to achieve so much, it is because the deliberative and executive functions were separated from each other. Now, Sir, may I ask the honourable member whether it would be possible to come to any decision at all if the administration of the province had been entrusted to all the 175 members of this Honourable House instead of a cabinet consisting of 6 ministers only?

I am one of those who believe that the reason for the failure of local self-government in India is that the British as well as the provincial governments have failed to do their duty towards local self-government and a step-motherly treatment has been meted out to them. I am not unmindful of the fact that the representatives of the people have not worked as they should have done. For instance, men like yourself, Khan Bahadur Malik Muhammad Din and Mian Abdul Aziz are sure to do honour to any deliberative body, which elects you to adorn its Chair, but is it not a fact that the members of the municipality could not find any better way to recognise their services than to move votes of no-confidence in them?

Mian Abdul Aziz : No such vote was ever moved against me.

Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz : The Dobson Report had to say something about it.

Mian Abdul Aziz : Please see my reply to that report. Can you controvert it? You were also a member of the committee.

Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz : Anyway, I was speaking of the failure of local self-government. As I have said we were not treated fairly in the matter. When in 1882 Lord Ripon gave us local self-government all that the people served were rickety and broken carts, incomplete drains and broken roads. This was the local self-government handed over to the people. The municipalities have never been given sufficient financial help to effect the necessary improvements. The Government can spend 40 crores of rupees on mechanising the army but neither the Central nor the Provincial government has ever taken the trouble even to enquire whether any money is required to overhaul the administration of local self-government, for instance, to change the broken and rickety carts into motor lorries.

I have had the experience of watching the work of the Lahore municipality for four years. I agree with my honourable brother Malik Barkat Ali that those who wish to adopt a political career should first acquire experience in the municipal and district boards. When I came to know in London that I was to work as a member of the Lahore Municipal Committee I tried to study the working of the London County Council. On my return to India in the first years I took up my duties very seriously. I would often go to a ward and finding that the member concerned had not paid a visit to his ward would speak to him about this dereliction of duty on his part. Very soon I found that the members were not so much to blame. The reason was very simple. If they went to visit their respective wards their constituents overwhelmed them with complaints about sanitation, water supply and other such amenities. The member was helpless, as there was so much to do that a revenue of 25 to 26 lakhs of rupees was not sufficient to meet all the requirements. Let the honourable members imagine how this provincial autonomy had worked if the Public Works Department, Irrigation and other such essential departments now in our hands had been handed over to us in such deplorable condition. Surely the provincial autonomy then would have proved a total failure.

Even in days of diarchy nobody paid any attention to the financial needs of the local bodies. A couple of lakhs every year or every two or three years would have been sufficient. Realising that more funds had to be procured somehow the women member of the committee put forward a proposal for raising the necessary money. We proposed the levying of a house tax. People have to pay for municipal amenities everywhere. I would therefore submit that it was our confirmed opinion that all the amenities of an up-to-date town could not be provided unless, and until the general public also contributed something by way of a house tax to the municipal funds. Along with it I would like to point out to the Government that this tax should have been imposed earlier. If it had been levied say in the beginning of this century starting with eight annas or so, it could have very easily been enhanced to four or five rupees now.

Mian Abdul Aziz : There is a misunderstanding. The reference made to the resolution by the honourable lady member is entirely incorrect. That resolution was never passed. Replies to that effect have been given on the floor of the House.

Lala Sita Ram : And never moved by the lady member.

Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz : I never said that I had moved it. I was present in that meeting and it was unanimously passed and if it is not recorded as has been stated on the floor of the House, it cannot be said that it was not passed.

Lala Sita Ram : I would request that the resolution referred to be produced.

Khan Bahadur Nawab Muzaffar Khan : I think the shoe has begun to pinch.

Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz : I would again respectfully submit for the information of the honourable members that since the present Government has assumed power we have been thinking and pondering over this question as to what action should be taken with regard to the superseded Lahore Municipal Committee. I cannot disclose the party secrets, otherwise I would have told them all about the discussions that had taken place with regard to this matter and as to how the members representing Lahore constituencies discharged their duties. When after a good deal of deliberation, the Punjab Government decided to give a loan of one crore to the Lahore Municipal Committee, we welcomed it, because we thought that at last now something would be done to improve the conditions of Lahore. Supposing the committee had tried to obtain a loan, how could they have got it? Could it have been raised on the security of the Town Hall? Under the circumstances we welcomed this proposal of the Government. Then came the question of how to repay it? Now I may point out that opinions differ as to how the loan should be returned. It is just possible that my opinion may be quite different from what the proposal under consideration is.

Then again some honourable members have asked why the limits of the Lahore Municipal Committee have been extended. Sir, through you I wish to put a question to the ex-president of the Lahore Municipal Committee, whether it has not been pointed out in hundreds of speeches during the deliberations of the committee that it was not possible to make Lahore a healthy and clean place when often epidemics like small-pox, cholera, plague etc., were imported from Shahdara, Begumpura and other places? Have not such cases occurred so very frequently? Let me also point out that once a Director of Public Health pointed out in a meeting of the Red Cross Society that the health of Lahore could not be improved unless and until all the adjoining villages are included in the Lahore Municipal limits. This is only one reason and I can put forward countless other reasons in support of extending the Lahore Municipal limits, but my difficulty is the limited time at my disposal. In short this is my confirmed opinion that so long as these adjacent villages are not included in the Lahore municipal limits, conditions in Lahore cannot be made healthy. May I not ask him also whether he was not confronted with such questions when he was President of the Lahore Municipal Committee and could he do anything to set right those things? Moreover he was pleased to remark that the area of Calcutta Corporation was 24 miles while the area of the proposed Lahore Corporation would be 71 miles. May I ask him if he has ever been to Calcutta? (Mian Abdul Aziz: "Several times.") If so, has he ever cared to take into consideration the fact that if one proposed to go to any large garden in Calcutta, one would have to travel a distance of 30 miles before he could reach there. We should thank God that Lahore is growing in a manner where it is easy to have several gardens. In future the growth of Lahore should be so controlled that gardens and playgrounds should be found in every area. It should not be made so congested as Calcutta is.

There is yet another matter to which pointed reference has been made by the honourable members. They have asked what is the need of converting the Lahore Municipality into a corporation. In their opinion corporations were only needed for harbour or sea side towns, and cities like Lahore, Delhi and Simla stood in no great need of such bodies, but let me point out that excluding the Presidency towns, Lahore is the biggest of all the cities in India and its population is also larger than all the others. In addition, our trade with Central Asian countries is also increasing because of the improved means of road communications. There are railways, lorries and cars, and all these give great fillip to our trade with the above-mentioned countries. Then Lahore is the biggest Cantonment in Northern India and there is also the largest Railway Workshop at Moghalpura. Lahore therefore is a very important town and it is gaining importance day by day. Moreover it is growing at a very rapid pace. If the honourable members wish to see a case in point they may go and see what is happening on the road which goes from the canal behind Aziz Palace. Houses are being set up like mushrooms in areas which have not been so far brought under the control of the Lahore Improvement Trust or included in the Lahore municipal limits. If to-day honourable members refuse to take notice of these things naturally these areas would also become congested like the new abadis of Krishna Nagar and Ram Gali. Let me also point out that the Hydro-Electric Power Station is being constructed at a distance of five miles from Lahore and if any member goes there he will find that houses are growing there like dragon's teeth. Whenever I go there I find a new house erected there and often of such funny shape. In the circumstances it is in the interests of Lahore that a Corporation should be established and all these areas should be included in it.

Then my honourable brother Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt referred to the statement of the Chairman of the All-India Women's Conference, Punjab branch, and stated that the Association was not in favour of sex discrimination and nominations for women. I may point out for his information that the matter to which he has referred was published under the signature of Mrs. Nehru. I have the honour to be the President of that Association and I may tell him that these are the views of the Association as a whole. Moreover I may inform him that a deputation of women which I had the honour to lead, waited on the Honourable Minister in charge and made it quite clear to him that so far as the question of nomination was concerned the women of the Punjab did not like it. But if the nominations were to be retained, in that case women should be given partly nominated and partly elected seats. We also contended that so far as the question of election was concerned women should be given the right to vote. We stated that if women could vote for the Punjab Legislative Assembly there was no reason why they should be denied the right of vote in the Lahore Corporation where they will have to safeguard the interests of women and children. I hope that when this question is discussed the House will take due care to protect the interests of women.

Now I wish to make a request to the honourable members that instead of moving such dilatory motions and discussing them here it would be better for us to participate in the work of the select committee, and to consider this Bill dispassionately. I think representatives of all parties have been included in the said committee. Now it behoves us to sit in the select committee and try to remove whatever defects are in the Bill. At present only a bare outline of the Bill has been presented to the House and it is the duty of the members of the select committee to complete the picture. I am of the opinion that all the speeches that have been delivered now could very well have been made when the Bill emerged out of the select committee. At present we are only concerned with the principle of the

[Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz.]

Bill and I can say without any fear of contradiction that there cannot be two opinions about it. The fundamental principle is that we have sought to separate the deliberative and executive functions of the corporation. And so far as the defects and shortcomings of the Bill are concerned it is the duty of the honourable members to remove them in the select committee. I may also point out that I do not see eye to eye with my sister when she says that this Bill is not worth the paper on which it is written and that it should very conveniently be thrown into the waste paper basket. I do admit that there are innumerable defects in it but it does not mean that we should throw it away. It can be improved. With these words I oppose the motion now before the House that this Bill should be circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon.

The Assembly then adjourned till 12 noon on Thursday, 30th November 1939.

PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

SIXTH SESSION OF THE FIRST PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Thursday, 30th November, 1939.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber, at 12 noon of the clock. Mr. Speaker in the Chair.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

ANNUAL REPORT ON ADMINISTRATION AND WORKING OF DALHOUSIE MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE.

*5315. Malik Barkat Ali : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state whether the report on the administration and working of the Dalhousie Municipal Committee for the year 1938-39 has been submitted to Government and, in particular, (i) who prepared this report before its submission to Government, and (ii) whether the report submitted was ever put up for consideration by the Dalhousie Municipal Committee before its submission to Government?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : Government have not received the report. The annual report prepared by a municipal committee in regard to its administration and working is not required to be forwarded to Government. The Deputy Commissioner submits a report in which he deals with all municipalities in the district. The report from the Gurdaspur District for the year 1938-39 has not yet reached Government.

RENEWAL OF THE LEASE OF THE LAHORE ELECTRIC SUPPLY COMPANY.

*5359. Khan Haibat Khan Dahi : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) when the lease of the Lahore Electric Supply Company expires ;

(b) whether the Lahore Electric Supply Company are trying for the renewal of their lease and, if so, whether it is intended to renew the lease, if so, for how many years ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) Under clause 5 (1) of the Lahore Electric Licence, as amended in 1927, the first option to purchase the undertaking falls due on 25th November, 1942.

(b) First part : No ; Second part : Does not arise.

METALLING OF KHUSHAB-MIANWALI ROAD.

5376. Khan Bahadur Captain Malik Muzaffar Khan : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state whether he is aware that there is a regular lorry service plying between Khushab and Mianwali, if so, what steps Government propose to take to have the road metalled to avoid hardship and inconvenience to the passengers during the rainy season when the roads become unmotorable?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : Owing to shortage of time within which answer to this question is to be given, it has not been possible to ascertain whether or not a regular lorry service is plying between Khushab and Mianwali. It is hoped to start the work of metalling this road during the year 1940-41 subject to funds being forthcoming.

CLAIMS FOR PENSION UNDER "NEXT BELOW" RULE BY CLERKS OF THE PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

5380. Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state when final reply to my starred question No. 4768,¹ asked on 20th April last may be expected?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : Final reply to question No. 4768¹ could not be given as the Assembly was prorogued.

The information on the various points raised in that question is as under :—

- (a) There has been only one case in which claim for enhancement of pension was put in under the "next below" rule while on service overseas. This case related to Pandit Sunder Dass Issar, an Assistant in the Buildings and Roads Secretariat who went to Southern Persia in September 1918, returned to the same office (Buildings and Roads Secretariat) in February 1922 and retired from there in April 1923.
- (b) Yes.
- (c) Yes, the matter was referred to the Government of India by the Controller of Military Accounts and the Government of India reply was that the matter was one for the Punjab Government to consider on its merits. On merits the request for enhanced pension could not be entertained and Pandit Sunder Dass was informed accordingly.
- (d) Does not arise.

ROAD BETWEEN MAGHIANA AND TOBA TEK SINGH.

5401. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that the metalled road between Maghiana and Toba Tek Singh up to Bagh is in a very dilapidated condition;
- (b) when it was repaired last;
- (c) when the Government propose to repair it now?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): (a) The road has only very recently been taken over from the District Board for maintenance by the Public Works Department. Its condition is unsatisfactory.

(b) and (c) It is not known when it was last repaired by the District Board but the metalled portion from Maghiana to Bagh will be reconditioned this financial year.

ROADS BETWEEN MAGHIANA AND TRIMMU HEAD AND BETWEEN JHANG AND CHINIOT.

*5402. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi: Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that the Kacha roads between Maghiana and Trimmu Head and between Jhang and Chiniot are in a very bad condition;

(b) when does the Government propose to metal these roads?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): (a) No. The roads are in fair condition.

(b) It is hoped to commence the metalling of the Maghiana-Trimmu Head road during 1940-41 and continue it as funds permit. The Jhang-Chiniot road is being maintained by the District Board, Jhang, as an unmetalled road and the volume of traffic on it does not justify its metalling at present. Jhang is already connected with Chiniot by a metalled road via Lyallpur.

ROADS IN JHANG DISTRICT.

*5405. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi: Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that most of the District Board roads in Jhang district are in a hopelessly bad condition;

(b) the names of the roads out of them that the District Board has so far transferred to the control of the Public Works Department;

(c) whether it is proposed to transfer any other road besides those mentioned in (b) of the aforesaid district to the control of Public Works?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): (a) The condition of some of the District Board roads in Jhang district is far from satisfactory;

(b) The Public Works Department has only recently taken over the Jhang to Bagh section of the Jhang-Toba Tek Singh road;

(c) It is proposed to provincialize in the near future as funds permit the following roads in this district:—

(1) Trimmu to Ahmadpur,

(2) Shorkot to Garh Mahraja,

(3) Bhag to Tahliwala section of Jhang-Toba Tek Singh road.

THANEDARS IN HISSAR DISTRICT.

5422. Master Kabul Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the names of thanedars, and the dates of their appointment to various thanas in the Hissar district during the years 1936-37, 1937-38 and 1938-39 ;
- (b) thana-wise the names of the proclaimed offenders and the number of murders, dacoities and thefts committed during the above-mentioned period in the Hissar district ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) : I am laying on the table two statements¹ giving most of the information desired. To include the names of the proclaimed offenders would make the statements very long, and numbers only have in consequence been given ; but if the honourable member particularly wants the names, I shall be happy to show him a full list.

THANEDARS IN HISSAR DISTRICT.

5431. Chaudhri Sahib Ram : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the names of thanedars, and the dates of their appointments to various thanas in the Hissar district during the years 1936-37, 1937-38 and 1938-39 ;
- (b) thana-wise the names of the proclaimed offenders and the number of murders, dacoities and thefts committed during the above-named period in the Hissar district ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) : A reference is invited to the reply given to question *5422 (ante), put by the honourable member for the Jullundur (Sikh) Rural Constituency.

AMOUNT OF GRANTS-IN-AID GIVEN FOR ELEMENTARY AND PRIMARY EDUCATION.

5436. Chaudhri Sahib Ram : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the amount of grants-in-aid given by the various district boards in the province, division-wise, for elementary and primary education during the years 1936-37, 1937-38 and 1938-39 ;
- (b) the number of elementary and primary schools in each division in the province ;
- (c) the number of boys in the elementary and primary schools as it stood on March 31st, 1939 ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz) : I regret that the answer to this question is not ready.

¹Kept in the Assembly Library.

SUPERSESSION OF THE LALA MUSA TOWN COMMITTEE.

5437. Master Kabul Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the circumstances that led to the supersession of the town committee, Lala Musa ;
- (b) the charges levelled and the action, if any, taken against the then members of the said committee ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) The committee was superseded for persistent default in the performance of its duties.

- (b) No charges were framed against individual members.

SUPERSESSION OF TOWN COMMITTEE, LALA MUSA.

5438. Master Kabul Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the period for which the town committee of Lala Musa, district Gujrat, has been under supersession ;
- (b) the number, names and the period for which each of the administrators of the said institution have worked since its supersession ;
- (c) the number, name, age, qualifications, experience and the period for which each of the secretaries of the said body has worked since the supersession of the said town committee ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) The committee was superseded on the 8th June, 1938.

(b) (1) Sardar Harjindar Singh, P.C.S., from the date of suspension to 20th October, 1938.

(2) Makhdum Ghulam Mohy-ud-Din, P.C.S., from 21st October, 1938, to 15th March, 1939.

(3) Lala Lakhmi Das, P.C.S., from 16th March, 1939, to 22nd March, 1939.

(4) S. Ijaz Hussain Shah, P.C.S., from 23rd March, 1939, to 11th July, 1939.

(5) Chaudhri Nabi Ahmad, P.C.S., from 12th July, 1939, to date.

(c) (1) M. Abdul Haq Shah, B.A., a clerk of the office of Deputy Commissioner, Multan, prior to suspension up to 20th March, 1939. He was about 26 years of age and had previously worked as Secretary of the Town Committee, Jalalpur Piranwala in the Multan district.

[Sh. Faiz Muhammad.]

(2) M. Nasir Mahmud, B.A., a clerk of the office of Deputy Commissioner, Gujrat, aged 27 years, Local Self-Government Diploma holder, from 21st March, 1939, to 2nd September, 1939.

(3) M. Muhammad Ikram, B.A., aged 25 years, a clerk of the Deputy Commissioner's office, Gujrat, having experience of local fund branch, from 3rd September, 1939, to date.

ACHHUT CANDIDATES WHO APPLIED FOR BEING RECRUITED TO POLICE FORCE IN AMBALA DISTRICT.

5445. Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state whether during the last two years any Achhut candidates have applied for being recruited to the police force in the Ambala district; if so, how many were accepted, and how many rejected and in the case of the latter their names and the reasons for rejecting them?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) : As the honourable member has already been informed in reply to his question *5319¹, no Achhut candidate has been taken in the Ambala police as no candidate with the requisite physical qualifications has presented himself in that district. It is not possible to give figures of the number of candidates from the depressed classes who have offered themselves, as applications for recruitment are as a general rule made orally and no record is maintained of those who are not accepted.

I have mentioned that no Achhut candidate has yet been taken in the Ambala district, but as will be explained in the reply to another question which will shortly be coming up, the orders issued by Government in regard to the recruitment of men from the scheduled castes have been by no means without result.

Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : Do not the orders of the Honourable Premier about the recruitment of Achhuts in the police also apply to the Ambala division?

Parliamentary Secretary : These orders equally apply to the Ambala division and are being complied with. But the trouble is that suitable candidates belonging to this community are not forthcoming.

Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : May I inquire if the Superintendent of Police, Ambala, has made it a condition for Harijan candidates that they must be matriculates in order to be eligible for recruitment in the police?

Parliamentary Secretary : Not to my knowledge.

Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : Is the Parliamentary Secretary aware that when I took a student of fifth primary class to the Superintendent, he refused to accept him?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am not aware of it.

Lala Duni Chand : How has the Government tested the physical fitness or otherwise of all the Achhut young men in the Ambala district, for the purpose of recruitment ?

Parliamentary Secretary : My honourable friend should know and I believe he does know, that the Government does not test the physical fitness of the candidates. It is the appointing authority who does so.

Lala Duni Chand : Is the Government aware of the fact that when I use the word 'Government' it means the agents of the Government also who carry on certain functions on behalf of the Government—I mean the authorities to whom this business has been entrusted ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The Superintendent of Police, who is the appointing authority in this case, must have satisfied himself that the candidate who appeared was not fit for recruitment in the Police Department.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether this ban of unfitness will apply to all Achhuts in the Ambala district ? If so, for how long ?

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : May I know if all the candidates, who applied for posts and were rejected, were unfit ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No record is kept and it is not possible for me to state the number of candidates who applied, but those who did appear were not found suitable.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : May I know whether any candidates did apply ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : How many ?

Parliamentary Secretary : As I have already stated, it is not possible to give the exact number.

Lala Duni Chand : In view of the Achhut population in the Ambala district, will the Government be pleased to fix a certain number of Achhut young men for being recruited as constables ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Lala Duni Chand : Has the Government considered the question whether in view of the population strength of Achhuts in the Ambala district a certain number of posts will be allotted to them or not ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Although no definite number is fixed, every consideration is shown to the Achhut candidates provided they are physically fit.

Lala Duni Chand : سوال از آسپان جواب از ریسمان

I put a question whether the Government has considered the matter or not. I want information on that subject.

Parliamentary Secretary : I have stated that it is not possible to reserve any particular number for Achhut candidates irrespective of the fact whether those candidates are fit or not.

Lala Harman Das : Will the Parliamentary Secretary please define the expression 'physical fitness' on the floor of the House?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed. I cannot allow questions on the interpretation of expressions.

Munshi Hari Lal : Has the Government ever considered the proposal of reserving a certain number of posts for the Achhuts in the Ambala district?

Mr. Speaker : This has been answered.

Munshi Hari Lal : No, it has not been answered.

Mr. Speaker : It has been definitely answered and the honourable member is not right in saying that it has not been answered.

Parliamentary Secretary : It was answered. I did state that it was not possible to reserve a definite number of posts in the Police Department for Achhuts irrespective of the fact whether they are found physically fit or not. If the Achhut candidates are found to be physically fit, they will be recruited.

Lala Duni Chand : Assuming that candidates fulfilling the test of physical fitness are forthcoming, will the Government, in that case, fix a certain number of posts for Achhut candidates?

Mr. Speaker : A hypothetical question. Disallowed.

Minister : Why should you assume?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Has any proportion been fixed for other communities for recruitment in the Police Department?

Parliamentary Secretary : No particular percentage is fixed.

DACOITIES IN LUDEHIANA DISTRICT.

*5446. Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) the number of murders and dacoities committed in the Ludhiana district from January, 1939, to July, 1939;

(b) how many of these cases remained untraced with the reasons for which these cases remained untraced;

- (c) the findings of the courts in the cases of murders and dacoities which were traced and challaned by the police; and the period for which inquiry into each case lasted;
- (d) the name or names of the police stations in the Ludhiana district in the jurisdiction of which the number of murders and dacoities increased during this period with the reasons for this increase?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh):

(a) Murders 27; dacoities 13.

(b) Murders 4, dacoities 2. Investigation failed to provide a clue.

(c) Twenty-one cases of murder were traced and sent for trial. Eight resulted in conviction and five in acquittal. Eight are pending.

Four cases of dacoity were traced and sent for trial. Two resulted in conviction and two are pending.

Statements are laid on the table showing the period the inquiry lasted in each case of murder and dacoity separately.

(d) The following police stations showed an increase in the period mentioned:—

Murders.—Ludhiana City, Ludhiana Sadr, Raikot, Dehlon, Dakha and Sahnewal.

Dacoities.—Ludhiana Sadr, Khanna, Dehlon, Dakha, Shehna and Sahnewal.

The increase in murder is general throughout the province. In regard to this a reference is invited to the last Report on Police Administration in the Punjab and the Government review thereon. The increase in dacoity in Ludhiana is due to the presence in the district and in neighbouring districts and states of a number of desperate proclaimed offenders for whose capture special measures are being taken.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan: Has the Government ever considered the desirability of ascertaining the reasons for the increase in crime in this particular district?

Mr. Speaker: Has not the Parliamentary Secretary answered that point?

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan: He has said, "throughout the province."

Mr. Speaker: He said, "adjoining districts and states."

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan: My question is, has he been able to ascertain the reasons for increase in crime so far as this district is concerned?

Parliamentary Secretary: I have already stated that the increase in dacoity in Ludhiana is due to the presence in the district and in the neighbouring districts and states of a number of desperate proclaimed offenders for whose capture special measures are being taken.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Has it come to the notice of the Government that the chief reason for this state of affairs is the association of the police officers with bad characters and the absconders ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I strongly repel the insinuation.

Lala Duni Chand : Is the Government aware of the fact that the serious crime in Ludhiana district has reacted upon the adjoining districts of Ambala and, if so, what steps the Government proposes to take to stop this reaction ? This is a most important question.

Parliamentary Secretary : My honourable friend is welcome to draw any conclusions.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Does the Government receive quarterly or half-yearly reports from the Ludhiana district regarding the increase in crime ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Reports are received from all districts in the ordinary course but if my honourable friend wants to know about any particular report about Ludhiana district, he should give notice.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Has the Government ever considered the desirability of sending for reports from the Superintendent of Police regarding the reasons for the increase in crime ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The reasons have already been stated.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Has the Parliamentary Secretary ever tried to ask the Superintendent of Police for a periodical report as to the increase in crime ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If there are any special reasons, the Government asks for a special report.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Is the Parliamentary Secretary sure that periodical reports from the police are received by the Government ? Do they receive them from every district fortnightly and monthly ?

Parliamentary Secretary : My honourable friend from Ludhiana referred to special reports. I have stated that when there is abnormal increase in crime in a particular district, special reports are called for. In the ordinary course reports are sent by the district authorities to the headquarters periodically.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Is he aware that in murder and dacoity cases, reports are sent to headquarters as special reports.

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Then for what purpose does he require notice about the question put by Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Has it come to the notice of the Parliamentary Secretary that during the visits of the Honourable Ministers to the Ludhiana district, the people of that district complained to them about the increase in crime and against the police officers ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am not aware of it. But if my honourable friend gives notice, I shall collect the information.

TRAVELLING ALLOWANCE DRAWN BY SUPERINTENDENT, POLICE, LUDHIANA.

5447. Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state the amount of travelling allowance drawn by the Superintendent of Police, Ludhiana, from January to July, 1939?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): Rupees 1,651-2-0. (This includes certain transfer charges.)

ABSCONDERS.

5448. Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- the names of absconders, if any, whom the Ludhiana police has not been able to arrest so far;
- the place or places to which these absconders belong and the nature of the offence which they committed before absconding, with the name of the police stations in the jurisdiction of which the offences were committed by these absconders;
- the number of raids that were arranged by the Superintendent of Police, Ludhiana, in pursuit and for the arrest of these absconders from January, 1939, to August, 1939, and again from August, 1939, to the end of October, 1939?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh)

- (a) and (b) A statement¹ is laid on the table.

¹Placed in the Assembly Library.

(c) Raids are made almost daily from the various police stations and from district headquarters in the hope of arresting one proclaimed offender or another. To prepare a complete list of these would entail an expenditure of time and labour out of all proportion to the results to be secured.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : I have asked about the raids arranged by the Superintendent of Police, Ludhiana. Are they too many to be numerated ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Raids made are certainly too many to be numerated here.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : I do not want to know about the raids made by other police officers, but I want to know the number of raids made by the Superintendent of Police.

Parliamentary Secretary : Raids are made under the directions of the Superintendent of Police.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : I want to know the number of raids in which he himself accompanied the raiding party.

Parliamentary Secretary : Is it a matter of such importance that my honourable friend wants information particularly ?

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : It is very important because it is on account of lack of supervision that the crime is increasing in that particular part.

Parliamentary Secretary : The question put by my honourable friend related to the raids arranged by the Superintendent of Police, that is, under the instructions of the Superintendent of Police and not directly guided by him.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if an absconder from the Ludhiana district escapes into the adjoining States like Nabha and Patiala, what steps the Government takes to prevent this escape ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Is the list of absconders very large as compared with other districts ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I require notice.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Is it correct that there are about 300 absconders in the Ludhiana district ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes, probably the figure is correct.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : The Parliamentary Secretary has himself supplied a list to me.

Parliamentary Secretary : If the honourable member has got a list with him, why should he ask this question ?

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Is that list correct ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Certainly, it is correct.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : What special measures have been adopted to arrest those absconders ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have said that raids are made almost every day to arrest those absconders.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : How many raids have been made in the month of August ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is not possible to give the exact number.

Lala Duni Chand : Has the fact that there are as many as 300 absconders weighed upon the mind of the Government, and if so, how does the Government try to get rid of that burden on its mind ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

REPRESENTATION OF MOTOR UNION, SHEIKHUPURA, TO SUPERINTENDENT OF POLICE, SHEIKHUPURA.

5451. Shrimati Raghbir Kaur : Will the Hon'ble Minister for Public Works be pleased to state whether members of the Motor Union, Sheikhpura, sent a representation to the Superintendent of Police, Sheikhpura, on 8rd March, 1939, requesting him to check the motor drivers from taking passengers from public places, bazars, and roads and to prevent the contractors from charging fee for passengers taken from outside of the limits of the lorry stands; if so, the action taken on that representation?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh): Yes. On receipt of the representation the Superintendent of Police issued orders to the officers concerned explaining the legal position and requiring them to take appropriate action.

LORRY STANDS AT SHEIKHUPURA AND CHUHARKANA.

5452. Shrimati Raghbir Kaur : Will the Hon'ble Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that the Municipal Committees of Sheikhpura and Chuharkana and the District Board of Sheikhpura have been auctioning their lorry stands for a long time; if so, the amounts received by these three local bodies, separately, from the auction of each lorry stand, annually, from 1934-35 to 1938-39;

(b) how much money has been spent on each lorry stand, annually, by the above-named local bodies from 1934-35 to 1938-39;

(c) whether it is a fact that the local bodies of the Sheikhpura district have not cared to keep these lorry stands in a serviceable condition during this period; if so, the action Government propose to take in the matter;

(d) whether the Punjab Motor Union (registered) recently sent a representation to the Punjab Government complaining against the manner in which these lorry stands are auctioned and the high-handedness of their contractors and requesting them to take necessary action under their instructions issued in October, 1939, if so, the action taken on that representation?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): (a) and (b) A statement is laid on the table.

(c) Yes. The matter is under the consideration of Government.

(d) No such representation seems to have been made recently, but Government have received a number of complaints from the Union in the past regarding the administration of the stands at various places. So far as the local bodies in the Sheikhpura district are concerned the statement now placed on the table makes it clear that the local authorities have been deriving a large profit from the stands. Government are taking the matter up with the Commissioner and Deputy Commissioner.

REVISION OF TERMINAL TAX IN LAHORE AND AMRITSAR.

*5465. Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh: Will the Hon'ble Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that in spite of the restrictions placed under the Government of India Act, 1935, on the revision of the terminal tax schedule, the Administrator, Lahore Municipality had during the last two years revised the rates of the terminal tax for imports into Lahore, and if so, under what authority such changes have been brought about;

(b) whether it is a fact that the Textile Manufacturers Association, Amritsar, has been repeatedly representing to the Government for the last three years or so the hardship caused to the industry at Amritsar on account of rate of tax being higher on yarns than on piecegoods; if so when do the Government intend to redress this legitimate grievance of the textile industry at Amritsar?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): (a) Yes. The power conferred by section 148 (2) of the Government of India Act, 1935, includes the power to levy terminal tax at a rate lower than that obtaining on the 31st March, 1937.

(b) Yes. The matter is engaging the attention of the Municipal Committee in connection with the preparation of a new schedule of rates for octroi (without refunds). It has been pointed out to the committee that, if there is likely to be any delay in the submission of proposals relating to the imposition of octroi (without refunds), the Government of India Act, 1935, is no bar to a reduction in the existing rate of terminal tax on any articles already included in the schedule.

REPRESENTATION OF SCHEDULED CASTES IN MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE, JULLUNDUR.

5470. Seth Kishan Das: Will the Hon'ble Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) the total population in Jullundur city and the population of the scheduled castes, therein ;

(b) whether it is a fact that before nominations were made recently to the Jullundur Municipal Committee, the Punjab Ad-dharm Achhut Federation had passed a number of resolutions at its meetings held on different dates prior to the date when these nominations were gazetted and had also forwarded copies of these resolutions to the Hon'ble Minister and other authorities concerned requesting therein that a member of the scheduled castes be also nominated to the committee to safeguard their interests ;

(c) whether it is also a fact that on 28th April, 1939, an application for nomination to the municipal committee of an achhut candidate named Master Atma Ram was submitted to the authorities concerned by the Punjab Ad-Dharam Achhut Federation, Jullundur city, and that the application was not entertained and further that no member of the scheduled castes was nominated ; if so, the reasons therefor ;

(d) whether he is aware of the fact that the achhuts have such interests in the said municipality owing to their large population in the city as require a representative of theirs to safeguard them ;

(e) if the answers to the foregoing parts be in the affirmative, the action the Government proposes to take to redress the grievances of the achhuts of Jullundur in this matter, and if no action is contemplated, the reasons therefor ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): (a) According to 1931 census, the population of the Jullundur municipality is 74,295. of which 2,492 belong to scheduled castes.

(b) Yes.

(c), (d) and (e) An application suggesting the name mentioned by the honourable member was received by the Deputy Commissioner. In making his nominations the Commissioner had carefully considered the claims of the scheduled castes. Government see no reason to interfere.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it true that the test of physical fitness does not prevent the Government from nominating achhut candidates on the Jullundur District Board ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Minister : I say that there is a mental test laid down for all local bodies, but there is no such test as physical fitness.

Lala Duni Chand : Does the Government realise the absurdity of physical test ?

Minister : It is for police and other services and not for local bodies.

Lala Harnam Das : Is it a fact that the President of the Ad-Dharam Achhut Federation of the Jullundur city was nominated by the Government to the District Board, Hoshiarpur, so that he may not carry on agitation and endanger the position of the Government ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

PUBLIC WELL IN GALI BHATTAN IN JULLUNDUR CITY.

*5471. Seth Kishan Das : Will the Hon'ble Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that a public well situated in Gali Bhattan near Lal Bazar in the Jullundur municipality was thrown open to the Achhuts according to Punjab Government circular Nos. 15728, 15729/1580, C-88, and a sign-board to this effect was put up on the well by the local authorities ;

(b) whether it is a fact that the Hindus of the city of Jullundur have removed the above named sign-board in defiance of Government circular and have not only prevented the Achhuts from drawing water but have also erected a wall around it ;

(c) whether it is a fact that the Punjab Ad-Dharm Achhut Federation, Jullundur city, submitted representation to this effect on 15th July, 1939, Nos. 181/182, to the Deputy Commissioner, Jullundur, and the President, Jullundur Municipality, and sent reminders Nos. 206/207 to them which have been ignored and the matter has not been decided so far ;

(d) if the answers to the foregoing parts be in the affirmative, the action Government proposes to take to redress the grievances of the Achhuts of Jullundur in the matter ; and if no action is contemplated, the reasons therefor ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): (a) Yes.

(b) Yes.

(c) Representations were received. The Municipal Committee felt itself unable to do anything further in the matter and advised the Secretary of the Federation to seek the help of the police.

(d) Now that the matter has been brought to notice, steps will be taken to redress the grievances of the achhuts.

MOTOR LORRY ACCIDENTS.

5479. Dr. Sant Ram Seth: Will the Hon'ble Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) the number of motor lorry accidents that took place during the period from April last to October, 1939, in the province;

(b) the number of persons who died and who received injuries as a result of these accidents and also the number of lorry drivers who were convicted by the courts on having been held responsible for these accidents?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): (a) and (b) Figures for the quarter ending 30th September are still in course of compilation. During the quarter ending 30th June, 239 accidents were reported resulting in the death of 58 persons and injury to 293 others. At the time when the statistics were collected 23 cases had resulted in conviction, and 10 in the acquittal or discharge of the accused. One hundred and twenty-six were pending.

REPRESENTATIONS OF CHUHAR CHAK TO REMOVE PUNITIVE POLICE FORCE POSTED AT CHUHAR CHAK, FEROZEPUR DISTRICT.

5484. Sardar Rur Singh: Will the Hon'ble Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that representations have been made by the inhabitants of Chuhar Chak, tahsil Moga, district Ferozepore, to remove the punitive police force posted at Chuhar Chak, Dhudike, to Deputy Commissioner, Ferozepore district, Hon'ble Premier and Hon'ble Minister of Revenue;

(b) if so, the action contemplated to be taken in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh): The honourable member is invited to refer to the answer given to his question *4301 during the last Budget session.

REPRESENTATION REGARDING USING OF MOTOR STANDS BY THE LAHORE MUNICIPALITY.

5499. Maulvi Mazhar Ali Azhar : Will the Hon'ble Minister of Public Works be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Punjab Motor Union (registered, Lahore, recently made a representation to the Government alleging therein that the Lahore Municipality, contrary to the definite instructions issued by the Government in their letter No. 6877-H.-37/37180, dated 29th October, 1937, is using the stands in the municipal area as a source of income without providing any facilities to the public and lorry wallas, if so, the action taken by the Government on that representation ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : Yes. The representation has been forwarded to the Commissioner, with the request that he will have the complaint investigated and take such action as he may find appropriate.

USING OF PUBLIC PLACES IN LAHORE MUNICIPALITY FOR COLLECTING PASSENGERS FOR MOTOR LORRIES.

5500. Maulvi Mazhar Ali Azhar : Will the Hon'ble Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that the P. B. Motor Union (registered), Lahore, recently made a representation to the Government, A.I.G., Police Traffic, and the district officials, Lahore district, alleging that the public places in Lahore municipal area are being used for collecting passengers without the approval of the registering authority, Lahore, as required by rule 58-A, Pb. Motor Rules, 1931, read with section 2 (24) of the Motor Vehicle Act 1939 ;

(b) if the answer to (a) above be in the affirmative, the action taken by the Government to check the daily breach of law ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) No representation seems to have been received recently apart from that mentioned in the honourable member's last question.

(b) Does not arise.

RECRUITMENT OF ACHHUTS IN THE POLICE.

5503. Chaudhri Faqir Chand : Will the Hon'ble Minister for Public Works be pleased to state whether the Superintendents and Deputy Superintendents of Police in the Punjab have been given any instructions by the Punjab Government to recruit more Achhuts to the Police force ; if so, the action taken by them in compliance with those instructions and the number of Achhuts recruited so far throughout the Punjab after these instructions were issued ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh): Yes. last year eleven members of the scheduled castes were recruited. For the current year to date the figure is eighteen.

VOTING OF MONEY FOR WAR BY LOCAL BODIES IN PUNJAB.

5509. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh: Will the Hon'ble Minister for Public Works be pleased to state the names of the district boards and municipal committees in the Punjab that have voted money for the purposes of war since the 8th September up to date and the total amount so voted by all these local bodies?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): As Government have decided that local bodies should not be allowed to contribute towards war funds, I trust the honourable member will agree that it is not necessary to collect the information asked for by him.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh: How many district boards have voted money for the purpose of War?

Parliamentary Secretary: Some of the district boards did vote money but Government did not accord its sanction because no money can be given for the purpose without the sanction of the Government. As Government did not receive any amount it is hardly necessary to collect the information.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh: How many district boards in all have voted money for war?

Parliamentary Secretary: I have already stated that no useful purpose would be served by collecting the information. The Government have decided that district boards are not to be allowed to vote money for this purpose and, therefore, if any board has voted any money the Government is sure to suspend that resolution. Thus there was no need to collect the required information.

MURDERS IN ROHTAK DISTRICT.

5520. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: Will the Hon'ble Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of murders that have taken place in the Rohtak district during the last two years;
- (b) the number of persons challaned and convicted for these murders;
- (c) whether it is a fact that in many murder cases police has not been able to arrest the alleged offenders;
- (d) the number of such alleged offenders who have been declared by the courts as absconders;
- (e) whether it is a fact that their number is increasing every month and a feeling of insecurity prevails in the public due to the failure of the police in arresting the culprits;
- (f) if the answer to the above be in the affirmative, what steps Government has taken or proposes to take in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh):

- (a) 78.
 (b) Challenged 97. Convicted 26.
 (c) No. Only two men wanted (in a single case) are at large.
 (d) Two.
 (e) No.
 (f) Does not arise.

METALLED ROADS IN PAKPATTAN TAHSIL.

5535. Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana: Will the Hon'ble Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether he is aware of the fact that no metalled road connects the Beit area of tahsil Pakpattan with any market town;
 (b) whether he is aware of the fact that the inhabitants of the above-named area are put to a great deal of inconvenience for want of a metalled road; if so, the action Government proposes to take in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): (a) No—Three metalled roads are fairly close to the Beit area and connect it with Burewala, Arafwala and Pakpattan towns and they are:—

- (i) Arafwala-Fitna-Jamlara road,
 (ii) Arafwala-Qabula road, and
 (iii) Jamlara-Mana-Burewala road.

(b) As compared with other tahsils of the district this area has greater length of metalled roads approaching it and the inhabitants of the ilaqa have sufficient facilities for bringing their produce to markets. No further action is proposed to be taken in the matter.

REPRESENTATION OF MUSLIMS IN DISTRICT BOARD, MONTGOMERY.

5536. Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana: Will the Hon'ble Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the proportion of each community in the population of the Montgomery district;
 (b) the communal representation among the elected members of the Montgomery District Board;
 (c) whether it is a fact that the Muslims according to their population are not fully represented on the said district board; if so, what action, if any, Government propose to take in the matter to remove the grievances of the Muslims in this connexion permanently, and if no action is contemplated, the reasons therefor?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): (a) The population of each community within the district board areas is:—

Muslims	675,198
Sikhs	142,325
Hindus and others	129,675

(b) In the last general elections held in 1935, the number of elected members of each community was:—

Muslims	19
Sikhs	6
Hindus and others	2

(c) The Muslims secured full representation according to the formula adopted by Government, based on the mean of population and voting strength.

SHIFTING OF POLICE STATION TO KABULA.

5542. Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana: Will the Hon'ble Minister of Public Works be pleased to state whether it is a fact that Kabula in the Pakpattan tahsil of the Montgomery district, to which place the police station was shifted some time ago, is situated in a corner of the ilaga under the jurisdiction of the said police station and that in the absence of satisfactory traffic arrangements in the ilaga the officers and the public are put to great inconvenience in reaching the police station; if so, the action intended to be taken in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh): The area included in the Maluka police station forms an irregularly shaped quadrilateral. Maluka is in the centre of the eastern half of the quadrilateral, whilst Qabula may be described as being slightly north-west of the centre of the western half. Maluka is a village with no amenities of any kind. Qabula, on the other hand, is the headquarters of a sub-tahsil, is connected by a metalled road with Arafwala (nine miles away), and contains a post office, a dispensary, a school and a rest-house. It is thus far more suitable as the headquarters of the police station than Maluka.

REPRESENTATION OF SCHEDULED CASTES ON MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE, JULLUNDUR.

5544. Lala Harnam Das: Will the Hon'ble Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- the population and voting strength of scheduled castes within the Municipal Committee, Jullundur city;
- the number at present of nominated members in the above-mentioned municipal committee;

- (c) whether it is a fact that no representative of the scheduled castes has been nominated as a member of that committee, if so, the reasons for the same?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) According to the Census of 1931 there are 2,492 members of scheduled castes in the Jullundur municipality. The number of voters is 1,074.

(b) Three.

(c) The answer to the first part is in the affirmative. The Commissioner had carefully considered the claims of the scheduled castes before making the nominations.

Sardar Mula Singh : May I ask whether any achhut offered himself as a candidate for nomination?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice of that question.

Sardar Mula Singh : Will the parliamentary secretary be pleased to state whether the Ad Dharam Federation, Jullundur, recommended anybody to the Deputy Commissioner for nominating him as a member of the committee?

Parliamentary Secretary : Again I must ask for notice.

Lala Harnam Das : Will the parliamentary secretary be pleased to state whether the population of any city includes more achhuts than that of Jullundur?

Parliamentary Secretary : I do not carry the whole Census Report in my head. The honourable member can find it out for himself.

Lala Harnam Das : Is not the population of the achhuts in Jullundur enough to necessitate the nomination of a member from among them?

Lala Harnam Das : How long will the Government continue to mince matters like this?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

SCHEDULED CASTES' YOUNG MEN RECRUITED IN POLICE DEPARTMENT.

5546. Bhagat Hans Raj : Will the Hon'ble Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the total number of scheduled castes' young men recruited so far in the Police department during the current year ;
- (b) whether there are any scheduled castes' qualified young men registered for recruitment by the Superintendent, Police, Sialkot, since September, 1933 ; if so, the reasons for not recruiting them ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) : (a) Eighteen men of the scheduled castes have been recruited as constables in the Punjab police during the current year, including two in the Sialkot district.

[S. B. S. Ujjal Singh.]

(b) Two members of the scheduled castes have been registered as candidates in the Sialkot district since September, 1938, but these particular two have not been recruited, as candidates with better qualifications were available.

Bhagat Hans Raj : May I know if the conditions for recruitment are the same throughout the province or vary from district to district ?

Parliamentary Secretary : They are the same throughout the province.

Bhagat Hans Raj : If so, may I know the reasons as to why these two young men, when they have been put up so many times after their medical examination by the Civil Surgeon, have been rejected by the Superintendent of Police ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Reasons have been given in the reply and if my honourable friend has any particular complaint and brings it to the notice of the Government, the matter will be looked into.

Bhagat Hans Raj : May I know why after the medical test by the Civil Surgeon and the report of the Deputy Superintendent of Police these men were not considered suitable for recruitment ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already stated the reasons for not recruiting those two particular candidates, but if the honourable member has any particular complaint and prefers it to the Honourable Minister, he will look into the matter and take action.

Bhagat Hans Raj : It is quite evident from the question. May I know the reasons why for full one year these two young men have not been taken ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The reason as has already been stated is that candidates with better qualifications were available.

Bhagat Hans Raj : May I know what those better qualifications are which the young men must possess ? They are both matriculates and have passed the medical test.

Parliamentary Secretary : It is not possible for me to lay down on the floor of the House the particular qualifications. I have stated in reply that as better candidates were available, these two men who were registered in September 1938 have not so far been recruited.

Bhagat Hans Raj : May I know whether they were not recruited simply because they belonged to the scheduled castes ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have stated that eighteen men belonging to the scheduled castes have been recruited during the current year, so my honourable friend's reference is not correct.

Bhagat Hans Raj : But they do not belong to the Sialkot district.

Parliamentary Secretary : According to the information I have there two candidates of the scheduled castes were recruited in the Sialkot district.

Bhagat Hans Raj : They are from some other district and not from Sialkot.

Parliamentary Secretary : They may have come from some other districts, but they were recruited by the Superintendent of Police, Sialkot.

Bhagat Hans Raj : Will the Parliamentary Secretary be pleased to state if last year instructions were issued by the Premier that 80 young men belonging to the scheduled classes may be recruited immediately ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If the honourable member gives notice I shall find out, but general instructions have been issued to all the Superintendents of Police to recruit depressed class men in the police if suitable men are available.

Bhagat Hans Raj : May I know if those instructions have not been withdrawn ?

Parliamentary Secretary : They do stand and they are being acted upon.

Lala Duni Chand : Just as Government registers young men for military purposes, will the Government consider the feasibility of registering suitable young men from among the achhuts for the purpose of recruitment ?

Mr. Speaker : This is a request for action. Disallowed.

Lala Duni Chand : I did not make any request. What I asked was—

Mr. Speaker : No more discussion please.

Lala Duni Chand : Since the present Government came into power and since the achhuts have come forward to make a demand for their share in Government services, has Government ever considered the question of preparing a list of suitable young men for the police service ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Government has not so far considered the question.

Lala Duni Chand : Will Government be pleased to consider it ?

Mr. Speaker : That is a request for action.

SCHEDULED CASTE PANCHAYAT OFFICERS.

5548. Bhagat Hans Raj : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the educational qualifications of the scheduled caste panchayat officers and assistant panchayat officers appointed recently ;
- (b) the names of the scheduled castes to which they belong ;
- (c) the districts to which these panchayat officers have been posted ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): A statement giving the required information is laid on the table.

Statement.

Serial No.	Name and designation.	Qualifications.	Community.	District to which posted.
1	2	3	4	5
1	Ram Singh Bahmani, Panchayat Officer.	(i) Studied up to Degree Standard. Failed in the B.A. Examination of the Delhi University. (ii) Nominated member of District Board, Hissar.	Chammar ..	Lahore.
2	Swatan Das, Assistant Panchayat Officer.	(i) Studied up to Matriculation Standard. (ii) General Secretary, Punjab Provincial Depressed Classes Association, Lahore. (iii) Vice-President, All-India Depressed Classes League, Delhi.	Chammar ..	Attached to the Office of the Director of Panchayat for the present.
3	Hazara Ram, Assistant Panchayat Officer.	(i) Studied up to Matriculation Standard. (ii) General Secretary Punjab Ad-Dharmi Federation, Jullundur.	Ravidasia Dharmi. Ad.	Ditto.
4	Brahmanand, Assistant Panchayat Officer.	Passed the Matriculation Examination of the Punjab University.	Chammar ..	Ditto.

Bhagat Hans Raj: Will the Parliamentary Secretary be pleased to state why almost all the scheduled caste panchayat officers have been appointed from the Ambala division?

Parliamentary Secretary: No, the honourable member's information is not correct. All of them do not belong to the Ambala division; some of them have been appointed from the Jullundur division as well.

Bhagat Hans Raj : Is the Parliamentary Secretary aware that only one has been taken from the Jullundur division and the rest belong to the Ambala division only ?

Minister for Public Works : Recruitment was not based on divisions. We recruited the best candidates from wherever they were available.

Bhagat Hans Raj : Is the Honourable Minister aware that except one Assistant Panchayat Officer, Brahma Anand by name, all others are not degree holders, that is some of them are matric plucked and one is B. A. plucked.

Minister : I have stated often here on the floor of the House that we have recruited them because they possess missionary zeal for the welfare of their community and in this case the men recruited possessed missionary zeal for the welfare of the scheduled castes.

Bhagat Hans Raj : Is the Honourable Minister aware that one of the Assistant Panchayat Officers who was once taken in the Industries Department as a matriculate but had been dismissed later on by the Director of Industries when he found out that the man had not passed the matric examination, has now been appointed as an assistant panchayat officer ?

Minister : I have stated that the test we had was missionary zeal and not educational qualifications alone.

Bhagat Hans Raj : Is the Honourable Minister prepared to make an enquiry about what I have said ?

Minister : I am not aware of it, and if any such thing had come to our notice, he would not have been recruited. Even now if such a thing is proved against the man who has been recruited on the assumption that there is nothing against him, he can be dismissed.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I ask if that was also a test of missionary zeal, deceiving the Director of Industries ?

Minister : When a man appears before us, we find out the record of his antecedents. It is quite likely that some one might have deceived.

Diwan Chaman Lall : On account of missionary zeal ?

Minister : We think that a man is very good, but he may have a bad past.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if it is not a fact that the stereotype answers which the Honourable Minister is giving do not satisfy anyone, on the other hand, they create a sense of dissatisfaction and should be deprecated ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Lala Harnam Das : Is it a fact that out of the candidates who have been appointed as panchayat officers some of them are alleged to have taken part in the agitation against the Government ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

BUILDING SCHEMES OF MIAN MUHAMMAD RAFI AND OTHERS PASSED BY LAHORE MUNICIPALITY.

5551. Shaikh Karamat Ali : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether he is aware of the fact that three building schemes, one submitted by Mian Muhammad Rafi, Bar-at Law, for an area of land on Mozang Road, Lahore, and other by Messrs. Shiv Parshad-Banarsi Das for an area of land in Sanatan Dharm College Ground, Lahore and the third by Mian Abdul Rahman, M.A., for an area of land situated between Lytton and Temple Roads, Lahore, were some time ago, sanctioned by the Local Government under section 192 of the Municipal Act; if so the conditions under which these schemes were sanctioned and how long did it take to sanction these schemes, respectively;
- (b) whether he is also aware of the fact that in spite of that sanction Mian Abdul Rahman alone has not been allowed to proceed with the execution of his scheme and that for that reason he has suffered and is suffering a serious financial loss; if so, the reasons for this differential treatment with regard to the scheme submitted by Mian Abdul Rahman and duly sanctioned by the authorities, and whether Mian Abdul Rahman is proposed to be compensated for the loss that he has suffered and is suffering?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) The answer to the first part is in the affirmative. No conditions as regards the nature of the buildings to be erected were attached to the scheme of Mian Muhammad Rafi's land. In the scheme for Messrs. Shiv Parshad Banarsi Das it was laid down that the buildings erected in the area would be used for residential purposes only. In the scheme for Mian Abdul Rahman's land, only such buildings were allowed to be erected as were intended for the sale or repair of commodities or for transacting business with or without residential accommodation. The schemes were sanctioned by Government without any avoidable delay.

(b) Government are not aware why building operations were not undertaken on Mian Abdul Rahman's land in accordance with the sanctioned scheme. It was only in June last that Government decided that the proposal of the Lahore Improvement Trust to revoke the scheme should be published for inviting objections. The Administrator, Lahore Municipality, has issued a public notice and objections received by him up to the 1st December 1939 will be duly considered. The Lahore Improvement Trust found the old scheme defective, because inter alia the width of the streets was inadequate and no open space had been provided. There is no proposal before Government for granting compensation to Mian Abdul Rahman.

SUB-INSPECTORS OF POLICE BELONGING TO DISTRICT DERA GHAZI KHAN.

5573. Khan Bahadur Sardar Muhammad Hasan Khan Gurchani : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of sub-inspectors in the Punjab police who belong to the Dera Ghazi Khan district, the number of those among them who are at present serving in the Dera Ghazi Khan district and the number of those serving in other districts of the Punjab ;
- (b) the number of those who do not belong to this district and the number of those among them who have been appointed to this district ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) : The total number of sub-inspectors in the Punjab police is 874, of whom 8 are residents of the Dera Ghazi Khan district. The number of sub-inspectors at present serving in Dera Ghazi Khan is 27. None of these are residents of the district.

Khan Bahadur Sardar Muhammad Hasan Khan Gurchani : May I know whether the police officers posted to the Dera Ghazi Khan district are sent there by way of punishment ?

Minister : No. We send there selected officers.

Khan Bahadur Sardar Muhammad Hasan Khan Gurchani : Is that district considered the Andamans of the Punjab ?

Minister : No, Sir.

Khan Bahadur Sardar Muhammad Hasan Khan Gurchani : May I know whether the police officers are glad to be posted to the Dera Ghazi Khan district ?

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : May I know whether the claims of all the districts are kept in view at the time of recruitment of inspectors, sub-inspectors and assistant sub-inspectors ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes, but no rigid proportions can be fixed for each district.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : May I know the reason for that ? Is it not unjust ?

Minister : Proper attention is of course paid to the claims and representations of the various districts. But there is no specific rule fixing the number for every district. There is a selection board which pays due attention to the claims of every part of the province.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : May I ask the Honourable Minister whether he is prepared to send definite instructions to the board for paying due attention to the claims of every district.

Minister : Efforts are made to give due representation to all parts of the province, but no definite number can be fixed for any ilaga.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : May I know as to whether he is prepared to recruit candidates from the unrepresented districts, if suitable candidates are available ?

Minister : I am sure they receive all consideration that they deserve.

Chaudhri Abdul Rahim (Shakargarh) : May I enquire from the Honourable Minister as to whether candidates from those districts only are recruited the people of which can approach the board ?

Minister : I am afraid that is not the case. Candidates are selected on merit. Merit is the primary consideration.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Will the Honourable Minister kindly define the word "merit" which he has used ?

Minister : It is very difficult to define "merit". The honourable member who is a graduate knows it very well.

Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan : Is it a fact that not a single Muslim Rajput has been recruited from that district as inspector or assistant sub-inspector or sub-inspector since the advent of the British rule in that district ?

Minister : The question savours of communalism and I cannot reply it on the floor of the House.

ANNUAL RENTAL VALUE OF BUILDINGS AND LANDS ESTIMATED BY ADMINISTRATOR, LAHORE MUNICIPALITY.

5574. Rai Bahadur Lala Gopal Das : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state the annual rental value of buildings and lands estimated by the Administrator, Lahore Municipality, for the purposes of assessment of house-tax within the city walls and without the city walls separately ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : The annual value of buildings and lands assessed amounts approximately to Rs. 41,00,000 in the intramural area and Rs. 1,36,00,000 in the extramural area, excluding railway property.

APPOINTMENT OF SARDAR NARAIN SINGH AS SUB-REGISTRAR, GARHSHANKAR.

5578. Chaudhri Muhammad Abdul Rahman Khan : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether Captain Sardar Narain Singh, who has recently been appointed Sub-Registrar, Garhshankar, is in a sound position financially ;
- (b) whether he is of temperate habits ;
- (c) whether his place of residence is Garhshankar or not ;
- (d) his present age and educational qualifications ;
- (e) the reasons why he has been appointed Sub-Registrar in preference to other candidates ;
- (f) whether it is proposed to allow him to continue in office ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) Yes.

(b) Government have no information to the contrary.

(c) He lives in the tahsil at a convenient distance but will now reside at Garhshankar.

(d) Fifty-two years. He has studied up to the Matriculation standard and knows Urdu and English well.

(e) He was selected on merits.

(f) His appointment is on one year's probation.

SUB-REGISTRAR AT GARHSHANKAR.

5579. Chaudhri Muhammad Abdul Rahman Khan : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state whether it is a fact that since the advent of British rule in India, the post of the Sub-Registrar at Garhshankar has either been held by a Hindu or a Sikh except for a period of a few months when Khan Sikandar Khan was allowed to hold it ; if so, the reasons why a Muslim has never been given a chance to hold the post permanently ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : The records from 1891 show that the honourable member's information is correct. It has not been considered necessary to make a research into earlier history. The claims of Muslim candidates were considered when a selection was made recently.

REPRESENTATION OF THE SECRETARY, PUNJAB MOTOR UNION (REGISTERED), LAHORE, TO THE DEPUTY COMMISSIONER, FEROZEPORE.

5604. Lala Bhagat Ram Choda : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that the Secretary, Punjab Motor Union (registered), Lahore, made a representation personally to the Deputy Commissioner, Ferozepore, regarding :—

(i) the loading and unloading of public motor lorries and buses on footpaths within the municipal area ;

(ii) the auction of lorry stands by the Municipal Committee, Ferozepore, against the instructions of the Government issued on 29th October, 1937, in letter No. 6877-H-37/87180, and

(iii) the continuation of unapproved lorry stands in that district ;

(b) if the answer to part (a) above be in the affirmative the action taken by the authorities ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) Yes.

(b) The Deputy Commissioner has directed the Municipal Committee of Ferozepore to rescind its resolution allowing the use of road berms for loading and unloading passengers, and not to make the auction of motor stands a source of profit.

There are no unapproved lorry stands in the district.

Lala Bhagat Ram Choda : May I enquire as to whether the auction made by the Municipal Committee, Ferozepore, has been approved ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already stated that the municipal committee has been directed not to auction these lorry stands for profit.

NORTH-WESTERN RAILWAY LOCAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE.

(Result of elections.)

Mr. Speaker : I have to inform the House that Captain Ashiq Hussain and Pir Mohy-ud-Din Lal Badshah (Cheers from the Opposition) have been duly elected to serve on the North-Western Railway Local Advisory Committee to represent the rural and travelling public interests, respectively. One of the candidates for election, namely, Lala Sita Ram sent to me his withdrawal but as it was received too late his name could not be omitted from the voting papers.

LAHORE :
The 26th November, 1989. }

H. D. CRAIK,
Governor of the Punjab.

THE CITY OF LAHORE CORPORATION BILL.

Dr. Shaikh Muhammad Alam (Rawalpindi Division Towns, Muhammadan, Urban) (Urdu): Sir, the House has been discussing the motion for the circulation of the City of Lahore Corporation Bill for the last two days during which owing to your indulgence many things have been said which were not strictly relevant to the motion.

Mr. Speaker: The honourable member is requested to be relevant. He should not follow the example of others. He himself should set a wholesome example.

Dr. Shaikh Muhammad Alam: Well, Sir, I would not like to go into the details of this Bill at this stage. There are two different motions before the House; one by Government to refer this Bill to the select committee and the other by the Opposition to circulate it for eliciting public opinion thereon. So far as the latter is concerned the discussion should be restricted to proper limits. I am prepared to say and will say at the very outset that I am opposed to the circulation motion and am in favour of the motion moved by Government. And I assure my honourable friends that if permitted by my leader I will vote for it. It is possible that after hearing my sentiments and feelings on the subject the honourable Leader of the Opposition may agree either to the withdrawal of this amendment or else permit me to vote against it. (Laughter.) But I would like to make it clear that my reasons for opposing the circulation motion are different from those of my friends over there. In the first place, we know that our present Ministry is in its infancy, hardly exceeding two and a half years. No doubt it includes some old veterans of seventy or seventy-two years of age but the fact remains that its age hardly exceeds two and a half years. And the fair face of this infant child is already so badly besmirched with their acts of maladministration that I cannot afford to see it further blackened by Macnabbian polish.

Mr. Speaker: The honourable member is requested to be relevant.

Dr. Shaikh Muhammad Alam: Sir, I am in fact opposing the circulation motion and am saying that I do not like to see the Honourable Minister, who belongs to my own district, being vilified and scoffed at by people everywhere in lanes and streets and other public places for ill-designed Macnabbian measure, which would surely bring a very bad name to the Honourable Minister. And for this reason I am opposed to the circulation motion and I do not like that the Corporation Bill be circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon. Our friends may not be just to us but we should not be cruel to them. It is not becoming of the Opposition to try to bring the Honourable Minister in disrepute and lower him in the estimation of the public everywhere and also to make a display of him at his cost. They may have dislikes for us but according to the saying—we are not to be unkind to them. It is my earnest desire to help him through this difficulty and thus save his honour which is at stake and which he himself cannot protect because of his unripe judgment or circumstances beyond his control or which boys like him spoil by their unwise actions.

نکو آقا ہے بیار پر غصہ

مکو: غصہ پہ بیار آقا ہے

Mr. Speaker : Please speak to the motion.

Dr. Shaikh Muhammad Alam : Sir, what I want is that we should not risk his honour. I am rather appealing to my friends to withdraw their motion for whatever has already been done is more than enough. When the Municipal Committee was superseded we thought that a full and complete measure of local self-government would be introduced, but we are utterly disappointed to see this Corporation Bill being sponsored which lacks even the rudiments of local self-government—

وہاں یہ حکم کہ کیڑے بھی چھڈن تو اُس کے
میں منتظر کوئی خدمت حضور سے آئے

It is now being sought to have this Bill circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon and this is what I object to because I want to save my honourable friend from further disgrace.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is persisting in irrelevance and repetition.

Dr. Shaikh Muhammad Alam : I beg your pardon, Sir. When I talk of circulation motion I am perfectly relevant. (Laughter.) I request the House through you that the circulation motion should not be accepted.

Mr. Speaker : That is repetition.

Dr. Shaikh Muhammad Alam : It was my first reason for which I wanted to oppose the circulation motion. If it is circulated it will bring the Honourable Minister into disrepute with the intelligentsia of this country and along with it will reflect upon us as well. I, therefore, submit that the circulation motion should be rejected and the Government motion referring the Bill to the select committee should be carried.

There is yet another very cogent reason for opposing this circulation motion and that is that suggestions, however sound and reasonable they may be, made by the Opposition are never accepted by Government and it would be sheer waste of time to insist on them. Even if this Bill is circulated for eliciting public opinion it will serve no useful purpose inasmuch as the opinions to be expressed by the public about it can very well be offered by their representatives in this House. Besides, when a Bill is circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon, it is done with a view to effecting changes in it in accordance with the wishes of the people. But here no changes have ever been made in any of the Bills introduced in this House so far. It would be true of my friends if I say : Public opinion is required with a view to effecting changes in the Bill but this Ministry will never realize the importance of public opinion. I can, therefore, say that circulation will serve no useful purpose. It will involve mere waste of time and the energies of those inside this House. I may go a step further and say that circulation will also waste the time of the public as well as of this House because my friends over there will never agree to any reasonable suggestion made by the public at large or by this side of the House, otherwise what has already been said in favour of this motion is quite enough. This is my second reason for opposing the circulation motion.

Besides, there is the third reason which in my opinion is more important than the other two. That reason is this. It is the malpractices of a government, which brings about its downfall.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is irrelevant.

Dr. Shaikh Muhammad Alam : What I want to emphasise is that the Bill should not be circulated for eliciting public opinion, because I have serious apprehensions lest the Government should feel impressed by the opinion of the public and effect some changes in the Bill. This action on the part of the Government would enhance their life, prestige and popularity. But we do not want that it should be so. We do not like this government to last even for a moment. Our aim is that their own evil deeds may bring about their speedy ruin ; as the following couplet aptly applies to them :—

ندۂ جائے کوئی رنج و الم کی داستان باقی
تمہاری نیکان زندہ تمہاری خودیاری باقی

I am, therefore, of the opinion that our purpose would be served better if the Bill is not circulated and the Government remain indifferent to the force of public opinion. I think the withdrawal of the circulation motion on the part of the Opposition would be the best method to hasten the end of the Government. They should be given a long rope to hang themselves. We on this side of the House would rather endeavour to prevent the Government from circulating the Bill as otherwise it is possible that the people might be led away to think that the Government were keen to consult them in the matter of legislation. The people might carry away the impression that the Government appreciated the public view, paid great regard to it ; cared to hear it and esteemed it an honour to receive it. I think these are the things which if not attended to will create a deep feeling of hatred in the mind of the public. Our object is that Government should antagonise the public by not circulating the Bill. As a matter of fact this purpose would be fulfilled by the motion brought forward by the Government itself. I am sure if the circulation motion does not find favour with the Government, it would stand the Opposition in good stead. Then this couplet would aptly apply to them—

تمہاری تہذیب اچے خنجر سے آپ ہی خودکشی کر لگی
جو شاخ نازک پہ آسمانہ بنیکا ناپائیدار ہوگا

In fact we keenly desire that the Government should be shattered to pieces and that these pieces be blown away by the first gush of the wind. (Laughter.) I would, therefore, request, pray to and entreat my honourable friends of the Opposition not to press the circulation motion.

One of my sisters had remarked that the Bill was fit to be assigned to the waste paper box. I would suggest that it should not be thrown away there as I have apprehensions lest the worms which would eat away these scraps of paper might imbibe the non-chalant and imperialistic attitude of the Government (laughter). In my opinion the pieces may be sent to some special firm which make special papers for some special purpose. (Laughter.)

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is indulging in irrelevance.

Dr. Shaikh Muhammad Alam : Sir, I was explaining my point of view with regard to the circulation motion. My reasons are three-fold. Firstly, the Opposition should refrain from pressing this motion and save the Government from ignominy and infamy. Secondly, they do not stand to gain anything out of the circulation motion because they would be helping the Government to come into close contact with the public. Thirdly and lastly, I see no reason why they should be so solicitous about the safety of a Government which is bent upon perishing. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is repeating arguments.

Dr. Shaikh Muhammad Alam : I was enumerating the reasons which amply prove that the Bill should not be circulated but referred to a select committee. I have every right to speak in support of the Government motion.

Mr. Speaker : I request the honourable member not to persist in irrelevance or repetition. Rule 76 of this House is :—

“The Speaker, after having called the attention of the Assembly to the conduct of a member who persists in irrelevancy or in tedious repetition either of his own arguments or of the arguments used by other members in debate, may direct him to discontinue his speech.”

I hope the honourable member will keep this rule in view.

Munshi Hari Lal : On a point of order, Sir. Is the speech of the honourable member tedious? The word used in the Rule is “tedious.”

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is a sound lawyer and knows what “tedious” means.

Dr. Shaikh Muhammad Alam : I bow to your ruling. I would not reiterate the arguments I have already advanced. I would not repeat the words, the sentences, the expressions which have already been used by me. I would request my friends on this side of the House to withdraw the circulation motion.

Mr. Speaker : This has been said more than once.

Dr. Shaikh Muhammad Alam : I bow to your ruling, Sir. I have much greater respect for you than is known to you or to any other honourable member of this House. I will not say a word against your ruling. But I would like to submit that when other honourable members go wide of the mark during their speeches you tolerate them; but in my case I find that you cannot brook an irrelevancy or repetition. However, as I have already stated, I am speaking in favour of the Government and I would say not once, twice or thrice but a hundred times, a thousand times, a million times that the Bill should not be circulated. Let the Government perish if they so desire. Let them come to disgrace if they are after it. (Loud applause and cheers.) With these words I oppose the circulation motion.

Rao Pohop Singh (East Punjab Landholders) (Urdu) : Sir, as you are aware, the honourable members have more often than not raised the question of supersession of the Lahore Municipality on the floor of the House, through interpellations or by making references to the matter on an opportunity offering. The Government have very kindly in response to their wishes, brought forward the Corporation Bill. Now the Government are of the opinion that the measure should be straightaway referred to a select committee and they have moved a motion to that effect. But the Opposition have tabled an amendment to that proposal. They want that the Bill should be circulated for the purpose of eliciting public opinion. In this connection many things have been said about the municipal administration of Lahore. I do not know whether the Macnabbian regime has proved useful or otherwise. But this much I can say that during the last three days sweeping remarks have been made against the Administrator by the honourable members opposite. It was stated that the municipal administration under his stewardship had proved far worse than what it was during the life time of the superseded municipality. But I cannot help saying that no concrete facts have been adduced in support of such vague allegations. Now whether the Macnabbian regime has been good or bad, it is a matter of gratification that the Bill now before the House seeks to establish responsible local self-government in place of rule of one man.

Dr. Shaikh Muhammad Alam : On a point of order. The honourable member is irrelevant. He is not confining his speech to the circulation motion or to the motion that the Bill be referred to a select committee. I am the last person to object.

Mr. Speaker : At this stage only the principle of the Bill and its general provisions may be discussed.

Dr. Shaikh Muhammad Alam : I bow to your ruling, Sir.

Rao Pohop Singh : Sir, I was submitting that the Bill seeks to bring about a tremendous change in the municipal administration of the premier city of the province. Now I come to the objections raised against the provisions of nomination made in the Bill. In this connection I may state that in democratic institutions like the corporations it has been considered advisable to have a certain percentage of nominated members among the elected ones. But I admit that an institution having a nominated element cannot be called an ideal institution. The ideal stage is that in which there is no nomination at all and all seats are filled by election alone. But we should remember that whereas we are demanding more and more rights and complete powers, we should at the same time be prepared to shoulder more responsibilities and develop a better sense of responsibility than before. We should try to quicken the growth of civic and political consciousness in the masses.

My honourable friend Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt was pleased to say that the honourable members of the Opposition had made efforts to get the municipality superseded as the conditions were in those days deplorable. Moreover, Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang who now adorns the benches of the Opposition used to say in the days of elections that no Hindu should vote for a Congress candidate, but now he has been embraced by the honourable members of the Congress. I have made this remark just by the way. He was in charge of local self-Government when the municipality was superseded.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is not relevant.

Rao Pohop Singh : It will be admitted on all hands that when the Municipality of Lahore was superseded, the conditions were certainly bad. There was communal disruption and so many other unpleasant things. The situation has not improved even now, and communal harmony has not been restored.

Again, nomination is not altogether bad. It has some good points too. In the first instance the masses are illiterate and secondly, elections entail heavy expenditure. Thirdly, sometimes the electorates are duped by clever and rich people and the real representatives are not elected. To safeguard against these defects nominations are provided for certain interests so that their true representatives are given a chance in the Corporation. (Begum Rashida Latif Baji : What is your opinion about the Assembly?) There are nominated members in the other Corporations even now. What is the harm if they are allowed in the Lahore Corporation as well? On the other hand nomination will avoid dupes and bring real representatives in the Corporation. Out of a total number of 68 members, only 17, that is one-fourth, will be nominated. My honourable friend Malik Barkat Ali was pleased to inform the House that in the beginning there used to be 50 per cent nominations in the other Corporations and gradually the percentage of nominated members was decreased. May I ask in fairness from the honourable members of the Opposition if the conditions in Lahore have improved in spite of the fact that the municipality was suspended three years ago? If not, why should they object to the Government taking the necessary action? There is the possibility that the number of nominated members fixed at 17 now, may still be decreased during the select committee stage. There is, therefore, no need of circulating the Bill for eliciting public opinion on this account. After all nomination is not a thing that should be entirely done away with. There is nomination in other Corporations existing in India. (Begum Rashida Latif Baji : I wonder if the honourable member has even read other Corporation Acts.) The second important thing that the Opposition should realise is that this House is entirely composed of elected members and the present Government of the Punjab enjoys the best confidence of the overwhelming majority of this House. Do they think that nominations made by such a popular Government can do any harm to the best interests of the people?

Next comes the question of taxation. It will be readily admitted that the House Property Tax shall have to be imposed in Lahore. Now this is based on a sound principle. Even my honourable friends sitting on the Opposition benches have been frequently crying themselves hoarse against the financial weakness of the local bodies. Only the other day we had a question put by the Opposition in this House about the financial difficulties of local bodies. The paucity of municipal funds is notorious. But on the other hand we daily hear ever-increasing demands for more schools, better arrangements for light and water supply and more medical relief. But do not my honourable friends realise that these things cannot be supplied without money? In fact the dwellers of cities are not accustomed to paying taxes. It is the rural population that is groaning under the heavy burden of taxation. The citizens have so far been immune from taxation. Even their representatives have been afraid of taxing them because their voters would thereby be up against them. That is why there are few taxes in the cities, and municipal funds are always poor. Let the dwellers of Lahore remember that those good old days are gone when they could demand a debt of one crore of rupees from the Government for providing amenities for themselves alone, that is, rupees sixty lakhs as gratuitous loan and 40 lakhs loan without interest. They should also realise that hitherto the rural population has been paying towards taxes imposed by Government 14 annas and the urban population 2 annas only in the rupee. But now the urban population will not be allowed to grow fat at the expense of the rural population. If they want more amenities for themselves, they will have to pay for them. Provincial funds will not be placed at their disposal. The would-be members of the Lahore Corporation should be grateful to the Government that they have agreed to tax their electorates who would have otherwise resented such taxation by their own representatives. They should offer their thanks to the Government on this score. In this connection I am glad to note that my honourable friend Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt has pointed out, in a half-hearted manner though, that taxes should be imposed on the dwellers of the cities. The same necessity has been stressed by the Parliamentary Secretary, Begum Shah Nawaz in no unmistakable manner. The House would be grateful to these honourable members for having pointed towards the right course in this connection. In fact the time has come when the urban peoples should realise that whereas it is true that there should be "no taxation without representation" it is also true to say "no amenities without taxation."

The third objection of my honourable friends is that the area of the proposed Corporation will represent a great increase on the area of the present municipal committee. This objection, I daresay, is born of narrow-mindedness. My honourable friends are glad that all the vegetable growers and milkwallas who come to Lahore every day and supply the necessary articles of food to the citizens of Lahore should pay taxes to the Corporation but no amenity should be provided for them by the Corporation. For the purposes of taxation they should be exploited all right, but when the question of giving amenities of life to them is raised, they should be kept out of the Corporation area. This is narrow-mindedness, I shall again say. The objection against giving them certain rights is also born of the same narrow-mindedness.

The fourth point which has been made out by my friends on the opposite benches is this. The merchants of Lahore should also be given separate representation in the Lahore Corporation. But all the merchants of Lahore will be voters and as such they will be able to return their representatives. Special representation is meant for those people who are very few in number but who, nevertheless, represent important interests. This principle does not apply to merchants of Lahore. If this demand is conceded, every small community or interest will demand separate representation and that will be repugnant to the principle of democracy itself.

Lala Duni Chand : The honourable member is not half so interesting to-day as he generally is.

Mr. Speaker : No remarks please.

Rao Pohop Singh : I shall say about this also. Another objection which has been raised is this. The chief executive officer will be appointed by Government and he will be dismissed only if three-fourths of the members of the Corporation are unanimous. But even this objection is not of much use if we keep in mind what was happening in the committee which was superseded. A few years ago the Lahore Municipal Committee had to appoint an engineer. There were unprecedented scenes over the appointment of the engineer. If the Corporation is given the power to appoint the executive officer, the same quarrels will be staged once again. On the first day of his appointment, the executive officer will be confronted by two parties hostile to each other. In these circumstances, he will not be able to work at all. He will be involved in so many difficulties. Some people will be in his favour; others will be opposed to him. Some members will press for his removal; others will say that he should be retained. In these circumstances it is but necessary that the appointment of the proposed executive officer is made by Government. And in spite of what some gentlemen may say this Government has the confidence of an overwhelming majority. Its choice of an executive officer will be liked by the majority. Then, another objection has been raised against the three-fourths majority which is required in the case of removing the executive officer. The three-fourths majority has been fixed to make it impossible for the members of the Corporation to treat the officer like a football, which is kicked by one party this way and another party in a different direction. But I am sure if the executive officer is a real nuisance, the Corporation will find no difficulty in turning him out.

An Honourable Member : Is the Administrator of the Lahore Municipal Committee a nuisance or not?

Rao Pohop Singh : A question has been put to me as to whether the Administrator of the Lahore Municipality is a nuisance. I can only say that the Administrator was appointed because the citizens of Lahore did not show better sense of their responsibility. Moreover, the Lahore committee was not superseded by the present Government. It was the doing of a gentleman who sits on the Opposition benches to-day. I am, however, not fond of making sweeping remarks about a gentleman's work. I am glad to say that the Administrator of the Lahore Municipality has done some good work in connection with the repair of the roads of Lahore. He has got repaired, for instance, the Jail Road, the Circular Road and the Mozang Road. He has conceived a sewage scheme and work has actually been started on that scheme. But in spite of all these things it is not for me to eulogise the Macnabbian administration. Nor is it my business to defend Mr. Macnabb here.

Begum Rashida Latif Baji : Sir, with your permission I wish to make a request to the honourable member. If Mr. Macnabb is such a good administrator, the honourable member should get him appointed to the Hissar district so that he may improve the conditions there.

Rao Pohop Singh : Now, I shall say something on the manner in which the learned Dr. Alam made his speech. It has been urged that the Bill should be circulated till the 31st of March or 30th of April. I will say that it may be circulated till 30th April, 1943, because I find that under the much-maligned Macnabbian administration the city of Lahore is being improved. I am sure that if even one-thirtieth of the amenities which are now enjoyed by the citizens of Lahore are provided to the people living in the countryside, this province will be considered one of the best provinces not only of this country but of the whole world.

This Bill must take two or three months to pass on to the Statute Book. Strength will be measured at every step and on each clause. Therefore if it is put off by the acceptance of the circulation motion, other Bills of rural interest which are lying in the drawers of Sir Chhotu Ram and other Ministers waiting for their turn will get a chance to be introduced and passed into law. But if the Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill wants it to be referred to the select committee, we are prepared to vote accordingly.

Now as regards the attitude of the Opposition to the Bill being referred to a select committee it appears that they had been consulted and the names of the members of the Opposition who were to work on the committee had been agreed upon. If there was any difference or dispute it was about the addition of one more name. This shows that in reality they have no serious objection to committing the Bill to the select committee. If, as my honourable friend Dr. Muhammad Alam tried to make out, the Bill was really so repugnant to them, they would not have agreed to sit on the select committee. On the other hand they would have resorted to their favourite weapon of non-cooperation. I am not prepared to admit that gentlemen like the honourable leader of the Opposition or Diwan Chaman Lal were allured to work on the committee simply for the sake of allowance or to feed their vanity. Not at all. They agreed because they were not seriously opposed to the idea of the Bill being referred to a select committee. All this discussion that has been going on for three days was a show which has cost the tax-payer 13 or 14 thousand rupees.

In the end I hope that I shall not be called inconsistent or irresponsible if I say that just at present I neither oppose nor support the motion for circulation. I shall vote according to the whip issued by our leader.

Rai Sahib Lala Sohan Lal (North Punjab, Non-Union, Labour) (Urdu): Sir, I rise to support the motion to commit the Bill to a select committee and to oppose the one for circulating it for eliciting public opinion thereon. In my opinion the circulation of the Bill will serve no useful purpose. It will only cause unnecessary delay. So far as the attitude of the Opposition is concerned I am sure that if the Honourable Minister's motion were to circulate the Bill my honourable friends opposite would certainly have come forward with a motion to commit the Bill to a select committee. In support of that motion they would have said that the citizens of Lahore are tired of the present state of affairs and want it to be ended as soon as possible. Thus they would have pressed on the Government the necessity for expediting the passage of the Bill. For these very reasons I am of the opinion that from the point of view of the public of Lahore it is necessary to eliminate all unavoidable delay to end the present regime in the municipality. I must admit that I cannot appreciate the present attitude of the Opposition. I could understand their view point if they had asked the Government to resuscitate the municipal committee pending the passage of the Bill. But I cannot understand this dilatory motion in the absence of any such demand. I myself wrote to the Honourable Minister that this Bill will take some two years to pass through all stages, and, therefore, steps should be taken to revive the committee and end the present one-man rule. I fail to understand why we should cause unnecessary delay in our own business. With these words I oppose the motion for circulation.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava (Lahore City, General, Urban) (Urdu): Sir, I rise to support the amendment moved by my honourable friend Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt. The Bill under consideration requires only 10 sections to make it 420. (Laughter). But since there are four sections which have been attached to other sections as extra sections the actual (deficiency is of 6 sections which is the number of our Ministers. (Renewed laughter). So, it is all complete 420 before the House.

Sir, when I saw the Corporation Bill in the Government Gazette I read it most carefully. I formed a similar view about it as my honourable friend Rao Pohop Singh has just now expressed. I definitely held that the Bill deserved to be thrown into the waste paper basket. You know it full well that the minds of the citizens of Lahore are agitating and they are clamouring for effecting certain radical changes in the Lahore municipal affairs. The people of Lahore generally demand three things to be done. Firstly, they desire that the orders for the supersession of the committee should be cancelled or withdrawn. Secondly, they demand that the present Administrator of the Lahore Municipality should be removed forthwith. This gentleman has been made the despotic ruler of my city. He does not care a hang for the public opinion and thus nobody in Lahore is pleased with his arbitrary rules. But still the Government has the cheek to keep him there as day before yesterday the Honourable Minister was pleased to remark in reply to a question of Sardar Hari Singh that the Government did not propose to take any action for his removal for the present. Sir, the third demand of the citizens of Lahore is that the proposed house-tax should not be levied for the time being. Personally we are not opposed to any further taxation. But our contention is that there should be no taxation without representation. Our point is that since the tax is being levied without the consent of our duly elected representatives we are not certain as to whether our representatives would be consulted or not even at the time of the disbursement of the income from this tax. According to the democratic principles it is absolutely essential to disburse such income in consultation with the representatives of that section of the population which generally contributes towards it. But when we draw the attention of the Government to this general rule or principle we are exhorted to help the Government to effect the speedy enactment of this Bill. They say that unless we accept it the Government is not prepared to accede to our requests and remove the Administrator from his present post. At the time of the supersession of the committee we were told that since the members of the Lahore Municipal Committee were incapable and inefficient and were not prepared to work in harmony with the Executive Officer, it was absolutely difficult for the municipal machinery to run smoothly. Thus it was thought fit to issue orders for the supersession of the committee. Now we are told that since we are not able as yet to successfully administer our own affairs the Administrator cannot be removed. Then the question is as to whether there still exist those conditions that were obtaining in the committee at the time of its supersession. If those conditions still exist then what improvement has been effected by this officer and if they do not exist then what is the use of keeping him still there? Is it becoming of a government that claims to be popular and democratic to say that it is not prepared to act in accordance with the wishes of the general public? Is it proper on its part to keep that gentleman still there despite our vehement protests?

As far as the house tax is concerned I may tell my honourable friends that the Administrator wanted to impose 10 per cent tax against the wishes of the citizens. But the Ministers instead of coming to the rescue of the citizens suggested to him to impose this tax outside the city walls also as they were of the opinion that house tax collected from inside the city alone would not be enough. Now we see that it has been provided in the Bill that 5 per cent. tax will be imposed on houses outside the city and 10 per cent. on houses within the walls of the city. My submission is that there is not much difference between houses outside and inside the city. When the people of the city are against the tax being levied I think there is no reason in charging even 5 per cent tax from the houses situated inside the city. The people are against the assessment made by the Administrator. It is, therefore, clear that they have lost their confidence in him. The inhabitants of Lahore objected to this step of the Administrator by saying that they would not be satisfied with the assessment unless it was made by the representatives of the public, if the house tax was at all necessary. Moreover it has been provided in the Bill that the assessment made by the Administrator will be considered as final and it shall not be altered unless the Chief Executive Officer wishes to remove it. Sir, we raised a voice against the house tax and we have been given this reward for our demands. As far as this attitude of the sponsors of the Bill is concerned we could avoid the necessity of going into the discussion of this Bill by non-co-operating with this Bill and refusing to pay the house tax. But unfortunately we are not strong enough to do that. Under these circumstances I am obliged to thrash out the merits of the Bill. I therefore think we should extend a helping hand towards them so that, if possible, they may improve the substance of the Bill.

Now let us see as to why this Bill has been brought forward. We can believe three reasons for that. First of all, as the Honourable Minister has said while moving that the Bill be referred to a select committee, he has come to know the defects in the administration of the Lahore Municipality since he took charge of this department. As has been given in the statement of objects and reasons, this Bill has been brought forward on account of the maladministration of the municipal committee and inefficiency of the members. Besides, they were engaged in communal dissensions and presidents of the committee used to work honorarily and therefore they could not exercise proper check and supervision over the municipal affairs. We have been told that many a time files were requisitioned but they were never sent. It has further been said from the Treasury benches that the ills of the municipal affairs could not be cured with the help of the Municipal Act which was found to be insufficient to do the needful. Therefore the Government wanted to bring forward such a Bill that might help them in removing the wrongs and defects of the municipal affairs. The Government may consider it a blessed step but as far as public opinion is concerned, I should like to submit that instead of investing the public with larger powers the Government are reserving them for themselves. The provisions and rules to be made under this Bill are likely to be more stringent than even those of The Punjab Municipal (Executive Officers) Act. My submission therefore is that it is not fair on the part of this so-called popular government to say that people are not competent enough to take charge of their own work and it does not become of them to frame such a retrograde Bill.

It has been said from the other side while proving the maladministration of the municipality that Dobson Committee had been appointed in this connection. But before I make a mention of this fact I should like to draw your attention to one or two remarks which the Honourable Minister of Development sitting over there was pleased to make during the discussion on the Punjab Municipal (Executive Officers) Bill in 1931. When the Government was in favour of 5/8th majority and the opposition proposed two-third, Rao Bahadur Chaudhri (Now Sir) Chhotu Ram in reply to Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang, the then Minister of Local Self-Government, said :—

The honourable member from Amritsar told us the other day that there was a time when Dr. Gokul Chand Narang, used to be the roaring lion of opposition benches. What has happened which has turned him into a bleating lamb of treasury benches? What is it which has worked such a tremendous change in his mentality? There was a time when he used to be the apostle of democracy. What is it that has induced him to wreck the whole institution of democracy with his own hands in this province? There was a time when he used to be an ardent advocate of popular rights and popular liberties. What is it that has changed him to such an extent that he is to-day a destroyer of those very political liberties which he used to defend with so much ardour and enthusiasm?

Sir, how strange it is that to-day when the Unionist Party has got power, its attitude also has turned to be anti-democratic. Now I am paying him in the same coin. Further on he has said :—

Sir, I have risen to make a short speech in reply to some of the observations made by the Honourable the Minister for Local Self-Government. He said that there was a time when his predecessor introduced this Bill in this House, but finding that one whole party was opposed to such a measure being adopted, he decided to withdraw it. But, according to him (Honourable Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang), a considerable change has manifested itself in the mentality of the majority of the honourable members of this House. He, therefore, thought that the present time was the most suitable one for the introduction of this Bill. I would humbly submit to him that the attitude of his predecessor was highly praiseworthy. If he had made up his mind to get the Bill passed, then by the support of the official benches he could have very easily secured its passage. But knowing that a whole party, whatever its numerical strength might be was against the Bill, he did not like to get it carried. I wonder why our present Minister should think it worth his while to introduce the same Bill in the face of the clear opposition of a party which is the largest single group in the House. He seems to have adopted his present attitude as a consequence of the belief that such oppositions can be easily defeated with the help of official votes.

At that time Chaudhri Chhotu Ram was told that the Executive Officers Bill was first introduced in the year 1927 by Malik Firoz Khan Noon. It was committed to a select committee but when the House was requested to take into consideration the report of that select committee a motion was made to circulate the Bill for eliciting public opinion thereon. The Minister in charge of the Bill accepted that motion and after that nothing was heard of that Bill. Now when it was pointed out to Chaudhri Chhotu Ram that at that time he was a supporter of the Executive Officers Bill and had signed the report of the select committee as such he replied :—

I have risen to make a short speech in reply to some of the observations made by the Honourable the Minister for Local Self-Government. He said that there was a time when his predecessor introduced this Bill in this House, but finding that one whole party was opposed to such a measure being adopted he decided to withdraw it. But according to him a considerable change has manifested itself in the mentality of the majority of the honourable members of this House. He, therefore, thought that the present time was the most suitable one for the introduction of this Bill. I would humbly submit to him that the attitude of his predecessor was highly praiseworthy.

At that time the House included an official bloc as well as nominated members. Sir Chhotu Ram and his friends who were opposing the Executive Officers Bill in 1931 said that in 1927 Malik Firoz Khan Noon withdrew his Bill because a small group was against it and, therefore, in view of the opposition from the larger group in 1931 Sir Gokul Chand Narang should withdraw the Bill put forward by him. That was their line of argument. But may I now put it to them that now that we have a popular Government they should have no hesitation in acting on their own advice? We do not ask them to withdraw the Bill. All that we want them to do is to withdraw their motion for referring the Bill to select committee and accept the motion for its circulation. Moreover, it is not only the Opposition that has sponsored that proposal but some honourable members from your own benches are of the same opinion too. Are you, therefore, prepared to accept this harmless proposal?

Then the Honourable Sir Chhotu Ram was pleased to explain the change in the mentality and outlook of Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang. He said :—

Anyhow it should be a matter for thanks-giving with the bureaucracy that our Honourable friend has come to regard the opinion of Government officers with a peculiar respect. Heaven alone knows what magical influence is possessed by Government salaries. This influence has manifested itself in changing the mentality of our Honourable friend. So much so that official opinions which were utterly unreliable and unappealing to him only six months ago appear to him now as gospel truths.

But may I submit that the present Government is doing exactly the same thing? Their plea was that the Minister had put forward whatever the secretaries had prepared for him. But what is the position of this popular government with regard to this Bill and for that matter other business also? Is it doing anything else than asking us to accept what has been prepared for it by the secretaries and other interested persons?

The Dobson Report refers to a committee of two officers which was appointed in 1925, as well as to the causes which led to its appointment. But neither supersession of the municipal committee nor any other action of the kind was considered necessary in that year. The committee continued to function till 1931. In this latter year it was considered necessary to appoint an executive officer. As has been already stated the Executive Officers Bill was originally introduced in the Punjab Legislative Council in 1927. Chaudhri Chhotu Ram was one of the members of the select committee to which that Bill was referred. He supported the measure along with others and Mr. Lahri Singh's was the only dissentient voice. Anyway, a circulation motion was accepted by the Minister and the Bill was shelved.

[Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava.]

In the year 1931 the Dobson Committee was appointed. Sir Mirza Zafar Ali, an ex Judge of the Lahore High Court, was one of its members. Its report contained inter alia some amendments to the Municipal Act which in the opinion of the committee would bring about the requisite improvement in the municipal administration. In 1931 the Executive Officers Bill was passed and the administration of the municipality continued to be carried on as best as was possible. But in 1936 all of a sudden the municipal committee was found guilty of some unpardonable sin and it had to be superseded. In my opinion the sins of the municipal committee date from the year 1931 when its members refused to co-operate with the Dobson Committee. This "impudence" had angered the commissioner as well as the Government but, as our Premier is in the habit of saying, the Government gave the committee a sufficiently long rope and did not take any action until the sins of the committee had piled up into a huge heap in 1936.

Now let us look at the reports on the working of the municipalities. In the report for 1930-31 it is said that since the Dobson Committee has submitted its report only recently there was no need to say much about the Lahore Municipality. However, I would draw your attention to the following lines :—

Indeed few of the evils to which municipal administration is prone are absent from the working of this committee, procrastination, dilatoriness, carelessness with regard to the property of the public, the committee and the Government, communalism inordinate delay in correspondence with Government and its officers, and lax control of establishment, being prominent among the committee's failings.

I have no desire to dilate on the examples at any length. Let us pass on to the report for the year 1931-32. Reviewing the Lahore Division it is said about the working of the Lahore Municipality that—

There is, however no doubt that the members have taken the criticism on themselves seriously and that there is now a more business-like air about the proceedings than in the past. Lack of foresight and method, however, has left the committee in their insanitary slums haphazardly developed new areas, and necessity of finding funds for an adequate water supply and drainage scheme, problems which it will take years of effort and application to solve. On the whole although their discussions have often been polemical and interminable, and although their methods, particularly with regard to the electric department have come in for considerable criticism . . .

Now, Sir, I come to the report of 1932-33 by which year the executive officers had already been appointed. It is stated in the report that on account of the appointment of the Executive Officer the working of Lahore Municipal Committee had improved. Further, in the report of 1933-34 only brief mention has been made about the Lahore Municipal Committee. It is stated therein :—

The rise of taxation and income at Batala is attributed by the Deputy Commissioner to an improvement in trade. In view of the latter reassuring fact, it is strange that the terminal tax yield at midway between Lahore and Batala, in both of which places signs of a return to prosperity were manifest from the terminal tax figures, the yield from that source showed a slight fall.

I may submit that although nothing in particular has been stated about the Lahore Municipal Committee, yet there is one thing which I wish to bring to your notice. Further on it is stated in the report :—

This fact would appear to point to the moral, to which the attention of all Committees was recently called by Government, that terminal tax is for many reasons a more satisfactory system than octroi, and that Committees would be well advised to substitute the former for the latter.

Now I wish to draw your attention to the report of the Lahore Administrator wherein he has written that terminal tax is not a satisfactory system and that is why he has imposed only octroi without refund. Let me point out that there is a very cogent reason why he had changed the name of terminal tax to that of octroi without refund. That is, the Administrator has no locus standi to impose any new terminal tax because it is a central subject. In view of this he has named it octroi without refund. In this connection I may also point out that this was the very matter about which the Government refused to give their consent previously but now when it has been done by one of their officials they have agreed to it.

Now it is stated in the report of 1934-35 :—

In the Lahore Division interest centres in the important Municipalities of Lahore, Amritsar, and Sialkot. It is difficult to get a clear picture of the administration of the Lahore Committee from the somewhat unwieldy municipal report. The Deputy Commissioner remarks that there is very little prospect of any real improvement until there is a complete overhaul of all its departments and a change for the better in the present outlook of its members regarding their functions and responsibilities. He criticises the members for their personal motives and communal and factional spirit. Any one reading the reports of the deliberations of this Committee must be struck by the interminable discussions on minor points which frequently lead to no decision.

And further on it is stated :

The state of affairs in Lahore in recent years goes to show that the administration of this large area is really more than one authority constituted as the Lahore Municipal Committee is, can hope to manage successfully, and Government will have to find some solution of the increasing difficulties.

I may submit that difficulties regarding the proper management of the Lahore Municipal Committee first arose in the year 1931 and ultimately the question cropped up that either the Lahore Municipal Committee should be divided into many parts or it should be converted into a corporation.

Now in the report concerning the year 1935-36 it is stated :—

With regard to Lahore itself it need only be said that the friction between the Committee and the Executive Officer and the failure of the Committee to discharge its duties led up inevitably to the supersession of the Committee at the end of 1936, and the accumulation of arrears of work which were found in the office showed that this step was not taken a day too soon.

After that the Commissioner has quoted certain extracts from report of the Administrator and further on he writes :—

It was in view of such considerations as these that it was decided during the year under report to establish an Improvement Trust for Lahore. The Trust was appointed towards the end of the year but did not fully take up its duties till April, 1936.

After that the committee was superseded in the year 1936. Now the latest report on the working of municipalities to hand relates to the year 1936-37. There are many interesting things in it which have a direct connection with the Bill now before the House. It is stated in that report that seven municipal committees : viz. Gohana, Shahabad, Buria, Karor, Lahore, Bagbanpura-cum-Bhogowal, and Sialkot, were under suspension in the year 1936-37. I wish to read out to you the relevant portions as regards the Lahore Municipal Administration. It is stated therein :—

Government have read with much interest the various suggestions for effecting improvements made by the Administrator of the Lahore Municipality in the following paragraph of his report.

And then he goes on to quote from the report of the Administrator. But what we have to see is whether the reasons which were advanced for the supersession of the Lahore Municipal Committee were sound or not, and whether after receiving the Dobson Report the Government took any steps to improve the state of affairs of the Municipal Committee and if the Government could not improve its affairs, whether there was any negligence on the part of the Government or not? We are told that the Lahore Municipality was superseded because there was party faction and communalism. But it is very surprising to note that all these defects cropped up in the municipality after the appointment of the Executive Officer. Previous to that mention was never made of such defects. Moreover when the Lahore Municipal Committee was superseded an adjournment motion was moved in the old Legislative Council. At that time Mr. Dobson as well as the then Minister for Local Self-Government stated on the floor of the House that the municipality had been superseded because a dispute had arisen between the President and the Executive Officer which the President could not amicably settle. But I may point out that the real allegation that was brought forward against the members of the Lahore Municipal Committee and which was published in the newspapers as well was that they quarrelled with each other and that they formed parties on communal lines. Now out of 47, 34 members of the municipal committee formed a party on non-communal lines and they also intimated to the then Minister that they thoroughly disliked the attitude of the President. They also wrote to the President asking him to call a meeting of the committee under the existing rules in which they wanted to move a resolution condemning the attitude of the President. The President did not call any meeting of the Municipal Committee for a long time. However, a reply was given by the Government that it superseded the municipal committee. Now the question arises—why did the Government think it expedient to supersede the committee? The main allegation against the municipal committee was that there were party factions and communal bickerings in it, but when a party was formed on non-communal lines and it wanted to work well, the Government superseded it on the advice of the President. The Minister for Local Self-Government stated on the floor of the old Legislative Council that the President had given this in writing that the municipal committee should be superseded and in view of his opinion the committee was superseded. This is indeed very strange. In the beginning it was alleged that the members of the municipal committee were not doing any work but when they decided to work they were suspended. But the Government says that because the committee objected to the appointment of the Executive Officer, therefore it was superseded. If we study the matter closely we would find that the dispute was only between the President and the Executive Officer and the rest of the members had nothing to do with it. The Executive Officer had helped in the formation of a new party and this the President disliked and that is why the affairs went to such an extent. This fact is also corroborated by a statement which a member of the Unionist Party made while speaking on the adjournment motion in the old Legislative Council. He stated that the Executive Officer had helped in forming the Reform Party. Now this is quite apparent that even though the new party was formed for supporting the action of the Executive Officer still the Government superseded the municipal committee. I fail to understand the real object of the Government. Let me point out if there were any members who in the opinion of the Government were not of the right type, they were authorised to turn them out at any time and they could have even debarred them from future elections. Moreover, if they wanted they could have refused to publish their names in the Government Gazette, because they were authorised to do so under the provisions of the Municipal Act. It is a pity that Government failed to take any action in the matter, and as a result of these bickerings and dissensions among the members of the committee the citizens of Lahore were deprived of their right to manage the municipal affairs. It is deplorable that for the sake of a few headstrong members who refused to work according to the sweet will and pleasure of the Government, the municipality should have been superseded. I may point out that it is the duty of the Government to be watchful during the elections so that undesirable persons may not get into the municipalities. Government should refuse to gazette their names even if such persons are elected. If the Government had acted on these lines things would not have come to such a pass. In 1931, the Government had dropped the idea of superseding the committee because they had thought that perhaps the newly elected members would be able to carry on the work of municipal administration. But the Government were disillusioned in this respect. I ask why Government did not take steps to prevent these undesirable persons from becoming members of the Municipality. Perhaps Government wanted that a person after their own choice should become the president of the committee. This led to party dissensions which took such a serious turn that eventually Government had to put these feuds to an end by superseding the municipality. To-day my honourable friend Rao Pohop Singh was pleased to remark that the citizens of Lahore were unfit to manage the affairs of their own city. I think it was an uncharitable and preposterous remark. He must realise that the Honourable Ministers and Parliamentary Secretaries and elite of the gentry of the province live here. Does he mean to say that they are all unfit to run the municipal administration of the city or that they cannot elect representatives who would be able to discharge the duties of local administration efficiently? If he does, he is certainly mistaken. Things can be done right provided they are studied in the right perspective and the Government was not and is not even to-day prepared to do.

Now I would like to quote from the speeches which were made in the old Legislative Council on the adjournment motion in regard to the supersession of the Lahore Municipality.

Premier : May I interrupt my honourable friend, the Leader of the Opposition? I would like to point out that supersession of Lahore Municipality and the Corporation Bill are two different things. They should not be confused. As regards the supersession of the municipality my honourable friend ought to blame Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang who was responsible for this. My honourable friend the Lord Mayor of Lahore (Mian Abdul Aziz) would bear me out that that is so.

Mian Abdul Aziz : Yesterday Dr. Narang was present during my speech. As a matter of fact I blamed him for the supersession of the Lahore Municipality.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I am grateful to the Honourable Premier for this interruption. But I would quote from the speeches made on that adjournment motion to show as to what was the position of the Unionist Party at that time. I would also point out from the speeches of my honourable friend Shaikh Faiz Muhammad, who has had a hand in framing this Bill. He vehemently opposed the Executive Officers Bill. He cried hoarse that principles of democracy had been trampled upon. It is an irony that the same party which was opposed to measures like the Executive Officers Act is sponsoring a Bill the underlying principle of which is the same as that of the Executive Officers Act. I would like to quote a notification from the Punjab Government Gazette in which the supersession of the municipality was announced :—

No. 3752-C-36-32498.—The Punjab Government have under consideration the affairs of the Municipal Committee of Lahore. The Committee has proved itself incompetent to perform the duties imposed on it by law and has persistently made default in the performance of those duties. The Punjab Government are satisfied that there is no reasonable prospect of the satisfactory performance of those duties by the Municipal Committee. In the interests of the public of Lahore and in exercise of the powers conferred by section 238 of the Punjab Municipal Act, 1911, the Punjab Government (Ministry of Local Self-Government) are, therefore, pleased to declare that the Municipal Committee of Lahore is hereby superseded, and that until it is reconstituted, all powers and duties of the said Committee may be exercised and performed by Mr. I. E. Jones, I. C.S., as Administrator, and, subject to his control and supervision, the powers under the following sections of the Municipal Act may be exercised by Rai Bahadur Shankar Dass, Luthra, P.C.S., as Assistant Administrator.

This Gazette was published early in October 1936. After its publication when the session of the old Legislative Council took place, an adjournment motion to discuss the supersession of the Lahore Municipality was moved by Shaikh Muhammad Sadiq. Although the mover was not a member of the Unionist Party, yet those who spoke in support of the motion owed their allegiance to the Unionist Party. Their names are Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan, Mr. M. A. Ghani and so on. It is interesting to note that the Unionist Party did not ask their members to desist from supporting the motion. Then Khan Bahadur Zaman Mehdi Khan and Khan Bahadur Malik Muhammad Din, also opposed the supersession tooth and nail. The speeches of all these members throw a flood of light as to why supersession of the municipality was brought about. I would, therefore, inquire from Government, now that they have come into power, why they are continuing the supersession of the municipality and prolonging the agony of the citizens. But those loud protestations against the supersession have been rewarded with this Bill which is a retrograde measure.

We have to see what provisions have been made in the Bill to remove those defects which are alleged to have existed in the defunct Municipal Committee of Lahore. How are they going to end the communal dissensions? In this connection I may quote an extract from the statement of objects and reasons of the Bill. It is as follows :—

The Statutory Commission attributed the fall in the level of efficiency in the sphere of Local Self-Government to the following causes :—

- (a) Inability of the local bodies to realize the necessity and importance of having a competent and well-paid official, corresponding to English Town Clerk, for the conduct of executive duties of local administration.

- (b) Failure of the Provincial Governments to exercise proper check and supervision over the local bodies, due possibly to a misunderstanding in this respect of the position of local bodies in England.
- (c) Failure on the part of local bodies to appreciate the need for efficient and trained municipal service.
- (d) Financial poverty resulting from reluctance of elected members to impose local taxes, failure to collect taxes imposed, and embezzlement by employees.
- (e) Communal dissensions.

It would appear that after the appointment of an executive officer in accordance with the provisions of the Executive Officers Act, it was found that he could not cope with the work. So the Government appointed an Administrator. But he too has failed in the performance of his duties. Now they have brought forward this Bill under the provisions of which they have reserved to themselves the right to appoint a chief executive officer who would be all in all in the corporation. His salary has been put at Rs. 3,000. They think they must have a competent and well paid officer, corresponding to English Town Clerk for the conduct of executive duties of local administration. I fail to understand if a more reactionary measure than the City of Lahore Corporation Bill could be proposed by any other popular Government. In this Bill almost all important powers are held by the provincial Government. The appointment of chief engineer, medical officer of health, chief accountant and secretary will be subject to the approval of the provincial Government. At the top of them all, there will be the chief executive officer who is to be directly appointed by the Government. The Corporation will not be able to remove this last mentioned officer without a three-fourths majority's vote and the other officials like the secretary and the chief engineer will only be removed if two-thirds majority of the Corporation agrees to their removal. Moreover, their appointment too will be subject to the approval of the Government. In view of these hard facts, I am constrained to remark that the present measure is even more reactionary than the old Municipal Executive Officers Act.

Again, it has been said in the statement of objects and reasons that the local bodies have failed to appreciate the need of trained municipal service. I wonder if the Bill in hand aims at opening a training college for the purpose. The one already existing was denied any help by the Government. How can we now hope that it will start a new one? I may be allowed to mention here that when a Corporation Act is passed in England, it becomes a charter of civil liberties. But here the Corporation Bill aims at curtailing the civil liberties of the people. The constitution of wards, the hearing of election disputes and the appointments of important officers have all been left in the hands of the Government. What aggravates the whole position is the fact that during the transitional period, the Administrator will go on ruling supreme. He will represent three things, the Corporation, the standing committee, and the chief executive officer. But at the same time, Government say that unless three things, that is, the Corporation, the chief executive officer, and the standing committee are brought into existence, work cannot be carried on, while in the same breath the Administrator is being entrusted with everything. If he can do the job single-handed why cannot the Corporation do the same? Why should the Government poke in its nose every now and then ? It is a great pity that the Unionist Government is acting like the old bureaucracy which used to hold the prestige of an I.C.S. officer more sacred than the unanimous will of the public. The same thing is being done now by retaining the present Administrator of Lahore in spite of the strong protests of the public. This officer has drafted the Corporation Bill, as well. That is the greatest pity.

Again, Sir, the House will remember that an Honourable Minister had stated on the floor of the House that the house-tax will not be levied all at once. In the beginning, a light tax will be imposed and when the expenditure grows gradually, the tax will be increased. But now it has been proposed to levy this tax all at once.

Coming to the constitution of the Corporation, it will consist of 68 councillors. Out of them 17 will be nominated by the Government, and 51 will be elected. There will be separate electorates. If previously it was thought that the 36 elected members out of a total of 46, used to fight with each other and thus ignore their primary duties, will not the 51 councillors now indulge in mutual bickerings ? There will be more chances of clash because the number has been increased. Furthermore, the separate electorate will continue to be the chief cause of mutual hatred. It was here that the change was most needed. Only the substitution of joint electorates for separate ones could ensure a smooth working of the affairs.

Another defect in the Bill is that the appointment of those officials only has been left in the hands of the Corporation who will receive not more than Rs. 500 per mensem as their salary. In other words it means that the appointment of a very large number of officials will not be made by the Corporation but by the Government who must have their pound of flesh in every matter and in every place. I strongly object to this interference.

Besides, the Government have reserved the right to make rules for the constitution of wards from which 45 members will be elected. Now this is a wide power indeed. The House does not know at present how the Government will act in this matter. Again, no special representation has been given to those merchants and shopkeepers who are neither members of the Northern India Chamber of Commerce nor those of the Indian Chamber of Commerce, while the two Chambers, mentioned above, will have one seat each in the Corporation. Besides, the Lahore Improvement Trust, the Punjab University, the North-Western Railway, and the District Board of Lahore will be represented in the Corporation because every one of these institutions will have one seat reserved for them which each of them will fill by an elected representative. I fail to understand as to why the Lahore Corporation should give representation to the North-Western Railway. Perhaps, the reason is that just as the Assembly is allowed to send two representatives to the Railway Advisory Committee, similarly, the Corporation should allow the North-Western Railway to send one representative to it.

I will now come to the claim of the Government that this Bill has been modelled on the lines of the Karachi Corporation Act. As a matter of fact it follows no model at all. The Government seem to have culled all the bad points from the different Corporation Acts and combined them in the present measure. There is no nomination in the Corporation of Karachi. But in our Bill, nomination has been provided for. Perhaps the reason for this extraordinary provision is that there will be an executive officer in the Corporation who will be appointed by the Government, and who will be irremovable by the Corporation unless three-fourths number of its councillors pass a verdict against him. So, to all intents and purposes, the Chief Executive Officer will remain there so long as the Government wants him to continue. It is in order to help him and to keep him over the head of the elected councillors that the Government has provided for so high a nominated bloc in the Corporation. This nominated bloc of 17 nominated members out of 68 will never vote against the opinion of their holy creators. Therefore, it will be easy for the Government to remove the executive officer if it so desires. But this power is being denied to the representatives of the people. When the Government nominates one-fourth of the Corporation, it will not be difficult for it to have two more members on its side. They may be, e.g., the representative of the Railway and the representative of the Lahore Improvement Trust and a few others coming from the specially created pocket boroughs. In these circumstances, if the Corporation desires to remove the executive officer it will not be possible for it to get three-fourths majority at all.

Not only this, Mr. Speaker! This superimposed chief executive officer has been given too wide powers. For instance, I would refer you to clause 56 (i). It says:—

The Corporation may at any time require the Chief Executive Officer to furnish a report by himself or to obtain by the head of a department subordinate to him Every such requisition shall be complied with by the Chief Executive Officer without unreasonable delay; and it shall be incumbent on every municipal officer and servant to obey any order made by the Chief Executive Officer in pursuance of any such requisition.

But there is a proviso after this which is very interesting. If it is followed in its entirety, it will indeed reduce provincial autonomy to a farce. The proviso says:—

Provided that if, on any such requisition being made, the Chief Executive Officer shall declare that immediate compliance therewith would be prejudicial to the interests of the Corporation or of the Public, it shall be lawful for him to defer such compliance until a time not later than the second ordinary meeting of the Corporation after he shall have declared as aforesaid.

I shall request you to bear in mind the fact that this officer is to be a servant of the Corporation. But look at his masterly powers! Even the members of the Dobson Committee, Sir Zafar Ali and Raja Hari Kishen Kaul were of the opinion that all but a few files should be made available to the public for inspection whenever they so like. But here in this Bill the Government seeks to empower the executive officer to refuse to send a file to the Corporation. I would again request you to mark these words:—

...it shall be lawful for him to defer such compliance until a time not later than the second ordinary meeting of the Corporation....

And why does the officer refuse to send the file? If he thinks that immediate compliance with the requisition of the Corporation "would be prejudicial to the interests of the Corporation or of the public." This is exactly on the lines of the Government here. There is a small difference however. Here the departments must send all the files to the Minister with the exception of some C.I.D. files. I understand that before this Government took over the reigns, the C. I. D. files were despatched to the Government of India. My information is that such files were burnt in the United Provinces. But evidently the Corporation files are considered to be even more confidential than those of the C.I.D. The executive officer, therefore, has been authorized to refuse to submit them to the Corporation. This is a clear proof of the extensive arbitrary powers which are proposed to be entrusted to the executive officer who only in name is to be a servant of the Corporation.

There is another very interesting aspect of the question now before the House. The Executive Officers Act which was debated in the last Legislative Council and which will continue to operate in the case of other municipal committees in the province after the passage of the present Bill, lays down that the municipal committee may appoint its executive officer with a five-eighths majority. But now in the case of the removal of the chief executive officer the Corporation has been required to muster three-fourths majority. In this connection I should like to refer you to the opinions which were held by the honourable members who occupy the Unionist benches to-day at the time when the Executive Officers Bill came up before the Council. My honourable friend Pir Akbar Ali who is not present to-day said in his speech which he delivered on the Executive Officers Bill :—

The Honourable Minister before he was called upon to take charge of the portfolio, always held that in the affairs entrusted to the people's own care the Government should interfere as little as possible. But what do we find now? A marvellous change in the mentality of the Honourable Minister. According to his recast ideas he wants to give a great hand in the affairs of the local bodies to those people who day and night hang about the bungalows of the Deputy Commissioners and fill their ears with spurious reports.

But what are the recast ideas of my honourable friend Pir Akbar Ali now? Here is a Bill in which the Corporation has not been given the right of appointing the executive officer. What does my friend say to that? Further my friend remarked :—

Then, Sir, the Honourable Minister has alluded to the Lahore Municipal Committee and to the enquiry committee that was appointed to investigate into its working. He hinted at the emoluments of the members of the said committee. From such references one is strengthened in his belief that there is some other aim at the bottom of the whole affair. Our doubts increase our apprehensions. The enquiry committee that was appointed to investigate into the affairs of the Lahore Municipal Committee.

And here the honourable member left off. But I want to ask him one question. When he opposed the Executive Officers Bill, how can he support the present Bill which provides that Government shall appoint the executive officer? The Chief Executive Officer in a Corporation will be practically non-removable by the Corporation. How will my honourable friend, Pir Akbar Ali, tolerate this when he did not like the idea of fixing a five-eighths majority of the members of the municipal committee for the appointment of an executive officer? Then my honourable friend said that the most objectionable feature of the Executive Officers Bill was that it took all power out of the hands of the municipal committees and vested it in the executive officer. That, he maintained, was a negation of the principle of local self-Government. He was, therefore, not in favour of giving to Government the powers which should be exercised by the local bodies.

Minister for Public Works : By Government he meant "irresponsible Government."

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I want to ask him how is it that a thing which was formerly a negation of democracy and local self-Government has now become palatable to him? The introduction of provincial autonomy has not changed the principles of local self-Government. What was anti-democratic a few years ago must be anti-democratic to-day. We cannot call or make it democratic to-day. Local Self-Government means that the citizens of a particular city should have the power to rule over themselves. It does not mean that they should be ruled by the provincial Government. The Government says that since it is transforming a municipality into a Corporation and giving us a big white elephant, we should accept this Bill. That, Sir, we are in no case prepared to do.

When the Executive Officers Bill was being discussed in 1931, my honourable friend Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali also took part in the debate. In the course of his speech he remarked that the provisions to place the executive of the municipalities in the Punjab under the supervision of an executive officer would go a long way in expediting and regularizing the work with which they were charged. But he took exception to the clause which provided that no municipal committee could appoint an executive officer without the assent of two-thirds of its members. He was of the opinion that the executive officer should be appointed by a bare majority. But now he is supporting a government which provides in the present Bill that the removal of the Chief Executive Officer would only be possible if not less than three-fourths of the total number of councillors should vote in favour of a proposition in this behalf. I am quoting only those members who have been again elected to the present Assembly. One of them was my honourable friend Chaudhri Muhammad Yasin Khan. He also opposed the Executive Officers Bill and now he is going to vote in favour of the present one. Again my honourable friend Shaikh Faiz Muhammad, who is to-day fortunately the parliamentary secretary to the Honourable Minister of Public Works and who, I am sure, is mostly responsible for sponsoring the present Corporation Bill, remarked—

I wish briefly to reply to the remarks which Mr. Marsden has just now made. He said that members sitting on these benches are inconsistent and illogical because when this Bill was introduced into the Council in 1927 they were in favour of it and now they are opposing it. I challenge this statement. Mr. Marsden was not in this Council when this Bill came up before the Council and when Honourable Malik Firoz Khan Noon was in charge of the local self-Government portfolio. The position was this: When the Bill emerged from the select committee with the provision now under discussion this party frankly told Malik Sahib that they were opposed to it because of this very provision and would not support him. It was this which compelled Malik Sahib not to proceed with the Bill. I need hardly say that if we had then supported the Bill it would have been the law of the land long before now. To accuse, therefore, the members occupying these benches of inconsistency and want of logic is highly unjust and I protest against it.

I am at a loss to understand as to what has happened to his logic to-day. Then proceeding further he remarked—

It is this proposition to which members sitting on this side of the House have objection because it violates a great principle established by the Government of Sir Edward Macdagan. As you are aware, Sir, the representation of various communities on the local bodies is based on a certain formula and it is a natural consequence of that formula that the majority community in a particular municipality should have the determining voice in matters coming up before it. It is for this reason that we have been opposed to this provision of a two-thirds majority, not only now but also when the Bill was introduced into the Council by a member of our party.

On that occasion my honourable friend Shaikh Faiz Muhammad held that by insisting on the provision of a two-thirds majority the Government wanted to deprive the majority party on a committee of having a determining voice in matters of appointing or removing an executive officer. He maintained that by doing so the Government was violating the principles of local self-Government. But to-day in the case of the Lahore Corporation he is assisting his Government to take back those democratic powers that were given to us after strenuous efforts and constant endeavours. Is it not strange that once the advocate of 'bare majority' is to-day providing in the present Bill that the Chief Executive Officer would be removed only if three-fourths of the total number of councillors would have voted in favour of that proposition?

My honourable friend Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh also took part in the discussion and unlike his present colleagues he supported the Executive Officers Bill. But the certificate he gave, at that time, to the Unionist party is worth noting. He said—

Sir, it is a matter for extreme regret that in the last few days unnecessary heat has been imported in the discussion of this measure which was designed to improve the administration of municipalities. Sir, I might remind the House that in 1927 when a similar Bill was sponsored by the Honourable Malik Firoz Khan Noon, it was submitted to the select committee and on the select committee I had the privilege to serve and besides myself Mr. Din Muhammad and Chaudhri Chhotu Ram were also members of that select committee. The Bill as it emerged from the select committee provided a two-thirds majority for the appointment of an executive officer. In fact the Bill as it then emerged from the select committee, was a worse measure than the present one if it is considered bad: still it had the support of a large section of that party which is now bitterly opposed to it. It has been suggested that since 1927 India has advanced. In 1927 full responsible self-Government was a question of distant future. It is now at our door. At that time a measure which was considered by members of Unionist party as a democratic one is now considered to be a communal measure. So the Unionist party has also made a great advance in their views. Sir, it is a wonder how we are advancing at a tremendous space in the change of our opinion.

Now, I think the Honourable Minister is convinced as to how far Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh was right in saying so. The plea that was advanced by the Unionist party in condemning the Executive Officers Bill was that, since the Reforms were going to be inaugurated in the near future such an undemocratic measure should not be passed into law. But to-day when we have been already given provincial autonomy and democracy is said to be in progress in the Punjab a Bill is sought to be introduced which is far worse than the one which was sponsored by an irresponsible Government. Probably they think that responsibility means the negation of democracy. Anyway, clause 2 of the Executive Officers Bill was bitterly opposed not only by Pir Akbar Ali or Chaudhri Muhammad Yasin Khan but also by my honourable friends Khan Bahadur Mian Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana, Khan Bahadur Nawab Fazl Ali, Raja Muhammad Sarfraz Khan and Khan Haibat Khan Daba. All of them condemned that Bill as an anti-democratic and communal measure. But to-day their democratic sense and idealism, Mr. Speaker, has gone to the winds and they would not listen to me. God help them!

There is no gainsaying the fact that for the successful operation of such an Act, it is absolutely necessary to seek the co-operation of those to whom it is intended to be applied. But when the Executive Officers Act came into operation the Government did not think it fit to effect an amicable settlement among the members of the municipalities where it was going to be applied. The result was that in Lahore it gave rise to a dispute which in fact slackened the administrative progress of the municipality to a large measure. Similarly when this Act was brought into force at Sialkot the municipal conditions were so much worsened that no less than three executive officers deemed it fit to resign their office.

I, therefore, submit that Government can succeed in passing such measures provided the co-operation of the public is extended to them, otherwise the Government being intoxicated by their majority can legislate any measure after their wishes. But, I may tell them that such measures enacted against the wishes of the public prove ineffective in the long run and remain a dead letter. As I have already stated the Government after having deprived the people of their popular rights and liberties, would not be able to enforce this enactment successfully.

3 p.m.

Now, Sir, I draw your attention to the taxes that are going to be levied on us when this Bill is passed. I have already referred to the house-tax against which there has been a great agitation in Lahore. This tax will be imposed upon all lands and buildings at the rate of 10 per cent outside the city and 5 per cent within the city-walls. I should like to read out a question put by Rai Bahadur Lala Gopal Das day before yesterday in this connection. The question reads as follows :—

*5143. RAI BAHADUR LALA GOPAL DAS: Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the total income of the 71 villages proposed to be included in Lahore Municipality, from land revenue, and local rate and their total population community-wise;
- (b) whether it is the intention of the Government to credit the land revenue and local rate of these villages to the income of the Lahore municipality;
- (c) the approximate loss of income from octroi and terminal taxes to the Lahore Municipality as a result of the inclusion of the above villages within Lahore Municipal limits?

Now please listen to what the Honourable Minister for Public Works has replied—

					Rs.
(a)	(i) Land Revenue	88,419
	(ii) Local Rate	12,343
	(iii) Population—
	Muslims	56,269
	Sikhs	3,828
	Hindus and others	16,121

(b) Orders have already issued for crediting to the Lahore Municipal funds the local rate levied in these villages. Land Revenue will not be so credited.

(c) The only principal articles grown in these villages on which a tax was levied on import into the Municipal area were fodder and fruit. It is impossible to say what income accrued to the municipality on this account. But there is no doubt that the loss of this income will be more than made up by the increase from other sources.

It means that, when this Bill is enacted, both the land revenue and the house tax will be charged from the villages proposed to be included in the Lahore Municipality. Now, it is evident that the people living in this ilaga will have to pay double the amount and the Honourable Minister, as I have quoted above, has said in his reply that land revenue will not be credited to the income of the Lahore Municipality. It shows that the property tax will be received by the Corporation and the land revenue will go to the Government treasury. To-day, in view of the prospects of getting income of 10 per cent on account of property tax, the Honourable Minister seeks to include 71 villages in Lahore municipal area. But he is turning a blind eye to the fact that only those people can afford to pay 10 per cent tax who are well-off and who like him lead a princely life. Further on, it has been said that the total income of 71 villages from local rate amounts to Rs. 12,348. I understand the local rate is there. But I am unable to understand whether the local rate will remain there as it is, as electricity is still to be introduced, roads are to be made and other ordinary amenities of life are to be provided. As far as comfortable life is concerned, I wish that everybody should enjoy the comforts of life, but unfortunately we have not the means to do so. When this is the position our so-called popular Government is going to impose more taxes on us. My submission, therefore, is that it would be very unfair on the part of the Government to take money from the people in the shape of property tax and land revenue with both the hands when, as a matter of fact, the villagers are face to face with the present economic depression. (Cheers). I have come to know that the Government is likely to purchase 100 acres of land near Baghbanpura. Let me tell the House why they intend to do so. Land will be acquired at market rates and the Government will sell it at their own price. When the houses will be demolished or refused to be constructed under the Corporation Act, the owners will be asked to purchase that land of the Government and sell their own plots which have been rendered useless under the Corporation Act. The profit obtained in such transaction will be distributed among those people whose houses have been demolished. Then it has been said from the Government benches that the sanitary condition of Lahore cannot improve unless the limits of Lahore municipality are extended to a greater extent. May I submit that this remark, when made, reminded me of the year 1937, when we were at Simla and a serious kind of typhoid fever broke out at Lahore and neither the Government was here nor the Administrator of Lahore municipality who could go into the causes of such a serious kind of typhoid. When the cases of typhoid gradually decreased it was found that the water-supply of the municipality itself was infectious. If the Honourable Minister is dreaming of making Lahore as beautiful as Paris then I may submit to him that this dream of his cannot be materialised unless serious efforts are made for the improvement of Municipal water-supply, milk-supply and general sanitation of the city. If two cases of typhoid fever occur in England the officer in charge of the Public Works is at once informed and he does not take rest unless the reasons are found. But what is being done here? I remember, once I put a question in connection with milk-supply and asked the Minister in charge whether any efforts were made to control milk-supply which had got a very near relation to general health of the public. My question was very important. As you are aware milk and curd are ordinary diets which are generally taken here. Milk dealers (Goojars) carry milk from one place to another and their utensils are generally found to be unclean and infectious and certain contagious diseases do prevail for these very reasons, throughout the city. Do you know what reply was given to my question of such a vital importance? It was said, 'Might be controlled', and look here to-day it is being said by the Administrator that he has got no instrument with which milk-supply can be controlled properly. I wonder, when this is the position now and when the Government admit their inability in exercising proper supervision on the present area, what they will be able to do when 71 villages more are included. I may, therefore, submit that it is no use and it is immaterial altogether if in papers it is declared that the municipal committee is working very efficiently while in practice it is not so. Words cannot make palaces. If the Government is really anxious to improve the general health of the public they should first of all find out the sources of diseases and then remedy them. But what we find is quite contrary to this. I remember, a few years ago, cerebro-spinal fever broke out in Lahore Jail and then it prevailed in Lahore and the municipal authorities could do nothing to stop it. Had the Administrator succeeded in keeping the sanitation of Lahore in a good and praiseworthy condition we would have been first to appreciate his activities and agreed to this proposal of the Government that the limits of municipal area be extended. But, strictly speaking, I see little difference between to-day and the days when I started my practice here at Lahore. For instance, the method of removing rubbish and nightsoil has not been changed since my days of studentship in Lahore. It was carried from one place to another by a bullock cart and this is what is being done even at present. When these things have not improved a bit, how can it be expected that when the area of Lahore is further extended much improvement will be done?

As regards assessment, I may submit that this is another blow on the popular rights and liberties of poor citizens of Lahore. It has been provided in the Bill that the assessment made by the Administrator will be considered as final and the power of its removal rests with the Chief Executive Officer alone provided an appeal is submitted to this effect. As regards the right of appeal, the provision says :—

Any person who is dissatisfied with a valuation made under this chapter may deliver at the municipal office a written notice stating the grounds or his objection to such valuation.

What does this provision show? It shows that the actual assessment is there. But nobody can ask as to how so much of the tax had been assessed. What one can do against the valuation is simply to present an appeal and that is all. The decision of the district judge is to be final. There can be no appeal against his judgment. I am not a lawyer but I know this much that we have been deprived of a valuable right of appeal.

The appointment of the Chief Executive Officer will be totally in the hands of the Government. That officer will be responsible to the Government and not to the people by whom he will be paid. The Government can appoint anybody it likes and remove him whenever it so desires. Not only that. Even the dubious right to remove him which has been given to the representatives of the people pales into insignificance when we study the constitution of the corporation. Surely this is not worthy of a popular Government. In fact the present Punjab Government is following in the footsteps of its old bureaucratic British predecessor so far as the rights of the people are concerned. While the whole country is clamouring for a constituent assembly to decide the question of future constitution of India, the Punjab Government wants us to accept this Bill without a murmur. It is not prepared even to allow the public to study the Bill properly and express its opinion thereon. This attitude amounts to a denial to the public even of the elementary right to know what law the Government is going to thrust upon them.

It is a measure which will have far reaching effects. It touches the most vital interests of the people. It will affect to a great extent the rights of the landowners of the villages that are going to be included in the proposed city of Lahore. But the Government refuses to allow the people to express their opinion about this important measure. I warn the Government not to flout the public demand in this way. This measure strikes at the very root of democratic ideals. It is designed to take away even those rights which the people and their representatives had under the Municipal Act of 1911. It is, therefore, incumbent on the Government to allow the people to express their views; otherwise the people will have no responsibility whatever for the enactment of this measure. It will be considered a law arbitrarily thrust by the Government on the people against their wishes. (Cheers). With these words, Sir, I beg to support the amendment for circulation of the Bill moved by my dear honourable colleague Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt.

Lala Harnam Das (Lyallpur and Jhang, General, Reserved seat, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, ever since the present Government came into power, it has undoubtedly introduced a number of Bills in the House. But if you minutely go through these measures you are sure to find that the Government has provided nothing therein for the safeguard of the interests of the scheduled castes. When the Government was busy drafting the present Bill, it made vigorous propaganda through the press about the rights and interests of the Achhuts. But when this piece of legislation was brought before us, we found, to our great disappointment, that no mention has been made of us therein. When we ask the Government to the as to what steps it intends to take for giving proportionate representation to the Achhuts on the corporation, we are told that their representation would be effected through nomination. Thus, it implies that after the passage of the Bill the power of granting or withholding representation would be left to the entire discretion of the Government. Now, if the enactment of the Bill could not change the mentality of the Government, I am afraid the Achhuts of Lahore would be accorded similar treatment in the matter of nominations to the municipality, as is being meted out to them in other towns of the province. It is a matter of regret that the rights and interests of those people whose sincere efforts are responsible for turning this city into an earthly paradise, and on whom the very existence of the present Government depends, are being callously neglected and ignored. My submission is that we have too many grievances to be related. All the hopes and expectations we were entertaining in the Government have been dashed to the ground.

If the Achhuts of Lahore are not to be given proportionate representation on the corporation, if they are to be deprived of their due share, then we would be justified in thinking that the Government is bent upon our ruination. So far as the rights of the Achhuts are concerned, the Government is not giving proof of its generosity. The more it displays its narrow-mindedness in the matter, the more they would be politically awakened. Any short-sighted policy with respect to the scheduled castes, would surely result in developing hostility among them against the arbitrary regime of the present Government. What we like to impress upon the Government is that whatever rights we may be granted should be of permanent and lasting nature. We do not want the matter to be left to the discretion or sweet will of the Government. In this way our rights and interests cannot be effectively safeguarded. To-day if the Government is willing to favour us with a proportionate representation it can, under the provisions of the Bill, nominate its favourites to work on the Corporation. Supposing to-morrow the Government decides to deprive us of our representation. Now, is there any provision in the Bill which can restrain the Government from taking such a drastic measure? In fact it can very safely refuse to nominate any Achhut at all. My submission is that the present Bill should be so amended as to grant us better as well as permanent representation. The Government wants to make temporary arrangements, but we do not want it to safeguard our rights only for the time being. Let me warn the Government that we are now determined to have our rights. We will go on fighting till we have achieved our object.

Sir, it has been pointed out that the Lahore Corporation would consist of 68 members. Out of these, 17 members will be nominated by the Government. As has been pointed out by some of the honourable members, the appointment of these 17 members would entirely depend upon the discretion of the Government. From this it is quite clear that if any Achhut members are nominated by the Government they will not be able to protect the interests of the Achhuts properly. The reason for this is not far to seek. Such Achhut members will only play a second fiddle to the Government just as our two Achhut Parliamentary Private Secretaries are at present doing. At present they are simply doing what the Government want them to do.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member has made an insinuation against two honourable members of this House. Will he please withdraw his remarks?

Lala Harnam Das : Very well, Sir, I bow to your ruling. I was submitting that the Government would nominate such representatives of the Achhuts who will not be able to protect our interests in the proposed Corporation.

Mr. Speaker : Repetition. The same thing over and over again is being said.

Lala Harnam Das : Besides, I may submit that only recently our Balmiki brethren drew the attention of the Government to the safeguarding of their interests. Often these people have been putting forward their demands before the Administrator, but he has paid no attention to them. We understand that a deputation of our Balmiki brethren also waited on him but he did not accept their demands. After that they convened a public meeting and put forward their demands. But even then no attention was paid to their demands. Consequently, in order to protect their interests, they observed a complete strike and during this strike even the Honourable Minister for Public Works was compelled to come to Lahore from Simla in the hot season.

Mr. Speaker : Which principle of the Bill is the honourable member now discussing ?

Lala Harnam Das : Sir, I was pointing out as to how our rights have been ignored by the Administrator. In short, the Honourable Minister accepted the demands of the poor Achhuts of Lahore and thus the strike ended.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is irrelevant.

Lala Harnam Das : I may submit that it has not been provided in the Bill whether the Achhuts would be given any representation or not. On the other hand it has been left to the discretion of the Government to nominate their representatives. In the circumstances I think it is highly necessary that a provision to this effect should be made in the Bill so that the Achhuts should know that they have been given permanent representation on the Lahore Corporation.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member has said a number of times that the Achhuts should be given permanent representation under the law and that this should not be left to the discretion of the Government.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : He is trying to nob in.

Lala Harnam Das : I may point out that such provisions should be made in this Bill by which the interests of the Achhuts could be properly safeguarded. In view of this I may submit that the Corporation Bill should be circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon so that the public should also express their opinion about it and put forward some such proposal by which the interests of the Achhuts can be safeguarded. With these words I wholeheartedly support the amendment now before the House.

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri (Rawalpindi Division, General, Rural) : Sir, the discussion of the present motion on the floor of the House has established, I claim, beyond doubt, that the new corporation under the present Bill, will not be able to function for at least two or three years, in spite of the efforts of the Government, howsoever great, to expedite its every stage. If that is the case, then it appears to me that it is highly undesirable to continue the present system of autocratic administration of the capital of the province for such a long time (hear, hear). Therefore, no attempt should be made to short-circuit this Bill by omitting the stage of circulation and eliciting of public opinion. Let the municipal committee be reconstituted and let the elected members of the new committee be invited to co-operate in the preparation of this Bill. You must have noticed, Sir, that there is a complete unanimity of opinion not only amongst the representatives in this House of the city of Lahore, but also amongst all the non-official inhabitants of Lahore, representing different communities and different shades of political opinion about the supersession of the municipal committee.

They all with one voice say that it was initially a mistake and the continuance of this supersession for a long time is a crime not only against the democratic government but also against good government. Kindly see the galaxy of opinion, Malik Barkat Ali, M.L.A., Mr. K. L. Gauba, M.L.A., leaders of the Muslim League, Dr. Gopi Chand, M.L.A., Chandhri Krishna Gopal Dutt, M.L.A., Mr. Bhim Sen Sachar, M.L.A., leaders of the Congress, the revered lady sitting on the Unionist benches—

Minister for Public Works : And not the least yourself!

Rai Bahadur Mukand Lal Puri : And myself and not the least the Honourable Minister for Public Works himself. I do not think he could have really a soft word for the present administration. I put it to him, he has himself invited this criticism, that he is himself the owner of a very big estate and if there was such a unanimity of opinion against the administration of any portion of his own estate, by any of his mukhtars, would he keep the Mukhtar there for a minute longer after such an outcry? And yet it appears to me that in spite of this unanimous expression of opinion, this Government has even excelled itself by disregarding, in fact treating with contempt such a unanimous expression of opinion. The non-official section, Hindus, Sikhs, Muslims, Congressites, anti-Congressites, Socialists, in fact every shade of opinion in the town of Lahore, is crying hoarse against the present administration, and yet this Government, under the guise of this Bill, is trying to prolong the agony of the people living in Lahore. What justification has any Government for doing that and especially a Government which professes to follow democratic principles and which is never tired of priding itself on listening to grievances? So much for the non-official opinion. What has official opinion got to say about the present unrepresentative administration. We know our officials, we know our Ministers, after all they are not so much separated from us as it appears from the debates. If they are afraid of giving expression to their opinion, it is a different matter, but if the Government consulted Government servants living in the town of Lahore, they would get the same reply. If it is so, it should be replaced by a more representative and more responsive administration. It should not await the passage of this Bill. I had no desire to participate in this debate, but I wished to quote before you with respect to this debate, the opinions of a most important Government department. I wish to place one or two quotations from the report on the accounts of the Lahore Municipal Committee for the financial years 1935-36, 1936-37. This report was published in 1938. On page 1 it says—

A policy of drift appears to have characterised the working almost of every department. It is difficult to pick out a few paragraphs from the report for being brought specially to the notice of the Government, but the summary of irregularities given in paragraph 34 of the report will show that most of the defects and financial irregularities discussed in the report are of considerable importance and call for early action.

There is at present no organized Stores Department and the existing haphazard method of purchasing stores leads to considerable extravagance and waste. Stores have not been verified for years. In the absence of verification of stock by a responsible officer, store accounts have very little practical value. A thorough stock verification by an independent agency is badly needed.

Then a little later on—

The accounts of water-rate are in a very deplorable condition and it appears that the clerks in charge expunged demands on their own responsibility and at their pleasure. The Tehbazari accounts are in an equally bad state.

[R. B. Mukand Lal Puri.]

On page 1 of the Report it is stated :—

The lists of unsettled requisitions have been supplied from time to time first to the President and the Executive Officer, and thereafter to the Administrator with request for their expeditious disposal, but the progress in this behalf does not appear to be satisfactory. The Administrator was personally requested in this office letter No. L. A. D.-668, dated 15th May, 1937, to kindly make some adequate arrangements whereby it may not be possible for the various departments to defer for indefinite period the settlement of audit objections. A reply showing the action taken on that letter is still awaited.

A letter sent by the Accountant-General on 15th May, 1937, has not been replied and the answer to it is still awaited. That is the administration of my honourable friend the Minister for Public Works and this is the administration which is being carried on in spite of the unanimous protests and objections of the citizens of Lahore.

I will read one more little paragraph, Sir, in regard to losses and irregularities due to lack of interest in municipal affairs. It runs as follows :—

Several cases were noticed in audit during the year under review in which serious losses of Municipal money or property were sustained owing to the mismanagement or for want of intelligent interest in the affairs of the Municipality.

If you will turn to pages 7 and 8, you will find one of the instances of irregularities. It runs thus :—

In spite of these expert and technical opinions and also in spite of the fact that the contractor had a very weak case in view of his having executed most of the work without authority, in excess of instructions, and in contravention of the terms of his agreement, the former Administrator agreed to pay to him a sum of Rs. 8,200 which was obviously much in excess of the amount which he was advised by his technical advisers to pay. No reasons were assigned for treating the contractor so liberally in spite of his having resorted to methods which, to say the least, were highly unbusinesslike.

I will draw the particular attention of the Honourable Minister to the next few lines. This is what the Accountant-General says in connection with this case about the Administrator. He says—

Only one comment need be offered on this case. Had a Committee settled this case similarly its members would in all likelihood have been surcharged.

This paragraph does not require any comment. If this irregularity had been committed by any committee, the amount would have been realized from the members of the committee. This is the official opinion about the Government's own administration of Lahore and yet, the Government is continuing with the present autocratic, undemocratic and inefficient administration. This matter calls for immediate interference. I need not take more time of the honourable members of the House. I will wind up my speech by reading the last paragraph of the Report. This is the conclusion given at page 88 of the Report and runs as follows :—

The condition of accounts in almost all departments continues to be as neglected and unsatisfactory as before. To whatever side one turns, one finds hopeless mess, serious irregularities, violation of rules and regulations, waste or misapplication of funds, leakage of revenue, appalling figures of arrears and utter disregard of the canons of financial propriety.

I make a present to the Government of this criticism of their administration by the Accountant-General of the Punjab.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana): Sir, I have heard for the last three days with deep attention the long-winded and vehement speeches in criticism of the details of this Bill. Vehement criticism have been also levelled against the supersession of the old Municipal Committee and against the present administration; but I am glad to say that on analysis I have found that nothing has been said by any member against the principle of the Bill, with the exception of honourable Malik Barkat Ali, with whose criticism I hope to deal later. The question, whether the old municipality was superseded for good reasons or bad, is not before us now; nor is the question whether the present administration is successful or otherwise. These are not the relevant issues so far as this Bill goes. I will deal with them later if I find time. I admit there are differences as regards the details of the Bill. Differences there must be on a controvertial measure like the present one. All I have got to say is this that I am not wedded to any particular provision or details of the Bill, nor do I attach any sanctity to any figure given in the Bill. I am open to conviction; I want to point out that if we have put down those figures and provisions, we have inserted them for good reasons and I dare say that the honourable members opposite, who have so vehemently criticised the figures and provisions of the Bill, have also good reasons for doing so. But these differences of details can be threshed out in the select committee.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the chair and it was occupied by Mr. Deputy Speaker.)

The cardinal principle of the Bill is the separation of the executive and the legislative or deliberation functions. We have to consider whether we agree on this or not. So far as I know, nothing has been said against this main principle of the Bill. As a matter of fact, some honourable members have welcomed it and opposition came from one quarter only. I have to quote, in this connection, the example of the Congress governments. They recently amended the law governing the corporations. They brought amending Acts regarding the corporations in their provinces and in no case was this principle challenged. Therefore, I can say that this principle has found acceptance even with the Congress governments. I will now try to deal with some of the points raised by the honourable members. I will first of all come to the speech of Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt. He called the Bill a hybrid one. I do not say that it is a Bill solely confined to provisions selected from one Act. We have tried to select the best from all the Acts and I do not see any harm in doing so. We have modelled it on the Karachi Act but the new structure may not exactly be identical. We have tried to have that model and at the same time we have tried to incorporate useful and good provisions from the Punjab Municipal Act. We find that some of them are very useful. Here and there we have tried to modify these also so as to suit local circumstances. Again, it has been said that the Bill is a challenge to democracy. Democracy may be a form of government but it is not necessarily a bad form of government. Checks are necessary even for democracy so as to ensure good government.

Coming to nomination, the principal attack was levelled against this provision of the Bill. Nothing new has been provided in this Bill except what already exists in the Punjab Municipal Act. In section 12 of the Punjab

[Minister for Public Works.]

Municipal Act there is a provision that nominations can be made up to one-fourth of the total strength. The same is the case here and if you consider for a moment you will find that 17 is exactly one-fourth of 68. (Interruptions). We have not departed from the principle of nomination which exists already. As a matter of fact, in the last Lahore Municipal Committee, the nominated element was even more than 25 per cent., but I do not take my stand on that. What are the reasons for providing for this nomination? The reasons are that we have to provide representation for so many interests, for instance, women.

Begum Rashida Latif Baji : No, we do not want it.

Minister for Public Works : The honourable lady member may not want it but we have to provide representation for women. Then there is the question of giving representation to scheduled castes, and there is the question of official experts. There is an additional reason for providing nomination in Lahore. Everybody is not prepared to face the vagaries of election. There is a large number of lawyers, doctors and engineers in Lahore who have retired and settled in Lahore. They can be of very valuable service to the local body of Lahore. But they would not perhaps come forward and seek election. It is to utilise their services—which have been very valuable in the past—that we want to have a certain amount of nomination. I would go further and say that nomination is linked up with the question of minorities. As long as the question of minorities is there, we cannot get away from nomination. It is admitted that the question of minorities is at present in the way of our attaining full freedom. I for one would like to achieve full freedom and see nominations completely eliminated but that cannot be done by merely saying that we do not want nomination. We should create an atmosphere where nomination will be no longer necessary and for that I would ask the honourable members opposite to co-operate with us and I shall be very happy to see a state of affairs brought about when nomination would altogether disappear. But until that state of affairs is there, it is no use closing our eyes to hard facts and realities. The question of representation of minorities is there and we must safeguard them because we stand pledged to them.

I now come to the question of the Chief Executive Officer. It was said that it was a very retrograde step that the Government should have the power of appointing the Chief Executive Officer in Lahore. But a similar provision exists in the Madras and the Bombay Acts. So, there is nothing new here. The Bombay Government recently amended the Corporation Act but they did not change this provision. I have good authority for saying that when this amending Bill came up before the Bombay Legislative Assembly, hundreds of amendments were moved against every provision of the Bill, but not a single amendment was moved against the provision which empowered the Government to appoint the Chief Executive Officer for the Corporation of Bombay. So, what is good for Bombay is good for Lahore. (Interruption). That is the case in Bombay. But Lahore also stands in a category by itself. There is no other provincial headquarter where local administration had to be superseded. I do not want to go into the reasons as to why it was superseded but it stood superseded when we took over.

Coming to the question of taxation, it has been asked as to why we have made it compulsory for the Corporation to levy house-tax. Similar provisions exist in many other measures that have so far been passed elsewhere and the case of Karachi Corporation is to the point. The question of imposing House-tax has been before the municipal committee for the last two decades. The elected representatives of the people would not make up their mind to levy the tax, and if we left it over now, what would be the result? The candidates would be rushing to polling booths and making wild promises and the result will be that no taxes would be levied and Lahore Corporation would be left without any funds. I would now give the incidence of taxation. (Interruptions). All that I wanted to say was that we are taking the odium for what the elected representatives of the people should have decided two decades ago. Let me give figures as to the incidence of taxation at present. In Bombay it is Rs. 16-15-3, in Karachi Rs. 10-5-9, Cawnpore Rs. 7-8-7, Madras Rs. 7-2-10, Calcutta Rs. 16-8-1, Lyallpur Rs. 6. Rawalpindi pays Rs. 5; Allahabad Rs. 6-8-0 and in Lahore it is Rs. 4-6-0. So, Lahore is the lightest taxed city in Northern India. Let me examine further what is the state of taxation in Lahore. Taxation at present in Lahore is indirect. It is only paid by the poor and it is levied on foodstuffs. The rich consume the same amount of food as the poor and, therefore, the wealthy millionaire pays the same amount as the poorest labourer.

Mian Abdul Aziz : On a point of order. I would like to know one thing. When it goes to the rich, do they not also have to share that tax which the poor people have given?

Minister : It is levied at present on eatables. We have done the right thing by levying tax on buildings. It will mean that the landowner will pay his due share. There were certain godowns beyond the municipal limits in the extended area and taxation was being evaded. Now they will be paying their due share for enjoying the amenities of municipal administration.

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri : They will go out.

Minister for Public Works : When they go out, we will see what can be done then. Another point that was raised was that labour had not been given due representation. At present what I find is that in this Assembly labour has not been properly represented. Let us see what sort of representatives have been returned. I find my honourable friend Rai Sahib Lala Sohan Lal as the labour representative and I find my honourable friend Lala Sita Ram as the Labour representative. (Laughter) (Interruptions). So, it was to avoid this state of affairs that I did not lay down a constituency for Labour. (Interruptions). I want to give representation to genuine labour interests. We have been considering the question of giving them proper representation through general electorate. This may be by adult franchise or by some other suitable means.

Criticism had been made that the administration had gone from bad to worse. It was said that it was good in the days of the municipal committee, but it has gone bad and this was the main criticism of the honourable lady member. I would just read out for comparison purposes what was the state of affairs in Lahore before October, 1936 when the Committee was superseded?

(1) The Committee had ceased to function long before.

[Minister for Public Works.]

(2) 1,357 cases were pending in the agenda of General Committee. These included 416 appeals about building plans.

(3) Unseemly scenes of rowdiness in the meetings of the committee.

(4) Communal and personal consideration prevailed in every matter.

(5) Tug of war between the committee and the Executive Officer, the President and the committee and between the Executive Officer and the President.

(6) Corruption rampant. Municipal administration run by a clique of municipal employees who could always rely upon the support of certain members whom they supported at the elections.

(7) Public Works Department was a source of general scandal—most noticeable case that of construction of Infectious Diseases Hospital—the engineer in charge died during enquiry.

(8) Water supply and sanitation arrangement very unsatisfactory. General complaint of shortage of water in less favoured areas and Lahore described as the dirtiest town on God's earth.

Mian Abdul Aziz : Whose report is this ?

Minister for Public Works : There was a general demand for supersession of the committee from the press and the platform and every one heaved a sigh of relief when it was actually superseded.

Now, what is the condition to-day after three years of direct administration by the Government ?

(1) Comprehensive drainage scheme estimated to cost about two crores of rupees approved.

(2) Orders have already been given that parts I and II of the scheme estimated to cost about ninety lakhs should be carried out and contracts of the value of 12½ lakhs have been given. In two years' time most of the open sewers would disappear underground.

(3) Reorganisation of water supply has been sanctioned and the staff is being collected.

(4) New tube-wells have been and are being sunk to increase water supply.

(5) Good deal of work providing surface drains in south western suburbs at a cost of a lakh and half has been completed.

(6) Municipal committee had been unable to find funds for a new chlorinator to chlorinate the water supply from percolation wells. Chlorination is now being regularly carried out.

(7) With the assistance of two expert engineers of the Public Works Department, a three year programme for the improvement of roads has been devised and is being carried out. It is expected that 40 per cent. more work will be done for the same amount as had been previously spent on roads.

(8) As against three child and maternity welfare centres maintained by the municipal committee, there are now ten.

(9) Two whole-time medical men for inspecting school children have been engaged and a third will be shortly engaged for girl students. This staff is specialised in dealing with diseases of eyes, nose, throat, ears and teeth.

(10) The Tuberculosis Institute has been improved and the Civil Surgeon is selecting part-time medical practitioners to start an additional number of cheap dispensaries so as to bring medical relief in simple cases within the reach of all.

(11) Boys' education has been placed under the supervision of a member of the Provincial Educational Service. Number of boys in schools has increased.

(12) Ten new girls schools have been recently sanctioned.

(13) Taxes on buildings, dogs and riding horses have been sanctioned. The last item will justify municipality's expenditure on tan rides.

(14) The establishment of the municipality has been completely overhauled and economies to the extent of about a lakh have been effected. This saving will be available for more expenditure on education and medical relief.

(15) Arrears of work left by the committee all cleared off.

(16) Old outstanding bills amounting to lakhs of rupees have been paid.

(17) Payments of salaries, grants, rents and other recurring charges which used to be delayed for months and even years are now promptly made.

(18) All the taxation orders and bye-laws, the revision of which has been under the consideration of the committee for nearly twenty years have been revised and brought up to date.

(19) Collection of taxes and other dues has been systematized. This alone should save about a lakh of rupees which used to be lost because steps were not taken to recover them when they became due through recourse to courts.

Thus, it would appear that though not much of window dressing may have been done solid foundation for sound administration has been laid.

Mian Abdul Aziz : Self-praise is no recommendation.

Lala Sita Ram : May I put a question to the Honourable Minister? Facts are there, but what is the remedy that is suggested in this Bill?

Minister for Public Works : Another argument was advanced that young people went round and assessed the house-tax. No young people were recruited. As a matter of fact, we obtained the services of experienced officials from the Income-Tax Department. When Baji Sahiba saw these people, they were perhaps, clean-shaven and she mistook them for young people. (Laughter).

Begum Rashida Latif Baji (Urdu) : Sir, there is an illustration in the illustrated Weekly. A two-mile long procession of objectors is shown. The report says that Mr. Macnabb is recording objections of the citizens while as you know he was at Simla at that time. This is the commentary on those reports.

Minister for Public Works : I was saying that those people came to us from the Income-tax Department with special knowledge of assessment of house property. If they were clean-shaven, it is not our fault. Besides, if any assessment has been wrongly made, there are provisions in the rules for appeal and people can file appeals and alterations can be made. Then Baji Sahiba went on to describe the demonstration against the house-tax. Baji Sahiba is a privileged being and she can do it. But I do not want to repeat and reply to it here because the case is sub-judice. I do not want to say anything more on the subject.

My honourable friend, Lala Sita Ram, complained against bad roads I am afraid he has not gone out and seen the good roads. We have brought them in good condition at much less cost than used to be the case in the old days. He also pressed for the revival of the committee. Our main difficulty is that if we revive the committee, then those old troubles will crop up again and history would repeat itself. He also said that it would take fairly long to inaugurate the Corporation. Nothing of the sort. Unless the Opposition thwarts the passage of the Bill, we have every hope to bring about the Corporation at as early a date as possible.

Mrs. Duni Chand referred to the sweepers' strike. It was not relevant at all to the principle of the Bill. But there is one thing which she mentioned and which is very relevant and was repeated by other honourable members as well and that is that this Bill is a vote-catching device of this Government. I fail to see how they call this measure in one breath a retrograde measure and in another a vote-catching device. How can it be both? In fact, their fear is that if this Bill is enacted it will, perhaps, be a popular measure, not for certain people who do not like to co-operate with the Government; but for the average citizen holding no particular partisan views, and that is what they do not like.

I would like to say a few words about Malik Barkat Ali's criticism. He was pleased to give us the history of all Corporations and how they were created and conferences that led to their creation, and what is more, he quoted great English statesmen and their opinions about local self-government. All I can say is that that was very illuminating. He then went on to point out the lacuna and flaws in the Bill and said that no provision had been made in the Bill for giving the right to vote. I am not a lawyer myself, but I have consulted the law officers of the Crown and I am assured that there is no lacuna or flaw on the subject. Apparently he was referring to the rule-making power of the provincial Government under the Corporation Act. We have section 380, which is modelled on the Karachi Act and that power is taken under that provision. I do not see that there is any legal defect or lacuna in the Bill. But even assuming that a particular clause is missing, there is no reason why the Bill should be circulated for eliciting public opinion. It can be easily inserted by the select committee.

Malik Barkat Ali : But who will point out the lacuna?

Minister for Public Works : Then he went on to say that constituencies should be provided in the Bill. That may be a good thing from the legal point of view but from the administrative point of view it is unsound as it becomes necessary to bring an amending Bill whenever a change in the constituencies is desired. To provide constituencies in the Bill is from our point of view not a good provision. The same difficulty is being experienced in connection with the working of the Government of India Act. Malik Sahib then gave us a discourse about democracy and in the same breath he mentioned separate electorates.

Malik Barkat Ali : What do you say of that ?

Minister : I am coming to that. The honourable gentleman has got to be reminded that, only the other day he was opposing dominion status and he even does not think that democracy is a suitable form of government for India. He always mentions democracy and separate electorates in the same breath. I must say that I was enlightened by his speech but unaffected by the force of his arguments.

Malik Barkat Ali : Are you not a Muslim Leaguer ?

Minister : I was talking only of the theory of democracy. You question me about the Government policy on separate electorates. The Government's policy on separate electorates is status quo unless there is a strong justification for a change. That is the policy of the Government, a policy on which I take my stand.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : May I suggest that if the honourable Minister is tired he may sit down while speaking ?

Minister : I was saying that Government's policy is status quo unless there is strong justification for a change in that policy.

Nawab Sir Shah Nawaz Khan : Which Government has framed that policy ?

Minister : That is the policy of the present Government. Malik Sahib then condemned certain provisions in the Bill and one of those provisions was that the Chief Executive Officer is not to give confidential information except under certain safeguards. That to him was very objectionable. Well, Sir, I wish he had known that daily we get cases where municipal commissioners get hold of confidential documents and sell information. It was merely to prevent this abuse and in the interest of the Corporation that we had put down that safeguard. If, however, the safeguard as it stands is cumbersome the select committee can whittle it down and amend it in such a way that the interests of the Corporation do not suffer and at the same time this misuse is prevented. If you realise the other side of the case you will know that it was not to flout the Corporation that we have given this power to the Chief Executive Officer ; but there is a real trouble which we want to avoid.

Mian Abdul Aziz : With your permission may I ask the Minister one question ? Does he consider that municipal papers like state papers are confidential under section 123 of the Evidence Act ?

Minister : I would tell my honourable friend of a case where there is litigation going on between a local body and certain interests and the paper of the local body have been passed on to the opposite party. There are such cases and to avoid that we have included that provision, but if you think the provisions is cumbersome you can whittle it down. I would now come to my friend the future Lord Mayor as he has been called.

Mian Abdul Aziz : Please do not call me the Lord Mayor. I have no desire to be so.

Minister : I would call him the ex-president of the committee of whom I am going to say something.

Mian Abdul Aziz : That is a superseded committee. I do not want to take the blame. I was not the President of the superseded committee.

Minister : He started by misquoting from the report of the Statutory Commission as he just mentioned. As he has at some length quoted the defects of the Dobson Committee, I would like to give the House a gist of what the Dobson Committee said about the administration of the committee in 1931 :—

- (1) Great leakage of revenue by evasion of terminal tax due to corruption or laxity of control.
- (2) Loss of revenue due to negligence in the proper disposal of surlage, night soil and refuse.
- (3) Loss of revenue from wheel tax and licence fee on vehicles due to inaction of the committee in realising them.
- (4) Defective system of licensing of offensive and dangerous trades and consequent loss of income to the committee.
- (5) Absence of a uniform system of water rate and remissness in the recovery of heavy arrears of water charges (amounting to Rs. 46,000 Appr.) due mainly from the municipal commissioners and persons of substance.
- (6) Loss of income of Rs. 20,000 per annum on account of penalties which would have been imposed had building inspectors promptly reported deviations from the sanctioned building plans.
- (7) Contrary to its rules and to the disadvantage of the committee no list of approved contractors was maintained, contracts were given in many cases without inviting tenders and in some cases not at the lowest tenders.
- (8) The committee failed to take proper precaution by demanding adequate security or selecting tenants of known stability in leasing out municipal property (loss of Rs. 36,000 Appr. was thus caused to the committee).
- (9) Encroachments due to the culpable negligence of the committee and unsatisfactory condition of its record of landed rights and its reluctance to assert them.
- (10) Laxity of control over construction of tharvas and projections with consequent loss of ownership by adverse possession and of revenue to the extent of about Rs. 40,000 per annum.
- (11) Negligence of the committee in recovering tahbazari fee from its lessees, resulting in an annual loss of Rs. 60,000 approximately.
- (12) No check on the realisation of malba rent and consequent loss of revenue to the extent of 80 per cent. per annum from this source.

(13) Mismanagement of nazul property in the charge of the committee resulting in over a thousand encroachments on fasil land alone the estimated market value of which was Rs. 2,50,000 Appr.

(14) Inefficiency of the municipal engineering staff which resulted in the construction and maintenance of buildings and roads at a cost considerably higher than in the Public Works Department, Buildings and Roads Branch.

(15) Lack of proper drainage system.

(16) The employment of inadequately qualified building inspectors and unauthorised interference by unqualified municipal employees and ward members in building plans.

(17) Development of parts of the town without a proper lay-out scheme, drainage system or other necessary civic amenities.

(18) An entirely defective system of conservancy.

(19) Failure of the committee to provide for an adequate supply of water of which there had been a chronic insufficiency throughout the town.

(20) Lack of co-operation with the police in the matter of control of traffic and of beggar nuisance.

(21) Strained relations between the Lahore Electric Supply Company and the committee.

(22) Education of the depressed classes and of the females was inadequately provided for. The schools were overcrowded and located in insanitary buildings.

(23) Lamentable lack of supervision and control over the municipal staff in the institution and conduct of civil and criminal cases.

(24) Communalism, corruption, jobbery and nepotism were rampant in most of the branches of the municipal service.

(25) Promiscuous and frequent use of section 35 of the Punjab Municipal Act by the President.

(26) Petty items particularly appointments, dismissals, retrenchments and reinstatements of the municipal staff were discussed at great length on communal lines while important business relating to the welfare of the citizens was treated lightly. In fact business was generally conducted in a manner which exhibited grave procrastination, defective procedure, waste of public money, communal bias and the corruption of justice resulting in the spoilation, etc., of the municipal fund and property.

Mr. E. Few : An item of Rs. 18,000 has been omitted which was paid as compensation to two municipal engineers wrongly discharged by the Minister of Local Self-Government and the Executive Officer.

Mian Abdul Aziz : The Honourable Minister has been pleased to read from the report of the Dobson Committee. Will he care to see the reply given by me? There was no controversy about that and the reply was not dared to be repudiated. The first portion of the Dobson's Committee's report admits that certain embezzlements took place in 1931. That was before I came in as President. Still I have to protect the interests of the municipal committee.

Minister : Then the honourable member went on and laid down a dangerous principle that no government is possible unless the municipal commissioners are in charge of wards, or in other words the elected representatives of the people are also in charge of the executive. If we work out that theory in practice, it will mean that instead of deputy commissioners and tahsildars the members of this House should run the administration. What that would be like could well be imagined. It would be like what the Lahore Municipal Committee was in the past. I do not think I should go into that question at length. It is admitted that the separation of the executive from the deliberative functions of the committee is very essential. Even the Congress governments are agreed on that theory.

Let us now see what has been happening in the Lahore abadis. There was no water supply. There was no drainage. The streets were katcha. Yet nothing was done. Who was responsible for all that? I would say that the municipal committees of the past are directly responsible for the present state of the new abadis. If they had insisted on a lay out plan, if they had prevented the speculator from making money and running away, if they had done something for realizing funds for paving the streets for which provision existed in the Municipal Act, things would not have been as they are. But it was all circumvented. Sections 192 and 193 are there. If they had insisted they could have got the money, but the speculators had been making money and running away and now we are paying for the sins and the neglect of the past municipal committees. It is not the Administrator's fault. Every effort is being made now to control things, but if a wrong has been going on for years it cannot be set right in a few days. (Interruptions).

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Order, order.

Mian Abdul Aziz : These interruptions should be allowed. These are not uncalled for interruptions. I think they are cogent, because they are made in connection with the speech that the Honourable Minister is making, though, of course we are prepared to obey your order.

Minister : I would like now to say a few words about my worthy predecessor in office. He was pleased to say that he would not have superseded the municipal committee if he had received a certain representation in time. I have to ask him a question.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : The Honourable Minister has misunderstood me.

Minister : I may have misunderstood him, but he did say that if he had received a certain representation a little earlier than he did, he would not have superseded the municipal committee.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : He does not know the distinction between "would have" and "might have."

Premier : There speaks the Oxford dictionary.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : The dictionary is sitting next to him.

Minister : I am speaking subject to correction, but I am not a master of English. What I understood the honourable member to say was that if that representation had reached him in time he would not have perhaps superseded the municipal committee. Am I wrong in that?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : The reasons for the supersession of the municipal committee were given in a communiqué which was issued by Government. What I said in reference to the representation to which reference was made by my honourable friend was that if that had been received earlier, it is possible that different action might have been taken and more time might have been given to the municipal committee, but the reasons for supersession have been given fully in that communiqué which I am sure the Honourable Minister can see even now if he likes.

Minister : The honourable member had very good reasons to supersede it, but what I said was that if the time of receipt of that representation would have made all the difference, then even a few hours would have made that difference. The supersession order was given in October and the honourable member was in office till April or May of the following year. Why could he not cancel his order if he had seen the wisdom of doing so? What does he mean now, if he did not do so then?

Mr. A. Few : The municipal committee was brought to impotence between the Minister of Local Self-Government and the Executive Officer, who became a sort of managing agents.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : It is a false and impertinent insinuation, and the honourable member does not know what he is talking about. If he is a gentleman he will apologise.

An Honourable Member : With that remark Mian Abdul Aziz agrees.

Minister : If the representation was very important, my honourable friend could have changed his mind, but he did not and he is now trying to be wise after the event, perhaps in consultation with the ex-President of the municipal committee.

Mian Abdul Aziz : Thank you very much. You are so kind to me. Throw every blame on me, if possible.

Minister : Then honourable member went on to say that the Executive Officers' Bill had been brought forward by him at the instance of Sir Firoz Khan Noon. Whether it was or not, I cannot say. But if the honourable member did not believe in the provisions of that Bill or in the advisability of sponsoring the Bill, why did he sponsor it?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : I have said that I am not ashamed of that Bill, and I piloted it through the House though Sir Firoz Khan could not.

Minister : Sir Firoz Khan—the man who had the confidence of a large party could not pilot it?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : He did not. That is patent.

Premier : My honourable friend should not divulge Cabinet secrets. Those are between you and Sir Firoz Khan.

Minister : However that is past history, and I would not say anything more.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker resumed the chair.)

If one starts going on in this way I might perhaps say that I have brought this Bill at the instance of my honourable friend and worthy predecessor. As a matter of fact, the two-third majority that I have suggested in the Bill, is from his original Bill.

Then, Sir, Mr. Gauba asked why we did not reconstitute the committee in the meantime. All I say is that the principles underlying a corporation and a municipal committee are different and even if we did constitute some sort of committee, by resorting to certain sections of the Act we could not bring about that state of affairs in Lahore which we want to.

Then the member representing scheduled castes wanted to know what was going to be done for their representation. As he knows we have taken power in the Bill under the rule-making provisions to deal with such questions and this will be dealt with later on. But whatever may be the mode of representation, he can rest assured that the scheduled castes will get their due share of representation. (Hear, hear). He said, "I will like to have the question decided now." I am afraid that is not possible.

The Leader of the Opposition also mentioned certain points. But they were more or less the same as stressed by others and which have already been dealt with. He went into the history of the Lahore Municipal Committee in detail with which I have just dealt.

There is one thing that I would like to say about the speech of Dr. Alam. He said nothing very important, but it was a good variety show and I wish we got his performances more often.

As to the quotations which the honourable Leader of the Opposition made from Sir Chaudhri Chhotu Ram's speeches at the time of the passage of the Executive Officers' Bill and from the speeches of certain other members of this party who were then in opposition, I must say that that criticism at that time was levelled against an irresponsible Government taking over powers. There is a lot of difference between an irresponsible government having these powers and certain powers being vested in a responsible government. (Hear, hear). One is a negation of democracy and the other is not. (Hear, hear). In this case the government is a responsible government and is responsible to the people of the province through this House.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Is that the principle of local self-government ?

Minister : Local self-government means giving the people of a locality the power to control their affairs. But people at large have the right to keep certain checks so that they might not mismanage things and in Lahore particularly, which happens to be the capital of the province, it is the right of the people of the province to see that local self-government functions well and properly. (Hear, hear).

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : What a peculiar notion of local self-government ! You are confusing local self-government with self-government.

Minister : Even in all advanced countries Government have a certain amount of control over local self-government and do interfere in their working in order to prevent mal-administration and to set right the state of affairs in case the rights of private citizens begin to suffer.

Now, coming to the motion before the House, the motion is merely dilatory. Government is very anxious to restore the municipal administration of this city to the representatives of the people and we do not want to delay matters unless the members opposite want to take that responsibility on their head.

Mian Abdul Aziz : The Administrator is prepared to take good anxiety of Government after three years and after such great agitation and still one sided.

Minister : The Bill does not apply to the whole province. There is an enlightened public opinion and an educated public in Lahore. The Bill has been criticised for the last two months. Criticism is still coming forward and can be forwarded to the select committee. The select committee will go on for a long time and suggestions will be welcome. Not only that, I would go further and say that even if any useful criticism comes from any honourable member of this House at the consideration stage, we can make use of it by moving suitable amendments and you Sir, have in the past kindly allowed such amendments being moved up to the last stage of the passing of the Bill. Consequently, even late criticism can be sent and made use of. Reference has been made to various Corporation Acts in the press and on the platform and the question has been thrashed out threadbare. However, if there is anything left, that can be discussed in the select committee ; the committee as proposed by me, is fully representative and I hope the Bill will come back before this House in a form which will be acceptable to all concerned. With these words I oppose the motion for circulation. (Cheers).

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That the City of Lahore Corporation Bill be circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon by the 1st March, 1240.

While the division bell was ringing.

Premier : If my honourable friends opposite want circulation and are prepared to take the onus of delay on them, Government will be prepared to accept the motion. May I ask the Honourable the Leader of the Opposition whether he seriously wants the motion to be carried ? If he really wants it Government will be prepared to give way but then the Bill will not be passed this session.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Why did not Government give way on the very first day ?

Premier : Because we thought that the motion was meant merely to ventilate the point of view of honourable members opposite.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Where were you three days ago ?

Premier : Here.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Then let the motion be carried.

The Assembly divided : Ayes 41, noes 79.

PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

SIXTH SESSION OF THE FIRST PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Friday, 1st December, 1939.

*The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at 2.30 p.m. of the clock.
Mr. Speaker in the Chair.*

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

MOTOR-DRIVER CHARAN DASS, SON OF KALU SHAH,

5605. Lala Bhagat Ram Choda : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state whether it is a fact that one motor driver Charan Dass, son of Kalu Shah, made a representation to the Assistant Inspector-General, Police, Traffic, alleging that the District Board Contractor of Ekka Stand at Luliani on Lahore-Ferozepore road forcibly collects fees from the lorry-wallas, who pick up passengers from and on the Public Works Department Road, if so, the action taken by the authorities ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): No report appears to have been made to the Assistant Inspector-General of Police, Traffic, but on the 24th August the Inspector-in-charge of the Central Range mobile patrol warned the contractor operating the District Board lorry stand at Ato Ashi (about six miles from Luliani) that the stand was situated in a dangerous position and that if any charge was made for picking up passengers from the roadside, the contractor would render himself liable to prosecution. The matter was subsequently taken up by the Senior Superintendent of Police with the District Board. The Senior Superintendent of Police pointed out that the Registering Authority had declined to approve the site on the ground that it was situated in a dangerous position and that in consequence the stand should be removed.

INSTRUCTIONS ISSUED TO ALL REGISTERING AUTHORITIES AND POLICE
SUPERINTENDENTS REGARDING MOTOR VEHICLES ACT, 1939.

5606. Lala Bhagat Ram Choda : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to lay on the table of the House copies of instructions issued by the Inspector-General, Police, on the 27th June, 1939, to all Registering Authorities and Police Superintendents of the province regarding the course of action to be adopted after the commencement of Motor Vehicles Act, 1939.

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): The letter to which the question refers was issued in the course of departmental correspondence. It is not a published document, and I regret that I cannot undertake to lay a copy on the table.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : With regard to the answer to this question, may I know whether it is a fact that instructions issued by the Assistant Inspector-General were in contravention of the provisions of section 134 (2) of the Act IV of 1939 read with section 4 of the General Clauses Act?

Parliamentary Secretary : When I have said that the contents of the document are confidential, it is difficult for me to say whether they are consistent or inconsistent with any provision of the Act. But the honourable member may assume that the Government will do nothing which goes counter to the provisions of any enactment.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Did the Government at all consider the enforcement of the instruction issued by the Assistant Inspector-General?

Parliamentary Secretary : What does the honourable member mean by enforcement?

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Will the Parliamentary Secretary please state whether it is a fact that these instructions were required to be complied with by the superintendents of police of each district in the province?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have said that the instructions are confidential, but instructions are invariably issued for enforcement.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Does the honourable member know these instructions? Has he seen them?

Parliamentary Secretary : Instructions were departmental and I am not prepared to divulge any part of these instructions. I may also add that I have nothing to add to the answer already given.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : My question is whether he has at all seen them.

Minister for Public Works : How would it serve your purpose?

Mr. Speaker : How is that a matter of public concern?

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : It concerns the motor wallas.

Mr. Speaker : I wish to know how the fact that the Parliamentary Secretary has or has not seen the document is the concern of the public.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Because they are prosecuted if they go against those instructions.

Lala Bhagat Ram Choda : Did the Punjab Government have any hand in the amendment of the Motor Act?

Minister : This Act was passed by the Central Government. The Punjab Government is one out of so many Provincial Governments and there are eight other Governments run by a different party.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Does the honourable member know that no other province except the Punjab and North-West Frontier Province have a rule like the one under reference?

Minister : The question was about the Motor Vehicles Act and now you have come back to a particular rule. If you put a question and give notice, you will get the reply.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know whether the Honourable Minister will lay on the table the opinion expressed by the Punjab Government and submitted to the Government of India ?

Minister : I am afraid that is a privileged document but the honourable member would know that the Act was passed by the Central Government and opinions of all Governments were forwarded. I cannot say whether any protest was lodged by any Government.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I do not want to know whether any protest was lodged by the Punjab Government. I want to know the opinion expressed by the Punjab Government. Is he prepared to lay it on the table ?

Minister : The communication is privileged and I am afraid I cannot oblige the honourable member.

PERIOD OF EXAMINATION OF MOTOR VEHICLES AND TAXI CARS.

*5611. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state whether the Government have received any representations to alter the period of examination of motor vehicles and taxi cars from three months to six months ; if so, what action or decision has been taken upon these ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Fais Muhammad) : Various representations have been made. Until such time as a new set of rules can be issued, rule 49 of the old Punjab Rules, which requires a quarterly inspection remains in force by virtue of subsection (2) of section 184 of the new Act (as amended).

The Punjab Government hope that when the new system of control is introduced there will be more inducement to owners to keep their vehicles in good order and that the half-yearly inspection contemplated by the new Act will then be found sufficient ; but with conditions as they are it is undoubtedly in the interests of the public that the quarterly inspection should be retained. Without it the number of unsafe vehicles on the road, and the number of accidents, would be even larger than it is.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know from the Parliamentary Secretary whether the Government is contemplating a revision of the rules of inspection so as to alter the inspection from three to six months ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Under the new Act new set of rules will have to be framed and when the new rules come into force, the Government is contemplating converting these quarterly inspections into six-monthly inspections.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Punjab Government frame a separate set of rules or will they adopt the rules framed by the Central Government ?

Parliamentary Secretary : So far as the power of rule making is concerned, under the Act that power is with the Provincial Governments and not the Central Government.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I request the Parliamentary Secretary to state whether he has ever taken into consideration the interests of the lorry wallas?

Parliamentary Secretary : The difficulty is that up till now, more importance has been attached to the interests of the lorry-wallas and very little importance to the interests of the public and what the Government proposes to do now is to take into consideration the interests of the lorry-wallas as well as the interests of the public.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Is it not in the interest of the lorry-wallas, because as the Parliamentary Secretary may be aware, lorry-wallas have to grease the palm of the licensing clerks, inspectors, etc., at the time of every inspection.

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

THREE LOCAL BODIES IN GUJRAT TOWN.

5612. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) whether there are any towns in the Punjab other than Gujrat where there are more than one local bodies; if so, their names;

(b) with reference to the reply to question No. 4593 (starred), put on 8rd April, 1939, whether the Government have received any report from the local officers; if so, what?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) Yes, Karnal and Ambala.

(b) Yes. It would not be in the public interest to divulge the views expressed by local officers. The matter is receiving careful consideration of Government.

PROMOTIONS IN THE LOWER AND UPPER GRADES IN THE PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

5631. Shaikh Karamat Ali : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that up till the end of 1938 promotions in the lower and upper grades in the Public Works Department were dependent on merit alone;

(b) whether the criterion mentioned in (a) above has since undergone a change in some respects and that in some cases promotions have been given on the score of seniority alone, while in others they have been given on the score of merit; if so, why, and the action the Government intends to take in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : It is not clear as to what class of establishment in the Public Works Department, the honourable member refers. Generally speaking seniority for promotion counts only in cases where other qualifications are equal. All the promotions made up to the end of 1938 were based on this principle except in short leave vacancies where this principle is suitably relaxed to avoid dislocation of work. There has been no change in this guiding principle since 1938.

TERMINAL TAX ON THE IMPORT OF LEATHER INTO PANIPAT.

5575. Chaudhri Faqir Chand : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether he is aware of the fact that the Municipal Committee, Panipat, charges Rs. 8 as terminal tax on the import of leather into the municipal area which is too heavy in view of the price per maund of leather;
- (b) whether it is a fact that the Achhuts living in the Municipality are very much agitated over this and are leaving Panipat; if so, the action Government proposes to take to redress the grievances of the Achhuts in this respect?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) Terminal tax on leather is levied at the rate of Rs. 8 per maund, but a proposal to reduce this rate is under the consideration of the Committee.

(b) Government's information is different. They have received the report that several new shops dealing in boots and shoes have recently been opened.

Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : May I know whether terminal tax on the import of leather into the municipal areas of the towns of Karnal, Thanesar and Kaithal has been levied or not?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is very difficult for me to answer that question off-hand. If the honourable member gives notice, I will collect the necessary information. This question relates only to Panipat.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Will the Parliamentary Secretary please state whether it is necessary for a municipal committee to obtain previous sanction of Government before levying such a tax?

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes, previous sanction is necessary.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : May I now if the Parliamentary Secretary considered the advisability of levying this tax before giving sanction to the Municipal Committee concerned?

Parliamentary Secretary : This tax has been in existence for a long time. Hence the question does not arise.

Chaudhri Faqir Chand : Is it a fact that on account of this heavy tax of Rs. 8 per maund many shop-keepers have left the municipal limits of Panipat?

Parliamentary Secretary : None to my knowledge.

Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : May I know if it has been brought to the notice of the honourable Parliamentary Secretary that owing to harshness of the tax the Achhuts have left Panipat and started business outside the town?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already stated that Government's information is that some shops dealing in boots and shoes have recently been opened outside the municipal limits of Panipat.

Sardar Rur Singh : May I know if Government consider it their duty to remove the discontent prevailing among the Achhuts ?

Parliamentary Secretary : This is a question of policy and I am afraid I cannot answer it.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if it is repeatedly brought to the notice of the Government that this tax is very harmful to the local business and if so, what action has been taken by the Government ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am not aware whether this has been repeatedly brought to the notice of the Government.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it a fact that this tax is extremely harmful to local business and local industry ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No, Sir.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Is it not a fact that the people have moved beyond the municipal limits and are opening their shops outside the municipal limits ?

Parliamentary Secretary : In order to evade the municipal tax, it is the general tendency of the people to shift business just outside the boundary of the municipality. It is not because of the harshness of the tax ; but to evade the municipal tax.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Parliamentary Secretary please state whether the tax levied by this Committee exceeds the tax imposed by other committees ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice for that.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Since when is the Municipality considering the revision of this terminal tax ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is very difficult for me to say since when the Committee has been considering this question. If the honourable member will give me a notice of this question, I will find out.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know when this tax was imposed ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It was imposed before the present Government came into existence.

Chaudhri Faqir Chand : May I know if the information supplied by the Parliamentary Secretary has been received from proper quarters or he has himself supplied it ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The honourable member should not bother about the source of information. It is the business of the Government to collect it.

GENERAL INSANITARY CONDITION OF RAJA SANSI IN AMRITSAR DISTRICT.

5033. Maulvi Mazhar Ali Azhar : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state the names of the medical and health officers of Government who have visited the town of Raja Sansi in the Amritsar district during the last 3 years and whether they have ever brought to his notice the general insanitary condition of the town in and outside the abadi ; if so, what action has so far been taken or is proposed to be taken to safeguard the health of inhabitants of this area ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz) : The question consists of three parts and the reply seriatim is as under :—

1st part.—

Names of Medical Officers.

1. Lieutenant-Colonel P. A. Dargan, I.M.S., Civil Surgeon, Amritsar.
2. Major J. J. Beausang, I.M.S., Civil Surgeon, Amritsar.

Names of Health Officers.

1. B. Sardar Ahmad, District Sanitary Inspector.
2. Dr. M. L. Dhir, D.P.H., District Medical Officer of Health.
3. Dr. Gopal Singh, Sub-Assistant Health Officer.
4. Dr. Surain Singh, Sub-Assistant Health Officer.
5. B. Mukhtar Hussain, District Sanitary Inspector.

2nd part.—No.

3rd part.—Reports regarding insanitary conditions in the village, which has a population of about 4,000, had received the attention of the District Medical Officer of Health and the Civil Surgeon, Amritsar, respectively, and the following improvements were carried out during the last three years :—

Description of work.	No.	Cost.	REMARKS.
		Rs.
1. Pacca drain	6,360 ft.	2,385	..
2. Repairs to bazar sand roads	2,445 sq. ft.	450	S. Raghbir Singh's and village contributions.
3. Culverts newly constructed	3	75	..
4. Bridge	1	300	..

6. Pits	12	Nil	..
7. Ventilators	200	Nil	..

APPLICATION FORMS FOR ADMISSION TO GOVERNMENT COLLEGES.

5056. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that according to the prescribed form of application for admission to the Government colleges in the Punjab a student desiring to seek admission to any of these colleges is also required to undertake that he will not take part in politics while a student; if so; since when such a clause requiring a student to give such an undertaking has been inserted in the application forms for admission to those colleges;

(b) the penalty prescribed for breaking this promise?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz): (a) Such a clause exists in the application forms of most of the Government colleges. It was first introduced by the Government College, Lahore, in 1919 and was later on adopted by other institutions.

(b) Any disciplinary action which may entail fine, rustication or expulsion from the college at the discretion of the Principal.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I ask under what authority this has been included in the application forms—Under the authority of the University or that of the Government?

Parliamentary Secretary Under no particular authority, but under the force of the prevailing circumstances.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : When did the other colleges follow suit?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice for this question.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know the meaning of the word "politics"?

Parliamentary Secretary : The honourable leader of the Opposition understands the meaning of this word better than I do.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : What meaning was intended at the time the Parliamentary Secretary was giving the original reply?

Minister of Public Works : The same as laid down.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I want a reply from the Parliamentary Secretary as to what she means by 'politics'?

Parliamentary Secretary : May I ask—

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Sorry. You cannot put a question (Laughter.)

Lala Duni Chand : May I help the Parliamentary Secretary and ask her, in view of the fact that there are varieties of politics such as Unionist Party politics, the Muslim League politics, Congress politics and so on, which variety of politics is, according to her, valid?

Mr. Speaker : I disallow the question.

Munshi Hari Lal : May I ask if politics also is included in the subjects of studies in the colleges?

Parliamentary Secretary : Political science and political economy both are included in the college syllabus.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Does the Government mean Congress politics whenever the word 'politics' is used ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What is the notion of the Government about students taking part in the Unionist Party's politics ? Does it not mean taking part in politics ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : When students take part in the processions of the Ministers, do they not commit the act of taking part in politics ?

Minister of Public Works : That is hero worship !

Mr. Speaker : The next question.

TEACHERS SERVING UNDER THE LAHORE MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE.

5076. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state the action taken or proposed to be taken by the Government over the keen agitation and discontent arising out of the proposed reduction in the salaries of the teachers serving under the Lahore Municipal Committee ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz) : Government has agreed to the proposed cut in the salaries of the teachers serving under the Lahore Municipality to effect economies provided that the cut shall in no individual case exceed Rs. 5 per mensem. No further action is contemplated.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Is it a fact that the Government has received representations from the Teachers' Union, on behalf of teachers, that their pay should not be reduced ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already pointed out that no further action is contemplated by the Government.

IRREGULAR PROMOTIONS

5127. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

(a) whether any complaints regarding irregular promotions granted by Assistant District Inspector, Hissar, at the fourth Primary class centre examination held on 25th March, 1939, at Hissar were received by authorities concerned ;

(b) if the answer to (a) is in the affirmative, whether any inquiry was held into the matter ; if so, with what result ;

(c) if the answer to (b) above be in the negative, whether the Government intends to take any action now in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz) : (a) Yes.

(b) An inquiry was held into the matter and the Inspector of Schools, Ambala Division, has quashed the Examination result and ordered the promotion of all the 12 boys who were declared as failed by the Assistant District Inspector of Schools and the District Inspector of Schools, Hissar.

[Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz.]

(c) Does not arise.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What is the nature of those irregularities ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have got the whole file here and the honourable member is welcome to see it in my office.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Was the Assistant District Inspector who is responsible for those irregularities, punished or rewarded ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have nothing further to add to the reply already given.

COMPLAINT AGAINST SUPERINTENDENT OF VERNACULAR FINAL AND MIDDLE SCHOOL EXAMINATION, 1939, HISSAR CENTRE.

5128. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state—

(a) whether any complaint was received by Inspector of Schools, Ambala Division, against the Superintendent of Vernacular Final and Middle School Examination, 1939, Hissar Centre C, at Jat High School, Hissar, regarding his lack of supervision during the examination ;

(b) if the answer to (a) is in the affirmative, whether any inquiry was held against the official concerned ; if so, with what result ;

(c) whether the Government propose to take necessary action in the matter to prevent such occurrences in future ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz) : (a) Yes. A pseudonymous complaint was received.

(b) Yes. The officer concerned was warned by the Inspector of Schools.

(c) No further action is necessary.

Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan : Is it a fact that long after the examination was over, this allegation was made against an officer who is deadly against the irregularity of one teacher teaching half the class in Urdu and half the class in Hindi ?

Nawab Sir Shah Nawaz Khan : It does not arise out of this question.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that students were allowed to openly copy the answers from each other ?

Minister of Public Works : Perhaps the honourable member is reminded of the old times when he sat for his examinations.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Was the warning thought to be sufficient punishment for this offence which seems to be serious ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes.

Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan : Who was the Superintendent of Examinations and how many assistant superintendents were present in the room where the examination was held ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If the honourable member gives notice of this question, the information will be supplied.

BAN ON EMPLOYEES OF GOVERNMENT AIDED EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS BECOMING MEMBERS OF CONGRESS.

5179. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state whether there exists a ban on employees of Government aided educational institutions becoming members of the Congress or delegates to Congress committees, or voting for Congress candidates in various elections?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz) : No; but attention is invited to Articles 84 and 241 of the Punjab Education Code, XI Edition (Reprints 1932, 1934, and 1939).

Sardar Hari Singh : What is the object of that reference?

Parliamentary Secretary : You have, in your question, referred to "aided educational institutions becoming members of the Congress or delegates to Congress committees" and I have referred the honourable member to the articles of the Education Code.

Sardar Hari Singh : What is the object of those articles?

Parliamentary Secretary : If my honourable friend wishes to read those articles, they are here. I have got the book with me for his information.

WITHDRAWING OF GRANT-IN-AID TO RAJPUT HIGH SCHOOL, DHOLBAHA.

5180. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state the reasons for the withdrawing of the grant-in-aid to Rajput High School, Dholbaha, district Hoshiarpur, and whether the said action has been taken on the recommendation of the Deputy Commissioner, Hoshiarpur?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz) : The Rajput High School, Dholbaha, district Hoshiarpur, is not on the regular grant-in-aid list. The question of withdrawal of grant-in-aid from the school does not, therefore, arise.

DEFINITION OF A PUBLIC WELL.

5266. Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state the definition of a public well from which the Harijans are entitled to fetch water in the various parts of the Province?

Parliamentary Secretary (Khan Bahaur Mian Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana) : Public wells are wells constructed from provincial funds. They may be divided into two classes :—

- (a) wells transferred to the charge of a local body for maintenance;
- (b) wells in Government institutions such as Government schools, or hospitals, thanas, tahsils and offices.

As regards the wells falling in category (a) all local bodies have been instructed to put up notice boards in conspicuous places on each public well stating therein that it is open to all classes of public including the scheduled castes. As regards the wells falling in category (b) they cannot be classified public wells in the sense that they are open to the public at large. These wells are open to those members of the public only who belong to or are connected with the institution or attend the institution on business. Such wells are supposed to be open without restriction to all members of that particular public, e.g., a scheduled caste school boy has the same right to use the school well as other boys....so also in the case of scheduled caste litigants or witnesses attending the tahsil on business.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know if the wells constructed out of the funds of local bodies are "public wells" ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It appears that the honourable member has not heard my answer. I have said "Public wells are wells constructed with provincial funds."

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : And I have asked : are the wells constructed by the funds of local bodies public wells ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It depends upon what you understand from the expression "provincial funds".

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : But what does the Parliamentary Secretary understand by 'public wells' ?

Lala Duni Chand : While thanking the Government for issuing the instructions mentioned by the Parliamentary Secretary, may I know if the Government takes care to see that these instructions are carried out ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If any complaints are brought to the notice of the Government that those instructions are not carried out, I shall see that orders are obeyed.

Lala Duni Chand : Has it not already come to the notice of the Government that in number of cases those instructions were honoured more in the breach than in the observance ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No.

Sardar Partab Singh : May I know if the Parliamentary Secretary has taken the definition of 'public well' from any dictionary or it is his own invention ?

Mr. Speaker : That is not a matter of public concern.

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : Do we understand that wells constructed at the expense of district boards and municipalities are not public wells ?

Mr. Speaker : That question has been asked and answered.

THE DISTRICT BOARD SCHOOL, SIALBA, TAHSIL KHARAR.

*5286. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that the District Board School of Sialba, tahsil Kharar, district Ambala, is located in several buildings at a considerable distance from each other and for that reason the efficiency and the education of the school are very much at a disadvantage ;

- (b) what action, if any, the Government proposes to take in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz): (a) Yes, but the distance in no case exceeds 100 yards from the main buildings. There has been no adverse effect on the efficiency and the education of the schools on this account and the classwise results have been quite satisfactory.

(b) As one spacious building is not available in the village the erection of a new building is the only solution, which cannot be taken in hand on account of financial stringency.

Lala Duni Chand: Will the Parliamentary Secretary be pleased to state in how many buildings this school is located? Is it not in about a dozen?

Parliamentary Secretary: I am afraid I cannot give the exact number. But I think it is three or four.

Lala Duni Chand: Does the Parliamentary Secretary think that the location of that school in a dozen buildings is conducive to the interests of the students?

Parliamentary Secretary: That is a question of opinion.

MIDDLE SCHOOL AND DISPENSARY AT SHADIWAL, DISTRICT GUJRAT.

5295. Khan Sahib Chaudhri Pir Muhammad: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state whether he is aware of the fact that at M. Shadiwal, district Gujrat, which is a very big village and has a Small Town Committee, there is neither a middle school, nor a civil dispensary; if so, what steps are intended to be taken to open a middle school and to establish a civil dispensary at the place?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz): The honourable member's information is correct. It is primarily for the local body to consider what facilities for education and for medical relief should be provided. But I may state for the honourable member's information that there is a civil dispensary at a distance of about 2½ miles from Shadiwal and that there are three middle schools within a radius of about six miles. Government do not propose to take any action.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan: May I know whether the majority of the population of village Shadiwal consists of agriculturists?

Parliamentary Secretary: It may be so.

PROVISION FOR FREE EDUCATION FOR JAMAIT-UL-QURESH-I-HIND.

5312. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava: Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state whether he has received a copy of the resolution adopted by Jamait-ul-Quresh-i-Hind in its conference held on 26th and 27th August, 1939, requesting the Government to make provision for imparting free education to the children belonging to that backward class residing in the Punjab; if so, what action does he propose to take on this resolution?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz): No such resolution has been received by Government.

RESTRICTIONS FOR THE PURCHASE OF NEWSPAPERS AND WEEKLIES OUT OF PUPILS' FUND FOR AIDED SCHOOLS.

5326. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

- (a) whether there are any restrictions imposed on recognised and aided schools in the Punjab as regards the supply of newspapers to the boys out of the pupils' fund subscribed to by the boys for the purpose; if so, what are these restrictions;
- (b) whether the Education Department maintains any list of daily and weekly newspapers and magazines which can be subscribed to by the recognised schools out of the pupils' funds; if so, whether he will be pleased to place a copy of that list on the table of the House;
- (c) the rules of procedure which govern the Education Department in the preparation of the list of newspapers and magazines which recognized schools are permitted to subscribe to;
- (d) when was the existing list of approved newspapers prepared by the Education Department and what daily and weekly newspapers have been added to this list since the introduction of the provincial autonomy;
- (e) whether a copy of the list of approved newspapers is supplied to all the recognized schools every year;
- (f) whether it is a fact that some of the recognized schools in the province have recently been ordered under threat of withdrawal of recognition to stop the supply, out of pupils' fund of certain newspapers which were being subscribed to by them for a number of years; if so, whether these orders have been issued under the instructions of the Ministry of Education;
- (g) the reasons for banning newspapers which were permitted during the pre-provincial autonomy days and the action Government proposes to take in this respect in future?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz): (a) Yes; Article 62 (m) of the Punjab Education Code, eleventh edition (Reprint).

(b) Yes. A copy¹ of the list of journals, etc., approved for use in schools in the Punjab is laid on the table. Vernacular dailies are not included in the above list on account of lack of permanence and uncertainty of tone.

(c) Article 62 (m) of the Punjab Education Code, eleventh edition (reprint).

(d) 18th July, 1939. A list of such weeklies as have been added to the list since the introduction of the provincial autonomy is also laid on the table.

(e) Yes, whenever it is issued.

¹Kept in the Assembly Library.

Lala Duni Chand : Bearing in mind the well recognised principle that the object of any system of education is expansion of mind, why is it that the reverse object is to be achieved in this case?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is a matter of opinion.

Lala Duni Chand : Why is it denied to the students when they subscribe for these papers out of their own fund?

Parliamentary Secretary : A list of the papers that are subscribed by that school is laid on the table and the honourable member will see that it is a very exhaustive list.

Lala Duni Chand : Cannot the Government leave this matter to the discretion of the headmaster of the school as to which paper should be subscribed?

Parliamentary Secretary : That is a request for action.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What is the basis of drawing up this list which shows that particular papers should be subscribed and other papers should not be subscribed?

Parliamentary Secretary : No particular basis. The papers which are considered suitable are subscribed for schools.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : But why are some journals considered suitable and others not so suitable?

Parliamentary Secretary : The journals which are considered suitable by the officers of the Education Department are subscribed.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : But what are suitable journals?

Parliamentary Secretary : The honourable member certainly knows the meaning of the word 'suitable'.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I want to know what is the basis of considering a particular journal suitable or unsuitable.

CATARACT AND OTHER EYE OPERATIONS AT MOGA, BERI AND MUKERIAN.

5327. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of cataract and other eye operations performed at the Hospitals at Moga, district Ferozepore, Beri, district Rohtak, and Mukerian, district Hoshiarpur, during the years 1933, 1934, 1935, 1936, 1937 and 1938 and the amount realized as fee from the patients and also received by way of donations, separately, during these years ;
- (b) the number of sub-assistant surgeons, compounders, dressers, actually employed for the eye centre at Banga, district Jullundur, during the years 1933, 1934, 1935, 1936, 1937 and 1938 as against the number sanctioned for employment at that centre ;
- (c) whether there is any printed list of sub-assistant surgeons serving in the Punjab and, if so, whether he will be pleased to lay a copy thereof corrected up to date on the table of the House ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz) : (a) and (b) The labour involved in collecting the information is not commensurate with the results to be achieved therefrom.

(c) A copy of the latest printed list (corrected up to the 1st April, 1939) is laid on the table¹. The next edition corrected up to the 1st October, 1939, is in press and printed copies are not yet available.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Are not the operations which have been performed in these three hospitals entered in the respective registers of these hospitals? Surely their number can be easily known from the registers.

Parliamentary Secretary : The honourable member has asked about so many hospitals. A number of clerks will have to be employed to work out the number of operations in these hospitals.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : My question relates only to three hospitals Moga, Beri and Mukerian.

Parliamentary Secretary : I am sure that if not thousands, at least hundreds of operations must have been performed in these hospitals. The honourable member had better read the Medical Report. He would find the information there.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Will the Parliamentary Secretary please state if the doctors working in these hospitals charge any fees ?

Parliamentary Secretary : That does not arise out of this question.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : It does arise out of this question. The question is—

.....and the amount realized as fee from the patients.....
during these years.

¹Kept in the Assembly Library.

My question is whether the amount of fee charged by doctors from private patients is considered to be reasonable or not?

Parliamentary Secretary : In certain hospitals fees are charged from rich patients. That is not prohibited. But no fees are charged from the poor.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Why are the doctors working in the Mayo Hospital allowed to charge any fees when they are already drawing such fat salaries?

Parliamentary Secretary : This question has nothing to do with the Mayo Hospital.

Tikka Jagjit Singh Bedi : May I know what is the criterion for judging whether or not a person is poor for the purpose of charging such fees?

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : May I expect a reply to my question as to whether the fees charged by doctors drawing thousands of rupees per mensem are considered a legitimate charge?

Parliamentary Secretary : Although this question does not arise out of the original question, yet I may be allowed to refer the honourable member to the rules on the subject. In the Mayo Hospital patients are admitted to the general as well as the private wards. The rich patients in the private wards have to pay the fees but no fees are charged from the poor patients.

EYE CENTRES FOR OPERATIVE EYE WORK.

*5328. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state whether it is a fact that some time ago a circular letter was issued by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Punjab, to all the civil surgeons ordering that generally only well-trained doctors should do difficult operative eye work and that the formation of small eye centres under unskilled doctors should be discouraged and, if so, whether he will be pleased to lay a copy of the said circular on the table of the House?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz) : Answer to the first part of the question is in the negative. The second part does not arise.

BOOKS PUBLISHED BY PUNJAB UNIVERSITY FOR MATRICULATION AND INTERMEDIATE EXAMINATIONS.

*5338. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

- (a) whether the Punjab University has published any text books for Matriculation and Intermediate students;
- (b) whether books published by other publishers have been prescribed as courses for the Matriculation and Intermediate Examinations;
- (c) selling prices of the books published by the Punjab University and those published by other publishers prescribed as courses for the examinations mentioned in (a) above and the reasons for difference, if any, in the prices fixed by the University for their publications and those of other publishers;
- (d) the yearly profit earned by the University from these publications;

[Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava.]

(c) the amount of royalty ; if any, paid by the University to the compilers ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz) : I regret that the answer to this question is not ready.

RE-ADMISSION OF UNSUCCESSFUL STUDENTS TO GOVERNMENT COLLEGE, LAHORE.

*5355. Khan Haibat Khan Dahi : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that over 40 per cent students of the Government College, Lahore, failed in the F. A. examination of the Punjab University ;

(b) how many of the students, who appeared from the Government College, Lahore, and who failed in the F. A. examination of the Punjab University held this year applied for re-admission and how many of them were refused admission with the reasons for which admission was refused ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz) : (a) No. 227 students took the Intermediate (F. Sc. and Arts) Examination from this College in 1939 out of whom 180 passed, the pass percentage being 79·8.

(b) Seventeen failed students applied for re-admission. Out of these three were sent up for the University Examination on the condition that if they failed they would not be re-admitted. Five were admitted and the remaining nine were refused admission as they had failed either in two or more than two subjects. This has been the rule of the College for many years past.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if students fail in the same communal proportion in which they are admitted in the College ? (Laughter.)

PERCENTAGE OF LITERACY IN THE PROVINCE.

*5356. Khan Haibat Khan Dahi : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

(a) the percentage of literacy in the province ;

(b) the average educational expenditure per year per head of population incurred by the Government during the last five years ;

(c) whether it is a fact that in most villages in the province even primary schools do not exist within a radius of two miles of a village ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz) : (a) The percentage of literacy according to the last Census :—

Males	8·5
Females	1·4
					Rs. A. P.
(b) 1934-35	0 10 10
1935-36	0 11 1
1936-37	0 11 1
1937-38	0 11 2
1938-39	0 11 7

(c) There are villages where primary schools do not exist within a radius of two miles. The number of children of school-going age in such villages is too small to justify the opening of a school there.

SCHOOLS IN VILLAGES OF MONTGOMERY DISTRICT.

*5357. Khan Haibat Khan Daba: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that the Education authorities concerned are not keen on starting schools in villages;

(b) that Chaks 100-E. B., 102-E. B., 104-E. B. and 106-E. B., in Montgomery district have no school within a radius of $\frac{1}{4}$ miles?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz): I regret that the answer to the question is not ready.

AWARD OF GRADES IN THE EDUCATION DEPARTMENT.

*5375. Khan Bahadur Captain Malik Muzaffar Khan: Will the Honourable Minister of Education please lay on the table a list of the officials of the Education Department who were awarded grades of Rs. 140—10—190 and Rs. 200—10—250 this year as well as last year, and also state—

(a) the principle according to which these grades were awarded during these two years;

(b) the number of Muslims and non-Muslims who were promoted into each of these grades separately;

(c) how many of them were awarded these grades on seniority basis, and how many by selection and whether the same principle was observed during both these years; if not, why not, and the action the Government intends to take in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz): As the question savours of communalism I shall be glad to answer if the honourable member puts an unstarred question.

MIDDLE SCHOOL SCHOLARSHIP HOLDERS.

*5378. Khan Bahadur Captain Malik Muzaffar Khan: Is the Honourable Minister of Education aware that in the Mianwali district middle school scholarship holders except those getting Victoria Scholarships have been debarred from drawing scholarships when acquiring Anglo-Vernacular Education; if so, whether he intends to take any action in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz): Yes, the matter is already under the consideration of Government.

INCOME AND EXPENDITURE OF GOVERNMENT HIGH SCHOOLS IN THE PROVINCE.

*5383. Dr. Satyapal: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to lay on the table of the House—

(a) a list of all Government high schools in the province with the number of students in each class, the amount of fee paid by them and the pay bill of the staff as on 31st June, 1939;

[Dr. Satyapal.]

- (b) a statement of income from fee to each school for the year ending 31st March, 1939, and amount of loss contributed by the Government?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz): The honourable member is advised to consult the printed list of high schools in the Punjab which also gives enrolment. A copy of this list was supplied to him by the Education Department in January this year.

The value of the remaining information would not be commensurate with the time and labour spent on its collection.

PRABHAKAR EXAMINATION.

5384. Dr. Satyapal: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to lay on the table of the House a statement showing—

- (a) separately the number of candidates who appeared, passed and who failed in Prabhakar examinations held in the year 1930 to 1939, separately for each year;
- (b) the number of candidates who appeared, passed and who failed in papers Nos. 3 and 5, separately of the said examination during the same period and also who obtained less and who obtained more than 80 marks in these two papers;
- (c) the information asked for in parts (a) and (b) with regard to any of the ten centres except Lahore, Amritsar and Delhi including Ambala and Ludhiana for the same period?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz): The honourable member is referred to the answer given to question No. 872¹ asked by Pandit Shri Ram Sharma, M. L. A.

COMPLAINTS ABOUT PRABHAKAR EXAMINATION.

5385. Dr. Satyapal: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state whether any complaint regarding paper Nos. 3 and 5 of the Prabhakar examination held last time, has been received by the University of the Punjab this year, if so, what steps the University has taken to avoid such complaints in future?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz): The answer to the first part of the question is in the negative. The second part does not arise.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION CENTRES, AMBALA DISTRICT.

5386. Dr. Satyapal: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to lay on the table of the House a statement—

- (a) giving full information of all centres of compulsory education in Ambala district as on 31st March, 1939, with particulars such as the number of boys receiving and of boys not receiving education in respect of each tahsil;
- (b) containing the number of boys receiving education class-wise from infant to 10th class in all schools as on 31st March, 1939, in respect of each tahsil;

(e) containing the number of middle and high schools of boys with the number of students class-wise from the infant to 10th class learning English with the name and place of the school in the Ambala district as on 31st March, 1939?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz): I regret I am unable to reply to the question as the benefit derived from the supply of the desired information will not be commensurate with the labour and expense involved in the collection thereof.

PROMOTION AND SUPERSESSION IN THE EDUCATION DEPARTMENT.

5389. Dr. Sant Ram Seth: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state the number of promotions made in the year 1938 in all grades of services in the Education and in the Medical departments, with the number of supersessions made while giving their promotions?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz): A statement giving the information asked for by the honourable member is laid on the table.

Statement.

Nature of promotion.

Number of persons promoted during the year 1938.

EDUCATION DEPARTMENT.

The number of promotions made in the Education Department in all grades of service during 1938 is given below:

1. P.E.S. Class II to P. E. S. Class I	1
2. S.E.S. (Class I) to P. E. S. Class II	3
3. S.E.S. (Anglo-Vernacular Section)—
(i) Rs. 140—190 to Rs. 200—250 grade	17
(ii) Rs. 110—135 to Rs. 140—190 grade	25
(iii) Rs. 80—100 to Rs. 110—135 grade	21
(iv) Rs. 55—70 to Rs. 80—100 grade	11
4. S. E. S. (Classical and Vernacular Section)—
(i) Rs. 110—135 to Rs. 140—190 grade	4
(ii) Rs. 80—100 to Rs. 110—135 grade	5
(iii) Rs. 55—70 to Rs. 80—100 grade	10
(iv) Rs. 35—50 to Rs. 55—70 grade	18
5. Clerical Establishment (Director of Public Instruction's Office)—
(i) Rs. 75—150 to Rs. 100—250 grade	1
(ii) Rs. 40—100 to Rs. 75—150 grade	1
(iii) Rs. 40—90 to Rs. 40—100 grade	2
6. Clerical Establishment (Subordinate offices)—
(i) Rs. 100—150 to Rs. 100—200 grade	1
(ii) Rs. 75—125 to 100—200 grade	1
(iii) Rs. 75—125 to Rs. 100—150 grade	1
(iv) Rs. 40—90 to Rs. 75—125 grade	4
(v) Rs. 30—70 to Rs. 40—90 grade	3

[Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz.]

I do not quite understand what the honourable member means by "supersessions made while giving their promotions." Moreover, I may inform the honourable member that promotions from grade to grade within the S.E.S. are given on several considerations; seniority coupled with good record, acquisition of additional academic qualifications, aptitude for particularly responsible posts, exceptional merit, rendering of meritorious services in important spheres, etc. There is no continuous incremental scale in the S.E.S., and promotion from one grade to another cannot be claimed as a matter of right.

Promotions from the S. E. S. to P. E. S. (Class II) and from grade to grade of the Clerical establishment are made purely by selection. The question of supersession does not, therefore, arise.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

Nature of promotion.	Number of persons promoted during the year 1938.
1. Punjab Civil Medical Service —
(i) To selection grade of Civil Surgeons	1
(ii) To substantive appointment as Civil Surgeon	1
2. Men Sub-Assistant Surgeons —
(i) To senior grade, 1st class	6
(ii) To senior grade, 2nd class	10
3. Office of the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals —
Superintendent	1
4. Offices of Civil Surgeons —
(i) Head Clerks	2
(ii) Assistant Clerks, Class I	3

As promotions are made by selection, the question of supersession does not arise.

SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR RED CROSS SOCIETY FUND MAINTAINED IN SCHOOLS.

*5408. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state whether it is a fact that in some Government aided boys and girls schools subscriptions are realized from students along with tuition fees for the Red Cross Society; if so, why?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz): Subscriptions to the Red Cross Society Fund in schools are voluntary. There is no objection to the collection of such subscriptions along with tuition fees.

TOURS UNDERTAKEN BY CIVIL SURGEON, JHANG.

*5409. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state the number of tours undertaken in villages during the last 12 months by the present Civil Surgeon, Jhang, and any special steps taken by him to provide medical aid to the remote villages since his appointment in the aforesaid districts?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz): Thirty-nine. He is reported to have pushed forward vigorously the scheme requiring medical officers in charge of dispensaries to tour in rural areas.

PROVISION FOR MEDICAL AID FOR PEOPLE IN JHANG DISTRICT.

*5410. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state—

(a) the percentage of population of Jhang district for which the Government and local bodies have provided hospitals or dispensaries ;

(b) whether adequate arrangements for medical aid by touring medical staff have been made by Government in the Jhang district ;

(c) whether Government propose to improve the existing medical facilities in this district ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz) : (a) This question is not understood. The hospitals and dispensaries are open to all. In the Jhang district there is, on an average, one dispensary for every 26,200 inhabitants.

(b) Arrangements for medical aid by touring medical staff exist in all tahsils of the Jhang district. The extent of the arrangements must depend on financial considerations.

(c) Yes. A subsidised dispensary is being opened now and more will be opened as soon as funds can be collected.

ALLOTMENT FOR IN-DOOR PATIENTS IN CIVIL HOSPITAL, AMBALA CITY.

*5413. Mrs. Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

(a) the yearly amount allotted to the Civil Hospital, Ambala city, for feeding the in-door patients ;

(b) the number of in-door patients admitted into the Hospital during the last financial year ;

(c) whether any representation has recently been made to the authorities as to the insufficiency of the amount allowed and if so, what action has been taken thereon ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz) : (a) Rs. 300 for feeding poor patients only.

(b) 833.

(c) No representation has been received by the Civil Surgeon or the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals.

Lala Duni Chand : Does Government consider this paltry sum of Rs. 300 sufficient for feeding the in-door patients throughout the year ?

Parliamentary Secretary : As I have already stated in my reply to part (c), no representation has been received on behalf of the Civil Surgeon ; if any is received, Government would be prepared to consider it.

WATER WORKS, AMBALA CITY.

5414. Mrs. Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state whether there has been any increase in water supply of the public water works of the Ambala city as a result of grant made by the Government and if so, to what extent?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz) : Yes. About 150,000 gallons daily.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if it is true that in spite of all the promises and the undertaking given by the Honourable Minister for Education during the last 2½ years, the problem of scarcity of water in Ambala has grown from bad to worse?

Parliamentary Secretary : The honourable member had better wait for my reply to the next question. Right information will be supplied to him whether these promises have been more or less fulfilled or not.

WATER FAMINE CRISIS IN AMBALA CITY.

5415. Mrs. Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

(a) whether the Government is aware of the fact that during the summer of the present year the inhabitants of the Ambala city have passed through a serious and acute water famine crisis, if so, the action intended to be taken in the matter;

(b) whether the Government is aware of the repeated complaints made from time to time by the inhabitants of the town as to the unfair distribution of the limited supply of water and if so, what action has been taken thereon by the municipal committee?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz) : (a) First part.—Yes.

Second part.—The sinking of four new wells in 1938 increased the daily water supply by 150,000 gallons. It has been suggested by the Superintending Engineer, Public Health Circle that two experimental borings should be made, one near the city and the other at Handesra, which if successful should be converted into tube wells. The question of giving a grant-in-aid to the municipal committee for the purpose is under the consideration of the Sanitary Board which has asked for information in regard to the action taken by the committee to improve its financial position.

(b) First part.—Yes.

Second part.—The distribution of water was handed over to the Executive Officer for the period of two months. This resulted in some improvements. The distribution of water has again been taken over by the committee and the Deputy Commissioner has reported that the position is being examined.

Lala Duni Chand : Will the Parliamentary Secretary say whether the position has not grown from bad to worse?

Parliamentary Secretary : It has not become worse. In fact when all the schemes are put into operation, it will certainly improve. It has already improved.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it not within the knowledge of the Government that formerly the scarcity problem was keenly felt only in summer months, but now we do not get water even during the winter months and the rainy months?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have explained in full what Government intends to do. Government is doing its best and I hope that the inhabitants will be relieved of this scarcity.

Lala Duni Chand : Does the Parliamentary Secretary know that women and children of Ambala do not get water worth the name?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already said that we are doing our best.

Lala Duni Chand : Will the Parliamentary Secretary be pleased to succeed where the Minister has failed?

Parliamentary Secretary : The Education Minister has not failed. He is doing his best.

STUDENTS READING URDU, HINDI, OR GURMUKHI IN HISSAR DISTRICT.

5423. Master Kabul Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state—

(a) the number of those students separately, who were reading Urdu, Hindi, or Gurmukhi towards the end of the years 1936-37, 1937-38, 1938-39, in the schools under each of the Assistant District Inspectors of Schools in Hissar district together with the names of the places where the said schools are situated;

(b) the number of students who were reading these languages in the said schools on 31st August, 1939?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz) : I regret I am unable to reply to the question as the benefit derived from the supply of the desired information will not be commensurate with the time, labour and expense involved in the compilation thereof.

GRANTS-IN-AID TO ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS RUN BY VIDYA PARCHARNI SABHA, HISSAR.

5425. Master Kabul Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state—

(a) whether Government is aware of the fact that the decision of the District Board, Hissar, to give grants-in-aid to primary and not to elementary schools has resulted in the closing down of the elementary schools run by the Vidya Parcharni Sabha, Hissar, at Bachhari, Kharak Ponia, Panhari, Nadhorri, Kajal Herri, Gosainwala, Badan Brahmanan and Chanot;

(b) whether it is a fact that the Government has once again decided to give grants-in-aid to elementary schools in the backward areas;

M. Kabul Singh.]

- (c) whether Government has received any representation from the Secretary or Manager of the said Vidya Parcharni Sabha requesting that grants-in-aid may be given to those schools run by the Sabha which had been closed down for want of grants-in-aid and that until the question of grant-in-aid is finally decided a lump sum money may be granted; if so, the action taken on that representation?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz): I regret that the answer to the question is not ready.

AMOUNT OF GRANTS-IN-AID GIVEN FOR ELEMENTARY AND PRIMARY EDUCATION.

5427. Master Kabul Singh: Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) the amount of grants-in-aid given by the various district boards in the province, division-wise, for elementary and primary education during the years 1936-37, 1937-38 and 1938-39;
- (b) the number of elementary and primary schools in each division in the province;
- (c) the number of boys in the elementary and primary schools as it stood on March 31st, 1939?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana: I regret the reply to this question is not yet ready.

STUDENTS READING URDU, HINDI OR GURMUKHI IN HISSAR DISTRICT.

5432. Chaudhri Sahib Ram: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of those students separately, who were reading Urdu, Hindi, or Gurmukhi towards the end of the years 1936-37, 1937-38, 1938-39, in the schools under each of the Assistant District Inspectors of Schools in Hissar district together with the name of the places where the said schools are situated;
- (b) the number of students who were reading these languages in the said schools on 31st August, 1939?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz): The honourable member is referred to the answer given to question No. *5428 ante asked by Master Kabul Singh, M. L. A.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: May I know whether the Government have any knowledge of the number of students who are reading Hindi in Hissar district?

Parliamentary Secretary: I have already said in reply to the question put by Master Kabul Singh that the time and labour involved in collecting the information will not be commensurate with the results thereof.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Yes, I have listened to the reply given by the Parliamentary Secretary, but my question is whether the Government have any knowledge of the number of students who are reading Hindi in Hissar district as compared with the number of those who are reading Urdu ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The condition of the students in Hissar district is the same as in other districts.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I want to know whether it is a fact that the number of Hindi students in Hissar district far exceeds the number in Mianwali district and other districts.

Parliamentary Secretary : Might be so.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is the number of Hindi students larger than others ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Government is doing its best to provide every facility to the students whether they are reading Hindi or Urdu.

Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan : Is the Government aware of the irregularities being committed in the Education Department at Hissar ? If so, what steps do the Government intend to take ?

GRANT-IN-AID TO ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS RUN BY VIDYA PAR-CHARNI SABHA, HISSAR.

5434. Chaudhri Sahib Ram : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

- (a) whether Government is aware of the fact that the decision of the District Board, Hissar, to give grant-in-aid to primary and not to elementary schools has resulted in the closing down of the elementary schools run by the Vidya Parcharni Sabha, Hissar, at Baphhari, Kharak Ponia, Panhari, Nadhorri, Kajal Herri, Gosain Wala, Badan Brahmanan and Chanot ;
- (b) whether it is a fact that the Government has once again decided to give grant-in-aid to elementary schools in the backward areas ;
- (c) whether Government has received any representation from the secretary or manager of the said Vidya Parcharni Sabha requesting that grant-in-aid may be given to those schools run by the Sabha which had been closed down for want of grant-in-aid and that until the question of grant-in-aid is finally decided a lump sum may be granted ; if so, the action taken on that representation ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz) : I regret that the answer to the question is not ready.

NUMBER OF TEACHERS IN GOVERNMENT HIGH SCHOOL, JAGADHRI.

5443. Chaudhri Jugal Kishore : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state the number of such teachers in the Government High School, Jagadhri, district Ambala, as have been teaching there for more than three years ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz): The number of teachers who have been teaching at the Government High School, Jagadhri, for more than three years is 11.

Chaudhri Jugal Kishore: Is it a fact that certain teachers have been teaching in the Government High School, Jagadhri, for more than three years? If so, is it according to the rules?

AN ANGLO-VERNACULAR MIDDLE SCHOOL FOR TAHSIL JAGADHRI.

5455. Lala Duni Chand: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state if there is any anglo-vernacular middle school in tahsil Jagadhri of Ambala district; if not, what steps the Government is prepared to take in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz): No.

The Education Department is prepared to consider the question of addition of optional English classes to the District Board Vernacular Middle School, Bilaspur, provided the people of that ilaga undertake to meet the initial expenditure and subsequent deficit if the classes are not self-supporting.

Lala Duni Chand: Will the Parliamentary Secretary use the weight of her position and personality for the removal of this grievance, namely that in a tahsil with a length of 50 miles and a breadth of 40, there is only one middle school?

THE CITY OF LAHORE CORPORATION BILL.

Mr. Speaker: Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt's amendment, proposing circulation of the City of Lahore Corporation Bill, has been disposed of. There are six more amendments on the order paper which are identical with that amendment, excepting the period of circulation. Does any of the honourable members, in whose names those amendments stand, wish to move and have his amendment put to vote?

(No honourable member desired to move them.)

Mr. Speaker: The question is—

That the City of Lahore Corporation Bill be referred to a select committee.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker: The next question is—

That the select committee do consist of more than fifteen members.

The motion was carried.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana): Before putting the names for the approval of the House, I have to suggest a change in the names of the members of the select committee. Instead of Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan who has expressed a wish that he might not be placed on the committee, I propose the name of Sardar Gopal Singh and instead of Captain Ashiq Hussain I propose Khan Sahib Chaudhri Pir Muhammad.

The House agreed to this change.

Lala Harnam Das : On a point of privilege. My honourable friend Sardar Gopal Singh has been selected to represent the Achhut members on the select committee appointed to report on the Corporation Bill. My submission is that since he is a Parliamentary Private Secretary he cannot be expected to discharge his duties to protect the rights and interests of the scheduled castes independently. I, therefore, humbly request the Government to select some other member for the purpose.

Mr. Speaker : That is not a matter of privilege.

The question is—

That the select committee do consist of the following members—

Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz,
 Diwan Bahadur S. P. Singha.
 Sardar Gopal Singh,
 Khan Sahib Chaudhri Pir Muhammad.
 Sardar Bahadur Sardar Gurbachan Singh.
 Chaudhri Ram Sarup.
 Rai Sahib Lala Sohan Lal.
 Sayed Afzaalali Hasnie.
 Malik Habib Ullah Khan.
 Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava.
 Mrs. Duni Chand.
 Mian Abdul Aziz.
 Mian Fazal Karim Bakhsh.
 Begum Rashida Latif Baji.
 Rai Sahib Chaudhri Het Ram.
 Shaikh Faiz Muhammad.
 Mr. K. L. Gauba.
 Khan Bahadur Raja Muhammad Akram Khan.
 Mian Abdul Rab.
 Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh.
 Diwan Chaman Lal.
 Lala Sita Ram.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I beg to propose two names, one is that of Lala Harnam Das and the other is that of Mian Muhammad Iftikhar-ud-Din. As far as the latter is concerned, I suggested it even the other day and if the Honourable Minister finds any difficulty in adding these names he should accept at least the name of Mian Iftikhar-ud-Din to be substituted in my place. I nominate him in my place.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member may move his amendment.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I beg to move—

That the name of Lala Harnam Das be added to the select committee.

Minister : The total number I have proposed is 22. Then there are three members who are to be there under the rules, that is, the member in charge, the nominee of the Honourable Speaker, and the Advocate-General. That makes up a total of 25 and that is the maximum permissible under our rules. So, if we accept the suggestion of the Leader of the Opposition, the number will exceed 25 which is not permissible under the rules.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : The Advocate-General is only there in an advisory capacity and he has no right of voting.

Minister : He is a member under the rules. The rules were framed by this House after great deliberation and discussion.

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : Our House, excluding the Speaker, consists of 174 members and the strength of the Opposition is 61. According to pure mathematical calculation, the Opposition is entitled to 8 seats out of the number of 25. I really do not see why the Minister gives us only 6 and why we should be satisfied with only 6. I claim that we should have at least 8 members on a committee of 25. All over the world if any weightage is given it is given to the minority.

Minister : May I say a word? Rule 87 clearly lays down that a select committee shall not, except with the leave of the Assembly, consist of more than fifteen members, and in no case of more than twenty-five. We have already got that number.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Cannot the Honourable Minister ask one of his own men to retire in favour of Lala Harnam Das?

Mr. Speaker : According to rule 87 the maximum number of the members of a select committee can be 25. So, 'substitution', not 'addition', can be made at this stage.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Let the Government withdraw some of their own men.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : Otherwise the consequences might be unhappy.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Something might happen within five minutes.

Minister : I may explain the position. The arrangement arrived at is this.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Is the Honourable Minister prepared to withdraw two of his own men and substitute these two members?

Minister : It is not possible to do so at this stage.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Then I would suggest that the names of the members of the select committee be proposed and put separately. We cannot vote en-bloc.

Premier : My honourable friend has made that suggestion, but he should also realise that that suggestion would mean a considerable waste of time of this House. This is the first time that he wants to create a precedent of this nature. If he wants to substitute any name he is welcome.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : The Honourable Premier says that there is no precedent of this nature. So far as I can recollect no Minister has ever been so obstinate or obdurate on such a simple question. He has got 19 men of his own party against 6. Is the Government going to be defeated in the select committee if he withdraws two of his own men and allows the Opposition to put in two more names? He is so unreasonable. It is inconceivable that a Minister should be so obstinate. It is not a favour that we ask.

Premier : No, it is not a favour. The suggestion was made that the name of the Leader of the Opposition be added and his name has been so added. So far as Mian Iftikhar-ud-Din's name is concerned, I understand he does not want to serve on the committee. The main difficulty in the way of my colleagues is that you cannot go beyond 25.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The objection which has been raised on this side of the House is that we are 61 and the House is made up of 178 because your nominee is going to be there as an ex-officio member and the Deputy Speaker is usually a member of such sub-committees, therefore excluding you and the Deputy Speaker, there are only 173 members. We claim one-third of that number. We must therefore have a little over 58 members. The Honourable Premier has referred to certain talks. Of course I had talks with him, but I would request him, in all fairness not to disclose all the talks that I had with him. It is not a question of my serving on the committee.

Premier : I do not propose to disclose any talk.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Please do not even refer to them.

Premier : I am not in the habit of disclosing any talks that I have with the Leader of the Opposition either in the chamber or outside.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Referring to or mentioning a part of it is to give an impression that I had made a settlement with him.

Premier : But I do not want to quote anything at all. You suggested that you should be included in the committee and my colleague says that you have been included. You also suggest that I might include Mian Iftikhar-ud-Din, but he tells me that he does not want to serve on the committee.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Again a private talk is being referred to.

Premier : I am not referring to any talk.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Of course that is a reference to a talk with the Honourable Minister.

Premier : Does the honourable member mean that Mian Iftikhar-ud-Din's name should have been put on the committee without his consent?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I only object to any reference to any talk that any member may have had with the Minister privately.

Mr. Speaker : Private conversations between honourable members held in or outside this House should not be referred to in debates.

Premier : Question is that the honourable member wants to include the name of Mian Iftikhar-ud-Din but the member himself came to me and told me that he would not serve on the committee. How can you include him?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Question is that we want one-third of the total number. That is the only question. It is not a question of any particular name.

Premier : That, then, is a question of principle. I do not see eye-to-eye with my honourable friend. He always talks of 61. He is the leader of only 36 and not of the remaining parties. That is the parliamentary practice. In the House of Commons the Opposition consists of three parties. The main party which is in the opposition is Labour and the other is Liberal and the third perhaps consists of Independents. My honourable friend always poses as leader of three parties. I do not think that he has any right to say that and I am not prepared to concede it.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I have never posed to be a leader of any other party except the one that has elected me and if I am the leader of all the three parties it is a party arrangement. I do claim that we are one opposition group of 61 members and a note to that effect is already in the hands of the Speaker.

Premier : It is a question of fact. He is the leader of only 36 members.

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : Does the Honourable Premier deny that we are 61?

Premier : If you had joined the Congress, I would have treated you as part of 61.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : If the Ministerial Party can be formed of three parties, the Opposition also can be constituted of three parties.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : I want to draw your attention to the fact that the Honourable Premier sometimes complains of the waste of the time of the House. Is he not now wasting the time of the House?

Mr. Speaker : Question is whether any "substitution" is desired.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Chaudhri Harnam Das's name is before the House.

Mr. Speaker : That is a proposal for "addition" not "substitution".

Lala Sita Ram : It has been suggested that to make room for Lala Harnam Das one name from the Unionist party may be withdrawn.

Mr. Speaker : I have already stated that if any honourable member wishes to propose to substitute one name for another he may do so.

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : I propose that the name of Chaudhri Harnam Das be substituted for the name of Sardar Gopal Singh. I may make it clear that the Opposition at the present moment consists of three parties, the Congress which has on its roll 39 members and the Independent Party which I have the honour to lead and which consists of 18 members.

Premier : Thirteen is an unlucky number.

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : And there is another group of 9 members which go to make a total of 61 and I put it clearly to the Honourable Premier and the Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill whether or not according to our number we are entitled to a little over 8 seats and if we are, I really do not see why the Government should persist in having more names from their party on the select committee than what they are entitled to. I ask for no favour. It is simple arithmetic.

In a House of 174, being 61 we are entitled to a little more than 8 seats and I insist that we should have them. I therefore propose that the name of Lala Harnam Das be substituted for the name of Sardar Gopal Singh.

Premier : My honourable friends are very fond of 61. My honourable friend opposite says "we are 61" and my honourable friend Sardar Santokh Singh says that they are 61.

Honourable members : We are all 61.

Premier : And Mian Abdul Aziz says that he is also one of the panch sawars.

Mian Abdul Aziz : I will explain. It is a question of the Unionist Party versus the non-Unionist Party. What about the langi tairs?

Premier : My honourable friends are very fond of mathematical propositions and Sardar Santokh Singh—I do not blame him—always thinks in terms of arithmetical calculations. He must also think in terms of logical considerations. Is he prepared to take one whip from that side for all these 61? If all the 61 members are prepared to obey one whip from the Congress, then I will take them to be one. But if there are three different whips then they cannot possibly say that they constitute one party. My honourable friend has forgotten that only the other day on the War Resolution there were three different whips.

Seth Sudarshan : It happened in your case also so often.

Premier : If some of my friends vote against me, they are not constitutionally barred from doing that, but they do not form a different group.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The ministerial party consists of three groups and if their parties have no whips and have no party organisation it is no fault of the Opposition, but so long as they consist of three groups and they can form a coalition, I, on this side of the House, have also the right to form a coalition. We are one and we consist of 61 members; whether they come from three or five groups is no consideration at all.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That for Sardar Gopal Singh the name of Lala Harnam Das be substituted.

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : I rise to propose—

Mr. Speaker : I am not going to allow any more amendments of that kind.

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : Each name is to be put to the vote of the House.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable members should have given notices of such amendments. That course was open to them, but they did not follow it.

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri : If it is permissible for the honourable member to propose one amendment without notice, he may be—(interruption).

Mr. Speaker : In exercise of my discretion I allowed one amendment without any notice. As a rule I do not permit amendments at this stage ; but in fairness to the Opposition I did allow one. I cannot allow separate amendments for replacing every honourable member, whose name has been proposed for the select committee by another honourable member.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : When you put this proposal before the House, Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri was rather inexact in describing what he intended to do. It is not necessary to move an amendment for opposing a proposal. He could oppose without proposing any amendment and when you propose the names, I think that it is the right of every member of this House to object to any particular name out of the list submitted to you by the honourable mover of the Bill.

Mr. Speaker : Twenty-two names, with the exception of two, which have since been changed by the Honourable Minister with my permission, were proposed from the Chair on 27th November, 1939, along with the motion for reference of the Corporation Bill to the select committee. Four days have passed, and no notice of any amendment has been given. Therefore, I decline to allow amendments, without notice, to-day.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The names of those who were proposed were not supplied to us and unless we had got a copy of the motion that was moved, we could not propose any amendments.

Mr. Speaker : I read the names of the proposed twenty-two honourable members.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : According to the rules, a copy of the motion or the Bill or resolution is to be supplied to us so that we may be able to send notices of amendments in time and if no notice is given because no copies have been supplied, we can move the amendments on the floor of this House.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : When twenty-two names were read in the House in one minute, how could we remember all the twenty-two names ?

Mian Abdul Aziz : Apart from that, two new names have been substituted to-day without notice.

Mr. Speaker : That is why I allowed an amendment to be moved by the Opposition for substituting the name of one member for that of another.

Sardar Partab Singh : Sir, you advised Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava to put the proposals one by one. That motion was put by Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh and now in obedience to your wish we would like to move the motions one by one.

Mr. Speaker : Honourable members may note that, while I have every sympathy for both sides of the House, I do not wish to be a party to the valuable time of the House being wasted. If the honourable members wish to waste their own time, they may please themselves. What is now proposed to be done ?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : You have not given any ruling or reply to the point raised. What I submitted was, and I submit it again for your kind consideration, that it is not necessary to move an amendment when one wants to oppose a motion. The motion before the House is that these twenty-two names should be approved of. My submission is that it is open to every member of the House to oppose it. It is not necessary to move an amendment. He may oppose all the names proposed or any particular name out of these twenty-two. If that is so, then we shall oppose whomsoever we like.

Mr. Speaker : One gentleman may be opposed to one member's nomination, while another may be opposed to two, three or more nominations and some may be opposed to all. If one member is opposed only to one name—and not to the remaining twenty-one—that would be an amendment which I decline to allow without notice.

The question is—

That the select committee shall consist of the following members:—

1. Mrs. J. A. Shah Nawaz—

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : You should put each name to the vote of the House. I say that the select committee should not consist of these 22 names. I may not object to 21 names, but I may object to one name. I do not mean the Begum Sahiba, by the way. I would have voted for her if this position had not arisen. I am really not in any way personally against any name. But my submission is simply on a question of procedure and that is whether it is not open to us to object to any particular name out of these 22 names, and to put it very frankly, whether it is not open to us to demand votes on any particular names by calling a division if it becomes necessary. I want your ruling on this point.

Mr. Speaker : Does the honourable member wish to object to any particular person?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : All these 22 names.

Mr. Speaker : If he has any particular name whose inclusion he wants to oppose, he may say so.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : I give you an instance. The name of Sardar Gopal Singh was to be replaced by another name. The honourable members probably did not want the name of Lala Harnam Das and they voted against the substitution of the name of Lala Harnam Das in place of Sardar Gopal Singh. But that question has now been decided—

Mr. Speaker : If the honourable member has got any particular name, he may mention that name. But I may inform the House that for the last 15 years, during which I have been in this Chair, such a thing has never happened, and I cannot recall a single precedent in which the names of the proposed members of a select committee were put to the vote of the House separately.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : You want me to give the name. I shall name a gentleman who I think would not misunderstand me and would not get angry. I name Shaikh Faiz Muhammad.

Mr. Speaker : I allow this amendment. May I know whether his name is to be omitted?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : I am going to oppose the inclusion of his name. Would you allow me to mention all those names whom I do not want to be included?

Premier : May I draw the attention of the honourable member to the fact that he has been a member of this Assembly and before this of the Council and that this is the first occasion, since the Montagu-Chelmsford Reforms, that a division has been taken on substitution of a name? He cannot cite a single precedent. May I appeal to him that merely to have momentary satisfaction and pleasure that he has scored a point against the Government he is trying to plead the case of somebody and for a momentary satisfaction he is trying to embarrass this House and trying to break the precedent and convention set up in this House since 1925? There is not a single instance when a division had been called on the substitution of a name.

[Premier.]

He has been in a responsible position and a very responsible member. I appeal to him not to set up a dangerous convention keeping in view the wider interests involved. It would have been more appropriate if these remarks had been made by honourable members sitting on the back benches rather than by a responsible member sitting on the front benches.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : I know what I am doing. The Honourable Premier is appealing to my experience that I should know better and that I am a responsible person and I should know this thing and that thing and should not try to set up a new precedent. I may submit that the whole of this trouble has arisen out of sheer cussedness of the Government, out of their obstinacy and out of the unreasonableness of the attitude that they have adopted. This attitude should be condemned and there is no other way of condemning it except in this constitutional manner which alone is open to the minority. I have no personal interest in the matter and, in fact, so far as this new Assembly is concerned, I have never been on a sub-committee or a select committee or on anything and I do not care to be. I have made it quite clear. I have been asked but I have always refused. This is a question of principle. I know that there is no precedent. But, is there any precedent of such an attitude being adopted by any Minister, during the last 16 years, that 61 members should make a request to the Government to include one or two names and the Government, with full consciousness that they would still have an overwhelming majority, should refuse to have one or two additional names on the select committee along with 16 or 18 members of their own party whom they have proposed? I think they ought to realise their position. They have been behaving absolutely like children. People who do not understand their own duties should not preach sermons to others. They are not prepared to make any concession to the minority, howsoever trifling that concession may be. Is it dignified for a Minister to treat even a small proposal made by any leader of any party in such a way? I ask him, through you, Sir, how does he justify the position adopted by the Honourable Minister or by himself that he should persistently refuse to have two names substituted in place of their own names? He allowed a division to be called on this point and then he appeals to our sense of responsibility. Where is his sense of responsibility? I am really surprised how he is justified in preaching to me. Why can he not preach to his colleague or to himself? His objection is that the Opposition is divided into two or three groups and addressing my honourable friend Mian Abdul Aziz, he said, Yeh bhi panchwen sawaron men hain. This is the language in which they address or mention such honourable members as my honourable friend on this side and then they try to preach to us. I think they should realise their own position and should not preach sermons to us. They should preach sermons to their own colleagues. I am defending a principle. I have no personal interest in the matter and I am not against these honourable members whose names have been proposed but simply to assert the principle I just gave the name of one gentleman with the preface that I was opposing him as he would certainly understand me because he is a lawyer and he knows that I am doing so merely as a protest. As you asked me to give some names, I proposed his name. If I had mentioned some other member he might have taken it ill. I have nothing against any one. I am only pointing out to you how they have been behaving for the last 24 years. If the report of this incident goes out to England they would laugh and say, 'What sort of children are these in whose hands we have placed the Government of the Punjab.'

Minister : As a reference has been made to Government attitude and as there appears to be some misunderstanding, I want to say a word in explanation. The position is that before proposing the names for the select committee, we asked various groups for their names and I had a formal talk with the Leader of the Opposition.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : On a point of order. I protest against any reference to that talk.

Mr. Speaker : That talk should not be referred to.

Minister : As we are discussing the names, so I must mention the facts. In reference to that talk five names were given to me and these are included here. Then I was asked to include two other names, one from one group and the other from another group. So I included those names and after having included those names with the remaining names, I had to obtain the consent of the members of this Party also. Then I approached them and obtained their consent. Then I moved the motion here on the day I moved this Bill. After that a few additions have been proposed. I am not against additions. I have only said that Rule 87 passed by the House is in the way and that we cannot add to the number. That is the position. The rule is mandatory and if it can be suspended then we can add.

Mr. Speaker : If the House suspends the rule unanimously it can raise the number of members of the select committee from 25 to 27.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Sir, I want to reply to the remarks made by the Minister for Public Works. He referred to five names. May I tell you that according to the rules he can only suggest 15 names and three or four are to be ex-officio? Since he has to take the leave of the House he cannot suggest more than 15. I only gave five names as we demanded one-third of the whole number. He said he might take more. I have been suggesting, talking to him and pressing him to take five names and give us one-third of the representation but he refused to give it. We demand one-third. It is no use referring to the rule. I have read the rule but in spite of the rule he wants to discuss it. I have been demanding one-third of the representation and I adhere to it. I have been told that I am not a leader. I do not claim to be anybody's leader. Let those who claim to be leaders know that they should not do such acts simply because they are in power and are intoxicated with that power.

Mr. Speaker : Does the honourable member wish to have his motion proposed from the Chair?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Unless Government agrees to our principle I would like my motion to be put. But it is not the last thing. I may propose more names.

Mr. Speaker : Does the honourable member mean that he should stand up after every five minutes and propose more names?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : I will leave it to you.

Mr. Speaker : Personnel of the select committee under consideration : The question is :—

That the name of Shaikh Faiz Muhammad be omitted from the members of the select committee.

The motion was lost.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : In view of the wrong attitude deliberately adopted by the Government and in view of the fact that the legitimate rights of the Opposition are being trampled upon, I beg to withdraw all the six names from the select committee. We cannot under the circumstances work on the committee. (Applause on the Opposition benches.)

Mian Abdul Aziz : I agree to the proposal because my name is there. I withdraw from the select committee.

Lala Sita Ram : I also withdraw.

Premier : It might be noted that Lala Sita Ram has withdrawn his name separately.

Mr. Speaker : The question then is :—

That the select committee shall consist of the following members :—

Mr. Speaker : The question is :

That the quorum of the select committee be 9.

The motion was carried.

VILLAGE PANCHAYAT BILL.

Mr. Speaker : The House will now proceed to consider the Village Panchayat Bill.

Clause 19.

Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan (Rawalpindi Sadar, Muhammadan, Rural) : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to move —

That the following new part be added after part (c) of sub-clause (1), clause 19 :

(p) starting and maintaining grain fund for the cultivators by lending them seeds for sowing purposes on such conditions as the panchayat may approve.

The motion was carried.

Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : I move—

That the following new clause be added after part (c) of sub-clause (1), clause 19 :

(p) starting and maintaining grain fund for the cultivators by lending them seeds for sowing purposes on such conditions as the panchayat may approve.

The purpose of my moving this amendment is self-explanatory. It is well known that the agriculturist is gambling in rains and the indefinite and insecure position of the rains involves him sometimes in trouble and at such times it becomes indispensable for him to mortgage his property. Especially for sowing purposes he has to incur some debt and under the new legislation passed by this Assembly, some difficulty is felt in some places due to the carelessness on the part of the sahu-kars or due to the misapprehensions that on account of this legislation they will be rendered helpless to seek any remedy from the courts. They are therefore reluctant to advance any money to the poor agriculturist. Therefore in order to mitigate that trouble to some extent, it would be advisable if the panchayats started such a fund as the grain fund and maintained it for advancing loans to the agriculturist at the time of sowing seed. The panchayat will also be interested in the welfare of the agriculturists. I therefore move this amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That the following new clause be added after part (c) of sub-clause (1)—

(p) starting and maintaining grain fund for the cultivators by lending them seeds for sowing purposes on such conditions as the panchayat may approve.

The motion was carried.

Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (1), part (p) be renumbered as part (q).

The motion was carried.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

That in the proviso to sub-clause (1), line 1, between the words "that" and "nothing" the words "unless otherwise directed by this Act or the Government" be inserted.

This proviso to sub-clause (1) provides that if any of the matters mentioned in sub-clause (1) is under the direct supervision or administration of the district boards, then in that case the panchayat could not have any control on that matter. But a reference to section 20 of the District Boards Act will show that the matter of planting and preservation of trees is under the direct control of the district boards and at the same time wells, ponds and tanks for the supply of water and matters like that are under the direct control of the district boards. It is for this reason that I have put down this clause 'unless otherwise directed by this Act or the Government'. These matters are already under the district boards and this proviso provides that any matter which is under the direct administrative control of the district boards shall not be under the administrative control of the panchayats. In that case it is only proper that these words should be inserted. There must be something like the words which I have moved.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in the proviso to sub-clause (1), line 1, between the words "that" and "nothing" the words "unless otherwise directed by this Act or the Government" be inserted.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana): Sir, I oppose it. I do not think it is necessary. If the honourable member would refer to clause 20, he will see that as far as the powers of the district boards are concerned adequate provision exists there. As to private property we do not mean to interfere with it. So I would leave the clause as it is at present worded.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That in the proviso to sub-clause (1), line 1, between the words "that" and "nothing" the words "unless otherwise directed by this Act or the Government" be inserted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That sub-clause (1) of clause 19 as amended stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That the first two lines and part (a) of sub-clause (2) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Now let us take up sub-clause (2) (b) of clause 19.

Sardar Kartar Singh : Sir, I have an amendment to sub-clause (2) (a) standing in my name.

Mr. Speaker : The deletion or negation of a clause or a sub-clause is not an amendment. When I put part (a) from the Chair no one stood up to oppose the question.

Sardar Kartar Singh : I was standing in my seat.

Mr. Speaker : The negation of a clause is not an amendment. Therefore, I am not bound to call an honourable member who has given notice of deletion. The honourable member did not rise in his place when I put part (a) to the House. At any rate he did not say that he wanted to oppose part (a).

Sardar Kartar Singh : I did stand in my seat, but I was not fortunate to catch your eye.

Mr. Speaker : I am sorry.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Southern Towns, General, Urban) (Urdu): Sir, I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (2), for part (b), the following be substituted:—

(b) duties of control in connection with village watchmen as prescribed by rules under section 39-A of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872.

Now part (b) of sub-clause (2) as it stands in the report of the select committee is as under :

(b) such duties in connection with village watchmen as Government may prescribe by rules under section 39-A of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872.

It means that under the provisions of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872, the Government have reserved to themselves the powers to appoint watchmen in the villages and to prescribe their duties and to fix their salaries. And under these provisions rules have also been made and are enforced in the villages. As a matter of fact Chaukidara was introduced in the villages under the provisions of the above mentioned Act. Now under sub-clause (1) of clause 19 it has been provided that the panchayat shall have to make arrangements for carrying out the requirements of panchayat areas in respect of certain matters. Under sub-clause (2) certain duties have been imposed on the panchayats which they shall have to perform. Now as regards part (b) of sub-clause (2) the making of rules have been left to the discretion of the Government. It depends entirely on the discretion of the Government to entrust the performance of any duties in connection with village watchmen to panchayats, i.e., if they wish to entrust all or some duties in connection with village watchmen they can do so. For instance, the Government will keep their appointment and dismissal in their own hands and will assign such duties as the making of report to the police, etc., to panchayats. The object of my amendment is that the Government should entrust all the duties of control in connection with the village watchmen as prescribed by rules under section 39-A of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872, to the Panchayats.

5 p.m.

Minister for Public Works : Sir, the honourable member is proposing a new clause.

Mr. Speaker : Yes, it is a new clause and therefore the honourable member should first ask the leave of the House to move it. He is referred to page 407 of May's Parliamentary Practice where it is said :

An amendment which, if it were agreed to, would constitute a negative of the clause is out of order. An amendment may not be proposed to insert words at the commencement of a clause with a view to proposing an alternative scheme to that contained in the clause, or to leave out from the first word to the end of the clause, in order to substitute other words, or to effect a redrafting of the clause—such amendments being in the nature of a new clause.

Substitution of a clause or a sub-clause is a new clause. Such amendments are in the nature of a new clause.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to move the new clause :—

That in sub-clause (2) for part (b), the following be substituted :—

(b) duties of control in connection with the village watchmen as prescribed by rules under section 39-A of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872.

Can I make a speech ?

Mr. Speaker : Yes. The honourable member is not forbidden to make a brief speech ; but our practice has been not to allow a speech at this stage. The honourable member has already made a speech.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Sir, I would like to offer a few observations in connection with my amendment. I am of the opinion that Government should have no objection in conferring all the duties of control in connection with the village watchmen, to the panchayats. The Government admit that all the duties which the village watchman is required to perform are such as concern the village only. It is the villagers who arrange for the payment of the salary of the watchman. It is their business to levy cess on the inhabitants to meet the chaukidara charges. I may point out that as previously no authority like the panchayats existed in the villages, the duties of control in connection with the village watchmen as prescribed by rules under section 39-A of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872, could not be entrusted to anybody except the Government. Now that the panchayats are going to be established and it is proposed to invest them with powers to try even civil and criminal cases, I think it would be in the fitness of things to entrust them with all duties of control relating to village watchmen. I see no reason why Government should oppose this wholesome amendment. It has been provided in the Bill as reported by the select committee that it would be the duty of a panchayat to perform such duties of control in connection with the village watchmen as the Government may prescribe by rules under section 39-A of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872. In other words it means that in connection with the control of watchmen there would be certain duties and not all, which would be conferred on the panchayats. But I hold the view that the panchayats should be made responsible for the discharge of all duties of control in connection with the village watchmen. If this simple thing is not done, the position of the panchayats would become very ridiculous. I am, therefore, of the opinion that my amendment is in full conformity with the democratic spirit and principle and hence deserves a favourable consideration at the hands of Government.

Mr. Speaker : Motion moved—

That leave be granted to move the following new sub-clause—

(b) duties of control in connection with village watchmen as prescribed by rules under section 39-A of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872.

Minister for Public Works : Sir, I object to the leave being granted.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Without any rhyme or reason? Without any argument?

Minister for Public Works : Yes.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That leave be granted to move the new clause.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That part (b) of sub-clause (2) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 19 as amended stand part of the Bill.

Sardar Kartar Singh (Lyallpur East, Sikh, Rural) (Punjab) : Sir I rise to oppose this clause because it is laid down in sub-clause (2) (a) that—

It shall be the duty of the panchayat to perform the duties of the panchayat under the Punjab Village and Small Town Patrol Act, 1918.

My submission in this respect is that since the enforcement of thikri-pehra under the Punjab Village and Small Town Patrol Act of 1918, the Government have never tried to collect figures in order to show that the crime has decreased in the villages on account of the enforcement of this "thikri-pehra." On the other hand I am certain that no change for the better has taken place. The crime has not decreased. It continues as before. There is one outstanding result of this and that is that the police gets a chance of harassing the simple village folk. I refuse to admit that thikri-pehra has been imposed in the villages in accordance with the law of the land. We know it to our cost that wherever thikri-pehra is enforced, the police appears to poke in its nose while the law of the land does not give any such power to the local police. The enforcement of thikri-pehra has proved a great nuisance. But if that is also entrusted to the panchayat, it will become all the more troublesome to the villagers. At present the state of affairs is this that if the inhabitants of a certain village protest against it, they are relieved from it. But when this work is entrusted to the panchayats, the villagers will not be able to get rid of it. On this score, it will not be advisable to hand over this power to the panchayat. At present the thikri-pehra is not enforced in legal manner. Law can only permit its enforcement after a due notice and after the establishment of a panchayat in the village. But no regard is paid to this aspect of the question at present. Again, the police hesitates to collect figures relating to crime in the villages where patrol duty is taken from the village folk. The real reason of this hesitation is that the police is afraid of being exposed. The crime has not decreased in the villages and if this fact is proved by Government itself, the police will be brought into disrepute before the public at large.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the Chair and it was occupied by Mr. Deputy Speaker).

My second reason for opposing this item is that if this is passed, the patrol system will be fully established and none will be able to challenge it. The poor population of the villages is already being made a target of this system. The big landholders and the rich people are not required to perform the patrol duty. It is the poor alone who are compelled to do this job. The Achhuts are the greatest sufferers in this respect. If any kamin happens to nap during his patrol duty, the police constables torture him for that. I do not want that this troublesome system should be made permanent.

With these words, Sir, I beg to oppose the whole of this clause.

Minister of Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana): I think the position is not understood by the honourable member. He should understand that the thikri-pehra is not levied under this particular clause nor is it intended to be imposed under this particular clause. That is done under section 89 (a) of the Punjab Laws Act. What we intend doing according to this clause is that as long as thikri-pehra is there, the control should rest with the panchayats. All the difficulties and troubles that he has mentioned might thus be lessened if not altogether done away with. So it will be improvement from the villagers' point of view and not additional trouble. Thikri-pehra is a totally different thing. If you want to amend it—I am not going into the merits—the proper thing is to amend section 89 (a) of the Punjab Laws Act. If you omit this here, it will still be valid.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: The question is—

That clause 19, as amended, stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 20.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) : I beg to move—

That in the beginning of the clause the words "notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the Punjab District Board Act" be added.

The District Board Act delegates certain powers to the heads of departments only. At the time of the passage of the last Panchayat Bill, a new section was added in the District Board Act. I think it is section 20 (a) or something like that. It was added that according to Punjab Panchayat Bill of 1919 certain powers could be delegated to the Village Panchayats too. By this Act that Panchayat Bill shall be repealed. In that case it is just possible that you shall have either to amend that section of the District Board Act or you shall have to add these words. It is for this reason that instead of amending that section of the District Board Act I want to add these words. It is just possible that you might be relying upon the General Clauses Act too. According to the General Clauses Act if one Act is amended or one Act is repealed or a section is replaced by any other section, then the wording of that section shall be affected. If you put these words in this clause you will in a way, be removing all the difficulties and you would not be required to amend any other Act. It is for this reason that I have moved it.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in the beginning of the clause the words "notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the Punjab District Board Act" be added.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : Sir, I do not think there is any such fear, but to make matters doubly sure, if the honourable member insists, I see no harm in accepting these words.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That in the beginning of the clause, the words "Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the Punjab District Boards Act" be added.

The motion was carried.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

That leave be granted to move the following new sub-clause :—

- (2) In case of omission, refusal or inadequacy of funds to be placed by the District Board at the disposal of the Panchayat, the Commissioner shall have power to fix the amount and order payment by the District Board.

Chaudhri Jalal-ud-Din Amber : I would like to point out that this would be redundant. If anything is delegated to the panchayat by the district board and if the panchayat finds that the funds are inadequate, it would refuse to do it.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The House may refuse leave and this will go. The question is—

That leave be granted to move the new sub-clause.

The motion was lost.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to move—

That at the end the following new sub-clause be added :—

- (2) If a Panchayat makes default in the performance of any duty delegated to it by this Act, the District Board may by order in writing fix a period for the performance of the duty ; and if the duty is not performed within that period, the District Board may appoint some person to perform it and it may provide for the expenses incidental to its performance out of the funds appropriated to or for the purposes of the Panchayat.

Can I make a speech ?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : There is no such provision.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : The Honourable Speaker has already ruled that a speech is permissible.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : There is no such provision in the rules, but if the honourable member wants to say a few words he can do so.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : This section provides for delegation of certain powers by the district board to the panchayats and sometimes the district board shall have to delegate certain powers if the Government so require. After all no panchayat would be so competent as they are expected to be in the performance of those duties when certain powers are delegated to them. When the district board is providing certain funds to the panchayat and the panchayat does not perform those duties, then in that case it should rest with the district board that they should have authority to appoint certain persons to perform those duties and get the money refunded from that fund which has been handed over to the panchayat. It is for this reason that I move this amendment and I expect that Honourable Minister will accept this amendment. There is no harm.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That leave be granted to move the new sub-clause.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That clause 20 as amended stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 21.

Sardar Lal Singh (Ludhiana Central, Sikh, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

That in part (a) of sub-clause (1), line 2, between the words "building" and "to", the words "or structure" be inserted.

This is a verbal insertion. There may be an encroachment caused by building or a structure. So, I propose this insertion.

Minister for Public Works : I think the word, "building" includes everything.

Sardar Lal Singh : It will not cover all those khunds, chhappars and khurries which the zamindars build on public ways and shamilat deh. It is a safeguard against encroachments leading to future possession.

Minister for Public Works : Encroachment by itself would cover it.

Sardar Lal Singh : That is why I say that if the words "or structure" be inserted, it would be more clear.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under consideration. Amendment moved is—

That in part (a) of sub-clause (1), line 2, between the words "building" and "to," the words "or structure" be inserted.

Minister for Public Works : The clause as it stands at present is clearly worded and I do not think that the addition of the words, "or structure" is necessary.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That in part (a) of sub-clause (1), line 2, between the words "building" and "to" the words "or structure" be inserted.

The motion was lost.

Sardar Lal Singh (Ludhiana Central, Sikh, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

That at the end of part (a) of sub-clause (1), the words "or on shamilat deh or any public open space or chhappar" be added.

This is a very important clause, because it is one of the duties of the panchayat to keep the encroachments under control. You, Sir, being a villager yourself know how the villagers cause innumerable fights and lot of litigation simply because of gradual encroachments upon shamilat deh or on any public open space or chhappar. So I have specified these things. The clause as passed by the select committee reads as follows :—

Require the owner or occupier of any building to remove any encroachment on a public way or drain.

That is, if an encroachment is caused upon a chhappar or upon shamilat deh, which is not a public way, then the panchayat would be helpless. This is a very important matter. If a public way continues to be encroached upon the panchayat can manage and if it is on a drain, the panchayat can stop it. On the other hand if a man encroaches on the chhappar, puts a fence round an open ground which is not a way how would it be provided for? Therefore, I submit this amendment.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That at the end of part (a) of sub-clause (1), the words "or on shamilat deh or any public open space or chhappar" be added.

Minister for Public Works : Sir, I oppose this amendment. The proprietary rights in shamilat deh or any such open space vest in the proprietary body and would not necessarily vest in the panchayat. It might happen that the panchayat may be at variance with that proprietary body in a particular case. The object of the Panchayat Act is not to vest a panchayat with that right so far as shamilat deh are concerned. I do not think I can support the amendment. The powers of the panchayats are only over public ways and I think these are sufficient for general village needs. Provisions like the one proposed would bring about friction between various classes in the village which is not the object of the Bill.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : A similar amendment was already moved and at that time also reasons to the same effect were given by the Minister in charge. There is some misunderstanding I take it so far as difference between the proprietary right of the panchayat or the proprietary body is concerned.

Minister for Public Works : The panchayat as such will have none of the proprietary rights.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : We do not want to vest it in the proprietary body. I think the panchayat will have proprietary rights vested in it. That is one thing. He does not want any dispute regarding proprietary rights of the proprietary body. What we want is that shamilat deh which belong to the whole area, that is proprietary body, should be left in a clean and neat condition and that encroachments should not be made on it in such a way that it should become difficult for the people or for the administration of the panchayat. The Honourable Minister in charge should rest assured that by this amendment no encroachment is being made on the vested proprietary rights of the proprietary body of the village. We want only to give power which covers the whole of the shamilat. He has repeated it on the floor of the House that only those powers which are essential must be given. This amendment should not be opposed because it has been moved from this side of the House.

Seth Sudarshan : Sir, there is no quorum in the House.

(At this stage the bell rang and thereafter there was found to be quorum.)

Chaudhri Jalal-ud-Din Amber : In connection with this amendment I would like to point out that this will give rise to complications in practice if this amendment is accepted, just as it has been pointed out by the Minister. I think if the panchayat has a right to interfere in the legal rights of the proprietary body then the whole proprietary body will come into conflict. Therefore I think that it would be in the interest of the village itself that this sort of power for interference should not be given to the panchayat.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That at the end of part (a) of sub-clause (1), the words "or on shamilat deh or any public open space or shapper" be added.

The motion was lost.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I beg to move—

That in part (c) of sub-clause (1) line 2, between the words "building" and "which" the words "or pit" be inserted.

Part (c) requires—

The owner of any wall or building which is deemed by the panchayat to be in any way dangerous, to remove or repair such wall or building.

I only want to add that pits in villages should be filled up. I therefore move my amendment.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in part (c) of sub-clause (1), line 2, between the words "building" and "which" the words "or pit" be inserted.

Minister for Public Works : I oppose the amendment. Sub-clause (b) covers it.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That in part (c) of sub-clause (1), line 2, between the words "building" and "which" the words "or pit" be inserted.

The motion was lost.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I beg to move—

That part (d) of sub-clause (1) be omitted.

It only requires the owner or occupier of any building to keep his building in a sanitary state.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That part (d) of sub-clause (1) be omitted.

Minister for Public Works : I oppose the amendment. There is nothing new. It is one of the essential duties of the panchayat in the interest of the health of the village, and similar provisions exist even in the Municipal Act.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That part (d) of sub-clause (1) be omitted.

The motion was lost.

Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali : I beg to move—

That leave be granted to introduce the following new clause:

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the following be added:—

- (e) Require the owner of any dog or other animal suffering or reasonably suspected to be suffering from rabies or bitten by any dog or other animal suffering or suspected as aforesaid; to destroy or cause to be destroyed or confine or cause to be confined such dog or animal.
- (f) Require the owner of a dog or other animal which is likely to annoy or intimidate passengers, to restrain such dog or animal.

The motion was carried.

Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali : I beg to move—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the following be added—

- (e) Require the owner of any dog or other animal suffering or reasonably suspected to be suffering from rabies or bitten by any dog or other animal suffering or suspected as aforesaid; to destroy or cause to be destroyed or confine or cause to be confined such dog or animal.
- (f) Require the owner of a dog or other animal which is likely to annoy or intimidate passengers, to restrain such dog or animal.

I do not think that I need make any lengthy speech in support of this. I only want to say that the clause gives power to the panchayats to remove certain encroachments and nuisances as have been enumerated in sub-clauses (a) to (d). The amendment proposes an additional power to be conferred on the panchayat and it is necessary in the interests of the village society. There is a similar provision in section 109 of the Municipal Act. I commend the new sub-clauses to the House.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the following be added:—

- (e) Require the owner of any dog or other animal suffering or reasonably suspected to be suffering from rabies or bitten by any dog or other animal suffering or suspected as aforesaid; to destroy or cause to be destroyed or confine or cause to be confined such dog or animal.
- (f) Require the owner of a dog or other animal which is likely to annoy or intimidate passengers, to restrain such dog or animal.

The motion was carried.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : I beg to ask for leave to move the following new sub-clause :—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the following be added :—

- (e) Require the owner of any house to construct an outlet for the flow of water of the drain of his house or that of the well or water pump situated within the premises of his house in such a way that it may not spoil the public thoroughfare and affect adversely the health and sanitation of the village.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Motion moved—

That leave be granted to move the following new clause :—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the following be added :—

- (e) Require the owner of any house to construct an outlet for the flow of water of the drain of his house or that of the well or water-pump situated within the premises of his house in such a way that it may not spoil the public thoroughfare and affect adversely the health and sanitation of the village.

Minister for Public Works : May I point out that what the honourable member wants to do by the addition of the new sub-clause is covered by clause 22. The panchayat will have the power under that clause to require owners of any house to construct an outlet for the flow of water of drains or wells or water pumps situated in his premises. That will serve the purpose of the honourable member.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : I had this clause before me when I sent notice of my amendment. It is not quite clear in that clause that outlets for flow of pump water situated in any house will come under the control of the panchayat. My purpose by introducing this new clause is that such water pumps also may be controlled by the panchayat and that the owners of houses may be required to build some outlets or chaubachas for the collection of water from such water pumps or drains in their compounds and then use this water for irrigation. It will save the nuisance to the public because water collects and stagnates in the streets of the village.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That leave be granted to move the new clause :—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the following be added :—

- (e) Require the owner of any house to construct an outlet for the flow of water of the drain of his house or that of the well or water pump situated within the premises of his house in such a way that it may not spoil the public thoroughfare and affect adversely the health and sanitation of the village.

The motion was carried.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I rise to a point of order. There is no quorum in the House.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Notice was taken and counting was done and I do not think it necessary to count again.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : My point of order is whether proceedings can take place when there is no quorum in the House.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Counting has already taken place. I think that the House is in quorum and that it is unnecessary to count the number over and over again.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I beg to draw the attention of the Honourable Deputy Speaker to the fact that there is no quorum in the House, and under the circumstances to ask whether the proceedings which are taking place now are legal proceedings and are according to the procedure of the House.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I have satisfied myself that the House is in quorum. The question does not arise.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : My point of order is this. Is the Deputy Speaker sure that the House is in quorum? Is that the ruling of the Deputy Speaker?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I have once satisfied myself that the House is in quorum.

Lala Duni Chand : Is the shutting up of eyes allowed?

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : I move—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the following be added :—

- (e) Require the owner of any house to construct an outlet for the flow of water of the drain of his house or that of the well or water pump situated within the premises of his house in such a way that it may not spoil the public thoroughfare and affect adversely the health and sanitation of the village.

Minister for Public Works : May I make a suggestion? The language of the sub-clause requires a lot of improvement. If you approve, we could take up this clause later and put forward an agreed amendment.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I am afraid that cannot be done. The consideration of the whole clause shall have to be postponed.

Minister : The honourable member will do well to withdraw his motion.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : I beg to ask for leave to withdraw my motion.

The motion was by leave withdrawn.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker. There are 24 members in the House at this time. Are the proceedings in order when the House is not in quorum? May I ask for your ruling?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I have once satisfied myself that the House is in quorum. I do not want to count again and again and thereby waste the time of the House.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : But the honourable member has counted the number and he has given the number as 24.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : It is for me to say as to when the counting should take place again.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I bring it to your notice that there are only 24 members present.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) : I beg to move—

That at the end of sub-clause (2), the following proviso be added :—

- Provided that no such work shall be executed by the panchayat without giving the owner-occupier reasonable opportunity to place his or her case before the panchayat or obtain temporary injunction relating to the intended execution.

Sardar Partab Singh : On a point of order. I believe there is no quorum.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I hope the honourable member would not persist in this. Counting has already taken place and I have satisfied myself that the House has got the quorum.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I only want to limit the powers given under clause 21. They are very extensive. Sometimes the panchayat may be at variance with the orders for execution and in such a case the final power should not rest with the panchayat. In this very Bill provision has been made to cancel or revise or supervise the act of the panchayat. This is done by the deputy commissioner or some other officer. Now in a case like this where the work has been executed and damage done cannot be restored and the rights of the parties have been interfered with, it is desirable that a proviso should be introduced and the person concerned should have a chance for defending himself and getting a decision from a higher authority, so that the defects are set right in the beginning and matters are not complicated.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That at the end of sub-clause (2), the following proviso be added :—

Provided that no such work shall be executed by the panchayat without giving the owner-occupier reasonable opportunity to place his or her case before the panchayat or obtain temporary injunction relating to the intended execution.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : I oppose this amendment. I do not think any such proviso is necessary. If you see the opening words of the clause you will see that notice will be served and a reasonable period is specified for the purpose. That is enough so far as notice to the party is concerned. Then, if there is any likelihood of a miscarriage of justice, provision exists in the revisionary powers given under section 78. The party can go to the deputy commissioner and get the order of the panchayat either suspended, rescinded or modified as the case may be to suit the circumstances. The suggested provision will make the whole thing cumbersome.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Question is—

That at the end of sub-clause (2), the following proviso be added :—

Provided that no such work shall be executed by the panchayat without giving the owner-occupier reasonable opportunity to place his or her case before the panchayat or obtain temporary injunction relating to the intended execution.

The motion was lost.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member has first to ask the leave of the House to move the new sub-clause.

Lala Duni Chand : It is really a proviso which has been inadvertently described as a new sub-clause. You must consider the substance and not the form.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Either the honourable member should ask for leave or the amendment is out of order.

Lala Duni Chand : I beg to ask for leave to move the following new clause at the end —

- (3) The carrying out of the above-mentioned orders of the Panchayat shall be subject to the result of a civil suit if any brought by the aggrieved party. The Panchayat shall not enforce its orders within a period of 30 days and if within such period the aggrieved party obtains an order from civil court restraining the Panchayat from carrying out its orders the Panchayat shall not do so till the matter in dispute is finally decided.

[Lala Duni Chand.]

Sir, I want to make only one submission with regard to the motion for which leave is being sought. I am positive that this amendment is absolutely necessary. My contention is that since clause 21 delegates certain powers to the proposed panchayats it is very likely that they might do injustice to a party in the execution of those powers. It is, therefore, requested that the orders passed by such panchayats should be made subject to the result of a civil suit if an aggrieved party so desires. If the Government is prepared to grant me leave to move this new sub-clause it would

6 p.m. be very kind on the part of the Government. But if it is not disposed to accede to my request then I am constrained to say that we shall strongly oppose the whole clause when it is put to the House.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That leave be granted to move the new clause.

The motion was lost.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma (Kangra West, General, Rural) : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to move—

That at the end of clause 21 the following new clause be added :—

- (3) Any person adversely affected by a notice under this section may apply to the Deputy Commissioner for cancellation of notice within fifteen days from the receipt of the notice.

Section 21 legislates for the issue of notice in certain cases. My object in moving this particular clause is that an opportunity should be given to all those persons affected by such notice to go to the deputy commissioner and place their case before him and if that particular person is in a position to satisfy the deputy commissioner, he should be given reasonable opportunity of being heard. If that officer feels satisfied that there is a good case made out, he may remedy the trouble.

6 p.m. Mr. Deputy Speaker : Question is—

That leave be granted to move for the addition of the proposed new clause.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Question is—

That clause 21 as amended stand part of the Bill.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu) : I have already stated that under clause 21 panchayats have been given very wide powers and it is very likely that in some cases these powers will be abused. For instance, it is provided in it that a panchayat may by notice in writing specifying a reasonable period—

- (a) require the owner or occupier of any building to remove any encroachment on a public way or drain ;
- (b) require the owner or occupier of any land, well, water pump, or building which includes or is attached to any latrine, pool or ditch, containing or used for the collection of any drainage, filth or stagnant water, which is a nuisance to the neighbourhood, to take such action as the panchayat may deem reasonably necessary to remove the nuisance.
- (c) require the owner of any wall or building, which is deemed by the panchayat to be in any way dangerous, to remove or repair such wall or building, and
- (d) require the owner or occupier of any building or property to keep his building or property in a sanitary state.

Now I wish to point out to you as well as to 24 or 25 members now present in the House, that if all these powers are given to panchayats there is a danger of encroachment on the right of private property of the people. There is a likelihood of the people being deprived of their private property in the name of these provisions. Here I would like to make it clear to the honourable members that I do not mean that all these powers which have been vested in the panchayats should not be given to them, but what I want is that all those persons whose houses are likely to be affected by the carrying out of the above-mentioned orders should be allowed to seek justice from a court of law. In other words any person who is affected by the carrying out of such orders should be permitted if he so wishes to institute a case in any civil court, and so long as that matter is not finally decided the panchayat should not enforce its orders. Sir, through you I wish to inform the House that in view of the conditions prevailing in the rural areas, I can say without any fear of contradiction that in certain cases such orders will be issued without any rhyme or reason. It is just possible that interested persons may get an order issued against another person requiring him to dismantle the whole or a part of his house. In my opinion the issuing of such an order will not merely cause inconvenience to him but it will also cause considerable loss as well. In the circumstances it is highly necessary that this sub-clause should be added and thus the people should be given the right to seek legal relief. Now, if the people are given this right to go to courts, it is possible that my friends would say that the very object for which the panchayats are being established would be defeated. I wish to make it clear to the honourable members who are holding this opinion that only those persons will seek relief from courts who are really in danger of being affected by the orders of the panchayats. A person will never think of going to a court of law unless and until he thinks that he has been wronged. Everyone will think twice before he decides to go to a court of law. I may also point out that in every village there are party factions and disputes. Sometime village people quarrel for very insignificant things. In view of these factions very often it will be seen that influential and big people of the villages will try to harm the interests of the poor and weak people. I, therefore, submit that in view of such a state of affairs it is highly necessary that this sub-clause should be added. It will to some extent restrain the influential people from doing any harm to the poor people. Besides, I may also point out that although the panchayat system has been in vogue in India since times immemorial, may be from the times of Manu, the people have lost the very conception of panchayats. Since the advent of the British power in India, the panchayats have actually forgotten their responsibilities and the panches have lost all panchayat sense. I think the people will slowly regain that sense but at present they have forgotten it. Now these wide powers are being given to the panchayats and there is every likelihood of their being misused. It is, therefore, absolutely necessary that a safeguard should be provided for those people against whom there is likelihood of this weapon being used. We wanted to improve upon clause 21 but the Government was adamant and rejected all our amendments. I, therefore, deem it necessary to oppose this clause strongly.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That clause 21 as amended stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 22.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalra (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) :
Sir, I beg to move—

That in part (a), line 1, between the words "regulate" and "the" the words "or prohibit" be inserted.

Sir, this amendment is moved only to regulate the collection, removal and disposal of manure and street sweepings. Sometimes it may be necessary for the panchayat to prohibit the collection of manure at a certain place in the village. This expression has been used in several places even in this clause as is evident from sub-clauses (b), (c), (d), (e), (f) and (g). So it is absolutely necessary that the words "or prohibit" may be inserted in sub-clause (a) also, otherwise it would be impossible for the panchayat to prohibit the collection, removal and disposal of manure and street sweepings at a certain place.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in part (a), line 1, between the words "regulate" and "the", the words "or prohibit" be inserted.

Minister for Public Works (Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : Sir, I oppose this amendment. It is against the agricultural interests to prohibit collection, removal and disposal of manure and street sweepings.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalra : At a certain place.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That in part (a), line 1, between the words, "regulate" and "the", the words "or prohibit" be inserted.

The motion was lost.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalra (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) :
Sir, I beg to move—

That in part (a), lines 6—12, for the words "in . . . purposes", the following be substituted :—

Any manure or sweepings required for agricultural purposes, in manure pits approved by the Panchayat upon land, which is at a distance not less than fifty yards from the residential area of the village and not less than 25 yards from thoroughfares and highways passing by that village;

Provided that the Panchayat shall secure a site subject to the conditions given above, for collecting and disposal of the manure and street sweepings belonging to persons owning or occupying no land of their own in the village.

Sir, you will observe that part (a) of this clause deals with collection, removal and disposal of manure and street sweepings; and there is a proviso in the original clause which runs as follows :—

Provided that nothing in this clause shall empower the panchayat to prevent any person from collecting in manure pits approved by the Panchayat upon land occupied by him outside the residential area of a village any manure or sweepings required for agricultural purposes.

It means that these places will not be sanitary. Some people have got their lands a few yards from the residential part of a village and to have manure pits just near the abadi is most insanitary and injurious to the health of the inhabitants of the villages. The panchayat will have no power to look to the sanitation of a village if its powers are curtailed to such an extent. My amendment has got two-fold significance. In the first place it fixes that owners of any such land should be allowed to collect manure, etc., in their lands which are at a distance not less than 50 yards from the residential area of the village and not less than 25 yards from thoroughfares and highways passing by that village. My experience is that in the villages that abut on the main roads, you will find heaps of manure piled along side the roads near the residential areas of the villages. This is most insanitary and dangerous for the health of the village people and the persons travelling on such roads. People sometimes catch infection. Disputes have also arisen with regard to the use and collection of manures in the villages. In the second place people who have got no land of their own in the villages—especially the scheduled castes have got no land of their own—collect their manure on the land of other proprietors; and these proprietors take that manure as of right and use it without paying any compensation or price to the depressed class people. It is, therefore, most necessary that the panchayat should secure a site for collecting and disposal of the manure and street sweepings belonging to persons owning or occupying no land of their own in the villages. Thus the poor people in the villages, who have got no lands of their own will be saved from the tyranny of the proprietors. My amendment is a harmless one and I hope the Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill will accept it.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in part (a), lines 6—12, for the words “in . . . purposes”, the following be substituted :—

Any manure or sweepings required for agricultural purposes, in manure pits approved by the Panchayat upon land, which is at a distance not less than fifty yards from the residential area of the village and not less than 25 yards from thoroughfares and highways passing by that village :

Provided that the Panchayat shall secure a site subject to the conditions given above, for collecting and disposal of the manure and street sweepings belonging to persons owning or occupying no land of their own in the villages.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : Sir, I oppose this amendment. We cannot lay down such specific limits. It would be most inconvenient for the inhabitants of the villages. The panchayat may have no funds to provide manure pits for non-proprietors. By common consent the non-proprietors collect the sweepings and manure in the land of a particular proprietor. This system has been going on peacefully and smoothly for a very very long time and it should be allowed to go on.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That in part (a), lines 6—12, for the words, “in . . . purposes”, the following be substituted :—

Any manure or sweepings required for agricultural purposes, in manure pits approved by the Panchayat upon land, which is at a distance not less than 50 yards from the residential area of the village and not less than 25 yards from thoroughfares and highways passing by that village :

Provided that the Panchayat shall secure a site subject to the conditions given above, for collecting and disposal of the manure and street sweepings belonging to persons owning or occupying no land of their own in the village.

The motion was lost.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I beg to move—

That at the end of part (b), the following be added:—

And make necessary arrangements for the supply of drinking water to scheduled classes or other persons, not allowed to use village wells.

The sub-clause, if amended, would read as follows:—

(b) prohibit the use of the water of wells, ponds or other excavations suspected to be dangerous to the public health and make necessary arrangements for the supply of drinking water to scheduled classes or other persons, not allowed to use village wells.

The water of the wells that belong to the scheduled castes or to the people who live outside the village may become dangerous to public health and in that case a panchayat may prohibit the use of water on such conditions. Some provision should be made by the panchayat for the supply of drinking water and making other necessary arrangements for those people who have no well of their own in the village except a band the use of which may be prohibited by the panchayat.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That at the end of part (b), the following be added:—

And make necessary arrangements for the supply of drinking water to scheduled classes or other persons, not allowed to use village wells.

Minister for Public Works : I oppose it. It is not necessary. If the honourable member will look at clause 19 (1) (b) he will find that it is as follows:—

(b) wells, ponds and tanks for the supply of water for drinking, washing and bathing. Scheduled classes are a part of the village community and this trouble of untouchability may be in urban areas. This trouble is not so acute in villages and I, therefore, do not think that we need make a specific provision of this nature. It will only show that there is such a thing as untouchability still going on in the province.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That at the end of part (b) the following be added:—

and make necessary arrangements for the supply of drinking water to scheduled classes or other persons, not allowed to use village wells.

The motion was lost.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I move—

That in part (c), line 1, between the words "prohibit" and "the", the words "the slaughtering of animals" be inserted.

The sub-clause, if amended, will run as follows:—

(c) regulate or prohibit the slaughtering of animals the dyeing or tanning of skins within two hundred and twenty yards of the residential area of a village;

It may be said that a provision is made in part (b) but that is with regard to carcasses of all animals dying within the village but not with regard to the slaughtering of animals. There are slaughter-houses in some villages and in such cases also it is all the more necessary for sanitation and healthy development of villages that the panchayats should have the power to regulate or prohibit, as the case may be, the slaughtering of animals in villages.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in part (c), line 1, between the words "prohibit" and "the", the words "the slaughtering of animals" be inserted.

Amendments Nos. 7 and 8 are similar and the honourable members who have sent notices of these amendments may speak on this amendment if they like to.

Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali : I had a similar amendment standing in my name, viz., amendment No. 15 and I had some reasons—which I have discussed with the Parliamentary Secretary as well as the Honourable Minister—which were that the sanitation of the villages on account of this promiscuous slaughter in the houses might, in some way, become defective, but when I have gone through the Bill carefully I find that we have carried clause 21 (d) which is—

(d) require the owner or occupier of any building or property to keep his building or property in a sanitary state.

When this is the provision of law there is no need of pressing this amendment if it is only from the point of view of sanitation and convenience of the people living in a panchayat area. Hence I oppose this amendment as unnecessary.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That in part (e), line 1, between the words "prohibit" and "the" the words "the slaughtering of animals" be inserted.

The motion was lost.

Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali : I beg to move—

(That in sub-clause (e), lines 4—12, the words "provided that where . . . limit" be omitted.

The opening words of this sub-clause are—

Regulate or prohibit the dyeing or tanning of skins within two hundred and twenty yards of the residential area of a village ;

The only reason for my moving this amendment is that my fears are that the proviso, as it stands now as a part of the sub-clause, nullifies the provision of the clause itself and it is useless to have such a provision. It is impossible to regulate or prohibit dyeing or tanning of skins within two hundred and twenty yards if we are not prepared to remove the nuisance which already exists. This proviso means that we should not touch those parts of the village where dyeing is going on at present unless provision is made for "reasonable facilities" being given to the owner of that tanning industry. The question now is that there will be a great discussion as to what are "reasonable facilities" and what are not "reasonable facilities" and who will be the judge of these "facilities". Another reason for my moving this amendment is that under the rule-making power, that is given in clause 82 of this very Bill, sub-clauses (e) and (m) can cover this proviso if it is to stand at all. The wordings of those sub-clauses are :—

(3) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power Government may make rules—

(e) regulating the exercise by a panchayat of any of its powers—

One of the powers of the panchayats is to see that tanning or dyeing is not done within two hundred and twenty yards. This can be covered by the rules framed under sub-clause (e). Sub-clause (m) of clause 82 (3) is as follows :—

(3) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power Government may make rules—

(m) for any other purposes not included in the above for carrying out the purposes of this Act ;

[Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali.]

This is still wider and a rule if at all necessary can be made under this sub-clause. My submission, therefore, is that the proviso, if possible, may be omitted.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in sub-clause (e), lines 4—12, the words “provided that where . . . limit” be omitted.

Minister of Public Works : I would like to draw the attention of the honourable member, as he is fully aware of the conditions in villages, to the limit at which this dyeing and tanning is going on. What we wanted to achieve was that there may not be indiscriminate removal. Fears were expressed on behalf of the scheduled classes that they might be asked to leave the present places and alternative arrangements may not be made for them which would be detrimental to their interests. So, wherever it will be possible, that nuisance will be removed, otherwise nuisance it is but we cannot think of any other alternative. It has got to be endured till such time that the panchayats can make necessary arrangements.

Rules will further be made, so that there is no hardship involved in any case. The decision as to the criterion of reasonable facilities will be the discretion of the panchayat and in the case of difference of opinion if the aggrieved party thinks that the discretion of the panchayat was not rightly exercised, they can go to the deputy commissioner and get the order rescinded or modified. With this precaution I am sure the honourable member will not press his amendment.

Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali : I beg leave to withdraw my amendment.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Is it the pleasure of the House that leave be granted to the amendment being withdrawn ?

(The leave was refused).

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma (Kangra West, General, Rural) : Sir under clause (e) of section 22, the panchayat can remove the nuisance which is within 220 yards of the residential area of a village. If there is no nuisance and if the legislation aims at removing the nuisance, there is no sense in legislating this proviso to that particular clause. There should be a direct legislation to the effect that whenever there is any nuisance of dyeing within that particular area, which this clause intends to remove, then in that case there should be a free hand given to the authorities of the panchayat concerned to move in the matter and there should be no proviso as is intended by the lines from 4 to 12 of this clause, there should be no other alternative scheme before the panchayat to find some convenient place for that nuisance. There is a loophole and it can be done in any place and the clause would become nullified. Therefore, I respectfully submit to the honourable members that they should consider this loophole and I also request my honourable friend, a very able lawyer, that he should not withdraw his amendment because the withdrawal of this amendment will render the whole clause meaningless.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That in sub-clause (e), lines 1 and 2, the words "provided that where . . . limit" be omitted.

The motion was lost.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalra (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural)
Sir, I beg to move—

That in part (g), line 2, the word "brick" be omitted.

The present clause relates to the regulation of establishment of brick kilns within 220 yards of the residential houses in a village. There may be some potters' kilns near the residential houses. They also give smoke and they are also of the same kind and should also be regulated, because there is no difference between the smoke of a brick kiln and of a potter's kiln. Both are equally obnoxious and injurious to health.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in part (g), line 2, the word "brick" be omitted.

Minister for Public Works : As you know, Sir, the practice in villages is that potter's kiln is generally next to the house of villagers, and I admit that the smoke is sometimes a nuisance, but that is a nuisance which has continued for centuries and is not as bad as it is thought to be. In many cases potters have vested private rights. So I cannot accept this amendment because I do not want an encroachment on their private rights.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That in part (g), line 2, the word "brick" be omitted.

The motion was lost.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Sir, I beg to move—

That in part (h), line 2, between the words "dying" and "within", the words, "or slaughtered for consumption" be inserted.

In this clause the responsibility of disposing of the remains of those animals which die within the limits of villages has been imposed on the panchayats. I want that the panchayats should be made responsible to dispose of the remains even of those animals which are killed for consumption. Everyone knows that much remains of the body of even those animals which are slaughtered for consumption, which must be disposed of. For instance, their skins, etc., require to be removed from the village precincts. This has to be done in the interests of sanitation. But if the Honourable Minister in charge does not agree even to a proposal which is meant to make villages clean and rid them of all dirty material, he is at liberty to do so. Perhaps since this Government is rotten it would like to keep the villages in a rotten state of sanitation.

Sir, while moving this amendment I am conscious of the fact that I am committing an irregularity as for a long time there has been no quorum in the House, I daresay even you are committing an irregularity.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in part (h) line 2, between the words "dying" and "within" the words "or slaughtered for consumption" be inserted.

Shaikh Faiz Muhammad : I oppose the amendment.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That in part (h) line 2, between the words "dying" and "within" the words "or slaughtered for consumption" be inserted.

The motion was lost.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Sir, I beg to move—

That in part (h), lines 3-4, the words "except animals . . . for consumption" be deleted.

The motion was lost.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, I beg to move that at the end the following be added :—

An order passed by a panchayat under this section shall be subject to the right of appeal to the Deputy Commissioner and the decision thereon to be filed within 30 days of the date of order.

Sir, I am commending this amendment not to the house as there is no house for want of quorum but to certain distinguished members including some lawyer brethren who can be expected to understand its importance. The panchayats have been given powers of two kinds, namely, judicial, including civil as well as criminal, and administrative. The administrative powers are contained in section 22. Now, I am of the opinion that this Bill, which is going to become an Act very soon, cannot work successfully so long as some controlling power is not given to higher authorities.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : On a point of order. May I draw your attention to the fact that there are only 26 members in the House ?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I have satisfied myself that the House is in quorum.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I do not challenge your ruling, Sir, but may I know what must be the interval between two counts to ascertain whether the House is in quorum ?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : It depends on my discretion, and as I have satisfied myself that the House is in quorum I need not take notice of the point of order.

Lala Duni Chand : I was submitting that if it is desired to make this measure really useful, it is necessary to empower the Deputy Commissioner to revise the orders of the panchayats, so that he may check any misuse of the provisions of the Act. I was of the opinion that the powers given to the panchayats by clause 21 are too wide and that is why I moved an amendment to that clause. As regards clause 22, I know that the powers given are very necessary but I also know that they can be misused. Some panches may use them to feed personal grudge or the panchayat may come under the sway of such persons as may not scruple to use them for political ends. Therefore, there is no reason why you should object to giving revisionary powers to the deputy Commissioner. You will notice, Sir, that I do not insist on giving these powers to any judicial officer. I want that the appeal should lie to the deputy commissioner whose duty it is to see that the panchayats are functioning properly. The panchayat will be an administrative body and I want you to give this power to the chief administrative officer of the district. What objection can the Honourable Minister have to this proposal ?

I do not say that all panches will be dishonest. But similarly it cannot be asserted that all the members will be endowed with full sense of responsibility. The sarpanch and other panches may have their personal enmities and some of them may not be as honest and scrupulous as they ought to be. Therefore, if you want this measure to be successful you should have no hesitation in accepting this amendment.

There may be a suspicion that perhaps this motion is brought forward for the benefit of the legal profession. Nothing is farther from my mind. I want the panchayats to be invested with as many judicial powers as possible. But at the same time I want some such provisions as would effectively check any miscarriage of justice. Moreover, you may rest assured that there will not be too many appeals. Even in judicial cases the average of appeals is not more than 10 per cent, and therefore, you should have no apprehension on that score. Thus you can make this Act useful and successful by accepting this proposal. With these remarks I move my amendment.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker resumed the chair).

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : On a point of order, Mr. Speaker. The House has not been in quorum for the past one hour. The attention of Mr. Deputy Speaker has been drawn to this fact several times, but neither was any notice taken nor any ruling given. I, therefore, now want your ruling in this connection, for future guidance.

Lala Duni Chand : This will be an encouragement to members to absent themselves.

Mr. Speaker : Please refer to May's Parliamentary Practice, page 224 : where it is said :—

The Speaker has declined to count the House again when he had recently satisfied himself regarding the presence of 40 members.

I understand that in my absence the House was counted and found to be in quorum. But if the honourable members are keen, I shall count it again.

(After the bell stopped ringing).

Now there is a quorum.

Lala Duni Chand : I beg to move—

That leave be given to move the following new clause:

That at the end the following be added :—

An order passed by a panchayat under this section shall be subject to the right of appeal to the Deputy Commissioner and the decision thereon, to be filed within thirty days of the date of order.

The motion was lost.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalra : I beg to move—

That leave be given to move the addition of the following new sub-clause at the end :—

(i) regulate or prohibit the use of land and sites within 250 yards of the residential area of the village, for casing purposes.

I think that in this case the member in charge will not oppose it, because it is not a customary right and the panchayat should have the power asked for.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 22 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

The Assembly then adjourned till 12 noon on Monday, 4th December 1939.

PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

SIXTH SESSION OF THE FIRST PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Monday, 4th December, 1939.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at 12 noon of the clock. Mr. Speaker in the chair.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

MALARIAL FEVER IN AMBALA AND KARNAL DISTRICTS.

5462. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that during the present season the epidemic of malarial fever has broken out with virulence in Ambala and Karnal districts;
- (b) whether the Government keeps any record of malaria cases; if so, the number of cases which have occurred in the said two districts between 1st July and 15th October, 1939;
- (c) what special precautionary and other measures the Government has taken to mitigate the spread of the said epidemic?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) The Director of Public Health who visited both districts recently has reported that this is an average year as regards malarial incidence.

(b) A record is kept in the hospitals and dispensaries where patients attend. Doctors in charge of rural dispensaries also keep a record of the cases seen by them on tour in villages. The figures of malaria cases for the period mentioned by the honourable member are :—

Karnal	84,966
Ambala	70,175

In the Ambala district the number of reported cases is larger than in the preceding year. The increase is probably due to hospitals being used to a greater extent than before and does not necessarily indicate that the epidemic is more virulent.

(c) The usual arrangements were made for the supply of quinine. A special request for quinine from the Ambala district was met from the reserve available in the Public Health Department.

Lala Duni Chand : Does not the Honourable Minister consider the number of malaria cases in these two districts appalling; if so, how does the Government propose to prevent a recrudescence in future?

Minister : I have already submitted that additional quantities of quinine are being supplied and if more demand is made Government will make an effort to meet that demand.

Lala Duni Chand : I suppose the Honourable Minister realizes that extraordinary steps are necessary in order to prevent the spread of malaria in the malaria districts in view of the last season's record as given by the Honourable Minister.

Minister : I am prepared to make further inquiries and if extraordinary steps are needed, they will be taken.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the Government is in a position to state the main causes for this extraordinary spread of malaria in the Ambala and Karnal districts?

Minister : As I have already stated, there is no reason to believe that this is an abnormal year. The number of reported cases is perhaps due to the fact that the hospitals and the dispensaries are more extensively used and our medical officers are now required to tour in the villages and also to report these cases.

Lala Duni Chand : Has the Government ever considered the necessity of preventing stagnation of water in different parts of these two districts?

Minister : I regret that I am unable to answer this question without notice.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know if it is a fact that compared with other districts in the province the figures for these two districts are abnormal?

Minister : That is so.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I also know whether this has been the case for these two districts not only for this year but for a number of years?

Minister : It has been for a number of years.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : In view of that, has it ever occurred to the Government to take some special anti-malaria measures or are they satisfied merely with the distribution of quinine?

Minister : I have already submitted that I am prepared to make further inquiries and if special steps are needed Government will take them.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the Honourable Minister aware that according to the instructions of the Government of India, special anti-malaria measures were adopted in Delhi and the result has been very satisfactory?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed, as the matter is not within the official cognizance of the Minister.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I am only trying to know whether the Honourable Minister is keeping a watch on the success of the anti-malaria measures adopted elsewhere so that he may benefit from that experience and adopt similar measures here.

Minister : It is part of my duty and I am doing it already.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know whether the Honourable Minister has already ordered some steps to be taken—some extraordinary measures with regard to these two districts ?

Mr. Speaker : That question has been asked more than once.

Lala Duni Chand : Is the Minister aware of the fact that the physical deterioration of the people of these two districts is due to their being extraordinarily malaria-ridden ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed, as it is a matter of opinion.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know why no special steps have been taken so far ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Do Government believe in adopting preventive measures in this case also as they do in political matters ?

Minister : Yes, they do.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I expect a reply to my question as to why no special steps have been taken so far in spite of such an extraordinary state of affairs ?

Minister : I have already stated that I will make inquiries and if any special steps are found necessary, they will be taken. I have also stated that there is no reason to believe that the condition in these districts is abnormal.

PROVISION IN THE BUDGET FOR SCHOLARSHIPS TO STUDENTS OF SCHEDULED CASTES.

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : I regret that the answer to the question is not ready.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know the particular difficulty in supplying the information ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Minister be in a position to supply this information in a few days' time ?

Minister : I hope so.

PROVISION FOR DRINKING WATER FOR SCHEDULED CASTES.

5474. Seth Kishan Das : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state the amount provided in the last budget for making suitable arrangements for supplying drinking water to the members of the scheduled castes has been spent for that purpose ; if so, the amount expended district-wise and the number of wells and the names of villages where they have been sunk or about to be sunk and if that amount has not been spent so far, the reasons therefor and the action Government proposes to take in the matter ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : A sum of Rs. 10,000 as provided in the budget. Plans and estimates have not been received from all districts. Those which have been received are being scrutinized by the Superintending Engineer, Public Health Circle. No expenditure has, therefore, yet been incurred.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know from how many districts they have been received ?

Minister : I regret I am not in a position to give this information.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Approximately ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Lala Duni Chand : Do I understand that the amount sanctioned is going again to lapse to the Government ?

Minister : No.

Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister assure us that within the next four months this amount will be spent for the purpose for which it was sanctioned ?

Minister : I shall see that the amount does not lapse.

LITERACY CAMPAIGN.

5480. Dr. Sant Ram Seth : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state whether it is a fact that Honourable Minister of Education organised a literacy campaign in the Punjab in 1939, if so, the means that were adopted to drive off illiteracy from the province, the number separately of paid and honorary teachers employed for the purpose and also the number separately of such teachers employed for rural and urban areas ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : Yes, it is a fact that I have organized an anti-illiteracy campaign and issued a number of appeals. In this connexion my first appeal was made on 27th May, 1938, and subsequent appeal on 20th June, 1939. A copy of each is placed on the table.¹ The following means have been adopted to banish illiteracy from the province :—

(a) Adult primers.—During 1938-39 adult primers and continuation literature leaflets numbering 82,000 were purchased and distributed free of cost. During the current year 92,000 primers, etc., have been purchased and about 16,000 are still to be purchased. About 40,000 primers have so far been distributed. The demand for the supply of these primers is increasing day by day.

(b) Normal Schools.—All the Government Normal schools in the Punjab are doing intensive anti-illiteracy work through their pupil teachers in the villages in their neighbourhood. These pupil teachers, while at home during the summer vacation undertake adult literacy work in their respective villages.

(c) Government, Board and Privately managed schools and colleges.—The staff and students of these institutions are also doing anti-illiteracy work in the town while in session and when away for summer vacation undertake to do the work in their respective villages, etc.

(d) Departmental efforts.—The Inspecting Officers of the Education Department are paying special attention to adult literacy work and are impressing upon each institution they inspect the desirability of opening literacy leagues to take up anti-illiteracy work. Adult educational centres have been organized in factories and jails, whereby illiterate workmen and convicts are made literate. Arrangements are being made for the training of literate prisoners to serve as teachers for the illiterate prisoners. Adult educational centres have also been organized in mosques, temples and gurdwaras for eradicating illiteracy.

Some of the measures adopted by the Department for the eradication of illiteracy are detailed in Director of Public Instruction's C. M. No. 673-C. S., dated the 20th July, 1939, a copy of which is also placed on the table.¹

The work is being done on a voluntary basis. District Board, vernacular and anglo-vernacular teachers are taking a keen and active interest in this campaign against illiteracy. On account of financial stringency no paid teachers have yet been employed for the purpose, but it is the intention of the Government to employ paid teachers when funds permit. Voluntary work is being done by unpaid teachers both in rural and urban areas, but the figures for the province are not available. In Multan division alone there are more than 5,000 such teachers.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know whether any definite plan was chalked out by the Ministry before undertaking the removal of illiteracy work ; if so, the extent to which they hope to remove illiteracy during the remaining two years or so of their life ?

Minister : It is a very broad question. We are trying to make an attack from all sides.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I want to know whether they have chalked out their programme keeping in view the period left at their disposal and whether they will be able to banish illiteracy to the extent of 5 or 10 or 15 per cent during this period. Have they any set plan or not ?

Minister : There is a definite plan, but it is difficult for me to commit myself to any particular period within which we will be able to eradicate illiteracy.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What is according to that plan the aim of the Government ?

Minister : The aim of the Government is to make people literate as quickly as possible.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Do they hope to banish illiteracy to the extent of say ten per cent ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know by which time the Government hopes to be able to give help to these educational adult centres ?

Minister : That does not arise out of this question.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know how much money has been spent during the last 8 months to remove illiteracy ?

Minister : Budget provision in the current year is Rs. 22,500 but I am not sure of the exact amount spent so far.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Has the Honourable Minister considered the desirability of preparing a list of unemployed young men in rural areas for the purpose of utilizing them for the removal of illiteracy as well as for solving unemployment ?

Minister : No, Sir.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Does he now intend to do so ?

Minister : It is a request for action.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Have the Government succeeded in reducing the number of illiterate people in the province by the measures they have adopted ?

Minister : I hope so. Yes.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know the percentage of success achieved ?

Minister : These figures will be given in answer to another question which is to be put by the honourable member himself.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Is it within the knowledge of the Honourable Minister that these adult educational centres have failed totally for want of help from the Government ?

Minister : They have not. It goes to the credit of the people of the province and these institutions that without any monetary assistance from the Government they have done very useful work.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : I want to know what the idea of the Honourable Minister with respect to literacy is. What are we to understand by the word 'literacy,' because the campaign referred to in this question is literacy campaign ? I want to know what literacy means in the view of the Honourable Minister.

Minister : According to the plan that we have prepared we propose to give them instruction for a minimum period of six months so as to make them able to read and write and do a little arithmetic and later on we propose to follow it up by providing literature which they can continue after they have left these schools.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Enable them to read and write in what language and in what script ?

Minister : I do not confine myself to one language or one script. The choice lies with the adult himself.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Are arrangements made by Government to help people in acquiring proficiency in reading and writing in Hindi and Gurmukhi as well as Urdu ?

Minister : I said on a previous occasion that the demand made about Gurmukhi and Hindi primers was met by Government.

Letter from W. H. F. Armstrong, Esquire, M.A., Director of Public Instruction, Punjab, to the Divisional Inspectors and Circle Inspectresses of Schools and Principals of all Government and Private (Training and Arts) Colleges for Men and Women, in the Punjab,—No. 12040-A., dated Lahore, the 27th May, 1938.

THE Honourable Minister for Education is extremely anxious to enlist the whole-hearted co-operation of college students, high school students, pupil teachers in normal schools, students of the Central Training College, College Professors, lecturers and schools teachers, inspecting officers, and in fact every one who is working in the Education Department in launching a province-wide campaign to eradicate illiteracy.

2. I am desirous to make an appeal to you to help the Department in carrying this campaign to a successful issue, and I have no doubt that you will try your utmost to secure the co-operation of your colleagues, your subordinates and your students in this campaign against illiteracy.

3. At the moment some college classes have undergone University examinations and will be free for a few weeks, and then the summer vacations will begin. I am desirous to suggest that during this period of a few weeks every effort should be made by college and school students to do their bit in this great work. All concerned should join in a determined effort to eradicate illiteracy, particularly among adults.

4. The Inspectors of Schools will be holding Divisional Conferences, and they should seek that opportunity of enlisting volunteers fired with the missionary spirit to take part in this campaign. The aim should be that each college and high school student and each officer and subordinate makes one person—men, woman or child outside the school—literate in the course of a year. The Honourable Minister is quite sure that educated ladies: wives, daughters, sisters and other relatives of the members of the Education Department can also do a great deal in this direction once their support and co-operation are secured.

5. Each individual who wishes to "enlist" in this campaign may be left free to use any method he likes, but every officer of the Education Department should be willing to offer expert advice and guidance on the subject to any one who asks for it. This Department has recently given its benediction to what has come to be known as the Laubach Method which is based on the principle of 'Each One Teach One.' It is suggested that this method which leads to literacy more quickly than any other, may be tried at as many places as possible.

6. Steps are being taken to prepare books, pamphlets and posters and to distribute them free of cost.

7. Government will be very glad if an appeal is made by educational officers to business magnates and employers of educated labour to do something in this direction in respect of their illiterate employees. Many educational officers wield considerable local influence, and it is suggested that they should get into touch with whomsoever is likely to help in waging this campaign.

8. The students should be addressed by the Principals and Head Masters and persuaded to "enlist." It should be made very clear to them that Government will greatly appreciate any efforts which a student may make in freeing the province from illiteracy. All employees of the Education Department should also be told that Government will view with great favour any effort made by them in the furtherance of this fight against illiteracy.

9. The Honourable Minister is particularly anxious to emphasize the fact that this campaign is not to be waged under external pressure of any kind. Co-operation and sympathy should be secured by persuasion.

10. I shall be very glad if you will kindly let me know from time to time what particular efforts have been made by you to launch this campaign and with what success.

Letter from W. H. F. Armstrong, Esquire, M.A., Director of Public Instruction, Punjab, to all Divisional Inspectors of Schools and Circle Inspectresses, Principals of Government and other Colleges for Men and Women in the Punjab,—C. M. No. 14460-C., dated Lahore, the 20th June, 1939.

In May last year the Honourable Minister of Education issued an appeal for the eradication of illiteracy from the province. The response has on the whole been satisfactory, but the problem is so vast, its importance so dominating and its issues so vital that sustained efforts, spread over a number of years, will have to be made before the goal is reached. There should be no dying down of enthusiasm, and no slackening of efforts. While the Honourable Minister appreciates the good work done by some educational institutions, he has noticed with regret and disappointment that several schools and colleges in the province have failed to rise to the occasion. He has, therefore, asked me to issue a fresh appeal to the staff and students of all educational institutions in the Punjab, and he trusts that when the schools and colleges reopen after the summer vacation, he will receive very encouraging reports about the work accomplished in the matter of eradication of illiteracy.

2. I am desired to ask for the full support and co-operation of your staff and students. The Honourable Minister would like to suggest that before the schools and colleges close for the summer vacation groups of teachers and students may confer together and chalk out a plan of action for the particular area, place or locality where they expect to work. The "Each One Teach One" method or any other suitable method may be employed, but the one thing necessary is sustained effort and working according to plan. As a preliminary it will be necessary, after a particular place or area has been chosen, to make a rapid survey of the adult population so that the number of illiterate persons whom it is proposed to tackle, may be ascertained and a suitable programme framed according to their needs and circumstances. It is possible that the illiterate may be apathetic or unresponsive or even actively hostile. The reforming zeal of those who have "enlisted" their resolve not to be disheartened, and the consciousness that they are fighting in a good cause, will, however, enable the volunteers to overcome all difficulties and surmount all obstacles. By doing a little propaganda—the details of which can no doubt be worked out by each volunteer—it should be possible to create an atmosphere in favour of the anti-illiteracy campaign, and once this is done it should not be difficult to secure the co-operation and support of the people in general. The task of those who will not go out of station during the vacation will probably be simpler and easier for they can readily start work in their respective mohallas or galties or parts of the civil area, and continue it even after the vacation. If a particular person finds a number of illiterate adults in his own house, he could make a start there. If a servant, or chaprasi is illiterate, it should be easy to make him literate. There is enormous scope for work and Honourable Minister for Education hopes that everyone, connected with the Education Department at least, will endeavour to reduce illiteracy to the best of his ability. When the teachers and students return to their respective institutions after the vacation, they should continue their work in that town or city; indeed a planned attack for the cold weather months in the place in which a college or school is situated would be an immense contribution to make in this campaign.

3. If the heads of any institutions want any assistance in the matter of "refresher courses" they should apply to the Divisional or District or Assistant District Inspector of Schools concerned. If any primers, etc., are required, an application should be made to the Inspector of Training Institutions, Punjab, Education Department, Lahore, who will supply them free of cost. In short the Honourable Minister of Education expects that every member of the Education Department, and every student reading in any class above the 6th will try his utmost to help forward the anti-illiteracy campaign, and he has every hope that substantial results will be achieved if all of us work with a will.

4. I shall be much obliged if you will kindly keep me in touch with the progress of the work undertaken by you, your colleagues and your students; and by the middle of October let me have a self-contained statement giving full particulars regarding the area tackled, the number of persons made literate, etc., and your proposals and plans for a cold weather drive.

5. It is not intended that at the present stage a high standard of literacy should be achieved. It should be enough if a person can read simple, easy passages, sign his name and write a few short simple sentences bearing on his daily life, and do a bit of simple addition and subtraction. The local inspecting officer will, on requisition, supply blank literacy certificates.

Letter from W. H. F. Armstrong, Esquire, M.A., Director of Public Instruction, Punjab, to the Divisional Inspectors of Schools and the Principals of Colleges in the Punjab.—C. M. No. 673-C. S., dated the 20th July, 1939.

As you are aware, the Honourable Minister of Education is extremely anxious that illiteracy in the Punjab may be liquidated as soon as possible. Among other measures which have been adopted the following are calculated to help forward the campaign which has been launched by the Honourable Minister for the eradication of illiteracy :—

- (1) In future the award of all stipends, scholarships, fee concessions or any other kind of financial assistance should be made contingent on each student of the VII class upward making two persons—men, women or children—literate every year during which he continues to enjoy the scholarship, stipend or free concession. It should be observed in this connexion that the award of these is discretionary, and no one can claim any of them as a matter of right. The Honourable Minister desires that the heads of institutions should be directed to exercise this discretion strictly in accordance with these orders.
- (2) A large number of teachers in schools, particularly in the rural areas, are in receipt of "postal allowances." In future no teacher should be selected for this allowance unless he undertakes to make at least 10 persons literate in one year.
- (3) The attention of all aided institutions should be drawn to the last paragraph of Article 84, of the Punjab Education Code. Although it is not the intention of Government arbitrarily to bring any aided institution under the mischief of this Article, yet the Honourable Minister feels that if such institutions are unwilling, in spite of his appeals, to co-operate with him in his efforts to root out illiteracy from the province, he will be compelled to consider whether action under the aforesaid Article may not be taken against a college or a school which has ample facilities for the purpose, but which refuses to "enlist" in the campaign.
- (4) The name of no candidate should be placed on the approved list for any post in the Education Department (Government or local-body service) unless he can produce satisfactory evidence to show that he has made at least 5 persons literate. In this matter also the Honourable Minister hopes that the managing bodies of private and denominational institutions will co-operate by enforcing a similar rule in respect of the persons they choose to employ.
- (5) In future no illiterate chhaprai or chauhkidar should be employed, and all existing menial servants should be told—the absolutely unfit excepted—that their services will be terminated if they do not achieve literacy within 2 years.

2. The Honourable Minister desires to lay very particular stress on the fact that the task he has undertaken is so gigantic and yet of such supreme national importance that unless he can secure the fullest measure of support and co-operation from every member of the Education Department, the goal cannot be achieved in any measurable length of time. But he is confident that the support and co-operation he is seeking will be readily and cheerfully offered, and that his appeal to every person in the Education Department will not be in vain.

REPRESENTATION RECEIVED BY THE DEPUTY COMMISSIONER, KARNAL, FROM THE ACHHUTS OF TAHSIL KAITHAL.

5501. Chaudhri Faqir Chand : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state whether the Deputy Commissioner of Karnal recently received any representation from the Achhuts of tahsil Kaitnal, district Karnal, requesting him to make suitable arrangements for the supply of drinking water to them ; if so, the action taken thereon ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : Nine applications from various villages were received by the Deputy Commissioner who forwarded them to the District Medical Officer of Health.

Estimates and plans for sinking wells in two villages, namely, Habri and Deeg, in the Kaithal tahsil are being prepared by the District Engineer.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : How long will it take to get these wells sunk ?

Minister : Not long.

TEACHERS AND LIBRARIANS AND THE EXAMINATIONS OF THE PUNJAB UNIVERSITY.

5505. Sardar Moola Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that only teachers and librarians are allowed to appear privately for the examinations of the Punjab University ;
- (b) reasons for not providing the same facilities for passing University examinations to people working in other departments ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) Not only teachers and librarians, but persons of 10 other categories also are allowed to appear as private candidates for the examinations of the Punjab University ;

(b) Does not arise. But it is added for the information of the Honourable Member that every request made by a Department in this matter is considered by the University on its merits.

OPERATION OF PURE FOOD ACT.

5523. Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state whether he is aware of the fact that the operation of the Pure Food Act has not been successful in checking the sale of adulterated ghee, in the province ; if so, whether Government have any other scheme under consideration which might prove more effective for that purpose ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : There appears to be a general impression that the application of the Punjab Pure Food Act has not been successful in checking the sale of adulterated ghee but no actual data are available to show whether this impression is correct or not. On the other hand there is reason to believe that improvement has taken place and that the sale of adulterated ghee has been materially reduced. Until all local bodies adopt the Act, its application is necessarily limited.

2. The question of the adulteration of ghee is to be discussed at the next meeting of the Central Advisory Board of Health in January 1940. A committee of the Board of which the Director of Public Health, Punjab, was a member has made a preliminary examination of the question. Any practical proposals which may result from the discussion at the meeting of the Central Advisory Board will receive Government's close attention.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : May I know from the Honourable Minister whether it is a fact that the operation of the Pure Food Act has not been successful in checking the sale of adulterated ghee in the province ?

Minister : So far as the Pure Food Act is concerned, there is no defect in it. But if the local bodies and their members and medical officers discharge their duties properly, the evil could be checked.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Is the Honourable Minister aware of the fact that in some provinces Anti-Colourization of Ghee Act has been passed ? If so, will Government think over the desirability of introducing such a measure here in the Punjab ?

Minister : I have no such information. But I may inform the honourable member that in one or two provinces Anti-Colourization of Ghee Bills were introduced and in one province the Minister in charge withdrew it.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether it has been brought to the notice of the Government that health officers and municipal committees do not discharge their duties properly in this respect ?

Minister : The health officers are discharging their duties quite well, but the difficulty is that the members of local bodies sometimes do not permit the health officers to discharge their duties properly.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is the Government evolving any scheme to solve this difficulty ?

Minister : I am praying that their mentality may be changed because up till now no other way has been found out by which their mentality can be changed.

Sardar Partab Singh : May I ask the Honourable Minister to let us know the names of the local bodies that have stood in the way of helping the Government to remove the evil of impure ghee ?

Minister : The complaint is general about the whole of the province and I cannot mention any one particular local body. By-laws are published for general information, they are then passed and when they are sought to be put into effect, agitation is started and members in order to favour their voters do not do their duty.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Do the Honourable Minister's remarks apply also to Lahore municipality ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it in force in Lahore also where there is an Administrator ?

Minister : What ?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : The question is whether this Act has been enforced in Lahore by the Lahore Municipality or by the Administrator or in Amritsar or Simla ?

Minister : I cannot say that.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Can the Honourable Minister cite an example of a local body in the province, which has succeeded in eradicating this evil ?

Mr. Speaker : Not a single one.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : The Honourable Minister should take it from me that the Pure Food Act has failed to check the sale of adulterated ghee.

Minister : Even if a new Act is passed replacing the present one, it would meet the same fate.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : May I know the difficulties which stand in the way of the Honourable Minister to introduce the Colourization of Ghee Act ?

Minister : There are several difficulties. But I may point out that so far as the manufacturers are concerned they cannot be blamed for producing the vegetable ghee. Besides, it cannot be said that it is detrimental to the public health, though its food value is much less than the pure ghee. But those who cannot afford to have pure ghee can avail themselves of the vegetable ghee. So the blame lies with those people who adulterate the pure ghee. I am of the opinion that colourization will not help to stem this evil. However, in the near future I am going to call a private conference of certain honourable members of this House who take much interest in the matter, so that we may discuss ways and means to combat this evil. I hope we would be able to solve this difficulty. (Hear, hear.)

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the failure of the Punjab Pure Food Act is practically due to the comparative low standard of the business honesty among the people and has Government any inclination to raise that standard?

Minister : I entirely agree with my honourable friend so far as the first part of the question is concerned.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Has the attention of the Honourable Minister been drawn to the Bill which was introduced by the United Provinces Government?

Minister : But I understand that that Bill was later on withdrawn.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : The Bill proposed by a private member was withdrawn, but another Bill has been introduced in its place by the United Provinces Government.

Minister : My latest information is that Dr. Katju proposed a Bill, but afterwards he decided to withdraw it.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : No, that is not the case.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know from the Honourable Minister whether in his opinion, the Banaspati ghee is unwholesome and injurious to the health and whether he has formed this opinion by using it himself or on the advice of his medical advisers?

Minister : It is based on the opinion of the medical experts and common sense.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Is it the common sense that it is very injurious to public health?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

SCHEME FOR OPENING SUBSIDIZED DISPENSARIES.

5524. Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state whether Government have any scheme under consideration for the opening of subsidized dispensaries in the province; if so, when it will be put into effect and on what conditions those dispensaries will be started?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : A sum of Rs. 49,800 has been provided for the opening of subsidized dispensaries in the current year. For the details of the scheme I invite the Honourable Member's attention to page 116 of the volume of New Expenditure, copies of which were supplied to Honourable Members during the budget session. A beginning has been made and orders have already been issued to set up dispensaries in certain places where villagers through their co-operative efforts have been able to guarantee for three years an annual sum of Rs. 600 which is required in addition to the grant of an equivalent amount by Government for the maintenance of a dispensary.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Is it a fact that the Honourable Minister's scheme has failed on account of the poor financial conditions of the villagers in the province ?

Minister : The scheme is now being introduced. It is rather preposterous to say that it has failed.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : When was it introduced first ?

Minister : Government is opening the dispensaries this year.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : What part of the year and what month ?

Minister : These dispensaries are now being opened.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : How many dispensaries have been opened up to now ?

Minister : I cannot give the number.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Give me approximate number.

Minister : I cannot give even approximate number.

CHANGES IN THE SYSTEM OF EDUCATION TO ELIMINATE UNEMPLOYMENT.

5525. Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state the changes, if any, effected in the present system of education as are expected to enable in future every educated young man to earn his livelihood and to eliminate all possibilities of educated unemployment, the nature of these changes and in case no such changes have been made, the reasons therefor ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : The question of the revision of the existing scheme of studies for the primary and middle departments is under consideration. Government is contemplating the substitution of a five-year primary course for the present four year one, the simplification of the courses in various subjects, the introduction of the 'practical arts' (useful handicrafts), etc. It is considered that the proposed scheme will train pupils for civic life, and good citizenship and develop the qualities of self-reliance self-discipline and spirit of co-operation and also instil into them the realization of the value of the dignity of labour.

ADMISSION OF SCHEDULED CASTE STUDENTS TO JUNIOR VERNACULAR SCHOOL, GUJRAT.

5547. Bhagat Hans Raj : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state—

- (a) community-wise the total number of students admitted this year into the Junior Vernacular School, Gujrat ;
- (b) the number of students belonging to scheduled castes among them ;

[Bhagat Hans Raj.]

- (c) the percentage fixed for the scheduled castes for admission into the said school?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : The question savours of communalism. If the honourable member puts an unstarred question I shall be glad to answer it.

SCHOLARSHIPS RESERVED FOR SCHEDULED CASTE STUDENTS IN LAW COLLEGE.

5549. Bhagat Hans Raj : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state—

- (a) whether there are any scholarships reserved for the scheduled caste students in the Law College, Lahore ;
(b) if none, whether Government proposes to take any action in this direction ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) No.

CHARGING OF FULL FEE FROM SHIB LAL, STUDENT OF THE JAIN HIGH SCHOOL, PANIPAT.

5674. Chaudhri Faqir Chand : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state whether he is aware of the fact that an Achhut student named Shib Lal, student of the Junior class in the Jain High School at Panipat, district Karnal, is being charged full fee every month ; if so, the action Government propose to take in the matter ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : Inquiries made show that the boy has been charged full fee in the past. Necessary instructions have, however, been issued to the head master of the school to charge only half fee from him in future and to make adjustment of the fees overcharged.

‘ BEOPAR SANDESH.’

4808. Chaudhri Sahib Ram : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether one Ram Kishan of village Elnabad in district Hissar applied for a declaration on 22nd September, 1989, to start a weekly paper ‘ Beopar Sandesh ’ and then on 7th March, 1989, he was asked to deposit a security of Rs. 500 under Press Act for the sanction ;

(b) the reason for demanding the security at the time of declaration ;

(c) the reasons for the delay in reply ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Khan Bahadur Mian Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana) : (a) Yes.

(b) As the District Magistrate, Hissar, had reasons to believe that the proposed venture was likely to be used for the purposes enumerated in section 4 (1) of Act, XXIII of 1931, read with section 16 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, XXIII of 1932.

(c) The delay, which took place in the making of the usual inquiries, is regretted.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What was the police report about the person who applied for a declaration ? Was it reported that he held Congress views ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No, Sir.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What was feared would be the consequence if the declaration were granted to him ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have nothing to add to the reply already given.

SECURITY OF RS. 1,000 DEMANDED FROM PANDIT SHRI DUTT.

4823. Chaudhri Sahib Ram : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that a security of Rs. 1,000 has been demanded from Pandit Shri Dutt on his application for a declaration to start a weekly paper from Rohtak in the month of October, 1988 ; if so, the reasons for it ;

- (b) whether the same gentleman was sanctioned the same declaration previously without demanding any security, when he had failed to start the paper; if so, the new changes that have taken place to justify the present demand of security;
- (c) whether any security was ever demanded from other local weeklies published from Rohtak; if not, the ground for this discrimination and departure from the old practice;
- (d) whether the Government have now decided to demand security from every newspaper to be started; if so, the reasons for the same?

Parliamentary Secretary (Khan Bahadur Mian Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana): (a) Yes. The magistrate's order must have shown the reasons.

(b) Yes. The only change in the situation was the possession of more detailed information by the magistrate.

(c) No. See (a) and (b) above.

(d) No.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: Does not the very name of the paper which was intended to be brought out show that it was meant to be a caste organ like the "Rajput Gazette" or "Jat Gazette"?

Parliamentary Secretary: The question of security is not decided on the basis of names. Proper inquiries are made to see whether security should be demanded or not.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: What were the reasons for demanding security from a caste organ like the "Gaur Brahman"?

Parliamentary Secretary: Reasons have been given in the order of the district magistrate.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: Why does not Government give the reasons?

Parliamentary Secretary: It is the business of the district magistrate. Government have nothing to do with it.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: Does the Parliamentary Secretary mean that the order of the district magistrate is not open to revision or scrutiny by the Punjab Government?

Parliamentary Secretary: It is naturally in the discretion of a district magistrate to demand initial security.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: Can Government over-rule that discretion or not? Can Government interfere with the indiscretion of a district magistrate or not?

Parliamentary Secretary: Government generally do not interfere.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi: Is the Government too weak?

Parliamentary Secretary: We trust our officers.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: Will Government interfere in the discretion used in this particular respect by the district magistrate?

Parliamentary Secretary : We have no reason to differ with the action that he has taken.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Which particular provision of the Press Emergency Act or the Criminal Law (Amendment) Act is, in the opinion of the district magistrate, likely to be violated by the applicant who wanted to file a declaration ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have nothing to add to the reply I have already given but if my honourable friend wishes he can see the order of the district magistrate in this case.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the Parliamentary Secretary prepared to place that order on the table of the House ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The honourable member can get a copy of it from the district magistrate.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it a fact that Government have issued instructions to the district magistrates directing them to use their discretion in a particular manner and it is as a result of that circular that he has taken action in this manner ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Have the Government satisfied themselves that the order of the district magistrate was justified ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Probably it is.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that the person who filed the declaration held a licence for dealing in foreign liquor and therefore inquiries had already been made by the authorities about him ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have noted what has been said by the honourable member. Thanks for the information.

An Honourable Member : Noted for what ?

LICENCES OF GUNS AND REVOLVERS ISSUED IN AMBALA DIVISION.

4868. Chaudhri Sahib Ram : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state the number of licences of guns and revolvers issued for protection purposes and of guns for Shikar purposes in the villages of the Ambala division separately with the names, castes and addresses of the licence holders ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) : The information required by the honourable member will be found in the statement laid on the table with the reply to Question *4814¹ asked by the member for Amritsar North (Sikh Rural).

It is not the practice in such cases to give names.

TEARING OF CONGRESS FLAG AT SHAMSABAD, DISTRICT CAMP-BELPUR.

4880. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state whether he is aware of the fact that recently a Congress flag was torn into pieces by the mob at village Shamsabad, district Campbellpur ; if so, the details so far ascertained, of the occurrence and the action, if any, taken by the authorities in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : First part.—As far as can be ascertained no such incident occurred ; certain Congressmen tried to hold a meeting in the village, but the inhabitants objected and the meeting fell through.

Second part.—Does not arise.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Which officer of the Government made investigation into the allegation that the flag was torn ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It was done through the usual district agency.

REFUSAL OF HONOURABLE PREMIER TO SEE DEPUTATION OF KISANS.

4889. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether he refused to listen to the grievances to be placed before him by a deputation of the peasants of the Lahore district if they would be headed by Mr. Yog Raj, a leader of the Kisan Committee, Lahore ;
- (b) if the above (a) is correct the reasons for so doing ;
- (c) the number of peasants arrested for defying section 144 up to date in Lahore ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) Yes. The inclusion of Mr. Yog Raj's name in the proposed deputation was one of the reasons why that deputation was unacceptable.

(b) Because Mr. Yog Raj has not the necessary qualifications, being neither a peasant nor a land revenue payer of the Lahore district.

(c) 1,549 up to the 5th September, 1939.

I may add that the Honourable Premier offered on the very first day to receive a deputation of peasants of Lahore and this offer was repeated several times.

DISMISSAL OF KHAN MUHAMMAD AFZAL KHAN, MAGISTRATE.

4930. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that the charge framed somewhere in 1935 against Khan Muhammad Afzal Khan, Magistrate, then at Amritsar, of a breach of Rule 8 of the Government Servants Conduct Rules, was not proved, but he was removed from service on quite different grounds, by His Excellency the Governor, declaring that his action in the case in which he was involved was found to be dishonest, irregular and unworthy of an officer holding a responsible position ;
- (b) whether any further inquiry was instituted in order to prove his misconduct mentioned in His Excellency's order ;

[K. S. Khawaja Ghulam Samad.]

- (c) whether any amended charge was framed against the above-named Magistrate and he was given an opportunity to clear his position under section 240 (3) of the Government of India Act, 1935, and Rule 55 of Civil Service (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules ;
- (d) whether Khan Muhammad Afzal Khan pointed out this defect in his petitions submitted on April, 1938, and in September, 1938, to His Excellency the Governor ; if so, the action taken on his petition ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) to (d) It is understood that Khan Muhammad Afzal Khan has filed a suit against Government and the matter is sub-judice. I would, however, remind the honourable member that the final orders in this case were passed after consultation with an independent advisory body, the Punjab and North-West Frontier Province Joint Public Service Commission.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I ask whether any charge-sheet was framed in this case and a copy of it supplied to the gentleman concerned for the purpose of replying to the charges framed against him ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If my honourable friend gives me notice of the particular information that he wants, I shall try to supply him that information.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : I invite the attention of the Parliamentary Secretary to the original question in which it has already been asked whether Khan Muhammad Afzal Khan was given any opportunity to explain his position before his dismissal.

Parliamentary Secretary : The honourable member's present question is very different from the question which is on the paper. He now asks whether any charge-sheet was given to him while his original question is whether any amended charge was framed against him. If he gives definite notice whether he wants information about the amended charge-sheet or initial charge-sheet, then I will supply the information.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : His Excellency the Governor said that he possessed certain habits which were against the Government Servants' Conduct Rules. I want to know whether, after that, he was supplied with a specific charge-sheet to explain his position.

Premier : I am afraid my honourable friend is hopelessly misinformed because it was not on His Excellency the Governor's initiative that this thing took place. Proper inquiry was held and there were several cases against this man.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know from the Honourable Premier whether the charges framed against him were proved to the hilt and the result was dismissal ?

Premier : That is the view of everybody who was deputed to inquire into those charges. The Public Services Commission were also of the same view.

PUBLIC PARTIES TO SUB-DIVISIONAL OFFICER, SONIPAT.

4944. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether he is aware of the fact that on his transfer from Sonipat recently the Sub-Divisional Officer had accepted a large number of public parties and dinners ; if so, the number of such parties and the names of the hosts ;
- (b) whether he had obtained the permission of the Government before agreeing to be entertained at these public parties and if not, the action proposed to be taken in this matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) The Officer in question did not attend or accept any public party or dinner.

(b) Does not arise.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What is the difference between a private and a public party ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Definite rules in that respect have been laid down and I can assure the honourable member that on more than one previous occasion they have been placed on the table of the House.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What objection has he to repeat them ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am sorry I have not got the exact definition with me and when he asks for a definition I should like to be exact.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I want to ask, what is the difference, according to you, between a private and a public party ?

“ DUKH BHANJAN.”

4994. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether Bhai Naurang Singh Tanghi applied to the District Magistrate, Amritsar, for bringing out a Medical Weekly in Punjabi called the “ Dukh Bhanjan ” on December 24, 1938 ;
- (b) whether any security was asked from him on 16th February, 1939 ;
- (c) if the reply to (a) and (b) above be in the affirmative, the reasons for asking the security ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Khan Bahadur Mian Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana) : (a) and (b) Yes.

(c) As District Magistrate, Amritsar, had reasons to believe that the proposed venture was likely to be used for the purposes enumerated in section 4 (g) of the Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act, XXXIII of 1931, as amended by section 16 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, XXIII of 1932.

NAMES OF PAPERS REMOVED FROM THE BLACK LIST.

5015. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the number and names of papers removed from the black list since the present Government came into power ;

[Lala Duni Chand.]

(b) the number and names of papers brought on the black list during the same period ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Khan Bahadur Mian Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana) : (a) The Punjab Government does not maintain any black list.

(b) Does not arise.

UNLAWFUL ASSOCIATIONS UNDER THE CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT BILL.

5016. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) the number and names of associations in the Punjab which are still unlawful associations under the Criminal Law Amendment Act ;

(b) the number and names of associations that were unlawful associations prior to 1st April, 1937, and which ceased to be as such since 1st April, 1937 ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) A list of the unlawful associations is placed on the table.

(b) One : viz., The Lahore Congress Volunteers or the Hindustani Sewa Dal.

List of unlawful associations.

1. The Bal Bharat Sabha, Lahore.
2. The Workers' Home or Workers' Training College of the Kirti Kisan Party, Lahore.
3. The Anti-Imperialist League, Punjab.
4. The Punjab Provincial Nau Jawan Bharat Sabha, Lahore.
5. The Okara Congress Volunteers or the Hindustani Sewa Dal, Okara, Montgomery.
6. The Punjab Kirti Kisan Sabha, Amritsar.
7. The Amritsar District Kisan Sabha.
8. The Punjab Kisan League.
9. The Labour Research Society, Punjab.

Lala Duni Chand : For how long have these associations been under the ban and for how long have they been enjoying the privilege conferred upon them by the Government ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice so far as the ban is concerned ; and so far as privilege is concerned, I have no information.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether the question was not sufficiently clear to enable him to give this information ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am sorry that my honourable friend's question did not mean that. He asked the number and names of associations and not the period from which these orders were issued.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know the reasons that exist up till now for continuing the ban upon them ?

Parliamentary Secretary : That is a fresh question and I want notice for it.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : From how many associations has the ban been lifted ever since this Government came into office ?

Premier : We have lifted the ban from one or two associations and it is decided to renew or continue it in the case of those associations which have been just mentioned.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the Honourable Premier in a position to let the House know the reasons which led to the continuance or renewal of this ban particularly against the Hindustani Sewa Dal and against the Bal Bharat Sabha ?

Premier : It was decided to continue the ban in the public interest because these bodies were considered undesirable.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is he aware that the Hindustani Sewa Dal is an all-India organization affiliated with the Congress and that the provincial organization is only a branch of that organization.

Premier : I am not aware of its antecedents and what it is in other provinces, but in this province, the ban was removed in its case.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : But its name is given in the list of associations from which the ban has not been removed.

Premier : That is Okara branch.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What is there in particular against the Hindustani Sewa Dal, Okara branch, which led to the renewal of the ban ?

Premier : I cannot go into its details nor would I like to do so because I do not want to make it public. But there is nothing particularly objectionable against the Lahore Congress Volunteers or the Hindustani Sewa Dal and so we have removed the ban from that branch throughout the province.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What about the Bal Bharat Sabha ? I understand that this organization is of infants.

Premier : Yes, it is of infants or people, who pose under the guise of infants to do things which they should not do.

Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state if all these associations really exist and, if so, what are their activities now ?

Premier : If they do not exist, the question does not arise and if they do exist they are consistently kept under watch.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the Government is continuing the ban in the case of some organizations which no more exist ?

Premier : Then why is my honourable friend worrying about it ?

BAN ON THE ENTRY OF MESSRS. B. K. DUTT AND BIJOY KUMAR SINHA IN THE PUNJAB.

5028. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state—

(a) whether there is a ban on the entry in the Punjab of Messrs. B. K. Dutt and Bijooy Kumar Sinha of the Lahore Conspiracy Case ;—

[N. Sohan Singh Josh.]

- (b) the period of the ban and the reasons for its imposition ;
- (c) the date on which the ban will be lifted against them ;
- (d) whether they have applied to the Government seeking permission to enter the Punjab ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) Yes. This condition was included in the conditions accepted by these prisoners for premature release.

(b) It is not in the public interest to disclose the reasons for the imposition of this ban which is not limited to a fixed period.

(c) Does not arise.

(d) No.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : May I take it from the reply given to part (b) that the ban will not be removed at all ?

Minister : No, I do not think you need understand that from the reply.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : May I know what is meant by unfixed period ?

Minister : Unfixed period means a period the term of which is not fixed. (Laughter.)

RELEASE OF COMRADE TEJA SINGH SWATANTAR.

5048. Shrimati Raghbir Kaur : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state the reasons for which Government is not prepared to release comrade Teja Singh Swatantar, M. L. A., at present a State prisoner in the Campbellpur Jail as explained in reply to starred question No. 3723¹, asked by Lala Duni Chand on 28rd March, 1939 ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Khan Bahadur Mian Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana) : The person named is detained for reasons of State, connected with the maintenance of order in the province. I do not think it advisable to be more explicit, but I should like to repeat that the cases of all State prisoners are carefully reviewed by Government at short intervals and none of them will be kept in confinement for a day longer than is absolutely necessary.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : May I know when Sardar Teja Singh Swatantar's case was reviewed ?

Parliamentary Secretary : In the second week of September last.

LALA CHHABIL DASS, VICE-PRESIDENT AND NOMINATED MEMBER OF HANSI MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE.

5140. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state the reasons for refusing to grant gun licence to Lala Chhabil Dass, Vice-President and nominated member of the Hansi Municipal Committee and an income-tax payee also who made an application to this effect in the month of January, 1939 ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) : Government understand that the district magistrate refused the application as he did not consider that the applicant had any real need for a gun licence.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether the police report was asked for ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am not aware of it.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know on what grounds the licence was refused ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The district magistrate decided the question in his discretion and the ground for refusal was that he did not consider the applicant to be in real need for a gun licence.

MEMBERS OF KHAKSAR MOVEMENT.

5190. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that recently members of Khaksar movement all over the province have started parading about the streets in towns uttering special slogans addressing meetings and even performing military exercises in public streets and bazars ;
- (b) whether he is aware that the above doings on their part are giving rise to bad feelings and resentment on the part of peaceful inhabitants of this province ;
- (c) what action, if any, the Government proposes to take in the matter ;
- (d) whether the Khaksar movement has hitherto received any kind of encouragement or assistance from the Government or its individual members ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) Yes, but this practice is not confined to Khaksars only.

(b) Yes, shouting of slogans and counter slogans by the Khaksars and other similar organizations undoubtedly rouse feelings of bitterness.

(c) The matter is under consideration.

(d) No.

FORFEITURE OF GUN AND PISTOL LICENCES.

5298. Sardar Harjab Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) how many gun and pistol licences have been forfeited in the year 1939 in Hoshiarpur district ;
- (b) what were the causes that led to that action ;
- (c) how many new licences were issued during the same period in the same district ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Sardar Bahadur Sardar Ujjal Singh) :

(a) 54.

(b) On the death of the licensees 9

Owing to the licensees being persons who could not safely be left in possession of arms owing to their blindness or old age, and for reasons of public safety. 84

On the licensees being sentenced to imprisonment .. 3

Owing to the failure of the licensees to file applications for renewal in time, or to purchase guns within the period allowed for the purpose. 5

At the request of the licensees 3

(c) 43.

Sardar Mula Singh : Is it a fact that the licences of those persons have been forfeited who sought district board election on Congress ticket ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No, that was not the ground for cancelling licences.

Sardar Mula Singh : Is it a fact that the licence of Chaudhri Narain Singh, Zaildar of Mogowal, has been forfeited on the ground that he helped the Congress candidates during the elections ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No, that is not the reason for it.

Sardar Partab Singh : What was the reason in that case ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have enumerated the reasons in my reply.

Sardar Partab Singh : Which reason applies to this particular case ?

Parliamentary Secretary : One of the reasons given in my reply to the original question.

MOTA SINGH OF VILLAGE BEHWALPUR, DISTRICT
HOSHIARPUR.

*5381. Sardar Harjab Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) the reasons why one Mota Singh of village Behwalpur, district Hoshiarpur, who came from South Africa very recently, has been arrested on the 23rd of September, 1939 ;

(b) the place where he has been detained ;

(c) whether he will be tried before a court of law ; if so, when ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) Mota Singh was arrested under section 2 of the Punjab Criminal Law (Amendment) Act, 1935, as there were reasons to believe that he had acted or was likely to act in a manner prejudicial to the public safety or peace ;

(b) The Fort, Lahore.

(c) This is under consideration.

SHORT NOTICE QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

BEATING OF AN UNDER-TRIAL PRISONER IN KARNAL.

Mian Abdul Rab : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that on the 31st October, 1939, an under-trial prisoner in the court of the Additional District Magistrate, Karnal, on hearing the conviction order, hurled his shoe on the said magistrate ;
- (b) whether the said magistrate ordered the police present in his court to beat the prisoner and consequently he was badly beaten ;
- (c) whether it is a fact that the jail authorities refused to take back the prisoner in that injured state unless examined medically ;
- (d) whether he was medically examined, if so, with what result and the action intended to be taken on the result of the medical examination ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) (b) and (d) A case has been registered against the under-trial prisoner referred to by the honourable member and I do not think it will be proper for me to say more at the present time.

(c) No.

ORGANIZATIONS OF VOLUNTEERS BY COMMUNAL BODIES.

Rao Pohop Singh : Is the Honourable Premier aware that a number of communal bodies have been organizing volunteers, who wear uniforms and drill in a military fashion often with implements that may be used as weapons of offence and that this growing practice is likely to involve a threat to law and order ? If so, what action do Government propose to take ?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan : The information of Government is that the following are the principal organizations that have formed volunteer associations :—

1. Khaksars.
2. Jaish-i-Aharar-i-Islam.
3. Ittihad-i-Milat.
4. Akal Saina or Akali Fauj.
5. The Shakti Dal.
6. The Agni Dal.
7. The Rashtriya Aikta Dal.
8. The Gainti Dal.
9. The Mahabir Dal (Punjab Mahabir Dal).
10. Provincial Mahabir Dal.
11. Central Mahabir Dal.
12. The Bajrang Akhara.
13. The Ghazi Corps.

[Premier.]

The members of these organizations are accustomed to perform evolutions of a military nature and hatchets, axes, tridents and spades are amongst the implements carried by them that are capable of being used as weapons of offence. Government are aware that the show of force which these parades and other activities imply has caused apprehensions amongst the public and may well involve a threat to law and order, and are considering what action should be taken.

Sardar Partab Singh : May I know the definition of 'communal bodies' as given in the reply?

Premier : I am afraid I cannot do better than refer my honourable friend to dictionary so far as the definition of the word 'communal' is concerned.

Sardar Partab Singh : What distinction does Government make between a communal body and any other body and what is the criterion by which Government judges whether a body is communal or not?

Premier : Just as we judge an individual whether he is communal or not.

Sardar Partab Singh : May I know whether the Muslim League is a communal body or not?

Premier : Yes.

Sardar Partab Singh : Is the present ministry communal or not (laughter)?

Premier : No, it is not.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : Has this question been asked by our party or your own?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Was the Premier or any other member of the Government consulted before the three members of the Unionist party, one a Hindu, another a Muslim and third a Sikh, gave notice of this short notice question?

Premier : My honourable friend had better ask these gentlemen if he wants.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : I am asking the Premier whether he was consulted or some other member of the Government was consulted?

Premier : My honourable friend should know that these short notice questions are always asked to give information to the public.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Then say so.

Premier : Is there anything wrong?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : I only wanted certain information from the Premier and he has given it.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know if the Khaksar movement is one of the organizations referred to in this question?

Premier : Yes.

Nawab Sir Shah Nawaz Khan : May I know whether the Premier is aware of the fact that the Khaksar organization is not a communal organization as there are persons of other communities in it?

Premier : My honourable friend's information is correct so far as the professions of the body are concerned. I do not know whether there are any non-Muslims and if there are then the movement is true to its professions. But it is believed to be a communal body outside.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : How long has this movement been in existence in the province ?

Premier : I am afraid I cannot give my honourable friend definite period because the movement has been more or less in existence for some-time although it has only come into prominence during the last two years.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know whether Government contemplates bringing the spades and other implements used by these organizations under the purview of the Arms Act ?

Premier : If my honourable friend wants to know the provisions of the Arms Act he will find the answer by going through it ; but we are considering the whole question from the point of view of the peace and tranquillity of the province.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : My question is whether the implements used by these organizations will be governed by the Arms Act or not ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know if it is a fact that the Khaksar movement has been in existence for over three years in the province ?

Premier : Very likely my honourable friend's information is correct, but as I have said it came into prominence during the last two years.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know whether the Government is keeping a special watch over this movement ?

Premier : Government keeps a watch over all movements.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know whether the literature published by the leader of the movement or on behalf of this movement has been coming to the notice of the Premier and the Government ?

Premier : I have seen some of its literature. As a matter of fact in one of the pamphlets in which the creed of the body was given, it professes to be a non-communal body, a body which has got no other objective except social work : that is what it professes to be.

Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan : What are the other communal bodies in the Punjab besides the Khaksar movement ?

Premier : There are several bodies. I have got the names if the honourable member wants them. Some of them, he will see, are mushroom bodies.

They are :—

The Jaish-i-Aharar-i-Islam ;

The Akali Saina, or Akali Fauj ;

The Agni Dal ;

The Gainti Dal ;

The Central Mahabir Dal ;

The Bajrang Akhara ;
 The Ittihad-i-Millat ;
 The Shakti Dal ;
 The Rashtriya Aikta Dal ;
 The Mahabir Dal ;
 The Provincial Mahabir Dal ; and
 The Ghazi Corps.

These are some of the bodies about which we have received information. There may be others.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know if it is a fact that the organizations mentioned by my honourable friend are of a defensive nature and have come into existence after the Khaksar movement had progressed a good deal ?

Premier : I am afraid I cannot possibly give any information on that subject without notice. It is possible that some of them might have been existing long before the Khaksar movement came into existence.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Has Government come across any literature published by these bodies ?

Premier : I am afraid I have not seen any literature which these bodies may have published except the volume which I have named. But I have occasionally been seeing in the press the activities of these bodies.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Has the special number of " Al Ishlah " called ' Qaule-Faisal ' ever come to the notice of my honourable friend ?

Premier : I am sorry I have not had the time to look into it.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Has it ever been reported by the Criminal Investigation Department that this organization aims at the overthrow of the Government constituted by law and establishment of their own suzerainty in India ?

Premier : I do not know their objective, but their creed is that they are only social workers and I believe it is also one of their objectives to see that Islam as such rises to the same height as it did. They are for the dominance of Islam.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Is it a fact that about 15 months ago, a challenge was given to the Punjab Government that unless certain demands made by the leader of this movement were accepted by the Punjab Government, he would order 4,000 Khaksars to march upon Lahore with a sword hanging on their left side and a copy of the holy Quran on the right side and with a piece of cloth wound round their heads to serve as a winding sheet in case they were killed ? Is the Honourable Premier aware of that challenge ?

Premier : I am not aware of that particular challenge, but I have been receiving ultimatums periodically from the leader of this party.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang: Is it a fact that Mir Maqbool Mahmood, the Parliamentary Secretary was either deputed or voluntarily went to the headquarters of this movement at Ichhra and carried on negotiations with the leader of the movement with respect to the demands made by that leader?

Premier: There is no question of any negotiations.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang: Did he go there or not?

Premier: Oh yes. He went there but so far as the negotiations are concerned, there is no question. The leader asked for certain demands—those three demands—and he was asked to come and see the Parliamentary Secretary, so that the position could be explained to him. Some of them are outside the purview of Government for obvious reasons.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang: Is the Honourable Premier aware of the fact that the leader of this movement issued a note in his newspaper "Al Islah" under the caption "Hamari Pahli Fatah"—Our First Victory in which he mentioned that a sort of draft of a treaty between the Punjab Government and the Khaksar movement had been drawn up and in consultation with Mir Maqbool Mahmood it had been corrected and was made acceptable and he hoped that it would soon be ratified by the Punjab Government? Is the Honourable Premier aware of that?

Premier: I have not seen any such notices in the papers. It is quite possible that he claimed it as a victory, but there are several other organizations and parties including the Opposition who sometimes claim victories over us.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang: Is the Honourable Premier aware that the nature of these negotiations and the nature of this victory claimed was entirely different from the victories that these gentlemen may sometimes claim over Government and that there was a definite threat of death held out to the Honourable Premier in case he was not prepared to accept the proposals?

Premier: I have not received any threat of murder which may have been published. If that had been made, I can assure the honourable member that it would have made no difference so far as my attitude was concerned.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang: Did he not think it necessary to take some steps to prevent this kind of violent writing in the press and the holding out of such threats of violence? He may himself, being a soldier, look upon these threats with contempt, but is it not his duty to see that such threats are not held out even to the meanest subject of His Majesty? What action was taken by Government on these violent writings?

Premier: As a matter of fact certain writings published in the paper were brought to the notice of Government, and the Editor and Publisher were given a severe warning.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: May I know if it is a fact that several influential members of the Unionist Party are directly or indirectly financing and supporting this movement or are interested in the movement?

Premier: I have no such information and I am sure my honourable friend's information is not correct.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know if the Premier is satisfied that none of the writings in " Al Islah " and other literature of the movement offend against law ?

Premier : I may say that the " Al Islah " and other papers may offend against law, and when they do so they are warned, and if they persist, then we take more drastic action. This paper has been warned on three occasions.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Have you ever asked this paper to deposit a security ? Was that question ever decided by Government ?

Premier : I am not aware when the paper came into existence, but I believe it came into existence long before this Government took office.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : My question is, has any security ever been demanded from or deposited by this paper.

Premier : I believe that since the warning was given, the paper has not published anything that trespasses the law.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Then this is one of the papers from which no security has ever been demanded ?

Premier : The paper came into existence before the present Government took office.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : That does not matter. My question is whether any security has ever been demanded from this paper either by the Government which preceded this Government or by this Government during the last (nearly) three years that it has been in office ?

Premier : I should like to have notice of that question.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Has this Government ever considered the question of demanding a security from that paper ?

Premier : I should like to have notice of that question.

Nawab Sir Shah Nawaz Khan : Excepting the three demands mentioned by Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang, namely, the establishment of bathulmal, permission to open a radio station and permission for the Government servants to join the Khaksar movement, are there any other demands made by them ?

Premier : I think my honourable friend was referring to these demands.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : To clear this question. With respect to the demand for radio, I just want to know whether it was a demand for opening a radio or a demand for the use of the existing Government radio for broadcasting their own views and principles. So far as my information goes, the demand was for permission to use the existing radio for the purpose of this movement.

Premier : No. The demand was for setting up a radio of their own.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Which demand out of these three was conceded ?

Premier : I am afraid the Punjab Government was not in a position to oblige the gentleman.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it a fact that the Government are either afraid of or are in sympathy with the Khaksar movement and that is why they have taken no action against it so far ?

Premier : Government is not afraid of any such movement. But Government at the same time does not want to take any premature action.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it a fact that Government encouraged this movement when it took offensive against the Congress governments particularly in the United Provinces ?

Premier : I am afraid my honourable friend is wholly unjustified.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Did some members of Government in their individual capacity encourage this movement when it took offensive against the United Provinces Government ?

Premier : Not the members of the present Government.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it a fact that the Khaksars have been travelling without tickets and have been creating scenes in some railway stations and the police did not interfere with them and allowed them full latitude for doing mischief ?

Premier : I do not think that my honourable friend can hold this Government responsible for the incapacity of the neighbouring Government.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : May I know which of these communal movements is the favourite wife of the Government ? (Laughter).

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it a fact that the Khaksars did commit violence in the United Provinces ?

Premier : I am not responsible for the administration of the United Provinces. When I am I will show them what I can do.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Has it or has it not come to the knowledge of the Honourable the Premier that they attacked members of the police at Ghaziabad, Bullandshahr and other places ?

Premier : I do not want to enter into that controversy. When the United Provinces come into the Punjab then I will answer.

Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan : May I inquire whether these questions do not savour of communalism ? If they do, why are not questions about the Muslims in the services not answered on the floor of this House ?

Premier : They do savour of communalism.

ADJOURNMENT MOTION.

RISE IN PRICES OF FOOD-STUFFS, ETC.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt (North-Eastern Towns, General, Urban) : I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the failure of the Punjab Government to check the rising tide of prices of food-stuffs and other articles in the province.

Mr. Speaker : Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt has asked for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the failure of the Punjab Government to check the rising tide of prices of food-stuffs and other articles in the province.

Any objection?

Premier : I have got several objections. My honourable friend missed the bus about a fortnight or two weeks ago when the prices went up. The prices have now come down and they are at a lower level than they were a fortnight ago. My honourable friend, if he wanted, could have moved his adjournment motion then. In any case he could have made sure of his facts by asking me or by putting a short notice question and we could have given him a definite reply. My honourable friend is probably influenced by something which has appeared in the press recently. I can assure my honourable friend that the prices two weeks ago were at one stage very much higher than they are now and my information is that it was largely due to speculation. Government is watching the situation carefully and if necessary it will take action. But I think it is premature now to discuss this matter and if my honourable friend wants further information he can have it from me and discuss it with experts.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : The urgency of the matter lies in the fact that during the last one week there has been a rise in the prices of many articles and there is a panic in the province on this question.

Premier : Then my honourable friend must be living outside this province.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : There is an impression abroad that Government have got some special and sinister motive in not checking the rise in prices as it is believed that some highly placed gentlemen in the province are taking undue advantage of Government's inaction and that some of them have made hundreds of thousands of rupees during the last one week or so.

Premier : That is an allegation which has nothing to do with this adjournment motion and I suggest that if my honourable friend has any allegations against big persons he had better bring in a substantive motion and if he thinks that Government is also conniving at the proposition, let him move a no-confidence motion against the Government. But my honourable friend is hopelessly out of date if he thinks that the prices are now higher than what they were about a fortnight ago.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : The prices of food-stuffs and many other articles have jumped up by 70 per cent. in some cases, 80 per cent. in other cases and 100 per cent. in still other cases and yet Government have not moved in the matter. The Punjab Premier issued a statement that the Government would control the prices. So far there has been no control. I think this is a very urgent matter and we should be given an opportunity to discuss it. The object of the adjournment motion is not merely to censure the Government but also to draw the attention of the Government to a question which is agitating the minds of a large number of people.

Premier : I am afraid my honourable friend is again hopelessly out of date and hopelessly misinformed. What is he going to discuss when he does not know the actual position? After I made that announcement the prices went down throughout the province. (An honourable member : What about sugar and cotton?) Their prices went down. The prices started going up so far as agricultural commodities are concerned but they have since come down. My honourable friend may ask Sardar Santokh Singh who knows much better than I do. The prices went up in Amritsar very likely due to speculation. They then came down again. Now there is an upward trend and if necessary Government will take action.

Mr. Speaker : Will the honourable Sardar Santokh Singh please state facts about the rise and fall of prices?

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : During the last week or so the prices have been shooting up like anything, and although I do not agree with all that my honourable friend the sponsor of the adjournment motion has said, a discussion of the matter in the House would be in the best interests of everybody. We will all be able to give expression to our views and also know what the intentions of the Government are. There is so much uncertainty in the mind of the public and this must be removed.

Mr. Speaker : Will the honourable member please state the level of prices during the last 15 days.

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : Since the war was declared, the price of wheat in the Punjab has been steadily rising. At the beginning of the war it was Rs. 2-8-0 a maund and in the last week alone, prices have gone up by no less than 8 annas a maund, so much so that in Amritsar wheat (Har) was being sold at Rs. 3-15-6 and gram (Har) at Rs. 4-8-0 per maund. Price of wheat (ready) is Rs. 3-11-0 against Rs. 2-8-0 that was prevailing when the war was declared. So during the last week alone prices have gone up by no less than 8 annas a maund. This is a serious matter and it has happened only recently. I have told you the figures up to the last evening. I do not know the prices to-day. Sugar has also gone up from Rs. 12 a maund to Rs. 16 a maund.

Premier : You must have seen in the papers that the first meeting of the new board appointed in this connexion was held on Saturday last in order to consider this question. My honourable friend has overlooked that meeting of the board and the item relating to it in the papers. Representatives of various chambers of commerce are on that board and they have kept in view the question of prices and they will no doubt make their recommendations in due course if they consider it necessary. At the same time Government is perfectly aware of the situation and I know there may be a certain amount of hardship so far as big cities are concerned. Price of atta has gone up and there is a big disparity between the price of atta and wheat, I understand atta is being sold at prices which are disproportionate to the prices of wheat. We are making inquiries into that particular matter and if we find that there is a disparity we will see that it is immediately removed.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : So far as the principle of control of price level is concerned, we are all agreed that there should be a control. Now the question is what should be the limit. There are so many articles in the province, the prices of which have soared higher than the normal limit. The Punjab Government should give us an opportunity to discuss the matter. For instance there is the question of petroleum. The prices of petroleum and petroleum products have worked havoc in the province and Government are not interfering at all.

Premier : My honourable friend is again showing ignorance. He says that the prices of certain commodities have gone up by hundred per cent. Has he ever brought to my notice any particular commodity the prices of which he wants to control? If not, how can he expect me to give an answer without making inquiries or studying that particular case? So far as petroleum products are concerned, my honourable friend will remember that it is a central subject and we cannot control its prices.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : It is not a question of studying facts and then interfering. Situation has grown so serious in the province with respect to certain articles that Government should not lose any time in any further study. In fact action should have been taken earlier. As I pointed out in the case of petroleum and petroleum products we have got our own apprehensions that since that industry is controlled by Europeans, Government have not the courage to control its prices. It is, therefore, that we demand that we should discuss this question in the form of an adjournment motion, but if the Premier gives us an assurance that he is prepared to allot a day within a few days to discuss this question, I am ready to withdraw my motion.

Mr. Speaker : I think the Honourable Premier and the honourable mover have already discussed the pros and cons of the whole matter.

Sardar Lal Singh : If from the discussion that has taken place an idea goes round that the Opposition sees eye to eye with Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt in the matter of rise of prices of wheat, it will not be warranted.

Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt : I am not discussing wheat at all. I must make my position clear. What I said was that in the case of certain articles we have to decide as to what should be the limit of prices. I did not say that we should stop it at Rs. 3-10-0 or Rs. 4 and I did not commit myself with regard to prices of wheat.

Lala Duni Chand : I am of the opinion that agriculture in the Punjab should be allowed to reap the harvest and I do not know why control should be exercised, prices have not gone up sufficiently high.

Mr. speaker : My impression was that the complaint made in the motion was well-founded ; but, after hearing Sardar Lal Singh, Lala Duni Chand and other members as well as the Premier and the mover, I am of the opinion that the motion is not in order.

Now the House will proceed to consider the Village Panchayat Bill.

VILLAGE PANCHAYAT BILL.

Clause 23.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad (Southern Towns, Muhammadan, Urban) (Urdu): I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (1), lines 4-5, between the words "Section 22" and "shall" the following be inserted:—

"Or any person who persuades any person to disobey a notice of the Panchayat under Section 21 or a general order under Section 22."

Sir, my submission is that if the lines proposed by me are not inserted in sub-clause (1) of clause 23 many a difficulty will arise out of it and then you would realize the importance of my amendment. The clause seems to be insufficient without this amendment. It has been provided that any person who disobeys a notice of the panchayat shall be punished with fine. But no mention has been made as to what sort of punishment will be given to those who persuade any person to disobey a notice of the panchayat. As sub-clause (1) lacks something very important, I commend my amendment for its acceptance.

Mr. Speaker: Clause under consideration amendment moved is—

That in sub-clause (1), lines 4-5, between the words "Section 22" and "shall" the following be inserted:—

"Or any person who persuades any person to disobey a notice of the Panchayat under Section 21 or a general order under Section 22."

Minister for Public Works (Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana): Sir, if this amendment is accepted it would lead to great complications. Abetment is not an easy thing to prove, especially for the villagers. The present clause would serve the purpose and if any difficulties arise in the future, there will be no bar to amending this law. It will be very difficult for a Panchayat to decide the cases of abetment. Some witnesses will say that such and such words were uttered by a certain individual, while other witnesses will come forward and say that such and such words were not uttered. It may involve a miscarriage of justice. I certainly appreciate the object of my honourable friend in moving this amendment. He thinks it will lead to greater compliance with the wishes of the Panchayat and better working of the system. I am in agreement with the object and principle of the amendment. But if the amendment is accepted at this stage I think it might result in hardship owing to the present conditions in the villages. If in future it is found necessary to amend this clause, we can do so. There is no bar to it.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad: The Honourable Minister has appreciated this amendment, which I have put before the House, but as he wishes that I should not press it at this stage and that if necessary this clause can be amended in future, I do not press it.

The motion was by leave withdrawn.

Mr. Speaker: Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad's amendment¹ No. 2 does not appear to be in order.

¹That in sub-clause (1), lines 4-5, between the figure "22" and the word "shall", the words "or whoever voluntarily obstructs the panchayat or any panch or servants thereof in exercise of any duty under this Act" be inserted.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I read it first ?

Mr. Speaker : The word used in the original sub-clause (1) is "breach", but in the amendment the honourable member has used the word "obstructs", which does not fit in with the word "breach." If it is accepted the clause shall become meaningless.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : I would submit that a provision has been made in the Act for such persons.

Mr. Speaker : My point is that the amendment as worded would make the clause meaningless. The honourable member has used the word "obstructs", but in the original clause the word used is "breach".

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Then I do not want to move it.

Minister for Public Works : May I further bring to the notice of the honourable member that a panch will be a public servant and those who will obstruct or interrupt the working of the panchayat will be dealt with according to the ordinary law ?

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi (Lyallpur and Jhang, General, Rural) : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to move—

That after sub-clause (1), the following new sub-clause be added :—

"(2) A person aggrieved from an order passed under sub-section (1) may appeal to the Deputy Commissioner or a Magistrate specially empowered by the Government in this behalf within thirty days from the date of the order."

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (1) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Sardar Lal Singh (Ludhiana Central, Sikh, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (2), line 3, for the word "constable", the words "a police officer not superior to the rank of sub-inspector" be substituted.

Sir, I beg to submit that the principle of the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill has been supported and the opposition also agrees with the spirit of the Bill. We should not curtail the powers of the Panchayat. Here we find that the Panchayat can inquire into the misconduct of constables and chaukidars. The constable does not do anything of his own accord. He simply obeys the orders of the Sub-Inspector of Police. The Sub-Inspector of Police is the person who is held in dread by thousands of villagers and whose activities should be curbed. Therefore, I submit that if it is the intention of the Honourable Minister to give real power to the Panchayats then my amendment should be accepted. The members of the Panchayat will be persons commanding great influence in the Ilaga. They will be men of position and importance, and I do not see any reason why they should not be given the power of inquiry over the action of the Sub-Inspector of Police. I, therefore, move that instead of the word "constable" the words, "a police officer not superior to the rank of sub-inspector" be substituted.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in sub-clause (2), line 3, for the word "constable", the words "a police officer not superior to the rank of sub-inspector" be substituted.

Minister for Public Works (Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana): Sir, I oppose the amendment moved by my honourable friend opposite. I do not think I need give any detailed reasons for it. The Sub-Inspector of Police will be in charge of a much larger area than a panchayat and it is not desirable that the panchayat should be given power to report against him.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the Chair and it was occupied by Mr. Deputy Speaker).

The section contemplates that representatives of the people might have a word to say against certain petty Government servants. The Sub-Inspector of Police will generally deal with cases and it is likely that he might become unpopular with some panches. There are popular sub-inspectors also. We should not lay down such a law. We should keep all such officers outside the beat of the Panchayat. So, I oppose the amendment.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That in sub-clause (2), line 3, for the word "constable", the words "a police officer not superior to the rank of sub-inspector" be substituted.

The motion was lost.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad (Southern Towns, Muhammadan, Urban) (Urdu): Sir, I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (2), line 4, between the words "chaukidar" and "patwari" the word "lambardar" be inserted.

In commending this amendment to the acceptance of the House I need not make any lengthy speech. The influence of a lambardar and his potentialities for doing mischief are too well-known to require a description from me. It should be, therefore, clear to everybody that if he is not included in this list you cannot achieve the desired end. It is he who is responsible for most of the mischief in the village, and that is why I have come forward with this amendment.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in sub-clause (2), line 4, between the words "chaukidar" and "patwari" the word "lambardar" be inserted.

Chaudhri Jalal-ud-Din Amber : If the lambardar can be a member of the panchayat as well as a sarpanch then as sarpanch or as a member of the panchayat he will be reporting against himself (Interruption).

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Not in all cases.

Munshi Hari Lal : Sir, in addition to 'lambardar' that my honourable friend Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad wants to bring in, my amendment is that 'zaildar' and 'sufedposh' should also be brought in line with 'lambardar'. The panchayat will exercise no control of punitive character over these two officers. They will not be punishing them, they will not be fining them and they will not be doing any serious injury to these people. What the amendment means is that if any one of them misconducts himself, the Panchayat should report to the Deputy

[Munshi Hari Lal.]

Commissioner. That will be the only function of the panchayat and that will be the only power which is meant to be given to the panchayat. The sub-clause, as it stands, reads—

- (2) On a complaint being made to the Panchayat by any person that a peon, bailiff, constable, chaulkidar, patwari or vaccinator, or any other class of Government servants to which the Government may by notification extend the provisions of this section has misconducted himself in his official capacity, the panchayat may inquire into the matter and submit a report to the superior officer to whom it may concern or to the Deputy Commissioner.

That is the only action that a panchayat will take. They will have only to make a report to the superior officer or to the Deputy Commissioner. They are not empowered to suggest any sort of punishment, much less to award it to these delinquents. Report is the only thing that can be made. Lambardars, zaildars and sufedposhes are officers of the village. It was suggested by my honourable friend that they may be on the panchayats or may be one of the panches. Quite right. But it is not necessary that the panchayat may consist of only lambardars or of zaildars or of sufedposhes and if they are there, they should not be immune from law. Let them not go on unchecked creating havoc with impunity. I ask the Unionist Government that they should appoint a commission or hold a general inquiry into the conduct of these officers—lambardars, zaildars and sufedposhes—and as a result they will find that the inquiry reveals many things which the Government may not be knowing. My impression is that seventy per cent of zaildars, inamdars, lambardars and sufedposhes are receivers of stolen property and are guilty of offences under Section 411, Indian Penal Code. They generally keep badmashes. Such being the state of affairs, they are a terror in the villages. (An honourable member: "That may be in your district"). I ask the Unionist Government to appoint a commission and see how horrible is the fate of the villagers at their hands. If the conduct of these officers be investigated into, there will be interesting and disgraceful disclosures. I want that there should be a check upon these persons and the manner in which it can be put is that the panchayats should have an eye over these officers. The panchayats will not do anything except to report against them to the Deputy Commissioner or to the superior officer. In the interest of peace, in the interest of protection of the poor, in the interest of protection of the villagers, I appeal to the Unionist Government that they should accept this amendment of mine which will lead to purification of the administration and redound to the credit of the Government.

Chaudhri Ali Akbar (Gurdaspur East, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, I rise to oppose this amendment. The duties of lambardars, sufedposhes and zaildars pertain to the collection of land revenue and if you include them in the list of officials enumerated in the sub-section it is sure to give rise to serious difficulties in the collection of Government dues. I admit that it was necessary to give the panchayat some such power so far as constables, bailiffs, patwaris and vaccinators are concerned, but not so in the case of lambardars, etc. There may be complaints to the effect that a patwari compelled somebody to give him some illicit gratification or that a constable or bailiff who had come with a summons for somebody gave out that he had come to serve him with warrants and thus got the poor and ignorant wretch pay him a rupee or two. Similarly there may be complaints against a vaccinator who might have extracted some money by intimidating a woman who did not get her child vaccinated. These officials do indulge in such corrupt practices. But the lambardars who belong to the same village and are kith and kin of the villagers can never afford to misconduct themselves in such a manner. Therefore, this amendment is uncalled for and I oppose it.

Khan Bahadur Nawab Chaudhri Fazl Ali (Gujrat East, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu): I rise to oppose the amendment that is now before the House. I had no intention of making any speech to-day, but the remarks of the honourable mover of the motion have compelled me to say a few words by way of reply. While moving his amendment he used certain expressions about zaildars, lambardars and sufedposhes which in my opinion were very harsh and highly unpleasant. (A voice: "Truth is always bitter"). My honourable friend says truth is always bitter, but I may inform him no good comes out where no good is in. If in the opinion of my friend these things are true, I am also constrained to remark that I do not expect to hear better words from him. He has as a matter of fact revealed his inner self and has stated these things not because they are correct, but because he is in the habit of saying such things on the floor of the House just as the proverb goes مذہب کی باتیں ہر آدمی کے منہ سے نکلتی ہیں. The honourable member is helpless.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: Please do not be personal.

Khan Bahadur Nawab Chaudhri Fazl Ali: Sir, I am not personal but am only bringing some hard facts to the notice of the honourable member opposite. However, I would close the matter by saying:

ہاں ہاں ہاں ہاں ہاں ہاں ہاں ہاں ہاں ہاں

Now I may point out that zaildars, lambardars and sufedposhes are an eye sore to my honourable friends over there and that must be so, because it is they who prevent them from having their way in the villages. Moreover they are the people who have perforce to take effective steps to set right all the mischievous activities that are resorted to in the rural ilaqas. Besides, it is their bounden duty to help the police in carrying out their duties. I am also convinced that even the summons cannot be executed without their aid. It is they who help the Pidas in carrying out their duties. As the zaildars, lambardars and sufedposhes help the officials of the Government in carrying out their duties, and are also an agency to check the pernicious activities of bad characters, naturally they should be an eye-sore to those who want to escape the clutches of law. If they are also included in this section it means that in future they would not be in a position to lend any support to the Government and consequently it would be very difficult to arrest offenders and malefactors and carry out other duties of the Government. The only way in which we can get their help is to keep them out of the purview of this section. As a matter of fact zaildars, lambardars and sufedposhes would be the very pillar of the panchayats and if they are included in this section then who would run the panchayats? (Interruptions). I think all the members over there including the lady members are imbued with the same kind of ideas. If the lady members interrupt one has perforce to keep silent. But I would request them not to interrupt. However the question is that the zaildars, lambardars and sufedposhes are the very people who keep control in the villages and keep the villagers away from the influence of subversive movements. Even in the times of kings of the past these were the very people who worked for the welfare of the rural people and even to-day if anybody is really working for the welfare of the people of the Punjab, it is the zaildars, lambardars and sufedposhes. In view of this I think all the honourable members would think twice before they vote in favour of this amendment.

Besides, I may point out that it will be zaildars, lambardars and sufedposhes who would help the panchayats in carrying out their orders. If they are to be included in this section then they will not be in a position to help the panchayats. In other words it means that whatever rules or regulations the panchayats would make, there would be no one to enforce them and consequently it would be very difficult for the panchayats to function at all.

There is yet another important matter which I wish to bring to the notice of the honourable members, that is, that in moving this amendment the real object of my honourable friends is to exclude the zaildars and lambardars and sufedposhes from being elected as members of panchayats. But I may tell them that they cannot succeed in their object, even if they try a thousand times. The zaildars, lambardars and sufedposhes are bound to be elected on the panchayats. In addition I think they are labouring under a misapprehension that they are the well wishers of the country. These panchayats will be established in the villages and they have nothing to do with them. As a matter of fact they are urbanites and police magistrates and jails are sufficient to satisfy their misguided activities. These institutions have been handed down to us from our forefathers and it is only the zaildars, lambardars and sufedposhes who can carry out the duties of the panchayats properly. It is my convinced opinion that without the co-operation of the zaildars, lambardars and sufedposhes it is next to impossible to work the panchayats. In fact the members opposite do not want to see the panchayats a success. In the circumstances I oppose the amendment now before the House.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu): I rise to support the amendment that has been moved by my honourable friend Munshi Hari Lal. At the very outset I wish to make it clear that I do not say nor my honourable friend Munshi Hari Lal meant that all the zaildars, lambardars and sufedposhes are bad and corrupt. There are good as well as bad people amongst them. I am personally aware of the fact that there are good many zaildars, lambardars and sufedposhes who are very honest and straightforward but along with this nobody can dare deny this fact that there is a large number of them who not only accept illegal gratifications from the people but also perpetrate oppression on them. My honourable friend Nawab Chaudhri Fazl Ali was very much enraged at our amendment and I think while delivering his speech he has not done justice to us. I want to assure him that by moving this amendment we have no intention to grind our own axe, but our object solely is to improve upon this Bill so as to make it more practicable and beneficial for the rural people. In spite of all these assurances, does he think that we do not want to improve upon this Bill? If he thinks so, may I ask him whether there is not a large number of zaildars, lambardars and sufedposhes, who, let alone supplying false witnesses to the police because that is their business, tyrannize over the poor people and exact bribes from them? I may tell him that such zaildars and sufedposhes are to be found in the Punjab who to a very large extent make their living out of illegal gratification. Besides, let us ask honourable Malik Omar Hayat Khan, who is a very experienced officer and he also has held very responsible offices under the Government, whether it is not a fact that these zaildars, lambardars and sufedposhes practise a lot of oppression on the people in the rural areas. Does my honourable friend wish that if these village officials commit any crimes, they should not be punished for them? I think if the zaildars, lambardars and sufedposhes tyrannize over the people some sort of provision should be made in this Bill with a view to bring them to book. In short our object is only to improve upon this Bill and my honourable friend is getting angry for nothing.

Besides, I may point out generally that zaildars, lambardars and sufedposhes are very influential people in their villages. Many of them would also become members of the panchayats and as members of the panchayats they would be exercising great influence. In the circumstances it cannot be taken for granted that panchayats would on the complaint of any person make reports against them to the higher officers without any rhyme or reason. They will have recourse to this procedure only in exceptional circumstances. I fail to understand why my honourable friend over there objects to this amendment. I may inform him that when laws have been enacted in order to punish the wrong doers, there is no reason why panchayats should not be given this power to make a report against the zaildars, lambardars and sufedposhes to the higher authorities. I once again assure him that we have no ulterior motive in moving this amendment but as a matter of fact we honestly want to improve upon this Bill. We feel it our duty that whenever there is any defect in any Bill we do our best to remove it. That is our object in a nutshell. I hope the honourable Minister in charge would accept this highly salutary amendment. Moreover, if patwaris and other Government servants are included in this section, there is no reason why zaildars, lambardars and sufedposhes should not be included in it. There is no justification for excluding them from that list. If we think for a while we would find that there are good and bad patwaris. If all of them have been included in this section, where is the justification of excluding the zaildars, lambardars and sufedposhes from this section? May I know from my honourable friend over there as to what is the principle under which he has included patwaris in the sections and has left out zaildars, lambardars and sufedposhes? I would, therefore, request him that he should accept our amendment. I have already stated more than once on the floor of the House that we are only helping him and he should welcome our constructive suggestions. And further we want to better the conditions of the rural areas. There is no reason why he should not give due consideration to our suggestions. With these remarks I whole heartedly support the amendment of my honourable friend Munshi Hari Lal.

Sardar Partab Singh (Amritsar South, Sikh, Rural) (Punjabi):

2 P.M.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, we have listened to the speech of the Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill with patience. It is hoped that he, too, would pay the same attention to us as we have done because in that case it is possible that he might feel disposed to accept this amendment. The Honourable Minister has correctly remarked that the lambardars, sufedposhes and zaildars can be hauled up before a court of law to stand their trial if they are guilty of an offence. But our point is that heavens would not fall down if these officials are also included in the list of those Government servants in whose case the panchayat, on a complaint of misconduct in their official capacity being made to it, would hold inquiries and submit its report to the Deputy Commissioner. I may point out that the lambardars in the discharge of their duties commit such flagrant mistakes as cannot be remedied in any way. For instance, a breach of canal takes place in a village. The peon of the canal officer comes to that village and apprises the lambardar of the written order of the officer concerned that the villagers have been fined Rs. 400 for that breach. But this lambardar would keep mum and would not tell the villagers that such and such a fine has been inflicted on them by the canal authorities and if they like they could prefer an appeal against it. But the date of appeal passes and even then he does not care to inform the villagers of this fine. The result is obvious. The villagers are put to great hardship. They are more often than not guilty of such irregularities and malpractices. So our purpose in getting these officials included in the provisions of the Bill is that they should perform their duties honestly and conscientiously and should not misuse their official position to grind their own axe. I may make it clear beyond doubt that we have not the slightest intention to put them to trouble but we simply want them to feel more responsible than before. The honourable members are aware that the object of this Bill is that the panchayats should help the villagers in getting their grievances redressed outside the courts. I am of the opinion that if lambardars, sufedposhes and zaildars are not included in this provision, there is every likelihood of this laudable object being frustrated. I hope the Honourable Minister would see his way to accept this wholesome amendment. With these words I strongly support the amendment now before the House.

Minister for Public Works : I am afraid unnecessary heat has been created over a very innocent clause. This clause is an identical copy of the corresponding clause in the Central Provinces Panchayat Act. I will explain why we are not prepared to accept the improvement suggested by the honourable member opposite. The reasons are two-fold. First let us consider the meaning of the clause. At present the villagers can complain against anybody they like. They can go even to the Minister and complain that the Deputy Commissioner should not be there. There is no bar to any complaint. All we have said is that against these particular officials people might draw the attention of the panchayat and that being an elected representative body may complain; and these complaints coming as they would from a panchayat would receive better consideration with the officers. Even if it is not put down there is nothing to prevent a Panchayat from complaining against a Sub-Inspector, against a Deputy Commissioner or against a Revenue Assistant. Nobody can stop them. We have excluded the lambardar because a lambardar, a sufedposh or a zaildar is governed by certain rules. They will be also eligible to be members of the panchayat and can be tried as an ordinary accused before a panchayat. If given the status of Government servants they should not be triable as accused by the panchayats. Therefore we have excluded them from those officials against whom complaints could be made.

Lala Duni Chand : There are some rules to deal with the conduct of the patwaris.

Minister for Public Works : Because a patwari as such will not be triable by a panchayat and a lambardar, if he commits an offence, will be triable. That is the difference. A lambardar has got no immunity : he can be a member as well as an accused. If there is a bad lambardar anyone can complain against him : there is no bar. This clause does not confer any special power on the Panchayat. When there is to be any complaint against those officials it would only mean that the Deputy Commissioner would get a complaint from a recognized body. As a matter of fact I was at one time wondering whether we should put this clause in the Bill ; but as the Central Provinces Act confers a certain amount of status and recognition on the panchayats in this connection I have put in this clause also. I, therefore, think that unnecessary heat has been created over a clause which is totally innocent and was included with good intentions.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The explanation given by the Minister should suffice : there is nothing more to be said.

Munshi Hari Lal : In exercise of my right of reply I will say something.

Sardar Kartar Singh (Lyallpur East, Sikh, Rural) (Punjabi) : Sir, if a Government servant is guilty of an offence he is punished in two ways. Firstly, he is dismissed from service and secondly, he is proceeded against in a court of law for the offence. Now the panchayats have no powers to dismiss the lambardars, sufedposhes and zaildars if they misconduct themselves in their official capacity. It is sought through this amendment that these officials be included in the list of those Government servants, in whose case a panchayat, on a complaint of misconduct made to it, would hold inquiries and submit its report to the Deputy Commissioner, who is the sole authority to appoint and dismiss these officials. Our object in bringing forward this salutary amendment is that the lambardars, sufedposhes and zaildars should feel their responsibility and refrain from committing irregularities and malpractices. We do not harbour any ill-will against them but just as a wise surgeon applies his knife for the good of a patient, similarly we have moved this amendment for improving upon the provisions of this Bill.

Then, there are a good many lambardars and zaildars in the province who are honest and they sympathize with us. They are either members of the Congress or have sympathy with its cause. So they are honest (Laughter). But there is a very large number of lambardars and zaildars who have their sympathies with the Unionist Party. They are all dishonest people. (Laughter). The Unionist Party naturally does not wish to stop their dishonest practices. Three-fourths of the Unionist Party itself comprise of lambardars and zaildars. The party, therefore, is not willing to impose any check on the evil practices of lambardars. My honourable friend from Gujrat was rather angry to find that we on this side of the House wanted to empower the panchayats to report the misconduct of lambardars to the deputy commissioners. But he was a bit unjust there. The fact is known to him that the canal authorities, the police and the civil authorities, even the patwaris have the power to report against their misconduct. And they actually do report. Why does my friend feel perturbed when a similar power is sought to be entrusted to the representatives of the zamindars? If the lambardars have nothing to hide, why should they fear if an explanation is called? The fact of the matter is that the lambardars have neither a sense of morality nor a sense of decency. In ninety cases out of a hundred, bribes are taken through lambardars, zaildars and sufedposhes. The police secure false evidence through the good offices of these people. This is a set of people, Sir, which can be bought for any price.

Further these lambardars and zaildars tyrannize over the poor people living in the villages, the untouchables and the like, in the matter of thikri pehra. The untouchables and members of the scheduled classes are always made by the lambardars to do the pehra in the villages. You will never find the son or relative of a lambardar or a zaildar performing the duty during the night.

Moreover the lambardars, sufedposhes and the zaildars are the greatest stumbling blocks in the way of all progressive movements in the country. They are the greatest agents of the Unionist raj. Now that a Government manned mostly by their own men is in power, they are committing all sorts of offences as the Urdu proverb goes :

Sayan bahe kutwal ab dar kahe ka. These people had sufficient latitude under the last regime but now latitude allowed to them by the authorities has become licence.

I think it is no mere figure of speech to say that these people have now become bundles of misconduct (Laughter). If the accredited representatives of the people are allowed, therefore, to report the misconduct of lambardars to the deputy commissioners, it will be all to the good of the people living in villages. The Honourable Minister in charge of this Bill has said that if a lambardar or a zaildar misbehaves he can be hauled up before a panchayat. But that is not what we want. We want that his conduct should be brought to the notice of the deputy commissioner of the district. The panchayat can give the lambardar or zaildar the punishment under law, but the deputy commissioner can deal with him departmentally. After all the lambardar is an obedient servant of the administration. He serves all including the patwari and the constable of police. Why should he fear if a report is made to the higher authorities? With these words, I support the amendment moved by my friend Munshi Hari Lal.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker resumed the chair.)

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan (Pind Dadan Khan, Muhammadan, Bural), (Urdu) : Sir, I had no intention to participate in the debate over this amendment but I have failed to understand why my honourable friend the Minister Sahib who has just resumed his seat, should entertain such uncharitable feelings about lambardars in this province who are all our brethren. The lambardars after all are not imported from foreign lands. I wish that my honourable friend the Sardar Sahib had paid attention to the principle according to which the appointment of lambardars is made. I am sure if he had paid attention to this principle, he would not have expressed such hostile views about the lambardars. They are generally appointed from among those old and noble families which command the greatest respect of the people living in villages. (An Honourable Member: "Question"). My honourable friend perhaps has a reason to question my statement but I am now referring to the old gentry of the Punjab. I wish to point out that it is on account of that fact that the office of the lambardar has now become hereditary.

Shrimati Ragbir Kaur: But we wish to do away with old traditions of that type.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Khizar Hyat Khan Tiwana): On a point of order. Are we discussing sub-clause (2) of clause 23 or discussing how the lambardars are appointed, and whether it is a good institution or a bad institution? That is out of order. It is neither here nor there. (Interruptions).

Mr. Speaker: I cannot allow two or three gentlemen to speak at the same time (Interruption).

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan: I am very sorry that in the very beginning of my speech my honourable friends have become angry. As a matter of fact this is a Bill for which Government claims great credit and we are all of the opinion that if it is worked successfully, it will result in great benefit to the zamindars and will remove many ills from which they are at present suffering.

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. The whole Bill is not under discussion.

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan: The point I was making is that if these lambardars are antagonized by our bringing in such silly amendments, then we would be defeating the very object of this Bill. The amendment which has been moved by my friend is that the panchayats should be empowered to lodge complaints against the lambardars and zaildars. What I wish to impress upon this House is this that the moment this Bill becomes law and the lambardars and zaildars come to know that the panchayats are being given such a power that they will be complaining against the lambardars and zaildars, it is possible that these classes may exercise their influence to see that the panchayats are not formed in the villages. On the other hand, the object which the Government have at present before them is to use all legitimate and reasonable means to make this Bill a success. Therefore I say that any criticism against the lambardars or zaildars will be extremely inopportune and most unfortunate. I would submit that the number of lambardars in the province is nearly 60,000. Do the honourable members imagine that when at the very commencement of a Bill they antagonise the sympathies of such a strong and powerful class in the rural areas, there is an iota of chance of this Bill becoming a success? Therefore I would submit that the object of this amendment is to defeat the objective which the Bill has before it. At the same time I would submit that the lambardars are themselves entitled to become members of a panchayat, and there is a likelihood that quite a majority of the members of the panchayats will be lambardars themselves.

Naturally in an organization which is to contain such a large number of lambardars and zaildars, if you were to accept such an absurd amendment, I am sure the object which the Government has in view will greatly suffer. I would, however, like to submit that the lambardars are not after all such a bad class as my honourable friend painted them to be. The lambardars are very nice people. They are helping the administration in several ways and it is a very unjust criticism to make that lambardars are a horrible set of people. They are a very old, loyal and useful set of people.

(Honourable members : Question may now be put).

Sardar Lal Singh : The amendment under consideration seeks just to include the lambardars and zaildars so that they can also be subject to the disciplinary action whatever that be, by the panchayat. I was surprised when Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan said that we shall be defeating the very purpose of the Bill. What my honourable friends are trying to do is to create a diarchy. The panchayat is the primary body politic of this country. They want to create a panchayat and they want to beat the drum saying, "we are creating a panchayat with a lot of power" and at the same time they want to exclude the lambardars who might be misconducting themselves under their very nose and just in the heart of the village they might be carrying on their nefarious activities. The very first thing that they would do would be to poke their nose in the election of the panchayat. Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan has said that the lambardars are a popular set of people. If so, why should the Unionist Party oppose our position that these lambardars should be elected? Our suggestion that these lambardars should be elected by the people is not accepted by them.

Minister of Public Works : I may draw your attention that we are not now discussing the question of election of lambardars.

Sardar Lal Singh : The Honourable Minister has not appreciated my point at all. This involves a basic principle of legislation.

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan : On a point of order. This is casting a reflection on the decision of the House and its judgment that the lambardars should not be elected.

Sardar Lal Singh : There is one great reform which is sought to be made in this country and that is the separation of the judiciary from the executive. A judiciary is being created in the villages and the executive are being kept out of the purview of their discipline. This is cutting at the very root of the reform. My honourable friend from Gujrat was angry at the remarks of my honourable friend Munshi Hari Lal. I am a lambardar myself and I am ashamed that there are many lambardars in the villages who are carrying on under the very nose of the officials nefarious activities. If they are removed the village community will be more than half reformed and the Honourable Minister would be doing the Punjab villages a great benefit if the lambardars also are brought within the ambit of the clause under consideration.

Munshi Hari Lal : I want to make a reply to what the Honourable Minister has said.

Mr. Speaker : Only one member can reply. The honourable member is entitled to move his amendment without any speech.

Munshi Hari Lal : My amendment is more comprehensive than the amendment that is now before the House.

Mr. Speaker : I cannot allow a speech. The question is—

That in sub-clause (2), line 4 between the words "chaukidar" and "patwari" the word "lambardar" be inserted.

The motion was lost.

Munshi Hari Lal : I move—

That in sub-clause (2), line 4, between the words "patwari" and "or", the words "lambardar, zaildar, safedposh" be inserted.

The motion was lost.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural): Sir, I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (2), line 9, between the words "capacity" and "the" the following words be inserted:—

"Or that any Government official or servant has asked or compelled any person for begar or has acted contrary to any Government circular or announcement as to begar".

Sir, this sub-clause provides only for complaints against certain Government subordinates, but I would like to add that these panchayats should be authorized at the same time to make complaints against other Government officers as regards begar. I think it was in the last session that certain questions were put to the Government on the question of begar and the Government answered that it had issued circulars and announced them by beat of drum in the villages prohibiting begar, but we find that begar is still being continued in the same way as it was previously. It is for this reason that I am moving the insertion of these words in the clause so that when any Government official asks for begar in the village from any menial or scheduled caste or a kamin or even a zamindar, the panchayat should report the conduct of such official whether that official is a deputy commissioner or any one else. I hope the Government with all its professions that it is doing its best to suppress begar will accept this amendment and will try to be true to their professions.

Mr. Speaker : I think in substance, though not in form, it is a new clause. Question is—

That in sub-clause (2), line 9, between the words "capacity" and "the" the following words be inserted:—

"Or that any Government official or servant has asked or compelled any person for begar or has acted contrary to any Government circular or announcement as to begar".

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That sub-clause (2) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That clause 23 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 24.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That clause 24 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 25.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General Rural) (Urdu): Sir, I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (1), line 8, the words "two-thirds" be omitted.

No speech is necessary to support this wholesome amendment and, therefore, I commend it to the acceptance of the House without a speech.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in sub-clause (1), line 8, the words "two-thirds" be omitted.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi (Lyallpur and Jhang, General, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, sub-clause (1) requires a two-thirds majority of the adult male taxpayers of the village for refusing a licence. In view of the conditions obtaining in the country as well as the professions of the Government that it wants to rid the province of this evil of intoxicants it is hardly necessary to point out that it is not desirable to make this wholesome provision subject to two-thirds majority. The Government should have come forward and introduced prohibition of its own accord instead of placing such obstacles in the way of the panchayats and villagers. You know, Sir, that the wily contractors can very easily manage to mislead some of the villagers who are mostly uneducated, and thus frustrate all attempts on the part of a panchayat to save the village from this evil if this condition of two-thirds majority is retained. It is, therefore, in the fitness of things that no licence for the sale of liquor, opium, etc., be granted even if a bare majority objects to it.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana): Sir, I oppose the amendment. The provision at present in this clause is identical with that of section 21 of the last Act. When a private important right is to be taken away in a village and prohibition is to be started it is essential that a fairly large majority of people should vote in support of it. It is a matter of private right and people in some cases might resent any interference. I personally support prohibition, but it should be introduced with the consent of the people and we should prepare the public mind for it. If the proper atmosphere prevails in a particular village it would be easy to enforce prohibition and that is what the Bill lays down. As honourable members know without proper education of public opinion no such provision of law can be enforced. I know prohibition has been enforced in a certain province, but what is the result? Prohibition exists within certain local limits, but what "drunkard trains" come from other areas! Unless one has the support of public opinion no one can have any real prohibition and that is what the framer of the last Act who was no less a person than the late Mian Sir Fazl-i-Hussain aimed at. Support of a majority of two-thirds should be an essential condition before prohibition is enforced in a local area. With these words I oppose the amendment.

Sardar Partab Singh (Amritsar South, Sikh, Rural) (Punjabi) Sir, I rise to support the amendment now before the House. It means that if any panchayat by a resolution confirmed by a majority of the adult male tax-payers of villages voting in a meeting prefers objection to the grant of the licence, it shall not be granted for the sale of any excisable articles in that village. On the other hand the Government is insisting on having two-third majority of the tax-payers for the stopping of grant of any licence for the excisable articles. In my opinion this attitude on the part of the Government is highly unjustified. Do they mean that unless and until two-thirds majority of the male tax-payers do not vote in favour of prohibition it should not be introduced? It is beyond my comprehension to think so. I think the Ministry has lost all sense of proportion.

Now the panchayats are being established to provide facilities to the villagers to settle their disputes and other matters concerning their villages. But I may tell them that liquor and other intoxicants more often than not lead to disputes and quarrels. As a matter of fact it is the mother of all evils. When people take liquor they become full of quarrel and offence. Even on slightest provocations they lose temper and jump at each others throats. In the circumstances I think even if a bear majority of the male tax-payers of a village vote in favour of objection to the grant of licence for excisable articles, it should not be granted.

Besides, I may point out that our Honourable Minister for Revenue is in the habit of professing that he is in favour of prohibition and even now the Honourable Minister for Public Works has also stated on the floor of the House that he is in favour of prohibition. If that is so, I fail to understand as to what prevents the Government from accepting this highly salutary amendment. I think the Ministers are afraid that if they introduced prohibition in the villages, they will lose the chance of securing votes in the next assembly elections as they did in the last (Laughter).

In the end I would again request the Honourable Minister in charge that this is a very salutary amendment and that if in any village a majority of the male tax-payers vote in favour of prohibition, no licence should be granted there for the sale of excisable articles. If it is accepted it will go a long way in decreasing the number of disputes and quarrels in the villages. With these remarks I support the amendment now before the House.

Munshi Hari Lal (South-Western Towns, General, Urban): Sir, the Honourable Minister has cited the old Village Panchayat Act that was passed in 1921 when the Montague-Chelmsford Reforms were just introduced in this province. Eighteen years after we are now under provincial autonomy. The political conditions in the Punjab and elsewhere have changed. Thousands of people courted imprisonment on the ground of prohibition and for the reason that there should be a stoppage of the sale of liquor in this province. My honourable friends who are adorning the official benches are here on account of the sacrifices of these people. When an Ordinance was issued, in 1930, about fifteen thousand persons were jailed as they had picketed the liquor shops. My honourable friends opposite must be fully aware of it. After the lapse of 18 years we are told that we must stick to the old provision of 'two-thirds' and should not make any advance, as if provincial autonomy has not been introduced; as if the new Government of India Act has not come into force; as if we have not recognized on the floor of this House that there should be prohibition introduced in a part of the province. Resolution was passed and the Govt. have thereby recognized this principle but when the question of enforcing that principle comes, they shirk to enforce it and maintain that we should stick to the old provision of "two-thirds." Sir, the amendment moved by my honourable friend is very simple and innocent. It is that if the majority of the tax-payers of the village decide that there should be no grant of licence for selling excisable article, the decision of the majority should prevail and command respect. The majority of "two-thirds" should better be reserved for the removal of Ministers. But here it is a reform which aims at the prevalence of healthy atmosphere in villages. It is to prohibit the sale of excisable articles in villages. It is to humanize the villagers. It is to save their children from being orphaned. It is to save them from misery. It is for these reasons that we are pressing that the decision of the majority should be respected. If the "two-thirds" majority is to remain there the hands of the Panchayat shall remain tied. It shall never be able to object to the grant of a licence. I strongly support the amendment and request the Honourable Minister to accept it.

Minister for Public Works : Sir, before you propose the amendment from the Chair, I must inform the honourable members opposite that I am prepared to accept the amendment and that the decision by a bare majority shall be sufficient.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That in sub-clause (1), line 8, the words "two-thirds" be omitted.

The motion was carried.

Munshi Hari Lal : I move—

That in sub-clause (1), line 8, the word "male" be deleted.

This clause relates to the power to object to the grant of a licence for the sale of any excisable article. Ladies are more affected. There may be ladies who may be holding land and thus be paying taxes. When their husbands, their fathers, and their brothers are found addicted to drink and intoxicants, it is they who are mostly affected. Why should not the females have a right or franchise to vote against the grant of a licence. Why are they excluding females? If they satisfy the conditions, that is, if they are tax-payers, if they pay land revenue, why should they not have a voice in the matter and why should they not come in and protest? The word "male" as it stands only gives right to one sex and not to every tax-payer. Why this discrimination when the tax-payer is a female. I, therefore, want that the word "male" should be deleted and it should read, "majority of the adult tax-payers of the village."

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in sub-clause (1), line 8, the word "male" be deleted.

Minister of Public Works : I oppose the amendment. I would not like to enter into the arguments but I think that the last amendment that we have accepted makes the position clear. The conditions in the villages are such that I feel that at this stage it will be wise for the honourable member to accept my suggestion and not to press the amendment.

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri : I think the Honourable Minister of Public Works is unnecessarily nervous. If the amendment is accepted, it would not at all affect the electorate nor would it cause any unnecessary fuss in the village. You will be pleased to observe, Sir, that as the clause stands, it creates an unnecessarily invidious distinction against one sex. In the twentieth century and in the year 1939 it is outrageous to suggest that women should be excluded from participation in such matters. Women have got votes on the same conditions as men so far as the provincial legislatures are concerned and similarly in other legislative bodies. Why should women be excluded from a matter which concerns only the village in which they are residing? The fear of the Honourable Minister seems to be that if he accepts the amendment, the result might be that a resolution of the panchayat, might be endorsed only by a majority of women and thus prevent him from giving licence in any particular village.

It is not every adult woman in the village who is going to get a vote but only the woman who is a tax-payer. We know that in villages the land stands in the names of males and there are very few women who have got votes either as payers of land revenue or as payers of haisyat tax or income-tax. Therefore, it only means an addition of a few more names. The addition of those persons would be a very healthy addition to an electorate which is to deal with the question of prohibition and local option. It is the poor wife or the poor mother who has got a complaint against her son or husband and it is very necessary that she may be able to approach another lady who is a tax-payer—because the lady affected may not be a tax-payer—for the exercise of local option. Therefore, I would request the Government that, unless they believe in the eighteenth or early nineteenth century ideals that women should not come into public life, and that they should have no concern with these matters, they should not deny these elementary rights to them. Some of the Honourable Ministers, I know, cherish these old world ideas but we sitting on this side of the House certainly believe that women should not be kept away from legitimate activities. No harm will be done to women or even to most orthodox sentiments if they come to vote in these matters especially when they already do so in assembly election. Therefore, I would request the Honourable Minister of Public Works to accept this amendment which would not at all change the colour of the electorate; it would only mean the addition in every village of a few more voters to the hundreds of other male voters. With these words I support the amendment.

Shrimati Raghbir Kaur (Amritsar, Sikh Women), (Punjab) : Sir the object of the amendment now before the House is that the women tax-payers should also be permitted to vote in the meeting convened by the Panchayat to consider the advisability of granting a licence for the sale of liquor or other intoxicants in the village. I am sure the honourable members are fully aware of the evils of these intoxicating articles. They also know full well that those people who are addicted to drinking do not even hesitate to sell the ornaments, utensils and other valuables of their wives. As a matter of fact it is the women who have to bear the brunt of the vicious habits of their husbands. It is a thousand pities that when the women ask their husbands to desist from taking to liquor or indulging in other intoxicants, the latter treat the former in a most inhuman and brutal manner. I am, therefore, of the opinion that the right of vote should be conferred upon the women so that they may be able to do their best in eradicating this pernicious evil from the villages.

(Sh. Raghbir Kaur)

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That in sub-clause (1), line 8, the word "male" be deleted.

The motion was lost.

Munshi Hari Lal : My object in giving notice of the amendment¹ was that according to the conception of economics revenue is not considered as tax. As I am now informed by the Honourable Minister that tax-payer would mean land-revenue-payer as well, I do not want to move my amendment.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural), (Urdu) : Sir, I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (1), line 9, for the word "tax-payers" the word "inhabitants" be substituted.

Sir, I would like to submit that no definition of tax-payer has been laid down in the provisions of this Bill. In view of this it would be very difficult to find out in a village meeting as to who is or is not a tax-payer of a particular type. Besides, I see no reason why this invidious distinction should be made between a tax-payer and a non-tax-payer in a matter which vitally and equally concerns both of them. This argument that the grant of a licence for the sale of intoxicants is the sole concern of a tax-payer and the non-tax-payer has nothing to do with it, does not find favour with me. I am of the opinion that every inhabitant of the village should have the right to vote in a village meeting convened to decide in favour or against the grant of a licence for the sale of intoxicating drugs or opening of a liquor shop. With these words I commend this amendment to the House for acceptance.

3 P.M.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in sub-clause (1), line 9, for the word "tax-payers" the word "inhabitants" be substituted.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi (Lyallpur and Jhang, General, Rural), (Urdu) : Sir, this amendment is necessary as a considerable part of the population in villages is landless and does not pay any direct tax. It is most desirable that if the policy of prohibition is to be introduced all the adult population in villages is consulted. Our Achhut brethren do not pay any tax although the majority of them are addicted to drink. It is essential to wean them from this habit. In these days there is a pronounced inclination to recognise adult franchise even for bigger Assemblies. The Government should not hesitate to accept adult franchise in a very limited sphere. The Unionist party claims to be strongly in favour of democracy but when the question of showing practical proof of their sympathy with democracy arises, they treat democracy as a bogey. With these words, I again emphasise that public opinion should be freely consulted in this matter. I hope the Honourable Minister will readily agree to this amendment.

¹That in sub-clause (1), line 9, for the word "tax-payers" the words "land revenue and tax-payers" be substituted.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in sub-clause (1), line 9, for the word "tax-payers" the word "inhabitants" be substituted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (1) as amended without the proviso stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

That in proviso to sub-clause (1), line 6, for the word "or" the word "and" be substituted.

Sir, according to this proviso, the Deputy Commissioner or the Collector can reject the recommendations of the Panchayat on two grounds; first, if he finds that illicit distillation within the village has been committed and second, if he finds that any section of the villagers has connived at such illicit distillation. The object of my amendment is that instead of the word "or," the word "and" should be put and then according to it the Collector shall have the power to reject the recommendations of the Panchayat provided that illicit distillation has been committed in the village and at the same time certain people in that village have connived at that illicit distillation. If we are going to accept the proviso as it stands, then in that case it is just possible that there may not be any prohibition in any village at all, because on mere suspicion from the excise officer that a section of the village has connived at illicit distillation, the Collector would refuse the recommendation of the Panchayat. There might be a clear proof as to the committing of the offence of illicit distillation, but there cannot be any clear proof of some person conniving at illicit distillation. It is for this reason that I move this amendment, so that the object of this clause might not be defeated simply by the excise officers, or by certain other goondas or by certain other interested persons who do not want the shop to be removed from that village. It would be in the interest of the Government and of the people as well if this amendment is accepted.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in proviso to sub-clause (1), line 6, for the word "or" the word "and" be substituted.

Minister for Public Works : Sir, I oppose the amendment.

Munshi Hari Lal (South-Western Towns, General, Urban) : Sir, the opposition is quite surprising. There is no reason given. As a matter of fact the Government has no reason at all to advance. Does the Government want to give the powers to the informant or the mukhbar of the excise officer? Any mukhbar might inform the excise people, "Look here, so and so is conniving at illicit distillation," and then the Collector, in order to replenish the Treasury of the Government, might order the grant of a licence. In that case the recommendations of the Panchayat will stand rejected. If two conditions exist side by side, the Collector will find that there is a check upon him for the grant of a licence. The proviso is an exception. The Panchayat may recommend against the grant of licence; the majority of the people may wish that there should be no licence; still the power is given to the Collector to grant the licence in spite of the will of the majority of tax-payers and of the wishes of the Panchayat. The Collector enjoys the power of over-riding the wishes of the people. We submit that the Collector's discretion or the Collector's power should be curtailed. It should also be limited. It should also be hedged round. The Government says, "No," and wants to confer wide powers upon Collectors. I submit that it is quite reasonable that the Government should accept this amendment and should not give the Collector the power of riding over the decision of the Panchayat and the wishes of the people. With these words I support the amendment.

[Munshi Hari Lal.]

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in proviso to sub-clause (1), line 6, for the word "or" the word "and" be substituted.

The motion was lost.

Lala Duni Chand : My amendment No. 34 will come first.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member's motion proposing omission of the whole proviso is not an amendment. I have more than once said that the deletion or omission of a clause is not an amendment.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi (Lyallpur and Jhang, General, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

That in proviso to sub-clause (1), line 8, for the words "three years" the words "one year" be substituted.

(Urdu) : Sir, as far as clause 25 is concerned I think it throws much light on the mentality of the present Ministry that professes to introduce prohibition in the province. It is said that they are in favour of introducing prohibition but whenever any occasion comes they hesitate doing so. And they try to leave room for people to indulge in drinking. Similarly when we see their halting attitude in this matter we cease to hope for the best any further. Supposing we take no objection to two-thirds majority of the adult male tax-payers then the Government has got another excuse namely illicit distillation. It is said in the proviso that if the Collector finds that illicit distillation within the village has been committed or connived at by any section of the residents of the village, such finding of the Collector shall have effect for three years from the date thereof. This shows how far this Government is sincere and serious in introducing prohibition in the province. If they are really serious in doing so which I doubt very much, I would submit that they should look to the Bombay Government which has sacrificed its revenue of one and a half crores of rupees, simply to introduce prohibition there, irrespective of the fact whether or not two-thirds majority is in agreement in doing so. But what is done here? In our Panchayat Bill there are at least three loopholes which discourage prohibition. My surprise knows no limits when I see that no serious efforts are being made by the Punjab Government which professes to be a Muslim League Government as well. Much is said when speeches in respect of prohibition are made so much so that references are made to late Sir Fazl-i-Husain. My submission is that if the present Government is not going to agree to our proposals they should encourage prohibition in the name of Islam at least. I want to point out that in the case of illicit distillation the offender should be given an exemplary punishment but our Government has provided in this clause that in case the Collector finds that illicit distillation within the village has been committed, a licence would be granted for the sale of liquor for three years. I, therefore, submit that this clause seems to be very strange and I am afraid the prestige of Panchayats will be at stake as far as this proviso is concerned because the final powers rest with the Collector. What to speak of three years period, even one year should not have been fixed in the clause. Anyhow, I consider one year period to be a lesser evil and therefore my amendment seeks that for the words "three years" the words "one year" be substituted. As a matter of fact the whole proviso seems to be redundant. Has the Government ever thought what would be the result of passing this proviso? The result will be that if a liquor shop is required in a Panchayat area and the licence has not been given, the people living in that area will start a private distillery and neighbouring villages will also follow suit. These are the defects which I wanted to point out.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That in proviso to sub-clause (1), line 8, for the words "three years" the words "one year" be substituted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That the proviso stand part of the clause.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) : Sir, I propose that the proviso to sub-clause (1) be omitted.

Before I proceed with my speech I should like to request the Honourable Minister for Public Works to accept this amendment in the same spirit in which he has accepted the preceding one. My amendment seeks the omission of the proviso as a whole. The position is that licence for the sale of any excisable articles can be granted at present. But the difficulty will arise when this Bill is passed. Then licence will not be granted if the majority so decides. I wonder why the Minister in charge has ignored the fact that Panchayats will not be so much powerful as to work independently. The Panchayats will have to work under the local authorities and therefore they will not have the courage to pass resolutions against the law of the land easily. And if at all a panchayat does so with the idea that prohibition would prove beneficial to the village the Deputy Commissioner has been given powers to over-ride its decision and he grants licence for the sale of any excisable articles in the village. My submission is that to give such powers to the Collector means only one thing, that is, whatever powers you give to the Panchayat with one hand they are taken away with the other. If smuggling takes place in a village it is up to the villagers to see whether they should pass such a resolution. I want to submit this much that the panchayats will deem it their duty to see that liquor and other excisable articles should not be illegally sold in the village and if at all they should be sold, they must be sold legally. On one hand if a Panchayat decides with a majority at its back that a liquor shop should not be opened in a village the Deputy Commissioner has been given powers to reject the decision of the Panchayat. In this way I think the prestige of Panchayats will be at stake. Apart from this the Panchayats will be in the know of the local affairs and the Deputy Commissioner on the other hand will not be enjoying this advantage. And if a person who has got access to the Deputy Commissioner makes a complaint to him to the effect that in such and such village illegal liquor is distilled and therefore a licence should be granted in order to start a liquor shop in that village while strictly speaking this is not the case what is to be done in such cases. In view of these considerations it does not seem equitable that the powers of panchayats should be decreased by adding this proviso to the clause under discussion. It is very natural that the Collector should be reluctant to do anything likely to cause a loss of income to the Government and, consequently, he will always be inclined to grant the licence. Therefore, to give the Collector this power will amount to only one thing, namely, whatever powers you give to the panchayat with one hand are taken away with the other. In view of these considerations I would say that since the Government has accepted the principle that the panchayat should be given some rights and powers in the matter of the grant of licence, it should not make those powers ineffective by means of this proviso.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) (Punjabi): Sir, some time back the Assembly passed a resolution recommending to the Government that prohibition should be introduced in some districts of the province. It was a very useful and laudable proposal. But we all know that nothing has so far been done to give it a practical shape. The Government which is never tired of advertising its solicitude for the welfare of the zamindars has not raised its little finger to give effect to this recommendation which is sure to do a lot of good to that community. But this provision of the Bill provides the Government with an opportunity to make a beginning in this direction. It is possible that it may encourage some panchayats to make use of their powers and pass resolutions to the effect that no licence should be granted for the sale of intoxicants in their villages. That will strengthen the hands of the Government. But if this proviso is retained and the Deputy Commissioner is given the power to ignore the decision of the people the whole clauses will become useless and meaningless. It is within my knowledge that in certain villages in the Ludhiana district the people were deadly against any intoxicants being sold in their villages; so much so that they refused to let any house to the licensee contractors. But the Deputy Commissioner himself went to these places and compelled the village officials to make arrangements for the residence and shops of the contractors.

It should also be remembered that if a shop is closed it does not affect the income of the Government alone. The pockets of the officials and contractors are also affected. They will, therefore, have no scruples in thwarting all attempts to save the people from the evil of intoxicants, and if this proviso is retained it is very likely that they would get some bottles of country-made liquor from some State and place them in some house in the village concerned to prove that illicit distillation is going on there. Again, they may get hold of some people to act as informers and depose that such and such a person has been carrying on illicit distillation with the connivance of two or three other villagers. That will be enough to justify the grant of a licence by the Deputy Commissioner. Thus if you do not omit this proviso you cannot expect to rid even a single village of this evil.

So far as illicit distillation is concerned let me make it clear that it shall continue to a certain extent in spite of all your efforts. Therefore, you should not use that as an excuse to put off the introduction of prohibition. You are free to make use of the law to punish the offenders. By all means send them to jails. Enrich your coffers with heavy fines if you so desire. But it is not desirable to act in such a way as would belie all your professions of sympathy with and solicitude for the welfare of the zamindar. With these words I request the Honourable Minister to accept the amendment.

Sardar Partab Singh (Amritsar South, Sikh, Rural) (Punjabi): I want to say only a few words with regard to this provision. You know that first of all a resolution has to be passed by the panchayat objecting to the grant of licence and then, to be effective, it has to be confirmed by a majority of the adult tax-payers. I think that should be enough and no such power as mentioned in the proviso should be given to the collector. You want to diffuse democratic ideas in the rural areas but if you retain this proviso you will be striking at the very root of democracy. It is an essential principle of democracy that the opinion of the voters should prevail and you should not do anything calculated to flout that opinion. To authorise the collector to over-ride the opinion of the voters and then to allow such an action to be effective for three years is really too much.

So far as illicit distillation is concerned there is no reason why you should punish the whole village for the crime of one or two persons. If there is illicit distillation it is not the villagers or the panchayat but the Excise Department that is to blame. This department can manage to place illicit liquor in the houses of the people and institute false cases against them. Then why can it not catch hold of those who really commit this offence? Surely it is the duty of the Government to check illicit distillation. With these words I support the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That the proviso to sub-clause (1) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) (Punjabi): Sir, I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (2), line 3, the words "other than opium" be omitted.

Now Sir, it has been accepted by the Government that if any panchayat, by a resolution confirmed by a majority of the adult male tax payers of the village voting in a meeting, prefers objection to the grant of the licence, in that case no licence should be issued for the sale of any excisable articles in that village. I may submit that even if any panchayat passes such a resolution, still licence for opium would certainly be issued for that village. Let me point out that if a licence for liquor is stopped but a licence for opium is granted, in that case the disease would not be rooted out completely which we want to do. Generally people object to the taking of liquor and other intoxicants either on account of religious grounds or on account of economic grounds or of health. But in the villages objection is taken to the opening of excise shop because such shops attract badmashes and notorious characters. When such people come there for the purpose of buying such things they also come to know from each other about the financial position of the people living in the village where such shops are generally situated. Naturally the result is that after getting this information they commit robberies and other notorious deeds. In the circumstances if in any village license for liquor is stopped but license for opium is granted, it would be meaningless to prohibit the former license. Because in this way the disease cannot be rooted out completely. Notorious people and bad characters will still come there on the pretext of buying opium. Therefore it is necessary that where the majority of people decide against the issuing of a license for opium there license for opium should not be issued so that strangers and bad characters should not come there on the pretext of buying opium. With these words I move my amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in sub-clause (2), line 3, the words, " other than Opium " be omitted.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi (Lyallpur and Jhang, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I wish to say a few words in support of the amendment now before the House because the parliamentary Secretary has just now remarked that it is a central subject and that the Punjab Government has nothing to do with it. So far as I am aware the manufacture of opium is controlled by the Government of India but Provincial Governments have been authorised to control its sale. If the matter is otherwise even then I think this is a matter which requires serious consideration on the part of the Government. I may also point out that when the Bombay Government introduced prohibition they along with liquor prohibited the taking of opium, bhang, charas and other such intoxicants of this nature. If they obtained a special sanction of the Government of India, there is no reason why the Punjab Government should not do the same. If the Government is prepared to assure us that they would get the necessary sanction then, in that case we are prepared to withdraw this amendment. Let me also point out that opium is even more dangerous than liquor because it slowly undermines the bodies of those people who are addicted to it. I fail to understand why Government is insisting on giving licenses for opium in villages where licenses for liquor will not be issued. The Government is very careless and in the intoxication of their majority they even do not deem it proper to give a reply to our amendments. I think that it is not only an insult to the whole House, but it is an insult to the whole province. I warn them that if they go on in this way some day they will have to bitterly pay for it. In conclusion I once again request them to either clear their position or if they have not properly studied the matter, let it be postponed and it can be decided later on. With these remarks I support the amendment now before the House.

Sardar Partab Singh (Amritsar South, Sikh, Rural) (Punjabi): Sir I rise to support the amendment now before the House. The reason for my doing so is that opium produces a very bad effect on those who are addicted to it. I would quote a specific example in support of my argument. All the honourable members are fully aware of the fact that the Chinese are addicted to this habit more than others. Now what is their condition? Those people are notorious for their laziness. Similarly if this curse of opium is not done away with here in the Punjab I am afraid that the people of this province would also lose some of their cherished qualifications. The Punjab is the sword arm of India and if this evil is not rooted out, it is very likely that its people would also lose their proud title. So in view of keeping the Panjabis fit and strong it is highly essential that the words "other than opium" be omitted.

Besides, the opium eaters when they do not find any money to buy it get into the habit of stealing utensils and other articles of the people in order to supply their needs. That is it indirectly encourages stealing. I, therefore, request the Government that if a majority of the adult male tax payers so desire, no license for opium should be issued. With these words I support the amendment now before the House.

Mr. Speaker : The question is :

That in sub-clause (2), line 3, the words 'other than opium' be omitted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is :

That sub-clause (2) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is :

That clause 25 as amended stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 26.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clauses (1) and (2) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural): I beg to move for leave—

That at the end of sub-clause (3), the following new paragraph be added :—

"The District Magistrate or the Sessions Judge shall dispose of in accordance with law such pending cases which are affected by such withdrawal notification."

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is :

That sub-clause (3) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is :

That clause 26 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 27.

Sardar Jogindar Singh Mann : I beg to move—

That in line 2, between the words "a" and "Panchayat", the word "special" be inserted.

Mr. Speaker : What is the meaning of the word 'special'? Does it mean particular or something else?

Sardar Jogindar Singh Mann : Yes, Sir, I mean particular.

Mr. Speaker : 'Special' would mean something else.

Sardar Jogindar Singh Mann : Then I would substitute the word 'particular' for the word 'special.'

Minister for Public Works : I have no objection to the word 'particular' being inserted.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That in line 2, between the words "a" and "Panchayat" the word "particular" be inserted.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi (Lyallpur and Jhang, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I beg to move—

That in line 8, between the words "cases" and "as" the words "other than of political character" be inserted.

Sir, clause 27 seeks to empower a panchayat to take cognisance of and to try criminal cases under sections 379 and 411 of the Indian Penal Code, where the value of the stolen property does not exceed Rs. 250 and such other classes of criminal cases as Government may direct. Now the object of the amendment is to make the meanings of the words 'all such criminal cases' clear and unequivocal. As a matter of fact we want that cases 'other than of political character' should be tried by the panchayats, otherwise there is every likelihood of the panchayats being used as a political weapon by the Government. Besides, experience of past years shows that the party in power has invariably tried to wreak its vengeance on its political opponents by making certain laws and rules. Similarly we have apprehensions that in panchayats also the party in power may not use the powers of trying all such criminal cases against their political opponents. I have, therefore, endeavoured to improve upon this section by bringing forward the amendment now before the House. I hope the Honourable Minister would see his way to accept it.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in line 8, between the words "cases" and "as", the words "other than of political character" be inserted.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : I must say that the honourable mover of this amendment has expressed unnecessary fears. If he will see the clause as it stands, he will find that sections 379 and 411 have been mentioned. Neither of these two sections have anything political about them. The word "political" has been discussed on the floor of the House many times and we have not been able to come to any clear definition. Anyhow these sections are not of a political nature. Besides no offences in which imprisonment is compulsory will be tried by any of these panchayats and all political offences under the Indian Penal Code are compulsorily punishable with imprisonment.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : What about section 108 ?

Minister : Probably you are referring to section 108 of the Criminal Procedure Code. I am referring to the Indian Penal Code. That has nothing to do with this. The fears expressed by him are unnecessary. The Panchayats have not come into existence and he is fearing ahead that they might use it as a political weapon. There is no idea whatever of using them as political weapons. There are sufficient arms in the legal armoury of the Government to take action if anybody acts against the law of the land. I, therefore, oppose the amendment.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma (Kangra West, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I do not agree with the observations made by the Honourable Minister in regard to this clause. So far as the first portion of the clause, i.e., empowering of a panchayat to try criminal cases where the value of stolen property does not exceed Rs. 250 is concerned, we are in complete accord with it. But I fail to understand why it is being sought to confer upon the panchayats the powers to try such other classes of criminal cases as the Government may direct. This means that apart from the powers to try criminal cases relating to property offences under sections 379 and 411, Indian Penal Code, the panchayats are to be invested with wider powers to try other offences under the Indian Penal Code. The Honourable Minister has stated the sense of the section but I may point out that sense of a section is taken only when the letter of the law is not clear. We have, therefore, apprehensions that the powers given to panchayats would be used as a political weapon against other political parties. That is why we want that the criminal cases other than those relating to property offences, should be taken out of the jurisdiction of Panchayats. I am, therefore, of the opinion that the interpretation put by the Honourable Minister does not conform to our interpretation of the clause.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That in line 3, between the words "cases" and "as" the words "other than of political character" be inserted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That clause 27 as amended stand part of the Bill.

Rai Bahadur Mukand Lal Puri (Rawalpindi Division, General Rural) : Sir, you will observe that it is practically the substitution of the present machinery of the administration of justice, as exists in this province, by a new machinery. You have nowhere provided that these panchayat officers will have any judicial experience. (Minister for Public Works. There is no question of panchayat officers). I meant the members of the panchayats and I said that you have not anywhere laid down that these members of the panchayat will have any judicial experience, or that they will be men of any specified standard of ability or of education. Some of them may be elected to these Panchayats, and if so they will be elected as members of the Panchayat not on account of any particular ability or experience, but on account of the influence which they command in their ilqas. So long as you give to these Panchayats powers to administer local affairs on the sanitary and executive side; so long as you entrust to the members of the Panchayat the powers to settle petty disputes among the residents within the locality, it is a matter to which no legitimate objection can be taken. But the worst thing is that you propose to give these gentlemen powers, which in every civilized country are exercised by men specially trained for that work. You are certainly transgressing far beyond the object and the original intention of this Bill. If you will look at the clause as it has been proposed to be placed before the House, you will observe that—

Government may by notification empower a panchayat to take cognizance of and to try criminal cases under section 379 and 411 of the Indian Penal Code where the value of the stolen property does not exceed two hundred and fifty rupees

.....

Sir, you are giving very wide powers to the Panchayats. I submit that instead of thieves and receivers of stolen property being brought to book by being sentenced to substantial terms of imprisonment or by being given deterrent punishment, the small sentences given by Panchayats for serious offences of theft, etc., will encourage the local badmashes for whom deterrent punishment is absolutely necessary for the safety of the society. It is all right that the Panchayat takes upon itself the duty of deciding the disputes of ordinary nature, such as disputes of using harsh language or boundary disputes or similar petty disputes. But if you empower the Panchayats to deal with theft cases, thefts committed by the local badmashes, the result will be very bad, and the whole country-side will be victimized by these badmashes, I trust that this is not the intention of the honourable members either on this side of the House or on the opposite benches. This is not all. Kindly see what is further given in the original clause—

And such other classes of criminal cases as Government may direct, except any offence under the Indian Penal Code for which punishment of death, transportation or imprisonment is compulsory.

If you will study the Indian Penal Code you will find that there are very few offences for which punishment of imprisonment is compulsory. In most cases it has been laid down that a person may be punished with fine or imprisonment, or both and that the maximum imprisonment will extend to a particular period. For instance look at the punishment for theft under section 379, Indian Penal Code. It is punishable with three years imprisonment, with fine, or with both. Therefore the serious offences of theft should not be entrusted to the Panchayat. Similarly take the cases under Section 304, Indian Penal Code, culpable homicide not amounting to murder. The same punishment is provided under this section also. If the Government has any regard for the safety of the villagers and for good administration of justice, it should not give these wide powers to the Panchayat. Panchayats cannot deal effectively with local badmashes of whom they will be afraid. It is a retrograde step. My honourable friend the Minister for Public Works should prevent the terrorisation of the poor inhabitants of the villages by the more influential persons, like zaildars and lambardars. Sir, it is a matter of very great importance. It is immaterial whether you exercise local option by two-thirds majority, or whether you give in the matter of prohibition, the right of vote to tax-payers or to the adult inhabitants of the village; these are very trifling matters as compared with endangering the liberty and property of the poor villagers. You are substituting for the present judicial administration of this province a system which is not in vogue in any other province and which is fraught with danger and is against all notions of equity and justice. (Minister for Public Works: The real system of the land). I quite appreciate the remark which has been made by the Honourable Minister. I also recall to my mind a similar statement made by the Honourable Minister for Development, Sir Chhotu Ram. The system of administration, which the Britishers have introduced in this country, and which has held sway for such a long time, is a little above us according to their notions. I can appreciate that point of view, although I regret to say, I do not share it. I would like to see the British ideas of justice and particularly the British method of administering justice to be maintained in this province. We do not wish to revert to old world ideas. I, therefore, submit that the powers contemplated in the clause should not be entrusted to the members of the Panchayat.

4 P.M.

These powers are liable to be abused and the local badmashes, will not get deterrent punishment and will be encouraged and will terrorize the countryside. I think this is not what the Government wants.

Mr. Speaker: The question is—

That clause 27 as amended stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 28.

Munshi Hari Lal: I move—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the words "unless for reasons to be recorded in writing the Magistrate directs otherwise" be added.

There may be reasons under which it may not appear advisable to the magistrate to transfer a case to a panchayat. Some discretion should be given to the magistrate not to transfer the case for reasons to be recorded in writing. I may illustrate it by stating that the magistrate in a certain instance may come to know that the panchayat to whom the case is to go is interested in the matter or that the panchayat has got prejudice against one or the other party. In such a case the magistrate may exercise his discretion and may refuse to transfer the case. He should be allowed to use his discretion but in the order he should record his reasons for doing so. This is my amendment.

Mr. Speaker: Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the words "unless for reasons to be recorded in writing the Magistrate directs otherwise" be added.

Minister of Public Works: I oppose the amendment. Ample powers are provided in Sections 62 and 63 for the right of transfer of cases and stay of proceedings. If we put down this provision at this stage, attempt will be made to evade cases being sent to the panchayats and some court will be reluctant to part with the powers. So I oppose the amendment. There is no likelihood of any hardship.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma (Kangra West, General, Rural), (Urdu): Sir, as regards this matter the reason given by the Minister in charge is, that if these amendments are inserted the result will be nothing, and the Panchayats would be deprived of their magisterial powers, therefore he is not going to accept them. My submission is that Police as a matter of fact knows which magistrate is less competent as far as knowledge of law is concerned and they try their best to send their challans to him so that the case may end in conviction. No matter whether a case is strong or weak the police always try to get their cases convicted. This has been the behaviour of the Police for the last so many years. In view of these considerations, we proposed that legal training might be given to panches and sur-panches for some years so that they might judicially hear and decide the cases falling within their jurisdiction. But the Government opposed to this proposal as well. I am afraid when the Panchayats will have no experience of law how they would be able to understand legal points of a case.

The amendment was very simple and ordinary. It was to the effect that whenever a magistrate is of the opinion that it will not be desirable in the interest of justice to transfer such and such case to a Panchayat, it would not be necessary for him to transfer that case to Panchayat. It does not seem desirable and fair on the part of the Government to entrust the whole of the work to a magistrate. But my submission is that whenever he thinks that a Panchayat is competent enough as to hear a particular criminal case he should use his discretion and hence transfer that case to the Panchayat.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the words " unless for reasons to be recorded in writing the Magistrate directs otherwise " be added.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (1) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (2) stand part of the clause

The motion was carried.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad (Southern Towns, Muhammadans, Urban) (Urdu) : I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (3), lines 4-5, the words " or to another court subordinate to him " be omitted.

As you are aware the object of the Panchayat Act is to improve the conditions of the people of countryside by investing them with local powers. I, therefore, submit that if powers are to be given to District Magistrate to transfer any criminal case from a panchayat to a court subordinate to him, the very object of the Bill will be defeated. With this view, I have moved this amendment and I hope it will not be opposed by the Minister-in charge.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in sub-clause (3), lines 4-5, the words " or to another court subordinate to him " be omitted.

Minister of Public Works : If the amendment is accepted, the result will be that the District Magistrate or the Sub-Divisional Magistrate will have no power left with him to transfer a case, pending in a panchayat, to a court. He would be able to transfer it from one panchayat to another, but he would not be able to do so to a regular court. I, as one who wishes the panchayats to thrive, am in agreement with the wish that the time may come when panchayats may be competent to try all cases. The position at present is that there may be a class of cases that the District Magistrate may find it essential to take out of the purview of the panchayat, and may transfer it to the courts. It is a safeguard kept for communal cases or cases of such importance which another adjoining Panchayat within that atmosphere may not be able to try. In such extreme circumstances it should be open to the District Magistrate to take them away from the Panchayat and send them to a court of law. But we will see that this power is exercised in exceptional cases and that it does not in any way defeat the purpose of the Panchayats or curtail their powers. With this assurance, I hope, my honourable friend will not press this amendment.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad (Urdu): Sir, as I submitted while moving this amendment, if the cases are allowed to be transferred from Panchayats to courts, the real object of this Bill will be defeated and the panchayats will become a mere farce. If you authorise the District Magistrate to transfer cases to the courts, certain parties will make it a point to approach him on the slightest pretext and thus indirectly strike at the root of this measure. This provision will serve as an encouragement to them to do so. I would, therefore, press this motion with all the emphasis at my command and request the Honourable Minister to accept it. Let the cases be transferred from one panchayat to another but not to a court. It may be said that this practice may give rise to some heart burning or rivalry between the panchayats. But let me submit that since no question of heart burning or rivalry arises between the courts where cases are daily being transferred from one court to another, there is no reason why it should be otherwise in the case of panchayats.

Mr. Speaker The question is—

That in sub-clause (3), lines 4-5, the words "or to another court subordinate to him" be omitted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (3) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 28 stand part of the Bill.

Clause 29.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 29 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 80.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (1), lines 9-10, the words "and shall.....Schedule III" be deleted.

One of the basic principles of this Bill is that those people who will have to go to panchayats for getting their disputes settled, should not be required to pay any fees for the instituting of cases there. But in this section it is provided that a person who wishes to institute any case before any panchayat, shall have to pay fees the amount of which will be decided by Government. What I want is that anybody who wishes to institute a civil or a criminal case before any panchayat should not be asked to pay any fees whatsoever.

Besides, I may point out that a tradition had been handed down to us from our forefathers that everybody should have the right to go to panchayats for settling his disputes and that he should not require to pay any fees for it. I wish to keep up the old tradition and I hope Government will do all that lies in their power to give effect to this tradition and that they will not ask the people to pay any fees for instituting cases before panchayats. With these words I move my amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in sub-clause (1), lines 9-10, the words "and shall..... Schedule III" be deleted.

Munshi Hari Lal (South-Western Towns, General, Urban) : Sir, the object of the Panchayat Bill is that a person, who is aggrieved, should go to a Panch or to the Panchayat and obtain a speedy justice from their hands. But there is one anomaly in it. At the end of this Bill we have got a Schedule of offences which are cognizable by a Panchayat. In Schedule III, there are offences which are ordinarily cognizable under the Criminal Procedure Code and against which an aggrieved in the event of his preferring a complaint to a magistrate, is not required to pay any court-fee whatsoever.

Minister for Public Works : He has to pay many more fees.

Munshi Hari Lal : He may be paying many more fees. He may be corrupting the judicial moharrir, he may be giving something to the chap-rasi, etc. I may convince the Honourable Minister that these things will go on even under the Panchayat rule.

Minister for Public Works : I hope not.

Munshi Hari Lal : It is a pious hope—a hope of the present Unionist Government which is incapable of realisation and which, as it is, will not be realised. The whole administration from top to bottom is rotten and as the Government does not see to the eradication of the evils that are rampant, these evils will creep into the Panchayat. These are lingering evils and they will remain so unless the system of administration is radically changed. What I submit is that if I go to a magistrate and prefer a complaint for an offence which is cognizable, I have not to pay any court-fee whatsoever. But if I go to a panchayat, I have to pay a court-fee which may be prescribed by the Government. Is this (not an) anomaly? Such a provision will not be an improvement in the Bill and will not be providing facilities to the aggrieved to seek justice. The object of the Panchayat Bill is to provide facilities so that people should freely go and complain to the panches and should seek redress for their grievances. Why impose a fine upon them and why should they pay a fee when they go and complain to the panchayat? Why should they not go to the magistrate and complain the matter to him and place their complaint before him and ask the magistrate under section 28 to transfer it to the panchayat? In that case they can evade the payment. In any cognizable offence the complainant will go to the magistrate and prefer the complaint without any fee whatsoever. I submit that there are so many anomalies in the retention of the fees. These should be looked into by the honourable Minister in charge of the Bill. He should be liberal enough to remit the fee.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma (Kangra West, General, Rural), (Urdu): Sir, I think perhaps the Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill is not aware that under the existing law no fee is charged for making a complaint in case of cognizable offences. It is a pity that contrary to this practice it has been provided in this clause that the complainant shall have to pay a fee of annas 8, as prescribed in schedule III of the Act, if he wishes to institute a criminal case. The professed aim of the Bill in establishing the panchayats is to help the poor people of rural areas in getting their grievances redressed without incurring much expenses. But here by levying a fee of annas eight for making a complaint for instituting a criminal case the Government intend to make the panchayats money-making concerns. I may point out that the poor villagers would be hard hit by the imposition of this fee. I cannot help saying that the Honourable Minister who has a great dislike for the banias, is himself acting like a big bania. He is out to make these institutions commercial concerns.

Mr. Speaker: The honourable member is guilty of repetition.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma: Sir, I want to emphasise that the fee laid down in the clause would cause much hardship to the poor. Personally I do not mind if they enhance this fee of eight annas to one or two rupees. But they should look to the interests of the poor. They should shed off this bania mentality which they themselves profess to abhor so much. I, therefore, support the amendment under discussion.

Mr. Speaker: The question is—

SIXTH SESSION OF THE FIRST PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY

Tuesday, 5th December, 1939.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at 12 noon of the clock. Mr. Speaker in the chair.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

ENFORCEMENT OF PRINCES' PROTECTION ACT IN THE PUNJAB.

5392. Dr. Sant Ram Seth : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state whether it is a fact that Princes Protection Act was enforced in the Punjab in the month of July, 1939, if so, the reasons for its enforcement, the number of persons who received warning under this Act, the total number of persons arrested while the Act was in force and the total number of persons out of them who were convicted ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : Yes. The reasons leading to the enforcement of Princes' Protection Act in the Punjab are contained in the press communiqué, a copy of which is laid on the table. Orders under section 5 of the Indian States Protection Act, XI of 1934, were served on 8 persons. It is not in the public interest to give their names. No arrests were made.

COMMUNIQUE.

The Punjab Government have recently been disturbed by the growth in various districts in the province of movements directed against the administration of certain Indian States. The agitation sponsored by the Arya Samaj against the Hyderabad administration has been so well ventilated in the press and elsewhere that it would be superfluous to give details of its development and activities. But attacks have been levelled against other states besides Hyderabad. The Majlis-i-Ahrar has been interesting itself in Bahawalpur, and in a recent conference at Multan methods of helping the agitators in the State were discussed. Again Patiala State subjects, who are dissatisfied with certain decisions of the Patiala State Courts as regards tenancy rights, have been encouraged by political busy bodies in the Ludhiana district, with the result that recently a jatha marched through the Ferozepore, Ludhiana and Ambala districts, with the ostensible object of making representations to the Resident, Punjab States, in Simla. The grievances, if any, of these persons were no concern of residents in the Punjab; but this did not prevent certain of those residents from advising and supporting the jatha. In speeches delivered at political meetings in the Hissar district in the months of March and April, 1939, personal attacks were made on His Highness the Maharaja of Bikaner and no efforts were spared to bring the administration of that State into disrepute. Similarly, in a Lahore journal scandalous attacks have been made recently on the administration of Chamba State, and steps were taken to distribute a large number of copies of this journal gratis in the State with the obvious object of bringing the State Government into contempt.

2. The Punjab Government are fully sensible of their responsibilities to save the Governments of States in India from such organised attacks by residents in the Punjab. But apart from the embarrassment such attacks are bound to cause to the States concerned, this form of agitation has been found to involve grave dangers to the peace of the province itself. Experience shows that partisanship for or against any given State almost always assumes sooner or later a communal colour. Serious communal riots arising directly out of the Hyderabad agitation have already taken place in various parts of India and there has recently been one such riot in a Punjab district. Reports from several other districts show that by reason of the activities mentioned above communal bitterness has been dangerously intensified. Muslim opposition to the Hyderabad Satyagraha threatens grave consequences, as evidenced by a recent proposal to celebrate Hyderabad Day on June 23.

3. In these circumstances the Punjab Government consider it to be their duty to ensure that their officers have adequate powers to deal with any situation that may arise. They have decided, therefore, to bring sections 4 to 7 of the Indian States (Protection) Act, 1934, into force throughout the whole province for a period of one year. These sections will enable District Magistrates when the local situation demands to check while-speaking or to arrest jathas marching through areas where their presence is likely to intensify communal sentiment to danger point. It is permissible to hope that the powers which by notification are now to be conferred on District Magistrates may never have to be used; but in the circumstance explained Government are satisfied that the conferment of such powers is necessary not only in discharge of their responsibility to the States but also to ensure peace and tranquility within the Punjab.

COMPROMISE BETWEEN THE PUNJAB GOVERNMENT AND PUNJAB KISAN COMMITTEE.

*5393. Dr. Sant Ram Seth : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state whether it is a fact that some compromise has been effected between the Punjab Government and Punjab Kisan Committee; if so, what are the conditions of the compromise, (i) the total number of arrests during the Kisan agitation, (ii) the total number of deaths of Kisans in the Jail, (iii) the number of kisans who were placed in A and B Class after conviction and (iv) the total number of kisans released after the compromise?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : The attention of the honourable member is invited to the press communiqué issued by the Punjab Government on the 9th September, 1939.

(i) 2,108.

(ii) 4.

(iii) Class 'A'	1
Class 'B'	3

(iv) 1,145 apart from those released in the normal course.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : May I know the number of prisoners who died in the jail?

Parliamentary Secretary : Four.

Dr. Sant Ram Seth : May I know from which disease they died?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice of that.

Lala Duni Chand : Were any reservations made in regard to the release of Kisan prisoners when the compromise was arrived at?

Parliamentary Secretary : There was no question of a compromise. The communiqué issued by the Government stated that except for those who were ring-leaders the case of others was being sympathetically considered by Government.

Lala Duni Chand : What are the grounds for making this differentiation between those who have been released and those who are still in jail?

Parliamentary Secretary : Innocent people deserve different treatment from that given to malicious people.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : What is the number of the rest of them who are in jail at present?

Parliamentary Secretary : That question is not included in this particular question, but if my honourable friend wants that information and gives notice of it I shall be glad to answer it.

RETIREMENT OF GOVERNMENT SERVANTS AFTER 25 YEARS OF SERVICE.

5394. Dr. Sant Ram Seth : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state whether it is a fact that a circular has recently been issued by the Punjab Government to all the departments that every Government servant should retire from Government after completing 25 years service whether he may or may not have then attained the age of 55 years, if so, whether this circular is based on the recommendations made by the Unemployment Committee in its report?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : The reply to the first portion of the question is in the negative and the latter portion of the question does not arise.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if any extensions are being granted to those who have already served up to the age of 55?

Parliamentary Secretary : In very exceptional cases.

Lala Duni Chand : On the one side the policy of the Government appears to be that all those who have served for 25 years should be granted pension and made to retire, and on the other hand certain extensions have been made or are being made. How does Government reconcile the contradictory policy?

Parliamentary Secretary : No definite policy has so far been decided upon, but the question will come up for consideration along with the report of the Retrenchment Committee. After an expression of opinion by the House, Government will decide later as to what they intend to do in the matter.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : I want to know whether the bad reputation of a Government servant is taken into consideration when he attains the age of 55 at the time of retirement.

Parliamentary Secretary : If my honourable friend specifies what kind of bad reputation he means, I shall be able to give him an answer.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Reputation for corruption.

Parliamentary Secretary : So far as reputation for corruption is concerned, the policy of Government is to treat all the cases with as much severity as the circumstances of the case demand.

URDU, HINDI, GURMUKHI AND ENGLISH DAILIES, WEEKLIES AND MONTHLIES PUBLISHED IN THE PUNJAB.

5420. Master Kabul Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state the number of Urdu, Hindi, Gurmukhi and English dailies, weeklies and monthlies published in the Punjab together with the names of the district from where these are published, the language in which they are printed, the dates when they were first brought out and their circulation and the names of their present editors?

Parliamentary Secretary (Khan Bahadur Mian Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana): The attention of the honourable member is invited to answer given to parts (a) and (b) of the Assembly question No. *18 printed at page 247 of Debates of the Punjab Legislative Assembly, Volume I.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: Has there been no addition to that list since then?

Parliamentary Secretary: It is immaterial, but if he insists on this particular information I would like to have notice of that question.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: The notice is already there.

ARRESTS UNDER DEFENCE OF INDIA ACT.

5475. Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan: Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of arrests under the Defence of India Act made in Ludhiana district in the month of August and September, 1939;
- (b) whether the persons arrested were tried in courts and if so, the result of the trial in each case and the term during which trial in each case was concluded;
- (c) whether it is a fact that the accused in each of the aforesaid cases did not cross-examine the prosecution witnesses and did not offer any defence and if so, whether it has been ascertained why defence was not offered by them?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood): (a) There were two arrests under the Defence of India Rules in September after the promulgation of the Defence of India Ordinance which took place on September the 3rd so that no arrests under the Ordinance were possible in August.

(b) Yes. One person was arrested on the 22nd September, 1939, and the case against him is still pending in court. The other was arrested on the 30th September, 1939, and convicted and sentenced to two years' R. I. on the 11th October, 1939.

(c) The line taken by an accused person in defending himself is a matter for himself or his legal adviser, and it is not for Government to inquire into his reasons.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi: How many arrests were made on the 3rd September?

Parliamentary Secretary: I should like to have notice of that question.

Lala Duni Chand: Will Government be pleased to accept our warm congratulations on those arrests? (Laughter).

Mr. Speaker: Order, order.

Lala Duni Chand: Is it a fact that the number of those arrests exceeds the total number of arrests made in all other provinces?

Parliamentary Secretary: I am not aware of that, but if persons in one province more than in any other take it into their head to defy the provisions of the law, they must accordingly be treated.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Has Government ever considered the reasons as to why there have been so many arrests in this particular province ?

Parliamentary Secretary : That answer should come primarily from my honourable friends opposite.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Do Government accept the inference that the rule in the Punjab is a repressive one and that civil liberties are very much curtailed ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

ARRESTS UNDER DEFENCE OF INDIA ACT.

5476. Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state if persons arrested so far in the Ludhiana district under the Defence of India Act belonged to any particular political organization ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : It is not for Government officials to ascertain to what political organisation arrested persons profess to belong.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Has it come to the notice of Government that the Ahrars who have been arrested under the Defence of India Act have been arrested as a result of the challenge thrown out by the Honourable Premier ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No, Sir.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is there any party rivalry behind the arrests of these Ahrars ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I repudiate that allegation most emphatically.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is there anything wrong particularly with the Ahrars ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The honourable member may address that question to the leaders of the movement.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Have any instructions been issued to the effect that the Ahrars should be subjected to repression ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Nothing of the kind. Certain Ahrar leaders decided to court arrests for various reasons under the Defence of India Ordinance by speaking against recruitment. Those particular persons had obviously to get what they deserved under the law.

Sardar Hari Singh : May I know whether it is a fact that on the occasion of the recent bye-elections to the Assembly in Amritsar, the Honourable Premier threw out a challenge to the Ahrars to state the reasons in support of the anti-recruitment issue and whether in response to the challenge of the Premier the Ahrars gave arguments in support of the anti-recruitment issue and they were consequently arrested ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I think this question does not directly arise out of the main question. But I would be delighted to go out of my way, if it is permissible, to meet my honourable friend opposite. I am not here to quote the exact words from the speech of the Honourable Premier.

(Mir Maqbool Mahmood.)

on the occasion. I happened to be present then and so far as I can recollect, what he did was to give certain reasons why it was in the interests of all patriotic Indians to contribute towards the defence of their country whatever they could at this stage. He further said that those who were opposed to that were in his opinion not the best friends of the motherland. Apart from that I would submit that whatever insinuations there are in the question, it does not lie in the mouth of anybody to say that that is a reason for defying the law.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether recruitment is being done in the Ludhiana district ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What I want to ask is whether recruitment operations are in progress in those districts where these arrests are being made.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Is it a fact that these Ahrar leaders are prosecuted and persecuted for the simple reason that the Punjab Muslims attend in large numbers the public meetings addressed by them ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I strongly repudiate the insinuation in the question. It is not so and the result of the bye-elections is the best reply.

ARRESTS UNDER DEFENCE OF INDIA ACT.

5497. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the date of promulgation of Defence of India Ordinance, and the dates of its publication in the gazette and in the Punjab Government Gazette, separately ;
- (b) the number, districtwise, of persons arrested under the Defence of India Act for speeches made by them between 3rd to 10th September, 1939 ;
- (c) whether any warning was issued regarding violation of this law by the Honourable Premier through a press communiqué, if so, whether a copy of that warning will be laid on the table of the House ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : I regret that the answer to this question is not yet ready.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the number of arrests so very large that it has not been possible to collect the requisite information ?

Parliamentary Secretary : That information has been called for.

B.AS. AND F.AS. BELONGING TO SCHEDULED CASTES APPOINTED TO GAZETTED POSTS.

5502. Chaudhri Faqir Chand : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state the number of those B.As. and F.As. belonging to the scheduled castes in the Punjab who have been appointed to gazetted posts under the present Government ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood): I regret that I cannot undertake to collect this information as its collection would entail time and labour out of all proportion to the advantage to be gained therefrom.

Lala Duni Chand: Is it because the number of B. As. and F. As. belonging to the scheduled castes in the Punjab are too many or is it because the appointments held by these are too many?

Mr. Speaker: Strictly speaking, the Parliamentary Secretary's answer amounts to saying that it is not in the public interest to answer the question. Consequently I refuse to allow any supplementary questions.

Lala Duni Chand: I think the Parliamentary Secretary should thank the Honourable Speaker.

GOVERNMENT SERVANTS AND KHAKSAR MOVEMENT.

5506. Chaudhri Kartar Singh: Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that the restrictions imposed under rule 20 of the Government Servants' Conduct Rules on Government servants joining the Khaksar movement have now been removed and that they have been permitted to join the movement if any one of them so desires;

(b) if answer to (a) above be in the affirmative, the reasons for the departure from the previous practice?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood): Rule 20 of the Government Servants Conduct Rules applies to all political bodies, and no specific instructions under it were necessary by Government to make it applicable to the Khaksar movement. The ordinary rule is quite clear, and consequently there was never any necessity to issue special instructions, and the question of rescinding such instructions therefore does not arise.

ARREST OF MESSRS. INDAR SINGH, BIKRAMJIT SINGH AND OTHER CONGRESS WORKERS OF GUJRANWALA.

5508. Chaudhri Krishna Gopal Dutt: Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) the date on which Messrs. Indar Singh, Bikramjit Singh, Maulvi Abdul Sattar and Trilok Singh Gulshan, Congress Workers of Gujranwala, were arrested;

(b) the nature of charge against them;

(c) the date on which they delivered the speeches which led to their arrest?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood):

(a) (1) Bikramjit Singh	} 25th September, 1939.
(2) Indar Singh
(3) M. Abdul Sattar	} 28th September, 1939.
(4) Tirlok Singh Gulshan

(Mir Maqbool Mahmood.)

(b) For delivering speeches calculated to prejudice the successful prosecution of the war in contravention of rule 38 of the Defence of India Rules.

(c) On the evening of the 3rd September, 1939. It may be mentioned for the information of the honourable member that the cases against all the four accused were withdrawn and the accused discharged by the District Magistrate, Gujranwala.

NOTICE SERVED UNDER DEFENCE OF INDIA RULES ON CONGRESS WORKERS AT JAHANIAN.

5512. Munshi Hari Lal : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether any notices have lately been served under the Defence of India Rules on Congress Workers at Jahanian, district Multan ;

(b) if the answer to (a) above be in the affirmative, the number of such notices and the names of the persons so served and the terms of these notices ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) No.

(b) Does not arise.

PUBLISHING OF DEFENCE OF INDIA ORDINANCE AND RULES IN Government of India Gazette (EXTRAORDINARY).

5513. Munshi Hari Lal : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether the Government is aware that the Defence of India Ordinance and the Rules were published in the Government of India Gazette (Extraordinary) on 3rd September, 1939 ;

(b) whether or not it is a fact that a number of Congress Workers have been arrested in the Punjab for making speeches on 3rd September, 1939, alleged to be offending against the Ordinance ; if so, how many such arrests were made and whether any conviction has followed ; and if so, the number of persons convicted and the term of sentence of each one of them ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) Yes.

(b) Six persons were arrested as a result of the speeches made on the 3rd of September, 1939. Their political creeds are not known to Government. One person was convicted and sentenced to one year's rigorous imprisonment.

Sardar Hari Singh : At what hour was the ordinance issued ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice of that question.

Sardar Hari Singh : On what date was the issue of the Government Gazette containing the ordinance received by the Punjab Government ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am not sure of the exact date. I require notice.

Sardar Hari Singh : Is it true that it was received on the 3rd of September ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I think so. but I would like to have notice of that question for a more definite answer.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : What action does Government propose to take in regard to those persons who were arrested on the 3rd of September in view of the statement of the Honourable Premier on the floor of this House that if there had been any cases tried for speeches made on the 3rd of September they would be withdrawn ?

Parliamentary Secretary : This question does not arise out of this specific question. It is a request for action. But in spite of it, if the honourable member would take up that question with the Honourable Premier he will be in a position to throw more light in the matter.

Munshi Hari Lal : May I know whether this ordinance was issued after the declaration or before the declaration of war ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have no definite information. I should like to have notice of this question.

Sardar Hari Singh : May I know whether the Parliamentary Secretary is aware of the fact that this ordinance promulgated in the Gazette of the 3rd of September was not known to the district authorities in the Punjab till the 8th September and yet action was taken against speakers on the basis of speeches made on days when even the district authorities themselves were not aware of the provisions of this ordinance ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am sure that my honourable friend does not contend that ignorance of law is an excuse by itself. But if there are any specific cases of speeches having been delivered before the promulgation of the ordinance to which he would invite the attention of the Government, they will receive the necessary consideration.

Sardar Hari Singh : Is it not the duty of the Government before it takes action against persons to see that the promulgation of the ordinance has been made sufficiently known to the people especially in the countryside ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Publication in the Gazette is the usual course. If my honourable friend has any other specific suggestion to give in this connection Government might consider it for the future.

Sardar Hari Singh : May I know if it is not the general practice that a special and urgent legislation is made known to the people in the villages by beat of drum, so that people may not make any mistake ?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know if the Parliamentary Secretary feels that the principle 'ignorance of law is no excuse' is to be applied even to cases where the speeches were made on the 3rd of September when the law was not promulgated ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already stated that if there are any cases based on speeches made before the law was promulgated—though I do not say whether there are or are not any such cases—Government would consider them if specific cases are brought to its notice.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know whether the Parliamentary Secretary can give me the time of the speeches made on the 3rd for which six persons were arrested and also the time of the promulgation of the Ordinance?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice.

Munshi Hari Lal : Was this ordinance issued from Simla or Delhi? What place was it published from?

Premier : It was published in the Gazette Extraordinary on the 3rd.

Munshi Hari Lal : What was the place from which this Gazette Extraordinary was issued? Before giving a reply will you kindly read part (a) of the question? I want to know the place from which this Gazette issued.

Premier : My honourable friend is a lawyer of some repute—

Munshi Hari Lal : I am not here as a lawyer but as a member.

Premier : My honourable friend ought to know that the Gazette issues from the headquarters of the Government.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know whether the Government thinks that a man should know all the laws as soon as they are promulgated or even as soon as the Government thinks of promulgating such laws?

Premier : Is my honourable friend quite certain that everybody in this province knows all the sections of the Indian Penal Code?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : While people were arrested when the law had not yet been promulgated and when even after promulgation people had not known of it why should not ignorance be an excuse?

Premier : The same principle applies to other laws.

ANTI-CORRUPTION DEPARTMENT.

5522. Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state the details of the work done so far by the Anti-Corruption Department established by the Government to stamp out corruption from the various departments under them?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : A reference is invited to the reply given a few days ago to question *5232.¹

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Has the Government ever considered the insufficiency of the staff in this department?

Premier : Government has considered this question but Government has to devise what I might call a judicious means so as not to put too much burden on the provincial exchequer.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether this department acts on its own initiative or on the receipt of complaints?

Premier : Heads of departments send complaints to this department.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Are complaints from the public also entertained?

Premier : Yes.

Sardar Hari Singh : Have the Government reviewed the working of this department and are they satisfied with it ?

Premier : I am perfectly satisfied with its working and I wish there were more money to increase the staff.

Sardar Hari Singh : May I request the Honourable Premier to let the House know the various aspects of the modus operandi of this department and how it works ?

Premier : My honourable friend has probably forgotten that we published a communiqué and a copy of it was placed on the table of the House. He might refresh his memory by a reference to it.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Has the Government issued any special instructions to the department to deal with the cases of gazetted officers only or whether they can take action against others also ?

Premier : They can take action against all Government servants, but since the number of officers in this department is restricted we have in the beginning suggested that only cases of importance should be taken up and as far as possible, cases of those people only who ordinarily escape the eye of the departmental heads or other agencies.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Can the Honourable Premier give the House the number of cases taken up by this department and investigated and enquired into ?

Premier : My honourable friend is referred to the answer to question No. 5232.¹

Sardar Hari Singh : May I ask whether he has received any communication or representation from the officer in charge of this department as to the handicaps that he has experienced ?

Mr. Speaker : That question does not arise out of the answer given by the honourable member.

Sardar Hari Singh : This supplementary question arises out of the details of the work done by the Department.

Mr. Speaker : Have any details been given ?

Sardar Hari Singh : May or may not be given.

Mr. Speaker : A supplementary question must arise out of the answer given to the original question. Facts stated in the original answer only may be further got explained by supplementary questions.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Will the Honourable Premier kindly state whether the number of cases investigated by the department is quite enough for this period ?

Mr. Speaker : That is a matter of opinion.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Where is this enquiry conducted at the headquarters or at the site ?

Premier : I have tried to explain that this enquiry is not held here but at the place of the officer concerned. As soon as the head of a department gets any information against an officer, that he is corrupt, the head of the department enquires into it and the subordinates also make confidential enquiries but when particulars are available and they proceed to find evidence, unfortunately respectable people who did not mind making a complaint are loathe to give evidence. In spite of that whatever has been done is quite enough even though they have not enough staff. Government is satisfied with the amount of work done.

Lala Duni Chand : Does there exist any arrangement according to which information of corruption cases pending in each district is given to this department ?

Mr. Speaker : The Honourable Premier has already replied to that question. Heads of departments concerned supply information to this department.

Lala Duni Chand : But how do they come to know of the cases that are pending. Most of these cases are pending in different districts. How do they come to know of them ?

Mr. Speaker : The Honourable Premier has explained that the Department, in charge of corruption, receives complaints against or information about corrupt officers from the heads of departments concerned and holds enquiries.

Khaksar Movement.

5526. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether Government are keeping watch on the Khaksar movement which has its centre in the province, if so, what are its aims and objects and what is the number of volunteers enrolled so far as Khaksars according to latest Government reports ;
- (b) how many rallies of these volunteers have taken place during this year in different places in the province ;
- (c) were any volunteers injured in these rallies and did such cases come to the notice of the Government ;
- (d) what is the estimate of the monthly expenses of this movement according to information collected by Government ;
- (e) who is financing the movement according to Government's information ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) Yes. The aims and objects of the movement have been published, and the honourable member is referred to the literature published by the leader of the movement. The number of volunteers enrolled is not known, but they are believed not to be so great as the public imagines, or recent press announcements lead people to think.

(b) The labour and expense of collecting this information is not commensurate with its value.

(c) A few cases in which Khaksars were injured during rallies have come to the notice of Government.

(d) Government has no information on the subject.

(e) The Khaksar organisation has announced its intention not to collect subscriptions and it is presumed that members themselves finance the movement.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know whether Government finds anything objectionable in the aims and objects as published by that organization ?

Parliamentary Secretary : As stated by the Honourable Premier yesterday in reply to a short notice question the aims and objects of this organization are primarily social reform.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it not one of the aim and object of the organization to establish Islamic supremacy in the country by replacing the Government of the day ?

Premier : As far as I remember, I speak subject to correction, because I saw it long ago, their aim and object is the revival of Islamic glory.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Read it first and then answer the question.

May I know what difficulty there was in collecting the information about the rallies that have taken place in the province? Were there so many rallies that it involved too much labour to collect the exact information ?

Premier : We cannot spend public money on collecting an information, which is of no use to anybody.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does the Honourable Premier mean to say that he does not keep a vigilant eye on the rallies that are being held in every part of the province ?

Premier : As already stated we keep a very vigilant eye on all organizations.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : How can he say as to how many rallies have taken place in all ?

Premier : It is not worth while to collect this information. There might have been small rallies in small villages.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the Honourable Premier aware that in these rallies at times more than five thousand and sometimes even more people take part ?

Premier : If the honourable member will refer me to a particular rally, I might be able to give an answer after collecting the information.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Did he not receive the Criminal Investigation Department reports concerning these rallies ?

Premier : I cannot divulge, what the Criminal Investigation Department has reported.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Obviously the Honourable Premier has got the information, but he does not want to give it to the House.

Premier : I have not got that information which the honourable member wants.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What actions were taken against the persons who injured several persons in these rallies? Were those injuries minor or of a serious nature?

Parliamentary Secretary : No other person was injured, except the volunteers. A few cases in which Khaksars were injured during rallies have come to the notice of Government.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Did the infliction of these injuries mean the cognizable offences or non-cognizable offences?

Premier : People sometimes hurt when they lit off fire works. That is not a cognizable offence.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it a fact that one person was also killed?

Parliamentary Secretary : We have no such information; but such cases have occurred in other provinces.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Does the Parliamentary Secretary mean to say that he has information that certain persons were killed in the rallies in other provinces?

Parliamentary Secretary : I cannot answer for other provinces.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it not a fact that one person was killed in one of the rallies?

Premier : We have no information. It was given in the papers that several Khaksars were shot down in Bulandshahr.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it a fact that in these rallies one party is called Kafir and the other Muslim and the Kafirs are invariably defeated; and the victorious Muslim party ask the defeated Kafir party to embrace Islam?

Premier : I am not aware of such nomenclatures. We have got no knowledge of these things.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Has this particular information not come to your knowledge?

Premier : No.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know from the Honourable Premier, whether he can tell on the floor of this House, why this Khaksar organization is considered to be a hauwa by my honourable friend opposite?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : It might prove to be a hauwa for the Unionist Government.

Is it a fact that the founder of the Khaksar movement has claimed in his writings that the number of Khaksars has reached the figure of four lakhs?

Mr. Speaker : How does this question arise from the answer given by the Parliamentary Secretary?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : It arises from Part (a) of the question, which is as follows :—

What is the number of volunteers enrolled so far as Khaksars according to latest Government reports.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is giving instead of seeking information.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Do Government consider the reports published in the Civil and Military Gazette and the Statesman that the number of these volunteers has gone up as high as 4 lakhs, correct or otherwise ?

Premier : My honourable friend did not listen to the answer to this question. It is stated very clearly that "the number of volunteers enrolled is not known, but they are believed not to be so great as the public imagines, or recent press announcements lead people to think."

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I want to know whether the figures mentioned by the founder of the organization and the Anglo-Indian newspapers are exaggerated ?

Premier : I am not in the confidence of the founder of this organization and the claim that they are large in number is not wholly correct.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What is according to your information the correct figure ?

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know whether the leaders of other similar political organizations, mentioned by the Honourable Premier yesterday, had the courage to publish their own creeds, aims and objects, like the leader of the Khaksar movement ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know whether the Government has got any information on the point that this organisation is being financed by outside agencies ?

Parliamentary Secretary : This has already been answered. The organisation has announced its intention not to collect subscriptions and it is presumed that the members themselves finance the movement.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Do the Government also hold that view ?

Mr. Speaker : Opinion cannot be asked.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know whether it is a fact as announced by the Khaksar leader, that their permanent fund has come to Rs. 19 lakhs ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have no auditors' report in my possession to answer that question. (Laughter).

Mr. Speaker : The next question.

DEMONSTRATIONS BY KHAKSARS.

5527. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether Government are aware of the fact that a feeling of uneasiness is growing in the province on account of the growing number of the Khaksars and also on account of the demonstrations these Khaksars have been holding all over the province during the last one or two years ;
- (b) what steps have Government taken to check this growing menace to the peace and tranquility of the province, if nothing has been done so far, what do Government propose to do now ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) Actually, the honourable member is in as good a position as I am to answer this part of the question. Government are aware that some sections of the public profess such uneasiness, and the holding of demonstrations by the Khaksars and other similar organisations does undoubtedly cause some feelings of bitterness.

(b) Measures to restrict the activities of all volunteer bodies are under consideration.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What action has the Government taken to check the increasing bitterness which results from the movements of the Khaksars ?

Premier : I can only say this much off hand that the Government has instructed local officers to suggest to the leaders of these movements that they should avoid going into the streets or coming into clash with other people.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Has the Honourable Premier been in correspondence or in contact with the Khaksar leader in any form ? Has this matter been discussed through some Parliamentary Secretary and with the Khaksar leader ?

Premier : What particular matter ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Has the question of this organisation assuming a dangerous form ever formed the subject matter of discussion between the Honourable Premier or his Parliamentary Secretary and the Khaksar leader ?

Premier : No.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the Honourable Premier prepared to-day to divulge the correspondence that took place between the Khaksar leader and himself a year ago ?

Premier : No correspondence between myself and the Khaksar leader took place.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Did any correspondence take place between the Parliamentary Secretary and the Khaksar leader ?

Premier : This question was answered yesterday.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the Honourable Premier now prepared to take the House into his confidence, now that this organisation has assumed a dangerous turn, and place before the House the agreement that had taken place between the Government and the Khaksar leader?

Nawab Sir Shah Nawaz Khan : The House does not consider this to be the case.

Premier : The honourable member has drawn certain inferences and on the basis of those inferences he wants me to answer certain questions. I refuse to do so.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Which inference drawn by me is wrong?

Premier : I am not prepared to reply to questions which are based on inferences whether they are right or wrong.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Is it not a fact that the Parliamentary Secretary, Mir Maqbool Mahmood, corrected a draft which was placed before him by the leader of the Khaksar movement? Let him get up and say 'yes' or 'no'. Is it not a fact that a draft of some sort of agreement was brought by the leader of this movement and it was revised by Mir Maqbool Mahmood and was finally passed? Is it not a fact?

Parliamentary Secretary : No draft was put up to me by the leader of Khaksar movement or ever corrected by me, but the leader of the Khaksar movement, along with certain other religious leaders, was informally consulted with regard to the proposed legislation concerning zakaat and auqaf in continuance of a conference which was held sometime back under the chairmanship of the Honourable Premier.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Is the Parliamentary Secretary aware of the fact that a clear and definite reference was made in one of the issues of the Al-Islah that he and the leader of the Khaksar movement considered a draft, it was revised by them and it was finally approved by the Parliamentary Secretary who has just answered the question?

Premier : What happened later?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Has it come to his notice?

Parliamentary Secretary : That particular cutting of the Al-Islah did not come to my notice but in my private capacity as Maqbool Mahmood. Allama Mashriqi wrote to me certain things about the impressions of the talk which I had with him when I saw him at his request in connection with the Muslim Auqaf Bill and then I wrote that he was mistaken and I did not talk to him in my capacity of being a Parliamentary Secretary, nor was an agreement reached.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Did Mir Maqbool Mahmood go to Ichhra in his private capacity or in the capacity of Parliamentary Secretary to discuss the question with him?

Parliamentary Secretary : It was long before Allama Mashriqi had become a person of interest of my honourable friend that I introduced a Bill called the Muslim Auqaf Bill which was circulated amongst Muslims and religious divines. Allama Mashriqi wrote to me that he wished to discuss that matter with me. It will interest my honourable friend that Allama Mashriqi and his father had been my neighbours for years at Amritsar and it was at Amritsar that he received education before he went to Europe.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : So he went to pay a courtesy call and did not go there to discuss.

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Parliamentary Secretary : I did not go to discuss any agreement.

Malik Barkat Ali : Will the Parliamentary Secretary be pleased to specify the section of the public which is alleged to be experiencing the uneasiness referred to in the question ?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Ahrars.

Malik Barkat Ali : I mean the specific section of the public which is alleged to be experiencing the feeling of uneasiness referred to in the question. I want to know this specific section of the public.

Premier : My honourable friend has just come in. If he had been here fifteen minutes ago, he would have found that there is great uneasiness in this House also.

Malik Barkat Ali : The Honourable Premier forgets that I have been here since the commencement of the question hour. (Laughter).

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Were any negotiations carried on between the Parliamentary Secretary and the Leader of the House and representatives of the Khaksar organisation in this Assembly Chamber and in his own room ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have more than once seen the leader of the Khaksar movement in the Assembly Chamber. At one meeting he showed me a letter from the honourable Leader of the Opposition expressing sympathy with the demands of the Khaksars.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Did he act there as Parliamentary Secretary or in his personal capacity ?

Parliamentary Secretary : He came to see me in office in connection with the Muslim Zakat and Aukaf Bills and in that connection he showed me a particular letter which he said he had received from the honourable member opposite. It is for him to say whether he showed me that letter as Parliamentary Secretary or as Mir Maqbool Mahmood.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Is he still in charge of the Aukaf Bill ? (Interruption).

Mr. Speaker : No interruption please.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I want to know whether the Parliamentary Secretary who was in charge of the Aukaf Bill last year is in charge of it this year as well.

Parliamentary Secretary : My honourable friend is aware that I introduced the Muslim Aukaf Bill last year and it is still under consideration.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Were the discussions which took place in this Assembly building concerned with the Auqaf Bill or with this movement? There were some interviews which took place in this building in his own room between the Leader of the Khaksar movement and himself and that one evening, on which an interview also had taken place, a question was put by Sardar Hari Singh which was replied to. I want to know whether that interview was in connection with the Khaksar movement or in connection with the Auqaf Bill?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is impossible for me to say on which particular date he came to see me and what particular topic was discussed nor can I say that he did not talk to me of things outside the Bills that I had under consideration, i. e., the Zakat Bill and the Auqaf Bill, when he came to see me.

Subedar-Major Raja Farman Ali Khan : May I know if this question is being asked out of sympathy with the United Provinces Government? So far as we know, our Government have nothing to complain against the Khaksars.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know what was the subject-matter of the letter written by the leader of the Opposition to the leader of the Khaksar movement?

Premier : So far as I recollect now the subject-matter of that letter was that the leader of the Opposition had whole-hearted sympathy with the demands made by the leader of the Khaksar movement and that he was prepared to help him in getting those demands from the Government.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : What is being said by the Honourable Premier is not correct.

Premier : I am afraid my honourable friend has probably forgotten what he actually wrote.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I do not forget it. I never wrote it.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know if the Government realises that the various quasi-military organizations that are cropping up in the province are the result of the latitude given to the Khaksar movement?

Mr. Speaker : I cannot allow it. This is a matter of opinion.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know whether the letter written by the leader of the Opposition was dated before the Khaksars took any action in the United Provinces? (Interruptions).

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Yesterday I put the following question to the Honourable Premier—

Is it a fact that Mir Maqbool Mahmood, the Parliamentary Secretary, was either deputed or voluntarily went to the headquarters of this movement at Ichhra and carried on negotiations with the leader of the movement with respect to the demands made by that leader?

The answer of the Premier was—

There is no question of any negotiations.

Then the question was—

Did he go there or not.

[Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang.]

The reply was—

Oh, yes. He went there but so far as the negotiations are concerned, there is no question. The leader asked for certain demands—those three demands—and he was asked to come and see the Parliamentary Secretary, so that the position could be explained to him. Some of them are outside the purview of Government for obvious reasons.

I ask the Parliamentary Secretary whether he is right or the Honourable Premier is right, so far as this question is concerned?

ADVOCATING VIOLENCE BY 'AL-ISLAH'.

*5528. Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether Government are aware of the fact that 'Al-Islah' the official organ of the Khaksars has been openly advocating violence for the furtherance of its objects ;

(b) has the attention of the Government been drawn particularly to the extracts that have been recently published by the United Provinces Government from the said paper, if so, what action has Government taken against the said paper ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) Government is aware that the Al-Islah has been publishing intemperate articles and vaguely threatening violence.

(b) It is not quite clear what extracts are referred to by the honourable member, but I may mention that the paper has been warned three times within the last few months.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I know whether the following particular extract has come to the notice of my honourable friend, the Parliamentary Secretary—

.....

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is reading from a newspaper.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : The Parliamentary Secretary says that the paper has used only intemperate language. I want to know whether this particular extract has come to his notice or not ?

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : On a point of order. May I know whether the honourable members are allowed to advance arguments while putting questions and to repeat speeches from certain papers ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I want to say that this is the paper which is preaching violence day in and day out ; while the Government are demanding securities from innocent nationalist papers they are doing nothing against this and yet claim that they are fair to all sections.

Mr. Speaker : Order, order. The honourable member should not make a speech.

PROSECUTIONS UNDER SECTIONS 293 AND 294 OF THE INDIAN PENAL CODE.

5532. Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of prosecutions, if any, made under sections 293 and 294 of Indian Penal Code relating to the publication or sale of obscene matters, etc., since the present Government assumed the charge of its office ;
- (b) whether it is a fact that almost daily in the newspapers, particularly the vernacular newspapers, in pamphlets and on walls advertisements of medicines relating to sexual diseases are published and exhibited in most obscene language ;
- (c) if the reply to (b) above be in the affirmative, the action, if any, taken against any such advertiser or publisher, if no action has ever been taken the reasons for the same ;
- (d) whether the Government now contemplates to take any action under the law in this connexion, if so, what, if not, why not ?

Parliamentary Secretary : (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : I regret that the answer to this question is not yet ready.

REMOVAL OF GRIEVANCES OF SCHEDULED CASTES.

5543. Lala Harnam Das : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that a representation was made to the Honourable Premier by certain members of the scheduled castes on 4th September, 1938, at the gate of Zamindara Conference held at Lyallpur putting forth their demands and ventilating their grievances on which they were assured that their demands would be favourably considered and their grievances redressed ;
- (b) whether it is also a fact that a resolution to the effect that steps be taken to bring the scheduled castes on the level of other advanced communities was passed under the presidentship of the Honourable Premier in the same conference at Lyallpur ;
- (c) if the answer to (a) and (b) above be in the affirmative, whether the matter has received the consideration of the Government so far and if not, why not ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) and (b) Yes.

(c) The attention of the honourable member is invited to the press note showing the steps taken for the improvement of the condition of the scheduled castes in the Punjab, which was published in various newspapers in March 1939. I lay a copy on the table.

Lala Harnam Das : Is the Parliamentary Secretary aware that in that representation the demand was made that the Achhuts be declared owners of those residential houses which they occupy ?

Mr. Speaker : May I ask the honourable member as to how the Government can do it, except by making the Achhuts owners of houses belonging to others ?

Lala Harnam Das : This question contains a reference to the demand which was made in that representation.

UPLIFT OF SCHEDULED CASTES.

What Punjab Government is doing.

Twofold Programme of Amelioration.

The efforts of the Punjab Government for the uplift of members of the scheduled castes divide themselves into two parts. The first part consists of measures intended to benefit these castes along with other poor and backward sections of society and the second part comprises measures of special help and protection for members of the scheduled castes as such.

To the first category belong, for instance, the Government's efforts to place schools, hospitals, good seed, pure drinking water, co-operative societies means of communication and other numerous facilities for physical, moral and economic self-advancement, within easy reach of the poor and the backward. To the same category belong the steps that have been taken to abolish begar (forcible exaction of labour) or to protect debtors from undue exploitation by money-lenders.

There is no doubt that members of the scheduled castes get their due share of the benefits accruing from all such measures. This has been further ensured by special measures which have been adopted for the benefit of these castes.

In the sphere of education, which is the basis of all progress, not only are public schools open to them, but private schools receiving grants-in-aid from the Government have also been warned that refusal to admit a member of the scheduled caste would make them liable to lose their grants. Further, as far as possible the recruitment of qualified candidates belonging to these castes to the various services of the Education Department is being encouraged. Children of these castes are exempt from the payment of fees in primary classes and are admitted at half the usual rate of fees in the secondary classes of Vernacular and Anglo-Vernacular Schools. The following scholarships are reserved for members of these castes :—

- (a) Thirty-seven high school scholarships. Of these 35 are of the value of Rs. 6 per mensem each and two, which are reserved for girls, of the value of Rs. 8 per mensem each.
- (b) Six scholarships (each of the value of Rs. 20 per mensem or Rs. 10 per mensem plus tuition fees) in the Intermediate and B.A. Classes. Subject to the vote of the Legislative Assembly, the number of these scholarships is being doubled with effect from April 1, 1939.
- (c) Two stipends of Rs. 20 per mensem each for those undergoing training at the Central Training College, Lahore. Subject to the vote of the Legislative Assembly, the number of these stipends is being doubled with effect from April 1, 1939.
- (d) Stipends of Rs. 5 per mensem each up to 20 in number for approved teachers receiving training in the Junior Vernacular and Senior Vernacular Classes.

Five per cent. of the admissions to the Senior Vernacular and Junior Vernacular Classes for men teachers are reserved for them.

Special watch is kept by the Education Department by means of statistical records over the progress of members of the depressed classes. According to these statistics the number of boys of these classes receiving education in recognised schools in the Punjab has risen from 23,483 in 1929 to 27,390 in 1938 and the number of girls from 465 to 1,283.

In Industrial Schools boys belonging to the scheduled castes are charged half the usual rate of fees. Three Silver Jubilee Scholarships in Industrial Schools have been reserved for them and all Chamars admitted to Class B of the Government Tanning Institute, Jullundur, are awarded a stipend of Rs. 10 per mensem each. This class was opened for the special benefit of Chamars. Members of the scheduled castes are also included among weavers who get stipends of an average value of Rs. 8 per mensem each in the Weaving Schools of the department and a scholarship of Rs. 15 per mensem each in Class C of the Government Demonstration Weaving factory, Shahdara. A number of stipends in Government Industrial and Technical Schools are also awarded on the basis of poverty. Boys belonging to scheduled castes generally secure a large share of them.

In the King Edward Medical College, Lahore, out of 40 seats allotted to "Hindus and others," one has been reserved for a member of the scheduled castes, provided a candidate with the minimum requisite qualifications is available. Two out of eight scholarships of Rs. 15 per mensem each, tenable for two years, have further been reserved for women of scheduled castes who received training as nurse dais.

In the Public Health Department the Government took in April, 1938, the important steps of issuing orders that members of the scheduled castes should enjoy the use of all public wells on the same terms as members of any other class. All Local Bodies were asked to put up notices to this effect on public wells in their charge. Subject to the vote of the Legislative Assembly, it is further proposed to spend Rs. 10,800 during the year 1939-40 on sinking wells for members of the scheduled castes where there are no public wells. This policy is to continue during future years.

In the sphere of Local Self-Government the Government has adopted a definite policy of nominating suitable members of the scheduled castes to Local Bodies where the numerical strength of these castes justifies their special representation. A recommendation has also been made to Local Bodies to treat the sweepers in their employ as permanent servants and give them the same privileges regarding leave and provident fund as other employees have.

The Co-operative Department is making special efforts to encourage the spirit of co-operative self-help among members of the scheduled castes. There are numerous co-operative societies, the membership of which is not restricted to a particular caste and members of the scheduled castes are freely admitted to them. Besides this, it was ascertained in December, 1938, that 383 co-operative societies, consisting exclusively of members of the scheduled castes, were functioning in the Province. These societies owned a total capital of Rs. 4,17,163 and had a total membership of well over 10,000.

Instructions have been issued in all Departments of the Government that the recruitment of members of scheduled castes to public services, including the police service, should be encouraged.

As far as the police service is concerned, the rules require that recruits shall be of good character, of certain minimum physical standards and of a type suitable for police service. There is no bar to the enrolment of members of any class or community as such. From time to time efforts have been made to obtain suitable recruits from amongst the scheduled castes through the Deputy Commissioner for Criminal Tribes and from other sources. Since October, 1937, sixteen members of the scheduled castes have been enlisted in the Police. One of them however, resigned because, according to himself, he was subjected to social ostracism, two were declared medically unfit and one failed to turn up for enrolment after his medical examination.

In the inferior establishment of the Public Works Department, Buildings and Roads Branch, the scheduled castes are adequately represented. Instructions have been issued to subordinate officers of this department that suitable members of the scheduled castes belonging to the agriculturist class should be given preference in appointments to the posts of Road Inspectors. The claims of members of these castes for clerical or superior posts will also be sympathetically considered, provided suitable candidates are forthcoming. The irrigated plantations of the Forest Department provide work for a fairly large number of members of the scheduled castes. Some Od families have settled down there as Beldars and residential quarters and medical aid are provided for them. In the Irrigation Branch of the Public Works Department the attention of Superintending Engineers has been drawn to the necessity of employing members of the scheduled castes in all cadres and a percentage of posts has been reserved for them, subject to candidates with the minimum requisite qualifications being available. Similarly in the Electricity Branch instructions have been issued that preference should be given to members of these castes in making appointments to clerical and non-technical posts. These efforts which all departments are making to improve the proportion of members of the scheduled castes in various cadres of public services are, however, being handicapped mainly by the dearth of qualified candidates belonging to these castes.

About 20,000 acres of land in the Lower Bari Doab Canal Colony were allotted to members of the "depressed classes." In this term were, however, included not only the scheduled castes, as defined in the Government of India (Scheduled Castes) Order of 1936, but also Indian Christians, most of whom would have belonged to the scheduled castes but for their conversion. About 8,000 acres of this land were allotted to these depressed class Christians, about 6,000 acres to Ods and the rest to other classes.

It may be mentioned that the Criminal Tribes Department of the Punjab Government is also making a valuable contribution to the uplift of members of the scheduled castes. Some of these castes are included in the Criminal Tribes which are the special charge of this Department and the efforts of the Departments are directed not only towards checking the hereditary criminal tendencies of the tribes concerned, but also towards educating their youths out of such tendencies and preparing them by means of suitable training to lead the lives of good and useful citizens. To mention only one aspect of the work that is being done under the auspices of the Department, over 8,000 boys and about 1,000 girls belonging to the Criminal Tribes are at present attending school. Over 100 members of these tribes have passed the Middle School or higher examinations, four of them being graduates and one a Bachelor of Laws.

APPOINTMENT OF EXTRA ASSISTANT COMMISSIONERS FROM THE ARAIN COMMUNITY.

5552. Shaikh Karamat Ali : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state the number of Extra Assistant Commissioners appointed direct or by promotion from the 'Arain' community of Lahore during the last ten years and if none belonging to this community has been so appointed, the action Government intends to take ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : In selecting candidates for the post of Extra Assistant Commissioner Government take into consideration the following factors---

- (i) their merit ;
- (ii) the religion they profess ;
- (iii) whether they are zamindars or non-zamindars.

Government do not take into consideration any other factor and do not propose to attempt the individious and difficult task of securing the representation in this or any other service of the different sub-divisions of the main communities.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Is it a fact that there are some districts and families in the Punjab which receive a very large, too large, a share of the gazetted posts whilst there are others whose claims are never considered by Government ? Is it fair ?

Premier : I should ask my honourable friend to say clearly what he wants. There are only two ways of making recruitment to these posts. First in view of the candidates' ability, that is, through competition. The other way is to fix the share of various communities, Hindus, Sikhs, Muslims and scheduled castes. Evidently my honourable friend likes the latter way. So far as the names recommended by the Public Services Commission are concerned the Government accepts its recommendations and orders the appointment of candidates irrespective of their castes, Gujar, Ahir, Arain, Pathan, Rajput and the like. Now if my friend wishes that shares in these posts should be fixed tahsilwise and districtwise, that, I am afraid is not possible.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : May I know why some districts get cent per cent opportunities while others do not get even a single post ? Is it suggested that all the inhabitants of the former districts are intellectually superior to every individual residing in the latter ?

Premier : This question had better be addressed to the Public Service Commission. I hope the commission acts in conformity with justice and equity. But if that is not the case I am not to blame.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know from the Premier whether any candidate from the Muslims other than Jat has been accepted for the post of Extra Assistant Commissioner from the Ambala division ?

Premier : I am afraid I cannot give any figures off-hand ; but I had an opportunity to collect facts and figures sometime ago both with regard to gazetted posts and non-gazetted posts, and I was rather surprised to find that the impression of my honourable friend was not correct. I found that both in the gazetted as well as subordinate ranks Ambala division has got more than its due share.

(Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad stood up.)

Mr. Speaker : Order, order. Will the honourable member please resume his seat ? I disallow any more supplementary questions.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Shall I be able to put more supplementary questions the day after to-morrow ?

Mr. Speaker : On what question ?

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : On this very question.

Mr. Speaker : No, the honourable member has already exceeded the limit.

UNSTARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

COMMUNAL REPRESENTATION IN ESTABLISHMENT OF OFFICE OF SESSIONS JUDGE, LAHORE.

• 948. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of graduates with their names employed by the District and Sessions Judge, Lahore, in his court and the courts subordinate thereto during the last 10 years ;
- (b) the number of graduates with their names employed in the court of Judge, Small Cause Court, Lahore, during the last 10 years ;
- (c) the posts with the scales of pay on which such graduates were employed ;
- (d) the number of agriculturists and non-agriculturists out of the graduates employed in the above mentioned offices ;
- (e) the period of candidature of each such graduate employed so far ;
- (f) the number of graduates who are working with or without pay at present in the said offices, the dates of their acceptance as candidates and the reasons for their not having been given a permanent chance so far ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : I regret that this information cannot be collected without an expenditure of time and labour out of all proportion to the results.

SCALES OF PAY AND CONDITIONS OF SERVICE OF COPYISTS.

949. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state whether Government are contemplating to revise the scales of pay and conditions of service of the copyists employed in the offices of the Deputy Commissioners and other executive officers and also in the High Court and the courts subordinate thereto with a view to bringing them on the permanent strength of these offices ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : Representations have been received from copyists praying for an increase in their pay and improvement of prospects of their service. The matter is under consideration.

COMMUNAL REPRESENTATION IN THE OFFICE OF SESSIONS JUDGE, LAHORE.

950. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister for Finance be pleased to state what action has so far been taken or is intended to be taken to remove the glaring disparity in the proportions of the various communities and classes, as disclosed in answer to my unstarred question No. 777¹, asked on 14th April 1939, in the establishment of the offices of the District and Sessions Judge, Lahore and Small Cause Court, Lahore, and whether Government intends to reserve a share for the communities under-represented in this branch of service in the new posts sanctioned or proposed to be sanctioned for these offices?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : Instructions have been issued to the officers concerned that in recruiting fresh candidates the principles laid down by Government regarding communal representations should be strictly followed so that any disparity in the proportions of members of the various communities and classes in the services or posts may be removed as early as possible.

CLOSURE OF INTERMEDIATE AND DEGREE GOVERNMENT COLLEGES.

951. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state whether Government contemplates closing all Intermediate Government Colleges throughout the province, and, if so, when?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : Answer to the first part of the question is in the negative; the second part does not arise.

DEGREE COLLEGE IN AMBALA DIVISION.

952. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister for Education be pleased to state—

- (a) whether Government are contemplating to open any degree college in the near future in Ambala division and, if so, in which district of the division;
- (b) whether it is intended to raise any national school in the said division to the standard of a degree college by giving it a substantial pecuniary help, if so, the name of that school?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : (a) Government is considering the possibility of having a degree college at Rohtak when funds become available.

(b) The answer is in the negative.

GRADES OF PAY OF NAIB-TAHSILDARS, SUB-INSPECTORS OF POLICE AND SUB-INSPECTORS OF EXCISE.

953. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the grades of pay of the naib-tahsildars, sub-inspectors of police and sub-inspectors of excise were formerly the same and that the grades of pay of the excise sub-inspectors have recently been revised ; if so, why ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : The scales of pay of naib-tahsildars, sub-inspectors of police and sub-inspectors of excise since the year 1920, are given below :—

Naib-Tahsildars.—In 1920, the scale of pay of naib-tahsildars was Rs. 80—5—120—5—140, with a selection grade Rs. 150. From the 1st April, 1930, this scale was revised to the present scale of Rs. 80—5—140—7½—185.

Sub-Inspectors of Police.—In 1920, the scale of pay of sub-inspectors of police was Rs. 80—10/5—108, with selection grades of Rs. 130, Rs. 140, Rs. 150 and Rs. 160. In 1928, this scale was revised to the present scale of Rs. 80—5—110/5—130, with selection grades as before.

Sub-Inspectors of Excise.—With effect from the 1st October, 1920, the scale of pay of excise sub-inspectors was raised from Rs. 60—4—100 (with no selection grade), to Rs. 80—5—140, with a selection grade of Rs. 150. But as a measure of economy this scale was revised from the 1st April, 1937 to the present scale of Rs. 65—4—105/5—115, with a selection grade of Rs. 125, for future entrants to the Excise Department. No such revision was considered advisable in the case of naib-tahsildars and sub-inspectors of police.

TEST WORKS IN HISSAR DISTRICT.

954. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of test works in the Hissar district in 1938-39 ;
- (b) the number of test works in the Rohtak district in this year and last year ;
- (c) whether the number of these test works has been reduced ; if so, reasons for this reduction ?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : (a) The number of test works in 1938 varied from 4 to 17.

Famine was declared on 1st December 1938. The number of relief works during 1938 varied from 17 to 21.

During 1939 the number varied from 13 to 38.

(b) 1938 2

1939 Varied from 2 to 10.

(c) Owing to the fall in number of workers and good rainfall in the month of June, the number of relief works in the Hissar district was reduced to 13 and the number of test works in the Rohtak district was reduced to 3. Since then there has been no reduction.

RABI CROP IN HISSAR, ROHTAK AND GURGAON DISTRICTS.

955. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether rabi crop has been sown this year in any part of Hissar, Rohtak and Gurgaon districts, if so, the area in each of these districts in which rabi crop has been sown?

The Honourable Dr. Sir Sundar Singh Majithia : Rabi crops have been sown in all the three districts. Exact figures are not available as sowings are in progress, but roughly speaking some 338,000 acres have been sown in Hissar, 218,000 acres in Rohtak and 382,000 acres in Gurgaon.

SUPPLY OF ARMS TO EXCISE OFFICIALS.

956. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state whether the excise officials whose duty is similar to that of the police are supplied with arms at Government expense or whether they have to keep arms at their own expense; if so, why and the action proposed to be taken?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : Excise officials as such are not supplied with arms and are not required to keep arms; so that no action is contemplated in this respect.

BARARA-SAUDHAURA ROAD.

957. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state whether and when the Government propose to provincialize Barara-Saudhaura road?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : There is no intention at present to provincialize this road as there are numerous other roads in the province of greater importance which have yet to be taken over by Government.

958. Cancelled.

REMOVAL OF DISTILLERY IN KARNAL CITY.

959. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : With reference to reply to my question No. 4487,¹ dated 31st March, 1939, will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state the steps so far taken to remove the distillery within the municipal limits of Karnal to a place outside these limits and at a distant place from the city?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : After personal inspection the Director of Public Health is of the opinion that the alleged offensive smell has been due, not to the distillery, but to the treatment of hides by chamars in the vicinity of the distillery drain and the pond into which it runs. The Director has been asked to cause further observations to be made by the Public Health staff over a period of two months and to report the result in due course for the consideration of Government.

PUNITIVE POLICE POST AT RAJA JANG.

960. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state whether all the residents of

Raja Jang, where a punitive police post has recently been quartered, will be required to bear the cost of the post irrespective of the fact that they were innocent or guilty of the crimes for which the post had to be quartered?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : The honourable member is invited to refer to the reply given to part (b) of question 4681¹ during the last budget session.

CONSTITUTION OF COMMITTEES BY THE CIVIL SURGEONS IN THE PUNJAB.

961. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : With reference to the answer to starred question No. 4644,² asked by Lala Duni Chand on 12th April, 1939, will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state whether any such committees have so far been constituted in the districts other than those mentioned in his reply and whether the Civil Surgeons of Karnal and Gurgaon have taken as members of such committees constituted by them all the members of Legislative Assembly of their district; if not, why, and the action which the Government proposes to take in the matter?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : As already stated in my answer to starred question No. 4644² visiting committees for provincialized civil hospitals have been constituted in all districts in the province. The committees in the districts of Karnal and Gurgaon include all members of the Punjab Legislative Assembly who represent those districts.

962. Cancelled.

SUB-REGISTRARS IN SIALKOT DISTRICT.

963. Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) community-wise the number of Sub-Registrars in the Sialkot district;
- (b) when was the last appointment made to such a post in the Sialkot district; who has been appointed in this post and who was the last incumbent of this post;
- (c) the reasons why the Government has not appointed any Hindu or Sikh as Sub-Registrar in this district?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana :

(a) Muslims	3
Sikh	1

(b) The attention of the honourable member is invited to Punjab Government notifications Nos. 82-M-39/24872 and 81-M-39/24874, dated the 26th July 1939, which contain the required information.

(c) There is a Sikh Sub-Registrar.

ADJOURNMENT MOTIONS.

GROWTH OF QUASI-MILITARY COMMUNAL ORGANIZATIONS.

Sardar Lal Singh : Sir, I beg to ask for leave—

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member's motion is out of order. The matter is neither urgent nor definite.

Sardar Lal Singh : The matter is very urgent.

Mr. Speaker : Not in my opinion. The honourable member may have the satisfaction of reading his adjournment motion.

Sardar Lal Singh : I do not simply want the satisfaction of reading it but I am prepared to prove that it is an urgent matter.

Mr. Speaker : No arguments at this stage. The honourable member may read his adjournment motion.

Sardar Lal Singh : I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the state of affairs, disclosed by the replies¹ given by the Honourable Premier to the short notice question of Rao Pohop Singh and others on Monday, the 4th December, 1939, showing that the Government remained inactive for over 1½ years in the matter of checking the growth of a certain quasi-military communal organization which continued to pursue its unlawful activities without hinderance or let until other rival communities in sheer self-preservation felt compelled to resort to forming similar organisations.

Mr. Speaker : The next motion.

Sardar Lal Singh : What is the Honourable Speaker's ruling on my motion ?

Mr. Speaker : According to rules after an adjournment motion has been read by the honourable member who had given notice, if the Speaker is of the opinion that it is in order he will read it out ; but not otherwise.

The following adjournment motions to move which leave was sought were ruled out of order by Mr. Speaker.

RELIEF TO ZAMINDARS OF LUDHLANA DISTRICT.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, failure of the district authorities to obtain substantial relief for the zamindars of the Ludhiana District by not properly acquainting themselves with the helpless condition of the zamindars, consequent on the failure of the rains in the district during the last and the present season or year.

INCREASE IN CRIME IN LUDHIANA DISTRICT.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the failure of the authorities to cope with the serious situation created by the growing sense of insecurity of life and property as a result of rapid increase in crime in the Ludhiana district during the present year as also evidenced by the statements laid on the Table in reply to my starred questions of 21st November 1939.

KHAKSAR MOVEMENT.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the failure of the Government to suppress a violent military movement—the Khaksar movement—which constitutes a great danger to the peace and tranquillity of the province, as disclosed by the reply¹ given by the Honourable Premier to the short notice question put by Rao Pohop Singh on 4th December.

PREMIER'S ALLEGATIONS AGAINST BOMBAY GOVERNMENT.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the unfortunate impression that has been created in the public mind as to the authenticity and correctness of official statements, by the serious allegation that was made by the Honourable Premier against the Bombay Government in the course of his reply to the debate on the adjournment motion on 20th November² which has on inquiry been proved to be wrong.

Premier : I have got a copy of the telegram from Bombay. The very person to whom he sent it has sent a copy of the telegram. I am very sorry and I am constrained to remark that the telegram did not contain facts.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava (Lahore City, General, Urban) : I want to make a few remarks. When the Honourable Premier made the statement, I sent a telegram to Mr. K. M. Munshi at once. Then I wrote a letter as well.

Premier : Will the honourable member please read Lala Deshbandhu Gupta's telegram and judge for himself whether that telegram was according to facts ?

¹Page 1319 ante.

²Page 767 ante.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Certainly, there is nothing wrong in it.

I will read out the two letters which the Public Relations Officer writes from the Secretariat of Bombay. The first letter reads :

Mr. K. M. Munshi has passed on your telegram regarding the alleged shooting of eight prisoners at Ahmedabad railway station. I am writing this to you in my private capacity. I made all the necessary enquiries and the allegations that the Government suppressed publication of this news is absolutely false. Practically every paper in the province of Bombay carry the news, and, as a matter of fact, several newspapers, Urdu newspapers especially, criticise the Government for not taking action to prevent such shootings. No official contradiction of this allegation by your Prime Minister could be made because no newspaper, either provincial or non-provincial has published the statement of your Prime Minister. If the allegation contained in the Prime Minister's statement had been published by any newspaper, an official contradiction would be justified.

The second letter reads—

In continuation of my yesterday's letter, I am herewith sending some newspaper cuttings which will belie the statements of the Prime Minister of the Punjab. I am sorry I am not able to send the cuttings from all the newspapers. The news was very widely published in almost every paper in the City and the province of Bombay. The cuttings will give you an idea as to what exactly happened.

These two letters are from the Government of Bombay, I will now read out a letter from Mr. Munshi, the ex-Minister of Bombay. It reads :

In continuation of the telegram sent by me, I send you herewith the following facts :—

Before I read out further, I may give you the wording of the telegram. It ran :

Incident was reported in papers ; sending cuttings.

The letter continues :

The incident mentioned therein occurred at 11 P.M. on 30th October, 1939. A full column about its facts appeared in an Ahmedabad paper entitled "Sandesh" the next day. On the 1st November it appeared in almost all the papers in Bombay.

I hope you must have received the newspaper cuttings sent by the Public Relations Officer of Bombay.

The Public Relations Officers has sent me cuttings from the Sandesh from the Jam-e-Jamshed of Bombay, also from the Times of India, dated the 31st October, and the Bombay Chronicle of the same date. He has also sent a cutting from the Jam-e-Jamshed, dated the 7th November, along with an English translation of it.

Premier : Has he sent cuttings from any Marhatta papers ?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I am relating to you what has been received. It was said that the news had been suppressed by the Bombay Government. That is not a fact. The news was allowed to be printed and the Public Relations Officer of Bombay has sent us a few cuttings.

Premier : My honourable friends are unnecessarily labouring under a misapprehension. A copy of the telegram which my honourable friend sent to Bombay has been sent to me and I must again protest that that telegram was a blatant breach of confidence, because I referred to that matter in confidence to this House and I hoped that it would not be published.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : (اسے کن سانسد محفل) :
 How can a matter be kept secret after it has been discussed in assemblies.

An Honourable Member : Bare hole ho !

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is the Honourable Premier really serious ?

Premier : I had referred to the question in very guarded terms and in complete confidence. I made a similar request to the Press. I am grateful to the Punjab Press that they have shown real sense of responsibility as usual and they did not publish that part of the news.

Then my friends have got cuttings to show that the incident did happen. What I said was that the incident had happened and that the news was not published here. I also mentioned in my speech that no news agency sent the news to any of the Punjab papers, even the Associated Press of India did not send it. I am told by one of the press representatives that some veiled reference did appear in some Punjab papers, but it did not come to our notice. The news might have been published in Bombay. Naturally in Bombay the Sandesh published it, because the Government could not possibly suppress the Sandesh, but the news was not published elsewhere specially in this part of India, and where it was suppressed it was probably done at the hint of the Government. I also said that the Government would be perfectly justified in suppressing the news. I did not challenge their right to persuade the news agencies and request them not to publish the news which would have furthered communal bitterness. There would have been nothing wrong in their doing so. But my honourable friend here wants to scatter that bitterness and the telegram which he sent was wholly incorrect.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : May I invite your attention to the remarks that my honourable friend made on the day ? He is now shifting his ground. The telegram will also come before you. It was in order to refute my argument that the Punjab Government was trying to gag the Press, that he made the following remark on that day :

In other provinces my honourable friend knows perfectly well what has happened. He is always in the habit of making comparisons. These comparisons are odious and sometimes most embarrassing to me, but unfortunately when he professing himself to be a Congressman makes them, I think it is my duty also to give the true facts. I will give a recent instance of what has happened in some other province. I hope my honourable friends of the Press Gallery will not publish it, because it was not published by the Government concerned. There must be some good reasons for suppressing the news from the press. I do not blame the Government concerned for it. A few weeks ago, handcuffed prisoners were shot at and fired upon by the police at Ahmedabad railway station. There were several instantaneous deaths and nothing has appeared in the Press and that news has been suppressed and withheld. There are very odious and irksome comparisons, but in order to vindicate the position of myself and of my colleagues, I have to state true facts on the floor of this House.

He stated further :—

I have no other motives in giving out the news here. I am told by one of the press representatives that something of the kind did appear in the press, but I have never seen it and I ask my honourable friends here whether they know anything about this news. It is really a gruesome tale to tell. It must make one's hair stand on end.

Further on the Honourable Premier said :

It occurred at Ahmedabad railway station. Evidently the Bombay Government had very good reasons to suppress the news.

The question was not whether that incident occurred or not ; the question was whether the Bombay Government had any hand in suppressing and withholding the news from the public or not. And my honourable friend on that day alleged that the Bombay Government did suppress and withhold that information. I had expected that in such a serious matter as this the Honourable Premier, who holds a responsible position, would readily express regret for the incorrect statement that he had made about the administration of another province . There could be no other meaning in the statement that " the incident would make one's hair stand on end " than that the incident was so bad that the Bombay Government deliberately suppressed all information from the public. That was the allegation and I am surprised to find that the Honourable Premier instead of apologising to the House for having made a wrong and false statement, should have sought to justify his position to-day by shifting his ground. It is no defence to say that the incident did occur. We never said that the incident did not take place. All that we asked was whether he was in a position to prove the allegation that he made that the Bombay Government has suppressed and withheld the news from the public.

Premier : My honourable friend made a comparison with the Congress Governments and I told him what was happening in Congress provinces. So far as the Bombay Government is concerned, I may point out that I did not make a fling at that Government. I merely wanted to warn my honourable friend that he should not try to bring in other Governments and I also stated that if this case was suppressed by the Bombay Government that Government must have had good reasons for suppressing it.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : But they did not suppress it.

Premier : But the papers from which cuttings have been received were under the thumb of the Bombay Government.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What about the Times of India and the Bombay Chronicle ?

Premier : They have copied it from the Jam-e-Jamshed.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What is the date of the Jam-e-Jamshed ?

Premier : 7th November.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : There you are. The news was published in the Times of India and the Bombay Chronicle on the 31st October, while the Jame-e-Jamshed published it on the 7th November.

Premier : The honourable member referred to a paper called Sandesh. It is published in Ahmedabad and naturally it had the opportunity to publish the news first. This is what the paper says. It is a long statement and I will quote only the relevant portion :

In the meanwhile the prisoners began fleeing and hence the armed police had to resort to firing in self-defence. As a result of this firing four prisoners, Meghla, Khamisa Machhi, Khamisa Sheikh and Goshbaksha Khan died and six were injured.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Is it suppression ?

Premier : Did any of my honourable friends read the news in the Punjab papers ?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : But they did not suppress the Punjab papers ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : It was published in the paper called Sandesh, that very day.

Premier : Of which nobody has heard in this province.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What about the Times of India and the Bombay Chronicle ?

Premier : It was published in three lines and probably after it was published in the Sandesh.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Whatever it is, the news was published and even the Sandesh was a Government paper. So it is not suppression.

Mr. Speaker : Let us now take up the next item on the list of business.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : What is your ruling about the adjournment motion ?

Mr. Speaker : After hearing what has been said on the floor of the House, does any honourable member expect me to allow this adjournment motion ?

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : But the Premier has not expressed regret.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : In view of the ruling from the Chair that Government truth is quite different from the real truth, we cannot say anything. (Laughter.)

VILLAGE PANCHAYAT BILL.

Clause 34.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move :—

That in sub-clause (3), line 2, between the words "subsection (1) and "the," the following words be inserted :—

"or none else stands as surety for the sum to cause the accused appear before the panchayat on any subsequent day or days to which trial may be adjourned."

There are two alternatives mentioned in the clause as it stands. That is, he may give his own recognisance or he may give his own recognisance with the surety. Now I want to suggest a third alternative namely that of surety alone. Now as the clause stands in case he does not give his own recognisance with or without surety he will be sent to the lock-up. But I want to provide that even in case he does not give his own recognisance, if a surety comes forward on his behalf, even then the man may be let on bail. Otherwise to take him to the judicial lock-up and again produce him before the panchayat would cost a lot of money to the Government. Each appearance will cost at least Rs. 5 or 6. So I want to save that expenditure to the Government and this will also reduce an otherwise long procedure. If the case is postponed for failure of the accused to give his own bond what shall be the result ? The accused shall have to be sent to the judicial lock-up and produced at the next hearing. That would cost the Government a lot of money. At the same time you know that judicial lock-ups are either at the tahsils headquarters or at the district headquarters. Some of the villages might be at a distance of 80 or 40 miles from the headquarters. In that case the accused shall have to be sent to the taluk or the district headquarters. It is only to avoid that expense that I have proposed the third alternative. If the accused does not give his own recognizance, but somebody else comes forward and stands guarantee that the accused shall appear at the next hearing, there should be no harm in letting him off. In that case this third person guarantee should be quite sufficient to let him off on bail. It is for this reason that I have brought forward this amendment and there should be no harm if it is accepted.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration amendment moved—is—

That in sub-clause (3), line 2, between the words "subsection (1)" and "the" the following words be inserted:—

"or none else stands as surety for the sum to cause the accused appear before the Panchayat on any subsequent day or days to which trial may be adjourned."

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : I appreciate the points raised by my honourable friends opposite but there is one thing which he seems to have overlooked. When an accused person is shown the courtesy of merely giving his own recognizance and he evades to give it, then there is something really wrong with him. Either he is thinking of absconding or treating the Panchayat with contempt. In such cases, my submission is that the accused cannot be given that concession that if he himself does not give his own recognizance and a third person comes and offers bail on his behalf that should be accepted. Personal bond ordinarily is regarded as a concession to the accused and if the Panchayat gives that concession and the accused does not avail himself of it, then he cannot be leniently dealt with as suggested by the mover.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : He is to be tried simply for petty offences.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in sub-clause (3), line 2, between the words "subsection (1)" and "the" the following words be inserted:—

"or none else stands as surety for the sum to cause the accused appear before the Panchayat on any subsequent day or days to which trial may be adjourned."

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (3) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That clause 34 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 35.

Munshi Hari Lal (South Western Towns, General, Urban) : Sir, I beg to move —

That after sub-clause (2), the following proviso be added:—

"Provided that no order of dismissal shall be set aside, without notice to the accused, if it has been passed after his appearance before the Panchayat."

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That clause 35 as amended stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 36.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural): Sir I beg to move—

That in part (d) of sub-clause (1), line 2, for the figure "18," the figure "14" be substituted.

You will find that in the case of youthful offenders the age is not 18. I think that is 15. At the same time a jat boy at the age of 18 may be the father of children, if he is married. You cannot expect that a jat boy of 18 with children shall be amenable to his father especially in the villages. It is for this reason that I suggest that instead of 18 the figure 14 should be inserted. This is the case with youthful offenders too. If 18 is the age of minority that should not be the reason to include it in this Act.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in part (d), of sub-clause (1), line 2, for the figure "18," the figure "14" be substituted.

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): The only argument that the honourable mover has advanced is that a boy of 18 may be capable of begetting children. I may state that even boys of 14 may beget children. In the Punjab at least they are sufficiently virile. But the reason for keeping this age is that a boy below 18 will be a minor according to the law. Therefore it is doubtful whether he will be in a position to execute a bond. That is why we bring in his father. To put the age below 18 is not therefore possible.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That in part (d) of sub-clause (1), line 2, for the figure "18," the figure "14" be substituted.

The motion was lost.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural): Sir I beg to move—

That in part (d), of sub-clause (1), lines 2-3, between the words "age" and "require," the words "and is living with his father as a member of joint family" be inserted.

Mr. Speaker : I do not think "joint" is a suitable word.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : That may be deleted. If the Government is prepared to accept the rest, I have no objection to omitting these words. It is just possible that in certain cases the father and the son may be living separately. It does not look proper that the father should be punished for the sins of the sons.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in part (d) of sub-clause (1), lines 2-3, between the words "age" and "require" the words, "and is living with his father as a member of the family" be inserted.

Minister for Public Works (Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : As a matter of fact, I do not see the necessity for this amendment. It is only a concession allowed, whether the father or the guardian wants to come forward or not will be his own choice. We have just put in a provision somewhat on the lines of section 562 of the Criminal Procedure Code. It is a concession to prevent the offenders from repeating an offence and if the father or the guardian whether living with him or separate has confidence in the person refraining from a certain act, he may come forward otherwise not. The fact whether he is living in the family or not does not matter. I oppose the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That in part (d) of sub-clause (1), lines 2-3, between the words "age" and "require", the words "and is living with his father as a member of the family" be inserted.

The motion was lost.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I rise to oppose the whole clause on the ground that in connection with a criminal case no provision has been made for the right of appeal by the accused against the order of the panchayat. Though in certain cases right of revision has been conceded, this does not serve the purpose and is not sufficient. I may point out that in criminal cases if a 3rd or 2nd class magistrate passes a sentence of fine, ordinarily an appeal lies against this order to the district magistrate and in case a first class magistrate passes such an order an appeal lies before the sessions judge. It is, therefore, not desirable, that there should be no provision for an appeal against the order of a panchayat. I may also point out that under the provisions of the Bill the panchayats have been invested with very wide powers and under the section under discussion, a panchayat can sentence an accused to a fine of Rs. 50 and if so empowered by Government to a fine of Rs. 200. I am of the opinion that in view of this the accused should have a right to appeal against the order of the panchayat so that he may be able to prove that the punishment awarded to him was not justified. Besides, the right of revision which has been provided for has been hedged round. This should not be so. It would not be out of place to mention here that if the right of appeal is not conceded to the accused, the panchayats are likely to abuse their powers. I am sure, that the absence of such a right would result in miscarriage of justice. Only yesterday my learned friend Mr. Mukand Lal Puri, who is a legal luminary, remarked that the panchayats should not be invested with powers to try criminal cases. But I would not like to go so far. I simply want to provide a safeguard in this respect and that is that the accused should have the right of appeal against the order of the panchayat. Besides, as I have already stated many a time, the villagers are generally illiterate and therefore most of the panches are not expected to be highly educated or to possess sufficient legal acumen. If their decision is considered to be final, this would cause great hardship to the accused. In my opinion the lack of sufficient knowledge of law on the part of the panches makes the grant of the right of appeal to the accused all the more necessary. Moreover it is a fundamental principle of Jurisprudence that a person is considered to be innocent so long as the charge against him is not proved to the hilt. I, therefore, see no reason why the accused should be deprived of the right of appeal against the order of the panchayat. I think he should be given an opportunity to appeal to the district magistrate, or even to the sessions judge, as the case may be, to prove his innocence and the imposition of fine as unjustified. The honourable members are aware that under the Indian Penal Code an accused can move a High Court even. In certain cases he can appeal to the highest tribunal of the province against the order of any magistrate if he fails to secure justice from the district magistrate or the sessions judge. In view of these considerations I strongly oppose the clause. But if the Honourable Minister is disposed to make a provision for the grant of the right of appeal to the accused, I am prepared to withdraw my opposition. With these words I close my remarks.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 36 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clauses 37 and 38.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clauses 37 and 38 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 39.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

That in the beginning of the clause the following be added :—

“If no appeal has been filed by the accused from the order of conviction within the prescribed period of thirty days.”

(Urdu) : Sir, my object in moving this amendment is to give an opportunity to the Honourable Minister to rectify the wrong and the injustice he has already done to the accused in not providing for him the right of appeal against the order of the panchayat. I want this provision to be incorporated in the Bill before section 39. The amendment provides that the accused should have the right to file an appeal from the order of conviction within the prescribed period of thirty days. But if he fails to do so he should be permitted to file a revision petition. But as no right of appeal has been provided in the Bill, I have endeavoured to remove this flaw by proposing that the words suggested in the amendment should be added before section 39.

Mr. Speaker : Order, order. The honourable member's amendment is a new clause in substance. So, he must first ask for leave to move it.

Lala Duni Chand : Sir, it is not an independent and a new clause. It should be read with the clause that follows. Therefore, as the amendment stands, it does not fall within the meaning of a new clause.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member's amendment is intended to provide a right of appeal. So, it can be moved independently as a new clause.

Lala Duni Chand : You have rejected so many amendments on the ground that they fall within the purview of a new clause. I will just tell you what is a new clause and what is not a new clause. I want to make it clear.

Mr. Speaker : I am thankful to the honourable member for his kind offer to give me a lesson ; but in my opinion his amendment is a new clause and, therefore, he should ask for leave to move it.

Lala Duni Chand : You are rejecting so many amendments.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member has said so twice, but I did not reject a single new clause, everyone of which is put to the vote of the House and it is the House which gives or refuses to give leave to move it.

Lala Duni Chand : Only a little time ago you accepted a similar objection which was raised by Munshi Hari Lal.

Mr. Speaker : Each case is decided on its own merits.

Lala Duni Chand : I want to know whether the amendment, as it stands, falls within the purview of the sub-clause. I do not want to make any speech. I can merely ask for leave. My point is that you may not be in doubt in regard to the meaning of the sub-clause.

Munshi Hari Lal : On a point of order. You will be pleased to see that Rule 99 of our Rules of procedure contemplates a clause and not a sub-clause. It runs as follows :—

“ 99. (1) If notice of a new clause or a proposed amendment has not been given two clear days before the day on which the new clause is moved or consideration of the clause to which the amendment is proposed is commenced, any member may object to the moving of the new clause..... ”

So, a sub-clause is not covered by the rule.

Mr. Speaker : May I invite the honourable member's attention to page 407 of May's Parliamentary Practice ? There he will find what a new clause means. It is not defined in our rules. Clause includes a sub-clause and vice versa and even a proviso if it is self-contained. In this case it is clear that the honourable member wishes this part to be added in the beginning of clause 89. It has certainly nothing to do with the rest of the clause. It is an independent motion and proposes to give indirectly a right of appeal, a matter which has been discussed on the floor of this House and rejected more than once. Consequently, it is out of order. The honourable member may move an independent motion.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : I beg to move—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the following words be added :—

“ or may make any consequential or incidental order that may be just or proper.”

The district magistrate can either modify an order or even make such orders that might be necessary in certain cases. The accused might have paid fine in certain cases and in those cases it would be necessary to pass an order that the fine should be returned to the accused. (Interruption). Sometimes it might become necessary for the district magistrate to pass certain orders which might not be relating directly to conviction or acquittal. Certain consequential orders may have to be passed. The accused might have paid the fine and if he is acquitted by the district magistrate he shall have to pass an order with regard to the fine paid by the accused. It is for this reason that I have moved the amendment. The district magistrate in such cases may make a consequential order which he might deem necessary. I, therefore, expect that the Honourable Minister would accept this amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the following words be added :—

“or may make any consequential or incidental order that may be just or proper.”

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 39 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 40.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi (Lyallpur and Jhang, General Rural): I move—

That in part (a) of sub-clause (1), line 2, between the words “contracts” and “or,” the words “or for rent, overpayment of rent, customary agricultural dues recorded in the revenue records” be inserted.

I simply move the amendment without any speech.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in part (a) of sub-clause (1), line 2, between the words “contracts” and “or,” the words “or for rent, overpayment of rent, customary agricultural dues recorded in the revenue records” be inserted.

Minister of Public Works : I oppose it. Cases of this type would be of very complicated nature and they are to be given to selected panchayats but not to all.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in part (a) of sub-clause (1), line 2, between the words “contracts” and “or,” the words “or for rent, overpayment of rent, customary agricultural dues recorded in the revenue records” be inserted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : I move—

That in sub-clause (1), line 16, between the words “compensation” and “does,” the words “or rent or overpayment of rent or customary agricultural dues recorded in the revenue records” be inserted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (1) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (2), line 2, for the word “one” the word “each” be substituted.

According to sub-clause (2) wide power is given to the panchayat over non-resident defendants. The point is that if one of the defendants happens to reside in the panchayat area and all other defendants do not reside in that area, then in that case the suit shall be triable by the panchayat. According to section 42, the civil court before whom a civil suit triable by a panchayat is filed shall transfer that suit to the panchayat. So, if anybody files a suit in a civil court and in that suit 4 or 5 defendants do not belong to that area of the panchayat, but only one defendant happens to belong to that area, then even in that case the civil court shall be compelled to transfer that case to the panchayat. It shall not care for the convenience of those 4 or 5 defendants, but for the sake of one defendant only, the civil court shall have to transfer that case to the panchayat. Such wide powers are not given even by the Civil Procedure Code. According to section 20, the civil court has jurisdiction over non-resident defendants in those cases only, if either non-resident defendants agree to the jurisdiction of the court, or they are allowed to be party to the suit by leave of the Court. I am afraid if these words continue to remain as they are and if one defendant happens to belong to the panchayat area, then the whole clause will be misused by the plaintiff or the defendant. If anybody does not like that his case should be tried by a civil court, he may involve one person belonging to a panchayat area and he can make him as a defendant, the result would be that 4 or 5 defendants belonging to other district areas or other places will be required to go to that place and appear before the panchayat. I think it would be a great inconvenience to all those people. It would be better if the scope of this clause is confined only to those persons who are living in that particular area, because if my amendment is accepted, the panchayat shall have jurisdiction only if either the cause of action has arisen there or all the defendants are living in that panchayat area. In order to save non-residents from trouble, it would be better if my amendment is accepted.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in sub-clause (2), line 2, for the word "one" the word "each" be substituted.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : Sir, if we accept this amendment, the result would be that hardly a case will be found that would go to the panchayat, because it would really be difficult to find all the defendants residing in that particular area. As to the misuse and fears that the honourable member thinks that may come about, there is a provision for transfer of cases given to the district judge and when such cases are brought to his notice, he will take action. We need not worry about these extreme cases that have been cited. With these words I oppose the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in sub-clause (2), line 2, for the word "one," the word "each" be substituted.

The motion was lost.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) : Sir, I move—

That in sub-clause (2), lines 2-3, between the words, "defendants" and "where" the words "sought to be made liable for the claim," be inserted.

(Urdu) : The object of my amendment is to remove a defect of the clause as it is. In many cases the plaintiff includes among the defendants persons against whom he, as a matter of fact, seeks no relief. According to the present words of the sub-clause if a defendant who is not sought to be made liable for the claim, does not reside within the jurisdiction of a panchayat, the suit goes out of the jurisdiction of the panchayat. I want that the suit should be out of the jurisdiction of a panchayat only when a person who is sought to be made liable for the claim does not reside within the jurisdiction of the panchayat. Therefore, my amendment will make the sub-clause more sensible. I hope the Honourable Minister will accept it.

Minister for Public Works : I see no objection to the acceptance of this amendment.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in sub-clause (2), lines 2-3, between the words "defendants" and "where," the words "sought to be made liable for the claim" be inserted.

The motion was carried.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (2), lines 9-10, for the words "the cause.....limits" the words "any act connected with the contract price thereof or the movable property in question has taken place" be substituted.

The object underlying this amendment is the same as in the last amendment. If the present words are allowed to be retained, a suit will be within the jurisdiction of a panchayat irrespective of the fact that any act connected with the contract price thereof or the movable property in question has taken place within its jurisdiction or not. My point is that the present words of the clause do not carry out the object which is before my honourable friend the Minister in charge. The words which have been suggested by me fulfil that purpose. I hope the Honourable Minister will accept this amendment just as he accepted the former one moved by me.

Mr. Speaker : Sub-clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in sub-clause (2), lines 9-10, for the words "the cause.....limits" the words "any act connected with the contract price thereof or the movable property in question has taken place" be substituted.

Minister for Public Works : I am afraid if we accept the amendment the language may become a little more vague. The present wording "cause of action" is the usual legal term. I think it is quite sufficient denoting the purpose we have in view.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in sub-clause (2), lines 9-10, for the words "the cause.....limits" the words "any act connected with the contract price thereof or the movable property in question has taken place" be substituted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (2) of clause 40 as amended stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (3) of clause 40 stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 40 as amended stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 41.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 41 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 42.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural): Sir, I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (1), line 4, between the words "shall" and "transfer" the words "after considering the objections of any of the parties to the suit" be inserted.

I would like to put this question to the Honourable Minister. Supposing the plaintiff belongs to one district and there are 4 or 5 defendants and three belong to some other district, but one of the defendants happens to belong to the district within the panchayat area in that district in which the suit has been filed. In that case will that suit be triable by the panchayat or not, because in my opinion according to the wording the suit shall be triable by the panchayat if one of the defendants happens to reside in the panchayat area. I would like to know from the Minister if that is the case.

Minister for Public Works : Read sub-clause (2).

Sardar Kapoor Singh : That power lies with the district judge. What is the objection to accepting the amendment that the civil court shall go through the objections of these parties? If the parties agree it should be tried by a civil court: why should not a civil court have the authority to hear the case. It is for this reason that I want this amendment to be accepted specially when they have rejected my first amendment. Instead of these persons going to the panchayat it is better that they should give reasons to the civil courts as to why they do not want their case to be tried by the panchayat and the civil judge should decide those objections. My honourable friend the Minister for Public Works is residing at Lahore, but if somebody involves him as a defendant in a case triable by a panchayat he shall have to appear before the panchayat in spite of the fact that he is residing here.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in sub-clause (1), line 4, between the words "shall" and "transfer" the words "after considering the objections of any of the parties to the suit" be inserted.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi (Lyallpur and Jhang, General, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, the object of the amendment has been made absolutely clear by Sardar Kapoor Singh. All that we want is that as the district magistrate has been empowered to hear objections before transferring a case to the panchayat similar powers may be given to the civil courts in the matter. With these words I support the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in sub-clause (1), line 4, between the words "shall" and "transfer" the words "after considering the objections of any of the parties to the suit" be inserted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (1) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : I do not want to move the amendment standing in my name because similar amendments of mine were not accepted.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (2) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 42 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 43.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (1) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

That at the end of the proviso to sub-clause (2) the following be added :—

“ The Collector may dispose of pending suits and applications affected by such withdrawal in accordance with law.”

It has been provided in sub-clause (2) of clause 43 that :

Government may by notification empower any panchayat to try any dispute or matter regarding which any suit or application may be made in a Revenue Court as defined in the Punjab Tenancy Act, 1887.

It shows that panchayats may be invested with the powers to try revenue cases. And by reading the proviso it is evident that those powers can also be withdrawn by the Government. My submission is that under such circumstances when the powers will be withdrawn by the Government, neither the district magistrate nor deputy commissioner can dispose of the pending revenue suits and applications. The collector should be invested with powers to dispose of such pending suits and applications affected by such withdrawal. There might be such cases, and I suggest that those cases may be disposed of by the collector, because you have made a provision in sub-clause (2) of clause 43. So it would be better, when certain panchayats are empowered with revenue powers, that there should be some provision that when these powers are withdrawn from the panchayats, the cases will be dealt with by the collector.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That at the end of the proviso to sub-clause (2) the following be added :—

“ The Collector may dispose of pending suits and applications affected by such withdrawal in accordance with law.”

Minister for Public Works : Who else will deal with them ? It is understood that there will be no lacuna or special flaw.

Munshi Hari Lal (South-Western Towns, General, Urban): In the previous sections whenever the powers are withdrawn from the panchayat, powers have been given to the district judge to withdraw the civil cases and to the deputy commissioner to withdraw the criminal cases and dispose of as they like. Now the question is, if powers of revenue courts are given to the panchayats and if the powers of a panchayat are withdrawn, where will those cases go? A special enactment is being passed, a special Act under which the panchayats are going to be invested with the powers of trying revenue cases. When those powers of the panchayat are withdrawn where will those cases go? The collector has no power to withdraw or transfer those cases to his own file. My friend's amendment is simply to provide for such an eventuality.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That at the end of the proviso to sub-clause (2) the following be added :—

"The Collector may dispose of pending suits and applications affected by such withdrawal in accordance with law."

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (2) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 43 stand part of the Bill.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, I rise to oppose clause 43 so that I may tell the Honourable Minister of Public Works that if he had been a lawyer he would have added this sentence to the clause under discussion namely that those suits which cannot be heard by a small cause court should be excluded from the jurisdiction of panchayats. I being a lawyer can understand this difficulty much better than the Minister in charge. You are aware that there are three classes of suits, namely land suits, unclassified suits and small cause suits, and you might also be aware of the fact that in the Small Cause Court Act there is a list of those suits which have been excluded from the jurisdiction of small cause courts. The provision has been made to the effect that panchayats will not hear complicated cases and, therefore, the suits excluded from the jurisdiction of small cause courts should also be excluded from the jurisdiction of panchayats. I may submit to the Minister in charge that if he does not agree with me at present he shall have to amend this clause later on after this Bill is enacted. It is high time that the Honourable Minister should add that those cases will not be tried by the panchayats which could not be disposed of by small cause courts. It is better late than never and I am sure when this Bill becomes an Act the Minister in charge will realise the importance of the amendment under discussion and he will then see that the cases not cognizable by small cause courts should not be cognizable by panchayat also.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 43 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 44.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (1) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (2), between the word "section" and figure "59", the figure and word "46 or" be inserted.

Minister for Public Works : I am willing to accept the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in sub-clause (2), between the word "section" and figure "59", the figure and word "46 or" be inserted.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (2) as amended stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 44 as amended stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 45.

Lala Duni Chand : I beg to move—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the following be added:—

Provided that if the court-fee stamp is not available at the place where the panchayat ordinarily sits, the person receiving the petition shall accept an equivalent amount in cash.

Minister for Public Works : I am willing to accept the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the following be added:—

'Provided that if the court-fee stamp is not available at the place where the panchayat ordinarily sits, the person receiving the petition shall accept an equivalent amount in cash.'

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (1) as amended stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (2) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 45 as amended stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 46.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That clause 46 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 47.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) : Sir, I move—

That in lines 4-8, for the words "vexatious . . . in writing" the words "barred by limitation or discloses no basis for claim" be substituted.

(Urdu) : My object in moving this amendment is to save the panchayats from being placed in a difficult position. It is really asking too much to expect the panchayats to understand fully what is and what is not vexatious or frivolous. You should not make the law too intricate. Allow the panchayats to order the payment of compensation when it finds that a case does not disclose any basis for claim. I know that the words vexatious and frivolous occur in the Criminal Procedure Code. But the courts do not find any difficulty there in interpreting them correctly because there are so many rulings to guide them. The panchayats, however, cannot be expected to understand these intricacies. Therefore, I want to make their task easy by means of this amendment, and now it is up to you to accept or reject it.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in lines 4-8; for the words "vexatious . . . in writing," the words "barred by limitation or discloses no basis for claim" be substituted.

Minister of Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan, Tiwana) : If you substitute these words, the clause will become meaningless.

Mr. Speaker : The amendment is out of order. Question is—

That clause 47 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 48.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That sub-clauses (1) and (2) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) : Sir, I move—

That in sub-clause (3), lines 10-11, for the words "30 days of the death" the words "the period prescribed by the Indian Limitation Act, 1908" be substituted.

(Urdu) : In the original clause the time within which an application to proceed with the case must be made is "30 days of the death". But my submission is that this is not sufficient. In certain cases the legal representatives do not come to know of the death for a month or so. In the Limitation Act the period allowed is 60 days and my proposal is that the same should be prescribed in this Bill also.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in sub-clause (3), lines 10-11, for the words "30 days of the death" the words "the period prescribed by the Indian Limitation Act, 1908" be substituted.

Munshi Hari Lal (South-Western Towns, General, Urban) : The period of limitation provided by the existing clause is 30 days and I want that it should be 60 days. The period prescribed by the Indian Limitation Act is 90 days or six months. I know many cases dismissed for want of knowledge of the death of the party. Sufficient time should be given to the parties to apply to the panchayat. I think the sponsor of the Bill has got some view in his mind when he adds to the clause the words "or within such future period as the panchayat may for sufficient cause allow". Instead of leaving the plaintiff or defendant to the mercy of the panchayat, I want a definite time and I want that there should be no ambiguity about it nor the panchayat be called upon to determine what sufficient cause is. Sufficient cause makes the restoration or cancellation of the order discretionary with the panchayat. Cause may be sufficient, it may not be sufficient, it is left to the panchayat. I want that in the Village Panchayat Bill which is to be administered in the villages and which is primarily an enactment for the benefit of the villagers,—poor ignorant villagers—a little more time should be given and I submit that the time instead of being 30 days should be 60 days.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That in sub-clause (3), lines 10-11, for the words "30 days of the death," the word "the period prescribed by the Indian Limitation Act, 1908" be substituted.

The motion was lost.

Munshi Hari Lal (South-Western Towns, General, Urban): Sir, I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (3), lines 10-11, for the words "within 30 days of the death" the words "within 60 days of the death" be substituted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That sub-clause (3) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That clause 48 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 49.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That clause 49 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 50.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural): Sir, I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (1), lines 2-5 the words "or if . . . his suit" be omitted.

(Urdu): I think the significance of my amendment can be understood better if I read out sub-clause (1) of clause 50. It is as follows:—

- (1) If the petitioner fails to appear on the date fixed for hearing or if in the opinion of the panchayat he shows negligence in prosecuting his suit, the panchayat may dismiss the suit, unless the defendant admits all or any part of the claim, when it shall be decreed accordingly.

Now my submission is that the following words "or if in the opinion of the panchayat he shows negligence in prosecuting his suit" be omitted from this sub-clause. I may point out that if any petitioner fails to appear on the date fixed for hearing, the panchayat may dismiss the suit but I think it is dangerous to give this power to the panchayats that it may dismiss suits also on the plea that the petitioners are showing negligence in prosecuting their cases.

Besides, the procedure which has been laid down for trying civil or criminal cases under this Bill is not a very lengthy one. The suits will be tried summarily. As a matter of fact one of the objects of the Bill is that the panchayats after making some inquiries and after recording short statements of witnesses should decide cases promptly. In the panchayats no such procedure will be followed which is followed in the ordinary courts. Ordinarily when cases will be instituted before panchayats they would at once call upon the defendant to come and answer them, and after hearing them they would promptly decide cases. Now I may point out that it has not been provided in this Bill that in the panchayats that very procedure will be followed which is generally followed in the civil courts. The fact of the matter is that they will try cases very summarily and then they would decide the matter one way or the other. Like the civil courts no witnesses will be heard and the parties will not be allowed to bring out points of law before the panchayats. As such a procedure has not been laid down for the trying of cases by panchayats. I would submit that there is no justification for retaining the words referred to above in the sub-clause under consideration. I may also point out that nowhere is it provided in the Civil Procedure Code that if an appellant shows negligence in prosecuting his case, then his suit should be dismissed. I, therefore, request you not to give such a wide power to panchayats to dismiss the suits on the plea of negligence shown by the petitioners. Sometimes it may happen that the panchayat will not record any evidence but it will on one pretext or the other put forward this plea that as the petitioner has shown negligence in prosecuting his case so his case is dismissed. In my opinion this provision will give a handle to the panchayats to do whatever they like. In the circumstances I request the Government in the name of fair-play to accept this amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in sub-clause (1), lines 2—5, the words “or if . . . his suit” be omitted.

Minister for Public Works : I oppose the amendment. I need not give any reasons. Due diligence in litigation is necessary.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That in sub-clause (1), lines 2—5 the words “or if . . . his suit” be omitted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That sub-clause (1) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (2), line 3, for the word “fifteen” the word “thirty” be substituted.

an application before the panchayat for restoring his case. I think a period of 15 days is too short a period and it is just possible that a petitioner may not know within this period whether his suit has been dismissed for failure to appear before the panchayat. Besides, sometimes a petitioner is under the impression that notice of suit has not been served on him, while as a matter of fact it is reported that it has been served. In view of this I think that if a period of 15 days is provided in the Bill, it will amount to injustice. In my opinion instead of 15 days, thirty days should be given to the petitioners to submit applications for restoring their dismissed cases.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in sub-clause (2), line 3, for the word "fifteen", the word "thirty" be substituted.

Munshi Hari Lal (South-Western Towns, General, Urban) : My reason in supporting the amendment which has been moved by my honourable friend Lala Duni Chand and which also stands in my name that the period of 15 days should be substituted by 30 days is that the plaintiff and the defendant when they are standing at the bar to seek justice from a court or a panchayat should be treated equally. There should be no invidious distinction between the two. In the following clause when there is an ex-parte decree against the defendant, the time provided for is 30 days. Why should there be this discrimination between the two cases? In the Civil Procedure Code as well as in the Indian Limitation Act there is no distinction between the plaintiff and the defendant. Both are given equal opportunities when any order of dismissal stands against the plaintiff or any ex-parte decree stands against the defendant. Then why this distinction here? I cannot follow it. There is something in the mind of the sponsor of the Bill which is not clear. It is unfortunately to be found in all the legislative measures that have been passed in this Assembly. I will illustrate this by an example. A case is lodged before a civil court and the court transfers it to a panchayat as required by the preceding sections which have been passed by the House and a notice is issued to the petitioner by the panchayat to appear before it. It may be that a report be made by the process-server that the petitioner is not traceable and the petitioner comes to know of it 15 days after the order of dismissal of his case by the panchayat. In that case what will be the result? He is thrown at the mercy of the panchayat. He will seek the cancellation of the order and dismissal not as a matter of right but as a favour.

I submit that sufficient time should be given to the plaintiff, specially when sufficient time is being given to the defendant in the event of his seeking to get an ex-parte decree set aside. Both the plaintiff and the defendant should get similar treatment. If latitude is going to be allowed to the defendant, as is provided in the Bill, the same latitude should be allowed to the plaintiff. I have nothing more to say. What I say is this that the plaintiff and the defendant should be treated equally and in the case of the plaintiff also the time should be 30 days and not 15 days, because 15 days' time is inadequate for the plaintiff. He may be seriously ill and he may not be able to attend the court within 15 days. He may not be able to present his application within that time. What will be the result?

The result will be that he will be placed at the mercy of the panchayat, which will hear his case, and the panchayat may or may not extend the time. Why not fix the time by statute? Why should not the time limit be raised to 30 days? In a civil court 30 days are allowed for restoration application. Why not the same time be fixed here? The Government will be well advised, and the Government will not be losing anything if they are liberal enough to substitute 30 for 15.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in sub-clause (2), line 3, for the word "fifteen", the word "thirty" be substituted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (2) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 50 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 51.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (1) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Munshi Hari Lal (South-Western Towns General, Urban): Sir, I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (2), line 3, between the words "of" and "executing", the words "the decree passed after due service of the defendant or otherwise from the date of" be inserted.

Sir, the original sub-clause, as it stands, reads like this—

Any defendant against whom a civil suit has been decided ex parte may, within thirty days from the date of executing any process for enforcement of the decision or within such further period as the panchayat may for sufficient cause allow, apply orally or in writing to the panchayat to set aside the order. . .

and if my amendment is accepted the sub-clause will read like this—

Any defendant against whom a civil suit has been decided ex parte may, within thirty days from the date of the decree passed after due service of the defendant or otherwise from the date of executing any process for enforcement of the decision or within such further period as the panchayat may for sufficient cause allow, apply orally or in writing to the panchayat to set aside the order.

Sir, I have absolutely no grudge that the defendant should be shown some leniency, because against him an order stands. But I think that something must be allowed for the plaintiff as well. If the defendant is duly served with a notice, if he has received the summons or if the defendant has got the information of the institution of the suit against him and if a decree has been passed against him after due service, he should come within 30 days after the due service to get his order of decree vacated. He should not wait till the execution order is communicated to him. The execution of the decree may not be sued out for a number of months, or for a number of years. My object in moving this amendment is that in the case of due service on the defendant, the defendant should not be shown so much latitude and leniency. He should seek his remedy against the order which has been passed against him by the panchayat in his absence, within 30 days.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in sub-clause (2), line 3, between the words, "of" and "executing", the words "the decree passed after due service of the defendant or otherwise from the date of" be inserted.

Minister for Public Works (Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan, Tiwana) : Sir, I oppose the amendment moved by my honourable friend opposite. I do not think there is any necessity for it. There will be a great injustice done if this amendment is accepted. Generally the villagers have no knowledge of any decree against them until the attachment proceedings start. No undue leniency is shown to the defendants, and I daresay that if this amendment is accepted, it would result in undue hardship to them.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in sub-clause (2), line 3, between the words "of" and "execution" the words "the decree passed after due service of the defendant or otherwise from the date of" be inserted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (2) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 51 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 52.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

That leave be given for the following motion:—

That in the beginning of sub-clause (1), the following be added:—

The panchayat shall record parties' statements in full, frame issues, or at least specify the points arising in the case, give reasonable opportunity to the parties to produce their evidence and record material part of it.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clauses (1) and (2) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Munshi Hari Lal : I beg to ask for leave to move—

That for sub-clause (3), the following be substituted :—

- 3 P. M. (3) A decree passed by a Panchayat may be presented to the Collector of the district in which the Panchayat has passed the decree or would have passed the decree but for transfer of the suit and the Collector or the officer to whom the Collector may transfer the decree for execution shall proceed to recover the amount as if it were an arrear of land revenue."

It is a mere substitution. It is a not a new clause.

Mr. Speaker : A substitution is definitely a new clause. Question is—

That leave be granted to move—

That for sub-clause (3), the following be substituted :—

- (3) A decree passed by a Panchayat may be presented to the Collector of the District in which the Panchayat has passed the decree or would have passed the decree but for transfer of the suit and the Collector or the officer to whom the Collector may transfer the decree for execution shall proceed to recover the amount as if it were an arrear of land revenue.

The motion was lost.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : I beg to ask for leave to move—

That for sub-clause (3), the following be substituted :—

- If the decree remains unsatisfied in whole or in part, the decree-holder may, with in one year of the passing of the decree, apply to the Panchayat passing the decree for execution and this Panchayat shall send a certificate to the collector specifying therein non-satisfaction of the decree either in whole or in part and the Collector shall if the decree is a money decree proceed to recover it as if it were an arrear of Land Revenue and if the decree is for any specific movable property he shall exercise the powers of a Civil Court.

The motion was lost.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : I beg to ask for leave to move—

That at the end, the following be added as a new sub-clause :—

- (4) If the Panchayat passes a money decree to be paid by instalment and the instalment is not paid on due date the Panchayat on application of the decreeholder after one month from the date fixed for payment of any instalment shall certify to the non-payment of instalment in whole or in part and send that certificate within one year to the Collector for execution of decree and the Collector on receipt of the certificate shall proceed to recover the unpaid instalment as if it were an arrear of Land Revenue.

The motion was lost.

Munshi Hari Lal : On a point of order. Why should not the House give the leave and discuss the principle?

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (3) stand part of the clause.

Munshi Hari Lal : Sir, I object to sub-clause (3). We see every day that Bills are being introduced and more powers are being given to the collectors so much so that the execution of a decree is now more a matter for a collector or an assistant collector than for the civil court. Does it mean that the present Unionist Government is now backing out of the policy of which they had made so much display at Simla when the monsoon of agrarian Bills burst out and when powers were given to collectors? We find now that they are reverting to the old order because it is now the civil court that has to execute decrees of the panchayats. Why not give power to the collector so that decrees may be executed speedily and the plaintiff may enjoy its fruit earlier than he would do through the agency of the civil courts? So far as the civil court is concerned, he will have to go to the district judge. If he seeks execution against agricultural property, the case will again come to the collector. Instead of going to the collector through the door of the district judge's court, why should he not go to the collector direct and seek execution of the decree? People do not get their decrees realized? They go to the courts, they apply for execution of the decree and have to wait for a very long time before they can get the decretal amount or before they can get proper satisfaction. My amendment was overruled because it was not in order, but it is not consistent with the policy followed by the Unionist Government ever since their accession to power. Speedy disposal of execution applications should be kept in view. So far as the old law on this point is concerned, I believe that the present Government's predecessors were far wiser than they are at present. Section 41 of Village Panchayat Act says—

[M. Hari Lal.]

41. The Collector may recover the following as if they were arrears of land revenue :—
(2) Any fine (imposed) or (amount decreed) under Chapter IV.

Chapter IV deals with judicial functions. It would be much better if they maintain it. But instead of doing so the decree-holders are to face trouble. They will have to knock at the doors of the civil court and undergo the same hardship as the litigants and decree-holders in civil courts suffer. I, therefore, oppose the provision. The provision in the old Village Panchayat Act was far more useful and practicable than the one which is being proposed in this Bill. With these remarks I oppose the clause.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, the reason for my opposing clause 52 is that it is necessary to lay down in this part of the Bill that the panchayats will afford such and such facilities to the litigants in the matter of leading evidence. I had tabled an amendment with a view to making it clear that the panchayats will give opportunity to the parties to a dispute to make full and detailed statements before them. In this way they will be satisfied that justice will be done to them. It may be laid down that only the most important part of evidence will be recorded and the rest will not be recorded. But no such safeguard has been provided. My point is that when we are empowering the panchayats to hear suits of the value of Rs. 250 and even Rs. 500, the parties should be satisfied that all efforts will be made to find out the truth and that they will be afforded full facilities to reply to the points at issue. The clause as at present worded does not lay down that these facilities will be afforded to the parties when their case comes up before a panchayat. Now, what happens in an ordinary court of law? I am sure even after the passage of this Bill, good many cases will still go to ordinary law courts. If a suit of the value of say five or ten rupees goes to a court the court will observe all the procedure laid down in the Civil Procedure Code. The parties will have the right to make statements and to get the points at issue fixed. After that it will be open to them to lead as much evidence as they like. But here in this clause a sort of blank cheque is being offered to the panchayats. If a widow or an orphan or a poor man brings forward her or his suit before a panchayat, the panchayat will not be bound to observe any procedure. It may be said that procedure will be laid down in the rules made under the new Act. But the attitude taken up by the Government with respect to the numerous amendments tabled from this side of the House is a pointer to what is coming. No procedure will be laid down even under the rules. The rules will be surely as reactionary as is this Bill. As no suggestion made by us in regard to this clause has been considered by the Government, I strongly oppose this clause.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (3) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 52 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 53.

Mr. Speaker : Clause 53.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, my reason for opposing clause 53 is that justice is not being done to the litigants. Attempts are being made, it so appears, that every dispute brought forward before a panchayat, may be dismissed for one reason or another. I think that the scheme of this Bill seems to be in favour of dismissing most of the suits coming before panchayats. The value of the suits going to the panchayats has been placed at a fairly high level. But no right of appeal is being given to those who will go to panchayats to seek justice. This provision, I emphasise, is wholly unjust. I, therefore, oppose the entire clause.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 53 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 54.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I beg to move—

That in line 10, for the word "lawful" the word "legitimate" be substituted.

The object of this amendment is to help the Honourable Minister in charge of this Bill. If the word "lawful" is retained, the difficulty which my honourable friend wishes to avoid, will remain. It means that the Evidence Act will apply. By the substitution of the word "legitimate" I wish to lay down that it will be open to the panchayats to adopt any legitimate means to find out the truth. The word "lawful" will be an obstacle in the way of the panchayat. It will make it obligatory upon the panchayat to record evidence according to the procedure laid down in the Evidence Act. What I wish to be done is that the panchayat be allowed to take all steps which it deems necessary to determine who is in the right and who is in the wrong from among the parties to a dispute. The most important function of a panchayat is to get round all the difficulties which courts established according to the British pattern find in arriving at the true conclusions. The panchayat will be free from all those limitations which operate in the case of the courts which administer law according to the British standards. I want to provide that if the panchayat so desires, it may ascertain the truth from any gentleman of known integrity. In view of these considerations, I propose that the word "lawful" be replaced by the word "legitimate". This will make the work of the panchayats easier.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That in line 10, for the word "lawful" the word "legitimate" be substituted.

Minister for Public Works : We have the same purpose in view. It is a question of legal language whether the word "lawful" is better or the word "legitimate". Personally I would prefer the word "lawful". If the honourable member, being a lawyer of standing, presses the substitution of the other word I have no special objection.

Mr. Speaker : The word "legitimate" is probably wider.

Minister for Public Works : I accept the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in line 10, for the word "lawful" the word "legitimate" be substituted.

The motion was carried.

Lala Duni Chand : (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu) : I beg to move—

That in line 12 between the words "with" and "justice" the words "the facts as ascertained and the law applicable and in accordance with principles of" be inserted.

Sir, I need hardly say that the acceptance of my amendment would go a long way in clarifying the clause under consideration, which runs as follows—

The provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, shall not apply to proceedings before panchayats, save to the extent mentioned in this Act or as may be prescribed by Government by rules; but the panchayat shall ascertain the facts of every criminal case or civil suit by all lawful means in its power and thereafter pass such order, sentence or decree as may be in accordance with justice, equity and good conscience.

The last words of the clause are definitely legal terms. My submission is that cases are generally decided under two kinds of laws. One is common law and the other is chancery law. The expression "justice, equity and good conscience" is in fact found in the chancery law. But it would be immensely difficult for a panchayat to return verdict according to justice, equity and good conscience. Thus with a view to facilitate its work I propose the insertion of the words "the facts as ascertained and the law applicable and in accordance with the principles of". My contention is that every case should be decided on its own merits. If you allow the panchayats to make use of the chancery law it will give rise to great complications and misunderstandings. This law is applicable only where we do not find any definite law. Let me give an instance of a case which has become time-barred and which should be dismissed. But the Panchayat may say that since the plaintiff is poor the dismissal of the case would make him suffer heavily. So he decides to pass a decree in favour of the plaintiff. Now this decision of his might be described to have been made in accordance with justice, equity and good conscience. The Honourable Minister has incorporated these words in the clause but he does not know that they are used only as a last resort. Let me inform him that clause 5 of the Laws Act provides that such and such cases should be decided according to custom prevailing in the Punjab. If the custom does not help the court to arrive at a certain definite conclusion then the latter is free to resort to the personal law, i.e., Hindu Law or Muhammadan Law. If the personal law is inapplicable the court then and only then is expected to make use of the chancery law. Now, if you persist in keeping the clause as it is, it will, I am sure, give rise to several misunderstandings. With these words I assure the Honourable Minister that the acceptance of my amendment will surely make the clause more sensible.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in line 12, between the words "with" and "justice" the words "the facts as ascertained and the law applicable and in accordance with principles of" be inserted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 54 as amended stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 55.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) : Sir, I beg to move—

That in line 1, between the words "who" and "is" the words "himself or any of his relations" be inserted.

As far as this amendment is concerned I am sure the Minister in charge will accept it. It has been provided in clause 55—

No panch who is a party to, or is otherwise personally interested in, a criminal case or a civil suit shall sit on the panchayat which hears it and if by reason of the number of panches disqualified by this section their remains no quorum the panchayat shall send the case to the District Magistrate or District Judge as the case may be for disposal in accordance with law.

Only this much has been given in the clause under discussion that if a panch is personally interested in a criminal case he shall not sit on the panchayat which hears it. It has not been clearly expressed that if his brother or son is interested in that particular case what the position would be. No mention has been made to this effect in the clause. I, therefore, submit that this point should more clearly be expressed as to whether 'personally interested' includes the interests of the relations of that panch also. I hope that the Minister in charge will respond to my amendment.

Minister for Public Works : You will see the words "personally interested" are there : it means his relations also, for he must be interested in them.

Lala Duni Chand Personally means the man himself is interested and not his relations.

Minister : The word "relation" is very vague.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in line 1, between the words "who" and "is" the words "himself or any of his relations" be inserted.

Munshi Hari Lal (South-Western Towns, General, Urban) : If the idea is, as given by the Honourable Minister, that the word 'personally' will include the interest of the son and also the interest of the brother, I believe we will be going off the English language. 'Personallay' here may mean concerning the person. 'Personally' will not mean concerning the son, concerning the brother, and concerning near relations. What I submit is that if the Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill accepts the principle that the interests of the relations should also be included, in 'personally' let him be bold enough to say so, and to provide for it. If the words 'or is otherwise interested' are added, I can very well understand that the interests of brother, the interests of father, the interests of son and the interests of a near relation are covered. When we are to introduce the adjective and the adverb 'personally' that means an interest that concerns the person alone and not a person other than the person himself. This is the dictionary meaning. This is the meaning that every law court will put. This is the meaning that every lawyer will put. This is the meaning which every panchayat will put. The amendment by Lala Duni Chand is quite advisable and is in accordance with the views of the Honourable Minister who says that in this clause the interests of near relations are also included. I submit, Sir, that either the word 'personally' be omitted or the amendment of my honourable friend be accepted.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in line 1, between the words "who" and "is" the words "himself or any of his relations" be inserted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 55 stand part of the Bill.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I rise to oppose the clause.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member should not bring in matters which have been discussed and decided already.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I assure you that I will not bring them in again. As far as the dictionary meaning of the word 'personally' is concerned—

Mr. Speaker : That matter also has been discussed already.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : The whole clause as it stands clearly means that in any case which is pending before a panchayat if any person on the panchayat or a panch is interested indirectly in that case, the panchayat will be entitled to hear that case and decide it. After all the panches will be human beings and they will be amenable to the ordinary weaknesses which are found in all men. Under the circumstances, the wholesome principle which is laid down in the clause preceding that the panches will be actuated by justice, equity and good conscience will be defeated. Even the ordinary procedure of law is shut up. In spite of all this the Honourable Minister in charge is committing this blunder. When all these people are to be actuated by the principles of equity and justice, he is not alive to this fact. After all, these people are human beings and they can be led away by their kiths and kins. They will not do their duty which is expected of them and they will not be able to administer justice. With these words I oppose the clause.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 55 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the chair and Mr. Deputy Speaker occupied it.)

Clause 56.

Lala Duni Chand : (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu) : I beg to move—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the words " but no compounding of any offence or compromise shall be allowed unless it is effected by means of a petition duly signed and presented by the parties " be added.

Sir, it is a matter of daily occurrence that when a case is compounded, one of the parties which considers itself to be comparatively loser comes before a court and lodges a complaint to the effect that no such compromise has been effected. The aggrieved person contends that he has been deceived by the other party and was forcibly made to affix his thumb-impression on a blank paper and that therefore he does not recognise the compromise. Personally I am strongly in favour of effecting compromises. But my submission is that they should be written and duly signed. Unless you definitely provide in the Bill that compromise should be effected by means of a petition duly signed and presented by the parties concerned you would not make the clause clear and definite. Although I know that generally these compromises are executed in writing yet the clause as it stands clearly shows that it leaves a chance for a verbal compromise. So in order to remove the ambiguity in the wording of the clause I feel constrained to press my amendment. If you do not accept it the lacuna in the clause would, instead of discouraging litigation, create chances for further suits. Supposing a compromise is verbally effected. Now a party comes before a court complaining that no such compromise has been executed. The result would be that a new civil suit would be filed. In this way the re-filing of the case would surely involve much waste of time, labour and money. If you are in favour of dispensing speedy justice then I am sure you would readily accept my amendment. Otherwise I will feel constrained to say that the Government itself wants to protract and prolong the proceedings of the panchayats.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved is—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the words " but no compounding of any offence or compromise shall be allowed unless it is effected by means of a petition duly signed and presented by the parties " be added.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana): I do not think this amendment is necessary. It will be for the panchayat to decide. It may, as is now done in criminal courts, have a written compromise if it so wishes. The parties can give the statements and if the fact of the compromise is endorsed—just as in a court where it is valid—that should be enough here also. When the panchayat, composing of the elected representatives of the people, endorses the compromise, it is certainly better than somebody else putting it in writing for the parties and later on some one saying that he did not put his thumb-mark on it. It gives rise to misunderstanding. The panchayat's certificate of compromise is a better safeguard than anything else. I therefore oppose the amendment.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Question is—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the words "but no compounding of any offence or compromise shall be allowed unless it is effected by means of a petition duly signed and presented by the parties" be added.

The motion was lost.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural): Sir, I move for leave to move the following amendment—

That for sub-clause (1), the following be substituted :—

Where it is proved to its satisfaction that a case has been compounded or a suit has been adjusted wholly or in part by oath or by Compounding of any lawful agreement, compromise or satisfaction, the Panchayat shall order such compounding or agreement, compromise of satisfaction to be recorded and shall pass an order or decree in accordance therewith so far as it relates to the case or suit :

Provided that when the Panchayat does not permit a case to be compounded or it does not pass a decree in accordance with the agreement, compromise or satisfaction, it shall record its reasons in writing.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Question is—

That sub-clauses (1) and (2) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Question is—

That clause 56 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 57.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural): Sir, I beg to move—

That in line 4, between the words "shall" and "be", the words "except with the leave of the panchayat" be inserted.

(Urdu): My honourable friend Lala Duni Chand is going to move an amendment to the effect that this clause may be omitted. But I know that it will not be accepted by the Government. It will be said that neither the civil nor the criminal law nor the Limitation Act will be applicable to the proceedings before the panchayats and, therefore, there can be no need of a lawyer. But I submit that even then the assistance of a lawyer will be necessary in certain cases. So far as ordinary cases of loans, etc., are concerned the panchayats may not require the assistance of a lawyer, but there may arise questions as to the validity of a compromise and the panchayat may require the help of a lawyer in regard to the legal aspect of that compromise. Similarly, there can be many other complicated questions about which the panchayat will stand in need of the legal opinion. Hence this amendment.

Then, Sir, clause 58 lays down that a lawyer or his clerk or even a petition-writer cannot act as the agent of any party. But you know that in every village there are certain uneducated "professional lawyers", and by placing these restrictions on lawyers you will enhance the importance of those professionals who will play havoc in the villages. Naturally the result will be that those people would become vakils in the panchayats who even do not know the A, B, C of law. I, therefore, submit that it would be much better if in special cases the panchayats allow the legal practitioners to appear before them. If this amendment is carried it will give discretion to the panchayat to allow legal practitioners to appear before them with their leave. I would, therefore, request the Minister in charge to agree to this amendment.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in line 4, between the words "shall" and "be" the words "except with the leave of the Panchayat" be inserted.

Munshi Hari Lal (South-Western Towns, General, Urban): Sir, Whenever I hear the word 'legal practitioners' uttered in the House, I find a wave of antipathy in the Unionist benches. I do not know why I. Probably they think that when a legal practitioner appears before the panchayats he will not give any assistance to the panchayat or the parties. I will submit my reasons why a legal practitioner should be allowed. My honourable friend has moved an amendment which gives power to the panchayats, to permit legal practitioners to appear before them. They are not to appear as a matter of right. The practitioner when permitted will be a henchman of the panchayat. He will be dependent upon the panchayat. He will be at the mercy of the panchayat. He will not be able to serve so much the party as his own interests. Power of permission is to be given to the panchayat. We have just now passed clause 48. It says that no civil suit of the nature laid down in the Section shall lie before the panchayat. The Panchayat Act is like the Small Cause Court Act. The cases that are cognizable by the small cause court, are exempted from the jurisdiction of the ordinary courts. Does my honourable friend the Minister in charge and the Honourable Minister who sits by him know that complicated cases arise out of contracts? The panchayats will be hearing cases, not only simple cases of money, but cases which would be far more complicated.

Shaikh Faiz Muhammad : There is a misunderstanding. Cases enumerated in section 48 will not be tried by the panchayats.

Munshi Hari Lal : My honourable friend has not followed me. I said that these cases do not fall within the jurisdiction of the panchayat. I say it at the top of my voice and if my honourable friend has not followed me I repeat it that cases other than those enumerated in Section 48 are cognizable by panchayats. I gave one type of cases arising out of contract which do not fall within the exceptions provided in section 43. In cases under the law of contract, there arise intricacies and even the courts presided over by Judges who have studied law and have experience are sometimes bewildered to solve the riddles, involved therein. Does not my honourable friend know that cases covered by the Contract Act are cognizable by the panchayats, because they are not excepted under section 43? Then there may be the question of custom. Does my honourable friend mean to say that the panchayats are not going to take cognizance of the cases in which substantially, collaterally, directly or indirectly, the question of custom is involved? I was giving you cases in which complications might arise and where the need of the lawyer might be felt. What is the rule laid down for the decision of such cases? The sponsors of the Bill say that the rule will be the rule of equity, justice and good conscience. These are the words that have been borrowed from the English Law and in England they relate to cases falling outside the jurisdiction of the common law. Cases are decided according to the principles of equity, justice and good conscience by the Chancery courts and they are persons who are far more experienced than the persons who administer common law. My honourable friend thinks that it would be easy for our panches to administer justice according to these principles. But when intricate questions come before the courts, even the most astute lawyers, having years of experience at their back, are not able to answer satisfactorily such questions. Under the Bill you are giving powers to panches to settle knotty questions. There is a possibility of their finding it difficult to solve such questions, where is the harm to give them the assistance of the lawyers, if they want to seek light from them? The Punjab Relief of Indebtedness Act was passed in 1934. It is to relieve the debtors and the agriculturists. It is for their relief that the debt conciliation boards are set up. Even in these cases coming before the boards we find that there is a provision and according to section 24 of the Relief of Indebtedness Act any party may with the permission of the board be represented by a legal practitioner.

4 p. m.

Minister for Public Works : It is a sheer waste of time of the House. The legal practitioner cannot appear before the panchayat.

Munshi Hari Lal : I am pained to hear such words from the Honourable Minister. My honourable friend conveniently forgets that by debarring the legal practitioner from appearing before the panchayat he is inflicting injustice on the people. I may point out to him that he is denying that very justice to the villagers, for which he and his friend are pining day in and day out and for the administration of which he wants to make the panchayat very efficient.

It should be within the discretion of the panchayat to permit a lawyer to appear before them or not. It should be the panchayat who should decide whether in a particular case or whether in a particular type of cases a lawyer is required to state before them the proposition and the facts so that they may be able to administer justice. What does the phrase, justice, equity and good conscience mean? I submit that the panchayat will have to decide cases of complicated nature and it would be in the interest of justice that a lawyer should be allowed to appear before them in order to clear the intricate points. Of course it would be within the discretion of the panchayat to allow or permit a lawyer in a particular case or not. If you are going to administer justice to the litigants and the litigants stand in need of the assistance of a lawyer, they should be permitted to have a lawyer. What we demand is that the panchayat should have discretion in allowing or refusing the appearance of a lawyer. The hands of the panchayat should not be tied down. The Panchayat should have discretion in this matter and whenever they feel the need of the services of lawyer, they should have them. With these words I support the amendment.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma (Kangra, West, General, Rural.) (Urdu) : Mr. Deputy Speaker, it is a matter of gratification that a practising lawyer of your calibre and personality is occupying the presidential Chair of the Assembly at the time when a matter which vitally concerns the lawyers is under discussion. (Hear, hear). You are aware, Sir, that the institution of lawyers has been brought into existence with a view to render help in the administration of justice. (Voices from the Ministerial benches : Question) I would ask my honourable friends to enquire from Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram if he can deny this fact.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I would request the honourable members not to interrupt.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I was submitting that the institution of legal practitioners was created to render assistance in the administration of justice. I fail to understand why the Unionist Government is afraid of the legal practitioners appearing before the panchayats. Heavens would not fall down if this wholesome amendment is accepted. It is a pity that the Government are denying the people the help of legal knowledge which they could avail themselves of in order to secure justice at the hands of the panchayats. I may point out to the honourable members that the panchayats have been invested with powers to try civil and criminal cases. They are empowered to adjudicate cases under section 379 and 411, Indian Penal Code. In view of this it becomes all the more incumbent upon the Government to permit the accused to get himself represented by a legal practitioner, so that the latter may clarify the intricacies of law and put the case of his client in a lucid manner. Mr. Deputy Speaker, you being a practising lawyer, are fully aware of the conditions prevailing in the villages. You know what sort of panches would be available to serve on the panchayats. None can gainsay the facts that the villagers are steeped in ignorance. The panches who would be elected to the panchayats, would not be highly educated or possess sufficient legal knowledge to administer even-handed justice. If the legal practitioners are debarred from appearing before the panchayats, I shudder to think of the verdicts given by them. In this connection I am reminded of an honorary magistrate in my district. He was invested with powers to try criminal and civil cases. But, unfortunately he was illiterate and therefore, completely ignorant of all knowledge of law. Whenever he had to decide the cases, he would invariably ask his reader as to what the Lal Kitab (Indian Penal Code) said on the matter. (Laughter). I am of the opinion that we are going to have panches of the same type.

Minister for Public Works : But there would be no Lal Kitab with the panchayats.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sahrma : Yes, such things are expected of the Unionist Government. We know how laws are enacted here in the Assembly. Government want that there should be no Lal Kitab for the panchayats so that the latter while adjudicating criminal cases, may have a free hand in giving arbitrary judgments.

Minister for Public Works : But they would start with clean slate and clear conscience.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : We often hear such pious hopes and platitudes. Well, Sir, we fully realise that when there would be no justice there would be no need of legal practitioners to appear before the panchayats. Such irregularities are expected during the regime of the Unionist Government. However I would assert that no harm would result if a person who stood accused before a panchayat was permitted to avail himself of the services of a legal practitioner to clear himself. With these words I support the amendment now before the House.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The question is—

That in line 4, between the words "shall" and "be," the words "except with the leave of the Panchayat" be inserted.

The Assembly divided. Ayes : 22. Noes 72.

Mr. Speaker : The question is —

That clause 57 stand part of the Bill.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I rise to oppose clause 57 as a whole. I think this clause should be wiped out of this Bill, and I have very good reasons for saying so. I am confident that there will be no difficulty in making my lawyer friends in this House understand my point of view and I also hope that if the non-lawyers members of this House will listen to my arguments, they too will be able to appreciate the true position. Anyway I will make an attempt to show that this clause deserves to be turned down by the House.

(L. Duni Chand.)

I may be allowed to submit that I am aware of certain Acts under which lawyers are not permitted to appear and defend cases. But nonetheless I am of the opinion that lawyers should be allowed to appear before panchayats. In the first place I would like to enlighten the House as to what kind of cases—civil and criminal both—will be heard by the panchayats. The panchayats constituted by this Bill will not be ordinary panchayats. They will be given wide powers pertaining to civil as well as criminal cases. In addition to this, the panchayats will be entrusted with administrative powers. A perusal of sections 21 and 22 will reveal that the panchayats will be empowered to open or close thoroughfares, to demolish buildings belonging to others and do so many other things. It will be within the jurisdiction of panchayats to try all criminal cases excepting those which are specifically excluded. For instance all those offences, the punishment for which is not to be imprisonment or transportation for life, will be compulsorily tried by the panchayats. I may point out that there are ninety per cent sections in the Indian Penal Code under which it is not obligatory on courts to pass sentence of imprisonment. It means that cases under all such sections of the Indian Penal Code will come up before the panchayats. Then, civil suits up to the value of Rs. 250 will also be triable by the panchayats. Further, the Government wishes to retain the right of extending this limit to Rs. 500. I am of the opinion that after the passage of this Bill 95 per cent of cases will go to the panchayats. I think that the British system of jurisprudence has done great harm to this country inasmuch as it has increased litigation out of all proportion. I have always striven during my practice at the bar that the growing litigation should be lessened. When you know that the panchayats will exercise wide powers you must provide some advisory agency for them. If this Bill had come up twenty years ago, I would have agreed with you that legal practitioners should not be allowed to appear before panchayats. But in view of the present state of the legal profession, I think lawyers should be allowed to appear before the panchayats. In these days if there are a hundred legal practitioners in a district, only five or seven among them are such who earn 4 to 5 hundred rupees. There may be hardly ten or fifteen who may be earning something between a hundred and a hundred and fifty rupees. (At this stage Mr. Speaker resumed the Chair.)

Sixty per cent of lawyers are not earning even forty to fifty rupees a month. The rest, that is, forty per cent of them do not earn even ten to fifteen rupees a month. There is a large number of lawyers who are not earning even a pice in these days. And it is clear that in future if there is any scope for lawyers that is in the rural areas. We find that in the courts of honorary magistrates in rural areas dozens of lawyers are to be found. I do not propose that we should make it possible for these lawyers to earn a hundred or two hundred rupees each. What I want is that these people should get a living wage. There are hundreds of lawyers in the Punjab who are practically starving in these days. I want that those lawyers who belong to villages and may be doing their farming work, to supplement their income should be enabled to add fifteen or twenty rupees to their income. The condition of some professions in these days is really pitiable. Especially medical and legal practitioners are in a bad way. If my friends on the Government benches agree to providing a chance of earning livelihood to these people in rural areas, I think, there will be no harm. If it is feared that the lawyers will introduce their clever practices into the panchayats which they have learnt at the urban bars, that fear is unfounded. They will do nothing of the sort. In panchayats they will say only reasonable things and try to explain the implications of law in a reasonable way. Moreover, my friends are making a new experiment by enacting this Bill. All the deputy commissioners who have so far exercised the power of constituting panchayats have expressed the opinion that the panchayat system has proved a failure. Why have the deputy commissioners expressed this opinion? They know that up to the present time the villagers who are appointed as members of the panchayats do not realise their responsibility. The Government, therefore, is making a bold experiment by giving such wide powers to the panchayats. It is, therefore necessary that some persons who may be in a position to explain all the implications of law before the panchayats, are allowed to appear before them.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is repeating his arguments again and again.

Lala Duni Chand : I have not repeated a single argument, I wish you to point out any. I am giving new arguments and I have taken every care in advancing them. I may tell you that I am extremely afraid of you. I have not repeated a single argument and I challenge you to point out what I have repeated.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member has over and over again said that as panchayats do not know law, lawyers should be allowed to give them legal advice.

Lala Duni Chand : This was for the first time, that I said it. Before this I did not say anything about it.

(Voices.—The honourable member may be asked to withdraw the word, 'challenge')

Mr. Speaker : Has the honourable member challenged my remarks? If so, he will please withdraw his challenge.

Lala Duni Chand : I do not want to offend you, so I withdraw it. (Urdu): Sir, I was saying that it is necessary that there should be an agency which may be employed to explain the implications of the law before the panchayats. There can be no fear that if lawyers are allowed to appear before panchayats the latter will be tempted to abuse their powers, or that the lawyers will corrupt the members of the panchayats. The lawyers, on the other hand, will render every help to the panchayats so that the latter may discharge their responsibility with efficiency. With these words, I oppose clause 57.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 57 stand part of the Bill.

(Voices from the Opposition Benches.—Only one honourable member has spoken so far.)

(Voices from the Treasury Benches.—Question may now be put.)

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That the question be now put.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 57 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

The Assembly then adjourned till 12 noon, on Thursday, 7th December, 1939.

PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

SIXTH SESSION OF THE FIRST PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Thursday, 7th December, 1939.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at 12 noon of the clock. Mr. Speaker in the Chair.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

ARREST OF S. RATTAN SINGH.

*5565. Sardar Partab Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that one S. Rattan Singh of village Mandhali, district Jullundur, has been arrested by the police ; if so, the date of his arrest and the law under which the arrest has been made ;

(b) where is he at present locked up ;

(c) whether he was ever kept in the Lahore Fort ; if so, the period of his lock up there ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) Yes ; on 13th October 1939 under rule 129 of the Defence of India Rules.

(b) and (c) He has been detained in Lahore Fort since 25th October, 1939 under section 2 of the Punjab Criminal Law (Amendment) Act.

PERSONS ARRESTED OR INTERNED UNDER DEFENCE OF INDIA ORDINANCE OR ACT.

*5587. Chaudhri Muhammad Abdul Rahman Khan : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) the following particulars about persons arrested or interned in the province under the Defence of India Ordinance or Act :
(i) names, (ii) the name of the party to which the prisoner or the internee belongs, (iii) the date of arrest or internment, (iv) the class allotted in the jail, (v) the date of the delivery of speech on the score of which the arrest or internment took place ;

(b) whether in any case the arrest was made in consequence of a speech delivered prior to the issuing of the Defence of India Ordinance ; if so, the justification for that arrest ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : I regret the required information is not yet ready.

CORRUPTION CASES.

5594. Chaudhri Muhammad Abdul Rahman Khan : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of corruption cases tried since April, 1937 up-to-date ;
- (b) the number of cases in which the culprits were convicted ;
- (c) whether the number of corruption cases in the present year shows any increase on that of the last year ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : A statement showing the action taken against corrupt officials in the Punjab during the financial year 1937-38 was forwarded as usual to the Secretary of the Assembly, for the information of honourable members, in July last. The statement for 1938-39 is under preparation and will in due course be given to members in the same way. These statements do not include particulars of those cases which failed in the courts, but the information which they contain is in considerable detail and will probably serve the honourable member's purpose.

5599. Postponed.

USE OF THE WORD "MUSLIM" INSTEAD OF THE WORD "MUHAMMADAN".

5627. Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether any representation has been made by the Muslims of different places in the province asking him to issue instructions to all Government Departments and institutions that the word "Muslim", must be used instead of "Muhammadan", wherever the necessity arises for such use ;
- (b) if the reply to (a) above be in the affirmative, the action taken thereon ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) and (b) No such representations are traceable but Government has recently issued instructions to the effect that the word "Muslim" be used by all Government Department.

MEMORIALS AGAINST THE ORDERS OF HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS.

5629. Shaikh Karamat Ali : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that memorials addressed to a Minister of the Government or to the Punjab Government appealing against the orders of the heads of departments are more often than not withheld by the heads of the departments ;
- (b) whether he is aware of the fact that the above often results in grave injustice to the memorialists ;
- (c) whether he is prepared to issue definite orders to the effect that in future all memorials addressed to the Punjab Government or any Minister of the Government should be sent up for orders and should not be detained or delayed by heads of departments ; if not, why not ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood): (a) Not so far as I am aware.

(b) No.

(c) The question is being examined.

PROMOTION OF GOVERNMENT SERVANTS WITH WAR SERVICE.

5630. Shaikh Karamat Ali: Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that in 1914 or thereabout (during the Great War) the Punjab Government issued a circular to the effect that Government servants with war services to their credit should be given preference in the matter of promotion over the heads of others with no war services to their credit;

(b) whether it is a fact that this circular is not being considered by the heads of departments while granting promotions; if so, why;

(c) whether it is a fact that for want of definite instructions on the subject many heads of departments fail to do justice to the war claims of great many of the Government servants with better records than their seniors; if so, the action the Government intends to take in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood): (a) No. Instructions were issued in December 1917 that in selecting persons for appointment to posts under the Punjab Government preference should be shown to men with war services, but it was never the intention that in the matter of promotion such persons should be given preferential treatment over other officials in the service.

(b) and (c) Do not arise.

DEMANDING OF SECURITY FROM PANJABER "SHER-I-GURMUKHI" AND "DUKHI DUNYA."

5639. Master Kabul Singh: Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether any security has been demanded from Panjabee Sher-i-Gurmukhi weekly published in Lahore and also from Dukhi Dunya, a Gurmukhi weekly, published in Jullundur;

(b) if so, the date when orders demanding securities were passed and the articles on the basis of which these orders were passed;

(c) whether these papers have since deposited security or have ceased publication?

Parliamentary Secretary (Khan Bahadur Mian Ahmad Yar Khan, Daulatana): (a) Yes.

(b) 26th July and 5th September, 1939, respectively. It is not in the public interest to lay the objectionable articles on the table of the House.

(c) No. They have closed down.

Master Kabul Singh : Is it a fact that two or three pictures of the ex-Babar Akalis and Congress workers, on account of the publication of which security was demanded from Dukhi Dunya, appeared in other newspapers as well ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The articles on the basis of which security was demanded are known to the publisher. It is not necessary for me to say on the basis of what articles security was demanded.

Master Kabul Singh : Is it a fact that Sardar Hari Singh Sundh, Sardar Munsha Singh and Sardar Sunder Singh are no longer Babar Akalis and are working as Congressmen ?

Parliamentary Secretary : May be.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Has the security been demanded for publishing some articles or for printing the pictures ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The publisher concerned knows that fully.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Does not my honourable friend know whether it was for publishing some articles or pictures that the security was demanded ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already answered.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : The question is this : Whether the publication of articles or that of the pictures was objectionable. I have not asked what was the nature of the articles and the pictures.

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes. Ask the publisher who is your friend.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Under what rule does the Parliamentary Secretary say : " Ask the publisher " when a question is being put to him on the floor of the Assembly ?

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if it is opposed to public interest to let the honourable members of this House know the contents or the nature of the articles.

Parliamentary Secretary : It is not necessary.

Lala Duni Chand : What objection has the Parliamentary Secretary to disclose the nature of those articles ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already stated that it is not in public interest to give further publicity to those articles.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : On a point of order, Sir. May I know if the Parliamentary Secretary is in order to say that the reply may be had from a third person if the question is addressed to him ?

Master Kabul Singh : May I know if any warning was given to the Punjabi Sher before demanding security ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am not sure.

EXEMPTION FROM LICENCE FEES FOR MILITARY OFFICERS.

5670. Khan Haibat Khan Daga : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- whether it is a fact that Military Officers are exempt from paying licence fee for keeping arms ;
- whether they have been asking from time to time for exemption from the payment of fee for shooting licence also ;
- if answer to (a) and (b) above be in the affirmative, the action taken or intended to be taken on their representation ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Chaudhri Tikka Ram) : (a) Speaking broadly, this is so.

(b) Only one petition on this subject has recently been received by Government from certain Military Officers, residing in the Kangra district.

(c) As the proposed exemption would tend to defeat the object, viz. the preservation of wild life for which the Act was passed, Government find themselves unable to adopt the exemption suggested.

CONVICTIONS UNDER THE DEFENCE OF INDIA ORDINANCE AND ACT.

5682. Munshi Hari Lal : Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state—

- the number of convictions under the Defence of India Ordinance and Act in the Punjab up till 31st October, 1939 ;
- how many convicts out of these have been given A or B class ;
- how many convicts out of these mentioned in (a) have been given A or B class in Multan district ?

The Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal : (a) 40.

(b) Class ' A '	1
Class ' B '	1
(c) None.

CASES REGISTERED UNDER THE DEFENCE OF INDIA ORDINANCE.

5740. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state the number of cases registered under the Defence of India Ordinance from the 1st September, 1939, up to 1st November, 1939, by the Punjab Government in the Punjab giving fullest details of the names of the persons proceeded against along with the names of the districts in which they were registered ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : I regret that the answer to this Question is not yet ready.

K. B. MIAN AHMAD YAR KHAN DAULATANA'S VISIT TO DHARAMSALA.

5747. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- whether it is a fact that Nawab Ahmad Yar Khan Daulatana visited Palampur in the district Kangra during the summer months of this year ;

[Pt. Bhagat Ram Sharma.]

(b) whether this visit was on official business ;

(c) whether he along with Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram visited Palampur tahsil of district Kangra during the last summer and addressed a public meeting at Saliana in that tahsil ;

(d) how much amount, if any, was drawn by each of them by way of travelling allowance for their visit to Saliana ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) Yes

(b) No.

(c) No.

(d) None, as far as the Parliamentary Secretary, Political, is concerned. Such travelling allowances as was due under the rules and within the vote of the Assembly was paid to the Honourable Minister of Development.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : With reference to part (b), may I know from the Parliamentary Secretary whether the visit of the Secretary was in connection with the district board elections ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already said that it was not in connection with any official visit.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know whether the Chief Secretary of the Unionist Party was participating in the district board elections while at Palampur ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know the approximate amount drawn by the Minister as travelling allowance in connection with the official business for which the Minister went there ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If my honourable friend gives notice I will answer that question.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know whether the visit was official or private ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It was official so far as the Minister for Development is concerned.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know the official business which was transacted ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If a notice is given I will consider the reply.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : What was the approximate amount drawn by the Minister ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Such travelling allowances as was due under the rules and within the vote of the Assembly was paid to the Minister.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : What was the amount ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I now ask to whether addressing of public meetings was also part of official duties ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : It is clear from the reply to part (d) of the question that a certain amount of travelling allowance has been drawn by the Honourable Minister. However, the Parliamentary Secretary is not in a position to say how much. May I know the reason why he is not in a position to do so? Is it because the Honourable Minister did not transact any official business?

Mr. Speaker : Please avoid insinuations.

Lala Duni Chand : The original question asked is whether the visit related to official business. If the question related to official business, how does the Parliamentary Secretary say that he wants fresh notice. The question is already there. He was requested to let the House know what was the official business and he says he wants fresh notice.

SARDAR RATTAN SINGH OF VILLAGE MANDHALI.

5752. Sardar Partab Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether Sardar Rattan Singh of village Mandhali, district Jullundur, arrested by the police under the Defence of India Act on 13th September, 1939, is interned in the Lahore Fort ;

(b) whether it is a fact that he has been abused and tortured there ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : (a) He was arrested on the 18th October, 1939, and not the 13th September. He is detained in Lahore Fort.

(b) No.

Sardar Hari Singh : With reference to answer to part (b) of the question, will the Parliamentary Secretary state whether it is a fact that the answer is based on the statement of the officer in charge against whom serious allegations of torture of the man in custody are made ?

Parliamentary Secretary : We have made enquiries through the usual channel, but if the honourable member has any special complaint, I will endeavour to examine it.

Sardar Hari Singh : I want to know as to who investigated the allegation of torture.

Parliamentary Secretary : I cannot give that information off-hand, but if the honourable member gives notice I shall find out.

SUPPLY CONTRACTORS IN CONNECTION WITH FAMINE IN HISSAR DISTRICT.

4701. Chaudhri Sahib Ram : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state the names of contractors approved by the Government for supplying fodder, baskets, and spades to the famine-stricken area of the Hissar district and the total price of fodder and other material supplied by them so far ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : The appointments of contractors are made by the local authorities and do not require the approval of Government.

[Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan.]

The total price paid by the Deputy Commissioner, Hissar, to contractors for supply of fodder, baskets and spades amounted to Rs. 7,20,904. In addition to this the Fodder Adviser purchased 21 lakhs maunds of fodder for the distressed areas; the price of which used in the Hissar district has not been separately calculated.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know the name of the local authority who is supposed to approve of these contracts?

Parliamentary Secretary : The Fodder Adviser.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know the names of the contractors who are at present supplying fodder?

Parliamentary Secretary : How can I tell the names of the contractors when they are not submitted to the Government for approval?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is not the Fodder Adviser, who generally approves of those contracts, working under the administrative control of the Punjab Government?

Parliamentary Secretary : If he is under the Government it does not mean that he should consult the Government even with regard to unimportant and minute details. If my honourable friend wants to know the names I would require notice.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : The notice is already there. In the main question the Honourable Minister has been asked to state the names of the contractors.

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes, but approved by the Government.

ACHHUT CLERKS IN RELIEF WORKS IN HISSAR DISTRICT.

4703. Chaudhri Sahib Ram : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state the number of clerks belonging to the Achhut community employed in the relief works in the Hissar district?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) :—Three.

Sardar Mula Singh : What is the total number of clerks employed in the relief works in the Hissar district?

Parliamentary Secretary : If the honourable member gives notice I shall be glad to supply the required information.

REPRESENTATION OF TENANTS OF VILLAGE SADALPUR, DISTRICT HISSAR.

4807. Chaudhri Sahib Ram : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether he received a representation of the tenants of village Sadalpur, district Hissar, through me on 22nd March, 1939, praying that taccavi loans may be advanced to them; if so, the action taken upon that representation?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : Yes. The representation has been forwarded to the Commissioner, Ambala division, for disposal.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What was the result of the enquiry ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I cannot say anything about it. The distribution of taccavi loans is the concern of the local authorities.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Does or does not the Government enjoy any powers in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The Government gives the money but it is distributed by the local authorities.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What was the result of the representation that was forwarded to the Commissioner ? Was or was not any taccavi advanced to them ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If you look at the original question this information was not demanded. It was asked as to what action has been taken, and the reply is that the money was sanctioned by the Government for the purpose.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Then what was the result of that 'action'?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have stated all the facts and now the honourable member can judge from those facts what the result was.

DESTRUCTION OF CROPS BY MONKEYS IN ILAQA NEAR DHUMRAI BRIDGE, UPPER BARI DOAB CANAL.

4857. Chaudhri Ali Akbar : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that between Bhimpur and Dhumrai bridges on the main line of the Upper Bari Doab Canal there is a very large number of old and huge trees which are giving shelter to a large number of monkeys and other wild beasts ;
- (b) whether he is also aware of the fact that these monkeys and the wild beasts join to destroy the crops in the fields in the vicinity of this jungle as has been represented to the Government for a number of times by the zamindars concerned ;
- (c) if the answer to the above be in the affirmative, the action that the Government proposes to take in the matter with a view to protecting the crops of the zamindars from destruction by these monkeys and wild beasts ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) It is a fact that between Bhimpur and Dhumrai bridges on the Main Line of the Upper Bari Doab Canal there are Canal plantations just as exist elsewhere on this Canal, and such plantations naturally give shelter to monkeys but not to other wild beasts.

(b) Monkeys of course damage zamindar's crops ; this happens every day in the adjoining provinces of U. P. and Delhi.

(c) Government cannot undertake to protect the crops of zamindars from monkeys. Orders are being issued to remove, so far as it is possible, fruit bearing trees which harbour monkeys.

Lala Duni Chand : It appears from the question as put that the monkeys and other wild animals enter into a conspiracy to destroy the crops of the zamindars. Has Government ever considered the necessity of starting prosecutions against these animals for the destruction of the crops? (Laughter).

Parliamentary Secretary : We are already prosecuting certain other species of animals. (Laughter.)

COMPLAINTS AGAINST THE CONTRACTOR AT JHAJJAR.

4896. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that the President, Municipal Committee, Jhajjar, and a large number of zamindars of the locality approached the Deputy Commissioner, Rohtak, and the Famine Relief Officer while they were in camp at Jhajjar to request them to see for themselves that the contractor for the supply of fodder at Jhajjar was guilty of exacting two annas per rupee on the distribution of fodder taccavi on 28th March, 1939 ;

(b) what action these officers took on the complaint made to them ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) The complaint was made to the Assistant Commissioner and the tahsildar of Jhajjar in camp. No complaint was made to the Deputy Commissioner, nor was he at Jhajjar on that date ;

(b) Enquiries were instituted by these officers personally and promptly but the allegations were found to be incorrect.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is this statement based on the reply given by those particular officers against whom the complaint was made ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already stated that the officers to whom the complaints were made instituted an enquiry at once and found them to be baseless.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know the names of those officers who at once held the enquiry and found those allegations to be baseless ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have stated that it was held by the Assistant Commissioner.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that the Assistant Commissioner told the people that the tahsildar would enquire into the matter and the latter informed them that it was to be done by the former, and yet none of them visited the spot ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The fact is that the Assistant Commissioner went there to make the necessary enquiries. The rest is a mere yarn woven by certain persons out of their heads.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What were the chief points which they wanted to be enquired into ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I cannot give that information without notice.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it or is it not a fact that the President, Municipal Committee, Jhajjar and other villagers made a complaint to the effect that the contractor for the supply of fodder had arranged a certain agent to exact 2 annas per rupee on the distribution of taccavi ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is he or is he not aware of this fact ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already stated that necessary action was taken immediately on the receipt of the complaint which was found to be baseless.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : The Famine Incharge stated that if he personally visited the spot where the agent in question was sitting for the purpose the latter would surely slip away ? Now I ask as to whether the Government is aware of all these facts.

Parliamentary Secretary : I cannot tell without notice.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know to what question has the honourable parliamentary Secretary replied ? The question was whether such and such complaint was made. He said that he does not know the nature of the complaint. Has he read the question and has he replied to the question ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I would request my honourable friend to state what particular part of the question I have not replied.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The honourable member wanted to know what was the nature of the complaint ; the Parliamentary Secretary says he wants notice of that question.

Parliamentary Secretary : The question was whether it is a fact that the president of the Municipal Committee, Jhajjar and a large number of zamindars approached the Deputy Commissioner, Rohtak and the Famine Relief Officer to see if these two contractors for the supply of fodder were guilty of extracting two annas per rupee. I have replied that the complaint was made, it was promptly enquired into personally by the officer to whom this complaint was made.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Then what did he refer to when he said that he did not know the nature of the complaint ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I referred to the complaint that the honourable questioner described in nearly two hundred words. The particular complaint referred to in the original question was looked into.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Did not the honourable member refer to the same complaint ?

Parliamentary Secretary : But he referred to some other complaint.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Which complaint ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I do not know, but it is not the same as contained in the original question.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it not a fact that I enquired if these people said that they would show that the contractor was charging two annas extra. This is given in my question and this is what I asked.

Parliamentary Secretary : And this is what I have replied to that the officers enquired personally into the complaints but these allegations were found to be wrong.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that the officers concerned went with the complainants.

Parliamentary Secretary : It is difficult to say who were with them or behind them and it is wrong for the honourable member either to say so.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I am asking about the people who went to him to show the facts. I want to know whether it is a fact that the officer went with these people and enquired into the matter and found the allegation wrong ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Whether the officer went with the people or a little after I cannot say. I said that the complaint was made and promptly and personally they went to enquire. I cannot say more than this.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : When you say he went promptly to the spot may I know whether he went with the complainants ?

Minister : I have nothing to add to the replies already given.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : The Honourable Minister could have said this earlier to save himself from the awkward position.

WATER-LOGGING TROUBLE IN CERTAIN VILLAGES IN SHEIKHUPURA DISTRICT.

4925. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether damage done to agriculture by sem or water-logging to the villages Chuharkana, Isarke and Bandoke, and neighbouring villages in the Sheikhupura district has been brought to his notice ;
- (b) whether he has instituted inquiries as to the extent of damage done, if so, the result of the inquiries made ;
- (c) the action taken or proposed to be taken to help those whose lands have been spoiled by water-logging ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) Yes.

(b) Yes. A comparison of areas classed as 'thur' shows the following percentage increase in these areas between 1931-32 and 1937-38 :—

	Per cent.
Chuharkana and Isarke	50
Bandoke	170

The position, though serious, is not as alarming as the increase in 'thur' figures would indicate, as much of the damage has occurred in 'banjar' land. The area under irrigation has, however, increased during the same period as follows :—

Name of village.	1930-31.	1937-38.	Increase percentage.
			Per cent.
Chuharkana	321	379	18
Isarke	715	1,316	84
Bandoke	1,161	1,408	21

(c) An extensive network of drains has been constructed in this area which has lowered the subsoil water level below the root zone for crops. Reclamation by suitable crop rotation can now be commenced when a reclamation department has been set up to deal with this and similar affected areas.

RESULT OF THE DEPARTMENTAL INQUIRY AGAINST B. VIDYA PARKASH, MOTOR LICENCE CLERK, AMBALA.

4931. K. S. Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- the result of the departmental inquiry against B. Vidya Parkash, Motor Licence Clerk, Ambala ;
- whether he would be pleased to lay the report and the proceedings of the inquiry on the table of the House ;
- the reasons for the delay of the report, if any ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) The pay of the clerk has been reduced by Rs. 10 per mensem, his transfer to another district has been ordered and he is not again to be entrusted with motor licensing work.

(b) It is not customary or desirable in the public interest to place copies of departmental enquiry proceedings on the table of the house.

(c) There was no delay in the submission of the report.

NUMBER OF LAMBARDARS SUSPENDED DURING THE YEAR 1938 FOR NOT DEPOSITING THE LAND REVENUE IN THE TREASURY IN TIME.

4937. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state the number of lambardars in the whole province suspended during the year 1938 for not depositing the land revenue in the treasury in time ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : The preparation of these statistics would require an amount of time and labour out of all proportion to the results obtainable. I regret that Government do not feel justified in calling for them.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Can you give the information in relation to any one particular district ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If you ask about any one particular district, it will be replied.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Is the Parliamentary Secretary aware that an official list is prepared of all those lambardars who are not in a position to pay their revenue ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I would thank my honourable friend for the information, if it were true.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know whether any list is kept by the tahsildars of all those lambardars ?

Mr. Speaker : From which part of the answer does this question arise ? The Parliamentary Secretary has declined to answer it on the ground that the amount of labour required shall be too much.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : He has given no specific reason. He said that the amount of labour spent will be too much.

Mr. Speaker : By all this he meant to say that it was not in the public interest to answer the question.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : If this is your ruling then I will not pursue the matter.

Parliamentary Secretary : The number of lambardars in the province is nearly 80,000 and it is not worth while for the Government to collect figures about the number of those suspended for not paying revenue.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Is the number of suspensions very great ?

Parliamentary Secretary : That may be very small, but that will be known to the Government after enquiry.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : What is the usual number of such lambardars who do not pay land revenue in time ?

Minister for Revenue : That information can be obtained from Government reports.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know if the Government expects that the number would be very large this time ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The Government is expecting nothing of that kind.

Sardar Hari Singh : May I know whether the number of lambardars suspended and particulars of suspensions are not supplied to the office of the Financial Commissioner and Commissioner ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No, Sir.

Sardar Hari Singh : Are they not available in the Deputy Commissioner's office ?

Minister : No, but they can be called for by the Financial Commissioners and the Commissioners.

FAULTY ARRANGEMENTS AT GOVERNMENT DUMPS IN HISSAR.

4979. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether he has received a telegram from the Secretary, Congress Famine Committee, Hissar, alleging faulty arrangements at Government Dumps as regards fodder supply ; if so, whether he has instituted an inquiry into the matter and, if so, with what result ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : Yes. On enquiry it appears that no fodder parchis have been dishonoured though in some cases supplies were found to be insufficient for a few days for want of adequate transport facilities.

(ii) Some cases of corruption also came to notice. With a view to tightening up control, fodder dumps have now been placed under the exclusive charge of the Fodder Adviser, as dual control by the Fodder Adviser and the Deputy Commissioners was found to be unsatisfactory.

(iii) As the arrangements at Ding and Kalanwali, which were being managed by private contractors, were not satisfactory they have been taken over by Government. The allegations in regard to losses and inconvenience to people going to Jhumpa Jamalpur, Barwala and Bhawani Khera are however not correct.

(iv) The allegations in the telegram from the Secretary of the Congress Famine Committee seem to have been exaggerated, as another telegram from a non-official of Hissar states that the present arrangements have met with popular approval. The telegram, to which the Honourable member refers, was perhaps inspired by disappointed fodder contractors.

Sardar Hari Singh : May I ask from whom the second telegram was received ? Was it not inspired by the Officer in charge of dumping arrangements ?

Parliamentary Secretary : This was from the inhabitants of that area.

Sardar Hari Singh : Who are the signatories to this telegram ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Names are not given.

Sardar Hari Singh : And yet you believed in that telegram ?

Minister for Revenue : Anybody can give a telegram and it is accepted.

Sardar Hari Singh : So this was an anonymous telegram.

Parliamentary Secretary : I am sorry I cannot give the name of the signatories straightaway, though it would not be difficult to do so.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Can I know by whom were the complaints made ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The Congress telegram contained a suggestion. It stated " dual control system unsatisfactory. Kindly restore Deputy Commissioner's control." The Government instead of restoring Deputy Commissioner's control have put it under the control of the Fodder Adviser whom they considered more suitable. Therefore the real complaint of the Congress has been removed.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know whether there was any conflict between the Deputy Commissioner and the Fodder Adviser ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No.

Minister : It was found convenient. The Fodder Adviser can deal with the question much better than the Deputy Commissioner.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Where was the diarchy in this matter ?

Minister : First arrangements were made by the Deputy Commissioner and the Fodder Adviser. It was found that it entailed some difficulty for the Deputy Commissioner to look after so many things. Therefore we thought it advisable to put it in the charge of the Fodder Adviser.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The Government therefore considered this diarchical system wrong.

Parliamentary Secretary : Therefore we have removed it.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Why has it been put under the Fodder Adviser and not the Deputy Commissioner ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Because Government considered that the Fodder Adviser would be more suitable.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Fodder Adviser may be more suitable for advising the Government about the quality of fodder only.

Parliamentary Secretary : In all matters Government thought the Fodder Adviser would be more suitable.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Can I know who enquired into this complaint ? Fodder Adviser or some one else ?

Parliamentary Secretary : There was no complaint. The only complaint was against dual control and it was removed.

DAMAGE TO CROPS IN CERTAIN VILLAGES OF DISTRICT SHEIKHUPURA.

*4995. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) whether he is aware of the fact that the crops have been completely damaged due to hailstorm in the first week of April, 1939, in the villages in Chak No. 10, Thothian and Chak No. 79, Nawau Kot, thana Sangla Hill, District Sheikhpura ;

(b) whether any reports have been made to him in this connection ;

(c) the action he has taken or proposes to take in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) In chaks Nos. 10 and 79 the area destroyed was 193 and 118 acres only out of a total cultivated area of 978 and 594 acres respectively ;

(b) Yes.

(c) Attention is invited to the detailed statement regarding hailstorms laid by me on the table of the House on 24th April, 1939.

The following relief has been granted :—

	Chak No. 10 R. B.	Chak No. 79 R. B.
	Rs.	Rs.
Amount of land revenue re- mitted.	1,716	1,088
Amount of abiana remitted ..	992	628
Total ..	2,708	1,656

RESTORATION OF TREES OF SPONTANEOUS GROWTH TO THE PEOPLE OF KANGRA DISTRICT.

5026. Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

- whether or not as a result of the recommendations of the Punjab Forest Commission, 1937-38, the Punjab Government has restored the trees of spontaneous growth, growing on the lands assessed to land revenue and belonging to people of Kangra district to their present proprietors ;
- whether or not village shamilats have been declared community forests and placed under the supervision of the village communities as a result of these recommendations ;
- if the answers to (a) and (b) above be in the negative, the action the Government intends to take to give practical shape to the said recommendations ?

The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram : (a) Not yet.

(b) The Punjab Forest Committee did not recommend village shamilats being declared community forests and placed under the supervision of village communities ; all that they contemplated was the possibility of closer association between the Forest Department and the right-holders, with management by the former on lines approved by the latter.

(c) The Committee's proposals have been the subject of the most careful consideration and as they involve questions of considerable complexity, local enquiries are being made to ascertain how far they are feasible and what effect can be given to them.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know with respect to part (a) of the question whether the Government is aware that the Forest Commission recommended the restoration of the trees standing on private areas ?

Minister : My answer is quite clear. The Punjab Forest Committee did not recommend village shamilats being declared community forests.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : My question is whether the Forest Commission did recommend the restoration of trees standing on private lands.

Minister : My answer is "not yet."

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : When will they be restored ?

Minister : It is not possible to give any date by which possession will be restored.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know what are the practical difficulties in the way of the Government in restoring them ?

Minister : No answer can be given to that question. There are so many difficulties that I cannot enumerate them here.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Can he mention one or two important ones.

Minister : No.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : May I know if the Honourable Minister considers it fair and equitable that trees standing on areas assessed to land revenue should not be given over to the owners ?

Mr. Speaker : That is a question of opinion.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Does it appeal to the sense of justice of the Honourable Minister ?

Mr. Speaker : Again, that is a matter of opinion.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Does the Honourable Minister know the difficulties of the people concerned ?

Minister : Yes.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What is the difficulty in enumerating those difficulties ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

LAND POSSESSED BY DOGRAS IN THE AMBALA AND ROHTAK DISTRICTS.

5042. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) the total population of Dogras in Ambala and Rohtak districts ;
- (b) total area of land possessed by Dogras in the Ambala and Rohtak districts ;
- (c) total area of land sold or auctioned in the execution of money decrees given against them in the above districts ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) 49.

(b) 568 acres.

(c) Nil.

FICTITIOUS ENTRIES IN MUNICIPAL TEST WORKS IN SIRSA.

5059. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Sub-Divisional Officer, Sirsa (Hissar), checked the accounts of the local municipal famine test works in the month of April, 1939, and found, as remarked by him in writing that wrong and fictitious entries had been made in these accounts ; if so, whether any explanation was called from the sub-overseer and the municipal commissioner who are alleged to be responsible for making these wrong and fictitious entries and whether any punishment was awarded to them ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : The Sub-Divisional Officer checked registers and found 93 present against a register entry of 104.

An enquiry is proceeding.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether the enquiry is still going on, even though the Sub-Divisional Officer noticed it as long ago as April, 1939 ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The municipal committee has delayed the submission of the accounts, but the Deputy Commissioner is doing his utmost to expedite the report.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : My question is whether it is a fact that this complaint arose in April, 1939 and in spite of the fact that nine months have elapsed no action has been taken.

Parliamentary Secretary : I have said that the committee has not submitted the accounts to the Deputy Commissioner who is however trying to expedite the matter.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Have you not yet been able to find out who is responsible ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have submitted that the municipal committee has not submitted its accounts.

IMPORTING AND DISTRIBUTION OF FODDER IN ROHTAK DISTRICT BY THE CONTRACTORS.

5061. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the quantity of fodder imported so far in Rohtak district on passes allowing concessions in railway freight as well as on ordinary railway freight since the date when concessions in freight were sanctioned ?
- (b) the quantity of fodder distributed by the contractors during this period ;
- (c) whether there has been found any difference between the quantity of fodder actually imported into the said district by the contractors and the quantity of fodder actually distributed by them on taccavi chits ; and if so, the reasons for this difference and whether any attempt has been made to account for this difference ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) The contractors imported 1,074,693 maunds of fodder at concession rates. Information regarding imports at ordinary rates is not available.

[Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan.]

(b) the quantity distributed as taccavi from contractors fodder dumps is 944,852 maunds.

(c) The difference represents sales for cash, wastage, shortage in weight when loaded loose in wagons, and the amount still left with the contractors

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know if any enquiry was made by the Government in this connection?

Parliamentary Secretary : About what?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : About the distribution of fodder by the Government on taccavi chits and about the complaints made in this respect?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have clearly stated in my reply that 90 per cent of the imported fodder has been duly distributed and the Government is enquiring into the reasons for the remaining 10 per cent not having been distributed.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that the real cause has not been found out as yet?

Parliamentary Secretary : Not yet.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know if Mr. K. C. Chaudhri, I.C.S., conducted an inquiry and his report was submitted to the Government which has been sitting over that report for so many months?

Parliamentary Secretary : That is entirely wrong.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is it a fact that people have been complaining that the taccavi chits had been bought by the fodder contractors, at two annas less per rupee and that is why the Government is sitting over the matter?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I want to ask if the Government have made an inquiry concerning this matter?

Parliamentary Secretary : Enquiry about what?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : About this matter that there is a difference between the quantity of fodder that has been imported by the contractors and the quantity that has actually been distributed by them to the people; why the whole of the fodder has not been distributed?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already made it clear in my reply that 924,000 maunds of bhusa was imported, out of which 90 per cent has been duly distributed among the people and the Government is making enquiry about the remaining 10 per cent of bhusa that has not been distributed. The Government always makes inquiries about such matters.

Lala Bhagat Ram Choda : Was not that quantity of bhusa swept away by the wind storm? (Laughter).

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Was any enquiry made by the Government about this?

Minister of Revenue : An enquiry was held.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : But I want to ask if an inquiry was held by Mr. K. C. Chaudhri, I.C.S., Famine Relief Incharge?

Parliamentary Secretary :] I have nothing to add to the answer already given.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : I should like this question to be answered by the Honourable Minister himself.

Parliamentary Secretary : How can you force any particular person to answer ?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Let him refuse to answer if he likes. I have made a request to him. The question is whether the enquiry referred to by the honourable member on this side was or was not made. Is the Honourable Minister in a position to say anything ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If the honourable member is anxious to know, I am prepared to oblige him, but if he insists that a particular person should reply, then I have nothing to say.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : The honourable member has been pressing for an answer but no satisfactory answer has yet been vouchsafed to him. It was in the interest of fairness that I requested the Honourable Minister himself to give an answer to his question. It is an important question. Let him say whether there was any enquiry conducted by Mr. K. C. Chaudhri, I.C.S., or not. Why is the Honourable Minister silent ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already said that if the Honourable Member would mention any particular complaint or the nature of the complaint about which the enquiry was made I will be prepared to answer.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : The complaint that was mentioned in my question was that a considerable quantity of fodder was imported by the contractors but the whole quantity had not been distributed to the people. Was any inquiry held by Mr. K. C. Chaudhri, I.C.S., and did he submit his report to the Government which is sitting over it up till now ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already stated that the Government has been making inquiries about the distribution of fodder in the districts of Rohtak and Hissar. The complaints referred to by the honourable member are naturally included in those inquiries.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : The question is about the enquiry particularly connected with the name of Mr. K. C. Chaudhri.

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes, Mr. Chaudhri held many enquiries.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Then what was the result ?

REPRESENTATIONS TO BRING GREY CANALS DEPARTMENT UNDER IRRIGATION DEPARTMENT.

*5110. Captain Sodhi Harnam Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state whether any representations have ever been made to him or the Financial Commissioner or the Commissioner, Jullundur division, or the Deputy Commissioner, Ferozepore, that the Grey Canals Department may be brought under the Irrigation Department, Punjab ; if so, what action was taken and if no action was taken, the reasons therefor ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): Yes. The matters raised are under the active consideration of Government.

Pir Akbar Ali: Is it a fact that these Grey Canals are zamindara canals and the Government has nothing to do with them excepting management?

Minister for Revenue: Yes.

Pir Akbar Ali: May I know how the Government is considering the question of taking them over under their own administration? Have they asked the zamindars whether they are willing to hand them over?

Minister: The Irrigators' Committee has simply to fix rates and nothing more nor less.

Pir Akbar Ali: Has the Government consulted the zamindars if they are willing?

Minister: When that question is taken up we will make enquiries.

REMISSION OF LAND REVENUE IN HOSHIARPUR DISTRICT.

5115. Sardar Hari Singh: Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state the amount of remission in land revenue allowed in Hoshiarpur district in rabi instalment—

- (a) due to kharaba;
- (b) due to hailstorm;
- (c) due to damage done by 'tela' to mango crop?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): Nil.

Sardar Hari Singh: May I ask whether the statement enumerating the damages done by the three causes enumerated in my question was forwarded to the Financial Commissioner and the Honourable Minister.

Parliamentary Secretary: I have already stated that no remission was granted because none was permissible.

Sardar Hari Singh: He has not followed my question. I ask whether the statement was at all forwarded to the Government by the Deputy Commissioner?

Minister for Revenue: I am very sorry that I cannot oblige my honourable friend by giving information on a document which has been submitted by the Deputy Commissioner to the Government. Such papers are not placed on the table.

Sardar Hari Singh: My question is only whether the document was at all received or not?

Minister: It is received and duly considered.

INQUIRY AGAINST KHAIR-UD-DIN, DAROGHA, GHAGGAR.

5203. Lala Duni Chand: Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether the inquiry against Darogha at Ghaggar has been completed since a question No. 4454 starred of 6th April, 1939, regarding this matter was answered on the floor of this House in the last session of the Assembly;

(b) the result thereof ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) Yes.

(b) The allegations were not proved.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if it is true that the complaint was signed by about two hundred persons belonging to all communities ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I do not know how many people signed the complaint, but what I know is that the tahsildar who enquired into it examined about 120 witnesses and then the Sub-Divisional Officer personally examined another 17 witnesses and he found that the allegations were not true.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the statement of 125 witnesses recorded by the tahsildar and 17 witnesses recorded by the Sub-Divisional Officer were also supported by lots of documents ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am afraid I cannot answer that question off-hand.

Lala Duni Chand : Has the Government considered whether in view of the fact that as many as 142 people came forward to make statements the complaint can be held to be false ?

Mr. Speaker : That is an argument, not a question.

Lala Duni Chand : In view of the material supplied, has the Government considered the question how in such circumstances the complaint could be false ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am afraid this will not help anybody. What I have placed before the House is that the tahsildar made full enquiry and the proof of that is that he examined as many as 117 witnesses. I have also said that the Sub-Divisional Officer himself examined 17 witnesses and after taking into consideration the evidence recorded by them, they found that the charges were not proved.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it true that the complaint related to dozens of specific and definite instances of corruption and each instance was supported by a large number of witnesses and documents ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have not denied that.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know whether any person out of these who made the complaint was examined as a witness by the tahsildar or the Sub-Divisional Officer ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am not in a position to give the names of those persons who were examined.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : My question is whether the complainants were called upon to prove their allegations ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The complainants must have been examined. One of the complainants was the zaildar and the Deputy Commissioner made enquiries whether he should be prosecuted or not, but later he was let off.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether the Parliamentary Secretary, or the Honourable Minister for Revenue or any other member of the Government has looked at that report or evidence ?

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if in view of the declaration of the Government that a complaint made by 5 persons will be given due consideration, there is a case in which 142 witnesses came forward to make statements, how the Government reconcile that policy with this case as revealed ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know the number of those complainants whose evidence was recorded by the Sub-Divisional Officer or the tahsildar ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I regret I cannot give that information without notice.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : The complainants have stated that none of them was called upon to give evidence in the matter.

Parliamentary Secretary : So far as I know the statements were recorded.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Then how many of them were asked to give evidence ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I cannot give their names and addresses offhand.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it true that the complaint related to about 22 villages in regard to the supply of irrigation water and all those persons to whom the water was supplied were complainants and they came forward to give evidence ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am glad that my honourable friend has given me this information. I am obliged for that.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I enquire from the honourable Parliamentary Secretary as to whether his statement is based on the result of the enquiry instituted by those officers ?

Parliamentary Secretary : When I make a statement my honourable friends should accept it just as I accept all their statements.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is the reply based on facts received or the results of a mental exercise ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The replies are not prepared in the same manner as questions are. Much consideration is devoted to their preparation.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I ask which of the three statements is correct ? The first one was, 'he does not know the names'; the second was, 'must have been examined' and the third was, 'they were examined'.

Parliamentary Secretary : In my opinion there is no inconsistency in these three statements.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Then all the three are correct, is that so ?

Lala Duni Chand : May I know whether—

Mr. Speaker : I cannot allow any further supplementary questions.

Lala Duni Chand : You will be pleased to realise that it is a very important matter.

Mr. Speaker : Honourable members, who have given notices of other starred questions also have a right that their questions in to-day's list may be asked and answered. If the honourable member and some of his colleagues are allowed to go on asking supplementary questions on one question only, the whole hour for questions shall be hardly enough for them. So, it is my duty to protect their right.

Lala Duni Chand : In view of the importance of the question I want to put more supplementary questions.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member may put further questions by giving fresh notice.

Lala Duni Chand : Why should the matter not be pursued to-morrow ?

Mr. Speaker : No. I cannot allow that.

SHORT-NOTICE QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

DEFENCE OF INDIA ACT.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state the date on which the Defence of India Act was promulgated in the district of Gurgaon ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : Chapter I of the Defence of India Act, 1939, was brought into force throughout British India on the 29th September 1939. Later, on the 14th November 1939, the provisions of Chapters II and IV were likewise enforced.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Was this Act simultaneously promulgated in all the districts of the province ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Not only in all the districts of this province but also throughout British India.

ADDITIONAL EUROPEAN OFFICERS, PUNJAB SECRETARIAT.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that owing to the outbreak of war two additional European officers have recently been posted in the Secretariat of the Punjab Government ;
- (b) if so, their names, pay, functions and tenure of office ;
- (c) whether these appointments were made by the Punjab Government or by His Excellency the Governor in exercise of his special powers under the Government of India Act ;
- (d) whether these officers are authorised to deal direct with His Excellency the Governor over the head of the Ministry ;
- (e) whether these appointments have been made directly or indirectly on the suggestion of the Government of India ?

The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan : (a) No, only one.

[Premier.]

(b) Mr. J. D. Anderson, C.I.E., I.C.S., Joint Chief Secretary to Government, Punjab.

Pay — Rs. 8,000 per mensem plus £ 13-6-8 per mensem overseas pay.

Functions—To deal with subjects which have been brought into being by the war.

Tenure of office—(Not known). Mr. Anderson has been appointed for six months.

(c) By the Punjab Government.

(d) No.

(e) No.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know what are the functions or responsibilities of the provincial Government as far as the war is concerned? It is a Central subject.

Premier : I refer my honourable friend to the Government of India Act as amended by Parliament recently.

Sardar Hari Singh : What is that extra work with which the Secretariat is burdened on account of war?

Premier : The extra work to which we attend is references received from the Government of India regarding war, and we work as agents of the Government of India to carry out these functions, such as, war publicity, dissemination of correct news and also watching of press and control of prices and also to look after control boards and also other allied subjects which have arisen on account of war.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will these officers have anything to do with the Criminal Investigation Department?

Premier : No. They are capable of carrying on their own work without any assistance.

TRADE EMPLOYEES BILL.

Minister for Development (The Honourable Chaudhri Sir Chhotu Ram) : Sir, I beg to present the Report of the select committee on the Punjab Trade Employees Bill.

1 p. m.

PRIMARY EDUCATION BILL.

Minister for Education (The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye) : Sir, I beg to present the Report of the select committee on the Punjab Primary Education Bill.

VILLAGE PANCHAYAT BILL.

Clause 58.

Mr. Speaker : The Assembly will resume discussion on the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill. In amendment No. 1 to clause 58 to be moved by Pandit Muni Lal Kalia the words to be omitted should begin with the word 'or' and not 'and.'

Minister for Public Works : Yes, it should begin with the word 'or' and not 'and.'

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Sir, I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (1), lines 1—2, the words "or Panchayat" be omitted.

As the marginal note shows, clause 58 deals with the appearance of women before panchayat, while in the subject matter of the clause exemption is extended besides women to other persons as well. The words 'or any other person with the consent of the panchayat' be omitted so that the clause may only deal with the appearance of women. It was so in earlier enactments. My idea in moving this amendment is that cases are to be tried by the panchayats in villages : it is but desirable that persons should come before panchayats and make statements as regards the truth or otherwise of the allegations in the presence of others. In case there is this provision then any person who does not want to make a statement in the presence of the whole village or wants to make a statement which is not true to his knowledge he can do so by evading his presence and can by influencing the panchayat, if he happens to be big man ask that his presence may be exempted. If we want to have speedy justice and the right sort of justice, in that case any person who wants to get his dispute settled in the village must have the courage to appear before the panchayat and ask for relief. It is a different thing if a person is ill or is otherwise unable to attend ; but to give such vast powers to the panchayat that any person may be exempted with the consent of the panchayat is not a healthy provision. I think that the words proposed may be omitted and some other provision like the one given in the Civil Procedure Code be made so that only a person who is really unable to attend, may be given permission to absent himself. With these words I move my amendment.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member's amendment, as drafted, means that exemption should be limited only to women.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Not exactly so.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in sub-clause (1), lines 1-2, the words "or Panchayat" be omitted.

Minister for Development : As far as I can recollect this provision to give power to the panchayats to exempt certain persons from appearing before the panchayats was made at the suggestion of one of the honourable members opposite in the select committee—Sardar Sampuran Singh, I think, was the member who made this suggestion to provide for hard cases when a man may be absent due to illness. I think it is a discretion that should vest in the panchayats to meet such cases. If this discretion is taken away it may result in hardship. I therefore oppose the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in sub-clause (1), lines 1-2, the words "or Panchayat" be omitted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : Pandit Muni Lal Kalia's next amendment proposes the substitution of a new clause.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : It covers the same provision already made ; it is not new. It is only a substitution clause.

Mr. Speaker : I have more than once tried to explain and have also referred honourable members to page 407 of May's Parliamentary Practice where it is expressly said that substitution clause is a new clause. At least it is treated as such for the purposes of discussion and debate.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I beg to ask for leave to move—

That for sub-clause (1), the following be substituted :—

“ A woman or any other person, who is a party to any civil, criminal or administrative proceeding before a Panchayat, may be permitted to appear through an agent duly authorised :

Provided that in the case of (a) the woman ordinarily observes purdah in the village and does not desire to appear in person, and (b) the person, who is suffering from illness or is otherwise unable to attend in person. ”

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (1) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Sub-clause (2).

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) : The legal practitioners are debarred from appearing before the panchayats, and by sub-clause (2) of clause 58, the legal practitioners are also debarred from being agents of any party to the suit. I do not care so much about the legal practitioner's appearance before the panchayat but as for the clerks to legal practitioners and the petition-writers it would be a hard case if they are not allowed to act as agents to the parties in suit. These persons are not always so conversant with the law as the lawyers and they would be just like any other agents. If other persons are allowed to appear before the panchayat and these clerks and petition-writers are not allowed to appear before the panchayats then several agents may crop up and start a profession of their own ; for this reason it would be better if my honourable friend the Minister will see his way to move a Government amendment to exclude petition-writers and the clerks from the operation of sub-clause (2).

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (2) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 58 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 59.

Mr. Speaker : Clause 59.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) : Sir, clause 59 as it stands, is repugnant to the provisions of the existing Indian law. The panchayat cannot have any jurisdiction to try criminal cases or civil cases of any kind, so long as this jurisdiction is vested in courts constituted under the codes.

Mr. Speaker : That matter will be decided by courts or by higher executive authorities. Unless a law is passed and enforced the question of its repugnance cannot and does not arise. Therefore, the objection—assuming it for the sake of argument to be valid—can be decided only by courts; or the Governor might refuse to give his assent or refer the case to the Governor-General.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I am only submitting one point and that is that we should defer the discussion of this clause. We should wait till we get the necessary sanction from the Governor.

Mr. Speaker : But we need not wait.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : We cannot move it. We cannot have a jurisdiction which under the law we cannot do.

Mr. Speaker : What is your authority?

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Section 107 of the Government of India Act.

Mr. Speaker : What that section lays down is that any law which is repugnant to the existing Indian law will be void. So, unless a law is passed and enforced how can it be said that it is repugnant to the existing law. In my opinion unless both laws are in force the question of repugnancy cannot arise.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : My only question is whether the provisions of the Panchayat Act are void or not.

Mr. Speaker : That question does not arise at this stage as the Panchayat Bill may not become law.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I want a ruling. Is there any use in discussing a provision, which is void on the face of it.

Mr. Speaker : I do not think I have jurisdiction to hold that the Bill is void. It is for the Governor or the Governor-General or for the courts to say so.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) : I beg to move—

That in line 14, between the words "writing" and "direct", the words "stating therein the date of presentation and return of the petition" be inserted.

Minister of Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : I accept the amendment.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That clause 59 as amended stand part of the Bill.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) : I oppose the clause. This clause contemplates that parties be directed to another court. It says :—

If at any time it appears to a panchayat—

- (a) that it has no jurisdiction to try a criminal case or a civil suit;
- (b) that a criminal case or a civil suit if of such a nature or of such difficulty that it should be tried by another court; or
- (c) that it is unable to hear a criminal case by reason of the number of panches disqualified from taking part in the proceedings under section 55, it shall by order in writing direct the complainant or the petitioner, as the case may be, to present the complaint or petition to another court.

[Pt. Muni Lal Kalia.]

The panchayat cannot do what is contained in the concluding words of this clause. When the panchayat itself is not competent to entertain a complaint, the question of its directing the party to another court does not arise. In support of this I will draw your kind attention first to section 4 (h) of the Criminal Procedure Code where the word complaint is defined :—

“Complaint” means the allegation made orally or in writing to a magistrate, with a view to his taking action under this Code, that some person, whether known or unknown, has committed an offence, but it does not include the report of a police officer.

Now for action to be taken under this code how is the machinery of law to be moved ? It is given in section 5 which says :—

- (1) All offences under the Indian Penal Code shall be investigated, inquired into, tried and otherwise dealt with according to the provisions hereinafter contained.
- (2) All offences under any other law shall be investigated, inquired into, tried and otherwise dealt with according to the same provisions, but subject to any enactment for the time being in force regulating the manner or place of investigating, inquiring into, trying or otherwise dealing with such offences.

Section 6 lays down five classes of courts to try cases under the Indian Penal Code :—

- I.—Courts of Session :
- II.—Presidency Magistrates :
- III.—Magistrates of the first class :
- IV.—Magistrates of the second class :
- V.—Magistrates of the third class.

May I ask the Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill to which class of courts the panchayat belongs ? (Interruption).

Of course the section also says, “ Besides the High Courts and the Courts constituted under any law other than this Code for the time being in force”. But that does not help us much. You may say that the Panchayat Bill is a special law. But all offences given in the schedule under Indian Penal Code, cannot be tried by these panchayats because section 5 of the Criminal Procedure Code acts as a bar.

I may also invite your kind attention to section 107 of the Government of India Act :—

If any provision of a Provincial law is repugnant to any provision of a Federal law which the Federal Legislature is competent to enact or to any provision of an existing Indian Law with respect to one of the matters enumerated in the Concurrent Legislative List, then, subject to the provisions of this section, the Federal law, whether passed before or after the Provincial law, or, as the case may be, the existing Indian law, shall prevail, and the Provincial law shall, to the extent of the repugnance, be void.

Now the Indian Penal Code and the Civil Procedure Code are subjects mentioned in the concurrent list in schedule VII and when a subject is mentioned in the concurrent list, a departure from the provisions cannot be made straightaway by way of expediency or repugnancy, by a provincial legislature. According to the existing Indian law the offences mentioned in the Indian Penal Code are to be tried by the courts constituted and according to the procedure as laid down in the Criminal Procedure Code. Clause 54 of the Bill says :—

The provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, shall not apply to proceedings before panchayats, save to the extent mentioned in this Act or as may be prescribed by Government by rules; but the panchayat shall ascertain the facts of every criminal case or civil suit by all lawful means in its power and thereafter pass such order, sentence or decree as may be in accordance with justice, equity and good conscience.

Therefore it is clear that the procedure laid down in the Criminal Procedure Code will not be followed by the panchayats. When a complaint under the Penal Code cannot be entertained by the panchayat because it is not one of the courts mentioned in section 6 of the Criminal Procedure Code, I fail to understand how this power can be given to them to entertain criminal complaints or civil suits. So I oppose the clause on the ground that the panchayat cannot entertain a complaint or a suit and therefore the question of its directing the complainant or the plaintiff to another court does not arise. It is suggested that this objection does not arise at this stage and should not now be taken and it is later on for the Governor or the Governor-General or the courts to raise the objection. But I submit that if it is going to be decided that the law is bad, why should the time of the House be wasted now? If we find that a thing is unconstitutional we should take objection at the earliest opportunity. Otherwise it will be negligence on the part of the House. There are also sections 108 and 109 which say that certain things should not be legislated unless previous sanction is obtained. Then there is also section 107 (2), where a certain course is prescribed. I therefore submit that we should not leave to the courts or the High Court or some other higher authorities to say that the Punjab Legislative Assembly has committed an unconstitutional thing. Section 107 of the Government of India Act, 1935, is divided into different sub-sections. The second stage is governed by sub-section (2). It is as follows :—

- (2) Where a Provincial law with respect to one of the matters enumerated in the Concurrent Legislative List contains any provision repugnant to the provisions of an earlier Federal law or an existing Indian law with respect to that matter than if the Provincial law, having been reserved for the consideration of the Governor-General or for the signification of His Majesty's pleasure, has received the assent of the Governor-General or of His Majesty, the Provincial law shall in that Province prevail, but nevertheless the Federal Legislature may by any time enact further legislation with respect to the same matter :

Provided that no Bill or amendment for making any provision repugnant to any provincial law, which, having been so reserved, has received the assent of the Governor-General or of His Majesty, shall be introduced or moved in either Chamber of the Federal Legislature without the previous sanction of the Governor-General in his discretion.

This provision is with regard to a matter which has been passed and is awaiting consideration by the Governor-General. I doubt the power of this legislature to make a law which is altogether inconsistent with existing Indian law. The proper thing is to amend the Criminal Procedure Code and not do as is sought to be done. This introduces in our machinery a power for enabling the provincial legislature to supersede existing Indian law in an unconstitutional manner. This impairs the uniformity and, therefore, this clause, as it stands, should not remain as part of the Bill (cheers).

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 59, as amended, stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 60.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (1) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I move—

That in sub-clause (2), lines 5—9, for the words "take rupees," the following be substituted :—

"after giving such person an opportunity to explain impose a fine not exceeding rupees ten."

Sub-clause (2) reads as follows :—

(2) If any person whom the panchayat summons by written order to appear or give evidence or to produce any document before it wilfully fails to obey such summons, the panchayat may take cognizance of such disobedience and after giving such person an opportunity to explain may sentence any person convicted thereof to a fine not exceeding twenty-five rupees.

A person should be given an opportunity to explain and the fine should not exceed rupees ten because fine of rupees twenty-five is too much.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in sub-clause (2), lines 5—9, for the words "take rupees," the following be substituted :—

"after giving such person an opportunity to explain, impose a fine not exceeding rupees ten."

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, I would like to submit that the panchayats should be invested with such powers as are absolutely necessary for the efficient discharge of their duties. I, therefore, do not favour the idea that wider powers should be conferred upon them. They have already been empowered to try criminal and civil cases. I have serious doubts that the panchayats would not abuse these powers. The clause now before the House seeks to invest them with the power of inflicting a fine of Rs. 25, on a person guilty of wilful disobedience of their order. I am of the opinion that the panchayats would be tempted to exercise this power very frequently and there is every likelihood of their abusing this power. I do admit that they require some power to enforce obedience to their orders but this does not mean that excessive powers should be granted to them for this purpose. I would, therefore, suggest that they should be empowered to inflict a fine of Rs. 10 only, for, a fine of Rs. 25 will be harsh, excessive and unjustified in view of the poor condition of the villagers. I have genuine misgivings that this power would be abused by the panchayats. With these words I commend the amendment for the acceptance of this House.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in sub-clause (2), lines 5—9, for the words "take rupees," the following be substituted :—

"after giving such person an opportunity to explain, impose a fine not exceeding rupees ten."

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (2) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 60 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 61.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (1) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalra (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) :
I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (2), lines 5—7, for the words 'but . . . do so' the words 'or through post' be substituted.

The sub-clause as it stands at present provides that the summons shall ordinarily be served by one of the chaukidars or by any other person willing to do so. The second method is liable to be misused by interested persons and the summons may not be served at all on the persons concerned. This may lead to the defendant not receiving any notice at all and yet the case being decided ex-parte. It is, therefore, desirable that the summons should be served either by the chaukidar or it should be served through post as is the procedure everywhere. There should be only two ways of serving the summons, one through some reliable agency of its own and the other through post. The provision that the panchayat may have the summons served by any other person will only complicate matter and increase the work of the panchayats. It is for this reason that I move the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in sub-clause (2), lines 5—7, for the words 'but do so', the words 'or through post' be substituted.

Minister for Public Works : I do not see any need for this amendment. In many villages there are no post offices and even if there are in some, there is likely to be trouble because the service of the summons may not be properly effected. The present arrangement is quite satisfactory and I do not therefore see any necessity for the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That in sub-clause (2), lines 5—7, for the words 'but . . . do so,' the words 'or through post' be substituted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (2) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (3) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 61 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 62.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (1), line 3, the word 'interested' be omitted.

The motion was carried.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (1), line 7, the words 'under this section' be omitted.

These words are not necessary.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in sub-clause (1), line 7, the words 'under this section' be omitted.

Minister for Public Works : I think the words should remain, otherwise the sense will not be very clear.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in sub-clause (1), line 7, the words 'under this section' be omitted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 62 as amended stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 63.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I beg to move—

That leave be granted to move the following new sub-clause:—

(2) on the transfer of such case, or suit, the Panchayat or the court to which it is transferred, shall hear such case or suit anew as if such case or suit was instituted before it.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 63 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 64.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I beg to move—

That in line 1, for the word 'inflicting' the word 'imposing' be substituted.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 64 as amended stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clauses 65—67.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clauses 65—67 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 68.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I move—

That in part (a), line 2, for the words "other than," the words "including one-half of the" be substituted.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration amendment moved—

That in part (a), line 2, for the words "other than," the words "including one-half of the" be substituted.

Minister of Public Works : I oppose the amendment. If my honourable friend will refer to section 136 of the Government of India Act, he will find that this is one of the sources of provincial revenue. As such, we cannot give a share of it to the panchayats.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in part (a), line 2, for the words "other than," the words "including one-half of the" be substituted.

The motion was lost.

Sardar Sampuran Singh (Lyallpur West, Sikh, Rural) : I move—

That at the end of part (c) the following be added :—

if the majority of the voters of the village agree.

Part (c) of clause 68 requires that the balances and proceeds of all funds which in the opinion of the Collector were or are being collected for the common secular purposes of the village shall be credited to the panchayat fund. My objection to this is that sometimes certain donations are made for special purposes in the villages. Sometimes it happens that special funds are collected for digging a well or having something else like that for the comfort of villagers. If for that special purpose the money is handed over to the panchayat, perhaps that would not make so much difference but as it is laid down it means that any such fund—it may be for any special purpose—would vest in the hands of the panchayat to be spent on any purpose that they like. That is rather very hard for the donors and for the people who have taken the initiative and trouble to collect those funds. Under the circumstances I would propose that this part (c) of clause 68 be omitted altogether so that the special objective in view may be carried out by the people.

Mr. Speaker : But the amendment is that certain words be added.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : If the majority of the voters of the village agree to the change of the purposes, then it may be done, i.e., such funds may be handed over to the panchayat.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That at the end of part (c) the following be added :—

if the majority of the voters of the village agree.

Minister of Public Works : I am afraid my honourable friend over there has got unnecessary fears. The object of this clause is that malba, about which we hear so much that it is being misused and that some people are deriving undue benefits out of it, might be taken over by the panchayat. The words "common secular purposes of the village" define it. There would be no object of that clause if the purpose for which a particular fund is collected is changed. If there is a fund existing for the common good of the village, the people's representatives should take it over. It is known that these funds go waste and the elected representatives of the people will take over these funds and use them to the best interests of the villagers.

Similarly, if there is any other fund of this type, that will also be taken over but if there is a particular gentleman who is charitably inclined and sets up a trust, the object of this clause is not to touch that trust, what to say of changing its purpose from one sort to another. That is not intended at all. That will be the private concern of those individuals and the panchayat shall have nothing to do with it. It is only a common fund, which might have been collected for the common good of the village, and about which the Collector will decide, after hearing all the objections that it should vest in the representatives of the people. I think the panchayat is the proper body to deal with such funds. We know that nobody worries about these funds and they go waste. Malba is one of these funds. Many honourable members opposite have been complaining that malba funds are misused.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : We want to abolish that.

Minister of Public Works : Do abolish it but as long as it is there, the omission or addition proposed is not going to affect the levy or otherwise of malba. It is levied under different rules and as long as those rules are there malba will be levied. We want only to prevent the misuse so that it may be spent on villagers themselves, and I hope the honourable member would not press the amendment.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) (Punjabi) : Sir, the arguments that have been advanced by the Honourable Minister against this amendment really go to support it. The mover of the amendment, Sardar Sampuran Singh is not opposed to the balance or proceeds of a common fund being credited to the panchayat fund. What he wants is that they should be so credited with the consent of the voters and not by the orders of the collector. The Honourable Minister has said that the object which the Government has in view is that the malba may be handed over to the panchayat, but let me tell him that the people as well as all the members of the congress party are opposed to the levy of malba and we know that once we agree to its being credited to the panchayat it will assume the form of permanent legal dues.

Minister of Public Works : That is why the word malba as such does not find a place there.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : Then better accept the amendment. The collector might at any time say that malba is a common fund and, therefore, it should go to the panchayat. Why should the Government insist on giving this power to the collector and not to the voters ?

You know, Sir, that quarrels and differences often arise with regard to the balance left with lambardars of even the common funds raised on various occasions if village people are not consulted as sometimes there is a donation for a certain purpose or there may be a common subscription raised to perform a yagya at the time of some epidemic among the cattle. If there is a balance in such a case let it be used by the panchayat for common good of the village, but it should be done with the consent of the voters so that there may not be any quarrels or murmurings. The collector should not be allowed unrestricted discretion in the matter.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That at the end of part (c), the following be added :—
if a majority of the voters of the village agree.

Clause 69

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 69 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Clause 70.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That sub-clauses (1) and (2) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Sir, I beg to move—

That in sub-clause (3), lines 5-6, the words "or to.....officer" be omitted.

Sub-clause (3) says that the Deputy Commissioner may delegate any of his powers, other than those described in section 78, to an Assistant Commissioner or Extra Assistant Commissioner or to an officer not below the rank of District Panchayat Officer. My object in moving this amendment is that such powers should only be confined to the Assistant Commissioner or to the Extra Assistant Commissioner and not to the Panchayat Officer, because in that case there will be certain other defects and complications.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, the amendment moved is—

That in sub-clause (3), lines 5-6, the words "or to.....officer" be omitted.

Minister for Public Works : I do not think we need omit these words. The delegation will only take place wherever it is found essential. When the Collector is delegating authority I am sure he will take due care to see that no mis-carriage of justice takes place and he will only delegate the authority in certain cases when he has confidence in a particular officer.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in sub-clause (3), lines 5-6, the words "or to.....officer" be omitted.

Clause 71.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Sir, I beg to move—

That in lines 6—10, for the words “ and.....institution ” the words “ records property, works or institution maintained, owned or ” be substituted.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, the amendment moved is—

That in lines 6—10, for the words “ and.....institution,” the words “ records, property, works or institution maintained, owned or ” be substituted.

Minister for Public Works : I oppose the amendment ; the clause as it stands is good enough.

That in line 6, the word “ executive ” be deleted.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in line 6, the word ‘ executive ’ be deleted.

Minister for Public Works : I oppose the amendment. The clause is very innocent. Government will have the power to call for the records of the panchayat in administrative matters only. Records of judicial—civil and criminal—cases will be revisable by the courts concerned, if there is any revision application. But this power is regarding the executive functions. I think the word 'executive' should be allowed to stand.

Clause 79.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) :
I beg to move—

That in lines 2—7, the words "other than.....jurisdiction" be omitted

The Honourable Minister in charge will agree with me that this provision is retrogressive as compared with the provisions, already there in the existing Panchayat Act, because this means that whatever fine is imposed by the panchayat or whatever decree is passed by it that should have no force and the panchayat will have no power to recover it as if it was arrears of land revenue. It is really strange that after giving so many powers to the village panchayat and after adopting procedure for rough and ready justice, there should be no provision to the effect that a decree passed by the panchayat will be realisable or the fines imposed by the panchayat will be recoverable by the panchayat. These provisions at present do exist in the present law and I do not understand why a distinction between the arrears of land revenue and the fines or the decretal amount should be made. If it is because of the poverty of the people or due to the indebtedness of the people, then the realisation should stand at par whether it is Government money or whether it is land revenue. It is not right that in one case Government can do whatever it likes when it is the question of land revenue and they will not do it when the question relates to a decree passed by or fines imposed by the panchayat. That means that powers exercisable by panchayats are bogus. There may be any amount of fine imposed but it cannot be realised. It will be said that the property is inalienable and it cannot be auctioned or that it is household property, and so on. So that all the provisions that at present exist with regard to the attachment and sale of property will also prevail in the case of the judgments given by the panchayat. If the Government mean to do something in this case, if they want to give some sanctity to the orders of the panchayat, then they should place the orders of the panchayat at par with powers for recovery of land revenue. The Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill may consider this as a progressive Bill, but I think it is a retrogressive measure. In the other provincial enactments the fines imposed by the panchayats are realisable as if they are arrears of land revenue, but in our case it is a novel procedure and a departure from the procedure adopted everywhere else. With these words I move my amendment.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That in lines 2—7, the words 'other than jurisdiction' be omitted.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana) : I oppose the amendment. The reasons are obvious. At present all the decrees passed by civil courts as well as fines imposed by criminal courts are not realisable as arrears of land revenue and no agricultural land is attached and sold in pursuance of those decrees. Now by transferring to these panchayats powers to try civil suits we have specified that we do not propose to give them power to realise them as arrears of land revenue. Therefore there is no change. What the clause seeks to lay down is to maintain the status quo, so that there will be no more liability than what exists at present. If the amendment is accepted, it will mean that all the decrees and fines imposed by the panchayats will be realisable as if they were arrears of land revenue. The object is not to make any change in case of other decrees. I cannot accept the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That in lines 2—7, the words 'other than jurisdiction' be omitted.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 79 stand part of the Bill.

Clauses 80—81.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clauses 80 and 81 stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

New clause 81-A.

Pandit Muni Lala Kalia : I beg to move—

That leave be given to move the following new clause at the end of clause 81 :—

81-A. Every case or suit of the nature specified in chapters V and VI pending in any court and cognizable by a village panchayat and all proceedings arising from and incidental to any such case or suit shall be tried, heard and determined by such court or any other court having jurisdiction to try, hear or determine the same, as if this Act had not been passed.

Clause 82.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) :
I move—

That at the end of sub-clause (1), the following proviso be added :—

Provided that draft rules shall be placed on the table of the Legislative Assembly and not enforced prior to their discussion in the Assembly.

Clause 82 deals with power to make rules and is one of the most important clauses of the Bill. It is a kind of residuary clause which is in effect a second Village Panchayat Bill. There are about 30 clauses in the Bill, such as clauses 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 40, 41, 43, 45, 52, 54, 61, 66, 69, 70, 71, 73, 74, 75, 78, 82 and 83, where power is given, to the Government in one form or other to make rules. My amendment suggests that those rules shall be placed on the table of the Assembly and discussed before they are enforced. When an amendment was moved at a certain stage that the powers of the panchayat should be restricted and that some provision should be made to protect the rights and interests of the minorities or scheduled castes, an assurance was given on the floor of the House that Government will keep that point in view at the time of making the rules. But I do not think that the Honourable Minister even remembers the number of assurances that he has given at the time of the passing of the several clauses. There are no less than 35 clauses in which power is taken to make the rules. I only want an opportunity to be given to this House to discuss those rules. I claim that in all fairness the Honourable Minister will concede this right of the Assembly so that when we find that the rules framed are inconsistent with the provisions of the Bill we may change them, we may also know that he has no ulterior motive in taking these powers unto himself. Similar provisions exist in the Bombay act and provisions to this end exist in some of our laws as well. There is no provision made as to previous publication. I, therefore, move the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : As the amendment is a new clause, the honourable member should first obtain leave of the House for moving it. Question is—

That leave be given to add the following clause at the end of sub-clause (1) :—

Provided that draft rules shall be placed on the table of the Legislative Assembly and not enforced prior to their discussion in the Assembly.

Mr. Speaker : Sub-clause (1).

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : The sub-clause empowers the Government to make rules for carrying out the purposes of this measure. A comparative study of the Panchayat Acts in different provinces of the country shows that many of the powers which are now being taken by the Government in this province are as a matter of fact part of the statute law in other provinces. There are several sections relating to elections, number of seats, the method of election, the disqualifications of candidates and other provisions regarding the election machinery. All these things are provided for in the Acts themselves. Whereas in this province the Government proposes to reserve to itself the power to make rules for dealing with these matters. Furthermore, it does not want the legislature to discuss these rules. Take for instance the clause which says that the results of elections shall be reported to the prescribed authority and no election shall be valid until it has been confirmed by the prescribed authority. The House is in the dark as to who will be the prescribed authority, whether it will be the panchayat officer or the assistant panchayat officer or some clerk in the office of the panchayat. The Honourable Minister assures us that due regard will be had to the suggestions made and that the Government will keep in view the objections raised in the House. But when the House suggests that such things should be discussed in the House, permission to make the suggestion is refused. Take another instance. Clause 9 deals with casual vacancies, how they are to be filled, whether elections should be held or whether the vacancy should be filled by nomination and so on. It means that the whole procedure which is laid down for the ordinary election of panches may be superseded and any other method may be adopted for the filling of casual vacancies.

The Government wants power under clauses 7 and 8 for holding elections and for removal of panches. What will be the frame work of those rules? Some departmental hand, a beauracrat will make these rules. There will be departmental mentality behind it.

Clause 8 was one of the most controversial clauses and sub-clause (1) to it has not been, up to this time, adopted by this House and it is only to-day that in the proposed clause 8 the Government wants power with regard to this matter. The House should know what those powers are and how powers will be exercised and whether they will be exercised with political ends. Certain people do not happen to see eye to eye with the Government of the day and there should be some safeguards. Doubts can only be removed if it is discussed before this House.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is repeating his arguments in support of his new clause.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I am taking different clauses under which the Government wants these powers. I am dealing with clause 8, so there is no question of repetition. Sub-clause (1) is a general one. Sub-clauses (2) and (8) are particular ones so that so far as sub-clause (1) is concerned, I am only inviting the attention of the House to the vast rule-making powers which the Government wants to possess and I am only quoting some of the clauses. Take the case of clauses 12 and 13. They relate to—

Mr. Speaker : The same arguments and remarks apply to all clauses.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : No, the wording of the clauses is different and so the reasons. I will not repeat the same argument but so far as the different clauses are concerned I have to invite the attention of the House to their effect. Clauses 12 and 13 relate to incorporation of panchayats and meetings of the panchayats, how are the minutes to be maintained, what is to be the time of meetings and what are to be the intervals between the meetings. All these points are to be considered. These things are incorporated in the Municipal and District Board Acts. If reference is made to Bombay, C.P. and Madras Acts, you will find that all the provisions are provided in the enacting part. I want to draw the attention of the House to one of the bold steps taken by the Government in taking all these powers to itself. Clauses 18, 19 and 20 relate to punishment and dismissal of servants, compulsory duties of the panchayat and functions of the district board which may be delegated to the panchayats. There was lot of discussion with regard to compulsory duties of the panchayats and on more than one occasion assurance was given by the Honourable Minister in charge that the Government will keep in view that thing but what is the position up till now? Nothing has been done with regard to the use of wells and with regard to the use of shamilat deh. Clauses 50, 52 and 54 are most important clauses in the Bill and I think in this case the House is being deprived of the right of discussion. With these words I oppose subclause.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava (Lahore, General, Urban) (Urdu) : Sir we know that the Government can enact any law with the help of the majority which it has at its back. There is, however, an important thing which reveals the real intention of Government about a law or as to how that law is to be worked. That important thing is the rules which are made under an Act. It is, I submit, the right of this House that it is made aware of the rules which Government proposes to make under the new Act. This would show how the Government intends to work this measure. For instance, it is laid down in the Bill :—

Government may make rules regulating the election, suspension or removal of a sarpanch and of a naib-sarpanch.

Surely, this House has a right to know as to how this Act is going to work, how the panches will be appointed; how they will be elected. This House has a right to insist that adult franchise should be the basis in such elections. The Government may, I fear, fix some property qualifications and in this way deprive a large number of people from the right to vote. It is common knowledge that there are usually several parties in a village. Government may make rules under which it may be possible for the dominant party in a panchayat to tyrannise over another party which is in a minority. We are giving very wide powers to the panchayats. They will hear criminal cases and will have the power to inflict punishments of fine. Then there is another provision in this clause, namely, that if any one is guilty of breach of any rules made under the Act, he shall be punished with a fine which may extend to twenty-five rupees. Now, this provision may become a real hardship. If an officer comes to see how many people have the right of vote according to the qualifications provided under rules, and another person may point out that he has a right to vote under the rules, he may be punished for the breach of the rules if the officer thinks that he has not the right. Then we do not know what will be the powers of a sarpanch and a naib-sarpanch. That has got to be fixed under rules. It was necessary that the Government had come before this House with their rules so that we could have had the opportunity of dissuading them on certain points if we could. We know the Government's mind ; but at least we could have the satisfaction of doing our best in the matter. We want that only such rules be made as may not prove harmful to the interest of the general public. The Government ought to have made its mind clear in this matter by incorporating the rules in this Bill so that this Bill may have become a self-contained measure. In that case it would have been clear to the people how this Act is going to affect their rights. We are asked to-day to work in the dark. We do not know how the Government is going to work this Act. We suspect that Government will be making jobbery, nepotism and corruption common by making rules of a particular type. We, therefore, demand the right to know the rules here on the floor of the Assembly in order to see whether they clash with the interests of the public or not.

In conclusion, let me point out to them that it is absolutely essential to acquaint those people with the nature of the proposed rules which are going to affect them. Had the Government thought it fit to grant us the privilege of considering the rules that are intended to be made under the Act we would have refrained from taking objection to the rule-making power of the Government. But now we feel obliged to raise our voice against the arbitrary attitude adopted by the Government so that people outside the House may come to know as to what is being done here. With these words I oppose the clause under consideration.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) (Punjabi) : Sir at the very outset I draw your attention to sub-clause (1) which reads as follows :—

Government may make any rules consistent with this Act to carry out the purposes thereof; and may provide that the breach of any such rules shall be punishable with a fine which may extend to twenty-five rupees.

Further on there is sub-clause (3) with a long list of purposes to carry out which the Government may make rules in particular. That list covers all the purposes about which there can be a legitimate necessity, for making rules and, therefore, there is no reason why the Government should be given unlimited powers to make any rules at its sweet will as provided in sub-clause (1). This demand for unlimited and unrestricted powers surely indicates some ulterior motive. It appears that the Government does not want to appoint panchayat officers only to supervise the working of panchayats but wants to use them for harassing its political opponents. The officer will be entitled to summon any person to appear before him and make a statement, and the Government can make such rules under sub-clause (1) as will give him ample chance to harass the people. This shows what potentialities for mischief are latent in this sub-clause.

The panchayat officer of my district prepared a leaflet which, I think, he sent to Sardar Joginder Singh Mann also because his amendments contain all the proposals of the said officer. These amendments are an index of the mentality of the officer concerned as well as his desire for unlimited powers to intimidate the people.

Minister of Public Works : But I have not accepted those amendments.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : The Honourable Minister says that he has not accepted those amendments. But may I remind him that he accepted the amendment relating to the words 'special and particular' only too readily and with his eyes shut ?

As regards the other amendments they were never moved by my honourable friend Sardar Jogindar Singh Mann. How, then could you accept or reject them ? This shows that the Sardar Sahib acted more reasonably than the Honourable Minister. Thus in view of the mentality of the panchayat officers it is not desirable to give the Government unrestricted discretion to make rules.

Then again, the sub-clause in question is not confined to the grant of powers to make the most drastic rules, but there is also the provision that a breach of any of those rules shall be punishable with a fine to the extent of twenty-five rupees. This would mean that a panchayat officer can one day issue summons to me and the next day inflict on me a fine of Rs. 25, howsoever unreasonable the orders of the panchayat officer may be. If the Government has no wish to make unreasonable and unnecessarily stringent rules and if it has no desire to forge weapons in the form of these rules to harass the public then why should it be reluctant to submit the rules to the vote of the House ? In view of these facts and the attitude of the Government it is the duty of the members of this House to reject sub-clause (1).

Mian Abdul Aziz (Outer Lahore, Muhammadan, Urban) (Urdu): There is no doubt about the fact that all the rules or by-laws that are made under a certain Act are considered to be the most essential and important part of the latter. Their legality or validity cannot be questioned with impunity. But in spite of all this they have got a secondary position as compared with the Act itself. Now my contention is that if before its enactment an Act is introduced in the House in the form of a Bill for careful consideration and deliberation then why should not the rules made thereunder be placed before the Assembly especially when their validity also happens to be undisputed and unquestioned. Our past experience is that whenever the Government has tried to make use of its rule-making power it has almost invariably framed such rules as have definitely gone beyond the scope of the Act itself. I fail to understand why the Government is not prepared to place the rules especially when these rules become part of the substantive law before the House for consideration when it can get the Bill itself through the House by means of the numerical strength of its following. Most probably it wants to come in by the back door. I have good reasons to believe that the Government wants to retain wide powers to itself by means of such rules. It was incumbent on the Government to disarm us of the fears and doubts that are lurking in our mind in the matter and acquaint us with the rules that are intended to be framed under the Act. The Government is awfully mistaken if it thinks that the introduction of the rules in the House would necessarily result in an emanation of a series of notices of amendments from the Opposition. If this at all happens the Government is strong enough to dispose of such amendments in no time. It may rest assured that as many days as have been spent on the consideration of the Bill will not be required in the case of the consideration of the rules. Anyway the House should have the right to carefully consider the rules in question. They should be placed before the Assembly immediately after the passage of the Bill. If the Government persists in retaining to itself the rule-making power, then I am obliged to submit that there is something black in the matter. I, therefore, respectfully submit that the rules should be placed before the House.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (2) stand part of the clause.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma (Kangra West, General, Rural) : Sir, sub-clause (2) reads thus :—

All acts authorised or enjoined under this Act shall be held to be authorised or enjoined subject to such rules.

Under clause 82 power is being sought to frame rules which according to sub-clause (2) will affect the acts authorised or enjoined under this Act. From this clause it is very clear that rules which will be framed by Government will be outside the scope of the Bill.

From the wording of sub-clause (2) it is clear that the rule-making power of the Government which is to be taken under this clause will be outside the Bill itself. There are certain matters which are provided for in the Act and rules will be made under this Act. The Act was discussed clause by clause before this House. If the rules were to be made within the Act or with respect to the provisions which are already put before the House and discussed, we would not have grudged but as this sub-clause stands, it clearly shows that the Government is seeking to get the power of making rules by which they can even nullify the provisions of the Act to some extent. "All acts authorised or enjoined under this Act shall be held to be authorised or enjoined subject to such rules." So that while framing rules they can even nullify the provisions which we have discussed, and the whole purpose of the Bill will be lost. If the Government Minister can nullify the whole thing which is done here in this House, I think it is a sheer waste of the time of the House to discuss any Bill and pass it, when by this simple clause the whole power is being transferred into the hands of Government. When from this House it is urged that these rules should be put before the House so that we may be in a position to know what type of rules they are and to what extent they nullify the provisions of the law that is passed by this House, what is the attitude of Government on this simple matter? It is to be regretted that they do not even allow us to have a discussion on that important clause whereby the present Government will take the whole power of undoing the provisions which have been discussed in this House. Under the circumstances we cannot but strongly oppose this sub-clause (2) which seeks to give unlimited powers in the hands of the present Government which has by its conduct proved itself unfit to hold any such powers. Those powers are liable to be misused by Government who have in the past used such powers in order to increase their party power and to kill the political adversaries who want to do actual service to the poor tillers of the soil. But intoxicated as they are with the power of government they do not even care for the interests of the poor people, and whenever any little opportunity is given to them in the form of any power they have misused it and not used it for the benefit of the poor people who really deserve the help of the Government at this critical stage when their condition is going from bad to worse every day. With these remarks I oppose sub-clause (2).

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu): Sir. I would like to make one or two observations with regard to this sub-clause. I admit it is perfectly right to grant powers to the Government or its officers under this Bill, the provisions of which have been thoroughly discussed on the floor of the House. But I see no justification in powers being conferred on them by virtue of rules framed arbitrarily by the Government. Again I see no reason why the Assembly should not have a hand in framing these rules. I think it would be absolutely unfair on the part of the Government to make rules which will have the force of law without even consulting this House. I am of the opinion that the provisions of the Act and the rules made thereunder supplement one another. It is, therefore, an anomaly that on the one hand we are given an opportunity to discuss the provisions of this Bill at length, while on the other hand we are deprived of the right to have our say in the framing of rules which constitute an important part of the Bill. This is an extraordinary inconsistency on the part of the Government. I, therefore, urge upon the Government the desirability of taking the legislature into confidence while framing these rules. With these words I oppose the subclause under consideration.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That sub-clause (2) stand part of the clause.

The motion was carried.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) :
I move—

That in sub-clause (3), lines 1-2, between the words "prejudice" and "the," the word "to" be inserted.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That the first three lines of sub-clause (3) as amended stand part of the sub-clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That part (a) of sub-clause (3) stand part of the sub-clause.

The motion was carried.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) : Sir, if you read part (a) of this sub-clause you will find that it covers also part (b). Clause 8 of the Bill also deals with persons who may not hold office. Clause 10 also empowers the deputy commissioner to appoint members of a panchayat and fill vacancies. So there is no need for this part (b) here. We find that the Government is anxious to have these powers but it does not care to see whether those powers are conferred on it by another clause. It wants the same powers to be conferred by so many clauses. I therefore think that part (b) should be deleted altogether.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma (Kangra West, General, Rural) : Sir, this part (b) of sub-clause (3) of clause 82 does not mention anything about provision of safeguards for the proper representation of scheduled castes and other minorities on the panchayat.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That part (b) of sub-clause (3) stand part of the sub-clause.

The motion was carried.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) :
Sir I move—

That leave be granted to add the following new part after (b) of sub-clause (3) :—

(c) providing safeguards for the proper representation of scheduled castes and other minorities on the panchayat.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That parts (c) to (e) of sub-clause (3) stand part of the sub-clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Part (f).

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) : Under clause 69

4 p.m.

the panchayats are empowered to levy any tax upon the people in the panchayat area with the previous sanction of the Government. In every Act where there is such a provision for the imposition of a tax, whether it be by a local body or by any other institution, there is also a provision giving a right of appeal against the assessment. Take the present Bill itself. The functions of the panchayats can be divided into various parts, namely, administrative, judicial (civil and criminal) and taxation. It is provided that in the exercise of the administrative functions any person aggrieved by the orders of a panchayat has got a right of appeal. In the same way any person aggrieved by the judicial decisions of the panchayats, whether civil or criminal, can file a revision petition before the district magistrate or the district judge. Similarly, Government should have made a provision in the Bill providing for a right of appeal for a person who has got a grievance against the assessment order of the panchayat. That has not been done in this Bill. Instead of providing for an appeal in the Bill itself, the Government proposes to provide for it by rules and the legislature will have no voice to raise against such rules. I submit that it is extremely necessary that a provision should have been made in clause 69 itself providing for a right of appeal. Because such a provision has not been made, and because the Government proposes to take powers to frame rules on this subject according to its own whims and fancies that I oppose the earlier portion of this part of the sub-clause, that is, 'regulating the assessment and collection of taxes, appeals against assessments and collection of taxes.' As to the latter part which deals with the proper custody and maintenance of the panchayat funds, I have nothing to say against it.

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri (Rawalpindi Division, General, Rural) : It appears to me that under this rule-making power the Government wishes to take powers to impose new taxes; and not only to impose new taxes itself, but to delegate to these panchayats the power to impose taxes. I submit that whenever a new tax is to be imposed it must be done by this Assembly. At least this Assembly should decide the amount of taxes to be levied or the maximum tax that can be levied and the nature of the tax.

Minister for Public Works : The nature of the tax is specified in clause 69.

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri : Very well.* Let us see what clause 69 says. It reads as follows—

Minister for Public Works : But that clause has been passed by the Assembly. It is too late now to object to the question of taxation.

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri : The Honourable Minister has not, unfortunately, understood my point. Clause 69 to which my attention has been drawn reads as follows :—

- (1) A panchayat may, with the previous sanction of Government, levy any tax which the provincial legislature has power to impose in the province under the Government of India Act, 1935 :
- Provided that a panchayat may exempt any person from the payment of all or part of any such tax as may be prescribed which may be due from him on any such conditions as it may impose.

(2) Government may at any time withdraw the sanction so given, and the tax shall thereupon cease to be levied.

This legislation which creates the panchayats with extensive powers also gives them power to impose taxation. I am opposed to any power of taxation being given to a subordinate body unless the nature of the taxation is specified in the law itself.

Mr. Speaker : Clause 69 has been passed by the House. So, the honourable member is not in order in discussing it. The sub-clause under consideration only deals with the regulation of assessment, collection of taxes and the custody and maintenance of the panchayat funds. It has nothing to do with the imposition of taxes.

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri : What I am objecting to is the proposal to give extensive powers under the rule-making powers.

Mr. Speaker : But the honourable member is referring to clause 69.

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri : My submission is that the Government without disclosing its intentions is taking power to make rules for regulating the assessment and collection of taxes. Before it can ask the House to give it power to frame rules, it should indicate the nature of taxes which it proposes to delegate to the panchayats to levy.

The House should know what is the maximum amount of taxation which these panchayats will be able to levy so that before this House gives them power to legislate by their rule-making power, it may be in a position to judge whether the powers—

Mr. Speaker : This point also has already been discussed. The motion for leave to move the new clause that all rules made by the Government under the Act should be placed before the Assembly, was moved but it was turned down by the House.

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri : That is my reason for objecting to the inclusion of this clause. It has so often been observed that the democratic Government is practically being defeated by the rule-making power of the Government.

Mr. Speaker : It is not the power of rule-making in general that is under consideration.

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri : This House should refuse to the Government the power to frame any rules regulating the assessment and collection of taxes whose nature or amount is not indicated to the House or with respect to which the Government has not taken the House into its confidence. The Government may, as soon as the Act is passed, authorise a panchayat to tax per capita every inhabitant living in a particular part of the country at a certain sum of money per head. It may tax every cattle which exists in that part of the locality. It may tax, if it is permissible under the rules, every person who walks on the roads which lie in that locality and the amount of the tax may also be left entirely to the discretion of these panchayats. That is a power which should only be given to the Government after it has given to the House some views as to the amount of taxation that would be necessary, the manner in which that taxation is to be collected and the necessity for that taxation. In this case the Government is not taking the power to itself but the Government is taking a power to delegate its functions to a panchayat. It is not known whether they will put maximum limit on the powers of the panchayats in respect of amount of taxation, whether they would fix any limit as to the nature of subjects on which these panchayats might tax the people and also as to the manner in which they might collect. These are very extensive powers which should only be given after the Government has made out a case. Whenever the Government wants money, it is its duty to come to the legislature and ask for that money and justify that tax on the floor of the House. If you pass this clause you give them a carte-blanche and they, while sitting comfortably in their ministerial rooms, can give sanction to these panchayats to impose taxation on the inhabitants of this province on any scale authorised by Government to tax individuals, give them authority to tax cattle and give them other powers which might cause widespread confusion and discontent. I, therefore, urge upon the House to delete the clause.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu): There is no gainsaying the fact that clause 69 of the Bill confers on the Government the power to levy a tax. But its nature and the manner in which it may be levied have not been made clear. Now the Government want to make up this deficiency by taking this power under this sub-clause. I may point out that according to the sound principle, that is, no taxation without representation, this House which is representative of the people of the Punjab has a right to discuss the advisability or otherwise of a tax which the Honourable Minister for Public Works may like to levy on the people. Let me also submit that my honourable friend Major Khizar Hayat may be representing his constituency in this House, but his being a Minister does not mean that he represents the whole province in this House. I would go a step further and say that even the Ministry as a whole does not represent the masses, although it rules the province. I would therefore urge upon the Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill not to go against the healthy principle referred to by me. The tax should be levied with the consent of those who represent the people of the province in the House. I hope the Honourable Minister would see the force of my arguments and would accept my amendment.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That part (f) of sub-clause (3) stand part of the sub-clause.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That parts (g), (h) and (j) stand part of sub-clause (3)

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Part (k),

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri (Rawalpindi Division, (General), Rural) : Sir, you will see that part (k) provides that the Government may make rules regulating the procedure of a panchayat in the exercise of its judicial powers under this Act. I am anxious that the system of judicial administration in this province, as has been introduced by the British and as has been carried on for the last 80 years or so should not be impaired in any way. Even if the panchayats are to be given judicial powers—and I know that they have been given powers under the Act, both on the civil side as well as on the criminal side, the procedure, which these panchayats should follow, should approximate as far as possible to the procedure which obtains in all civilised countries in the trial of judicial cases. I am not wedded to any particular kind of procedure, e.g., the procedure laid down in the Civil Procedure Code or in the Criminal Procedure Code, but, that a definite and fairly precise procedure should be prescribed which the panchayats should be bound to follow, is the point which, I wish to emphasize. Therefore, my object in taking the time of the House and in speaking on this clause is to emphasise on the Government the absolute necessity of prescribing a regular procedure to which a meticulous observance by the panchayats should be compelled. That would not only give a certain amount of protection to the litigants who appear before the panchayats, but would afford very good material for the exercise of revisional powers by superior authorities either by way of appeal or by way of revision. Unless a definite judicial procedure is prescribed, the decision of these panchayats would be a mere farce. You will agree that the Punjab does not want to adopt the methods of judicial administration which obtain in some of the frontiers of our province. We do not want to adopt anything like jirgas. The Government, while prescribing the procedure or making the rules for the panchayats, would, I hope, compel the panchayats to observe a regular procedure.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That part (k) stand part of the sub-clause.

PROSECUTIONS AND CONVICTIONS UNDER THE CHOS ACT OF 1900 IN AMBALA DISTRICT.

5230. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- the number of prosecutions and convictions respectively under the Chos Act of 1900 in Ambala district for the period between 1st April and 30th September, 1939 ;
- the total amount of fines imposed in this connection ;
- whether it is a fact that all the above-mentioned cases have been tried summarily without any opportunity being given to the accused persons to defend themselves ; if so, the action Government intend to take in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) 84 prosecutions and 55 convictions.

(b) Rs. 1,205.

(c) No. 53 out of the 55 cases were tried summarily but every opportunity was afforded to the accused persons to defend themselves. Two cases were tried by the Tahsildar and Naib-Tahsildar, Kharar.

PLANTING OF JHUNDS IN AMBALA DISTRICT.

5235. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- whether any Inspector to plant jhunds in order to protect certain villages and their lands from the action of hill torrents has been appointed in Ambala district ;
- whether it has come to the notice of the Government that the planting of jhunds in certain nadis in Ambala district has been resented on the ground that the planting of jhunds instead of protecting the villages and their lands does injury to them ;
- whether it is a fact that the planting of jhunds in the nadi of Sialba, tahsil Kharar, has diverted the said hill torrent towards the abadi of the village and has resulted in a great deal of damage ;

[L. Duni Chand.]

(d) if so, the action the Government proposes to take to remove the above-mentioned grievances ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): (a) Yes.

(b) No.

(c) No damage has been done to the village abadi in consequence of the planting of jhunds.

(d) Does not arise.

Lala Duni Chand: May I know what is your source of information when you say that no damage has been caused ?

Parliamentary Secretary: I have said that no damage has been done to the village abadi in consequence of the planting of jhunds.

Lala Duni Chand: Will the Parliamentary Secretary attach any importance or value to the fact that I myself went to the village and saw the damage done ?

Parliamentary Secretary: My reply is based on the report supplied by the local officers who have examined the spot as well as the papers.

Lala Duni Chand: Does the Parliamentary Secretary say that untrue reports are not made ?

Parliamentary Secretary: Unfortunately I must place more reliance on the information supplied by the officers who are experts in the matter than on a layman, however cautious he may be.

Lala Duni Chand: May I know if it is a question of experts ? The damage has been done, houses have been destroyed : where is the question of experts ?

Mr. Speaker: I would request honourable members not to bring in, if possible, their personal knowledge.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh: Did you hear the Parliamentary Secretary say that he relied more on the officials than on laymen ?

Lala Duni Chand: What are we to do if we know facts ?

Mr. Speaker: Honourable members are not here as parties, but as representatives or advocates.

DOMINANT TRIBES IN HANSI AND SIRSA TAHSILS.

*5292. Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan: Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state the names of villages with the dominant tribes inhabiting them in Hansi and Sirsa tahsils of Hissar district where village tanks have been excavated as famine relief works in 1938 and in 1939 ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): No village tank was excavated in 1938.

A statement¹ relating to the year 1939 is laid on the table.

¹Placed in the Assembly Library.

Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan : Will the Parliamentary Secretary go through the list and say whether justice has been done to all?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have gone through the list and I see no reason to doubt that justice has been done.

RESUMPTION OF PRESENT GRANTS.

5293. Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) how much land given as peasant grant, has so far been resumed in the first instance during the period from 1933 to 31st March, 1939, in the Rakh Pir Mahal area in the Lyallpur district on the non-fulfilment of conditions under the Colony Act with the names of grantees whose lands have been resumed ; and their full address ;
- (b) in how many such cases lesser penalty was imposed instead of resumption of land in the first instance with the names of grantees and their full address ;
- (c) does Government intend to reconsider the cases where land granted has been resumed in the first instance ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) :

(a) First Part.—Six squares of land.

Second Part.—A statement is laid on the table.

(b) None.

(c) No, because the action taken was not irregular. In two cases grants were restored but had to be renewed again because of continued breaches of conditions.

Statement.

REPORT OF THE INQUIRY COMMITTEE ON THE PROBLEM OF LOW WATER LEVEL IN THE DOABA.

5300. Sardar Harjab Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether the Inquiry Committee which was appointed to find out remedies for the low water level in the Doaba has now submitted its report ; if so, what are its findings ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : First part.—Yes.

Second part.—The findings of the committee were that the contributory causes of the fall in the level of the water table were :—

- (i) Denudation ;
- (ii) Diminution in rainfall ;
- (iii) Increase in the number of wells ; and
- (iv) The construction of the Sirhind Canal to some extent.

Sardar Hari Singh : May I ask what action Government proposes to take on the basis of the report of that committee ? May I know if Government at all wants to take any action in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Government convened a conference consisting of officials and non-officials to look into this question and to suggest what remedy Government should adopt and the different remedies suggested are being put into practice and the Government are considering putting them into operation.

Sardar Hari Singh : When was that conference of officials and non-officials held ? Was it before the appointment of the sub-division or after ?

Minister for Revenue : After that.

Sardar Hari Singh : In what month ?

Minister : I cannot give you the month.

Sardar Hari Singh : Was it this year ?

Minister : It was certainly not a hundred of years ago.

Parliamentary Secretary : It was at Simla on Friday, the 27th May, 1938.

Sardar Hari Singh : Is it not a fact that the sub-division, Jullundur, was opened after that conference ?

Minister : The sub-division could not be opened immediately on the report being received. The sub-division had to be opened after the Chief Engineer took sanction of the Government to do so.

Sardar Hari Singh : May I ask whether any conference of the officials and non-officials had been held after receiving the report of the sub-division ?

Minister : I do not think there is any necessity of having any further inquiries on the subject because men who are experts in the matter are doing it.

Sardar Hari Singh : May I know if Government is making this report as the basis for action in the matter ?

Minister : At any rate the report has to be the basis of any instructions that are to be issued.

Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Parliamentary Secretary be pleased to say whether the recommendation of the conference of officials and non-officials held in 1938 was that the proposal of the committee be put into practice ?

Minister : The conference looked into the matter and after that the officer had been appointed.

Sardar Hari Singh : I want to know whether the recommendations of the report are going to be acted upon ?

Minister : May I know why it is insinuated that we are not going to act on the report ?

Sardar Hari Singh : The Honourable Minister cannot put questions : he can only answer.

Minister : That is what I say that Government are going to do something on the subject. That is in your mind as well as in mine.

Sardar Hari Singh : May I know what is the main recommendation made by the sub-division ?

Minister : I cannot lay the report before the House, when it is just at present being considered.

Sardar Hari Singh : I do not want you to lay the report on the table of the House. May I ask you just to let us know the main recommendations made in that report ?

Minister : Will you put a new question on the subject ?

Sardar Hari Singh : May I ask whether a communiqué informing the people of the Doaba that a canal was going to be taken out of the River Sutlej near Rupar to irrigate more land was issued after the report was received ?

Minister : It is not a question of issuing a communiqué on the subject of taking water from the Beas. My friend knows that the river water does not only belong to the Punjab, it belongs to other irrigators as well. The proposal was to take water for seepage canal and not for irrigation.

Sardar Hari Singh : I want to know whether that was the main recommendation of the committee ?

Minister : May have been.

Sardar Hari Singh : May I know whether that seepage canal is going to help the people of Hoshiarpur ?

Minister : Seepage canal means the water that percolates and goes into the well.

DISMISSAL OF LAMBARDARS OF VILLAGE BHITEWADH.

*5307. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) the number and the names of the lambardars of the village Bhitewadh, tahsil Ajnala, district Amritsar, who were dismissed during the last six months ;

[S. Sohan Singh Josh.]

(b) the reasons for their dismissal;

(c) the names of the persons replacing them with their qualifications?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): (a) None.

(b) and (c) Do not arise.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh: I have not followed the Parliamentary Secretary. Does he mean that no lambardar was dismissed?

Parliamentary Secretary: None.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh: Does he mean to say that no lambardar was suspended either, or do I understand that suspension and dismissal mean the same thing?

Minister for Revenue If the honourable member wants to know the number of suspensions, I require notice for that.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF LAND REVENUE COMMITTEE.

*5317. Sardar Harjab Singh: Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether the Government intends to act upon the recommendations of the Land Revenue Committee which has recently submitted its report; if so, when?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): The attention of the honourable member is invited to the proceedings of Government, dated the September 12th, 1939, on the Land Revenue Committee Report a copy of which has since been supplied to him.

EXPENDITURE ON FODDER SUPPLIED IN HISSAR DISTRICT.

*5324. Chaudhri Suraj Mal: Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) the total expenditure on fodder advanced as taccavi from 1st July, 1938, to 31st August, 1939, to the zamindars of the famine-stricken area in Hissar district;

(b) the cost of overhead charges including the total of the salaries of Fodder Adviser and his staff since their appointment to 31st August, 1939?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): (a) Rs. 18,67,292.

(b) Rs. 58,281.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: May I know whether the reply given by the Parliamentary Secretary is in connection with fodder taccavi or whether cattle taccavi is also included in it?

Minister for Revenue: All taccavis.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: May I know what sort of taccavi loans have been included in the reply given by the Parliamentary Secretary?

Minister : As the question was in regard to fodder the reply has also been given about fodder.

SUPPLY OF WATER FOR IRRIGATION TO SOUTH-WESTERN PUNJAB BY TUBE-WELLS.

5325. Chaudhri Suraj Mal : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that a special officer was appointed to examine the possibilities of supplying water to the south-western Punjab by tube-wells sunk along the banks of the Western Jumna Canal ; if so, whether that officer has submitted any report about the matter ;
- (b) if the answer to (a) above be in the affirmative, whether Government has considered that report ; and if so, with what result ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) (1) Yes.

(2) A report on a preliminary survey has been received and is promising.

(b) More detailed surveys are required but have been suspended since it would be very difficult, expensive and even impossible to obtain power plant to work any wells which might be built.

APPOINTMENT OF UNTRAINED TAHSILDARS AS EXTRA TAHSILDARS ON FULL PAY.

5333. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether any untrained tahsildar candidates have been appointed as officiating extra-tahsildars on full pay and are allowed travelling allowances in the Ambala division ; if so, how many and what is the period of settlement training they have undergone ;
- (b) whether it is a fact that the tahsildar candidates are usually required to undergo settlement training for a period of one year and a further training as naib-tahsildars for a period of two years before they are appointed as tahsildars ;
- (c) whether any tahsildar candidates who had undergone the prescribed settlement training and had spent major portion of their training as naib-tahsildars were available for appointment in the division under reference ; if so, how many ;
- (d) if the reply to (a) and (c) above be in the affirmative, the reasons why untrained people were appointed when trained ones were available ;
- (e) what steps, if any, does the Government propose to take in order to put an end to such preferential treatment in future ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) (i) Yes, but the posts were after a short period reduced to those of naib-tahsildars.

[R. Ghazanfar Ali Khan.]

(ii) Six.

(iii) About three months.

(b) Yes.

(c) There were six such tahsildar candidates but they were not readily available because for administrative reasons it was preferable not to disturb the continuity of their training.

(d) and (e) Do not arise.

IRRIGATION OF LANDS BY HEADWORKS PALLAH MARI.

5365. Khan Haibat Khan Daba : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) whether the proprietors of the villages of Shah Qudus Khaga, Nur Shah, Ghulam Shah, Burana Sani, Akbar Shah, Chhajju Deh and Chakar Ghazi Khanana, tahsil Mailsi, submitted several applications during the course of the last few years to the authorities concerned stating that the means of irrigation under the Headworks Pallah Mari were highly unsatisfactory and that they should be compensated for the loss suffered by them due to this new scheme of irrigation ;

(b) if the answer to (a) is in the affirmative, what action, if any, did the Government take or intends to take now in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): I regret the answer to this question is not yet complete. It will be communicated to the honourable member when ready.

MALIKANA RATES AND PROPRIETARY RIGHTS.

5366. Khan Haibat Khan Daba : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) whether in the case of civil and military grants the grantees are given proprietary rights on the payment of fixed malikana amounts ;

(b) whether in the case of literary grants the grantees will not be given proprietary rights ;

(c) that malikana rates are charged from literary grantees along with land revenue dues ;

(d) that these malikana rates are not less than the rates at which average Government lands, particularly in Nili Bar, are being given on lease ;

(e) whether the Government intends to consider the question of giving proprietary rights to literary grantees ; as in the case of the civil and military grantees of land ;

(f) if the answer to (e) is in the negative, the steps Government wishes to take in respect of the malikana dues chargeable on the literary grants ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): (a) Yes, on payment of the fixed purchase price.

(b) No, because if they were granted such rights, the special conditions attaching to the grants could not be enforced.

(c) Yes.

(d) The rate of malikana charged from literate grantees in a colony is less than the average rate of temporary cultivation rent in that colony. It is considerably less than the average rate of temporary cultivation rent in the Nili Bar Colony, which is Rs. 4 per allotted acre or Rs. 9-8-0 per matured acre.

(e) No, for the reasons given under (b) above.

(f) The malikana rates payable by literate grantees are the same as those payable by all peasant grantees in the colonies in which they are situated. They were accepted by the grantees when they received their grants and Government see no reason to alter them now.

COMPENSATION PAID FOR LAND ACQUIRED AT TRIMMU HEAD, HAVELI PROJECT.

5370. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi: Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) the entire area of land enclosed between the guide banks raised at the Trimmu Head, Haveli Project;

(b) the area of land owned by private landlords between the same guide banks;

(c) the names of villages and mauzas enclosed therein;

(d) the number of tenant families who were cultivating those lands;

(e) the number of wells, houses, cottages, trees, etc., on the said enclosed area?

(f) whether these lands, etc., were acquired before the commencement of operations, if not, why not;

(g) if the answer to (f) above be in the affirmative, whether any compensation has been paid to the owners for the lands, trees, wells, houses, etc., which have already been submerged or are likely to be submerged under water; if so, to how many, if not, why not;

(h) the actual number of owners to whom no compensation has been paid;

(i) whether any lands have been provided or other arrangements made for the tenants of the said enclosed area?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): (a) and (b) 870 acres, owned by land owners.

(c) Binda Malkana and Dhuin Mohammad.

(d) 91.

(e) Wells 7; Houses 91; Trees 242.

[Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan.]

(f) Yes.

(g) Yes.

(h) 78 owners have not so far received compensation, because they insist upon receiving land instead of cash.

(i) The owners whose land exceeds Rs. 2,500 in value have been given notice to apply for land which will be given from the Crown waste area as near to their former homes as is possible.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : May I ask with reference to part (h) of the question the number of the families to whom no compensation has been paid ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already said the number is 78.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : I want to know what will be given to them, land or money ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Lands will be provided to them out of Crown waste lands as near their houses as possible.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : May I know what arrangement has been made for the maintenance of 91 homeless families ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The Government will give land or money to the proprietors as the case may be.

COMPENSATION PAID FOR THE RABI CROPS DESTROYED WITHIN GUIDE BANKS, TRIMMU WEIR.

5371. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the date in April-May, 1989, when the sluice gates of the Trimmu Weir were closed resulting in rise of water level in the enclosed lands within the guide banks ;
- (b) whether any previous notice was given to the cultivators and other inhabitants of the area about the heading-up ;
- (c) whether any measures were adopted to help the inhabitants of the area before or at the time of or after the heading-up ;
- (d) whether any estimate of the rabi crops submerged under water as a result of the heading-up has been prepared ; if so, how much ;
- (e) has any compensation been paid for the rabi crops thus destroyed ; if so, how much, if not, why not ;
- (f) does the Government intend to compensate landlords and the tenants adversely affected by it ; if so, when and in what manner ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) 26th April, 1989.

(b) No. None of the inhabitants lived or cultivated land within the guide banks.

(c) }
 (d) } Do not arise.
 (e) }
 (f) }

COMPENSATION FOR EARTH DUG FOR RAISING GUIDE BANKS AT TRIMMU HEAD.

5372. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the total dimensions of the guide banks raised at the Trimmu Head, Haveli Project, in Jhang district ;
- (b) the volume of earth used in raising these banks ;
- (c) whether the earth dug from neighbouring lands was owned by private landlords ; if so,
- (d) whether any compensation was given to them or their permission obtained by the Government before the commencement of digging operations ; if not, why not ;
- (e) whether the Government intends to compensate the sufferers now ; if so, when and in what manner ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (c) No.

(a) }
 (b) } Do not arise.

EATING OF CROPS BY Kungi IN LAHORE DISTRICT.

5400. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether he is aware of the fact that kungi has spoiled the rabi crop this year in Lahore district ; if so, whether any remission has been granted in land revenue and abiana in this respect and if so, how much, respectively, and if not, why not ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : Yes.

There have been remitted.—

		Rs.
Land Revenue	..	1,02,854
and Abiana	..	2,06,499
Total	..	3,09,353

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know the dates when the land revenue was remitted and when the abiana was remitted.

Parliamentary Secretary : I am sorry I cannot give the exact dates.

VACANCIES IN THE IRRIGATION DEPARTMENT AND CLAIMS OF SCHEDULED CLASSES.

5472. Seth Kishan Das : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Chief Engineer, Irrigation Works, Punjab, addressed a letter No. 4708-S.-Est.-C., dated 9th August, 1939, to the Secretary, Punjab Ad-Dharm Achhut Federation, Jullundur City, informing him of certain vacancies in his department to be filled by members of the scheduled castes ; if so, the names of the candidates selected, the vacancies filled by them and the places to which they have been posted, and if the vacancies have not been filled so far, the reasons therefor and whether or not these are proposed to be filled ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : First part.—No. The Secretary, Punjab Ad-Dharm Achhut Federation, Jullundur City, was simply informed that applications of Ad-Dharm candidates received from him had been circulated amongst all Superintending Engineers, Irrigation Branch, Punjab, for consideration.

Second part.—(a) B. Krisban Dutt belonging to the scheduled caste of Megh.

(b) Temporary clerk from 2nd September, 1939, to 7th October, 1939.

(c) Sheikhpura Division, Upper Chenab Canal.

Third part.—In view of the reply to first part of the question, this does not arise.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know whether the applications were invited or they were forwarded without invitation ?

Parliamentary Secretary : So far as I know, the applications were forwarded by the federation.

Lala Harnam Das : May I know as to what is the proportionate representation for the Achhuts in the services of the Irrigation Department ?

Parliamentary Secretary : There is no fixed proportion. The general policy of the Government is that wherever a suitable candidate belonging to the scheduled castes is available he should be given a chance. That policy is followed in this department too.

Lala Harnam Das : May I know the number of vacancies that are intended to be filled by the Achhut candidates ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The Government send all the applications to Superintending Engineers with instructions to appoint suitable candidates from among them and one candidate was appointed.

Sardar Mula Singh : Is it a fact that these orders are not being carried out by the officers concerned ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No, it is not a fact.

CORRUPTION AMONG THE SUBORDINATE STAFF IN THE OFFICE OF DEPUTY COMMISSIONER, LUDHIANA.

5477. Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of corruption cases detected by the present Deputy Commissioner, Ludhiana, among his subordinate staff and the number of those among them against whom departmental inquiry was held with the result of inquiry in each such case ;
- (b) the number of appeals filed by those who were punished with the number of those that were accepted ;
- (c) whether any member of the staff, who was found to be corrupt, was challaned to take his trial in a court of law ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) Seven cases of corruption were brought to the notice of the present Deputy Commissioner. Departmental inquiries were held in all these cases with the result that in two, the officials at fault were dismissed and in one degraded. Three cases were filed: two for want of proof and one on account of the offender having retired. The remaining one case is still under inquiry.

(b) In the two cases of dismissal, appeals were filed : one was accepted.

(c) No.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : In view of this number of corruption cases, has the Parliamentary Secretary cared to know the reasons for the corruption ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am afraid I cannot answer this question. The reasons are too well known.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Is one of the reasons the relaxation of control over the subordinate staff by the Deputy Commissioner ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know whether action against these persons was taken suo motu by the deputy commissioner or it was taken on the application of the public ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : I am unable to understand the reply of the Parliamentary Secretary. My question was whether the action was taken against corrupt people by the Deputy Commissioner, Ludhiana, suo motu or on the application of the public. The Parliamentary Secretary says "yes" which is meaningless.

Parliamentary Secretary : Both.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : How many cases were brought to notice by the public ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am afraid I cannot answer it without notice.

FAILURE OF KHARIF CROPS IN NILI BAR, LOWER BARI DOAB AND HAVELI PROJECT CANAL AREAS.

5482. Khan Haibat Khan Dahi : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that there was practically no rainfall during last summer in the Western Punjab, in Nili Bar, Lower Bari Doab Canal and Haveli Project Canal areas ;
- (b) that cotton has been badly attacked by tela in these areas and the crop is much below average ;
- (c) that jowar and other fodder crops have failed, thus necessitating an extra expenditure to the zamindars in the purchase of fodder ;
- (d) if the answers to (a), (b) and (c) above be in the affirmative, the manner in which relief is intended to be afforded to the zamindars concerned ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) Rain-fall has been deficient in the Montgomery and Multan districts.

(b) Cotton has been attacked by tela but the damage has been considerable only in parts of the Lower Bari Doab Colony, Montgomery district. In the Multan district crops have been saved by dew. No damage has been done in the Haveli Project area of the Jhang and Muzaffargarh districts.

(c) Fodder crops have been poor in parts of the Montgomery and Multan districts but definite information will be available after the girdawari.

(d) The question of granting relief will be considered in due course according to rules after the results of the girdawari are known.

REPRESENTATIONS FOR REMISSION IN LAND REVENUE FOR SOME VILLAGES OF FEROZEPUR DISTRICT.

5483. Sardar Rur Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether it is a fact that recently representations have been made to Deputy Commissioner, Ferozepore, and the Revenue Minister by the inhabitants of some villages of Ferozepore district such as Kokri Kalan, etc., requesting remission in land revenue for the failure of fusal kharif on account of want of rain ;
- (b) if so, what action has been taken or is proposed to be taken ; if no action is contemplated, reasons therefor ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) Yes.

(b) The representations are being examined and relief, where necessary, will be given in due course according to rules after the results of the girdawari are known.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : How long will it take the Government to examine these recommendations ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Generally the reports are received about the middle of December.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Since how long have these recommendations been under the consideration of the Government ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have stated that the reports are received by the Government about the middle of December. That means that reports have not been received so far.

Sardar Rur Singh : Is the Government aware of the fact that the ilaqa surrounding the village Khokhri Kalan is not a canal irrigated area ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It does not arise out of the original question.

Sardar Rur Singh : Is it within the knowledge of the Government that as many as four crops have failed in that ilaqa ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already stated that on the receipt of the girdawari reports the Government will be able to judge the extent of the damage done and relief to be given.

CLOSING OF TEST WORKS IN HISSAR DISTRICT.

5492. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether Hissar is still a "famine" area; if so, whether any of the test works, spinning centres and concentration camps started there as measures of relief have now been closed; and if so, why ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : First part.—Yes.

Second part.—Owing to the fall in the number of workers at relief works and good rainfall in the month of June, the number of relief works was reduced to 18. Since then there has been no reduction.

Spinning centres will be revived as soon as cotton is available.

There was good rainfall in June : and the concentration camps were closed by September 17th.

Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan : May I know if cotton is available now or not ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It seems to be available now.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : What was the number of relief centres or test works last year or in the beginning of this year ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice of that question. I have already stated that the number of relief works has now been reduced to 18.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : What was the number of labourers last year and what is it now ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am afraid I must ask for notice of it.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Why is the number of test works reduced ?

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : When will the spinning centres be revived ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Very soon.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the Government please expedite ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know how many bales of cotton were ginned and pressed in Ambala division and Ferozepore block in October and November ?

3 P.M.

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Was it zero ? How does the honourable member say that no cotton was available ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Reply given is that spinning centres have been closed because cotton was not available. I want to know why cotton was not available ? Was there no cotton in the Punjab ? Could they not have bought it from Hissar centre ?

Minister for Revenue : I do not know whether it would have been cheaper.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Could you get none in Hissar ?

Minister : The report shows that none was available unless it was at a heavy cost.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Have the Government fixed any limit at which they would buy ?

Minister : We buy at market rates.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : When it is the market rate at which they buy, what is the reason for not buying it ?

Minister : Is my honourable friend also prepared to give me money wherewith to buy ?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Then it means that it was on account of money that you did not buy cotton ?

Minister : Not exactly that, but money is also one of the considerations.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : It means that the Government does not want to spend any money on spinning centres.

Minister : No. We will start these works again, because they are useful.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : When can the money be available for this purpose ?

Minister : Please put this question to my honourable friend here.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : What were the wages paid last year ?

Minister : They were about two annas.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : What is it now ?

Minister : According to the Famine Code. It is based on the price of the cereal given to the men.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Have the prices of cereals gone up or down ?

Minister : They have gone up now.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I want to know the wage now ?

Minister : It is about two annas or nine pies.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Is the Honourable Minister quite certain that it is not less than two annas ?

Minister : It may be less, but it is according to the Famine Code and we have got to go according to the Code. Last time, we did not go according to the Famine Code, we raised it to two annas, because that was the request of the people, but we find now that the Famine Code rates are quite suitable. They rise and fall with the prices.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : And therefore I want to know whether it is higher or lower than last year ?

Minister : Slightly lower.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : And the prices have gone up ? Does the Government think it quite equitable ?

Mr. Speaker : That is a matter of opinion.

Minister : There is no question of equity in this matter. As soon as the prices go up, the wages also go up.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Does the Honourable Minister mean to say that the prices in October or September, when the wages were reduced were lower than what they used to be before ?

Minister for Finance : Give me permission to print notes to coin money.

Minister for Development : There is no money. We want pots of money.

Lala Duni Chand : In the first instance it was stated that cotton was not available, a little later it was stated that money was not available. May I know from the Honourable Minister whether this is not a case of the cat coming out of the bag ?

Minister for Revenue : There is no cat to come out of the bag. It is all empty.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know whether the death rate has gone up this year in this ilaqa ?

Minister : Reports show that there have been no deaths on the test works.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I want to know the death rate in the villages and whether it has gone up or down.

Minister : I am afraid I cannot satisfy the curiosity of my honourable friend, but I may inform him that people who had gone to the United Provinces have come back to their homes suffering from malaria.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Is it not a fact that people have left the district and the population has gone down ?

Minister : They have come back from the United Provinces.

FAMINE CONDITIONS IN KARNAL AND ROHTAK.

5504. Chaudhri Faqir Chand : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether he is aware of the fact that on account of drought severe famine conditions are prevailing in the districts of Karnal and Rohtak where there has been no kharif crop and where no fodder is available for the cattle ; if so, the action Government proposes to take to help the zamindars in this predicament ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : First part.—Karnal—no.

Rohtak—Famine conditions prevail in Jhajjar and part of Rohtak tahsil.

Second part.—Relief measures continue in the Rohtak district.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Can I know if there is famine in the tahsil of Jhajjar and Rohtak according to the report of the Government ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already stated that there is famine, though I cannot say whether the conditions are better or worse.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What are the conditions now ?

Minister for Revenue : Probably they are about the same.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Are the Government aware that a considerable portion of the population of Jhajjar has left their homes ?

Minister : We have received no such information.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether one of them has come down here and sitting with my honourable friend ?

Minister for Development : They have been here many times before now.

Parliamentary Secretary : But many people on the other side have come after the famine.

FAILURE OF CROPS IN FEROZEPUR DISTRICT.

5518. Sardar Rur Singh : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether the Government is aware that rabi and kharif crops have totally failed for want of rain in Ferozepore district ;
- (b) whether Government is aware of the fact that last year also both these crops totally failed for want of rain ;
- (c) if the answers to (a) and (b) above be in the affirmative, whether Government is prepared to give remission in land revenue in Ferozepore district ; if not, the reason therefor ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) Owing to the paucity of rains some barani crops in rabi and kharif 1989 were below average but the irrigated crops were good.

(b) Crops for Rabi 1988 in irrigated and unirrigated areas were normal. In Kharif 1988 irrigated crops were normal but some barani crops were damaged to some extent.

(c) The question of granting relief will be considered in due course according to rules after the results of the girdawari for Kharif 1989 are known.

Pir Akbar Ali : Will the Parliamentary Secretary be pleased to say in which villages there was a barani kharif crop in the Ferozepore district?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am sorry I cannot give names of the villages without notice.

Pir Akbar Ali : Will the Parliamentary Secretary please give the name of the tahsil in the Ferozepore district or the thana? He has been pleased to say that barani crop was below average in the district; then, there must be some kharif crop.

Parliamentary Secretary : If my honourable friend wants more detailed information regarding names of tahsils, etc., I shall be too glad, to give him names if he puts another question.

Pir Akbar Ali : I want to know whether there was any Kharif crop anywhere. There was no rain at all and how could there be any kharif crop?

Minister for Revenue : There were rains at some places.

Pir Akbar Ali : My honourable friend could have said that the kharif crop failed.

Parliamentary Secretary : How is it a question?

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is giving information.

Pir Akbar Ali : I am criticizing the information given, the wrong information given. I am not giving any information.

Sardar Rur Singh : May I conclude from the reply given by the Parliamentary Secretary that the Government does not intend to give any remission in land revenue in Ferozepore district?

Parliamentary Secretary : ہاں، ہاں (Yes from it).

Pir Akbar Ali : Will the Government be pleased to state whether remission has been given to Ferozepore district in any year in the past?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice of that question. If my honourable friend wants to know whether remission has or has not been given since the British came into this country, I cannot say offhand.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the Government is aware of the danger that is likely if no relief is granted, that is, this district which is already criminal, will become more criminal for want of relief in the way of remissions?

Parliamentary Secretary : There are men who are criminal without their being—(Interruptions).

REMISSION ON DESTRUCTION OF RABI CROPS BY KUNGI IN MONTGOMERY DISTRICT.

5537. Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether he is aware of the fact that the rabi crop of 1939 has been totally destroyed by kungi in the Montgomery district ;
- (b) whether it is a fact that the zamindars of Montgomery personally represented their grievances to him when he recently went on a tour to Montgomery ;
- (c) whether it is a fact that the local revenue officers have also reported that rabi crop this year has been destroyed and have recommended to Government to grant remission in land revenue to the zamindars of that district ;
- (d) the action taken on the representation of the zamindars referred to in (b) and the recommendation of the local revenue officers mentioned in (c) and the amount of remission, if granted ; if no action has been taken, the reasons therefor ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) The damage by kungi was four annas in a rupee.

(b) Yes.

(c) and (d) The question of granting relief is under consideration.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Is it a fact that this question has been under the consideration of the Government for the last nine months and if so, what are the obstacles in the way of the Government that do not let it decide the matter ?

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Is it a fact that the Budget does not allow them to give remission at this time of the year ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The Government would not care for the Budget. They will give relief, where necessary, according to the rules.

Mr. Speaker : Was not the Budget passed by this Assembly ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Relief will be granted according to the rules.

Mr. Speaker : Will the honourable member realize his duty and withdraw his remark ? The Budget is passed by this Assembly. (Cheers from Opposition benches.)

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Are we to understand that the Government is going to play ducks and drakes with the money entrusted to them ?

Parliamentary Secretary : In obedience to the Chair, I am prepared to withdraw what I said which was this, that the Government will grant relief in accordance with the rules. If the Honourable Speaker thinks that this is a statement which is wrong, then I am prepared to withdraw it.

Mr. Speaker : I am not concerned whether it is right or wrong. All I say is that it was not parliamentary to say that the Government would not care for the Budget.

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already said that the Government will grant relief according to the rules.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : What are the things that stand in their way to decide this matter which has taken over eight months ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am very sorry if it has taken a long time but let me assure my honourable friend that the Government are making thorough investigation. It is quite possible that some reports, according to the Government, may not be quite satisfactory and they may have asked officers to look into the matter further. The Government will lose no time in granting relief which is necessary under the rules.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I inquire from the Parliamentary Secretary as to what words he has withdrawn ?

Mr. Speaker : Order please. That does not arise.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Is it a fact that remission in land revenue has been given in Lahore district due to destruction of crops by Kungi while no remission has been allowed in Montgomery district where also crops have been destroyed by Kungi ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Since Lahore district is concerned in the question I would like to have notice of this question.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : The Parliamentary Secretary has, in answer to question No. 5400¹ asked by Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava, given the condition of the crop destroyed by kungi and now he wants notice of this question.

Minister of Revenue : Supplementary questions were asked when Doctor Sahib's question was put and answered.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : How long would it take to decide the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It will not take long. The Government is more anxious than any other member of the House to grant relief according to the rules. I can assure the honourable member that the Government will not lose a minute in granting relief as soon as proper reports are received.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Can we expect that this remission will be granted from the next revenue ?

Minister : Whenever relief is allowed to be given for a certain harvest and it is not given in the same harvest, we generally consider the question of giving relief from the next.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Will it be given from this kharif crop or from the next rabi crop ?

Minister : I am afraid I cannot commit the Government. You will be losing your own case if you press the point.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Should the people wait till the sanction of the next Budget ?

Tikka Jagjit Singh Bedi : The Parliamentary Secretary said that the damage by Kungi was four annas in a rupee. This information was received sometime ago. How long will it take, according to the rules, to decide the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I said that the damage by Kungi was four annas in a rupee and the Government are making further enquiries and relief will be granted according to the rules. (Interruptions). The Government are making inquiries through the Deputy Commissioner. After him the Commissioner and the Financial Commissioner, Revenue, will enquire into the matter. When the inquiry is completed by these officers, complete papers will come up before the Government and they will decide what action should be taken.

Pir Akbar Ali : If the loss is four annas in a rupee, will the Government then be prepared to give relief ?

Mr. Speaker : Hypothetical question. Disallowed.

Pir Akbar Ali : It is not a hypothetical question. The answer is there.

Lala Duni Chand : Will the Government be pleased to take note of the fact that there is a manifestation—

Mr. Speaker : Is that a question ?

Lala Duni Chand : Yes, Sir.

Mr. Speaker : No, it is not.

Lala Duni Chand : Will the Government take note of the fact that there is manifestation of spirit of unrest on the Unionist Party benches ?

Mr. Speaker : Order please. This is not the first time that the honourable member has made such a remark.

Lala Duni Chand : Will you kindly allow me to point out—

Mr. Speaker : I will not allow. The honourable member has made a remark and the matter ends there.

Lala Duni Chand : I want to know what is wrong about it. (Interruptions.)

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Do the Government generally give relief when there is loss of four annas in the rupee ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Tikka Jagjit Singh Bedi : I want to ask the Parliamentary Secretary whether he thinks that the Deputy Commissioners are the final authorities for laying down rules of remission in land revenue ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already described the procedure in detail and I will not take further time of the House.

Mian Abdul Rab : The Parliamentary Secretary was pleased to say that the case regarding relief to be given was under consideration for the last nine months. May I ask him how long it will take for the Government to arrive at a decision ?

Mr. Speaker : This question has been asked and answered.

Mian Abdul Rab : How much more time will be taken ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I did not say nine months. (Laughter.)

RELIEF FOR SCARCITY OF FODDER IN BEIT ILAQA NEAR THE SUTLEJ.

5538. Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana: Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether he is aware of the fact that for want of floods this year in the river Sutlej the Beit ilaqa is lying dry and there have been no crops and fodder of any kind ;
- (b) whether he is aware of the fact that the inhabitants and the cattle of that ilaqa are experiencing great difficulty and are in a serious predicament ; if so, what relief, if any, Government has given to the sufferers and if no relief has been given, the reasons therefor ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): (a) and (b). It is not correct to say that there have been no crops and no fodder : but it has been a bad year and when girdawari is completed the question of remissions, if any, will receive due consideration.

PENSION TO REVENUE PATWARIS.

5539. Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana: Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state whether he has recently received any representation from the Revenue Patwaris' Association requesting that the patwaris be granted pension on retirement from service ; if so, the action taken on that representation ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): First part.—So far as I recollect no.

Second part.—does not arise.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Will the Parliamentary Secretary be pleased to say whether this question of pension to low paid people is under the consideration of the Government or not ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Which question ?

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Whether the question of pension to patwaris is under consideration ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I do not think that it is under the active consideration of the Government just at present.

ADMISSION TO PATWAR SCHOOL AT MULTAN.

5545. Lala Harnam Das : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of candidates for patwarship admitted from the Multan division, district-wise, in the school of patwaris recently opened at Multan ;
- (b) the number of scheduled castes candidates who applied for admission to the above-mentioned school with the number of those admitted, district-wise, and if no candidate belonging to the scheduled castes has been admitted to the said school, the reasons therefor ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) :—

(a) Multan	114
Lyallpur	17
Montgomery	7
Muzaffargarh	21
Dera Ghazi Khan	46
Jhang	18

(b) None because none applied.

FAMINE CONDITIONS IN SHEHNA ILAQA.

5550. Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that famine conditions have prevailed in Shehna ilaga of Ludhiana district for a long time now ;

(b) if so, the reasons for which the said ilaga has not been declared a famine area so far ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) No.

(b) Does not arise.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Is it a fact that six consecutive crops have failed in that particular area ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have already said that there is no famine.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : I want to know whether it has come to the notice of the Government that six consecutive crops have failed in that particular area ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The question relates to famine and my answer is that there is no famine.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : My question is that in order to ascertain whether that area should be declared a famine area, whether the Government knows that the crops of that area have failed one after the other ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Had they failed, that area would have been declared as a famine area.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Has it come to the notice of the Government that six consecutive crops have failed ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It has not come to the notice of the Government.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Has it not been brought to the notice of the Government by the Deputy Commissioner or the Revenue Assistant of that district ?

Lala Duni Chand : May I know the test or the criterion for declaring a particular area as a famine-stricken area ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The honorable member may see the Famine Code.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Is it contained in the rules that six consecutive crops must fail before a particular area is to be declared a famine area ?

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member may refer to rules on the subject.

REMISSIONS GRANTED TO VARIOUS VILLAGES IN TAHSIL ZIRA.

5555. Sayad Amjad Ali Shah : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the amount remitted to various villages in tahsil Zira on account of the hailstorm early this year ;
- (b) the amount which was given as gratuitous relief to the said villages on the above occasion ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) Rs. 5,488-1-8.

(b) Rs. 6,459.

Pir Akbar Ali : May I know whether the villages in the Ferozepore tahsil, in which conditions are the same as prevailing in tahsil Zira, were given any remissions ?

Parliamentary Secretary : This does not arise out of this question.

REMISSIONS AND GRATUITOUS RELIEF GRANTED TO VILLAGES IN ZIRA TAHSIL.

5556. Sayad Amjad Ali Shah : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state the names of the villages in tahsil Zira which were granted remissions in land revenue and water rate and were also given gratuitous relief in the years 1937, 1938 and 1939 ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : A statement is laid on the table.

List showing the villages of Zira Tahsil to which remissions and gratuitous relief were granted during the years 1937 to 1939.

BHAKRA DAM SCHEME.

5557. Chaudhri Suraj Mal : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state the stage at which the negotiations with the Raja of Bilaspur State about the Bhakra Dam Scheme have reached by now ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : Owing to the war and the fact that an alternative scheme is under examination, negotiations with the Bilaspur Durbar are at the moment in a state of suspense but have in no sense been broken off.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know if, before the war broke out, negotiations were continuing between the Bilaspur Durbar and the Punjab Government ?

Parliamentary Secretary : May I inform my honourable friend that I would not like to be dragged into a long discussion over this question.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : My honourable friend has himself said that negotiations were continuing between the Bilaspur Durbar and the Punjab Government before the war broke out.

Parliamentary Secretary : I respectfully submit that I have no intention of answering any other question on this subject.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : I want to know when the negotiations were discontinued.

On a point of order. The Parliamentary Secretary first gave an answer and then he said that he was not prepared to answer any question. If he had not begun answering the question, the thing would have ended there.

Mr. Speaker : Ask the question and wait for its answer.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : But why does he not answer now when he has begun answering the question ?

Minister for Revenue : He is answering it by silence.

Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Parliamentary Secretary enlighten the House as to how the war stands in the way of these negotiations ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

REPRESENTATIONS MADE AGAINST DAFADAR AND CHAUKIDAR BY THE INHABITANTS OF CHUHAR CHAK, THANA MEHNA.

5564. Sardar Rur Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

- (a) whether the Government is aware that representations have recently been made by the inhabitants of Chuhar Chak, thana Mehna, tahsil Moga, district Ferozepore, to the Tahsildar, Moga, Deputy Commissioner, Ferozepore, and the Honourable Premier, presenting their grievances about a dafadar named Munshi and his son who is a chaukidar ;

(b) whether the Government is also aware that the inhabitants of Chuhar Chak on account of the above-mentioned grievances, protested against the chaukidara tax and launched Satyagraha, with the result that about three hundred and forty of them were arrested;

(c) if the answer to (a) and (b) above be in the affirmative, the action the Government propose to take in the matter?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood): (a) Representations were made to the local officers who are making inquiries.

(b) and (c). The attention of the honourable member is invited to the answer to question No. *5097.

Sardar Rur Singh: Is it a fact that the son of Munshi Dafedar stated most solemnly in presence of the Deputy Commissioner of Ferozepore district that he had not worked as Chowkidar and in spite of that his pay was realised from the inhabitants?

Parliamentary Secretary: I want notice of this question. I do not know whether it is a fact that the son of Munshi Dafedar made the statement before the Deputy Commissioner.

ZAILDARS, SUB-REGISTRARS, JAGIRDARS AND SUFEDPOSHES.

5590. Chaudhri Muhammad Abdul Rahman Khan: Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to lay a statement on the table of the House—

(a) showing district-wise the number of the following in the province in April, 1937, and at the present moment; (i) zaildars, (ii) sub-registrars, (iii) jagirdars and (iv) sufedposhes, and

(b) state whether there has been any increase or decrease in their number; if so, the reasons therefor?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): The preparation of these statistics would require an amount of time and labour out of all proportion to the results obtainable. I regret that the Government do not feel justified in calling for them.

SLIDING SCALE SYSTEM.

5593. Chaudhri Muhammad Abdul Rahman Khan: Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) whether in view of the decrease of the prices of agricultural produce since April, 1937, up to date, the sliding scale system has been introduced in any district; if so, into which districts and regarding which harvest;

(b) whether this system has caused any loss to the Government revenues; if so, how much?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): (a) The sliding scale of assessment was introduced in the Lower Bari Doab Canal Colony with effect from rabi 1934, in the Nili Bar Colony with effect from rabi 1937, and in the Lyallpur district and the Rakh Branch Colony Circle of the Sheikhpura district with effect from kharif 1936. Since April 1937 it has been introduced in the Lahore and Chunian tahsils (excluding urban areas) of Lahore district with effect from rabi 1939 and in the Kasur tahsil (excluding urban areas) of that district with effect from kharif 1939.

(b) The sliding scale of assessment permits the fixation of the commutation prices at a scale somewhat above that which would probably be sanctioned if there were no sliding scale. Taking, however, the maximum theoretical demand, the reduction of assessment made in the areas under the sliding scale of assessment from rabi 1937 to rabi 1939 (both inclusive) amounts to over Rs. 1,68,00,000.

A statement showing the remissions sanctioned due to the fall in prices as compared with the prices assumed at settlement in the districts in which the sliding scale has not been introduced, is laid on the table.

Lala Bhagat Ram Choda: Is it the intention of Government to increase land revenue in view of a rise in prices of agricultural produce?

Statement showing remission granted on account of the fall in prices, since April, 1937.

SCARCITY OF WATER IN ILAQA BEIT, GARHI MANSWAL, DISTRICT
HOSHIARPUR.

*5596. Chaudhri Muhammad Abdul Rahman Khan: Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the inhabitants of ilaqa Beit, Garhi Manswal, district Hoshiarpur, have several times during the last few years, drawn the attention of the district officers and the Punjab Government towards their difficulties in respect of the scarcity of water—drinking water as well as water for purposes of irrigation; if so, the action taken by the district authorities or Government so far to redress their grievances?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): First part.—Yes.

Second part.—Government have sanctioned a scheme for the supply of drinking water to the 82 villages including village Garhi Manswal in the ilaqa beit and the work is in progress.

Irrigation of this ilaqa has been found to be impracticable.

Khan Bahadur Mian Mushtaq Ahmad Gurmani: May I ask the Parliamentary Secretary what is the cost of the scheme?

Parliamentary Secretary: About Rs. 6,08,680.

ADJOURNMENT MOTION.

ALLEGED LOOT IN FAMINE RELIEF WORK OF DISTRICT ROHTAK.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the suppression of the report of enquiry that was held by Mr. K. C. Chowdhry, I. C. S., Famine Relief In-charge into the scandalous loot in the Famine Relief Work of District Rohtak as clear from the supplementary answers of the Parliamentary Secretary, Revenue, to my starred question No. 5061.¹

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan (Parliamentary Secretary): Sir, so far as the adjournment motion is concerned I submit that it should be declared out of order. As a matter of fact this adjournment motion is based on the answer given to a particular question. That question did not relate to the report submitted by Mr. Chowdhry; that question has nothing to do with it. I would submit that Government have said nothing in the answers to supplementary questions which should warrant an adjournment motion. There is nothing in the answers which shows that Government had any intention of suppressing the report. As a matter of fact an attempt was made to have the report laid on the floor of the House. But the question did not relate to it at all. I do not know how the adjournment motion arises. It does not satisfy any of the conditions. It merely relates to the failure of the Government to lay the report, submitted by Mr. Chowdhry, on the table of the House. I would submit that the matter is neither urgent nor of public importance because it was sometime ago that Mr. Chowdhry did enquire into certain matters. If my honourable friend has any intention of forcing the Government to lay the report on the floor of the House then the right thing for him is to move a resolution.

¹Page 1453 ante.

[Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan.]

Mr. Speaker : When was the report made by Mr. Chowdhry ?

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan : Mr. Chowdhry was expected to write the report and submit it to Government. Mr. Chowdhry, who was an Assistant Commissioner, was asked to look into certain complaints forwarded to Government. After making enquiries, he submitted the report to the Deputy Commissioner. The Deputy Commissioner looked into the report and then forwarded it to the Commissioner. The Commissioner after his remarks sent it on to the Financial Commissioner. The Financial Commissioner, after looking through the report, was of the opinion that the report was not complete and directed the Deputy Commissioner to hold further enquiries. That is the position. I do not understand how this provides an occasion for moving an adjournment motion.

Mr. Speaker : When was this report made ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Sometime in August.

Mr. Speaker : Then there is no question of urgency.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu) : The urgency of the matter lies in the fact that yesterday in reply to my supplementary questions the Parliamentary Secretary was pleased to reveal that an enquiry was conducted by a certain officer who as a result thereof submitted a report in the matter to the higher authorities. At first no satisfactory answer was vouchsafed to me and the Government tried its best to evade the matter. But when I asked the Parliamentary Secretary as to whether the enquiry in question was held through Mr. K. C. Chowdhry, I. C. S., he was pleased to remark that he had nothing to add to the answer already given. It was only on the interference of Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang that he admitted that the said officer had held many enquiries. Anyway I was not favoured with any satisfactory answer with regard to the result of those enquiries. In my main question I had asked the Government to state the quantity of fodder imported as well as distributed so far by the contractors in the Rohtak district. The answer that was given in reply to my question was that 90 per cent. of the imported fodder had been duly distributed and the Government had been enquiring into the reasons for the non-distribution of the remaining 10 per cent. fodder. Now the fact is that the people of that ilaqa had been clamouring to the effect that the taccavi chits were being sold at 2 annas less per rupee to the fodder contractors. When Mr. Chowdhry visited several villages to enquire into the matter hundreds of people flocked to him in order to lodge their complaints with him. It is an admitted fact that the said officer submitted a report to the Government. Now my contention is that the Government is unnecessarily sitting over the matter.

Mr. Speaker : The Parliamentary Secretary has stated that certain complaints were referred to Mr. Chowdhry, who went into them and submitted his report to the Deputy Commissioner. The Deputy Commissioner sent it up to the Commissioner and the Financial Commissioner ; but it was considered to be incomplete and was therefore sent back to the Deputy Commissioner for completion.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : My submission is that the said report is being suppressed for reasons best known to the Government. And it is a fact that a member of the P. C. S. that is, the Additional District Magistrate, Rohtak, has been entrusted with this work with a view to suppress the whole scandal.

Mr. Speaker : That is an insinuation, which should not have been made.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Now, Sir, the urgency of the matter lies in the fact that the Government deputed Mr. Chowdhry, I. C. S., to hold an enquiry into this scandalous loot and he after having satisfied himself about the matter submitted a report which is being suppressed.

Parliamentary Secretary : How did the honourable member come to know that Mr. Chowdhry did submit a report ? It was a confidential document.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : My submission is based on facts.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is proceeding on an assumption.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : My objection is that when an enquiry was held—

Mr. Speaker : How can the honourable member claim that his information is absolutely correct ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What I want to point out is that a question of misappropriation and embezzlement of public money is involved.

Mr. Speaker : That is the honourable member's allegation.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : My statement is based on what has been admitted by the Parliamentary Secretary. He says that Mr. Chowdhry held an enquiry, submitted his report, but since it was incomplete the Government thought it fit to send it back for so called completion. But my contention is that since the enquiry brought into light cases of misappropriation of thousands of rupees by their own men the Government deemed it fit to suppress the report submitted by the officer in question and hence that plea.

Mr. Speaker : That is the honourable member's inference ; it may be right or wrong.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Sir, my submission is that the Assistant Commissioner deputed to the famine-stricken area was directed to institute an inquiry into the allegations made by the people and he in fact did so in compliance with the orders of the Government.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is not saying this on his personal knowledge.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Then let the Parliamentary Secretary come forward and deny the fact. In that case I shall most willingly withdraw my adjournment motion.

Premier : I have no intention to add to what my honourable friend here has said but I want to put one question to the honourable member opposite through you. I would like to ask where the honourable member saw that report and how he learnt the details of the report (Opposition benches : Oh, oh). That is a very pertinent question as to how he came to know of it : the document was absolutely confidential.

Pandit Shri Rma Sharma : It is not in the public interest to disclose it. (Laughter).

Premier : Then either the honourable member has not seen the report or he has used some unfair methods to see the report.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Sir, the facts are that a representation was made to the officers and then a question was put as somebody had told us that such and such thing had happened. In reply to that question the honourable Parliamentary Secretary admitted that an enquiry had been held and that a report had been submitted. There can be one of two things : either Government thinks that the representation made showed that there was embezzlement of a large amount of money or the report says that the embezzlement was there though of less amount of money. That is why they have sent the report back for further enquiries. He might have said that there was no embezzlement at all. They have sent it back to proper quarters to verify the complaints made in the representation. Therefore the information which we have got was given by the Parliamentary Secretary. The representation is a public representation. There is no question of divulging official secrets.

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : The question was whether it is a fact that Mr. K. C. Chaudhry was deputed by Government to make an enquiry into this particular matter mentioned in this particular question.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Yes, the question was this, and the reply was, if I remember aright, that many enquiries were made and this enquiry was also made.

Parliamentary Secretary : Will you kindly read out the answer ?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Have you corrected the report ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have not looked into it.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Then I cannot quote from an unauthorised report. I can only say what I heard, and I heard that many enquiries have been made and this enquiry may also be included among them.

Parliamentary Secretary : May I authorise the honourable member, the Leader of the Opposition, to take the uncorrected report and quote from it ?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The question is about the enquiry particularly connected with the name of Mr. K. C. Chaudhry.

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes, Mr. Chaudhry held many enquiries, and they do not exclude this enquiry.

Premier : But my question is this, how did my honourable friend come to know all the details which he has mentioned in this House ?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : He is basing his questions on the information that he has found out. He does not say that he knows anything personally. He is drawing inferences.

Premier : My honourable friend has no business to draw inferences that there was evidence that an embezzlement had taken place, as if he had read the report which is confidential.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The honourable member's point was that a report had been made to the effect that the contractor was charging two annas per maund from those who went there to take—

Premier : I am afraid my honourable friend is trying to confuse the issue. My question is a simple one. Where did the honourable get all the details which he has given here ? If he got them from the report, how did he secure that report ?

Sardar Sampuran Singh : The question is the result of ignorance of the fact that this enquiry was held openly and hundreds of people joined it and the member who put the question had personal knowledge of the evidence given there. There is nothing confidential about it.

Premier : My honourable friend has unnecessarily taken up the cudgels on behalf of the honourable member who has put the question. I am asking him whether he has seen the report or not.

Diwan Chaman Lall : My honourable friend is not here to be cross-examined. He is not a witness in a witness box.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Pandit Shri Ram Sharma asked :

The complaint that had been mentioned in my question was that a considerable quantity of fodder was imported by the contractors but insufficient quantity had been distributed to the people. Was any inquiry held by Mr. K. C. Chaudhry, I.C.S., and did he submit his report to the Government who is sitting over it up till now ?

The honourable Parliamentary Secretary said :

I have already stated that the Government has been making enquiries about the distribution of fodder in the districts of Rohtak and Hissar. The complaints referred to by the honourable member are naturally included in those enquiries.

That is one reply. I will read out another reply to a question put by Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang. Dr. Narang asked :

The question is about the enquiry particularly connected with the name of Mr. K. C. Chaudhry.

The Parliamentary Secretary replied :

Yes, Mr. Chaudhry held many enquiries.

[Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava.]

As there were several complaints about embezzlement, and as the answer says that Mr. Chaudhry held many enquiries, naturally the honourable member draws the inference that Mr. Chaudhry did enquire into such and such complaints.

Parliamentary Secretary : The honourable the Leader of the Opposition has quoted the replies given by me to certain supplementary questions and there I have said that Mr. Chaudhry has made several enquiries, and I repeat that statement. Mr. Chaudhry was one of those officers who were deputed to look into several matters connected with famine in Rohtak district. Therefore he made enquiries into whatever came to his notice. But what I am anxious to know is, how does my honourable friend conclude from my replies that there was any attempt to suppress the report submitted by Mr. Chaudhry? Secondly, how does my friend know that Mr. Chaudhry submitted a report, the details of which he has tried to describe here on the floor of this House? Although the enquiry was public and the statements made there were public, the report was not public. How has my friend come to know as to what that confidential document contains?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Even if the report is confidential, the information given by the honourable member is not wrong. Does he deny the correctness of the information we have got?

Mr. Speaker : The motion is out of order.

VILLAGE PANCHAYAT BILL.

Clause 82.

Mr. Speaker : The Assembly will now resume discussion of the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill.

The question is—

That part (i) of sub-clause (3) of clause 82 stand part of the sub-clause.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : So far as this part (i) is concerned, it is meaningless. It says: "regulating the mode of assembling the adult male voters and recording their votes under section 7."

Minister for Public Works : There is a misprint here. '7' should really be '25'. I therefore move—

That for the figure '7' the figure '25' be substituted.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That part (i) as amended stand part of the sub-clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That part (m) of sub-clause (3) stand part of the sub-clause.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : In sub-clause (1) Government has been given immense powers to make rules about any matter which is consistent with this Act, and then according to sub-clause (3) there are many purposes for which the Government can make rules under this Act. After sub-clause (1) when Government has got general powers to make any rules about any matter which seems consistent with this clause, there is no need of having this part which says "for any other purposes not included in the above for carrying out the purposes of this Act." This power has been given already by sub-clause (1). At the same time you will find that this part is vague. Government wants to have wide powers and wants to make rules about any matter. Specially when we know that according to sub-clause (2) all acts under this Act shall be subject to such rules, why should Government be given such general powers as is proposed to be given by part (m) of this sub-clause?

Minister of Public Works : I have no objection to omitting this clause.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That part (m) stand part of the sub-clause.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That part (n) stand part of the sub-clause.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : As regards Lala Harnam Das's amendment¹ it was disposed of yesterday. Amendment No. 3 of Pandit Muni Lal Kalia, reads—

That after part (b) of sub-clause (3), the following new part be added :—

(c) Providing safeguards for the proper representation of scheduled castes and other minorities on the panchayat.

As the two amendments are substantially identical I pointed out yesterday that they will go together. As one of them has been rejected by the House, the other cannot be allowed to be moved.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : If you see the division list you will find that even the Parliamentary Secretary who represents the scheduled castes did not vote against this amendment yesterday. It shows that there is a difference between these two amendments. This amendment concerns the scheduled castes only whereas the other amendment concerned both scheduled castes and other minorities. The "other minorities" are excluded in this amendment and the Government may therefore be prepared to accept it. Further the Honourable Minister in his speech said that he would keep this point in view when rules are made. But we want that a statutory provision be made in this respect. As this amendment is restrictive in its scope it may be permitted to be moved.

Minister of Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana): Sir, as you would recollect, the House decided this matter yesterday after a division. Whether a particular member voted on this side or on that side, does not affect the issue. The House has given its verdict on this issue and another amendment on the same subject is out of order.

¹That at the end of part (n) of sub-clause (3), the following be added :—

"and specially providing for the representation of every adult belonging to Scheduled Castes."

[Minister of Public Works.]

As for the assurance I have given on the floor of this House I repeat it again that Government will take special care to safeguard the interests of the minorities when framing the rules. But that does not alter the validity or otherwise of this amendment.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The honourable minister's assurance means nothing. He may not remain in office after the Bill is passed. We therefore want a statutory provision.

Mr. Speaker : As the two amendments are substantially identical, and one of them has been disallowed by the House, I cannot allow the other one to be moved.

Lala Harnam Das : On a point of order. Sir, my amendment is quite different from the one mentioned by you. My amendment relates to the representation of every adult belonging to the scheduled castes.

Mr. Speaker : Order please. I have given my ruling. Question is—

That clause 82 as amended stand part of the Bill.

Lala Harnam Das : If I am not given an opportunity to have my say, then there is no use of my sitting here. I therefore walk out as a protest.

(Lala Harnam Das then left the Chamber).

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava (Lahore City, General, Urban) (Urdu) : Sir, I would like to analyse the various parts of clause 82 so that the House may come to know the exact implications of the provisions that are being sought to be made therein. The first part of the clause that has already been accepted provides "the Government may make any rules consistent with this Act to carry out the purposes thereof." It goes without saying that the Government is not at all authorised to frame such rules as may go beyond the scope of enabling the Act passed by the House to be carried into effect. Rules made should always be consistent with the powers and spirit of the original Act. Then I fail to understand the necessity of making such a provision. It makes one suspect that something ulterior is responsible for keeping this sub-clause in the Bill.

Then sub-clause (2) reads as follows :—

All acts authorised or enjoined under this Act shall be held to be authorized or enjoined subject to such rules.

In other words, all the acts done by the panchayats in the execution of the present Act would be considered to have been done in accordance with the rules framed thereunder. If the Government had provided that the rules would have the same force as the Act itself would have, then it could be very well understood and we would not have objected to this provision. But here a very interesting situation is being created by giving a secondary position to the enabling Act as compared with the subsidiary legislation. The constitutional position under the sub-clause, as it stands, is that the rules will have greater force than the Act itself. Let us see whether such an anomaly exists in any of the Acts passed by other provincial legislatures. Although this anomaly already exists in the Punjab in the form of an Act from which this sub-clause has been reproduced yet I am positively certain that no such provision can be found in any of the Acts of the other provinces. Let us take the instance of Bengal first. In Bengal rules with regard to panchayats are made under section 101 of Bengal Village Self-Government Act, 1919. It is stated therein :

4 P. M.

The Provincial Government may, after previous publication make rules to carry out the purposes of this Act.

In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, the Provincial Government may make rules.

Then the details are given as to on what matters the Government can make rules but nowhere is it stated that the rules made under the above mentioned Act shall have priority over other provisions of the original Act as is being done here in the Punjab. Similarly in Assam the same procedure is provided because the same Act which is enforced in Bengal, is in force in Assam as well.

In the Central Provinces the Government is authorised to make rules under clause 68 of the Central Provinces Village Panchayat Act. It is stated therein :

The Provincial Government may make rules consistently with this Act to carry out the purposes and objects thereof.

In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power the Provincial Government may make rules.

Now, it is quite apparent from these quotations that nowhere is it provided that the rules framed under this section shall have more force than the provisions of this Act.

Then in Madras the Government is authorised to frame rules under clause 78 of the Madras Village Courts Act :

The Governor in Council may make rules to carry out all or any of the purposes of the Act.

In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power such rules may—.

In short in all the Panchayat Acts which are in force in India, except that of the Punjab, nowhere has it been provided that the rules framed by Government shall have priority over the provisions of those Acts.

Now I may point out that there were two alternatives open to the Government. In the first place the Government could have made rules under this clause after their previous publication. Secondly, if they did not want to publish those rules they could very well have placed them on the table of the House and they could have allowed the honourable members to move amendments to them. But the Government have done nothing of the sort. Obviously it means that they will frame whatever rules they deem fit and as soon as they are made they would be enforced. As a matter of fact my honourable friends opposite do not think it advisable to publish such rules and at the same time they also wish to give them priority over the acts which will be enjoined under this Act. This is a thing which we want to oppose, although it has been passed, because my honourable friends over there have a majority in the House and they can get anything passed on their strength. In other words it means that even though we may be opposed to all the rules thus framed, still as the majority wants them so they will be enforced. I once more wish to make it clear that we are opposed to all such methods and I would request the honourable members not to agree to this clause.

There is yet another thing which I wish to bring to your notice. That is that many clauses have already been passed and under this clause the Government is authorised to make any rules consistent with this Act to carry out the purposes thereof. Obviously it means that the Government can make whatever rules they wish to make under the authority of this clause. Then there is sub-clause (3) wherein it is stated :

In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, Government may make rules :

Then the details are given in regard to which the Government can make rules. In my opinion the mentioning of these details is absolutely unnecessary, because the Government is authorised to make any rules consistent with this Act. In that case there is no need of detailing these things as have been detailed in sub-clause (3). We see absolutely no reason why this clause should be made so lengthy. There was no necessity of going into the details of the matters.

Further, I wish to say a few words as regards the procedure that will be adopted for enforcing these rules. In this connection I may point out that when the Indian Penal Code was framed along with it the Criminal Procedure Code was also made to make it clear as to how the Penal Code would be carried into effect. Similarly, the Civil Procedure Code was also made with a view to lay down the procedure in which the civil law would be applied. But this Panchayat Act is being framed but no procedure is laid down as to the way in which this Act would be enforced and the way in which the panchayat would carry on their judicial functions. As a matter of fact the Government do not wish to lay down that procedure before the House although they have given powers to the panchayats to try civil and criminal cases. They wish to reserve this rule-making power to themselves. The contention of my honourable friends opposite is that when the Act is passed they would frame the rules and we would have no other alternative but to obey them. And if perchance we disobey them we would be punished with a fine which may extend to Rs. 25. Such is the attitude of the Government in as much as they neither agree to the previous publication of the rules nor do they agree to place them before the House when they are framed.

There is yet another thing which I wish to bring to your notice. That is that the Government should have published a general clause whereby they could have made rules. But my friends are not doing any such thing and they have provided that all acts authorised or enjoined under this Act shall be held to be authorised or enjoined subject to such rules. It means that the Government have reserved the power of making rules to themselves and such rules will have priority to many laws. In this connection I may point out that whenever Government issues any ordinance it is bound to come before the Legislative Assembly after 6 months. But it is very strange that neither the Government will publish the rules nor will they place them before the House. In other words it means that such rules will be more sacred than the ordinance that these would be polluted if placed on the table of the House. If this clause is passed it will give power to the Government to make rules which will have more force than many laws. The House is given absolutely no chance to study those rules and to amend them if it so desires.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is opposing the whole Bill. He is not speaking to the clause under consideration.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I am only opposing this clause regarding making rules. I am saying that Government should not be given such powers as they want to take under this clause.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member may object to the powers conferred by this clause.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : But by the power of making rules taken by them the Act becomes a secondary thing and the rules become the primary thing. I am not opposing the whole Bill. That will be at the third reading.

I may submit that neither has it been laid down in this clause that the rules would be published nor is it provided that they would be placed on the table of the House. As a matter of fact the Government will frame these rules and we will have absolutely no say in the matter. How strange it is ! Let me point out that if we wish to make any amendment in any law we can make it but we cannot amend these rules. Although we know that there is one course open to us in which we can amend them, i.e., by moving a resolution, but it is next to impossible to move and carry out any resolution in this House. The present attitude of the Government is such that we can never hope to get any resolution passed in this House. In short our objection is that under the clause as it stands the Government will make such rules which will have priority over this law and therefore I oppose it.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma (Kangra West, General, Rural) : I should like to point out the inconsistency between sub-clauses (1) and (2) of this clause. Sub-clause (1) says that rules can be made consistent with this Act. Sub-clause (2) says that all acts authorised or enjoined under this Act shall be subject to such rules. The question is whether the rules will have greater importance or the provisions of this Act. Yesterday I brought to the notice of the House that sub-clause (2) supersedes sub-clause (1) and that it gave power to Government to frame rules which could nullify the provisions of this Act. To-day I shall quote certain authorities to prove my contention. Suppose the Government frames rules which are contradictory to the provisions of the clauses of this Bill. When the question of interpretation comes, the courts will be put to a great deal of difficulty. If a rule is contradictory to a provision in this law, the question will arise whether the rule has greater force or the provision of the law. In this connection I may quote Maxwell's Interpretation of Statutes. It is clearly stated in that book that if there is a conflict between one of these rules framed under the law and a section of the Act itself, then it must be dealt with in the same spirit as a conflict between two sections. It is also stated that if a reconciliation is impossible, the subordinate provision must give way to the principal one.

Mr. Speaker : What has the Honourable Minister to say in this connection ?

Minister for Public Works : You need not take up the time of the House over this question if you think that sub-clause (2) is inconsistent with sub-clause (1). I am prepared to omit it.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I will not press my point any further as the Honourable Minister agrees to the omission of sub-clause (2).

Mr. Speaker : Perhaps the drafting committee will do the needful.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : It is a pity that a considerable time of the House should have been wasted on this point. Yesterday also this inconsistency was brought to the notice of the Honourable Minister, but he refused to listen to the words of honourable members on this side of the House.

Mr. Speaker : The Honourable member did not raise this point yesterday. I waited to see whether he would do so.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : I did raise this point, Sir.

Mr. Speaker : Now the matter is settled. Therefore, it is unnecessary to pursue the point any further.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, the main reason why I have risen to oppose clause 82 is that when my honourable friend Pandit Muni Lal Kalia requested the Government, in the form of an amendment, to agree to place the rules which the Government will frame under this Bill before the Assembly for discussion and approval of this House, the Government did not condescend to satisfy the Opposition by accepting this ordinary amendment. As a matter of fact there are two parts of this measure. One part is the Bill that will soon be passed into an Act. The other part consists of the rules that the Government will frame under that Act. I am afraid that the Government will add, in the form of the rules, to the objectionable features that are already being given to us in this Bill. The result will be that the Bill will become even more dangerous than it is at present.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is quite within his rights to say that, because Pandit Muni Lal Kalia's amendment was not accepted, he is opposed to the whole clause. But he should not give the same arguments for opposing the clause as were given for Pandit Muni Lal Kalia's amendment.

Lala Duni Chand : I know you will not allow me to do that. I shall take pretty good care not to refer to those arguments. I wish to inform the House, through you, Sir, that the Government has reserved wide powers to frame rules of which we know nothing at present. For instance, the Government will determine the method of electing panches and sarpanches. It will also decide as to what should be the qualifications of a voter. All that we have been told is that there will be elections. But that is only an eyewash because we do not know what will be the agency of those elections and how the elections will be held. It is clear, therefore, that a question of principle is involved in this matter. Again, we want to see whether the Government will actually act on the principle of election which it has accepted while framing the rules. The only way to see this was to require the presentation of the rules before this Assembly for approval. But the Government does not agree to this.

Furthermore, the Government has the power to appoint the "prescribed authority" which will be empowered to cancel the election. But it has not told us as to who will be appointed as the "prescribed authority" by the Government. Will it be a petty official or some responsible high officer? I am afraid the Government will give these powers to some naib-tahsildar as it has done in the past. The "prescribed authority" should be such as enjoys the confidence of the public. Clause 70 gives certain power to the local Government and the local Government may delegate this power to the Commissioner and the Commissioner may delegate this power to the Deputy Commissioner who in turn may give this power to an Assistant Collector. Is it not strange that the power which this House gives to the local Government should ultimately be exercised by the naib-tahsildar?

Now, we have to see how many powers are reserved by Government for itself; what are the powers which may be given to the Commissioner and what are the powers which may be vested in the Deputy Commissioner; which are the powers which will be exercised by the Assistant Collector, second and third grade. The Government has laid much stress on the fact that they have reserved the powers for themselves. But if the Honourable Minister for Public Works had reserved the powers for himself, there would have been no objection as he, after all, is a responsible Minister. He could have been expected to make rules with great care. But in the present circumstances we find that he has the intention of giving these powers to some officers further below, namely, the tahsildar or the naib-tahsildar. We all know that the rules made under an Act are more important than the Act itself. It is the rules which determine the usefulness or uselessness of an Act. The Honourable Minister for Public Works has kindly consented to leave out sub-clause (2). If he further agrees that the rules made under the Act will be brought forward before this House for its approval, it will be very good. With these words, I oppose clause 82 as I have no intention of repeating my arguments. (Laughter.)

Mr. Speaker : It is not clear whether sub-clause (2) can be omitted by the drafting committee. Therefore, I suggest that the Honourable Minister in charge, if he likes, may propose the omission of sub-clause (2). I allow him to do so as a special case.

Minister of Public Works : With your permission I move—

That sub-clause (2) of clause 82 be omitted.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 82, as amended stand part of the Bill.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi (Lyallpur and Jhang, General, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, I, too have stood up to oppose clause 82. My reasons are these. The object underlying the Bill is professed to be this that local self-government is introduced into villages.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is discussing the whole Bill. At this stage he should speak on clause 82 only.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Let me speak two or three sentences and you will see that I am not irrelevant. The object underlying this Bill appears to be nothing more than doing propaganda for the party in power.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is not relevant.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : I am afraid that the rule-making power taken under this clause will be used for party propaganda. When the Marketing Bill came up before this House, the Government gave an undertaking that the rules will be enforced after bringing them up before this House. Now in clause 69, it has been laid down that the panchayats will be empowered to impose as many taxes as is in the power of the Punjab Assembly to impose. Then, it has been laid down that the panchayats will have the power to exempt certain persons from taxation. I am afraid the rule-making power under this clause will be used in such a way as to exempt those people from taxation who may be supporters of the party in power.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is discussing clause 69, not 82.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : It has been laid down in (f) under sub-clause (3) of clause 82 that the rules will be made by Government regulating the assessment and collection of taxes by panchayats. Now, I am afraid that this power may be misused. The power for levying taxes has been given to the panchayats under clause 69. I have, therefore, to mention the clause. My fear is that invidious distinction will be made between one man and another.

Then, it has not been made clear what will be the franchise according to which the panchayats will be elected. It has not been recognised that adult franchise will be introduced or that women will have a right to vote. In short I would say that the rule-making powers which have been incorporated in this clause are both drastic and vague. We cannot support this clause unless and until it is agreed that the rules are presented before this House for approval before they are finally enforced. I, therefore, oppose the whole clause.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, if the rule-making powers given under clause 82 had not been excessive, too excessive, I would not have taken the time of the House to speak on it. Mr. Speaker, you are an able legal luminary and you have great experience as Speaker, you are aware that the rule-making power is in the nature of a subsidiary legislation, a secondary provision for the purpose of laying down practice and procedure. But what do we find in the present clause? Take for instance sub-clause (1). Although sub-clause (2) has been left out, this sub-clause empowers Government to make any rules consistent with this Act to carry out the purposes of this Act. Now, this is a very wide power. Further, it may be seen that sub-clause (1) of clause 82 covers all the provisions which are given under sub-clause (3). Therefore, one of the two is unnecessary, either sub-clause (1) or sub-clause (3). Draftsmen usually take particular care in not incorporating unnecessary provisions. But this is due to bad drafting of the Bill.

Now, I would show how differently the rule-making power is used in other provinces. I will not waste the time of the House by repeating the instances quoted by my leader, Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava. I will only refer you to an amendment carried out recently in the Bombay Village Panchayat Act. The Bombay Government have taken some power but they have done so in definite and clear words. They have not used ambiguous and wild expressions just as has been done by the Punjab Government. I will draw your attention to the amendment made in Section 108 of the Bombay Act. It is—

In clause (b) for the words "regulating the manner in which the Collector shall nominate the holder or his representative" the words "prescribing the number of seats to be reserved for the representatives of women, Muhammadans, Harijans or backward tribes in each village panchayat" shall be substituted.

The former words were considered by the Assembly as too wide. The words appearing later were substituted on account of this reason. I have only given you one instance. The Bombay Government has similarly amended many other clauses curtailing definitely the rule-making powers of Government. It is, therefore, necessary that the rule-making power of the Punjab Government is also curtailed to remove certain misunderstandings which are likely to crop up. We should discourage this back-door legislation, it is a new kind of despotism which the bureaucracy wants to gain through the Assembly. Not themselves responsible, they use the responsible Ministers as their instruments for doing most irresponsible things. If we were asked to divide this Bill into two parts so that one would represent the body and the other the soul, we might easily say that the soul of this measure is represented by clause 82 and the rest of the Bill is no more than a mere skeleton. Here the House is to decide what powers are to be given to the Government and how much responsibility is going to be handed over to the panchayat. Therefore, this clause deserves special attention and some time will have to be spent on its consideration. In the course of the discussion on the various clauses the Honourable Minister has more than once tried to tell us how this measure will work, but in spite of that nobody has been made any the wiser as to who is going to have the real power. If he had made it clear as to whether the real power is going to be given to the panchayats or to be retained by the Government and its officers much of the uncertainty would have been dispelled.

Sir, this Government has brought forward some other Bills also, and they are a clear index of the tendency of the Government so far as legislation is concerned. The tendency as revealed by these Bills, is to restrict the scope of the actual Act and to reserve the real powers for the rules to be made by the Government under that Act. This tendency of the Government is not in keeping with the accepted tenets of legislation and has been severely criticised by Rt. Hon'ble Hewart, Lord Chief Justice of England, in his book "New Despotism." Let me draw your attention to the opinion of authorities as to the scope of subsidiary legislation. In his "Legislative Drafting and Forms" Sir Alison Russell says:—

Subsidiary legislation under powers conferred by an Act is usually made in one of the following ways:—

- (a) Proclamation.
- (b) Rules.
- (c) Regulations.
- (d) Order.
- (e) Notice.
- (f) By-laws.

[Pt. Muni Lal Kalia.]

But no panchayat can make by-laws of its own. So all powers have been collected at the centre, and we find in this case that this is the thing which we should not at all, intentionally or even unintentionally, give to the Government. He goes on to say—

Great care must be exercised to see that subsidiary legislation is made strictly in accordance with the powers and in the spirit of the enabling Act. Otherwise it may be quashed or treated as unenforceable by the courts.

Then there is one thing more which is very important, and that is with regard to the meaning of terms or expressions in subsidiary legislation. It is as follows :—

A term or expression used in subsidiary legislation, unless the contrary appears has the same meaning as in the Act conferring the power to make the subsidiary legislation.

With regard to the rules and regulations he says :—

As regards the use of words "rules" or "regulations" there has always been great variation in practice. Sometimes similar provisions of subsidiary legislation are called "rules" and sometimes they are called "regulations". Considerable confusion is caused by the indiscriminate use of these terms, and it is desirable that a uniform practice be adopted. It is suggested, therefore, that "rules" should be used for subsidiary legislation dealing with procedure; and "regulations" for the subsidiary legislation of a general nature.

This last portion is very important and I wish the Honourable Minister had paid a little attention to it. Then again :—

Where the rules are almost of sufficient importance to form part of the Act, they may be placed in a schedule; it being declared that unless and until other provision is made, the rules in the schedule are to take effect.

Now, can anybody deny that the rules to be made under this Act are going to be not only of the same importance as the Act but even of much more importance than all the provisions of the Act? Then why not include them in the Act or, at least, place them before the House? The following passage will show how much care has to be taken in the case of rules and how much importance is usually attached to them :—

It is desirable that all subsidiary legislation be given a short title. Otherwise it may be necessary to cite them in some such way as "The rules made under the provision of the above-mentioned Act, published in the _____ Gazette, No. _____, and dated the _____ day of _____."

With regard to orders, notices and by-laws he says :—

An Act usually prescribes an order to be made for matters which are not important enough to be dealt with in rules; such matters as the appointment of officials to carry the provisions of an Act into effect, or the appointment of the date on which an Act is to come into force.....

An Act frequently provides that some authority may direct some act or thing by notice. For example that the authority may declare an Act to come in force on the publication of a notice to that effect, and

The enactment of by-laws is the way in which such public bodies as township authorities having subsidiary law-making powers, usually exercise those powers.

This shows that not only more importance has to be attached to the enabling Act but also that it is desirable to include the rules in the Act. My honourable friends opposite might refer you to the enactments like the Arms Act in which there is a separate chapter regarding the rules and they have separate entity, but I would submit that the case of the Arms Act is not at par with that of the measure under consideration. Here you had better look to the District Boards Act and the Municipal Act for an analogy in which comparatively very little has been left to the rule-making powers of the Government.

I would like to refer you to a passage in Maxwell's Interpretation of Statutes which leaves no doubt as to the relative position of the enabling Act and the Rules. It reads—

Rules made under an Act which prescribes that they shall be laid before Parliament for a prescribed number of days, during which period they may be annulled by a resolution of either House, but that if not so annulled they are to be of the same effect as if contained in the Act, and are to be judicially noticed, must be treated for all purposes of construction or obligation or otherwise, exactly as if they were in the Act. If there is a conflict between one of these rules and a section of the Act, it must be dealt with in the same spirit as a conflict between two sections of the Act would be dealt with. If reconciliation is impossible, the subordinate provision must give way and probably the rule would be treated as subordinate to the section.

But what do we find in the case of the Bill under consideration? The Government has reserved all the powers for itself by clause 82 which has become as important as the whole Bill. That is why I say that every part of this clause should be opposed. If you read part (a) of sub-clause (3) you will find that it is a repetition of what is contained in sub-clause (1). Then part (c) relates to the election, suspension or removal of a sarpanch and of a naib-sarpanch.

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad): On a point of order. Exactly the same thing has been said by the honourable Leader of the Opposition. Those very things are now being repeated by my honourable friend.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalra: I am very cautious so far as repetition is concerned. Words like 'of', 'is', 'about' etc., have, perforce, to be repeated, but I never repeat the substance of any argument.

Again, we have been told that there will be no nominated member and everything will be in the hands of the elected representatives of the people. But this provision too is as vague as others. We have not been told whether or not women will be eligible for the membership of panchayats, and, similarly, there are many other points which have not been made clear. The Government could not be sure of itself even with regard to clause 8 (1). Not only are some powers in this connection sought to be taken in clause 82 but the Parliamentary Secretary has moved an amendment to clause (8) which is more objectionable than the original clause. My honourable friend Sardar Hari Singh has also given notice of an amendment to that clause and it is yet to be seen which of the two amendments is going to be accepted.

Then the Government wants powers to regulate the functions and powers of a panch or a naib-sarpanch. I say why not make them clear in the Act itself? Take the instance of municipal committees. You will find that powers to presidents and vice-presidents have been given there in clear terms. But as far as this Bill is concerned we are not aware of the duties of panches and sarpanches and the law is silent about this matter.

[Pt. Muni Lal Kalia.]

No mention has been made with regard to their duties. As far as clause (e) is concerned, it reads :—

(e) regulating the exercise by a panchayat of any of its powers under this Act and in particular its power to sue and to acquire, hold or transfer property and to enter into contracts ;

Now, Sir, let me submit a word in connection with contracts.

Premier : Sir, I think it would take much time of the House to discuss these controversial points at this stage. I, therefore, suggest to my honourable friend, through you that he may discuss these points with the Minister in charge outside this House. My submission is that you may take up to-day's business and postpone these points for another occasion. The honourable member can draw your attention to these important points when the Government has arrived at a decision in this matter.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Sir, if I discuss this matter with the Minister in charge outside the House, I alone will be able to discuss it. But if I raise a discussion on this matter here in this House we will be benefited by the advice and consultation of other members as well.

Premier : You may discuss it here if you insist upon doing so.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Sir, as you have got a vast experience in these things, you may guide us as far as these controversial points are concerned. If I discuss it outside the House, I am afraid, I will not be able to draw your attention to it and thus I will be deprived of your advice in this matter.

Premier : I was submitting that the matter under discussion is a most important matter as it concerns the rules. In discussing it outside the House he may not draw your attention to the points, but he will be in a position to discuss it with us to his entire satisfaction. I, therefore, suggest to the Minister incharge to move that this matter be postponed at this stage for the time being.

Mian Abdul Aziz : The Premier stated just now that these can be considered amicably and can be discussed and adjusted properly. Do these remarks apply to clause 82 only ?

Premier : Yes to clause 82 as also to clause 8 which still remains to be discussed.

Mian Abdul Aziz : So the remarks of the Premier apply to the whole clause 82.

Minister for Public Works : In view of the suggestion made by the Honourable the Premier I would suggest that we might defer the consideration of this Bill so that I might get an opportunity of discussing in detail the suggestions made by the honourable member, as well as clause 8 which was postponed for discussion also with the honourable members opposite. After these discussions the Bill can be taken up. I move that the next item on the agenda be now taken into consideration.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Urdu) : If clause 82 is to be discussed later on, very well, we will do so on Sunday. But, are you going to defer clause 82 only or clause 8 as well ?

Premier : The Honourable Minister has already promised to discuss clause 8 with the Leader of the Opposition. If there are any amendments they can be adjusted and it will save the time of the House.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Will the Schedule be also discussed later on ?

Mian Abdul Aziz : I would like to point out that in schedule I, I have not been able to understand one thing.

Minister for Public Works : When we come to the schedule I will satisfy the honourable member's curiosity.

Mian Abdul Aziz : There are some misprints on certain pages.

Minister : When we reach the particular item the honourable member will have ample opportunity of pointing out any clerical errors or misprints or he can make any other suggestions.

Mr. Speaker : Does the Honourable Premier mean that consideration of clause 82 as well as of clause 8 be postponed ?

Premier : There is one other way out of the difficulty. If my honourable friend the Leader of the Opposition agrees that so far as clause 8 and this clause are concerned they can go out and discuss the matter, with a representative of the Government perhaps it may be possible to come to some sort of arrangement before we disperse.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : My point is that this clause 8 was postponed by mutual agreement. Some of my friends met the Minister and he promised to send a draft to us for consideration. Instead of the draft being sent to us he has put in his amendment. We received another amendment yesterday and the proposal put forward by him is more unacceptable than the original clause. Therefore, if the Minister wants to consult me, I have no objection, or if you like, let it be discussed on the floor of the House if it is convenient to you.

Premier : If you like to discuss it on the floor of the House it will take time. I wanted to save the time of the House. If they take a few members and discuss it outside they might come to some agreement and it will save the time of the House. If they do not come to any agreement then it will have to be discussed in the House.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Then they will not be able to take part in the proceedings which are yet to follow.

Premier : That is an ordinary sort of motion—

Mr. Speaker : According to parliamentary practice, we cannot postpone discussion.

Minister for Public Works : I was only trying to [accommodate my honourable friend opposite.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I never objected to its postponement if under the rules you can do it.

Minister : Mr. Speaker says you cannot do it according to rules.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Urdu) : Well, I was referring to sub-clause (f).

Mr. Speaker : It is highly irregular to discuss each sub-clause separately.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I will not name (e) and (f).

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member has to argue why clause 82 should not stand part of the Bill. He should not discuss separately every sub-clause of clause 82. It is open to the honourable member to say that he is opposed to the retention of clause 82, because to-day is a cloudy day ; but he is not entitled to discuss every part of it in detail and separately.

Pandit Muni Lala Kalia : Do I take it that I should not say what has already been said ? (Urdu) : Sir, we do not know on whom taxes will be imposed nor do we know in what manner they are to be imposed. We are unaware even of the basis on which these taxes are proposed to be levied and whether those who pay will have any representation on the panchayat.

Mr. Speaker : How is it relevant ?

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : The Government is going to have rule-making power with regard to taxation and that provides another cause for opposing the clause.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member will know when rules are published.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Knowledge alone will not do.

Mr. Speaker : I agree. But the honourable member can say that in one sentence.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Experienced speakers like you can do that but I have to explain my point of view in my own way.

Then, Sir, you know that generally the words "after previous publication" are used in respect of the rules to be made under every Act. Section 21 of the General Clauses Act makes it clear how previous publication takes place. But here in this Act these words have been very conveniently omitted. Therefore, this is the only time when we can give expression to our opinions and apprehensions.

Again, some control over the panchayats has been given to the courts in judicial matters and to the Deputy Commissioner with regard to their administrative functions. But nothing has been said in the Bill to indicate as to how and by whom the records are to be kept and forwarded to the authorities concerned. Even the question of the custody of the minute book has not been decided and thus it is just possible that one day the panchayat may pass a certain resolution but the next day finding it unacceptable to the Deputy Commissioner quite a different resolution may be entered in the minute book. This will reduce the whole thing to a farce and it will not be possible to place any reliance on the records of the panchayat. In Madras and Bombay there are clear and definite provisions in the Acts about this matter. Even here you have such provisions in the Municipal Act. But in this Act for reasons best known to the Government this question also has been left undecided. The ministers may consider it an unimportant matter but it is not so for those who are going to be affected by the Act and who feel much concerned over it. In Bombay they have firstly the panchayats, secondly the panchayat bench and thirdly the secretary. The duties and functions of all three have been definitely laid down and it is clearly stated as to how the secretary will deal with the maintenance and disbursement of the funds. But here you have only the panchayat. You may call it the bench or the judge or even the Deputy Commissioner if you will.

Mr. Speaker : I would request the honourable member to wind up his speech.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Similarly, we should have been told as to what will be the rules with regard to voters and their qualification. All these matters require mention but if you so desire I am prepared to resume my seat.

Mr. Speaker : No, no. The honourable member may have his say. I do not want him to stop.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : Now I come to the judicial powers. Here I must crave your indulgence because I shall have to repeat a few things that were said on the floor of the House yesterday. The Government is going to make rules with regard to the judicial powers and functions of the panchayats but let me tell them that they are making a mess of the whole thing. The Bill presented by them is such that it cannot work properly unless the whole civil and criminal as well as the Limitation Law is amended. For instance, in the Limitation Act the periods of limitation vary according to the causes of action but here in the Panchayat Act nobody has taken the trouble of sparing a thought for the exigencies of different situations and one period of 3 years has been considered quite suitable in each and every case.

Again, there is no saving clause in regard to the transactions entered into before the Act comes into force. A period of 30 days has been fixed at random without proper consideration. Similarly there are many other matters about which the rule-making powers are absolutely indefinite and too wide. The provisions of the Limitation Act will be set at naught in many cases. For these and many other reasons which I have not time to describe I am of the opinion that the passage of this clause must be opposed.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 32 as amended stand part of the Bill.

The Assembly divided : Ayes 67, Noes 34.

AYES.

Clause 88.

Mr. Speaker : Clause 88.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) (Punjab) : Sir,

5 p. m.

clause 88 as it stands empowers the Government to appoint provincial inspector of panchayats, divisional, district and assistant panchayat officers and other staff with their establishments and their expenses shall be defrayed out of the moneys provided by the Punjab Government. Against this my first objection is that if we study all the clauses which the House has so far passed we would find that nowhere is it stated as to what would be the functions of the panchayat officers. I think when no mention has been made about the duties of the panchayat officers there is absolutely no use of appointing them. Now let us see as to what duties the Government can possibly give to these panchayat officers. In this respect, Mr. Speaker, I wish to draw your attention to a few sections of this Bill and I hope you would not rule out my submissions on the plea of repetition.

I can only imagine four or five things which may necessitate the appointment of panchayat officers. Firstly, it may be said by the Unionists that the panchayat officers will be required for the purpose of holding and supervising the elections of the members of panchayats. But I would hasten to submit that there will be nothing new in the elections of panches. Elections are already held in the Punjab for various other purposes. But hitherto the need for appointing a particular agency for elections has never been felt. The elections to local bodies are generally held by the patwaries and other permanent officials of the Government. The same officials can hold and supervise the elections of panches and sarpanches. Again, it may be said from the other side of the House that one of the functions of the panchayat officers will be to see under clause 8 of the Bill whether a person who has been elected a panch, is suitable or not. But I may add that the Government has agreed under clause 8 of this Bill to appoint a "prescribed authority" which may declare the election of a certain panch as null and void. When the Deputy Commissioner is there and his establishment is there, what is the necessity of appointing an additional permanent staff for this purpose?

Secondly, the Government might say that the panchayat officers will be needed to supervise the working of the panchayats. But let us see what administrative duties the panchayats will perform and whether the panchayat officers are needed to control them. I may be allowed to mention in this connection that the Bill does not provide for any appeal against the orders of the panchayat. If an appeal could be allowed, then we might have thought that panchayat officers will be needed for hearing those appeals. But nothing of the kind is contemplated in the Bill. When the orders of the panchayats are going to be final, there will be no necessity of panchayat officers.

Thirdly, the Government may contend that the panchayat officers will be needed in connection with the criminal and civil judicial functions of the panchayats. But here, too, I may submit that the panchayats will decide cases according to their own lights and pleasure. No law will be administered. There is no need to appoint panchayat officers to set right the irregularities or acts of injustice committed by the panchayats, because the Bill has provided that the District Magistrates and the District Judges will do the needful in such cases of irregularities and acts of injustice. It is clear, therefore, that panchayat officers are not wanted for this purpose also.

Now let us come to the civic functions of the panchayats. Here, too, I find that the panchayat officers will not be allowed to interfere. I do not see if there is any necessity of appointing panchayat officers at all.

Mr. Speaker : How is this relevant ?

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Urdu) : There is no need to appoint panchayat officers.

Mr. Speaker : That is a separate question. That matter is not at present before the House. They are ordinary civil servants.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : But I know they are.

Mr. Speaker : That can be discussed when the honourable members of the House are asked to pass the salary of inspectors and sub-inspectors. The House may reject it then.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : But the money shall be paid out of the Government Treasury.

Mr. Speaker : Are they not being paid already from provincial revenues ?

Sardar Kapoor Singh : It is all the more relevant that this section should be opposed.

Premier : May I submit to my honourable friend that this clause is merely meant to overcome some technicalities. It is necessary under the Government of India Act that any sum spent out of the revenues of the province must be recommended by the Governor of the province. It is for this purpose that this clause has been put in. It is merely to bring this within the purview of the provincial Budget, that we have put this clause. The question of payment to panchayat officers does not arise. They were sanctioned by the Assembly long ago.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : I am discussing the question of payment when they are appointed. Then the salary shall have to be paid out of the Government treasury.

Premier : The House has already agreed to their appointment, and has sanctioned their salary.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : But not by any Act.

Minister for Public Works : No appointment is being sanctioned. In English Acts they have a similar clause. It is a technical provision.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : They may be appointed but I say that they shall not be paid a single pie.

Minister : The proper occasion to object will be when the Budget is presented.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : We will oppose it also when that occasion comes.

(Urdu) : Sir, I was submitting that the third duty that could possibly be given to the panchayat officers was that they will be required to see if the panchayats were discharging their civil functions properly. In this connection I may draw the attention of the House to clause 53 of this Bill which says that the revision of the civil orders passed by the panchayats will lie with the district judges. In these circumstances, it cannot be said that the panchayat officers will supervise the work of the panchayats to see that they do not act unjustly with respect to the civil suits which come up before them.

Further, so far as the assessment and collection of taxes is concerned, neither the panchayat officers nor other officers who may be appointed, will be able to interfere. It is, therefore, unjustified that these officers are allowed to draw their salaries out of the provincial treasury for work done in connection with panchayats. If the Government insists on appointing these officers, we, I think, will be justified to apprehend that the Government is aiming at bringing out two lakhs of rupees from the public treasury under this guise and spending it on party propaganda.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is requested to be relevant.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : Mr. Speaker, I want to point out that usually the Government is keen in the matter of checking any possible waste of public money. They will not permit any community to misappropriate any public funds. For instance, in connection with the Gurdwara Act the Honourable Minister for Education said that the Akalis were making unlawful use of Gurdwara funds. It may be that Akalis spent some money not on karakharashad but on parchar. But it was their own money. But what does my honourable friend the Minister for Education say to allocating any public money for party propaganda as is being proposed to be done by his party? It is proposed that panchayat officers will draw pay out of the public treasury although they will not do anything in connection with the panchayats.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) (Urdu) : I have three reasons for opposing this clause. First that the words "Provincial Inspector" or "Divisional Inspector" do not occur in the Bill. We do not know what the Government means by the words "Provincial Inspector". It has been defined neither in the definitions nor in the body of the Bill. The word is not to be found even in the General Clauses Act. The mention of this officer has not been made even in connection with the rules. So we do not know what this officer is going to be and why his pay is going to become a charge on the provincial revenues.

Mr. Speaker : There is an express provision on that point in the Government of India Act.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : It has not been declared about him that he is a civil servant.

Mr. Speaker : That provision governs all civil servants of the Crown.

Shaikh Faiz Muhammad : I will refer the honourable member to clause 70.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I know that. You have said in the definitions that the definition of a "public servant" will be the same as given in the Indian Penal Code. But you have not defined "Provincial Panchayat Officer". I am not repeating the arguments advanced by my honourable friend Sardar Kapoor Singh but I want to point out that it has not been clearly stated who will appoint this officer and what exactly will be his duties. In these circumstances we must oppose this clause.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 83 stand part of the Bill.

Minister for Public Works : Sir, The Governor has recommended to this House the consideration of this Bill as required by sub-section (8) of section 82 of the Government of India Act, 1935.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : On which date did he recommend ?

Clause 8.

Shaikh Faiz Muhammad (Parliamentary Secretary) : I move—

That for the existing part (a) of sub-clause (1) of clause 8 the following be substituted:—

(a) who is convicted of a non-bailable offence;

[Sh. Faiz Muhammad.]

- (b) who is convicted of a bailable offence or subjected to an order by a criminal court, which conviction or order, in the opinion of the Government or of the officer to whom the Government has delegated its power of removal, implies a defect of character unfitting him to be a panch.

Mr. Speaker : Clause under consideration, amendment moved—

That for the existing part (a) of sub-clause (1) of clause 8, the following be substituted :—

- (a) who is convicted of a non-bailable offence ;
 (b) who is convicted of a bailable offence or subjected to an order by a criminal court, which conviction or order, in the opinion of the Government or of the officer to whom the Government has delegated its power of removal, implies a defect of character unfitting him to be a panch.

Sardar Hari Singh (Kangra and Northern Hoshiarpur Sikh, Rural) : Subject to your consent I want to bring to the notice of the House the wording of the amendment without formally moving it. I am making a speech without moving my amendment and while making the speech, I draw the attention of the House to my amendment so that the House may give its attention to these words and may prefer them to the words which have been proposed by my honourable friend, the Parliamentary Secretary. The words of my amendment are :—

That for the existing part (a) of sub-clause (1) of clause 8, the following be substituted :—

- (a) who has been convicted of an offence involving moral turpitude by a criminal court for a term exceeding one year during the preceding five years.

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : The words are, 'convicted for a term, . . .' There is no question of sentence.

Sardar Hari Singh : Convicted and sentenced for a period exceeding one year. Part (a) of sub-clause (1) also applies to sub-clause (8) of clause 6. That is, it entails disqualification for the purpose of removal of a panch when he has been elected and also when his election has to be confirmed. So, in the first place, his election may not be confirmed if he is disqualified under part (a) of sub-clause (1). The consideration of this clause had been postponed while it was being discussed on the previous day with a view that the Government may consult the Opposition Leader and find out via media satisfying both sides of the House so that it may become less offensive, less restrictive and so that it may be modified and should not exclude a large category of those persons who have been sentenced to various imprisonments under political offences involving no moral turpitude. But what do we find ? After an interval of so many days, the Government instead of living up to its promise, has, through its Parliamentary Secretary, come out with an amendment, which is more restrictive, more offensive and more objectionable than the words occurring in the original sub-clause. (Minister for Public Works : Then accept the original sub-clause). That was objectionable and that was why its consideration was postponed. Now, this new amendment undoubtedly casts a wider net of disqualification than the original sub-clause which it proposes to replace. But we are opposed to both, the original as well as the proposed amendment, because what will happen under this amendment, if it is accepted ? My honourable friend, the Minister for Public Works, a young enthusiast as he is, suppose one day goes out driving his car himself. He may be rash and he may crush under the wheels of his car a poor coolie and then he is hauled up before a law court and is sentenced for negligent driving causing death. (Minister of Public Works : It would be a non-bailable offence.) I am giving an example. He may be sentenced and he will not be able to become a panch in his native village because this sub-clause entails a disqualification and because he has been convicted and sentenced to a term of imprisonment. But he will be able to become a member of the district board, though he has been convicted of an offence for a term of imprisonment not exceeding one year during the preceding five years ; he will become a member of the municipality of his native town though he has been sentenced for a term not exceeding one year during the preceding five years. But under this sub-clause, on account of his conviction and sentence he cannot become an ordinary panch of his native village. He may become a member of the Assembly and he may become a Minister in charge of the portfolio of panchayats, but he will not be able to become a panch of his native village, while he will be running the whole department of panchayats. So, with regard to panchayats the position is very anomalous. A person can become a member of the district board, he can become a member of the municipality, he can become a member of this House and he can become a member of the Ministry of the province, but he will not be able to become a member of the panchayat of his own native village because of this sub-clause or the proposed amendment to the sub-clause. Therefore, I say that the amendment proposed by my honourable friend, the Parliamentary Secretary, is very objectionable, very offensive, and highly undesirable. Even in the case of municipalities, the disqualification in the matter of conviction and sentence for a term exceeding one year during the preceding five years may be removed by the Government. But there is no such provision here and no power is given to the Government to remove this disqualification. In the case of municipalities, district boards and the Assembly, this power is given to the Government but not in this case. The Government may not remove the disqualification even on the application of the candidate. In the present Panchayat Act, so far as I know there is no such disqualification. So in that respect this measure is more reactionary than the measure which it proposes to replace. Let my honourable friend read the Panchayat Act of Bombay. There is a disqualification clause. He should follow better Panchayat Acts, say, of Bombay, or the Central Provinces or France or Japan. Let us see what kind of disqualification is incorporated in similar Acts in those provinces or in those countries. In Bombay it is laid down as follows :—

If a person has been sentenced by a criminal court to imprisonment or whipping for an offence punishable with imprisonment for a term.

Mark these words :

For a term exceeding 6 months or to transportation or has been ordered to furnish security for good behaviour, so long as such sentence has not expired or such order is in force.....unless relieved of disqualification by provincial Government.

Mark the difference. In this case, (1) the term must exceed 6 months, (2) disqualification will last only so long as the sentence is being served and when it is expired there will be no disqualification, (3) Provincial Government can relieve the person of this disqualification. Mark the difference between the provisions of this Bill and that of Bombay. There is a similar provision in the Central Provinces Act. It reads like this :—

If such person has been ordered to execute a bond in pursuance of proceedings under section 110 of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, or has been convicted by a criminal court of any offence which in the opinion of the provincial Government involves—

Mark these words :

Involves moral turpitude and which carries with it a sentence of transportation or imprisonment for a period of more than six months, unless the offence for which he was convicted has been pardoned or five years have expired from the date of the expiration of the period specified in the bond or sentence.

And there is also a proviso that the Government may remove the disqualification on application. But no such proviso exists in this amendment. What is the difference ? (1) A person will be disqualified if his offence involves moral turpitude. (2) if the sentence exceeds 6 months, (3) if the offence has been committed within the last 5 years together with the proviso that the Government may remove disqualification. Let us go to some other country where local self-government is highly developed. Let us take the case of France. In France no less than 38,000 communes exist in villages, cities and towns and are working very satisfactorily. One under a sentence of law cannot be elected, but as soon as his sentence expires he can be elected. Only those inside the prison walls are disqualified. As soon as one has come out of the prison after serving his term of imprisonment he is worthy of being elected : that is about the city and town communes. My friend, although he is Minister in charge of local self-Government, has not studied local self-government institutions in other countries. Let him for a while pay his attention how that institution is working in Japan.

Premier : May I interrupt my honourable friend for a minute ?

Sardar Hari Singh : I shall finish in one minute. In the case of Japan all citizens are qualified for election to the village self-governing institutions. There, persons having undergone punishment of greater degree than imprisonment or penal servitude for not less than six years, cannot be citizens. A man cannot become a member of a self-governing institution if he has undergone a sentence of six years. Here my friend will not allow Mahatma Gandhi to become a member of the panchayat ; he will not allow Pandit Jawahar Lal to become a member of the panchayat and he will not allow Dr. Khan Sahib and all the ex-Congress Premiers to become members of the puny panchayats while they may become Premiers. A man who has been convicted of a non-bailable offence for a period of a month cannot become a member of the panchayat while he may become a Minister in charge of the panchayat department. He may become a Minister, may become a Major and the Commander-in-Chief of the Punjab forces but he will not be allowed to get himself elected as a member of the panchayat under this clause. That is the anomaly. With these words I wind up my speech because the Premier is very impatient.

Premier : I am not impatient. I merely wanted to inform the House that to-day perhaps we may go on sitting till 8 p.m. I want to make a formal motion at the end.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I know if this arrangement has been worked out in consultation with the Leader of the Opposition ?

Premier : I have sent a word to my friend the Leader of the Opposition, but I merely informed the House that they may have to sit till 8 p. m. I will make a formal motion at the usual time.

Diwan Chaman Lall : I would request my honourable friend that in future when such a proposition is mooted due notice should be given to the Leader of the Opposition so that the convenience of honourable members on these benches may also be considered. I do hope my honourable friend will bear that in mind when he makes any such motion in future.

Premier : I always bear that in mind. I would have consulted him but I was hoping, as a matter of fact he was also expecting, that we would have finished this Bill yesterday. As the Panchayat Bill is being considered today I proposed that the bar due to time limit be removed if there were any amendments which are not in time. We must try to catch up the time lost. That is why I suggested that we might sit longer to-day to take up other motions before we adjourn. That will have to be postponed till we meet again. But I do normally consult my friend the Leader of the Opposition with regard to such motions.

Mr. Speaker : We have got an hour more.

(Voices : Question be now put.)

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, it is a matter of gratification that the Honourable Premier is taking some interest in the consideration of the Bill. I hope and trust that he will try his best to make it more acceptable. But still I would like to ask him one thing as to whether it would be proper on the part of the Government to insist upon keeping this provision as it is in the Bill. Even my honourable friend Sardar Hari Singh has admitted that a person who has been convicted of any bailable or non-bailable offence should be precluded from becoming a panch provided that his offence involves moral turpitude. In my opinion nothing can be more reasonable than this. In fact we do not object to the removal of a panch on the ground of his conviction of an offence involving moral degradation. I have not moved my own amendment simply because I was confident that the amendment of Sardar Hari Singh would be more acceptable to the Government than the one that stands against my name. I would request the Honourable Premier to see that only those panches are disqualified who have been sentenced for committing offences that involve moral turpitude or moral degradation. Now the amendment moved by the Government aims at the removal of all such persons as have been convicted of even non-bailable offences. This amendment is a true index of the mind of the Government and it clearly shows its intentions to bar even those political workers from becoming panches who have courted imprisonment in the cause of their country. The present national movement was started some 20 or 25 years ago. During this long and protracted period thousands of leaders and workers have been convicted of bailable as well as non-bailable offences. But can anybody question their high character or doubt the sincerity of the noble cause for which they willingly underwent these sentences ? If not, then will it be just and proper to disqualify them from becoming panches in their native villages ? In short this provision is extremely harsh and stringent and, therefore, it should not go unamended. The sub-clause as it stands disqualifies even those persons against whom some action has been taken under sections 107, 108 (A) or 109, Criminal Procedure Code, though such order does not amount to conviction of an offence. May I know from my honourable friends whether it means that he should be disqualified for becoming a member of the panchayat? My honourable friends should know that if anybody is required to furnish security at any time it does not mean that he has committed a crime.

6 p.m.

There is yet another reason why I think that mere taking of security does not constitute an offence. There are some occasions when the taking of security is essential and I think that on such occasions there is no harm if people are required to furnish security. Sometimes it does happen that even very good and law abiding citizens are required to furnish security under preventive sections. Therefore there is no reason why the people should be debarred from becoming members of panchayats on the plea that sometime back they were asked to furnish security for some reason or other. Besides, I may point out to the Honourable Premier that panchayats would be courts of lowest jurisdiction in the country and I think common people should be allowed to seek elections on the panchayats. In view of that, may I know whether it is not proper that election should be open to most men? I may also point out that when the Government of India Act does not disqualify people who have committed even serious offences from becoming members of the provincial Assemblies there is no reason why my honourable friend should prevent people who have committed very insignificant offences, from becoming members of the panchayats. Does it befit the dignity of my honourable friends over there that they should disqualify such persons from becoming members of the panchayats who have been some time required to furnish securities or who have committed some such offence. I wish to make it clear that at present in the rural areas public-spirited and nationally-minded people are to be found among those who sometime courted jail for the love of their country or did something for which they were asked to furnish security. In my opinion they are the very people who can serve the people of rural areas better than anybody else. There is no reason why the Government should debar such people from becoming members of the panchayats. In the circumstances I request the Government to accept our amendment and not insist upon disqualifying persons from becoming members of the panchayats on the ground that on some occasion or other they were asked to furnish security. I think such an attitude on the part of my friends is against all canons of justice and fairplay. With these words I support the amendment of my honourable friend Sardar Hari Singh.

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : I move—

That the question be now put.

Minister for Public Works : A lot has been said why we have moved this amendment which places a greater restriction in the case of panchayats than in the case of other local bodies or even in the case of this Assembly. The reason is obvious. These panchayats will have executive functions also and not deliberative only. In the Punjab we have inflammable material, and when we are going to confer some powers of judges, criminal and civil on panches, we want to have people working in the panchayats who have sound minds and are not carried away by sentiments. So, in the experimental stage I thought it was very essential to have this provision but to meet the wishes of the honourable members opposite we add to clause (b) and say that Government will have the power under special circumstances to remove the disqualification incurred.

Lala Duni Chand : Attach that condition to clause (a) also. Then we will be satisfied.

Minister for Public Works : We can attach that condition to clause (b) but may not attach the same condition to clause (a). If accepted, clause (a) will read :

Who is convicted of a non-bailable offence, provided that Government shall have the power to remove the disqualification.

That is going too far.

Lala Duni Chand : We will be satisfied only if the condition is attached to both the clauses.

Minister for Public Works : That is the last suggestion. Otherwise I would say that the clause be put as it is.

Mr. Speaker : The question is :

That for the existing part (a) of sub-clause (1) of clause 8, the following be substituted :—

- (a) who is convicted of a non-bailable offence;
- (b) who is convicted of a bailable offence or subjected to an order by a criminal court, which conviction or order, in the opinion of the Government or of the officer to whom Government has delegated its power of removal, implies a defect of character unfitting him to be a panch.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That clause 8 as amended stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Schedule I.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) :
I beg to move—

That in Part (A), between sections "277" and "288," the words "Danger or obstruction in public way or line of navigation.....288" be inserted.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : I beg to move—

That in Part (A), between sections "448" and "604," the words "Dishonestly/breaking open receptacle containing property.....461" be inserted.

That Schedule III stand part of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Diwan Chaman Lal : May I crave your indulgence in regard to one little matter in regard to Schedule I? The sections of the Indian Penal Code referred to are 379—411. Do we understand that it means only these two sections 379 and 411 or all the sections inclusive from 379 to 411? That is a point that should be made perfectly clear, because obviously a little further up where sections 264—267 are referred to, all of them are included. If that is any guidance, then according to that in the same way "sections 379—411" means all the sections from 379 to 411 inclusive. It is necessary to make that point clear, because under one such section the penalty for the crime is death.

Minister for Public Works : It means only sections 379 and 411. If there is any ambiguity I will see to it in the drafting committee.

Title.

Mr. Speaker : Question is :

That the title be the title of the Bill.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : Under rule 103 I direct that the Bill be examined by a committee consisting of the Minister to whose department the Bill relates, the Advocate-General and the Deputy Speaker with direction to report what amendments of a formal or consequential character should be made in the Bill as a matter of drafting and such report shall be presented by Monday next.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : On a point of order. The Bill cannot be sent to the drafting committee because it has not been considered and legally passed. I want to draw your attention to the fact that sanction was received to-day after clause 83 had been considered and disposed of. My point is that there has been no proper consideration of the Bill.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member may raise that point on Monday after the report of the drafting committee is considered and the motion that the Bill be passed is moved.

RELIEF OF INDEBTEDNESS (AMENDMENT) BILL.

Premier (The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan) : Sir, I introduce the Punjab Relief of Indebtedness (Amendment) Bill. I move—

That the Punjab Relief of Indebtedness (Amendment) Bill be referred to a select committee.

Before I read the list of names of the members of the committee, I might just say one sentence to indicate to the House why this Bill is necessary. There is a brief Statement of Objects and Reasons attached to the Bill and I merely want to draw the attention of the honourable members to the reasons why it has been considered necessary to move this amending Bill. During the last four or five years, since the original Bill was passed, several defects have come to notice and have been brought to the notice of the Government by people concerned or by those people who have been entrusted to work this Act and even by courts and we thought that we should remove these defects at the earliest possible moment so as to give the fullest possible benefit which we intend to give to the poor agriculturists. At the same time we have taken the opportunity to fill up certain lacunæ in the original Act. There were certain provisions of a very important and necessary character which were left out of the original Act and I believe the main reason was that, that Bill was passed in a council which was more or less not a responsible assembly and because the Bill was moved by the Opposition of the time and was carried in spite of the opposition from certain quarters and even certain provisions were opposed by the Government of the day. Though we are not filling in those lacunæ to the extent that all those provisions are being included—there are several that are new—we are proposing several which could not be carried at that time. We are now taking the opportunity of filling in those lacunæ and making the Act more beneficial to the people and more water-tight.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Does the Honourable Premier mean that this Bill was moved by the Opposition ?

Premier : Originally yes.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Not the Bill that was passed.

Premier : It was a non-official Bill and subsequently it was adopted by the Government after a certain conference and compromise between the two parties. It is, however, immaterial. But I might remind my honourable friend that the Unionists were then in opposition, they were the official Opposition.

[Premier.]

the loopholes and provide for the lacunæ which they think essential in the interests of poor agriculturists. And I might also add that a suggestion has been made that the definition of 'debtor' should be so revised as to include the poorer classes of urban areas as well. That is a question which we will be prepared to consider in the select committee stage and I hope I shall have the benefit of members from all sides of the House to consider that very important question. It is important, from my point of view, because the policy of the present Government is to give relief to the backward or poorer classes wherever they are, whether they belong to villages or cities. My honourable friend, Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang, put forward very weighty considerations when that resolution was moved in this House for fixing no restrictions so far as urban part of the population was concerned. Therefore, it is an important matter which will have to be very carefully considered before that particular category of people is included. But I personally think that some device will have to be provided with a view to give relief to the poorer classes in the cities and I shall be only too glad to incorporate that provision. I hope with the help of my honourable friends both on these benches and those it should not be difficult to devise some means to do that. With these words I beg to commend my motion to the House. Following are the names of the members of the select committee :—

Minister for Development.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood ;

Sufi Abdul Hamid Khan ;

Chaudhri Sumer Singh ;

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri ;

Chaudhri Abdul Rahim of Gurdaspur ;

Khan Sahib Shaikh Muhammad Amin ;

Rai Faiz Muhammad Khan ;

Sardar Tara Singh ;

Chaudhri Prem Singh ;

Chaudhri Muhammad Qasim ;

Chaudhri Ahmad Yar Khan of Gujrat.

And the three ex-officio members which are essential under the Rules and four members which my honourable friend the Leader of the Opposition may nominate and if he wants to substitute somebody for Rai Bahadur Mukand Lal Puri, then in that case five which he may suggest.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Out of how many ?

Premier : In addition to 12 members named above and three ex-officio members.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The Honourable Premier has referred to my nominating four or five people on this committee, five including Rai Bahadur Mukand Lal Puri. Sir, as there are nineteen members out of which the Advocate-General will not be a voting member, so there are in fact 18 members. There may be 18 or 19, that matters little, but the point which I have been pressing is that there should be a proportional representation of the parties, so that all parties may be represented. The Honourable Premier has just been pleased to remark that it is an important Bill and he wants every part of the House to have its say. Therefore it is in the fitness of things that the Opposition which numbers 61 should be given one-third of the total number of members on the select committee and as there are 19, they are entitled to at least 6. Their due share is $6\frac{1}{3}$ but as one-third is less than one-half, they must have at least six. Since I am given the right to nominate these which I will do in consultation with my honourable friends, I shall be only too glad to help the Honourable Premier in the select committee, but as we are not getting six, I am sorry it will not be possible for me to nominate the quota given to me.

Premier : I want to submit that if my honourable friend wants to thrust on me a rigid fixed proportion of one-third for all occasions, I am not prepared to accept that principle. Sometimes it may be necessary to have more than one-third of the members of the Opposition on the select committees and sometimes it may be necessary to have less than one-third. Therefore I am not prepared to accept any rigid proportion as a matter of principle. But in the present case if the honourable member, the Leader of the Opposition, wants to have one or two more members than I have allowed him to nominate on the ground that they will be helpful on the select committee, I am prepared to accommodate him. But if he insists on the principle of a fixed proportion, I must respectfully decline to accept that principle.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : If the Honourable Premier is prepared to accept a convention of this nature, then I will have no objection to nominate members from this side on the select committee. I do not want any favours from him. If he gives us more than one-third representation on any select committee, that will not be favour, it will be weightage. We will see whether we want weightage. But for the present I want this convention established that we must have on every select committee representation proportionate to the strength of our party in the House.

Premier : My honourable friend is now trying to tie knots and it is these knots that are responsible for the obstacles in the way of progress of the business of the House. He wants to set up a convention of fixing a rigid one-third proportion. I have said that if he wants to thrust that rigid proportion down my throat I am not prepared to be a party to it. Such a convention if established may be embarrassing to this House and to my successors in the Government. The Leader of the Opposition may make political capital out of it, but I think he will concede that in my position as the Leader of the House and as a responsible member of Government it is not open to me to lay down a rigid convention which may be embarrassing to this House and to the future Government. This convention does not exist in any democratic government anywhere. If my honourable friend can give one instance where such a convention exists I shall be only too glad to reconsider the matter. But I may assure him that he can find no instance of that sort. If he still insists on it, I can only say that it will be unfair to this House and also to my successors whoever they may be. As I have already said he has got in the present case the option of nominating five members. I have also said that if he wants one additional member to be added because of the importance of this measure and because he thinks that would be beneficial and helpful, I am prepared to accommodate him. But as a matter of principle I am afraid I must oppose the rigid proportion of one-third.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I do not insist on the fixed proportion of one-third. What I contend is that our representation in the committees should be proportionate to the strength of our party in the House. If our party strength increases the proportion may be more than one-third and if it decreases the proportion also will correspondingly decrease. I only want the Honourable Premier to agree to the convention that our representation in any committee should be proportionate to our party strength in the House.

Premier : My honourable friend probably forgets that there have been certain committees on which his party has got more than one-third representation. What I object to is only the rigid convention of a fixed proportion. (An honourable member : You have been showing narrow-mindedness.) The honourable member may say what he thinks about me, but I may assure him that I am not narrow-minded. I look far ahead, while he does not.

Mr. Speaker : The House may proceed to consider the motion—

That the Bill be referred to a select committee.

The composition of the committee may be decided later.

Premier : I should like to point out to the honourable Leader of the Opposition a very recent instance in which his party had five members in a committee consisting of thirteen members, that is, more than one-third proportion. This is the select committee on the Trade Employees Bill.

Mr. Speaker : The House will now consider the motion—

That the Bill be referred to a select committee.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) : I beg to move—

That the Punjab Relief of Indebtedness (Amendment) Bill be circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon by the 31st December, 1939.

At the very outset I wish to state that my amendment is not meant to be a dilatory or tactical motion. My object is really to ascertain public opinion on the Bill. If there was no public opinion worth having I would not have moved this motion. In a matter like the present one I sincerely feel that the House can have most valuable public opinion that will throw considerable light on this Bill. First of all there is the High Court which can help this House considerably and give its opinion on the various issues involved in this Bill. There are district judges and subordinate judges belonging to all communities who are quite competent to offer valuable opinion on a Bill like this.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the Chair and it was occupied by Mr. Deputy Speaker.)

There are a number of Bar Associations all over the province that are equally competent to offer the most useful and valuable opinion. There are different groups in the province that will be affected by this Bill one way or the other. They have also got the right to make their voices heard. They also desire to know as to how far this Bill is going to help them. I am speaking not only on behalf of the money-lenders, but I am speaking on behalf of the agriculturists as well. You should ascertain the opinion of the agriculturists also as to how far this Bill is going to help them. I am not asking you to do anything extraordinary. All that I am asking the Government is to collect all the material that is available to them. After the collection of public opinion if the Government comes to the conclusion, in the light of that public opinion, that this Bill is beneficial to those for whose benefit it is proposed to be enacted, I shall agree to its being passed.

There is another reason also for moving this motion. The ground that this Bill proposes to tread is a very dangerous ground. It is a ground that can be treaded only by those who know the ground. Unless the opinion of eminent jurists, judges of the High Court and other eminent lawyers is obtained, this Bill, instead of being a source of help to the agriculturists, might prove a source of hardship to them. The Honourable Premier who is in charge of the Bill, notwithstanding his great ability and eminence, is after all a layman so far as this Bill is concerned. (Hear, hear.) He cannot claim that knowledge which a lawyer can claim with regard to the usefulness or utility of a Bill of this kind. I do not want to delay this matter. I have said in my motion that opinion should be elicited by a certain date. The Government should extend the period a little further. It is not necessary that this Bill must be passed within the next one or two weeks. The Government will not stand to suffer if the Bill is passed after two or three months nor would those people suffer for whose supposed benefit it is going to be enacted. It may be difficult for the Honourable Ministers to believe that what I am submitting before them is all in earnest. My object is to improve the Bill and make it a really useful measure. By referring to some of the provisions of the Bill I will be able to convince the House how necessary it is to elicit public opinion with regard to various provisions of this Bill. Clause 2 (e) defines the maximum rate of interest in regard to secured debts and in regard to unsecured debts. What is necessary is to ascertain whether the maximum rates mentioned in this Bill will serve the economic requirements of the people who shall have to borrow from time to time. If the Government is satisfied that it will meet the economic requirements of the agriculturists, I shall have no objection. If instead of fixing the maximum rate of interest at seven and a half per centum per annum and twelve and a half per centum per annum in regard to secured and unsecured debts respectively, you are going to reduce it still further, I shall be a willing party to that. The point to be ascertained during the course of eliciting public opinion will be whether at such rates of interest people will be coming forward to advance loans to those people who will be in need of borrowing money from time to time. In this clause seven and a half per cent or two per cent over the bank rate is mentioned. I am at a loss to understand how it will be possible for any money-lender—whether agriculturist or otherwise—living in a village to know this. You are imposing an impossible task upon the people who may have to advance loans. You should see whether a provision like that can be useful. I need not say much about clause 3 but I want to say something about clause which runs as follows :—

4. (1) For the present subsection (2) of section 13, the following shall be substituted :—

“(2) Every debt owned to a single creditor, of which no such statement has been submitted to the Board in compliance with the provisions of subsection

(1) shall be deemed to be discharged for all purposes and all occasions against such creditor; and every debt owed to two or more creditors jointly, of which such a statement or statements signed by all such creditors has or have not been so submitted, shall be deemed to be so discharged against all such creditors whether or not each individual creditor has submitted the required statement: Provided that no such debt shall be deemed to be discharged against any creditors whose names have not been included in the application made under section 9."

I want that the debt that is owed by the agriculturists of this province should be considerably reduced. I shall have no objection to a certain portion of the agricultural debt being reduced by means of legislation.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I would request the honourable member to be brief.

Lala Duni Chand : I have no desire to be otherwise. What does this clause lay down? If there is a single creditor who has not furnished the statement, his claim for all time to come shall be considered as having been discharged. There may be cases in which a single creditor may not be able to furnish the statement within the stipulated time. There may be cases in which all the creditors may not be in a position to file a joint statement regarding their claim. The penalty that you are going to impose upon them that if for any reason—as there can be a thousand and one reasons—a single creditor is unable to furnish a statement or more than one creditor are unable to furnish a statement jointly or severally, the claim will be considered as discharged, is too drastic. There is a perfectly honest way of doing things. The peasantry of this province is heavily indebted and we should come to their rescue and we should reduce their indebtedness to a certain extent. On the one side there is a machinery set up by the Government for the settlement of their debts and on the other, they are making a provision that if for any reason the creditor is unable to appear in the court the debt will be wiped out. I hope that no person in fairness would allow this. There is also a provision that if these conditions are not complied with, the debt shall stand wiped out.

Then, Sir, I come to sub-clause (2) of this clause. It says:—

If the creditor or any of the joint creditors fails without sufficient cause to be present at any of the hearings fixed by the Board, or fails to produce full particulars and documents as required under subsection (1) of section 14, the debt due to him or to the joint creditors shall be deemed for all purposes and all occasions to have been fully discharged.

It means that if a single creditor or all the creditors or any of the joint creditors fail to be present on the date fixed by the conciliation board, then their debts shall stand discharged. Will the Government guarantee that no creditor should fall ill and no creditor should leave his place or none of the joint creditors should fall ill or should not have any reason not to be present? There can be so many reasons for a man not to be present in the court. We know every day in the courts that all the plaintiffs and all the defendants do not appear in courts. In good many cases there are variety of reasons for the plaintiffs and defendants not to appear. Suppose in the case of a Hindu joint family there are a number of creditors and one or two creditors do not appear, then that shall render the whole claim liable for dismissal. I ask, is there any sense in it? Certain conditions can be laid down as they are laid down in the Civil Procedure Code, that is, if a plaintiff does not appear, his case shall be dismissed in default.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member is not in order in discussing the details of the Bill.

Lala Duni Chand : I am pointing out the seriousness of the provision and in the light of it I submit before the House that it is highly necessary and desirable that this Bill should be circulated for eliciting public opinion. I am not dealing with minor details. I am pointing out the serious defects of the Bill and in the light of serious defects I want to induce the House to consent to the sending of this Bill for eliciting public opinion. I suppose that I have explained myself satisfactorily.

Now, I will invite the attention of the House to clause 5. It says :—

If a creditor or debtor, as the case may be, challenges the genuineness of any claim included in an application, the Board shall adjudicate upon the issue. The decision of the board under this section shall be final, and shall not be open to dispute in a civil court.

I invite the attention of the House to the import of this clause as to what it means. The underlying principle of this Bill is that if parties want to have their disputes settled by the conciliation board, they shall be at liberty to do so. The Bill does not impose any principle of compulsion. The Relief of Indebtedness Act, 1934, lays down that if two parties agree to a settlement arrived at through the intervention of the panchayat, then that agreement will be given effect to and if they refuse to abide by the proposed settlement, then in that case they will be at liberty to go to a civil court and have their claims settled. What does this clause lay down? It lays down that if the panchayat has adjudicated upon the genuineness of the claim, it will not be open to any civil court to go into that question. It is opposed to the very fundamental basis and the very fundamental principle of the Relief of Indebtedness Act. If the Relief of Indebtedness Act, which this Bill proposes to amend, lays down that the genuineness of the claim shall be gone into by the panchayats, then I can understand that the Bill does not lay down or does not introduce the principle of compulsion into legislation. It is doubtful to me whether it will be competent for this House to enact a clause like this. Suits of large amounts can be sent to the panchayats and can be settled through the machinery of the panchayats. Now, we know that it is a fundamental right of every party to have their disputes settled and decided one way or the other by regularly constituted judicial tribunals. It is ununderstandable why that fundamental right of litigants is taken away? Will the conciliation board be as competent as a subordinate judge of the first class, or the district judge or the High Court? The law implies that litigants should have a right to have their disputes settled by a judicial tribunal.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member is again entering into the details of the Bill.

Lala Duni Chand : I am pointing out the extraordinary nature of clause 5. I do not know whether it has been framed in ignorance of what it implies or what it means. My submission is that a provision of this kind is unthinkable that any responsible Government should introduce. There is a conciliation board, say consisting of 3 or 4 ordinary men and there is a claim of say Rs. 5,000 or 10,000 and the parties go to the panchayat. One party says that the claim is not genuine or the document is a forged one. Then these 3 or 4 men go into the question and give a judgment that the claim is not genuine and the document is forged. Then parties are precluded from going to a civil court after that. Would any principle or rule of justice or jurisprudence known to mankind justify a thing like that? I submit that it is a thing which should not be tolerated. Let us have the opinion of the Judges of the Honourable High Court, and see whether they would approve such a machinery to settle the dispute of litigants regarding their claims. So much about clause 5.

Premier (Urdu) : I would request the honourable member not to go into the details of the Bill at this stage.

Lala Duni Chand : With every respect to the Honourable Premier I want to say that if he goes into the provisions of this Bill with the help of some lawyers of his own choice, then he will find out that there are anomalies in this Bill.

At this stage the Assembly adjourned till 12 noon on Monday, 11th December, 1939.

PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

SIXTH SESSION OF THE FIRST PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Monday, 11th December, 1939.

The Assembly met at the Assembly Chamber, Lahore, at 12 noon of the clock, but for want of quorum it adjourned and re-assembled at 12-10 p.m. Mr. Speaker in the Chair.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

DESTRUCTION OF CROPS BY ODES IN LUDHIANA AND FEROZEPUR DISTRICTS.

5608. Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : With reference to the reply to starred question No. 4800,¹ dated the 28th March, 1939, will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to lay on the table of the House the report of the committee appointed to examine the Odes problem and suggest any feasible solution of this problem ;

(b) the action, if any, to be taken by the Government on the report ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : (a) The report has not yet been presented. A reference has recently been received from the honourable members who were asked to deal with the matter, stating that they have collected much material but that they find it difficult to prepare a complete report without a census being made of the Odes and their animals. The question whether an attempt should be made to carry out a rapid census, or whether the honourable members concerned should be asked to prepare as good a report as they can without accurate figures is now under consideration.

(b) Does not arise.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know from the Parliamentary Secretary whether he is aware or not that in reply to my own question the figures for the census of the Odes were given on the floor of this House ? I am informed that there were 20,000 Muslim Odes, 12,000 Hindu Odes and 756 Sikh Odes. Was that information not quite sufficient for the honourable members who were appointed for the purpose of preparing the report ?

Minister : The position is that the census figures quoted are not final in this case. Sometimes their numbers are more and at other times they are less. What the President of the Committee has asked us to do is to take the census of the Odes at a particular time when they are all in British territory.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Did he not make enquiries in all the quarters in which the Odes reside ?

Minister : But that does not give the number of the Odes. He has to examine other problems. The question whether he should be asked to prepare a report without accurate figures is under the consideration of Government.

Sardar Hari Singh : Sir, the Honourable Minister is not facing the Chair. He is facing the other side.

Minister : I am addressing the Chair, but I have the liberty of facing any way I like.

Sardar Hari Singh : May I, on a point of order, ask, through you, the Honourable Minister whether he is in a theatre hall or in an Assembly Chamber ? (Laughter.) He says he can face any way.

Mr. Speaker : Does the honourable member think that 'facing' and 'addressing' are synonymous ?

Sardar Hari Singh : He is not answering questions. He is acting. (Laughter.)

Premier : There are still people in some parts of India, in the south who have to face the wall when they talk to people of a higher standing.

Minister : I do not think that it is essential that one should face the Chair.

Mr. Speaker : Ordinarily when an honourable member addresses the Chair, he faces it too ; but it is not necessary to do so, as one addresses the Chair by words and not by face. He may face all sides, and yet he may be addressing the Chair.

Sardar Hari Singh (with his back towards the Chair) : Would you like me addressing you like this ? (Laughter.)

Mr. Speaker : When the honourable member acts, as he says, I shall see. (Laughter.)

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : We want that the answer should be audible to the whole House and not only to one section of it, and that would be done best if he faces the Speaker.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member while addressing the Chair, may face this way or that way ; but he should face the House in such a way that all present may be able to hear him.

Minister : But there is another consideration. When one is making a reply, the primary object is to make the reply audible to the honourable the questioner—and the House.

Mr. Speaker : The House includes the questioner.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The Minister should be audible to the whole House.

Mr. Speaker : Yes. The Minister should be audible to the whole House and not only to the questioner. Therefore, the best course for the Minister is to face the Speaker.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Will the committee constituted for the purpose have to wait for the next census of the province ?

Minister : The committee have asked for a special census and if the Government decides to have a special census, then it will be undertaken shortly.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : Do I understand that the reply given on the floor of this House previously by the Government benches was wrong ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : I want to know whether the figures supplied to me already were correct or not.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member may satisfy himself.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know whether there are any motives on the part of the members of the committee ?

Minister : No motives can be attributed. The members of the committee represent all sections of this House and the committee is considering a particular matter. There are absolutely no motives committed with the census figures.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know how many days have been spent on the enquiry entrusted to the Odes Committee ?

Minister : If the honourable member gives notice of a fresh question the number of days and hours will be stated in the reply.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know as to how much money has been spent on this committee ?

Minister : If you give fresh notice, an answer to that question will also be supplied.

Lala Duni Chand : Am I to understand that the Honourable Minister is absolutely ignorant of these matters ?

Mr. Speaker : When the Honourable Minister has told the honourable member that he requires a fresh notice, the question should not be asked without giving notice.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know in what towns and parts of the province have the members of the committee been travelling to solve this problem ?

Minister : If the honourable member gives notice, the tour programme of the committee will be communicated to him.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know whether the committee travel in those parts only where the Odes reside or whether they travel in other parts of the province also ?

Minister : I think they travelled where the Ode problem exists and not where it does not exist.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know as to when the report of the committee is expected to be published ?

Minister : As early as possible.

RATE OF FINE CHARGED IN CATTLE POUND AT NAGROTA SOBIAH, DISTRICT KANGRA.

5635. Lala Bhagat Ram Choda : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) whether he is aware of the fact that in the cattle pound at Nagrota Sorian, tahsil Dera Gopipur, district Kangra, a fine of Re. 1 per day per cow and a fine of Rs. 2 per day per buffalo is charged from the owners of the cattle impounded for trespass ;
- (b) whether he is also aware of the fact that in other cattle pounds in the same district the fine is charged at half the rates, and if so, the reasons for the difference in the rates in the same district and the action, if any, that the Government is prepared to take in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Shaikh Faiz Muhammad) : I regret the reply to the question is not yet ready.

REMISSION OF LAND REVENUE GRANTED IN LUDHIANA DISTRICT.

5660. Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of villages in each tahsil of the Ludhiana district where crops failed this year on account of want of rain ;
- (b) the remission, if any, granted by the Government to the proprietors of any such villages ;
- (c) the amount remitted to each proprietor in these villages ;
- (d) the area under cultivation of each of such villages during the last and the present year ;
- (e) whether any of such villages were inspected by the Collector, the Revenue Assistant and the tahsildar of the tahsil ;
- (f) what was the criterion for granting remission of land revenue to the inhabitants of these villages ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) The crops did not fail in any village in rabi 1939. Information regarding kharif 1939 will be available only after the results of the girdawari are known.

(b) to (f) Do not arise in regard to rabi 1939. As regards kharif 1939, nothing can be said at this stage in view of the reply to part (a).

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Is it a fact that these girdawari records are submitted to the Collector by the 15th of April and the 15th of November each year ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The reports do not reach the Government before the middle of December.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Has Government received any report from the Collector recommending a remission of land revenue on the basis of this girdawari.

Parliamentary Secretary : If the honourable member gives me fresh notice of that question, I will answer him.

FAILURE OF COTTON CROP IN CERTAIN VILLAGES IN MULTAN DISTRICT.

5683. Sardar Ajit Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state whether it is a fact that cotton crop of 289-F quality has failed in the Jahania, Khanewal and Mian Chanun ilagas of the Multan district, especially in the Chaks of 117-10-R., 188/10-R., tahsil Khanewal ; if so, what action does the Government propose to take in the matter to afford relief to the zamindars concerned ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : Special girdawari is in progress : and until the results are received I cannot specify the extent of failure of any particular variety or any action that could be taken for the purposes of relief.

FAILURE OF COTTON CROPS IN KASSOWAL, DISTRICT MONTGOMERY.

5684. Sardar Ajit Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state whether the cotton crop in the Kassowal ilaga, especially of Chak No. 4/14-L., district Montgomery, has failed due to a serious attack of tela ; if so, what measures does the Government propose to take to afford relief to the zamindars of this ilaga ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : The crops are being inspected with a view to ascertain the extent of damage. The question of relief will be considered in due course according to rules after the reports are received.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : May I know whether any report from the officers has been received by the Government about the damage of the cotton crops so far ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No, not as far as I know.

REMISSION OF LAND REVENUE AND WATER RATES TO FEROZEPUR DISTRICT.

5685. Pir Akbar Ali : Will the Honourable Minister of Revenue be pleased to state—

(a) whether it is a fact that in the Ferozepore district kharif barani crops have totally failed ;

[Pir Akbar Ali.]

(b) that the following nahri crops have also failed owing to tela ;

- (1) gowara owing to tela ;
- (2) cotton owing to tela ;
- (3) jowar owing to red worm ;
- (4) chari owing to tela ;
- (5) makki owing to tela.

(c) if the answer to (a) and (b) above be in the affirmative, whether any steps have been taken to give remission of land revenue for crops mentioned in (a) and water rates and revenue for those mentioned in (b) ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) It is a fact that the barani kharif crops have been damaged in most parts of the district.

(b) The damage to chari, makki and gawara is not appreciable. Jowar has been adversely affected in some places, but on the whole its yield is normal. Cotton has been affected in parts of the Fazilka tahsil only. The general condition of the nahri crops in the district as a whole is average.

(c) The question of relief will be considered in due course according to rules after the results of the gi dawari are known.

DAMAGE TO WHEAT CROPS IN MULTAN AND MONTGOMERY DISTRICTS.

5716. Sardar Ajit Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Revenue be pleased to state—

- (a) whether he has recently received representations from the zamindars of the Montgomery and Multan districts regarding the damage to wheat crop of 1938-39 due to a severe attack of kungi in the months of April, May, 1939 ;
- (b) whether any investigation has been made by the canal and revenue authorities into the matter ; if so, what recommendations did they make to Government after making inquiries into the matter ;
- (c) whether Government intends to grant any remission to the sufferers in these districts ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan) : (a) Representations were received from the zamindars of the Montgomery district. There was no damage by kungi in the Multan district.

(b) and (c). Do not arise in regard to Multan. As regards Montgomery the recommendations made were not exactly in accordance with rules. Special investigation was necessary. It is hoped to issue orders very shortly.

AMOUNT OF DEBT ADVANCED BY CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES IN AMBALA DIVISION TO THEIR MEMBERS.

4869. Chaudhri Sahib Ram : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

- (a) district-wise total amount of debt up-to-date advanced by the co-operative societies to their members in the Ambala division ;
- (b) realizations made on this account (i) through civil process and (ii) otherwise since 1st April, 1937 ;
- (c) the decisions of the Government ; if any, to deal with the debtors as mentioned in (a) who are unable to pay and their number district-wise in respect of the Ambala division ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Chaudhri Tikka Ram) : A statement is laid on the table.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is the statement so long that the Parliamentary Secretary cannot read it ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It is fairly long, but I can read it.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : With reference to part (b), may I ask the Parliamentary Secretary what are those processes other than civil processes through which realizations have been made ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is the Parliamentary Secretary aware that realization is also made by declaring the societies to have gone in liquidation, and then realize debt under joint responsibility from those who do not actually owe debts.

Parliamentary Secretary : It is extremely rare.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is the Parliamentary Secretary aware of the fact that a large number of societies have been declared to have gone in liquidation in Rohtak and Karnal districts ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Has the Government received a published notice to the effect that in Rohtak and Karnal districts realizations are being made by compulsion ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No, I have not received a copy of it.

Khan Sahib Chaudhri Sahib Dad Khan : May I know how many D class societies are in Hissar district ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I require notice for this question.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Is the Government aware that the people of that ilaga have paid their debt by selling their articles, cattle and even daughters as written in this poster which I have got in my hand.

Parliamentary Secretary : No.

Amount of debt advanced by Co-operative Societies in Ambala Division to their members.

Serial No.	District	(a)	(b)	(c)
		District-wise total amount of debt up-to-date advanced by Co-operative Societies to their members.	Realizations made on this account— (i) through civil process, and (ii) otherwise from 1st April, 1937.	The decisions of the Government, if any, to deal with the debtors as mentioned in (a) who are unable to pay and their number district-wise.
			Rs.
1	Gurgaon ..	Rs. 28,83,482 on 31st January, 1939.	(i) 21,141 (ii) 3,66,218	Government has no direct control over the operations of Co-operative Societies and no direct responsibility for their debts. The Co-operative Department does, of course, attempt to guide societies in this and other matters along general lines of policy. The policy pursued in this matter of debts due to the societies is to advise societies, when the financial condition of their debtors requires it, to make the utmost concession that the state of their own reserves and the interest of their own creditors allow; at the same time it is vital to avoid doing anything which may impair the general moral sense of obligation to repay debts upon which ultimately the co-operative credit movement rests. Where debtors are absolutely unable to pay, it is clearly impossible for societies to make any recoveries from them. The information as to number of debtors, who are unable to pay is not available.

MONEY ADVANCED AND REALIZED BY CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES IN HISSAR DISTRICT.

4914. Chaudhri Sahib Ram : Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state the amount of money realized and advanced as loan to the zamindars in the Hissar district by the co-operative societies in the district from 1st April, 1938, to 31st March, 1939 ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Chaudhri Tikka Ram) : Figures for the period from 1st April, 1938, to 31st March, 1939, are not readily available as the co-operative year ends on 31st July. Figures for the co-operative year from 1st August, 1937, to 31st July, 1938, are as under:—

	Rs.
Amount realized	1,10,956
Amount advanced	1,02,568

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know which amount of money was greater between the amount realized and advanced as loan during the famine?

Parliamentary Secretary : The difference is very small. It is almost negligible.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Has the Government issued instructions to the societies to show leniency in connection with the realization of money in the famine-stricken area.

Parliamentary Secretary : It is a request for action.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Has the Government decreased the interest?

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes, certainly.

DEATH OF COWS IN GOVERNMENT CATTLE FARM DAIRY, HISSAR.

4961. Munshi Hari Lal : Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state whether it is a fact that some cows died suddenly in Government Cattle Farm Dairy, Hissar, very recently; if so, how many have died and what was the cause of their death?

Parliamentary Secretary (Chaudhri Tikka Ram) : The honourable member is referred to the answer given to question No. *4897¹ during the present session.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know if the amount of loss sustained by the death of these cows is much greater?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know what punishment has been given to the man concerned due to whose negligence cows have died?

Parliamentary Secretary : I require notice for this question.

INDO-BRITISH TRADE AGREEMENT.

4969. Munshi Hari Lal : Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state whether the Punjab Government was consulted by the Central Government in the matter of the Indo-British Trade Agreement; if so, whether the Government will be pleased to place on the table of the House the correspondence, if any, that may have passed between the Punjab Government and the Central Government on this subject?

Parliamentary Secretary (Chaudhri Tikka Ram) : The present Government was not consulted. The pre-autonomy Government was consulted in 1936; but it is contrary to normal practice to make public any confidential communications which may have passed between a provincial Government and the Central Government.

GENERAL INSANITARY CONDITION OF RAJA SANSI IN AMRITSAR DISTRICT.

5032. Maulvi Mazhar Ali Azhar : Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state whether any officers of the Department of Rural Reconstruction have so far visited the town of Raja Sansi in the Amritsar district and noticed the general insanitary condition of the town and the dilapidated condition of the roads and streets in and outside the abadi ; if so, what steps have so far been taken or are proposed to be taken to improve the condition of this important town in the district and if not, the reasons therefor ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Chaudhri Tikka Ram) : First part.—There is no such department as the department of Rural Reconstruction, the main duty of the Commissioner being to co-ordinate and advise existing departments. The Commissioner does not remember whether he or any of his assistants ever visited Raja Sansi but the officers of the Public Health and the Revenue Departments have, however, visited it.

Second part.—They endeavoured to persuade the inhabitants to join in improving its sanitary condition, but owing to lack of response no joint effort was possible. There is a Sanitary Committee appointed under District Board regulations, but this is inactive.

Third part.—The Government cannot compel villagers to improve the sanitation of their village, but can only use the methods of advice and persuasion.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Is the Parliamentary Secretary aware that the inhabitants of the said village requested the Government to establish a municipal committee ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I require notice for this question.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Is the Government aware that Raghbir Singh, Rais of Raja Sansi, interferes in the establishment of a municipal committee ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am not aware of it.

FOREST FIRES.

5067. Sardar Hari Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state—

(a) the number and particulars of forest fires that occurred in the Punjab since 1st April, 1939 ;

(b) extent of damage to life and property, etc., caused by the said fires ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Chaudhri Tikka Ram) : (a) 215 fires occurred in the Punjab forests since 1st April, 1939, affecting an area of 17,690 acres.

(b) There has been no damage to life. Besides damage to undergrowth and Deodar, Kail and Chil regeneration, about 808 trees and 2,500 sleepers (of a trader) were burnt and 902 trees were scorched. There has been damage to 12,877 resin blazes. Outhouses of rest-house and a forest guard's hut in Kangra division were also destroyed.

Sardar Hari Singh : May I know the estimated value of the damaged property? Have the Government estimated the value?

Parliamentary Secretary : No.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Is the Government prepared to go into the causes of these fires?

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes, if the honourable member gives notice of the question.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Is the Government aware that these fires occur owing to the fact that the Government has not taken care to take the zamindars into confidence as far as forests are concerned?

Parliamentary Secretary : No.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : Is the Government aware that these fires take place because the present regulations of the Forest Department are very stringent for the zamindars?

Parliamentary Secretary : No.

AGMARK GHEE.

5189. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of varieties of the Egg Ghee for the sale of which the Government have granted licences so far ;
- (b) the considerations for granting the same ;
- (c) the tests or guarantees provided against the adulteration of the Egg Ghee ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Chaudhri Tikka Ram) : No commodity under the title "Egg Ghee" is on sale in this province. If the honourable member means the "AGMARK" ghee which is graded and marked under the Agricultural Produce (Grading and Marking) Act, 1937, the following information is supplied :—

- (a) Four qualities of ghee are recognized for purposes of grading. These are :—
 - (i) Cow.
 - (ii) Buffalo.
 - (iii) Special.
 - (iv) General.

In the Punjab "General" quality ghee is not being graded at present as the standards which have been prescribed for it do not conform to the standards laid down for ghee under the Punjab Pure Food Act (1929). The other three qualities are, however, being graded in the Punjab.

- (b) The principal considerations are that applicants for licence should be parties fully conversant with the trade in ghee and of financial status satisfactory to meet the obligations of the scheme.

[Chaudhri Tikka Ram.]

- (e) Prior to packing for sale ghee is tested by seven prescribed and well recognized scientific tests, both as to its physical and chemical constituents and on the basis of the results of these tests it is graded into different qualities given under (a) above. Each grade of ghee is separately packed and labelled, different coloured labels being assigned to them. These packages are then put on the market in a sealed condition. All labels used on the packages bear the "Agmark" seal of the Agricultural Marketing Adviser and they are also serially numbered. Stringent penalties are prescribed for false labelling, adulteration and misuse of labels on the part of the license holders. Officers of the Marketing Section of the Punjab Agricultural Department make frequent checks at these grading stations with a view to see that the above requirements are observed.

Officers of the Marketing Section also inspect the godowns of the dealers in "AGMARK" ghee and take random samples for the purpose of test and check. These samples are sent to the Central Ghee Control Laboratory, Cawnpore, where they are tested and the results compared with the analysis recorded previously by the license holders at the time of packing. If discrepancies are noticed between the two results and samples are found to be adulterated immediate action is taken by way of suspending the licence.

"AGMARK" Ghee Grading Stations are also open to inspection by some selected officers of the Agricultural, Veterinary, Public Health and Co-operative Departments.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know who is the licensing authority or authorities in a district ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice.

Lala Duni Chand : A part of the questions asked was what considerations are kept in view in granting licences ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have given a fairly detailed reply to it.

Lala Duni Chand : I have not been able to understand.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know which department is concerned with the grant of licences ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The Agricultural Adviser to the Government of India is concerned with it.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Does the Government grant licences on its own initiatives or on applications made ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Is it not the duty of the Parliamentary Secretary to know these little things ? Is he really so ignorant ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

AGMARK GHEE.

5274. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state—

- (a) the number of varieties of the Egg Ghee for which the Government or their officers have granted licences so far in the province ;
- (b) the number of licences granted in the Punjab and the considerations which prevailed in granting the same ;
- (c) the tests or guarantees provided against the adulteration of the Egg Ghee ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Chaudhri Tikka Ram) : The honourable member is referred to the answer given to question No. *5189 (above). As regards first part of (b) eight licences have been granted up to this time.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Are these licences for any special area or for the whole of the province ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : How is it you want notice for everything ?

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the Parliamentary Secretary is in a position to state what is the minimum and what is the maximum income that the grantee of a licence is expected to make every month or every year ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I cannot say anything without notice.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the idea of patronage or favour is altogether absent from the mind of those who are given this power of granting licences ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Lala Duni Chand : Is it not true that the general feeling in the Punjab is that these licences are granted only to those people whom the Government or authorities want to favour ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Parliamentary Secretary please state whether there is any fee for licences ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice.

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : What sort of questions is he prepared to answer without notice ?

Lala Duni Chand : Is any security taken from those to whom licences are granted in order to ensure that they will discharge their duties satisfactorily ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice.

Khan Sahib Khawaja Ghulam Samad : May I know the names of the districts in which licences for Agmark ghee have been issued so far ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I want notice.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED IN THE DISTRICT POLITICAL CONFERENCE,
MULTAN, HELD AT KHANEWAL.

5336. Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state whether the attention of his Government has been drawn to a number of resolutions passed in the District Political Conference, Multan, held at Khanewal on 2nd and 3rd September, 1939, in which he and other members of his Cabinet have been urged to take steps to ameliorate the condition of the agriculturists in the said district ; if so, what action has been taken or is intended to be taken in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : Government are aware of the resolutions passed in the so-called District Political Conference of the Multan district held at Khanewal, on the 2nd and 3rd of September, 1939. Government continue to take all possible steps to ameliorate the conditions of all agriculturists, but I must observe that some of the resolutions passed in this gathering were not altogether likely to achieve that object. Further, Government are entitled to draw their own conclusions as to the claim of this conference to speak for the agriculturists in Multan from the nature of some of the speeches made and some of the resolutions passed.

Lala Duni Chand : May I know if the Government takes notice of all resolutions only for the purpose of starting prosecutions and not for carrying them out ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Munshi Hari Lal : May I know how many resolutions were passed in the conference ?

Parliamentary Secretary : If the honourable member gives me notice I will give him the number of resolutions. I have seen them and carefully examined them.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : How many people were arrested ?

Munshi Hari Lal : May I know if the Government started prosecutions after this conference was over and how many prosecutions were instituted in connection with this conference ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I beg to submit that that question does not arise out of this question.

Munshi Hari Lal : It arises out of the question, what action has been taken or is intended to be taken ? Was not this action taken against those who participated or moved these resolutions ?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Has the report of the Criminal Investigation Department about this conference come to the notice of the Government ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Not only the report of the Criminal Investigation Department but other reports also have come to the notice of the Government.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Have all the resolutions come to the notice of the Government ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Yes, Sir.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : What has the so-called Government done about them ?

Parliamentary Secretary : There is no such thing as a so-called Government. In the Punjab the Government is functioning effectively.

Sardar Partab Singh : What other reports have reached the Government which the Secretary has mentioned ? Will the Parliamentary Secretary kindly give particulars of other reports ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I have also the report of the Deputy Commissioner and I have the report of a certain gentleman as well with me who happened to be present.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether the Deputy Commissioner was present in the conference for taking down the report ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Munshi Hari Lal : Is it a fact that one resolution out of so many passed at Khanewal related to the introduction of rifle training in Government and non-Government schools ?

Parliamentary Secretary : There was one resolution more or less of that type but there were certain other resolutions and I do not wish to be drawn into a discussion of war resolutions because some of the resolutions would be uncompromising to certain members of the House in the Opposition ?

Munshi Hari Lal : Was there any resolution relating to the introduction of rifle training in Government and non-Government schools ? This is a specific question.

Parliamentary Secretary : My information is that it was not with regard to rifle training but with regard to military training.

Munshi Hari Lal : What difference does the Government make between rifle training and military training ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Sardar Partab Singh : What steps has the Government taken to implement that resolution passed in that conference ? What steps have been taken for carrying out that resolution ?

REPRESENTATION OF PRESS WORKERS' UNION, LAHORE (REGD.).

5347. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state whether he has recently received any representation from the Press Workers' Union, Lahore (Regd.) putting forth their demands and suggestions ; if so, the action proposed to be taken in the matter ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Chaudhri Tikka Ram) : Yes, a representation has been received. The matter is under consideration.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : For how long should I wait to get this answer ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No time can be specified.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE PRESS WORKERS' UNION, LAHORE (REGD.).

5348. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state whether he received any communication from the Press Workers' Union, Lahore (Regd.) some time back inquiring into the reasons why the Manohar Press, the Commercial Press, F. W. Co. (Printers) and the Aneja Press, Lahore, have not been registered as factories under Factories Act ; if so, the action taken thereon ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Chaudhri Tikka Ram) : Yes, but the communication did not mention the Aneja Press, Lahore. The Commercial Press and F. W. Co. have since been registered under the Indian Factories Act. The Manohar Press has not been registered as inquiries show that it employs less than twenty workers.

2. The Aneja Press is employing less than twenty workers and therefore has not been registered.

RULES REGARDING GIVING OF NOTICES OF DEBT CONCILIATION BOARDS AND LAW COURTS TO NEWSPAPERS.

5426. Master Kabul Singh : Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state the rules according to which notices of the Debt Conciliation Boards and law courts are given to newspapers at present and are proposed to be given in future ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Chaudhri Tikka Ram) : Regarding the publication of the notices of Debt Conciliation Boards, the honourable member is referred to the answer to the question No. *5245.¹ The Civil

(Chaudhri Tikka Ram.)

Courts, subordinate to the High Court of Judicature at Lahore, follow such instructions for the purpose of publishing their court notices as the High Court may be pleased to give them from time to time. These instructions and such advice as the Punjab Government may give the High Court in this connection are confidential and cannot be disclosed.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether the Government keeps an approved list of such papers to which notices are given by conciliation boards for publication ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The answer has already been given in reply to the original question.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know as to who prepares the list ?

Parliamentary Secretary : All these questions were originally put and elaborate answers were given.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether there is one list of newspapers for all the conciliatory boards or separate lists are prepared for separate conciliatory boards ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I cannot give any further information than has already been given in reply to the original question.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Parliamentary Secretary kindly read out that answer ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether the chairman of the board or any department of Government determines the rate of advertisements ?

Parliamentary Secretary : Generally tenders are invited from the newspapers and then the chairman determines the rates of advertisements.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Has the Government determined the maximum rates of such notices ?

Parliamentary Secretary : No.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know whether any chairman of a conciliation board has sanctioned excessive rates to any newspaper ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : May I know which department gives the notices of revenue and criminal courts to newspapers ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : It does arise out of this question. It is stated in the question : " the rules according to which notices of the debt conciliation boards and law courts are given to newspapers". In view of this may I know which department gives notices of criminal and revenue courts to newspapers and whether any approved list of such newspapers is kept by Government ?

Parliamentary Secretary : This question does not relate to the Development Department.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : Will the Parliamentary Secretary be pleased to state whether such an important newspaper as "The Hariana Tilak" was ever given such notices?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I ask the honourable member to repeat his question?

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : May I know whether such an important newspaper like "the Hariana Tilak" has ever been supplied with an advertisement?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know whether the Parliamentary Secretary knows that "the Hariana Tilak" has been stopped because of the orders of the Government?

Pandit Bhagat Ram Sharma : On a point of order. I want to ask whether it is open to any member of the Government to say that the question does not refer to any particular department of which that honourable member is in charge?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : On a point of order. It is stated in the question : "Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state the rules according to which notices of Debt Conciliation Boards and law courts are given to newspapers at present and are proposed to be given in future?" Now, Sir, the Parliamentary Secretary has given a reply about the notices of the conciliation boards and about the other part of the question he has stated that that part of the question does not relate to his department. I wanted to know which department issued notices of revenue and criminal courts for publication but no answer has been given. May I know whether the Parliamentary Secretary can refuse to reply the question on the plea that it does not relate to his department?

Mr. Speaker : Under the rules in force, a question can be addressed only to an Honourable Minister or any other honourable member concerned with its subject matter.

SECOND VETERINARY HOSPITAL IN JAGADHRI TAHSIL.

5454. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state if the question of establishing a second veterinary hospital in Jagadhri tahsil, Ambala district, has ever been considered by the Government; if so, with what result?

Parliamentary Secretary (Chaudhri Tikka Ram) : No, the matter has never been referred to Government.

VETERINARY HOSPITALS IN JHANG DISTRICT.

5468. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

- (a) the total number of veterinary hospitals in Jhang district at present;
- (b) the amount of contribution out of the Special Development Fund for opening veterinary hospitals and for providing other veterinary facilities for the Jhang district;
- (c) the steps which Government proposes to take to provide more veterinary facilities for the area lying between the rivers Jhelum and Chenab in the Jhang district;

[Mr. Dev Raj Sethi.]

- (d) whether it has been brought to his notice that the officer in charge of the District Veterinary Hospital, Maghiana, is over-worked ; if so, reasons why no assistant has been given to him so far ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Chaudhri Tikka Ram) : (a) Ten.

(b) The following amounts have so far been spent out of the Special Development Fund on providing veterinary facilities in the district :—

1938-39.

	Rs.
(i) 4 Veterinary First Aid Centres started at a cost of Rs. 100 each	400
(ii) 2 one-day cattle shows held and the prizes awarded therein	298
(iii) 10 foot baths constructed at Rs. 25 each ..	250
(iv) Sheep shearing demonstrations ..	15
Total ..	963

1939-40.

	Rs.
(i) First Aid Centres	400
(ii) One-day cattle shows	300
(iii) Equipment of outlying dispensaries ..	375
Total ..	1,075

Besides, a sum of Rs. 400 is expected to be allotted to the district for the construction of foot baths during the year 1939-40.

(c) The question of opening more veterinary hospitals in the said area is under correspondence between the Superintendent, Civil Veterinary Department, Multan and the Chairman, District Board, Jhang.

(d) One reserve Veterinary Assistant was posted at the Veterinary Hospital, Jhang, but on account of famine conditions in the Ambala Division he had to be withdrawn for duty in that area. A reserve Veterinary Assistant will be posted again at this hospital, as soon as the additional staff at present employed on famine duty in the Ambala division is relieved.

LITERARY GRANTS OF LAND TO EDUCATED UNEMPLOYED.

5490. Khan Haibat Khan Daha : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

- (a) if investigations have been carried out to find the number of educated unemployed in the province ; if so, what it is ;

- (b) the total number of 'literary' grants of land awarded to the educated unemployed?

Parliamentary Secretary (Chaudhri Tikka Ram): (a) An inquiry was attempted by the Punjab Unemployment Committee to find out the number of educated unemployed in the Punjab. In spite of the fact that all possible efforts were made to register all unemployed educated persons, the Committee felt that not more than 50 per cent of such persons had cared to enlist themselves. The total number of such persons was roughly estimated by the Committee at 1,50,000.

- (b) 162.

DEBT DISCHARGED BY JHANG DEBT CONCILIATION BOARD.

5515. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi: Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state—

- (a) the total number and amount of such debts as were held to be discharged by the Jhang Debt Conciliation Board for the failure of the creditors to appear or submit a written statement of debts under section 18 of the Act;
- (b) the number of cases in which actual service through postal notices (acknowledgment due) was effected as provided by rules on those creditors whose debts were held to be discharged by the board for failure to appear and consequent non-submission of written statement of debts?

Parliamentary Secretary (Chaudhri Tikka Ram): (a) and (b) The information is not readily available and the amount of labour and time involved in its collection would not be commensurate with the results obtained.

DEBT CONCILIATION BOARDS OF JHANG AND CHINIOT TAHSILS.

5516. Mr. Dev Raj Sethi: Will the Honourable Minister for Development be pleased to state—

- (a) since when the Debt Conciliation Boards of the Jhang and Chiniot tahsils, district Jhang, are working;
- (b) the total amount of debts claimed by the creditors through the said boards;
- (c) the amount of debt settled by the said boards;
- (d) the total number of applications filed and those still pending before the boards;
- (e) the amount involved in the pending applications;
- (f) the amount of money paid to the members of the conciliation boards and their establishments;

(Mr. Dev Raj Sethi.)

(g) the number of sittings of the boards since 1st April, 1989 ;

(h) whether it is a fact that the Deputy Commissioner, Jhang, has recommended to the Government to dissolve the boards ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Chaudhri Tikka Ram): (a) Debt Conciliation Board, Jhang,—20th September, 1985. Debt Conciliation Board, Chiniot,—15th August, 1988.

(b) Rs. 2,72,82,968.

(c) Rs. 77,77,426.

(d) Applications filed—12,028.

Applications pending—2,865.

(e) Rs. 29,08,716.

(f) Rs. 52,920.

(g) Debt Conciliation Board, Jhang—142 sittings.

Debt Conciliation Board, Chiniot—164 sittings.

(h) No.

RURAL DEVELOPMENT WORK IN RAWALPINDI TAHSIL.

5531. Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state—

(a) the amount of money allotted to Rawalpindi tahsil for the rural development last year ;

(b) the amount so far spent out of that money ;

(c) the nature of the works upon which the amount has been spent and the nature of the work under contemplation of the local authorities, to be executed out of the remaining sum, if any ;

(d) whether it is a fact that very little work regarding the sanitation of the villages has been done, if so, the reasons for the same ;

(e) the manner in which it is proposed to spend the remaining money in connexion with the sanitation and water-supply of the villages of the tahsil ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Chaudhri Tikka Ram): (a), (b) and (c) A statement is laid on the table.

(d) According to the adopted programme, works mentioned in column 4 against serial No. 3 of the statement laid on the table were only to be carried out and this is being done ;

(e) the remaining money is to be spent on the schemes for which the grant was originally meant.

Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : Will the Parliamentary Secretary please name those villages where sanitation was done ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I cannot give the names of those villages. The names of tahsils are given in the statement.

Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : In the statement the number of tahsils is given. May I know the reasons why he is unable to give the names of those villages ?

Parliamentary Secretary : The amount spent is given departmentally.

Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : The statement shows the allotment made to the Rawalpindi tahsil. May I know from the Parliamentary Secretary the names of those villages ?

Parliamentary Secretary : I am not in a position to give the names of villages without notice.

Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : May I take it that it is only a bogus statement ?

Mr. Speaker : Disallowed.

(Mr. Speaker called Shaikh Karamat Ali to put the next question.)

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : What about my question No. *5541 ?

Mr. Speaker : It is postponed.

Mian Sultan Mahmud Hotiana : But I was not informed. May I put it now ?

Mr. Speaker : Our rule 22 (ii) runs as follows :—

In case the answer to a question is not ready before the sitting of the Assembly immediately following the expiry of the period of notice, the Speaker may on such intimation by the Minister concerned extend the time for answering the question, and if the question is on the list of questions it shall not be called on that day.

UPLIFT WORK IN ZAFARWAL IN THE SIALKOT DISTRICT.

5553. Shaikh Karamat Ali : Will the Honourable Minister of Development be pleased to state whether any rural uplift work is at present going on in the Sialkot district ; if so, whether Zafarwal town is included in the programme of uplift work proceeding at present in the said district particularly so far as improvement in the sanitation of the town is concerned ?

Parliamentary Secretary (Chaudhri Tikka Ram) : First part.—Yes.

Second part.—The uplift work is being carried out in rural areas only. Zafarwal town being a Small Town Committee it is not included in the programme of uplift work.

SHORT NOTICE QUESTION AND ANSWER.

Mr. Speaker : Short notice question.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : The Assembly met at 12-10. So the question hour must go up to 1-10.
1 P.M.

Mr. Speaker : There was no quorum at 12 and therefore I had to adjourn the House for 10 minutes. But the day's business began at 12 noon.

DEATH OF SOHAN LAL BY POLICE TORTURE.

Sardar Harjab Singh : Will the Honourable Premier be pleased to state—

(a) whether Sohan of village Chitara, tahsil Una, district Hoshiarpur, was summoned as a suspect in a theft case in last week of September ;

(b) whether he died on 23rd September while in the custody of the police and if so, what was the cause of his death ?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : The death of Sohan Lal (who was, as indicated in the question a suspect in a house-breaking case under investigation by the Police of the Una station) has been the subject of a magisterial enquiry under section 176.

of the Code of Criminal Procedure. The magistrate has given his opinion that Sohan Lal was subjected to some form of torture immediately before his death and that the main responsibility rests with the head constable who was investigating the house-breaking case. This head constable and another lower subordinate of the police station were suspended some time ago by the Superintendent of Police, and departmental proceedings against them will shortly begin.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : May I know whether it is only the departmental action that will be taken or whether they will be sent to a court for trial also ?

Minister : It depends upon the evidence. If there is sufficient evidence, probably the case will be registered.

UNSTARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

NUMBER OF STUDENTS IN GOVERNMENT SCHOOLS IN RUPAR AND KHARAR TAHSILS.

971. Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Will the Hon'ble Minister of Education be pleased to lay on the table of the House a statement containing the number of students receiving education class-wise from infant to 10th class in all Government schools in the Rupar and Kharar tahsils separately for each of the years ending with 31st March, 1916, 1921, 1922 and 1923 ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : I regret I am unable to reply to the question as any benefit likely to be derived from the supply of the desired information will not be commensurate with the time and labour involved in the collection thereof.

TIMINGS FOR INTERVIEWS WITH TOWN PLANNER.

972. Chaudhri Ali Akbar : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state—

- (a) Whether the Town Planner at Lahore has fixed days and hours for visitors ; if so, on what days and at what time public can have an interview with him ;
- (b) Whether he interviews the visitors himself or sends out junior clerks to interview them on his behalf ;
- (c) if the reply to part (b) is in the affirmative, whether Government intends to take any action against this officer ?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : (a) Visitors to the Town Planner's office are seen by appointment and also on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, between 2 and 3 p.m.

(b) No visitors are interviewed by junior clerks on behalf of the Town Planner.

(Minister for Public Works.)

Visitors who call in connection with town planning negotiations are interviewed personally by the Town Planner, whilst those who call in connection with municipal building applications are referred to the Municipal Chief Building Surveyor who has been appointed to deal with such cases.

(c) Does not arise.

DISPOSAL OF REVISED PLANS FOR BUILDINGS BY TOWN PLANNER.

973. Chaudhri Ali Akbar : Will the Honourable Minister for Public Works be pleased to state whether it is a fact that no time limit is fixed for the disposal by the Town Planner of revised plans of buildings and for the disposal of appeals against orders rejecting the building plans as is fixed in the disposal of new building plans ; if so, whether in the interest of public, it is intended to fix some time limit in the disposal of revised plans and appeals ?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : It is not understood what the honourable member means by suggesting that a time limit be fixed for the disposal by the Town Planner of revised building plans. Under section 193 of the Municipal Act a Committee is required to pass orders on a building application within a prescribed period and consultation with the Town Planner, who is an adviser of the Committee, does not affect this time limit.

The appeals are heard as expeditiously as possible with due regard to other work to be done by the appellate authorities. Government do not propose to fix any time limit.

974. Cancelled.

EXTENSION TO DISTRICT ENGINEER, DISTRICT BOARD, GURDASPUR.

975. Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Will the Honourable Minister of Public Works be pleased to state whether it is a fact that District Engineer of District Board, Gurdaspur, has been granted extension of service twice by the Chairman of the said District Board against the protest of some of the members of that Board ; if so, the reasons therefor ?

The Honourable Nawabzada Major Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana : The extensions have been granted by the Board itself and not by the Chairman. The latter part of the question, therefore, does not arise.

CLOSING OF THE HINDU AND ARYA SCHOOLS FOR WANT OF RECOGNITION.

976. Lala Duni Chand : Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state the number of Hindu and Arya schools in the Province division-wise that had to be closed during the period from April, 1937, up to the present time on account of the refusal of the Educational authorities to grant them recognition and also the number of schools opened by other communities which had to be closed for the same reasons and during the same period ?

The Honourable Mian Abdul Haye : A statement giving the required information is laid on the table.

Statement showing the number of schools closed on account of the refusal of Educational Authorities to grant them recognition.

ADJOURNMENT MOTION.

REDUCTION IN FAMINE RELIEF WORKS.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the all-round reduction in the Famine Relief Works and measures in Hissar district in face of the worse famine conditions now prevalent there, as is clear from the answers given to starred question No. 5492¹, and to the supplementaries on it.

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): Sir, I object to this adjournment motion being admitted mainly on the ground of urgency.

Mr. Speaker: May I ask in what respect and to what extent is the administrative responsibility of the Government involved?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma (Urdu): Sir, the famine has assumed more dangerous proportions but Government have decreased the relief measures. People are starving and dying. The Government should show greater responsibility, but what is it doing? It has brought about an all-round reduction in relief measures. You may say that this matter ought to have been brought to the notice of the House earlier. I wanted first to receive Government's answer and get information, so that you may not say that we have no information and corroboration. The Government has told us in answer to questions that whereas there were 81 test works in the famine area previously now there are only 13. A question was put about cotton centres and a strange answer was given to that question. We were told that cotton is not available. The Honourable Minister said that we should get him the requisite quantity of cotton. Then we have been told that in June there was rain, so reduction in relief measures was justified, but what are the conditions after June? Is not the district a famine-stricken area? It was admitted in answer to supplementaries that the number of labourers has been reduced to one-fifth of the previous figure. It is strange that recently money was asked for by way of supplementary demands for cotton centres and it was stated that the number of centres was simply reduced, but in answer to our supplementary questions we were told that now not a single cotton centre exists.

This is a most urgent matter of public importance.

Mr. Speaker: Is the Famine Code in force in the Punjab?

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma: The most pathetic thing is this. According to the Famine Code the labourers working on the test works should get wages sufficient to bring them 18 chhataks of corn. I beg to draw your attention to the relevant provision in the Famine Code where the wage of a digger is mentioned as 18 chhataks. Now, at present 18 chhataks of corn sells at two annas but the labourers employed at the Government test works are given six pice each in Hissar and seven pice each in Rohtak. My point is that the Government is not giving even as much as has been provided in the Famine Code.

Mr. Speaker: Was not a Supplementary demand put before the House?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava: Yes, there was a supplementary demand.

Mr. Speaker: Why was this matter not discussed then?

Parliamentary Secretary (Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan): Sir, my first objection is that the matter is not urgent.

Mr. Speaker: Let us first take up the question of Famine Code.

Parliamentary Secretary: In the first instance, this adjournment motion is mainly based on the reply given to a question. The question was whether the number of relief works has been reduced and the answer was that the number of relief works at present is 30. It was also stated in that reply that this number was reduced in July, that is about four months ago. Sir, this was not a fresh announcement made by the Government or any information given to the honourable member which he did not possess before. As a matter of fact, Government issues famine bulletins almost every month. A bulletin was published in the papers and also by the Director of Information Bureau on the 15th July containing this information that the number of relief works is now 30 instead of 32.

[Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan.]

Mr. Speaker : Was the bulletin circulated to honourable members ?

Parliamentary Secretary : It was published by the Information Bureau. My submission is that the honourable member who belongs to these districts naturally knew that the number of relief works had been reduced. Therefore if the honourable members wanted to criticise the Government, they should have brought forward a resolution. I would submit that there are so many things going on in the province and if adjournment motions are going to be based on the replies to questions asked, then there will be no end to the adjournment motions. I can quite understand the position if Government makes a fresh announcement which the public did not know. The number of relief works had been reduced from 32 to 30 in July and this has been the case for the last five months. The honourable member did not have an opportunity to bring this question before the House except by means of an adjournment motion. An adjournment motion can only be given notice of if a thing suddenly happens and it is a matter of urgency, is of public importance and is of recent occurrence. The thing happened in July. May I further submit that the number of relief works was not reduced under the orders of the Government or under anybody's orders. As a matter of fact, the number of relief works depends on the number of labourers who attend the relief works. The number of labourers was very much reduced ; no people came to the works. Therefore the Government had to reduce the number of relief works. The second point raised is about cotton. I have said that some spinning centres have already started. Some more will be started now because cotton is now available. Government did not want to stop any spinning centres.

Mr. Speaker : But I did not ask about spinning centres.

Parliamentary Secretary : So far as wages are concerned they are being paid in accordance with the Famine Code (Opposition benches : Certainly not). They were paid six pice : now they are paid 7 pice ; and if the prices go up naturally their wages will increase strictly in accordance with the rules laid down in the Famine Code. As a matter of fact the misunderstanding has arisen because Government was paying higher wages in the beginning than they were required to do under the Famine Code.

Mr. Speaker : But as they paid higher wages, the Government's administrative responsibility was involved.

Parliamentary Secretary : They were reduced strictly in accordance with the Famine Code. What they were paying was strictly in accordance with the rates prescribed in the Famine Code.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Sir, objection has been taken to the adjournment motion on the ground of urgency.

Mr. Speaker : Please restrict your answer to the question whether Government was paying wages according to the Famine Code.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Three objections have been raised and if you will permit me I would like to reply to all the three of them. First, let me take the question of wages under the Famine Code. If you will look at page 48 of the Famine Code you will find—

139. The principle of the wage scale is that the famine wage should be the lowest amount sufficient to maintain healthy persons in health. Persons who are not in health when they come on the works should be treated specially, within the terms of this Code.

140. The following wage scale shall be adopted on all public works :—

Class.	WAGES IN CHHITAKS (1 CHHITAK = 2 OUNCES).
	Male.	Female.
Special—Mates and special gangu	One pice more than Class I.
Class I—Diggers	18	18
Class II—Carriers	14	14
Class III—Working children	10	10
Class IV—Adult dependents and rest-day wage ..	12	10
Class V—Non-working children—
Over 10, but under 14 years	8	8
Over 7, but under 10 years	6	6
Under 7 years, but not in arms	4	4
Children in arms	One pice extra to the mother, or 3 chhitaks.

NOTE.—If cooked food is given the price of the ration, including the allowance of salt, oil, condiments, etc., should equal the price of the wage given in the above table.

141. (a) The scale of wages given in the preceding section can be altered only by the Local Government or by the Famine Commissioner, if such has been appointed under section 68 of this Code, specially empowered by the Government of India in this behalf. The circumstances under which an enhanced scale of wages may be required would include the following :—When the physical condition of the people has so deteriorated that a more liberal diet is required ; when severe cold calls for a larger supply of food ; when owing to variations in the market prices the ordinary wage is insufficient to procure the proper proportion of oil, condiments, vegetables, etc. It may be assumed that out of a full wage of 18 chhitaks the worker should purchase 11 chhitaks of grain, and oil, condiments, vegetables, etc., with the price of the remaining 7 chhitaks of his wage. On the other hand a reduction in the wage scale is necessary in the case of workers on non-departmental village works, or may be required at the end of a famine, or if a demand for labour has arisen and the able-bodied relief workers remain on the works without necessity. In no case shall the full wage of a digger be raised so as to exceed 20 chhitaks, or reduced to less than 15 chhitaks, the wages of the other classes, or of such of them as may be considered necessary, being altered proportionately.

[Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava.]

(b) On private works, whether aided or unaided, the persons undertaking the work shall make their own terms with the labourers.

When the power of altering the wage is exercised, it should take the form of a direction that the wages in the pice-wage table shall be increased or lowered by so many pice, and not that the grain-wage or allowance shall be altered by so many chhitaks.

142. Wages shall be paid in cash unless the Local Government otherwise directs.

143. The basis of conversion shall be the price prevailing in the nearest bazar of the cheapest grain in common use, not flour, but grain cleaned for sale. The price basis shall be fixed by the Commissioner, and shall not be altered on account of small variations in market prices. But, to meet sudden and sharp oscillations in market prices, the Deputy Commissioner shall have power to alter the basis within a limit of 20 per cent, reporting his action by telegram to the Commissioner.

I have read out these relevant rules from the Famine Code. You will find that ordinarily when a man is healthy, the wages allowed to him to keep him in good health should be 18 chhitaks. There is a ready-reckoner showing maximum relief wages and allowances in pice. You will find the statement on page 46 of the Famine Code. You will see that for 18 lb. the man should get 8 pice as wages and not less.

The price of grain when they gave two annas was much higher. It was 24 lb. at that time. Now it is 18 lb. They gave two annas at that time probably because.....

Premier : Are we discussing the merits of the motion ?

Mr. Speaker : I simply wanted to satisfy myself as to the administrative responsibility of Government, that is to say, whether Government was acting against the provisions of the Famine Code.

Premier : Government is not acting against the Famine Code. As a matter of fact it was acting against the provisions of the Code in giving higher rates.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : No Sir, I beg to submit that the wages which are being given to people are not according to the Famine Code, specially because the people are weaker than they were last year and consequently they require more food and more wages. At the same time because they are weak in health, they are exposed more to the cold this year than they were during the last year. They have no clothes at all. If they are to live, they need more and nourishing food.

It was stated at the time of the discussion of the supplementary grants that spinning centres had been reduced, but in reply to the supplementary questions on Thursday it was stated that there were no spinning centres at the time the information was collected. In reply to a further supplementary question, the Honourable Minister was pleased to say that there was no money. I want to prove that they have got the money. The Assembly sanctioned Rs. 50,000 as far as spinning centres are concerned. If you look at the supplementary demand, you will see that Rs. 1,05,000 was demanded from us while the estimated demand was Rs. 1,55,000. It is obvious that Rs. 50,000 out of that demand was for the spinning centres.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member need not go into such details.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I am replying to the objection that has been put forward. The objection should not have been entertained but when once it has been entertained we should be given opportunity to reply to the objection.

Then I want to reply as to the question of urgency. It is argued that the matter is not urgent. I would have understood the arguments of the honourable Parliamentary Secretary if he had stated that the question is not recent. He said that they made an announcement in July and we are bringing forward an adjournment motion now. There could have been no objection against the urgency of the matter, but its being recent is a different affair. As far the urgency, the matter is so urgent that I must invite the attention of the Government and of the House to the fact that lakhs of people are dying of hunger. (Interruptions). Therefore it cannot be that the matter is not urgent and no objection is valid on that ground. The matter is really very urgent and nothing could be more urgent than this.

Premier : The honourable member in the heat of the moment has stated that lakhs of people are dying of famine. I can assure the House that not a single person has died of starvation.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I can prove that people have died of starvation and of starvation diseases. (Interruptions).

Mr. Speaker : I request the honourable members of the House to exercise restraint. Certain facts have been stated by Pandit Shri Ram Sharma in support of his motion. But all these facts have been contradicted by the Government members. Therefore, if I allow the motion, one side will contradict the other and there the discussion shall end. According to parliamentary practice an adjournment motion must not be based on an uncorroborated report. In this case where is the corroboration beyond the honourable member's statement?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The facts cannot be denied. In fact they have been admitted by the other side.

An Honourable Member : Entirely wrong.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The adjournment motion is based on the replies given by the Government.

Minister for Revenue : When the question is discussed, then we will prove that your information is not correct.

Mr. Speaker : I understand that the supplementary estimate about famine was under discussion for a long time and that it was not guillotined.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : These facts were not known then.

Mr. Speaker : What happened then was that the Opposition, including the honourable member who has now given notice of the adjournment motion, discussed inefficiency of the staff controlling the famine. I regret to say that under these circumstances, I am unable to allow the motion.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The reply, which has been given now by the Government, was not given when that particular demand was under discussion.

Mr. Speaker : What will happen if I allow the motion? Some members will make certain statements from one side while they will be denied by some members of the other side. What is, therefore, the use of wasting the time of the House?

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : What is an adjournment motion meant for? What we say, the Government always denies. We have not "manufactured" the facts, but we are basing the motion on the facts given by the Government itself.

Is it or is it not a fact that the Government has said that labour has been decreased, that there were no spinning centres, that cotton was not available and all that? Are these not the statements made by my honourable friends opposite? They have themselves admitted all these things and these are in the official records of the proceedings of the House.

Mr. Speaker : The annual budget which will be discussed before long will afford ample opportunity to discuss the matter.

RELIEF OF INDEBTEDNESS (AMENDMENT) BILL.

Mr. Speaker : The Assembly will now resume discussion on the motion that the Punjab Relief of Indebtedness (Amendment) Bill be circulated for eliciting public opinion.

Lala Duni Chand (Ambala and Simla, General, Rural) : Sir, while dealing with clause 5 just before the Assembly adjourned on Friday, I was submitting to the House that the basic principle of the relief of the Indebtedness Act of 1934 was option and not compulsion. It was unjust and uncalled for to empower the conciliation boards to decide once for all as to the genuineness of the claim made and thereby rob the civil courts of the jurisdiction that the Relief of Indebtedness Act confers upon them. The Punjab Relief of Indebtedness Act deals with large amounts of claims. The members of the conciliation boards are empowered under clause 5 of the amending Bill to decide that a certain claim—may be for Rs. 5,000 or Rs. 10,000—is not genuine and after that the civil courts will be precluded from going into the matter. This is contrary to the very principle of the Act.

Then I do not say anything in regard to clauses 6 and 7. Coming to clause 8 it says—

After the figure "25" at the beginning of section 25, the figure and brackets "(1)" shall be inserted.

The following shall be added as subsection (2) :—

"(2) When any execution proceeding pending before a civil court is suspended under subsection (1), and any animal has been attached and made over to a supaddar in connection with such proceeding, the animal shall be returned to the judgment debtor and the attachment shall cease to have effect for such time as the proceeding remains suspended; but the judgment-debtor shall not be competent to sell or in any way part with the ownership of any animal so attached during the suspension of such proceeding."

I have already submitted that I shall welcome any concessions that are made to the agriculturist judgment-debtor. The clause says that after the execution proceedings are suspended then in that case the property under attachment shall be returned to the judgment-debtor. But there is no provision to say what will be the result if the judgment-debtor refuses to return the property attached. I can well understand if there had been some provision to the effect that if the judgment-debtor refuses to return the property attached that has been given to him, he shall be liable to some legal action. The clause is absolutely silent on that point. I fail to understand why there is no provision to the effect that if the judgment-debtor fails to return, he shall be liable to pay the loss.

Then there is clause 9 which runs as follows :—

For sub-section (2) of section 30, the following subsection shall be substituted :—

“(2) In any suit brought after the fifteenth day of October, 1939, against a debtor as defined in section 7 for the recovery of a loan, no court shall pass a decree for a larger sum than twice the amount of the sum actually advanced.

I understand this clause is supposed to give effect to the doctrine of the Hindu Law, Damdapat. But I ask the honourable Minister in charge to have a look at any commentary on Hindu law and he will at once see that this clause offends against the principle laid down in the Hindu Law. It means that if a man has advanced Rs. 500 knowing that he will not expect the money back say within 20 or 25 years and he believes that the man to whom he is advancing money is an honest man, he would pay sometime, he will not be entitled, under this clause, to recover more than Rs. 1,000. I ask you whether if a man makes a deposit in any bank even at the bank rate which is after all the smallest rate of interest, after 20 or 25 years the amount with interest will be much more than the amount originally deposited. My contention is that if it were the doctrine of Hindu Law I would have no objection, but the Hindu Law does not say so. Damdapat does not mean that if a certain sum has been advanced at one time the lender even after 50 years cannot recover more than twice the amount originally advanced. I therefore submit that this clause offends against the Hindu Law on which it is based. According to the Hindu Law, Damdapat means that if a certain sum is advanced originally and interest accrues on it, that interest from time to time becomes a part of the principal. It is that principal that is regarded as the amount advanced and if a claim is brought for the recovery of the original sum, it will also include the interest that becomes a part of the principal. This is Hindu Law. Then I invite the attention of the House to clause 10.

Mr. Speaker : At this stage the honourable member should not discuss the Bill clause by clause.

Lala Duni Chand : I am inviting the attention of the House to certain drastic provisions of this amending Bill. I submit that in view of the drastic nature of these provisions, it is only fair and just that this Bill should be circulated for eliciting public opinion particularly of the Honourable High Court. The Honourable Speaker was not present when I advanced this argument. What I want is that opinion should be obtained from the Honourable High Court and from judicial officers and Bar Associations and different bodies of persons affected by this Bill. I am trying to point out that some of the provisions of the Bill besides being unjust are quite uncalled for and some of the provisions are radically wrong. I am not however, discussing each and every provision of the Bill. I was dealing with clause 10. I want to draw the attention of the House to one point. My point is this: let the milch cow be exempted from attachment. I have no objection to that. But what I want is that if Government goes out to protect the agriculturists to that extent, is it not the duty of the Government to make some law for meeting the requirements of the non-agriculturists? I submit it can be done only in two ways. Let the Government establish a money-lending portfolio. Let some kinsman of Chaudhri Chhotu Ram be placed in charge of the money-lending department. I have no objection. Let the Government take responsibility. If the Government wants to deprive the needy people, borrowers, from the possibilities of raising any loan whether big or small, in that case it is the duty of the Government to make some arrangements. In other provinces and in other countries, there are what are called land mortgage banks. The object of these banks is to advance money to agriculturists on the security of their landed property.

[Lala Duni Chand.]

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Is it any use discussing the Bill because neither the Minister in charge of the Bill nor the Minister in charge of the department is present here?

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : The Honourable Premier has left me here to take notes.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : And no Minister need be present?

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : It is not necessary under parliamentary conventions.

Lala Duni Chand : My objection is that the Government is trying its level best to destroy the entire credit system without which no society can possibly exist. At the same time Government is not making any provision to meet the requirements or the needs of these agriculturists whom the Government wants to protect. I submit it will create extraordinary state of affairs if the Government goes on with this policy. If the Government allows the "haves" and the "have-nots" to live in the same place and the Government is unable to adjust the economic relations of the borrowers and the lenders, the result will be violence and bloodshed. I can well understand that the Government is resourceful enough to make some provision. The Government denies any kind of protection to the agriculturist. Then I come to clause 11. It reads—

In section 37 for the words "may at its discretion disallow the whole or any part of the sum claimed by the plaintiff" the following shall be substituted—

"shall disallow the whole claim with costs".

The section as it exists in the Relief of Indebtedness Act lays down that if a money-lender enters more in his books than he advanced, for that malpractice his claim shall be liable to be dismissed wholly or partly by the court. Now what does this clause lay down? Supposing a man has advanced 99 instead of 100 and he makes an excess entry of only one rupee. Then this clause lays down that if it is proved that instead of advancing one hundred rupees, he only advanced Rs. 99, the court shall have no discretion left in the matter and that it shall be obligatory for the court to dismiss it. Take the case of a man who has entered one thousand rupees but has only advanced Rs. 999. No system of jurisprudence, no system of law can allow a provision of this kind that the whole of this money advanced should be lost. Now I come to clause 12. It is a very important one. Clause 12 creates a new kind of offence. I venture to submit that the object intended to be served by clause 12 is already served by section 193 of the Indian Penal Code. Section 193, Indian Penal Code, says that if any body fabricates false evidence, he shall be liable to imprisonment which may extend to three years or in certain cases to seven years. Now, what does this clause say? It says—

After section 37, the following new section shall be inserted :—

38 (1) If any party to a suit for the recovery of a loan uses in such suit any document in which he is aware that there is any statement or entry relating to such loan which is false in any material particular he shall on conviction be punished with imprisonment of either description which may extend to three months or with a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees or with both.

I submit I am at a loss to understand the necessity of the addition of this clause in the presence of section 193 of the Indian Penal Code. Let the Government make a law, I have no objection. I do not hold any brief for the money-lenders, I admit that I condemn them as strongly as the Honourable Premier will, if they are in any way unjust. But the question is whether it is not a fact known to all people that when the borrowers appear in courts they also resort to all sorts of false receipts and documents. We have seen in a number of cases that false receipts and documents are produced against the claim of the defendant. I submit that that is the experience of many lawyers who practise in courts. I can well understand if a similar provision was made against the borrowers who are guilty of similar misbehaviour or malpractice such as forgery or false evidence and so on. But there is no such provision. On the other hand if a creditor happens to make a wrong entry of Rs. 5 by oversight, he is liable not only to get his suit dismissed but he is also liable to be prosecuted under clause 12. There is nothing whether in the principle of law or in the principle of justice, to justify this action. I submit that in the Indian Penal Code there is ample provision—

Mr. Speaker : That is repetition.

Lala Duni Chand : But now I was not going to refer to section 193. I was about to refer to other sections of the Indian Penal Code which can meet cases of this kind. I was just going to refer to them when you interrupted. I may assure you that I am not going to refer to section 193 once again.

This is all that I should like to say with regard to the drastic provisions of the Bill. I do not propose to say anything further about them. But I should like to say one word and it is this. Government is under the wrong impression that by enacting laws of this kind Government can help the agriculturists. I may tell the Ministerial Party that we are more anxious than they to help the agriculturists. My contention is that the physicians who are sitting on the ministerial benches do not know what remedy there is which they can provide. The remedy they propose instead of curing the disease will only aggravate it. They are now in a position to be told "Physician, heal thyself." The honourable member who has brought forward this legislation is not a lawyer and so he is not in a position to judge the remedy. But he does not want to consult the High Court. If he consults, the verdict of the High Court will be that he is not the right type of physician to heal this disease and that if he persists in this kind of treatment, things will grow from bad to worse and the Punjab will have to face a situation which it is difficult to prophesy now. With these words I commend my motion to the House.

Mr. Speaker : Motion under consideration, amendment moved—

That the Punjab Relief of Indebtedness (Amendment) Bill be circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon by the 31st December, 1939.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi (Lyallpur and Jhang, General, Rural) (Urdu) : Sir, at the very outset of my speech I wish to make it clear that we have not moved this circulation motion with a view to use dilatory tactics against the enactment of this measure. On the other hand, our object is quite different. Let me make it clear that the Congress Party, to which we have the honour to belong and on whose ticket we have been returned, made it abundantly clear in its manifesto, that one of its aims was to scale down all the rural debts. We are earnestly looking forward to the day when the people who are the backbone of the province are relieved of the curse of indebtedness. In the circumstances it is against our principle that we should use dilatory tactics against Bills which are introduced with a view to scale down the debts of the rural people. However I may submit that there are certain facts which we have to take into consideration before proceeding with this Bill. It is a matter of common knowledge that according to the Central Banking Committee report of 1929 the amount of rural debts was 185 crores of rupees. Now this figure has jumped to 200 crores of rupees and daily it is piling up. In addition I may also point out that the harvest which a cultivator produces after six months of hard labour finds its way into the houses of other individuals and the poor fellow who did all the toils has to go home empty handed. Actually it does happen that no sooner the cultivator gathers his crop the landlord appears with a danda under his armpit and demands more than half the crop as his share. Then the tahsildar appears on the scene and demands Government's share by way of land revenue. Last but not the least the sahukar goes to him and demands his pound of flesh out of the rest of his produce in lieu of his debts. Consequently the poor cultivator has to go almost empty handed to his house. Now I may point out that even if the rate of interest as provided in the Bill be fixed at seven and a half per cent or even less than that, even then the burden of interest which 2 crores of kisans have to pay from their pockets is enormous. Calculated at the minimum average rate of $7\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, the total interest will amount to 15 crores. (Interruptions.) I am of the opinion that even if we carry out the amendments sought to be introduced by the proposed measure we will not be able to do much good to the kisans of this province. It is really very unfortunate that although as compared with other provinces of India Punjab is better off, yet the conditions prevailing here are such that Punjabi kisans are head over heels in debt. I may also point out for the information of the honourable members that according to the Banking Inquiry Committee's Report Madras as a whole was leading in the matter of indebtedness. But if we take into consideration incidence of debt per capita we would find that the Punjab is leading other provinces. Now it is high time that we should do something to relieve the cultivators of their huge debts as soon as possible. In this respect I may point out that when the Punjab Relief of Indebtedness Bill was introduced in the Punjab Legislative Council in the year 1934 it was circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon because of its importance. If we study the proceedings of that year we would find that circulation of the measure referred to above resulted in immense benefit. Many sessions judges, district judges, and deputy commissioners expressed their opinions about that Bill. Valuable opinion of such eminent persons as the Honourable Judges of the High Court were obtained and quoted on the floor of the House and are included in this big volume. At that time it was clear beyond all doubt that the circulation of that Act resulted in much good, and in the light of the opinions thus expressed amendments were carried in the Bill referred to above. After that the Act was passed and enforced. Now we see that that Act had been in force in the Punjab for the last five years. We have now to see what experience we have gained within five years and whether the suffering rural people have got any real relief by virtue of that Act or not? In view of that experience we will see whether and in what manner we should further amend the said Act. Besides, I may also point out that when the Bill referred to above was circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon, there were many kinds of commentators. Some of them were of the opinion that the provisions of that Act did not go far enough and there were others who openly expressed their apprehensions about the working of that measure. Those persons who entertained apprehensions about the working of the measure included amongst them high officers of the Government. One of those officers, Mr. King, the then Deputy Commissioner of Rawalpindi district, expressed his fears about the working of that Act. The Sessions Judge, Ambala, went to the length of saying that the Bill "embodies neither sense, policy nor justice. It is intrinsically unworkable, morally inequitable and juristically an outrage." I do not agree with this opinion.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is not quite relevant.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : I was submitting, Sir, that we should view the Bill in the light of those comments which are received after circulation. I do not object to the rates of interest that have been proposed in this Bill. I would not object even if those rates are further scaled down.

Mr. Speaker : Repetition.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Another objection against the Bill is that the Government have thereby sought to mete out a step-motherly treatment to some creditors. For instance, they have exempted the Imperial Bank and certain other banking companies from the purview of this Bill. I admit that the Indian Negotiable Instruments Act may be an obstacle in the way. But why should the co-operative societies be exempted, is more than I can understand. It is an admitted fact that the poor kisans and other landholders are steeped in debt and something must be done to relieve them. They take loans from the co-operative societies to pay land revenue and other Government dues. Is it not strange that while a set of creditors are being subjected to the provisions of this Bill, a certain set of other creditors and especially co-operative societies are being exempted from its application.

Another very important thing to which I want to draw the attention of the House is the following part of the statement of objects and reasons appended to this Bill :—

A number of defects in it have come to notice particularly in regard to power and procedure of debt conciliation boards.

Now I would submit, Sir, that when the proposal of debt conciliation boards was first made public, the present Chief Secretary of the Punjab

[Mr. Dev Raj Sethi.]

Government who was at that time the Commissioner of Multan division had expressed his opinion about that proposal. I would like to quote that opinion here.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : I would again rise to a point of order in view of the ruling you have already given. The honourable member is not in order in referring to opinions given on the original Bill by certain officers.

Sardar Hari Singh : Why not? Under what rule?

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : He wants to point out absurdities of amendments. He wants to point out greater absurdities.

Mr. Speaker : Honourable members are presumably aware that at this stage they can discuss the principle of the Bill and its general provisions, but the clauses of the Bill cannot be discussed.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : He is not discussing any particular clause.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Sir, I was going to quote the opinion of Mr. J. D. Penny which runs as follows :—

The danger is that the machinery will be misused.....there is a danger of collusive settlement covering bogus debt under clause 13 calculated to harm the interests of persons who stand out against them.

This was the opinion of our present Chief Secretary five years back. It has now been proved to be true by the actual working of the conciliation boards. All the dangers apprehended by him have materialised cent. per cent. Bogus creditors crop up to help the debtors in the conciliation boards. The Revenue stamps affixed by them on the pronotes are those of 1938 and the debt relates to 1930. Almost 90 per cent. of the creditors produced before the boards by the debtors are declared fictitious in civil courts.

Now an amendment sought to be introduced in the existing Act is to take away those very powers from the civil courts and delegate the same to the conciliation boards who will be full and final judges about the genuineness of the creditors. Certainly this is arming the board with too many powers. This will give a great fillip to fictitious transactions to the great detriment of the genuine creditor. That is one aspect and a very serious one of the question. The complaint is based, not on the experience of a day or a month or a year, but on the experience of several years. Hundreds of bogus creditors turn up in the boards to deprive the real creditors of their dues. That is why I want that the Bill should be circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon, so that the reality about the proposed amendments may be exposed. In the original Act the maximum amount of debts that can be entertained before a conciliation board is fixed at 10 thousand. But in actual practice the conciliation boards have been deciding suits relating to 20 thousand and even more.

Another evil that has been noticed in connection with the working of the conciliation boards is that even applications of the urban debts are entertained by the conciliation boards for adjudication. When two Hindu brothers quarrel with each other, one of them applies to the conciliation board and gets his debts adjudicated. Next comes the question of corruption. Every one is aware of the widespread tales of corruption rampant in the working of the boards. There is hardly a district where the debt conciliation boards are not notorious for corruption.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is irrelevant.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : I am, Sir, discussing the working and procedure of the debt conciliation boards and I cannot be out of order in referring to the corrupt practices of some boards. I may be allowed to point out that a reader in the conciliation board of a certain district has had an illegitimate income of 35 thousand during the last four years.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is not in order.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : My only point is that the conciliation boards already constituted are not doing well and, therefore, they should not be given more powers. I am anxious to see that the boards are purged of their corrupt practices. It is a pity that the powers already entrusted to the boards have not been rightly used by them. Hardly any member of the conciliation boards has any judicial training. Those with a judicial mind are purposely kept at a distance. More than half the members of the boards are not even matriculates. Some of them are retired police officials or pensioners of other departments. In almost all cases they are toadies and henchmen of the Unionist Party. It would be very dangerous to give them more powers by depriving the civil courts of some powers which the latter have been exercising. Moreover, there should be a condition that every member of the board must have certain qualifications without the possession of which he should not be appointed on the conciliation board. (Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : Lawyers alone may be appointed.)

One word more and I have done. The real question before Government ought to be not only the lightening of the burden of the existing debts. The second question is as to how to avoid further indebtedness of the agriculturists. The House is grieved to find that no genuine effort has been made by Government so far to tackle this twofold problem. No attempt worth the name has been made to remove indebtedness permanently from the Punjab. Several committees have made their recommendations one after the other but Government has not attempted to do anything of permanent value. The present Bill which is being pressed by Government in the name of the poor kisans, the starving agriculturists and the poverty-stricken rural population of the Punjab is nothing but an eye-wash. It only aims at shelving the problem. It is no remedy for the temporary or permanent debt. All that is being sought thereby, is to establish a class of henchmen of the Unionist Ministry.

With these words, Sir, I commend the motion for the acceptance of the House, namely, that the Bill be circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon by the 10th of January, 1940.

Parliamentary Secretary (Mir Maqbool Mahmood) : Sir, I think the House will agree that there has been a great deal of discussion with regard to the details of the Bill with which we are not concerned at this stage. It is not claimed that the Bill is not capable of improvement with regard to the drafting of certain sections so far as the Bill is concerned. I submit that at this stage we are concerned with the general provisions of the Bill and to see how far they deserve the support or the disapproval of the House. What are those general provisions? The Honourable Premier in a brief but very exhaustive speech explained the main purpose of this Bill. He said that the working of the original Relief of Indebtedness Act of 1934 had displayed certain defects for which it was necessary to implement that Act and he also said that there were certain other subsidiary questions of equal importance which have been brought in. Now, what does circulation at this stage mean so far as the general provision of this Bill is concerned? It is said originally that there shall be interest at 12 per cent on secured debts and 18½ per cent on unsecured debts. The present Bill provides that in the first case the interest shall be 7½ per cent and in the second case it shall be 12½ per cent. I submit that this is the question which hardly needs any reference to public opinion at this stage. The question of limitation of interest has been under discussion in this House and in various provincial Governments outside this province and they have all laid down a standard. If my honourable friend, Lala Duni Chand, would compare the rates of interest levied there, he will find that it is much higher than is provided under this Bill and that this Bill is better even so far as creditors are concerned.

2 P.M.

The second point is with regard to the general provision that is brought in here. There is a definition of debt given in the original Act and that Act excludes from that definition certain debts which are due to the Imperial Bank or other banks or to co-operative societies. The experience of the working of that Act has shown that certain people, in the course of pendency of application concerning debts, transfer their debts to co-operative societies and other banks and evade the provisions of that Act. Under this Bill such evasion will not be possible and this Bill seeks to stop it.

The third point is with regard to joint debts and about that also section 7 is clear that every debt is intended to be covered by the original Bill. The actual working of that Act and certain judgments have shown that there are some defects when there are joint creditors. The present Bill seeks to meet that lacuna also.

Then there is the question with regard to revision and appeal. Sections 21 and 20 are clear. Since some doubts had been expressed in the interpretation of section 21, the present Bill seeks to remove them by means of this provision. It is clear that it does not debar any person from the provisions of the original Act.

Then, Sir, there is a clause on which my honourable friend, Lala Duni Chand laid great emphasis and that is with regard to the return of animal to the judgment-debtors when the proceeding is suspended. He said that this clause would defeat the legitimate claims of creditors. I beg to invite his attention to the later portion of that clause where it is definitely stated that a judgment-debtor shall not be competent to sell or in any way part with the ownership of any animal so attached during suspension of such proceedings. That is a clause which requires further consideration whether it is necessary or redundant and what would be its legal effect. These are matters of detail which, I can assure my honourable friend, would be considered on their merits when the Bill goes to the select committee.

Then, Sir, we come to the next clause where it is said that in certain cases it should be open to the conciliation board to insist that if a person, after filing his statement, does not appear before the board, the claim shall be considered to be discharged. It is the duty of the Government to see that justice is done. So, that is the provision which no legitimate and fair-minded person should object to. The present position according to the working of the Act by the conciliation board is that in certain cases, due to bad drafting of the original Act, it happens—according to clause 13—that a creditor appears on the first day and files a statement and after that he does not appear before the board under the law. There is no power given to the board to compel his attendance in the interest of justice. That surely is not a matter which requires circulation.

There is one other clause, clause 15-A., as is now proposed, to which objection has also been taken. That clause gives powers to the board in certain cases to decide on merits the genuineness of certain disputed documents. My honourable friend said that this is a novel procedure and it does not find place in any other law of jurisprudence here. Now, Sir, I ask, with due deference to the legal acumen of my honourable friend to refer to the amending Bill of the Central Provinces. He will find that their conciliation boards have been definitely given powers of deciding certain matters. We go even further than that. There he will find that the limit of claims to be settled by conciliation boards is Rs. 5,000 ; while here it is 10,000 and we can extend it still further. There is another provision and that is whether the decision of conciliation boards in such matters should be final. That is a matter surely of detail which would require further consideration of the select committee as to what are the pros and cons with regard to that matter.

I come to the next clause to which objection has also been taken and for which circulation is sought and that is clause 11 of the amending Bill. There it is said that if a person makes an entry in his books recording greater advance of money than was actually advanced, then all of his claims would be liable to be cancelled. I am surprised that a lawyer of the experience of my honourable friend Lala Duni Chand should have come forward and said that such a clause should not be provided. I claim that the Government does not hold any brief for these dishonest creditors and I claim equally that it is the duty of the Government to see that honest money-lenders are not harassed. But surely it does not lie in the mouth of any fair-minded honourable member to say that a person, who forges a document and records more money than actually paid should be given any asylum in this House. I am sure that this proposition will not stand examination.

Now, we come to last clause 12. My honourable friend said that clause 12 suggests a penalty for a forged document and dishonest witness and he said that section 198 of the Penal Code already deals with such cases. Section 198 of the Penal Code does provide that in such cases where a person gives false evidence or fabricates false evidence shall be punished with imprisonment for 7 years and in certain cases for 3 years. We find that that section does not cover all the points and so it was thought necessary to add this clause. Here again I would submit that this question requires further consideration of the select committee to see that all the points which arise in the course of proceedings are covered by section 198 of the Penal Code. These were some main points of attack.

Now, I come to the question of merits. I ask my honourable friend opposite, who has sought circulation of this Bill, where is his love and affection for poor agriculturists or his love for debtors or his love for fair play in the province that on a matter of this nature he has brought in a dilatory motion? His main charge was that we should have opinions from the High Court, that we should have opinions from the deputy commissioners and that we should have opinion from other public. I submit that perhaps he does not know that Government originally drafted an amending Bill with regard to this provision. They circulated it to all the Commissioners, Deputy Commissioners and through the High Court to a few District Judges and Senior Sub-Judges and some leading lawyers; and as a result of their opinion the Bill was amended in certain provisions and is now in its present form put before the House. Therefore this measure has reached a stage when any delay would be playing with the problem and it would be unfair to the interests of debtors of the province. Now I would like to say a few words with regard to the point suggested by my honourable friend Lala Duni Chand. He said that he would like a certain portion of the debts to be reduced. Therefore I submit that in the same generous spirit in which he made that statement he would give his co-operation to make the Bill perfect in its provisions. So far as the principle of the Bill is concerned I am sure that it follows as a corollary to the measures advanced by the Opposition. He made another statement. He said by this measure you are reducing the credit of the cultivators. An old cry. He will forgive me that so far as the opinions of the cultivators are concerned I can claim that we on this side of the House or a majority of members on this side of the House can speak with greater authority than my honourable friend opposite as is clear from the result of bye-elections in several constituencies in which they have lost and we have won. Apart from that he made another suggestion that Government should set up a special portfolio for money-lending and make the Honourable Sir Chhotu Ram in charge of it—a very valuable suggestion. I hope it will not be necessary to set up a machinery to deal with loans but so far as Mortgage Bill is concerned I think that is a matter where many of us feel that necessary omissions will be made as soon as possible and perhaps my honourable friends on the Opposition benches know that the Honourable Premier, when he was on the Reserve Bank, did signal service to the whole of India by making improvements in the rural credit section and I hope that before long something will be done in the province.

I come now to deal with some other points raised by Mr. Dev Raj Sethi. He started by saying that the Congress manifesto stands for the relief of indebtedness of the masses. I claim that with few exceptions the manifesto has not been acted upon so far as their actions are concerned. Surely the object of Mr. Dev Raj Sethi in making the dilatory motion is that a Bill of this nature does not reconcile with the manifesto of the Congress to which he made a reference. I am sorry he is not in his seat. He made a statement with regard to the constitution of these conciliation boards. I am sure in his calmer moments he would realise that such a preposterous statement was not justified. My honourable Leader informs me that the number of applications was increasing and it was greater than when they started in the beginning. That in itself is the best testimony to the needs and the utility of these boards. Apart from that I do not claim that the members of these boards are great lawyers and judges competent to deal with matters which are referred to them. They are primarily of a nature which requires integrity and commonsense. I am sure that reports, both from officials and non-officials support the proposition that they have done very well indeed and deserve the best thanks of the province and of those interested in the good of the province (cheers). It was stated that the claims of the university were not represented on these boards. With due deference to Mr. Singha and others I may point out that in old times we had able men who were mukhtars; but apart from that I would like to refer my honourable friend opposite to the position in the adjoining province where honorary magistrates have been selected not on merits but by a committee wherein the majority of the members belonged to a particular party and those persons who were selected were given magisterial powers (Opposition benches: Where?). In the United Provinces. I am very sorry to refer to the United Provinces Government.

Diwan Chaman Lall : What sort of committee ?

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : There was a special committee appointed for the selection of honorary magistrates wherein there was a majority of members of a particular party.

Mr. Speaker : I do not think it is fair to make disparaging remarks about any other Government.

Diwan Chaman Lall : The Government were in majority there and they made the appointments. You do the same thing here.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : I am very glad my honourable friend has conceded that point. I hope those sitting behind him will support the Government so far as their constitution is concerned.

Diwan Chaman Lall : It is not a question of constitution : it is a question of fact.

Mir Maqbool Mahmood : That question will remain a question of fact when we make some appointments on this side.

I was surprised to find my honourable friend Mr. Dev Raj Sethi making a statement that urban debts should be excluded. I am one of those who feel and I base my statement on substantial evidence, that the time has come when the salutary provisions of the Indebtedness Bill should be extended to all classes as also to the urban areas. I know there are certain arguments advanced from the other side that certain bona fide transactions might be excluded. That is a question that would be considered in the select committee. My honourable friend Sardar Sampuran Singh is not present but when a similar measure, the old Indebtedness Bill, was before the House an amendment was made by my honourable friend to the effect that the trade and commercial interests of the urban areas should not be brought in. There was my stalwart friend who made a speech that he would like urban trade to benefit from the legislation. I hope when we go to the select committee Sardar Sampuran Singh and those who agree with him will vote with us.

[Mir Maqbool Mahmood]

I have been trying so far to refer only to the general provisions of the Bill. I tried to show that so far as the general provisions are concerned we have come forward with a reasonable proposition. I would now repeat what I said that the Bill is certainly capable of improvement in more than one direction and when we go to the select committee we shall welcome suggestions; but I feel that there is urgent necessity of expediting the Bill and there should be none on the reasonable side of the House who would prevent the poorer classes of the province, who have been suffering for a long time under the heavy load of indebtedness, being given effective assistance, for which our Premier is entitled to our gratitude. It is no use bringing in a legislation if you are not prepared to make good any omission. I may assure my honourable friends opposite that we have examined the reports from all the conciliation boards, as well as from independent persons, and it has been found necessary that this measure should be passed. With these words, I submit that there should be no further delay in expediting this Bill and that the time has come when both sides should expedite this Bill.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava (Lahore City, General, Urban) (Urdu): Sir, the Honourable Parliamentary Secretary waxed eloquent that the circulation motion brought forward by the Opposition will not prove beneficial to the zamindars. He has tried his best to convince the House that the Congress does not stand for the help of poor peasantry and that it is only the present Government that is the well-wisher of the zamindars. As regards these remarks I should like to submit that he being an able parliamentarian should not have neglected this fact that we could not have discussed this Bill if we had not adopted this method. We are to see whether the Bill is equitable or not. Had it been published in papers other than the official Gazette, we would have found ample opportunities to invite the attention of the public and the Government towards its main defects.

Now what we can understand from the statement of objects and reasons attached to this Bill and from the speech made by the Honourable Premier while moving this Bill amounts to this much that the Government has considered advisable that some remedy must be found in order to remove the defects in the working of the Punjab Relief of Indebtedness Act. It is these defects in the original Act which Government seek to remove and that is why the Punjab Relief of Indebtedness (Amendment) Bill has been brought forward. One amendment is that the maximum rate of interest that can be allowed should be lowered. Secondly, more powers are going to be invested with the debt conciliation boards for discharging their duties efficiently. We are opposed to it, so far as this matter is concerned. As regards the interest, I am glad that the rate is being lowered to scale down debts. (Cheers from Government benches.) I too believe that this is the only method to scale down debts, but it is not clear whether this restriction is to apply to past debts or to those to be incurred in the future or to both. I am afraid that at the time of conciliation of debts the boards would not permit the payment of interest thereon. Should I take it that in future only the maximum interest will be charged on loans, as has been provided in this Bill? We know that banks had already been excluded from the provisions of the Bill, while the co-operative societies were left untouched at that time; but now the co-operative credit societies are also sought to be exempted. The Government justify themselves by saying that a clause to this effect has been provided after keeping the working of co-operative societies in view. In this connection I should like to read out a few lines from the Report recently submitted by Mr. F. B. Wace, Officer on Special Duty in the Co-operative Department, for your kind consideration. He says in paragraph 110 which I think is quite relevant to the matter under discussion :—

110. It is, I think, unnecessary to put forward any elaborate justification for the special treatment of Co-operative Credit Societies under such legislation and indeed special treatment has already been accorded in some respects. It is only necessary to point out (a) the fundamental difference between Co-operative Credit and the credit supplied by money-lenders and similar agencies, and (b) the fact that other credit agencies have by recent legislation practically been driven out of the field, and unless Co-operative Credit is given certain special facilities and special treatment under these Acts, it will be impossible for it to take the place of previous agencies to the extent that agriculture undoubtedly requires.

It has been said in the last lines that other credit agencies have by recent agrarian laws practically been thrown in the background and the provisions of those Acts do not apply to co-operative societies. Sir, as you are aware that we have always been trying to protect zamindars from the burden of debts, we will oppose every such measure that is likely to go against their interest. If Government wants to claim credit for lowering the rate of interest, I may tell them that not only in the Punjab but in order to scale down debts, everywhere in the world the interest is being lowered. As the agricultural credit has suffered a lot, I wonder what the zamindars will do in future when they will not be able to borrow money as easily as they have been doing before. For this purpose, it is said, that co-operative societies and land mortgage banks have been exempted by Government. It is clear that money-lending is not allowed by Government under the law; but, if a person gives up money-lending and starts a bank then money can be borrowed from him without any obstruction. How strange that seems to be! I am afraid that by doing so the co-operative societies and banks would become more dangerous than even money-lenders and that it would be impossible for co-operative societies to take the place of previous agencies to the extent that the agricultural needs require. When this is the state of affairs I do not think Government should say that they have enacted the agrarian laws for the good of agriculturists. As a matter of fact, as it stands to-day the number of 'agriculturist' money-lenders is much greater than that of non-agriculturist money-lenders. Sir, what I want to submit is that if Government is out to afford opportunities to the zamindars to borrow money from the co-operative societies, the rate of interest here also should be lowered down, so that the zamindars may be able to get as much money as they require. But what is being done here? Laws are made in order to stop the credit supplied by money-lenders and similar agencies, and nothing is being done to find out a substitute for it. It is a well-known fact that money-lenders used to supply large amounts of money to the zamindars, but now what will they get from co-operative credit societies? These societies will advance them as much money as it lies in their power to lend. It shows that instead of sending the zamindars to knock at a money-lender's door, who would supply them more, they are being compelled by Government to go to co-operative societies that will charge unregulated rate of interest. I, therefore, submit that by limiting the rate of interest Government would do a lot of good to the zamindars, but as they are going to leave it unrestricted and unregulated in the case of scheduled banks including co-operative societies I am sure, this attitude of Government will not stand the zamindars in good stead at all. They will simply fall out of the frying pan into the fire.

It may be asked by Government benches why the zamindars should borrow money from anybody, may I submit a word in this respect? Sir, if you take a bird's eye view of the present condition of the peasantry of the province you will see that they are so hard hit that they cannot pull on without borrowing money. I should like to quote the Honourable Mr. Manohar Lal's words in this connection. He said in his speech in 1934 while discussing the Relief of Indebtedness Bill that out of a Punjabi zamindar's expenditure the land revenue dues alone amount to 40 per cent. And this amount of money he must, in all circumstances, pay to Government. Since the land revenue has not been decreased, the zamindars shall have to borrow money even at the expense of his house and cattle. Sir, because the zamindar of the Punjab is too poor to pay Government dues, so he will have to borrow money for the purpose. Now, since he has lost all resources he would be prepared to go so far as to sell a part of his land, but even then he would not be able to obtain the requisite money as a non-agriculturist money-lender cannot buy his land. Thus having been disappointed from all sides he would be obliged to approach the co-operative credit societies for the purpose. Now the rate of interest, as you know, Sir, prevalent in these societies is higher than the one at which the money-lenders are allowed to advance loans to the agriculturists. The co-operative credit societies charge interest at a much higher rate than $7\frac{1}{2}$ per centum per annum. In short the very institution which was founded for the welfare of the zamindars would be responsible for their financial ruin. If the Government sincerely wishes to save them from any financial embarrassment it should not exempt the co-operative credit societies from the application of the provisions of this section. On the other hand it should see to it that the rate of interest annually charged by these societies is considerably reduced. Apart from these societies you have also exempted the Imperial Bank and the other banking companies from the provisions of this Bill. Our fear is that when the private money-lenders would not find their money-lending business a paying concern and would strongly feel the brunt of the present Bill they would form small private banks in order to get themselves exempted from the restrictions that are being sought to be imposed under the Bill. Thus my contention is that so long as the Imperial Bank or the other banking companies are exempt from the imposition of the restrictions envisaged in the Bill it cannot be safely asserted that the zamindar stands to gain by these provisions. The other day the Honourable Premier was pleased to remark that his Government intended to find ways and means to scale down even the urban debt. I personally welcome the idea and wish it to be brought into operation as early as possible. But here again I would like to impress upon the Government that without effecting a reduction in the rates of interest charged by the co-operative societies and other banking companies it cannot possibly render any help to the urban debtors. On the one hand the Bill enjoins upon the money-lenders to charge a certain rate of interest but on the other it exempts these societies from such restrictions. In other words the Government compels the debtor to approach the latter and borrow money at a much higher rate of interest. I wonder if they can scale down his debt without lowering the rate of interest charged by these organisations. It was in the fitness of things to elicit the opinion of those who are going to be adversely effected by the operation of the present measures. This Bill was published in the Gazette on the 7th October. Now two months have elapsed since it was published first. During this pretty long period we have disposed of a considerably heavy agenda, and we could very conveniently spare a day or two for considering the circulation motions in the early days of the present session. Had the Government decided on the very first day of its publication to circulate the Bill for a month or two we would have been by this time in possession of very valuable information in the matter, and in that case we would have been in a better position to start discussing it clause by clause.

Then, Sir, it was provided in the original Act that the Board would grant certificates to debtors if creditors claiming at least 40 per cent of the total amount of debt agree to the proposition. But this time they have provided in the present Bill for the deletion of that provision. Government may try to scale down the debt in this way but they will have to see whether this act of theirs would be just and equitable so far as the creditor is concerned. It would, I am sure, further diminish the already reduced credit of the zamindars. I know that to-day the agriculturist of the Punjab is not in a position to repay his debt. He borrowed money when the agricultural prices were very high, then how can he possibly discharge himself of the debt when the prices have gone down? I may state that the present rise due to war is insignificant and temporary but not permanent. Let me point out to Government that the chief factor that prompted the agriculturist to borrow money was the attitude of Government in recovering its dues with an iron hand. At least 40 per cent of the agricultural debt represents the Government dues that the poor zamindars were called upon from time to time to pay in the form of land revenue and water rates. Thus the incidence of Government dues added to the volume of the compound interest resulted in the accumulation of all this colossal agricultural debt. Now if it is the duty of the Government to scale down that debt it is also imperative on it to look after the interest of the creditors. If they provide safeguards for the debtor then it is also incumbent on them to see that the interests of the creditor are not ruthlessly jeopardised. They are anxious to declare a moratorium; they bring forth measures for scaling down debt; they do this and do that for the debtor. Have they ever considered the fact that by doing so they are closing the business of the creditor, throwing him out of employment and depriving him and his dependents of their only means of livelihood? Should I think that the Government need be told that such a policy is sure to effect an increase in the number of unemployed in the province? If they throw the creditor at the mercy and vagaries of the debt conciliation board, they should also arrange for the speedy recovery of his loans already considerably reduced by the board. I may be allowed to mention here that the creditor is also an inhabitant of the Punjab and he too deserves consideration at your hand. He may be a sinner or a criminal but it is our duty as a human being to look after his legitimate rights and interests.

Now let us approach the matter from another point of view. The rate of interest fixed in the Bill is very high. The Government may advance an argument that it being provided that the interest should not be deemed excessive if it were more than two per cent. over the bank rate, and as the banks generally charge at the rate of 2 or 3 per cent., the rate would not exceed 4 or 5 per cent. My submission is that by keeping the words "whichever is higher" in the relevant clause the Government has definitely encouraged the money-lenders to extend their rate of interest to $7\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. per annum so that their rate may be at par with the rate allowed to the credit societies. Now this rate is higher than the rate of the Imperial Bank or other banking companies by $5\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. and, therefore, the money-lenders would naturally charge interest at this very rate. But the banks are affording cheap credit to the debtors. Who will be foolish enough to go to the private money-lender to pay him interest at a higher rate? In fact the business of the money-lender would come to a stand-still and he would suffer a lot. Unless Government bring forth any measure by which the interests of the creditors also can be safeguarded it is of no use backing up the debtor at the expense of the former. Besides, in 1934 it was pointed out by the Government Member concerned that there were only three other countries in the world where Acts of such nature were in force. They are Rumania, Yugo Slavia and the United States of America. These were the only countries in which such Acts had been enforced. I think it will interest the honourable members if I read out a part of the speech of the Honourable Member relating to this part of the question. He stated:—

If I remember rightly, the condition of the zamindars of Rumania was as bad as it was before they tried this experiment of wiping the slate clean, and if we try the same thing in the Punjab, I have no doubt whatever that we will come to the same result. There is another European country where agriculture is the premier occupation that is, Yugo Slavia. I have here the issue of "the Economist" of September, 1933, from which it appears that owing to agricultural depression the purchasing power of the peasant of Yugo-Slavia was all but lost, that he was unable to buy and the trader was unable to sell and so on, on which the Government of that country had to declare a semi-moratorium for the zamindar class. First of all they had to step in and reduce the rate of interest. It had often exceeded 24 per cent. Government first reduced the maximum rate of interest. Then the peasant became a little bit better off, but this improvement was counterbalanced by another factor. The semi-moratorium soon hit the little shopkeeper, he passed it on the big trader, the big trader passed it to the banks and the result was a financial crisis in that country.

There is another country—a country of which the ruler is probably one of the most powerful men in the world except perhaps the Punjab tahsildar—I refer to the President of the United States. Recently I think we have seen a statement in the "Statesman" that the attempt made in the United States to fix prices had failed. I quote these three instances to show that any interference with economic laws is almost as difficult and dangerous as any interference with laws of nature.

I may submit, when the Punjab Relief of Indebtedness Act was being passed it was stated on the floor of the Punjab Legislative Council that only an experiment was being made and if it proved successful, then and then only the Government would proceed further. But my submission is that the proposed measure will not give any relief to the zamindars unless and until some amendments are made in it. I do not think that it will do any harm at all to my honourable friends opposite if the people who are going to be affected by this Bill are allowed to express their opinion about it. With these words I support the motion for circulation of the Bill under discussion.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : On a point of order, Sir. Is it not essential that any member who has given notice of any amendment should be allowed an opportunity to speak on his amendment, as is the case with me? I gave notice of an amendment, and am not being allowed to speak.

Mr. Speaker : When the same amendment is given notice of by several members and on the motion of one of such members, it is brought under discussion, if any one of them rises to speak and catches the eye of the Chairman, he can take part in the discussion. But he cannot move his own amendment, unless the amendment already moved is voted upon.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Even if he rises in his seat can he not be allowed to speak?

Mr. Speaker : Not necessarily. Does the honourable member mean that if fifty members give notice of the same amendment, every one of them should be called to speak?

Sardar Kartar Singh (Lyallpur East, Sikh, Rural) (Punjab): Sir, I have given notice of an amendment to the effect that the Punjab Relief of Indebtedness (Amendment) Bill be circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon, and I wish to put forward some arguments in support of it. At the very outset I may point out that it is for a long time that Government has been making an attempt to place on the statute book enactments which aim at ameliorating the condition of the poor agriculturists. Now the proposed Bill has been moved with a view to carry out certain amendments in the Relief of Indebtedness Act of 1934. In this respect I may point out that it was Mr. Darling who first revealed to the people of the Punjab that the rural population was indebted to the extent of 90 crores of rupees. Now at the time of the Banking Inquiry Committee it was pointed out that the rural population of the Punjab owed something like 135 crores of rupees by way of debt. When the Relief of Indebtedness Act, which is sought to be amended by the proposed Bill, was being passed, it was stated on the floor of the Punjab Legislative Council that the debt of the rural population amounted to 200 crores of rupees. Now five years after the enactment of the Punjab Relief of Indebtedness Act this amending Bill is being moved by the Government but it has not been pointed out as to what is the extent of the indebtedness of the rural people, and whether their debt has decreased or increased. As a matter of fact nothing has been told by the Government. I may point out that the Acts which have so far been enacted for providing relief to the poor agriculturists, have failed to give any relief to them because if we take into consideration the rural indebtedness we would find that the debts of kisans instead of decreasing have actually increased. It means that the remedies which have so far been proposed have not helped the people in getting rid of their loans. In my opinion these remedies were not the correct remedies. Although I am of the opinion that from some points of view those remedies have proved useful for the rural people, yet I may point out that the present Government or for the matter of that the Unionist party had not that strength of mind to propose such remedies which could have given sufficient relief to the poor people. I think it is idle to think that the amount of debts of the rural people which has gone up by leaps and bounds during the last five years, can be reduced by this amending Bill. The proposed measure is inadequate and I do not think that any useful amendments have been proposed by which the debts of the rural people can be scaled down. Even the Parliamentary Secretary has admitted in the course of his speech that the proposed measure did not go far enough and he has pointed out that the Bill can be improved upon in the select committee. But I may point out that such like amendments can be accepted only if all of them are placed before the public and they are allowed to express their opinion on them. If they say that they require those amendments, then and then only those amendments should be carried out. I am also of the opinion that unless and until there is strong opinion in the select committee we cannot hope to carry out any amendments. In the circumstances it would be better if this Bill is circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon.

Besides, I may point out that there are one or two things in this Bill which are very important and to which reference has already been made by the Leader of the Opposition. The most important of them is that in future the rates of interest charged by the co-operative banks would not be regarded excessive by any court of law. My honourable friends are actually placing these co-operative banks at par with Imperial Bank of India. This fact proves beyond all doubt the extent to which the party in power has any sympathy for the poor zamindars and as to how far they are going to provide any relief to the poor agriculturists. It is a matter of common knowledge that these co-operative banks are even worse than sahukars. I may also point out that the co-operative banks were not included in the previous Acts. But now they have been included in this proposed Bill. According to the previous Act the co-operative banks were not exempted from the operations of that Act and it affected them in the same way as it did other sahukars. It is a matter of great regret that in the proposed Bill which has been moved with a view to lighten the debts of the kisans, co-operative banks have been given exemption and no court can deem the rates of interest charged by them as excessive. There is no justification for this exemption. If seven and a half per cent. rate of interest can be regarded as excessive in the case of sahukars there is no reason why the same rate should not be regarded as excessive in the case of co-operative banks.

But I would submit, none the less, that the rates of interest proposed in this measure do not afford very substantial relief to the poor agriculturists who are steeped in debt. In my humble opinion the rate of interest should on no account be allowed to exceed 6 per cent. Again, I want that the measure should equally apply to all debtors irrespective of their belonging to one community or another. What I mean will become clear by the perusal of clause 10, sub-clause (4) part (3) (b) which runs as follows :—

Every member of a tribe notified as agricultural under the Punjab Alienation of Land Act, 1900, and every member of scheduled caste shall be presumed to be an agriculturist until the contrary is proved.

In this sub-clause it is defined as to who will be an agriculturist. In the first place, all those persons will be regarded as agriculturists who are members of a notified agricultural tribe under the Punjab Alienation of Land Act.

1900. Secondly, the members of scheduled castes will also be regarded as agriculturists. It is here that distinction has been made between the different members of the scheduled castes. One class of members of the scheduled castes has been favoured while two classes of them have been hit hard by this provision. Whereas Hindus, Muslims and Sikhs are equally treated under the Punjab Alienation of Land Act, I afraid the same is not going to be the case with regard to the members of the scheduled castes. Only those members of the scheduled castes will be benefited by this Bill who are Hindus, while those who have embraced Sikhism or Islam and are called Mazhabi Sikhs or Mussallis, will be deprived of the blessings of this Bill, although they belonged before their conversion to the same scheduled castes to which the Hindu members of the same tribe belong. A number of other privileges and concessions are given to the Hindu members of the scheduled castes, like the right of vote and the fee concessions in the schools, while the same concessions are denied to them as soon as they are converted to Islam or Sikhism.

Mr. Speaker : Irrelevant.

Sardar Kartar Singh : I do not know whether this discriminatory clause has been deliberately introduced in the Bill or it has crept into it unnoticed. Be that as it may, I want that this discriminatory provision should not be allowed to continue in the Bill extending the advantages of the Bill to the Sikh or Muslim members of those very scheduled castes.

My next objection to this Bill relates to the cases of mustajari : A 'mustajari' is valid for 20 years, that is, for the better part of the life of a debtor who obviously becomes a debtor when he is quite grown up. It is clear, therefore, that a land once placed under mustajari practically remains out of the possession of the real owner for the whole of his life. The House will be astonished to learn that even the so-called life sentence of a criminal lasts for 14 years only. The poor landowner is worse off than the criminal who is sentenced to life imprisonment. I want that a mustajari should be valid only for a term of six years or so.

Again, I would submit that the agricultural debt has not been eliminated from the province in spite of the repeated efforts of the Government. As a matter of fact 80 per cent. of debt should be wiped out by the Government and the remaining 20 per cent. should be paid by the Government. This will not constitute any hardship to the Government. In reality the Government is responsible for about 40 per cent. of the debt of the agriculturists because most of the debt was raised by them in order to pay the land revenue or abiana. Without this procedure there can be no other solution of this difficult problem. A more radical measure is needed than the one proposed by the Government. Minor and ordinary Bills will not suffice. A mere eyewash will not do. The Government should not try to throw dust into the eyes of the poor agriculturists. But if it will persist in its slow methods, a period of full hundred years will be wanted by this Government to scale down the debts of the poverty-stricken agriculturists, and God forbid this Ministry should continue to enjoy so long a lease of life ! Unless the remedy suggested by me is applied, no amount of economic measures will solve the real difficulty. But the Government wishes to set one caste against another. In fact caste in this province only means a certain profession. We can tell from one's profession as to what caste one belongs, and vice versa. The Government is responsible for raising the communal question by giving certain privileges to certain castes of people. This leads to disorder and riots in the province. If this were not so, the Government would have succeeded in scaling down the debts of the agriculturists, but that is not the case. Originally we were told that the agricultural debt amounted to 90 crores, but after applying the remedies which the Government prescribed in the form of debt legislation, we are surprised to learn that the debt has increased to 135 crores. Thus if the benevolent Government will try to further apply their remedies, we are afraid, the agricultural debt will be enhanced to 200 crores of rupees. If the Unionists will try still further, the fear is that the debt will multiply to 300 crores. The fact of the matter is that there is no real will to scale down the debt. That is why wrong remedies are applied. The Unionists are only demonstrating their lip sympathy with the poor and indebted classes. They are showing the poor how they are spending their valuable time in the Assembly for the good of the latter. I want a radical improvement in the Bill and that cannot be brought about unless the Bill is circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon. That is why I strongly support the circulation motion.

The select committee will not be able to improve it very much. More drastic changes are needed than the select committee can effect. When the Bill is circulated the press and the public will give their opinion about this measure. In the light of that opinion it is hoped that the Bill may be improved and then entrusted to the select committee which will be able to make the necessary amendments.

3 P.M.

In view of the foregoing reasons, I support the circulation motion.

(Voices : Question be now put).

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh (Eastern Towns, Sikh, Urban) : To my mind, Sir, this is one more addition to the list of black Bills that have so far been passed by this House. The scope of the Bill, as is recognised on all hands, is very wide and its effect will be very far-reaching indeed. If the object were really to benefit the agriculturist or poor people by reduction in the rate of interest, I would not have a word to say against it. I would, in that case, have been the first man to support this measure. But what do we find? The position here is that whereas one class of creditors is sought to be ousted, the same privileges—rather greater privileges—are being given to another set of creditors who may exploit the zamindars to the best of their ability. I have not been able to understand why the Imperial Bank, which has all the resources of the State at its command and which has crores of rupees lying without interest in its coffers, be permitted to lend money to the poor zamindars at more than seven and a half per cent., while the ordinary creditor is not allowed to do that. The same facility was given to the Imperial Bank and to the scheduled banks at the time of the last legislation. Now the co-operative societies are also brought in. I ask the Government, in all seriousness, whether they think that the co-operative societies are as honest as the Imperial Bank. Is not corruption rampant in co-operative societies to a very great extent? Or, do they believe that the loans which the poor agriculturists might take from the co-operative societies at a higher rate than from the other class of creditors would not be burdensome to them? Why should they not take loans from the class of creditors from whom they have been taking for centuries past? This is a clear question and I want a clear answer. If the idea is to reduce the burden of poor men—agriculturists and others—the universal and uniform method would be to reduce the rate of interest to as low a limit as you possibly can. To that nobody will have the least objection. If you decide that the rate of interest on these transactions hereafter should be lowered, there would be nobody who would object. If it pays the creditor to advance money at that rate of interest, he will do it, otherwise he will not do it. Another thing that I ask in all seriousness is whether they think that this one class of creditors is dishonest, as is assumed by this Bill that they are, whilst the debtors as a class are all honest and angels. My honourable friend Mir Maqbool Mahmood did tell us in the course of his speech that this measure has been brought in as a result of the experience gained by the working of this Act since the year 1935 when it was enforced. Have not things during the course of last four years come to their notice that the debtors, even after decrees were obtained against them, did their level best to see that the objects of the decrees were entirely defeated? Are they not aware of the real difficulties of the decree-holders and of the fact, that their real troubles start from the moment a decree is obtained? Are they not aware of the fact that eighty or eighty-five per cent. of decrees amounting to crores of rupees have never been realised? What have they done to protect that class of creditors who are affected in this manner? My reading of the situation is that the Government is determined to perpetuate class hatred by passing this measure. That is my honest and sincere conviction. The class hatred is being imposed without any good being done to the class of people for whom they profess that they are doing this good. Some good might be done to some people but what about the real tiller of the soil?

Let us now see what are the amendments that are sought to be introduced by this Bill. The first is 15-A. Clause 15 as it stands in the former Act is as follows:—

15. The Board shall call upon the debtor and each creditor to explain his case regarding each debt, and shall use his best endeavours to induce them to arrive at an amicable settlement.

A very noble idea that they will advise them to arrive at some suitable arrangement between the creditor and the debtor. Let us see what is the new addition that is proposed. It is as follows:—

- 15-A. If a creditor or debtor, as the case may be, challenges the genuineness of any claim included in an application, the board shall adjudicate upon the issue. The decision of the board under this section shall be final, and shall not be open to dispute in a civil court.

I do not really know whether these powers can, with any justification, be given to a set of people who neither know law nor are conversant with it and in most cases to people whose honesty even is not above board. Would you give any such power to an experienced first class sub-judge, that he may adjudicate upon a claim and the result of the adjudication shall be final without any appeal to any authority whatsoever? I do not know in whose interest this thing is being done unless you come forward and say that you want all debts to be wiped off. Do be honest and tell us if you want all the debts to be wiped off. Then there is section 20. Formerly a certificate could not only be granted if forty per centum of the creditors of a debtor had come to certain arrangements with him. So there was some check. Now, even if all the creditors do not settle with the debtor simply because the proposal is very unreasonable, the board has still the right to grant that certificate in utter disregard of the wishes of the creditors as a whole. May I ask if this is fair and honest? Now, I would draw the attention of the House to proviso of section 20. Formerly it was provided :—

Provided that the board shall not grant a certificate unless the board is satisfied that creditors to whom not less than forty per centum of the debtor's debts are owing have come to an amicable settlement with the debtor.

Now, this proviso has been deleted. The result of the deletion of this proviso is too clear to need any further comment and means that even if one per cent. of the creditors have not come to settlement with the debtor, the board, if it in its wisdom thinks, will still grant a certificate in respect of that claim.

Now, I come to section 37. Formerly it read like this :—

Where, in a suit for the recovery of a loan, the court is satisfied that an entry relating to the loan has been made in any document showing the amount of the sum advanced to be in excess of that actually advanced plus legitimate expenses incurred, the court may, at its discretion, disallow the whole or any part of the sum claimed by the plaintiff.

The court, after going into the merits of the case, may disallow whole or part of the claim, where it is found that something wrong has been done. What do we find now? The present Bill says that the court shall disallow. It makes it mandatory. Just imagine the loss to a creditor say of Rs. 20,000 if an entry of Rs. 2 out of the claim for Rs. 20,000 somehow or other is found to be false by the board.

Mr. Speaker : These arguments have been advanced already and have been discussed in detail.

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : Now, what is the amendment from this side? It is that the Bill be circulated for eliciting public opinion and that public opinion should come by the 8th January, 1940, or 20th January, 1940, hardly a period of one month or one month and a half. Heavens will not fall if the Government were to wait for one month or 40 days. We do not forget the time when the Marketing Bill was passed and was under discussion. The Government said that zamindars were losing crores of rupees and that they could not wait a day longer. Now, what do we see? This wise Government has taken more than a year to frame their rules. May I ask them where their sympathies are now towards poor zamindars? Are they not losing crores now? Why have they not made the rules as yet? To my mind it appears that it is a matter of aid with the Government. If the Opposition says that a certain measure should be referred to a select committee, the Government refuses it and says, 'No.' And if the Opposition wants a measure to be circulated, they say, 'No.' If they send this Bill for eliciting public opinion for one month or 40 days, I am sure, heavens will not fall. May be that they do not want to benefit by the sane advice of public, but why should they hesitate to receive that advice? It will be for them to act or not to act upon it. Their sister governments have also passed such measures. They have passed the Tenancy Act in the United Provinces. It was a contentious measure. They gave opportunity to the zamindars to discuss the measure for two years. Then they passed it into law in a modified form. But here the Government is only counting upon their numbers. I submit that the period of one month or forty days is not long. They may not be able to enforce the Act if passed for two years. I think, the Government will not be losing anything if they agree to circulation motion. It is not dilatory at all. Opinions are not sought to come by 1941, but by 8th January, 1940. So, they are losing nothing. With these words, I support the amendment.

Mr. Speaker : The Honourable Premier may now speak to the amendment only.

Premier (The Honourable Major Sir Sikander Hyat-Khan) (Urdu) : Sir, I had expected that this amendment would get the support of only a few members of the Opposition and others would not countenance it. But I was surprised to find the names of my friends Sardar Partab Singh and Sardar Kartar Singh among its sponsors. Of course, I had not expected my honourable friends to part company with the members of their party and support their zamindar brethren, but I was surprised to find these two honourable members exploding the myth of their love and sympathy for the zamindars by adopting these dilatory tactics with regard to this Bill.

Sardar Partab Singh : It is a question of only twenty days.

Premier : The honourable member says it is a question of twenty days only, but it is an unnecessary delay all the same. As has been pointed out by the leader of the Opposition the Bill bears the date of 7th October and thus during the last two months there was ample opportunity for all concerned to express their opinion. Opinions could be expressed through newspapers and they could also be sent direct to the Government so that they could be taken notice of in the select committee. Similarly those honourable members who have made a special study of the provisions of this Bill can give us the benefit of their knowledge and advice in the select committee.

I did not expect that the whole Opposition which consists of so many diverse elements and conflicting interests, would support this dilatory motion with one voice. I had thought that they would be divided among themselves as was the case when the golden Bills were being discussed. But we find that even a small number of capitalists can make others vote to order and not according to the dictates of their conscience.

To my mind it appears that my honourable friend has very confused ideas. He is sailing in the same boat along with his other capitalist comrades. He being responsible to a few capitalists cannot ignore their interests. If he honestly believes that by postponing this Bill to an indefinite date he is likely to gain something, then I must submit that he ought to have gone through its clauses carefully. There is no use in deferring it to a future date. It is already overdue. The Bill has taken two months and I am still giving two months more for further consideration. In the meantime every association can easily express its views. Even people living in Rangoon can send us their opinion. I cannot understand why they are insisting on the 21st December. What purpose will this extension of time limit serve? Are they sure to create a new heaven and earth during these fifteen days? Will they be able to make the people change their views within these two weeks? If they really believe so then I must confess that they are living in a fool's paradise. The Opposition asked me to give them twenty days. I have given more time. Now it is the duty of the members of this House as well as the outside public to inform the Government of their views about the Bill. If anybody wants to make any constructive suggestion or if anybody wants to make any alteration, amendment or improvement in the Bill he must inform the select committee to that effect. After having done all this I must say that if the Opposition is not satisfied with the arrangement but wants to delay the Bill then without any prejudice to anybody, my opinion is that the Opposition is not behaving properly. This attitude of the Opposition is a clear index to the fact that they do not favour the idea of an early passage of the Bill. They want to keep it in abeyance. We were condemned by the Opposition when we passed the agrarian Bills and similar language is being used by them now. They say that the agrarian Bills were black Bills and the present Bill is their child.

[Premier.]

Shrimati Raghubir Kaur : Those were really black Bills.

Premier : My honourable sister says that those were really black Bills. I submit that the members sitting on the opposite benches opposed agrarian Bills on the assumption that they were meant to benefit the big landlords only. Now when events have proved to the contrary they have invented a new formula simply to abuse the Government. Let me repeat what I said in the Simla Session that we do not want to injure honest creditors. I submitted many a time that agrarian Bills were not meant to harm honest and fair dealing persons whether they belong to urban or rural population. I ask my honourable friends to go through this amending Bill carefully and I give them a solemn assurance that if they convince me that this Bill is likely to injure the interests of honest creditors I shall withdraw it forthwith. I shall always try to protect honest creditors. Then, Sir, the representatives of the Opposition in the select committee have full liberty to submit their proposals. My friend the Leader of the Opposition did not speak so forcefully to-day as he usually does. I think he was rather timid. I understand very well the reasons of this obvious change. He was pressed on one side by the high sounding and oft-repeated creed of the Congress that it stands for the emancipation of the poor and on the other side by the dread of the capitalist voters who have sent him to represent their interests in this House. He found himself just between the devil and the deep sea. The fear of speaking against the Congress creed or the dread of uttering something against the interest of his capitalist voters made him timid and therefore, he could not rise to the pitch of his usual fury in the speech.

Sardar Hari Singh : The same landlords who are backing you.

Premier : Yes. My honourable friend has perhaps forgotten that his leader is representing here those urban capitalists who have been sucking my blood for the last so many years. The difference between him and me is that I have not given up the cause of the poor and exploited rural population whereas he has. Sir, I was not surprised by the speech of the Leader of the Opposition. I know he was on the horns of a dilemma. He had to please two masters ; he did not want to give up the ideal of the Congress, nor was he prepared to annoy his voters. Consequently he made an irrelevant speech and kept throughout beating about the bush. Under these unenviable circumstances he found only one escape, and he supported the circulation motion and sat down. It is very happy that his tactics will win him a cheap reputation through the Congress Press. He has thus succeeded in saving the Congress creed and the backing of his voters.

Now I should like to deal with the objections raised by my honourable friend the Leader of the Opposition. The first objection raised by him is that the proposed amendment to the rate of interest does not apply to co-operative societies. I may point out that a perusal of the Bill would show that if a debtor applies for settlement to the conciliation board, the co-operative societies would be treated like other debtors. Besides co-operative societies have been placed in the category of other banks because their rates of interest are very low and generally they deal with well-to-do persons or with those whose credit is high. Then another objection has been raised by him to the effect that when the bank rate is 3 per cent., why have the co-operative societies been permitted to charge 9 per cent interest ? In this connection I may add for the information of the House that the maximum rate of interest is fixed in such matters. Instructions are issued to the Registrar in order to fix a maximum limit up to which rate of interest can be charged. It is our earnest desire to bring the credit of co-operative societies to the level of the Imperial Bank. I may point out to my honourable friend that we have already exempted the Imperial Bank as far as this matter is concerned and I would ask him not to assume that by doing so we want to obstruct the business of the province. My honourable friend should not ignore this fact that the rate of interest in banks is already low. Therefore our object in fixing a reasonable rate of interest is that the banks may not use dishonest means while advancing loans to people.

Then my honourable friend was pleased to remark that the proposed rate of interest was greater than the prevailing one. May I point out to the honourable member that at the time of fixing the rate of interest we have kept in view not only the present circumstances but also we have taken into consideration the future circumstances. Perhaps my honourable friend has compared it with the rate of the Imperial Bank of India. If he has done so, then the proposed rate of interest is certainly greater. Then he has raised an objection as to why these banks have not been permitted to charge 9 per cent interest. My honourable friends Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang and Mr. Bhim Sen Sachar might know that in England the rate of interest went up to 7 per cent during the Great War and similar was the case with the Imperial Bank of India. I may, therefore, submit that while fixing this rate of interest we have taken into consideration all these facts so that it may not affect anybody adversely.

The Honourable Leader of the Opposition behaved like a man with his legs in two boats. He began by saying things which when published in the newspaper would be likely to meet the approval of zamindars. But then all of a sudden he thought of his constituents and adopted the usual tactics of a very well known newspaper of our province. That paper is famous for its cold logic. It will go on proving things by saying that two and two make four and that it requires 8 two-anna pieces or two eight-anna pieces to make a rupee. But when the same thing is said by my honourable friend Nawab Fazl Ali or Rao Pohop Singh or myself the journal would say "Yes, two and two make four, but " and then it will go on trying to prove everything said by us to be incorrect. This pastime is so favourite with the paper that very often it will put certain things in the mouth of some one in order to enjoy the satisfaction of discrediting him. Similarly, the speech of the Honourable Leader of the Opposition was punctuated by too many "buts" and he ended by appealing for consideration to the interests of the creditors. Let me inform him that now most of the applications received by the debt conciliation boards are not from the debtors but from the creditors. The reason for this state of affairs is not far to seek. They have so many facilities in applying to the boards which are not possible in the case of the courts. They have nothing to pay to the lawyers or their clerks and there are no court fees. Then again even if a creditor obtains a decree from a court he has to face a good deal of botheration and to offer illegal gratifications in addition to legal and lawful charges in order to get it executed. Even then the recovery of the amount decreed is not certain. But in the case of the boards they know that whatever amount is settled they will get it. It may be four annas or eight annas in the rupee but the creditor will surely get it in cash or in kind. Hence the increase in the number of applications made by the creditors themselves.

Lala Duni Chand : On a point of order. Is the Honourable Premier now discussing the principle of the Bill?

Premier : I am only answering the questions which have been raised by the honourable members.

Mr. Speaker : He is as relevant or irrelevant as other honourable members were. (Laughter.)

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : He is the Premier and ought to know better.

Premier : Then my honourable friend Sardar Santokh Singh raised an objection to the removal of the proviso to clause 20 (1) which lays down that the board is not to grant a certificate unless the creditors whose loans amount to at least 40 per cent of the debts are agreeable. He has asked for a straight answer to the question whether it is not likely to ruin the creditors, and my reply is that the removal of the proviso is proposed to benefit the creditor and not to harm his interests in any way. If you pay a little attention to the question you will realize the truth of my statement.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang :

اگر شہ روز را گوید شب است این
باید گفت اینک ماء و پیرین

Premier : In reply to that I can only refer the honourable member to the verse the second hemistich of which is—

چشمه آفتاب را چه گناه

So long as this proviso is there a creditor who wants to settle his loans is helpless if he cannot get others to join hands with him to satisfy the condition about the 40 per cent of the debts and, therefore, sometimes false claims have to be brought forward to serve that purpose. I referred to this aspect of the matter in Simla also. If you ask the opinion of the creditors in the rural areas, you will find that they are in favour of the amendment proposed. You should also remember that even if one of the false claims is admitted the genuine creditor stands to lose to the extent of that claim. Thus it is in the interest of the creditor that we want to effect this change.

My honourable friend Sardar Kartar Singh made a speech which could be made with great advantage in his constituency. He said that at the commencement of the measures of relief the debt stood at 90 crores of rupees then they rose to 100 crores and now according to his information the amount is not less than 300 crores.

Sardar Sohan Singh Josh : Do you challenge these figures? You cannot, because they are correct.

Premier : So that is your standard of correctness. Anyway, my honourable friend should know that the amount appears to have increased because it is expressed in terms of produce. When the price of wheat rises it will come down again and you will be glad with the thought that the agricultural debts have decreased. If that is what you teach in your Agrarian Institute then God help your pupils. According to your way of calculation I can assert with authority that since this Government has entered office the debts have come down by 80 per cent (Hear, hear). In other words it means that if any zamindar is indebted to the extent of Rs. 100 his debt has been reduced by Rs. 80. (Interruptions.) I may point out that my honourable friends on the opposite benches are mistaken in thinking that the measures which we have enacted for affording relief to the poor agriculturists have given them no relief whatsoever. I assure them that if they take into consideration the figures of rural indebtedness or ask some one who understands these intricacies, they would find that since the present Government had come into power, by means of notifications and legislation they had reduced the debt of the poor zamindars by eighty per cent. The remaining 20 per cent is the real debt which the zamindars genuinely desire to pay. I may also make it clear that I for one do not desire that such real debt should not be paid back to the lenders. I think it is the bounden duty of all honest zamindars who have taken loans from the creditors to pay reasonable rate of interest as well. Do my friends want me to wipe out this debt as well? I tell them that I will never do it. I do not think there is any zamindar living in the Punjab who would not like to return the loans he has taken in the hour of need. It is just possible that some zamindars of my honourable friend's way of thinking may have come into existence in the Punjab, who would not like to return the debts to their creditors who lent them in times of dire necessity. (Hear, hear.) It is my considered opinion that an honest zamindar can never think of doing so. However I assure my honourable friends opposite that we are taking effective steps to scale down even the remaining twenty per cent debts of the zamindars as soon as possible. If the prices of the agricultural produce go up, I assure you, even the remaining debts of the zamindars would be cleared in no time (Begum Rashida Latif

[Premier.]

Baji : May I know whether the Honourable Premier always thinks about the rise in prices of the agricultural produce and that he feels no concern for the other sections of the public ? Not at all. I think my honourable sister is perhaps unaware of the real significance of the rise and fall in the prices of the agricultural produce. I may point out to her that if anybody is hard hit by rise in prices at any time, he gets benefit of it as well soon after. Now if the prices of agricultural produce go up, naturally the wages of the labourers would also increase. If, however, their wages do not increase I assure her that we would see that with the rise in prices of agricultural produce, their wages are also increased. In this connection I may also point out that sometimes a sort of 'lag' creeps in. That is what the capitalists do not like. Sometimes this 'lag' goes on for one year or even two years. In the last Great War this 'lag' continued for eighteen months. But I assure my honourable friends opposite that this time this 'lag' will not continue for more than six months. If this 'lag' is not adjusted in the coming harvest, we hope to do so at the time of the next harvest so that the poor should also get some benefit. (A voice : What would become of the tenants ?) My honourable friend over there is again talking of theoretical things. He thinks as if no one here understands these matters. I may tell him that the share of the tenants and landlords is one-half each. If, for instance, there is a profit of Rs. 5, half of it will go to the landowner and half to the tenant.

Then, Sir, my honourable friend Sardar Kartar Singh has objected to the members of the scheduled castes being included in the definition of "agriculturist." Though I have not been able to understand the exact line of his argument, yet I think what has pinched him most is why we have included the members of the scheduled castes in the definition of "agriculturist." I may tell him that we have included them in this definition only because they are also poor agriculturists and their poverty is even more appalling than that of other zamindars whom my honourable friend over there represents in this House. Instead of feeling pleasure on their inclusion in the definition of an agriculturist he has objected that while scheduled castes have been so included nothing has been done in respect of Mazhabi Sikhs and Mussalies. He further inquired whether Mazhabi Sikhs were regarded as Sikhs that they had not been granted any relief by this measure. Apparently my honourable friend is anxious to win over the sympathy of Mazhabi Sikhs and nothing more. However I wish to make it clear to him that if he reads the definition, to which he has objected, he would find that any person who mainly depends on income from land is included in it. With your permission, Sir, I will read it out. It is as follows :—

(3) The following subsection shall be deemed to be inserted after subsection (2) of section 60 of the Code of Civil Procedure :—

"(3) (a) For the purposes of this section the word 'agriculturist' shall include every person who depends for his livelihood mainly on income from land whether as owner, tenant, partner or agricultural labourer."

It is quite clear from the above definition that all those persons who are engaged in agricultural work would get relief by virtue of the proposed measure. Consequently all the people who live in villages and depend entirely on income from land would get relief by virtue of this measure. Does my honourable friend want that the members of the scheduled castes should be excluded from this definition merely because they belong to the scheduled castes? I may tell him that at least we cannot ignore them like many others who have ignored and treat them like pariahs inasmuch as they do not allow them to draw water from their wells nor do they eat or drink with them. The reason why we have specially mentioned their name is so as to dispel any doubts which the courts or any persons may entertain about their being agriculturists. In the circumstances, I am constrained to remark that the criticism of my honourable friend was not at all justified.

In conclusion I may point out that for providing relief to the urban labourers also necessary amendments will be made in the Bill in the select committee. When I moved the Bill I had no intention of providing for the poor people of the urban areas, but my honourable friends Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang and Sardar Santokh Singh advanced so very cogent arguments in support of their contention that I was inclined to think that we would have to consider this point as well. They pointed out that in urban areas the residential houses of only those judgment-debtors would be exempt from attachment or sale whose total assets do not exceed Rs. 5,000. This limit was provided in a resolution which was moved in this House. I think the trouble will arise in the case of people who carry on money-lending business on a small scale. So if we include poor people living in the urban areas in the definition of a debtor, naturally money-lenders who do their business on a small scale will stop lending money to them. Therefore in the select committee we will have to take this matter into consideration, so that businessmen should not suffer in any way and at the same time some sort of relief should be provided to the people who possess huts in cities to hide their heads in. In my opinion this difficulty can be solved by incorporating in the Bill an enabling or permissive provision which may be availed of by any one who so desires. If anybody wants to avail of that enabling provision he can apply to the proper authority that he is prepared to act in accordance with that provision. It is, therefore, clear that the businessmen will have the discretion either to stop or continue their business. I think this is the right course which we should adopt and which would benefit both the businessmen and the people to whom we want to afford relief.

In view of these facts, I hope that my honourable friends occupying the opposite benches will support this highly beneficial measure, although it has been sponsored by the Unionist Party that is regarded incompetent by them. I further hope that they will not be taken by the flattery of the clever capitalists and will openly demonstrate their sympathy with the poor by walking into the lobbies along with us and vote against the circulation motion to-day. I also hope that the Opposition will desist from pressing for division on this important occasion.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang (West Lahore Division, General, Rural) : I give an undertaking to finish my speech in ten minutes and I hope to finish it before ten minutes, if I am not interrupted. There are four points of policy involved in this Bill. I will not go into details. The first point is the reduction of interest, as we find in clause 2. The second point is involved in a number of clauses and that principle is to wipe out all debts. Sardar Santokh Singh said that the Government should be frank and say that they want to wipe out all debts. Every clause speaks out loudly the mind of the Government that their intention is to wipe out all debts. Eighty per cent of the debt, the Honourable Premier said, has already been wiped out and the remaining would be wiped out almost entirely by this clause. These debts are being wiped out by seven devices. One device is that the debts would be wiped out where a debt is owed to joint creditors and the statement is not signed by them all jointly, even if it has been signed by each of them individually. This is a most astounding thing. I do not want to dilate upon it. It is absolutely clear that the amendment proceeds from a sinister mind and has been actuated by a sinister motive. (Honourable Premier : No, no.) The second device is that if a creditor is absent on any date, his debt would be wiped out subject to revival under certain conditions. But once he is absent his debt would be wiped out. Then there is the third device. Up to this time there was a doubt whether the conciliation board had the right to go into the question whether a certain claim was genuine or not. Some conciliation boards refrained from going into that question and the High Court had to deliver rulings on the point that the conciliation boards were not boards of adjudication, but boards of conciliation. There are two rulings on this point which probably the Government had in mind. Now what will happen? Full power has been given to the boards to determine whether a debt is genuine or not and no appeal is allowed. This means that full licence has been given to the conciliation boards to declare even the most genuine debt as fictitious, because they will know that there is no appeal and no revision. This is the third device to wipe out debts. The fourth device to wipe out debts is—and I am surprised that the Honourable Premier considered that to be a favour shown to the creditors,—the deletion of the proviso to section 20 of the existing Act. Formerly an agreement of the holders of forty per cent of debts was necessary. That has been wiped out. He says it has been wiped out because fictitious creditors came forward. What will happen now? Now it will be open to the conciliation boards to say with respect to any offer that is made by a debtor that it is a fair one and the creditors will be bound to accept that offer. He tried to throw too big a handful of dust into our eyes, but I think the attempt was too palpable and if he is genuinely of this opinion then I would say that he is entirely mistaken and he has been deluded into this belief. It is not in the interests of the creditors. It is entirely and absolutely detrimental to their interests. We will all know the stuff of which the conciliation boards in the provinces are made. A vast majority of them belong to the debtor class and therefore it is their effort always to wipe out debts as far as it lies in their power. There may be honourable exceptions but we have to search them with a microscope or with a telescope. We have not yet come across people to whom we can give that credit. Then, Sir, the fifth device is that if in execution proceedings some animals are attached and if the execution is suspended, the animals should be returned to the debtor with the proviso that the debtor will not be able to sell them. He can kill them, he can have them stolen and he can tie them up in the tavela of his neighbour and say, I do not know where the cattle have gone. After all the cattle have got four legs, they can move and they have run away. They had been sent to the pasture land and they have not returned and so on. The beauty is that no penalty has been imposed upon the judgment-debtor for even selling the cattle or doing away with them. This is the fifth device. The sixth device is the application of damdupat to the original principal amount advanced. I need not go into the question because it has been partly discussed by Lala Duni Chand and others. The seventh device is in clause 10 which seeks to amend section 60 of the Civil Procedure Code. The meaning of agriculturist have been widely extended. Even those gentlemen with an income of three lakhs, seven lakhs a year, may be sometimes ten lakhs a year, will be considered agriculturists and the onus will be on the other side to show that they are not agriculturists.

Minister for Revenue : Who is he ?

Lala Bhim Sen Sachar : Chor ki darhi men tinka.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : There is no straw in his beard.

Minister for Revenue : He is the owner of many sugar mills.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : Another device is in clause 11. It says—

In section 37, for the words 'may at its discretion disallow the whole or any part of the sum claimed by the plaintiff' the following shall be substituted :—

4 P.M.

'shall disallow the whole claim with costs'.

This is another device in which the debts are going to be wiped out. The Honourable Premier said that 80 per cent of the debts have been wiped off and every gentleman on this side was very glad. I would not say how many of them are debtors and how many of them have been benefited. However, they were very happy when the Honourable Premier claimed that 80 per cent of the debts had been wiped off. But may I ask the Honourable Premier at whose expense this 80 per cent has been wiped off ? Are they not God's creatures ? Are they not the subjects of His Majesty ? Have they no claim on the sympathy of this Government ? Are they not entitled to justice and fair play at the hands of this Government ? I was going to use some strong word, but I will refrain from doing so. But I can say without any hesitation that in making this statement, the Honourable Premier damned his own Government that it had been unfair and that during its two or three years' regime it had robbed a certain class of people of this province of 80 per cent of its dues. This is a confession of which any decent and just government would be ashamed instead of claiming any credit.

The Government has been claiming that it has done this thing and that. But, has it made any provision in this Bill for the payment of any amount, however small it may be, that is found due by the conciliation boards ? There is not a word about it. The Honourable Premier has been saying that the conciliation boards help in recovering the amounts due after scaling down the debts. But even that requires examination, because such cases if any must be very rare. If the object of the Government is to scale down the debts and also to do some justice to the creditors whose debts are scaled down from Rs. 100 to Rs. 20 or Rs. 30, what is the duty of the Government ? It should make a provision for the repayment of that small amount. Did they not have before them the example of the Central Provinces Government to whose Bill Mir Maqbool Mahmood referred? In the Central Provinces where the conciliation boards scale down the debts, the scaled down debts are recovered as arrears of land revenue. This statement the Government cannot challenge. Even in the small State of Bhavnagar the Government has taken steps to scale down the debts and take them over to itself and pay back the debts to the creditors and recover the amounts in small instalments from the peasants. Why should not our Government do the same here? This clearly shows that the Government is showing discrimination between one class of its subject and another. It is all one-sided robbery of which no Government can be proud. If I had time I would quote passage after passage from the speech of the present Finance Minister who drew the attention of the then Government to various points. I would however be content with merely commending Mr. Manohar Lal's speech to the attention of the Honourable Premier. If Mr. Manohar Lal had been occupying these benches he would have condemned the present Government. With your permission, however, I should like to quote a few lines from his speech. At page 193 of the Punjab Debates, Volume XXV, he says—

The other consideration is a dominant principle which governments must bear in view, and which I trust and I make no doubt, the Punjab Government is bearing in view, that nothing should be done to shake the basis of rural credit, because if that were done, we would not be helping the very class which we are most anxious to help.

I also have said this so often in connection with the discussion of the so-called black Bills. Again he says speaking of the agriculturists—

He has to pay to the Government in land revenue and abiana something like 40 per cent of his total expenditure. His expenses on the upkeep of bullocks is about 36 per cent, his expenses in seeds is about 6 per cent. Then there is expenditure of something on hired labour which varies, call it about 10 per cent. The rest is represented by implements and similar items. You will note that we have only to look at this analysis to realise what large percentage of the total expenditure is taken away by our honourable friend, the Finance Member—40 per cent of the total expenditure.

He is now doing exactly what his predecessor was doing in those days. He further says—

The question still remains whether the measure proposed is an appropriate one, whether it gives the necessary amount of relief, whether in the effort to give relief it does not affect seriously the very foundations of rural credit so essential for village economy and whether it touches improperly the fundamental principles of justice and propriety.

He goes on to say—

If that be so, is it not the dictate of wisdom that we should adopt some method by which something can be realised? What strikes me, and what is so clearly expressed in that most eminently sane opinion of Mr. Moon that we have before us, is that we must face the necessity of assuring payment of debts. Mr. Moon has used no really harsh words when he insisted on certain fundamental provisions that a piece of legislation such as this must embody. I do not think there is any getting over this that when you are making an effort to reduce the amount that may be due from the borrower, you must also see that recovery is made more easy and payment is better assured.

Instead of making recovery more easy, they are making it more difficult. Then with respect to the question of interest he says—

I will just read half a line from the Punjab Banking Inquiry Committee's Report at page 33—

'In the circumstances, though the rates in this country press heavily upon the cultivator, the customary rate of 18½ per cent (paisa rupia) for small loans can hardly be regarded as usurious—so far as it is honourably applied.'

Just a few lines more and I have finished. There is another point which Mr. Manohar Lal brought out and that was the distinction between poor agriculturist and the big zamindars. I cannot do better than quote his own words—

Another principle that we must bear in mind is that a distinction must be drawn between large and small proprietors. That is absolutely essential. It can never be the policy of Government, it should never be the policy of any Government, and if it were so Government would stand irretrievably condemned, that in trying to help the peasant who is hard hit and who cannot bear the burden of debt, relief is being given to my agricultural friend there who gets a fat salary in addition to the thousands of acres of land which he owns.

I suspect he was referring to Sir Sikander or Malik Sir Firoz Khan Noon or some other big landowner.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member need not read very lengthy extracts.

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang : I shall quote only one line more and then I shall conclude. He says—

In considering this measure let them pause and think.

I do not know whether he gave the same advice to the present Government also—

Let them be just to the money-lenders though they themselves have started in the race of lending only a short while ago.

I shall also conclude by asking the Government to be just to everybody and not to rob Peter to pay Paul. I apologise to you, Sir, for exceeding my time, and I am thankful to you for your kind indulgence.

Premier : I should like to reply. I will not take much time of the House.

Mr. Speaker : The Honourable Premier may exercise his right of reply after the amendment is disposed of. (Interruption) The question is—

That the Punjab Relief of Indebtedness (Amendment) Bill be circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon by the 31st December, 1939.

(NOTE.—Division was claimed by some members of the Government Party.)

Dr. Sir Gokul Chand Narang (While the division bell was ringing) : On a point of order. My point of order is whether any one can mock with the procedure of the House. You know as well as anybody in this House that the gentlemen who have called for the division are going to vote against the motion and it was not for them to call a division on behalf of the Opposition. (Interruptions.) It is frivolous and division has not been called seriously. That is unconstitutional. However, I leave it to you to decide.

Mr. Speaker : I will decide the point according to Parliamentary Practice. (Hear, hear.)

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Once such a division was called on a confidence motion and there was not a single member to vote against.

Mr. Speaker : But on that occasion no honourable member raised a point of order inviting my attention to the irregularity.

Premier : Why is my honourable friend afraid of a division? It will record the votes.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : By all means do it, but do not try to waste the time of the House by these divisions.

Premier : I see.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable members need not worry. According to parliamentary practice a member's vote must agree with his voice. (Hear, hear from Opposition benches.)

Diwan Chaman Lall : On a point of order. You have been kind enough to decide according to Parliamentary Practice, but may I ask who the gentleman is who said "Aye"? (Interruption.)

Mr. Speaker : If no honourable member can name the members, who claimed division, I may put the question again.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : Did they speak from their own seats or from other seats? People who said 'no' were not in their places.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That the Punjab Relief of Indebtedness (Amendment) Bill be circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon by the 31st December, 1939.

The Assembly divided.

(While the Division was going on.)

Diwan Chaman Lall : On a point of order. May I ask in regard to this proposition as to whether an honourable member, whose voice says 'Yes', but does not vote in the 'Ayes' lobby, but votes in the 'Noes' lobby, is entitled to have his vote counted or it should be counted as an error?

Mr. Speaker : I have already ruled that a member's vote must agree with his voice. So, where voices and votes are at variance and this fact is brought to my notice before numbers are declared by me, I will direct those votes to be counted with the 'Ayes' or 'Noes,' as the case may be.

Diwan Chaman Lall : I draw your attention to the fact that according to Parliamentary Practice, the voice must necessarily go with the vote.

Mr. Speaker : Yes. I have said so more than once.

Diwan Chaman Lall : I invite the attention of the House to page 279 of May's Parliamentary Practice where it is said :—

Members must bear in mind that their opinion is collected from their voices in the house, and not merely by a division; and that, if their voices and their votes should be at variance, the voice will bind the vote. A member, therefore, who gave his voice with the "Ayes" (or "Noes") when the Speaker took the voices, is bound to vote with them.

The practice on this point was formerly unsettled. It was debated in the house in 1796. Mr. Pitt maintained that a member was at liberty to force his opponents to a division; while the Speaker pronounced such conduct to be unbecoming and contrary to the rules and practice. All that I ask you is this. If there are any honourable members of the House who have exercised their voices one way and voted another, will you be kind enough to ask them to rise in their seats so that we may know how many of them there are in this House?

Mr. Speaker : Can the honourable member give me any names?

Diwan Chaman Lall : I request you to ask whether there are any honourable members who said, 'Aye,' but actually voted in the 'Noes' lobby.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : I pointed out at the very moment when they left their seats and came here and said 'Aye,' and they are now waiting in the 'Noes' lobby.

Mr. Speaker : If honourable members can give the names of such honourable members, I will take the necessary action.

(At this stage Opposition members mentioned the following honourable members :—Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan, Rao Pohop Singh, Rai Sahib Lala Sohan Lal, and Mian Abdul Rab.)

Premier : When the question was put the second time, nobody, except one honourable member from this side, said, 'Aye.'

Mr. Speaker : I think the Honourable Premier is right. When I first put the question, I think, more than one honourable member said, 'Aye,' amidst noise and uproar. But when I put the question again only one or two honourable members said, 'Yes.'

Diwan Chaman Lall : You ask from those gentlemen whether they said so or not.

Mr. Speaker : I will. But let me announce the result of division. Ayes 1, Noes, 86.

Diwan Chaman Lall : How can we proceed with the business of the day ?

Sardar Sahib Sardar Santokh Singh : On a point of order. The time is up.

Mr. Speaker : Not yet. The question is—

That the Punjab Relief of Indebtedness (Amendment) Bill be referred to a select committee.

The motion was carried.

Premier : I beg to move—

That the select committee shall consist of the following members :—

The Honourable Minister for Development,
Mir Maqbool Mahmood,
Sati Abdul Hamid Khan,
Chaudhri Sumer Singh,
Chaudhri Abdul Rahim (Gurdaspur),
Khan Sahib Shaikh Muhammad Amin,

Sardar Uttam Singh Duggal,
Mr. K. L. Gauba.

Diwan Chaman Lall : I rise to oppose these names that have been read out by you.

Dr. Gopi Chand Bhargava : The time is up and it is obligatory for you to adjourn the Assembly now.

Premier : I may suggest that we should sit till 6.30 to-day. (Voice from the Opposition Benches : No, no.) I hope with the concurrence of the Honourable Leader of the Opposition we might dispense with the question hour to-morrow and go through the third reading of the Panchayat Bill, (Voices from the Opposition Benches : No.) Otherwise my honourable friends shall have to sit up to 10 o'clock. It is their own look out. We should have one or one and a half hours to-day and sit till we finish the third reading of the Bill to-morrow.

The Assembly then adjourned till 12 noon on Tuesday, 12th December 1939.

PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

SIXTH SESSION OF THE FIRST PUNJAB LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Tuesday, 12th December, 1939.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at 12 noon of the clock. Mr. Speaker in the Chair.

QUESTION HOUR.

Premier : I move—

That the question hour be dispensed with to-day.

Mr. Speaker : I hope the Leader of the Opposition will agree to the motion. The question is—

That the question hour be dispensed with to-day.

The motion was carried.

MOTION UNDER RULE 12 (8) (c).

Premier : My next motion is—

That the proceedings on the motion "that the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill be passed" appearing on to-day's list of business be exempted at this day's sitting from the provisions of the rule "sitting of the Assembly."

I may add that in case we finish the third reading of the Bill earlier no other business may be taken up and the House may adjourn till after the Christmas recess.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That the proceedings on the motion "that the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill be passed" appearing on to-day's list of business be exempted at this day's sitting from the provisions of the rule "sitting of the Assembly."

The motion was carried.

ADJOURNMENT MOTION.

DECLARATION OF JHAJJAR AS FAMINE-STRICKEN AREA.

Pandit Shri Ram Sharma : Sir, I beg to ask for leave to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the failure of the Government to declare tehsil Jhajjar (district Rohtak) as famine-stricken area in face of the worst famine conditions now prevalent there.

Mr. Speaker : The motion is out of order.

APPROPRIATION AND FINANCE ACCOUNTS.

Minister for Finance : I beg to present the Report of the Committee on Public Accounts of the Punjab Legislative Assembly on the Appropriation Accounts and Finance Accounts of the Punjab Government for the year 1937-38. I may also in this connection intimate to the House that Government proposes to give the 8th of January, the first day after the Christmas recess, for the consideration and discussion of this report.

ADJOURNMENT OF THE ASSEMBLY.

Premier : Sir, I move—

That the Assembly at its rising to-day shall stand adjourned to Monday, the 8th January, 1940, at 12 noon.

The motion was carried.

RELIEF OF INDEBTEDNESS (AMENDMENT) BILL.

Mr. Speaker : The gentlemen alleged by the Opposition yesterday as having voted contrary to their voices are now absent otherwise I would have asked them and decided the matter.

Diwan Chaman Lall : You may take up the matter when they come in.

Mr. Speaker : Does the honourable member insist on his objection or may I now proceed to put the names of the members of the select committee to the vote of the House ?

Diwan Chaman Lall : I have no objection to your proceeding with the business.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That the following shall be the members of the select committee on the Punjab Relief of Indebtedness (Amendment) Bill :—

The Honourable Minister of Development,

Mir Maqbool Mahmood,

Sufi Abdul Hamid Khan,

Chaudhri Sumer Singh,

Chaudhri Abdul Rahim (Gurdaspur),

Lala Bhagat Ram,

Master Kabul Singh,

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri,

Sardar Uttam Singh Duggal.

Mr. K. L. Gauba,

Nominee of the Honourable Speaker,

The Advocate-General, and

The mover.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Speaker : The question is—

That the quorum of the select committee shall be 7.

The motion was carried.

VILLAGE PANCHAYAT BILL.

Minister for Public Works : Sir, I beg to present the report of the Drafting Committee on the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill.

Mr. Speaker : The amendments recommended by the Drafting Committee have been circulated to honourable members. All of them are formal and consequential. Is there any objection to any amendment? (Voices : No.)

The question is—

That the following amendments recommended by the Drafting Committee be adopted :—

1. In sub-clause (b) of clause 3 of the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill (hereinafter referred to as the said Bill), for the word 'Punjab' the word 'Provincial' should be substituted.
2. In clause 6 of the said Bill, in sub-clause (4)—
 - (a) after the word "take" the word "the" should be inserted ;
 - (b) the words commencing " Notwithstanding" and ending " confirmed" should be numbered as sub-clause (5) of clause 6 ; and

 - (b) for the figures "379—411" the figures and word "379 and 411" should be substituted.

The motion was carried.

Minister for Public Works : Sir, I beg to move—

That the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill, as considered clause by clause, and as amended be passed.

Mr. Speaker : Motion moved—

That the Village Panchayat Bill, as considered clause by clause and as amended be passed.

Sardar Hari Singh (Kangra and Northern Hoshiarpur, Sikh, Rural) :
Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the motion for the third reading of the Bill, moved by my friend the Minister for Public Works with his newly acquired powers of the Police Department, not because the party to which I belong, that is, the Congress party is opposed to a sound system of panchayats in the villages of the Punjab. We are as keen as, rather keener and more eager and more anxious than the Government benches that the village life in the Punjab should be reconstructed and rehabilitated by a sound system of panchayat life. We are very keen that the villager should be trained in the art of self-government through a good system of panchayats. They should be uplifted and they should be made to lead better, happier and brighter lives by a better system of self-governing institutions in the villages in this land of five rivers. If I rise to oppose the third reading stage it is because this Bill, which has passed the second reading stage, is full of certain pernicious principles, certain harmful provisions on account of which this measure may prove very short-lived and on account of which this Bill may not succeed. On account of its shortcomings and vices this Bill may founder on the same rock on which its predecessor has foundered. The old Indian panchayat system was famous all over the world. The historians of the ancient civilisation have showered encomiums on our old panchayat system.

We learn from history that invasion after invasion came, but the panchayat system remained intact. But what was the authority behind these panchayats? There existed no law, which gave sanction to these panchayats. It was the moral authority behind the panchayats on which the elders of the villages or the heads of various families served. The hand of the iconoclast, the hand of the invader did not touch the vitality of the old panchayat, it could not. It was the product of political circumstances of those ages. We cannot rehabilitate that system with that moral authority in the present day India. Western notions, western principles, western ideas have made inroads into the country and so we have to rehabilitate the panchayats with the legal authority behind the system. With these words of introduction, let us examine the various provisions of this Panchayat Bill.

First of all we fail to find any provision in this Bill, as regards the framing and formulation of budgets, and I think it is a very important, very significant omission.

Mr. Speaker : At this stage the debate should be generally restricted to matters contained in the Bill.

Sardar Hari Singh : I have to discuss the acts of omission and commission of the framers of this Bill.

Mr. Speaker : I think the honourable member should discuss what is contained in the Bill.

Sardar Hari Singh : Does it mean that I cannot make suggestions as to how the Bill could have been improved? It may have been improved in a thousand and one ways.

Mr. Speaker : May I invite the attention of the honourable members to page 421 of May's Parliamentary Practice, where it is expressly stated—

The debate on the third reading is more restrained than it is on the second reading of a bill and is limited to the matters contained in the bill.

Diwan Chaman Lall : May I draw your attention to the fact that the procedure in the Parliament is not the same as ours. Here the third stage is the principal stage at which all matters relevant to the Bill before the House can be discussed. It is the general discussion stage that we have reached now, whereas in Parliament it is restricted to the matters contained in the Bill.

There is no stage at which honourable members of this House can express their complete opinion regarding the Bill which is going to be passed, except this third reading stage. This stage is the stage at which all amendments have been disposed of and the Bill as amended is before the House. At this stage the amendments have been disposed of and the House is possessed of the actual nature of the Bill. Therefore the third reading stage in India is reckoned to be the stage in which full discussion of the measure takes place and when an honourable member may make suggestions in regard to the improvement of the Bill or he may oppose the Bill.

Mr. Speaker : If an honourable member does not discuss the matters contained in the Bill, but discusses the omissions only, I think he will be going beyond the limit.

Diwan Chaman Lall : As I have stated before, there is no stage at which an entire body of opinion regarding a particular matter can be brought in at this stage when the amendments have been discussed. You will notice that the third reading stage in the Parliament is the stage at which certain amendments can be moved ; we have passed that stage.

Mr. Speaker : I think even at this stage verbal amendments can be made.

Diwan Chaman Lall : But substantive amendments cannot be made. It is only drafting amendments which may be permissible. The amendment stage is over. What we can now discuss is the general aspect of the Bill, how it affects the country and how it affects the people.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is at liberty to do that.

Sardar Hari Singh : Perhaps my position has been misunderstood. I am opposing the passage of this Bill at the third reading stage and in opposing the passage I can adduce any arguments, so far as they are relevant to the discussion of the Bill, as to why it should not be passed into law by this House, and I hope to carry conviction.

Mr. Speaker : The honourable member is right so far.

Sardar Hari Singh : However I bow to your ruling and I shall refer to omissions when they are material omissions and when they help my arguments to the effect that this Bill should not be passed by this House, because the Bill has got glaring omissions and because it has got very great defects and shortcomings in it which will not allow the Bill to prove of any use and be successful in the province. However, I proceed further. In this Bill the franchise on which the superstructure of the panchayat system is to be raised is entirely left to the rules. The franchise of voters and the qualifications of electors have not been embodied in the body of the Bill which is a fact that creates grave suspicions as to the intentions of Government. In other Panchayat Acts—go to the Central Provinces, go to Bombay or to Bengal, or take the Government of India Act—you will find that franchise is laid down in black and white in the body of the enactment. But it is omitted here. It is left to the rules, to the discretion of one man.

Minister of Public Works : Even under the District Boards and Municipal Acts the franchise is left to the rules.

Sardar Hari Singh : Thanks for that correction—a bit of correction. Mr. Speaker, it all depends on the qualifications of electors whether this Bill is going to set up really democratic and useful institutions in the villages or to set up despotic tyranny of the landlords under whom a large number of tenants are working and tilling the lands of the landlords. It all depends on the sweet will of one man out of 175 members whether the institutions that he is going to set up under this Bill will represent, will look after the interests of the depressed classes, whether it will look after the interests of the kamins, whether it will look after the interests of the tenants and working classes, the villagers or whether it will vest the whole authority which may prove to be tyrannical authority, in the hands of a clique of landlords in the villages, of a few chaudhris who style themselves the natural leaders of the people.

Passing further, there is another great defect on account of which this Bill is shorn of whatever utility, whatever usefulness, whatever virtue it might otherwise have possessed. We find and we have already discussed it no doubt at the second stage, that the panchayat officer or any other prescribed authority set up by my honourable friend, the Minister of Public Works, may refuse to confirm a panch who has been elected by the votes of his compatriots in the villages without assigning any reasons but merely saying that it is undesirable in the public interest that such and such panch should not remain in his seat as a panch. May I ask him, why not reject his application when he is standing as a candidate for election? Why allow him to undergo the botheration of election, of wooing the electors and when he has been elected, why turn down his election on the flimsy, arbitrary ground that his election is not desirable in the interests of the public? And the interest of the public in the terminology, in the dictionary of our honourable friends opposite is well-known to the world, at least to this House and to those who listen to the proceedings of this House outside. In their dictionary "public interest" means interest of their own party, of their own clique, the interest of the Unionist propaganda machine. If in that interest it is not considered desirable that Mr. A should be a panch of a certain village, his election will be set aside, although he secures the majority of votes in his favour. The most popular man in the village will be the most undesirable in the eyes of the prescribed authority set up by my honourable friend Mr. Tiwana. Not only that, but a panch who has been working and serving his constituents say for six months or one year, may at any time, if the prescribed authority takes it into his head that he should be removed, would be removed without any reason being assigned beyond the statement that his continuance in office is not in the public interest. Perhaps you would allow me to refer to an instance in my own district of Hoshiarpur where a very popular president of a panchayat, a very successful panchayat of a big village, was turned out of office by the simple fiat of a revenue assistant who was in charge of panchayats in the district on the ground that his continuance as president was not in the public interest. And what was the fault of the poor fellow? He was a member of the Congress; he was the president.

[Sardar Hari Singh.]

of the Congress Committee which consisted of hundreds of Congressmen in his village and it was a most successful Congress committee. He was a strong champion of the Congress cause. Therefore in the eyes of the revenue assistant or my friend, he was not desirable in the public interest as president of the panchayat. What did the revenue assistant do? He dismissed him, perhaps with the permission of the deputy commissioner or some other higher authority and the constituents, the voters of the village were told that they were to elect another president in the place of the dismissed president within a certain time. The villagers gathered together to elect a new president. What was the result? The same president, whom the revenue assistant had dismissed on the ground that his continuance in office was not in the public interest, was re-elected unanimously,—not by an overwhelming majority but unanimously. No one in that village dared to oppose him, stand against him, for this post of president. What happened next? The revenue assistant was shocked. The prescribed authority was shocked. The panchayat was suspended. For what fault? Because the panchayat had the audacity, had the courage, to re-elect the same man as president whom the revenue assistant did not want to continue in office because he was a Congressman and the president of the local Congress committee. That is what is going to happen under the auspices of this Bill. Anybody who is not in public interest, who is a Congressman or who is a political opponent of our friends opposite, will not be confirmed when elected as a panch and if the Maginot Line of the prescribed authority is crossed and somehow his election is confirmed, then six months later or one year later, when it is brought to the notice of my honourable friend sitting opposite and laughing—I do not know at what—looking to the galleries this way and that way—unparliamentarily (laughter)—when it is brought to his notice, then surely he will not pass the Maginot Line of my honourable friend opposite.

Minister of Public Works : Why not the Siegfried Line?

Sardar Hari Singh : Then that most successful panch is sure to be scotched there because his continuance is not in the interests of the Unionist party which is synonymous with public interest in this province at least. Mr. Speaker, my submission is that in all the democratic institutions in other lands it is the people who have got the right to remove an undesirable panch. In Switzerland, in Belgium, in France and other places, it is the people, the majority of the people, who are given the right of recalling a panch who has not proved successful and whose continuance in office is not desirable. If at all a person is not desirable and should be dismissed, he should be dismissed in the public interest by the people, by the public, who are the panch's master to judge whether that panch or that president is fit to continue in office or not.

Further on, we have already discussed the disqualification in the case of a panch. We moved an amendment that this provision should be brought in accord with the provisions in the other Panchayat Acts in the Central Provinces, Bombay and Bengal and I quoted from the Panchayat Acts of those provinces to show that there a person could be disqualified on account of a conviction only if he had a certain minimum punishment, that he could be disqualified only if sentence fell within certain years previous to his election and further on that the Government could remove the disqualification and it is within the power and discretion of the Government to remove the disqualification on application. That is generally done in the case of Assemblies and district boards and municipalities. But our arguments, our words of advice fell on deaf ears which are very keen otherwise and the honourable Minister of Public Works stood up to answer these arguments and he thought he gave a very short shrift to our arguments. He said in case of district boards the things are otherwise. In case of Assemblies it is quite a different matter. These are deliberative bodies and the panchayats are going to be executive bodies. I pointed out at that time that if my friend were to be convicted, he could not become a panch, but could become a member of the Assembly and even a member of the executive government of this province, a member of the cabinet of the council of Ministers. That was a very anomalous position that a person by virtue of his popularity may become a member of the cabinet in charge of the portfolio of panchayats, running the whole system of panchayats in the province, but he may not become a member of a panchayat. I ask my honourable friend to remove this anomaly and he answers my argument with a smile, with scorn and with laughter.

Minister for Public Works : I made a particular offer.

Sardar Hari Singh : Further on in clause 10 it has been laid down that if the people of a village fail to elect a panchayat the deputy commissioner or the collector will be authorised to appoint panches to constitute a panchayat. Now I fail to see any reason behind this provision. I fail to see any force, any argument in favour of this provision. If the people of a village do not elect panches, it means that they do not desire a panchayat. Why impose a panchayat on an unwilling people? If they do not want a democratic institution to run their municipal functions, to decide their suits, it means they are not politically conscious and well-awake. Give them political education. Let them imbibe the democratic spirit. Let them learn the usefulness of these institutions. Educate them and then when they are sufficiently educated and demand a panchayat, establish a panchayat. Do not impose a panchayat on unwilling people through the agency of the deputy commissioner or the collector. Further on clause 13 lays down that the meetings of the panchayats shall always be public. No doubt they ought to be public generally, but provision ought to have been made that in public interest where personal issues are involved, the meetings of the panchayat may be held in camera where it is not in the public interest, in the interest of the panchayat, in the interest of the issues involved that the proceedings should be held in public, they ought to be held in in camera. In other Panchayat Acts, I think, this provision has been made. But this Bill makes no provision of this sort. Now as regards administrative powers and functions, though the matter to which I mean to refer is not a very material matter, yet it gives an insight into the mentality of my friend opposite. Part (k) of clause 19 mentions that one of the duties of the panchayats is to improve the breeding of horses and other animals. In the Bill though horses have been specifically mentioned, cow and the bullock which are the mainstay of agriculture in this province, have been put in the category of other animals, while the Government and especially the Viceroy of India has been trying to emphasise the improving of bullocks.

[Sardar Hari Singh.]

My honourable friend is perhaps very fond of riding, he may be interested in the breeding of horses, but the ordinary peasant in the Punjab is more interested in the bullocks than in the horses. However that does not matter. It only provides an insight into the mentality of my friend towards the interests of the peasants of this province.

Minister for Public Works : There are parts of the Punjab where people are interested in horses. There are thousands of peasants who are interested in horse breeding in certain parts of the Punjab.

Sardar Hari Singh : Let us pass on from this minor matter to the compulsory duties of the panchayats. The list is quite a long one, but I would rather have included in that list a very important matter in regard to the duties of the panchayats for the provision of recreation in the villages. If you want to make the lives of people happier, if you want to make them live longer, live joyfully, live happily, amicably without fighting and quarrelling among themselves, it is very necessary that the panchayats should provide recreation for the villagers, not only for the mind, but for the body as well. It should organise tournaments in order to revive the old village games. There should be a provision that it will be necessary for the panchayats, provided funds are available, to instal radios. Further on in part (b) of sub-clause (1) of clause 19 where ponds and tanks are mentioned, and the panchayats are to make provision for wholesome drinking water supply through wells and tanks, I may bring to the notice of my friend opposite that in many villages where the water level is going down wells are drying up, ponds are drying up, tanks have dried up, people have resorted to water-pumps under the advice of the Rural Reconstruction Department. He might as well have included pumps along with wells and the provision of these should have been one of the duties of the panchayats. One very important matter I would like to mention which he has not provided for in the Bill and which he should provide for in the rules if possible. In the villages the wealth of the peasants is mostly drained through the death of cattle. Every year in the Punjab epidemics break out and medical aid cannot reach the villages which lie far from the veterinary hospitals or even if they are near veterinary hospitals, it is almost impossible for the staff in charge of the hospitals or the staff which is present in the district to cope with the epidemic and thus thousands of cattle, the precious wealth of the peasant, perishes every year. Therefore it is necessary that when the cattle are bought and brought to a village from another village where an epidemic has broken out, that cattle should be kept segregated from other cattle so that the epidemic may not spread to the village to which the cattle from epidemic stricken village have been brought. Rural uplift scheme talks of segregating cattle. But no arrangements have so far been made in the villages for the segregation of cattle. The people in the villages will not do this voluntarily themselves, because they do not know how to do it. Therefore it is necessary that it should be one of the compulsory duties of panchayats to make segregation arrangements for newly brought cattle from other villages for at least fifteen days. He could have mentioned the disposal of carcasses of cattle as one of the compulsory duties of panchayats. (Minister for Public Works : There are already provisions for these things.) Yes, but it is only optional and not compulsory. The word used is 'may' and not 'shall'.

I now come to one of the most important aspects of the Bill relating to judicial powers. I am not speaking on behalf of my party here, because I have not consulted it, but speaking for myself I should say that I am opposed to judicial powers being given to panchayats at least in the early stages. In other provinces where the panchayats are elected by the people, they have got administrative and executive duties and if the people of the village think it necessary that the panches should be appointed to try cases and to settle petty disputes in the village, then the Government comes along and sets up a bench in consultation with the panchayats. But here in this Bill as soon as a panchayat is constituted it will become a full-fledged judicial bench and try cases and settle disputes although the poor panches may be quite illiterate and may not know the A B C of law. (Minister for Public Works : All the better.) My friend says 'all the better'. My reply to that is what the Commissioner for Lahore has said in the Panchayat Report for 1934-35. He said that he was very much of the opinion that in order to make the experiment of panchayats a successful one it should be necessary that they should be given municipal functions in the beginning and when they have well started on their career, if they have successfully carried out municipal duties in the village, then judicial powers may follow. But even in the beginning you are giving them too many duties and placing unbearable burden on their slender shoulders. My objection is that the panchayats should not be vested ipso facto with judicial powers. (Minister for Public Works : That is swadeshi.) Everybody knows how much swadeshi the Honourable Minister himself is. He got his education in the Chiefs College. (Minister for Public Works : I did not go abroad for education). Indeed the Honourable Minister has had a very sound swadeshi national education ! a patriotic education imbibing the spirit of patriotism in the Chiefs College ! Now, he sits here giving us lessons in patriotism and swadeshi ! My friend wants to give the panchayats too wide powers apart from the enhanced powers he wants to give them later on.

Now I shall pass on to clause 66. In other provinces fines realised by the panches are not credited to the provincial revenues, but to the village fund. It is not sportsmanlike for Government to ask the panches to realise fines from the poor people of the village and send them to the khazana of the Government to meet the heavy salaries of the Ministers. Why should not those fines be utilised for the purposes of ameliorating the condition of the villages, for use on the municipal functions of the local panchayats ? If you study the provisions of the corresponding Acts in other provinces you will find that these fines are credited to the village fund and spent compulsorily on the villages.

Next, I come to the question of taxation. Power of taxation was given to panchayats even under the old law. But from the reports of the working of the panchayats in the past years we see that they did not utilise this power of taxation because they were afraid of the people of the villages. They thought that if they imposed any tax they would not be elected at the next elections. It would have been better not to have repeated the mistake in this Bill, not to have given the same powers again to the panchayats. What the Government should have done is to have made a provision for taxation with the consent of the majority of the people in the villages as is done in other countries. People in the villages concerned must be gathered together at a meeting to discuss what amount of cess they should raise in order to improve the amenities of the village, such as the metalling of streets or improving the tanks and so on. Even now unofficially people meet in the villages and discuss their common affairs and sometimes they impose taxes upon themselves for common purposes without resorting to any provisions of law like the present one. It would, therefore, be better if a provision is made in the rules to the effect that cesses should be raised by the panchayats with the consent of the villagers, the villagers meeting at a place and deciding by majority of votes what taxes should be levied. Then only will this provision work successfully, otherwise not.

Now, I come to a very important matter which gives us an insight into the policy behind the Bill. It arouses very great suspicion as to the intentions of Government, I mean the speech made by my friend opposite on the occasion of opening the Panchayat Training School. It was delivered by him on the 15th of October at Lahore to the class of panchayat officers. You will be surprised and shocked to learn what words my honourable friend over there used on the occasion. Though some of the sentiments expressed were noble, the following expressions are unworthy of a democrat sitting on the Treasury benches. The whole speech is given on page 2 of the Tribune, dated 16th October, 1939. While warning them of 'mischief-mongers' he said :—

The Government of India Act of 1935 had brought within reach of the masses vast possibilities. "It will" the Minister added, "be your task as Panchayat and Assistant Panchayat Officers to train the zamindars to shoulder their responsibilities and to derive the maximum advantage from their newly-won powers. Mischief mongers and selfish people range through the village trying to lead astray the gullible zamindars."

(An honourable member: Yes.) Certainly yes. Further on he said as follows :—

It will be one of your essential duties to protect him from these vile attempts, and help him to distinguish friend from foe.

So, it is the duty of a panchayat officer to help the zamindar to distinguish between his political friend and political foe. He means political friend and political foe, otherwise whom else does he refer to? Does he, otherwise, refer to the dancers, the musicians and the gypsies roaming in the villages?

Minister for Public Works: I was referring to the foes of the zamindars.

Sardar Hari Singh: He said that it would be one of their duties to make them distinguish friends from foes. He further said—

The zamindars should be made to realize that the glib-tongued demagogues who often pose as his friends are really his enemies, and before lending ear to them, he should comprehend the danger to which he is exposing himself.

If he is not referring to his political opponents of Congress persuasion what else is he referring to?

Nawab Sir Shah Nawaz Khan: چور کی دادرہی میں تکا

Sardar Hari Singh: Let me tell my honourable friend that this game is not going to pay him. This prostitution or attempt at prostitution of the panchayat officers for party purposes so as to carry on propaganda for his party is not a paying game. Let him come out with his sleeves up in the open and let him carry on propaganda on behalf of his Ministry. He should meet the arguments, meet his propositions, meet the propaganda of the Congress or political enemies of the present Ministry, but let him not depend on the panchayat officers. He should join Sir Chhotu Ram, sit in his car and start his propaganda too as the former does. That Dr. Goebbles of this Ministry is enough for propaganda purposes. Let my honourable friend join with him if he is not considered adequate for propaganda purposes on behalf of the Unionist Ministry, but let him not stoop so low as to use the panchayat officers undemocratically, unconstitutionally and illegally and ask them to do propaganda against those 'glib-tongued demagogues'. It is laid down in a certain clause that personally interested panches should not sit in a panchayat. That is very good indeed but who is to decide that thing? The Bill does not mention as to who shall decide as to whether a panch is personally interested or not. In the Central Provinces, Bombay, and Bengal Acts it is specifically laid down that a certain prescribed authority, on the application of one of the parties to the dispute may decide the issue.

Minister of Public Works : Provision for transfer application is there.

Sardar Hari Singh : Transfer application is quite a different thing. It may be urged by anybody and at any time. That is quite a different thing. As regards the number of panches, seven is the maximum limit and three is the lowest limit. Perhaps my honourable friend is not aware that there are villages with a population of three or four thousand and to carry on municipal functions in such villages is quite an arduous task. So it will be necessary to set up sub-committees in these villages to deal with various municipal duties. If the maximum number is only seven, it will be placing too heavy a burden on the seven persons to carry on all the multifarious municipal duties especially if the villages are big ones like those in Jullundur district which is the constituency of my friend Master Kabul Singh. Any reference to Russia would be like a red rag to a bull to my honourable friend. Even if we do not like a particular system of Government, we are well advised to learn the good points of those governments however strongly we may differ from their ideology. In a famous book by Sydney and Webb we are told that more than seventy thousand village panchayats—known as Selosoviet—are working very satisfactorily in Russia and they have got very wide powers. They are running the whole administration of the villages on behalf of the Central Government. There are triennial elections. Every adult is a voter. Election takes place in the village meetings by show of hands. There is one panchayat for every hundred of population. The minimum number of panches is three. The electoral meeting elects a revision or auditing committee which is distinct from the Selosoviet. It is the village panchayat which sets up the village court. The Selosoviet itself is not the court. The judicial panchayats are set up by the Selosoviet which decides the disputes arising in the villages.

Minister of Public Works : No difference.

Sardar Hari Singh : However defective this Bill may be we wish that, if it is to be put into operation, it may lead to some measure of success but it cannot achieve that measure of success—even the minimum measure of success—unless certain pitfalls are avoided, certain precautions are taken, and certain principles are followed.

I would like to make a few constructive suggestions to my honourable friend because he is very fond of constructive suggestions. Let him take a pencil and a note book. If the panchayats are to work successfully, they should not be imposed on the people. Let the people develop these institutions more by emulation than by imposition. Develop model panchayats in every tahsil, just as you say, you are developing model villages in every ilaga for emulation by other villages. As I have already said, my honourable friend should beware of importing political prejudice and bias in the working of these panchayats. Let a Congressman, if he is elected a president, remain there. If you are going to win the goodwill and confidence of all parties, this system should be worked as if it were an all-party affair and it should be worked not with a view to gaining political advantage. Start training classes for panches. Train them in the art of self-Government. Train them in the proper spirit of serving their countrymen who have elected them. Then quality should be preferred to quantity. The new panchayat officers are over-zealous to show that there are so many panchayats in so many villages, and I learn that they are already pressing people to give their thumb-impressions that they want panchayats in their villages. Ask them that they should show good panchayats rather than good number of panchayats. Tell them and advise them that they should emphasise quality rather than quantity. Tell them that the Honourable Minister does not want large number of inefficient and ill-working panchayats and that he wants a few, but very efficient, very useful and very good panchayats working in villages in the beginning.

As regards panchayat library, we suspect that the panchayats may be asked by the panchayat officers not to buy certain newspaper, not to buy certain variety of literature, but to buy a particular limited variety of newspapers and literature. That will not be conducive to the development of panchayats. There will be disputes in villages if panchayats are asked that they are only to buy certain newspapers which are liked by my honourable friend. My submission is that this child of my honourable friend may have a good career, although it is full of defects, yet I wish it a success. But he should not import political prejudice and bias in the working of this Bill. If he can, he should act upon these suggestions and if he can improve its working by means of good rules, he should do so. I wait for a response from my honourable friend.

Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan (Rawalpindi Sadar, Muhammadan, Rural) : Sir, I have been listening to the well-thought out and considered speech of my honourable friend, Sardar Hari Singh, with rapt attention. The objections that my honourable friend has raised appear to me to be indefinite and in some cases quite such that they should be absolutely ignored.

Sardar Hari Singh : May I ask my honourable friend if his speech was prepared before I delivered my speech ?

Khan Muhammad Yusuf Khan : My honourable friend was not attentive when I began my speech. The very first sentence of my speech was that I have listened to the speech of my honourable friend with rapt attention. When I proceed to meet his objections, he will come to know that my words are quite true. The foremost thing that one finds in this Bill is that it is quite clear that this Bill is a marked improvement over the old Act. My honourable friend said that because some provisions of that Act were not workable and were found to be impracticable, therefore, the whole panchayat system failed. Now, that system had failed, but it is due to the experiment that we have encountered during the past regime and we have tried our best in this new measure to rectify all those mistakes and all those omissions and all those drawbacks and defects which were in the old Act. The foremost thing we find in the present legislation is that the panchayats have been given enhanced powers both in the case of criminal jurisdiction as well as civil jurisdiction. But unfortunately, my honourable friend attacked that very enhancement of powers, on the judicial as well as on the criminal side, which have been conferred on the panchayats under this new measure, as a drawback in the Bill. I may submit, with due deference to my honourable friend, that it is only an angle of vision from which a person looks at certain things, as the well-known adage goes, everything looks pale and yellow to jaundiced eyes. Now that very thing, which is rather a contributory factor, a thing which deserves praise and commendation from all concerned, from public at large and specially from poor villagers who are quite unknown and quite foreign to the democratic constitution, a thing which had been commended and praised, a thing which is indeed laudable, has been criticised by my honourable friend as a thing which should not be considered at all or as a thing rather wrongly bestowed upon the panchayats. His remarks were that it has over-burdened those poor ignorant people and they would not be able to exercise those powers duly. They may or may not, but it will be only time that will make this clear to us whether they will or will not be able to exercise those powers. But as the time is advancing, the awakening is increasing in villages. There should be democratic spirit prevalent throughout the province and there should be general awakening and people should come to know of it and should be entrusted with the matters which concern their own welfare and benefit and they should have some interest in politics and they should come to know what the legislatures are, what their duties are, what people's government is and what democracy is. It is the first alphabet of that institution and those people will learn more through these very panchayats. These enhanced powers are a step forward and a clear and marked step towards democracy, towards enjoyment and towards utilization of democratic principles which have been under the provincial autonomy, bestowed upon provincial governments.

Sir, the first objection raised by my friend was concerning franchise. He says that under this measure franchise and other matters concerning it have been entirely left to the rule-making authority and no provision has been made in this Bill which deals with the question of franchise or elections. It is so ; but I may remind my honourable friend that if this can be done in the case of municipalities and district boards it can be very well done under this Bill. As regards the question of franchise and elections the panchayats will be governed by the rules which will be framed and which will be quite consistent with the principles that have been detailed out or incorporated in these provisions. He tried to make capital of a small thing that a panch who has been elected by the majority of the voters under this Bill can be removed under the arbitrary powers and at the sheer will of the provincial Government or by the officers to whom powers may be delegated by the Government. His objection is that a panch who has been elected by the majority of the people should not be arbitrarily removed by the government or by any officer, that the right of removal should only vest in those people who elect the person for a certain seat. This principle may seem to him to be correct; but if we have a look at the provisions of the Municipal Act you will find that therein a municipal commissioner can be removed by a provincial authority and if it can be done in their case there is no reason why it should not be done in the case of the panches. The panchayats are very petty institutions as compared to municipalities or district boards and if the members elected by the people to these bodies can be removed by a certain authority I do not think there is anything which can be made capital of or which can be said to have given arbitrary powers to the provincial Government. Again my friend says that in the case of a seat of a panch falling vacant it will be filled by the deputy commissioner or the collector. It is so. This seems to him to be very strange and undemocratic.

(At this stage Mr. Speaker left the Chair and it was occupied by Mr. Deputy Speaker.)

We are given the right of election and these seats are to be filled by election and if any seat falls vacant people are not going to be asked to elect their representative for a particular seat and my honourable friend finds no reason why a member should be superimposed upon an unwilling people. This is his remark. It cannot be denied and it is a commonplace matter of fact that our villagers are ignorant. Ignorance, illiteracy, disease and poverty prevail in our villages. We, as the representatives of these ignorant and poor people, have come to the conclusion that they must be given the right kind of lesson and they should learn the A, B, C of their responsibilities in these minor institutions. If we find that in any village due to party factions or due to some other causes these people are not willing to have any institutions in their village which may be the cause of the removal of their worries and mitigate their expenses which they incur by resort to law courts, if we find that those institutions are very useful and beneficial and conducive to the betterment of their economic life and these people due to their ignorance are unwilling to derive full benefit from the powers that have been given to them by this legislation, we do not find any unreasonableness or anything strange or anything which can be treated as abominable if such right is given to any authority to superimpose upon them such beneficial institutions. It is a commonplace fact that if a doctor finds a patient suffering from any infectious disease and he finds that some organ of the man should be amputated by which only the life of the man can be saved, he then operates on the person. It is for the benefit of the patient and no one has got any right to complain if a doctor after diagnosing the disease resorts to a treatment which appears to him to be very conducive to the health of the patient.

If he does that nobody has the right to complain against that treatment. It is done for the good of the whole body. Similarly, if we come to the conclusion that these people must be given the knowledge of elementary principles of constitutional institutions and if we think that it is for the good of the people that they should be awakened to their obligations to their country and to their people then I think there is no harm if we superimpose such an institution even though they do not like it in the first instance. Then my honourable friend dealt with the question of the breeding of horses and said 'we find horses are placed first and then other animals.' He must have known that 'cattle' does not include horses as well and 'animals' would have included dogs and cats and even mice. Therefore I think the phrase used is "horses and other animals" which means horses and every other animal which includes buffaloes and sheep. If we put horses in the first place, it does not mean that we are excluding cows and if cows are given the first place, it would have been much better for the peasants as well as for our province, simply because cows are first mentioned and later on horses are mentioned. I should not dilate upon this, but I do not see any force in the argument that has been advanced by my friend that the Honourable Minister has put horses first merely because he loves the races, or he comes from a family which is not a family of proletarians but a family of demagogues.

Another objection that has been raised is regarding the quarantining of certain cattle. The honourable member means by that phrase that if cattle are imported from a neighbouring village or villages where some epidemic is prevalent, there ought to be some provision under which the panchayats should have powers to quarantine those animals for the good of all other animals, so that the epidemic may not rage and the infection may not be the cause of death of those animals. I do not think this amendment has ever been tabled by any honourable member opposite. I stand open to correction, but as far as I know I have not seen a single amendment of this character from the opposite side which might have asked the House that some quarantine arrangements should be made. I have come to know from the speech of the honourable member that he has now read of some analogous enactment of some other province and that is how these new facts have come to light. Those facts were quite unknown to him and it is only after he has read that particular Act that he has now come up and attacked the Government for not making such and such a provision for the preservation of the cattle and for the good of the cattle.

Then again, as regards the question of taxation indeed taxes wherever they are, whether they emanate from a provincial body or from a local body, are a thing which is feared by the people and disliked by them and in opposition to which much trouble sometimes arises. It is a fact that people do not like taxes. But it is well known that in spite of the fact that the old panchayats were given powers to a certain extent to levy taxes, they did not take advantage of those powers, and in spite of that past experience of the old panchayats the new Bill contains a provision enabling the panchayats to levy taxes. The principal idea underlying this provision is to acquaint the public with the well known principle of "no representation without taxation." We know that whenever any provincial body or any local body wants to levy a tax, there is so much hue and cry raised and there are flag processions and so much siapa is done at the houses of the members of that body. All this trouble arises on account of the ignorance of the electorate, because they do not understand the principle of "no representation without taxation." This is an elementary principle of every democratic government and if, in spite of the past experience that no taxes were levied by any panchayat even though they had the power to levy taxes, we have got a provision incorporated in this Bill, it shows how much we like that our people should learn the fundamental principles upon which democratic governments of all countries are run, and if they are of the opinion that there should be taxation levied from the people and if they can persuade the people of their ilaga to agree to the taxes being levied and if the people of that ilaga realize the necessity of the taxes and the indispensable nature of taxation, then so much trouble and worry will in course of time vanish and people from the ignorant, illiterate, poor, semi-clad peasants of the province to the highest man will come to know the value of taxation, and everyone will come to realize that taxation ultimately results in the good of the people and if it is levied and goes to the common exchequer of the Government then it is undoubtedly for the good of those people. Therefore I am submitting that in spite of the past experiences, which are not very sweet and which clearly prove that taxation is not liked by the people, still we have got this provision in this Bill and it is only for the reason that by and by people will come to realize the importance of this principle, with the result that they will, if these taxes are levied by any institution, may be by the provincial Government or by the local bodies, hail those taxes as calculated to be for their own welfare and for their own advancement.

Another very good provision and one which has been attacked by my honourable friend—I see no reason why it should have been attacked—is the provision under which when it is known that a panch is interested in a particular case, he cannot sit in that panchayat to decide that case. My honourable friend remarked that no provision has been made in the Bill as to who is to decide whether a panch is interested in a case or not. My friend wants that there should have been a provision made quite definitely and clearly that if any panch is interested he should not take his seat in the panchayat for the decision of that particular case, but I may submit that under this Bill which will in the near future become an Act, we find that there would be a staff of panchayat officers and assistant panchayat officers, and over and above them will be the district authority and then again we have got the divisional officers or divisional panchayat officers and then we have the director of panchayats and so on up to the Minister. Under this Bill we find that a provision has been made that wherever it comes to light that a panch is interested in a certain case, he cannot take part in the proceedings of that case. When this principle has been enunciated in the Bill, I think there is absolutely no lacuna left. If any of the officers I have just mentioned come to know that a panch who is interested in the proceedings of a particular case, but has not of his own accord vacated his seat as far as the proceedings of that case go, it is quite within the powers of the officers mentioned to remove him from the panchayat. I would ask my friend to let me know whether there is any provision in the Bill which debar any such officer from issuing instructions to that panch to vacate his seat from the panchayat, so that he does not take part in the proceedings? There is absolutely no bar for these officers who are running those panchayats de facto and who will be time and again visiting those panchayats in their working. I think they will not be debarred or prevented by the provisions of this law to order or direct those panches not to take part in any proceedings. Moreover I may submit that every conscientious person when he comes to know that under the law he is not allowed to take part in certain proceedings and the law prohibits him, if he is a reasonable man, if he has got commonsense and if he has got any sense of justice and fair play, will of his own accord refrain from taking part in the proceedings according to the elementary principles of justice, equity and good conscience. Over and above that he is even barred by the provisions of this law to take part in any such proceedings. I do not think that he will be so immoral or devoid of any commonsense as to take part in those proceedings in spite of these provisions. So there is absolutely no force in the arguments advanced by my friend that there is no provision made in the Bill to the effect that an interested panch should not take part in the proceedings. Therefore those arguments of my honourable friend, as I have already stated, fall to the ground.

In conclusion, I may be failing in my moral duty if on this occasion I do not congratulate the Government on sponsoring this measure which is going to resuscitate those old indigenous institutions which date beyond even the Moghul period and which is now placing enhanced power into the hands of very conscientious persons, the panches. I think in the long run this measure will be for the ultimate good of our province and will guide the people towards democratic institutions and will awaken the political conscience of our people. With these remarks I give my whole-hearted support to the Bill.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan (Ludhiana, Muhammadan, Rural) (Urdu): Sir my honourable friend sitting opposite who has just finished his speech congratulated the Minister in charge for bringing forward such a beneficial measure before the House. I appreciate the idea no doubt and I congratulate him for congratulating the Minister incharge, as he being a member of the Unionist party has done his duty. As far as the Panchayat Bill is concerned, had my honourable friend read it as a lawyer, he would have found hundred and one defects in it. But I am afraid he has not done so. Now I should like to draw your attention to some of its main defects (interruptions) and I am sure you will come to the natural conclusion that this Bill is being enacted into law simply for the reason that the Government wants to concentrate powers in its own hand. First, I would invite your attention to the wording of section 6, subsection (2). It says:—

- (2) The results of all elections shall be reported to the prescribed authority and no election shall be valid until it has been confirmed by the prescribed authority.

What does it mean? It means that instead of giving any opportunity to the members of district board, municipal committee and official chairmen to utilize this Bill they have closed all avenues for them.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member should speak to the motion and address the chair.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : I am speaking to the motion. But I am being interrupted and I request you to kindly ask the members of the Unionist Party not to interrupt me. Otherwise I will have to reply to them, though through you.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : It is the business of the chair to stop interruptions. The honourable member should go on with his speech.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : It is quite clear that Government want to exercise their own power even in the matter of elections and that is why it has been provided that no election shall be valid until it has been confirmed by the prescribed authority. Who will be this prescribed authority? He might be the inspector of panchayats, revenue assistant or somebody else, we are not much concerned with it. Then my honourable friend has conveniently neglected subsection (3) of section 6 which reads thus :—

- (3) The prescribed authority may refuse to confirm the election as panch of any person who would be removed from office under any of the provisions of section 8 or whom such authority for any reason which it may deem to affect the public interest may consider to be unfit to be a panch and upon such refusal the election of such person shall be void.

The second part of subsection (3) referred to above is more objectionable than the first one. I think it would have been made clear to the House that the prescribed authority may refuse to confirm the election of any person for any reason which it may deem against the public interest. What does this mean? It means that the Government do not want to stop nominations and appointments but they want to continue them. In fact it does not become a Government which claims to be democratic to have permitted this sort of subsection to appear in the Bill. Now let us take clause 8 (f). It provides—

Whose continuance in office is, in the opinion of Government or of the officer to whom Government has delegated its power of removal, undesirable in the interests of the public or of the panchayat.

It means that if the officer, so empowered, thinks that the presence of a certain panch is prejudicial to the interest of the Government or he is undesirable in the opinion of the former, then the said officer can safely remove him from the panchayat. In other words although a certain panch might have been returned to the panchayat with a thumping majority of votes yet he will not be allowed to remain as such on the panchayat if he happens to be unfortunately a man of independent views. He may be enjoying the confidence of the whole village but this qualification cannot save him from an ignominious removal. The first Panchayat Bill was passed into law in 1909. Then it was amended in 1921, and it was further amended in 1931. Now we were under the impression that the new Bill would be a great improvement upon the previous ones and would go a long way in constituting really democratic institutions in the villages. But clause 8 in general and 8 (f) in particular has dashed all our hopes to the ground. Where was the necessity for wasting the precious time of the House and public money if after all this hue and cry you had to bring forth such a defective as well as harsh and stringent measure? You could safely have utilized this time and money for other purposes. The present Government is in the habit of declaring from the housetops that it is out and out a zamindar government. Now, let me point out to the so-called zamindar government that the zamindar of to-day stands in need of its financial help and not of such useless and frivolous measures. He wants a reduction in his land revenue. He requires a curtailment in his abiana. He does not want your Panchayat Bill. Unfortunately it has never struck the Government to take right step in the right direction. But why should the Honourable Ministers take notice of such things? Their chief concern is to draw big salaries and to retain all such powers to themselves. In clause 10 it has been provided that:—

If for any reason the panches of a panchayat are not elected or a casual vacancy is not filled within the time prescribed the Deputy Commissioner may appoint the necessary number of duly qualified persons to hold office as members of the panchayat, and any person so appointed shall hold office as if he had been duly elected under this Act.

It is well known that the majority of the villagers happen to be illiterate. They know nothing about their own rights and interests. Now supposing a certain panch is removed from his office by the deputy commissioner and the panchayat inadvertently omits to fill the casual vacancy within the prescribed time. In such a case the said officer has the necessary powers to nominate any of his favourites for the purpose, and so by creating an official bloc on the panchayat he may rule over it. Thus the sting of the whole Bill lies in this very clause. The deputy commissioner can by a single stroke of his pen change a democratic institution into a body of certain inspired and nominated flatterers. The Government knows that the average Punjabi is not unaware of its intentions and designs, and has become politically conscious. The Government, therefore, wants to maintain its hold on the rural population by making such a harsh and undemocratic provision. The establishment of panchayats may be useful to the village population but the queer sort of bodies that are intended to be constituted under the Bill would certainly prove detrimental to the best interests of the villagers. Probably the Honourable Minister has the weakness of enjoying the sight of sycophants and job-seekers rallying round him with a begging bowl in their hands. It is a fact that several people daily seek interviews with him in connection with the nominations to municipalities and district boards and now he wants that unpopular villagers who fail to defeat their opponents in the open elections to the panchayats may approach him with a request to remove the elected panch and fill the vacancy so created by their nomination. But the Government may rest assured that such things cannot take place now. You cannot fool all men for all time. I have just met certain deputationists who were asking the honourable member from their constituency to tender his resignation from his party.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member should speak to the motion.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Sir, I am only developing my argument. The said deputation consisted of big landlords and respectable chaudhries of their ilaga. All of them were bringing pressure to bear upon their representative in the House to resign from the party forthwith. I would not mention the name of the member.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I would request the honourable member to speak to the motion.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : I am speaking to the motion.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I hold his last remarks as irrelevant.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Anyway, the complaint of the deputationists was that the decision made by the old panchayat established in Gurgaon for the welfare of the zamindars of that ilaqa have not so far been confirmed by the local authority. Now they were telling their representative that since he had failed to get their grievances redressed through the Honourable Minister it was imperative on him to leave the party forthwith.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I request the honourable member not to bring in irrelevant matters.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : My submission is that the Unionist Government is, in spite of its various declarations, not prepared to do anything substantial for the welfare of the agriculturists. It may argue that it has empowered the proposed panchayats to find out ways and means for the agricultural development in their respective ilagas, but it is not the real thing which the zamindars require to-day. They want the Government to effect reduction in their land revenue and water rate. The Government should empower the panchayats to submit periodical reports to the effect as to whether the crops of their respective villages or ilagas are such as could enable the zamindars to pay the Government dues without facing any special financial embarrassment. But the so-called zamindar government has not delegated this power to the panchayats. Such a power would have gone a long way to redress the grievances and mitigate the miseries of the agriculturists. Moreover, the panchayats have not been delegated the power to submit a report to the Government against corrupt officers. My honourable friend, Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan, who has not completely divorced honesty as yet like his other colleagues, is not present in the House. Had he been here I would have asked him as to whether all these things have been inadvertently omitted in the Bill or the Government has deliberately done so. In fact the Government fears lest the panchayats should prick the bubble of the so-called honesty and probity of those officers upon whom the Government mainly depends for getting votes in the elections.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I would request the honourable member not to bring in irrelevant matters. This is too remote a sort of relevancy. The honourable member cannot make everything relevant by bringing it in his speech. The honourable member should confine his remarks to the passing of this Bill.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : You have stated that it is far from being relevant. It may be remotely relevant. All the same it is relevant, and so far as it is relevant, I can proceed.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : It is immediate relevancy that is required.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : May I ask you to point out under what rule things which are remotely relevant are not allowed ?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Everything may be said to be relevant in the remotest sense. The honourable member may bring in any matter and may say that it is relevant though remotely. But it is immediate relevancy that is required and not remote relevancy.

Sardar Sampuran Singh : Sir, it has been often stated by the Honourable Speaker that even an irrelevant matter can be made relevant by a clever man and I think that is exactly what the honourable member is doing.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : It is for you to determine which is remotely relevant and which is immediately irrelevant. But so far as I am relevant I will be perfectly in order, it does not matter whether it is immediately relevant or remotely relevant.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I would request the honourable member to go on with his speech.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : I was submitting that the prime need of the day is that the panchayats should be entrusted with the work of appraising the success of the crops of their respective ilayas so that they may be in a position to recommend to the deputy commissioner the extent to which they want their land revenue to be reduced or remitted. But I know it for certain that the Government has deliberately omitted to make these provisions in the Bill. It is not an inadvertent omission. However, it is a matter between the Government and its true masters living in the villages. I trust the latter would see to it that the Government is properly chastised for this dereliction of duty on its part. Anyway, I need not bother about it.

The Honourable Minister was pleased to remark that Sardar Hari Singh had not carefully gone through the Bill. But my submission is that the Bill has not been properly read out to the Honourable Minister himself. (Laughter.) There are many sections included in this Panchayat Bill from which it appears that the principle of this Bill is diametrically opposed to what it should have been. I may point out that if we are opposed to the present Bill it does not mean that we object to the establishing of panchayats. On the other hand we earnestly desire that the zamindars should go to courts very seldom and that they should get their disputes settled in their panchayats. I am conscious of the fact that by advocating such views I am doing harm to the people who belong to the legal profession; all the same it is our ardent desire to save the zamindars from unnecessary botheration and expenditure. But at the same time we do not want that they should get out of one botheration and walk straight into another. This is what my friends are at present doing. Although by introducing this Bill they want to save them from the botheration of going to courts, at the same time they wish to entangle them in fresh troubles. We on this side of the House do not like that the zamindars should accept such a system of dispensing justice for themselves where there will be no appeal, no dali and no wakil. It is our bounden duty to see that they do not go out of the frying pan and fall into the fire. If they are saved from the botheration of going to courts we should also see that such a panchayat system should not be imposed on them from which instead of getting any relief they should get into fresh troubles.

[Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan.]

Besides, I may point out that one of the reasons why this Bill has been enacted is that the Unionist Party or for the matter of that the Punjab Government do not desire that the zamindars should get proper representation and proper guiding. In other words although the Honourable Minister for Public Works has asked the panchayat and assistant panchayat officers that they should go to villages and bring home to zamindars as to who are their friends and who are their foes, it is very difficult to expect from them that they would tell the zamindars as to who are their real friends. I may also point out that there are many parties who profess to be the well-wishers of the zamindars. But how are we to judge as to which party is their well-wisher? In my opinion we can judge this thing from the attitude which a particular party adopts towards them. Now from the attitude of the Unionist Party it is quite clear that in the guise of establishing panchayats it is creating fresh troubles for the zamindars. From this we can safely conclude that the members of that party are the foes of the zamindars, who want to entangle them in fresh troubles.

Then, again, there is another point which I wish to bring to your notice and that is that the question of agriculturists and non-agriculturists will not arise in the panchayats. In my opinion generally panchayats would consist of agriculturists. In the circumstances I fail to understand why the Unionist Government has adopted such an attitude towards them inasmuch as the election of panches will not be regarded as valid unless and until they are confirmed by the prescribed authority. It appears as if the Government want to keep the panches entirely under their control. So the provision regarding election of panches is merely an eye wash.

Now, Sir, you are aware of the fact that the real aim of the Panchayat Bill now before the House is to establish more panchayats. But in my opinion this Bill instead of rendering any help in establishing the panchayats would rather discourage them. However from the attitude of the present Government we do not expect that at any time any salutary panchayat measure would be forthcoming. We do desire that the members of the Unionist Party should know what are the real needs of the people of the Punjab in connection with panchayats. But it is a thousand pities that they are not doing any such thing. They have simply brought forward a Bill which is full of pernicious and harmful provisions and it is my firm opinion that it will founder on the same rock on which its predecessor has foundered. I think all the members are aware of the fact that all the Panchayat Acts which were enacted in 1912 and 1922 failed to achieve anything. The reason for their failure was that the panchayats which they established were not based on the customs and traditions of this country. Naturally when some of them were established they failed to achieve any object. In this connection I may point out that even the Decentralization Committee expressed the opinion that such spirit should be created in the minds of the rural people which was found to be in the urban people, but the pity is the urban people whether they were agriculturists or non-agriculturists instead of raising the standard of the rural people have always been taking advantage of their illiteracy. The fact of the matter is that they never helped them. To-day the Unionist Party is following in their footsteps and they also want to exploit the rural people.

Then I may point out that there are some sections in the Bill which go to show that the Bill is not different from its predecessors. If there is any difference that is merely in words only. The object of this Bill is the same as that of the previous Acts. For example we find that it is provided in this Bill that panches would be elected. In the previous Acts the panches were nominated. If we study closely the provisions of the Bill we would find that this election of panches is nothing more than nomination, for it is provided in the Bill now before the House that no election shall be valid unless and until it has been confirmed by the prescribed authority. In other words the election of panches means nothing. It will entirely rest with the Government to declare the election of any panch valid or not. In the circumstances I may point out that the word "election" is a mere eye wash. As a matter of fact panches in the guise of election will be nominated as before by the Government. I am also of the opinion that in many cases if not on any other account the election of panches would be declared void on the ground of public interest. I will now cite several examples to show as to what is public interest in the eyes of my honourable friends opposite. For instance, if anybody asks the Government to grant remissions in land revenue they say it is against the public interest to do so. If anybody tells them that their officers get bribes, they at once declare that it is against the public interest to take action against them. If anybody tells my honourable friends that they are not doing their duty properly they at once jump up and say that it is against the public interest to say so. In short on some such excuses my honourable friends would generally declare the elections of panches as null and void. In view of this I may point out that whatever panches would be elected, would be merely the nominees of the Government and we cannot expect them to do anything substantial for the villagers. Moreover, Sir, you must have experienced in the district board, Ludhiana, as to what is the difference between elected and nominated members. Nominated members are merely the 'yesmen' of the Government. So will be the case in the panchayats. All the panches will remain under the thumb of the Government, and they will do only those things which the Government ask them to do. Besides, you must have seen in the Ludhiana District Board that whenever it is pointed out that the conditions of zamindars are very bad and that they should be given some relief, the members are told by the deputy commissioner, who himself belongs to a family of small landholders and who should have more regard for the small landholders, that such a matter is out of the purview of the district board. I am constrained to remark that the same state of affairs would prevail in the panchayats as well. Here I may tell my honourable friends opposite that if the Unionist Party wished it could make the panchayats successful. These panchayats can perform good things and disputes of the zamindars can also be settled. But the pity is that the Bill which is now before the House would instead of settling the disputes of the zamindars increase them and corruption could also prevail among the zamindars. As a result of corruption it would become all the more difficult for the zamindars to make their living in the villages.

[Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan.]

I warn the Government that this Bill should not be placed on the Statute book and they should have mercy on the zamindars and withdraw it. I think the panchayats that will be established by virtue of this Bill instead of affording any relief to the zamindars would prove detrimental to their interests.

Now Sir, I wish to draw your attention to a few provisions of the Bill. In the first place I may point out that there is a provision the effect of which will be that any person who is opposed to the panches in any way, would always be afraid lest any tax may be imposed on him which he may not be in a position to pay. All the honourable members are fully aware of the fact that it is beyond the power of zamindars to pay any more taxes. What to speak of paying more taxes the poor zamindars even cannot pay mālba and they are agitating over it. In the circumstances it is impossible for them to pay any more taxes. In my opinion the power of imposing taxes is very dangerous. I ask the honourable members over there, where is the guarantee that the sarpanch will not impose any such tax on the zamindars which is beyond their power to pay? I may inform them that great resentment is prevailing amongst the zamindars on this account. Therefore it behoves them to do something to assuage their feelings.

If this Panchayat Bill is passed into an Act, the poor zamindars will not be able to act according to it. Crime will increase, corruption will flourish and the expenses of the people will multiply. 2 p.m. The time will soon come when the zamindars will be compelled to oppose the provisions of the Panchayat Act. An honourable friend was saying just now that I was committing a mistake in opposing the Panchayat Bill but he knows full well why I oppose it. Although the legal practitioners, to which class I also belong, will be the losers on account of the Panchayat Act, still I am prepared to support it provided it is presented in the real form and aims at giving the villagers full autonomy. But unfortunately the present Bill does not aim at this objective. Here wide powers are proposed to be given to the deputy commissioners. I do not think that if deputy commissioners are given the sole authority, they will act according to the best interests of the zamindars. May be five per cent of them will do that. But a vast majority of them will act to the detriment of the villagers. Under clause 76 of the present Bill powers are given to the deputy commissioners who may further delegate those powers to the revenue assistants, magistrate, inspector or director of panchayats. This is nothing short of suicide on the part of the zamindars. The agriculturists will thereby be humiliated. I would like to strike a note of warning that if the Panchayat Bill is to be enforced, a more genuine Bill should be drafted than this, so that the villagers may be allowed to settle their disputes by themselves without the intervention of the officers and without wasting their income on litigation. If that is done the villagers will be able to save time and money for the pursuit of education and other salutary activities. I can say without fear of contradiction that the Bill in its present form is not calculated to benefit the rural population.

Further, the Bill makes distinction in optional and compulsory functions. It will be compulsory for the panchayats to do certain things while it will be optional for them to do certain others. My honourable friend Sardar Hari

Singh had also drawn attention to this effect. I, therefore, do not want to dilate upon it any further. But I may be allowed to mention this much that the Punjab Government have not actively supported and helped the Honourable Chief Justice in uprooting corruption from this province. (Mian Abdul Rab: Question.) The honourable member is not in his seat and is questioning my statement. He should stand in his seat and then I will give way.

Mian Abdul Rab : The honourable member has said that the Punjab Government has not helped the Honourable Chief Justice in eradicating corruption from the province. If he has made this statement, he should corroborate it by instances. I question the relevancy of his speech.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Mr. Deputy Speaker, I recognize you as the Deputy Speaker and not any other honourable member sitting on my right or left. They have no right to say whether this is relevant or otherwise. (Interruption.)

Mian Abdul Rab : On a point of order. When an honourable member is making a speech, during the course of which he makes wild allegations that remain uncorroborated, is it then not relevant for another honourable member to ask him a question during his speech?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : There is no point of order involved. The honourable member may go on with his speech.

Lala Duni Chand : If you permit me I can give instances.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : Order, please.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : I was submitting that the Punjab Government were not helping the Chief Justice in eradicating corruption from the province.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I would request the honourable member to speak to the motion. He is irrelevant.

Mian Abdul Rab : May I ask the honourable member a question through you, Sir? Is it not a fact that the Punjab Government has opened an anti-corruption department with a special officer in charge of it who has up to this time dealt with hundreds of cases?

Mr. Deputy Speaker : This has no relevancy. (Laughter.)

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : I was submitting that with the establishment of panchayats the danger of corruption spreading will be enhanced. The Punjab Government should try to stamp out corruption.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member should go on with his speech and should not refer to it.

Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan : Sir, I was submitting that there were such clauses in the Bill as would increase the expenditure of the zamindars. As there are optional and compulsory functions and as the right of making an application for the transfer of a case is also given, I am afraid the people will have to go to the same courts from which it is intended to save them. There will be the same danger of incurring expenditure in litigation. In order to apply to collector, a person will have to affix a stamp which will cost him a good deal. In short, there are innumerable defects and loopholes in the Bill and I am sure if the Minister in charge had known them or if they had been brought to his notice, he would have removed them at once.

Again, the question of appointing "prescribed authority" by the Government gives rise to certain suspicions in our minds. We do not know as to who will be so appointed. It should be a person who enjoys the confidence of the public, and not any petty official whom the Government may have the pleasure of entrusting with this responsibility. In brief the Bill is full of many defects and in my humble opinion is not worth consideration of the House. The House should not have wasted its valuable time over it.

One of the most serious objections against this measure is this that when it is passed into an Act, its working will add to the taxation of the rural population which is already groaning under the heavy burden of taxes. The zamindars are already protesting against the levy of malba. We all know how this malba is spent. A great agitation is going on against malba in the districts of Ferozepore, Lyallpur and Ludhiana. You will agree, therefore, that if the panchayats are allowed to impose taxes much harm will result from this system and things in the countryside will go from bad to worse. No provision has been made to ensure that the money collected on account of these taxes will be utilized towards the improvement of life in rural areas.

My honourable friend Lala Harnam Das complained that no arrangement has been made to give representation to the untouchables in the panchayats. The Government professes to be sympathetic towards the untouchables and a few representatives of these classes do sit on the Government benches. These gentlemen say that the untouchables will get adequate representation in panchayats. But not a single word to that effect has been incorporated in the Bill. I wonder how the untouchables will get any representation when no provision for that has been made in the Bill. It is a well-known fact that the untouchables are made victims of the tyranny of zamindars in villages. When the untouchables have not been given any representation by this Bill, it cannot be said that the new Act will in any way prove beneficial to the untouchables. I am afraid the new Act is going to prove a burden for these depressed classes. For instance, if a complaint comes up before a panchayat in which there is no representative of the untouchables that begar has been taken from an untouchable, the poor fellow will not be able to get justice. The panchayat will certainly decide that it is not a begar. It was work taken in regular course because it is the zamindars who provide corn to the untouchables at the harvest time and the untouchables gather fuel from the trees owned by the zamindars.

In the end I wish to point out that when all is said and done the Panchayat Act is not the first necessity of the needy zamindar. His first necessity is reduction in land revenue and abiana demands. At present hundreds of thousands of zamindars are starving in rural areas. The Government, therefore, should reduce the burden of the Government dues. Sir, I am sure many speeches will be made from that side of the House to show that the Panchayat Act will be a real blessing for the zamindars. You will kindly ask the learned speakers to quote sections and subsections of this Bill.

to prove that this Bill is going to be really a blessing. It is not sufficient to say that members of the Opposition make incorrect statements. Concrete facts must be given in order to establish that this measure is really useful. My point is that the very principle underlying this Bill is most mischievous and pernicious. With these words, I oppose this Bill.

Sardar Kapoor Singh (Ludhiana East, Sikh, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, my learned friends who have spoken from those benches have congratulated the Honourable Minister in charge of this Bill, but I am not prepared to join in their chorus of congratulations. I would have certainly joined them in offering felicitations to the Honourable Minister if I believed that the Government would work the panchayat system in the old beneficent way. I agree that the principle underlying this Bill is sound enough. I am in its favour. I agree that it was the success of the panchayat system which saved people in olden times from so many ills. For instance, much of the peoples money is now wasted on litigation while litigation was equal to nothing when the panchayat system worked efficiently. I have no hesitation in saying, therefore, that there is nothing wrong in the principle underlying this Bill. What I object to is that this institution of satjug is being introduced by a Government of the kaljug. I am, therefore, of the opinion that in the hands of the present Government this institution will do more harm than good to the people of this province. The Government, I am afraid, will try to exploit the system for its own purposes. The system has existed in its legalised form since 1912 and up to 1939 it has not worked successfully. What is the reason? Not that the system was not good. The reason was that the Government which was working it did not wish that it should work successfully. From 1912 to 1939 only one thousand panchayats could be established in the province. If you examine the working of these panchayats you will come to the conclusion that they have not been working successfully. In view of this I am of the opinion that the panchayats will not work successfully even under the present Government.

Minister for Public Works: We have ousted the agents of kaljug.

Sardar Kapoor Singh: And you have taken their place. If there had been some other Government the Act would have been made a success. But so far as you are concerned, we know your mind too well. You have no mind to make the panchayat system a success. You want to strengthen your party's position and that is all. Sir, the real intention of the Government is revealed in the advice which is given by the leading men in this Government to the panchayat officers. I will refer you to a speech delivered by no less a person than the Honourable Premier on the 12th of October. So far as the first part of the speech is concerned, that is, the panchayat officers should not bear themselves arrogantly in villages and should not assume airs like high officers. I quite agree with the Honourable Premier. But later on while giving the panchayat officers certain instructions the Premier said something which indirectly was calculated to cause hatred between communities living in villages. His words aimed at bringing about class-hatred. This is a report of his speech.

"The Premier expressed his displeasure at the present leadership of the Sikh community. At present the Sikhs were led by a class who did not adequately represent the true interests of the Jat Sikhs. The Premier, however, regretted that they were being led by irresponsible leaders who did not know their own interests."

[Sardar Kapoor Singh.]

Now, these are the words of the Premier meant for those people whose primary duty in the villages is to tell people to give up their factious spirit and live peacefully. It is desirable that these people are told to work in such a way that no differences between classes, that is between agriculturists on the one hand and non-agriculturists on the other, are allowed to assume dangerous proportions. But the Honourable Premier says nothing of the sort. He simply reminds the panchayat officers that the Sikh leadership has passed from zamindars to non-zamindars. In view of all this may I ask the Honourable Minister whether or not—

Mr. Deputy Speaker : I would request the honourable member to speak to the motion.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : That is exactly what I am doing. My doubts and apprehensions are not based only on these speeches. My honourable friend Sardar Hari Singh also quoted a speech which goes to prove that these apprehensions are not without foundation. But more than anything else the Act itself is a clear index of the intentions and mentality of the Government. From end to end it is an Act of discretions. There is not a single clause in respect of which the Government has not reserved discretionary powers for itself. (A voice : What about clause 19 ?) My honourable friend has referred to clause 19, but may I draw his attention to the very first expression ? The clause begins with the expression "subject to such rules as may be prescribed", I hope my honourable friend is satisfied now. Then, Sir, you know that we put it to the Government that if it was not prepared to accept the proposal to make these rules "subject to the approval of the Assembly", at least it should agree to the rules made by it being discussed in a formal manner in the House. But even that was not acceptable to the Government. This is another proof of the fact that the Government is not so anxious about the success of the measure or the welfare of the zamindars as about carrying on party propaganda through the panchayat officers.

I frankly admit that I am not so strongly opposed to the whole measure as my honourable friends Sardar Hari Singh and Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan are. I want a speedy spread of the panchayat system in the province. But it must be of the right sort and absolutely genuine. I am not in favour of centralization of all powers. I am for decentralization and giving as many powers to the panchayats as possible. But I must submit that whatever powers are to be given must be definitely stated in the Act so that there may be no doubt about them and no chance of their being abused by the higher authorities and the Government. I cannot brook the idea of the Government retaining all powers in its hands and the panchayats awaiting its instructions in regard to the minutest detail. But what do we find here ? Let us begin from the very beginning and see how the panchayat area will be constituted. Clause 4 says that—

The Government may by notification declare any area situated within the limits of a tahsil to be panchayat area for the purposes of this Act and may by notification alter the boundaries of any area so declared.

This throws a flood of light on the bona fides of the Government. It should be clear to the meanest imagination that it is one of the essentials, of democracy that if you want to include more than one village in one panchayat area the opinion of the residents of those villages must be elicited as to whether they do or do not agree to this inclusion. But the Government has taken arbitrary powers to include any village in any panchayat area at its sweet will.

Again, if a Government wants to work this Act in a true democratic spirit there may be nothing wrong in its taking such powers. But, look at the power to alter the boundaries of any area and the potentialities of mischief latent in that power. Supposing a certain village is congress-minded and is likely to elect a panchayat consisting of congressmen. The Government can at once include in that panchayat area another village which is thoroughly reactionary, and, therefore, suitable for the purpose of the Government. This practice of putting an old spent up bullock to the same yoke with a young calf will surely retard the progress of the panchayat system in the province. Thus the whole structure is based on doubtful foundations. First of all this measure itself is sure to give rise to many apprehensions, and then there are certain special powers taken by the Government which go to confirm our doubts and misgivings. After all, what is the fun in arbitrarily putting together in one panchayat area two villages which have nothing in common so far as their social, cultural, and, may be, economic problems are concerned.

I need not touch the question of elections because it has been thoroughly discussed by my friends Sardar Hari Singh and Chaudhri Muhammad Hasan. Now I want to say just a few words about the powers of the district board. I am of the opinion that a good many powers and functions of the district boards can be transferred to panchayats with advantage. As you are aware, the district boards generally deal with five or six departments and so naturally their duties are more than those of any other local body. For instance, district boards mainly deal with education, public health and public works. My submission is that all these departments except education should be dealt with by panchayats. I should like to submit why I have suggested to exclude education department from the powers of district board. If you take the income of a district board into consideration you will see that it is nearly one crore of rupees realized by local rate and professional rates and moreover a grant of one crore of rupees is advanced by the Government to the district boards. There is hardly any district to which less than 60 per cent grant is given by the Government, otherwise grants are given to some districts between 60 per cent or 100 per cent. There are certain districts to which cent per cent grant is being provided by the Government. What I mean to say is that the greater amount of money spent on education is borne by the Government itself. I, therefore, submit that as far as the department of education is concerned it should be directly controlled by the district boards. We are fully aware of the fact that a considerable amount of money is granted by the district board for the purpose of repair and a greater part of it is misappropriated by contractors. For instance, if a grant of Rs. 800 is provided by a district board for repairs, it is hardly Rs. 100 that will be spent on actual repairs, the rest of it is embezzled by contractors. My submission is that if these repairs are made through panchayats it will do a lot of good to the people and district boards as well. If the powers of a district board are invested in the panchayats I am sure, a lot of money can be saved. So much I have to say about the repairs of the Government and district board buildings.

Next thing which I object to is the provision in the Bill relating to cattle pounds.

Minister of Education : Do not go to cattle pounds.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : Then I shall take up sanitation. This provision is also objectionable. Had Government thought over this question seriously and wisely they could have saved a lot of money. But unfortunately what they want to do is to consolidate their party by appointing as many servants as possible under the Unionist Government so that the party propaganda may reach its full swing. It is a pity that they neglect this fact that there is overlapping almost in every department.

Mr. Deputy Speaker : The honourable member is not speaking to the motion.

Sardar Kapoor Singh : As it is our earnest desire that the Government should not squander money of the people in the shape of the Development Fund, I submit that every effort should be made in order to save even a penny of the poor people of this province. This can be done if the Government stop the grants that are given to Rural Reconstruction Department through deputy commissioners and get this money spent not by these agencies but directly by the panchayats. And as far as the Public Health Department is concerned I would submit that the amount of money spent on constructing streets in villages and providing quinine in rural areas should also be spent through panchayats. I may also point out that even in this department money is being misappropriated. I, therefore, request the Minister in charge that all the special grants provided to Better Living Societies, Rural Committee Boards, and Rural Uplift Societies should be left at the disposal of panchayats. I may also tell the Minister in charge that if the panchayats do not succeed in discharging their administrative duties the reason would be shortage of funds. As the panchayats will have to depend upon the Government contributions they cannot go their own way and if under these circumstances the Government expect them to levy tax in case of shortage of funds, I may assure them that it will be quite impossible to expect it of panchayats. What to speak of panchayats, even the Minister of Education has not the courage to levy a tax as far as his Primary Education Bill is concerned. The thing is that the Government is afraid of taking direct action. Therefore it seems practically impossible that panchayats will improve themselves by levying a tax. It is useless to think so. When this is the state of affairs I would request the Government that they should empower the panchayats with the authority to discharge the duties of all these departments which I have just referred to and place the grants and contributions at panchayats' disposal. Otherwise many a measure like this has been enacted by the Government and has proved futile and useless later on. For instance, may I ask the Government to show me a single application submitted to them by a zamindar in connection with the Restitution of Mortgaged Lands Act. If the Government wants to exploit the rural population by saying that they have made the Panchayat Act in order to save them from the clutches of lawyers then that is another thing. Then they may increase the number by adding this one to the Acts already passed by this House. If they are really the well-wishers of the poor peasantry of the province and they want to see this Bill successful they should comply with my requests. But I am sure they will not do so as their ulterior motives do not permit them to act upon our suggestions.

In the previous Act it was laid down that the panchayats would take steps to start and encourage cottage and agricultural industries. But the average amount spent by each panchayat in this connection is no more than Rs. 46 a year. Then at another place I read that the average expenditure on this item of the duties of the panchayats since the passage of the Act is Rs. 200 only. Imagine Rs. 200 being spent by a panchayat during the whole of the long period of its life for the encouragement of cottage and agricultural industries. How can anybody blame the panchayats for their failure in this respect? What could they achieve with this meagre sum? You send propaganda parties to districts like Hissar, Rohtak or Dera Ghazi Khan to induce people to take to cottage and agricultural industries. But can they be of any use, unless, of course, you want them to carry on your party propaganda? If you really want the movement of cottage and agricultural industries to succeed you should hand over this work to the panchayats.

In the end I would again warn the Government not to indulge in their favourite pastime of making such speeches as are sure to encourage party factions in the villages. In this connection, I must refer to a very sound piece of advice given by Mr. Brayne. It is that if the Government wants the panchayats to succeed they must put an end to party factions. The cause of the failure of the previous Act was nothing but these party factions and if the Government do not eradicate this evil they may rest assured that the new Act is bound to fail too.

Thus, Sir, as I have already said I have no quarrel with the principle of the Bill but in view of the previous record of this Government I hesitate to support a measure which gives the substance of power to the Government leaving only its shadow for the panchayats.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi (Lyallpur and Jhang, General, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, I wish we could, all of us, congratulate the Government on this piece of legislation. For more than 30 months we have been opposing this Government at every step because we have not been able to see eye to eye with it on any question. We on this side of the House, have tried our level best to offer co-operation to the Government, but there has been no response from the other side. This Bill, however, could have been an exception, because both sides agree so far as its principle is concerned and if the Government so desired it could have widened the scope of the harmony and increase the points of agreement with regard to the various provisions also. But it is a pity that the Government willed otherwise. It is regrettable but it is a fact all the same.

Now let us look at the progress made in this direction so far. The old Panchayat Act was passed in 1921 and we find from the official reports that the number of panchayats in the province is 1,142. Just imagine a province with 36,000 villages and with a population of more than 20,000,000 living in villages, having no more than 1,142 panchayats in all these years. This works out to just over three panchayats for every hundred villages. It is the wish of every one of us that we had by now established a panchayat in every village or if cent per cent success was not achieved the figure should have been at least 97 per cent. But, alas, it is no more than 3 per cent! And what is the cause of this meagre success which is worse than failure? Some honourable members have expressed doubts about the bona fides of the Government while others have attributed this failure to the attitude of the officers concerned. But let me submit, Sir, that the real cause of this state of affairs is that the panchayats have not proved really useful to the people. This, in turn, is due to a great extent to lack of funds. Let me draw your attention to the following passage in the report:—

The expenditure increased from Rs. 27,000 to Rs. 32,000.

There being 1,142 panchayats, this means that on an average a panchayat spent about Rs. 30 a year for the benefit of the people. May I ask what a panchayat can be expected to achieve with Rs. 30 a year or Rs. 2-8-0 a month? You want the panchayats to do so many things. Clause 19 lays down the duties to be performed by a panchayat. There are as many as 15 items comprising the compulsory functions to be performed by a panchayat. And all this is to be achieved with no more than Rs. 2-8-0 a month. It may be said that a panchayat has been empowered to levy taxes. True. But what is the practical value of that power? Let me draw your attention to an official report which says that in the district of Amritsar—

A village rate was levied in three panchayats as an experimental measure. But nothing was realized as none of the panchayats had the necessary strength to realize the tax that they imposed.

May I ask what store you can lay by the power that has been given to the panchayats in the face of this confession? And I cannot blame the three panchayats concerned. The fact is that the villagers are unable to pay any such new taxes. They already contribute about 10 crores of rupees out of a total revenue of about 12 crores. On an average every village pays Rs. 3,000 as Government dues. What more can you expect from poor villagers? They really cannot pay a single copper more. Therefore, you should help the panchayats by making liberal grants. The Bombay Government gave a conclusive proof of its bona fides by compelling the district boards to give one-fifth of the local cess to the panchayats. If you make a similar provision the panchayats will get at least as much as Rs. 5,00,000 every year. It may be argued that if every village pays, on an average, Rs. 3,000 to the exchequer they get as much in turn. I admit that you spend money on education, public health, etc. But that cannot amount to more than Rs. 500 a year for each village. Is it asking too much if these people who pay you Rs. 3,000 a year request you to grant them not all of it, not half, nor even one-fourth, but just a fraction for ameliorating their lot through their panchayats?

The crux of the problem is that so long as the panchayats have not sufficient revenues at their disposal they can do nothing. We are enacting this Bill and are giving so many duties to the panchayats but it is impossible for them to carry out their duties without any funds. Unless and until they have sufficient amount of revenues at their disposal they cannot make any arrangements about the matters which have been entrusted to them. In this connection I may point out that although under the authority of section 69 of this Bill a panchayat can levy taxes, from the practical point of view, this section will remain a dead letter and no taxes would ever be levied under this clause because the zamindars are already so much overburdened that they cannot pay any new taxes. After all wherefrom should the panchayats bring money for carrying on their duties and functions properly? In my opinion if the panchayats fail, the fault will not lie with the rural people. I may tell my honourable friends over there that if they wish to establish panchayats they should establish them after the panchayats of the pre-British period. Now they have given them so many functions but they have not made any arrangements for supplying funds to the panchayats with which they can carry on their duties. How can these village institutions function when the Central Government takes away every penny from the rural people and the taxes thus realized find their way to the central exchequer? But when the time for spending the money comes the Government says that it has no money to spare and that the panchayats can carry on their functions by imposing new taxes. I fail to understand the real object of the Government. I for one cannot support such a thing. I am also aware of the fact that the Bombay Government has imposed a compulsory house tax in the villages with a view to provide funds for the panchayats. But I may point out that we do not agree with that idea of imposing a new tax. The poor villagers are already so much hard pressed by the burden of other taxes that they cannot pay any new taxes. As a matter of fact they have to pay many taxes in the form of land revenue, abiana, malba and chaukidara cess. Even against these taxes lot of agitation is going on in the villages. In the circumstances how can the poor villagers pay any new taxes. My friends think that by passing this section 69 they have done their duty, but I may point out to them that so far as the question of providing funds for the panchayats is concerned they have done nothing. It behoves them to think over the matter and devise some method for supplying funds to the panchayats by which they would be able to carry on their duties.

Further, I may point out that now we have repealed the Panchayat Act of 1921 and after 18 years we are enacting a new measure. Do the Government think that after enacting this measure they will be able to establish 10 to 15 thousand panchayats in the Punjab? If not, am I not right in saying that this wish of theirs will remain a pious wish for all times to come. Let alone this, I may point out if my honourable friends opposite were anxious to establish panchayats they should have taken some effective steps to establish panchayats in the Punjab. The example of Bombay is before us and we could very well have followed it. It has been provided in the Bombay Panchayat Act, 1938, that villages which have a population of 2,000 or more persons, should have a panchayat by compulsion. Our Government could very well have followed in the footsteps of the Bombay Government and could have provided some such section in the Bill now before the House. We could very easily have provided in our measure that all the villages with a population of 1,000 or more persons should necessarily have a panchayat established in them.

Minister for Public Works : You can establish panchayats in the Punjab anywhere you like.

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi : Yes, if the Government so desire, panchayats can be established, otherwise not. But our contention is that a definite provision should have been made in this Bill so that the day on which it is enforced, panchayats would be established in those villages. If this procedure had been followed at least 5 to 6 thousand panchayats would have been established on one single day. Against this the Government can very well say that they have appointed panchayat and assistant panchayat officers to establish panchayats in the villages and that they are being paid Rs. 75 and Rs. 50 by way of salaries. One of the duties of these officers will be to establish panchayats in villages where there are no panchayats. But I may point out to the honourable members that that is not the only object of appointing the panchayat officers. The honourable members have heard the duties which the Honourable Minister for Public Works and the Honourable Premier want these officers to perform. Now I will read out to them a passage from the speech of the Honourable Minister for Development in which he has laid stress on the functions and duties of the panchayat officers. (At this stage Mr. Speaker resumed the Chair.)

With your permission, Sir, I will read out as to what duties my honourable friend over there, who at present is not present in his seat, expects from panchayat officers. While addressing them he stated :

Go to the villages with the determination to sweep aside the cob-webs of falsehood so subtly woven by the political adversaries of the Unionist Government in the province. They have exploited all the resources for moving up the masses against the present Ministry.

and now what is their duty :

Now it is your turn to apprise the masses of the real state of affairs (hear, hear).

In short this will be the duty of the panchayat officers. After all how can we expect from these officers who draw Rs. 75 and Rs. 50 by way of salaries, that in such a time of unemployment they would work impartially? In short every one of the Ministers whether he is Minister for Public Works, or Minister for Development dings into the ears of these panchayat officers that their duty is to make propaganda in favour of the Unionist Government. As a matter of fact these officers have been entrusted with the work of a washerman to wash away the deeds of the Unionist Cabinet. They have not been appointed to help in establishing more panchayats, but their main duty is to go from place to place and "apprise the people of the real state of affairs". Further on the Minister for Development stated :

"political agitators had created misapprehensions in the minds of the credulous zamindars by telling them that the Unionist Government rendered nothing for their welfare and that no relief had been granted to them in the matter of malba, chankidars, abians and land revenue."

Now these are the duties which have been imposed on the panchayat officers.

I may point out that we do desire that the panchayats should be established in the villages. We are not opposing the measure merely for the sake of opposition, but our object is to improve this Bill. I may point out that it is quite true that if we find any flaws and drawbacks in this Bill it can be amended in future. But what is lacking is the will. If we have a will we can make a programme that within the next 10 years out of 86,000 villages panchayats would be established in 18,000. This is the way in which panchayats can be established. The old adage "where there is a will there is a way" is quite true. It behoves my friends to act according to this adage.

Then again, my honourable friend Sardar Hari Singh stated in the course of his speech that according to him too many civil and criminal powers have been given to the panchayats and that they should not have been given. I very respectfully differ from him (hear, hear) and I think that even more powers should have been vested in the panchayats. It is just possible that the panchayats may misuse these powers or even commit mistakes; but I may point out that in the beginning every institution is bound to make mistakes (hear, hear). When beginnings are made it is necessary that mistakes must be committed. I may also point out that in view of the fact that the responsibilities of the panchayats were many we proposed an amendment that the sarpanches should instead of for one year be elected for three years in order that the experience which they gain in the first year should stand them in good stead in the following years. After an experience of 12 months they would very efficiently carry on their duties. If my friends had any idea of successfully working these panchayats, in that case they would have agreed to our amendment. But as they have no such idea, so in the intoxication of the power of their majority they rejected our amendments without giving a moment's reflection to it. I warn them that to-day on the strength of their majority they reject our amendments but the coming events will show to them as to who was right and who was wrong and what was good for the people and what was bad for them.

One the chief aims of panchayats was to eliminate the hardships of the villagers, especially those of the backward communities among them. It was, therefore, hoped that Harijans would be given special representation in the village panchayats. The Bombay Government's Panchayat Act was there to serve as a model only if the Punjab Government had cared to follow it. That Act does not leave such things to rules. How can we depend upon rules? Who does not know that the Honourable Minister merely signs whatever is presented to him by his Secretary? That is why the question of reservation of seats for the Harijans has been left to the Government who will make the rules. With regard to that the Harijans should be given some weightage because we know that the Village officials like the lambardars and the zaildars oppress them in various ways. The powerful zamindars commit all sorts of atrocities on the achuts. I am afraid our Government will not give them adult franchise. It is just possible that their fate will be left to be decided by the local officers.

One word more and I have done. There is no denying the fact that our Unionist Ministry is not actuated by any desire to do good to the public at large. In fact the Unionists are out to consolidate the position of their own party in the Punjab. They are afraid of their deminishing influence, and want to do all they can to strengthen their hold on the masses. The principle of the Bill is so good and its provisions are so bad that when I wish to congratulate the Unionist Government my reason suppresses the sentiment and thus a conflict arises between my head and heart.

[Mr. Dev Raj Sethi.]

In the end I may be allowed to make a prophecy, although it is very dangerous to make any prophecy in politics. If this measure is enacted, I am afraid, the next Ministry will realize within six or seven years that this measure of 83 clauses is no good and must be thrown into the waster-paper basket, and a new one should be enacted in its place. That is why, Mr. Speaker, I strongly oppose this Bill in spite of the fact that I agree to its principle.

Pendit Nani Lal Kalia (Ludhiana and Ferozepore, General, Rural) (Urdu): Sir, the Bill still abounds in defects although some amendments of minor importance have been accepted and it has reached the third reading stage. Had the Government any intention to improve it, its shortcomings would have certainly been removed by this time. It is really strange that our Government means to try those things to-day that have already been put to the acid test of experience by our neighbouring Governments in the past. For instance, the United Provinces Government had given these powers to the panchayats as far back as the year 1890, which the Unionist Government is giving in 1939. Again, these very judicial powers were given to panchayats in Bengal in 1885. But when the Panchayat Act was introduced in the Punjab in 1912, the panchayats were empowered to settle suits relating to an amount of 20 rupees only. And even that power was subject to the mutual agreement of the parties concerned. The second instalment was given to us in 1918 when a few criminal powers were given to the village panchayats. The late Mian Sir Fazl-i-Husain introduced the present Village Panchayat Act in 1922 in the old Punjab Legislative Council. The same arguments that were advanced against that measure are being urged even now against the present Bill. That shows that the present Bill is no improvement on the old Act. The only difference between the two is that the Bill now under consideration is more bulky. The old Act has only 34 sections while the present one consists of 83 clauses. But when we proceed to consider as to whether the additional clauses embody the spirit of the age or not, we are sadly disappointed. Most of the powers are given to the local Government. The Government nevertheless expects us to say 'yes' to their call. But we are highly suspicious about the motive. Out of these 83 clauses, about 40 clauses are such as give certain powers to the Government rather than to the panchayats. The power of making rules is vested in the provincial Government. We are sorry to find that there is the same tendency on the part of the popular Government of the Punjab in reserving powers for itself which was shown in the British Parliament for the last few decades. Mr. Speaker, I wish to draw your attention to a book written by The Right Honourable Lord Hewart, Lord Chief Justice of England entitled "The New Despotism," in which he cited fifty laws by which the Ministers of the British Government have taken enormous powers under the rule-making provisions. I will give you an instance out of those fifty laws. An Act of Parliament, namely, the Rating and Valuation Act was passed in 1925. The marginal heading of section 67 of the Act is "Power to remove difficulties." It provides that a Minister could, by order remove difficulties, even by modifying certain laws. Now, the present Bill also contains provisions which mean that a Minister may modify a law if it stands in his way. We are not jealous of the Minister. Our position is not this that the Minister should not be allowed to do certain things. Our complaint is that the Minister does not do it. For instance, look at the drafting of this Bill.

This is a standing instance of careless work. I am sure that if the Minister had left the drafting in the hands of his Parliamentary Secretary who is an able lawyer, he would certainly have drafted the Bill in a better way. But as it is the drafting was left in the hands of some petty clerk in the local Self-Government Department. The clerk most probably took out some old model from his pigeon-hole and did a bad copyist's job. I am sure that if the drafting of this Bill had been entrusted to some responsible person the defects of bad drafting with which this Bill is replete would not have been there. Then, the Government seems to take its stand on prestige. It thinks that if any suggestion offered from the opposite side is accepted that will lower its prestige. So, the Bill has not been improved.

There are certain sections of the Bill which show obviously enough that the real intention of the Government in passing this new law is not what is given out to be. There is one thing at seeing which I cannot suppress my laughter. You will see that the Bill nowhere says when it will be enforced. The date is usually inserted if not earlier at least in the drafting committee. I will draw the attention of the Honourable Minister to this defect but he is busy having a conversation. I want to tell him that we cannot know from a study of his Bill as to when it is going to be enforced. Usually in all legal enactments the words occur in the very first section. "It shall be enforced at once, or from such and such date. But nothing of the sort occurs in any of the 83 sections of this Bill. May I take it, Sir, that the Bill will never be enforced? Or will an amendment be brought forward to get it enforced? We know, Sir, that several agrarian Bills or the so-called "golden Bills" were enacted by the Punjab Government. But not a single one of them has been enforced with any effect. The reason is that these Bills were not intended to serve any other purpose but propaganda for the party in power. The Government knows it well that if all the new Acts are enforced their working will bring about awakening among the masses and it is the awakening among the masses which this Government dreads most.

Minister for Public Works : You will know when this Act is enforced.

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : It may be said that this Act will be enforced when rules made under it are ready. Compare this with what is done in other provinces and in other countries. Everywhere all the details, as to what is useful for the country and what is not, are settled while a Bill is on the anvil of the legislature. But what is being done here? A Bill is brought forward. Lengthy discussion takes place on it. But after its passage through this House it is not enforced for a long time, too long a time, under the plea that the necessary rules are not ready. I ask, if you are not to enforce a Bill, why pass it? Does the Government not know how many Bills have so far been passed in this House and how many of them were enforced? And could you tell when the rules made under this Bill would be ready? There are more than eighty provisions in this Bill with respect to which the rules have got to be made. For instance, rules have to be made as to how the elections will be held. Who will hold the elections of the panchayats? Who will have the vote and who will not have the vote? What will be the franchise? How will corruption be checked in elections? What will be the circumstances in which the panches and the panchayats may be removed? What cases will be allowed to come up before the panchayats? How many registers will be kept by the panchayats and what will be contained in those registers? What will be the nature of evidence to be led before the panchayats and how will the panchayats give copies of statements to the litigants? What will be the maximum punishment which the panchayats will have the power to award? How will the orders of the panchayats with respect to the award of a punishment of fine be enforced? Then, there are as many as twenty-five administrative functions laid down for the panchayats in this Bill. All these have got to be defined by the rules. This means that you will have to take a very long time over making the rules. It is in order to avoid such delays that other Governments try to make their Bills as self-sufficient as possible. For instance, take the Bombay Act. It is not a Congress legislation. It was passed by the bureaucratic Government. There is a clear provision in that Act that the rules will be first published in the Gazette. After thirty days they will come up before the legislature. During these thirty days the public is invited to make suggestions. And all those suggestions are considered when the rules come up before the House. And the House can reject and rescind certain rules. But no provision of this type exists in the present Bill. This Bill is here before this House for a few hours. We have the chance of having our say on it for a while. After that it will be dead, cold and buried. We will not hear of it as has been the case with other Bills passed by this Assembly. My honourable friends on the other side are anxious that the question be put as soon as possible. Naturally they do not want to listen to any more criticism on it. They do not wish to hear that this Bill is replete with useless and redundant provisions and mistakes of drafting, and lacks in sound provisions.

The case is different with the Bombay Panchayat Act. The Act is almost self-contained. It definitely provides as to where the panches are to be appointed; where the deputy commissioner can interfere and where not. All the duties and powers vested in the commissioner and the local Government are well-defined. You may contend that the Bombay presidency is much more advanced than the Punjab. So let us take the case of a comparatively less progressive province—I mean the Central Provinces. Despite its limited financial resources the Central Provinces Government has reproduced in its own Act all the important provisions of the Bombay Act. Moreover, the Central Provinces Act empowers the House to approve of the rules made thereunder and see that they are consistent with its spirit and powers. I would like to state for the information of those honourable members who are bent upon supporting every motion of Government whether reasonable or not that under this most reactionary Act nowhere in the Punjab can a real and democratic panchayat possibly be established. So far as the date of the commencement of this Act is concerned we find that the present measure is absolutely silent. It does not tell us as to when it is going to be enforced which means it depends upon the sweet will of the Government. Under clause 4 the Government has the power to declare any village or a group of villages to be a panchayat area. Moreover, it can arbitrarily alter the boundaries of any area so declared. In other words the Government can through gerrymandering, exclude from or include in the panchayat area any village in order to secure disproportionate influence in the elections. It has been repeated ad nauseam on the floor of the House that the Government has extended jurisdiction to the panchayat to try criminal as well as civil cases. But it is interesting to note that in the very clause under which such powers have been delegated we find a provision to the effect that the Government may by notification withdraw from a panchayat the power to take cognizance of all or any of the offences mentioned in the first part of the clause. Moreover, the Government has retained to itself the right of abolishing or suspending any panchayat. In other words the Government has the power to spoil the whole show even under the slightest pretext. Then it has been provided in clause 69 that the panchayats may, with the previous sanction of the Government levy any tax in their respective areas. Now, Sir, under the Government of India Act it is absolutely necessary to obtain the sanction of the Governor before introducing such a provision. But during all this period it did not strike anybody to obtain the necessary sanction. It was only day before yesterday that the requisite sanction was obtained on telephone. This idea occurred to the Honourable Minister only after the passage of clause 88.

Furthermore, Sir, under the present Act the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, the Code of Civil Procedure and of the Indian Evidence Act will not apply to proceedings before the panchayats. Clause 54 says that after ascertaining the facts of every criminal case or civil suit the panchayat shall pass order, sentence or decree in accordance with justice, equity and good conscience. Thus the Government has suspended the provisions of all the aforesaid Acts so far as the panchayats are concerned. Even to the meanest imagination it should be clear that the Government cannot suspend or invalidate the Code of Criminal Procedure, the Code of Civil Procedure and the Indian Evidence Act unless all of them are amended by the Central Legislature accordingly. In fact the Punjab Government has not the necessary power to suspend the provisions of any of the Indian laws. The procedure which the Government is going to adopt in the case of the panchayats is not at all consistent with the provisions of the Government of India Act. It will I am sure create quite a strange situation in the province. In towns and cities, i.e., outside the panchayat areas the Indian laws will operate whereas within the panchayat areas the civil as well as criminal cases will be decided only in accordance with "justice, equity and good conscience," as interpreted by the panchayats. The laws passed by the central legislature will not have the same force in the panchayat areas as they are expected to have in the cities and towns. There is another anomaly which I want to bring to the notice of the Government. The present Bill has sought to suspend the provisions of the Indian Limitation Act too. The Bill dismisses the whole matter in a single sentence. It says that the period of limitation for any civil suit triable by a panchayat shall not exceed three years. Now, the Limitation Act provides different periods of limitation in different cases, but here a uniform period has been fixed for all kinds of cases. Here again this Bill differs from other laws passed by the central legislature. Now the constitutional position is that no such change can be effected unless the

[Pandit Muni Lal Kalia.]

Indian Limitation Act is amended. In this case also the previous sanction of the Governor is necessary under the Government of India Act. Thus the present Bill is going to introduce a queer sort of dyarchy in the province. In the urban part of the province civil and criminal cases will be decided under the statutory laws whereas in rural area such cases will be adjudicated only in accordance with panchayat law. It will certainly create confusion and chaos in the province. Now leaving aside the question of departure from the legal procedure I wish to draw your attention to the fact that panchayats will not be free to use even those meagre powers that have been given to them. The panchayats cannot be definite as to whether the cases brought before them are triable by them or not. Then there is the question of membership. No qualifications have been expressly defined, and even after a person has been elected a member he cannot be sure as to whether or not the Government will allow him to work as such.

Now, Sir, the slave mentality of the Honourable Minister is quite visible in the Bill. There is a section which bars the panchayats from taking cognisance of any offence in which the complainant or the accused is a European British subject. Supposing a European goes to a certain village and commits an offence there. Why should he be not tried by the panchayat? It necessarily follows that a person having white skin can do all sorts of crimes with impunity in the villages. This section is a true index of the mentality of my honourable friend opposite under which he wants to establish panchayats in the villages.

Again, there is another anomaly in the Bill. Even the rules that are going to be made thereunder will have greater force than the Act itself. But it is a pity that the proposed rules will not be placed before the House for consideration. As usual they will be framed, nay copied from the rules relating to the previous Act, by a clerk of the Secretariat. Now, may I ask as to how far it is proper on the part of the Government to entrust the work, which is going to affect the vital interests of the people, to an official who is neither responsible to the province nor to this august House? If the Bill is introduced in the House for consideration, then, why is not the subsidiary legislation placed before the Assembly for approval?

I am one of those who believe that justice is very expensive in the province. I know that corruption is rampant in the courts. Personally I am strongly in favour of the idea of granting enhanced powers to the panchayats. I trust these rural courts would function their duties more efficiently and competently than the urban courts. Because the panches would be alive to the idea that if they would during their tenure of office encourage jobbery or resort to corruption or nepotism the electorate would see to it that they are not returned next time. If you give greater powers to the rural population they are sure to learn by and by the proper exercise of their right to vote. They have already sufficiently learnt this during the last general elections to the Assembly.

I do not want that the Bill should be enacted into law, enforced and not acted upon. The first duty of the Government should be to abide by every provision of an Act that has been put in force. I am not of the opinion that the Government should in the first instance pass a Bill and then not follow its provisions. I, therefore, submit that this Bill should be put into practice as soon as possible so that the people who are wide awake to-day may be able to understand what sort of Bill it is. The merits and demerits of the Bill will appear, before us, by themselves at the proper time.

When the Government of India Act was enacted the federation of various provinces was taken into consideration and provisions were made to safeguard them separately and the question of minorities was not set aside. But due representation was given to the Scheduled Castes. As far as this Bill is concerned our Government has refused to consider the minorities question and the members of the Scheduled Castes have not been given their due share, inspite of our repeated requests. You have come to know that provincial autonomy has failed in most of the provinces owing to its defects though it was run for two years. As it proved defective in the long run it was spurned. I am sure the consequences of this Bill would be the same, and the people would not care to look at it. I know after a few hours it will be passed but anyhow I deem it my duty to inform the House of its merits and demerits. I do not grudge if our suggestions are not accepted by the Government as we think ourselves to be like birds of passage. (Cheers). We are not going to be constantly here and we realise that it is bureaucracy that is working behind it and it is our political duty to curtail it as long as we are here. With these words I submit that the Bill is incomplete and insufficient and there is plenty of room in it for further improvement.

Minister for Public Works (The Honourable Nawabzada Major-Malik Khizar Hayat Khan Tiwana): Sir, the Bill has been under discussion for the last fortnight and we have had practically every clause discussed threadbare. So I do not mean at this stage to go into the details of the Bill. Past history has been recited. I entirely agree with my honourable friends opposite that there was a time in India when the panchayat system was thriving and when there was complete village self-government in our villages. Empires were established and they vanquished, but the village panchayat system went on working. There were courts of kazis and certain others but the average villager had very little to do with them. That was the state of affairs before the British annexation. Then came foreign rulers who brought a foreign set of laws. There was centralisation and with that centralisation came about the abolition of the village panchayat system. Certain vested interests were created and they began to flourish and succeeded in exploiting the simple villager. With that state of affairs litigation began to thrive and it almost became a disease. Now a stage has been reached when whatever the result in court the villager finds at the end that he is the loser. I mean he might win in a court, but the cost is so much that he is the loser whether he is successful in the law suit or not. These defects were realised quite in the early stages but the first Act on the subject was not enacted till 1912. But it was a measure of very limited nature and it did not go far enough. It was later due to the foresight of the Unionist party that no less a person than the late Sir Fazal-i-Husain, its founder, came forward with a measure in 1921, but under the then reformed constitution it was not possible even for him to go very far. The measure was of a limited nature and it had one particular defect, which in the experimental stage I should not call it a defect but a limitation. However, in subsequent practice we found it was hampering the establishment of panchayats. That was the optional clause in the last Act. One had to canvass for support before a panchayat was established. That and the lack of proper control by means of paid staff were the two factors that did not bring about success to an extent we wanted. Though there are some 1,200 panchayats functioning at present in the Punjab, still we can have a large number of more panchayats, and it is that we are aiming at. The instance of Bombay has been cited. There it has been made compulsory that every place with a population of 2,000 shall have a panchayat, but I must say that in this Panchayat Bill we have gone further. We have laid down that a panchayat can be established in any village where the people and the Government think it desirable to have a panchayat. What is more, the demand for the panchayats has not been made from one quarter only, but the honourable members opposite have also been clamouring for it for a long time. The establishment of the panchayat system has found a prominent place in the programme of every political party. There were notices of resolutions given by three of the honourable members opposite. Those resolutions did not survive the ballot and did not come up before the House, but the notices are there. The resolutions were in the names of Sardar Sampuran Singh, of no less a person than the Leader of the Opposition and that of Lala Duni Chand, asking Government to come forward with a Panchayat Bill vesting powers up to Rs. 500 in the panchayats. Government was already thinking of bringing forward a Bill of this nature and when we found that the honourable members were also in favour of it, we came up with this Bill and have appointed special officers to look after the working of the panchayat system from the very start. The Bill has been carefully drafted and whatever defects there were have been removed in the select committee and then at the second reading before the House. I am not here claiming perfection for the Bill and I do not claim that it is free from all lacunæ and flaws and defects, but if and when we find any defect we can always come forward with an amending Bill. However, I must confess that I am surprised at the opposition from the honourable members opposite. I can very well realise some members who are interested in the legal profession getting up and opposing it. I can very well realise others with vested interests like those of my friend, Mr. Puri, opposing the principles of the Bill, but I did not expect my honourable friends opposite opposing a measure which intends to revive the old panchayat system and to establish a swadeshi mode of village self-government.

[Minister for Public Works]

Mian Ab'ul Aziz : Nobody opposed the measure. Only there were certain objections to certain provisions of the Bill.

Minister : It is just like blowing hot and cold in the same breath. They say that they do not want the Bill but that they are for the panchayat system. This is because they fear their electorate who will find out their lukewarm sympathy shown in connection with the Bill and want to confuse the issues.

Mian Abdul Aziz : That suits a Unionist to say so.

Minister : They have been trying and asking us to pass a Bill of this sort. But now they have been trying to quote certain bureaucrats against it. I do not think that it becomes them to vote against the panchayat system, nor does it lie in their mouth to ask for amendments based on principles of foreign laws. They have been clamouring for everything ancient and Indian. Here we are actually building and rejuvenating the ancient system. The foundation was laid 18 years ago by a Unionist Minister and I am glad to find that it has again fallen to the lot of a Unionist to build the second edifice. We might say that they are for a foreign system and while they might profess anything they really have got a sympathy for the bureaucratic system which in many cases favoured the vested interests. The Bill as it stands, I am sure, is going to confer a great boon on the villager. At present minor troubles crop up in villages. They lead to litigation. Litigation leads to factions, factions to riots and riots to murder and so on. If most of these troubles are nipped in the bud, I am sure the factious spirit in the villages will decrease and the cost of litigation will be saved and so many other consequent troubles will be avoided also. The villager will be made the master of the village which he should be.

Now let us realise who are going to be these panches. They are not to be nominated by the Government. They are to be elected. They would be elected representatives of the people. Objection was taken that they would impose taxation and therefore we must consult the majority of the villagers before doing so. When this House passes anything, is it necessary to have a referendum and go to the villager? No. Similarly when the elected representatives of the people, the panches, pass a measure and come to a decision, that means that it has the approval of the majority of the villagers and as such no further referendum is necessary. Objection has been raised that nothing has been said here about the franchise. Some honourable members went on to quote sections from the Municipal and District Boards Acts. I have to remind them that even there the franchise is left to the rule-making power of the Government and there is no departure here from that principle and it is right that it should be so. I can assure honourable members that the Government's intention is to have the lowest possible franchise in villages so that anyone who has any stake in the village will have a vote and as such all the minorities that live in the villages will have, I think, a specially privileged position. As everybody knows, in local bodies even the highest has to go to the lowest when he is out vote hunting. Similarly in villages, I am not prepared to say that there is any lower strata, but there may be what are termed as scheduled castes. In villages there is no caste distinction—it exists mostly in towns—the whole village is one unit knit together—which is the village community. I am prepared to concede that there might be misgivings in some quarters about the minorities. But we will take special care when we come to the rule-making powers to see that we safeguard the interests of the minorities. As a matter of fact ample provision already exists for the safeguarding of the interests of these minorities. The powers of transfer and revision by the district magistrates and district judges are meant to safeguard these interests and to prevent any majority faction trying to harm and harass the minority. But no paper safeguard as suggested by my honourable friends opposite can safeguard the minorities. Suppose we had a clause in the Bill saying that the interests of scheduled castes will be looked after by panches. But who is to look after them—the majority, which shows the same mentality as the constituent assembly—relying on the majority to look after the interests of the minority? We want to tackle the question of minorities from a different angle altogether. We want to bring these scheduled castes up to the same level as the other classes—the higher level that exists in the village. They will have votes and with votes they would be on the same level with others. That being so, why should anybody safeguard their interests? They are there and they have the rights conferred upon them. The idea is to bring them up to the status of others and not keep them down so that somebody else should come along to look after their interests. In villages, when this Bill functions—at least that is my hope—the question of minorities and factions will begin to disappear. The same thing applied to landlords and tenants. Now what do we find? With the franchise of the tenants, the landlords have suddenly begun to think better of them. The same is the case in the municipalities. In villages when the members of the scheduled castes become voters, every party will try to canvass their votes and with their good will and that will be a better and a lasting safeguard for all times to come and the question of scheduled castes and minorities will begin to disappear then in reality.

Then, Sir, objection has been taken as to why the Government is keeping the rule-making power to itself. Rule-making power left to a bureaucratic government might have been criticised. But as we have repeatedly stated here, the powers that vest in a popular and representatives' Government cannot be criticised because there is always the check of my honourable friends opposite and they can raise the question whenever they want and any defect in any rule can be rectified. The rule making power must exist, otherwise it will involve a constant amendment of the Act and in a matter like the franchise, etc., this would mean unnecessary delay and expense to the province.

Then advisability of the giving of judicial powers to the panches was also raised. I was surprised to find that no less a person than my honourable friend, Sardar Hari Singh, has criticised this. Let us see what we are trying to do. We are trying to replace the so-called legal system by a system of material justice. What is at present happening in courts?

Pandit Muni Lal Kalia : On a point of order. I want to know whether the Minister, a member of the cabinet, is entitled to say "the so-called legal system" with regard to a system of law for which the Government is responsible and for which money is paid from the exchequer.

Minister of Public Works : The system of legal justice is, I am afraid, somewhat different from material justice. This is what we find in many cases. I confess that our legal system is not free from defects. What we find is that lying witnesses come along and the court becomes an arena of these lying witnesses. The court is then helpless. It does not know on which side the truth lies. But in the case of the panch with his local knowledge he will at once be able to spot out which are the lying witnesses and so there will be material justice done and expenses will also be saved to the parties. I believe my honourable friends, who are now criticising, know full well that if you go to the village you can always find the truth, I do not mean from somebody who is standing on the road. But if the parties concerned meet together and if one wants to find out the truth one can do so easily in a village. But it is different in a court. The proverb is well known :—

” ایتھے تے سچ کہدے اے کوئی کچھری تے نہیں “

The man may speak truth in the village but he will not do so in a court. I confess that this Bill is not going to set right everything. It is a humble beginning and what I would like to see established is that this indigenous system of Justice thrives as it is in consonance with the spirit of the people and will have the support of all those who mean well to the villager. I hope the villager will reach a stage by this measure when all the expense and trouble which he is now incurring will be saved and a happy state of affairs will come about in the village. (Hear, hear.)

I would not like to go into further detailed criticism against the Bill because that, as I have already stated, was mostly based on either not reading the Bill or certain other misunderstandings. But one matter I would like to refer to audit is this. Objection has been taken to the speeches made by myself, by the Honourable Premier and by the Minister of Development in addressing the panchayat officers' class. It has been maintained that we said certain things which directed the panchayat officer to take sides. I have heard the quotations cited in this House. I feel that no words of ours express that idea unless anybody reads them with a certain amount of bias. The panchayat officers have been told to advise the villager to find out who are his friends and who are his foes. Is that an unsound advice? It is open to the villager to judge in which category are the honourable members who profess friendship and who act otherwise. There is nothing wrong or objectionable in this. It is not intended that the panchayat officer or his staff should be used for party propaganda purposes. Fears have been expressed on this score and all that I can say is that those fears and suspicions are totally unfounded. We do not intend to use this system for party purposes at all. But if by party purposes any one means doing good to the villager, then we intend using this staff to the fullest extent in the interest and welfare of the villager. It is only experience that will show how the Bill will shape itself in practice but I can assure the honourable members that the intentions of the Government are to work this Bill in order to revive the old panchayat system which, as one honourable member stated, existed in Satyug. We are trying to revive it. We may not be able to realise our full hopes but our endeavours are towards achieving this object. My honourable friend said that in this Kaliyug nobody will be able to work the system successfully. But we have tried to keep away all the bad agents of Kaliyug from that institution and we hope to bring back the institutions of the Satyug period and with this hope I commend the Bill for the acceptance of the House.

Mr. Speaker : Question is—

That the Punjab Village Panchayat Bill as considered and amended by the House be passed.

The motion was carried.

LIBRARY COMMITTEE.

Mr. Speaker : I have to inform the House that in pursuance of representations received from honourable members, I have decided to constitute a Library Committee for each session of the Assembly. The function of the Committee will be to advise the Speaker to improve and develop the Assembly Library. The Committee shall consist of the Deputy Speaker, who shall act as its Chairman, and eight honourable members. The Librarian of the Assembly will be its Secretary.

For the current session of the Assembly I nominate the following honourable members to act as the members of the Committee :—

Khan Bahadur Chaudhri Riasat Ali.

Khan Bahadur Maulvi Ghulam Mohy-ud-Din.

Khan Sahib Sheikh Muhammad Amin.

Sheikh Karamat Ali.

Tikka Jagjit Singh Bedi.

[Mr. Speaker.]

Mr. Dev Raj Sethi.

Sardar Hari Singh.

Rai Bahadur Mr. Mukand Lal Puri.

DAMAGE TO COTTON CROP.

Minister of Revenue : I wish to make a statement to the House. Reports of damage to cotton by Tirak tela, etc., have been received from several parts of the province. As the pickings are not yet complete, it is too early to assess the damage at this stage. The zamindars had expectations of a bumper crop, but it is now clear that those expectations are not likely to be realised and that the crop will be barely normal in some cases and below normal in others. According to the reports, the damage, generally speaking, is confined to American cotton on the Upper Jhelum Canal, Lower Jhelum Canal, Pakpattan Canal (perennial), some parts of the Dipalpur Canal, Haveli Canals, Lower Bari Doab Canal and Lower Chenab Canal. Some improvement has recently been reported in the case of Lower Chenab and Lower Bari Doab Canals, the improvement in the case of the latter being more marked. The ordinary girdawari operations are over but the local officers of both the revenue and irrigation departments are cognizant of the situation and special investigations are being made where necessary. More detailed information about the extent of the damage is likely to be available in January 1940. I may assure the House that Government is fully alive to the situation and the question of relief will be considered sympathetically as soon as complete information is available. It is, however, fortunate that the damage in question has synchronised with an abnormal jump in prices which will go a long way in making up for some of the deficiency in the produce that may ultimately be found.

The Assembly then adjourned till 12 noon on Monday, 8th January, 1940.

RULING—
Adjournment motions—
Must raise a larger issue than a merely individual grievance. . .	265
Only in rare and exceptional cases unsatisfactory replies to questions may form the subject of an adjournment motion . .	1097
Amendment(s)—
Deletion or omission of a clause is not an amendment . .	1348
If one amendment is rejected by the House, another substantially identical amendment cannot be allowed to be moved . .	1532
More than one amendment cannot be allowed to be moved or placed before the House at the same time. They can be discussed together in certain cases, but must be moved and put to the vote separately . .	289
Objection to an amendment can be taken at any stage . .	442
Bill—
Debate on third reading to be limited to matters contained in the Bill . .	1645-46
If the member-in-charge of a Bill moves that it be circulated for eliciting public opinion thereon, no other member has a right to move that it be taken into consideration at once or that it be referred to a select committee . .	67
Motion for leave to move a new clause to be made without a speech . .	602
On the motion for reference of a Bill to select committee only the principles and general provisions of the Bill can be discussed and not its clauses . .	1608
Procedure for dealing with several amendments to the same clause . .	637
Proceedings of select committee may be referred to in debate after the report of the select committee has been presented to the House . .	167
Question of repugnancy of a law can be decided only by courts . .	1463
Speaker has no jurisdiction to hold a Bill void on account of repugnancy . .	1463
Substitution of a clause or a sub-clause is a new clause . .	1267
Unless a law is passed and enforced the question of its repugnance cannot and does not arise . .	1462

RULING—contd.

Bill— concl'd.
Verbal amendments can be made even at the third reading stage . .	1646
When the same amendment is given notice of by several members and on the motion of one of such members, it is brought under discussion, another member can take part in the discussion, but he cannot move his own amendment, unless the amendment already moved is voted upon . .	1619
Censure—
It is only by censuring the minister that members can censure the subordinate authorities . .	1008
Debate(s)—
Private conversations between honourable members in or outside the House not to be referred to in, . .	1253
When opposing a whole clause it is irregular to discuss separately each sub-clause constituting the clause . .	1543-44
Division—
A member's vote must agree with his voice . .	1636
Miscellaneous—
A member while addressing the chair may face any way, but he should face the House in such a way that all present may be able to hear him . .	1568
A Minister or Premier who rises to speak must be given preference . .	564
*An officer's incompetency or inefficiency may be attacked on a budget motion . .	964
Barring question of privilege and a few other matters, no question can be raised on the floor of the House without previous notice . .	469
*Character of a Government official can be impugned only by means of a substantive motion . .	956
Conversations between members and members and non-members should not be quoted or referred to in the House . .	168
If a minister deliberately suppresses something or evades answering a question, a substantive motion, and not an adjournment motion, may be moved . .	1006

RULING(S)—concl'd.

Miscellaneous—

If any newspaper writes anything against any individual member, that is not a matter for the House to decide .. 470

If there is a remedy on the executive or judicial side for any grievance, as a rule that remedy should be availed of before coming to the Assembly .. 413

The fact that an Act is passed by the Central Government does not absolve the provincial Government of its responsibility for administering it in the province .. 278

Motion—

Can be withdrawn and others substituted in their place to meet the views of the House as expressed in debate, but only with the assent of the House .. 75

Questions and answers—

Question regarding interpretation of laws or rules cannot be allowed .. 27

A minister may refuse to answer a question without assigning any reason. To insist upon an answer is out of order .. 990, 991

A question can be addressed only to Minister or any other member concerned with subject matter of the question .. 1585

Quorum—

*When the Speaker has once satisfied himself as to the existence of quorum, counting need not be resorted to over and over again .. 742, 744

Unparliamentary language—

It is not parliamentary for Government to say that it would not care for the budget .. 1516

The word "Hoodwinking" is unparliamentary .. 236

Vote—

In the case of motions moved or opposed by Government Chair's decision on collection of voices is generally in favour of Government .. 837
